REVIEW OF NOVEMBER.

The most important incidents during November were (1) the further extension of business activity and the development of a freight blockade on the great trunk lines to the seaboard, caused, not alone by the magnitude of the freight movement, but by the fact that the shipments were in great part for export in connection with the war in Europe, and, owing to the scarcity of steamships, ocean freight room was not available in sufficient quantity to take care of the shipments, with the effect of causing great congestion at all the railroad terminals; (2) the quieting down of speculation on the Stock Exchange and a discontinuance for the time being of manipulative practices for sending prices skyward; and (3) the vigorous prosecution by Germany, Bulgaria and Austria of their Balkan campaign, and the inability of the Entente countries to interpose any effective obstacles to the onward movement, while at the same time doubts and fears haunted the Entente peoples and Governments with reference to possible antagonistic action by Greece or at least action imperiling the security of the forces which were being sent to the Balkans to aid the Serbians.

The British and the French continued to land troops at Salonika from whence they were sent into the southern part of Serbia, it being estimated that this expeditionary force aggregated 150,000 to 200,000 effective men by the end of the month; and though this force was not sufficient to overcome the invaders it is significant that only in southern Serbia did the Bulgarians or the Germans and Austrians fail to overwhelm the Serbian army, which put up a stout defense and was able to inflict severe losses upon the invaders. The latter took one strong point after another despite obstinate resistance, capturing large numbers of Serbian prisoners and also numerous guns and extensive supplies of ammunition. On Nov. 28 the German General Staff gave out an official statement announcing what it professed to believe the close of the Serbian campaign, as far as the Serbians were concerned. The statement said:

"With the flight of the scanty remains of the Serbian army into the Albanian mountains our great operations against the same are brought to a close, our object of effecting communication with Bulgaria and the Turkish Empire having been accomplished."

The statement further said:

"The movements of the army of Field Marshal von Mackensen; the operations of the Austro-Hungarian Army under General Koevess, which was reinforced by German troops, against the Drina and the Save; the operations of the army under General von Gallwitz against the Danube near Semendria and Rambasias were commenced on Oct. 6 and the advance of the army under General Boyadjieff (Bulgarian) against the Negotin-Pirot line began Oct. 14. The same day a second Bulgarian army under General Theodoroff also commenced operations in the direction of Skoplje and Veles. "Since then our troops have accomplished quickly and smoothly the formidable undertaking of crossing the Danube in the face of the enemy, impeded, moreover, by the untimely Kossovo assault, and have captured the enemy frontier fortresses at Belgrade, at the taking of which the Austro-Hungarian Eighth Army Corps with the Brandenburg Reserves especially distinguished themselves. Zaciecar, Kajazevac and Pirot fell into the hands of the Bulgarians.

"In addition to this our troops have completely broken the tough resistance of an enemy who, in addition to being supported by the nature of the country, is inured to war, and fought bravely. Neither impenetrable roads, impassable mountains thickly snow-clad, nor the absence of reinforcements and shelter were able to check our advance.

"More than 100,000, almost half the entire Serbian fighting forces, have been taken prisoners. Their losses in battle and by desertions cannot be estimated. Guns, including heavy artillery, and an incalculable quantity of material of all kinds have been captured. The German losses, however deplorable, have been extremely moderate, and our troops have not suffered from disease."

The next day Berlin Military Headquarters reported the capture of more Serbian prisoners and added to the previous day's statement the further information that up to date the total number of cannon taken from the Serbians had reached 502, many of the guns being of heavy calibre. While the Germans had been pushing steadily south, the Bulgarians continued their campaign from the east and were successful everywhere, apparently, except in the south and where they came in conflict with the French forces. At the end of the month Monastir, though not yet occupied by them, was within their control, they having, on Saturday, Nov. 27, crossed the river Carassou to the north of Monastir, and the Serbians having evacuated the place. Large numbers of Serbians sought refuge in Montenegro and in Albania. The Austrians at the end of the month, in dealing with the Montenegrins, crossed the frontier of the latter. Under date of Nov. 29 a statement was given out by wireless from Berlin saying that after the termination of the operations against the Serbian main army, the Austro-Hungarian offensive against Montenegro started with the whole of the Austro-Hungarian force. The first offensive, begun some time before, had only been intended to impede the Montenegrins from participating in the operations in the Sanjak. After having obtained this result, the general offensive against Montenegro had now begun. As the northwest frontier was a natural fortress, the attack would be directed from the Sanjak. The Austro-Hungarians already had passed the Lim River.

The capture of Prisrend in western Serbia near the Albanian border by the Bulgarians took place Nov. 28. The Bulgarians after the large batches of prisoners previously captured were stated to have taken between 16,000 and 17,000 more, together with 50 field cannon and howitzers, 20,000 rifles, 148 automobiles and a large amount of war material.

The attitude of Greece caused great perturbation all through the month and there were also serious apprehensions concerning the probable course of Rumania, though in this latter case the accounts almost uniformly suggested a likelihood of co-operation with the Entente countries. The Russians were reported as having massed an army of 250,000 to 300,000 men for the invasion of Bulgaria and one set of reports had it that with such an army to assure protection against annihilation by the Germans the Rumanians would at once enter the field against the Central Powers. Another set of reports had it that Russia was determined to push this army through Rumania into Bulgaria even if Rumania objected, but it was intimated that Rumania might assume an attitude of "benevolent neutrality" and allow troops to pass through her territory just as Greece had shown "benevolent neutrality" in allowing French and English troops to land at Salonika and pass into Serbia in the endeavor to come to the relief of the Serbians. The accuracy of these reports, however, seemed open to question when telegrams came to London from Bucharest, saying that Rumania had notified Russia of her earnest desire to remain neutral. "Consequently Russian ships will not be permitted to enter the Danube, which, it is emphasized, has been mined." One press version went even further and said that the Rumanian Government had not only forbidden use of the Danube to the Russian Government, but in an energetic note had made the demand that Russia respect her neutrality, adding that if necessary Rumania would defend her neutrality. The latter, however, seems to have adopted a similar attitude as regards Germany, insisting that armed ships must not pass through the Danube in all-Rumanian territory. At the close of the month the Austro-Germans deemed it best to divert part of their armies to the Rumanian border to be prepared for eventualities.

As concerns Greece, Venizelos on Nov. 4 exercised his power in the Chamber of Deputies to defeat the Zaimis Ministry, which at once tendered its resignation. On Nov. 10 King Constantine issued a decree dissolving the Chamber of Deputies, just the thing the Venizelos party did not desire, and fixing the new election for Dec. 19. The decree was regarded as extra-constitutional by the King's opponents, it being contended that the Government had no right to call an election while the army was mobilized, owing to the impossibility of the soldiers casting their votes. Pending the holding of the elections a new Cabinet under Premier Skouloudis was constituted on Nov. 7, and he at once gave formal assurance of "very benevolent neutrality" toward the Entente Powers. In a telegram to the French Foreign Minister the Premier announced that "the new Cabinet accepts as its own the declarations of former Premier Zaimis regarding the friendly attitude of the Royal Government as to the Allied troops at Salonika." Skepticism, however, was manifested regarding these assurances in more than one European quarter, and King Constantine was credited with prepossessions in favor of Germany. The truth is, however, that the position of Greece is a very embarrassing one. If she antagonizes Germany she is in danger of annihilation on land, and if she antagonizes the Entente countries she runs the risk of having her navy destroyed and her ports bombarded. Field Marshall Earl Kitchener, British Secretary of War, who on November 6 had unexpectedly been sent on a mission to the Eastern war arena, made a visit to Greece and had an interview with the King and some of the Government officials and military authorities. The English and the French wanted assurance that if they were driven off Serbian territory and back into Greece they would not be disarmed and interned for the remainder of the war. Accounts regarding the result of Lord Kitchener's mission were conflicting, the same as accounts regarding other matters. To bring pressure to bear upon the Greeks a commercial blockade of Greece was threatened. Later, however, it was declared that instead of declaring a general blockade of the Greek ports the Entente Powers had, according to a statement issued by the British Foreign Office on Nov. 23, withdrawn, or threatened to withdraw, the special privileges which Greek commerce had enjoyed since the outbreak of the war, such as permission to draw her supplies of coal from Welsh collieries and to take other commodities, the export of which is permitted only to certain countries. On Nov. 24 the Entente Powers were understood to have presented a collective note to Premier Skouloudis of Greece demanding freedom of movement for their forces in Macedonia without interposition of obstacles of any kind. Up to the very close of the month Greece's precise attitude remained in doubt. A dispatch on Nov. 30 from the Athens correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co. stated that the basis of Greece's reply was a neutrality which would continue benevolent to the Entente as long as the sovereign rights of Greece were not infringed and no restrictions of a military character were imposed. Greece's argument was, it was declared, that with Salonika and its railway communication in the hands of the Entente Powers, Greek forces would be deprived of their own adequate provisioning base. In other words, Greece objects to the evacuation of Salonika by her troops, the handing over of the railways to the Entente powers, and the policing by the navies of the Entente Powers of her coastal waters to circumvent the activities of German submarines.

In the British Parliament the policy that had been pursued in the campaign against the Dardanelles and towards the Balkan countries was the subject of frank discussion on the part of the English Government. Premier Asquith having recovered from his previous indisposition, addressed the House of Commons on Nov. 2 and presented a comprehensive survey of the plan underlying the military operations.

With regard to the future Mr. Asquith announced that there would be close co-ordination between the staffs of the Entente Powers. On the part of the British the war was to be conducted by a small Cabinet Committee which would consult with the full Cabinet on questions of the most serious import. On Nov. 11 the Premier announced that the new War Committee would consist of five members, including himself, he acting for the time being as Secretary of War, in the absence of Lord Kitchener, the other four members being A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Admiralty; David Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions; Andrew Bonar Law, Secretary of State for the Colonies, and Reginald McKenna, Chancellor of the Imperial Exchequer. On Nov. 11 the Premier asked and received another war credit, amounting this time to £400,000,000, thus bringing the amount up to £1,300,000,000 for the financial year ending with March, and making the total allotted for war purposes £1,662,000,000 ($8,310,000,000). Of course, a vote of credit is simply the formal authority to borrow war funds; it does not direct a bond issue or prescribe the form of loans.

In the other theatres of war, things also did not quite go to the liking of the Entente Powers—with the exception of Russia where the Germans commenced the evacuation of Mitau, their former base in the Riga-Dvina region, and, in view of the renewed aggression of the Russians, apparently gave up the task of capturing Riga and the Dvina line. From Italy reports came several times that Gorizia, considered by the Austrians as one of their most formidable positions, had been taken by the Italians after a campaign lasting more than four months. The report, however, did not prove true, though it was admitted by the Austrians that the Italian attacks were of the most desperate character and that the summit northeast of Oslavia had been temporarily lost by the Austrians and then been recaptured by them. The importance of the town lies in its being well situated on railway lines connecting the upper and lower valleys of Isonzo. Berlin reported that the Italians were suffering appalling losses in their fighting on the Isonzo front, having apparently decided to capture Gorizia regardless of cost. From the British Army operating in the Tigris valley reports came that it had reached the ruins of Ctesiphon (Sulman Pahl), 18 miles southwest of Bagdad, the objective of the campaign. After taking the place and repulsing Turkish counter-attacks, the British forces, it was stated, were compelled to retire three or four miles down the river to obtain considerable water supply. The Turkish version, however, was entirely different, and claimed a serious reverse for the British. Official advices from Constantinople, Nov. 30, declared that the British forces in Mesopotamia continued to retreat following the battle on Nov. 25, which was said to have been a Turkish victory.

A new French 5% loan of unlimited issue was announced Nov. 25 with subscriptions to close Dec. 15. The issue price is 88, yielding 5.68%, free from income tax, and 5.73% if fully paid up immediately. The Government undertakes not to reduce the issue price by conversion during the next fifteen years. Part of the loan was offered in England, the issue price being the same as in Paris, but on account of the difference in exchange the English equivalent was only 79. The first day's subscriptions in Paris, it was estimated, exceeded 25,000,000 francs ($5,000,000,000). The Bank of France alone estimated it had received subscriptions of 13,000,000,000 francs ($2,600,000,000). On Nov. 26 the French Minister of Finance, Alexandre Ribot, introduced a bill in the Chamber of Deputies appropriating 8,172,000,000 francs ($1,634,000,000) for the first quarter of 1916.

During the month, also, a one-year credit of $15,000,000 in favor of French industrial interests was opened in this country by a banking syndicate formed by William P. Bonbright & Co., Inc., of this city, and Bonbright & Co., their Paris correspondents. It was stated that, although this credit was not for the French Government, it was made with its approval, and that the syndicate managers expected shortly to complete arrangements for an additional $15,000,000 credit. The entire $30,000,000 is to be spent in the United States for commodities. The credit is to be in the form of acceptances which, it is understood, will run for 90 days with the privilege of three renewals, the interest rate to be 5% with one-half of 1% extra for each renewal.

The National City Bank, as central depository of Great Britain and France, on Nov. 15 received about $72,000,000 as a result of the payment of the first installment of 15% on account of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan. On Nov. 29 it received a further $144,000,000 in response to a second call, this time for 30%, issued on Nov. 18. A credit of $50,000,000 was also arranged with large banks throughout the United States in favor of eight of the great London banks, namely Lloyds, the London City & Midland, the Union of London & Smiths, the London County & Westminster, Parr's Bank, Barclay & Co., the National Provincial Bank of England and the London Joint-Stock Bank. The credit is for six months, bears 4½% int. and is secured by a deposit in the Bank of England of £11,000,000 British Government bonds. Each bank entering into the transaction was to receive the joint obligations of each of the eight London banks. The arrangement provides that the credit is to be drawn in dollars and that when the participating banks in Great Britain desire to make payments for their clients in this country, they will draw upon the New York banks against this credit in the proper amount. A sub-committee was appointed to have charge of the foreign exchange transactions that may be necessary in connection with the plan. There is to be no renewal of the credit at the end of the six-months' period. It was understood that additional credits for $100,000,000 would follow as needed in the form of separate transactions. Negotiations were also understood to be pending for a loan by American banking interests to the Russian Government.

The congestion of export freight at railroad terminals on the Atlantic seaboard reached such serious proportions that unusual measures were required to cope with it. At a meeting of the Trunk Line Association on Nov. 24 it was agreed to reduce the free storage time on export freight not consigned on through bills of lading from 30 days to 15 days. The arrangement was not to go into effect, however, until Jan. 1 1916, and it was questioned whether it would provide the desired remedy. The Del. Lack. & West. declared an embargo effective at midnight Nov. 27 on all shipments for export. The Pennsylvania RR. and the Baltimore & Ohio followed on Nov. 29 with an embargo on certain exports. In the case of the Pennsylvania the embargo applies to all grain for export at Philadelphia and Baltimore and on shipments of lumber and flour for export at New York. Iron and steel shipments for export at New York are alone affected by the embargo declared by the Baltimore & Ohio. The congestion was the result of a scarcity of steamers and lighters and on Nov. 30 it was the subject of a conference of railroad presidents at the executive offices of the Pennsylvania RR. in New York City. The conference was held at the instance of Samuel Rea, President of the road, for the purpose of taking action for remedying conditions, and it resulted in the appointment of a committee delegated to meet daily and devise methods of relief. A statement from Chicago at the end of the month estimated that there were about 50,000 loaded freight cars here in the East awaiting unloading into vessels for export, where normally the number is only 10,000. The practice indulged in by Western shippers in forwarding shipments without first engaging steamers to carry the exports is largely blamed for the situation. Pittsburgh dispatches stated that the freight congestion would not seriously affect the transportation of war munitions and other materials made for European Governments. Shipments to France and Great Britain, it was averred, are being made in bottoms provided by those countries, while Great Britain is taking care of all Government freight for Russia, including thousands of steel cars being made in the Pittsburgh district. The interests chiefly affected are those shipping to private buyers abroad, their consignments being held until all Government freight has been loaded.

An important event of the month was the commandeering by the Dominion Government on Sunday, Nov. 28, of all high-grade wheat stored in elevators in Canada from Fort William, on Lake Superior, to the Atlantic Coast. The amount taken over was estimated at about 17,000,000 bushels. Canada raised a phenomenal crop in 1915, and it is estimated the grain-growers still hold nearly 200,000,000 bushels of wheat. The British Government had made inquiries for supplies, but had not indicated the methods to be employed, and the Dominion Government felt that if Government purchases should be made in the open market the result would be a prodigious rise in prices similar to that which occurred in 1914 after the outbreak of the war. The Canadian authorities stated that the price to be paid for the wheat would be fixed on a "fair basis," and on Nov. 29 the prices were announced as being \$1 04 $\frac{3}{4}$ for No. 1 Northern, \$1 03 $\frac{1}{8}$ for No. 2 Northern and 93 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents for No. 3, these being the closing prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Nov. 27. The action of the Canadian Government naturally had somewhat of a disorganizing effect on the grain market. The Winnipeg Grain Exchange met on Sunday, Nov. 28, and adopted a resolution barring trading in wheat futures, but on the following day, Monday, agreed to resume trading in futures the next day (Tuesday, Nov. 30). At Chicago initial prices Nov. 29 were 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ @2 $\frac{1}{2}$ cents higher, December wheat opening at \$1 05@1 06 as against \$1 03 $\frac{1}{2}$ at the close Saturday, Nov. 27, and May wheat opening at \$1 07@1 08 $\frac{1}{2}$ as against \$1 06@1 06 $\frac{1}{8}$. The close Nov. 30 was \$1 05 for the December option and \$1 07 $\frac{3}{4}$ for the May option. December wheat at Chicago was at its lowest Nov. 1 at \$1 00 $\frac{5}{8}$ and at its highest Nov. 5 at \$1 07. The May option was at its lowest at \$1 02 $\frac{1}{4}$ Nov. 1 and at its highest at \$1 08 $\frac{3}{8}$ on Nov. 30. There was a sharp rise in both corn and oats the latter part of the month, December corn at Chicago selling up from 57 $\frac{5}{8}$ Nov. 1 to 65 $\frac{5}{8}$ Nov. 26, with the close Nov. 30 at 64 cents, and the December option for oats moving up from 38 cts. Nov. 9 to 42 cts. Nov. 29, with the close at 41 $\frac{1}{4}$ cts.

The stock market, as already indicated, manifested much quieter conditions. Transactions were on a reduced scale and there was an absence to a great extent of the manipulative practices so decidedly in evidence in preceding months. In the early part repetition of peace rumors induced a heavy liquidation in the war stocks. The declines in prices then experienced in this class of shares were not recovered subsequently except in a few instances, though at the lower level of values considerable firmness was displayed. The railway shares continued to command increased interest, and in some instances made new high records early in the month, this being particularly true of Canadian Pacific, which on Nov. 1 touched 194 against 160 Oct. 1. The rise was due to the wonderful increases shown in the company's weekly returns of earnings. Generally speaking, however, the railroad stocks did not follow an independent course, but fluctuated with the general list, usually re-acting when the industrial shares moved downward and resuming their upward course when the industrial list moved forward again. On the whole, the market may be said to have been decidedly irregular for both the war stocks and the railroad list. The copper stocks, though, displayed exceptional strength, and many of them reached the highest figures of the year the latter part of the month, on the advance in the price of the metal to 20 cents a pound. A few specialties, like General Motors common and Texas Company (oil), made further phenomenal advances.

Notwithstanding the large payments on account of the Anglo-French loan and the gradual widening of trade activity, the local money market remained extremely easy and time money rates dropped to still lower figures. The continued importations of gold of course tended to accentuate monetary congestion.

The foreign exchange market showed great strength and rising quotations almost throughout the whole month, with the result that sterling demand bills which on Nov. 1 sold at \$4 61 $\frac{1}{2}$ @4 63 $\frac{1}{2}$ had risen by Nov. 30 to \$4 69 $\frac{5}{8}$ @4 71 $\frac{3}{8}$. The trade balance continued to accumulate in favor of the United States in prodigious amounts, but, on the other hand, \$216,000,000 was placed to the credit of the Anglo-French authorities on account of the \$500,000,000

Anglo-French loan, besides which an independent $50,000,000 American credit for British banks was arranged in this country and a $15,000,000 credit in favor of French industrial interests was also opened in this country. In making settlements it was thus possible to draw against these credits instead of offering bills of exchange on the market. The continued large importations of gold tended further to relieve the pressure on exchange. Consignments of the metal were received on almost every steamer arriving here, in addition to which the importations of gold on the Pacific Coast were by no means inconsequential. Exchange was also favorably influenced by the much higher discount and money rates prevalent in London. On Nov. 13 the Bank of England, while keeping its minimum at 5%, began charging 5½% in its regular transactions with banks. This had the effect of producing a state of nervousness and causing London banks to advance their open market rates. This latter advance, however, was found difficult to maintain, and open market discounts for 60 to 90 days bank bills Nov. 30 were 5¼%. German exchange was very weak. On Nov. 30 sight mark bills touched 79½, the lowest figure on record, while Austrian kronen bills drawn on Vienna dropped to 14.00, also the lowest on record. French exchange, on the other hand, was very strong, being quoted at 5.84 francs to the dollar, Nov. 30, against 5.96 Nov. 1.

CONDITION OF THE TRUST COMPANIES OF NEW YORK STATE.

We present below comparative statements showing the condition of the trust companies of New York State at the date of the last call and of various previous calls since August 1907. We give separately the totals for the Greater New York and those for the whole State. We also add tables to indicate the changes in deposits for all the separate companies in the different boroughs of this city.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1915. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. This method of quoting bonds became effective January 2 1909.

For foot-notes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.

2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method, and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

3. The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STREET AND ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

In quoting street and electric railway bonds, we employ the same method as in quoting the bonds of steam railroads. The great majority of issues being quoted "and interest," we use no designating mark whatever where that is the case. On the other hand, we prefix the letter "f" where there is a deviation from this rule; in such cases the interest forms part of the price. Unless, therefore, "f" appears against a quotation, the buyer will understand that the accrued interest is to be added on. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

MISCELLANEOUS SECURITIES.

Quotations marked "f" indicate that accrued interest is included in the price. Prices not marked are "and interest," that is, purchaser has to pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities if held to maturity will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing-House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

Where Names are Printed in Italics Fuller Returns may be Found in the Advertising Columns
