REVIEW OF NOVEMBER.

Severe liquidation on the Stock Exchange marked the course of affairs during November. This liquidation was encouraged—in fact might be said forced—by the banks, and was looked upon with favor in financial circles. In his speech October 31 at a dinner of the Chamber of Commerce in Wilmington, Delaware, Mr. F. A. Vanderlip, formerly Assistant Secretary of the U. S. Treasury and now one of the Vice-Presidents of the National City Bank, sounded what he was pleased to call “a conservative note of warning,” and declared that “this was not a time for the expansion of bank credits.” A similar attitude was manifested by bankers at the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association held at New Orleans on the 11th, 12th and 13th of the month. Comptroller Ridgely in particular cited elaborate statistics to show that while there had been an enormous expansion in deposits during the last five years, there had been no corresponding increase in the cash holdings of the banks in the same period, and that reserves were low.

The decline in stock prices extended through the whole of the first half of the month and at times was so precipitous that the market bordered on panic. The pools in certain stocks were undoubtedly compelled to unload a portion of their holdings. Many observers had thought that with the fear regarding the outcome of the November elections removed, some improvement in stock values would result, particularly as the anthracite coal miners had returned to work and the extreme stringency in the money market had been relieved. Instead, liquidation continued with increasing severity after the election, and in numerous instances the lowest prices of the year were recorded between the 10th and the 14th. The fact that foreign exchange rates ruled high, threatening a gold outflow, did not tend to improve the situation.

After the first half of the month, however, some sharp recoveries ensued and the general tone of the market was very much better. This change was in large measure occasioned by a pronounced upward movement in Manhattan Elevated stock, which rose from 132 on the 12th to 158 on the 24th. The reason for the advance transpired later in the announcement that the road was to be leased to the Interborough Rapid Transit Company on the basis of 7 per cent dividends per annum after January 1 1906 and also that Manhattan stock was to be increased and that stockholders were to have the privilege of taking the new stock pro rata at par. The early reports had hinted at a much broader arrangement—that is a guaranty by New York Central and even Pennsylvania Railroad. As a result of these early rumors, both New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad shares enjoyed a considerable recovery coincident with the upward flight of Elevated stock, and tone and strength were given for a time to the whole market. When it was seen that the arrangement was to be confined to these two city transit companies, somewhat of a disappointment was felt and the market reacted again.

There were also some other disappointing developments which weakened the market. At one time it seemed as if the anthracite coal miners and the coal companies would reach an agreement for a settlement of their disputes outside the action of the Anthracite Commission. The individual operators, however, took a pronounced stand against any such movement (which the Commission itself seemed anxious to encourage) and the proposition was finally dropped. Not a little stress was laid, too, on some differences that developed between the Gould people and the Hawley-Harriman interests regarding the call for proxies in connection with the coming election of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company. Some emphatic statements were made, each party issuing a call for proxies on its own account as a result of the dispute, and all the surface indications pointed to the existence of considerable friction.

One of the events of the month was the announcement by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company that, taking effect November 1 1902, an advance of 10 per cent was to be made in the wages of all employees permanently in the service of the company east of Pittsburg who were earning less than $200 per month. The cost of this step to the Pennsylvania Railroad, it was calculated, would be several million dollars a year, and the Western lines of the Pennsylvania were later also included in the arrangement. As a consequence many other railroads found it incumbent to make advances in wages. There was at the same time considerable talk to the effect that the railroads would attempt to seek compensation by advancing freight rates. Just how far advances in rates are contemplated cannot be said. Many of the changes actually announced were simply the increases in rates which are usual upon the close of water navigation.

Another important event of the month was a further decline in silver to the lowest point on record. The price in London on the 27th touched 21 11-16 pence per ounce, with a recovery on the 29th to 21 15 16 pence. The price had been steadily tending downward for some time, and the fall was hastened by intimations that the British Government contemplated the establishment of a gold basis in the Straits Settlements and in the neighboring Malay States. There were also suggestions that Mexico would be obliged before long to adopt the gold standard, and from Siam came the news that that country had closed her mint to the free coinage of silver for the first time in her history, and that the gold-standard plan had become a law.

There was no renewal of stringency in the money market, but money rates were by no means easy, and some large payments had to be provided for in connection with the new stock issues of the Illinois Central and Baltimore & Ohio. In certain quarters it was believed that the money market would again work closer, especially as the U. S. Treasury appeared to be again absorbing money from the banks. The appearance of the first of December Treasury statements shows that the addition to the Treasury holdings during the month was comparatively slight, the total of cash in Sub Treasuries rising from $294,466,478 to $294,773,944. The Secretary continued to accept municipal bonds in substitution for United States bonds as security for Government deposits, and the total of these deposits was further added to, the amount rising from $146,885,013 to $148,911,318.

Foreign exchange rates saw-sawed a good deal during the month, hovering all the time, however, pretty close to the export point. On several occasions it seemed as if gold would be taken for export, but no shipments actually occurred.

We have already indicated the course of the stock market in the remarks above. The aggregate of the sales for the month reached 17,126,062 shares. In the case of some stocks the fluctuations were unusually wide. Milwaukee & St. Paul common belongs in this class, having dropped from 189½ November 1 to 169 November 14, and closing November 29 at 176¾.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD.

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past months and the year 1903. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. As to prices the form is our own, and we think it will be found to contain just the facts desired by our readers and to present them in the most convenient way for study and reference. All quotations in the column headed "Prices about January 2, 1902," were made on that date except those in italics, which are the nearest in January, 1902. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

For foot notes to tables see last page of Bonds and last page of Stocks.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

—OF— BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following twenty-seven pages of tables quotations are given for all securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for all leading unlisted and inactive securities for which we have been able to obtain reliable prices.
  2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the last day of November. Of course the coupon if there be one, maturing between the date of quotation and the date of this publication, is not deducted from the price.
  3. Bond prices marked thus (§) indicate that the purchaser must pay accrued interest in addition to the price given. The method of quoting on the New York Stock Exchange is to quote the prices flat (that is to include the accrued interest in the price), and hence in the tables below no mark is now affixed where this method of quoting is followed.
  4. Stock prices marked thus (†) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices.
  5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.
  6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M." for mortgage; "g." for gold; "g'd." for guaranteed; "end.," for endorsed; "cons.," for consolidated; "conv.," for convertible; "s. f.," for sinking fund; "l. g.," for land grant; "op." for optional.
  7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest periods indicates in each case the month when the bonds mature.
- ✂ We no longer affix a mark to prices quoted flat, but only to those which require payment of accrued interest in addition to the price. Designating mark in this instance is (§).

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (*).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities, if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations for the stocks of banks and trust companies are given per share, not per cent, with the exception of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian bank stocks.

Prices marked thus (*) indicate sales. The dagger (†) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Where names of the banks are printed in italics, fuller returns may be found in the advertising columns in the front part of the paper.
