REVIEW OF APRIL—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

Unquestionably the event of foremost importance in domestic affairs during April was the announcement which came suddenly and without forewarning on the 15th of the month of the complete collapse of the market price of copper. At one stroke the copper producers marked down the price of the metal 4c. a pound, that is, from 18c. to 14c. The importance of the event, and its wide significance and bearing, lay in the fact, first, that it marked another dismal failure in the attempt to maintain an artificial level of prices, against world-wide tendencies in the contrary direction, thereby repeating the experience of so many past experiments of the same kind, all resulting in catastrophe in the end, and, secondly, that the situation thus revealed in the copper trade, and so precipitately thrust upon public notice, appeared unfortunately to be symptomatic of a state of things existing in some other lines of industry, but which for the time being remained hidden and concealed by the policy so sedulously being pursued in high quarters, led by the Administration authorities at Washington, that the way to insure recovery from the setback in trade, which was daily becoming more pronounced, was for the business man and the merchant and the manufacturer to proceed as if nothing had happened.

The underlying thought has been that large-scale unemployment must above everything else be avoided—that if there is some slowing down of business activity as the outgrowth of the loss of confidence engendered by the wiping out of fictitious stock values in the stock market collapse of the previous autumn, compensation must be provided by pushing with relentless energy new construction work by the country's industrial leaders and the public authorities, Federal, State and municipal. President Hoover gave expression to these views and doctrines on many different occasions, and immediately after the close of the month—that is, on May 1—in an address at Washington, at the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, did not hesitate to declare his unqualified belief in the success of the policy. In this address, which probably will remain an historical document to the end of time, the President gave utterance to the following significant paragraphs in his opening remarks. These deserve to be quoted as furnishing an excellent synopsis of the purposes and desires which have animated him throughout in his very creditable endeavors, even though it was perfectly plain at the time of his address that he was presuming altogether too much as to what had been accomplished or was likely to be accomplished as a result of his activity:

"We have been passing through one of those great economic storms which periodically bring hardship and suffering upon our people. While the crash only took place six months ago, I am convinced we have now passed the worst and with continued unity of effort we shall rapidly recover. There is one certainty in the future of a people of the resources, intelligence and character of the people of the United States—that is prosperity.

"On the occasion of this great storm we have for the first time attempted a great economic experiment, possibly one of the greatest of our history. By co-operation between government officials and the entire community, business, railways, public utilities, agriculture, labor, the press, our own financial institutions and public authorities, we have undertaken to stabilize economic forces; to mitigate the effects of the crash and to shorten its destructive period.

"I believe I can say with assurance that our joint undertaking has succeeded to a remarkable degree and that it furnishes a basis of great tribute to our people for unity of action in time of national emergency. To those many business leaders present here I know that I express the gratitude of our countrymen."

The President went on to say that: "We have succeeded in maintaining confidence and courage. We have avoided monetary panic and credit stringency. These dangers are behind us. From the moment of the crash, interest rates have steadily decreased and capital has become steadily more abundant. Our investment markets have absorbed two billions of new securities since the crash. There has been no significant bank or industrial failure. That danger, too, is safely behind us. The acceleration of construction programs has been successful beyond our hopes. The great utilities, the railways and the large manufacturers have responded courageously. The Federal Government has not only expedited its current works, but Congress has authorized further expenditure. The Governors, mayors and other authorities have everywhere been doing their full part. . . . We are suffering from a decrease in residential construction, but despite this we have reason to believe that the total construction will still further expand, and we should during 1930 witness a larger gross volume of improvement work than normal. For the first time in the history of great slumps, we have had no substantial reductions in wages, and we have had no strikes or lockouts which were in any way connected with this situation. All these widespread activities of our business men and our institutions offer sharp contrast with the activities of previous major crashes and our experiences from them. As a consequence, we have attained a stage of recovery within this short period greater than that attained during a whole year or more following previous equally great storms."

The President was painting a rainbow as a succession of events was demonstrating at that time. The effort was well meant, but at the most could serve merely as a palliative and it had the disadvantage of encouraging false hopes and of failing to recognize the fundamental unsoundness of many underlying conditions. The country had in recent years been passing through an era of great inflation, not merely in the stock market, but in virtually everything else. Everything had been carried on in grandiose style, based on the hallucination that the stock market could keep on rising forever and would make everyone rich if only he managed to participate in its sky-rocketing performances. The Federal Reserve System, by supplying boundless extra banking credit, had made the speculation possible. At the end of 1928 the volume of Reserve credit outstanding fell but little short of $2,000,000,000, all of which was super or excess credit, imposed on the ordinary banking credit of the country which itself had grown by rapid strides and ought to have been amply sufficient on that account for the country's legitimate needs in the development of trade and commerce. Worst of all, the member banks were obliged to keep no cash reserves in their own vaults, but needed only a credit at the Reserve Bank, which could be obtained by the simple process of borrowing at the Reserve institutions on the security of United States Government obligations, which remained ready to hand in huge volume. Rising interest rates on all classes of loans were the natural concomitant of such a situation, but proved no deterrent while the speculation was in its hectic stage preceding the inevitable collapse. The illusions of the stock market extended to all the industrial activities of the country and far beyond the borders of the United States.

When the break came the mistake was made of failing to recognize that the inflation which had been carried to such absurd heights in the stock market, really permeated the whole industrial structure, even if in lesser degree, and that it was absolutely essential, in the interest of enduring progress, for the country to get back to normal conditions, and divest itself of the excesses which were the natural, the inevitable, development of business activity, having its main support in an unbridled stock speculation, such as overbuilding, extravagant real estate values, gouging wages, &c. The further mistake was made of thinking that business could be revived and stimulated into new life and activity by cheap money and easy credit, and that this could be disassociated from renewal of any stock market frenzy. To that end rediscount rates of the Federal Reserve Banks were successively reduced until on May 1 the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, with the approval of the Federal Reserve Board at Washington, put in effect a rate of only 3% and cut its buying rate for acceptances to 2¾%.

The move failed in both of the purposes indicated. Trade, fundamentally disorganized through a long period of inflation, could not be revived by such meticious methods. Adjustment to normal conditions of production and consumption, and normal bases of values, was the indispensable requirement. As for the stock market, the further growth in Stock Exchange borrowing, according to the Stock Exchange's own figures, during the month of April, reached $406,829,020, and this came after $488,713,987 increase in March and $182,820,287 in February, making an addition for the three months of no less than $1,078,363,294—all of which affords incontrovertible testimony of the way in which banking credit has been diverted into speculative channels just as was the case during the speculative furore of 1928 and 1929; and the renewed downward plunge of the stock market during the latter half of April and the early days of May, when values melted away only less fast than during the previous October-November collapse, affords additional proof going to show that a stock market rise, having no other basis than easy money and cheap credit, available in unlimited amounts, rests upon very insecure foundations and is certain to collapse in the end of its own weight.

The long and short of all this is that the cut in copper prices, made with such abrupt suddenness the middle of April, proved an eye opener to the great majority of the thinking public, while at the same time other unfavorable developments of the same kind tended to dissipate the sanguine hopes of early trade recovery of any substantial kind—and this occurred at the very moment when Mr. Hoover felt so confident that the goal sought by him had been achieved. Early in 1929 the price of copper had gone sky-rocketing just as the stock market had been doing, and the quotation for the metal soared to 24c a lb. Consumers got panic stricken and became so scared that they feared it might become quite impossible to meet consumptive requirements even after the prodigious rise. Then the price was allowed to drop back to 18c a lb. and at this latter figure it was held unchanged until the break to 14c. even with trade depressed all over the world, as a result of which both the home demand and the foreign demand for the metal dwindled to small proportions. The cut was a drastic one, but the occasion called for it. Stocks of the metal had heavily increased, in face of a sharp curtailment of the output. Statistics published just about the time of the cut in price to 14c, showed that world copper production in March 1930 had been only 144,405 tons as against 189,792 tons in March 1929 and for the first three months of 1930 had aggregated 432,886 tons as against 529,665 tons in the first quarter of 1929. Unfortunately the decrease in production did not equal the falling off in consumption, as measured by the domestic and export shipments from refineries. In the first three months of 1930 these shipments reached only 295,933 tons, against 471,916 tons in the first three months of 1929. As a consequence, stocks of the metal piled up, and the statistics show that stocks of refined copper in North and South America on April 1 1930 were 256,020 tons as against only 52,968 tons on April 1 1929. To the copper mining companies a reduction of 4c a lb. in the price of the metal (equal to $80 a ton) means obviously enough a serious diminution in profits and the matter is made all the worse by the fact that production is so very much smaller than it was in the flush times of 12 months ago. However, the step was a move in the right direction in that it meant getting away from the practice of seeking to maintain a wholly artificial level of prices. In the circumstances too, it was unavoidable. Unfortunately the cut in price, drastic though it was, did not operate to start up domestic demand for the metal and accordingly fears developed that still another cut in price would have to be made and this happened at the beginning of May.

The lowering of price was attended by the usual unhappy incidents and especially by the scaling down of wage levels. From Montana came the news that miners' wages at Butte, Anaconda and Great Falls would be reduced 25c a day, effective May 1. Miners' contract prices, it was stated, would be adjusted to the new schedule, bringing their base pay down to $5.25 a day. Accounts said that another reduction was considered not unlikely on June 1. It should be stated that miners' wages were raised early in 1929 when the price of the metal so sharply advanced. From Bisbee, Ariz., news also came that copper companies throughout Arizona had announced a 5% cut in wages, effective May 1, due to the lowering of the price of the metal. It was stated that this reduction in wages would take $4,000 a day from payrolls and affect 15,000 men. Some of the accounts also said that another wage reduction of 10% would go into effect on June 1, the second notice to be posted around May 26. On Thursday, April 24, news likewise came that the directors of the Chile Copper Company, controlled by the Anaconda Copper Company, had reduced the quarterly dividend to 75c a share from 87½c previously paid. The American Brass Company and the Anaconda Wire & Cable Company, as was to be expected, gave notice that prices of brass, bronze, wire rods, sheets, etc., had all been reduced to conform to the reduction of 4c a lb. in the price of copper. The New York price for Lake copper remained unchanged at 18⅛c. a lb. until April 15, when it dropped to 14⅛c. while the price of electrolytic copper at New York was marked down on April 15 from 17¾c to 13¾c, and remained unchanged at that figure the rest of the month. Other nonferrous metals also suffered reductions, the price for lead in New York being marked down April 4 from 5.75c to 5.60c and being further reduced to 5.50c on April 7. Tin likewise continued to fare badly, notwithstanding that tin producers seemed to be in earnest in their desire to curtail production. As against 36¾c on April 1, the New York price of tin on April 30 was down to 33¾c.,

The steel trade continued to give a more satisfactory account of itself than most other industries, but here also indications of weakness began to appear. The return of the United States Steel Corporation for the March quarter appeared after the close of business on Tuesday, April 29, and showed at once the exceptional strength of this great industrial undertaking, which enables it to make a satisfactory exhibit in bad times and good times alike, while yet making it plain that even a concern of such superlative strength is not exempt in its results from the influence of declining trade. In the first quarter of 1930 the Steel Corporation had net income, after interest, depreciation and other charges, including Federal taxes, of $35,777,807, equivalent, after allowing for the dividend required on the preferred stock, to $3.44 a share on 8,560,876 common shares, as against $42,185,447 net income in the first quarter of 1929, equal then to $5.04 a share on the 7,116,235 shares of common stock at that time outstanding. A special item of $2,396,636 of income served to swell the 1930 net income to that extent, but even with that item excluded the net income was equal to $3.16 a share. The result was the more noteworthy, as prices averaged $1.45 a ton less than in the previous year for domestic business, though on export business average prices showed an increase.

However, developments concerning the steel industry during April were not altogether assuring. The Iron Age in its issue of May 1 said that price weakness in iron and steel had become more pronounced. Total steel ingot output showed no significant change, it was stated, being at a 78% rate compared with 80% the previous week (though only 76% at the opening of the month), but buying was at extremely short range and mill schedules in most finished products were irregular and interrupted and pressure for tonnage to sustain operations was increasing. Price instability extended to the primary materials. Scrap markets had grown still weaker, it was remarked, with heavy melting grade down 25c a ton at Philadelphia and St. Louis. Chicago pig iron had receded 50c a ton and Alabama foundry iron, which had been expected to react to the larger melt of cast pipe shops, had been sold in certain sections at a new low price of $12 Birmingham. Mixed tendencies, it was stated, continued as the outstanding characteristic of the situation, although demand was shifting. Railroad demand was subsiding, while automotive requirements were creeping up and additional pipe line tonnage was being placed. Steel consumption by farm equipment manufacturers was undiminished, although the character of output had been altered with haying and harvesting machinery now being turned out in place of tillage tools. Seasonal requirements for road making were promising, but spring buying of merchant wire products had been disappointing and demand for roofing sheets appeared to have passed its peak. Both of the Iron Age's composite prices reached new low levels for the year. Pig iron declined from $17.75 to $17.67 and finished steel from 2.312c April 1 to 2.242c on April 29.

The price weakness found further confirmation when immediately after the close of the month, the American Steel & Wire Co., subsidiary of the U. S. Steel Corporation, on May 2 announced reductions of $2 to $3 a ton in the prices of wire rods, wire nails and plain wire. J. S. Keefe, President of the American Steel & Wire Co., stated that the general market having settled down to a lower base the result of the cut was to bring the company's prices in closer approximation to the prices current. It deserves to be pointed out that in the iron and steel industry, also, the drop in prices was in some instances attended by a lowering of wage levels, though not in the case of the Steel Corporation plants. Associated Press dispatches from Youngstown, Ohio, April 27 stated that puddlers and finishing mill crews, working under agreements of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, would receive 25c a ton less as wages during May and June as a result of the decline.

itized for FRASER

The remark in the above excerpt from the Iron Age that the railroad demand for steel was subsiding attracted much attention and evidently possessed a wide significance. The most depressing feature in the whole industrial situation was the way the revenue returns of the railroads were falling off in all parts of the country, furnishing proof that trade and business were suffering contraction of no mean proportions. The falling off in net results in some cases was so startling as to be positively alarming, expenses not having been curtailed in proportion to the shrinkage in traffic and gross revenues, and in some instances not having been curtailed at all. The returns which came to hand covered the month of March and the first quarter of the calendar year. The March exhibits were simply a duplicate of those of the months immediately preceding in the unfavorable character of the comparisons which they made with the preceding year. Only a few illustrations can be cited here to indicate the generally poor results disclosed. The Pennsylvania Railroad showed gross operating revenue for March 1930 of $48,622,382, against $55,392,596 for March 1929 and operating net income of $7,136,220 for the month in 1930 against $10,877,660 in 1929; the New York Central gross of $40,858,594 against $48,614,428 and net of $4,724,463 against $8,316,795; the Baltimore & Ohio gross of $17,805,405 against $20,253,323 and net of $2,764,755 against $4,182,984; the Milwaukee & St. Paul gross of $11,591,135 against $13,722,122 and net of $928,009 against $2,193,300; Northern Pacific gross of $6,625,496 against $7,831,859 and net of $758,185 against $1,858,341; the Union Pacific gross of $14,264,105 against $17,061,773 and net of $1,627,571 against $2,925,224; the Southern Pacific gross of $22,262,253 against $25,890,322 and net of $2,766,076 against $4,904,209; the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe gross of $18,029,300 against $20,238,402 and net of $634,817, against $4,028,447; the Louisville & Nashville gross of $9,486,524 against $11,002,940 and net of $522,808 against $1,108,975 and the Southern Railway gross of $10,704,797 against $12,082,582 and net of $1,394,347 against $2,185,126.

In the case of the Atchison, which showed the biggest shrinkage of all, the net income having been almost entirely extinguished, it appeared that some exceptional causes were operative in addition to those which were so materially cutting down the income results of all the carriers. In a statement issued by W. B. Storey, President of the Atchison, it was pointed out that the increase in expenditures in March and the first quarter of the year in face of lower gross revenues was to be ascribed to heavy maintenance outlays. Mr. Storey said: "Our maintenance of way program is being carried out above the usual rate this year. We have more than 50% of our steel for the year already laid, which is much ahead of our progress in this respect a year ago." The statement that this large system had 50% of its steel for the year 1930 already laid, immediately gave rise to new apprehensions. Were there any other large systems that had so largely anticipated their steel requirements of the year? Obviously with the takings of steel so large in the first four months of the year, the takings in the remaining eight months would be correspondingly reduced and what would be the effect of this on the steel trade in the second half of the year, the heavy demands of the railroads having played such an important part in keeping the steel trade in such a high state of activity in the early months of the year.

At the same time the automobile trade was running far behind its exceptional record of the previous year. March 1930 production of motor vehicles in the United States was only 461,378 as against 585,455 in March 1929. For the three months ending with March the number of machines turned out in 1930 was only 998,566 against 1,452,910 in the corresponding three months of 1929. The effect in reducing the earnings and profits of the automobile concerns was seen in the quarterly income statement of the General Motors Corporation which reported $42,545,963 earned for the first quarter of 1930, equal to 98c per share on the 43,500,000 shares outstanding, against $59,559,217 earned in the first quarter of 1929 equal to $1.37 per share on the same amount of stock then outstanding. Another straw indicative of the drift was the reduction in the dividend rate on Studebaker shares from $5 per annum to $4.

The country's foreign trade appeared to be even more depressed than the domestic trade, at least the comparisons with the previous year for March and the first three months could hardly have been much worse than they proved to be, and the shrinkage extended to the export and the import trade alike. The uncertainties growing out of the pending tariff legislation could hardly have played much part in restricting importations since the tariff is being revised upward, not downward, and therefore the desire of the importers would be to anticipate future needs by importing the goods affected before the higher rates went into effect. The shrinkage in the exports is attributed at Washington to worldwide depression acting to impair the purchasing power of the outside world, though just as likely as not it may be due to our holding our prices too high. At all events the figures showed exports valued at only $374,000,000 in March 1930, against $489,849,000 in March 1929, while the importations were listed at $300,000,000 against $383,818,000 in March 1929. In February, as also in January, the country's foreign trade showed similar contraction, and the exports for the three months ending with March recorded a falling off in 1929 or $285,831,000, and the imports a falling off of $229,481,000, making a combined falling off in the country's total foreign trade for these three months of no less than $515,312,000 or at the rate of over $2,000,000,000 a year. Such figures tell so unerringly the story of trade depression that the reassuring statements which come from the seat of government at Washington fail to convince.

When we turn to the textile trades, we meet the same implacable evidence of greatly lessened activity, with no signs of an immdiate change for the better, and in the communications field we had the return of the Western Union Telegraph for the March quarter, showing gross revenues for the first three months of 1930 of $33,578,027 as against $35,642,794 in the first three months of 1929, and net earnings (above expenses, taxes and rentals) of only $2,515,364 as against $4,616,876, and net income, above interest on bonded debt, of no more than $1,486,803 against $3,714,360—a showing which paralleled the unfavorable comparisons made by the country's great rail carriers. The U. S. Census figures, issued April 14, showed that the consumption of cotton in the United States during March comprised only 508,576 bales of lint cotton and 63,976 bales of linters as against 631,669 bales of lint and 76,564 bales of linters in March 1929. Yet in spite of this restriction of production cotton goods remained in over-supply in most lines and it has been hard to stimulate buying. The late date of Easter the present year, with the prolonged cool weather, unquestionably seriously interfered with retail trade in many classes of goods thereby accentuating the influence of general trade relapse, which latter nevertheless was the overwhelming depressing factor. At the very close of the month, weather conditions took a more seasonable turn and while some benefit resulted therefrom it was slight. The market price of cotton was well maintained and the Federal Farm Board through the cotton co-operatives played an important part in maintaining price levels. It exacted tenders of actual cotton on May contracts and appears to have taken in the neighborhood of 300,000 bales. It was also understood to contemplate taking delivery of an equal amount of cotton on July contracts in New York and New Orleans. Spot cotton in New York on April 1 was quoted at 16.65c; after dipping to 16.55 April 2, it sold at 16.80 April 3, the high figure of the month. By April 22 the price was down to 15.85c., but thereafter the course was upward, and on April 30 the price was back to 16.60c. Print cloths at Fall River for 28-inch 64x60 remained unchanged throughout the month at 4⅝c.

The Federal Farm Board on April 4 announced that it had approved an application of the Federal Cotton Association, an organization sponsored by the Staple Cotton Growers' Association at Greenwood, Miss., for a commodity loan not exceeding $5,000,000 to supplement primary loans obtained from Intermediate Credit or commercial banks. This line of credit, it was stated, would enable the Association to make larger advances on member-produced cotton than would be possible under other credit facilities. "The advance from the Farm Board will be supplemental to primary loans of at least 60% of the market value of the cotton and will bring the total on this cotton up to the loan basis announced by the Board last October." The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York reported the production of standard cotton cloths during four weeks of March at 261,403,000 yards, with sales of 292,249,000 yards, or 111.8% of production. Shipments during the month were 265,675 000 yards, or 101.6% of production. Unfilled orders March 31 were 387,463,000 yards, as compared with 360,889,000 yards on March 1, while stocks on hand March 31 were 440,853,000 yards against 445,125,000 yards March 1. There was no improvement in the price of crude rubber, even though the plans for restricting output during May found full acceptance. The restriction plan provides for the cessation of tapping during the month of May and was finally assented to by practically 90% of British and European producers in the Far East. In addition native producers of rubber controlling in the neighborhood of 80,000 tons a year agreed to the plan. Consumption of crude rubber of all classes by manufacturers in the United States during the month of March was estimated at 35,914 long tons by the Rubber Manufacturers' Association. This compared with estimated consumption of 44,730 tons in March 1929. Imports of crude rubber of all classes into the United States during March totaled 45,430 tons as against 53,824 long tons in March 1929. Domestic stocks of crude rubber on hand and in transit overland on March 31 1930 were put at 156,516 tons, as against 100,536 tons on March 31 1929. On April 26 prices fell to the lowest figures in eight years, and went lower still on April 29 and April 30. Ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery were quoted April 30 at 14c. bid and 14¼c. asked, as against 15½@15¾c March 31 and 15¾c bid and 15⅞c asked on Feb. 28. Reductions from 15 to 37½c a yard featured the opening on April 9 of women's wear coatings and suitings by the American Woolen Company. The opening of fancy woolen coatings and suitings for fall 1930 season occurred on March 31 and was chiefly distinguished for the variety of styles offered in tweed, nubbed and brushed coatings and suitings, which were declared to be "the most original and attractive cloths to be seen in the women's wear market." Raw silk prices in Japan reached the lowest levels since 1916, according to cabled reports to the National Raw Silk Exchange on April 23. Prices for future delivery raw silk on the Yokohama bourse were under 1,100 yen, or the lowest price obtained since November 1915. The lowest figure on record in Japan, it was stated, was 695 yen, which was reached in November and December 1914 just after the outbreak of the World War. Prices for future deliveries on the National Raw Silk Exchange in New York, reflecting the weakness in Japan went to new low figures in all time, and Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers for spot delivery were quoted at $4.10@$4.15 April 30 against $4.50@$4.55 March 31; $4.35@$4.40 Feb 28; $4.70@$4.75 Jan. 31 and $4.60@$4.65 Dec 31. In the 20-22 deniers, Japanese crack double extra were also quoted April 30 at $4.10@$4.15 against $4.40@$4.45 March 31; $4.30@$4.35 Feb 28; $4.60@$4.65 Jan. 31 and $4.60@$4.65 on Dec. 31.

To cap the climax, the wheat market again got out of hand in face of the manipulative efforts of the Federal Farm Board. The May option for wheat at Chicago on April 30 got down to $1.01⅛ and May 1 sold still lower at $1.00¾. In the early part of April there had been a recovery from $1.09½ April 1 to $1.16¾ on April 8. The Agricultural Department at Washington made the condition of winter wheat on April 1 only 77.4% of normal, compared with 82.7% on April 1 1929 and a 10-year average of 80.9% as of that date. Nevertheless, a probable crop of about 550,000,000 bushels was indicated as against 578,336,000 bushels actually harvested in 1929. There was much complaint the early part of the month of the lack of sufficient rainfall in the Southwest, and this threatened at one time a serious reduction in yield in that part of the country, with the effect of stiffening market prices, and an advance in the May option to $1.16¾ occurred on April 8. The needed rainfall, however, came later in the month, coresspondingly improving prospects, and then prices tumbled again despite the efforts of the Farm Board. The July option for wheat advanced from $1.07 Apr.l 1 to $1.18¼ April 8, and in the break towards the close of the month dropped to $1.03⅜ April 26, with the close April 30 $1.04½. The renewed weakness in wheat carried prices of other grains down with it. The May option for corn in Chicago, after selling up from 84½c on April 1 to 88¼c. April 4, went as low as 79⅜c. April 26, with the close April 30 79⅞c. July corn moved up from 86⅛c April 1 to 90¼c April 4, and then tumbled to 81¼c April 26, with the close April 30 at 82½c. May oats at Chicago, after moving up from 44c April 1 to 46c April 7, dropped to 40c April 30, and July oats at Chicago, after advancing from 43¾c April 1 to 46c April 4, declined to 40½c April 30.

In sugar a development of moment was the dissolution of the Cuban Single Seller Agency, on a vote of the stockholders on April 14, this being a reversal of action taken on April 1 in favor of the continuation of the agency. The Cuban Agency was created by Presidential decree on July 26 1929. It assumed charge of all sugar sales on Sept. 1 1929. At that time the idea of the Single Seller was popular with the planters. But they grew tired of it shortly, when it became evident that the agency could not control prices—the purpose for which it was organized—and compete with Porto Rico and Hawaii in the sale of sugar. Agitation was begun for its removal which culminated in a meeting on April 1 of the present year. The vote then was for continuance, but only by a small majority. In view of the close vote President Machado directed the executives of the agency to call a second meeting, which was done with the result already indicated, the majority in favor of dissolution being very large. With heavy unsold supplies the price of sugar dropped to the lowest figure in history, July delivery selling at 1.51c. Actual sales of Cuban raw sugar at 1 9/16c were recorded on April 30, which compares with 1⅞c the price March 28 and with the price of 2c fixed by the Co-operative Export Agency (the Single Seller) on Feb. 12. Coffee prices also tumbled still lower and No. 7 Rio for spot delivery April 30 was quoted at 9c bid and 9¼c asked against 10c bid and 10¼c asked March 31; 10¼c Feb. 28; 10½c@10¾c Jan 31 and 9½@9¾c Dec. 31 1929, but with 18¼@18½c on Feb. 28 1929. The development in this case was the floating of a loan by the State of San Paulo, Brazil, for $97,330,000, chiefly in London and New York, (the American portion being $35,000,000 offered by a syndicate headed by Speyer & Co.) This loan was for the purpose of enabling the Government of the State of San Paulo "to dispose of the accumulation within the State of large amounts of unsold coffee and to prevent such accumulation in the future," the San Paulo Government having "adopted a new plan to become operative July 1 1930 by which it undertakes to liquidate gradually the present unsold coffee and to place future crops on the market currently." The prospectus of the new loan added that "the Government has agreed that it will not directly or indirectly accumulate any coffee during the life of this loan, except in agreement with the bankers, as further security for the loan."

There was just one exception to the unfavorable budget of news and developments during April and that was the improvement in the price of petroleum and its products. In international affairs the Naval Armament Conference in London reached a successful conclusion when, on April 22, the delegates concluded a treaty embodying sweeping three-power limitation until 1936 among Britain, the United States and Japan. France and Italy also subscribed to the treaty which was finally arranged after more than 3 months of conversations. The document provides for a holiday in capital ship construction among all five powers from 1931 to 1936, and for "humanization" of the use of submarines in time of warfare. A section of the treaty applying only to Britain, the United States and Japan provides for limitation in addition of cruisers, auxiliary craft and submarines among these powers. Provision is made in the treaty for the eventual participation of France and Italy in the limitation agreement on cruisers and other vessels, but in the meantime the three nations agreeing to these provisions, are to have the right, on due and proper notification, to increase their building if an untoward amount of construction is undertaken by powers not agreeing to the limitation arrangement. Moreover, a further naval conference is to take place in 1935 at which naval programs will be completely reconsidered.

THE FINANCING OF THE UNITED STATES TREASURY DURING APRIL.

April is not one of the months in which the United States Treasury does its quarterly financing, but on this occasion opportunity was taken to dispose of an issue of 90-day Treasury bills. On April 6 the Secretary of the Treasury gave notice that tenders were invited for Treasury bills to the amount of $50,000,000, "or thereabouts," the bills to be sold on a discount basis to the highest bidders, and tenders to be received at the Federal Reserve Banks, or the branches thereof, beginning the next day (Monday, April 7), and up to 2 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard time, on April 11. The bills were to be dated April 15 1930, and would mature on July 14 1930, when the face amount of the bills would be payable without interest. Payment had to be made, in case of the acceptance of the bids, on April 15, "in cash or other immediately available funds." In response to this offering, tenders totaling $132,377,000 were received. The amount accepted was $51,316,000. The average price realized on the accepted bids was 99.267, the average annual rate on a bank discount basis thus being about 2.93%. The highest bid received was 99.315, equivalent to an interest rate of about 2¾% on an annual basis. The lowest bid accepted was 99.250, equivalent to an interest rate of 3%.

The present was the third issue of Treasury bills on a discount basis under authority of the amendment to the Second Liberty Loan Act, signed by President Hoover on June 17 1929. The initial offering of bills was announced Dec. 9, when tenders were invited for an issue of $100,000,000, and when the bids received aggregated $223,901,000, though the amount accepted was only $100,000,000. At that sale of bills the price obtained was 99.181, equivalent to an average annual rate of about 3¼%. The second issue of these 90-day Treasury bills offered on a discount basis came on the market in February, and was for $50,000,000, or thereabouts; on the closing of the books on Feb. 14, the aggregate of the tenders was $186,183,000, and the amount accepted was $56,108,000, the average price received being 99.174, making the average annual rate on a bank discount basis about 3.30, which was not quite as good as the average price received at the December sale, which, as stated, was at an average rate of 3¼%. The current April sale, having been on a bank discount basis of 2.93%, showed, of course, decided improvement as compared with either of these two preceding sales, and in this it reflected the growing ease in the money market for all classes of loans and on all forms of borrowing.

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING APRIL 1930.

The stock market suffered a severe setback during April, which, in the closing days of the month, eventuated in a great crash and which continued into the early days of May, and then assumed the proportions of a collapse second only to the great stock panic of the previous October-November, prices plunging downward in much the same way as on that occasion, and with declines of the same staggering dimensions. This collapse, however, happened only after the market the first half of April had continued its forward movement with the same abandon as had marked its course just prior to the great break the previous autumn and had attained a degree of buoyancy which again closely paralleled the hectic days of 1929, with bullish enthusiasm outrunning all bounds. Cliques and pools had become emboldened as a result of their success in advancing prices with such ease during the whole of the period since the beginning of the year, and now bid up their specialties in the same unrestrained fashion as was the case on the memorable earlier occasion referred to. As then, some of the highest grade stocks were made to do duty in carrying the forward movement along and to promote bullish enthusiasm. As a matter of fact, the enthusiasm spread with such rapidity as to become contagious, and though there seemed to be no very large participation on the part of the outside public, which, in truth, had been pretty effectually wiped out in the previous smash, a feeling nevertheless began to grow up among the room traders and the professional element that, after all, no good reason existed why the greater portion of the losses in values sustained the previous autumn should not be recovered. Money was easy and banking credit available in unlimited amounts, with the Federal Reserve Banks engaged in accentuating the ease and with the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, dispensing funds at the country's financial center, down to 3½% and ready, as subsequent events proved, to go still lower. Huge increases in brokers' loans month after month and week after week testified to the fact that the speculative spirit was again rampant and that little occasion existed for giving heed to the possible consequences. Constantly reiterated statements from Washington to the effect that business recovery was fully under way, and that through the means taken for insuring trade recovery all traces of the ill effects sustained by reason of the collapse in stock prices the previous autumn would soon disappear, played their part in promoting the bullish enthusiasm which the stock market habitues were so sedulously engaged in cultivating.

But just when the market seemed strongest, it proved weakest. The speculation was being carried on entirely with borrowed money, as indeed was the case also with the gigantic speculative debauch which met its finish in the autumn of 1929, and had the additional disadvantage of being concurrent with declining trade—all reports to the contrary from Washington notwithstanding—whereas the antecedent great rise in speculative values had expanding trade and prosperity of unexampled dimensions behind it. Accordingly, this new speculative movement had nothing to support it in the actual facts of the situation—facts relating to the merits of the properties, their earnings and profits, and the probabilities regarding the course of trade and business. It rested alone on easy money and unlimited banking credit, and a speculative bubble of that kind was sure to burst sooner or later. The awakening came exactly in the middle of the month, that is, on Tuesday, April 15, when the copper producers, who had for a year been maintaining an artificial price of 18c. a pound, suddenly announced a reduction to 14c. a pound without wasting any time on preliminaries. This meant plainly a great reduction in the earnings of the copper companies, though this fact did not quickly dawn upon the speculative mind, and prices of the copper shares, which proved so conspicuously weak at the end of the month, at first declined only moderately. The most serious feature, however, was that the action of the copper producers not only uncovered a weak feature relating to their own trade, but put the public on inquiry as to whether the same artificial state of things was not existent in many other lines of trade and business. As emphasizing this feature, unfavorable developments, confirmatory of the correctness of this suspicion, came with startling and bewildering rapidity, occasioning gloom and depression, which spread with surprising swiftness and finally became impossible to resist.

Returns of earnings now began to come in for the month of March. They had been bad in January and February, and, in fact, back in November and December. They proved worst of all for the month of March. Illustrations of the unfavorable exhibits made have been given in our general remarks in the earlier portion of this article. The unfortunate feature was that the poor exihibits were common to all classes of roads, and all sections of the country, and that no explanation could be offered to account for such a general shrinkage except declining trade throughout the length and breadth of the land. Of course the railroad list was under constant pressure as a result of these poor returns. The latter part of the month a renewed break occurred in the price of wheat, the May option for wheat at Chicago again getting down close to a dollar a bushel, showing how futile the efforts even of the Government-supported Farm Board were proving to bring about improvement in the agricultural situation. Adverse developments kept piling up in every direction, of which the professional Stock Exchange trader was not always cognizant and to which he often closed his eyes, but which nevertheless served to undermine the Stock Exchange structure of prices which had been carried to such dizzy heights. The quarterly returns of income for the first quarter of the year of numerous industrial companies added their story to the various other indications of shrinking trade and dwindling profits. Some of these, like the quarterly statements of the General Motor Corp. and the United States Steel Corp., while reflecting the strength of the particular properties, offered (in their reduced income) indications no less going to show that even high class stocks were not exempt from the ill effects of the relapse in trade. Others less favorably situated gave rise to inquiries as to what might happen later in the year and whether dividends could be maintained.

The steel trade, which had been such a pillar of strength, now manifested signs of weakness, at least in the matter of prices, manufacturers making concessions in order to obtain orders. Producing capacity was maintained at a relatively high figure, it is true, but possibly by reason of that very fact. Some special adverse developments also at times served to intensify the feeling of depression, even though some of these were only transient in their influence, such as the closing of the Stock Exchange on Friday, April 11, though the Exchange reopened the very next day, only to be obliged to close again for a few hours on April 30. Evidently Japan is experiencing financial reverses, notwithstanding its removal of the ban on gold exports earlier in the year. Japanese silk prices suffered a further large decline to the lowest figures reached in many a long year. Down in Cuba the Single Selling Agency was abandoned and Cuban raw sugar dropped to the lowest level in all time. Coffee and rubber prices also took a new downward turn, and everywhere there appeared to be evidence of an unsatisfactory state of things and of an abnormal situation. Some favorable developments, with respect to certain companies, exercised a stimulating influence only upon the shares of these particular companies, without arresting the general downward movement of price. In this class belong such developments as the offer of rights to the shareholders of the American Tel. & Tel. to subscribe for new stock at par, which rights immediately commanded in the neighborhood of $22 a share, though later in the month falling fractionally lower. Another development of the same kind was the announcement of a plan whereby the General Electric Co. and the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. acquire joint control of the Radio Corp. of America. These stocks responded to the news with sharp advances for the time being, though losing these gains in the general declines the latter part of the month. The stock market as a whole closed on April 30 in a state of intense depression, and it plunged still lower, as already stated, in the early days of May.

The volume of trading on the Stock Exchange kept steadily growing, daily transactions often exceeding five million shares, and on at least one day, namely, Friday, April 4, getting close to 6,000,000 shares, actual transactions on that day being 5,931,610 shares. For the month as a whole, the sales on the New York Stock Exchange aggregated 111,041,000 shares, which is the largest volume of business ever done in any April in Stock Exchange history, and comparing with 82,600,470 shares in April 1929, and 80,478,835 in April 1928. It is not, however, equal to the business done last October, when 141,668,410 shares were dealt in, the largest of any month in Stock Exchange history. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales for the month aggregated 32,331,900 shares, against 24,941,725 shares in April 1929, and 61,836,200 shares in October 1929. As indicating the course of prices during the month in some of the leading stocks—the early rise and the later drop—we may note that United States Steel, after opening at 194⅞ April 1, advanced to 198¾ April 7, and then touched 180¼ on April 30, though with the close on that day at 184. General Electric, after advancing from 83⅛ April 1 to 95⅜ April 10, closed April 30 at 86⅝. Radio Corp. of America, after rising from 53⅛ April 1 to 69⅜ April 24, closed April 30 at 64¼. Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., after rising from 180¾ April 3 to 201½ April 15, closed April 30 at 185⅝, which compares with the opening price of 185½ April 1. General Motors Corp. opened April 1 at 49¾, and touched 54¼ April 10, and then dropped to 45⅞ April 29, with the close April 30 at 46⅞. American Tel. & Tel., as against an opening price April 1 of 263½, touched 274¼ April 14, and then tumbled to 246 April 29, with the close April 30 at 252. Electric Power & Light jumped from 87⅝ April 1 to 103½ April 23, with the close April 30 at 95. International Tel. & Tel. rose from 67⅞ April 9 to 77⅜ April 24, and closed April 30 at 75. Vanadium Steel jumped from 103 April 3 to 143¼ April 26, with the close April 30 at 133¾. North American, opening at 126 April 1, touched 132⅞ April 11, then dropped to 119½ April 29, with the close April 30 at 123. Goodyear Tire & Rubber dropped from 95¾ April 1 to 80¾ April 30. American Can, opening at 152¾ April 1, touched 156½ April 16, and then dropped to 142⅛ April 29, with the close April 30 to 146. International Nickel dropped from 44⅜ April 4 to 34⅛ April 29, with the close April 30 at 34¾. Allied Chemical & Dye, opening at 302 April 1, touched 296 April 3, then rose to 343 April 17, and closing at 325 April 30. As to the copper stocks, Anaconda Copper dropped from 81½ April 2 to 58 April 30, while Kennecott Copper tumbled from 62 April 2 to 44½ April 30. The oil stocks, by reason of the improvement in the outlook for the oil trade, gave a better account of themselves than any others. Standard Oil of New Jersey moved up from 74¼ April 2 to 84⅞ April 30; Standard Oil of California rose from 67¼ April 1 to 75 April 25, with the close April 30 at 74⅛. Houston Oil fell from 102 April 1 to 96 April 4, then advanced to 116⅞ April 25, and closed April 30 at 109. The railroad list, as stated above, was weak almost the entire month. Atchison dropped from 240⅝ April 1 to 218⅝ April 29, and closed April 30 at 223⅜; New York Central fell from 189¾ April 1 to 171¾ April 29, with the close April 30 at 174; Southern Railway tumbled from 130 April 1 to 105 April 30; Union Pacific declined from 241¾ April 1 to 219⅛ April 29, and closed April 30 at 225¾; Northern Pacific fell from 95¼ April 8 to 83 April 29, with the close April 30 at 84⅝; Missouri Pacific dropped from 95¼ April 9 to 86 April 30, and Baltimore & Ohio from 122⅜ April 1 to 112⅜ April 29, with the close April 30 at 113⅛. Bond prices shared moderately in the decline as far as the higher grade issues are concerned (average prices being down nearly a full point), while the convertible issues, of course, fell off sharply in sympathy with the drop in the prices of the shares into which they are exchangeable.

THE MONEY MARKET DURING APRIL 1930.

There was during April no modification of the state of extreme ease in the money market which reached so pronounced a stage during March, though the call loan rate at no time in April dipped so low as in March, when by reason of the temporary demoralization of the money market, caused by the financial operations of the United States Government, the call loan rate on the Stock Exchange at one time plunged down to only 2% per annum, as related in our narrative of money market conditions for that month. It will be recalled that during the latter part of March an upward rebound occurred from the extremely low rates reached during that month on the disappearance of the temporary causes that were responsible for them, this being especially true in the case of call loans on the Stock Exchange and of bankers' acceptances; and from these more nearly normal levels there was relatively little change during April. There was an occasional hardening of rates, due to more or less transient causes, such, for instance, as payments for the $51,316,000 of Treasury bills sold on April 11, but, speaking generally, the variations in money rates during April were slight and unimportant, and this followed, naturally, from the fact that underlying conditions, with respect to money, remained unchanged. The call loan rate on the Stock Exchange covered a range of only 3½ to 4% during the entire month, and the renewal rate remained absolutely unaltered on each and every day at 4%. From April 1 to April 4, inclusive, again from April 11 to April 15, inclusive, and from April 28 to April 30, inclusive, all other loans, as well as renewals, were also at 4%. And the 4% rate likewise prevailed in the closing days of March, which indicates the stability at which the call loan market was maintained, notwithstanding the further steady and large increase in brokers' loans week after week, the Stock Exchange's own figures, issued after the close of the month, showing a further increase in Stock Exchange borrowing during April of $406,829,020, following $488,713,987 increase in March, and $182,820,287 increase in February, reflecting expansion of $1,078,363,294 for the last three months—strongly reminiscent of the state of things prevailing just before the stock market crash of the previous October. On the remaining days of April, where there was a deviation from the 4% rate, some loaning was done each day at 3½% after the renewal rate at the opening of the day had been fixed at 4%. Outside of the Stock Exchange, some overflow of funds for which employment could not be found on the Exchange was placel on more than one occasion on different days of the month as low as 3%.

In time loans on Stock Exchange collateral the fluctuations during April were also relatively slight, and this was to be expected, as new evidence of worldwide ease in money, the result of equally worldwide trade depression and large scale unemployment, kept accumulating week after week. The market for time money, however, remained relatively inactive most of the time, as for a long period previously, but the latter part of the month there was a change in that respect and time money then became in good supply with especially generous offerings in the longer maturities. Trading now also got fairly active, though without noteworthy transactions except in loans running five months. Comparing closing rates April 30 with those on April 1, virtually no change appears except that in the case of the charge for 30-day loans, and also in the case of 90-day loans, the quotation at the end of the month is represented by a single figure, instead of a range covering two figures. For 30-day accommodation were was a range of 3¾@4% April 1, against the single quotation of 3¾% on April 30, and for 90-day money as against a range of 4@4¼% April 1, the quotation April 30 was 4%. The downward dip in both instances occurred on Tuesday, April 29, on which day a general marking down of ¼% occurred. Thus, the rate for 60-day loans, which, since April 14, had stood at 4%, having been marked up to that figure from 3¾@4%, the range existing during the previous days of the month, fell back to 3¾@4% again. On April 29, also, the rate for loans running four months, five months and six months, which had been marked up on April 7 from 4@4¼% to 4¼@4½%, fell back to 4@4¼%. Speaking generally, rates hardened a trifle in the early days of the month, and eased again on April 29. The following shows the time loan rates for the different periods for each day of the month.

One development of the month was the formal establishment, on April 23, on the New York Curb Exchange, of a money desk for the loaning of money on that Exchange. Loans on Curb Exchange collateral are, of course, nothing new, but previously Curb brokers made such loans with their individual banks. The charge on such loans has usually been ½ of 1% above the official Stock Exchange quotation, and in the dealings that followed the inauguration of the Curb money desk this differential was at all times maintained.

Prime commercial paper in the open market remained in good demand throughout the month, and there was often a shortage of paper with the highest grade names. This served to limit activity. Of the available supply, a large part was quickly snapped up by country banks in the Middle West. Rates continued unchanged, names of choice character maturing in four to six months being quoted at 3¾@4%, while names less well known commanded 4¼%. The "Monthly Review" of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, issued under date of May 1, states that during March (the figures on that point being always a month in arrears) a further increase of $72,000,000, or 16%, occurred in the amount of commercial paper outstanding through the 21 dealers from whom the Reserve Bank obtains monthly returns. After six months of continuous increase, we are told, outstandings of commercial paper on Mar. 30 reached a total of $529,000,000, an amount virtually twice as large as at the low level of the previous September. It is furthermore stated that the end of March total was 37% above the volume outstanding in March 1929, and was the largest of any month since May 1928.

The market for banks and bankers' acceptances continued active throughout April, but the supply of bills during the early part of the month often ran in excess of the demand, and after the upward reaction which occurred in bill rates the latter part of March, following the complete demoralization of rates earlier in that month as the result of United States Treasury financing, bill rates in April moved still higher, though with a sharp downward reaction again in the closing days of the month. On April 1 rates were raised ⅛ of 1% on bills maturing in 60, 90 and 120 days, and ¼ of 1% on bills running five months and six months in both the bid and the asked columns. The American Acceptance Council made no further change in the rates established for the different maturities until April 16, when another general advance of ⅛% was made in bills of all maturities, making the quotations 3⅛% bid and 3% asked for bills of 30, 60 and 90 days; 3¼% bid and 3⅛% asked for 120 days, and 3⅜% bid and 3¼% asked for 150 and 180 days. In the meantime, however, there had been considerable confusion in the open market, with some dealers making advances in the case of the shorter maturities long before the Acceptance Council gave them official sanction. After the 21st, the course of rates, except for 30-day bills and those running 60 days, was again downward. On April 22 a reduction of ⅛ of 1% was made in the rate for bills running 120, 150 and 180 days, and on April 28 the rate for 90-day bills was also reduced ⅛ of 1%. The principal inquiry then was for foreign account. At the close of the month, on April 30, the posted rates of the American Acceptance Council were 3⅛% bid and 3% asked for 30 and 60 days; 3% bid and 2⅞% asked for 90 days; 3⅛% bid and 3% asked for 120 days, and 3¼% bid and 3⅛% asked for 150 days and for 180 days. In the open market dealers were reporting sharp reductions from these rates, but which the Acceptance Council did not adopt until the beginning of May; and as the buying rate of the Federal Reserve Bank for 90-day bills was at this time firmly maintained at 3% for 90-day bills, it no longer remained profitable to turn over bills to the Reserve Banks. As a consequence, the holdings of acceptances purchased by the Reserve Banks in the open market were heavily reduced. The Federal Reserve statement for April 30 showed the holdings of acceptances by the 12 Reserve institutions as only $209,564,000, against $301,297,000 on April 2. As a matter of fact, the acceptance holdings of the Reserve institutions fluctuated widely the first half of the month, falling from $301,297,000 April 2 to $267,002,000 April 9, and then rising to $302,414,000 April 16, after which there was a drop to $256,869,000 April 23, and $209,564,000 April 30. Holdings of acceptances by the Reserve Banks for foreign correspondents also were further reduced, following the reduction in March, the total of these April 30 being reported as $465,458,000 against $475,524,000 April 2, and $496,661,000 March 26. A reduction of $84,613,420 in the total of outstanding bankers' acceptances was announced April 16 by the American Acceptance Council as having occurred during the month of March. A reduction is customary at this season, and the total volume of bills on March 31, even after the contraction in March and that in February and January, the contraction for the three months having been $193,150,590, still stood at $1,539,285,798, or $334,306,145 above the total 12 months previously on March 30 1929.

All the Federal Reserve Banks which had been retaining rediscount rates at 4½%, five in number, lowered to 4% during April. In the case of the Dallas Reserve Bank the Federal Reserve Board approved the change April 7, and the 4% rate became operative April 8. The Board announced on April 10 that the Richmond Reserve Bank rate had been cut to 4%, this becoming effective April 11, and on this last mentioned day the Reserve Board announced its approval of the reduction to 4% in the rediscount rate of the St. Louis and Atlanta Reserve Banks, effective April 12. On April 14 announcement of the reduction in the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis from 4½% to 4% was made, the lower rate going into effect April 15. This left all the Reserve Banks quoting the 4% rate with the exception of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which on March 14 had cut its rate to 3½%, and which immediately after the close of April—that is, on May 1—gave notice of a further reduction to 3%, following similar action on that day by the Bank of England.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

Further sharp expansion in the total of brokers' loans was the feature during April, paving the way for the renewed crash in the stock market which came at the opening of May. Taking first the figures for the even month prepared by the New York Stock Exchange, and which are more comprehensive than those of the weekly returns of the Federal Reserve Bank for the reporting member banks in New York City, it is found that Exchange borrowing in April further increased, as already pointed out in our discussion of the money market in the earlier portion of this article, in amount of $406,829,020, following $488,713,987 increase in March, and $182,820,287 increase in February, making no less than $1,078,363,294 for this single period of three months and raising the total of such borrowing from $3,984,768,065 Jan. 31 to $5,063,131,359 on April 30. In the case of the weekly statements of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the record is the same, even though these returns for the reporting member banks in New York City are less inclusive than the Stock Exchange compilations. The Federal Reserve returns are always for the week ending Wednesday night, which this time made the final week of the month correspond with the close of the month on April 30. For the week ending April 30 the total of the loans on securities to brokers and dealers by the reporting member banks in New York City showed an increase of $57,000,000, following $92,000,000 increase the previous week, $131,000,000 increase the week before, and no less than $505,000,000 increase in the six weeks preceding, making $785,000,000 expansion in nine weeks. In the whole of this nine weeks' period, there was only a single week, namely the week ending Mar. 26, that showed a decrease, rather than an increase, and this decrease was of relatively small amount, being only $21,000,000. In the period from Feb. 26 to April 30, the grand total of these brokers' loans rose from $3,489,000,000 to $4,274,000,000. In the five weeks from Mar. 26 to April 30 the increase was from $3,820,000,000 to $4,274,000,000. In this period of five weeks increases appeared in each of the three different categories of loans, but most of all in the loans made by these reporting member banks for their own account. These latter ran up from $1,424,000,000 March 26 to $1,695,000,000 April 30; in the same five weeks the loans for account of out-of-town banks increased from $1,118,000,000 to $1,183,000,000, and the loans "for account of others" from $1,278,000,000 to $1,397,000,000.

This increase in Stock Exchange borrowing was attended by only a relatively small increase in borrowing at the Reserve Banks by the member banks of the Reserve System. The discount holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions, which constitute the measure of such member bank borrowings, increased from $206,829,000 Mar. 26 to $241,123,000 April 2, then fell to $211,491,000 April 23, and were $233,452,000 April 30. Open market purchases of acceptances, as already indicated further above, followed an irregular course, and for the month as a whole showed a very heavy reduction. From $256,482,000 Mar. 26, there was an increase to $301,297,000 April 2, then a drop to $267,002,000 April 9, followed by an increase to $302,414,000 April 16, after which there was a sharp falling off, first to $256,859,000 April 23, and then to $209,564,000 April 30. In the holdings of United States Government securities no changes of any great consequence occurred, as far as the grand total of the holdings is concerned. The amount April 30 was $529,509,000 against $530,389,000 April 2 and $528,999,000 on March 26. The final result of these various changes was a slight reduction in the volume of Federal Reserve credit outstanding, total bill and security holdings April 30 being down to $982,225,000 against $1,081,589,000 April 2, and $1,001,090,000 Mar. 26. The volume of Federal Reserve notes outstanding was also somewhat lower, being reported $1,507,268,000 April 30 against $1,576,097,000 April 2 and $1,572,900,000 Mar. 26. Gold reserves (as a result largely of the heavy gold importations) were $3,072,660,000 April 30 against $3,021,709,000 April 2, and $3,051,002,000 Mar. 26.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING APRIL.

There were no conspicuous changes in foreign exchange rates during April and no developments outside the ordinary. The course of sterling exchange was somewhat lower, while rates on France, on Switzerland, on Holland, and Belgium were towards higher levels and exchange on most of the other Continental centers was quite firm. Growing ease in money was a feature all over Europe, and while during April reductions in discount rates by the different central banks were not as numerous, or as important, as were those recorded during March, or as those which came immediately on the opening of May (the Bank of England cutting its rate May 1 from 3½% to 3% and the Bank of France from 3% to 2½%), they yet carried significance as being part of the general movement downward. The National Bank of Switzerland on April 3 reduced its rate from 3½% to 3%, being the first change made by this Bank since Oct. 22 1925. On April 1 the National Bank of Sweden reduced from 4% to 3½%, after having reduced on Mar. 6 from 4½% to 4%. The National Bank of Yugoslavia on April 12 marked its rate down from 6% to 5½%. On April 24 the Bank of Italy, which had been charging 6½% since Mar. 13, lowered its rate to 6%. On April 28 the Finland National Bank reduced from 7% to 6½%. On April 30 the National Bank of Belgium, which since Jan. 1 had been maintaining a rate of 3½%, reduced to 3%. It might be mentioned, also, as an event outside of Europe, that on April 3 the Imperial Bank of India cut its rate from 7% to 6%.

The Bank of England was able further to re-enforce its gold holdings, even though it had to meet a drain of gold to Germany, which latter country also drew gold from Paris, and some gold also drifted to Switzerland from both Paris and London. The London supply came from Australia. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York figures the arrivals from Australia at London at £6,000,000, and places the total from that source on the current movement at £17,000,000. During the month the Bank of England stock of gold was increased about £8,000,000. The return of the Bank for the week ending April 9 showed a gain of £3,656,986, that for the week ending April 16 a gain of £5,848, that for the week ending April 23 a gain of £3,054,891, and that for the week ending April 30 a further gain of £440,576. The exchanges at Berlin, Paris and Amsterdam and a number of other points all ran strongly against London, and reports in banking circles were to the effect that a fairly large volume of sterling bills created for the purchase of American securities had appeared in the market. Another cause of weakness was heavy transfers of British funds to Amsterdam with the result of raising Dutch guilders to high figures. These transfers were particularly in evidence after the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Phillip Snowden, presented his budget to the British House of Commons on Monday, April 14, providing for substantial increases in income taxes, supertaxes and death duties. The transfer of British funds both to New York and Amsterdam at this time was attributed largely to flight of British capital from the proposed new taxes. If this constituted only a relatively mild "flight of the pound" as a result of the Labor Government's plans it apparently sufficed to offset the usual seasonal factors which under ordinary circumstances might be expected to give firmness to sterling exchange at this time. It appeared also that owing to the low open market discount rates in London, American finance bills were being offered in London. Cable transfers on London as against 4.86⅝ April 1, were down to 4.86 1/16 April 22, with the range April 30, 4.86 7/32@4.86 9/32. The Canadian dollar ruled at a discount most of the month.

As to the gold movement to and from the United States, the New York Federal Reserve Bank figures a net gain to the country's gold stock in April of more than $57,600,000, and in arriving at that figure says:

"Continued receipts of gold from Brazil, amounting to $25,000,000, and the receipt of $2,400,000 from Peru made up the bulk of the imports at the Port of New York during the first 29 days of April. In addition, $10,000,000 of gold from Brazil and $1,000,000 from Uruguay are expected to arrive on April 30. Imports of gold at San Francisco from the Far East continued, $15,600,000 arriving from Japan and $3,900,000 from China. Total receipts from Japan in this movement now amount to about $94,600,000, and receipts from Brazil total $57,700,000, including the import of the 30th. As exports were negligible and no change occurred in gold ear-marked for foreign account, it appears that there will be a net gain to the country's gold stock in April of more than $57,600,000. Since the first of January net imports and changes in ear-marked gold have resulted in a total gain of approximately $194,000,000 of gold."

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

Firmness was the chief characteristic of most of the exchanges on the Continental centers. The Bank of France lost some further substantial amounts of gold, owing to a flow of the metal to Germany and some to Switzerland, but was understood not to be averse to this, the Bank desiring that the Paris market, by reason of its great abundance of capital, should assume larger importance as an international money center, with investments in foreign bills and foreign securities, and the French Government being in accord with the effort and ready to aid it by a reduction in the stamp duties on foreign bills and also by lowering taxes on foreign securities. In its statement for the week ending April 5 the Bank of France showed a decline in gold holdings of 199,210,849 francs, and in the week ending April 12 a further loss of 33,000,000 francs, but this was followed by an increase of 8,683,365 francs in the week ending April 19 and of 17,161,999 francs in the week ending April 26, with 1,000,000 francs decrease in the week ending May 3. An expansion in the Bank's note circulation of 750,000,000 francs was reported in the week ending April 5, but this was followed by 331,000,000 francs decrease the next week and 345,000,000 francs the following week, and 130,000,000 francs in the week ending April 26, with 1,603,000,000 francs increase in the week ending May 3. The French Government's decision to adopt a policy of drastic reduction in paper circulation was made known in the Chamber of Deputies on April 25, by Finance Minister Paul Reynaud in supporting his program of tax decreases. Enormous amounts of notes had been put afloat when the Poincare Government undertook to accomplish stabilization of the franc by the purchase of foreign moneys abroad. This produced great inflation in France and raised the cost of living, which now it was proposed to lower by contraction of the note circulation. As part of the means to that end the French Finance Minister proposed a 50% reduction in the stamp tax on Bourse operations and a cut from 25% to 18% in the income tax on holders of foreign securities. The Finance Minister's theory is that this reduction will lead French investors to buy foreign securities, to do which they must have recourse to the Bank of France to obtain foreign moneys to make their purchases. In this way the reserve of foreign specie would be made to dwindle. "With each export of gold," declared M. Reynaud, "there would be a corresponding destruction of bank notes—a policy which already has been put into operation by the Bank of France." Cable transfers on Paris were 3.92⅝ April 30 against 3.91 7/16@3.91⅝ April 1.

In the case of the German mark, word came from Berlin on April 22 that the directors of the Reichsbank had resolved on gold redemption of the Bank's notes from the day of the official proclamation of the Young plan as German law. In effect, however, the resolution merely made official a practice which had been observed de facto for the past three years. The Reichsbank's law, adopted on Oct. 11 1924 made it mandatory for the Reichsbank to redeem the notes presented to it, but the Bank was given the option of paying the bearer in exchange for the note either German gold coin, bullion or checks representing payment in foreign exchange of a gold standard country. In recent practice, however, Berlin dispatches stated, the Bank officials have shown their entire willingness to issue gold bullion in large amounts when this was required for export purposes. Cable transfers on Berlin were 23.88 April 30 against 23.87½@ 23.87¾ April 1. The Bank of Germany showed an increase in gold holdings the first seven days of April of 48,496,000 marks, a further increase of 5,698,000 marks the following seven days, of 6,928,000 marks in the week ending April 23, and of 8,449,000 marks in the wek ending April 30. The note circulation diminished 238,191,000 marks the first week, 258,671,000 marks the second week, 198,843,000 marks the third week, with 554,300,000 marks increase in the week ending April 30. In Italian exchange the fluctuations were very slight, cable transfers being quoted at 5.24⅛ April 30 against 5.24⅛@5.24 3/16 on April 1. As stated further above, the Bank of Italy on April 24 reduced its rate of discount from 6½% to 6%.

Exchange on the countries neutral during the war moved quite steadily toward higher levels, with a sharp rise in Holland guilders and Swiss francs. The rise in guilders was attributed in part to sales of Dutch-owned British securities in London, accompanied by repatriation of Amsterdam funds from London, and in part, also, to some flight of British capital to Holland growing out of Chancellor Snowden's new budget providing for larger income taxes and heavier death duties. The advance in Swiss francs was attended by importations of gold into Switzerland from London, all these various transactions being attributed to requirements in connection with the establishment of the Bank for International Settlements in Switzerland. In addition, Switzerland on April 1 formally adopted the gold exchange standard. This meant no departure in prevailing practice, which had long been on that basis, but involved merely de jure establishment of the gold basis on the date named. The National Bank of Switzerland on April 3 reduced its discount rate from 3½% to 3%, being the first change made by this bank since Oct. 22 1925. Cable transfers on Amsterdam, as against 40.13½ April 1, touched 40.26½ April 30. Swiss francs on cable transfers sold up from 19.36 April 1 to 19.39½ April 25, and were 19.39¼ April 30. The Scandinavian exchanges were not greatly changed. As already noted, the National Bank of Sweden on April 1 further reduced its discount rate from 4% to 3½%. In addition, the Swedish Government removed the embargo on gold imports established in 1924, when Sweden returned to the gold standard, the ban having been imposed at that time with a view to preventing too large an inflow of the metal. Cable transfers on Sweden were 26.88@26.88½ April 30, against 26.88@26.89 April 1; cable transfers on Denmark April 30 were 26.77@26.77½, against 26.78@26.79½ April 1. The Norwegian crown on cable transfers was 26.77@26.77½ April 30, against 26.77½@26.78½ April 1. Spanish pesetas fluctuated more or less widely, but on the whole failed to hold their own; cable transfers on Spain April 30 being 12.42@12.45, against 12.45@12.50½ April 1.

Exchange on South American points was featured by a renewed drop in the Argentine peso after improvement during the early part of the month; cable transfers on Argentina, as against 38½@38.75 April 1, sold as high as 40.00 April 9, but ranged April 30 from 38½ to 38.85. The early strength doubtless grew out of the floating here of a $50,000,000 loan for the Argentine Government, running, however, only six months. The Province of Buenos Aires also placed an additional issue of $3,675,000 6½% bonds. The fundamental problem with Argentina arises out of the decline in its export trade, owing to the reduced home crop of wheat the past season, accompanied by lower prices for wheat and redundant supplies of the grain all over the world. Brazilian milreis moved higher, and for cable transfers were quoted April 30 at 11.85@11.90, against 11.75 April 1. Brazil, of course, greatly strengthened its position by the large shipments of gold which it has been making to the United States and to London. Roughly, $35,000,000 of gold arrived at New York during April, besides $3,400,000 from Uruguay. As already noted further above, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York estimates total receipts of the metal from Brazil on the current movement at $57,700,000. A loan of $25,000,000 for the Republic of Chile was also negotiated here during the month, but it had no effect upon the exchange value of the Chilean peso, which was quoted at 12.03@12.10 throughout the whole month.

The Far Eastern exchanges showed no important variations. The Japanese yen was very steady, in face of the fact that local conditions in Japan appeared to be far from satisfactory, as evidenced by the repeated closing of the Tokio Stock Exchange. According to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, Japan has parted with no less than $94,600,000 gold to the United States since the re-establishment of the gold basis early in January and the removal of the embargo on gold exports. Exchanges on the silver using countries are dependent mainly on the fluctuations in silver, and as the price of silver showed little further change during April, exchange rates likewise remained fairly stable. The dollar on Hong Kong was quoted at 37 5/16@37 9/16 on April 30 for checks, against 37⅜@37 11/16 April 1, and tael on Shanghai were 47@47⅛ April 30, against 47⅛@47¼ April 1. The price of silver in London, as against 19 7/16d. per ounce on Mar. 31, sold down to 19 3/16d. April 3, but on April 23 had recovered to 19 13/16d; the quotation April 30 was 19⅝d.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD

RANGE OF BOND PRICES DURING APRIL 1930.

The tables on pages 13 to 35 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during April and the range since Jan. 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom, however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return. Recently however, owing to the tension in the money market, it has happened in not a few instances that the shorter maturities have been yielding the highest rate of return and the longer maturities the lowest rate of return, and where that happens to be the case, the range has been reversed to read, say 4.35% to 4.25%.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

Banks & Trust Companies

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest-weekly statement.
