REVIEW OF OCTOBER.

The new tariff measure became a law on Friday night, Oct. 3, with the signature of the President, and while considerable relief was felt over the definite ending of suspense regarding the matter, the event was not followed by a quickening of trade activity, as many had hoped. On the contrary, there was a decided slowing down of business in the industries more particularly affected by the reduction in duties. The disposition which had existed for many months to buy only from hand to mouth became still more pronounced. In the iron and steel industry, where orders had been steadily declining all through the year, there was a further slackening and a further scaling down of prices on top of the previous recession in values. This was to adjust selling prices to the new tariff schedules.

Affairs in Mexico reached a decidedly acute stage, and this proved a further disturbing element. The monetary situation abroad took a turn for the better as far as Germany was concerned, with the knowledge that the German financial centres had passed safely over the end of the quarter settlements on Sept. 30. A new period of strain, however, developed in London because of the continued demand for gold for Egypt and the springing up of an inquiry for the metal on American account. On Oct. 2 the Bank of England advanced its discount rate from 4½% to 5%, this being the first change since the previous April 17. Rates of exchange here were at or close to the point where gold could be shipped to the United States as an exchange operation and more or less inquiry for the metal on American account was noted. The higher discount rates brought a recovery in exchange, checking the American demand, and it was understood that the actual taking of gold on United States account would invite a further rise in the Bank of England rate—to 6%. The last week of the month $2,000,000 gold was engaged for import to this country, but by this time the Bank of Germany had reduced its rate from 6 to 5½% and the Egyptian demand upon London for gold had been in great measure satisfied—for the time being at least. Exchange rates clearly favored an import movement; and an advance in call-loan rates in this market—10% being finally touched—indicated that the monetary situation here was not without its perplexing features, even though the trade demand for accommodation was reduced and the crop demand lighter than usual.

The legislative situation at Washington gave occasion for further anxiety. With the Tariff Bill disposed of, it became evident that the President was determined that legislative activity should be extended in other directions. The President continued insistent for banking and currency legislation and when signing the Tariff Bill took occasion to re-emphasize his purpose in that regard. After expressing his great gratification that it should have fallen to his lot to have a hand in tariff legislation, he went on to say: "We are now about to take the second step, which will be the final step in setting the business of this country free. That is what we shall do in the Currency Bill which the House has already passed and which I have the utmost confidence the Senate will pass much sooner than some pessimistic individuals believe. . . . We have set the business of the country free from those conditions which have made monopoly not only possible but in a sense easy and natural. But there is no use taking away the conditions of monopoly if we do not take away also the power to create monopoly, and that is a financial rather than a merely circumstantial and economic power. The power to control and guide and direct the credits of the country is the power to say who shall and who shall not build up the industries of the country, in which direction they shall be built and in which direction they shall not be built."

The President also indicated his purpose to undertake trust legislation with the beginning of the regular session of Congress in December. On Oct. 11 a letter written by him to Chairman Clayton of the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives was made public in which the President disclosed his purpose in that regard. He urged Mr. Clayton to give up his intention of entering the United States Senate and asked him to remain in the House to aid the Administration in carrying out its anti-trust policy. Mr. Clayton acquiesced. A few days later the daily newspapers announced that the President had approved the plans of Secretary of Commerce Redfield for investigation of the acts of manufacturers who might close their factories or reduce wages on the plea that such curtailment was made necessary by the new law. It was stated that an appropriation was to be urged upon Congress for the carrying on of work of that character. This of course meant that things were to be kept stirred up and that a period of rest and quiet was not yet near. Secretary Redfield subsequently himself took occasion in some speeches to emphasize the same point.

A renewed decline in Government bonds early in the month led to a revival of apprehensions on that score. The decline seemed to come as a result of President Wilson's remarks on signing the Tariff Bill, announcing his determination to push the pending banking and currency legislation to an early conclusion. Fortunately, here a decided change for the better occurred and was evidenced by a marked recovery in the price of the bonds, as indications began to multiply that the Senate would insist on making important changes in the leading features of the bill, and that the President would not be allowed to have his own way as to the form of the bill or the precise provisions to be contained in the same. The strong opposition against the bill manifested by banking interests also operated to the same end.

In our foreign exchange market the feature was the advance in the Bank of England rate on Oct. 2 from $4\frac{1}{2}\%$ to 5% , owing to the large demand for gold for Egypt and a simultaneous inquiry for gold for American account. The advance in the Bank rate was preceded by a rise in open market discounts and it was evident that the Bank would resist to the utmost an outflow of gold to the United States. The effect here was to cause a sharp advance in sterling at the beginning of the month, which put an end to the American inquiry for the time being. The Bank of England in its weekly statement for Oct. 2 reported a loss in its gold holdings of no less than £3,084,091, of which £2,000,000 represented shipments to Egypt and £40,000 to India. On Oct. 9 the weekly return showed a further loss in gold of £1,885,492, of which £1,195,000 was for Egypt and £20,000 for India. After that, the weekly returns recorded gains. Open market discounts remained very firm, however, and there was still talk of a possible advance in the Bank of England rate to 6% . This talk was renewed the latter part of the month, when \$2,000,000 in gold bars were engaged for shipment to the United States, but no further advance in the Bank rate was made. Sterling exchange developed increasing weakness and the rates Oct. 31 were at the lowest figures of the month. One reason was that commercial bills, both grain and cotton, were very liberally offered, and the sale of \$5,000,000 Interborough Rapid Transit bonds abroad was also a factor in the decline. In addition, money rates at this centre stiffened very materially. In London, open market discounts Oct. 31 were close to the Bank minimum. The Bank of Germany reduced its official rate from 6% to $5\frac{1}{2}\%$ on Oct. 27. \$2,300,000 gold was taken here for Canada.

Our local money market developed firmness, which was attended by an advance in rates for both call loans and time loans. The Clearing-House banks statement for Oct. 3 proved unexpectedly poor, and the banks were also called upon to ship currency quite freely to the West, notwithstanding the aid derived by Western and Southern institutions from the increase in Government deposits. Surplus reserves of the Clearing-House banks subsequently improved, but on Oct. 31 the call-loan rate, which had been gradually advancing, again touched 10% . The bank statement for Saturday, Nov. 1, actually showed a small deficiency in reserves.

The stock market was depressed most of the time during October. Union Pacific and the Steel shares were weak features at the very beginning of the month, the former on disappointment because of the lack of definite news with reference to the distribution of the proceeds of the sale of Southern Pacific stock and the latter because of the diminution in steel orders and the enactment of the new Tariff Law with its lower duties, this latter being followed by a general weakening of steel prices. The advance in the Bank of England rate of discount did not tend to improve the temper of the market and the decline in Government 2s and anxiety regarding the outcome of banking and currency legislation also proved disturbing factors. On Oct. 9 there came the definite official announcement that the Union Pacific's directors had reached the conclusion that it was inexpedient to deal with the subject of a distribution at the present time of the money derived from the sale of Southern Pacific shares, and furthermore that it was never contemplated that if there should be a distribution, the old rate of dividends on Union Pacific would be continued. This occasioned a further sharp break in Union Pacific shares, and Steel stock also continued weak for the reason already given. The next week the news that the Massachusetts Railroad Commission had approved the proposed issue of $67,552,000 convertible debentures of the New York New Haven & Hartford R.R. had a strengthening effect on that stock, which, however, weakened again the latter part of the month on intimation by Chairman Howard Elliott that the New Haven dividend might have to be further reduced to 4%. The market continued more or less depressed until Tuesday, October 21, when a sharp upward turn occurred; due to short covering on the news that the Inter-State Commerce Commission had withdrawn objections to certain proposed advances in commodity rates between Missouri River points by Western roads. The action was soon found to be of little consequence and prices gradually eased off again. The latter part of the month the fluctuations were quite narrow and the market extremely dull with no decided tendency to prices except in the case of a few specialties, which were rather weak. Steel shares improved on the prospect of a favorable statement of earnings for the September quarter, but after the publication of the figures on Oct. 28 the price again fell off.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1913. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. All quotations in the column headed "Price about January 2 1913" were made on that date, except those in italics which are the nearest in January 1913. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. This method of quoting bonds became effective January 2 1909.

For foot-notes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.

2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method, and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

3. The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and "d" and defaulted bonds.

STREET AND ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

In quoting street and electric railway bonds, we employ the same method as in quoting the bonds of steam railroads. The great majority of issues being quoted "and interest," we use no designating mark whatever where that is the case. On the other hand, we prefix the letter "f" where there is a deviation from this rule; in such cases the interest forms part of the price. Unless, therefore, "f" appears against a quotation, the buyer will understand that the accrued interest is to be added on. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Price per share, not per cent. Last sale. Nominal. Sale price. Stamped stock. New stock. Ex-dividend. Ex-rights.

MISCELLANEOUS SECURITIES.

Quotations marked "f" indicate that accrued interest is included in the price. Prices not marked are "and interest," hat is, purchaser has to pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities held to maturity will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing-House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

Where Names are Printed in Italics Fuller Returns may be Found in the Advertising Columns
