REVIEW OF MARCH.

March 1907 will always be remembered for the world-wide disturbance of the markets. In this country the distrust and lack of confidence in the value of railroad properties which had been steadily growing more intense culminated on March 14 in one of the worst collapses in prices on the New York Stock Exchange of which there is any record. There had been a long antecedent decline, but on that day prices simply melted away—in some cases dropping five points at a time. Every one seemed to want to sell, and practically no one wanted to buy. The "shorts" were about the only purchasers, and they bought in their own way and upon their own terms. In some respects the collapse was worse even than that at the time of the memorable Northern Pacific corner in May 1901.

The next day, March 15, a concerted effort was apparently made to check any further precipitate downward movement and prevent utter ruin, and there were rumors of an agreement whereby leading interests stood ready to advance $25,000,000 in the effort to give support and stay the decline. What truth there was in this rumor is not known, but a sharp recovery in prices ensued. The next week, however, it became apparent that the recovery was not enduring. Prices again ran off in an alarming way. The European financial markets were as much disturbed as our own, and on March 21 the Bank of France unexpectedly advanced its rate of discount from 3 to 3½%, being the first change made by it since May 24 1900. The effect was to further unsettle our own markets. On March 22 a sudden big drop in Canadian Pacific shares, which previously had held up rather better than the rest of the market, was reflected the next day in panicky markets in Berlin, where considerable amounts of these and other American railroad shares are held, and a very anxious frame of mind was engendered both at Berlin and London. At the latter point there were fears that the settlement the following week might reveal great weakness. The result of all this was a tremendous outpour of stocks on our Exchange the following Monday, March 25, under which prices again crumbled away in the same fashion as on March 14, and in numerous instances even lower quotations were recorded. Subsequently a fair upward reaction took place. A very important element in this improvement was the fact that the troubles feared at the settlement in London did not develop. The failures were small and unimportant, and at Berlin also the embarrassments were inconsequential.

A feature of the tremendous liquidation and shrinkage in prices on our Exchange which will always remain noteworthy is that it was unattended by any failures on our Stock Exchange. As the drop in prices was ascribed to the lack of confidence in the stability of railroad values, and as this in turn was the outgrowth of governmental and legislative action deemed adverse to railroad interests, great efforts were made all through the month to get President Roosevelt to make announcement of a modification of his policy, or at least to indicate that no injury to the security and stability of railroad properties was intended. Mr. J. P. Morgan called on the President March 11, before taking his customary annual tour to Europe, and after his visit stated that he had suggested to Mr. Roosevelt the advisability of his consulting with certain leading railroad men, naming President Mellen of the New York New Haven & Hartford RR., President Marvin Hughitt of the Chicago & North Western, President Newman of the New York Central and President McCrea of the Pennsylvania RR. Mr. Morgan sailed for Europe two days subsequently. It was thought at first that he had arranged for a conference between these men and the President. It later developed that this was not the case, that Mr. Morgan's proposal was simply in the nature of a suggestion, and that the railroad men referred to were not a party to it. Nevertheless, they subsequently met together. In the absence, however, of a special invitation from Mr. Roosevelt, they seemed to be at a loss what to do, and late Friday, March 15, the announcement was definitely made that it had been decided not to go to Washington, as it was not clear that any good would result from the move, while it might be misinterpreted.

The failure of this expected conference with the President was in large part responsible for the break in prices which occurred. Mr. Mellen subsequently made a personal call on Mr. Roosevelt, and later Mr. Hughitt also paid him a visit, and all through the month Mr. Roosevelt was in receipt of calls from leading bankers and financiers. The President was urged particularly to take advantage of the opportunity to define his views on the railroad situation offered in an invitation which had been extended to him to make a speech before the Illinois Manufacturers' Association at Springfield, Ill. In response to these entreaties, the President on April 1 finally authorized a public declaration to the effect that, after considering the matter very carefully, he had come to the conclusion that he had nothing new of moment to say on the railway situation, and referred to past speeches and remarks in his annual messages for an adequate expression of his views. Apropos, however, of the reports which had been so extensively circulated, that the Government contemplated a valuation of railroad property with the view of determining whether there was any fictitious capitalization in the same, the President's declaration was significant, as it contained the statement that it was "utter nonsense" to suppose "that the Government had the slightest intention to take any action which would invalidate the safety and stability of the railway securities now issued."

The condition of the money market gave more or less cause for uneasiness. On March 14 call money on the Stock Exchange got up to 25%. In part, of course, this followed from the frightful shrinkage of prices on the Stock Exchange, which necessitated extensive shifting of loans, but in part also it was due to the steady absorption of cash by the Government, thereby depleting available supplies of money in the channels of business. There was a disposition at Washington to treat the trouble in the stock market as having been engineered by Wall Street. Nevertheless, Secretary Cortelyou, who had just entered on the duties of Secretary of the Treasury, was obliged to take repeated steps to get out Treasury accumulations and remove the tenseness of money. The Aldrich Currency Bill became a law March 4 and increased the Secretary's power for furnishing effective relief. On March 14 Mr. Cortelyou announced that the date for the return of the $30,000,000 public deposits placed with the banks the previous September had been indefinitely postponed. March 14 he also issued a circular rescinding the circular of Feb. 11 providing for the purchase of 4s of 1907 at 101½, and announced that he would purchase $25,000,000 of these bonds, paying interest in full to July 1 1907. He also gave notice that he would allow the substitution for any of these bonds held against special deposits of any bonds in which New York or Massachusetts savings banks are allowed to invest their funds. He also directed that the interest due April 1 on the registered 2s of 1903 and the 4s of 1907 should be paid at once. Finally, on March 26 he ordered the turning back into the New York City banks of customs dues paid at New York to a total of $15,000,000.

The foreign exchange market was weak most of the month. The principal influences were the monetary tension here and the offerings of bills against European purchases of American securities. Europe all through the month was apprehensive of large gold takings for the United States, but our bankers acted very cautiously and the only gold engagements were $1,000,000 in Amsterdam and $1,625,000 in London.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1906. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. As to prices the form is our own, and we think it will be found to contain just the facts desired by our readers and to present them in the most convenient way for study and reference. All quotations in the column headed "Prices about January 2 1907" were made on that date, except those in italics, which are the nearest in January 1907. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

For foot notes to tables see last page of Bonds and last page of stocks.

OF BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.
2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. Of course the coupon, if there be one, maturing between the date of quotation and the date of this publication, is not deducted from the price.
3. Bond prices marked (a) indicate that the purchaser must pay accrued interest in addition to the price given. The method of quoting on the New York Stock Exchange is to quote the price flat (that is, to include the accrued interest in the price), and hence in the tables below no mark is now affixed where this method of quoting is followed.
4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.
5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.
6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.
7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (*).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities, if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing-House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

ALABAMA—Nat. banks last call Mar. 22; State institutions latest returns.
