REVIEW OF MARCH.

Labor troubles, actual and threatened, were the most prominent feature in affairs during the month of March. Disregarding minor differences there were at least four distinct labor movements of large importance. The first serious difficulty was that at Boston, arising out of the strike of the freight handlers of the New York New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company. As narrated by us at the time, that conflict owed its origin to a difficulty which the R. S. Brine Transportation Company had with its teamsters, resulting in the displacement of all union workmen and the employment of non-union men. This action on the part of the Brine Company led the freight handlers of the New Haven road to decline to handle freight delivered by these non-union teamsters, and on Saturday night March 8 they stopped work. This was followed Monday March 10th by a sympathetic strike involving some 8,000 to 10,000 teamsters, freight handlers and clerks. The movement kept extending day by day, longshoremen, expressmen and various other classes of laborers joining, and the Boston & Albany and the Boston & Maine also becoming involved in addition to the New Haven road. By Thursday, March 13th, some 20,000 men altogether had quit work. On that day, however, mainly through the influence of Governor Crane of Massachusetts, the labor leaders were induced to call off the strike, and on Friday and the succeeding days the strikers gradually went back to work, though more or less friction attended their return.

The cotton-mill situation in New England was also a subject of much controversy, and at times it wore a seriously threatening aspect. The issue at first was confined to the mills at Fall River, but later it was taken up by the operatives at nearly all the other cotton mills in the New England section. At Fall River the Cotton Manufacturers' Association on the 26th of February had announced a voluntary advance in wages of 6 per cent, the increase to become effective April 7th. The operatives insisted on an advance of 10 per cent, and on the 27th Mr. Borden posted notices that he would grant that amount of increase at the mills of the Fall River Iron Works Company, the higher schedule to become operative on the 17th of March. The other mill owners having refused to concede the increase asked, the operatives voted to go on strike on the last-named day. At the last moment a defection of some of the mill owners led to the granting of the full 10-per-cent increase.

A demand for a similar advance now came from the various other mill centres. In some cases the movement was at first resisted; in more cases it was acquiesced in. At New Bedford and in Rhode Island the leading mill owners seem to have acceded to the increase without much objection, the higher pay to date from the 7th of April. At Lowell the request was refused and the Textile Council announced a strike for Monday March 31st. The manufacturers on their part declared that they would close the mills on that day and keep them closed until the men voluntarily agreed to return to work. Through the intervention of a Citizens' Committee the order for a strike was rescinded and the mill owners removed their notices declaring a lockout. It appears that this was done without any agreement for an advance in wages. There seems, however, to have been a sort of understanding that the Citizens' Committee would undertake to exert their influence to secure an increase at the earliest opportunity.

Another labor contention of the month, and unfortunately one which steadily grew in dimensions, was that which occurred at the woolen mills of the American Woolen Company. The strike had its origin with the weavers in the mills at Olneyville and really dates back a good many weeks. The outbreak began with 75 weavers of fancy goods who objected to the use of the double-loom system. These 75 weavers having failed to gain their point, the strike was gradually extended to various other mills of the American Woolen Company. The labor leaders, moreover, threaten to still further extend it until every one of the mills of the American Woolen Company shall be idle. At some of the mills, however, the effort to get the men to join has proved futile.

Still another contention of consequence came up in a wholly different industry, namely the anthracite coal fields. At a joint convention on March 23rd of Districts No. 1, 7 and 9 of the United Mine Workers, declarations were adopted in favor of an eight-hour working day for mine laborers in place of the present ten hours and also in favor of various other changes. In the event of a failure to reach a satisfactory settlement with the companies, the miners were to abstain from work half of each week beginning with the 1st of April. Through the mediation, however, of the National Civic Federation, to whom an appeal had been made, an agreement was reached to defer action for thirty days.

Various developments in connection with the movement against the Northern Securities Company were also among the events of the month. On the 10th the bill of complaint in the action brought under the Sherman Anti-Trust law by the United States Government was filed in the United States Circuit Court for the District of Minnesota. This attracted comparatively little attention, however. Testimony was also taken in the suit brought by Peter Power, as a minority holder of Northern Pacific stock. Mr. J. P. Morgan, Jacob H. Schiff, J. S. Kennedy and various other prominent people were examined. Mr. J. P. Morgan was particularly frank in all his answers and there was evidently no purpose to conceal anything whatever connected with that important affair.

Some anxiety was felt respecting the prospects of the growing winter wheat, owing to long continued drought in certain sections, particularly in the Southwest, but abundant rains the latter part of the month acted to relieve apprehensions. This was followed by a sharp decline in the price of wheat.

The trend of prices on the New York Stock Exchange during the month may be said to have been upward, notwithstanding the many unsettling influences noted. On the 10th the severe British reverse experience in South Africa and the Boston labor difficulties narrated above made the market weak. There were also downward reactions at other times, but comparing closing prices with the lowest prices reached early in the month, a very substantial advance is shown in most cases. In some of the specialties very sharp upward movements occurred. An increase in the dividend on Southern Railway preferred stock to a basis of 5 per cent was one of the events of the month.

In the money market the ease of the previous month gave place to much firmer rates. On call at the Stock Exchange 5 per cent was frequently obtained the latter part. The money holdings of the Clearing House banks were heavily reduced, but the last week a small portion of the loss was recovered. In surplus reserves the improvement began earlier, owing to a noteworthy contraction in loans, with the resulting diminution of deposit liabilities. Secretary of the United States Treasury Shaw suspended further bond purchases at the close of business on Saturday, March the 15th.

Foreign exchange rates were pretty well maintained throughout the month. The outflow of gold ceased after some early shipments, but sterling rates still remained close to the gold-export point and a resumption of gold shipments was regarded as probable at any moment.

§ Less than 100 shares. a Ex-rights. b Ex-dividend and rights. c Trust Co. certificates d Anaconda Mining now quoted per cent.
NOTE.—On March 31 the Stock Exchange began quoting mining shares having a par value of over $10 on a per cent basis instead of dollars per share. Mining shares with a par value of less than $10 are still quoted in the old way, that is, per share.

BOSTON STOCK EXCHANGE.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD.

The railroad securities which are active on the New York Stock Exchange are omitted from this list.

In comparing New York and Boston prices, it should be noted that bond prices in New York are flat prices—that is, the price includes the accrued interest, while in Boston accrued interest must be paid in addition to price. It should also be remembered that New York stock prices are per cent while those in Boston are dollars per share.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

—OF— BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following twenty-seven pages of tables quotations are given for all securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for all leading unlisted and inactive securities for which we have been able to obtain reliable prices.

2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the last day of March. Of course the coupon if there be one, maturing between the date of quotation and the date of this publication, is not deducted from the price.

3. Bond prices marked thus (§) indicate that the purchaser must pay accrued interest in addition to the price given. The method of quoting on the New York Stock Exchange is to quote the prices flat (that is to include the accrued interest in the price), and hence in the tables below no mark is now affixed where this method of quoting is followed.

4. Stock prices marked thus (†) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices.

5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M." for mortgage; "g." for gold; "g'd." for guaranteed; "end." for endorsed; "cons." for consolidated; "conv." for convertible; "s. f." for sinking fund; "l. g." for land grant; "op." for optional.

7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest periods indicates in each case the month when the bonds mature.

8. We no longer affix a mark to prices quoted flat, but only to those which require payment of accrued interest in addition to the price. Designating mark in this instance is (§).

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

Prices marked (*) are flat prices—that is, the purchaser does not pay accrued interest in addition. In all other cases accrued interest must be added to the price.

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities, if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

It should be borne in mind that municipal bonds are not subject to such decided fluctuations in value as are securities which form a basis for speculation.
