ONE ST. CORNER OF PEARL ST., NEW YORK.

REVIEW OF MARCH.

A number of events of large importance occurred during March. The one of paramount influence of course was the decision by the United States Supreme Court in the case of the Northern Securities Company, upon the outcome of which so much was dependent. A second development was the failure of Daniel J. Sully & Co. and the resulting collapse in the speculation in the cotton market, which had been carried on so long. A third incident was the amicable adjustment of the differences between miners and operators in the bituminous coal regions, averting a great labor conflict which it had been feared would take place on the 1st of April.

The decision in the Northern Securities Company case, though it was adverse to the acquisition of the stocks of the Northern Pacific Railway Company and the Great Northern Railway Company, did not produce any such disturbances as had been apprehended. There was no break in prices on the Stock Exchange; on the contrary, a sharp recovery ensued. The explanation of this unexpected state of things is to be found in the circumstance that the hopeful and encouraging aspects of the decision were decidedly more in evidence than those of the opposite nature. In the first place, the decision was that of a divided Court, five members ruling against the company, while four members dissented. In the second place, out of the five members on the majority side, one, Justice Brewer, concurred in the judgment but not in the reasoning of his colleagues. Justice Brewer had been with the majority in the decision against the Trans-Missouri Freight Association, and in concurring in the judgment in the present case was moved to say that while a further examination had not disturbed his conviction that the earlier case had been correctly decided, yet he felt that in some respects the reasons given for that earlier judgment could not be sustained. Instead of holding that the Anti-Trust Act of 1890 included all contracts, reasonable or unreasonable, in restraint of inter-State trade, the ruling should have been that the contracts there presented were unreasonable restraints of inter-State trade and as such within the scope of the Act. He put this concurrence in the judgment against the Securities Company on the same ground, namely that its acts could not be regarded a reasonable or lawful restraint of trade.

The minority Justices, in separate opinions, went even further than Justice Brewer, saying "that Congress was without power to regulate the acquisition and ownership of the stock in question (that of the Northern Pacific Railway and the Great Northern Railway) by the Northern Securities Company" and even if there was such power in Congress, it had not been exercised by the Anti-Trust Act. The four dissenting Justices comprised two members, namely Justice Peckham and Justice Fuller, who had voted with the majority in the Trans Missouri Freight Association and the Joint Traffic Association cases. Altogether, it appeared that the views of several members of the Court had undergone important modifications since the earlier decisions—that the inclination now was to give a broader and less narrow interpretation to the 1890 Anti-Trust Law, and last, and most important of all, that the community-of-interest idea, which had done so much to promote peace in the railroad world, could not successfully be attacked. This left the situation wholly different from what it was supposed it would be in case of an adverse judgment; as that fact gradually dawned upon the public mind, business men began to take new hope, and great activity at rising prices developed on the Stock Exchange.

The failure of Daniel J. Sully & Co. came quite unexpectedly on Friday, the 18th. The price of cotton had been declining quite heavily just before the failure, and finding himself unable to raise additional money to continue the speculation, Mr. Sully was obliged to announce his suspension. The price of the May option had advanced from 15.24 cents on March 1 to 16.65 cents on the 11th; in the break on the 18th the quotation got down to 12.65 cents (a decline, as will be seen, in a single week of 4 cents a lb.); from this there was a recovery to 15.28 cents on the 26th, with a reaction to 14.50 on the 29th, and the close on March 31 was at 15.04 cents. The ginning report of the U. S. Government, showing a crop of somewhat over 10,000,000 bales, was construed as a favorable influence, though it completely falsified Mr. Sully's prediction, he having estimated the crop at only 9,500,000 bales. The course of spot prices in this market was from 15.35 cents February 29 and 15.60 March 1 to 16.65 cents March 9, with a drop to 14.1 cents March 22d; and the close March 31 was at 15.35 cents.

As regards the settlement in the bituminous coal regions, this was a happy adjustment of a situation which at one time promised to have a serious outcome. Owing to the depression in the trade, bituminous coal operators had determined upon a 15-per-cent reduction in wages. Eventually, however, a compromise was reached on a basis of a reduction of only 5 per cent, but the arrangement to cover a period of two years, and this the miners finally decided to accept by a vote of 98,514 against 67,373. In the building trades in this city the developments were not so favorable, a strike of the bricklayers and laborers occurring. A favorable incident was the continued improvement in the iron and steel trades.

The stock market was extremely dull up to the time of the rendering of the decision in the Northern Securities Company case, with the volume of business at the lowest ebb reached for a long time past. After the announcement of that decision, and as its purport became better understood, great activity developed, attended by a marked and general rise in prices. From a total of only 74,403 shares dealt in on the 10th, there was an increase in business until on the 22d the day's transactions amounted to 1,052,245 shares and on the 23d to 1,338,747 shares. On reports of a hitch in the negotiations between the Harriman Union Pacific interests and the Morgan-Hill people the volume of business then fell off and there was also some recession in prices, but towards the close of the month business again increased and the upward movement in prices was resumed.

In the money market continued ease prevailed. On the 3d of the month the Secretary of the Treasury notified the depository banks outside of the city that they would have to surrender 20 per cent of their deposits by the 25th of the month, the amount being transferred to the specially designated banks in this city, and the New York City banks were likewise directed to transfer 20 per cent of their deposits to the same bank.

The foreign exchange market remained strong throughout the month, with rates for sterling close to the gold-export point. There were no exports of gold to Europe, but $4,250,000 was sent to the Argentine Republic, mostly on London account. It was suggested that the strength of the market was due to the prospective payments on account of the Panama Canal, but nothing definite developed as to the precise nature of the demand. The latter half of the month a supply of drafts came on the market against purchases of securities here on European account, following the announcement of the decision by the United States Supreme Court in the merger case. These drafts, however, were quickly absorbed.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD.

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1903. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. As to prices the form is our own, and we think it will be found to contain just the facts desired by our readers and to present them in the most convenient way for study and reference. All quotations in the column headed "Prices about January 2, 1904," were made on that date, except those in italics, which are the nearest in January, 1903. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

For foot notes to tables see last page of Bonds and last page of Stocks.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

—OF— BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following twenty-eight pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.
2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the last day of March. Of course the coupon, if there be one, maturing between the date of quotation and the date of this publication, is not deducted from the price.
3. Bond prices marked (§) indicate that the purchaser must pay accrued interest in addition to the price given. The method of quoting on the New York Stock Exchange is to quote the price flat (that is to include the accrued interest in the price), and hence in the tables below no mark is now affixed where this method of quoting is followed.
4. Stock prices marked thus (†) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.
5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.
6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz: "M." for mortgage, "g." for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end." for endorsed, "cons." for consolidated, "conv." for convertible, "s.f." for sinking fund, "l.g." for land grant, "op." for optional.
7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (*).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities, if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations for the stocks of banks and trust companies are given per share, not per cent, with the exception of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian bank stocks.

Prices marked thus (*) indicate sales. The dagger (†) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Where names of the banks are printed in italics, fuller returns may be found in the advertising columns in the front part of the paper.
