REVIEW OF NOVEMBER.

After the financial cataclysm in October the course during November was towards recuperation and recovery. In the early part the situation continued highly disturbed, and means to bring about a restoration of confidence still engaged the attention of banking and financial men. The chief points needing fortifying were the trust companies, since the runs on the Trust Company of America and the Lincoln Trust Company remained unabated. The papers Sunday morning, November 3, contained the disturbing announcement that the President had been urged to call Congress in extra session not only to enact financial legislation but to provide for Federal control of corporations in accordance with the President's previous suggestions. The Saturday bank statement (November 2) had been a very poor one, showing the largest deficit in reserve requirements ever reported up to that time, namely $38,838,825. With clamorous depositors still besieging the two institutions named, the situation remained critical if not dangerous.

On Monday, Nov. 4, it appeared that the proposition to call an extra session of Congress had been disposed of adversely the previous Friday, and it also developed that definite plans were being matured for dealing comprehensively with trust company affairs. Banking interests had held conferences almost continuously on Sunday and Sunday night at the home of J. Pierpont Morgan and at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, the last of these conferences not breaking up until 5 a. m. Monday. The plan decided upon provided for co-operation of the trust companies as a whole in support of the two embarrassed institutions, a majority of the stock of each to be placed under the control of a committee of the Presidents of the strongest and most conservative trust companies in the city. The intervention of the Election holiday, Tuesday, gave time to mature these plans and early Wednesday morning it was definitely announced that the plan would be carried out and that the necessary financial arrangements had been made to enable both companies to proceed with their business. As part of the scheme of relief, and to vitalize certain collateral pledged as security for loans held by various financial institutions throughout the city, the United States Steel Corporation agreed to purchase a majority of the capital stock of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & RR. Co., agreeing also to take on the same terms the minority interest in the stock, the total amount of which outstanding was $33,067,900 common and $248,300 preferred. H. C. Frick and E. H. Gary had on Monday gone to Washington to assure President Roosevelt that the act would not be an infringement of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law and apparently got the President to coincide in this view. The Steel Corporation gave its sinking fund 5% bonds for Tennessee Coal & Iron stock on the basis of 84 for the bonds in exchange for stock at 100.

These measures of relief served definitely to clear up the local financial situation and from that time on there was steady improvement, notwithstanding the disturbed state of things in Europe as the result of the large engagements of gold for the United States. The Bank of England rate of discount, which had, October 31, been advanced from 4½ to 5½%, was raised Monday November 4 to 6%, and Thursday November 7 to 7%, this last being the highest figure reached since our panic of 1873, when, however, the English Bank rate finally touched 9%. The Bank of Germany, after having raised its rate October 29 from 5½ to 6½%, on November 8 advanced still further to 7½%. The Bank of Belgium and other banks also advanced their rates to stiff figures and the Bank of France to 4.

On Sunday November 17 the authorities at Washington announced still further measures of relief. They had been seeking in every way to stimulate an increase in national-bank circulation, and with the same end in view it was determined to put out another $50,000,000 of the Panama Canal 2% loan, and also to issue $100,000,000 (or as much as might be necessary) of one-year 3% certificates of indebtedness authorized by the Spanish War Act of 1898. Mr. Roosevelt addressed a letter to Secretary Cortelyou approving these steps and noted that the proceeds could be "at once deposited where the greatest need exists, and more especially in the West and South, where the crops have to be moved." The proposal to issue the 3% certificates was sharply criticised as involving heavy withdrawals from the banks in payment for the subscriptions to the new issue at a time when such an operation would be peculiarly disturbing. The Treasury Department finally agreed to allow banks desiring to avail of the Treasury certificates for increasing their circulation to retain 75% of the purchase price, the amount to be secured by collateral to be approved by the Secretary, and also announced that in cases where the Canal bonds were awarded to national banks the latter would be allowed to retain 90% as a deposit of Federal funds. Proposals for the Canal bonds were invited up to November 30, and for the Treasury certificates beginning November 18. No official figures were given out before the close of the month to show the subscriptions or allotments of the latter, but it was understood that the amount issued was relatively small.

The increase in the aggregate of bank notes outstanding secured by bonds during November was $47,428,394, and the engagements of gold for import during October and November fell very little short of $100,000,000—being, roughly, $98,000,000. The arrivals of gold were about $65,000,000. The Bank of France repeated its action of last year in buying sterling bills on a considerable scale in London and sending the gold in payment to that centre, and also released gold for direct shipment to the United States, though the unusually high premium of 6 per mille had to be paid for the metal. The release of this French gold is understood to have been the outcome of the efforts to that end of Mr. J. P. Morgan through his Paris branch. The large additions to money supplies in the ways noted served eventually to reduce the premium paid for cash, which earlier in the month had been 3@4%; but the premium did not disappear altogether, the quotation Saturday November 30 being ½@1¼%. Among the events of the month in banking circles were the suicide of Charles T. Barney, former President of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, and Howard Maxwell, President of the International Trust Company of Manhattan, and former President of the Borough Bank of Brooklyn.

As a result of the large gold arrivals and the increase in national-bank circulation the condition of the money market greatly improved, but there was by no means a return to a normal basis. Owing to the heavy shipments to the country banks, the money holdings of the Clearing-House institutions kept steadily diminishing until the very last week (when some increase was noted), notwithstanding the large gold arrivals; the deficit below the 25% reserve was increased to $54,103,600 Nov. 23 and was $52,989,425 Nov. 30.

The stock market was very weak until the last few days of the month, when a very pronounced upward reaction was brought about. Enormous transfers of shares in small lots were reported by nearly all the prominent railroad companies—night work or extra sets of clerks being necessary in many instances to take care of the additional labor involved therein—but this did not serve to check the downward course of values from week to week.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS OF BONDS AND STOCKS.

- 1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.
2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue.
3. Bond prices marked (a) indicate that the purchaser must pay accrued interest in addition to the price given.
4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.
5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.
6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.
7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.
