REVIEW OF FEBRUARY.

The overshadowing event during February was the announcement by the Inter-State Commerce Commission of its conclusions in the cases which it had had under consideration since the previous June, involving the application of both Eastern and Western roads for the sanction of the Commission to put into effect higher freight schedules. The determination of the Commission in these cases had been anxiously awaited all through the month and it was promulgated after the close of business Feb. 23. The character of the decisions proved a complete surprise. There had been general expectation that at least some additions to rates would be permitted, even if only slight. Opinions differed as to which class of roads would have the best chance of being favored in that way. Some thought that the Eastern roads would get authority to put into effect somewhat higher rates and others thought that the Western lines would receive a dispensation from the Commission and be allowed to advance their transportation charges. No one imagined that all advances whatsoever contained in the pending applications would be vetoed.

But this latter is what actually happened. The Commission put both Eastern and Western systems in the same category and refused to accede to general increases of any kind. What is more, it was apparently absolutely unanimous in its conclusions in both sets of cases—at least no member was recorded as registering dissent. It was evident that the two changes in the personnel of the Commission made with the beginning of 1911—when Chairman Knapp was promoted to a position on the new Commerce Court and the term of ex-Senator Francis M. Cockrell expired, and two new men were appointed in their places in the person of C. C. McChord, formerly Chairman of the Kentucky Railroad Commission and author of the McChord Law of that State, and B. H. Meyer, at one time connected with the Wisconsin Railroad Commission—had served to solidify the radical element in the Commission, leaving no recognized conservative representatives on the Board.

Very large bodies of roads were represented in both series of cases. The "Eastern" roads comprised the lines and systems in what is technically known as Official Classification Territory, a stretch of country bounded on the north by Canada, on the east by the Atlantic Ocean, on the south by the Potomac and Ohio rivers and on the West by the Mississippi River. The "Western" roads, on the other hand, comprised the lines and systems in Western Trunk Line, Trans-

Missouri and Illinois Freight Committee territories, the carriers in these instances operating in the States of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Montana.

By thoughtful men the denial of the right to make any general increases in rates over this vast expanse of country was viewed with grave apprehension. These were the first cases coming before the Commission since it has been vested with authority, under the Law of 1910, to decide as to the propriety of contemplated advances in rates before allowing them to go into effect. They were, therefore, regarded as affording an idea of the general attitude and spirit of the Commission toward attempts to raise rate schedules. That the test in these instances should have yielded such unfavorable results for the carriers was hence looked upon as offering no very hopeful portend for the future, for any class of roads. At the same time, of course, the immediate prosperity of the companies involved in the groups of cases decided was directly at stake.

Authority to put up rates moderately was desired mainly to offset in part the tremendous additions to expenses occasioned by the advances in wages which the carriers at one time or another had been forced to grant during 1910. In the case of the carriers in Official Classification territory, it appeared from calculations made by the attorney for the Inter-State Commerce Commission, from figures furnished by the railroads, that the added outlay per year from the higher wage schedules put in force would reach not less than $34,338,358. As against this increase in the yearly expenditures, the added revenue from the higher freight rates proposed would have been only $27,171,444. With the right to increase freight rates denied, there will be no compensation whatever in that way against the $34,338,358 increase in expenses.

But the experience of these roads in the territory between Chicago and the seaboard in the matter of higher wage schedules has been no different from the experience of the roads in other parts of the country. They have all had to concede big and general increases in wages. It has been estimated that for the whole railroad system of the United States the added outlay by reason of advances in wages will aggregate between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000. Deprived of the opportunity to get added revenue by higher freight schedules, it will be necessary for the carriers either to introduce new economies in management and develop efficiency to a much higher point than any yet attained, or to face the possibility of a decided impairment of net income. The apprehensions felt in that regard account for the break in security values which occurred on the Stock Exchanges abroad and in this country after the conclusions of the Commission were made public.

Aside from the action of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, which proved so seriously disturbing, the developments during the month were, on the whole, encouraging. Greater activity was noted in the iron and steel trade, a reflex of which was found in an increase in the aggregate of unfilled orders on the books of the United States Steel Corporation. In its monthly statement, made public February 10, the aggregate of orders on the books of the subsidiary companies of the Steel Corporation was given as 3,110,919 tons for January 31, being an increase during January of 436,162 tons.

Perhaps the most gratifying feature of the month was the decline in commodity prices. This was looked upon as modifying greatly the occasion for complaint as to the high cost of living. Grain prices in general, and wheat in particular, suffered a pronounced break. In Chicago the May option for wheat almost steadily declined and on February 27, the last business day of the month (February 28 having been a holiday at that point on account of the primary elections), the quotations got down to 88 $\frac{3}{8}$  cents, the lowest in a very long period of time, as against 97 $\frac{1}{8}$  cents on February 2. The proposed removal of the duty of 25 cents a bushel on Canadian wheat under the agreement for trade reciprocity with the Dominion was cited as one factor in the drop in price, though favorable crop accounts regarding the condition of winter wheat in this country operated to the same end. The House of Representatives at Washington on February 14 passed the McCall bill, embodying the tariff agreement referred to, by a vote of 221 to 93. May corn in Chicago fell off from 50 $\frac{3}{8}$  cents February 2 to 47 $\frac{3}{8}$  cents February 27 and May oats at Chicago from 33 $\frac{5}{8}$  cents February 1 to 30 $\frac{3}{4}$  cents February 27.

In cotton, also, there was a considerable decline, though here some recovery ensued before the close of the month. In this market the quotation for middling uplands cotton dropped from 14.95 cents January 31 to 14 cents February 15, with an upward reaction to 14.45 cents by February 28.

In the railroad world an event of considerable importance was the transfer of control of the Missouri-Pacific from the Gould people to Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Standard Oil interests and other American, as well as some German, banking houses. On February 15 announcement was made that an agreement had been reached with Mr. George J. Gould by which the new interests referred to would be given control at the annual meeting of the company to be held March 14. With this end in view, Paul M. Warburg of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will enter the board of directors, also Edgar L. Marston of Blair & Co., E. D. Adams, representing the Deutsche Bank, besides which the new president of the company, yet to be selected and to reside at St. Louis, is to be admitted to the Board. These new interests felt it incumbent upon them to assume the management of the property and rehabilitate and develop it. The change of control was looked upon as an event of large promise.

In the money market, as it happened, rates were fractionally higher at the very beginning of the month. But this did not last very long. Large offerings, with only a limited inquiry for funds, quickly brought about a decline.

The stock market was a small affair until after the decision of the Inter-State Commerce Commission denying the application of Eastern and Western roads to advance rates. That event completely changed the character and tone of the dealings. At the beginning of the month the market was strong and prominent issues generally recorded advances. Thereafter the volume of business remained small, with the fluctuations, on the whole, quite narrow, though special properties like Milwaukee & St. Paul common, at times displayed weakness; on the other hand, Canadian Pacific and its allied properties manifested an advancing tendency. The prospective change in the control of the Missouri Pacific caused a pronounced upward turn in that stock and in some of the other former Gould properties. Several of the industrial properties likewise moved upward, but just before the Commerce Commission announced its decision the tone was somewhat unsteady, without, however, any pronounced movement of prices, either up or down. The conclusions of the Commission were not known until after the close of business Thursday, February 23, and accordingly did not affect the market on that day. On Friday morning, however, many leading issues opened all the way from 3 to 7 points below the closing prices of the previous day, with the market completely demoralized. At London—where, owing to the difference in time, the market opened earlier—an even more noteworthy slump occurred. The drop here might have reached still larger proportions if it had not been for the putting in of supporting orders. These orders served to cause a rally and the remainder of the month no further decline was permitted. On the contrary, an upward reaction was brought about, several of the industrial stocks being sharply boosted upwards, and this being used to bolster up the general range of prices.

In the foreign exchange market the chief events were the reduction in the Bank of England rate of discount on February 16 from 4% to 3½% and that of the Bank of Germany on February 18 from 4½ to 4%. In the early part of the month, when discount rates abroad were still firm and money was worth more in London than here, exchange sharply advanced. Then a marked drop occurred—in part on speculative operations, in part on lower discounts in Europe, a very favorable foreign trade statement for January and the break in commodity prices, which it was supposed would stimulate European buying of goods and merchandise in this country. The minimum price for exchange was reached on February 16, the day the Bank of England reduced its discount rate, but a sharp recovery ensued before the close of that day, and the latter part of the month the tendency of exchange rates was generally upward, with the close February 28 at or near the highest figures of the month.

CONDITION OF THE TRUST COMPANIES OF NEW YORK STATE.

We present below comparative statements showing the condition of the trust companies of New York State at the date of the last call and of various previous calls since August 1907. We give separately the totals for the Greater New York and those for the whole State. We also add tables to indicate the changes in deposits for all the separate companies in the different boroughs of this city.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

BONDS AND STOCKS

1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.

2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method, and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

3. The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STREET AND ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

In quoting street and electric railway bonds, we employ the same method as in quoting the bonds of steam railroads. The great majority of issues being quoted "and interest," we use no designating mark whatever where that is the case. On the other hand, we prefix the letter "f" where there is a deviation from this rule; in such cases the interest forms part of the price. Unless, therefore, "f" appears against a quotation, the buyer will understand that the accrued interest is to be added on. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f." and income and defaulted bonds.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).
 The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities, if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing-House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

Where Names are Printed in Italics Fuller Returns may be Found in the Advertising Columns
