REVIEW OF DECEMBER.

The developments regarding the attitude of the United States Government in the boundary dispute between Venezuela and British Guiana deeply disturbed all industrial and financial interests during the month of December. They precipitated a panic in the stock market, produced great stringency in money, advanced rates for some classes of foreign exchange bills momentarily (as explained below) to the highest figures ever recorded, led to the throwing over of considerable amounts of American securities held abroad, increased the shipments of gold from this country, added to the anxiety regarding the condition of the United States Treasury in the matter of its reserve of that metal, caused a sensation in political circles, stirred up popular prejudice and sentiment, and generally occasioned a degree of excitement and derangement unlike that of any other occurrence in recent years.

The event was especially disquieting because it was wholly unexpected. The President in his annual message had stated that an early reply was expected from the British Government to the last note of our Government, and that when this reply was received he would probably make it the subject of a special message to Congress. But no one thought of the possibility of a rupture between the two countries. When, therefore, on the 17th the President sent in the fore-shadowed message, announcing that Great Britain had declined to accede to our request to submit the claim to the whole of the territory in dispute to arbitration, and declaring that it now became our duty to determine the boundary line for ourselves through the appointment of a commission specially selected for that purpose, and that after the limits had been in this way defined we must enforce the principles of the Monroe doctrine against any attempted encroachments on the part of British Guiana—when this appeared the character of the document caused a shock and surprise.

The gravity of the situation became still more apparent when the very next day (Wednesday the 18th) the House of Representatives endorsed the idea of a commission, and by a unanimous vote appropriated $100,000 to pay the expenses of the same. The bill went to the Senate on the 19th. That body was somewhat more deliberate in its action, but after some debate also passed the bill unanimously on Friday the 20th. The press and public opinion seemed as bellicose as Congress, and the transition was extreme from the peaceful state of things of a few days before. The idea of a possible war created the more uneasiness because it came at a time when our currency weakness was again becoming decidedly manifest. Through large exports the Treasury gold reserve had been so far depleted that another bond issue to replenish it seemed within the probability of the early future; and a war scare at such a juncture might prove very harmful. It was the recognition of these facts that created the feeling of alarm which so quickly developed in business and financial circles.

The effects which followed were proportionate to the importance of the causes that produced them. Owners of stocks, both at home and abroad, became panic-stricken, and threw their holdings over regardless of price. In the money market the rate for call loans on the Stock Exchange advanced to 100 per cent per annum. Prompt action in protection of the Treasury gold reserve became more than ever necessary, and on the afternoon of Friday the 20th President Cleveland sent a message to Congress setting out the urgency of the situation and expressing a desire that that body would not take its usual holiday recess without enacting the legislation so much needed for the relief of the Treasury. The House acted promptly enough in response to this appeal, but the legislation was not of the kind desired. The Ways and Means Committee reported a revenue and tariff bill the day after Christmas providing for an increase in duties, and passed the bill the very same day without amendment and after only a few hours debate. The same Committee also drafted a bill for the issue of 3 per cent bonds to protect the gold reserve and 3 per cent certificates to meet deficiencies in revenue—the former to be "coin" obligations, not gold. The bill provided that the Secretary must use the proceeds of bond sales "for the redemption of United States legal-tender notes and for no other purpose." It was argued that this would make it possible to hold the notes indefinitely, and thus in effect retire them, and considerable opposition to the bill developed as a result. The Committee therefore added a clause declaring that "nothing herein contained shall be construed to repeal or modify existing law which authorizes and directs the re-issue of said legal-tender notes." In this form the bill was reported on the 27th and was passed on the 28th.

There was little of promise in this species of legislation, but fortunately in the meantime the general situation had considerably improved. More reasonable views began to prevail regarding the probabilities of war, and it became apparent that the previous scare and alarm had been in great measure without cause. At the same time the President was making all the needful preparations for another issue of bonds under the old law. Mr. J. P. Morgan visited Washington on Tuesday the 24th and returned on Thursday the 26th, and while nothing transpired as to the results of that visit it was generally accepted as signifying that the persons who had so successfully financed the last bond sale would be willing to undertake the present one. The month and year thus closed with the outlook again greatly changed for the better.

In the money market, as already said, rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange on Friday the 20th, when the disturbance was most intense, advanced to 100 per cent. On Saturday the 21st and Monday the 23d some call loans were made at 50 per cent. At noon of the latter day the associated banks decided to authorize the issue of Clearing-House loan certificates, and this had an immediate beneficial effect, the rate dropping to 6 per cent. The highest rate after that was 9 per cent until the 30th and 31st, when the calling of loans and the other preparations incidental to the 1st of January interest payments caused a spurt to 25 per cent. No applications had been made for the loan certificates by any of the banks in New York up to the end of the month. The clearing houses at Philadelphia and Boston also authorized the issue of certificates, and at the latter point some were taken out by the banks.

One of the incidents connected with the events of the month was the check imposed on municipal bond transactions. It was practically impossible to make prices for these securities, for so long as the outcome of the situation could not be determined and it was uncertain at what rate the United States Government might be able to borrow, no one could tell upon what basis these securities would sell. On that account we have not attempted to adjust our prices of municipal securities in this issue of the SUPPLEMENT to the altered situation, but repeat last month's quotations. Any change now would be arbitrary, and might be misleading, since within a short time normal conditions may again prevail. It should be remembered that municipal bond issues stand on a totally different footing from railroad or other securities. We may say too that some of the municipal bond houses having securities for sale have refused to shade their prices at all.

In the foreign exchange market rates during the height of the panic reached exceptional figures. The tendency was toward ease before the appearance of the Venezuelan message; $3,600,000 gold was exported the first week, only $1,000,000 the second week; in the third week somewhat over $3,000,000 was engaged on Monday for shipment the next day, and this it was then supposed would terminate the movement for the year 1895. But the events referred to entirely changed the aspect, and notwithstanding the high rates for money and the difficulty of obtaining large denominations of legal tenders with which to draw gold from the Treasury (small notes taking much longer to count) the exports of the metal on Saturday the 21st amounted to about $4,000,000. On the 23d there were reports that the banks would seek to obstruct the outflow, and the next day rates for cable transfers on actual business advanced to 4 91@4 91½, while some bankers actually demanded 4 92; sixty day bills were then (for actual business) 4 88¼@4 88¾ and sight 4 89¾@4 90¼. When it appeared that there would be no difficulty in obtaining currency from the banks rates declined and on the 31st the figures were 4 87½@4 87¾ for sixty day bills, 4 88¾@4 89 for short and 4 89½@4 90 for cable transfers; $1,700,000 gold was shipped on the 25th and $2,000,000 was engaged for export on Saturday the 28th, but only $535,000 of this latter was actually sent, the rest being withheld.

In the stock market there was some weakness even before the President sent his message to Congress regarding Venezuela. After that document appeared very extensive selling occurred, both here and abroad, and the selling seemed to increase day by day until on Friday the 20th and Saturday the 21st a panic ensued. The decline ranged all the way from 5 to 25 points. In numerous cases prices touched the lowest figures of the year, which is a noteworthy fact considering the extent of the rise during the summer. Subsequently there was a sharp upward reaction. The volume of business was not specially large. Here is our usual table showing the aggregate of the sales.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD.

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and for the year to date. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give first the bonds, using the classification adopted in the official list. As to prices the form is our own, and we think it will be found to contain just the facts desired by our readers and to present them in the most convenient way for study and reference. All quotations in the column headed "Price about January 2, 1895," were made on that date except those in italics, which are the nearest in December, 1894, or January, 1895.

BOSTON STOCK EXCHANGE.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD.

The following tables furnish a record of Boston Stock Exchange transactions in railroad securities for the past month and for the year to date. Also a record of transactions in mining stocks for the past month and since July 1st. The railroad securities which are active on the New York Stock Exchange are omitted from this list. We give the securities in alphabetical order under the three general headings, Railroad Bonds, Railroad Stocks and Mining Stocks.

☞ In comparing New York and Boston prices, it should be noted that bond prices in New York are flat prices – that is, the price includes the accrued interest, while in Boston accrued interest must be paid in addition to price. It should also be remembered that New York stock prices are per cent while those in Boston are dollars per share.

BONDS AND STOCKS.

In the following twenty-seven pages of tables quotations are given for all securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for all leading unlisted and inactive securities for which we have been able to obtain reliable prices.

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are so near as possible for the last day of December. Of course the coupon, if there be one, maturing between the date of quotation and the date of this publication, is not deducted from the price.

Bond prices marked thus (*) are flat prices—that is, the purchaser does not pay accrued interest in addition. Stock prices marked thus (†) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M.," for mortgage; "g.," for gold; "g'd.," for guaranteed; "end.," for endorsed; "cons.," for consolidated; "conv.," for convertible; "s. f.," for sinking fund; "l. g.," for land grant.

MUNICIPAL BONDS.

NOTE.—Owing to the derangement of the municipal bond market during the past month we believe it would be impossible at this date to give satisfactory quotations for this class of securities. We therefore repeat the prices which were published in the QUOTATION SUPPLEMENT of December 7th. It should be borne in mind that municipal bonds are not subject to such decided fluctuations in value as are securities which form a basis for speculation.

Prices marked (*) are flat prices –that is, the purchaser does not pay accrued interest in addition.

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities, if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.
