MR. McCULLOCH AND CURRENCY REFORM.

Much diversity of opinion prevails as to the immediate future of the loan market. Some persons of great experience maintain that the stability in the rate of interest during the past four years, and our exemption from those violent, severe oscillations which previously had been too frequent, are now over. This comparative uniformity, this equable, steady movement in our monetary machinery has been due, they suppose, to the expansion of the currency. And since the expansion has now culminated, and the contraction already commencing is to be vigorously carried forward, there will be inevitably produced, it is said, a series of spasmodic fluctuations in the rate of interest; severe protracted stringency alternating with intervals of ease; but the general tendency being toward higher rates than we have been of late accustomed to pay.

Another party urge that such sudden fluctuations in the interest of money, are not of necessity, concomitants of a healthy, gradual contraction. Admitting that if the restoration of our currency be attempted by violent, rash, and hasty measures, such fluctuations might attend the process, and would prevent or delay its accomplishment, they urge that a slow and judicious decrease in the volume of our paper money will not of necessity be attended by any serious trouble. The frequent discussions in financial circles, to which these various opinions give rise, have combined with other causes to spread a general incertitude, and are exerting a depressing influence over the operations of legitimate business in all parts of the country. Moreover, the prevalent anxiety is augmented by various rumors from imaginative Washington correspondents relative to the plans to be recommended to Congress in Mr. McCulloch's forthcoming report.

Now, without claiming any special private knowledge of these recommendations, we may advert to one or two points which may help to allay the monetary anxiety which though utterly without foundation is paralyzing to some extent the commercial energy and industrial enterprise of our people.

And first, these apprehensions of stringency are at present directed solely to the operations of the Treasury and not at all to any other national complications. The rate of interest is not expected to become seriously disturbed except as the government disturbs it by withdrawing and cancelling the currency. Accordingly one rumor is, that 200 millions of paper money are to be in a very short interval destroyed. The Tribune a few days ago referred to this rumor in a very earnest and characteristic editorial in the following terms:

"Suppose we should all awake on the morning of December 1, and learn that Two Hundred Millions or so of our Greenbacks had been funded and destroyed, and that the residue had thereupon appreciated to a par with coin, so that the Government and Banks had practically resumed Specie Payment: what then? What would be the public harm? and what the difficulty of holding the ground thus gained? In other words, what good is secured or retained by continuing to call seventy to seventy-five cents a dollar? * * * Let us not be affrighted by shadows. Resumption—immediate resumption—is practicable (by the aid of proper legislation) to-day—has been so ever since the Government ceased to require more money for its current outgoes than it is day by day receiving from Internal Taxes and Duties on Imports combined."

Now, it is sufficient to say in reply to these statements, that the sudden withdrawal of 200 millions of currency is absolutely impracticable. It, of course, means the negotiation of a loan for that sum; and no such amount of bonds could be negotiated in an uneasy money market, except at a sacrifice which would defeat its own purpose, and compromise the national credit at home and abroad. Indeed, it is impossible that any movements of the Treasury towards currency contraction should cause serious prolonged stringency. Such perturbations always cause government securities to be forced on the market; because the weaker holders are compelled to sell in order to protect their credit, preserve their solvency, and meet the sudden interruption of the accommodation they had previously been relying on. These securities would compete in the market with the contraction loan offered by the government with what result it is easy to see.

The great safeguard of our financial system, however, and its chief protector against stringency is found in the call loans. Of these there are in the Treasury no less than 100 millions of dollars at 4, 5, and 6 per cent interest. Now, the very earliest tremors of monetary perturbation cause a demand upon the Treasury for the repayment of part of these demand loans, and the drain continues until the equilibrium is restored and the stringency passes away.

Not to mention others then, there are these two reasons why no plan adopted by the Treasury with a view to contraction, can for some time to come produce serious disturbance in the rate of interest. First the market is too heavily burdened with government securities to admit of the sale of a contraction loan by Mr. McCulloch when money is not extremely easy; and secondly if stringency, from any cause, supervenes, it is immediately followed by a drain on the call loans which gives renewed elasticity to the currency, and brings out legal tenders from the Treasury vaults until the evil is corrected, and confidence revives.

But it may be urged that if this be so contraction and restoration of the currency are impossible. In answer we need only point to the fact that during the space of a few months, and without any disturbance of the money market, the active currency has been in effect diminished to the extent of more than 150 millions of dollars by the almost unperceived agency of the compound interest notes. If, then, compound notes are in their turn absorbed by long bonds offered in judicious amounts, and at fit times; and if our 428 millions of greenbacks are gradually replaced by new compound notes, which can be hereafter absorbed; it is probable that by slow, gentle steps we shall achieve the object which would baffle and defy more violent and hasty efforts, and shall be able to withdraw all our government paper money, leaving the field of the currency free to the national bank notes based on government bonds, and redeemable in coin on demand. Even ould this process of currency reform require several years for its complete accomplishment, it will only be because the work is so great, and cannot probably be otherwise done.

OUR SECURITIES AT HOME AND ABROAD.

In accordance with the expectation we expressed last week, the decline in government securities is apparently for the present arrested, and indeed a slight improvement has taken place, though a subsequent relapse was developed, in consequence of an unfavorable interpretation of the news that our cavalry have been sent to Texas. Another circumstance which is believed to have exerted no small influence in the price of government securities, is the near approach of the meeting of Congress, and the contemplation of the grave fiscal problems which it will be called upon to solve. From some cause a disposition appears in certain quarters to take a gloomy view of our national finances, to over-rate the pressure of our stupendous debt, and to under-rate the strength by which the burden has to be borne. A few desponding statesmen and querulous writers tell us that we have destroyed a vast amount of our wealth in the war, but they close their eyes to the impulse which the war has given to our unrivaled wealth-producing powers. They complain of the inconvenient form in which a part of the debt has been placed; but they forget that during the war we laughed at the croakers, who showed us far more formidable difficulties, and that we not only surmounted these difficulties but changed them into financial triumphs. The fallacy that a national debt is a national blessing is not more repugnant than the contrary fallacy that our debt is too oppressive for our resources, a harbinger of bankruptcy, an intolerable evil, a burden too heavy to be borne.

In view of present facts we wonder at the mistakes of those great men who declared a century ago that it had been better for England to have succumbed before Prussia or Austria than to be burdened with the interest of 140 millions sterling, and urged that a very small addition to this debt would be fatal. For we see that by taxes the England of to-day can raise every two years the whole amount of her then debt, and can still enable Mr. Gladstone to tell the people that their burdens per capita are reduced every year. The pressure of a nation's debt, then, is to be measured not so much by what the people can bear at present, as by their prospective growth in wealth, in productive skill, in industrial resources, in numbers, in power, in inventive genius and in extent of territory.

If, however, we were so foolish as to doubt whether our National Securities, at present rates, offer investments for capital which are more lucrative and inviting than those of any other country, shrewd foreigners are deterred by no such fears. For several months past European capital has been funding itself in five-twenty bonds, with such eagerness that the advance in the rate of interest in Germany has been attributed in part to this cause, and even the coupons received here on Wednesday last by the China were sufficiently large in amount to affect the rates of foreign exchange.

We do not here raise the question as to how far it is desirable for our bonds to be held abroad. It is sufficient for the present purpose to note, as a fact to be considered in forecasting the future movements in the prices of our National Securities, that whatever a few of our timorous capitalists may surmise, foreign financiers, equally with the masses of our own people, have full confidence in these securities, and in the prosperous destiny reserved for the future of our free Republic.

EXPORT DUTIES ON TOBACCO AND PETROLEUM.

WE presume it may be taken for granted that Congress will appreciate the necessity of giving early attention to the internal revenue laws. Commerce is suffering severely from some of the existing imposts. since the taxes press with especial severity on certain of our leading exportable products, upon which no drawback is allowed on exportation. Cotton has to pay a duty of two cents per pound; tobacco a duty of thirty or forty cents per pound, and petroleum one dollar per barrel. The exports of these articles, may in future, constitute nearly two-thirds in value of the total shipments of our product, to foreign countries. It is, therefore, most important that no impediment to their production should be permitted to exist. Specific taxes are a premium upon the competition of foreign producers, and, no matter what our facilities for production, must tend to limit the demand. If the advantages of our own producers of petroleum, tobacco, or cotton are such as will enable them to add their tax to the price of the commodity, then the enhanced cost limits consumption and the producers suffer from a reduced demand. If foreign competition is so close as to render it impossible to add the tax to the price of the article, then the tax comes directly out of the pocket of the producer; one class suffers unequally from taxation, and capital is compelled to seek a more remunerative employment.

These results have already been developed to a great extent in connection with the tobacco trade. Large numbers of manufacturers have been compelled, after severe losses, to forsake their business; the production has fallen off from 425,000,000 pounds in 1860, to about one-third that amount the present year; dishonest trading has been encouraged; smuggling has become common, and the tobacco trade is now suffering an extreme depression.

It would be a suicidal policy to continue in operation these fatal tendencies, in connection with commodities upon which we are chiefly dependent for our position in foreign markets. The founders of the Constitution of the United States showed a wise appreciation of the injurious tendency of duties upon exportable commodities when they incorporated a clause in that instrument expressly prohibiting export duties. Technically, the disallowance of drawbacks upon exports of taxed products may not be a violation of the Constitution; but it unquestionably inflicts upon our producers the very evil which the clause in question was designed to avert.

Some may argue that the South being responsible for the rebellion, it is only fair that its cotton and tobacco should be specially taxed to support the burthens consequent upon the war. But it should be remembered that any special taxation upon the Southern population reacts directly upon the North, so that the burthens are ultimately shared by us. If the profits of the cotton and tobacco crops are reduced, the South has so much less means for the purchase of Northern products and of foreign merchandise imported by Northern merchants; so that it is impossible in this way to administer justice to the South without at the same time inflicting upon other sections a gratuitous and unmerited injury. Yet even if this were not so, it would be folly to maintain taxes upon punitive considerations, when the laws of social economy render their equal administration impossible. Besides, it may well be questioned whether a prudent statesmanship would endanger the future harmony of the late hostile sections by legislation that would be deemed at once vindictive in purpose and injurious in effect.

Petroleum, though not at present a Southern product, like tobacco and cotton, has yet urgent claims for exemption from duty upon its export. Owing to a reduction in the production, the price has advanced to a point at which other similar oils are much better able to compete with it than formerly. In England an oil is being produced from coal, which possesses similar properties to petroleum and is now selling in very close competition with our own product. Exporters of petroleum in this city complain that the foreign demand is falling off in consequence of the advanced price of the article, and state that it will be impossible to send the former large shipments to Great Britain and the Continent unless the oil can be sold at a lower price. Petroleum can be used for a vast variety of purposes abroad, if the price can be reduced; and, with the immense resources existing in this country, the export might rise to the magnitude of a leading staple; and another monopoly, second only to that of cotton, might be given to our exporting commerce. But the revenue tax, equivalent to nearly ten per cent, curtails the exportation, and checks the development of this newly discovered source of national wealth.

Upon these considerations, it is desirable that when Congress undertakes the revision of our internal revenue law, due weight be given to the objections against such taxes as contract our external commerce, or injure our more extensive and more vulnerable domestic productions.

EMIGRATION OF CAPITAL AND LABOR.

A GENTLEMAN now in business in London, but formerly a resident of this country, in a late letter to one of our leading citizens, which we have been permitted to read, presents in the following extract a good idea of the extent of the emigration from Europe to the United States which the next year promises:

"Steamship lines hence to America are multiplying wonderfully, and I fully expect to witness next year the largest emigration from Europe to the United States ever known. Not only that, but the wide spread publicity which, in every way and shape, is being given to the resources and attraction of our country, must be the means of directing the flow of capital thither in amounts hitherto unknown. The London Times during the war was our worst enemy; but now, as though anxious to atone for its past offenses, it is doing its best to write up our country and its interests, as will be seen, ere long, with wonderful effect. Letters from a well-known correspondent describing the Oil Regions of Pennsylvania and its wonderful scenes, its products and prosperity, are now attracting general attention, and will, I doubt not, greatly swell the tide of travel, as well as emigration, in that direction the ensuing year. It seems to me that the most sanguine of us must fail to realize the greatness and prosperity which are in store for the United States.

From every direction since the restoration of peace we have the same promise of increased emigration. The political changes in Europe within the last two years have tended to this result. The oppressive conditions imposed by the German powers upon Denmark, and the occupation of the two duchies of Schleswig and Holstein by Prussia and Austria, have already directed the attention of the inhabitants of those countries to the subject of removal. Whole districts contemplate coming to this country, bringing their property with them. Already have Swedish colonists in considerable numbers made their way into the interior of Virginia, and Danes are following in their wake. Large bodies of Germans are also on their way to upper Texas, and tracts of land have been purchased for the purpose of establishing settlements of Poles. It would seem as though a general exodus from Northern Europe to this country was in contemplation.

Nor could it take place at a more opportune period. We need both the labor and capital thus furnished, and we have greater inducements to offer the emigrant than ever before. The colonists will not come empty-handed. They generally possess little properties, the proceeds of which they will bring with them, aiding materially their own labor in developing the resources of their new homes. Thus the accession of half a million of emigrants from Europe to our population would make the addition of many millions to the capital of this country.

There are more inducements than formerly for such emigration. The events of the civil war have served to exhibit our resources, and to acquaint the world with the advantages we possess. Its happy conclusion has also multiplied and diversified the branches of productive industry, so that every new-comer can find employment for his labor and capital with little delay or difficulty. The Western States abound with lands sufficient to give homesteads to the whole population of Europe, beside mines of coal and iron, lead and copper, zinc and other metals, only wanting capital and labor for their profitable working. The district lately in rebellion, affords the most abundant opportunities for profitable investment for the purpose of agriculture, mining and manufactures. The climate is the most genial in the world; the soil, most of it, has never known skillful and remunerative cultivation; the streams abound with mill privileges, available for manufacturing purposes to an incredible extent; and the mountains contain veins of most valuable ore. The abolition of slavery has removed the great impediment to occupation by white workingmen; and only the safeguards of good government are required, impartial legislation, free institutions, and a due provision for popular education, to ensure the conditions essential to prosperity.

Already emigration companies have been formed to establish new settlements in eligible districts of the Southern States. One is in operation under the presidency of the Governor of Massachusetts; another has begun business with five millions of acres of land at its disposal for nominal prices, in different States and districts. Other similar associations will soon be organized to share in the advantages of the enterprise. Thus will not only the millions of emigrants from Europe be supplied with homes and employment for their capital, but adventurers now from our own free North will also repair thither to achieve fortune and position.

The different States of the Union are also competitors in the same field. Years ago Wisconsin and other Western States were in the practice of employing State Agents to visit Europe to induce emigration. Maryland this very year engaged in the same enterprise, sending an agent to Germany for colonists. Pamphlets describing the resources of the State, the fertility of the soil, the mildness and salubrity of the climate, were printed in German and widely circulated with gratifying success. In a few weeks ship-loads of emigrants sailed directly for Baltimore and have continued to arrive there ever since. The other States of the South afford greater inducements still, and hence colonists with large amounts of money are going thither.

THE UNITED STATES, FRANCE, AND MEXICO.

[Communicated.]

THE appointment by the Government of the United States of a Minister to the Republican Government of Mexico, is a most important and significant event, and virtually determines the issue of the Mexican question. As in the case of the recognition of the Spanish American States, it is an event which marks the inauguration of a determined policy. So long as the action to be taken by our Government was not known, the Mexican question remained necessarily undecided. That country is comparatively powerless, and in the presence of a large armed force from Europe the issue has been transferred from that of a question between France and Mexico to one between France and the United States. Left to herself and without the interference of the United States, it has been, of course, perfectly practicable for France, with the expenditure of sufficient money and men, to establish at her own pleasure either an empire with an Austrian arch-duke at its head, a vice-royalty under Marshal Bazaine, or to reduce the country to the condition of a mere colonial dependency of France.

But as either of these proceedings involved questions of the highest interest to the United States in its position as the leading power upon this continent, the adjoining neighbor to Mexico, and the great exemplar of free government, it has been obvious that when once our war was terminated the question could not be settled without the acquiescence or action in some way of our government. Louis Napoleon believed, however, that our war would not be terminated except in the disruption of the American Union. It was this belief which led him to commence the expedition to Mexico, and to openly announce the policy set forth in his letter to General Forey.

Necessarily all action by the government of the United States upon the Mexican question, so far as taking any other steps than uniformly and persistently calling the attention of the French government to the position we have always held with regard to any intervention by European powers in the domestic affairs of the nations upon this continent, and our decided and rightful preference for the prevalence of republican forms of government, has been delayed until our greater work at home could be finished. That task having been successfully accomplished it was the duty of the government to take such action as could not be misunderstood. Nor was it possible for it to do otherwise than follow the decided bent of public opinion, in determining what policy should be pursued. The expression of the popular voice had been too earnest and too unanimous in favor of the Republican cause in Mexico to leave the government any choice.

By many it has been thought that notice should at once be served upon France to withdraw from Mexico, with war as the alternative. No such step as this, however, was required, nor would it have been wise. What was necessary was, that by some formal act, we should cause it to be understood that the "Empire" in Mexico is an impossibility, because it can never be recognized or acquiesced in by the United States; and that therefore the sooner the attempt is abandoned the better it will be for all parties concerned. All the world well understands that the "Empire" really rests on no basis of right, that it is purely an exotic planted in the interests of France, in violation of the most sacred principles of international justice, and by means that would not be tolerated for a moment as between the nations of Europe. It is equally evident that what it would not be right for the United States to do, and what it would not be permitted to do, in Belgium—overthrow by force of American Arms monarchical institutions, and plant a Republic there—it is not right for France to do in Mexico. Hence, whatever attitude is taken by the United States upon this question, must finally be acquiesced in by France, because it will be supported by the moral sense of all the world.

Maximilian had not been heard of in Mexico before the advent of the French forces. There was but one government in existence, that of the Republic, emanating from the free will of the people expressed in conformity with the organic law of the land, the constitution, copied after our own, and this government was recognized, not only by the United States, but by all the European Powers including that of France. No grievance amounting to a just cause of war was urged, nor was war ever formally declared; yet the armed forces of France invaded the country, and made war not upon the nation, but as the French Representative expressly declared, upon the government of the country, which was republican in its form. Immediately upon the occupation of the capital by the French forces a convention of notables was called and appointed by General Forey, which declared Mexico an Empire, and offered the crown to the Archduke Maximilian.

No pretence or sophistry can convince any one that there was in this aught more of right than is conferred by brute force. France, as we have said before, was powerful enough to do as she pleased.

The Mexican people naturally have continued to resist with all the means at their command. The legitimate constitutional authorities, although driven from point to point, by the superior forces of France, have never left the territory of the Republic, and in all that part of the country not actually in the armed possession of the foreign force, their authority continues to be respected and obeyed, while everywhere the struggle is still carried on.

Aside from the principles involved, there has been, therefore, as yet, no occasion for the government of the United States to withdraw the recognition it has continued to extend by the maintenance of diplomatic relations with its Minister in Washington, Señor Romero, to the government of the Republic as the only legitimate and lawful authority of the nation.

Meanwhile the war has been prosecuted by the foreign forces in Mexico with peculiar, and almost unexampled atrocity, although with but little substantial or permanent success, until, it would almost seem, as an evidence of desperation, Maximilian has recently been induced to issue a decree in which he proclaims death within twenty-four hours to all Mexicans who continue to oppose him, that is, who continue to struggle for republican institutions, and to free their country from the foreign invader.

It is at this moment that our own condition permits the United States to act. Our government now takes up the question, and by the deliberate proceeding of accrediting a Minister to President Juarez it says to all the world that the final decision of the United States is, that we cannot acquiesce in the destruction of republican institutions in Mexico by the force of European arms, and the establishment of a monarchy there under the protection of an European Power, or to be maintained by the aid of soldiers imported from Europe.

It cannot be otherwise, from the nature of the circumstances, than that this decision of the United States must determine the Mexican question. France will acquiesce and withdraw her troops, because this result is only the legitimate consequence of the false premise upon which she attempted to found an Empire in Mexico was based, namely, that the union of the United States was forever destroyed.

There is no moral basis, either in Mexico, or in the opinion of the world, for the Empire to rest upon. It is supported solely by the power of France, and it continues to exist only through the forbearance of the United States. Both the duty and the interest of the United States place a limit to that forbearance, and there is no interest of France to be served of sufficient importance to lead her to continue in the position she now holds. That the affair will be settled without war we have not a doubt, for the action of our government will be temperate and wise though decided, and France will be able to withdraw without dishonor.

SOUTHERN PRIVATEERS.

THE capture of the Shenandoah closes the history of Southern privateers, and we give, therefore, this week (pages 679, 680, 681,) a complete list of vessels destroyed or bonded by them. It will be seen that there have been 4 steamers, 78 ships, 43 brigs, 82 barks, 68 schooners, in all 275 vessels of nearly 1,000,000 tons in the aggregate captured. We now add a short account of each vessel fitted out in behalf of the South.

The first Southern privateer was the Savannah, formerly Pilot boat No. 7, a schooner of 55 tons. She sailed from Charleston about June 1, 1861, under command of J. Harrison Baker, and captured the brig Joseph bound from Honduras for Philadelphia, with cargo sugar, &c. She accompanied the Joseph to Georgetown Bar, and on June 3 was captured by the U. S. brig Perry, and sent with prize crew to New York, where she was subsequently sold. She carried one eighteen pound gun, and her capture created much excitement, as her crew were at first held as pirates, though subsequently released.

The Sumter was built by C. H. & W. M. Crump in 1857, and called the Habano, afterwards the Alfonzo. She was 180 feet long, 30 feet beam, 10 feet depth of hold, drawing 9 feet 6 inches, and 500 tons burden, 9 guns, crew about 200 men. She left the Mississippi River on the 30th June, 1861, under command of Raphael Semmes, and captured several prizes, which were sent into Cienfuegos, but subsequently released or recaptured. July 24, 1861, at Curacoa, and left; July 26, 1861, at Porto Cabello, with prize brig Abbie Bradford (released); August 20 she arrived at Surinam, and left August 31; September 16 was at Maranham, and October 10th among the Windward Isles; November 9 arrived at Martinique, and on November 20 was in lat. 20.35 N, lon. 57.12 W, making captures; January 4, 1862, she was at Cadiz, and arrived at Gibraltar January 19, 1862, where she remained some four months watched by U. S. cruisers, until escape becoming hopeless she was sold to English parties.

The privateer Jeff Davis, Captain Coxetter, was fitted out at Charleston, and in June, 1861, captured the bark Rowena; on July 9 she was off Nantucket, and next heard of about 800 miles east of Cape Florida, where she captured the ship John Crawford, and finally was wrecked on St. Augustine Bar August 17, 1861, having captured 7 vessels.

The privateer J. O. Nixon was fitted out at New Orleans, about August 1, 1861, but the blockade prevented her from doing much damage.

The Calhoun, Captain Wilson, was a steamer formerly on the line between Charleston and Savannah, and with the Joy and Music was fitted out at New Orleans.

The privateer Petrel, formerly the Revenue Cutter Aiken, was sunk by the U. S. S. St. Lawrence off Charleston about August 1, 1861.

The privateer Judah was destroyed at Pensacola Sept. 13, 1861, by an armed expedition in a boat sent from the U. S. blockade forces.

The Winslow was fitted out at Wilmington in 1861, and made five captures.

The schooner Sallie, formerly the Virginian, under command of Captain Libby, left Charleston Oct. 10, 1861, making two captures.

The Nashville, Captain R. P. Pegram, 2,100 tons, was formerly in Spofford & Tileston's line of steamers between New York and Charleston, and was in Charleston at the beginning of the rebellion under command of L. M. Murray, who joined the rebels. She sailed from Charleston Oct. 26, 1861, evading the blockade, and arrived at Southampton November 20th, having captured and burnt the ship Harvey Birch. She left Southampton February 3, 1862, the U. S. Steamer Tuscarora being prevented from pursuing her by the British Frigate Shannon. February 20 arrived at Bermuda; left 24th, and arrived at Beaufort, N. C. February 28, having ran the blockade March 18; she left Beaufort, and on the 27th was at Nassau. Her career was mainly as a blockade runner, and she was finally blockaded and burnt by U. S. iron clads near Savannah.

The Alabama was built at Birkenhead; 1,040 tons, 220 feet long, 32 feet beam, 17 feet depth of hold, engines 300 horse power. She left the Mersey July 29, 1862, arrived at Porto Praya Aug. 19th. On Sunday, Aug. 24, Capt. Raphael Semmes assumed command, hoisting the confederate flag, she cruized and captured several vessels in the vicinity of Flores. Cruizing to the westward and making several captures, she approached within 200 miles of New York, thence going southward, arrived on the 18th Nov. at Port Royal, Martinique. On the night of the 19th she escaped from the harbor, and the United States steamer San Jacinto and on the 26th Nov. was at Blanquilla coaling. On Dec. 7th captured the United States steamer Ariel in the passage between Cuba and St. Domingo. On Sunday, Jan. 11, 1863, sunk the United States gunboat Hatteras off Galveston, and on the 30th arrived at Jamaica. Cruizing to the eastward and making many captures, she arrived on 10th April at Fernando de Noronha, and on 11th May at Bahia, where on the 13th she was joined by the rebel steamer Georgia. Cruizing near the line, thence southward toward the Cape of Good Hope, numerous captures were made, and on the 21st June, 1863, the bark Talisman was commissioned as a cruiser in the rebel service. On the 29th July anchored in Saldanha Bay, South Africa, and near there, on the 5th Aug. was joined by the rebel bark Tuscaloosa, Commander Low, same day anchored at Table Bay. September 16, 1863, was at St. Simon's Bay awaiting coals. October 6 was in the Straits of Sunda, and up to Jan. 20, 1864, cruized in the Bay of Bengal and vicinity, visiting Singapore Dec. 22, 1863, and making a number of very valuable captures, including the Highlander, Sonora, &c. From this point she cruized on her homeward track via Cape of Good Hope, capturing the bark Tycoon and ship Rockingham, and arrived at Cherbourg, France, June 11, 1864, where she repaired and was watched by the United States steamer Kearsarge, the battle resulting in her destruction occurring on the 19th June, 1864.

The Florida was formerly the Oreto, and in Aug. 1862 was under seizure at Nassau, but being released she ran into Mobile, Sept 4, 1862. She was then refitted and under command of Capt. J. N. Maffitt, formerly of the United States Navy, she ran out through the blockade fleet at Mobile on the night of Jan. 15, 1863. She carried eight guns, and on Jan. 20th arrived at Havana, having captured the brig Estelle. Leaving on Jan. 22 she captured the brig Windward off the coast of Cuba. Jan. 26, 1863 arrived at Nassau. Feb. 12, 1863, in lat. 23, N. lon. 45 W. she captured the ship Jacob Bell, and on March 6, the ship Star of Peace. March 13th the schooner Aldebaran, April 24 the ship Oneida, in lat. 1.40 S. lon. 34. May 15th she captured the ship Crown Point in lat. 7 S. lon. 34. July 8, 1863, was not more than 60 miles from New York and chased the United States steamer Ericsson. On July 10th she captured the steamer Electric Spark in lat. 37, 35 N. and lon. 74, 25 W. July 16th, 1863, arrived at Bermuda. The capture of the Florida in the harbor of Bahia is well known and her career ended in her sinking in Hampton Roads.

The brig Clarence was captured by the rebel steamer Florida, May 6, 1863, and manned with one 12 pound howitzer, 20 men and 2 officers under command of Lieut. Reed, and subsequently captured the bark Tacony, June 12th in lat. 37, 18 N. lon. 75, 4 W. The guns, &c. were transferred to the Tacony and the Clarence burnt, as well as the schooner M. A. Shindler.

The Tacony, Lieut. Read, captured the brig Umpire, lat. 37, 37 N. lon. 69, 57, June 14th. Fishing boat L. A. Macomber of Norwalk, Ct., June 20th, 22 miles S. E. South Shoal Light. Ship Isaac Webb, lat. 40, 35 N. lon. 68, 45 W. (bonded). Ship Byzantium, bark Goodspeed off coast of Mass. June 21st. Schooners Marengo, Florence, fishing vessels Elizabeth Ann, Rufus Choate and Ripple, June 22, and was destroyed by her crew who left in the schooner Archer and were subsequently captured by an expedition from Portland.

The Georgia formerly called the Japan cruized in the north and south Atlantic in 1863 capturing nine vessels. She was a British vessel fitted out like the Alabama from British ports.

The Echo, the Boston, the Conrad, the Tuscarora and the St. Nicholas each made one or more captures in 1862 and 1863.

The Retribution captured three vessels early in 1863 and was afterwards sold in the Bahamas.

The Tallahassee made two raids from the port of Wilmington, N. C. in 1864, capturing and destroying nearly 30 vessels, a number being fishing vessels. On Aug. 13, 1864, being within six miles of Nantucket Light Ship and ran back to Wilmington.

The Shenandoah was built in October, 1863, at Glasgow, and called the Sea King. She is 790 tons, 200 horse power, iron frame, wood planking, owned by Wm. Wallace of London, being, like the Alabama, entirely of British origin and equipment.

In September, 1864, she was sold to Richard Wright of Liverpool, and under command of Capt. P. L. Corbett, who received written authority to sell her for not less than £45,000 within six months from October 7, 1864. She cleared at London for Bombay and arrived at Madeira, off which port she afterwards received guns and crew from the British Bark Laurel. She was christened the Shenandoah, and under command of Captain Waddell she sailed towards St. Helena near which she destroyed a few vessels thence going to Bay of Bengal and Straits of Sinda. She put into Melbourne for coal, and thence proceeded to the Arctic Sea where between the 1st of April and end of June, 1865, she destroyed 29 vessels.

She arrived at Liverpool, November 6, 1865, and surrendered to a British man-of-war, where she should fully end her career, though late accounts state she has been surrendered to, and accepted by, an American Consul to send to the United States. Her origin, like that of the Alabama and Florida, was British and her end should be British.

Annual Report of the Comptroller of the City of New York; exhibiting the Receipts and Expenditures of the City Government, including the operations of the several Trust and Sinking Funds, for the year 1864.

A Comptroller's Report, like a grocer's bill, is apt to be an unwelcome document, showing, as it too often does, a deficient checker and a steadily increasing expenditure. This report of Mr. Brennan is a well prepared document, but no exception to the rule. Its first page gives us the following summary of the financial operations of the city:

|--|------------------------|
| The amount of money in the City Treasury, December 31, 1863, was..... | $1,654,941 77 |
| The receipts into the Treasury, from all sources, during the year 1864 amounted to | 20,053,522 12 |
| | $21,708,463 89 |

|--|---------------|
| The amount of warrants on the Treasury paid by the Chamberlain, and returned to the Comptroller in 1864 was..... | 20,261,651 63 |
|--|---------------|

|--------------------------------------|----------------|
| Balance remaining Dec. 31, 1864..... | $1,446,812 28 |
|--------------------------------------|----------------|

A city government costing twenty millions a year—almost three times the cost of the State Government—is indeed a luxury expensive if not useful or ornamental.

A part of this aggregate, however, is for the State Treasury; the city of New York paying two-fifths of the State taxes. Thus, the taxes imposed in 1864 were as follows:

| FOR THE USE OF THE STATE TREASURY. | |
|---|-----------------------|
| For Common Schools..... | $410,562 02 |
| For Canals, Militia, and general purposes..... | 2,326,518 13 |
| | $2,737,080 15 |
| For County purposes and Police..... | 3,226,957 89 |
| For City purposes..... | 7,351,664 78 |
| To supply deficiencies in former appropriations.... | 889,390 19 |

|-----------------------------------|-----------------|
| Total amount levied for 1864..... | $13,715,092 86 |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------|

The residue, over six millions of dollars, was borrowed, and funded as a part of the city debt, which now exceeds thirty-four million dollars. The taxation for 1865 exceeded eighteen millions of dollars; and that of 1866 must sum up to twenty-one millions and more—from 3½ to 3¾ per cent.

A controversy occurred during the last year in relation to taxing the securities of the United States held by banks and other institutions under the law of 1863. A case was made up and the question brought before the Supreme Court of the First Judicial District, which rendered a decision, both at Special and General Term in favor of the validity of the amount and the tax imposed upon it; and the Court of Appeals afterward affirmed that decision. But the Supreme Court of the United States, on appeal, decided that the assessment was erroneous, and the tax imposed an error; an order was accordingly issued requiring the taxes to be cancelled so far as they were imposed upon the securities of the United States. This decision compels the real estate of this city to bear the greatest part of the taxes of this city about a million of dollars levied upon the capital of the banks; one-twelfth of the entire amount of city tax was thus imposed upon the other property of this city. The Legislature of 1864, passed still another law, taxing the stockholders of banks, but that law is now also being contested.

The Treasury of the city of New York is recruited by borrowing large sums in anticipation of the revenues. In this manner, in 1864, there was borrowed the aggregate of $3,015,800. There were also loans made to anticipate arrears of assessments for improvements of streets amounting to $692,000; and for other deficiencies of the fund for opening streets, &c., $300,000. Four sets of bonds were also issued for Aid of Soldiers' Families, amounting to $1,627,000. The amount of $300,000 was also borrowed for the use of the Commissioners of the Central Park.

The revenues of the city, which are applicable to its Sinking Fund, we cannot believe, are managed so as to realize all that ought to be realized from these sources. The Comptroller gives the items for 1864 as follows:

|------------------------------|------------|---------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Common land rent | $340 00 | Interest on bonds and mortgages | 5,829 77 |
| Court fees & fines. | 20,420 10 | Mayoralty fees... | 612 25 |
| Croton water rents. | 959,974 41 | Sales of personal property..... | 1,524 60 |
| Rent of docks and ships..... | 240,990 11 | Sales of manure.. | 15,956 80 |
| Rent of Ferries... | 171,800 00 | Rent of water lots, | 6,842 88 |
| Fines and penal'ts. | 1,071 09 | | |
| Ground rent..... | 24,624 50 | Total..... | $1,455,687 69 |
| House rent..... | 25,751 68 | | |

The city debt on the 31st of December was $31,776,824 50.

The items of this debt are as follows:

|--|-----------------|
| For the Croton Water works and Central Park..... | $21,179,924 50 |
| For the erection of public building..... | 185,000 00 |
| For repairs of docks and slips..... | 500,000 00 |
| For liquidation of floating debt..... | 2,748,000 00 |
| For debt of the "Old Public Society"..... | 154,000 00 |
| For expenses growing out of the war..... | 4,617,000 00 |
| Temporary loans..... | 2,392,900 00 |

Since this report was made the indebtedness has, as we stated above, been increased to more than thirty-four millions of dollars.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON AND LIVERPOOL DATES TO NOVEMBER 11.

The London money market has been characterized by great dullness during the week. Transactions of all kinds were limited, and prices generally receded owing to the limited demand. There is no approach to a panic or even a depression, but the feeling is that of uncertainty respecting the future, parties being unable to form any calculations respecting the future action of the Bank of England in reference to the continued demands for the home trade. It was apprehended that the requirements of trade would prevent the Bank from increasing its stock of bullion, and thus postpone indefinitely a favorable exhibit. The withdrawal of the large payments for the Brazilian loan created some uneasiness. But as it is known that a large quantity of specie is on the way to England it is hoped that there will be no further advance in the rate of interest, though it is not anticipated that there will be any immediate reduction.

Consols declined during the early part of the week, but they rallied on Wednesday on a rumor that the Bank of England had taken back a large amount of stock on which it had recently borrowed money, thus inducing a belief that the Bank statement would be favorable.

The arrival of the Shenandoah produced a temporary uneasiness lest it should complicate the relations of England with the United States, and lead to reclamations which would not be sustained. A better feeling, however, prevailed on the news of her surrender to the American consul.

There is an entire absence of anything like speculation, and but very few new enterprises are presented. Prices of almost all kinds of foreign securities are lower. American securities were dull, yet they were comparatively more active than any other kind, the transactions being numerous.

Home railroads and speculative foreign stocks were generally lower. The shares of Overend, Gurney & Co. were generally lower. A notable feature of the market is the almost entire disappearance from active dealing of the shares of financial companies, and the new undertakings introduced by them.

The demand for discounts at the bank of England was steady outside, accommodations were easy at 6½ and 7 per cent for good bills. Short loans on government securities ruled at about 6 per cent.

The Confederate Cotton Loan is now quoted at 8½ to 9.

During the month of October the shipments from Liverpool to New York were double those of the same month in any of the last sixteen.

The reported rebellion in Jamaica is entirely discredited by the West India interest in London, and prices of West India produce are without any alteration.

At a meeting of the London and Mediterranean Bank, it was resolved to voluntarily wind up the undertaking, in consequence of the amalgamation with the London and Bombay Bank.

Accounts from Bombay indicate a rapid recovery from the effects of the recent panic. The genuine trade of the city is remarkably sound and is rapidly expanding, and it is expected that commerce will soon be placed on a broader wider base than ever before.

THE CONTINENT.

PARIS DATES TO NOVEMBER 11.

The Bourse continues dull from various causes. The absence of the Court from Paris, the panic respecting the Cholera, which is gradually disappearing, and the dearness of money combine to check operations.

Public attention has been largely occupied by the financial changes alleged to be contemplated by the Emperor. It is now alleged that the reform will not stop with the Receivers General, but that the positions of conservators of mortgages will be abolished. These functionaries enjoy allowances which are out of all proportion with the salaries paid to other officials. The receivers and chief officers of taxes who get a large per centage in addition to their regular pay, will also be considerably abridged in their emoluments. The intention is to make the state profit by the deposit of the large capital in the branches of the bank of France which is now held by these functionaries. It is also said that an immense saving may be effected by the suppression of the numerous sinecure posts in the Departments. M. Fould is known to be devoting his attention to the subject of financial reform and retrenchment, under the auspices of the Emperor.

The retail trade of Paris is slowly improving, the gradual disappearance of the cholera producing a salutary effect. American orders for fancy goods are heavy, and have induced slightly enhanced prices.

The Paris Savings Bank received, during the fortnight ending 6th inst., deposits amounting to 667,607f., and reimbursed 639,114f. The sums paid into the Caisse de Retraites for the Aged, during the same period, amounted to 28,942f.

Trade has improved among the silk manufacturers of Lyons, and is progressing favorably. Articles suited to the Paris market have advanced considerably in price. This favorable change, together with news received from China and Japan, has induced many mill-owners to purchase raw silk. Mybash raw silk is bought freely at from 118f. to 120f., while there is no demand for European silk. There was likewise a demand for white Broussa spun silk at from 125f. to 127f., and at from 120f. to 122f. for yellow. The demand for raw silk is more brisk at Marseilles, without any change of prices. Eleven bales of spun Syrian silk were sold last week at from 100f. to 102f.

THE NATIONAL BANKS.—SUPPLEMENTARY REGULATIONS REGARDING THE RETURN AND PAYMENT OF DUTIES.—The following supplement to “Regulations,” respecting the semi-annual return and payment of duties by national banking associations to the Treasurer of the United States, has just been promulgated:

TREASURER'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, Nov. 1, 1865.

“The numerous errors made by recently-organized national banks, in estimating semi-annual duty, causes the supposition that the ‘Regulations,’ respecting the statements, furnished by this office, are not read or understood by the officers making the estimate. A compliance with the following suggestions will save much labor and inconvenience to such banks and to this office. The method of making the statement contained in the ‘regulations,’ and the form furnished by this office, is equally correct. And the books of this office are so made as to admit of their record in no other method. There must, therefore, be no alteration of the printed portion of the form, by interlineation, erasure, or otherwise. Statements will be returned to banks for correction, until they are made to conform to the method contained in the 'regulations' and form. The act under which duty is collected, requires that duties shall be paid upon the average amount of the dutiable items for each half year. This requirement must be enforced, although banks may have had an existence for less than the half year. It is a frequent error with banks failing to apprehend this requirement, to estimate duty upon an item by finding the average for the time that such item is liable to duty, and computing the duty at a fractional proportion of the full semi-annual rate corresponding to the said time. The correct method is to estimate the duty upon the average amount for the half year. This average amount (being ascertained by the rule for ascertaining average amounts in the 'regulations' furnished by this office) is the only proper amount to enter in the statement, and is the amount subject to duty, which is to be estimated thereon at the full semi-annual rate. The amount of duty thus estimated is the correct proportion of the duty for the half year, for the portion of which the item is liable. Another error is to estimate duties upon all items from the same date, viz: the date of commencement of business as a national bank. The correct method is to estimate duty on circulation from and including the date of the first issue of circulating notes; upon deposits from and including the date of the first deposit received by the bank; and upon the capital from and including the date of the Comptroller's certificate, authorizing the commencement of business as a national bank.

"To illustrate the correct method of estimating duty, let it be supposed:

"I. That your first circulating notes were issued on the 19th of June. You would be subject to duty upon this item for twelve days. You would add together the daily amounts of your outstanding circulation for these twelve days, and divide the aggregate by one hundred and eighty-one, the number of days in the half year. The quotient thus found is the average for the half year, and is to be entered in the statement under the heading 'dutiable amounts,' and duty estimated thereon at one-half of one per cent.

"II. That your first deposit was received on the 26th of June. You would be subject to duty on this item for five days and would add together the daily amounts of your deposits (including undivided profits, and including, if a designated depository, the average amount to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States) for these five days, and divide the aggregate by 181. The quotient, which is the average for the half-year, would be entered in the appropriate place in the statement. Underneath this item you would, if a depository, enter the average amount (ascertained in the same manner) of deposits held by your bank to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States, and deduct this amount from the average amount of deposits. The remainder would be the amount of deposits subject to duty, to be entered in the statement under the heading 'Dutiable Amounts,' and duty estimated thereon at one-quarter of one per cent.

"III. That your certificate of authority to commence business as a national bank was dated June 16. You will be liable to duty upon capital for fifteen days, and would add together the daily amounts of paid-in capital for these fifteen days, and divide the total amount by 181, and enter the quotient in the appropriate place in the statement.

"You will then find, by the same rule, the average amount of the United States bonds owned by the bank, making the proper entry in the statement. The excess of paid-in capital over the amount of bonds owned by the bank, thus shown, would be the amount subject to duty, to be entered under the heading 'Dutiable Amounts,' and duty estimated thereon at one-quarter of one per cent. It will be noticed that, in the above illustration, duty is estimated for the first half of the year, and that in estimating duty for leap year the division should be made by one hundred and eighty-two, and for the last half of any year by one hundred and eighty-four. Many banks, having no capital subject to duty, fail to fill the blanks in the statement relating thereto. The blanks should always be so filled as to show the average amount of paid-in capital, and the average amount of United States bonds owned by the bank. Banks having received certificates of authority to commence business dated (even though it may be only one day) prior to the termination of the half year, for which duty is being collected, are required to make semi-annual statements, although they may not have actually commenced business prior to the end of said half year. The only item upon which such banks are subject to duty, is their excess of paid-in capital beyond the amount of United States bonds owned by the bank. If they have no such excess a statement is still required, with the entries so made therein as to show that fact.

"The full amount of duty that has accrued must be paid to the Treasurer of the United States, although taxes upon the dutiable items may have been erroneously returned to the Internal Revenue Office. For the correction of errors that may have been made by the return of taxes to the Internal Revenue Office, in lieu of which duty should have been paid to the Treasurer of the United States, substitute amended returns for those containing the errors, and you will be informed by that office how to procure the refunding of the amount erroneously paid. The payment of duty to the Treasurer of the United States must not be delayed for the adjustment of errors.

"In cases of conversion of State banks into national banks, the outstanding circulation of the State bank will not be included in the semi-annual statement made to the Treasury of the United States, but returns for this item will be made as heretofore under the instructions of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

"Very great inconvenience and a large amount of labor is caused both to banks and to this office by neglect on the part of those paying duty to cause to be stated in the certificates of deposit sent as payment the title of the bank making the deposit, and the proper fund to which the deposit belongs, the name of a bank officer (only) and the words for account of 'Internal Revenue' being in many cases inserted in the certificate. Certificates of deposit sent in payment of semi-annual duty should always state the title of the depositing bank, and that the deposit is made 'on account of semi-annual duty.' When not so worded certificates will be returned for correction. Semi-annual statements of duty, and remittances therefore (to be made as directed in the 'regulations' herewith,) and all correspondence relating thereto should be addressed to the 'Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.'

F. E. SPINNER, Treasurer United States."

REDEMPTION OF MUTILATED NATIONAL BANK NOTES —The following instructions in regard to the redemption of mutilated National Bank notes have been issued by the Comptroller of the Currency.

1st. The notes are to be redeemed by the banks by which they are respectively issued, and should not be returned to this office in sums of less than $500, or even in multiples of that amount.

2d. The mutilated notes which have been torn or defaced, will be received when presented by the bank that issued them, provided all the fragments are returned, and the engraving and signatures are not so far obliterated that it cannot be determined by what bank the notes were issued.

3d. Fragments should be redeemed by banks in full, when accompanied by affidavit stating the cause and manner of the mutilation, and that the missing part of the note is totally destroyed. The good character of the affidavit shall also be fully vouched for, by the officer before whom the affidavit is taken. These affidavits must be forwarded to the Comptroller's office, with the fragments to which they relate, in order that the banks presenting such parts of notes, may receive credit for the same. Exceptional cases may occur, in which no affidavit can be obtained, and where no reasonable doubt can exist in regard to the entire destruction or irreparable damage to missing portions of notes, as by fire and accidents, and where evidence of identity is ample, by the signature of one or both officers, or the title or locality of the bank, and the denomination of the note, where the integrity of the bill holder is unexceptionable, and where no question could arise in regard to the fraudulent or improper use of the missing parts. In such instances judicious discrimination must necessarily be exercised by the officers of banks. It is, however, advised that such notes be received at their full face value, and a perfect note given therefor, a record being preserved of the fact, to be sent to this office, with the mutilated note when returned for redemption by the bank, in which case full credit will be allowed by this Department.

4th. When no satisfaction can be obtained in regard to the missing parts and a possibility exists that any improper use can be made of the same, it is recommended that a proportionate value only be allowed, estimating this by a comparison of the portion returned with the missing part. A record should be kept of the amount allowed in all such instances, a voucher of same rendered to this office, when the mutilated note or notes shall be returned for redemption.

The Bankers' Gazette.

Our publication of Lost Bonds has been omitted during the month, as we have expected daily to make arrangements for receiving from Washington a weekly official list of all United States securities lost of which the government may receive notice. We have not, however, as yet been able to carry out this plan, and, therefore, to avoid further delay, recommence the publication as heretofore.

FRIDAY, P.M., Nov. 24, 1865.

THE MONEY MARKET.—Monetary affairs exhibit no material variations from last week. The steady flow of currency to this point continues. At the chief money centers of the West and South, exchanges are in our favor. At New Orleans, exchange on New York is quoted $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent premium; and at Chicago and Cincinnati 1-10 per cent premium. The receipts of currency from these points, however, are not so large as to produce a material surplus of funds. Some of the Western banks, in order to keep up a good supply of currency are sending Government Securities here, in settlement of balances. The tendency of exchange appears to favor a gradual accumulation of currency at this center; and capitalists are regulating their affairs upon that expectation. There is, however, a very general caution about the employment of money. There is no disposition to foster speculation upon secured or third rate stocks, though upon good railroad collaterals money can be borrowed to any amount.

The same caution is shown toward commercial bills. A good deal of the paper arriving upon the market is from new firms, or parties entering upon the Southern trade, or other interests revived since the close of the war; and notes of that character are treated with shyness. Even the very best commercial names are taken only at high rates of discount. There is, indeed, a general disposition to undertake no long engagements until the opening of Congress has revealed the policy of the Treasury Department, and the sentiments of Congress relating to matters of finance and revenue. This feeling is inducing lenders to deposit their funds at the Sub-Treasury, on temporary loan, at 6 per cent, in preference to realising 7a9 per cent upon prime commercial bills.

The rate of interest upon call loans gravitates steadily towards 6 per cent; the majority of transactions, however, are still done at 7 per cent.

Discounting is done at 7a9 per cent for A1 names, 8 per cent being the predominant rate; lower grades have to pay from 10 to 15 per cent; 12 per cent being the rate at which, perhaps, the larger portion of transactions are negotiated.

RAILROAD AND MISCELLANEOUS STOCKS.—The steadily increasing ease of money has produced a partial revival in the stock market. Speculation has been more buoyant, and prices show a general improvement. The bull cliques monopolize the strength of the street, but their operations bring very little result; the outside public being disinclined to take ventures, and the bears being indisposed to incur the risk of putting out "shorts," when the temper and the strength of the street are so much against them. So far as respects the railroad list, the current reports of sales are little else than a record of the speculative operations of brokers, who, in the absence of outside support, resort to preying upon each other. Chicago and Northwestern common stock has been manipulated by an active but not strong clique, with partial success, the price having advanced to 39½, but has since declined to 38½. The directors of the C. & N. Western Company are divided as to paying a dividend upon the preferred stock, which is weak in consequence. It is understood, on the Street, that a large dividend will be early declared upon Reading; and the price rose 2½ yesterday upon orders based on that expectation. Hudson River and Erie are strong apparently under the demand of cliques commencing operations for a rise. The parties lately operating in Cleveland and Pittsburg are unloading; this afternoon about 5,000 were sold, and the price closed at 1½ below the morning quotation.

There has been a full speculation movement in the miscellaneous list. Some of the minor coal stocks have been tossed up by the bulls, but chiefly by expedients well known to the streets, rather than by a bona fide demand.

The following are the closing quotations for leading stocks, compared with those of Saturday last:

UNITED STATES SECURITIES.—Governments have shown a slight reaction from the improvement realized at the close of last week. There has been an attempt to realize upon speculations of some consequence, and the amount of securities thrown upon the market have depressed quotations. The comparatively low quotations for bonds and Seven-thirties are inducing purchases for investment, and other kinds of securities are being sold out to be invested in governments; but, on the other hand, there is a steady process of selling out on the part of the banks and merchants, in order to procure money, which slightly overbalances the demand, and quotations are consequently kept weak.

The uncertainty as to our present relations with France, upon the Mexican question, the growing feeling throughout the country in favor of Mexican intervention, and the reported movement of cavalry toward the Rio Grande, tend to produce uneasiness among holders of governments, and no doubt induce some parties to sell them.

There is less uneasiness in the market respecting the prospect of Mr. McCulloch's funding policy; it being generally concluded that such is the position of the public finances that he can fund the interest bearing currency only in a way which will produce no general financial disturbance.

The Secretary of the Treasury will be prepared to redeem the 5 per cent legal tenders falling due in December, upon presentation.

The following were the closing quotations for governments to-day and on Saturday last:

THE GOLD MARKET. The course of gold has been very steady during the week. The demand for both customs and export is comparatively light, and the sales of the Sub-Treasury are correspondingly reduced; so that the premium varies to a merely nominal extent. The dealers are very generally availing themselves of the provisions of the Treasury for receiving gold on deposit and issuing therefor certificates negotiable, for all domestic purposes, in the same way as gold. The arrangement saves them the fee of $1,000 per annum paid to the Bank of New York, and affords ample security; and the certificates have the advantage over gold checks that they can be used for Custom House purposes.

The following have been the highest and lowest quotations for gold on each of the last six days:

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.—There is a good supply of produce bills on England; but the suspension of the exports of Five-Twenties and of other securities causes the aggregate supply to fall short of our foreign indebtedness; and the tendency of the rates of exchange is consequently upward. We quote:

LONDON.—We have Barring's circular of the 11th, and quote :
We have to report a fair amount of business in our colonial and foreign produce markets this week at steady prices. TIN—English has been further advanced. We quote Blocks 100s, Bars 101s, Refined 103s. Foreign quiet; Straits 95s @ 95s 6d.

LINSEED CAKES in good demand. New York in barrels £9 17s 6d @ 10 7s 6d.

LIVERPOOL—A circular of the 11th reports:

ASHES—There being more sellers, prices have somewhat declined. The sales are 200 barrels; pots at 36s, and pearls at 34s per cwt. BARK—The market continues dull, and lower prices have been accepted. 100 hhds Philadelphia sold at 7s per cwt. NAVAL STORES—More doing in French rosin, at 14s @ 15s per cwt for good common, and 21s per cwt for fine; spirits of turpentine dull, at 45s @ 46s per cwt for French. PETROLEUM—A large business has been done at higher rates; about 1,200 barrels refined Pennsylvanian sold on spot at 2s 10d @ 3s 1d per gallon, and 3,000 barrels to arrive at 3s 1d per gallon, also 1,000 barrels crude on spot and to arrive at £21 per ton. Small sales of spirit at 2s 6d @ 2s 9d on spot, and 1s 10d @ 2s per gallon to arrive. LARD—The market is dull. No American here; European offers at a decline of 3s per cwt. TALLOW—Since our last the market has been inactive, and declined about 6d per dwt; sales of South American having been made at 50s per cwt. In London the market has been dull, and gradually declining throughout the week, until yesterday, when it partially recovered. The closing prices for P Y C are 50s on spot; 50s 6d for December; 51s January to March, and 52s for March only. BEEF—Fine qualities are in fair consumptive demand, at about the quotations of our last. A small parcel of new has arrived, (India mess,) for which 135s is asked. PORK—The stock of American is almost entirely cleared off, indeed there is less offering than for many years past. BACON—There is little doing, though offering at a decline of 2s to 4s per cwt—to 65s @ 68s per cwt. BUTTER—A slow sale even for fine, which is worth 114s @ 120s per cwt. Inferior descriptions meet with no enquiry. CHEESE is in steady demand, especially for choice qualities, which have advanced 2s @ 3s per cwt; for extra 60s @ 65s is now paid.

HAVANA—We have the regular trade circular of November 18th, and quote:

SUGARS (clayed)—The market continues in the same inactive condition as we described it last week—and, although the small sales made occasionally have been at full rates, there seems to be no prospect of any reanimation, whilst the views of buyers generally speaking, do not correspond with those of holders.

The only transaction that has come to our knowledge was the sale of 1,084 c No. 12 at 11½ rs.

A crop of 800 hhds good clayed sold at $22 per hhd of 175 gallons, deliverable on the plantation, and for an equal quantity the same rate has been offered, with a cash advance of $30,000.

TOBACCO—The exports have been as follows:

COTTON.

There is scarcely a new feature to the market. The receipts at all points are about the average of the past three months; the export movement, which last week appeared to have diminished, has been resumed, especially from Southern ports, with some degree of activity, as an instance of which, over 8,000 bales were cleared at New Orleans, principally for Liverpool, in a single day.

At this market, the details of the China's news, (to the 11th November,) have been followed by an active business, and on Tuesday and Wednesday prices were a little better, 54c being paid for middling Orleans. Yesterday and to-day the market has been a little weak, although still active, the supplies having been considerably increased by the arrival of steamers and sail vessels detained by the storm that raged early in the week. A noticeable feature in the receipts this week is the large quantity from Florida. The deliveries over the Western railroads are also large.

The following are the closing quotations:

NEW ORLEANS.—We have the Price Current of Nov. 15th, from which we quote:

"On Saturday (11th) the morning papers contained New York telegrams which reported a favorable reaction in that market, under which Middling had recovered 1c. of the previous decline, and was quoted at 52c. Under the influence of these accounts, with the further advantage of a material advance in Exchange, particularly in domestic, the demand improved, and, although factors raised their pretensions, the sales summed up 3,800 bales, at prices 1@2c. better than were realized on Friday. This marked improvement was followed on Monday by a further advance of fully 1c. per lb, and continued activity in the demand, the business comprising 3,200 bales on the basis of 48@50c. for Good Ordinary, 51@52c. for Low Middling, and 54@55c. for Middling. Yesterday the unfavorable accounts noticed above completely unsettled the market, and the sales were confined to barely 900 bales, taken in several small lots, mostly on the basis of 48c. for strict Good Ordinary, and 49c. for barely Low Middling.

This makes an aggregate for the past three days of 7,900 bales.

With the remark that in the unsettled condition of prices, quotations are to a great extent nominal, we give the following as an approximation to yesterday's business: Ordinary, 42@44c.; Good Ordinary, 47@48c.; Low Middling, 50@51c.; Middling, 53@54c.

LIVERPOOL.—The following is from the circular of the 11th November:

The week commenced with a very dull trade and declining prices. The depression reached its climax on Tuesday, when the sales only amounted to 3,000 bales, and middling Orleans was sold at 20d. On Wednesday a reaction set in, and a more general demand was experienced, both from the trade and speculators, at steadier prices, and in some cases an advance of 1/4d to 1/2d per lb was obtained over the low sales of the previous day—sales 10,000 bales. Yesterday the improvement was more decided, and an advance of 1/4d to 1d was established on long staples—sales 15,000 bales. To-day the market opened strong, but became rather less active after receipt of "Scotia's" news, reporting large receipts and clearances at all the ports; the day's sales are estimated at 15,000 bales, at an advance of 1/4d to 1/2d, making our closing quotations 1/4d per lb above those of this day week.

BREADSTUFFS.

The supplies of all kinds are on a liberal scale, being considerably in excess of the wants of the market at current prices, and a large proportion are going into store, against the close of canal navigation.

Unfavorable weather much interfered with business early in the week, and after the China's news transpired, the export buyers did not seem anxious to buy except at a decline. There is an impression that the British market will not stand up under any considerable supplies from this side.

Flour is somewhat irregular, in consequence of the uncertain character of the arrivals from the West. Made of heated, grown, and otherwise unsound Wheat, a great proportion is unsound, and for these, selling prices are 50 cents to $1 a barrel below current quotations for sound. The really sound Flours on the market have been made at high cost and are well held, for export, $3 50 has been paid for Extra State.

Wheat has arrived freely, and there has been some pressure to sell, which, with less favorable news from Liverpool, has caused an irregular decline, the fine Reds being best held. White Wheats are very dull, especially common new crop.

Corn has been active all the week, and full prices have been obtained. The demand has been active for export and home use while the receipts have been quite moderate, and some speculative feeling has been developed. The close, however, was slightly below the highest point.

Oats have met with a speculative demand, and prices have advanced, closing dull. Rye is plenty and relatively very low, but meets with very limited demand. Barley is dull and unsettled. Canada Peas are firm but quiet. New White Beans are scarce and firm.

LIVERPOOL.—Date are to the 11th. We quote: The weather has been dry this week, and very favorable for the completion of Wheat sowing. The trade in Wheat and Flour this week has been quiet, the speculative element having subsided. There was more inquiry for Indian Corn, at advancing prices.

At Tuesday's Market there was but a moderate consumptive demand for Wheat and Flour, but as holders were firm, there was no alteration in prices. Indian Corn was in active request at 31s 3d to 31s 6d, being an advance of 1s 3d to 1s 6d per qr.

Since Tuesday there has been very little inquiry for Wheat and Flour and Indian Corn has declined 3d per quarter.

At to-day's Market there was but a very limited attendance of buyers and the transactions in Wheat and Flour too trivial to test prices though they must be called in favor of buyers. Indian Corn was steady at Tuesday's prices.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

The Dry Goods market has been, if possible, less active than last week. With a steady downward pressure, there has been little disposition to buy, except for immediate use. Goods of all kinds are rapidly accumulating, very much against the wishes of holders. The weight of this accumulation, in the absence of any demand, is bringing prices down to a legitimate basis. The bottom is not yet reached, but a further reduction of five or seven per cent will bring about a reaction, and the trade, which will surely follow that reduction, will soon clear the market of the present accumulation. Prices are not yet down to those of the last week in August, at which time trade commenced so briskly. The long period of dullness which has followed the unwarranted advance of September and October will suggest more cautiousness should trade again spring up.

BROWN SHEETINGS and SHIRTINGS have been very quiet, with hardly sufficient doing to determine quotations. Prices have declined gradually for standards. For poorer grades the decline has been more rapid, and goods have sold at what they would bring. As these goods are now within one cent of the lowest price of the summer season, we may expect a better inquiry shortly. Standards have declined a half cent on a yard, and are now quoted at 32½, by both agents and jobbers. Amory, Indian Head A, Appleton A, Atlantic P A, A H and P H, Amoskeag A, Pocasset Canoe are quoted at 32½, Indian Queen 36 inch 24, Pittsfield A 36 inch 24, Rocky Point Sheetings 36 inch 25, Wa Wa Wanda 36 inch 36, Augusta Mills 44 31, 7-8 do 26, Manhattan K 4-4 27, Phoenix Cotton Mf Co 37 inch 27½, do 39 inch 28½, Grafton 28 inch 20, Shetucket B 27 inch 20, A 30 inch 22, Pocasset Canoe K 36 inch 25, do Family Cotton 36 inch 23, Tigers 20, Bristol 40 inch 27, Farmers and Mechanics 3-4 17, G Washington heavy 36 inch 29, Griswold 3-4 17, Warren 36 inch 28, Amoskeag B 37 inch 32, Stark Mills A 36 inch 32. Atlantic A 37 inch sell at 33, do heavy shirting A V 30 inch 28½, do A G 27½, fine sheetings A L and P L 36½ inches 27½, do shirt P E 33 inch 26, Indian Orchard W 33 inch 24, do B B 33 inch 25, do C 37 inch 26, do N 36 inch 27, do A 40 inch 28. Indian Head B 30 inch are held at 27 cts., do E 48 inch 45, Nashua Extra A 36 inch 30½, do fine D 36 inch, 28, Washusetts 32.

BLEACHED SHEETINGS and SHIRTINGS have been more steady for fine goods, while the poorer grades are quiet and declining. The demand is light and buyers are waiting for a firmer foundation. Waltham S 72 inch are quoted at 90 cents, do X 33 inch 27½, do W 42 inch 35, do K 92 inch 55, do M 81 inch 102½, do N 90 inch 112½, Amoskeag A 37 inch 35, Kent River 3-4 19, Uxbridge imp. 4-4 32, Auburnville 4-4 33, White Rock 36 inch 40, Canoe 27 inch 18, Continental 30 inch 22½, Methuen 3-4 19, Warrenton B 25.

DRILLS are in light demand though prices are nominally unchanged. Globe Steam Mills are quoted at 27½, Amoskeag brown 33, Stark D 40 inch 33.

CORSET JEANS are in quiet demand and prices are nominally the same. Indian Orchard 33, Massabesic and Amoskeag 37½.

COTTON FLANNELS are extremely dull and prices have declined 2a3½ cents. Falls are quoted at 32½, a decline of 3½ cents, Manchester brown 37½, a decline of 2½ cents, Columbia 28 inch 31, Mt. Vernon 30, Nashua A 29 inch 32½, Franklin 30.

STRIPES AND TICKS are very quiet and prices are nominally the same for the better grades, while poorer goods are two or three cents lower. Amoskeag A C A 32 inch are quoted at 80 cents, do. A 62½, do. B 55, do. C 40, do. D 42½, Albany 27 inch 25, Pittsfield 25, a reduction of 2 cents. Atlantic 36 inch are named at 60 cents, do. ½ 45, Chattanooga 20, Concord 37, Pacific Extra ½ 45, Peabody 4-4 60, Sacondale 3-4 23, West Branch 4-4 47½, do. No. 2 ½ 37½, Windsor ½ 35, Henry Clay 3-4 33, Lawrence 4-4 37, Keystone 31, Canonicus 23, Ripka 28, Ashland 21, Logan 25, American Stripes 3-3 30 cents, 6-3 31.

PRINTING CLOTHS have been very quiet and dull. The sales at Providence the past week were 5000 pieces at 17½a18 cents for 64x64 on hand and 19 cents for 64x68 on hand.

PRINTS are dull to stagnation. There is no demand whatever in first hands, and the dull weather of the past few days has entirely interrupted the little trade for immediate wants. Garner's are quoted the same as last week, 27 cents, though the sales are very light. Amoskeag pink 26, purple 25, Shirting 24, dark 24, light 23, Mourning 25, Duchess B 22, Lowell dark and light 23, Wamsutta and dusters 21, American prints 25, Columbia full madders 23, Concord purples 24, Greene Co. fancies 25, do. rubies 26, do. figured Green 26, Warregan fancies 25, pinks and rubies 26, purples 26, Merrimack W 28, do. D 27, one cent off from last week. Sprague's National 23½, do. purples 33, madders, rubies, and solid colors 25, blue and white and shirting 26½; blue and orange 27½ Canaries 24½.

GINGHAMS have been in light demand, and prices have been reduced one or two cents. Glasgow is quoted at 26½, Lancaster 28.

JACONETS have been more called for at the reduced figures. Slater's are quoted at 26, White Rock high colors 26, do. plain 24.

SILESAS are wanted, but with other goods prices are steadily declining. Indian Orchard and Brookfield are quoted at 35c, a reduction of two cents from last week.

HOOP SKIRTS.—Bradley's Duplex Elliptic and Empress Trail, no change in prices. Meyer's I X L skirts, low grades, sell freely, demand for wide tapes small.

MOUSLIN DELAINES have been moderately active for the bad weather. Manchesters are quoted at 32½, do. all wool 55, Hamilton Co 32½.

LINSEYS are weak and quotations have materially declined. White Rock are named at 40, Clark & Co.'s 45 to 52, Porter & Dickey's 42 a 52, Rob Roys 40, Highland mills, all wool, 40, Miner's flannel super 57½, wool filling 3-4 40, do. 7-8 45.

SHAWLS have been moderately active, but prices are not very firm.

CLOTHS have been dull and inactive for the entire week, and prices are poorly maintained. Cotton warps sold at $2 50 for No. 1, $2 40 for No. 2, and $2 30 for No. 3. Utica all wool beavers sell at $3 50 and $4.

CASSIMERES and SATINETTS are in limited demand only, and prices are unsettled and lower. Tip-top satinets are held at $1 30.

FLANNELS and Blankets are in moderate demand still, with some slight concessions in prices.

FOREIGN GOODS are very abundant, and with no demand of moment, prices have declined largely. The auction sales have been poorly attended from the stormy weather and dull market, and with the exception of linen goods there has been little spirit manifested, and prices have been below the expectations of sellers.

The Railway Monitor.

LEHIGH VALLEY RAILROAD.—The Lehigh Valley Company, in order to extend their railroad to the Wyoming Valley, give notice that the stockholders shall be entitled to subscribe at par for twenty per cent additional to the stock standing in their names respectively on the first of December next, and each fractional share will be entitled to subscribe one full share. The payments are to be made thus: Five dollars on subscribing, and five dollars per share on each succeeding 15th of the month, until the whole is paid.

MEXICAN RAILROAD PROGRESS.—The completion of the horse-railroad system of the capital, which cannot be long delayed, will place Mexico on an equality in such conveniences with the most favored American cities. A contract has also been made with a French company to build a railroad to Toluca. The iron for the Chalco Railroad is all on the ground. This fine road is already completed as far as St. Angeles, and the cars will be running to Chalco by the 1st of January. Nearly all the country produce for consumption in the capital will be brought over this line.

MORRIS AND ESSEX RAILROAD.—The western section of this railroad to Phillipsburg on the Delaware was completed about a week ago, and coal trains are now passing over it daily. In a short time it will be in use for travel and general business.

ST. LOUIS AND IRON MOUNTAIN RAILROAD.—The report of the St. Louis and Iron Mountain Railroad Company gives the gross earnings for the past year at $424,713, and the expenses at $484,255, showing an excess of expenditures of $59,543. The item for the rebuilding of bridges was $155,130 against $25,402 for the previous year.

GREAT WESTERN IMPROVEMENT.—Against this Cincinnati may rebel, but the traveling public will appreciate it. It is reported that a connecting link will cut off that city from the direct line of travel. It will extend from Piercville on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, to Hamilton on the Atlantic and Great Western Railway, thus saving some thirty miles in distance to the West, and leaving Cincinnati out of that route. The new line will cross the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Railroad near Summit, and the White Water Canal near Harrison. The survey is now progressing.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.—The following table compares the earnings for October, this year and last:

Fire, Burglar, and Damp-proof Safes,
 AND POWDER AND BURGLAR-PROOF LOCKS.
 The reputation that the Alum Patent Safes have enjoyed for many years of perfect impenetrability by fire, entire freedom from dampness (the great evil of every other safe) commends them to the attention of all persons requiring protection from fire and burglars. These safes are the only ones constructed of heavy angle iron and corner braces, which cannot be cut through. Bankers and jewelers requiring fire or burglar proof depositories, or both combined, are invited to examine the specimens at our factory, where they can readily satisfy themselves of their superiority.

CRUSHERS AND PULVERIZERS,
FOR WET OR DRY WORKING,
The Best and Cheapest in the World.
MANUFACTURED BY THE Boston Milling and Manufacturing Company,

105 STATE STREET, BOSTON, MASS.
Miners should not purchase machinery before seeing, or sending their friends to examine, the practical working of this series of machinery.

The Whirling Table, or Crusher, weighs less than two tons, and crushes from ten to twelve tons of ore per hour to fine gravel, or two hundred and fifty tons in twenty-four hours.

The Pulverizer weighs two tons, and pulverizes to dust infinitely finer than stamp work, thirty-four hundred lbs per hour, or thirty six tons per diem, equal to the yield of forty stamps; and the first cost and wear, as compared to this number of stamps, is about one-tenth—the entire yield being fit for amalgamation without further reduction. The fine dust is not obtained by screening, but by the immediate action of the Pulverizer.

Fifteen horse-power, net, is the maximum power required for one machine.

The cost of wear per ton is less than by any other machine. All wearing parts are now made of Franklinton iron.

Let miners and their friends carefully study the practical working of all other machines and processes offered, and then see ours working in East Boston, Mass. We ask only this.

All our machines are now made in our own shop. No CONTRACT WORK.

From the great success of this Company, they are enabled to offer superior advantages to policy-holders.

Life-policies are issued, payable in annual, or in one, five, or ten annual installments; also, non- forfeiture endowment policies, payable in ten annual payments, which are paid at death, or on arriving at any particular age. Life insurance, as an investment, has no superior, as it has saved millions of dollars to the insured, and thousands of families from ruin. Dividends are paid to policy-holders, thus enabling them to continue their policies, if otherwise unable to do so.

This favorable feature has been the means of saving many policies that would have been forfeited for want of means to continue them, and, in several instances, families, once wealthy, have thus been saved from utter ruin.
