REVIEW OF NOVEMBER.

There were no disturbing incidents during November. At the same time there were some distinctly favorable developments. As far as domestic affairs are concerned, the most important event undoubtedly was the satisfactory outcome of the general elections. Practically everywhere the result of the popular vote furnished occasion for gratification. The Republican Party not only retained its hold on the House of Representatives, but it gained such a decided ascendancy in the United States Senate that after the 4th of next March it will no longer be possible for the silver obstructionists in that body to block attempts at sound-money legislation. Moreover, analysis of the Congressional vote shows that though the Democrats gained some seats in the House of Representatives, these gains were made mainly in the Eastern States, like New York, Massachusetts and New Jersey, where the silver issue was either ignored in the party platforms or in terms repudiated by those running for office, while, on the other hand, in the West, where there was a distinct espousal of the Bryan cause, the Democratic candidates met with general defeat. Thus the elections were an unqualified victory for the Administration Party and for the advocates of an honest money standard.

The beneficial effects of this success have already become manifest in several directions. In the stock market there has been a marked revival of speculation and a decided rise in prices, while in the country's industrial activities operations have been conducted with more confidence than for a long time past.

In the foreign situation, too, great improvement occurred during the month. The Anglo French dispute, so disturbing the previous month, almost disappeared as a factor in affairs. With the appointment of the new French Ministry under M. Dupuy it was announced that France had decided to recall the Marchand mission from Fashoda, and this had the effect of mollifying English sentiment. Several of the English ministers took pains to state after that that the Fashoda dispute was only one incident in the differences between the two countries. But nevertheless there was no renewal of apprehensions of an outbreak of war, nor were the naval preparations, which had been on such a large scale during the previous month, continued. It should also be noted, as marking the removal of what has been a serious source of disturbance in the past, that the promise of the European Powers of autonomy to the people of the Island of Crete was at last brought to fulfillment. On the 14th the last Turkish soldiers left the island, and on the 15th Prince George of Greece, who had been appointed High Commissioner of the Powers, embarked from Trieste, Austria, for the island to assume office.

The peace negotiations between the United States and Spain dragged, but no uneasiness was occasioned by that fact. The Spanish Commissioners at a meeting of the Peace Congress on the 4th refused the proposition made by the United States to take the entire group of the Philippine Islands (Spain to be reimbursed for certain pacific expenditures made by her in the islands) claiming that the word "disposition" in the peace protocol did not contemplate relinquishment of Spanish control over the islands. In the interval before the next meeting of the conference there were frequent reports of a possible rupture, but they found acceptance nowhere except among speculators for a decline on the Stock Exchange, as Spain's helpless condition would have made such a policy suicidal. On the 21st, at a joint session of the Commissioners, the American representatives made formal announcement that the United States would insist on the cession of the entire Philippine archipelago, Spain to be given $20,000,000, and November 28 was fixed as the date by which a definite response to the American propositions must be returned. On that day the Spanish Commissioners signified their formal acceptance of these terms, but under protest.

A storm of unusual severity, attended by a heavy fall of snow and gales of extraordinary fierceness, passed over the North Atlantic States on the 26th and 27th, and caused great havoc to shipping, besides blocking many of the railroad transportation lines and seriously impeding street railway traffic in New York, Brooklyn and other cities. The storm was the worst experienced since the memorable blizzard of 1888, and along the New England coast is believed to have exceeded in fury that disturbance. Among the disasters was the foundering of the side-wheel steamer Portland, bound from Boston to Portland, with the loss of all on board—over one hundred lives.

The financial situation in Germany attracted a great deal of attention in view of the over-speculation which has been going on in that country. We noted in our review for the month of October a rise in the rate of discount by the Imperial Bank of Germany on the 10th from 4 to 5 per cent, this being subsequently followed by an advance in the official rate of the Austro-Hungarian Bank from 4 to $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, in that of the Bank of England from 3 to 4 per cent and in that of the Bank of France from 2 to 3 per cent. During November the Bank of Germany made two further increases—on the 8th raising its discount rate to $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent and on the 19th putting it up to 6 per cent, a figure not previously reached since the financial crisis in Paris in 1882. The disturbing effect of this situation, however, seems to have been largely localized. None of the other leading European banks found it incumbent to put up their official rates, and even the open market quotations at the chief monetary centres were unaffected. In London, indeed, the outside rate fell to $3\frac{1}{4}$ per cent, against $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent at the close of October, though towards the end of the month the withdrawal of gold for shipment to this country led to a recovery to $3\frac{5}{8}$ at $3\frac{3}{4}$. In Paris the open market rate did not get above that at the Bank of France, namely 3 per cent. At the German monetary centres the rates advanced of course, though not up the level of the Bank figure; the quotation was $5\frac{3}{8}$ per cent on the 18th, but after the advance in the Bank rate to 6 per cent the quotation was only $5\frac{1}{8}$ at $5\frac{1}{4}$ per cent, which was also the figure at the close.

Except at the very beginning of the month, when purchases of sterling for investment were still a feature, the course of the foreign exchange market was almost continuously downward, and rates for actual business declined $1\frac{1}{2}$ @ 2 cents per pound. This weakness was ascribable to a variety of causes. In the first place supplies of commercial bills, both cotton and grain, were very abundant, becoming almost a drug. In the second place, somewhat dearer rates for time money in our market, and easier discounts in London, and the continued accumulation of a large favorable trade balance, operated to check further investment purchases of sterling. These purchases had reached such proportions as to be regarded as a menace to the market. The latter part of the month it is believed some of the holdings of this class were being unloaded. Dealings in cable transfers were disturbed all through the month, at first because of a difference in the method of construing the provisions of the internal revenue law as applied to this class of bills (most bankers affixing only a two-cent stamp the same as on a check), and later by the ruling of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue that such bills were subject to an ad valorem tax of four cents per \$100. On the 30th \$1,000,000 gold was engaged in London for importation by Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co.

There was a slight hardening in money rates. This was not due to any drain to the interior, the net flow being in fact in favor of this centre, but in the main to the expanding speculation on the Stock Exchange and the increased requirements for business purposes owing to the continued revival in trade.

On the Stock Exchange the tone was buoyant, and dealings in both stocks and bonds were on a large scale. The main stimulating element was the great victory for sound money achieved at the elections. This led to very extensive buying for investment and speculation alike. There was no set-back of moment to the upward movement. Suggested doubts as to the outcome of the Spanish-American peace negotiations were used at opportune moments to bring about a reaction, but the effect was never more than temporary. The anthracite properties were sold down on the unfavorable state of the coal trade, but even these joined in the rise the latter part of the month, when reports came that the differences between the different roads were in process of adjustment. Northern Pacific shares were at times adversely affected because of the friction with the Oregon Navigation regarding some proposed new extensions.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD.

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and for the year 1898. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. As to prices the form is our own, and we think it will be found to contain just the facts desired by our readers and to present them in the most convenient way for study and reference. All quotations in the column headed "Price about January 3, 1898," were made on that date except those in italics, which are the nearest in January, 1898.

For foot notes to tables see last page of Bonds and last page of Stocks.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

—OF—
BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following twenty-seven pages of tables quotations are given for all securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for all leading unlisted and inactive securities for which we have been able to obtain reliable prices.

2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the last day of November. Of course the coupon, if there be one, maturing between the date of quotation and the date of this publication, is not deducted from the price.

3. Bond prices marked thus ($) indicate that the purchaser must pay accrued interest in addition to the price given. The method of quoting on the New York Stock Exchange is to quote the prices flat (that is to include the accrued interest in the price), and hence in the tables below no mark is now affixed where this method of quoting is followed.

4. Stock prices marked thus (†) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices.

5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M." for mortgage; "g." for gold; "g'd." for guaranteed; "end." for endorsed; "cons." for consolidated; "conv." for convertible; "s. f." for sinking fund; "l. g." for land grant.

Notice Change.—We no longer affix a mark to prices quoted flat, but only to those which require payment of accrued interest in addition to the price. Designating mark in this instance is ($).

MUNICIPAL BONDS.

Prices marked (*) are flat prices—that is, the purchaser does not pay accrued interest in addition. In all other cases accrued interest must be added to the price.

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

It should be borne in mind that municipal bonds are not subject to such decided fluctuations in value as are securities which form a basis for speculation.

QUOTATIONS OF BANK AND TRUST COMPANY STOCKS.

Prices are per share, not per cent, with the exception of New York City and Brooklyn bank stocks. Prices marked bus (*) are last sales.

The dagger (†) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

The double dagger (‡) prefixed to the capital stock indicates that only part is paid in.

The section mark ($) prefixed to surplus indicates that undivided profits are included.
