REVIEW OF OCTOBER.

Contrary to general expectations, a decided reviva of speculative activity occurred on the Stock Exchange. An unusual number of favorable developments furnished the stimulus. In the first place, the political outlook was regarded with increasing confidence. In the second place the anthracite coal strike was removed as a disturbing factor in the situation. In the third place, anxiety regarding the monetary conditions was relieved by a renewal of gold imports and by multiplying evidences that in case of stringency we could command all the outside gold we might want. The Anglo-German compact, providing for maintaining the integrity of the Chinese Empire, was also not without influence, though this applies more to the part played by it in allaying apprehensions in Europe concerning adverse possibilities rather than any direct tangible effect exerted by the news in this country. Of a different nature was the discovery that the First National Bank of this city had been robbed by C. L. Alvord Jr. of $690,000; but this was a special circumstance having no general bearing.

As concerns the political prospects, there were of course no developments which could be taken as furnishing absolute assurance of the re-election of President McKinley. In the nature of things there can be no actual demonstration of the result until election day; but all the advices were of an encouraging nature. So generally was this true that the anxiety previously prevailing as to even a remote possibility of an adverse result almost completely disappeared. Indeed, the general disposition was to think that there would be a landslide in favor of the McKinley ticket. The prevailing feeling of confidence was not changed by the enthusiastic welcome accorded Mr. Bryan on his arrival here on the 16th. The demonstration is admitted to have been an imposing one. The candidate's speeches, however, at Madison Square Garden, at Tammany Hall and at Cooper Union were in form and in substance of such a low order—such a palpable attempt to mislead and deceive—that it was felt their effect must be to weaken him among thinking people. Nor was the second demonstration in his honor on the night of the 27th, given on his return to the city after a tour of New York State, calculated to modify the prevailing estimates of the character of the candidate or of his chances of success. The tremendous outpouring the night before (Friday the 26th) to receive Gov. Roosevelt, the candidate for Vice-President on the McKinley ticket, had made it evident that if the result was to be controlled by such appeals, the managers of the Republican campaign had a constituency to draw upon no less numerous or fervid than did the Democratic leaders.

In the anthracite coal strike the miners did not actually return to work until near the close of the month—that is, not until Monday the 29th; but that the differences would be amicably adjusted was a foregone conclusion from the beginning. At the close of the previous month the operators had offered an increase of 10 per cent in wages and had also agreed to arbitrate any grievances which the miners might present. On October 8th President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers called a convention of the miners at Scranton for October 12 to act on the proposition. After a two days' session the convention on the 13th agreed to accept the terms offered, subject, however, to the condition that the advance was to continue in force until April 1 1901, and that the so-called sliding scale in the Lehigh and Schuylkill regions be abolished. On the 17th the Reading Company posted a notice which was a practical acceptance of these conditions, and subsequently most of the other large companies fell into line. On October 25 President Mitchell issued a notice authorizing the resumption of work on Monday October 29, except in those few cases where the operators had failed to grant the terms asked. About 140,000 men had been in idleness, the few remaining collieries of the Reading Company in the Schuylkill region which were still in operation at the end of September having been forced to shut down early in October.

The engagements of gold for import began on October 9, and quickly reached large dimensions. The European banks, as usual, undertook to retard the movement, the Bank of England raising its price for gold and the Bank of France increasing its premium, though the latter institution later evidently changed its policy and announced its willingness to part with some of the metal. Owing to the country's steadily expanding trade balance, the United States exercises important control over the gold current, and despite the obstacles thrown in the way of the movement gold was drawn from England, from France and from Germany, and in fact from all parts of the world, it being picked up where it could be most advantageously obtained. An instance of the latter kind was the purchase by the National City Bank of $2,600,000 gold in South Africa, furnishing the first consignment of the metal from that country made since the breaking out of the Boer War. The same institution also obtained a small amount of Siamese gold. It is estimated that about 11½ millions was engaged altogether during the month for shipment to New York; the arrivals were about 6 millions. In addition there were large arrivals on the Pacific Coast from Australia, the Yukon, etc., the drafts for much of which reached here and were paid at the Sub-Treasury.

The foreign exchange market may be said to have been weak throughout the month under the large offerings of commercial bills, particularly against shipments of cotton; the outward movement of that staple, previously delayed, was on a heavy scale and was, moreover, at high prices. About the 12th, however, an upward reaction in exchange rates began checking gold engagement for the time being. The change was occasioned by a demand for sight sterling to cover gold imports, by some inquiry for long sterling for investment, and by a demand for sight sterling to remit for stocks sold here for European account. The strength did not last long. Under continued large exports of cotton and also the offering of bills against purchases of stocks for European account, which at this time became a feature, sterling rates by the 24th got down to very low figures again, permitting the resumption of importations of gold. There was an upward reaction again at the close.

The relief to the money market from gold imports was not so much immediate as prospective. On call at the Stock Exchange money on the 22d touched 6 per cent, and on the immediately succeeding days 5 per cent was a not unusual rate; on the 31st the range was 3½ to 4. Time loans remained near the top figure.

Under the increase in speculation sales on the Stock Exchange reached 10,895,083 shares, against 5,169,966 shares in September. Besides the influences above mentioned, the settlement of the Chicago gas war was a favoring circumstance, leading to a sharp upward turn in People's Gas stock. American Sugar Refining stock moved up with the rest of the market, notwithstanding a cut in the price of refined sugar. In the iron and steel stocks National Tube shares were a prominent feature, and the other properties in the group followed this leader, though not all are of equal merit. Throughout the whole list, however—in the railroad shares as in the industrial properties—there were large advances and much animation.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD.

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1900. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. As to prices the form is our own, and we think it will be found to contain just the facts desired by our readers and to present them in the most convenient way for study and reference. All quotations in the column headed "Prices about January 2, 1900," were made on that date except those in italics, which are the nearest in January, 1900.

For foot notes to tables see last page of Bonds and last page of Stocks.

BOSTON STOCK EXCHANGE.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD.

The railroad securities which are active on the New York Stock Exchange are omitted from this list.

In comparing New York and Boston prices, it should be noted that bond prices in New York are flat prices—that is, the price includes the accrued interest, while in Boston accrued interest must be paid in addition to price. It should also be remembered that New York stock prices are per cent while those in Boston are dollars per share.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

—OF— BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following twenty-seven pages of tables quotations are given for all securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for all leading unlisted and inactive securities for which we have been able to obtain reliable prices.
  2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the last day of October. Of course the coupon, if there be one, maturing between the date of quotation and the date of this publication, is not deducted from the price.
  3. Bond prices marked thus (§) indicate that the purchaser must pay accrued interest in addition to the price given. The method of quoting on the New York Stock Exchange is to quote the prices flat (that is to include the accrued interest in the price), and hence in the tables below no mark is now affixed where this method of quoting is followed.
  4. Stock prices marked thus (†) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices.
  5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.
  6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M.," for mortgage; "g.," for gold; "g'd.," for guaranteed; "end.," for endorsed; "cons.," for consolidated; "conv.," for convertible; "s. f.," for sinking fund; "l. g.," for land grant.
- ¶ We no longer affix a mark to prices quoted flat, but only to those which require payment of accrued interest in addition to the price. Designating mark in this instance is (§).

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

Prices marked (*) are flat prices—that is, the purchaser does not pay accrued interest in addition. In all other cases accrued interest must be added to the price. The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price. It should be borne in mind that municipal bonds are not subject to such decided fluctuations in value as are securities which form a basis for speculation.

Large table of state and municipal bonds with columns for Bonds, Bid, Ask, and To Net prices. Categorized by state: ALABAMA, ARIZONA, ARKANSAS, CALIFORNIA, CANADA, COLORADO, and CONNECTICUT.
