In 1909 its earnings were at the rate of $8,428 per mile of track operated, which compares favor ably with the average earnings per mile of track of the steam railroads in the United States for the same period, which were about $10,500. These bonds were issued with the approval and consent of the New York State Board of Railroad Commissioners. They are a first mortgage subject to only $300,000 divisional liens which are being retired through their respective sinking funds.

The bondholders are protected in this investment by a wide margin of equity, approximately $1,000,000 over and above the proceeds of this issue having been invested in the property by the stockholders. The bonded debt is less than $24,000 per mile. The company's franchise rights are practically perpetual and its service is in effect exclusive.

We shall be pleased to send descriptive circulars and further details concerning the two above offerings upon application. Our recent publications, "The $100 Bond," and "Quick Assets for Business Firms," will be furnished upon request. Address Department 3.

CHRONICLE INDEX.

The index to Volume 91 of the "Chronicle"—which volume ends with the Dec. 31 issue—will be sent to our subscribers with the number for Saturday, Jan. 14. Owing to the increased size of the volume, it is no longer possible to include the Supplements in binding the same. These latter will therefore be bound separately in six months' or yearly volumes, as may be desired.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Christmas time the present year finds our industries in a state of reaction, but presents as an encouraging feature a better demand for bonds than has existed for some time. This demand could easily be widened so as to bring about a broad and enduring market under which it would again become possible to raise new capital on a large scale and proceed with the vigorous prosecution of new enterprises and new undertakings. This done, industrial stagnation would speedily vanish and the country enter upon a new era of prosperity far exceeding in magnitude and in scope any previously witnessed in the history of the country. But the politicians have "queered" business and for the time being the necessary confidence is lacking for such a revival.

Until the cases now before the U.S. Supreme Court, involving interpretation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law of 1890 in its application to every-day business affairs, have been determined by our Court of last resort, it seems unlikely that any very venturesome spirit will become manifest in the industrial world. The Constitutionality of the Federal Corporation Tax is also a matter of great moment, inasmuch as this tax, with the regulations for its collection, involves intrusion by the Federal Government in the affairs of the States and likewise encroachment upon personal freedom and individual rights, since the law is not limited in its application to business concerns engaged in inter-State transactions, but reaches out for the small private corporation whose operations may be confined entirely within State boundaries—even the corner bakeshop or butcher store, whose whole trade may be confined within the area of a few blocks.

But, above all, there is the question of the right treatment of the railroads; more particularly there is the question as to whether these great carrying agencies, in which over 15,000 millions of capital are invested, are to be allowed when expenses, through no fault of their managers, are increased, to find partial compensation by doing what the merchant and business man in every walk of life is allowed to do when the cost of the goods that he is manufacturing rises, namely raise the selling price. The railroads have transportation to sell and in a country where the transportation rates are the lowest to be found anywhere in the world they must be allowed to advance this price when the cost to them of rendering the service is so considerably augmented as it has been within the last two years. The Inter-State Commerce Commission now has the matter of some of the more important contemplated advances in rates under consideration and ere long we will know just what its decisions are to be in these particular cases. But it may well be doubted whether the conclusions in these cases will definitely allay apprehensions, even if the

that the Commission is endowed with power to suspend any and all proposed advances, not even the slightest increase can be made except after long delay and interminable opposition on the part of shippers and the sensational press.

This latter is a situation which is filling the minds of thoughtful persons with grave apprehensions. The fear is that the credit of our railroads will be seriously and permanently injured. The Railway Securities Commission has been holding hearings on the question as to how far the Federal Government can or should go in the effort to regulate security issues. These hearings have brought out much useful and interesting testimony, and one of the speakers very courageously dwelt upon the harm and distrust already created through too much Government regulation and Government interference, and indicated what the inevitable outcome must be. We have in mind the remarks of Robert Mather, former President of the Rock Island Co. These, we are sure, will challenge the attention of the whole world. Here are some excerpts from Mr. Mather's address:

"Federal regulation has put the railroads of this country in the position of not having got sufficient means or credit to go ahead with their work of development, and in view of such impairment of credit, it is urgently essential that something should be done.

"In my judgment whenever the Government authorities go so far as to regulate the questions of rates, and when such rates do not permit the company to operate under average economy so as to earn enough money to maintain its credit, which is so essential in the operation of a railroad system, I believe the Government should go further and lend the credit of the country in order to produce sufficient credit for the railroads in looking after their needs.

"Government regulation has no right to stop now and let the railroads flounder out of their difficulty.

"As Federal regulation extends, it has the effect of making first-class railroad securities, such as first mortgage bonds, &c., very excellent investments, but, on the other hand, it has the effect of making the second-class securities of railroads, upon which railroads are most dependent for the raising of money for additions and extensions, less desirable for investment purposes. When such a condition is brought about, and when the great mass of second-class securities are made undesirable by Federal regulations, I say it is time that the Government should extend its credit to the railroads in order to assist them in their difficulties."

Some of the commentators on Mr. Mather's address say that he "startled" the Securities Commission by his suggestion. The idea of "lending the credit of the country" in aid of roads, because their own credit has become impaired through Government action, is certainly calculated to startle. But it was well that the matter should be put in this way—be put in its right and proper light. Perhaps when those who are all the time craving for a further extension of Government authority see what is actually looming ahead, as revealed in the statements of Mr. Mather, their zeal for continuing their propaganda and work will abate somewhat.

portant contemplated advances in rates under consideration and ere long we will know just what its decisions are to be in these particular cases. But it may well be doubted whether the conclusions in these cases will definitely allay apprehensions, even if the Commission should consent to some advance. For now

Wednesday's meeting, but it is intimated that the opinion was quite general that without a better demand for cotton goods, curtailment would be absolutely essential. The reason is that for some weeks past absorption by the market has been well below the volume of production, resulting in an accumulation of stock in first hands. This has been particularly the case with fine goods. With the raw material ruling high, little, if any, margin of profit remains for the manufacturers, and that seems to be threatened under existing conditions unless something shall be done to limit the output of the mills. Talk of curtailment is not confined to New England; on the contrary, a number of Southern manufacturers are, it is stated, urgent for combined action in the matter. Advices last evening from Fall River were to the effect that while manufacturers think that there may be necessity for curtailment a few months later, they do not consider the present a proper time to start such a movement as many mills have sold contracts running up to March 1.

The railroads continue to show that they conceive it within their duty as carriers for the public service (and incidentally, one may venture to add, for their own financial health) to make two blades of grass grow in place of one, if possible. The Agricultural Improvement Association of the State of New York was incorporated at Albany on Dec. 19, the object set forth being "to acquire, hold and deal in farm property develop resources of the State through irrigation, and deal in water power for manufacturing purposes." Among the incorporators are the presidents of the New York Central and the Long Island roads, the President of the Produce Exchange, the President of the Utica Chamber of Commerce, one member of the Public Service Commission and the President of the Western New York Horticultural Society. The plan is announced to cover sale or lease to farmers on easy terms of such tracts of land as they can manage, the subjects of irrigation and water power being held in reserve for the future. The plan is not a formal one of the railroads, yet railroad men are interested.

From Ithaca comes the statement that there is a notable increase in the movement to take either the regular or the special courses at the State Agricultural College connected with Cornell University. At present the enrollment in the college is given as 1,254, against 932 in 1909, and the trustees announce that tuition will now be charged to students from without the State instead of being free to all. Sixteen regular graduates of American colleges, all holders of degrees, are taking agricultural courses, and letters are said to be coming from farmers in the West and generally outside of New York which speak of an intention to buy, or consider buying, farm lands in this State.

An American writer just returned from Europe is quoted as saying that he discovers a reason, after studying immigration conditions, why the most well-to-do immigrants go to Canada, Australia and South Africa instead of the United States. This country, he says, has no commercial agencies in Europe to urge upon immigrants the advantages awaiting them here, nor, indeed, does Great Britain expend money to do that work; but the colonies maintain agencies, press agents and meet the immigrant even before he starts. If we want the best immigrants, he says, we must seek readily we accept improvements and how quality they fall into place as if they had always been. If they fall into place as if them, assure them in advance of a welcome and see that they get it on arrival.

Probably there is some basis for such eriticism; but the railways at least, although accused of so many sins, are keenly alive to the great value of the working settler as an income-producer; they well realize that he is as essential to them as they are to him. The "Chronicle" has kept note of the effort towards a new movement back to the soil, because agriculture is the lowest stone in the entire structure; and, while it is idle to urge farming until farming becomes more attractive, it is quite within reason that we are coming to such new methods as shall make the farmer and his family almost a different type from the one that has been following the lure of the city and ready for anything which offered relief from "the dull old round." The problem is a present and a continuing one, but it will solve itself by the universal application of individual self-seeking instead of by anything which "government" can do.

The recent round trip of the Mauretania as a "Christmas" ship, and breaking the record in at least some particulars, is notable as showing anew how swifter means of communication are, reducing the effective size of the world. The ship left Liverpool at 5:43 on the afternoon of the 10th, two weeks ago to-day; early on the 16th completed her run, in 3 hours and 53 minutes less than five days; she docked in the small hours and immediately began the work of swiftly exchanging her incoming for her outgoing load of fuel, supplies and rather light freight, with a number of gangs laboring simultaneously. At about 6 on the evening of last Saturday she started back with her Christmas-bound passengers and goods, and at 10:22 p. m. on Thursday reached land at Fishguard, finishing her double run within twelve days' time, inclusive of time in port.

The swiftness of the feat is emphasized by the coming of a special representative of the Daily "Mail," of London, sent to catch what impressions he could of this country and serve them up as a hot dish of current reading. Other journalists have been prompted to revive their own recollections and show that the haste of his departure, with only just time to dress and catch a train, while all arrangements (even including needful clothing) had been made for him, is not unprecedented. Reminiscences of trans-continental rushes and of trips around the globe in forty days are naturally prompted. The impressions snatched from political life in Washington and social life in New York, gained by special trains driven at the top of present-day speed, are of interest to the journalist himself, whose strongest impression probably was a desire for opportunity to get more careful impressions; their value is only fleeting, necessarily, yet they serve to remind us how readily we accept improvements and how quickly they fall into place as if they had always been. For the most striking example, from successive distances on the return came little letters of progress and greeting, several inches long in the "Times," and this crown of present marvels, which had not entered even into the dreams of twenty years ago, goes almost unnoticed; it is a thing of course now, and we have all ceased wondering over it. We are now looking to have wireless telephonic conversation ere long around the globe.

Encouragement for universal peace may also be drawn from the growing closeness of commercial and social intercourse. No nation received everything; none can be permanently complete of and by itself. The cost of war and the value of international exchange which fits the surplus of one to the lack of another grow simultaneously; every cut taken from the power of time and distance means another step towards peaceful disposal of disagreements.

That the opening months of 1911 will bring cheap money is the belief firmly held at New York, London, Berlin, Paris and other financial centres. Unmistakable evidences of this are afforded by the quotations named for discounting bills after the new year and by the low rates at which long-term loans can be procured. Locally, for example, banks and trust companies are to-day lending on approved collateral for six months at as low as 3\%\%, whilst prime commercial paper running for the same period can be discounted at $4@4\frac{1}{2}\%$, both being new low terms for the season. The improvement in the demand for bonds may also be construed as foreshadowing a period of easy money. The decline in interest rates and in mercantile discounts has been quite as marked in Chicago as in New York, and the same tendency is in evidence at other American cities. London is confident that January will bring a distinctly lower Bank rate. Bill brokers are willing to do business in the opening week of January at a minimum of 31/4% for both sixty and ninety days' bills, against 3½% for bills now tendered. It is true that the Bank of England this week lost \$14,340,835 reserve, lowering its ratio to liabilities from 50% a week ago to 463/8%; but this latter figure is still some 10% above the average reported in Christmas week during the last ten years, and the total stock of bullion on hand, \$164,319,465, is also the largest in recent years with the exception of 1909. London bankers are readily renewing obligations now maturing there, the European absorption of our bonds and short-term notes is expanding encouragingly and the demand for the important loans expected early next year promises to be very extensive. The low rates now current for foreign exchange throw light on Europe's attitude towards our investments. On the Continent discounts still rule easy. Paris quotes 27/8%, Amsterdam and Brussels are well below 4% and Berlin is withstanding the extensive December demands reasonably well, the charge there being 43/4%, while bills to arrive ten days hence can be negotiated on a lower basis. There is scarcely any likelihood of an adverse change in the Reichsbank's rate this month; the chances all favor a reduction shortly after the Bank of England takes the initiative in that direction—perhaps about the middle of January. Under all these circumstances American underwriters of corporate loans would appear to be justified in counting upon being able to place a large amount of new securities abroad. The expectations in international banking circles is that the New York City offering of bonds will attract an unusual number of over-sea subscriptions, especially as the city's \$20,-000,000 of January payments for interest and in meeting maturing revenue warrants will go in considerable volume to London and Paris.

The enterprise of American capitalists in foreign fields is creating keen interest throughout Europe, where it has been customary to imagine that the United States had its hands full in developing its own vast resources. But in rapid succession Americans have invaded the mining and rubber industries of Africa, the railroad, mineral and other fields in Central and South America, railroad building in China, minor enterprises in Turkey and other Continental countries, and now comes this cable dispatch from St. Petersburg under Thursday's date: "Emperor Nicholas gave an audience of fifty minutes to-day to John Hays Hammond, the American mining engineer. Mr. Hammond gave the Emperor an outline of the plans which he and his associates have for the investment of American capital in Russia. The Emperor and the Ministry are said to be favorably impressed with the proposed enterprise. This includes the construction of grain elevators and the development of a system of irrigation."

The understanding here is that Mr. Hammond's visit is connected more with mining concessions in Siberia than with irrigation. Mr. Hammond is a mining engineer and not an expert on agriculture or irrigation. It is stated in responsible circles that preliminary investigations have encouraged the hope that American capital can be profitably employed in developing the mineral resources of Siberia. Several copper properties are already being exploited, although at present the inadequacy of transportation facilities is a serious drawback. The country is described by enthusiasts as "the greatest undeveloped mining area in the world;" but obviously such a claim must rest largely on assumption, not on demonstrated facts. If Mr. Hammond's mission has been as well received by the Russian authorities as is understood here, it may safely be concluded that he will have little difficulty in finding whatever capital he recommends should be spent in that part of the globe, for his reputation stands as high in the United States as it does in Europe, whose coffers he greatly enriched by his activities on the Witwatersrand in the earlier stages of its history.

The controversy between the United States and Germany over the exporting of potash from the latter country, to which we referred several weeks ago, has reached so acute a stage that President Taft, it is reported from Washington, has laid the whole matter before the Cabinet and appealed to his Ministers for advice. Intimations have been made from unofficial quarters that the President is seriously considering the advisability of applying our maximum tariff rates (25% additional duty) to all merchandise forwarded to this country by Germany. Now, nothing has developed since we last discussed the dispute to put the action taken by the German Government at the behest of interested parties in any more favorable light, and we still think Germany has manifested a lack of consideration in dealing with American interests which had entered into important contracts based upon the law as it then existed. Nevertheless, we do not think President Taft would be well advised to take the extreme course of retaliating by enforcing the maximum tariff schedules against that country. The maximum tariff is a two-edged sword, to be wielded with the utmost discretion and only in flagrant cases of discrimi-

Germany's attitude, though in nation against us. reality bearing most heavily upon the United States, is not technically and exclusively aimed at this country, and, under all the circumstances, the apparent disinclination of the President to start a tariff war would seem to be the fruit of wisdom.

Japan is showing skill and courage in rehabilitating her finances after the ruinous drain inflicted by her war with Russia. Announcement has been made this week that during 1911 the sum of $5,000,000 will be devoted for the redemption of the foreign debt. The policy of the Government was laid down by Marquis Katsura in presenting his Budget last week: To maintain the balance of revenue and expenditure in general estimates and not to look to loans as financial resources; to maintain the program of annual redemption of the public debt by an amount of 50,000,000 yen or more. The budget figures for 1911-12 showed ordinary receipts of 492,138,000 yen and extraordinary receipts of 49,796,973 yen, against ordinary expenditures of 407,113,274 yen and extraordinary expenditures of 133,821,699 yen. The Premier added that 82,000,000 yen will be spent in improving the navy during the next six years, of which 15,000,000 yen has been appropriated for the next fiscal year. On railways 52,000,000 yen will be spent next year, part of which sum may be raised by a special loan secured by the railways.

The Mexican rebels who infest the mountainous territory around Padernales and Mal Paso, in the State of Chihuahua, have succeeded in harassing the Government troops under command of General Navarro. From sources friendly to the revolutionists, dispatches are coming which claim that the loyal forces are in desperate straits. Yesterday one message from Chihuahua stated, no doubt with gross exaggeration: "Their position is so precarious that scarcely a soldier can poke his head from the protection of the houses without being fired on. So complete is the investment that Navarro is hard pressed to feed his men." From official channels it is learned that reinforcements are being hurried to General Navarro, but the progress of the military trains has been impeded by the marauders. Colonel Guzman, who was in command of a battalion operating against the insurgents, has been wounded, and Colonel Samuel Garcia Cuellar, Chief of the Staff of President Diaz, has gone to succeed him. What the rebels hope to accomplish by continuing their resistance is not clear. They must realize by now that the great body of the Mexican people are loyal to the present regime and that no general uprising can be achieved. Perhaps the leaders are fighting on in the belief that, if they can inflict enough damage, the Government will be glad to make peace overtures to them. In this instance temporizing would appear to be out of place. An application of stern measures would not only effectively crush the present trouble, but would have a salutary influence in checking future rebellious movements.

Foreign discount rates are slow to show the firmness customarily witnessed in the closing weeks of the year. In London the feature has been a demand for bills to $3\frac{1}{4}$ to $3\frac{1}{2}$. Spot bills, both 60 and 90 days, are quoted at $3\frac{1}{2}\%$. In Paris there has been another advance of $\frac{1}{8}$ of $\frac{1}{6}$, the charge being now $\frac{27}{8}$. Berlin secured \$1,500,000 gold in London on Monday, and this had some influence in keeping down discounts; the quotation now is $4\frac{3}{4}\%$ for spot bills and $4\frac{5}{8}\%$ for bills to arrive, with indications that immediately the year-end settlements are over rates will relax sharply. Amsterdam quotes $3\frac{1}{2}\%$ for commercial and 3 1/8% for finance paper. Brussels has weakened to $3\frac{5}{8}\%$.

The Bank of England secured only a meagre portion of the new gold which arrived in London on Monday last, and as there were rather heavy shipments, according to our special correspondent, to the provinces and to Egypt, the weekly statement on Thursday showed a loss of £2,224,140 bullion, bringing the total on hand down to £32,863,893. The total decrease in reserve was even greater, £2,868,167, there having been an addition of fully £644,000 to circulation. Loans expanded £678,051, public deposits increased £831,076, but ordinary deposits fell off £3,-030,067. These various changes, our special cable shows, resulted in a decline in the ratio of reserve to liabilities from 49.98% last week to 46.35% this week, a figure which is still nearly 10% above the average in the corresponding week of the last decade. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss of bullion for the week was due in greatest measure to heavy shipments to the interior of Great Britain. In addition, exports were well in excess of the inflow into the Bank, which was made up entirely of purchases in the open market. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £143,000, bought in the open market; exports, £420,000 (of which £350,000 to Egypt, £50,000 to Asia and £20,000 to various destinations), and shipments of £1,947,000 net to the interior of Great Britain.

The decline in money rates which ordinarily takes place in January has occurred ahead of time. This week time money has weakened at least $\frac{1}{4}$ of $\frac{1}{6}$, while commercial paper rates have fallen quite ½ of 1%. Even call loans close the week lower, whereas a rise not infrequently takes place before Christmas. It is not difficult to account for the abundance of funds this season. It will be recalled that six months ago energetic efforts were put forth to curtail bank credits throughout the country; since then cotton growers, wheat growers, land speculators, real estate operators and other borrowers have been induced to modify their obligations, and inasmuch as speculation on stock exchanges has dwindled, new issues of securities have been kept down, and general trade has become much quieter, the demands for accommodation have naturally been greatly reduced. A moderate amount of gold was brought from London in the fall, Alaska has contributed her quota to the country's supply of the precious metal, and our own gold mines have not been idle. The leading capitalists have proceeded cautiously, and may continue to do so until the Supreme Court gives its interpretation of the Sherman Law. It may also be remarked that comparatively few short-term notes mature during the next six months, whereas a large part of the total floated before the collapse in 1907 had to be taken care of during the arrive just after the new year; for these the range is current year. The political unsettlement has made capital timid, and whenever there is a widespread lack of confidence, new enterprises are reduced to a minimum.

The range for collateral loans closes the week at $3\frac{3}{4}$ @4% for all maturities from January to June. The lower figure, though only seldom quoted early in the week, is now quite common when the security provided is up to the recognized standard. Borrowers on industrial collateral can secure facilities at 4%. So light is the demand that financial institutions have not all been able to place their offerings, with the consequence that more interest is being taken in short-term notes and in high-class bonds. It is reasoned that, if money cannot be lent at 4% in December, it is unlikely to be worth much in January or February. The fact should not be overlooked, however, that the applications for capital within the next two months are sure to be very heavy, and that, in order to insure successful flotation, generous terms will be held out—even New York City may have to resort to $4\frac{1}{2}\%$ bonds. Abroad, also, governmental requirements threaten to be quite onerous during the first quarter of 1911. Call money has on no day this week exceeded $3\frac{1}{2}\%$, although that figure has been reached daily. The ruling rate on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday was 3\%\%, with $2\frac{1}{2}\%$ the minimum on the first two days and $2\frac{3}{4}\%$ on Wednesday. Renewals were made on Thursday at $3\frac{1}{4}\%$, while yesterday the range was 3% to $3\frac{1}{2}\%$. The average rate for the week has been a shade under 3\%\%. Commercial paper is in light supply and in fairly active demand. Certain dry goods bills of the highest grade have been discounted at the abnormally low rate of 4%, others have been placed at $4\frac{1}{4}\%$, while business on a $4\frac{1}{2}\%$ basis has been more active than was the absorption at 5% at the beginning of the month. A minimum of 4% has also been reported from Chicago. The general range of quotations here is $4\frac{1}{4}@4\frac{3}{4}\%$ for prime four to six months' single name bills and sixty to ninety-day endorsed bills receivable, and $5@5\frac{1}{4}\%$ for good names.

Foreign exchange has again fluctuated erratically. On Monday there was an advance, on Tuesday a decline, on Wednesday a severe break, on Thursday a recovery and yesterday no notable change. A low point of 4851/4 was reached on Wednesday, a quotation well below that current when gold imports were last inaugurated. But on the following day there was a sharp rally, and unless another fall takes place our bankers are not expected to be successful competitors for the large consignment (upwards of $4,500,-000) of South African gold which will arrive at Southampton to-day, but which will not be sold until Wednesday, owing to the double holiday in London at the opening of the week. The weakness in sterling cannot be fully accounted for by the European assimilation of our securities, important though this movement has been. Operators who have closely followed market fluctuations during the last three weeks declare that a mass of exchange has come from institutions whose exchange managers had apparently counted upon being able to sell out at high rates before the end of the year. Once again events have demonstrated that it is futile to count upon exchange moving in a normal way. The decline to 4851/4 for sight drafts is all the more extraordinary when it is considered that interest rates here have fallen appreciably at a time when firmness would be normal. The last steamer to reach Europe before Dec. 31 sailed on Thursday; the Baltic, which leaves to-day, not being due until the new year. Interest from now on will consequently be centred in cable transfers. It is hinted that the decline has been carried farther than conditions warrant, and that as a sequel belated buyers of exchange for use in London before Jan. 1 may have to pay for their dilatoriness. As to what may or may not happen in January, no one will venture an opinion. an attitude thoroughly justified by the eccentric fluctuations at various times during the current year. The December foreign trade returns may afford some indication as to the outlook; but then again much will depend upon the extent of European purchases of our bonds, notes and stocks. It is taken for granted that money will be plentiful both at home and abroad.

Compared with Friday of last week, sterling exchange on Saturday was firmer, with quotations at 4 8540@4 8545 for demand, 4 8565@4 8575 for cable transfers and 48235@48245 for 60 days. Demand advanced to 48555@48565 on Monday, cable transfers to 4 8590@4 8595 and 60 days to 4 8250@4 8260. On Tuesday demand eased to 48545@48550, cable transfers to 48575@48580, while 60 days remained unchanged. On the following day demand again declined, to 4 8525@4 8535, cables went to 4 8565@4 8570 and 60 days to 48220@48240. On Thursday demand recovered to 4 8535@4 8545 and cable transfers to 48575@48585; 60 days was unchanged. On Friday trading was quiet at a nominal advance, demand closing at 48540@48550 and cable transfers at 4 8580@4 8590.

AFTER THE ENGLISH ELECTION.

In the light of the now completed figures of the English general election, the political result is one of the more curious in the history of that country. When the standing of the respective parties in the new Parliament is compared with their standing in the old one, the outcome of the voting must be declared to be absolutely non-conclusive. It is true that, according to the latest dispatches from London, the coalition of Liberals, Labor members and Irish Nationalists has increased its combined plurality over the Unionists from 124 to 126. This of itself, however, was no very sensational gain, and it becomes very much less so in the light of certain other comparisons. Taking the Liberal Party and the Unionist Party by themselves, it will be found that, while the Unionists have lost one member as compared with the previous Parliament, the Liberals have lost three, and that where the Liberals alone had a plurality of two over the Unionists in the old Parliament, they are exactly tied with them in the new one. All the gains that have been made, and they are few enough, have been made by the Labor and Irish factions. This is a comparison of results in the two elections:

Old	Parliament.	New	Parliamen
Liberals	275		272
Laborites	40		42
Nationalists	71		76
Ind. Nationalists	11		8
Liberal coalition	397		398
Unionists	273		272
Coalition plurality	124	e de	126
Liberals alone over Union- ists	plurality.	×	Tied.

In other words, the Liberals went to the country on a great Constitutional issue, for which they asked an unmistakable popular mandate, and they did not get it. Indeed, when it is remembered that the general election of 1906 gave the Liberals alone a plurality of 229 over the Unionists, with 125 Irish and Labor votes to spare, it may not unfairly be argued that, since the Constitutional issue arose, the Liberal Party has been progressively losing ground. It is true that the Unionists were also disappointed in the results of this month's election; some of them had looked for such a change in the voters' sentiment as should give that party a substantial plurality over the Liberals from what has been obtained this year. alone. This has not happened—partly, no doubt, because of the advocacy of protectionism by the Tory Party, and because Balfour's idea of shelving that issue in a referendum either came too late in the campaign or was disliked on principle in itself.

What should result in the way of practical legislative measures from so curious an electoral result?

This is a question which has already filled English political minds with abundant perplexity. The American idea has always, and consistently, been that when large pluralities in one election are cut down in the next, or when the vote on a highly important campaign issue is inconclusive, the party advocating that issue must be particularly careful to move conservatively in the matter. The strongest illustration of the popular view of such an incident is found in the elections of 1894 and 1896. The Congressional elections of 1894 showed disapproval of the issues which had become dominant in a large faction of the Democratic Party. Two years later, in the Presidential election, Mr. Bryan and his friends set out to argue that the popular rebuff of 1894 has been directed, not at the Populist ideas which permeated the party, but at Mr. Cleveland's attitude on currency. The result of the 1896 election showed that the people were in no mood to be trifled with in such a matter.

Another principle fully recognized in American politics is that when the people will not go to the polls to vote on a public issue which politicians have insisted upon as paramount, the meaning is that insistance on that issue would be dangerous to the party which upholds it. Here the American practice has an interesting bearing on the recent English election, for the dispatches indicate that fully 10% of the electors whose votes were cast last January failed this time to vote at all. That this should have happened in the face of the agitating campaign by Lloyd-George and his fellow Radicals, in behalf of removal of the right of veto on legislation by the Lords, and that it should have happened when the last previous election was marked by exceptionally popular excitement, has a meaning which cannot be safely overlooked. To undertake a great Constitutional innovation in the face of increased public apathy; to change the legislative structure of the Empire on the ground that such apathetic response by the people is a mandate, are undertakings from which even the more daring type of statesmen would be apt to shrink.

What, then, is likely to be the actual result of this singular situation? There are, as we see it, five possibilities-most of which, however, can scarcely be reckoned as probabilities. First, there is the possibility of rough-shod legislation on the House of Lords by the Liberal coalition in the Commons, such legislation to be forced through by the Irish and Labor votes, and to be reluctantly concurred in by the Lords. This seems to us improbable; it would, indeed, be inconsistent for the Lords to take such action now, when they refused to do so in response to another general election whose results were more favorable to the Liberals. In the case of the famous Reform Bill of 1831, in which the Lords were eventually brought to concur against their will, the series of general elections which marked the struggle resulted successively in Parliaments with Liberal majorities of 1, of 136 and of 162. Here was a very different popular response

The second possibility is of a similar enactment, by the House of Commons coalition, of the legislative propositions regarding the House of Lords, this measure being once more non-concurred in by the Lords or met by counter-propositions of the Upper House. This would necessitate another appeal to the country, which might, however, be somewhat dangerous an experiment for the Liberals in view of this month's election. The third possibility has been much discussed; it is the creation by the King, at the instance of the Asquith Ministry, of new Peers of Liberal sympathies, sufficient in number to overcome the hostile majority in the House of Lords. This recourse was threatened in 1831, and the threat undoubtedly had considerable influence in obtaining the assent of the Lords. But in 1831 the hostile majority to the Reform Bill in the House of Lords was only 41, whereas the adverse majority to the Budget proposition of the Liberal Ministry, in the vote of last November, was no less than 275. To create new Peers enough to overturn such a majority would be to turn the whole procedure into ridicule; the London music-halls are laughing at it now.

The fourth proposition, suggested in some of the London reviews, is the resignation of Mr. Asquith without appeal to the country, giving an opening for a Unionist Ministry to try its hand. This would be in accord with English legislative precedent, but under present conditions it must be described as a rather futile expedient, since the Unionist Ministry would inevitably be short-lived, and would end in another election, perhaps as purposeless as those which had preceded it. The final possibility in the case is resumption of the conferences between the parties which were abruptly suspended a month ago-with a view to reconciling the ideas of the two Houses and finding common ground which should give a distinct place in the legislative sphere to the House of Lords, while restraining its absolute veto powers and at least curtailing the scope of the hereditary principle. If, as English political critics have always agreed, legislation is properly made up of a series of compromises, this would certainly appear the logical and inevitable recourse in the present peculiar situation. That recourse has at least this powerful argument: that on any other basis than consideration, debate and amendment of the Lansdowne and Rosebery plans for reconstructing the House of Lords into an Upper Chamber suited to deal intelligently and properly with the great public questions of the day, the Ministry's proposition inevitably boils down to the highly dangerous experiment of a single legislative chamber-long ago repudiated by every enlightened modern government.

THE SUBWAY PROPOSITION.

The "Chronicle" has preferred to subordinate the hotly controverted matter of rival subway routes to the still larger one of by whom, and upon what basis, the projected work shall be done; yet it is impossible to avoid perceiving and to omit saying that the Interborough offers the most comprehensive and quickly effective addition to subways that has been proposed. What is certainly undisputed is that the people both want and need more subways; want and need them as speedily as practicable, and want the utmost transportation and transfer privileges at a single fare. The agitation for the still unattained boon of a single fare to Coney Island is too recent to leave any doubt that, however the outcry for so-called competition as against so-called monopoly may draw an unthinking response, if a popular vote were taken it would be overwhelmingly for the largest amount of subway ride for the single nickel.

The luminous letter of Mayor Gaynor, published on Thursday morning, makes the subject perfectly clear and leaves nothing pertinent unsaid. Municipal ownership is demanded; it is already attained. The existing subway is—and all future subways are to be as truly city property as the bridges and docks; the subway is leased to an operating company, just as the docks are leased. The most crucial question is, which is saner and better: to construct so-called independent lines, by the unassisted city, or to let private capital do the constructing so far as it desires? In the latter case, the construction will be pushed to completeness, each of several links coming into use at once by connecting with the present line; in the former, construction must be stretched by piecemeal over a number of years, to conform to the city's borrowing limitations, and the operating is not assured in advance. One is a complete scheme, backed by capital which is limited only by the business opportunity perceived, and it serves the public immediately; the other is a disconnected scheme with uncertainties attached.

The present subway is in its seventh year of operation. Its business success was shown within twelve months, so that five years (the time now required to build another) have been frittered away obstructively. The unwise Elsberg Law did much of the obstructing, yet merely responded to a clamor to which the Interborough now defers by offering to largely reduce the term of its present lease. The principle of a long lease, at the end of which the building reverts to the owner of the land, is common in New York and is the choice of the largest and shrewdest real estate owners. In a matter of bargaining, no reformer has been able to suggest for a municipality a shrewder basis than successful individual selfishness has approved for itself.

The Interborough is denounced because it does not perform the present impossibility of providing seats for everybody; were the city operator as well as owner, the crowding would be the same and the complaint undiminished. The company is not liked, and perhaps it has not shown the utmost tactful consideration for popular ideas; yet even if so-called independent lines were built, they must have an operator and there could be no guaranty that the Interborough would not get the operating contract instead of some other corporation which might be imagined more saintly. No "feeling" on account of the past has a just relation to the subject now, and no pledges or understandings which may have been given in an election campaign are worth serious mention. Now that the subject has encountered a division in the Board of Estimate and has gone over to the next meeting on Jan. 5, it should be put on the proper basis of business and of forecast for the interests of the city. Treated thus, the great advantages of the pending proposition cannot fail to make their own way.

One other point has received far too little attention. The needs of this growing city for certain public purposes—such as education, water, docks, parks, fire telegraph and others—are expanding and imperative; these cannot be indefinitely put by, nor can they in any case be turned over to private hands. Here is a field for all the city's financial strength. Therefore, any insistence on trying to add subways to the load, instead of allowing private capital to build them and virtually present them to the city, seems the height of unreason.

COMBATTING SOCIALISTIC TENDENCIES.

Crawford H. Ellis, President of the New Orleans Board of Trade, in an address recently delivered to the members of the Mercantile Club of that city, called attention to the spread of Socialism throughout the United States. Speaking on that subject, Mr. Ellis said:

"Socialism is undoubtedly spreading in this country and we are reaching a state where the evil is as much of a menace to the nation as it is to the countries of Continental Europe. I believe that the chief cause of the spread of fanatical Socialism are the speeches of itinerant orators, who go about the United States preaching incendiary doctrines."

With characteristic Southern warmth, Mr. Ellis advocated that orators of this class should be "throttled," adding that it was his experience that where the laboring man had been allowed to think out a question for himself that he had been able to judge conditions justly, correctly and without passion or prejudice.

A still more recent utterance, viewing this subject from a somewhat different angle, was that made by James J. Hill, who, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, expressed his opinion of the results of the last general election in a customary style:

"The last election has taught the politicians and the country something valuable," said Mr. Hill. "That is, that party lines can no longer exist to an important extent. The demagogue and the agitator have held sway so long it is really a relief to see the flag of warning hoisted for their benefit. The laboring man is no longer swept off his feet by sweeping assertions and promises. He wants something definite."

These two expressions, coming from entirely different sources, but each typical of the conservative thought of the country, are worth pondering upon. No man who has carefully surveyed the field of economic conditions in the United States since Bryan started the free-silver craze, some years ago, can fail to be impressed with an appreciation of the injury that has been wrought to business generally by agitators and demagogues. Under all this agitation so favorable to the growth of socialistic ideas, it is surprising that Socialism has not made greater headway. However, at least one of the large cities of the country has succumbed to the socialistic idea, although the triumph of the Social-Democratic party in Milwaukee can be chiefly attributed to the comparatively large proportion of foreign element in the population there. Following up its victory in the City of Milwaukee, the Social-Democratic party has also succeeded in replacing Congressman William H. Stafford of the Fifth District, a Republican, with Victor L. Berger, for twenty years the leader of the Social-Democratic movement in this country.

As to the best way of combatting Socialistic tendencies, opinions will differ. But obviously any plan that may be devised in this respect should not fail to take into account the mental attitude of the laboring man. The retirement of George W. Perkins from the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company, with the stated object in view of "extending the principles of profitsharing and other benefit plans, which, experience has shown, offer a practical solution of the difficulties existing between capital and labor," is one of the hopeful I the corporation, which the Treasurer had authority signs of the times. When a man of Mr. Perkins's standing in the financial world severs his connection with one of the world's largest banking firms to devote himself to the adjustment of those matters affecting the relations of capital and labor, it is plain that the much-abused "captains of industry" are fully awake to the necessity of grappling with the economic problems that have arisen as the result of changed business conditions within the past decade. In saying this we do not wish to be understood as endorsing Mr. Perkins's dictum made in a speech before the Quill Club on Tuesday night of this week, that "conditions are now such that we must have large corporations supervised under a strong hand." The expression "strong hand" suggests a strongly centralized Federal Government, and we are not in favor of extending the activities of the Central Government.

Co-operation between capital and labor such as urged by Mr. Perkins certainly has much to recommend it. Despite the large influx of foreigners to the United States, the great mass of the American people, according to the best observations, are strongly conservative in their political and economic views. They desire no radical changes in their government, such as the theory of Socialism implies, but would und ubtedly welcome a proper economic readjustment of the relations existing between capital and layor. When such a play as "The Battle," in which Wilton Lackaye has been starring, is applauded even more in the galleries than in the parquette; and when, on the other hand, a Socialistic appeal such as "The Derelict" is generally condemned by the people and the press, it is plain that the American people at heart are far from Socialistic in their views. There is solid ground, therefore, on which to lay the foundation for a more cordial relationship between the workingman and his employer, be that employer a private individual or a corporation, and in this new field of endeavor the efforts of far-seeing men are to be applauded and encouraged.

LIABILITY OF BANKS FOR MISUSE OF CHECKS BY CORPORATION OFFICIALS.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court (First Department) has just rendered a decision in a case presenting an issue much like that raised in the case of the Havana Central Railroad Co. vs. the Knickerbocker Trust Co., but with a different set of facts. Both decisions had to do with the liability of a financial institution for checks deposited with such institution which involved misapplication of the funds of a corporation by a corporation official. The point at issue in the Havana Central suit was the liability of the bank on the check of a corporation official who had abused his authority as such official by drawing the check in his own favor against the funds of the corporation in the bank where said corporation kept its account and then deposited the check to his credit in the bank where he kept his own account, later drawing out the proceeds of the check and applying them to his personal use.

The Court of Appeals in that case, reversing the lower courts, held that the institution on which the checks were drawn by paying them declared to the other institution in which they were deposited for collection that they were the genuine obligations of to draw, and that the bank making collection of them was authorized to deal with the proceeds of the checks as the individual property of the payee. Moreover, after it has turned over such proceeds to him, it cannot be compelled to restore them to the complaining corporation. We reviewed this case quite at length in our issue of May 28 1910, and it is a fact of some interest that the final entry of judgment in that action was not made until the present month.

In the case under consideration there also was misapplication of the funds of a corporation by an officer endorsing the checks, but the misapplication was made in a different way. The action was that of Niagara Woolen Co. vs. the Pacific Bank of this city. The Niagara Woolen Co. was a domestic corporation, of which one Joseph Horowitz was the President down to May 1 1904, when he was succeeded by Philip Horo witz, who continued as President until Oct. 28 1904. The Niagara company was organized to act as selling agent for the American Woolen Co. The action was tried before a referee and the facts, as found by him show that the capital stock was substantially all issued to Philip Horowitz and was subsequently deposited with the American Woolen Co. under an arrangement between Horowitz and the two corporations. The President was given the general management of the business, but not the power to draw or endorse checks or other obligations of like character, that power being given to the Treasurer, who was an officer or employee of the American Woolen Co.

Philip Horowitz did business under the name of "Philip Horowitz & Son," and in June 1904 opened an account in that name in the Pacific Bank. Commencing on June 22 1904 he began to deposit in this bank to the credit of Philip Horowitz & Son checks drawn to the order of the Niagara Woolen Co., endorsed in blank in the name of the company by Joseph Horowitz, President, and then endorsed with the firm name under which he did business to the Pacific Bank. He continued making deposits until Oct. 26 1904, the total number of checks so deposited reaching 89 and being for an aggregate of $28,469. The method by which the misappropriation of the Niagara company's money was accomplished is set out as follows in the prevailing opinion of the Appellate Division, which was written by Justice Ingraham: Joseph Horowitz would receive the mail directed to the Woolen Company each morning and turn over such of the checks received by mail which he did, not intend to misappropriate to the company's bookkeeper, who was also in the employ of the American Woolen Co., and these checks would be deposited in the State Bank to the credit of the Niagara Woolen Co.

But from day to day Joseph Horowitz extracted from the mails the checks drawn to the order of the Niagara Woolen Co. that he wished to appropriate to his own use, and no notice of the receipt of such checks would be given to the Niagara company's employees, so that on its books the accounts represented by the misappropriated checks would appear still unpaid. The Treasurer of the Niagara company, it seems, was in the habit of coming to the company's office several times a week, usually in the middle of the day. All checks drawn on the Niagara company's account with the State Bank were signed by him, and neither he nor any of the employees of the company had any knowledge of the defalcation. When Joseph Horowitz's attention was called by the Treasurer or bookkeeper to these accounts apparently still unpaid, he would say that the accounts were perfectly good, but payments were slow, and he did not wish to push the company's customers. The suit was brought to charge the Pacific Bank with the amount of these checks which it had collected, and the referee awarded judgment to the Niagara company.

The Appellate Division construes the rules laid down by the Court of Appeals in Havana Central RR. vs. Knickerbocker Trust Co. as meaning that the Pacific Bank must be held liable for the money fraudulently appropriated. It is proper to state that Justice Ingraham thought that the questions as to the regularity of the endorsements, and the power of the President to endorse, were not at all material, as the Niagara company, by commencing the action to charge the Pacific Bank with the amount collected upon the checks necessarily ratified the endorsements and the act of Philip Horowitz in obtaining payment of the checks. The company's right to recover was based solely upon the fact that the Pacific Bank had accepted the checks and by collecting them had received the Niagara company's money and was bound to account for it.

There was no dispute as to any of the facts, but the Court says the liability of the bank depends upon knowledge of the misappropriation being brought home to it or notice of such facts as required an investigation or inquiry by the bank as to the ownership of the checks and the right of Horowitz to apply them or their proceeds to his own personal account. Upon their face the checks were payable to the Niagara company, and the endorsement showed upon its face that Horowitz was the President of the corporation. The bank also had notice that Horowitz had an account in the bank, which was the account not of the corporation but of a firm of which Horowitz was a member, and that the proceeds of these checks were credited to that account and disposed of by checks drawn in the name of the firm of which the President was a member. The Court regards it a settled law of the State that if Horowitz had presented these checks to the bank and asked the bank to receive them as payment of an indebtedness existing in favor of the bank against either Horowitz individually or the firm of Philip Horowitz & Son, of which he was a member, the bank would have been put upon inquiry as to the right of Horowitz to use the money of the company to pay his individual indebtedness. It also assumes that the same rule would apply if Horowitz had presented these checks to the bank and instructed it to collect them and pay a debt of Horowitz or his firm to a third party, the bank thus having notice of the fact that Horowitz was using the company's checks to pay his individual indebtedness.

Thus the question is narrowed down to one of notice to the bank. Justice Ingraham points out that this is not a case of one independent check, but a series of transactions extending over months, during which time there was a constant diversion of checks drawn to the order of the company, deposited with the Pacific Bank, collected by it and then applied by it to the individual account of Horowitz or his firm. Recognizing the duty of the bank to make inquiry, it is held that the facts were sufficient to require the bank to inquire as to Horowitz's authority to appropriate the property of the corporation of which he was President; that, having failed to make such inquiry, it is chargeable with the facts which it would have ascertained if such an inquiry had been made, and that if it had had express knowledge of the facts which such an inquiry would have disclosed, it would have been liable to the company for the misappropriation of its property by Horowitz.

Justice McLaughlin in concurring said the real question was whether the bank knew that the checks were being wrongfully diverted or was in possession of such facts as should have aroused its suspicion and caused it to make an inquiry. Here were some ninetyodd checks, he argues, all payable to the company's order, and prima jacie they belonged to it. They were endorsed in blank by Horowitz, the President of the company. The bank had a right to assume that he as President had authority to endorse them or to authorize another person to do it for him; but it had no right to assume when so large a number of checks, which prima facie belonged to the corporation, was presented in so short a time that he had a right to divert the same from the corporation to his own personal use. Possibly, had there been only a few checks their presentation would not, in and of itself, have been enough to put the bank upon notice, but the transactions here were extremely numerous. In reply to this argument it might well be urged that the very fact that the transactions were so numerous and that they had not been questioned would tend to disarm suspicion, engendering confidence in the regularity of the proceeding.

The rule laid down may be a harsh one, but in view of this decision it is evidently incumbent upon bank managers to scrutinize closely checks offered for deposit. It is proper to note that the Appellate Division was by no means unanimous in its conclusion. There was a divergence of views, just as in the Knickerbocker Trust Co. case. Justice Scott handed down a dissenting opinion, in which Justice Clarke concurs, taking the ground that as the bank was a mere conduit or collecting agency, asserting no title to or right to retain the money for its own advantage, it should be held free from liability.

THE MULTIPLYING USES OF CONCRETE.

On Wednesday closed a week of a cement show at Madison Square Garden, and while having little of a spectacular nature for the multitude, it possessed large business interest and was encouragingly suggestive. The material itself has been in some use for centuries. and reinforced concrete has been entering more and more into railroad work for some years; it is known that this material is constantly taking a larger place in public works and in buildings for all purposes; yet a grouping of materials, processes and specimen results gives new impressions to a thoughtful observer. There are no limitations whatever to the uses of concrete, affirms one enthusiastic concern; it belongs wherever stone, brick or wood belongs, and ranges in suitability from the mammoth city structure to the progressive farmer's pig-sty.

The exhibition just held may be roughly divided into machines for crushing, mixing and excavating; materials for framing and reinforcing; materials for water-proofing and decorative finish; samples of completed work. In the last are included railings, posts, fountains, basins and an inexhaustible variety of ornamental work; culverts, vases, sidewalks, fireplaces, stairs, and all combined possibilities of wood, brick or stone are deemed within the serving of this "pudding," which, when suitably treated, becomes an artificial stone, permanently unchanging in respect to material and surface. In the samples shown were such huge things as aqueduct sections on the water-works of New York now in construction, reproduced on a smaller scale.

The development of this industry attests its business consequence. It already has a literature of its own, including a number of printed treatises, a modest cyclopedia and several trade journals.

Concrete does not depend merely on its own strength as a solidified mixture; it adds a metallic reinforcement which natural stone cannot have, and the variety of material shapes for this strengthening purpose is of great interest. Expanded metal (which is sheet steel cut through by short slots uniformly spaced and then the metal opened and spread out into a form of latticework that has great variations) is used for laths, partitions and flooring; for the heaviest work, the thickness of sheet and the method of treatment are special, but the principle is the same all through. A socalled "flat-slab floor" is claimed to carry any load, stationary or moving, as stiffly and firmly as the most massive girder design, and one type of arch is claimed to carry over 1,000 lbs. to the square foot. The sloping sides of dams and water reservoirs are sometimes held against slip by a network of expanded metal. A striking type of column consists of a continuous length of cold-drawn steel wire, wound into a spiral, and stiffened by several vertical "spacing bars" into which the wire is notched fast. This is intended to be set in place as a whole, although provision is made for having one of the bars removable (for economy in transportation) and replaceable on the spot where erected; when this stiff skeleton centre has had its plastic stuff poured into and around it, the hardening of the latter completes the enduring column.

We should remark here that in concrete work the strengthening reinforcement does not stop with expanded-metal forms, but includes bars and rods. Another illustration of the same principle of mutual reinforcement between two combined materials is in wire glass; this consists of a wire lacing imbedded in glass. When under the heat of a fire the internal wire holds the heated glass from falling out and admitting the fire, and the glass protects the wire sufficiently to keep that from being burned through. Each material thus supplements and defends the other.

Resistance to weather, to all agencies of decay, and especially to fire, combined with inexhaustible abundance of material and great facility of manipulating, constitute the claims of modern concrete. It is, therefore, in growing favor, and in all of the above particulars (save, perhaps, facility of working) it surpasses wood, to which this new country naturally turned as the readiest material. As the forests are failing, a compensation appears, in the necessity for finding another building material, and this other one has the great advantage of incombustibility. Very much is said nowadays of conservation, and it is undeniable that we Americans have been tempted into improvidence by the lavishness of our natural endowment; on the other hand, it is reasonably sure that in the plan of creation nothing was overlooked, and we may take encouragement in believing that as soon as a real necessity confronts us, we shall discover a new way.

$ARGENTINE\ PROGRESS.$

The rapid advance of the Argentine Republic into prominence among the nations of the world is one of the features of the times. With its natural resources far from being largely developed as yet, the country, along a number of lines of industry, has within the last decade sprung from a rather unimportant position to one of leading importance. As we have heretofore pointed out, with a territory of 1,117,059 square miles, or nearly one-third that of the United States, its population approximates only about 6 millions, making it, with the exception of Siberia in Asia and Peru, Venezuela and Paraguay in South America, the least densely populated of any country of any considerable size concerning which reliable information is obtainable. Moreover, the urban population of the country makes up an inordinately great proportion of the whole, that of Buenos Ayres alone covering nearly onefifth of the aggregate. But notwithstanding the sparseness of inhabitants, recent progress in the development of Argentina's resources has been almost phenomenal.

We are led to refer now to this South American Republic, which on account of its enterprise has been dubbed "The United States of South America," because of the appearance of a series of papers contributed to the Bureau of Manufactures of our Department of Commerce and Labor by Commercial Agent James Davenport Whelpley. In those papers the production and export of meat and the shipping situation of the country are exhaustively and very interestingly treated. Referring to the meat industry, Mr. Whelpley remarks that from the international standpoint the most important and recent development has been the entrance and growing ascendancy of North American interests. Chicago meat companies, he says, en tered the field only seven years ago, but have already attained such a position that they are a decided, if not a dominating, influence in the progress of the trade and the control of prices. They are, moreover, generally credited with having stimulated the meat industry through the introduction of progressive methods, particularly in the development of chilled beef, and under the stimulation Argentina has risen to be the largest exporter of beef in the world, and second only to New Zealand as a shipper of mutton.

Twenty years ago the shipments of chilled beef from Argentina were a negligible quantity, and even as late as 1899 they covered a value of less than half a million dollars, as against \$28,190,000 exports from the United States. Since then, however, Argentina has forged ahead rapidly, and in 1909 showed over 21 millions of dollars of chilled beef exports, as against 9½ millions from the United States. In frozen mutton, too, there has been an important, though not steady, gain in shipments of recent years. From a total value of about 1 million dollars in 1889, there was an advance to $2\frac{1}{4}$ millions in 1899 and to over 7 millions in 1904, with a drop to 5 1-3 millions in 1909. Finally, the exports of all meat products, which in 1889 reached a value of less than four millions of dollars, covered 6¾ millions in 1897 and 33 1-3 millions in 1909. Incidental to the development of the meat industry of | Argentina is explained, of course, by the willingness

Argentina, it is perhaps well to note that in order to encourage native breeders to develop a superior breed of animal, these North American companies have not hesitated to pay extraordinary prices for fine cattle. In fact, the agent tells us that at the recent fat-stock show at Buenos Ayres they gave about $5,000 apiece for 5 steers, making the estimated cost of the available beef therefrom approximately $5 per pound. The entrance of these Chicago companies into the industry in South America, it is explained, however, has been solely to obtain supplies which can no longer be secured at home (in the United States) for the European markets. In fact, it is not considered likely that United States consumers could secure supplies from that quarter, as Europe already furnishes an ample Hogs, it is stated, hold a very unimportant place as yet in Argentina's animal wealth, and their meat is used mainly in the home market. Moreover, and probably due to the fact that the animals are allowed to run wild, the meat is oily and not firstrate material. But as farming becomes more intensive, the hog as well as other food animals that require care and regular feeding in order to get proper results seems bound to receive considerable attention.

Discussing Argentina's growing importance as a seller of food and a buyer of manufactured products, Mr. Whelpley refers to means of communication as of primary importance. North America and Europe, he infers, are essential to her future, even more than they have been to her past, if the country is to become what it aspires and promises to be—one of the great industrial nations. The country, he believes, will probably never find it practicable or necessary to make more than a fractional part of the manufactured products consumed, but on the other hand, the soil and climate are unequaled for grain and stock production.

Aside from its importance in the two instances referred to above, Argentina stands second in the world as a shipper of wool, and it is difficult to properly estimate the position it will attain in the larger field of cereal production. As a matter of fact, it is already practically first as an exporter (if not as a producer) of corn, and second in wheat. All these considerations demand cheap and abundant transportation facilities by water, and these are being quite fully supplied, and will be extended as required.

At present, fully half the foreign commerce of the country passes through Buenos Ayres, which is situated on the south bank of the River Plate 150 miles from the Atlantic. Other ports include Rosario Santa Fe, Ybicuy and Colonia, and some of the trade of Argentina goes by way of Montevideo, Uruguay. The foreign trade of the country has made very rapid strides within the last decade, but European countries have profited much more largely thereby than has the United States. Imports into the country, which in 1899 totaled $116,851,000 gold (an Argentine peso or dollar equals $0.965 U.S. currency), had increased to $302,756,095 in 1909, and, concurrently, exports had risen from $184,918,000 to $397,350,528. The United States, however, is third, after Great Britain and Germany, among the nations from which imports come, and the same two, with Belgium and France, are larger receivers of its products. That Europe has secured the greater part of the trade of displayed to study and meet the requirements of the country. That our manufacturers and exporters have been slow to do, but an improvement in this respect has been in evidence of late.

Exports from the United States to Argentina consist chiefly of raw materials and heavier kinds of manufactured articles, but Mr. Whelpley states that for numerous other commodities, especially in the way of household and office conveniences, there is good opportunity. In the near future also, in his opinion, there would seem to be an opening for dairy machinery the market for which the United States should be able to secure, as it is already the source of supply of most of the agricultural machinery used. Furthermore, the large irrigation projects now under consideration by the National Government as well as by the individual States should bring a demand for the modern machinery which this country can supply. In addressing the National Association of Manufacturers in this city recently, Mr. Charles E. Sherrill, United States Minister to the Argentine Republic, explained the existing conditions of American trade there and pointed out some of the things needed to be done to forward the interests of the United States. He especially urged the need of American banks.

On several occasions within the last two or three years we have attempted to draw attention to the promising field for developing our trade, especially in manufactures, the various South American countries offer. This we can merely reiterate here, adding that nowhere do the possibilities seem so great as in Argentina. It may have escaped notice, but is nevertheless true, that Argentina, with its population of not much more than 6 millions, is a better customer of the United States than Japan, with somewhere about 50 millions, and China, with its hundreds of millions.

—The New York Coffee Exchange, following the action of the New York Stock and Cotton Exchanges, will be closed to-day (Saturday) in addition to Monday. The Produce Exchange is the only local market open to-day. The Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Pittsburgh Stock Exchanges have all suspended business for the three days to Tuesday next.

—Bonds of the Manila Railroad Co. have been added to the list of securities acceptable to the Government for public deposits in national banks. Announcement to this effect was made by the Secretary of the Treasury in the following statement, issued on the 20th inst:.

The Secretary of the Treasury to-day announced, in accordance with the Act of Congress approved March 4 1907, that during the calendar year 1911 the following named bonds will be accepted as security for public deposits with national bank depositaries:

United States, Philippine, Porto Rican and District of Columbia bonds at par; bonds of Hawalian Territory at 90% of par; bonds of the Philippine Railway Co. and Manila Railroad Co. at 90% of their market value, but not exceeding 90% of par.

No additional deposits are, however, now in contemplation, and this announcement does not refer to postal savings deposits.

—Edward Douglass White, who was nominated by President Taft last week as Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, to succeed the late Melville W. Fuller, was sworn into his new office on the 19th inst.

—The nomination of Martin A. Knapp to be an additional U. S. Circuit Judge for the Second Judicial Circuit, and designated to serve for five years as Presiding Judge in the Commerce Court, was confirmed by the United States Senate on the 20th inst. The nomination was sent in by President Taft on the 12th inst. Mr. Knapp has been Chairman of the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Others who were nominated with Mr. Knapp to serve on the Commerce Court are Robert W. Archbold of Pennsylvania, now serving as United States District Judge, to serve four years; William H. Hunt of Montana, now serving as Associate Judge of the Court of Customs Appeals, to serve for three years; John Emmet Carland, now serving as United States District Judge, to serve for two years, and Julian W. Mack of Illinois to serve for one year.

Two new nominations on the Inter-State Commerce Commission were also confirmed this week—C. C. McChord of Kentucky to fill the unexpired term of Commissioner Knapp and B. H. Meyer of Wisconsin to replace Francis M. Cockrell with the expiration of his term on the 31st inst.

—The nomination of Joseph Austin Holmes as Director of the new Bureau of Mines, established in the Department of the Interior under the bill passed by Congress last May, was confirmed by the Senate on the 19th inst. Mr. Holmes was appointed to the post in September.

—George W. Prince, Representative from Illinois, has been appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives to succeed the late Jesse Overstreet as a member of the National Monetary Commission.

—The nomination of George E. Roberts as Director of the United States Mint was confirmed by the Senate on the 14th inst. Mr. Roberts assumed the duties of the office on Sept. 14.

—Action which may result in bringing about a discontinuance of arbitrage trading between members of the New York Stock Exchange and European houses has been taken by the local Exchange, which has referred the matter to a committee of five for determination. The Exchange has made known its decision to pass upon the question in the following notice to the members:

The Committee on Commissions reports after investigation that the arbitrage business as conducted between this Exchange and the European exchanges has practically nullified the commission laws of this Exchange, and recommends that the matter be referred to a committee of five for action.

Arbitrage dealings between New York and other cities in the United States has been forbidden for some years, because of the conclusions of the Exchange that a division of profits in such tradings virtually amounted to a splitting of commissions. It is for the same reason, it is said, that the proposition to prohibit international arbitrage is now under consideration. According to the New York "Sun," the officers of the Stock Exchange who hold arbitrage to be equivalent to "commission splitting," explain their contention as follows:

"Of the two parties in arbitrage one is a member of the New York Stock Exchange. The other is not. Yet it is the custom for the New York broker and the London broker to divide profits on arbitrage business. A London Exchange member, whose seat is worth very little and who has no rights on the New York Exchange, profits from the transaction as much as does a New York broker who pays $75,000 to $95,000 for the privilege of trading. The two split profits, wherefore they must split commissions."

—At a meeting of the Governing Committee of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange, held on the 5th inst., it was resolved that the unit of trading in bonds shall be $1,000. This means, according to the Philadelphia papers, that if a broker bids for a large amount of bonds, he must accept a $1,000 bond at that figure. A ruling made by the Exchange this week permits quotations on the basis of sixteenths in all stocks on which the commission is 6½ cents a share. Heretofore, it is stated, the committee specifically designated the stocks which could be so quoted.

—The organization of a National Currency Association in Cincinnati was perfected on the 13th inst. at a meeting of eight of the national banks of the city and the two national banks of Norwood. The banks making up its membership are the following Cincinnati banks: the First National, the Second National, the Fourth National, the Fifth-Third National, the German National, the Citizens' National, the Atlas National and the Market National, and the First National Bank of Norwood and the Norwood National. The organization has been formed under the name of the National Currency Association of Cincinnati. Its officers are: President, W. S. Rowe, President of the First National Bank of Cincinnati; Vice-President, Charles A. Hinsch, President of the Fifth-Third National Bank; Treasurer, Charles E. Wilson, President of the Fourth National Bank, and Secretary, E. E. Galbreath, Vice-President of the Second National. The executive committee consists of George Guckenberger, President of the Atlas National; G. P. Griffith, Vice-President of the Citizens' National; Casper H. Rowe, Vice-President of the Market National; George H. Bohrer, President of the German National, and C. H. M. Atkins, President of the First National Bank of Norwood.

—The Nevada statute enacted last year, and intended to regulate private banks, by requiring that all banking concerns of the State be incorporated thereunder, if not elsewhere incorporated, has been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Nevada, according to the San Francisco "Commercial News" of November 30. Under the decision the "News" states, the Court holds that "the business of banking is a lawful business, which it is the inherent right of every citizen to engage in. The Act of March 24 1909 provided by Section 2 that it should be unlawful, under penalty, for any corporation, partnership, firm or individual, to engage in the banking business except by means of a corporation duly organized for such purposes under the laws of the State. Sections 5 and 6 created a banking board to have general supervision of banks and banking. Section 12 provided that it should be unlawful to engage in banking without obtaining a license from such board, which license should issue only to corporations duly organized to do a banking business. Such Act is in conflict with that section of the Constitution asserting rights to liberty, property and happiness, to that section guaranteeing due process of law and to the section declaring that rights not enumerated are saved to the people."

-At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Clearing House Section of the American Bankers' Association in Chicago on the 16th inst., Secretary Farnsworth was instructed to have prepared in pamphlet form, for distribution, the proceedings of the meeting of the Section at Los Angeles appertaining directly to clearing-house examiners. The preparation of special articles by J. K. Ottley of Atlanta and C. A. Ruggles of Boston on the zone system of handling country checks was also authorized, these articles to be published in the Journal of the American Bankers' Association. The question of weekly reports of the clearing house, which are given out for publication, was discussed, and it was brought out that it was desirable to have greater uniformity in these reports. This will be the special order of business at the next meeting of the committee, which will probably be held in New York in March.

-The Fourth National Bank, one of the best-known banks of this city, formally opened its enlarged and remodeled banking room last Saturday. A large gathering of New York City bank officials and out-of-town bankers attended the reception held by the officials in the afternoon. The entire Germania Life Insurance Bldg., where the Fourth National formerly had only the Nassau and Pine streets corner, was purchased in 1909, and recently the whole second floor, from Pine Street to Cedar Street, has been reconstructed. The result is that its banking-room is one of the largest in New York and also attractively modern. Fourth's offices now extend the full length of Nassau Street, (about 150 feet) from the Pine to the Cedar Street corners. In the centre of the building a horse-shoe shaped stairway admits of easy entrance to the bank from the street, and under these stairs, direct entrance is had to the elevators and other offices in the building. This entrance has the added attraction of giving the exterior of the Fourth's new home a distinctive architectural appearance. The interior wall decoration of the banking room is paneled English oak, with furniture to match and antique bronze fixtures and lighting arrangements. The effect created was commented on last Saturday as giving the banking room the quiet elegance of a living room. On a little higher level than the main banking room, reached by a broad staircase, are the customers' and directors' rooms, both very comfortable, finished in the same style and shade. The customers' room on the Pine Street side is quiet, large, well-stocked with newspapers, writing desks and a library of useful books, with a stenographer in attendance to accommodate out-of-town customers with their correspondence. The treatment of the panels on the ceilings of both these rooms is unique and is said to be copied from President Cannon's library ceiling at Scarsdale, N. Y. The officers' spacious quarters on the Nassau and Pine Street side, where the President's private office is located, are accessible to the public. The Fourth National Bank was organized in 1864. President James G. Cannon succeeded J. Edward Simmons, who died last August. The capital and surplus was recently increased to $10,000,000, to care for the institution's expansion in business. Mr. Cannon's official associates are Samuel S. Campbell and Charles H. Patterson, Vice-Presidents; Daniel J. Rogers, Cashier, and Ernest W. Davenport, Assistant Cashier. The directorate includes: Cornelius N. Bliss, Robert W. Stuart, Wm. S. Opdyke, T. Frank Manville, Thos. H. McKittrick, Mortimer L. Schiff, L. F. Loree, Eugene Delano, M. Orme Wilson, Eldridge G. Snow and Mr. Cannon.

—Clarence H. Kelsey, President of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. of this city, was elected a member of the Yale Corporation on the 18th inst., to succeed Rev. Dr. Charles Ray Palmer. Mr. Kelsey was valedictorian of the Class of 1878.

-A consolidation of the Chatham National and Phenix National banks of this city, which was rumored as under consideration more than a year ago, is now actively being pushed. The stockholders of the Phenix National have been advised of the offer of a proposed syndicate to purchase all the shares of that institution, this syndicate, it is understood, being headed by George Coffing Warner and William A. Law. Mr. Law, who is First Vice-President of the First National Bank of Philadelphia, was one of a syndicate which acquired a large interest in the Chatham National in September 1909. The plans which have been formulated to effect the consolidation provide for the appointment of a committee of eight to determine the price, based upon the valuation of its assets, to be paid for the stock of the Phenix, the bank and the syndicate each having four representatives in the committee. In case of the failure of the committee to agree, final decision is to be left with Charles H. Sabin, Vice-President of the Guaranty Trust Co. As an alternative to the appraisal plan, it is proposed that the consolidation be carried out through the liquidation of the Phenix by its directors. If the project is finally brought to a successful conclusion, the consolidated bank will be known as the Chatham & Phenix National Bank, and will have a capital and surplus of $3,000,000. Louis G. Kaufman, President of the Chatham, is slated for the presidency, and Bert L. Haskins, Cashier of the Phenix, for the cashiership. Both banks are among the older financial institutions of the city. The Chatham was organized as a State bank in 1851 and became a national bank in 1865. Its capital has continued at $450,000 (in $25 shares) from the start. It has a surplus of over a million dollars, and deposits on the 17th inst. of $7,959,300. Mr. Kaufman became President of the bank in August last. He had previously been identified with banking interests of Michigan for eighteen years. George M. Hard, who has been associated with the Chatham for over fifty years, and was its President for more than twentyfive years, is Chairman of its board. The Phenix National dates from 1865. It has a capital of $1,000,000 and surplus and profits of about $750,000; its deposits on Saturday last were $7,853,000. Finis E. Marshall has been its President since April 1905; he was formerly a Vice-President of the National Bank of Commerce in St. Louis.

The Chatham National Bank has just declared an extra dividend of 4% from the earnings of the year, along with the 160th regular quarterly distribution of 4% from the earnings of the past three months, both payable Jan. 1 1911 to holders of record Dec. 23 1910.

—At a meeting this week of the directors of the Mercantile Trust Co. of this city, Edwin Hawley was elected a member of the Executive Committee and William Sproule was made a director. Mr. Sproule is President of Wells, Fargo & Co.

The suspension of the New York Stock Exchange house of Judson & Judson of 25 Broad Street was announced on the Exchange on the 17th inst., and in response to an involuntary petition subsequently filed against the firm, A. Leo Everett was appointed receiver. The firm was composed of Alfred M. Judson, a member of the Exchange since 1869; Charles Y. Judson, and Percy W. Sherman. According to a statement attributed to C. Y. Judson, the firm had been doing very little business for the last two or three years; he also said that he believed the liabilities would not amount to much more than $100,000, and that there were enough quick assets to pay off at once about 70% of the outstanding obligations. Counsel for the receiver later placed the liabilities as between $150,000 and $200,000 and the assets from $130,000 to $140,000.

—Miles M. O'Brien, who recently resigned as Vice-President and director of the Mercantile National Bank of this city on account of ill-health, died on Thursday. Mr. O'Brien had also formerly been President of the New Amsterdam National Bank, but had relinquished that office a year before the institution closed its doors in 1908. He was born in Ireland sixty-seven years ago, but came here at an early age. Before entering the banking field he had for a number of years been connected with H. B. Claffin & Co. He was twice President of the Board of Education.

—The Fidelity Trust Co. of this city has adopted a unique way of reminding its stockholders of the holiday season by sending out a Christmas dividend check of 2% on its capital stock, payable Dec. 22, in addition to the customary 3% semi-annual dividend. This is 1% more than the additional dividend paid at this time last year, and increases the rate from 7% yearly to 8%. The announcement and signed check are appropriately printed with Christmas holly decorations.

—Among the Christmas distributions made this year to employees by the local banks and trust companies, that of the Central Trust is perhaps the most conspicuous. The company has appropriated as a bonus to the employees a sum similar to that set aside for the same purpose last year, namely, $50,000, which is equivalent to 50% of the salaries of those who share in the distribution. The trustee, it is announced, have also voted a bonus of $50,000 to President James N. Wallace.

-A verdict for $39,910 against the Hanover National Bank of this city was handed down in the State Supreme Court, Trial Term, on Wednesday in an action brought by Springs & Co. of the New York Cotton Exchange as an outgrowth of the Knight, Yancey & Co. suspension. It appears that Springs & Co. had paid a draft for over $100,000 attached to what purported to be a bill of lading issued by a railroad acknowledging the receipt of 1,500 bales of cotton shipped to the order of Knight, Yancey & Co., and by endorsement transferred from that concern to Springs & Co. The draft with the bill of lading attached was deposited with the First National Bank of Decatur, Ala., and indersed over to the Hanover National Bank of New York for collection. The latter, it is stated, presented it to Springs & Co., collecting the money and surrendering the bill of lading, which was later found to be fraudulent. Suit was brought by Springs & Co. against the Hanover National on the theory that with the indorsement by the Alabama bank to the Hanover National the latter became the owner of the draft and bill of lading, and warranted the genuineness of the bill of lading. Judgment for Springs & Co. was given by the Court on Wednesday on the ground that the company paid the money on the belief that the bill of lading was genuine, and in view of the fact that it proved otherwise, it was held to be inequitable for the Hanover to retain the money. Hanover, it is understood, will appeal the decision.

Yesterday all employees of the Bankers Trust Co. of this city received a Christmas bonus amounting to 10% of their salary for the year. The executive committee, it is stated, thought it appropriate to recognize in this way the faithfulness of employees and their part in making the past year the most prosperous one in the company's history.

—The Trust Company of America has declared a quarterly dividend of 3%, payable Dec. 31 1910 to holders of record Dec. 24. This increases the yearly rate from 10% to 12%, previous payments at each quarterly period having been 2½%.

An initial dividend has been declared by the Battery Park National Bank of this city, being a semi-annual distribution of 3%, payable Jan. 3 1911 to holders of record Dec. 22 1910.

—The County Trust Co. of White Plains, N. Y., has declared its first dividend of 2%, quarterly, payable Jan. 3, being at the rate of 8% per annum.

—An order approving the arrangements entered into with the directors of the failed National Bank of North America of this city by John W. McKinnon, agent for the shareholders, in which a settlement of the suits against the directors is effected, was signed by Judge Ward in the United States Circuit Court on the 17th inst. The arrangement, it is understood, also disposes of the litigation in which Mr. Mc-Kinnon, as agent, was defendant; this concerned a judgment which had been obtained against him by the Mercantile National Bank for about $240,000 in a suit growing out of alleged losses on a loan made to the National Bank of North America during Mr. Morse's association with that institution. Mr. McKinnon had already lost this suit in the lower Court, and had little expectation of winning it on an appeal. As security for the loan, the Mercantile holds 4,000 shares of American Ice Securities, claimed to be worth about $68,000. In the settlement arranged, the directors, who were sued for $380,000 by Mr. McKinnon for losses suffered by the bank, agree to relieve him from the judgment of $240,000, and to turn over to him for cancellation 600 shares of stock of the National Bank of North America. Mr. McKinnon places the value of the proposed settlement at at least $211,000. The suit against the directors involved Charles W. Morse, John H. Flagler, William F. Havemeyer, Alfred H. Curtis, Ashbel H. Barney and James T. Barney, as executors of the estate of Charles T. Barney; John W. Gates, Charles M. Schwab and Robert M. Thompson.

—Walter A. Hall, former paying teller of the Herald Square Branch of the Greenwich Bank, who pleaded guilty recently to an indictment charging grand larceny, was sentenced on the 9th inst. to not less than two years nor more than three years and ten months. The amount involved in the shortage was $44,000, of which $15,690 was subsequently returned.

—Cornwall A. Arnold, formerly an assistant paying teller of the Seventy-second Street branch of the Corn Exchange Bank, who pleaded guilty to misapplying $1,485 of the bank's funds, was sentenced to the Elmira Reformatory on the 16th inst.

-With the termination last week of the agreement under which control of the Williamsburgh Trust Co. of Brooklyn Borough had lodged with a voting trust since its reorganization in 1908, announcement was made of the purpose to place before the shareholders for decision the question as to whether the business of the institution shall be continued or dissolved. The company was one of the several Jenkins institutions which suspended in October 1907. Its reopening the following June was effected through a loan of $1,500,-000 from the Metropolitan Trust Co. and an agreement to place about 80% of its stock with a board of trustees consisting of Gen. Brayton Ives, William N. Dykman and the late J. Edward Simmons. The original agreement was dated May 5 1908 and had two years to run, and on May 5 of the present year was renewed for a further period of one year. It is stated that under the terms of the agreement the trustees were entitled to terminate it at any time. Its termination, and the intention to act on the proposition as to whether or not the company shall continue, were made known in the following statement issued by President Jacob Klinck on the 14th inst.

Gen. Brayton Ives has returned to the Williamsburgh Trust Co. for distribution over 1,100 shares of capital stock transferred to him in May 1908. Yesterday Gen. Ives and William Dykman, as voting trustees, terminated the voting trust agreement under which they held over 5,000 shares of the capital stock, and arranged for the return of these shares to the holders who deposited them. The result of this is to put every shareholder just where he was before suspension.

To-day the directors have concluded an agreement with the Metropolitan Trust Co. whereby we borrow money enough to pay every depositor in full, in cash, at once, and the assets of our company will be liquidated by the Metropolitan Company between now and July 1 1912, but under the direction of the men who compose the executive committee of the Williamsburgh Company. This will prevent the waste or sacrifice of our assets.

The agreement provides that the shareholders shall meet and pass upon the agreement, and also decide whether the Williamsburgh Trust Co. shall continue business or be dissolved. We have been forced to lay this question before the shareholders by diminishing deposits and profits, which has led the directors to believe that the shareholders will be benefited by liquidation.

The Williamsburgh Trust Co. was organized in 1899. It has a capital of $700,000. In a report made to the Banking Department by the company several months prior to its closing in October 1908, its deposits were given as over $8,000,000. On June 17 1908, shortly after its reopening the deposits were reported as $3,684,097, while in its statement in response to the call of Nov. 10 1910 deposits of $1,312,600 are shown. The "Brooklyn Eagle" states that under the present arrangement with the Metropolitan Trust the latter has advanced to the Williamsburgh in the neighborhood of $1,250,000. All but about $600,000 of the original loan of $1,500,000, it is stated, has been paid off, making its total obligations to the Metropolitan now approximately $1,850,000. It is further said that, in consideration of this, the directors of the Williamsburgh Trust have assigned to the Metropolitan all assets of the former, including real estate holdings.

—The Brooklyn Trust Co. has declared not only the usual quarterly dividend of 5%, but also an extra dividend of 5%, both payable Jan. 3 1911 to holders of record Dec. 23 1910.

—David H. Valentine, a director in the Long Island Loan & Trust Company and the Mechanics' Bank of Brooklyn Borough, died on the 21st inst. He was also a director of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. and numerous other local organizations. He was sixty-five years of age.

—A dividend of 100%, it is announced, is to be paid to the stockholders of the Montclair Trust Co. of Montclair, N. J. It is also stated that at the annual meeting in January the capital is to be increased from $100,000 to $200,000, and further that it has been agreed by a syndicate of directors and others to take, at $175 per share, any of the new issue not placed with the stockholders at par.

—As another step in bringing into effect the plan of uniting the business of the New Haven Trust Co. and the Union Trust Co. of New Haven, Conn., the New Haven Trust has increased its capital from $200,000 to $650,000. Its stockholders voted on the proposition on Nov. 4 and their action was approved on the same date by the trustees. We are informed that 2,500 shares are to be used in accordance with the plan to acquire the assets of the Union Trust Co., capital $100,000. The remaining 2,000 shares were offered and have been subscribed to by the public at $150 per share, 50% of the subscriptions being payable on or before Jan. 1 1911 and the remaining 50% on or before May 1 1911. At present each institution is carrying on business in its respective quarters and will continue to do so until the new building is ready for occupancy—about the first of May 1911.

-While there is no law in Massachusetts prohibiting a savings bank treasurer from serving as a town treasurer, State Bank Commissioner Chapin is said to have made known his desire that the same person shall not officiate in both capacities. In view of the Commissioner's wishes, F. E. Nickerson, Treasurer of the Stoneham Five Cent Savings Bank and Town Treasurer of Stoneham, has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election as Town Treasurer next year. It is stated that there are but few instances where the two offices are held by the one person. About seven years ago a law was passed by the State Legislature prohibiting officers of savings banks from holding official positions in national banks.

-The Exchange Trust Co. of Boston has been accorded permission by the Board of Bank Incorporators to operate a branch at 124 Boylston Street. It is stated that it will be opened early in the coming year.

-Chester C. Rumrill has been elected a member of the board of the National Union Bank of Boston.

-William J. Keliher, who was found guilty last June of aiding and abetting George W. Coleman, former bookkeeper of the failed National City Bank of Cambridge, Mass., in the misapplication of funds of the institution, was sentenced on the 20th inst. to a term of eighteen years in the State Prison at Charlestown. 'A stay in the execution of the sentence has been granted pending an appeal. District Attorney French in presenting the case for sentence to Judge Hale, made the assertion that Coleman was a mere tool of the defendant and his associates, into whose pockets, he claimed, there went at least $200,000 of the assets of the bank, "through the instrumentality of a fake faro game operated in New York." Coleman is now serving a fifteen-year sentence. The bank failed on Feb. 23 1910.

—A dividend of 7% has been declared to the creditors of the First National Bank of Chelsea, Mass., which failed on Aug. 16 1906. The present payment, it is stated, makes the aggregate thus far 93%.

-The Merchants' Trust Co. is being formed in Lawrence, Mass., and in it will be consolidated the business of the Lawrence National Bank and the Merchants' National Bank of that town. It is expected that the new institution will make use of the offices of both banks. At a meeting on the 12th inst. the directors of the Lawrence National adopted a resolution recommending to the stockholders that their institution be placed in liquidation and that its assets be sold to the proposed trust company. The Lawrence National has a capital of $300,000 and the Merchants' National a capital of $100,000.

-The Saco Savings Bank of Saco, Maine, was closed on the 16th inst. under a temporary injunction restraining it from conducting business, granted at the instance of State Bank Commissioner Skelton and four of the trustees of the institution. The action followed a conference between the trustees and the Bank Examiner held as a result of the falling off in deposits disclosed in the semi-annual report of the bank made to the Banking Department in November. Commissioner Skelton in a statement issued in the matter says in part:

During the six months from June 3 to Dec. 3 the bank's deposits fell from $1,434,542 73 to $1,361,431 79. In the meantime the July dividend, amounting to $27,983 79, had been declared and added to deposits or withdrawn, making a total net reduction of $101,094 73. This absorbed the bank's available cash and some $30,000 of borrowed money.

The bulk of these withdrawals occurred in the space of a few weeks in the early fall, and no material decrease has taken place recently, but there was reason to believe that more would follow the payment of the January dividend. These could only be met by further borrowing or by the sale of those securities which commanded the best market.

Either solution would mean ultimate loss to the less vigilant depositors, and it was thought best to take such action as would assure equal treatment to all.

This bank's troubles date from its connection with the Summit Spring Hotel property in Poland, formerly known as the White Oak Hill Hotel, which was taken on some nine or ten years ago under the administration of a former President of the bank. A large amount of money was invested in this enterprise, first as a direct loan and then in an attempt to save that already advanced, and never returned any income to the bank.

The withdrawals are said to have followed the closing last August of the York County Savings Bank in the adjacent city of Biddeford. The Saco Savings Bank was organized in 1869. A hearing on the question of appointing a receiver for the institution will be had Jan. 3.

-Profits of over $1,200,000 were shown by the Girard Trust Co. of Philadelphia in its report for the year ending Nov. 30, submitted at the annual meeting held on the 19th inst. These profits are equal to over 48% on the capital of $2,500,000, or 12% on the combined capital and surplus of $10,000,000. The trust funds of estates in the company's charge are given as approximately $110,000,000, while the amount represented in the corporate trusts aggregates some $1,360,000,000 The Philadelphia "Enquirer" states that a pension fund has been established by the company to take care of every officer or clerk incapacitated by old age or illness. The following directors, whose terms expired this year, have been re-elected for a term of four years: Edward J. Berwind, Randal Morgan, Edward T. Stotesbury, Henry B. Coxe and Edgar C. Felton.

-James N. Huston, formerly United States Treasurer; Harvey M. Lewis and Everett Du Four are reported to have been convicted on the 13th inst. by a jury in the Criminal Court of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud in connection with the operation of the National Trust Co. of Washington, whose offices were closed by the Government early the present year. The company, it is stated, offered to guarantee the stock of other companies on a commission basis; but the claim is said to have been made by the Post Office inspectors who raided the offices that they failed to find material evidence to justify the company's ability to carry out its guaranties. A motion for a new trial will be made.

-Arrangements for the payment of the amount which still remains due to the City of Pittsburgh by the failed Allegheny National Bank of that city have been made by the bondsmen. At the time of the failure of the bank in 1908 the city's deposit amounted to about $1,500,000, and of this a little less than $200,000 is unpaid. It is stated that it has been agreed to accept 2% interest from the bondsmen, the same amount which the bank would have paid, and that the total payment which they will make in the final discharge of the debt is $195,000. A resolution authorizing the consummation of the settlement will be passed by the City Council at its next regular session

-A motion to quash the indictment against Frank N. Hoffstot, President of the German National Bank of Allegheny, Pa., is denied in decisions handed down on the 3d inst. by Judges Swearingen and Cohen of the Quarter Sessions Court at Pittsburgh. A similar motion on behalf of Max G. Leslie, County Delinquent Tax Collector, was denied at the same time. The indictments in both cases grew out of the passage of an ordinance naming certain banks as city depositaries. The Pittsburgh "Gazette-Times" states that the motions to quash "were filed on alleged irregularities in swearing witnesses before the Grand Jury; that Harrison Nesbit, foreman of the Grand Jury, was not a qualified elector; improper sealing of the jury wheel; that stenographic notes taken before the jury were allowed to get into other hands than those of the District-Attorney and his assistants, and that Bartley Fleming, Jury Commissioner, was never properly sworn.' Three opinions were filed, two by Judge Swearingen separately refusing the petition of the defendants, and the other by Judge Cohen concurring in both opinions of Judge Swearingen. It was held by the Court that the objections raised, while legal, were purely technical.

-The Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh is distributing to its friends a calendar of large size for 1911 which will prove most useful for offices and banking rooms where the practical needs are such as to require a calendar which will be visible at a long distance.

—The intention of W. Irving Osborne to retire as President of the Continental & Commercial Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago is announced. Mr. Osborne, who is in failing health, plans to go abroad for a time. He became President of the institution last summer with its formation through the consolidation of the American Trust & Savings Bank and the Commercial Trust & Savings Bank. He had previously been chosen as head of the Commercial Trust & Savings at the time of its organization several months before the consolidation, and prior to that had been a Vice-President of the Central Trust Co. of Illinois. It is expected that George M. Reynolds, President of the Continental & Commercial National Bank, will succeed Mr. Osborne in the presidency of the Continental & Commercial Trust & Savings.

—Edmund C. Day was named on the 14th inst. as receiver of the Cosmopolitan Bank of Chicago, a private banking institution at 155 Washington St. The appointment grew out of proceedings brought against the bank by George M. Lyle, a real estate dealer, who, it is said, charges the officials with having issued fraudulent certificates of deposit. A permit to convert the institution into a State bank was secured last fall, but it is reported that its incorporation was not to have been perfected until the first of the year.

—The surplus account of the Chicago Title & Trust Co. of Chicago has been increased to $1,500,000 through the transfer to that item of $500,000 from undivided profits. The directors have also declared the usual quarterly dividend of 2%, payable Dec. 31 to stockholders of record Dec. 19.

—It is understood that the Chicago Savings Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago, Ill., plans to increase its capital from $500,000 to $1,000,000. A meeting of the stockholders will be held in February to pass on the proposition, and with its ratification the new stock will be offered to the present holders at 120.

-Judge Tuthill of the Chicago Circuit Court has decided that C. K. G. Billings, a director of the failed Chicago National Bank, is personally liable for about $3,000,000 of the losses sustained by the stockholders. On the 20th inst. he appointed William C. Niblack as receiver for the assets of the institution for the purpose of bringing suit for the collection of the claim against Mr. Billings. The other directors, it is stated, have paid large sums in satisfaction of their liability, Mr. Billings, it is asserted, being the only one who has made no payment. It is claimed by him that he had resigned before the suspension of the institution in Dec. 1905, but that no action was taken on the resignation by President Walsh. An offer to settle the claim for $158,125 was recently made by Mr. Billings, but a temporary injunction was issued by Judge Tuthill in November restraining the directors from presenting the proposition to the stockholders. This injunction was made permanent by Judge Tuthill on the 16th inst.

—A raid was made on the 15th inst. by agents of the Department of Justice on the offices of the Capital Investment Co. in Chicago and its branches in Aurora and Joliet. According to a statement given out by the Department, and quoted herewith, the company is characterized in the complaint as a bucket shop whose operators have fraudulently used the mails

"At noon to-day, Washington time, simultaneous arrests were made by special agents of the Bureau of Investigation of this Department of persons employed in the offices of the Capital Investment Co., in the Rookery building in Chicago, and at six local offices in Chicago, Aurora and Joliet.

"The complaints allege that the Capital Investment Co. is a bucket shop whose operators have been fraudulently using the United States mails.

"This concern is said to have thirty-three local offices in various States.

"This concern is said to have thirty-three local offices in various States. It is alleged that Sidmon McHie is the principal proprietor of this concern, and that the active arrangement is in the hands of one Frank C. Williams. It is believed that this is the last bucket shop of any prominence east of Denver."

The alleged head of the concern, S. McHie, was arrested on the 16th inst. and later released under $10,000 bail.

—The Market State Bank of Minneapolis began business on the 2d inst. The institution has a capital of $25,000. Adam Hannah, Treasurer of the Savings Bank of Minneapolis, is President of the new bank.

—The officers and staff of the First National Bank of Minneapolis are sending to their friends neat little cards wishing them a happy Christmas and a prosperous new year.

—A. W. Trumble has been elected President of the Packers' National Bank of South Omaha, Neb., to succeed the late John F. Coad. Mr. Trumble had been Vice-President.

—E. A. Lindsey has been elected President of the Hermitage National Bank of Nashville, Tenn., to succeed Frank Dibrell, resigned. Mr. Dibrell, who is State Comptroller, had been President of the institution since its establishment last year. Mr. Lindsey, the new head of the bank, is a Vice-President of the First National Bank of Nashville.

—The City National Bank of Knoxville, Tenn., reports a further increase in deposits for the period ending with Nov. 10th last, the amount being shown as $2,484,189, against $2,082,743 on Sept. 1 1910. Aggregate resources have advanced from $3,509,314 to $3,918,490. William S. Shields is President, Edward Henegar, Vice-President, and R. E. Mooney, Cashier. This institution has one of the finest and most up-to-date bank buildings in the South devoted solely to banking purposes.

—The Whitney-Central National Bank of New Orleans added considerably to its deposits in the two months ending Nov. 10, the amount having advanced from $11,062,-263 on Sept. 1 1910 to $12,658,537 under the latest statement—Nov. 10. Aggregate resources are now reported at $20,688,985, against $18,136,319 in September, representing a gain of over two and a half millions of dollars. The institution, which has a capital of $2,500,000 and surplus and profits of $1,690,775, is now occupying its magnificent new building in the heart of the financial district. Charles Godchaux is President; Frank B. Williams, Charles M. Whitney, Sol Wexler, John E. Bouden Jr. and Harry T. Howard are Vice-Presidents; John B. Ferguson is Cashier.

—It is reported that the directors of the Farmers' & Mechanics' Savings Bank of Sacramento have decided to raise the paid-in capital of the institution from $200,000 to the authorized amount of $500,000 and to change the name to the Guaranty Trust & Savings Bank. The changes, it is understood, will be made early the coming year.

—To show the noteworthy growth in bank deposits in Seattle during the past fourteen years, we give below a little table compiled by the Seattle National Bank, "which tells more graphically than many books how Seattle has emerged from a village to one of the financial centres of the country." The figures in the last call of each year are given:

In 1896 Seattle had only nine banks with deposits aggregating, as will be seen, $3,372,000, while in 1910 it has twenty-seven banks with total deposits of $78,376,000. The Seattle National Bank, which effected a consolidation with the Puget Sound National last May, has deposits under the new call of Nov. 10 of $15,730,909. The National Bank of Commerce reported deposits of $11,742,936, and the Dexter-Horton National deposits of $10,551,565. These three institutions, together with the First National Bank, which has deposits of $3,659,877, are the only national banks in Seattle, yet they have over 50% of the total deposits in their keeping, and serve to give to the City of the Sound the financial supremacy that it has gained.

Monetary Commercial English News

[From our own correspondent.]

London, Saturday, December 17 1910.

The lockout of the boiler makers, which began on Sept. 3, was ended on Thursday of this week, when the men returned to work. Thus the lockout has lasted not far short of fifteen weeks, with immense loss of every kind. It is estimated, indeed, that in wages alone the losses have amounted to £800,000, or four million dollars. The struggle was conducted with great self-control. There was no rioting—irdeed, no disturbance of the public peace. And it is admitted on both sides that the settlement is fair and satisfactory to both parties.

The strike in South Wales is not yet ended, but there are very strong hopes entertained that it will be settled imme diately. In South Wales there has not been the same selfcontrol that was shown in the North of England and South of Scotland, for there has been a great deal of discreditable rioting. The losses there have been very heavy, likewise, and the experience both in the North and in South Wales all leads to the conviction that it will be a long time before disagreements between employers and employed lead to either strikes or lockouts. The boilermakers' lockout has lasted much longer than the employers anticipated, and it is equally certain that the strike in South Wales has been protracted far beyond what the original strikers contemplated. Losses, then, have been serious on all sides, and the hope is entertained everywhere that the lesson will be taken to heart; and that both emp oyers and employed will in the future be even more e ger than in the past to settle amicably all disputes.

The settlement of the boilermakers' lockout led to a general rise in British railway stocks, though there was very little increase in actual tra sactions. We are within a fortnight of the end of the year. There will in the fortnight be two Bank holidays and two Sandays. The Stock Exchange possibly also may be closed on the Saturday before Christmas. Thus, there will be, at all events, four idle days, and there may be five. In addition, on New Year's Day the Stock Exchange will be closed, so that if we include New Year's Day and the day following, there will be, in little more than a fortnight, three Sundays, two Bank holidays, one day on which the Stock Exchange will be closed and one day on which the Stock Exchange may be closed. In addition to all this, there is always a great outflow of coin and notes in connection with the Christmas holidays, while in the last week of the year the final Stock Exchange settlement has to be arranged and all the payments made in regard to interest, dividends and other matters usual at the turn of the year. It is reasonable to conclude that few people will care to engage in new risks until the new year enters.

On the 5th of January the Bank of England will pay out the interest upon the National Debt. Consequently, money, which is already easy and plentiful, will become still easier, and after that there will be a return of coin and notes from internal circulation. The best opinion, consequently, is that we shall see a marked advance in the quotations for British Government securities and for British railway securities. Consols have been moving up for ten days or a fortnight. The advance has been continued more decidedly during the past couple of days, and as it is certain that the Government has not yet invested the surplus from the last financial year, and as there will be a large surplus, according to all appearances, at the end of next March, when the current financial year will close, there should be in April and May a considerable decrease in the debt. Furthermore, the settlement of all labor disputes, the growing trade, the decrease in the working expenses of the railways and the increase in the traffic receipts, cannot fail to lead to larger investment in British railway stocks than has taken place for a considerable time. 門口 中國小師

With regard to American securities, there is a steady investment going on here at present. Prices are now so tempting that investors proper are buying on quite a scale, and when dividends and interest are distributed early in January it is reasonable to anticipate that the investment will go on. There has not been much speculation in Americans any more than in any other securities for some time past. In Paris business is as slack as it is in London. In Berlin it is, if possible, slacker, for the banks are all using their influence to compel operators to lessen their accounts because it is anticipated that money will be tight at the end of the

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 70 lacs of its bills, and the applications exceeded 639 3/4 lacs. at prices ranging from 1s. 4 1-16d. to 1s. 4 3-32d. per rupee. Messrs. Pixley & Abell write as follows under date of Dec. 15:

GOLD.—Arrivals of bar gold this week amounted to £727,000, and owing to some competition from Germany in connection with the demand usual at the end

GOLD.—Arrivals of bar gold this week amounted to £727,000, and owing to some competition from Germany in connection with the demand usual at the end of the year, a small premium was paid. India and the trade secured about £180,000, the Bank of England about £200,000 and the balance went to the Continent. Next week £598,000 is expected from South Africa and £114,000 from India and Australia, and competition for the Continent is again probable. An inquiry for the United States was at one time rumored, but the rise in the exchange makes this unlikely for the present. The Indian, demand for sovereigns is for the moment being satisfied by Egypt. Since our last there have been no withdrawals of gold from the Bank of England, while, on the other hand, £219,000 has been received in bars and £6,000 from Australia in sovereigns. Arrivals—South Africa, £692,000; West Indies, £32,500; Australia, £2,000; West Africa, £1,000; total, £163,500. Shiptents—Bombay, £124,500; Calcutta, £39,000; total, £163,500. Silver.—There has been an improvement in silver during the past week and prices show a rise of ¼d. on the week at 25¼d. for spot and 25 7-16d. for forward. The factors to which we referred last week, which have recently depressed the market, seem now to have had thier full effect, and the tone of the market generally has distinctly improved, while both China and India have sent good support during the week. The immediate outlook depends to a great extent on the export trade in China, which is showing more activity, but the large holdings of the group of Indian speculators have still a tendency to keep buyers out of the market. The rise this week would probably have been more marked but for the fact that a large portion of the China demand has been freely met in India by the speculative group and though in the long run this should have a good effect, by reducing their holdings, it at present prevents any sharp advance here. Stocks in Bombay show a reduction at 20 000 hars hut including silver now on the sear they amount to £ though in the long run this should have a good effect, by reducing their holdings, it at present prevents any sharp advance here. Stocks in Bombay show a reduction at 20,000 bars, but including silver now on the sea they amount to £2,500,000. The offtake there is about 80 bars a day, but should improve shortly. Currency returns also show a reduction on the week of 79 lacs at 29 crores. The American Government purchased a further 100,000 ounces for coinage on the 10th inst. The price in Bombay is Rs. $64\frac{1}{2}$ per 100 tolahs. Arrivals—New York, £256,500 Chile, £3,000. West, Indies, £5,000 total, £264,500 Shipments, Page Said Chile, £3,000; West Indies, £5,000; total, £264,500. Note.—"Surplus" includes all undivided profits. "Reserve on deposits" includes, for both trust companies and State banks, not only cash items, but amounts due from reserve agents. Trust companies in New York State are required by law to keep a reserve proportionate to their deposits, the ratio varying according to location as shown below. The percentage of reserve required is computed on the aggregate of deposits, exclusive of moneys held in trust and not payable within thirty days, and also exclusive of time deposits not payable within 30 days, represented by certificates, and also exclusive of deposits secured by bonds of the State of New York. The State banks are likewise required to keep a reserve varying according to location, the reserve being computed on the whole amount of deposits exclusive of time deposits not payable within 30 days, represented by certificates (according to the amendment of 1910) and exclusive of deposits secured by bonds of the State of New York. + Increase over last week. - Decrease from last week. * As of Aug. 31.

The Banking Department also undertakes to present separate figures indicating the totals for the State banks and trust companies in the Greater New York not in the Clearing House. These figures are shown in the table below, as are also the results (both actual and average) for the Clearing-House banks. In addition, we have combined each corresponding item in the two statements, thus affording an aggregate for the whole of the banks and trust companies in the Greater New York.

Bankers' Gazette.

Wall Street, Friday Night, Dec. 23 1910.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Business in Wall Street has been chiefly interesting on account of a larger investment demand for bonds. At the Exchange the transactions in this department have exceeded all recent records and prominent bond houses report an inquiry at the counter such as has not been seen for many months. At the same time the market for shares has been unusually dull and featureless

A formal entry of the recent decision by the Circuit Court of Philadelphia, which practically put out of business the Temple Iron Company, was followed by a little more interest in the anthracite coal shares; but an advance of the Lehigh Valley divid nd ate seems to have been previously dis-

Otherwise there is nothing new of importance in the general situation. The Bank of England reports the usual loss of reserve incident to the season, a matter which, as is well known, will speedily adjust itself with the opening of a new year. There is, as yet, no unusual demand for funds in the local market, such as often develops during the holiday period. It is reported that the banks have gained through transactions with the sub-Treasury this week, and there now seems no likelihood of any stringency, or sharp advance in rates, as the year draws to a close.

The open market rates for call loans at the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from $2\frac{1}{2}$ to $3\frac{1}{2}\%$. To-day's rates on call were $3@3\frac{1}{2}\%$. Commercial paper quoted at $4\frac{1}{4}@4\frac{3}{4}\%$ for 60 to 90-day endorsements, $4\frac{1}{4}@4\frac{3}{4}\%$ for prime 4 to 6 months' single names and $5@5\frac{1}{4}\%$ for good single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease of bullion of £2,224,140 and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 46.35, against 50.01 last week.

The rate of discount remains unchanged at $4\frac{1}{4}\%$ as fixed

The rate of discount remains unchanged at $4\frac{1}{2}\%$, as fixed Dec. 1. The Bank of France shows an increase of 2,275,000 francs gold and 50,000 francs silver.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has, as noted, above, been more active. In some cases quotations are farctionally higher and in others lower; but in no case does the net change exceed a point.

The increased transactions are quite generally distributed throughout the list and include a large number of issues.

There have been no special features worthy of mention. Central of Georgia incomes have continued relatively active and steady. Some of the industial issues have been in request, including United States Steel, Central Leather, Bethlehem Steel and American Tobacco.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board are limited to $1,000 3s coup. at 102½. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Siocks .- The general characteristics of the stock market are such as frequently obtain at this season. The volume of business diminished day by day until reduced to 114,500 shares to-day, the smallest in recent years, and prices have fluctuated narrowly throughout the week. The market was strong in tone on Monday and during the early part of Tuesday, when the highest quotations of the week were recorded, and although the later recession had little force, closing prices are in a majority of cases fractionally lower than last week.

Reading has been the most active feature. It advanced over 3 points, and other anthracite carriers were notably strong on the recent judicial decision mentioned above, which was favorably interpreted. Lehigh Valley has covered a range of nearly 4 points and closes with a fractional net change. Interboro-Metropolitan has lost a part of the advance noted last week, although its prospective interest in new subways seems to be increasing.

Bankers' Gazette.

Wall Street, Friday Night, Dec. 23 1910.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Business in Wall Street has been chiefly interesting on account of a larger investment demand for bonds. At the Exchange the transactions in this department have exceeded all recent records and prominent bond houses report an inquiry at the counter such as has not been seen for many months. At the same time the market for shares has been unusually dull and featureless.

A formal entry of the recent decision by the Circuit Court of Philadelphia, which practically put out of business the Temple Iron Company, was followed by a little more interest in the anthracite coal shares; but an advance of the Lehigh Valley divid nd ate seems to have been previously dis-

Otherwise there is nothing new of importance in the general situation. The Bank of England reports the usual loss of reserve incident to the season, a matter which, as is well known, will speedily adjust itself with the opening of a new year. There is, as yet, no unusual demand for funds in the local market, such as often develops during the holiday period. It is reported that the banks have gained through transactions with the sub-Treasury this week, and there now seems no likelihood of any stringency, or sharp advance in rates, as the year draws to a close.

The open market rates for call loans at the Stock Exchange The open market rates for call loans at the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from $2\frac{1}{2}$ to $3\frac{1}{2}\%$. To-day's rates on call were $3@3\frac{1}{2}\%$. Commercial paper quoted at $4\frac{1}{4}@4\frac{3}{4}\%$ for 60 to 90-day endorsements, $4\frac{1}{4}@4\frac{3}{4}\%$ for prime 4 to 6 months' single names and $5@5\frac{1}{4}\%$ for good single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease of bullion of £2,224,140 and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 46.35, against 50.01 last week.

The rate of discount remains unchanged at $4\frac{1}{2}\%$, as fixed

The rate of discount remains unchanged at 41/2%, as fixed Dec. 1. The Bank of France shows an increase of 2,275,000 francs gold and 50,000 francs silver.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has, as noted, above, been more active. In some cases quotations are farctionally higher and in others lower; but in no case does the net change exceed a point. The increased transactions are quite generally distributed throughout the list and include a large number of issues. There have been no special features worthy of mention. Central of Georgia incomes have continued relatively active and steady. Some of the industial issues have been in request, including United States Steel, Central Leather, Bethlehem Steel and American Tobacco.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board are limited to $1,000 3s coup. at 102½. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Siocks.—The general characteristics of the stock market are such as frequently obtain at this season. The volume of business diminished day by day until reduced to 114,500 shares to-day, the smallest in recent years, and prices have fluctuated narrowly throughout the week. The market was strong in tone on Monday and during the early part of Tuesday, when the highest quotations of the week were recorded, and although the later recession had little force, closing prices are in a majority of cases fractionally lower than last week.

Reading has been the most active feature. It advanced over 3 points, and other anthracite carriers were notably strong on the recent judicial decision mentioned above, which was favorably interpreted. Lehigh Valley has covered a range of nearly 4 points and closes with a fractional net change. Interboro-Metropolitan has lost a part of the advance noted last week, although its prospective interest in new subways seems to be increasing.

American Beet Sugar has been the strong feature of the industrial list, selling over 9 points higher than early in the month and $4\frac{3}{8}$ points higher than at the close last week. Central Leather has been exceptionally strong. Distilling Securities advanced 2½ points and holds a large part of the gain. The U.S. Steel issues have been steady on unfavorable trade reports.

For daily volume of business see page 1702. The following sales have occurred this week of shares not represented in our detailed list on the pages which follow:

Outside Market.—The holiday spirit prevailed in the "curb" market as elsewhere, business in outside securities being at a standstill. Prices moved within the narrowest limits, the close to-day being very little changed from the beginning. British Columbia Copper, due to dividend expectations, was in demand, and after a decline from $7\frac{1}{8}$ to 7 sold up to $7\frac{5}{8}$, the close to-day being at $7\frac{1}{2}$. Chino went up from 21½ to 215% and down to 21, finishing to-day at 21½. El Rayo advanced from 3½ to 4½ and eased off to 4. A quarterly dividend of 7½% has been declared. Greene Cananea fell from 7 to 6½ and recovered to 6¾. Inspiration advanced from 8 15-16 to 9 1-16 and sank to 8 13-16. Miami moved up from 19½ to 19¾, dropped to 19¾ and closed to-day at 19½. Ray Central weakened from 2 1-16 to 17/8, the final quotation to-day being 2. Ray Consolidated improved from 18¾ to 19, but declined to 18⅓ and finished to-day at 18¼. La Rose Consolidated went up from 4½ to 49-16. Mines Co. of America gained a point to 6 and closed to-day at 5 13-16. A quarterly dividend of 21/4% has been declared. Trading in miscellaneous securities broadened somewhat. American Tobacco rose 4 points to 414. Intercontinental Rubber lost over 2 points to 32 and closed to-day at 321/4. Standard Oil gained about a point to 617 and ends the week at 616. A feature in bonds was the initial trading in Southern Bell Telep. 5s, which weakened from 963/4 to 961/2, sold up to 97 and reacted finally to 96%. Western Pacific 5s rose from 921/4 to 923/4 and reacted to 923%. Amer. Smelters' Securities 6s, "w. i.," sank from 10114 to 101. American Writing Paper 5s gained a point to 90.

Outside quotations will be found on page 1702.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the electric railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

Other large expenses are required in complying with Federal and State regulations enacted within recent years. The only way such increases in expenses can be met, with a proper maintenance of the property and a fair return to the stockholders, is by an advance in transportation charges, and this is difficult of accomplishment by reason of adverse public opinion and unfavorable action of Federal and State Railway Commissions tending to the still further reduction of the rates now charged. (First Report, for Six Months' Period, ending June 30 1910.) President B. F. Bush, Baltimore, Oct. 19 1910, says:

President B. F. Bush, Baltimore, Oct. 19 1910, says:

Herewith is submitted the first report of your company. This report mbraces the results of the operations of the company for the six months ended June 30 1910. In order to preserve the continuity of operating statistics, the results of operations for the period covered by the 2½ years ended Dec. 31 1909, during which period the properties were operated by a receiver, are also presented. The report of the George's Creek & Cumberland RR. Co. for the year ended June 30 1910 is also submitted. Statements of income accounts and balance sheets are presented in accordance with the forms prescribed by the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

Traffic Alliance—New Line.—During the first six months of the existence of your company the most important developments have been the formation of a traffic alliance with The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie RR. Co. and the undertaking of construction from Cumberland, Md., to a connection with the last-named system at Connellsville, Pa. This construction, which has already been materially advonced and is being rapidly pressed, was undertaken through the organization of The Connellsville & State Line Ry. Co., a corporation created under the laws of Pennsylvania, and through the George's Creek & Cumberland RR. Co., a proprietary company of The Western Maryland; and the resources required to accomplish this construction were provided by sale of capital stock, authorized by the stockholders March 31 1910. In the view of the management the traffic alliance and construction above referred to will result in great benefit to your company (V. 90, p. 238, 850, 1297, 1364). . 90, p. 238, 850, 1297, 1364)

Condensed Extracts from Report of Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr. A. Robertson, Baltimore, Oct. 15 1910.

Condensed Extracts from Report of Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr. A. Robertson, Baltimore, Oct. 15 1910.

General Results.—For the six months ended June 30 1910 the operating revenue increased $78,538, or 27.5%, and the operating income (after deducting taxes) increased $588,670, or 63.9%; ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues, 55.6%; decrease, 8.7%.

From the General Auditor's statements it will be seen that the gross operating revenue for the entire fiscal year showed an increase of $1,129,161, or 19%; operating expenses an increase of $396,793, or 10.7%; and net operating revenue an increase of $732,368, or 32.6%. These results, reduced to a mileage basis, indicate gross earnings of $13,042 per mile per annum, an increase of $2,079, and net earnings of $5,487, an increase of $1,349. Revenues derived from freight traffic increased $1,049,467, or 21.6%; $623,290 in coal and coke traffic and $426,177 in misc. freight. These figures reflect a steady development of both coal and general merchandise traffic. Passenger train service revenue has increased $79,694, or 7.3%. An increase of $396,793, or 10.7%, is shown in operating expenses, transportation expenses having increased $280,627 and maintenance of equipment and roadway, $7,167. The ratio of operating expenses to operating revenue is 57.93%, a decrease of 4.32%.

During the year substantial wage increases were granted all classes of employees, although the full effect of these advances was not felt until the closing months of the fiscal year.

Betterments and Improvements.—During the past fiscal year there has been laid 38.58 miles of new 90-lb. rail. The main stem from Baltimore, Md., to Elkins, W. Va., is now laid with rail weighing an average of 88.6 lbs. per yard. On June 30 1910 there were 409.57 miles of track ballasted with stone, 105.18 miles with cinder and slag and 70.06 miles partly ballasted.

The second track between Fulton Station, Balt., and Emory Grove, Md., was completed and on April 13 1910 commissioned to operations, thus greatly faci

St. Joseph & Grand Island Railway.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending June 30 1910.)

General Manager James Berlingett, St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 22 1910, wrote in brief:

General Results.—There was an increase in the total revenue of $69,626, but operating expenses increased $443,228 (resulting in net earnings of only $108,497, against $469,100 in year 1908-09.—Ed.).

Expenditures for maintenance of way and structures increased $241,657, resulting chiefly from an expenditure of $200,000, chargeable to operating expenses, for the replacing of 95 miles of light steel with 75-lb. rail, and building new steel bridges at Marysville, Seneca and Severance. There was also an expenditure of $40,000 repairing damage to track and roadway caused by high water and floods during the summer and fall of 1909. Expenditures for maintenance of equipment increased $31,784, mainly from $22,000 for heavy repair work on locomotives and a charge of $7,000 to oper. expenses on account of scrapping two old locomotives.

Expenditures for traffic and transportation expenses increased $152,035, resulting from additional outside agencies for soliciting and securing freight traffic; an increase in freight-train mileage, due *to unusually heavy movement of company material for general improvement work, and on account of the severe weather conditions; an increased expense for wages of train and enginemen, due to the operation of the "Hours of Service Law"; an increase in amount paid other lines for use of joint facilities, due to an increase in their transportation expenses; an increase in cost of material and fuel, especially the latter, on account of the shut-down of the mines.

Improvements.—For account of the improvements there was expended $498,211, viz.:

Reconstruction of line from Carden, Kan., to Hastings, Neb., 118 miles (replacing rail, $259,744; ballasting, $59,802; rectifying grades, $20,372; passing tracks, &c., $19,665)

Five 70-ft. gasoline motor cars ($115,385) & one standard pile driver ($10,500) 359,583

Five 70-ft. gasoline motor cars ($115,385) & one standard pile driver ($10,500)

Of the total amount expended, $153,284 was charged to operating expenses and balance, $344,927, was charged to additions and betterments. There remains to be expended for improvements $885,887, as follows:

For reconstruction of line, Carden, Kan., to Hastings, Neb., 118 miles (replacing rail, $50,000; ballasting, $293,280; rectifying grades, $79,628; passing tracks, &c., $112,085)

Replacing 17 miles 60-lb. steel with 75-lb. between Oneida and Axtell, $54,000; adjustment of grade and additional tracks between Carden and Marysville, $55,092; additional passing tracks, enlarging station buildings and new water tanks, $64,423; modern coal and water station at Hanover, Kan., to replace one destroyed by fire, $20,100

For 10 standard consolidation locomotives, incl. in previous annual reports but not purchased.

157,279

With the exception of bonds to the amount of $1,000,000, to be issued for the construction of additional lines of railway (the bonds so issued not to exceed the actual cost of such additional railway nor to be in excess of $6,000 per mile), the company has issued all the bonds which it is authorized to issue under the existing mortgage. All expenditures for additions and betterments have, therefore, to be supplied from the future net earnings.

Improvements.—During the year a handsome general office building was completed at Wichita Falls, costing $40,000: also brick passenger and freight depots at Altus and Mangum at a cost of $12,000 each, and at Elk City a brick passenger depot costing $8,000 and a frame freight depot costing $4,000. There is now under construction at Wichita Falls, Tex., a joint passenger depot in connection with the Fort Worth & Denver City Ry. which will cost $75,000.

There has also been completed at Wichita Falls an eight-stall brick round-house, costing $18,000; a brick storehouse and office building costing $8,000; a steel frame machine shop costing $30,000: an eight-pocket coal chute and cinder pit costing $6,000; a coach shed costing $4,000. Machinery and equipment for the shop building is now being installed, costing $50,000. Extensive yards and other improvements, and the necessary appurtenances are now being constructed in order to provide for an up-to-date, first-class machine shop and terminal yards. The entire cost of these improvements, including all real estate, will exceed $250,000.

It has become necessary to make Altus, Okla., a division point for freight traffic on account of the large volume of business developed on the Panhandle Division. Several miles of track have been added to the freight yards at this point, and a coal chute, cinder pit and small repair shop is being planned for construction in the immediate future.

Equipment.—Since June 30 1910 we have purchased and received locomotives, 6; freight cars, 75, and cabooses, 6, increasing the total equipment owned to date to locomotives, 13; passenger cars, 9; freight cars, 274; work cars and cabooses, 8.

On account of the very large volume of business developed along the line of your road since its completion and operation to Elk City, Okla., and Wellington, Tex., it has been necessary to contract for an early delivery of additional equipment as follows: Locomotives, 3; passenger cars, 3, and freight cars, 300.

(Report for Fiscal Year Ending Sept. 30 1910.)

Pres. R. B. Hawley, N. Y., Dec. 14, wrote in substance:

General Results.—The net earnings show a satisfactory increase over the previous year's business, being $1,777,182 as compared with $1,15,456 for 1909. This increase is due in part to the advanced price of sugar and in part to increased production and economy in operating the estates.

The directors on Aug. 17 1910 declared a dividend of 1½% upon the outstanding preferred stock, to be paid on Oct. 1 1910, this payment being the accumulated dividend to Oct. 1 1909; on May 2 1910, 3½% was paid and on July 1 1910 3½%.

Bonds.—Off the $10,000,000 10-year 6% collateral trust gold bonds, $7,500,000 had been issued up to Sept. 30 1910, of which $141,000 were retired by the sinking fund and $120,000 reserved to purchase underlying bonds not owned. During the year $3,959,000 of the issue were sold. (See V. 90, 9.916, also a subsequent page of this issue).

On May 13 1910 the bonds were listed in Amsterdam and on June 22 1910 the bonds and stock were listed in N. Y. Application has been made to list the bonds in London.

Additions, &c.—Durling the year $688,410 was added to the properties for land purchases, and additions and betterments, $461,398 of which represents expenditures for land and completed improvements, notably $365,788 for railroad extensions 19.7 miles), and $500,000 for sem machineries. $6,812,685 for railroad extensions 19.7 miles), and $500,000 for sem machineries. $6,812,685 for solved extensions 19.7 miles), and $500,000 for sem machineries. $6,812,685 for solved with a substance of second sextensions 19.7 miles), and $600 for ring stock. The balance of $227,012 represents expenditures on similar improvements which had not been completed at end of year.

Property, &c.—The property account, $16,181,218, includes with other items: 276,000 acres of land, $5,494,421 6 sugar factories and 2 refineries, $6,812,685 for solved and substance of solved solved solved solved solved solved solved solved solved

* "Sugar sales" in 1910, \$15,269,758, is stated after deducting commissions, &c. which in 1908-09 were stated together with discount on bonds, making a total of \$40,698, as above shown. a Dividends for the year 1909-10 at the rate of 7% would call for \$440,650. Of this, $1\frac{1}{2}$ %, calling for \$110,162, has been declared payable Jan. 1 1911, covering the 3 months ending Dec. 31 1909. Distributions covering the remaining 9 months of the fiscal year 1909-10 will probably be declared later. Dividends in 1908-09, as above, cover distributions made on May 2, July 1 and Oct. 1 1910 for that fiscal year.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS

RAILROADS, INCLUDING ELECTRIC ROADS.

Alberta & Great Waterways Ry .- Agreement Canceled-Proceeds Used for General Purposes of Province.—The Alberta Legislature recently passed the bill "respecting the bonds guaranteed for the A. & G. W. Ry. Co., being an act to specif certain defaults of the railway and the consequent rights of the province."

The bill, approved by the Lieutenant-Governor, cancels the agreement with the railway company and its promoters. Provision has been made in the estimates covering requirements of the Alberta Government for 1910 and 1911 for the expenditure of the $7,400,000 received from the sale in London in Nov. 1909 of the bonds guaranteed by the Province to meet liabilities against the Province for general purposes and expenditures of the same nature next year. This is accepted as meaning that a new railroad project will not be substituted.

The banks in which the money has been deposited, viz., the Dominion Bank, Union Bank and Royal Bank of Canada (the amounts of the deposits being $400,000, $1,000,000 and $6,000,000, respectively), having refused to honor the checks of Premier Sifton as Provincial Treasurer, Attorney-General Mitchell on Dec. 16 brought action to recover the proceeds of the bonds. The banks deny the authority of the Province to use the money otherwise than for construction of the road.—V. 91, p. 213, 153.

Albia & Centerville Rv.—Receivership.—Judge McPherson

Albia & Centerville Ry.—Receivership.—Judge McPherson in the Federal Court at Des Moines on Dec. 20, on petition of the Iowa Central Ry., appointed William Bird temporary receiver.

The road extends from Albia to Centerville, Ia., 24 miles, and was, it is understood, formerly owned by the estate of the late Russell Sage. The Southern Iowa Traction Co., of which Wm. A. Boland is President, claims to have become the owner on Feb. 9 last. The Iowa Central operated the road until Nov. 26 last, when the new interests, stating that the arrangement had been a loss to them for some time past, prevented further operation by the Iowa Central.

American Railways, Phila.—Amount of Bonds Still Held.-When the time to accept the proffered exchange expired on Dec. 15, only about $7,000 of Inter-State 4s remained in the hands of the American Railways Co., showing that the amount of American Ry 4½s with Inter-State bonds as collateral has been reduced to about $3,500.-V. 91, p.1573.

Ann Arbor RR.—New Directors.—E. R. Lyon of Strong, Sturgis & Co., Frederick Hertenstein of Cincinnati and J. N. Thompson of Wilkesbarre, Pa., have been elected to succeed B. S. Warren of Detroit, who resigned, and to fill two vacancies, vesting control with the Ramsey note-holders' committee. The other directors are:

W. M. Wadden, of F. H. Prince & Co.; Newman Erb, Joseph Ramsay Jr., H. H. Harrison, F. K. Curtis, T. D. Rhodes, W. J. Wollman and Leroy Baldwin.—V. 91, p. 1511, 1383.

Boston & Lowell RR. -New Stock. -The shareholders will vote Jan. 4 on increasing the capital stock from $7,119,-400 to $7,399,400, to cover the cost of additions and improvements.—V. 90, p. 625.

British Columbia Electric Ry.—New Stock.—The shareholders were to vote in London Dec. 19 on increasing the capital to £3,200,000 by the creation of 700,000 new shares of £1 each.—V. 91, p. 1024, 945.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co.—Application.—The company on Dec. 19 applied to the Public Service Commission to use the two easterly tracks in the Centre Street subway loop between the Williamsburgh Bridge and Canal Street for trolley car operation and the two westerly tracks between the Williamsburgh Bridge and the Brooklyn Bridge at or near Park Row for its elevated roads.—V. 91, p. 1511, 529.

Buffalo Lockport & Rochester (Electric) Ry.—Reorganization Plan—Change in Control.—Charles D. Beebe, of the Rochester Syracuse & Eastern RR., replying to our letter of inquiry, wrote on Dec. 22:

My associates and I are coming into control of the Buffalo Lockport & Rochester Railway Co. under the terms of a reorganization, participated in by all security holders of said road, all of its creditors and also its stockholders. The reorganization plan, if carried through without foreclosure, will result in the bonded debt outstanding being reduced to the sum of $2,750,000, and the cancellation of all past-due coupons, including probably the one of Feb. 1 1911; the cancellation of all equipment notes outstanding [some $236,500] and the turning of the equipment over to the railway company free and clear; and also the cancellation of all floating debt. The road will also have the sum of $200,000 cash available in its treasury, subject to expenditure only for capital account. There will be no change in the organization, at least until after the new interests are in control of the property. The amount of bonds outstanding is $3,400,000 [1st M. 5s, due Feb. 1 1945]. All bondholders surrender 25% of par value. The $200,000 is provided by sale of $200,000 surrendered bonds at par.—V. 89, p.347.

Calumet & South Chicago Ry.—Additional Bonds.—This company, which is a part of the Chicago City & Connecting Rys., has sold to White, Weld & Co. of N. Y. and Chicago, $1,250,000 1st M. rehabilitation 5% bonds, increasing the $1,250,000 1st M. rehabilitation 5% bonds, increasing the outstanding amount of these bonds up to $3,000,000. The company recently increased its stock from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. (having created $5,000,000 pref. stock), the whole of which is deposited under the Chicago City & Connecting Rys. collateral trust mortgage. White, Weld & Co. offered the above bonds at par and int. A circular says: "These bonds are issued to rehabilitate the property, and under the ordinance the amount expended for rehabilitation is added to the valuation of $5,000,000 fixed by the City of Chicago as the purchase price of the property prior to rehabilitation. The company now owns 106 miles of track, in the south division of Chicago. The property is operated by the Chicago City Ry. Co. in connection with its own lines, and the Chicago City Ry. Co. receives 25% of the saving resulting from joint operation. The report for the first 9 mos. of the present fiscal year shows net income equivalent to nearly 2% times the total interest charges."—V. 91, p. 1628.

Central RR. of New Jersey — New Director — Howard W.

Central RR. of New Jersey.—New Director.—Howard W. Maxwell has been elected a director to succeed his father, J. Rogers Maxwell, deceased.—V. 91, p. 864, 790.

Chicago Burlington & Quincy RR.—Called Bonds.— Burlington & Missouri River RR. in Nebraska 6% bonds, due July 1 1918, drawn for payment, viz., $239,000 bonds for $1,000 each and $28,800 bonds for $600 each, have been drawn for payment on Jan. 2 1911 at the New England Trust Co., Boston, on Jan. 1 1911.—V. 91, p. 1259, 1242.

Chicago City & Connecting Rys.—Bonds, &c.—See the Calumet & South Chicago Rys. above.

The recent increase of the authorized stock of the Southern Street Ry. Co. from $800,000 to $2,400,000 was made, it is stated, in order to retire the $1,600,000 1st M. 5% bonds deposited as part security for the Ch. City & Conn. Rys. collateral trust issue.

Same Semi-Annual Dividend as Last June.—The governing committee has declared dividends of the same amount as in June last.

The dividends are $2 25 a share on the 250,000 pref. participation shares and $1 a share on the 150,000 common participation shares. This follows the declaration of a quarterly dividend $250 a share and 2% extra on the stock of the Chicago City Railway Co., of which the Chicago City & Connecting Rys. Co. owns $16,971,900 out of a total of $18,000,000. The dividend payments made and declared by Ch. City Ry. Co. during 1910 are reported as follows: March 2, 4% extra; March 30, 2½%; June 30, 2½%; Sept. 30, 2½%; Dec. 30, 2½% and 2% extra; total, 16%, against 9% in 1909.—V. 91, p. 1629.

Cleveland Electric Ry .- Proposed Bond Issue .- Negotiations are understood to be pending to place a new issue of bonds, reported as $12,000,000.—V. 91, p. 1317, 214.

Denver City Tramway .- Option to Exchange Maturing Bonds.—Provision has been made for the redemption of the $953,000 Metropolitan Ry. 1st M. 6s, due Jan. 1 1911, at the Mercantile Trust Co., 120 Broadway, N. Y., but holders who so desire may exchange the same prior to Jan. 1 at the office of Clark, Dodge & Co., 51 Wall St., N. Y., or the Int. Trust Co., Denver, for "first & ref." 5s of the Denver City Tramway Co. on the basis of Metropolitan bonds at 100 and int. to Jan. 1 for Tramway bonds at 95 and int. to date of exchange. If exchange is not desired, the Metropolitan bonds will be purchased at 100 and int.—V. 91, p. 870.

Elmira Corning & Waverly (Electric) Ry.—Bonds.—The Public Service Comm., 2d District, on Dec. 22 authorized the issue of $689,000 of the total issue of $800,000 1st M. 5s. dated 1907, due July 1 1957. Standard Trust Co. of New York, trustee.

These bonds are to be delivered to the Southern Tier Development Co. at 97 ½ on account of the construction and equipment of the trolley road from Elmira to Corning, about 12 miles. The road has been operated by the Waverly Sayre & Athens Traction for 50% of gross earnings.

Idaho & Washington Northern RR.—Bonds Offered.— Peabody, Houghteling & Co., Chicago, are offering at par and int. the unsold portion of an additional $300,000 of 1st M. 5% sinking fund bonds, dated May 1 1907, making the total bonds outstanding $3,390,000. A circular says in part:

An absolute first mtge. on all property now owned or hereafter acquired, now consisting of 113 miles of main line in actual operation, together with passenger and freight rolling stock, general equipment, yards, terminals, &c. Actual cost of property, $6,300,000. The total auth. bond issue is $4,733,000, but of this amount $1,343,000 is reserved for future construction at the rate of $30,000 per mile of equipped main line, subject, however, to the approval of Peabody, Houghteling & Co.

In spite of the severe depression in the railroad business following the panic of 1907, the unusually severe winter weather conditions of 1909 and the usual unfavorable factors which accompany the development of a new territory and the operation of a new line, this property has made the creditable showing of earning its fixed charges practically from the beginning of operations on July 1 1908. The entire line of 113 miles has just been completed to its terminus at Metaline Falls, so that for the current fiscal year ending June 30 1911 103 miles of main line will have been in operation for the entire year and 113 miles for 9 months of the year, making an average mileage of 107.

Illinois Central RR .- New President .- Charles H. Markham, President of the Gulf Refining Co. and the Gulf Pipe Line Co. of Pittsburgh, has been elected President to succeed James T. Harahan, who resigned.

Mr. Harahan will be 70 years old on Jan. 12 next and, according to the company's rules, would be compelled to retire at that age. He has been been connected with the road for 20 years, succeeding Stuyvesant Fish as President 3 years ago.—V. 91, p. 1160, 879.

Abstract of Statement Made by Pres. Robert of Montreal St. Ry. on Dec. 19.

Several months ago the Imperial Trust Co. was organized with a large capital paid up in cash in order to finance the acquisition of a majority of the shares of the Montreal Street Ry. Co. The Imperial Trust Co. secured the co-operation of certain well-known English capitalists. One of the objects of the Montreal Tramways & Power Co., Ltd., is to purchase the present holdings of the Imperial Trust Co. and eventually to acquire a majority of the shares of the Montreal Street Ry. Co. and the Canadian Light & Power Co., and to finance both these companies, chiefly with English capital.

These two companies, the Montreal Street Ry. Co. and the Canadian English capital.

These two companies, the Montreal Street Ry. Co. and the Canadian Light & Power Co., will retain their separate identities and operate their ewn plants, but through the medium of the holding company it is intended that they shall operate in entire harmony, so that the street railway will always have an independent supply of power and the Canadian Light & Power Co. a customer for its power over and above the power now contracted for with other electric companies.

tracted for with other electric companies.

Mr. E. A. Robert, who from the outset promoted the Canadian Light & Power Co., has carried out his undertaking solely for the purpose of introducing to Montreal a strong competitive company, for the purpose of supplying light and power at rates which would prove advantageous to industrial establishments and to the citizens. He is now assured of marketing a portion of the electrical power produced at Beauharnois with the Montreal Street Railway Co., and he has also procured such financial assistance as is required to finance larger developments of hydro-electric power and also such improvements and extensions of the street railway as may be agreed upon with the civic authorities. The Federal lease of the Beauharnois power privileges and the charter of the Can. Lt. & Pow. Co. both contain express provisions which prohibit an amalgamation with the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co.

Oregon Short Line RR. -50% Dividend. -A special dispatch to the Portland "Oregonian" from Salem, Ore., on Dec. 13 stated that a report just filed with the Oregon State RR. Comm. showed that the road for the year ended June 30 1910 declared dividends of 50%, said dividends amounting to $13,675,530. This entire sum went to the Union Pacific RR. Co. as owner of all the outstanding capital stock.

The report further shows that the Short Line advanced $8,103,867 during the year 1909-10 to 15 allied corporations for construction, betterments and equipment. A 50% dividend was also paid in 1906. (V. 84, p. 52).—V. 91, p. 1512, 1026.

Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co.—Meetings to Ratify Plan.— Meetings of the shareholders of both the Rapid Transit company and the Union Traction Co. have been called for Feb. 28 to ratify the financial plan. Following favorable action on this plan, E.T. Stotesbury and Thomas E. Mitten, the Chicago street railway expert, will enter the Transit company board. See V. 91, p. 1630

Mr. Stotesbury's Letter.—The letter sent by Edward T. Stotesbury to President Charles O. Kruger on Dec. 16 says:

Letter of Mr. Stotesbury, dated at Philadelphia, Dec.14 1910.

Letter of Mr. Stotesbury, dated at Philadelphia, Dec.14 1910.

The proposed issue of $10,000,000, guaranteed, principal and interest, by the Union Traction Co. and secured by the equity in the Market Street Elevated RR., as set forth in your letter, seems to fairly meet the company's known requirements in the matter of new capital and the refunding of accruing capital obligations during the 5-year period next ensuing.

With reference to your statement that the Rapid Transit Co's treasury now contains an excess from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 in current assets over current liabilities, it would appear that this sum should be sufficient to make possible the expenditure of the full amount required for maintenance and renewals during rehabilitation.

Conforming to the suggestion contained in your letter, but having in view the double purpose of securing the substantial accuracy of your estimate, and also that the exact condition of the company's affairs be made a matter of record prior to the proposed change in management, it would seem best that there be now made a complete audit of the company's books as of Dec. 31. With this audit before us the final details of the plan can be worked out with the Union Traction Co's directors in ample time to present them at the stockholders' meetings.

I desire to have my position in regard to this matter clearly understood, both by yourself and the public generally.

I shall undertake it solely from a desire to promote the best interests of Philadelphia and those fellow citizens whose confidence in my ability to solve this problem I appreciate and hope to deserve; but as I accept a heavy responsibility without remuneration, and at a sacrifice of time which I can ill afford to lose, I must be allowed to use my own judgment to spend such moneys as are necessary to secure the most expert advice and assistance available. St. Joseph & Grand Island Ry.—See "Annual Reports." Protective Measures.—Minority holders of the first pref. stock who claim that since control of the road was acquired by the Union Pacific large amounts of money have been expended for improvements and charged out of earnings which should have been charged to capital account, thus unduly benefiting the common stock, of which the Union Pacific owns the greater part, are organizing a committee under the leadership of Henry Hoffman, of Paris (present address, care Whitehouse & Co., 111 Broadway, N. Southern Ry.—Favorable Decision.—A jury in the Richland Court of Common Pleas at Columbia, S. C., on Dec. 20 in the so-called "Southern merger" suit brought by the State Attorney-General in 1903 by direction of the Legislature, returned a verdict that the absorption in 1902 of the South Carolina & Georgia, South Carolina & Georgia Extension, Asheville & Spartanburg and Carolina Midland railroads, by the Southern Ry. Carolina Division (which is leased to the Southern Ry.) was not a violation of the constitutional provisions against merging competitive lines in South Carolina.

The suit was on trial for 22 days. The company's defense was that the lines were not competitive within the meaning of the constitution and that the parallelism was merely geographical and the constitutional prohibition does not apply in the case.

Judge Snipp, in approving the findings, declared the Act approved Feb. 19 1902 authorizing the consolidation and lease, the consolidation effected June 23 1902 and the lease executed June 30 1902, all to be constitutional and valid.—V. 91, p. 1631, 1096.

The bankers say: "This company furnishes transportation, electric light and power in over fifty municipalities in the Connellsville coke region, Western Pennsylvania. It operates over 157 miles of track. Its franchises extend for 990 years. Its service is practically exclusive. In 1909 its earnings were at the rate of $8,428 per mile of track operated, which compares favorably with the average earnings per mile of track of the steam railroads in the United States for the same period, which were about $10,500. The earnings of the property for the year ending Sept. 30 1910 were at the rate of $9,312 per mile of track operated, or an increase of approximately 10.5% over the calendar year 1909."—V. 91, p. 1027

INDUSTRIAL, GAS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

American Cement Co., Philadelphia.—Dividends Suspended.—This company, which a year ago reduced its annual dividend rate from 6% to 2%, has now omitted the Jan. 1911 dividend. The directors say:

The company is affected by the same conditions that have affected every plant in the industry. Several of the companies have been obliged to close their plants during the year, and a change of management and control was made in the case of the largest company. In addition to the low prices which affected all companies, this company during the year has had to carry the newly constructed Norfolk works, which are only just beginning to become productive, and it has also been obliged to make investments in lands on the Hudson and in securities for its own future protection. In lew of these past and present conditions the directors do not feel that it would be conservative to reduce the surplus which the company has always made it a practice to carry. In spite of the unprecedentedly bad conditions of the year, the company more than earned all of its charges, including $45,000 paid into sinking funds for the cancellation of bonds, and the directors are confident that the construction of the Norfolk works will be more than justified by the results. Compare V. 91, p. 335.

Corn Products Refining Co., New York.—To Consider Reduction of Capital Stock.—The directors at a meeting held Dec. 20 appointed a committee, composed of James Speyer, W. J. Matheson, C. H. Kelsey and E. T. Bedford, to consider the suggestion made by some of the shareholders that a reduction be made in the amount of the capital stock, consisting now of about $50,000,000 common and $30,000,-000 7% cum. pref. The pref. for the last three years has received dividends of only 5% per annum (6% having accumulated) and the common never has participated in profits. Touching the assertion that the earnings have been equal to the full 7% on the pref. and 3% on the common since 1906, a director says ("Chicago Inter Ocean" Dec. 18):

since 1996, a director says ("Chicago Inter Ocean" Dec. 18):

As regards the first four years, the company's consolidated report shows total earnings up to Feb. 28 1910 or $14,370,285, from which a reduction for repairs, betterments, &c., has been made amounting to $2,486,115, leaving a net profit of $11,884,170. During this time there has been paid in dividends $6,421,764, leaving a surplus of $5,462,406. Of this total $330,446 has been expended in the erection of two can plants in connection with the company's syrup business in St. Louis and Davenport, Iowa: $2,475,036 has been invested in stock interests in subsidiary companies and $1,526,790 represented loans and advances to the National Starch Co. The amount advanced to the National Starch Co. was largely for the purpose of rebuilding its principal works at Oswego, which were destroyed by fire during the administration of the Corn Products Co. and on which there was practically no insurance. It will, therefore, be seen that there is no surplus available for distribution of payment of back dividends on the pref. stock.

The earnings this year will be much less than those of the previous one, notwithstanding the fact that the company has been able to keep its factories running and maintain its full share of the business to a greater extent than heretofore. While corn has declined equal to 25%, the decline in the price of glucose, relatively speaking, has been nearly 50%.

The policy of making improvements somewhat out of earnings is a proper and conservative one, followed by many other leading industrial corporations. If a conservative statement was made as to the value of the company's assets it would be seen that, all things considered, the dividends being paid just at this time, while the management is engaged in the building up of the company and restoring its property, should be viewed with much satisfaction.—V. 91, p. 1097.

Cuban-American Sugar Co., N. Y.—See "Annual Reports." New Stock and Bonds.—At the annual meeting on Dec. 20 there was authorized the issue of $1,598,887 new pref. stock, with 40% of new common as bonus. Shareholders of record Dec. 22 are entitled to subscribe for the new pref. (with said bonus) at par, $100 a share, at the office, 15 Exchange Place, N. Y., on or before Jan. 10 to the extent of 12½% of their respective holdings, common and pref. It is also proposed to issue $1,600,000 bonds as below stated.

The new stock is issued for the purpose of providing funds for the development of the property recently acquired by San Manuel Sugar Co., whose entire capital stock, $10,000, is owned by the Cuban-American Sugar Co.

Condensed Extracts from Circular dated New York, Dec. 10 1910. Negotiations that had been in progress for a number of years resulted in December 1909 in the purchase of the San Manuel Estate and two other adjacent properties, all located in the vicinity of Puerto Padre, Cuba, adjoining the Chaparra Estate, and aggregating 92,000 acres of land, together with a sugar factory, railroad system, wharf and other accessories of a sugar plantation, as well as the greater part of the town of Puerto Padre. The present plans for the development of the properties include the construction of a modern sugar factory capable of grinding 3,000 tons of cane a day, with an annual output of approximately 300,000 bags of sugar, the extension of the present railroad system and the construction of a deep-water shipping terminal, enabling the company to save expensive lighterage charges and make other important economies for the San Manuel and Chaparra Estates.

The cash requirements of the company to carry out these plans for the development of the properties will amount to about $3,000,000; 60% of which, or, say, $1,800,000, it is proposed to provide by the sale of the collateral trust bonds of this company and the remainder through the sale of its pref. stock. A contract has been entered into for the sale of the bonds.

A conservative appraisal of these properties made at the time of their acquisition placed the excess of value over the purchase price at nearly $700,000, and it is proposed to issue against this excess value our common stock to the amount of 40% of the subscriptions to the pref. stock for use in more readily effecting the sale of the pref. stock. [See Am. Sugar Ref. Co. in V. 91, p. 1572; also compare V. 90, p. 916, 1046, 1680.]

Empire District Electric Co.—Monthly Preferred Dividend. -This subsidiary of the Cities Service Co. has declared a monthly dividend of $\frac{3}{4}$ of $\frac{1}{0}$ on the pref. stock, payable Jan. 1 to holders of record Dec. 20. It is announced that hereafter dividends will be paid monthly to holders of record on the 20th of each preceding month.—V. 91, p. 1632, 656.

Dividends are to be paid at the rate of ¾ of 1% until all back dividends (amounting to about 7%) are taken care of, and then at the regular rate of ½ of 1% a month on the first of every month to stockholders of record on the 20th day of each preceding month.—V. 91, p. 1632.

Digest of Information Furnished by the Company.

The new bonds are secured by a mortgage on the entire property, subject to $458,000 1st M. 6s due May 1 1911 and $2,442,000 gen. mtge. 5s due July 1 1926 and redeemable on and after July 1 1911. The company has had outstanding $1,000,000 30-year 4½% bonds, but 95% of these have been exchanged for bonds of this issue and the balance will be exchanged or an equivalent amount of cash deposited with the trustee of this issue to provide for their retirement not later than July 1 1911.

The company furnishes the only public water supply in Indianapolis and controls so thoroughly the only available sources of water that future competition is impracticable. The property has been established 40 years. Gross earnings have grown from $334,033 in 1900 to $687,573 in the year ended March 31 1910. In the latter year net earnings amounted to nearly 2½ times fixed charges, and in the first quarter of the current fiscal year surplus over fixed charges shows an increase of 8.6%. Since 1900 40% of the pipe system, over 50% of the pumping machinery (capacity double maximum requirements) and the entire filtration plant have been installed. There are 310 miles of mains, with 25,200 taps in actual service. The company furnishes filtered water obtained from White River, Fall Creek and deep rock wells, tested daily. Franchise liberal and has no time limit. Indianapolis has a population of 245,000.—V. 91, p 1331.

Interstate Independent Telephone & Telegraph Co.,

Interstate Independent Telephone & Telegraph Co. Joliet, &c., Ill.—Suit.—The receivers on Dec. 16 filed a suit in the U.S. Circuit Court charging former officers with having defrauded the company out of $1,231,000, $956,000 of this being for "overestimate of the value of work done.

Fred. A. Dolph, one of the receivers, has been quoted as holding out the hope that the $59,750 interest on the 1st M. bonds Oct. 1 will eventually be paid. The company is said to have to its credit $43,000 cash; also some $65,000 accounts receivable, which should in part be collectible. For the year ending July 1 1909 the gross earnings were reported as $384,015, and there was said to be a surplus of $30,131 after taxes and bond interest. Compare V. 91, p. 1516.

Grand Rapids (Mich.) Hydraulic Co.—Decision of Final Court Upholds Legislative Act Forfeiting Charter.—The U.S. Supreme Court on Dec. 12 handed down a decision in the quo warranto proceedings brought by the State of Michigan sustaining the contention of the latter that the company no longer has a right to transact business, and also the Act of the Legislature forfeiting its charter passed in 1905. Compare V. 84, p. 1117, 934.

The bondholders of the company contended that the Act was unconstitutional and that the city could not oust the company without at least taking over the plant at a fair valuation.

New Mortgage Trustee.—Judge Perkins at Grand Rapids, Mich. on Dec. 17 on petition of Milton C. Gray and John F. Calder, who hold, it is said, $642,000 of the $680,000 outstanding bonds, appointed Warren Hubbard of New York as trustee of the mortgage of Sept. 9 1886 to secure an authorized issue of $1,200,000 bonds, to succeed the American Loan & Trust Co. of Boston.

The step was taken to enable the bondholders to take such measures as may be deemed advisable to protect their interests in view of the decision referred to above.—V. 84, p. 1117.

Greenhut-Siegel Cooper Co., New York.—Consolidation. The shareholders of the Siegel Cooper Co. (of N. Y.; capital stock $1,000,000) and also the shareholders of the allied corporation, Greenhut & Co. (incorp. in N. Y. Apr. 18 1907 with $1,400,000 of auth. capital stock) voted Nov. 12, at their offices, 288 and 301 Sixth Ave., N. Y. City, in favor of a proposition to consolidate and merge said companies into a single corporation under the laws of N. Y. State to be known as Greenhut-Siegel Cooper Co., and to have a capital stock of $6,000,000 and a duration of 50 yrs.

These companies, of which Joseph B. Greenhut is President, should not be confounded with the enterprises which are controlled by the Siegel Stores Corporation. Greenhut & Co. in July 1910 made a 4½% $1,200,000 mtge., due Aug. 10 1919, to the New York Life Ins. & Trust Co., covering Nos. 295 to 303 Sixth Ave. On Dec. 14 1910 the new company filed a mtge with the Central Trust Co., as trustee, covering their realty holdings on 6th Ave. between 9th and 10th sts., to secure $6,000,000 6% gold bonds; dated Dec. 1 1910, due July 1 1935, but subject to call on any interest date after Dec. 1915; int. J. & J. The new bonds are described as a first mtge.

The deed of trust mentions prior liens to a total of $3,200,000, which we understand will be retired out of proceeds of new issue.

The directors of the new company are Joseph P. Greenhut, Pres.; Henry Morgenthau, Jerome Siegel and Wm. H. Cooper, Vice-Presidents; Benedict J. Greenhut, Sec.-Treas.; Nelson W. Greenhut, Benjamin Hillman, Frank C. Cadden and E. R. Wolfner.

Decision.—The United States Circult Court of Appeals in Decision.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals in this city on Dec. 14 (Judge Lacombe writing the opinion) affirmed the decision of Judge Ray who, in a decision filed by creditors against the company and its controlled companies, held that the bankruptcy law does not apply to public service corporations.

The right of the public in the case of public utility companies, it is held, is superior to that of creditors of every class, "which right cannot be extinguished by the payment of a dividend in money." The public safety and comfort demand that whatever else may happen the corporation shall not make default on public obligations. Congress, it is said, had no intention to include public service corporations in the enumeration of section 4 of the original bankruptcy Act or as it was amended in 1903. Abstract of Letter from President W. T. Gentry, New York, Dec. 12 1910. This company was incorporated in N. Y. State in Dec. 1879. It owns and controls the entire Bell telephone business in the rapidly growing southeast Coast section of the United States, comprising the States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida and part of West Virginia. Its system is connected by the long-distance trunk lines of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. running through its territory with the Bell system in the United States. The said American company owns $21,394,300 of the $21,400,000 outstanding stock. Dividends at the rate of 6% per annum have been paid since 1906.

Of the $50,000,000 1st M. bonds authorized, the remaining bonds ($40,000,000) in excess of the present outstanding capital stock may be issued for extensions, additions, &c., but to an amount not exceeding at par the amount of cash paid in on account of further issues of stock; provided, further, that the company during the previous year shall have earned net at least twice the interest charges of all bonds outstanding during that year.

The $10,000,000 bonds now sold are issued for the purpose of retiring approximately $2,500,000 floating debt owned by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. incurred in the development and extension of the company's system. The remaining proceeds will be used to provide for further extensions, additions and improvements. These bonds will, in opinion of counsel, be secured by a first mortgage on the entire property and franchises of the company. The present replacement value of the physical property alone, without considering good-will or franchises, has been conservatively appraised at over $23,000,000, or over twice the outstanding bonds. The value of the property will, of course, be still further increased by the expenditure of a large part of the proceeds from the sale of the bonds now offered. A sinking fund of 1% of the bonds issued will be paid and applied to the cancellation in any year in which sufficient bonds for that purpose can be purchased at or under par.

Description of Business—Established in 1853

Description of Business-Established in 1853.

Description of Business—Established in 1853.

Sulzberger & Sons Co. is one of the four largest packing companies in the United States. The present property is very largely the result of accumulated profits, the company having pursued for many years the policy of keeping its earnings in the business rather than of paying dividends to stockholders. It has large packing plants of the most approved type in New York, Chicago and Kansas City, and is erecting another large packing plant at Oklahoma City. Its plant in N. Y. City occupies two city blocks owned in fee (except in the case of a portion of the water front, which is under lease), bounded by First Av., 45th and 47th streets and East River. Its present plants have a combined capacity of 100,000 cattle, sheep and hogs per week, and its gross business is about $100,000,000 per annum. It has (either directly or through subsidiary companies all of whose stock it holds) 112 distributing plants, by means of which and of its refrigeratorcar service it distributes its product to over 850 cities and towns in the United States. It does an important export business, having branches and agencies in many of the cities of Great Britain and Europe. It also owns over 1,700 railroad cars, of which over 1,300 are refrigerator cars. Profits of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Co. for Three Years Prior to Jan. 1

Yearly average______$2,247,129 $533,867 $1,713,262
The amounts carried from the net profits as stated above to the depreciation and renewal fund during the last three years (exclusive of actual expenditures for maintenance) aggregated $1,011,464.
The operation of the new packing plant at Oklahoma City should result n a material increase in profits.—V. 90, p.1048, 981.

(T. H.) Symington Co., Baltimore.—New Preferred Stock. This company, manufacturer of railroad specialties, recently offered to its stockholders $500,000 of a total authorized issue of $2,500,000 8% pref. stock, of which $1,000,000 had already been sold at par for cash and $1,000,000 reserved for bond conversion.

The proceeds will be used for improvements to the plant at Rochester, N. Y., and for additional working capital. The plan to issue $1,000,000 7% cum. pref. stock and $300,000 1st M. 6s, dated 1909 and due 1924, seems to have been superseded, the only pref. shares at present being the $% issue above described; while the bonds out are $900,000 1st M. convertible 6% gold bonds dated July 1 1910, due July 1 1920. The common stock is $1,000,000. Compare V. 89, p. 477, V. 88, p. 882.

Torrington (Conn.) Company.—Stock Dividends.—The notice of the meeting called for Dec. 27 to increase the common stock from $2,000,000 to $2,200,000 gives substantially the following information, which confirms the report that a 10% stock distribution is contemplated:

It is proposed to purchase from the Excelsior Needle Co. the Metall-waaren Gesellschaft m.b.H. for $200,000, and to pay for the same by the issue to the Excelsior Needle Co. of the new capital stock amounting at par to $200,000. As the investment of the Excelsior Needle Co. in the Metall-waaren Gesellschaft m.b.H. represents accumulated earnings, the Excelsior Needle Co. proposes to declare a dividend of the stock received in payment for its interest in the German company, and it will, when received by the Torrington Co., be distributed as an additional dividend among the common stockholders of the Torrington Co.—V. 91, p. 1635, 965.

Union Ferry Co., New York.—City Asked to Purchase. The company, which operates 5 lines between New York and Brooklyn, this week notified the Sinking Fund Commission that it may soon be compelled to go out of business and requested the city to take over its property. The letter says:

Anything short of sale to the city would be a temporary makeshift. We believe that the city should make an offer of a fair price to the company and then operate the ferries."

The passenger traffic, it is stated, experienced a daily falling off between Nov. 1 1909 and May 1 1910.—V. 90, p. 114.

Union Switch & Signal Co., Swissvale, Pa.—Subscription Rights.—Stockholders of record Dec. 31 are offered the right to subscribe for $500,000 new stock to the extent of one-fifth of their holdings of both pref. and common stock, at $75 per $50 share, payable $25 each on or before Jan. 10, March 10 and May 10 1911, or optionally in full at any time before May 10 1911 except when the stock transfer books are closed.

Abstract of Letter from Pres. A. D. Warner, Wilmington, Del., June 25 '10.

Organized under laws of Del. in 1885; enlarged in 1908 to consolidate the numerous ailied interests. The business, always under Warner family management, was established in 1774. Manufactures and sells lime and limestone products, cement, plaster and sand, shipping on the average 125 carloads of material each 24 hours, amounting to over 3,600 tons a day. The sales organization actively covers the section from Virginia to Maine, east of the Allegheny Mts. Principal offices, Wilmington, Phila., N. Y. and Boston. Gross sales for the past year $2,092,542.

Principal plants: "Cedar Hollow," near Malvern, Pa., "Catanach," adjoining Cedar Hollow; "McCoy," near Bridgeport, Pa., and "Cox," near Plymouth Meeting, Pa., all in the magnesium lime belt of the Chester and Plymouth valleys in Eastern Pennsylvania and so located as to control the large consuming markets of Philadelphia and surrounding territory, Central and Southern N. J. and Del. Controls practically all of the known available deposits of magnesium limestone in this territory; and manufactures and sells approximately 60% of the lime and lime products consumed therein, the amount steadily increasing. Products have been used on the Washington Terminal, N. Y. Central Terminal, Penn. RR. Terminal, Manhattan & Hudson Terminal and Metropolitan Life Building, N. Y.

The company's limestone deposits above natural drainage are sufficient at the present rate of operation to last practically 300 years. An engineer has valued these properties at $1,048,967. The co.'s real estate in Wilmington consists of several blocks on the water front and in heart of the city, its principal wharf properties connecting with all the principal railroads. In Philadelphia it leases, with option to buy, wharf and storage property on Schuylkill River, and owns wharf No. 9 at foot of Walnut St. These real estate properties, plants and equipment have been valued at $868,881. Floating equipment: One sand-dredging and washing machine; 10 large sand barges, one tugboat and a half interest in another tugboat. Also has a large stock interest in Security Cement & Lime Co. (V. 89, p. 1416), in Garrett County Coal & Mining Co. and the Diamond Ice Co., whose products it markets on a profitable basis.

The first pref. stockholders elect four of the ten directors. The entire Warner family interest is represented by 2d pref. and common stock.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, Dec. 23 1910. Trade continues to adhere closely to conservative methods, a fact which is clearly revealed by the weekly reports of bank exchanges. "Look before you leap" is the motto everywhere in a very particular sense. The easy rates for money themselves appear to indicate diminished general trade. A hopeful feature is the large exports, revealed partly in some decline in rates for foreign exchange to which cotton exports have notably contributed.

LARD on the spot has advanced under the stimulus of a smaller movement of live hogs to market than had been expected, a rise at times in live-hog quotations, an advance in the market for lard futures and light offerings of product. Trade has been quiet. Prime Western 11.15c., Middle Western 11.05c. and City steam 10½@10¾c. Refined lard has also advanced and sales have latterly increased somewhat. Continent 11.30c., South America 11.75c. and Brazil in kegs 12.75c. The speculation in lard futures here has been dull. At the West the trading has been active, with the general drift of prices upward. There has been heavy covering of shorts; also, packers have purchased, while the selling has been in the main merely profit taking.

West India growths have been quiet and generally steady; fair to good Cucuta 13 % @ 13 3/4 c. speculation in future contracts has been less active, with a reactionary tendency in prices at times, owing to liquidation for local, outside and foreign account. Also there has been less disposition to buy after the sharp advance in prices. The sluggishness of the spot trade has also been a factor, making for a setback in quotations for futures. The foreign markets have also shown depression at times during the week. The "Brazilian Review" published a statement recently that the speculative position at Santos has become dangerous, owing to overbuying.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been of very moderate volume and prices have shown little change. The latest report of the Census Bureau on ginning was issued on the 20th and gave the quantity for the last period, that is, from Dec. 1 to Dec. 13, as somewhat larger than had been expected, i.e., 558,770 bales, against 481,199 from Dec. 1 to Dec. 13 last year, 895,608 for alike period in 1908, 940,674 in 1907 and 1,084,921 for 1906. The total thus far up to Dec. 13 1910 is 10,698,482, against 9,358,085 last season, 11,904,269 for the same period in 1908-09 and 9,284,070 in 1907-08. These figures caused a temporary setback, after which there was a recovery. Liverpool has bought here to some extent. So have large spot houses and, according to the common understanding, some of the spinners. Liverpool has cabled very cheerful reports about the condition of trade across the water, and spot sales in the English market have at times reached as high as 12,000 bales. Exports from this country have been large, coincident with large receipts, and according to some here, bankers express the opinion that a very small percentage of the crop remains to be marketed. Also it is said that much of the foreign freight room at Galveston has been engaged for about a month ahead. The Arkwright Club of Boston, whose membership is composed largely of New England spinners, has just passed resolutions to the effect that unless trade improves it will be necessary to curtail production early next year. New England centres are sending unfavorable reports about the condition of business. From the conservative tone in general trade in this country, it is inferred that the people at large are economizing, owing to the continued high cost of living, and must continue to do so for some time to come until the equilibrium disturbed by a variety of causes in recent years is restored. Also large receipts of cotton continue to be noted at the Southern ports, and, despite persistent statements that there is an excellent sale for spot cotton at the South, the New York stock, for some reason or other, continues rapidly to increase, nearly 70,000 bales having been added to it thus far this month. It is also an interesting question, which is receiving not a little attention here, as to just what the purpose is of accumulating this large quantity of cotton here. The certificated supply here now reaches 243,481 bales, as against 117,628 a year ago. Speculation is light, most people are "long" and there is supposed to be little short interest except against actual cotton, so that the technical speculative position is not considered especially strong. To-day the market was dull and easier. Spot cotton here has been quiet. Middling upland closed at 15.15c., showing no change for the week.

The rates on and off middling, as established Nov. 16 1910 by the Revision Committee, at which grades other than middling may be delive, ed on contract, are as follows:

EGYPTIAN COTTON CROP.—The resume of the Alexandria General Produce Association's report on cotton for November is as follows:

Lower Egypt.—The temperature during November was quite favorable. The third pickings, which are of small importance, have benefited, too, by these conditions. There now remains no more cotton on the plants in the southern provinces and only a very insignificant quantity in the northern provinces. The ginning Jield has been rather inferior to that of the previous month, but the average for the season is estimated about 2% superior to that of last year.

Upper Egypt and Fayoum.—The temperature was, on the whole, favorable. The ginning yield has been on an average the same as last year.

able. The ginaing yield has been on an average the same as last year.

The good results that were hoped for in October have been realized, and this leadf us to maintain our estimate of about 7,000,000 cantars; at the same time we express an opinion that final results may be slightly larger.

SHIPPING NEWS.—As shown on a previous page, the exports of cotton from the United States the past week have reached 281,278 bales. The shipments in detail, as made up from mail and telegraphic returns, are as follows:

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday, December 17 1910.

Prices for wheat flour have been motionless and the trading here has been of very slim proportions. Some would not be surprised to see some expansion in business at least temporarily, after the turn of the year, and of late shipping directions on old contracts have been received more freely at the Northwest. New business there, however, has been dull, and reports of stagnation in trade have continued to come in from the principal milling centres of the West and Southwest. Rye flour has been quiet and somewhat easier.

Corn meal has been quiet and steady.
Wheat has not been distinguished by any striking features. Certainly the fluctuations have kept within such narrow confines that the market has been largely a humdurm affair. Export trade seems to be out of the question, and even the domestic cash demand has been very light as a rule. Speculation has been almost at a standstill here, and even at Chicago the transactions have been but moderate. The fact seems to be that most people are awaiting new lighton the general situation. Although to many the outlook seems bearish it is not forgotten that prices within six months have undergone a considerable decline and that they are from 10 to 15 cents a bushel lower than they were at this time last year. The question to be determined is this decline sufficiently discounts largely increased stocks and favorable crop prospects in most parts of the world. This is one of the things which the year 1911 must decide. The world's available supplies now amount to practically 190,000,000 bushels, or some 57,000,o00 bushels more than at this time last year. The Northwestern stocks in this country are steadily increasing. Chicago's elevators, public and private, hold 9,396,000 bushels, or 4,000,000 more than a year ago. Its stocks of contract wheat amount to 5,700,000 bushels, or nearly 3,000,000 bushels more than at this time last year. These are some of the reasons why not a few experienced people are dubious as to the possibility of bringing about any permanent or material advance in prices at this time. Yet the European visible supply last week decreased 2,880,000 bushels and the world's supply fell off something over 2,000,000 bushels, though, to be sure, this was only about half the decrease for the same period last year. But the receipts at our wheat centres in the Southwest have latterly shown some decrease, and there are those who look for some further falling off unless that section is favored with needed rains in the near future. That the Southwest does need rain is a fact very generally conceded. It has had some moisture during the week, it is true, but the soil needs more. Take it for all in all, however, the market is what may be described as a waiting one. It is felt that the future course of prices, whether upward or downward, is contingent upon new or more decisive developments which may come about during the next few months. To-day prices were firmer on complaints from the Southwest of insufficient moisture, smaller Argentina shipments, bull support and covering of shorts.

Indian corn futures in the local market have been dull and featureless. At the West the speculation has been moderately active. Prices there have moved irregularly, but on the whole the trend has been upward of late, owing to some diminution in the crop movement, firmness on the spot, light supplies of contract grade at Chicago and covering of shorts, partly by cash interests. On the other hand, the cash demand has been small, hedge selling has occurred and pit traders have hammered at times on the idea that supplies in the interior are very heavy and that sooner or later the crop will be marketed with sufficient freedom to bring about lower prices. To-day prices were firmer on an upturn in wheat, light offerings and covering of shorts.

Some elevator interests which have latterly sold May have purchased December. Hedge selling has been noticeable but the pressure from this source has decreased of late. Stocks at Chicago are heavy and the demand light. Shipments from the country, however, have decreased somewhat and cash prices have been firm in the main. To-day prices showed little change. The tone was firm, in sympathy with wheat and corn.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, Dec. 23 1910.

Although cotton goods markets continued quiet, there were some encouraging developments during the week. Judging from reservations being made at hotels, numerous buyers from various sections intend to visit this market early in the new year, and this encourages the inference that some improvement in demand for goods will materialize after the holidays. Important in its bearing upon future business also is the fact that more urgent requests have been made for prompt deliveries of merchandise under order and due in the early part of January; this seems to indicate that distributers have already disposed of such goods or are more encouraged over the outlook. As a matter of fact, distribution in most centres, although below normal, is said to be proceeding steadily, thereby reducing supplies on hand.

In the primary division new orders for forward delivery continued light in volume and there appears to be little prospect of a better demand from jobbers or others until after the turn of the year. Some business, however, is being the turn of the year. Some business, however, is being burlaps remained dull; prices are quoted at 3.75c. for light-done, as certain buyers, convinced that prices on goods to be weights and 4.75c. for 10½-ounce.

made are likely to tend higher rather than lower, are ordering ahead to a moderate extent; they have possibly been influenced also by the prospect of increased curtailment among mills, both Northern and Southern, in the early part of 1911. The outlook for such curtailment took more definite form during the week, the Arkwright Club of Boston, representing New England cotton mill interests, having recommended concerted action towards curtailment unless trade conditions improve in the near future; similar action is expected to be taken by Southern manufacturers, especially those producing gray goods, brown sheetings and drills, if there is not an early turn for the better.

Prices are very firmly held on contracts, with a growing disposition on the part of mills and agents to name values more in keeping with costs of production; no radical advances are expected, but manufacturers appear more determined than heretofore not to continue accepting business at levels which mean no profit and possibly a loss. There is also less willingness to grant concessions on stock goods, although in some lines spot goods are still being moved at prices which mills will not accept for contracts. Trade in jobbing houses was quiet, most of the orders received being for small lots for immediate shipment. Stock-taking is still occupying the attention of many jobbers. Reports from retail centres reflect a substantial and satisfactory business in all holiday goods. A little more interest was shown in cotton yarns, but business tendered was at prices which mills were not over-anxious to accept. Silk piece goods continued active, especially for prompt delivery. Some of the largest underwear manufacturers are reported well sold ahead on spring lines, and the outlook for fall business is better in some quarters, but unsatisfactory in others. A good demand is in evidence for well-known brands of hosiery for forward shipment, and certain fall lines of cotton and woolen goods display a firmer tendency. The primary dress goods market was seasonably quiet; in men's wear, interest was centred in openings of overcoatings for fall 1911 delivery, but buyers have not yet begun to operate freely on these lines.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending Dec. 17 were 4,284 packages, valued at $373,113, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

Orders for domestic cottons were scattered and in the aggregate moderate. Bleached goods ruled quiet but firm. Wide sheetings and drills were also firmly held and in light request. Substantial re-orders on ginghams for near-by shipment were received, especially from the West, and prints, both staple and semi-fancy, moved in fair volume, while the manufacturing trade took moderate quantities of denims, shirtings and working-suit fabrics. Colored cottons are somewhat firmer, with stocks reported rather limited as the result of curtailment, but are not very active for future delivery. Southern tickings, as well as certain Eastern lines, are said to be well conditioned, with manufacturers conservative in booking far ahead at current prices. Some additional export business on sheetings has been put through for China account; the prices secured show little if any profit, but the bids were accepted largely in order to keep American goods in that market; trade with miscellaneous ports remained dull. Print cloths and convertibles continued quiet and business done was moderate; bids slightly below the market were freely made but met with little success; prices are quotably unchanged.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The primary market for dress goods displayed little life, as is usual at this season, and not much change is expected until lines of new fabrics are shown next month. The feature in men's wear was the formal opening of many well-known lines of overcoatings for next fall delivery, the prices named showing concessions of from 21/2 to 5%; other lines will not be shown until after the turn of the year. Some fair-sized orders were placed, but buyers generally showed a disposition to wait until after the holidays before making commitments. The strike in Western clothing centres has had an unsettling effect upon the local FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—An active demand has been in evidence for housekeeping linens of all descriptions for the holiday trade and also to meet requirements of special sales which retailers will hold in January and February; business in dress linens for forward shipment is restricted, owing to uncertainty over deliveries; many orders are being accepted by importers subject to confirmation by mills. Prices on all descriptions of linens are strong. Imported woolen and worsted fabrics have been generally quiet. The market for Government Defeated.—An election held Dec. 15 is said to have resulted in the defeat of a proposition to adopt the commission form of government.

We learn from other sources that the bonds will now be offered for sale Dec. 28.

Indiana.—Bonds Declared Valid by State Supreme Court.-The $120,548 3% bonds which were to be delivered to the Vincennes University for the payment of land which, it is said, the State took from the institution many years ago without compensation were declared valid by the State Supreme Court on Dec. 16. The Court, in rendering its decision, said that the bonds were not a gift, as claimed in the complaint, but a payment of an obligation as computed by the General Assembly. The Superior Court upheld the validity of these bonds on Sept. 25 1909. V. 89, p. 867.

Japan.—Annual Reduction of Foreign Debt.—It has been officially announced through Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York City that the Japanese Government intends to devote annually to the redemption of the foreign debt a portion of the sum, at present fixed at not less than yen 50,000,000 per annum, provided each year for the redemption of the national debt. We print below a statement issued by the New York bankers concerning the above:

The Financial Commissioner in London of the Imperial Japanese Government has received advice from his Government that it has been decided to devote annually to the redemption of the foreign debt a portion of the sum at present fixed at not less than yen 50,000,000 per annum provided each year for the redemption of the national debt. For the year 1911 the sum of £1,000,000 will be so devoted, and it is the intention to apply this sum mainly in reduction of the amount of the 4½% loans secured on the tobacco monopoly.

Louisiana. - State Supreme Court Upholds Bond Act Passed by Special Session of Legislature.—State Supreme Court Judge Frank A. Monroe in an opinion rendered Dec. 16 upholds the Act passed by the recent special session of the Legislature of this State for the purpose of facilitating the sale of the $7,000,000 sewer bonds which were offered without success (V. 91, p. 1050) on Oct. 4. This case was brought, it is stated, for the purpose of permanently removing all doubt as to the legality of the above-mentioned Act. The question had been raised that as the Act was purely a local measure, the same was unconstitutional on account of there not having been 30 days' notice given of the intention of Newport, Ky.—Bonds Declared Valid by Court of Appeals. -The Court of Appeals of this State on Dec. 16 handed down a decision affirming the one rendered by the Circuit Court on Nov. 12 (V. 91, p. 1398), declaring valid an issue of $100,000 street-improvement bonds.

The above bond issue was sanctioned by a two-thirds majority of the voters on Nov. 2 1909 and subsequently an ordinance was passed by the City Council authorizing the issuance of the bonds. The question then arose, it is stated, as to whether the issue could be floated as it would put the bonded debt beyond the constitutional limitationthat is, if the debt of the school district was accepted as part of the city's bonded obligations. The Court of Appeals, however, states that, according to the statute, the indebtedness of a Board of Education on account of its public schools in the district in which it has jurisdiction is not to be figured in computing the debt of the city.

Santa Barbara County (P. O. Santa Barbara), Cal.—Litigation.—No decision has yet been rendered by the Supreme Court in the suit brought to test the legality of the $100,-000 6% road bonds mentioned in V. 90, p. 800.
