REVIEW OF MAY.

The month of May may be said to have been a period of reaction, the course of prices having tended downward both on the Stock Exchange and in the mercantile markets. The movement was only a continuance of that noted the previous month, when the unexpected closing of some of the mills of the American Steel & Wire Company produced a widespread shock and caused general disturbance. The developments during May have made it clear that the situation of the Wire Company, which led to the action mentioned, reflected a state of things more or less common throughout the mercantile world. In other words, the extraordinarily high level of prices ruling had on the one hand operated to increase production and on the other hand had served to check consumption, so that manufacturers and producers found themselves with accumulating stocks of goods.

Whether this be accepted as a correct diagnosis or not, producers have found it advisable in many instances to lower prices either because they recognized that such a situation as outlined above existed or because they feared it might develop unless inducements were offered to stimulate consumption. Consumers on their part, having had their attention called in such a prominent way to this weak and threatening feature of the situation, have been less inclined to buy than usual, even at the lower prices. Looking upon substantial recessions in prices as inevitable, some of them have been disposed to hold off altogether until the outlook became more clearly defined. As a consequence a sort of dead-lock has resulted at times, making the situation appear worse than it really is. On account of the close relationship existing between our industries and those abroad, the same condition of hesitancy and uncertainty has been communicated to the foreign trade centres. This is particularly true of those two great industries, iron and steel and cotton goods, as has been made so evident in the letters of our Manchester correspondent. In Germany, as well as in England, events here are being watched with interest and anxiety.

Apart from the halt in the revival of trade—which we may be sure will not be prolonged, since it had its origin entirely in an extravagant level of prices and requires for its removal nothing more than an adjustment of prices to a lower level—there were quite a number of favorable developments in the stock market, some decidedly healing in their nature. The local gas war, which has been waged for about a year, is believed to have been settled by the acquisition of the New Amsterdam Gas Company and the Standard Gas Light Company by the Consolidated Gas Company, and an advance in the price of gas to consumers is momentarily looked for. In the case of the Third Avenue RR. the final step in the rehabilitation of the property was taken, Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. paying for the $35,000,000 of new bonds purchased by them and the receiver being discharged. In the sugar war between the American Sugar Refining Co. and the independent refiners, the developments also suggest an early settlement, and the price of refined sugar has been very materially raised. On the other hand, the outcome early in the month of the differences in the board of directors of the American Steel & Wire Company was not what had been hoped, Messrs. Henry Seligman and Frederick Strauss, who represented J. & W. Seligman & Co., having resigned from the board; later, however, Mr. John W. Gates gave up his position as Chairman of the board and Mr. John Lambert resigned as President, and were replaced by other men. The failure of Price, McCormick & Co. on the 24th was an unfavorable development the latter part of the month; being due, however, entirely to operations in cotton, where an attempt had been made to corner the staple, the effect did not extend much beyond the Cotton Exchange. On the 28th Seymour, Johnson & Co. also failed, but their operations were not extensive.

The foreign exchange market was very quiet, with dealings decidedly limited. In fact some of the bankers complained of stagnation and an almost entire absence of business. This situation was due to the hovering of rates around the gold-export point. Bills were reported in small supply, and the inquiry for remittance was met in considerable part by gold shipments. The export movement of the metal was entirely to Paris, $2,712,162 going on the 3d, $2,855,300 on the 10th, $3,197,779 on the 17th, and $1,257,134 on the 24th, making $10,022,375 together. There was no outflow of gold to London. Early in the month there was an advance in the price for American eagles and for gold bars in the London bullion market, and on the 9th the Bank of England raised its bid price for eagles from 76s. 3½d. to 76s. 4d., but this still left sterling rates below the export point. The Bank was urged by critics at home to offer inducements to attract gold by making advances on shipments in transit, but the managers of the institution evidently did not consider such a step necessary. Subsequently the Bank received £1,000,000 gold from Russia, and some Russian gold also went to Paris. As a result, the previously-existing tension was relieved and discounts in the open market in London at once declined. The following week (on the 24th) the Bank reduced its official minimum from 4 per cent to 3½ per cent, this being the first change since the previous January. On the 25th the Bank of France also lowered its minimum, namely from 3½ to 3 per cent, this being likewise the first change since January. At the close of the month open market rates were lower at all the European centres, being in London 2½@2¾ per cent May 31 against 4½ per cent April 30, in Paris 2¾ per cent against 3½ per cent, and in Berlin and Frankfort 4½ per cent against 4¾ per cent.

The fluctuations in the price of exchange on London were governed mainly by the decline in discounts at that centre. As a result of this decline the difference between the rates for sixty-day bills and those for sight and cable transfers was narrowed, as below.

There was no feature in the money market save its continued ease. Notwithstanding the large outflow of gold to Europe (the exports for the four weeks ending May 26th having, as shown above, reached over ten million dollars), the money holdings of the Clearing-House banks very largely increased. There was a falling off in aggregate holdings in but one week, and that loss was quickly recovered. The gold holdings were $166,712,400 May 26, against $163,468,900 April 28, and the legal tenders $71,252,500, against $66,621,000, making together $237,964,900, against $230,089,900. On account of the increase in deposits the surplus reserve dropped from $17,074,275 April 23 to $15,332,725 May 12, but by May 26th was up to $18,812,325. Loans were expanded from $774,548,600 April 28 to $792,921,000 May 26, and the deposits rose from $852,062,500 to $876,610,300. The payment of $35,000,000 by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. for the Third Avenue Railroad bonds purchased by the firm was made without disturbing rates in the least.

We have already outlined the course of the stock market above, so will only say that while prices were weak most of the time, transactions were not on a large scale, the market being dull and inactive. News regarding the British advance towards Pretoria imparted strength to the market on the last day.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD.

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1900. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. As to prices the form is our own, and we think it will be found to contain just the facts desired by our readers and to present them in the most convenient way for study and reference. All quotations in the column headed "Prices about January 2, 1900," were made on that date except those in italics, which are the nearest in January, 1900.

For foot notes to tables see last page of Bonds and last page of Stocks.

BOSTON STOCK EXCHANGE.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD.

The railroad securities which are active on the New York Stock Exchange are omitted from this list.

In comparing New York and Boston prices, it should be noted that bond prices in New York are flat prices—that is, the price includes the accrued interest, while in Boston accrued interest must be paid in addition to price. It should also be remembered that New York stock prices are per cent while those in Boston are dollars per share.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

—OF—

BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following twenty-seven pages of tables quotations are given for all securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for all leading unlisted and inactive securities for which we have been able to obtain reliable prices.
 2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the last day of May. Of course the coupon, if there be one, maturing between the date of quotation and the date of this publication, is not deducted from the price.
 3. Bond prices marked thus (§) indicate that the purchaser must pay accrued interest in addition to the price given. The method of quoting on the New York Stock Exchange is to quote the prices flat (that is to include the accrued interest in the price), and hence in the tables below no mark is now affixed where this method of quoting is followed.
 4. Stock prices marked thus (†) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices.
 5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.
 6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M." for mortgage; "g." for gold; "g'd." for guaranteed; "end.," for endorsed; "cons.," for consolidated; "conv.," for convertible; "s. f.," for sinking fund; "l. g.," for land grant.
- Notice Change.—We no longer affix a mark to prices quoted flat, but only to those which require payment of accrued interest in addition to the price. Designating mark in this instance is (§).

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

Prices marked (*) are flat prices—that is, the purchaser does not pay accrued interest in addition. In all other cases accrued interest must be added to the price.

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

It should be borne in mind that municipal bonds are not subject to such decided fluctuations in value as are securities which form a basis for speculation
