REVIEW OF DECEMBER.

December may be said to have been a month of slow convalescence; and though normal conditions were by no means restored, considerable progress towards recovery was made. Perhaps the best indication of the advance towards better conditions is the fact that the premium on currency, or cash money, was steadily reduced, and by the end of the month had almost vanished. At the same time the position of the Clearing House banks was greatly improved, as a result of the continued importations of gold, and possibly, also, of the return to the banks and other financial institutions of hoarded stocks of money. Both the Comptroller of the Currency at Washington and the State Superintendent of Banking at Albany made calls for reports of the condition of the banks—the former of the national institutions and the latter of the State banks and trust companies—and the character of these returns did much to remove any latent distrust that may have remained regarding the strength and soundness of the country's banking institutions. It is to be noted, too, that on the expiration of the sixty days' notice of intention to withdraw deposits which the savings banks required in October at the time of the panic, very few of the depositors availed of the option.

There were a few more failures of financial institutions, among which, perhaps, the most important was that of the National Bank of Commerce of Kansas City, but these had been regarded as inevitable, and tended, when they happened, to clear up the situation rather than to create additional distrust. The suspension of Whitney, Stephenson & Company in Pittsburgh, though occasioning much regret on account of the high reputation of the concern, was similarly regarded as reflecting simply the involved situation and industrial affairs at that great industrial centre. Treating New York City as the keystone to the whole financial structure, the important fact as the month progressed was the steady and marked improvement in the condition of the New York City Clearing House banks. On Nov. 23 the banks showed a deficiency below the required reserves in the extraordinary amount of $54,103,600. Thereafter, however, there was noteworthy improvement each week, and by December 28 the deficiency had been reduced to $20,170,350. Money holdings in the same five weeks increased from $215,851,100 to $242,561,000.

The stock market was rather slow to respond to the improvement in the financial situation, and evidenced more or less weakness at times. It is noteworthy, however, that few of the standard stocks recorded lower figures in December than at the time of the great upheaval in October and November. New York Central and Missouri Pacific are special exceptions. The former dropped to below 90 and was weak, notwithstanding the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend at the rate of 6% per annum, an unfavorable view being taken of the company's preliminary annual statement for the year. The Missouri Pacific, on the other hand, declined because the company, though declaring the usual semi-annual dividend of 2½%, decided to pay in stock, as distribution in cash was deemed inadvisable. As far as the general list is concerned, there was a decided exhibition of strength in the closing days of the month, and there was then also a considerable increase in activity.

The month closed one of the most noteworthy years in Stock Exchange history. In the magnitude and extent of the declines recorded it has had few if any parallels. On succeeding pages of this publication we furnish the range for every stock and bond listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange—for the twelve months as well as for December. In order to furnish, however, a graphic summary of the extent of the decline in prices which has occurred, we furnish here a summary showing the opening, the lowest and highest, and the closing prices for leading groups of stocks. In this way the disastrous nature of the collapse in values is revealed at a glance, and it is also seen that no class of properties was exempt in the general slump.

In the money market, the two features in the situation which indicated an advance towards better conditions were the gradual though slow disappearance of the premium on currency and the fact that some little business was again done in time loans, even though at high figures. As far as call loans on the Stock Exchange are concerned, there was evidence of a more or less urgent inquiry for funds by borrowers, which inquiry was increased, and also made more difficult to satisfy, on account of the large demand in connection with the 1st of January payments. At times during the month 25% was paid for call loans on the Exchange, and on the closing day, Dec. 31, the range was 8@18%. Quotations for time loans then were 12% for 30-day periods, 10% for 60 to 90 days and 6% for 4 months.

At the foreign financial centres a more hopeful tone also developed. At first the continued gold engagements tended to keep alive apprehensions, but with the dwindling of the premium here for cash money and the diminution in the gold engagements, a more reassuring view of things was taken. Official rates of discount were maintained at the previous high figures—7% by the Bank of England and 7½% by the Bank of Germany—but open market discounts gradually fell away, and at Dec. 31 were only 5½% at London and 6 at Berlin and Frankfurt. These lower discounts, together with tender money in New York, caused a general weakening in sterling exchange, which closed Dec. 31 at or near the lowest figures of the month.

THE BOND MARKET.

PRESENT POSITION OF SAVINGS BANK ISSUES COMPARED WITH THAT OF YEAR AGO.

Probability of the Development of an Institutional Demand Within Next Two or Three Weeks—Savings Institutions Deferring Investments in View of Possibility of Withdrawals Subsequent to Payment of Interest on Deposits.

It is quite probable that within the next two or three weeks, the market for high grade bonds which is even now showing a better tone than it has in over a year, will be given a further stimulus, through the development of an institutional demand.

Bond houses have been reporting all along that there have been no evidences of any buying from this source—that it has been alone the demand on the part of small investors to which the improved tone of the market must be attributed. It is believed now, however, that the time is approaching when a change will be noted.

That the savings banks have been holding aloof from the market with the class of bonds in which they are authorized to invest selling on such attractive basis has been the occasion of no surprise to those familiar with the savings bank situation. These institutions have, in the first place been waiting for a definite clearing of the financial atmosphere. So far as they are concerned, there have been satisfactory indications of this in the form of a pretty general revocation of notices of withdrawal of funds, which were given during the November crisis, and the deposit of somewhere in the neighborhood of $45,000,000 in New York City banks within the past week or ten days.

Just at this time, however, the majority of the savings bank dividends are becoming payable, and it is pointed out that in previous years the experience of the banks has been that substantial withdrawals have been made by depositors who have deferred such action until after receiving their interest allowance. This year these deferred withdrawals may or may not be of much importance, but the banks in general have considered it better policy to await results before taking any definite steps toward the investment of their surplus funds. An officer of one large savings bank says that his institution will probably put between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 into securities within the next few weeks provided there are no withdrawals of any consequence, and it is believed that there will be many others in the market for high grade bonds.

In view of this prospective demand, it is interesting to note the present market position of "legal" railroad bonds, and to compare it with the position which they held in January, 1907. Here are the prices and approximate income yields of fifteen issues which have been traded in during the past day or two:

Other institutions whose buying has exerted an important influence in the bond market in times past are the life insurance companies. They have not been buying bonds recently, but should begin to be attracted by the low prices of nearly all issues suitable for their purposes. One investment house very pertinently points out that the low prices of the present have turned the advantage in favor of bonds as against real estate mortgages, from the standpoint of income yield, a fact which will doubtless result in the insurance companies turning their attention first

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

OF BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.
2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. Of course the coupon, if there be one, maturing between the date of quotation and the date of this publication, is not deducted from the price.
3. Bond prices marked (a) indicate that the purchaser must pay accrued interest in addition to the price given. The method of quoting on the New York Stock Exchange is to quote the price flat (that is, to include the accrued interest in the price), and hence in the tables below no mark is now affixed where this method of quoting is followed.
4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.
5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.
6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.
7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

STREET AND ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

In response to the request of many subscribers, we have changed the order of arrangement of the Street and Electric Railway Securities contained in the following lists. The previous practice was to group them by cities. This was a satisfactory and logical arrangement so long as the railways remained distinctly local enterprises and confined to the limits of a single city. But with the introduction of electricity as motive power most of the local systems have by degrees been transformed into interurban roads, some of them covering wide stretches of territory and connecting numerous cities and towns. In such cases the reader might look under several places before finding the one under which the road was given. To obviate this difficulty, we have recast the entire list and arranged the roads all in alphabetical order according to the names. Where the title is that of a street (like Third Avenue RR.), the securities will still be found grouped together in most cases, it being possible to do this because the controlling company usually bears the name of the city where it is located. Thus the New York City lines will be found under the New York City Railway, the Philadelphia lines under the Philadelphia Rapid Transit, &c. Cross references will assist the reader in finding any particular security.

Prices marked thus (a) indicate that the purchaser has to pay accrued interest in addition to the price given. Prices not marked are flat prices—that is, the purchaser does not pay accrued interest in addition.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (*).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities, if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing-House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.
