REVIEW OF MARCH.

There were a number of assuring developments during March, improving greatly the tone in financial circles and leading to a substantial recovery in values on the Stock Exchange. Indications of a less hostile course towards railroad interests on the part of the authorities at Washington appeared to be in evidence, and some Court decisions of a highly favorable nature were rendered. In addition the price of copper hardened fractionally as a result of the large exports of the metal previously made, and a somewhat more hopeful view of the immediate future of the iron and steel trades was taken. The basis for this latter was disclosed when the report of the United States Steel Corporation appeared March 20 and contained a statement saying that the booking of orders for January had been 25% better than for December (when things were practically at a standstill), that for February there had been an improvement of 25% over January, and that in March up to the time when the report was being sent to press the bookings per day had been "at least 25% larger than those for February." To all this should be added the further fact that in Europe there was evidence of still greater relaxation in monetary affairs, the Bank of England rate of discount being reduced March 5 from 4 to 3½% and March 19 to 3%, and the Bank of Germany March 7 reducing from 6% to 5½%.

The developments were not all of a favorable nature. There were some of the opposite kind. For instance, in the cotton-goods trade matters appeared to be going from bad to worse, and outside of Fall River (where the operatives are working under a sliding-wage scale with adjustment every six months), pretty general cuts in wages were announced. Further curtailment of production was also decided upon. Even at the mills in Fall River owned by Mr. Borden, namely the American Printing Co. and the Fall River Iron Works, half-time running was entered upon March 23. Southern cotton mills also were forced to reduce wages and curtail their output. Reports of railroad earnings, too, continued to show about the same ratios of loss in gross revenues as before (11@ 12%), though measures of economy introduced by the managements began to bear fruit and considerable savings in the expense accounts appeared in the returns of some of the roads. The disposition, however, was to make the most of whatever favorable happenings appeared, and to treat adverse events as the fruitage of past conditions, soon to give way to a better state of things.

Perhaps the influence which did the most to encourage hopeful feelings was a rumor that in order to maintain the wages of railroad employees the railroads were to be allowed to make an advance of 10% in their freight rates. While no corroboration of the story appeared, there were manifestations of a more conciliatory policy by the Administration at Washington. On March 25 President Roosevelt sent another special message to Congress. The tone of this was in marked contrast with that of Jan. 31. This time the tone and language were temperate. Among other things the message suggested an amendment of the Inter-State Commerce Law with a view to allowing the railroads to enter into agreements among themselves and also an amendment of the Anti-Trust Law so as to legalize contracts among those engaged in inter-State commerce not in unreasonable restraint of trade, the existing law forbidding all agreements or contracts in restraint of trade, whether reasonable or unreasonable. The public, looking anxiously for any ray of hope for the future, did not observe that the President purposed attaching conditions as a pre-requisite to conferring relief. Mr. Roosevelt insisted not only that any agreements that might be entered into between railroads must be subject to the approval of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, but he also urged that the Commission should be given the power to pass upon the issuance of all securities hereafter made by the railroads. He likewise argued that a law should be passed providing that whenever hereafter a Federal court should determine to place a common carrier or other public utility concern under the control of receivers, the Attorney-General should have the right to nominate at least one of the receivers.

As far as amending the Anti-Trust Law is concerned, the proposal was that "labor organizations, farmers' organizations and other organizations not organized for purposes of profit" should be exempt from the operation of the statute provided only they registered under the law, but that business and manufacturing concerns were to enjoy immunity only provided they acceded to certain terms and conditions which in effect would give the Federal Government the control, so long sought, over all corporations engaged in inter-State business. In other words, the President's purpose remained unchanged, although couched in tolerant language.

The Court decisions above referred to were in the highest degree encouraging and there was nothing to qualify their significance. They were handed down March 23 by the United States Supreme Court, and were rate cases where States—in these instances North Carolina and Minnesota—had sought to impose upon carriers non-compensatory rates and charges and at the same time had attempted to prevent an appeal to the Courts by the levy of such heavy fines and penalties that no carrier could afford to take the risk of incurring the same. A direct conflict of authority between the Federal courts and the States had arisen last summer out of the question, and had provoked some wild and inflammatory talk. The United States Supreme Court, by a vote of eight to one, holds that the Federal authority is supreme in such matters—that under the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution no State can deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws. This ruling of the Court derived its chief importance from the fact that it showed that the courts still remained a bulwark against political assaults.

The stock market, as already indicated, displayed great strength most of the month. The moving causes are outlined in what has been said above. The reduction in the New York Central dividend from 6% to 5% per annum gave a temporary check to the upward movement, which, however, was soon resumed. The latter part of the month the President's special message, so much more temperate than the last preceding message, and the United States Supreme Court decisions, were powerful influences in stimulating a further advance. The last three days of the month prices sharply reacted.

The foreign exchange market was devoid of any special features most of the month and the fluctuations were encompassed within a narrow range. The close showed slightly lower prices for sight bills and cable transfers, but slightly higher prices for 60-day bills, owing to the lowering of the Bank of England rate of discount.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1908. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. As to prices the form is our own, and we think it will be found to contain just the facts desired by our readers and to present them in the most convenient way for study and reference. All quotations in the column headed "Price about January 2 1908" were made on that date, except those in italics, which are the nearest in January 1908. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

For foot notes to tables see last page of Bonds and last page of stocks.

BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.

2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. Of course the coupon, if there be one, maturing between the date of quotation and the date of this publication, is not deducted from the price.

3. Bond prices marked (a) indicate that the purchaser must pay accrued interest in addition to the price given. The method of quoting on the New York Stock Exchange is to quote the price flat (that is, to include the accrued interest in the price), and hence in the tables below no mark is now affixed where this method of quoting is followed.

4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark thus (*).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities, if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

Table with columns: Bonds, Bid., Ask., To Net. It lists various municipal bonds across states including ALABAMA, ARKANSAS, CALIFORNIA, COLORADO, CONNECTICUT, DELAWARE, FLORIDA, GEORGIA, IDAHO, ILLINOIS, and FOREIGN CITIES ETC. Each entry includes bond details like maturity and interest rate, and corresponding bid, ask, and net prices.

* Flat price. b Basis. c On basis of $5 to the $, d On the basis of 4 marks to the dollar. n Nominal. a Sale price.

* Flat price. b Basis. n Nominal. o Under a law approved March 9 1903, and which went into effect April 23 1903, bonds issued after that date by State or municipal corporations are tax-exempt and these sell on a better basis.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing-House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.
