THE WAR REVENUE BILL.

On pages 1191 to 1198, under the head of Reports and Documents. we publish the full text of the new Revenue and Loan bill, as approved by President McKinley on Monday, June 13. We have inserted numerous headings through the body of the bill to facilitate reference to the various provisions.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

There has been somewhat of a reaction in Wall Street this week, and prices have declined on the Stock Exchange, though with some recovery at the close. Two main reasons have been advanced for the less contident tone. First and foremost is the collapse of the Leiter deal in wheat, with the resulting great drop in the price of that cereal. In the second place it is beginning to be felt that the Spanish war is likely to prove a costlier and more difficult undertaking than had been supposed by the bulk of our people when the conflict broke out. The victory at Manila gave the impression that the struggle would be quickly brought to a close, Spain yielding to the inevitable. The buoyancy on the Stock Exchange which followed the announcement of that victory was in large part attributable to this feeling. The operations before Santiago and Guantanamo, however, make it evident that the Spaniards will offer stubborn resistance, and that in the invasion of the island many unforeseen obstacles will have to be overcome. At the same time reports in the daily papers have spoken of the probability of the President being obliged to call for 100,000 more volunteers. No doubt is felt regarding the outcome, and the action of the Government in proceeding with great caution and deliberation is universally commended. Nor do the financial arrangements for carrying on the conflict cause any anxiety. The War Revenue bill having been approved by the President on Monday, the Secretary of the Treasury at once issued a circular inviting subscriptions for $200,000,000 of the new three per cent bonds authorized by the Act. The reception accorded the loan makes it certain that the Government will have no trouble in borrowing the money it needs on very favorable terms. Thus the situation is really very satisfactory. The feeling is, however, that if the war is to be prolonged instead of being of only short duration, new bearings will have to be taken as regards the effect on values, and that in the meantime a cautious policy will be wise.

The collapse of Joseph Leiter's wheat speculations has naturally been an influence of great moment. Expectations based on the wheat prices ruling last month will of course have to be greatly modified under the much lower prices prevailing now. But it may well be asked if in its ultimate effect the failure of the "deal" at this juncture is not to be regarded as a favorable rather than as an unfavorable occurrence. Every previous scheme of this kind-and there have been many of them-has proved disastrous to those engaged in the attempt and detrimental to the interests of the producers. Their invariable effect as been to pile up wheat here in sight of the whole world, consumers supplying their wants meanwhile elsewhere. As a consequence, when we finally con cluded to dispose of our holdings, we had to let go at greatly reduced prices. In view of what has now hap pened, is there any reason to think that our experience on the present occasion would have been any different? The growing winter-wheat crop is now maturing, and within a few weeks it will be ready for market. The statistical situation of wheat the world over is such that our farmers ought to be able to sell this new crop readily at good prices. But this is far from saying that they could demand fancy prices with any show of success.

Only twenty days ago it seemed as if Leiter had achieved the impossible and had been able to raise and hold values at abnormal figures. But it is now seen that he was even then carrying an enormous load. The truth is, the undertaking would long since have met the same fate as previous similar schemes except that the breaking-out of the war came in to interrupt the ordinary course of things. That event served to give prominence to the shortage of wheat supplies resulting from poor crops for two successive seasons, and led to a sort of panic among consumers. But as events have demonstrated, the abnormal prices proved a powerful magnet in drawing out old reserves. Not only were bins here at home swept bare, but shipments from other countries have also reached unusual proportions. Take merely the movement the last two weeks, for illustration. The exports from the United States for the two weeks were only a trifle less than 10 million bushels, but while the size of our own shipments was tolerably well known, it will no doubt be a surprise to most persons to hear that in the same two weeks Russia, which is supposed to have had a short crop last year, shipped over $8\frac{3}{4}$ million bushels, that India exported $5\frac{1}{3}$ million bushels in these two weeks, and that even Argentina sent forward over a million bushels, not to speak of the minor countries. Counting the shipments to Europe from all the principal exporting countries, including the United States, the total for the two weeks mentioned in 1898 reached 25,723,000 bushels, against only 12,000,000 bushels in the corresponding two weeks of 1897.

Obviously these exceptional shipments from other countries involved a menace to the interests of the wheat producers in the United States. There was danger of a repetition of past experience-that is, there was danger that when our new wheat crop was ready for market foreign consumers might so largely have supplied their wants in anticipation from other sources as to be indifferent about drawing on us. The result must have been a much more disastrous break than that which was experienced the present week. The decline which has come, therefore, has applied a corrective. There has been a readjustment of values, so that the outlook for the future is assuring, instead of being threatening. In this sense it is an encouraging rather than an adverse development. Nor must it be supposed that prices now are low, even after the decline. It is misleading to say that the price has dropped a dollar a bushel within a monththat is true only when applied to the phenomenal figure of \$1 91 reached by the May option on the 10th of the month. The July option at its highest did not touch \$1 32, and at the end of May was only \$1 07 per bushel. The price yesterday, after a further break, was 81% cents, and the important point to note is that this is $7\frac{1}{2}$ cents a bushel better than the price on the corresponding day of last year and 17¹/₂ cents better than two years ago. Until the Leiter holdings are disposed of the market will naturally be more or less unsettled. But as the crop promises to be a very large one, and the world is undoubtedly ready to take at fair prices all the wheat we may have to spare, the outlook for the farming classes must still be regarded as bright.

The state of our foreign trade continues one of the most favorable features in the general situation. With each succeeding month the record is becoming more noteworthy. The Bureau of Statistics at Washington has this week made public the results for May, and they are even more striking and significant than those for the months immediately preceding. May is ordi-narily a lean period in the export trade. The present year, however, the great demand for breadstuffs and the high prices obtained for the same have operated to raise the month to the position of one of the largest on record. In short, the exports reached over 110 million dollars-$110,239,206; the imports were only $53,258,847, leaving a balance in favor of the United States on the merchandise movement for this one month alone of nearly 57 million dollars. For the eleven months to May 31 the merchandise exports have reached the unprecedented total of $1,135,-485,618, while the imports were only $563,596,581, thus netting a balance in the extraordinary sum of 5713 million dollars. We need hardly say that never before has this been anywhere nearly equaled. The closest approach was in the eleven months of the preceding fiscal year, and then the balance was but little more than half the amount given, being $298,253,131. If to the 5713 million we add the excess of silver exports, the balance is increased to almost 594 million dollars. The net gold imports the same eleven months were $102,027,000, so that on the merchandise, silver and gold movements combined the credit remaining is, roughly, 492 million dollars.

Another railroad company has the present week increased its dividends. The Denver & Rio Grande has raised the semi-annual dividend on its preferred stock from 1 per cent to $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. This is moderate, conservative action. We showed a few weeks ago how greatly the earnings of the property have expanded the present year. Taking the figures for thirty days later now, we find that for the ten months to April 30 1898 there was a surplus above fixed charges and expenses of \$750,273, against only \$394,901 in the corresponding ten months of the preceding fiscal year. The dividend of 1 per cent paid in January required \$236,500, while the $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent now declared payable in July will call for \$354,750, making \$591,250 together. Deducting this from the \$750,273, there is still left a balance of \$159,023, with the surplus for two months more to add on to complete the fiscal year. President Jeffery was yesterday quoted in an interview as saying that the outlook for general business in the West is excellent. From his personal observation he could say that small grains in Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa look as well as they ever did in June. Corn, however, he thinks, is at least two weeks backward. Business in Colorado generally is better than since the panic of 1893.

It is gratifying to note that the Inter-State Commerce Commission, with the changes in its personnel which have been going on, is showing a more judical attitude, or at least is not ruling any longer invariably against the railroads, in the cases of complaints brought before it. This is an attitude that has long been desired and if maintained will add greatly to the usefulness of the Board. We are led to refer to the matter because of loan. The fall in wheat at Chicago brought out a road Commission of South Carolina against the Florence Railroad and others. The complaints alleged that the rates charged for the transportation of melons in car-loads from shipping points in South Carolina to New York, &c., were unjust and unreasonable. But the Commission found that the rates complained of were lower than those in force between the same points on cotton and general merchandise, although greater speed and some other exceptional facilities are involved in the transportation of melons. It was also found that on most of the defendant roads the rates were less than the average receipts per ton per mile for all freight. The Commission accordingly refused to interfere and dismissed the petition.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, has loaned at $1\frac{1}{4}$ and at $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent this week, with the bulk of the business at $1\frac{1}{4}$, and the average has been at a fraction above this rate. A loan for a small amount was made at 4 per cent on Wednesday, but this was regarded as not at all reflecting the market conditions, and it was probably made for effect. Banks and trust companies quote 14 per cent as the minimum. The offerings of time loans are a little less liberal, influenced by the expectation of a better demand as the result of the large subscriptions, present and prospective, for the Government loan. Rates quoted by brokers are $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent for thirty to sixty days; 3 for ninety days to six months and $3\frac{1}{2}$ for seven to eight months, on good Stock Exchange collateral. There is a lighter inquiry for commercial paper, due to the Government loan negotiation, but the market is without change as to rates, these being 3@34 per cent for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, $3\frac{1}{2}@4$ for prime and $4\frac{1}{2}@5\frac{1}{2}$ for good four to six months single names. Brokers report the business good and a fair offering of choice names. The new internal tax imposed by the War Revenue law is expected to have only a slight influence upon commercial paper, the majority of the notes given being for \$5,000 to \$10,000, calling for a stamp of \$1 to \$2.

With the exception of a French Ministerial crisis, the Meline Ministry resigning, there has been no important feature in the European political situation this week. On Wednesday there was an inquiry for gold in London for shipment to America in connection with subscriptions for the new loan, but no engagements were reported. The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The cable reports discounts of 60 to 90 day bank bills in London $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. The open market rate at Paris is 13 and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 33@35 per cent. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England gained £161,417 bullion during the week and held £38,156,127 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due to the receipt of £680,000 from the interior of Great Britain, to imports of £362,000 (£228,-000 from Australia, £35,000 from Italy, £87,000 bought in the open market and £12,000 miscellaneous), and to exports of £881,000-£868,000 being to Japan and £13,000 to America.

There was an important decline in the foreign exchange market early this week, due to a light demand and liberal offerings of bankers' bills in connection with intended subscriptions for the new 3-per-cent its decision this week in the case of the Rail- supply of commercial bills, and the tendency was downward until Wednesday, when the tone grew a little steadier on a light volume of business, and it was a shade firmer thereafter. There has been some buying of bankers' bills for future delivery and also to remit for July coupons in order to avoid payment of the new tax, which will become operative after July 1. At the same time offerings of runningoff investment bills have been fairly liberal. The foreign bankers are making a careful study of the provisions of the War Revenue bill with a view to determining what course to take in relation to the new tax. There is some criticism as to the manner in which the tax is required to be levied, but no disposition is manifested to evade the provisions of the law, and it is regarded as probable that the tax, which amounts to about one-quarter of a cent per pound, will be added to the price of the draft. There was a reduction in nominal rates for exchange on Monday by Brown Bros., the Bank of British North America, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co. and Lazard Freres, which made the range from 4.85 to $4.85\frac{1}{2}$ for sixty-day and from $4.86\frac{1}{2}$ to $4.87\frac{1}{2}$ for sight. Rates for actual business were reduced half a cent all around, compared with those at the close of Friday of last week, to 4 84@4 844 for long, 4 8512@4 853 for short and 4 853 @ 5 86 for cable transfers, and the market was weak in the absence of demand and also because of offerings of bankers and commercial bills, the latter against grain. On Tuesday there was no change in nominal rates but those for actual business were further reduced one-quarter of a cent all around, to $4\ 83\frac{3}{4}@4\ 84$ for long, $4\ 85\frac{1}{4}@4\ 85\frac{1}{2}$ for short and $4\ 85\frac{1}{2}@4\ 85\frac{3}{4}$ for cable transfers, and the market was easy at the close. The tone was steady on Wednesday and reductions in nominal rates by Baring, Magoun & Co., the Bank of British North America and Lazard Freres made the range from $4\ 84\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\ 85\frac{1}{2}$ for sixty-day and from 4 86 to $487\frac{1}{2}$ for sight. Rates for actual business were, however, unchanged, and there was no alteration in them on the following day, though then the range for nominal rates was from $4\ 84\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\ 85$ for sixty-day and from $4\ 86$ to $4\ 86\frac{1}{2}$ for sight. The tone was a shade firmer. On Friday the market was firm at an advance of one-quarter of a cent in rates for actual business, to 4 84@4 844 for long, $4.85\frac{1}{2}@4.85\frac{3}{4}$ for short and $4.85\frac{3}{4}@4.86$ for cable transfers. Nominal rates were unchanged. The following shows daily posted rates for exchange by some of the leading drawers.

THE INVASION OF CUBA.

When the Spanish-American war broke out, general belief undoubtedly was that the movement on Cuba would take shape first in the siege of Havana. When, much later, the fleet blockaded the entrance to Santiago, public opinion similarly leaped to the conclusion that the invading army was to be landed at once at that harbor for offensive operations. This week the movement of invasion has actually begun, but the selected base of operation, so far as recent advices indicate, is not even Santiago, but Guantanamo, a point some fifty miles due east of Santiago, and further if the usual route of communication is followed. It remains, of course, to be seen whether the expedition of 15,000 regular and volunteer soldiers which sailed from our Southern coast early in the week, and whose arrival on the south coast of Cuba is now almost hourly expected, will land in force at Guantanamo or in the neighborhood of Santiago. In either case a policy of cautious tactics and military deliberation has obviously been adopted.

This change from recent popular expectations illustrates two facts in the pending campaign, each of which has some instructive bearing on the future. The occupation of Cuba is shown, in the first place, to be no such holiday task as the enthusiasts of three months ago promised the people. What is still more important, this careful study of strategic possibilities by our navy proves that the interests of the United States are not likely to be jeopardized by a rash and hasty move. For much of this spirit of mature judgment and prudent operation the naval officers on the Washington Board of Strategy and at the front, deserve the credit. We think it only just, however, to recognize the part which American public opinion has played in this programme of conservatism.

On general principles, there was quite as good reason to expect this year a restless demand for instant action and immediate achievement as there was in 1861. If the people and the newspapers had united in a clamor against delay, we might not perhaps have been led into a latter day Bull Run, but the pressure on the Government to over-rule the cautious policy of the experts would have been very great, and the consequences by no means certain. Instead of this, the people have acquiesced in the line of action prescribed by the military authorities; there has been little even of individual grumbling and complaint; and what is not least noteworthy, the avowed and deliberate policy of the Government to exclude from the dispatches of newspaper correspondents information whose publication at the time was not deemed prudent, has been quite universally approved. This disposition of the public may be taken as evidence of a greater maturity of outside judgment than existed in 1861, or it may be interpreted as a sign of confidence in the competency of our naval and military directors. In either case the incident is reassuring. The two most formidable dangers in a military campaign by a republic-outside of absolute inefficiency of its commanders-are popular interference in the conduct of a war or popular mistrust of the responsible leaders. How serious were the results of these two tendencies in the early years of our Civil War, and how frequently they obstructed effective warfare in such notable episodes as the Roman Republic's wars and the Dutch campaigns of the Seventeenth Century, readers of history will remember.

We are very sure that the value of this popular disposition will be recognized by every one, when the recent and future events of the war come to be viewed in retrospect. At the moment, the most striking part of the situation is its disclosure of the misconception so largely entertained last spring regarding the problem of Cuban invasion. The skirmishes of this week at Guantanamo are of themselves enlightening. The civilian is habitually apt to picture the march of an invading army as he would imagine a parade down the well-made roads converging on New York. Instead, he reads of fights at close range in a tangled tropical forest, on ground covered with tall grass and underbrush, where experienced bushwhackers choose their positions with the art of Apache Indians. A very large part of our com. munity in and out of Congress had conceived the Cuban insurgent army as a body of trained and disciplined soldiers, whose repulse of the Spaniards in the mountains was achieved by military tactics after our own idea of warfare. Only three months ago, a good minority of our Senators were insisting on recognizing as an established republic the make-shift government set up by these roving guerillas-a step which, by the law of nations, would have subjected our own invading Generals and Admirals to the orders of the Cuban commanders. Yet a single week's experience has shown these insurgent troops to be a band of guerillas, brave in action, but wholly undisciplined in tactics, skilful in use of their favorite hatchet weapons, but not formidable in the use of modern firearms-in short, an ally whose instincts will undoubtedly have to be held in check as often as they have to be encouraged. Finally, the Guantanamo episode has foreshadowed very clearly a stubborn fight by the Spanish troops. This resistance may not be effective; it would probably count for little on an open field, where the marksmanship of our soldiers had full play, and it has been broken down this week even in the forests and underbrush of Guantanamo. But it must be remembered that the very purpose of the landing at Guantanamo was to establish a base of operations where the Spanish guard was weak, and where our war-ships could co-operate. The further our troops advance from such a point towards Santiago or Havana, the more the declaration of war as the beginning of formidable the forces of obstruction are certain to become.

We mention these facts, not to express doubt or discouragement, but to show why the war has passed into another and a different stage from the succession of brilliant and rapid achievements which marked its first eight weeks. The successful blockade of Havana, the destruction of Spain's Philippine fleet, and the hunting down of Cervera until, by a final bold exploit, he was locked helpless in Santiago Harbor, have passed into history as the first and complete chapter of our Spanish war. It will now be seen, however, that as strategic moves these operations were little more than preliminary. Almost forgotten in the victory in the China Sea, the capture of Cuba has once more become what it was at the declaration of hostilities, the foremost and the logical problem which the war must solve.

For ourselves, we entertain no doubt of the ability of our army and navy forces eventually to obtain possession of Cuba. We are the more convinced of this from the very fact that a deliberate and cautious policy of invasion has been adopted. The danger at the outset lay in such possible reverses to the undertaking as should simultaneously have discouraged sentiment at home and encouraged abroad the efforts of governments or factions to interfere in behalf of Spain. From now on, the rational policy which our Government plainly recognizes is to pursue consistently the plan to which we were committed by the war resolution. The dispatching of an army to the Philippines became inevitable from the peculiar situation created by Admiral Dewey's victory; yet it is already manifest that the diversion of a portion of our troops to so remote a point is a distinct embarrassment to the larger enterprise. Yet the strange proposition has lately been advanced that our navy's next move ought to be a demonstration on the coast of Spain.

The truth is that in no other way, so long as Spain continues defiant, can the purposes of this war be accomplished and peace be restored than by the occupation and pacification of Cuba. For this we went to war, and with this effected it would be our right to demand immediate peace. In such a demand, submitted under such circumstances, there is sufficient reason to believe that the United States would be sustained by the foreign Powers. If the demand were to come in such shape, Spain would certainly have no alternative left but to acknowledge the patent fact that she had lost Cuba and that she could not hope to recover it. The suggested possibility that Spain might even then continue to resist and declare herself ready for a further contest is the most unlikely of diplomatic chances. The sole prop of the unlucky Sagasta Ministry, up to the present time, has been its vague hope of a European demonstration in its favor. It would hardly stand against coercion from all the friendly Powers at once.

Whatever incidental strategic move, then, be involved at Manila or Porto Rico, the objective point for the rest of the campaign is necessarily Cuba, and particularly Havana. The problem at best is complicated, and its solution will necessarily be slow. The general feeling of competent authorities appears to be that if aggressive operations on a large scale are in progress in Cuba by the early autumn months, we shall be doing well. This is not altogether an agreeable prospect to enthusiastic citizens who hailed a three-weeks' triumphal progress, to be crowned with brilliant and easy victory. But all such citizens were warned in time that the invasion of Cuba would be no holiday junketing-party; their illusion merely repeated what has been witnessed at the opening of almost every war in history. If we may look for a cautious and deliberate movement into Cuba, which shall draw the line by degrees around the Spanish forces, and which, as it occupies each successive town or province, shall ensure the maintenance of such holdings against any counter-movement, the home community will at least be free from the harassing influence of M daily uncertainty and misgiving.

MANCHESTER, June 4.

An important congress has been held in London during the last three days of the International Association for the Protection of Industrial Property. Although founded only in October last, the Association has already about 600 members, including many in Austria, France, Germany, Great Britain, Hungary and Switzerland, and a fair number in Belgium, Denmark, Italy, Luxemburg, the Netherlands, Russia, Sweden and Norway. As yet only five names represent the United States.

The object of the Association is to discuss and formulate measures for bringing into harmony and, as far as possible, assimilating the legislation of all countries with reference to trade-marks, patents, designs and copyright. The first congress took place in Vienna last October. That just held in London was attended by fully 300 representatives, of whom a large proportion were patent lawyers, patent agents and consulting engineers, besides manufacturers, merchants and delegates of commercial and industrial bodies. The President was Sir Henry Roscoe, and there were also present eminent specialists such as Sir Richard Webster, the English Attorney-General, Mr. J. F. Moulton, M. Eugéne Pouillet, M. Emile Bert, and representatives of great industrial establishments such as those of Krupp, Siemens, Casella, Armstrong, and others, besides those of the British Patent and Foreign Offices.

The association is quite distinct from the International Industrial Property Union, which is a purely official and diplomatic body composed of delegates from nearly all the leading governments, including those of the United States and Great Britain, the only conspicuous exception being Germany. The Government of Austria-Hungary has recently decided to join the Union, but its action has yet to receive the approval of the Parliament of the dual monarchy. The Union has held four conferences-at Paris in 1883, at Rome in 1886, at Madrid in 1890 and at Brussels in December 1897. The purpose of the Union is the same as that of the Association, but its work is hampered partly by the inevitable want of adequate technical knowledge on the part of the official representatives of the various governments, and partly by the conflict of opinion and interests existing in and between the nations represented. Hence the progress accomplished at the conferences already referred to has been slow, and in some cases its agreements have proved unworkable. The function of the Association is therefore to reconcile differences, to remove doubts and misunderstandings amongst the industrial and other communities in the various nations, and thus to facilitate the work of the Union.

One of the papers read at the London Congress is of particular interest to citizens of the United States. It was prepared by M. Georges Maillard, of Paris, who presented the result of the Brussels Conference of the International Union. Although this conference took place at the close of last year, no official report of its proceedings has yet been published. There is no reason, however, to doubt the accuracy of M. Maillard's statement, which has been drawn from authentic sources. Just before the Conference assembled, the United States delegates were instructed to propose an important modification of Article 2 of the original International Convention. The article runs as follows: "The subjects or citizens of each of the contracting States shall, in all other States of the Union, as regards patents, industrial designs or models, trade-marks and trade names, enjoy the advantages that their respective laws now grant, or shall hereafter grant, to their own subjects or citizens. Consequently they shall have the same protection as the latter, and the same legal remedy against any infringement of their rights, provided they observe the formalities and conditions imposed on subjects or citizens by the internal legislation of each State." The alteration proposed on behalf of the United States provided that when, in any State, a citizen of another State applies for a patent or for registration of a trade mark, he may be compelled, if thought fit, to pay the same amount of fees, &c., as those chargeable in his own country. And further, that any such State may, if thought fit, refuse protection to any invention not patentable in the country of origin. On learning that this motion would be brought forward at Brussels, the Manchester Chamber of Commerce at once requested the British Government to instruct its delegates to second the American proposal. The answer was that the suggestion would be carefully considered.

M. Maillard's statement now shows that the amendment was duly moved by the United States delegates, but that it found no support whatever. It consequently fell to the ground. In submitting it, one of the American representatives said that his Government was not desirous to give protection to subjects of nations which had placed serious restrictions upon the protection of inventions to the detriment of American citizens. He added that if the article were not modified the United States would merely add restrictions to their own law. The ground upon which this apparently very reasonable modification was rejected was that it would substitute a system of retaliation for the principle of equal treatment in each country of citizens and foreigners. On the score of consistency with its constitutional principles, the Conference was of course quite right in rejecting the American proposal. But then the question arises whether even the particular principle referred to ought to be maintained in view of the undoubted abuses at which the proposal was aimed.

The first point dealt with in it is perhaps not of serious importance, viz.: that of the wide difference in the charges of the patent offices in the several countries. But the second involves a glaring injustice. In Germany the gateway by which inventions attain the privilege of patent-right is so narrow that only the clearest evidence of originality and also of public utility of the invention will admit them. Moreover, the decisions as to patentability, being made in Germany by various individuals, have frequently the appearance of caprice, not due to wilful error or partiality, but simply to the fallibility of the most honest human judgment.

On the other hand in France and in England patentright is granted without examination as to novelty or It follows, therefore, that in these counutility. tries and even in the United States the monopoly right is often secured by such held by Germans in respect of ideas, processes or machines for which no similar privilege can be obtamed in their own country. Hence it frequently happens, as in the case of coal tar colors, that English and American calico printers, dyers, and other consumers of colors, have to pay prices for them enormously greater than those paid by their competitors in Germany, because patents are held in England and the United States by Germans for processes of production which any one can use without license or restriction in Germany, the processes not being patentable there. It was at this anomaly that the second part of the American proposed amendment was aimed. But if the Constitutional principle of the Union is to be maintained-that is to say, the equal treatment of citizens and foreigners, the injustice can only be remedied by an assimilation of the practice of all nations in respect of patentability. It is quite possible that this mode of solution may ultimately be adopted. Representatives of the German Government were present at the Brussels Conference of the Union, and the opinions expressed by Germans at the London Congress clearly show that there is a strong desire in Germany not only that the Berlin Government should join the Union, but also that the stringent rules as to the admission to patent rights there should be greatly relaxed.

Considerable discussion arose at the London Congress upon Article 6 of the International Convention, referring to trade-marks, which is at present a dead letter. It provides that "Every trade-mark registered in the country of origin shall be admitted for registration, and protected, in the _orm originally registered in all the other countries of the Union." Notwithstanding this Article, England, which joined the Union in 1884, and has therefore assented to it, h s never acted upon it in cases where a trade mark of foreign origin has been identical with or closely resembling one already upon the English register. The truth is that the Article cannot be generally carried out in all the countries of the Union without violent injustice to existing registered proprietors. An exclusive right which by its very nature is conceded only to one person in a particular country ceases to be an exclusive right the moment that others, whether citizens of that country or not, are permitted to share it. The first step towards an assimilation of trade-mark practice is obviously to obtain a common definition of what may constitute a trade-mark; and the second is to collect and register at a central bureau all known marks already registered in the States constituting the Union. Even then conflicting claims as to prior rights will have to be settled, either by restricting the area over which identical or similar marks may be used when there are two or more claimants, or by some other arrangement of conflicting claims.

It is satisfactory to learn that Japan is preparing to carry out her engagement made in the recently con- stated that it would be credited on any indebtedness cluded commercial treaties to join the International Union. A representative of that country was present at the Brussels Conference, although, of course, neither he nor the German delegates voted upon the motions brought forward. American as well as British merchants have suffered considerably from Japanese imitations of their marks, and there is now the prospect that before long nefarious practices of this kind will become punishable under the laws of Japan.

CONSTRUCTION OF FIDELITY INSURANCE BONDS.

Suretyship by fidelity insurance companies has become such a feature of modern financial methods that questions bearing on the interpretation of any of the customary provisions of such surety bonds possess a wide degree of interest. There have been two decisions recently by the U.S. Supreme Court in cases involving questions of that kind. The cases were related, having arisen out of a common cause, and some of the points raised were novel as well as important. The decisions therefore will repay careful study.

It appears that the American Surety Company of New York was on the bond of both the President (J. W. Collins) and the Cashier (George N. O'Brien) of the failed California National Bank of San Diego, Cal., The bonds were in the usual form, guaranteeing or insuring the bank, subject to certain conditions, against any act of fraud or dishonesty committed by Collins and O'Brien in their respective positions as President and Cashier of the institution. The bond of the latter was for $15,000, that of the President for $25,000. Each of the bonds was of course a wholly separate instrument, and they are connected here because actions were brought on both of them. The issues were substantially the same in each, though separate decisions were rendered. We shall confine ourselves to the suit brought on the bond of O'Brien, the Cashier, as the general questions raised were considered more at length in that suit, and there were also some special points passed on in this case.

On the failure of the bank and the appointment of a receiver it was found that Collins had been a defaulter for a very large sum, and that in some of his misdoings O'Brien, the Cashier, had been his accomplice. The specific charge against O'Brien on which the demand for indemnity was based was that on the 13th and 14th days of October 1891 he, being Cashier, fraudulently and dishonestly placed to the credit of Collins two sums, $20.000 and $24,500. The bank suspended November 12 1891, and at that time Collins had to his credit on its books only $11,421. Of the $44,500 falsely credited to him, therefore, he had drawn out, on his own checks, $33,079, which was wholly lost to the bank. Upon the suspension of the bank, the Comptroller of the Currency appointed an examiner, who entered upon an investigation of its affairs. On December 18 1891 Frederick N. Pauly was appointed Receiver, and on December 29 1891, after having qualified, he took possession of the books, papers and assets of the bank. The old employes were retained for a short time, O'Brien remaining in service under the Receiver until about March 2 1892, when he left because the Receiver declined to pay his salary. On March 3 1892 Collins, the President, died.

The Receiver, in declining to pay O'Brien's salary, of O'Brien's to the bank. The inference from this act was that the Receiver already at this time had some ground for suspecting irregularities. The importance of that fact will presently appear. While a general examination of the books had been going on during January, February and March, it was not until April 1 1892 that expert bookkeepers entered upon a particular examination of such books with a view to ascertaining the transactions of Collins while he was President. Towards the end of May these experts made the discoveries already alluded to, and on May 23 1892, Receiver Pauly, now knowing the exact facts, wrote to the Surety Company giving notice of the detection of fraud that entitled him, as receiver, to look to the company for indemnification, for the loss sustained, upon the bonds of Collins and O'Brien. After much correspondence with the officials of the company, the Receiver finally, on September 21 1893, wrote to the Vice-President of the company saying there had been so much delay in the matter, that by direction of the Comptroller of the Currency he had placed it in the hands of the United States Attorney in New York, with instructions to collect the amount of the bonds. The company in reply expressed its gratification that in taking up the question finally, it could deal with it on the merits of the case. The result of the trial was a judgment in favor of the Receiver on O'Brien's bond in the sum of $17,435, this including costs, interest, &c. That judgment was affirmed in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and its correctness is now upheld by the United States Supreme Court.

One of the conditions of the bond was that any claim made in respect to it should be in writing, addressed to the company, as soon as practicable after the discovery of any loss for which it was responsible and within six months after the expiration or cancellation of the bond. The company contended that the Receiver had failed to comply with this condition. It insisted that the Receiver in January, February, March and April 1892 had such information in respect to the acts of O'Brien as Cashier as made it his duty long before his letter of May 23 1892 to give the required notice to the company. Judge Wallace, in the lower court, in ruling on this point, noted that it was not sufficient to defeat the Receiver's right of action upon the policy that it be shown that the plaintiff may have had suspicions of dishonest conduct on the part of the Cashier; but it was the Receiver's duty, under the policy, when he was satisfied that the Cashier had committed acts of dishonesty or fraud likely to involve loss to the company, under its bond, as soon as practicable thereafter to give written notice to the company. The Receiver may have had suspicions of irregularities; he may have had suspicions of fraud; but he was not bound to act until he had acquired knowledge of some specific fraudulent or dishonest act which might involve the company in liability for the misconduct. Now, when was it he acquired such knowledge? Judge Wallace said this was a question of fact, and he left it to the jury to determine.

The U. S Supreme Court speaking through Justice Harlan says it can perceive no error in such instructions-that they are entirely consistent with the terms of the contract. In the argument much stress was laid upon the words "which may involve loss" in the bond. But when those words are taken with able after such act shall have come to the knowledge of the employer," it may well be held, Justice Harlan points out, that the Surety Company did not intend to require written notice of any act upon the part of the Cashier that might involve loss unless the bank had knowledge-not simply suspicionof the existence of such facts as would justify a careful and prudent man in charging another with fraud and dishonesty. If the company intended that the bank should inform it of mere rumors or suspicions affecting the integrity of O'Brien, such intention ought to have been clearly expressed in the bond. It was left to the jury to determine when the Receiver first acquired knowledge of acts indicating fraud or dishonesty on O'Brien's part, and they found in effect, says Justice Harlan, that he had no knowledge of any such act until after the report by the expert bookkeepers made about or a few days before May 23 1892.

But it had also been argued on behalf of the company that the discovery of the fraud was not within six months from the "retirement of the employe from the service of the employer," as required by the bond. The frauds occurred October 1891, the bank suspended November 12 1891. Six months from the latter date would be May 12 1892, while notice of the fraud was not given until May 23. Undoubtedly, Justice Harlan avers, the company did not agree to be liable for a fraudulent or dishonest act of the Cashier not discovered until after six months from his retirement from the service of the bank. But is it true, asks the Court, that within the meaning of the bond O'Brien retired from the service of the bank when it suspended business on November 12 1891. "We think not. The bank was in existence under its articles of association while the examiner, under the order of the Comptroller of the Currency, was engaged in the investigation of its affairs. Such investigation did not of itself have the effect to discharge O'Brien from its service. It is true that when the bank suspended business, and the investigation by the examiner com menced, O'Brien ceased to perform the ordinary duties of a cashier. But, within the meaning of the bond O'Brien did not retir ; from, but remained in, the service of the employer during at least the investigation of the bank's affairs, and the custody of its assets by the national bank examiner, which lasted until the appointment of a receiver and his qualification on the 29th day of December 1891. * * Whether within the meaning of the bond O Brien was in 'the service of the employer,' while he was in the service of the Receiver, we need not say. It is sufficient for this case to hold that he was in the service of the employer at least up to the time of the Receiver's appointment and qualification, which occurred within six months prior to the discovery of his fraud and dishonesty and the giving of notice thereof. We therefore hold that the acts of fraud or dishonesty here involved were discovered during the continuance of the bond and within six months after the retirement of the employe from the service of the employer."

The further claim was made that the bond was void by reason of fraudulent misrepresentations and concealments on the part of Collins, acting as the President of the bank. When O'Brien applied to the Surety Company for a bond he presented a letter from Collins in effect vouching for his integrity and character. The company claimed that in obtaining the words in the same sentence "as soon as practic- the bond Collins acted for the bank, and as a corporation can only speak by agents the bank was responsible for any false or fraudulent statements in the certificate given by Collins to the Surety Company, and which he signed as President of the bank. But Justice Harlan says the procuring of a bond for O'Brien, in order that he might become qualified to act as cashier, was no part of the business of the bank, nor within the scope of any duty imposed upon Collins as President of the bank. It was the business of O'Brien to obtain and present an acceptable bond, and it was for the bank, by its constituted authorities, to accept or reject the bond so presented. The bank did not authorize Collins to give, nor was it aware that he gave, nor was he entitled by virtue of his office as President to sign, any certificate as to the efficiency, fidelity or integrity of O'Brien. No relations existed between the bank and the Surety Company until O'Brien presented to the former the bond in suit. What, therefore, Collins assumed in his capacity as President to certify as to O'Brien's fidelity or integrity, was not in the course of the business of the bank, nor within any authority Collins possessed.

RAILROAD NET EARNINGS FOR APRIL.

Returns of railway earnings, gross and net, continue so uniformly favorable, month after month, that the matter no longer possesses the attribute of novelty, and is received as a matter of course. Yet as an in. dustrial fact the steady expansion in the revenues of our transportation systems is one of the most striking as it is one of the most important phenomena of the day. We have compiled the results for April, and they show no interruption in the upward movement, nor apparently any check in the tendency in that di-One hundred and thirty-nine roads have rection. contributed returns, and these 139 roads in the aggregate show, roughly, 81 million dollars gain in gross receipts, or 14.36 per cent, and three million dollars gain, or 18.68 per cent, in the net. The following are the totals :

We need hardly say that the leading conditions were favorable to large earnings. The influence of the war in checking industrial activity was not so much a factor bearing upon the present as it was a factor presenting the possibility if continued of contraction in the future. On the other hand the grain movement in the West was of very exceptional dimensions, and the demand for the grain, together with the high prices prevailing, placed the farming interest in a state of great prosperity, where they made liberal purchases of goods and supplies in the East, thus giving the railroads a large return movement in merchandise and general freight. In the West the roads also had the advantage of a larger provisions movement; in the South they had the advantage of a larger cotton movement. Last year the conditions were mostly adverse; still in the aggregate our tables then revealed a small improvement in both gross and net, as will appear from the following, carrying the comparisons of the totals back for a series of years.

Përhaps the most conclusive evidence of the character of the returns of earnings is furnished when we bring together the gains and losses in excess of $30,000, and find that there is no loss for that amount either in gross or net. Contrariwise, the gains are not only very numerous, but they run up to very large amounts. Thus, in the gross the Southern Pacific ha $889,358 increase, the Pennsylvania $820,800, the Burlington & Quincy $579,541, the Northern Pacific $575,190, the Reading (with the Coal & Iron Co.), $536,913, the Illinois Central $504,968, &c.; and in the net the Northern Pacific has $426,225 increase, the Southern Pacific $388, 504, the Atchison $318,-860, the Baltimore & Ohio $279,848.

When the roads are grouped according to their ocation or the nature of their traffic, the result is the same. Outside of the Mexican group all the groups record enlarged gross receipts, and all but one group enlarged net earnings. The exception in the case of the net is the anthracite coal group, where the outcome has been rather indifferent. The groups which make a particularly flattering showing are the Northw stern, the Southwestern and the Pacific. In the last two instances the ratio of gain in the net reaches, respectively, 35.39 per cent and 46.15 per cent.

THE NEW GOVERNMENT LOAN.

The following is a copy of the Treasury circular inviting subscriptions for $200,000,000 of the new Government bonds authorized by the Revenue and Loan Bill:

1898. All remittances and other communications relative to this loan should be addressed to the Secretary of the Treasury, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington, D. C. All subscriptions must be received at the Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., not later than 3 o'clock P. M., Thursday, July 14, 1898. No subscriptions received after that date and hour will be con-sidered. L. J. GAGE, Secretary Secretary.

The Treasury Department has already received two propo-sitions, each covering the entire issue of $200,000,000. The first of these propositions was contained in a joint letter from the National City Bank of New York, the Central

Trust Company of New York and Vermilye & Co. of New York, reading as follows:

"Referring to your circular letter, in which you ask for subscrip-tions to $200,000,000 United States 3 per cent coin bonds, redeemable after ten years and payable after twenty years, we desire to advise-you that we stand propared to subscribe and pay for at par and accrued interest any portion of the bonds offered that may not be subscribed for by the public."

The second proposition came from J. P. Morgan & Co., and was in the following words:

and was in the following words: Whereas, A bill to provide ways and means to meet war expendi-tures has been passed by Congress; and Whereas, It is the opinion of the undersigned that, although the amount offered will be largely over subscribed, it is essential that the Secretary should be assured of the absolute, unqualified success of the issue by an advance subscription of the entire amount; and Whereas, In the opinion of the undersigned, for the purpose of carrying out these ends, a syndicate should be formed, who shall agree in advance to subscribe at par for the whole amount of such issue, two hundred million ($200.000,000), or such part thereof as may not be subscribed for by the general public. Now, therefore, We, the undersigned, agree to accept firm particl-pation in any such syndicate to the extent of the amounts set against our names. As you will notice by this preamble, the subscribers express the opinion that the loan will be subscribed for independently of this action on their part, and besides they have no wish to interfere in any way with the popular character of the loan, as desired by Congress and the Administration; their only desire is that, without any delay whatever, the Government should be assured of the full amount asked for, and the Administration; their only desire is that, without any using whatever, the Government should be assured of the full amount asked for. Subscribers to the syndibate are as follows: J. P. Morgan & Co., of New York, $20,000,000; Harvey Fisk & Sons, of New York, $20,000,-000; First National Bank of New York, $20,000,000; Mutual Life In surance Co. of New York, $20,000,000; United States Trust Company of New York, $10,000,000; Kidder. Peabody & Co., of Boston, $20,-000,000; Drexel & Co., of Philadelphia, $10,000,000; August Beimont & Co., of New York, $10,000,000; Kuhn Loeb & Co., of New York, $10,000,000; National Park Bank, of New York, $10,000,000; Na-tional Bank of Commerce of New York, $10,000,000; American Ex-change National Bank of New York, $10,000,000; Grastional Bank of Chila-delphia, $10,000,000; the Prinadelphia National Bank of Phila-delphia, $10,000,000; the Prinadelphia National Bank of New York, $20,000,000, or such part thereof as may not be subscribed by the general public. We will furnish you in due course with the signatures of the vari-ous subscribers for the amounts named respectively. Yours very truly, J. P. MORGAN & CO. It is believed that still another syndicate, composed of the leading life insurance companies and others, has offered to take the whole amount of the loan, while the bids of individ-ual banks and corporations (including the Illinois Central for $2,000,000) will aggregate $50,000,000 more.

Monetary Commercial English News

[From our own correspondent.]

LONDON, Saturday, June 4, 1898. Business on the Stock Exchange continues as stagnant as ever, and is likely to remain so as long as the war lasts, for, rightly or wrongly, there is a deep-rooted feeling all over Europe that France is so much interested in the future of Spain that her public men think they cannot allow Spain tobe ruined, and therefore rumors are circulating day by day that the French Cabinet is considering all sorts of schemes. That those schemes really are in the minds of the French Ministers seems incredible. For instance, it can hardly be believed that sane men, who are entrusted with the government of a great country, would seriously consider a proposal either to purchase the Philippines or the Canaries or the Balearic Islands, or that they are about to adopt a policy in Morocco which would threaten the safety of Gibraltar. It is surely clear that if France were to do any of these things she would give deep offense to the United States and to the United Kingdom, and it is certain that if she attempted to interfere in the Philippines or to take a position that would threaten Gibraltar, she would at once be involved in war. Still the rumors do circulate, and they receive enough attention to make the public all over Europe anxious and to prevent business from recovering.

The condition of Spain, too, grows more and more alarming. Rioting has ceased, and it does not appear that as yet any serious attempt at revolution is being thought of, but there is such a run upon the Bank of Spain for silver that the Legislature has passed a bill prohibiting the export of the metal. The measure, of course, has had no effect. It is hoarding, and not export, that the great majority of those who are causing the run are thinking of, and unless there is a quick stop put to the run all the silver in the Bank will be cleared out, and then the Bank will have to suspend specie payments. As yet the Government hesitates to authorize the Bank to issue small notes. At present no notes of smaller denomination than 25 pesetas, nominally equal to a pound sterling, are issued; but if silver disappears, it is clear that paper must take its place.

It is reported, moreover, that the Government has decided to authorize the Bank to issue as required a milliard of pesetas, or nominally forty millions sterling. Presumably the Bank will have to take the bulk of the loan. In other words the country will be flooled with inconvertible notes, and nobody can foresee how low the value of these notes may fall. The hope is that the extreme financial embarrassments of Spain may compel the Government to make peace.

In Italy the Government has been reorganized, but though open violence hes ceased, the population is sullen and a revolution is still possible. In Austria-Hungary the struggle of the nationaltie goes on, and it is difficult to see what the result will be. Apparently it must be either a suspension of the Constitution or a kind of federation. The latter would afford some sort of chance, though it must be admitted that federation would be tried under great difficulties in a country which has not even a common language. In the Balkan Peninsula there is reported to be great agitation, but so long as Russia is not prepared for a great war nothing very serious will happen there.

Meanwhile business is paralyzed. Everybody is afraid to engage in new enterprise. Speculation is stopped and even investment is exceedingly small. The American market is very active but it is active chiefly because of the purchases from New York. During the past week the demands for bonds and especially for good bonds for the United States has been larger than for a very long time past, but the holders of bonds are unwilling to sell. It is not that the public nere have any doubt about the soundness of American investments, but that they are unwilling to invest in anything of any kind while the present uncertainty exists in Europe.

The directors of the Bank of England on Thursday put down their rate of discount from 31/2 per cent, to which they had reduced it on the preceding Thursday, to 3 per cent. The change was generally expected, for the paralysis of business is so complete that practically there is scarcely any demand for banking accommodation. Unable to employ their money, bankers are ready to accept almost any terms, and consequently the Bank of England, which so long had control of the outside market, finds itself com pelled to follow the stream. Two changes, however, have occurred this week which may possibly have a considerable effect upon the market before long. One of these is the buying of gold for the Japanese Government. The crisis which in Japan followed the great inflation consequent upon the victory over China has caused a very great shipment of gold from Japan, and it looks as if the gold so laboriously col lected would all be lost. The Japanese Government, nevertheless, was understood to have decided that it was useless to fight against the movement which was so natural. But apparently ministers have been compelled to change their minds, and at all events they have bought a considerable amount of go'd this week, which, it is understood, is to be immediately shipped to Japan.

The other circumstance which may influence the market is the resumption by Russia of the purchases of gold. For months past Russia had ceased buying; but during the past two or three days she has been buying eagerly. If both Russia and Japan continue purchasing on a considerable scale, the Bank of England will have to take measures to protect its reserve, and other bankers, no doubt, will find it necessary also to be more cautious as to how they lend and discount.

In the meantime there are at last signs that the extreme stringency in India is abating. On Thursday the Bank of Bengal reduced its rate of discount from 11 per cent to 10 per cent but the Bank of Bombay made no change. The action in Bengal is probably hastened by the depressing effect of the breaking out of the plague on trade. It is reported that the native bankers, who mainly finance the interior trade, have been flying from Calcutta in large numbers. Their disappearance has stopped trade in the interior, or at all events has greatly disarranged it, and that naturally has had its effect upon the money market. In any case the monsoon rains will be due about the middle or the latter end of this month, and then the slack season always begins. Still the India Council so far has sold its drafts wonderfully well. It offered for tender on Wednesday 50 lacs and sold the whole amount at prices ranging from 1s. 3 31 32d. to 1s. 4 1-32d. It was rather a surprise, therefore, when it was announced that the Council would reduce its drawings next Wednesday to 40 lacs. Of course it has sold a large amount at very good prices since the 1st of April, but it seems questionable policy to limit its sales while there is so good a demand at so good a price.

Messrs. Pixley & Abell write as follows under date of June 2:

June 2: Gold—There has been a better demand for gold during the week, and the Bank has only received about £30,000 in bars, the rest being taken for the Continent, and conspicuously for India. The arrivals in yen have again been heavy, and these have all been bought for the East. The total bought by the Bank is £379,000, while £10,000 has been withdrawn. Arrivals: Cape Town, £564,000; Chili, £6, 100; Japan, £444,000. Total, £1,014,000. Silver-Large orders for Spain combined with great scarcity of "spot" supplies at the end of the month caused the price rapidly to advance, and the market, which stood at 26⁵6d, a week ago, has gradu-ally risen until the fixed rate to-day was 27¹6d. The market closes firm at 27¹4d. The forward rates, which were far under the cash price, are now showing a tendency to approximate more ne. rly to the "spot" rate. The Indian price to-day is. 63³ per 100 tolahs. Arrivals: New York, £115,000; Chili, £32,000. Total, £147,00. WALL STREET, FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1898.-5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation. - Stock Ex

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Stock Ex change values were considerably disturbed at the opening of the week by a collapse of the great bull movement in wheat which has been managed at Chicago. This movement was of such magnitude that its sudden and unexpected ending was widely felt and recovery from the effect produced in Wall Street seems not to be wholly complete. It is becoming more and more apparent as the weeks go by that the war with Spain will not be brought to an end so speedily as was generally expected immediately after Admiral Dewey's splendid victory at Manila. Fo what extent this fact has influenced business in Wall Street up to the present writing it would be difficult to determine, but there un-doubtedly is good ground for the theory that future opera-tions will be governed by it more than those of the past have been.

tions will be governed by it more than those of the past have been. Reports of the international trade balance for the month of May are very gratifying. The large amount in favor of this country may be increased by future grain shipments, which are likely to be stimulated by the recent decline in wheat. The foreign exchange market has almost ceased to be considered a factor in the local financial situation. It has continued dull and rates declined during the early part of the week, with some recovery and a little better demand at the close, presumably for July 1st interest and dividend pay-ments. The money market has become somewhat firmer, owing to a better demand for time loans and to preparations for absorbing the new Government bonds. The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1¼ to 1½ per cent. To-day's rates on call were 1¼ to 1½ per cent. Prime commercial paper is quoted at 3 to 4 per cent. The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £161,417, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 48.91, against 49.18 last week; the discount rate remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The Bank of France shows an increase of 1,875,000 francs in gold and 900,000 francs in silver. The New York City Clearing-House banks in their state-ment of June 11 showed an increase in the reserve held of $5,-269,200 and a surplus over the required reserve of $53,841,100 against $52,249,700 the previous week. 1898. ^{*}This is the price bid at the morning board; no sate was made. State & Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board include $31,000 Tennessee settlement 3s at 91 to 91½; $200 do. (small bonds) at 88, $25,000 District of Columbia 3:65s at 115, and $6 500 Virginia fund. debt 2-3s of 1991 at 71 to 71½. Transactions in railway bonds have been generally on a limited scale this week, the daily average being only about $3,000,000 par value, against $3,5`0 000 last week and over $4,'00,000 the previous week The market was depressed in sympathy with the grain and stock markets, but actual de-clines are in most cases only fractional. The prospect for future railway earnings has rarely been more flattering than now, and a sympathetic decline under such conditions would naturally be limited in extent and quickly overcome. There exas a better tone and some recovery in prices to-day. The active list includes Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio, Missouri Kanasas & Texas, Northern Pacific, Oregon Improvement, Oregon Short Line, Reading, Southern Railway, Texas & Pacific, Union Pacific, U. P. Denver & Gulf and Wisconsin Central bonds.

Net Earnings Monthly to Latest Dates .- The following hows the gross and net earnings to latest dates of all STEAM ailroads furnishing monthly statements. The compilation ncludes every road from which we can get returns of this character and in that form is given once a month. Early reurns art published from week to week, as soon as issued, but for the convenience of our readers all the roads making returns are brought together here in the week in which we pub lish our monthly article on net earnings—say on cr about the 20th of the month. The returns of the street railways we give by themselves under a separate head at the extreme end of these tabulations —see page 1185.

STREET RAILWAYS AND TRACTION COMPANIES.

The following table shows the gross earnings for the latest period of all STREET railways from which we are able to ob-tain weekly or monthly returns. The arrangement of the table is the same as that for the steam roads—that is, the first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the calendar year from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

* Includes Baltimore Traction and City & Suburban for both years, Trolley cars commenced running on Brooklyn Bridge February 16, 1893, which accounts for decrease in company's earnings. ‡ Strike during 15 days of March, 1893; no cars running.

Street Railway Net Earnings.—In the following we show both the gross and the net earnings to latest dates of all STREET railways from which we have been able to procure monthly returns. As in the case of the steam roads, the returns of the lifferent roads are published by us each week as soon as re-ceived, and once a month (on the third or the fourth Satur-day of the month) we bring all the roads reporting together, as is done to-day. as is done to-day.

North American Company-Milwaukee Electric Ry & Light Co.-Cincinnati Edison Co.

(Report for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1898.)

(Report for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1898.)
President C. W. Wetmore says in part (Additional extracts will be given next week:)
Financ al Condition. —The earnings of the company have exceeded its expenses without the receipt of any income from its principal stock investments. It is expected that during the current fiscal year part at least of these investments will be established on a permanent dividend paying basis. The company has no indebtedness of any kind, is a lender of money, and its resources in cash and quick assets are substantial. It is therefore in a position a lequately to develope its investment interests, and to undertake such new business as may commend itself to conservative management.
Milwaukee Electric Rg. & Light Co. —The affairs of the Milwaukee Electric Rg. Context and gainst its enforcement permanent. [Then follows the closing paragraph from the decree that was cited in the CHRONICLE of June 4, page 1089; see also editorial inissue of June 11, page 1112.]
The physical condition of the entire Milwaukee system and its equipment has been improved to a marked extent, and the management continues to be in the highest degree efficient and satisfactory.

and satisfactory

and satisfactory. Cincinnuti E lison Electric Co — The earnings of the com-pany during the past calendar and fiscal year have shown a substantial increase over the preceding year, and the pros-pects for the future satisfactory development of its business are better now than at any time in its history. Capital zation.— The idea of the reduction of the capital of the company, which was suggested in the last report, has not been abandoned, and, after some further advancement in its affairs, and when general business conditions seem to war-rant the formulating of definite plans, the subject will be brought formally to your notice. Southern Cotton Oil.

(Report for the year ending April 30, 1898.)

President Henry C. Butcher says:

President Henry C. Butcher says: The Treasurer's report herewith shows ne' profits for the year of $239,036. In arriving a' this result, all repairs and improvements made to the mills during the year have, as usual, been charged to ex-pense account. The principal imprevements, involving the expendi-ture of some $30,000, were an increase in storage capacity of about 2,500 tons at Montgomery, Ala.; additional large seed and hul house at Atlanta, Ga.; equipping entire system with automatic weighing scales, and, in compliance with the requirements of the Inter-State Commerce laws, equipping your tank cars with air brakes, draught rigging and automatic couplers. In addition to this $26,000 has been written off for depreciation. All of your mills have been in successful operation during the past year. The permanent investment account has been increased by $36,138 since the last report, owing, in part, to the eresting of this refinery at Savannab, Ga., capable of handling the entire output of five of your ornde oil mills, as well as outside business. The results of this refinery for the past y-ar have been most gratifying. Your company has also acquired a mill at Barnwell S. C., at a figure much below cost, which has also been charged to this account. This mill will be of value in supplying crude oil to the new refinery. Since your books were closed on April 30th, there has been a marked advance in the price of oil, which will pay a handsome profit on the values at which your unsold product was taken to account. The net profits, dividends and balance-sheet have been:

Electric Storage Battery Co.

(Report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1897.)

Electric Storage Battery Co. (Report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1897.) The statement of earnings for the late fiscal year was in the CHRONICLE of March 26, page 614. The report of Presi-dent Rice, which is now at hand, says in substance: Prospect of Dividends — " The earnings for 1897 having justified the expectation of dividends, I deem it important to state the reason why they have not been declared. In 1895 the company purchased a number of patents for cash, while experimental demonstrations on a large scale also required cash outlay, all of which payments could be met only out of the profits of the business. Since 1895 there has been no necessity of any such expenditures, and therefore if the results of 1893 should equal those of 1897, the company will be in a position to consider dividends out of such profits as it may make, beginning with the year 1899. Current Earnings.— "Notwithstanding the war, our sales for the first five months of the current year, namely from Jan. 1st to May 31st, am unt to $314,488, as against $241.0 7 for the same period last year, and as last year's sal-s to the amount of $218,310 were not included in last year's earnings, but carried over to this year, the total for the first five moths of last year. Increased Use of Storage Batteries.— "In 1895 our manuf.ac-turing profits were but $15.096. In 1893 they had increased to $414,993 and in 1897 to $325,291. I have no hesitation in expressing my belief that this rate of increase not only can be maintained, but even increas-1, as it is evident that we are witnessing only the beginning of the development of the storage battery industry. "Taking for instance the company's business in connection with electric illuminating plants, we find that it embraces to date only eleven cities in the United States, while only fit-teen trolley companies, only twenty-six office buildings, and only twenty-seven private residences have as yet been equipped with our proluct. Bearing in mind that the in-vestmen annual development of our business will be practically unlimited for years to come.

"Important progress was made during this year by the equipment of the Buffalo Street Railway with torage batteries in connection with Niagara power; the power thus stored being carried thirty miles from Niagara Falls with most satisfactory results. The substitution of storage batteries for primary batteries for telephone service has already been adopted in over thirty cities, in one case 12,000 primary cells being replaced by 10 storage battery cells.
"A year ago we had in use by electric vehicles altogether 7,406 plates, while this year this service already utilizes 45,-841 plates. The Electric Vehicle Co. has gone into the cab and livery business on a large scale in New York, and within a few weeks will have 114 cabs in service. The Pope-Manufacture of private conveyances. There is no question but in the near future delivery wagons and omnibuses propelled by electricity will come largely into use.

future delivery wagons and omnibuses propelled by elec-tricity will come largely into use. "The Englewood & Chicago Electric Street Ry. has now been in operation for an entire year, and the work of the bat-teries has been remarkable. Nearly 20,000 miles have now been made by single batteries which from all appearances are still perfectly good, and the entire operation of approximately 600,000 car miles has as yet not cost anything for battery maintenance or repairs. With these results achieved it can now be positively stated that storage battery traction is the cheapest form of electric traction, not only in the installa-tion, but also in the operation. "In car lighting, notable progress has also been made, partic-tion, but also in the operation. "In car lighting, notable progress has also been made, partic-ularly in conjunction with the National Electric Car Light-ing Co., whose system gives light by means of storage bat-teries connected with dynamos placed on the axle. This company has now installed fifty-four cars on the Santa Fe Road, which have given so great satisfaction that a large development for this use may be deemed to be close at hand." -V. 66, p. 614.

Atlantic Transportation Co.—New Esterprise.—The "Providence Journal" gives the following fasts touching this corporation, which last January raised its capital stock from $1.0,000 to $3,000,000, divided into 30,000 shares of $100 each:

each: This company has agreed to transport all the output of the im-mense New River coal mines, from Newport News, Va., to points both north and south, and will be obliged to handle millions of tons annually to carry out its contract. Sherwood & Besse are general managers and agents, with offices at No. 1 Broadway, New York. A great fleet of steamers, tugs and barges of the largest size has already been assembled. A considerable proportion of these vessels has been bought outright. The rest are under charter. More big coal carriers will be added, until a fleet of sixty vessels will be con-trolled with a carrying capacity of about 90,000 tons. The concern has contracted with one of the largest firms in Providence to deliver it 150,000 tons of New River coal. The company has no bonded indebtedness. The officers

Brooklyn Elevated RR.—Service Over Brooklyn Bridge to Begin Saturday.—The company will run its first passenger train across the Brooklyn Bridge to-day and will continue the service during the a'ternoon for the convenience of Sheepshead Bay passengers. To-morrow the regular service to New York will be begun by the Fifth and Lexington Avenue lines. The trains will be run at infrequent intervals at first, but before the end of a week it is expected to operate Myrtle Avenue trains also, and a schedule of three minutes headway will shortly be adopted. Eventually it is the inten-tion to withdraw the bridge trains and to allow the elevated roads to operate the bridge railroad. –V. 66, p. 1000.

The committee continues as follows: "To remove what: the directors regard as legal obstacles to the way of resump-tion of dividend payments, it has been suggested to them that the nominal value of the capital stock should, by vote of shareholders, be reduced so as not to exceed the value of the shareholders, be reduced so as not to exceed the value of the assets of the company, and to this end a reduction of 50 per cent of the par value of the shares has been suggested, to-gether with payment of the accumulated dividends on the preferred shares to date of reduction at rate of 7 per cent on the present par value of $100 per share. As a legal result of this reduction, the holders of preferred shares would be en-titled to dividends out of future earnings of 7 per cent on $50 per share only, while holders of the common shares would be entitled to all the remaining earnings. This would, for the future, reduce the dividend on preferred shares one-half, while it would leave the common shareholders in a better position than their present one. The committee asks for the deposit of preferred stock with the American Loan & Trust Co., in return for negotiable re-ceipts, and agrees to return the shares on or before Dec 31, 1899, in case no settlement has been made previous to that date. will raise the total capital stock to $50,000,000, all preferred, no common stock having been created. The new issue will provide for the retirement of the $15,000 000 collateral trust bonds of 1892 recently called for payment on Sept. 1, 1893, and for the purchase of the $12,500,000 capital of the Seattle & Montana RR. for a sum not to exceed $10,000.000. The Seattle & Montana stock is distributable Ost. 1, 1893, as a 50 per cent dividend to the Great Northern stockholders and can be used by them at 80 ($10,000,000 for the entire issue) to pay 40 per cent of the subscription price of the new $25,000,-00) issue of Great Northern stock. In other words, Great Northern stockholders of record July 1, 1993, since entitled to the 50 per cent Seattle & Montana dividend, will get the new Great Northern stock at 60. The circular to shareholders is substantially as follows: will raise the total capital stock to $50,000,000, all preferred

The circular to shareholders is substantially as follows:

The board of directors of this company desires to increase the capi-tal stock of the company by the issuance of 250,000 additional shares of pref. stock of $100, such shares to be offered to you for subscription at the par value thereof, pro rata of your holdings of stock. The issue of such shares of preferred stock is to provide for the redemption at par and the cancellation of the collateral trust bonds of this company, amounting to $15,000,000, dated Sept. 1, 1892, and maturing Sept. 1, 1902, and further for the purchase of the capital stock of the Seattle & Montana RR Co., amounting to $12,500,000, for a sum not more than $10,000,000.

Upon the satisfaction of the trust deed securing these bonds, the $3,000,000 Pacific Ext nsion Bonds of the St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba Ry. Co., now held by the Minneapolis Trust Co., trustee, under that mortgage, will become the property of the Great Northern Ry. Co. The circular of this company, dated May 25, 1898, stated that the stock of the Seattle & Montana RR. Co. is held in trust for distribution Oct. 1, 1898, to the stockholders of this company in pro-portion to their holdings July 1, 1898. Your directors, after consultation with the holders of the majority of the stock of this company, have duly authorized the officers of the company to acquire said stock at a price not to exceed 80 per centum of its par value.

The opportunity is now offered to the stockholders of this company, as they may appear of record at the close of business July 1st, 1898, to subscribe pro rata for such shares of preferred capital stock pro posed to be issued, at par. Such subscription, or the assignment of any right to subscribe, will be taken as an assent to and a ratification of the issuance of such additional stock, and the company will accept such action as equivalent to a resolution of the stockholders to that This subscription will not be considered binding and effective unless the holders of at least 75 per centum in amount of the present outstanding stock shall have filed their subscriptions to the new stock, or their assignments of rights to make such subscription. Stockholders will be entitled to subscribe for one share of new stock for each share of their holdings of the preferred stock now outstanding, as of record at the close of business July 1st, 1898. A cer-tificate showing the stockholder's right to make subscriptions to the new stock, and also showing the stockholder's tille to receive the stock of the Seattle & Montana RR. Co. will be delivered upon the closing of the books July 1st, 1898.

The purchase price of the new stock will be payable at this office Aug. 1, 1898, and must be paid in cash, or in the collateral trust bonds of this company at par (the company paying the accrued interest thereon), and to the extent of 40 per centum of the subscription in the stock of the Seattle & Montana RR. Co. at the rate of 80 per centum of the face value of the last-named stock represented thereby. Receipts for all payments made will be issued, exchangeable for certificates of new stock as soon as the same can be made out.

The new stock will take rank for dividends and in all other respects with the present outstanding stock from Aug. 1, 1898. For the pur-pose of this subscription, the stock transfer books will be closed at 3 P. M., July 1, 1898, and will remain closed until Aug. 2, 1898. Subscriptions and assignments of rights to subscribe to be recognized by the company, must be filed at this office [27 Pins St., N. Y. City,] on or before 3 P. M., July 28, 1898.-V. 66, p. 1044.

Missouri Kansas & Texas Ry.—Official Explanation as to Income Mortgage Suit.—Mr. Summ Sterne, the general coun-sel of the company, in an interview, makes the following explanation of the suit by the Mercantile Trust Co. with ref-erence to alleged dues of interest under the income second mortgage:

mortgage: It is a mere revival of a suit commenced over six years since, which was long ago thought to be dead, for an accounting during the period of time when the company was in the hands of a receiver; the sup-plemental complaint recently filed in this case makes claim that interest was earned which was not paid over and that accounts were not duly rendered. The answer made by the company is that no moneys were earned applicable to the payment of interest which were not paid over; that the accounts during the period of the receiver-ship were periodically rendered by the receivers to the Mercantile Trust Co., which was the complainat in the receivership proceedings before the reorganization of 1891; that since the company has had control of its property the accounts were all duly rendered to and accepted by the Mercantile Trust Co., and that such accounts show that there were in fact no net earnings applicable to the payment of interest during the income period which the unpaid coupons represent. Standard Distilling & Distributing.—Prospectus.—Ref-erence was made last week to the formation of this new com-pany under the laws of New Jersey to unite the spirit dis tilleries in the United States outside of those controlled by the American Spirits Manufacturing Co. The capitalization of the new corporation will be, as then stated, $24,000,000 stock in $100 shares, $8,000,000 of this being 7 per c-nt cumu-lative preferred, and the remainder common stock. The $8,000,000 preferred stock, it is stated, has been over sub-scribed, one $100 share paid for in cash at par carrying with it a bonus of $150 in common stock. Through the absorption of distributing companies and compounding concerns the new corporation, it is stated, will practically control the manufacturing and distribution of spirits and alcohol. The prospectus states thus as the ob-jects of the new organization: 1. Distillation of spirits, alcohol, gin and continuous whiskies.

The American Distributing Co, which is to be acquired, as above shown, was organized with a capital of $5,000,000 in 1891, and took in over eighteen distributing houses largely controlling the sale and distribution of spirits and alcohol east of the Alleghanies. Its aggregate profits, it is claimed, have been $700,000 per annum. The American Spirits Manufacturing Co. is estimated to have about the same capacity as the Standard, making the total annual capacity of the two properties 50,000,000 gal-lons of spirits. The two corporations, it is stated, have en-tered into a formal agreement for harmonious action. It is proposed the Standard Company shall operate the first year to produce about 25,00,000 gallons of spirits, being at the rate of about 18,000 bushels of corn per day. Net profits are to be limited to 2 cents per proof gallon, so that the re-turns for the first year are figured as follows: FIRST YEAR'S PROFIT.

Stilwell-Bierce & Smith-Vaile Co.-June Dividend De-ferred.-Replying to our letter respecting the June divi-dends, the company hands us the following circular explain-ing matters fully, and says: "We have never been so full of work as at present, and the growth of our business has con-tinued to such an extent that we have deemed it wise to in-crease our surplus in order that we may be able to handle our business advantageously." The circular to stockholders says: The directors, after careful consideration of the matter, have de-cided that it would be expedient to defer the payment of the June 1st dividend. The business of the company is increasing rapidly in vol-ume, and it is at present employed on some large contract work re-quiring a larger cash working capital than usual to handle the same in the most advantageous and profitable manner, and it is believed to be to the best ultimate advantage of the stockholders and in the line of prudent management to reserve the funds in hand as additional sur-plus, for the present at least, and until public affairs become more settled. The company has several large and profitable contracts which have

Union Pacific RR.-Union Pacific Denver & Gulf Ry.-Sale.-Of the securities mentioned last week the $1,680,000 Colorado Central firsts were sold at 94 to J. Kennedy Tod & Co., and Hallgarten & Co. in interest of the Union Pacific Denver & Gulf reorganization committee. By this purchase the Denver & Gulf committee will become the owner of $4,449,000 of the entire issue of $4,788,000 Colorado Central firsts, and will therefore be in a position to proceed with foreclosure and reorganization. The plan of the committee will probably be ready about Aug. 1. At the same sale $363,000 Omaha & Republican Valley firsts, with back coupons, were sold to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. for $388,350. This latter transaction insures to the new Union Pacific the control of the road, which comprises about 480 miles of track, and is a valuable feeder. The $3,000,000 Denver Leadville & Gunnison stock and $54,000 bonds were sold to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. for $10,000.-V. 66, p. 1141, 955. Wilkesbarre & Northern RR.-Reorganization as an Wilkesbarre & Northern RR.—Reorganization as an Electric Road.—This road, extending from Luzerne, Pa., where it connects with the Wilkesbarre & Wyoming Val-ley Traction Co., to Harvey's Lake, Pa., 12 miles, is in course of reorganization. The original issue of $200,000 hords was used to bring the need of the site of $200,000 course of reorganization. The original issue of $200,000 bonds was used to bring the road up to its present condition, but was found to be insufficient to complete it. Under the reorganization plan the present holders of bonds will take stock for an equal amount of their holdings and a new first mortgage of $150,000 will be created to complete the road. The line will be equipped and run by electricity. The prop-erty, we are informed, is a good one, and, it is believed, can easily pay a good rate of interest on the stock. Mr. John Graham, Treasurer and General Manager of the Wilkes-barre & Wyoming Valley Traction Co., is personally inter-ested in the Wilkesbarre & Northern, but there is no other connection between the two enterprises. --Y, 66, p. 235. connection between the two enterprises. -- V. 66, p. 285.

Sec. 51. That this Act shall take effect on the day next succeeding the date of its passage, except as otherwise specially provided for. Approved June 13, 1898.

SUPPLEMENTAL BILL.

On June 15, Chairman Dingley, of the Ways and Means Committee, introduced a bill supplemental to the new law. The bill passed the House the next day. It is intended to correct omissions in certain of the amendments added by correct omissions in certain of the amendments added by the Senate. According to press dispatches it provides that inventories of articles subject to tax which has not been paid, or of legacies held in trust on which the tax shall not have been paid, shall be filed in duplicate at such times as the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may require; that casualty, fidelity and guarantee insurance companies, carrying on business solely for their own protec-tion and not for profit and having no capital stock shall be tion and not for profit, and having no capital stock, shall be exempt from the tax; that taxes imposed by the bill not payable by stamp shall be assessed and collected as other internal revenue taxes are collected; that failure to affix stamps when revenue taxes are collected; that failure to a fix stamps when no specific penalty is prescribed shall be punished by a fine of $50; that gross annual receipts to be taxed shall be for the year beginning July 1; that the stamps on domestic money orders shall be affixed by the person to whom they are issued, and that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue be authorized to make all needful rules and regulations to carry the law into effect.

-PORTLAND TRUST COMPANY.-Increase of Capital.-Con-solidation with Portland Safe Deposit Company. -(1) The Portland Trust Company, with a paid-in capital stock of $100-0.00, having increased its surplus to 100%, viz., to $100,000, has voted to double its capital stock, which will be paid in at once in cash. This will make it total responsibility $50,-00, as there is a double liability on the stock, the same as on that of national banks, and it will therefore have in the near future $200,000 paid in capital, $200,000 stockhol lers' liability and $100,000 accumulated surplus. -In connection with the subscrip ions at par for the new Government 3-per-cent loan, Messrs Redmond, Kerr & Co, have issued a circular off-ring their services without charge in obtaining such bonds as their friends may desire. The circular gives considerable information relative to the loan. The following table, for instance, shows in an inter-esting manner the relatively higher prices at which the present Government bonds are now selling: Price. Vield

COMMERCIAL EPITOME. FRIDAY NIGHT, June 17, 1898.

Seasonable conditions exist in the general business situa tion. A fair volume of merchandise appears to be moving from the producer to the consumer, and with few exceptions satisfactory prices are being realized. The War Revenue bill as passed by Congress at the close of last week and signed by the President on Monday afternoon, has become operative in some instances, although a number of provisions do not take effect until July 1st. Subscriptions for the new bond issue are being freely received at Washington, and all indications are that it will be largely over-subscribed. The collapse of the Leiter interest in the wheat deal early in the week had temporarily an unfavorable influence, particularly in speculative circles. There have been a few additional cases of yellow fever reported from the Mississippi districts, but no serious outbreak is expected, as it is understood to be well under control. The embarking of American troops at Tampa, Fla., for the invading of Cuba has been a feature. Lard on the spot has had only a limited sale, as neither re-finers nor exporters have been extensive buyers. Prices have declined, and the close was quiet at 6.05c. for prime Western and 5.6°c. for prime City. Refined lard has been quiet and easier, closing at 6.35c. for refined for the Continent. Imme-diately following our last report there was a sharp break in prices for contracts under free selling by packers. Subse-quently, however, prices partially recovered the loss on mod-erate buying, stimulated by the light receipts of swine. Speculation in cotton for future delivery has continued without animation and the tendency of prices has been to-wards a slightly lower basis. Needed rains have been re-ported in the Gulf and Atlantic States, and crop accounts generally have been of a favorable nature, which have in-duced some selling of the distant deliveries. Owing, how ever, to the fact that it is early in the crop season and that prices ruling are low, sellers have not been disposed to be aggressive and the decline in values has been unimportant. Early in the week manipulation by bull operators advanced prices for this crop deliveries. Outside longs took advantage of the higher prices to liquidate their accounts and the collapse of the bull interest in the wheat deal also had its influence against a deal in August contracts, and prices re-acted. The demand for actual cotton has continued to drag, there being little or no interest shown by spinners, and ex-porters state that the few orders they have in hand are at prices fully 25 points under ruling quotations. To day here was a dull market. Immediately following the opening prices weakened slightly under favorable crop accounts and disappointing foreign advices. Subsequently, however, the market turned steadier, and the close showed prices unchanged to 1 point lower for the day. Cotton on the spot has been dull but steady at 1-16c. advance, closing quiet at 6 9 16c. for middling uplands. The rates on and off middling, as established Nov. 17, 1897.  ⁴ GOVERNMENT WEEKLY COTTON REPORT. --Mr. W. L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the following telegraphic reports on the crop in the South for week ending June 13: VIRGINIA. -Dry and warm; cotton is mostly well worked, stand good. NORTH CARDLINA. -Very warm, dry weather has intensified drought in southern portion, where all crops are suffering; elsewhere improvements slow; rain much needed.
 SOUTH CARDLINA. -Hot, dry weather, water becoming scarce, and all crops needing moisture; cotton healthy, but small, taking on squares slowly; is lousy in places.
 GEORGIA. -Drought relieved to some extent by showers on 12th. which will do much good; cotton small, but looking well and taking on squares and bloom in some counties; complaint of lice.
 FL RIDA. -No general improvement in crops; sho wers, and in a few instances heavy rains, gave relief from drought in sections; cotton small but in fairly good condition.
 ALAB MAA. -Well distributed though generally light rains during last two days were beneficial to corn and cotton: cotton making slow growth, out healthy; is taking on squares, and beginning to bloom. MISSISSIPT. -All crops improving; cotton growing fast, fruiting well, and knee high in places.
 DOUSIANA. -General improvement in crop growth from hot, showery weather, more rain needed in north and southeast; cotton commencing.
 TEXAS. -Warm, with excessive rains, except in extreme east portion, where rains were light; cotton blooming over southern profilos and growing nicely, somewhat small and late, but promising.
 TEXAS. -Warm, with excessive rains, except in extreme east portion, where rain meeded in north and southeast; cotton commencing to bloom, growing nicely, somewhat small and late, but promising.</li growing nicely.

These reports on cotton are summarized by the Department as follows:

Over the eastern portion of the cotton belt cotton is generally small, but healthy, and well cultivated; in the central portion more rapid growth is reported, but in Arkansas it is grassy in some localities. In Texas the crop has made good growth in all sections, but continuous rains have prevented cultivation, and grass is making headway.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &C. –During the past week there has been a little better demand for jute bagging, but no changes in prices are reported, the close this evening being at $5\frac{1}{4}c$. for $1\frac{3}{4}$ lbs., $5\frac{5}{8}c$. for 2 lbs. and $5\frac{7}{8}c$. for standard grades. The market for jute butts is dull. Quotations are nominally '75@''.7 $\frac{1}{2}c$. for paper quality, $1\frac{1}{6}c$. for mixing and $1\frac{1}{2}c$. for spinning cuttings, to arrive.

BREADSTUFFS. FRIDAY, June 17, 1898. Reflecting a sharp break in the prices for the actual grain, there has been a decidedly weaker turn to values in the market for wheat flour, prices now quoted showing a sharp decline from those ruling a week ago. At the lower prices only a moderate volume of business has been transacted, as home trade buyers have shown no disposition to purchase only a inderate volume of business has been transacted, as home trade buyers have shown no disposition to purchase freely, confining their takings to small lots to meet current wants, and the demand from exporters has also been limited. Rye flour has had only a limited sale and prices have again declined. Corn meal has had a moderate call from the local consuming trade, but from other quarters demand has been dull and prices have declined

THE DRY GOODS TRADE NEW YORK, FRIDAY, P. M., June 17, 1898.

The aggregate business in the market this week has been larger than transacted in any previous week for some time past but it has been due mainly to agents making new and lower prices on leading makes of bleached cottons and bringing these down to the lowest level they have ever sold bringing these down to the lowest level they have ever sold at from first hands. The decline has been looked for. It was indeed regarded as a forecone conclusion and has not therefore materially changed general market conditions otherwise than to bring them into greater uniformity. The demand generally has been held up awaiting this action and it is now expected that a development all along the line will be seen shortly. Outside of bleached cottons there has been no quotable change in prices and in most directions the tone rules firm with indications rather in favor of a higher range of values than otherwise. Excellent reports are coming to hand of the business doing by retailers here and elsewhere under the influence of entirely favorable weather. Stocks are being distributed with much freedom and both retailers and jobbers are working into good shape for their fall trade. In the woo en goods division the market has been adversely affected by a break in the price of Clay worsteds, but still the demand is more liberal than of late.

demand is more liberal than of late. WOOLEN GOODS.—The steadier tone recently noticeable in the market for men's-wear woolen and worsted fabrics has got a set-back this week by the action of the Washington Mills in reducing the price of their Clay worsteds to the basis of $1 20 for 16 ounce makes. Although this reduction is ostensibly to clean up stocks only, the effect is unfavorable both upon the heavy-weights market and upon the outlook for new spring lines, preparations for the opening of which are now well advanced. In other directions prices are without change in trouserings, suitings or overcoatings, and the gen-eral business transacted has been of moderate dimensions. So far only serges are reported selling for the new spring season, and business in these is of limited dimensions as yet. The de mand for cloakings is indifferent at previous prices. Flannels are quietly firm. Blankets also firm with a moderate de-mand. Dress goods are quiet and business still of a disap-pointing character.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending June 13 were 3,041 packages, valued at $110,458, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below :

The value of the New York exports for the year to date has been $5,169,120 in 1898 against $5,378,440 in 1897.

The value of the New York exports for the year to date has been \$5,169,120 in 1998 against \$5,378,440 in 1897. The new prices in bleached cottons have brought Fruit of the Loom 4-4s down to $5\frac{3}{4}c$. net, Lonsdale to 6c. with dis-counts, and Blackstone and Hope to $5\frac{1}{4}c$. with discounts, and other tickets to relative basis. As already stated, these are the lowest prices ever touched by these leading tickets. Buyers have shown their appreciation by placing much more liberal orders than for some time past, and a good business has been done. The market for brown cottons has been without material change. A fair demand has come forward, and prices have been well maintained. In coarse colored cottons business has shown some improvement, principally in denims and plaids, the demand being readily met as a rule at previous prices. Wide sheetings are dull, with an irregu-lar tendency. Cotton flannels and blankets firm but quiet. Prices for fall have been named on fancy calicoes same as the spring season opened at, viz: $4\frac{1}{2}c$, for standard grades and 4c. for second qualities, and the demand has expanded con-siderably during the past few days. Seasonable printed fab-rics very irregular in price. Indigo blues, mournings, tur-key reds and other staple lines in average request at previous prices. The gingham situation is without change. Staples firm but quiet; dark dress styles in good request; napped fab-rics for fall also selling well. Print cloths firm at 2c. for ex-tras, but business light. Odds in fair request. FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—Some improvement has been re-ported in orders for fall in dress grades and alls. but the gen

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—Some improvement has been re-ported in orders for fall in dress goods and silks, but the gen-eral demand continues backward. In seasonable lines prices very irregular and business mostly of a cleaning-up character. Importations and Warehouse Withdrawais of Dry Goods
