REVIEW OF DECEMBER.

Conditions during December were in the main typical of those which ruled almost through the whole of the year 1906. General trade remained in a state of great activity—apparently, too, very prosperous—yet, on the Stock Exchange there was extensive liquidation and the market was more or less in a state of depression. It is rather noteworthy that the circumstances which furnish the clearest indication of the active state of trade, namely the plans for the raising of new money by the railroads, should have served most to unsettle Stock Exchange values. These new capital creations during the month were really of very large dimensions, and as they came in quick succession, it was, perhaps, not surprising that the effect should not have been exactly exhilarating; besides, the calls came at a time when continued stringency still prevailed in the money market. The Great Northern Railway was the first to make public its plan. This provides for the raising of $60,000,000 of cash through the sale at par of $60,000,000 of new stock, payment for the subscriptions to be extended over a long period, beginning with January 1907 and terminating with April 1908. Then came the Northern Pacific proposition for issuing $95,000,000 of additional stock, payments in this case to extend until January 1909. Shortly thereafter the Milwaukee & St. Paul Co. gave out its plan for providing funds to build its Pacific Coast extension. This will call for $100,000,000 additional stock (two-thirds preferred shares and one-third common shares), the final payment not being due until March 1909. Then the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe, the Norfolk & Western, the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, and some other companies, issued notices in connection with proposed new capital issues. In the case of the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Milwaukee & St. Paul, the privilege to take the additional stock at par constitutes an exceedingly valuable right, but despite that fact the shares sharply declined. As it happened, too, a suit to enjoin the issue of the $60,000,000 stock by the Great Northern Railway was begun by the Attorney-General of Minnesota, while in the Milwaukee & St. Paul case there was some dissatisfaction on the part of the small shareholders because the terms of the offer as at first drawn up did not grant the right of participation to fractional parts—which objection, however, was later removed. Perhaps it will be a surprise to many persons to hear that in the great majority of cases stock prices at the close of the year were lower than at the beginning. The statement is in strict consonance with the fact. There are, of course, a good many exceptions to the rule, particularly of share properties where dividends have been raised, but except where special influences of one kind or another have come in, the course of values in most of the months (though not in all) was downward. On succeeding pages, in our detailed record of Stock Exchange transactions, will be found the highest and lowest prices for the twelve months in the case of every stock and bond in which there were any transactions, together with the opening and closing quotations. To furnish, however, an indication at a glance of the course of stock values during the year we give here the following:

RANGE OF LEADING STOCKS IN 1906.

Table with columns: Stock Name, Opening, Lowest, Highest, Closing. Rows include Trunk Lines, Coal Roads, Western and Pacific, Southern Roads, and Miscellaneous.

a Par value is $50 per share and price is dollars per share; not per cent. Voting trustee certificates stamped extended. c Ex-rights. d Ex-certificates of beneficial interest in ore properties. e First dealt in "when issued" April 26.

It will be seen that, as a rule, the highest figures were reached in the early months of the year, while the lowest figures pretty generally were made in May or some later month. As to the volume of business, the sales for the twelve months appear to have been somewhat larger than for the calendar year preceding.

VOLUME OF BUSINESS ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Table with columns: Month, 1906, 1905, 1904, 1903. Rows include Stock sales, Bond sales, and Total b'd sales.

SALES OF GRAIN ON THE PRODUCE EXCHANGE.

Table with columns: Month, 1906, 1905, 1904, 1903. Rows include Month of December and Jan. 1 to Dec. 31.

Union Pacific was the most active stock on the list, dealings in it having aggregated for the twelve months 35,980,930 shares. The stock sold at 138 1/2 in May, got up to 195 3/8 in September, after the raising of dividends to a 10% basis, and closed Dec. 31 at 180 1/4.

The money market in December was a duplicate of that for most of the other months of the year. Extremely high figures were reached on call, while in the case of time money, the commission which had to be paid brought the rate for all the nearer maturities considerably above the legal rate.

RATES FOR MONEY IN NEW YORK WEEKLY.

Table with columns: Call Loans, Time Loans, Commercial Paper. Rows include Stock Exchange, Average for week, At banks and trust companies, etc.

The foreign exchange market was weak almost continuously throughout December, and sharp declines in rates occurred. The low prices would have warranted large gold engagements, except that it was felt that the Bank of England in the weakened condition of its reserves would be obliged further to increase its rate to 7%.

ACTUAL RATES - BANKERS' AND COMMERCIAL BILLS.

Table with columns: Bankers' Bills, Commercial Bills. Rows include Dec. 1, 2, 3, etc., with various rates.

a Sales were made at 4 3/8. b Sales were made at 4 1/2. c Sales were made at 4 3/4.
