TAXING NATIONAL BANKS.

During the past week a very important bill has quietly passed the Senate and Assembly at Albany, and been signed by the Governor. Those who criticise the dilatory movements of our legislators will find no reason to complain in this case. The act we refer to is one, which in a very few words, extends to the shareholders in State banks the same exemptions from taxation enjoyed by national banks; in other words, it puts all banking institutions in the State on an equality with respect to assessments and taxation. This is a very just measure, and seemed to be accepted as such readily by almost every one, and hence excited but little opposition, and required but little pushing.

But the passage of that act cannot fail to suggest the propriety, and in fact the necessity, of our Legislature coming to a speedy and wise conclusion with regard to the general subject of bank taxation. Unless this is done, there is great danger of our State and oity authorities becoming involved in their financial arrangements. For many years now these banks have submitted to extremely unjust exactions, which were gradually driving bank capital out of the State. In the light of the late decisions of the United States Supreme Court, it has become their duty, and we believe is their determination, hereafter to resist in all legal ways any effort to make them bear any more than their just proportion of the State and city fiscal burdens. Hence if our city authorities attempt to enforce the present tax levy, we presume it will be resisted, for it should be, and that will result in a very considerable deficiency. Is it not far wiser to accept at once the consequences of the decisions, and make provision for them, rather than to dally with the subject longer? We do not see where there is room for two opinions with regard to the proper course to pursue.

The important fact to be remembered and kept in mind during all this discussion is, that States cannot impose any burden upon the capital or shares of a national bank except as Congress has authorized it. This was settled long ago in the McCulloch case, and is of the utmost importance in this discussion, as it makes every tax utterly void unless laid in the precise manner the statute directs, that is, unless it is kept strictly within the authority. If then we desire to reach a correct conclusion with regard to this matter, we must not let this principle out of our sight for a moment, for, as we stated, the authorization must be accepted, if at all, in the very form of the statute; that is to say, in any system of taxation under it, the meaning and intent of each word must be studied and conformed to, and where the statute fails' to be explicit the authority cannot be implied.

Then there is another thought which will help us in attempting to reach a correct interpretation of the provision in question, and it is this. Congress had a purpose in not granting to the States full authority and power to tax banks; that purpose was to reserve to itself, or get out of the banks by taxation for the national government, the bulk of what it thought the banks could pay; consequently, the general government taxes their circulation, taxes their capital, and finally taxes their deposits. This point is of great importance in this discussion, as it helps us to understand the intent of Congress in using the very limited and guarded expressions by which it conveys to the States power to tax; it intended to reserve that source of revenue for itself. Keeping in mind then that intent, and also the previous thought that the States would have no right to tax at all, and even now have none, except to the extent and in the way Congress has granted it, one will be in a position to interpret the statute in question.

But that is not our purpose to-day. We only sought to make a few suggestions which might possibly serve as helps to that end. In reading the section itself however, we think any one would be impressed with the fact of its being very loosely worded. In the first place, it does not start off by providing in clear and positive terms that " all States are authorized to tax, &c.", but simply begins, "nothing herein shall prevent all the shares * " from being included, &c." This is certainly a very unusual way of granting authority for any act, and if it were an original question it would seem as if a very plausible argument could be made whether any authority at all to tax passes by the provision. At least this portion of the section grants no such authority; for how can it be said that the statute itself in any way "prevents" State taxation. It is not the statute that prevents it, but simply a rule of law which has its existence outside of the statute entirely, and which is to the effect that a bank formed under this or any other United States statute cannot be taxed unless Congress authorizes it. But leaving that question (on the supposition that the subsequent clause cures the defect) this form of authorization has importance, in view of the subsequent portions of the section. That we may have them before us, we give the important parts of the provision, although we have often quoted it entire before.

"Nothing herein shall prevent all the shares in any association from being included in the valuation of personal property of the owner or holder of such shares, in assessing taxes imposed by the authority of the State within which the association is located * * subject only to the two restrictions, that taxation shall not be at a greater rate than is assessed upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of such State, and that the shares of any national banking association, owned by non-residents of any State, shall be taxed in the city or town where the bank is located, and not elsewhere."

Can any one tell, after reading the above, how shares of a non-resident (whether resident of another State or of any foreign country) can be "included in the valuation of the " personal property of the owner," and whether (if according to the last decision debts can in each case be deducted) debts can again be deducted here which have once been deducted in making up the owner's personal assessment in his own State or country. Furthermore is it entirely clear that the State by this act or any other act can acquire the right to tax, and, if unpaid, confiscate, the shares of a foreign holder of stock who is a resident of another State or of a foreign coun try? To be sure the provision in terms attempts to cover the case of shareholders who are "non-residents of any State." Without stopping to consider the peculiarity and indefiniteness of that expression, it is well to determine whether the United States has the power to grant to this State jurisdiction over the property of a resident of London or New Haven. Or if even that is possible, can it force such resident to come to New York to take oath with regard to his debts, or if he does not come, can it estop him from proving them subsequently, and confiscate his property as a penalty?

These are but a few suggestions on this one branch of the subject and we have not space for more to-day. The general principle which the late decisions seem to have established is that no national bank shares can be assessed or valued at a higher value than other moneyed capital. This has a very broad application, and whether our present tax levy can stand the test of such an adjudication is the question for our city authorities to decide.

THE LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE AND ITS COMPETITORS.

The unexpected decline and subsequent fluctuations in the price of Louisville & Nashville stock the past week, have been a subject of much comment. It is now generally admitted that the sudden drop of Saturday last was the work of parties wishing to demoralize the general market and who were assisted in their attack on this road by the fact that the company's property in this city had been attached in a suit for damages, and by the report, current at the time, that the Chicago St. Louis & New Orleans had determined to bring its lines into connection with the Cincinnati Southern and form a competitor to the Louisville & Nashville for New Orleans and Mo-The suit for damages may be dismissed as bile traffic. unimportant, but the rumor about the intention of the Chicago St. Louis & New Orleans to enter territory now exclusively occupied by the Louisville & Nashville has attracted such general notice that it may be well to recall to mind the progress the Louisville & Nashville has made during the last few months in development of its system and the situation it holds with relation to other roads through the Southern States.

Only a short time ago the Louisville & Nashville could have been described with tolerable accuracy as simply a line extending from Louisville to Memphis in one direction, and from Louisville through Nashville to Montgomery, Ala., in another direction. During the last few months, as our readers know, decided changes have taken place in the system; but the actual demonstration of the strength of its position came suddenly, and for the reason that, while it was pushing southward and reaching out for the leading Gulf ports, the Nashville Chattanooga & St. Louis, its sharp and active little rival, was seeking control of the outlets to the Ocean, with an extension on the north to St. Louis. This close competition which had existed, and which these developments indicated was to be carried on even more sharply in the future, prevented the public from fully appreciating what was being done until the rivalry was absolutely terminated in the early part of the present year by the Louisville & Nashville absorbing its competitor. This combination, together with the arrangement perfected last week with the Georgia railroads, prevents any rivalry, and secures to the Louisville & Nashville all that the Nashville Chattanooga & St. Louis sought in its individual capacity before passing into the hands of the present owners-namely, outlets to the sea from the West.

Briefly speaking, then, the Louisville & Nashville system, as it now exists, including roads owned and controlled, extends from St. Louis, Louisville, Evansville, Hickman, and Memphis, to New Orleans, Mobile, Pensacola, and Savannah, and touches such important points as Nashville, Chattanooga, Selma, Montgomery, Eufaula, Columbus, Macon, Atlanta, and Augusta. In addition to this, it may also be said to have virtual control over the lines that afford outlets to Brunswick, Port Royal, Charleston, and Wilmington. In the case of Brunswick, this is so because the Louisville & Nashville controls all the Macon & Brunswick's connections at Macon; and in the case of Port Royal, Charleston, and Wilmington, because the roads to those ports all run out of Augusta, where, again, the Louisville & Nashville controls all the connections. In other words, by this system all the leading seaports from New Orleans on the Gulf, to Wilmington on the Atlantic Ocean, are reached. At some interior points every line centring in the place is under its direction. This is notably so at Nashville and Montgomery. It should also be stated that the Louisville New Albany & Chicago, from New Albany to Michigan City, is supposed to be managed in the interest of the Louisville & Nashville, thus bringing the system to within 57 miles of Chicago.

It is not to be wondered at that a combination so vast as this should excite jealonsy, and give rise to schemes for the formation of opposition lines. The Louisville & Nashville has its headquarters at Louisville, and, of course, seeks to bring all its business to that city. Before the Nashville Chattanooga & St. Louis passed into the hands of the Louisville & Nashville, and while the former was looking toward the sea coast for ontlets, Nashville held a more prominent place, and had the promise of increasing its importance as a railroad centre. Consequently, the people of that city have regarded with much disfavor the passage of their road into the control of the Louisville & Nashville. Indeed, mutterings have been heard of legislative interference, and threats made that in some way or other the road would be recovered. It is impossible to say just what this talk will amount to in the end; but time, which heals all things, will no doubt remove much of the ill feeling.

Cincinnati, too, is anxious to secure some of the Southern trade. It was with this end in view that it authorized the construction of the Cincinnati Southern some eleven years ago, and began work on it some four years later. The road is very favorably located, being almost an air line between Cincinnati and Chattanooga. It was supposed that when completed, Cincinnati would be placed in a very good position 38 respects traffic to and from Southern points. But in this calculation the factor of possible opposition was entirely ignored. The citizens of Cincinnati now awake to find the connections on the South, which they thought would be at their command, in the possession of their Louisville neighbor. If private capital had been engaged in building the Cincinnati line, some shrewd, energetie, wide-awake man would have been placed at the head, and he would not have waited for the completion of the road to apprise him of the fact that the connections were more essential than the road itself. He would have taken measures to secure at least equal advantages for his company with those of his rival, and a line offering a key to the entire railroad situation of the South would never have been allowed to pass into the exclusive possession of an antagonist. But when such an enterprise is in the hands of a practically irresponsible body, with no accountable head-accountable in the sense that the head of a corporation is to the directors and its stockholders-celerity of action, unity of purpose, and wise management, are lost, and an undertaking which might otherwise have been turned to much advantage remains for the time being merely local in its character and limited in its scope.

Contrast with this the action in one recent event of a road managed by its own stockholders and officers. There seemed a possibility that the Western & Atlantic, from Chattanooga to Atlanta, which at the latter point connects not only with the railroad system of Georgia, but (by virtue of the fact that the mountain range forming the boundary line between Tennessee and North Carolina has not yet been crossed by any railroad) with the entire network of railroads in South and North Carolina—there seemed a possibility that this road would fail to come into the Louisville & Nashvill e combination. The Louisville & Nashville, seeing the necessity of the connection to its system, bought the charter of the Georgia Western, and failing in its efforts to seenre the Western & Atlantie would have built a road from Atlanta westward to a point on its Alabama lines.

It is difficult to see what measures the Cincinnati Southern can take to counteract these recent movements. As stated above, the control of the Western & Atlantic gives the Louisville & Nashville the key to the entire situation. There seems no remedy against this except the building of a new line, and there is not much likelihood of that just now. As respects, therefore, through traffic to points in Georgia, South and North Carolina,. the Cineinnati Southern will, for the present, be as much at the mercy of the Louisville & Nashville as it ever was. In regard to connections with Mobile and New Orleans, the problem is less difficult of solution. At a meeting of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, some weeks ago, it was suggested that. the city buy the Selma Rome & Dalton road, which is shortly to be sold at foreclosure sale. Possessing that road it would not need a great many additional miles to bring it in connection with the Cincinnati Southern at Chattanooga, and, if purchased, would extend the Cincinnati Sonthern to Selma, Ala. Here however at present it would have to stop. Tho Pensacola & Selma (formerly Selma & Gulf) would have answered very well for connection with the Gulf, although at present this road is completed only as far as Pineapple, forty miles. But some time ago this very piece of road was purchased by the Louisville & Nashville; yet it does not come in contact with that system at all, and last week the Louisville & Nashville felt compelled to lease that part of the Western Railroad of Alabama, lying between Selma and Montgomery, to bring this little bit of road into connection with its lines. There is one other road running out of Selma which might answer the same purpose of extension south for the Cincinnati Southern. We refer to the New Orleans & Selma, completed for twenty-one miles from Selma. We are of the opinion, however, that it also is either already controlled by the Louisville & Nashville or is in the way to be.

But the most feasible plan yet suggested for bringing the Cincinnati Southern in connection with New Orleans and Mobile, is that mentioned in the beginning of this article. It is the building of a branch by the Chicago St. Louis & New Orleans from Jackson to Nashville, and another by the Cincinnati Southern from Nashville to Danville, on its main line. We do not know what truth there may be in the second part of this statement, but we have it on official authority that some prospecting has been done on the line between Jackson and Nashville, so that it is not unlikely that progress will be made in this direction before long. The Chicago St. Louis & New Orleans is said to be spurred on to this by the loss of New Orleans business that formerly came to it from Nashville over the Nashville Chattanooga & St. Louis. The benefits that would accrue to the Chic. St. Louis & New Orleans from such a line are undonbted, even though the Cincinnati Southern should not build its portion. The road would traverse a rich section, and would besides command a large traffic at Nashville, to the detriment of the Louisville & Nashville. And if the Cincinnati Southern should build the section between Nashville and Danville, the benefits to 'the Chic. St. Louis & New Orleans, and loss to the Louisville & Nashville, would be even more marked. Jackson is a point where the Mobile & Ohio and the Chic. St. Louis

& New Orleans intersect, and consequently the Cincinnati Southern would get outlets to both New Orleans and Mobile. These routes would, moreover, he much shorter than the corresponding ones of the Louisville & Nashville.

Altogether, then, it seems probable that the Louisville & Nashville will lose some business through the opening of the Cincinnati Southern to Chattanooga-or rather to Boyce's Station, 5 miles from Chattanooga-though it is not yet possible to estimate the extent of this, as the road has been in operation only a few weeks. As stated above, however, for points below Chattanooga the roads controlled by the Louisville & Nashville will have to be used. It also seems likely that the Louisville & Nashville will suffer from the proposed line to Nashville. This is prospective, yet the managers of the Illinois Central (which owns the Chicago St. Louis & New Orleans) have displayed rare business tact in the management of their property, and will construct the line without much talk if it commends itself to their judgme it, as seems probable. But as the Louisville & Nashville system is now so vast and covers so wide a range of territory, there seems fair reason to suppose that it may be able to make good these losses and show progress besides.

LIFE INSURANCE PROSPECTS.

The official status of the Insurance Department in this State has been settled by the confirmation of Mr. Fairman of Elmira, a newspaper editor. The worst that can be said of this appointment, as of that of Mr. Hepburn to be Superintendent of Banking, is, that the new incumbent was not selected because of his fitness for the situation. The latter appointment involved the setting aside an acting official who already has experience, besides having proved himself active, competent, and houest; the other overlooked the just claims of a deputy who has done (and was the only official connected with the Department capable of doing it) the real insurance work. Still, no evidence of positive unfitness appears yet in either case. Only a very extraordinary man, however, can cleanse the Insurance Department after the last incumbent, and we still deem it better for the public interests and the State's reputation to reform that office by abolishing it; but we will live in hope, and there is at least the certainty that any change in administration of it must be an improvement.

The new Superintendent, however, has in some respects an unusual opportunity to distinguish himself, if he possesses such an honorable ambition, for not only does the past official term offer a background against which his work may shine, but the improvement in at least one branch of insurance has begun. The following schedule —confined to Life companies now in existence and active operation—giving the number which went forward or backward respectively, as respects volume of outstanding business, during the last ten years, is suggestive.

The apparent decrease in 1879 in the left-hand column is really an increase of about 8½ millions, for the amounts outstanding in three companies not included in the figures for 1879 should first be deducted from those for 1878 before making the comparison. In the above table we have not been at the pains to exclude the many companies which have fallen by the way, the purpose being only to show how the tide of all insurance-good,. The bad and indifferent-has ebbed and flowed. retired companies of this State, however, took out about 165 millions, which is rather more than one-half the total net decay since 1870. The figures show that in the companies of this State there was some progress made in 1879, and although the like experience did not befall those of other States, the decline, both absolutely and relatively, was less than one-half what it was in 1878. The first table, confined to present companies, is still more interesting, showing at a glance how increasingly powerful was the backward drag which, in 1878, brought the companies to a halt in respect to growth, and also the fact that reaction has begun. Of the 12 New York companies reported, 9 show a gain in issues over 1878; of the 18 others, 7 show such a gain. As to terminations, the proportion of such by surrenders and lapses, which increased from 65 per cent (then already far too large) in 1873 to 77 in 1876 and 1877, in the companies of this State, declined to 76 in 1878 and to 67 in 1879; in those of other States, the proportion of terminations by these methods was at its highest in 1876 (67 per cent), was 57 in 1878 and 54 last year.

The business is by no means fully purged of all its errors of management-its working expenses are still too high, and its competition too eager in disposition and too elastic in methods. As activity returns, for example, these methods extend, in some cases, to a revival of the old warfare between companies and agents-a practice beneficial only to the journals which publish the matter and the writers who prepare it. Nobody ever built up a very substantial business by assaults upon competitors, and it is time these methods gave place to wiser and less heated ones. Nevertheless, the healthy condition of life insurance companies in general may be admitted unreservedly, and with much satisfaction. As a business, it has proved its stability and its place. The former must be deemed impregnable, as far as human foresight can go, after having survived so severe a test; the latter will last while uncertainties and inequalities are a part of human life. The most wholesome and effectual corrective of errors in life insurance practice will be to pay very little regard to State supervision and certificates, and no more to the representations of agents moderate they are, by the way, the more worthy of trust-and to use one's own business judgment in making a selection. That the selection, made after careful use of the best facilities the insurance buyer can find for forming an opinion of his own, will be unwise is less likely than that his business will be taken to the best companies if he depends upon the chance that representatives of such companies will be the first to seek him out.

[From our own correspondent.]

LONDON, Saturday, April 10, 1880. The elections held during the week make it certain that the Opposition will succeed to power with a good working majority. This is very satisfactory, as it would have been unfortunate if party power had been so evenly balanced as to make the work of governing a difficult process. No such difficulty is now apprehended, and as many important problems have been solved during the past six years, the Liberal party will be able to devote their energies to the inauguration of those domestic reforms for which the country is becoming anxious. We shall also see, in all probability, the work of Parliament conducted with more fairness and with greater facility. The acrimony displayed on many occasions of late years has been very offensive to many who hold a high opinion as to the dignity of the great council of the nation, and Liberal statesmen desire, now that a victory has been gained, that the past should be forgotten, and the present and future should form the subject of legislation. The country need not apprehend that the Conservatives will form themselves into a factious opposition; but it is a satisfactory feature that the party will be strong enough to criticise the work of Government, and that measures of importance are not likely to be passed before they have been fully considered. It is very generally hoped that the Government will not wait for, or court, an adverse vote, but that the Prime Minister, as soon as the elections are over, will place his resignation in the hands of the Queen, and advise her as to the course to pursue. This is obviously the plainer and more dignified course to adopt, and some weeks of valuable time will be saved. The probability is that Lord Granville will be called upon to form a Ministry and that Lord Hartington will lead the House of Commons. In what way Mr. Gladstone's eminent services will be acknowledged is a question of some difficulty. His proper place should be as Prime Minister, but he has expressed a desire to be excluded from office, and to act as an independent member. If he adheres to this determination, the work of forming a Ministry will soon be accomplished, as a subordinate position could searcely be acceptable to him.

There has been a moderate inquiry for money during the week, but the open market rates of discount are ½ per cent below the official rate, which remains at 3 per cent. The dividends on the public funds have been distributed, and the Bank of England has been repaid the advances made by it in anticipation of them. Although the money market is likely to rule easy during the next few weeks, there is still no reason to believe in any return of that depression which has been its peculiarity for several summers past. There is evidently a more general demand for money, and increasing means for the employment of and prices are somewhat easier to-day. In Mexican dollars no it are expected to arise. There is still much to be said in favor of an improved trade, and each week seems to indicate that developments are taking place. Cheap food (a high price for butchers' meat being the principal exception), cheap money, a very moderate rate of wages, fine weather, and a brighter political prospect, are obviously all favorable to a more extended commerce. They are, in fact, the necessities of a good trade, and there is consequently no reason why business should not become active and remunerative. It will be a decidedly satisfactory feature if the present value of money is maintained, as it will show that, among other causes, ample evidence exists of the improved condition of our commerce. This week's Bank return shows changes due principally to the payment of the dividends and the repayment of advances. There is a decrease of £3,855,872 in the Treasury balances and of £2,825,231 in "other securities." Notes and coin, in consequence of the dividend payments, have been taken out of the Bank, and there is a decrease of £779,846 in the total reserve. In consequence of the diminished liabilities of the Bank, the proportion of reserve to them has increased from 43.90 to 45.40 per cent.

Tenders were received at the Bank of England on Monday for £1,695,000 in Treasury bills, and the amounts allotted were as follows : In bills at three months, £1,150,000 ; do. at six months, £545,000; tenders for bills at three months at £99 8s. 5d. and above received in full, and for bills at six months at £98 14s. 7d. about 70 per cent; all above in full. The rate of discount for three months' bills is therefore 2 5-16 per cent, and on longerdated paper 2½ per cent.

The brokers and dealers on the Stock Exchange who protested at the end of February against the arrangements contemplated in the case of the Atlantic Mississippi & Ohio Railway now intimate that their protest has been withdrawn, "in view of the present arrangements for the harmonious fusion of all in-"terests."

Tenders were received yesterday at the Queensland National Bank (Limited) for £2,000,000 Queensland four per cent debentures, and the total applications amounted to £5,887,000. Tenders at and above £90 6s. 6d. received allotments in full, and those at £90 6s. about 2½ per cent.

There is a moderate demand for gold for export, but it is chiefly for Spain and India. The Continental exchanges are in our favor, and there is no present tendency for gold to move in the direction of any particular centre. Yesterday and to-day, however, there has been very little inquiry, and a small supply has been sent into the Bank. The silver market has been quiet, change has taken place. The following are the present quotations for bullion :

The stock markets have been rather quiet during the week, but the tone has on the whole been firm. The railway traffic returns have been somewhat disappointing, but the value of stocks has, in most cases, been maintained, as sanguine views are still held with regard to the future of railway property. Foreign government securities have attracted attention, and Egyptian bonds especially have been in request, at advancing prices. There has also been a fair degree of activity in the market for American railroad bonds.

The weather being favorable in most parts of the world for the growing crops, and there being the promise of an early harvest in some localities, the wheat trade has been dull, and foreign wheat is quoted lower. English wheat is still in very short supply, and sound parcels have changed hands at former prices. The weather has been very favorable for the farming interests, though it has again become somewhat cold. Vegetation progresses satisfactorily, and a sanguine view is still entertained regarding the future.

During the week ended April 3, the sales of home-grown wheat in the 150 principal markets of England and Wales amounted to 24,608 quarters, against 43,856 quarters last year; and it is estimated that in the whole kingdom they were 98,500 quarters, against 175,500 quarters in 1879. Since harvest the sales in the 150 principal markets have been 972,913 quarters, against 1.704,800 quarters; while since harvest it is computed that they have been 3,891,700 quarters, against 6,819,200 quarters in the corresponding period of last season. Without reckoning the supplies furnished ex-granary at the commencement of the season, it is computed that the following quantities of wheat and flour have been placed upon the British markets since harvest:

laxation in the rates for money, the financial markets have a more cheerful aspect. The condition of affairs during the month of April has not been, upon the whole, an unhealthy one, and the tightening up of the money market put rather a wholesome check upon certain sorts of speculation that had gone far enough. One of the principal benefits realized has been from the gradual decline in articles of produce that had previously risen to a point unwarrantably high ; and although the decline has necessarily been attended with losses to those who had purchased grain, cotton, pork, iron, &c., at the higher figures, it has still been highly favorable in setting in motion again the wheels of trade, in stimulating the exports of produce, making a better supply of commercial exchange, and in releasing a good deal of money that had been required for carrying these articles on speculative account. Navigation has opened on the lakes and canal, and rates from Chicago to New York were reported at 11 cents per bushel (60 lbs.) for wheat. The railroad rates made last week were 30 cents per 100 lbs. for grain from Chicago to New York. The quantity of grain forwarded by rail in March was the largest on record, but the following table of the grain movement for the winter season, De-cember 1 to April 3 (18 weeks), from the Railroad Gazette, shows that the grain movement was very little larger than last year, not greatly larger than in 1877–8, but that all these three years each of them showed nearly double the quantity carried in any previous year :

The Bank of England on Thursday showed a decrease for the week of £8,200 in specie, and the reserve was 48 9-16 per cent of liabilities—the same as last week; the discount rate remains at 3 per cent. The Bank of France showed an increase of 19,900,000 francs. The last statement of the New York City Clearing-House banks, issued April 17, showed an increase of $644,330 in the reserve held, the surplus over the 25 per cent requirement being $536,930, against a deficit of $107,400 the previous week. control States Bonds.—The market for governments has been steady, but without particular animation. Under the Treasury purchases, and with the disposition of banks and other corporations to hold their bonds at this season of the year, the floating supply of bonds on the market is growing smaller. At the Treasury purchase on Wednesday the total offerings were $4,667,250, and $3,000,000 bonds were accepted. The closing prices at the New York Board here been used

State and Railroad Bonds .- In Southern State bonds there state and Railroad Bonds.—In Southern State bonds there has been some weakness, and this is attributed in part to the decline in cotton, which has been felt considerably throughout the South. Bonds were in many cases put up as collateral for loans, and, the margins on cotton having been exhausted, the bonds have been sold. Some of the Louisiana bonds are return-ing from abroad, where they were taken when the price was about 40 or lower, and, in addition to this, the outlook for col-lection of taxes in Louisiana, under the new constitution, is said to be not encouraging. to be not encouraging.

Railroad bonds are strong, as a rule, on a well-distributed business.

Milcage last year was 85 miles, a rainst 147 miles now.

* Mileage last year was 85 miles, against 147 miles now. Exchange.—Foreign exchange is only about steady for 60-day's bills, but short-date sterling is more in demand. The asking rates for sterling bills are ½ point lower than last week. On actual business the rates are about 4 81½ for 60 days and 4 87 for demand. Cable transfers are 4 87¼. There is little expec-tation now that much gold will be exported, and we hear of a fair demand for securities. The following are the rates of domestic exchange on New York at the undermentioned cities to-day: Savannah—buying 3-16, selling 5-16 premium; Charleston, steady—bnying ½@ 3-16, selling ½ premium; New Orleans, commercial par, bank 250 premium; St. Louis, 75 premium; Chicago, 75 premium; and Boston, 40c. discount. #### Atlanta & Charlotte Air Line.

(For the year ending December 31, 1879.)

(For the year ending December 31, 1879.) From the annual report we learn that the gross earnings for the year are $777,298, showing an increase over the earnings of 1878 of $148,020. The operating expenses, including the pur-chase and laying of 1,100 tons of steel rails, were $525,677, leav-ing net earnings of $251,620. From this amount $35,000 was paid in interest on the preference bonds, $84,717 expended for extra-ordinary repairs and permanent improvements, and $12,900 in equipment and in purchasing this company's proportion of the white mail cars for the Government service, leaving a surplus of $154,003. The balance remaining on hand January 1, 1879, from the preference bond fund, of $17,363, was turned over to the credit of the equipment account, and applied in part pay-ment for 3 new freight engines purchased during the year. The increase of business has been largely of a local nature, and the growth has been even more rapid than was anticipated by the board when they determined, eighteen months ago, upon a policy of providing ample facilities for the development of both the passenger and freight business. The board has acted on the belief that the best interests of the bodholders and stockholders required that the work of permanent improvement be carried on with reasonable rapidity. During the past year 3 bridges of 6 spans have been rebuilt in the best manner, a considerable amount of filling in of trestles, for round-house, shop and depot, with platforms and side tracks, have been put up at Charlotte, and the grading nearly completed of the company's site for buildings at Atlanta; but there still remains important work to be done, and about two-thirds of the original amount of trestles to fill. Sntro Tunnel.

(For the year ending F.b. 29, 1880.) The annual report of Mr. Adolph Sutro, as superintendent of the Sutro Tunnel, for the year ended March 1, 1880, contained the following:

the following: During the past year the differences between the companies working the mines on the Comstock lode and this company have been satisfactorily adjusted, and now perfect harmony between the different interests prevails. Under the adjustment, the Sutro Tunnel Company relinquished one-half the royalty of $2 per ton (to which, under the original agreements, it was en-titled) as far as ores are concerned which would mill $40 per ton or under, so that only those ores which yield over $40 per ton will hereafter have to pay the full royalty. The mining companies have also agreed to advance to the Tunnel Company $70 per running foot for every foot of lateral tunnel constructed northerly along the line of the Comstock Lode to the Utah Mine, and southerly to the Overman Mine. This advance is not to create or constitute a debt against the Tunnel Company, for which demand could be made ; nor shall it draw any interest, but it is to be liquidated out of half the royalties hereafter earned on ores extracted, and should any mine never extract ore, such mine shall have no claim against the Tunnel Company for advances made by it.

Company for advances made by it. The water power on Carson River should be secured by the Tunnel Company as speedily as possible, not only for the par-pose of making cheap compressed air after the machinery is moved from shaft No. 2 to the tunnel entrance, but also for the moved from shaft No. 2 to the tunnel entrance, but also for the purpose of acquiring a cheap power for the propulsion of mills, reduction, and concentrating works. In this connection I desire to repeat that the quantity of low-grade ores in the Comstock lode, which have been laid bare by former explorations, is al-most unlimited, and with the unsurpassed facilities the Sutro Tunnel Company possesses for their transportation, milling and concentration should in the future prove one of the main sources of revenue.

sources of revenue. The inventory of the property of the company, furnished by Mr. Sntro, gives the cost of the tunnel as $4,000,000, and other property valued at $494,134. The Secretary makes the following statement of the receipts and disbursements of the company for the year:

Central Iowa.—In regard to recent reports that holders of their mortgage bonds had been refnsed new stock, a communi-cation to the Boston Advertiser says that the charter expressly provides (Art. IV.) that "one share of (new) stock shall be given for each $100 of floating indebtedness, and the third mortgage bonds shall be received and treated as floating in-debtedness only as far as it has canceled or paid any actual bona fide debt of the Central Railroad Company of Iowa." Thus the slur upon the action of the management, that new bona fide debt of the Central Railroad Company of Iowa." Thus the slur upon the action of the management, that new stock has been issued for the "plain notes" without the "sur-render of the bonds," is entirely uncalled for, as, in so doing, the directors have done just what they are obliged to do by the charter of the road, which does not recognize the third mort-gage bonds apart from the floating indebtedness. The Central Iowa Railway Company proposes to pay im-mediately the interest due July 15 on its first mortgage bonds, on condition that bondholders will deduct 6 per cent from the face of the coupons as a rebate.

Scott have purchased the New Orleans & Pacific Railroad, of which about 100 miles are graded, and by the terms of the contract it is to be completed to Alexandria and Shreveport within 18 months. The present creditors have agreed to accept 50 cents on the dollar for their claims in first mortgage bonds of the new company, which is to be organized by the purchasers. These debts aggregate between $350,000 and $400,000. The route to be followed is to cross the Missis-sippi River at Baton Rouge, and thence down the east bank to New Orleans.

Selma Rome & Dalton.—The American Exchange gives an account of the litigation in regard to this company from which the following is condensed: A meeting of the first mortgage bondholders of the Alabama & Tennessee River Railroad (now the Selma Rome & Dalton) has been called for the second week in May, to consider what action shall be taken for the protection of their interests at the forthcoming foreclosure sale of the property of the company in Alabama on June 14. The bondholders' committee has detailed a competent railroad engineer to examine the present condition of the road, and his report will be submitted to the meeting for its information. In the meantime the counsel of the Selma Rome & Dalton Company are considering the question of taking an appeal to the United States Supreme Court from the decision of the Alabama Courts affirming the validity of the Alabama & Tennessee River mortgages. In 1852 the Alabama & Tennessee River Railroad Company was organized to build a road from Selma, Ala., to Gadsden, on the Tennessee River, a distance of 170 miles. The company built 135 miles of the road and partly graded 10 miles. ## COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, April 23, 1880.

The past week has witnessed more seasonable weather, and some improvement in regular trade as well as less depression in speculation. There is still, however, a lack of spirit and confidence in both trade and speculative circles, and views of the future of prices are wholly unsettled. It is, however, much easier to buy than to sell. The opening of the Erie Canal on Tuesday last was followed almost immediately by such a serious break in its banks that its navigation is postponed for two weeks at least, and the needed supplies of grain at this market subjected to an unfortunate delay. The money market has worked easier.

In provisions considerable improvement has been noticed during the past week; a better business for export has been accomplished, and higher prices have been current. To-day old mess pork on the spot was quoted at $10 25@$10 50; new $10 50@$11; do. for May, $10 60@$10 70; June, $10 65@$10 75; July, $10 70@$10 90; August, $10 80@$11 bld and asked. Bacon has been dull, and closes weak at 6.70c. for long clear and 6% c. for long and short together. Lard opened fully 10c. per 100 lbs. higher, but reacted somewhat toward the close; choice new Western was sold on the spot at 7.37½c., prime do. quoted 7:32½@7:35c.; in options April sold at 7:32½c., May 7.32%@7.27%c., June 7.32%@7.37%c., July 7.32%@7.40c., August 7:40@7:42%c. and seller the year 7:25@7:27%c.; refined to the Continent sold at 7.62 %c., closing at 7.67 %c. Butter has been dull and weak, while cheese has been more active, and higher.

Rio coffee has continued very quiet, and at one time declined to 14c. for fair cargoes; and though later there was a reaction to the quotation of a week ago-141/4c.-the market has hardly been any more than nominal at that figure. There have been numerous rumors concerning sales of Rio coffee, reported to be held by agents of the Brazilian Government in this city and Baltimore, but nothing has been authenticated. Mild grades have met with only a moderate trade, as a rule, though Maracaibo and Laguayra have sold fairly at prices showing no material change. Rice has been less active, but prices have not varied materially from those of last week. Molasses has been in only moderate demand, and refining stock has fallen to 37@ In only moderate demand, and refining stock has fallen to 37@ 38c. for Cuba, 50 degrees test, and the quoted range for Porto Rico has been 35@50c; New Orleans has shown no change. Raw sugar has been quiet and rather weak, especially for Mus-covado, centrifugal being in the best position. Refiners who recently received large importations show no inclination to pur-chase anything much but an occasional cargo of Pernambuco or Iloib for their common products, and the market closes to a great extent nominal at 7 9-16@73/cc. for fair Cuba refining. Refined has been quiet of late at easier prices, crushed being quoted at 9½@93/cc., powdered at 9½c., and granulated at 9¼ @93/sc. The following shows the movement in raw here: Huds. Boxes. Bars. Prices are firm, and the close is with a good inquiry to fill Regie contracts. Lugs quoted at 4@5½c., and leaf 6@12c. Seed leaf remains quiet, but prices are pretty fully sustained, there being no pressure upon the market. Sales for the week are 734 cases, all crop of 1878, as follows: 250 cases Pennsylvania, 10c. to 20c.; 300 cases New England, 12c. to 28c.; 54 cases Ohio, 11½c.; 30 cases State, p. t.; and 100 cases sundries, 9c. to 16c. at 85c.@$1 10. In ocean freight room the movement has of late been less liberal, owing to the higher cost of most of the leading staples, particularly breadstuffs. Rates have shown weakness, and in the instance of berth room, a sharp decline. The engagements to-day included grain to Liverpool, by steam, 4½d., 60 lbs.; cot-ton, 5-16d.; provisions, 32s. 6d.@40s.; cotton, by sail, 17-64d.; grain to London, by steam, 4¼d., 60 lbs.; do. to Glasgow, by steam, 4½d., 60 lbs.; do. by steamer to Cork for orders, 4s. 9d.; if Hull direct, 4s. 6d; do. by sail, 5s. per qr.; do. to Riva Deo, 6s. per qr. Petroleum has continued dull and whelly nominal at 7½c. for refined, in bbls. Crude certifi-cates have ruled easy and close at 72½c. bid. Tallow has ruled dull at 6½c. Whiskey closes dull at $1 10@$1 11. Metals are about demoralized; all descriptions show further declines and still business is of the most limited proportions. Ingot copper quiet at 21@21¼c. for Lake.

THE CHRONICLE.

The speculation in futures has not been so active as last week, but prices have continued to fluctuate widely. The upward ten-dency noticed at the close of our last was continued with considerable vigor throughout Saturday and Monday, car-rying prices up 33@39 hundredths above the lowest prices of the previous week. But on Tuesday this movement collapsed, and nearly the whole of the above advance was lost during the closing hours of that day. Wednesday was variable, closing slightly dearer. Yesterday the market continued variable, but the close was at 5@10 hundredths decline, September and October showing notable depression. To-day there was a decline of 13@ 15 hundredths, followed by a partial recovery. Cotton on the spot was firmer after the revision of quotations on Friday last, and on Monday quotations were advanced ½c., but prices became weak on Tuesday, and on Wednesday official figures were reduced 1-16c. with a very large business for export. Yesterday there was a further decline of 1-16c. with a limited business at the de-clice. To-day there was a further decline of §c., to 11åc. for mid-The speculation in futures has not been so active as last week,

To-day there was a further decline of  $\frac{1}{3}$ c., to 11 $\frac{3}{3}$ c. for mid-dling uplands, leading to a large taking for export. The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 859,100 bales, including — free on board. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 23,038 bales, including 20,511 for export, 2,113 for consumption, 414 for speculation, and — in transit. Of the above, — bales were to arrive. The above figures indicate an increase in the cotton in sight to-night of 270,462 bales as compared with the same date of 1879, a decrease of 154,598 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1878, and a decrease of 504,538 bales as compared with 1877. In the preceding visible supply table we have heretofore only included the interior stocks at the 7 original interior towns As we did not have the record of the nev interior towns for the four years, we could not make a comparison in any other way. That difficulty no longer exists, and we therefore make the fol-lowing comparison, which includes the stocks at the 19 towns given weekly in our table of interior stocks instead of only the old 7 towns. We shall continue this double statement for a time but finally shall simply substitute the 19 towns for the 7 towns in the preceding table. Amertcan- 1850, 1870, 1878, 1877

This year's figures estimated.

The above totals show that the old interior stecks have decreased during the week 10,549 bales, and are to-night 71,482 bales more than at the same period last year. The receipts at the seme towns have been 975 bales less than the same week last year. RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are some times misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another, at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore a safe correlation of the outports are some therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following :

The above statement shows-

1. That the total receipts from the plantations since Sept. 1 in 1879-80 were 4,821,644 bales; in 1878-79 were 4,376,366 bales; in 1877-78 were 4,155,267 bales.

2. That although the receipts at the out ports the past week were 36,714 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 19,094 bales, the balance being drs.wn from stocks at the interior ports. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 31,511 bales, and for 1878 they were 32,019 bales.

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

GUNNY BAGS, BAGGING, ETC.—Bagging is in fair demand for small orders, and alock is being worked off in this way; but large lots are hard to move. Prices show but little change, dealers still asking 104c. for 14 lbs, 114c. for 2 lbs. and 114c. for rtandard quality. Butta are moving steadily, and the sales are about 3,000 bales various grades. We also heard that a lot had been taken to arrive, same quantity as above, price not given. Holders are very firm, and no anxiety is abown to accept less than quoted figures, which are 3gc. for ordinary up to 3gc. for standard grades. standard grades

ELLISON & CO.'S COTTON REPORT FOR MARCH .-- Two weeks since (CHRONICLE, April 10, page 368) we published an article containing the figures of Messrs. Ellison & Co. for March, received by cable. To-day we are in receipt by mail of the full report dated April 8, and make the following extracts from it :

COURSE OF THE LIVERPOOL MARKET, MARCH 10 TO APRIL 7. Our last report was issued on the 10th ultimo. The market was very quiet, and during the subsequent week was exceptionally idle, owing to the diminished business in Manchester, resulting in small sales and a decline of 1/6d. per lb .- 71/4d. being touched for middling American on the spot and 7%d. for near deliveries on the 17th ult. The low prices attracted attention, and as higher rates came from New York a reaction of 3-32d. took place in the afternoon of the day just named. Thence to the 22nd there were sundry fluctuations, occasioned by the varying tenor of the American news, but the general tendency was upwards, owing to renewed animation in Manchester, and to increased buying here for consumption. The hardening tendency was strengthened by the demand for March deliveries, and by the temporary scarcity of tenderable uplands. The result was that nearly the whole of the previous decline was recovered. There was a relapse on the 23d and 24th, and prices gave way 1-16d. to 1/6d. On the 25th there was no further change. Thence to the 30th the market was closed for the Easter holidays. There was a slight recovery in the evening of the 25th, but the market reopened tamely on the 30th and lost the improvement and 1-32d. to 1-16d. besides. A quiet feeling ruled also on the 31st ult. and the 1st inst., and prices lost 1-16d. per lb., making a fall of 1/6d. since the 25th. There was a firmer feeling in the afternoon of the 1st; and on the 2nd, 3rd and 5th there was more doing, in anticipation of a better business in Manchester after the elections. Prices, consequently, gradually hardened, spot gaining 1/3d. and futures 3-16d. from the low rates touched in the morning of the 1st instant. The greater part of this improvement was lost, however, in the afternoon of the 5th, owing to the unexpected announcement of a heavy decline in futures at New York. A further reduction took place on the 6th and 7th, in sympathy with a continued decline at New York. The spot demand fell to small dimensions, while the desire to sell increased. The "break" at New York caused buyers in Manchester to postpone operations, in anticipation of lower prices, and the inactivity in Manchester reacted upon the market here. The result was a preponderance of selling, and a fall in prices of 1-16d. to %d. on the spot and 1/3d. to 3-16d. in futures.

Compared with the prices current a month since, the present rates show a decline of 3-16d. to 1/4d. in the lower and 1-16d. to 1/3d. in the medium and higher grades of American, 3-16d. to 1/4d. in Brazils, 1/6d. to 1/4d. in Egyptian, and 1-16d. to 1/6d. in East Indian.

Throughout the month business has been more or less interrapted by the proceedings in connection with the Parliamentary Elections; but we suspect that in a great measure the elections have been more an excuse for than a cause of the prevailing inactivity here and in Manchester.

The following are the principal fluctuations in the prices of middling uplands on the spot and for forward delivery since the 10th ult.:

COURSE OF THE MANCHESTER MARKET, MARCH 10 TO APRIL 7.

The pause which commenced to show itself in the second half of February, and had at the date of our last report led to a decline of ¼d. to ½d. per lb. in yarn and 1½d. to 4½d. per piece in shirtings from the previous highest point, has continued almost without interruption, and the result is a further fall of %d. to ¼d. per lb. in yarn and 1 ½d. to 3d. per piece in shirtings. The reduced business is due chiefly to the fact that buyers had previously largely anticipated their requirements; while the inclination to renew expiring contracts has been diminished by the weakness displayed at New York and Liverpool, and by the absence of encouraging advices from the leading foreign markets for yarns and goods. The following are the present quotations for specific qualities of yarns and goods, compared with those of a month since :

MOVEMENT DURING THE SEASON, OCTOBER 1 TO MARCH 31. The deliveries to English and Continental spinners during the first six months of the season compare as follows with the figures for the corresponding months of last season:

	Great I	Britain.	Conti	uent.
	1879-80.	1878-79.	1879-80.	1878-79.
Number of bales Av'ge weight (lbs.) Total weight (lbs.)	1,557,660450700,947,000	439	432	426

The rate of consumption in Great Britain in March was about 65,000 bales of 400 lbs. per week, or 260,000 bales, equal to 104,-000,000 lbs., which, added to the 528,900,810 lbs. consumed to the end of February, gives 632,900,810 lbs. as the consumption for the first six months of the season, against 550,400,000 lbs. last season. The rate of consumption on the Continent was probably 50,000 bales of 400 lbs. per week, or 200,000 bales, equal to 80,000,000 lbs., for the month, making, with the 419,-200,000 lbs. consumed to the end of February, a total of 499,-200,000 lbs. for the first six months of the season, against 456,-000,000 lbs. last season.

On the basis of the foregoing estimates, the movements for the twenty-six weeks were as follows :

	Great I	Britain.	Continent.
	1879-80. Lbs.	1878-79. Lbs.	1879-80. Lbs.	1878-79. Lbs.

Surplus stock in bales of 400 pounds	185,000	111,000	222,000	227,000

These figures show an excess of 74,000 bales in the stock held by English spinners, but a decrease of 5,00) in those held by Continental spinners, or a net excess of 69,000 bales. The excess in the "visible supply" is 130,000 bales. The two together make a total excess of 199,000 bales.

In last year's report for this date the surplus stock on the Continent was given as 39,550,000 lbs. instead of 30,550,000 lbs.; this led to the stock on March 31 being over-estimated. The revision in the average weight of American bales accounts for a still further reduction in the stock at the date named, and also ccounts for a small reduction in the stocks held by English spinners, compared with last year's estimate.

AVERAGE WEIGHT OF AMERICAN BALES.

In answer to further inquiries we find that the average weight of the bales shipped during the first seven months of this season was 485 lbs., against 473 lbs. for the whole of last season, or an increase of 12 lbs. per bale. Another estimate giving the shipments up to the end of December states the increase at 10 lbs. per bale. The increase is equal to 2½ per cent, and if this crop should not exceed 5,600,000 bales, it will, nevertheless, be equal to 5,740,000 bales of last season's average weight.

PROSPECTS.

The American crop promises to exceed 5,600,000 bales; this less 1,800,000 for American consumption, shipments to Canada, &c., would leave 3,800,000 for Europe. The import to the close of March was 2,259,000 bales, leaving 1,541,000 to receive between March 31 and September 30. The Indian supply for this season is expected to show an increase of 150,009 bales over that of last season, which was 974,000 bales; an addition of that of last season, which was 574,000 bales; an addition of 150,000 would give about 1,125,000 bales, of which 349,000 bales were received to March 31, leaving 776,000 to come in between that date and September 30. The Egyptian crop will reach about 3,200,000 cantars, or 470,000 bales, of which 405,000 were imported to the end of March, leaving 65,000 to receive thence to September 30. From sundry sources the import last season between March 31 and September 30 was 121,000 bales, and the season before 125,000 bales. This season we may receive 125,000 bales. 125,000 bales.

The foregoing estimates, plus the stocks in the ports of Europe, compare as follows with the figures for the second half of last season, in 1,000s of bales:

If the American crop should reach 5,650,000 or 5,700,000 bales, the extra 50,000 to 100,000 bales will come to Europe. The above total supply of 3,245,000 bales averages about 426 lbs. per bale. The present rate of consumption in Europe is about 115,000 bales of 400 lbs. or 108,000 bales of 426 lbs. The requirements for twenty-six weeks would be 2,800,000 bales. On this basis the supply, deliveries and stocks compare as follows:

There is plenty of cotton to meet the probable requirements of consumers and to leave a stock of 782,000 bales in the ports of Europe on the 30th September, against 487,000 last year. But last year's stock was dangerously small. In 1878 it was 656,000, in 1877 1,001,000 and in 1875 1,226,000 bales.
As to prices, the course of the market will fromt his time forward be swayed more by the prospects of the new American crop than by any other influence. At present the outlook is favorable for an enormous yield. At seven pence per lb. every planter in the South will put as much land under cultivation as he possibly can; but the result will depend upon the character of the season, which, of course, no one can foresee.

Since the above was in type we have received from Mr. Ellison the following as supplementary to the above monthly report :

In reference to the above statement, we ought perhaps to have mentioned that the stock in the ports on the 30th Septem-ber last was exclusive of a deficit of 49,000 bales discovered on count in Liverpool. This error was spread over the entire season, and for the purposes of the above table cught not to be taken into account, because it is just possible that a similar error may be discovered at the close of the present season. In other words, instead of the real stock of 487,000, we ought to have compared with the estimated stock of 527,000 bales. This would have reduced the consumption from 2,764,090 bales to 2,724,000 bales.

Another matter which should have been noticed is the fact that the 2,975,000 bales "total supply" of last year averaged only 418 lbs. per bale, against 426 lbs. this season. Taking these considerations into account, we have reconstructed the table as follows :

	1880.	1879.
Supply as above. Average weight.	3,245,000 42fl	2,875,000 418
Total weight, 1bs	1,382,370,000	1,243,559,000

Instead, therefore, of the estimated consumption this year Instead, therefore, of the estimated consumption this year being only 44,000 bales more than last (2,808,000, against 2,764,000), it is, in bales of the uniform weight of 400 lbs., 132,-000 bales more—namely, 2,990,000, against 2,858,000. The 527,000 bales estimated stock at the close of last season averaged rather less than 400 lbs. each, but the difference is not very material. The whole of the figures in the above table for both this year and last are therefore of the uniform weight of 400 lbs. We have assumed that the stocks at the mills will be reduced to the low figure touched in Sentember last_62000 bales bat to the low figure touched in September last-62,000 bales, but this is hardly likely to be the case. If they should stand at 80,000 bales for all Europe, against 62,000, then the estimated stock in the ports would stand as 793,000, against 527,000 bales last year the ports would stand as 793,000, against 527,000 bales last year. Every season the rate of consumption on the Continent of Europe is larger in the first half than in the second, owing to longer hours being worked in the summer than in the winter months; but in Great Britain the rate is frequently less in the second half of the season than in the first, owing to the holi-days in connection with Whitsuntide and the "wakes" and "fairs" which take place in the manufacturing districts. We have estimated the present rate of consumption for all Europe at 115,000 bales,—say 65,000 for Great Britain and 50,000 for the Continent; but during the summer at least one week's consumption will be saved by the holidays, so that, although the rate of consumption for 25 weeks may be 65,000, it will be only 62,500 per week for 26 weeks. The reduction will be fully counterbalanced by the increased takings of the Continent for the reason referred to above. In this way the 115,000 per week would be divided as follows—62,500 for G reat Britain and 52,500 for the Continent. These figures may be altered by unforeseen circumstances, but speaking broadly we think 115,000 bales per week a fair estimate of the probable consumption in the whole of Europe for the coming six months. So many of our friends have asked for some explanation of the noise referred to above the as thought it necessary

So many of our friends have asked for some explanation of the points referred to above that we have thought it necessary to issue this supplementary circular.

We add to the last table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to April 23 in each of the years named.

INDIA COTTON MOVEMENT FROM ALL PORTS .- The figures which are now collected for us, and forwardel by cable each Friday, of the shipments from Calcutta, Madras, Tuticorin, Carwar, &c., enable us, in connection with our previously-received report from Bombay, to furnish our readers with a full and complete India movement for each week. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to April 22.

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show an increase compared with last year in the week's receipts of 20,000 bales, and an increase in shipments of 8,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show an increase of 102,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras, Tuticorin, Carwar, &c. for the same week and years has been as follows.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, TUTICORIN, CARWAR, BANGOON AND KURRACHEE

The above totals for this week show that the movement from the ports other than Bombay is 9,000 bales more than same week of last year. For the whole of India, therefore, the total shipments this week and since January 1, 1880, and for the corresponding weeks and periods of the two previous years, are as follows.

. BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., April 23, 1880.

The downward course of values for flonr was checked early in the week after considerable sales of common extras for export at $4 50@$4 75. It is said that millers all over the country are reducing production or stopping altogether, from choice or necessity, and certainly the quantity arriving at the West, as well as at this market, has fallen off materially. Yesterday there was some recovery in prices-partly from sympathy with wheat -while the export demand was very good. To-day there was a good demand at steady prices. Rye flour and corn meal have recently been more active, but at prices favoring buyers.

The wheat market further declined early in the week, until on Tuesday No. 2 red winter sold down to $1 28 on the spot, $1 27 for April, $1 25 for May, $1 22½ for June and $1 13½ for July; No. 1 white, $1 241/2 spot and April and $1 22 for May; No. 2 spring, $1 22@$1 24, and No. 3 do. $1 15@$1 17 on the spot. Since then there has been a material recovery, with a good export demand, and a very active speculation, closing last evening with No. 2 red winter $1 331/2 for April, $1 31 for May and $1 28 for June; No. 1 white sold at $1 30 on the spot and $1 26½ for May; No. 3 spring $1 18@$1 20 on the spot. The break in the canal at Utica threatens to cause an unfortunate delay of supplies for May delivery. To-day spots were about steady, but futures weakened, No. 2 red winter selling at $1 30¼ for May and $1 27 for June.

Indian corn was quite depressed early in the week, but has latterly improved considerably, No. 2 mixed closing last evening at 55¼@55½c. on the spot, 53½@54c. for April, 47¾c. for May and 47c. for June. Other grades continue scarce. To-day spots further advanced, but futures were dull, without important change.

Bye sold down to 88c. for prime State, but is since held at 90c. Barley has been in fair demand at steady prices.

Oats have been excedingly variable, with considerable speculative activity, the sales of yesterday embracing No. 2 mixed at 40 1/2c for April and 383/4c. for May. To-day the market was quiet; No. 2 graded on the spot quoted at 41%c. for mixed and 48%c. for white.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., April 23, 1880.

VGL. XXX.

The dry goods market has been devoid of animation the past veek, and yet the jobbing trade was of fair aggregate proportions. The movement in cotton and woolen goods from first hands continued sluggish, but stocks are in such good shape that there was no pressure on the part of manufacturers' agents to stimulate business by granting extra inducements; and the most popular fabrics were held with unabated firmness, under the belief that the late lull in the demand cannot be of long duration. The retail branches of the trade are reported active in most parts of the country, and the improved condition of consumers is being reflected in the increased demand for fabrics of a superior class, which are more sought for than for some years past.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS .- The exports of domestics hence to foreign markets were comparatively light, having been only 768 packages for the week ending April 20. These shipments included 420 packages to Great Britain, 113 to Venezuela, 70 to Brazil, and smaller lots to other countries. Large additional orders for brown cottons, &c., were, however, placed with manafactneers' agents by exporters, and shipments will doubtless be of greatly-enlarged proportions in the near future. The lemand for cotton goods by jobbers continued light, but there was a freer inquiry for certain makes by converters and manuacturers, and in this connection some fair transactions were eported. Prices of the best makes of plain and colored cottons were uniformly firm in first hands, but slight concessions were made on some outside makes that were unduly advanced some time ago, and various makes of cotton goods were offered at relatively low figures by jobbers, in order to give an impetus to their distribution. Print cloths were dull and weak at 5@51/4c. for 64x64s and 4¼@4%c. for 56x60s, and prints were very quiet in first hands at unchanged prices. Lawns, ginghams, wide prints and cotton dress goods were severally in fair request and steady.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS .- The market for woolen goods opened quiet, and continued so until nearly the end of the week, when a few buyers appeared for reassortments, and business became a trifle more active. There was a steady movement in clothing woolens from first hands on account of back orders (many of which are still unfilled), but rather less urgency for deliveries was manifested by clothiers, most of whom are bountifully supplied with goods for their immediate requirements. Values of all woolen fabrics of a desirable character are firmly maintained, in sympathy with the steady rise in the staple, and the forthcoming products of many mills are largely under the control of orders. Fancy cassimeres were in limited demand, and some odd lots of union goods were closed out at a slight reduction in price. Cheviots and worsted coatings were in light request, and overcoatings ruled quiet; but nearly all leading makes continue sold in advance of production. Kentucky jeans and satinets were quiet, but prices are fairly steady. Flannels and blankets continue closely sold up and firm, but the current demand was comparatively light.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS .- Business was quiet with importers, but a fair distribution of dress goods, silks, satins, linen goods, &c., was made by leading jobbers. The most staple fabrics remain firm in price, with the exception of low-grade silks, which are
