REVIEW OF JUNE.

Unfavorable events came in quick succession during June, increasing the feeling of despondency previously prevailing. The news from Washington was particularly disquieting. When the Stock Exchange opened Monday, June 2d, after the three-day holiday (the Stock Exchange having been closed both on Friday, May 30, Memorial Day, and Saturday, May 31), there was evidence of renewed liquidation, both on foreign and domestic account. The daily papers Sunday morning published a letter written to Senator Tillman of South Carolina by President Wilson and bearing date May 27, at first marked "confidential," but subsequently released for publication. In this letter the President indicated his belief in the urgency of currency legislation, which, under ordinary circumstances, would have been an assuring incident. The reasons, however, which the President gave for advocating prompt action were such as to excite renewed apprehensions at a time when what was most needed was something to allay the growing feeling of apprehension in business circles. The President said currency legislation was essential, "so that any attempt to create artificial disturbances after the tariff shall have become law may be offset by a free system of credit which will make it possible for men, big and little, to take care of themselves in business."

That the President should renew his expressions of fear of artificial disturbances in connection with tariff legislation was in itself calculated to cause gloomy feelings, and the further circumstance that the President coupled banking and currency reform with the idea of providing "a free system of credit" for big men and little did not appear to auger well for currency reform of the right type. It seemed to suggest that the authorities at Washington thought that what was needed was not so much a scientifically constructed currency system, which would respond automatically to trade requirements, but some patent device under which Government would serve as the regulator of credit. The appearance later in the month of the Administration plan for banking and currency reform did much to confirm these fears.

Further unsettling news came from Washington from day to day, new experiments in legislation being indicated, and determination expressed to carry through, at all hazards, the work of that kind already entered upon. Wednesday morning, June 4, sensational accounts were published concerning what was contemplated and under way. On the one hand it was reported that the Administration planned to use the lobby inquiry, with the record it was furnishing of the personal holdings of Senators in certain properties, for the purpose of forcing through the Tariff Bill unchanged, notwithstanding the personal views of certain of the Senators adverse to the measure. But the most startling news of all was that Attorney-General McReynolds was dissatisfied with the results of the dissolution plan of the American Tobacco Co. as carried out during the previous Administration, and had recommended a graduated internal revenue tax with the view to giving the independent tobacco manufacturers a chance to compete with their large rival.

The next day, June 5, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska promptly introduced an amendment to the pending Tariff Bill, which, it was stated, was intended to carry out the suggestions of the Attorney-General, and would have the effect, not only of raising additional revenue from the "overgrown" tobacco concerns, but would so handicap them as to permit successful competition from outside concerns. The rate of the tax increased so fast on amounts above certain aggregates as to be absolutely prohibitory for the excess. It was difficult to comprehend the logic of this, inasmuch as the Administration was urging the lowering or abolition of tariff duties, with the view, as claimed, of promoting efficiency in manufacturing, while now it was proposed, in effect, to tax efficiency. If a concern manufactured on such a scale or with such skill and under such improved methods as to make it difficult for rival concerns to sell goods on equally advantageous terms, it was to be penalized for its success. And, of course, if the rule were once applied in the case of the tobacco industry, it would not be long before the large concerns in other industries would be visited with similar punishment. The plan met with such general disapproval that it was quickly disavowed by the Administration. The bad impression created, however, remained, as it appeared to indicate that the authorities at Washington stood ready to experiment with all kinds of wild and revolutionary proposals, if only popular support could be gained for them.

The following Monday (June 9) the U. S. Supreme Court handed down the long-awaited decision in the Minnesota rate cases. When the purport of these decisions became known, which was not until after the Stock Exchange had closed for the day, a feeling of consternation developed in railroad and financial circles. The succeeding two days the stock market experienced such a slump in values as has happened on only rare occasions in the history of the Exchange. A wholly exaggerated importance was given to the decisions; confidence had been so seriously disturbed, as the result of a long series of blows, that the investment and financial world for the moment took cognizance of only one thing, namely that the railroads had suffered still another defeat at a time when the carrying industry was already in a very precarious condition. As a matter of fact, the Court laid down no new rules and enunciated no new principles. The only point at issue was the right of a State to regulate rates on traffic moving wholly within State borders. That right had always been upheld and was again upheld.

Another matter that was not settled in an entirely satisfactory way was the request of the roads in Official Classification Territory—that is, the Eastern trunk lines—for an increase in freight rates. On May 14 application had been made to the Inter-State Commerce Commission for the re-opening of the case for an increase in rates which had been decided adversely to the roads in Feb. 1911. On June 21 the Commission denied the request. The Commission announced, however, that it would itself institute an investigation into the sufficiency of present rates and the best course to pursue with reference to making an advance should an advance be called for.

One event of the month which had the effect of improving sentiment in financial circles very materially was the action of the Secretary of the Treasury in announcing that he was prepared to issue emergency currency under the Aldrich-Vreeland Act of 1908 up to the legal limit, namely, $500,000,000. The Secretary's announcement was simply that he "would not hesitate to issue emergency currency to any banks making application and qualifying under the Act." No one supposed that there was the least likelihood that any of this emergency currency would be applied for and the prevailing ease in the money market showed that there was not the slightest need for it, but the announcement had been wholly unlooked for and it appeared in the daily papers Thursday morning, June 12, when the stock market the preceding two days had been in a state of utter demoralization as a result of the Supreme Court decisions adverse to the railroads in the Minnesota rate cases. Furthermore, daily papers gave great prominence to the action of the Secretary, and there likewise seemed something magical in the Secretary's statement that the Treasury Department, in accordance with the provisions of the Aldrich-Vreeland Act, actually had on hand $500,000,000 of new national bank notes already printed to meet any request. It happened that the daily papers the same morning also contained the announcement that the National City Bank had determined to abandon its policy of not loaning on call at less than 3%.

In the stock market utter demoralization prevailed during the first ten days of the month. The further decline in values was of such startling proportions that the market may be said to have been on the verge of panic on several occasions. Prices in numerous instances dropped to the lowest level reached since the panic of 1907, and in a few cases to even lower figures than registered at that time. The market opened Monday, June 2, extremely weak, after having been closed the previous Saturday and Friday on account of the Memorial Day holidays. A decided feeling of uneasiness prevailed, ascribable in no small measure to the public utterances of high Government officials. There was also disappointment over the prospect of further trouble with the Government regarding a plan for the dissolution of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific combination. In Germany, the new Government loans acted to unsettle the Berlin money market, and caused further liquidation of securities in London on German account, particularly Canadian Pacific. This last opened in our market all the way down from 219 to 218½ as against 227⅛ at the close Thursday, May 29. Later in the week the recommendation of Attorney-General McReynolds that a graduated excise tax be placed on manufactures of tobacco, so as to handicap large producers, had an exceedingly disturbing effect on values, inasmuch as it was feared that if this rule were once applied in the tobacco industry it would soon be extended to other industries, and thus a tax on efficiency and the superior results of large concerns be placed everywhere. On June 9 there came the U. S. Supreme Court decision in the Minnesota rate cases, which, however, was not announced until after the close of business that day. The slump in prices which followed the next two days has rarely been equaled. Values dropped to such a low level that it seemed the bottom must at length have been reached. On June 12 the morning papers reported the readiness of the Secretary of the Treasury to issue $500,000,000 of emergency currency should the occasion require it, and the banks apply for it, and the papers also reported the change in the policy of the National City Bank in abandoning the 3% rate as its minimum for call loans. Before the market opened, no one could feel certain how these reports would be received, but they evidently created a favorable sentiment, and as there was a large short interest, the market responded with a sharp upward rebound in prices. It also became apparent that foreign selling had been overdone, and Canadian Pacific, which in the break June 11 had got as low as 210¼, now sold close to

219. Thereafter for the rest of the month there was no further exhibition of extreme weakness and many stocks made substantial recoveries. The latter part of the month a rise in Union Pacific shares took place on evidence that an agreement would be reached with the Government for disposing of the Union Pacific's holdings of Southern Pacific shares, which the Supreme Court had condemned as a violation of the Anti-Trust law. The copper shares became weak on the decline in the price of the metal.

In the money market rates were distinctly lower the latter half of the month. The action of the Secretary of the Treasury regarding emergency currency and the change of policy on the part of the National City Bank in no longer adhering to a minimum of 3% for call loans, were mainly responsible for this. The call money rate at one time dropped as low as 1%.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1913. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. All quotations in the column headed "Price about January 2 1913" were made on that date, except those in italics, which are the nearest in January 1913. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. This method of quoting bonds became effective January 2 1909.

BONDS AND STOCKS

1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.

2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method, and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

3. The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and [illegible]d defaulted bonds.

STREET AND ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

In quoting street and electric railway bonds, we employ the same method as in quoting the bonds of steam railroads. The great majority of issues being quoted "and interest," we use no designating mark whatever where that is the case. On the other hand, we prefix the letter "f" where there is a deviation from this rule; in such cases the interest forms part of the price. Unless, therefore, "f" appears against a quotation, the buyer will understand that the accrued interest is to be added on. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

MISCELLANEOUS SECURITIES.

Quotations marked "f" indicate that accrued interest is included in the price. Prices not marked are "and interest", that is, purchaser has to pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing-House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

Where Names are Printed in Italics Fuller Returns may be Found in the Advertising Columns
