REVIEW OF JULY.

Events connected with the great conflict in Europe played an unusually prominent part in affairs during July. Among these events the happenings in both Russia and Germany were fraught with unusual consequences and were momentous in character. The Russian military offensive, undertaken with so much confidence the previous month, came to an inglorious end—largely owing to the disloyalty and cowardice of large portions of the army—and the permanence and stability of the revolutionary government itself at times seemed to be at stake. In the end a reconstruction of this government occurred, Kerensky, the virtual head of the revolutionary movement, becoming Premier, and finally being made practically dictator. This was recognition of the fact that heroic measures were necessary for dealing with a situation which was rapidly drifting into chaos and which if not taken actively in hand threatened to develop into anarchy.

In Germany the demand for internal political reforms, more particularly the enlargement of the electoral franchise in Prussia, and the apparently equally insistent demand for some open declaration of German peace terms, occasioned, it would seem, growing political dissensions, and this created a situation which naturally absorbed the attention of the whole world because of its bearing on the prosecution and the eventual conclusion of the war. The outcome of these political dissensions and of the internal friction was the retirement of the German Chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg. For some time previously there had been reports of another peace speech by the German Chancellor at which the German Government's desire for peace was again to be proclaimed, but after the date for making the speech had several times been postponed, it finally appeared that it had been delivered at a secret session of the Reichstag, supposedly on Monday, July 9. The Chancellor is reported to have said that "the formula of peace without annexation is unacceptable to us. We cannot declare our terms of peace. We must fight and conquer." The Chancellor was also stated to have severely criticised Mathias Erzberger, a prominent representative of the clerical (Catholic) centre, for a sensational speech on July 7 before the main committee of the Reichstag, attacking the Admiralty and Pan-Germans as the great obstacles to peace and advocating peace without annexations or indemnities and the introduction of Parliamentarianism. Erzberger, however, it appears, in these remarks was not speaking in behalf of his party, and Dr. Peter Spahn, President of the clerical party, and its floor leader, took occasion to declare, it was stated, that the party as yet had taken no position on the subjects raised in Erzberger's speech. The Chancellor was represented as having declared Erzberger's attitude as unpatriotic.

Accounts, however, were more or less vague and indefinite as to what was actually occurring, and while at first statements were current that Bethmann-Hollweg had declared that he considered it his duty to retain his post in order to protect the Fatherland from injury, later advices brought the news that the German Chancellor had offered his resignation to the Kaiser and that he and the entire German Government would withdraw. As indicating what wild rumors were current, one report which found publication on Saturday morning, July 14, was to the effect that the Kaiser himself had abdicated and was to be succeeded by one of his younger sons—Prince Joachim. Another report, apparently as baseless as the abdication story, had it that the Reichstag had gone on strike and had refused to vote a war credit unless the Government declared its policy regarding peace and reform. The one thing certain was that the Kaiser was dealing with a political crisis in the affairs of the Government. Among the mass of conflicting reports and statements, it appeared that an inter-party committee of the Reichstag had been considering the text of a joint resolution on the question of peace which was to be moved at an early date. It also appeared that a conference of the German Crown Council had occurred on Thursday, July 12, in the presence of the Crown Prince. The latter had been called to Berlin from the military front in France by the Kaiser himself. An official communication, issued in Berlin on that day, said Emperor William had expressed the opinion that the political and constitutional reforms demanded by the Reichstag were such that they concerned not merely himself but his successor, inasmuch as they would be permanent. For that reason the Emperor had summoned the Crown Prince to attend one or more Crown Councils at which final decision regarding the extent to which the Crown and the Government would make concessions to the Reichstag would be reached.

The Crown Prince's part in the affair seems to have consisted in consulting the party leaders in the Reichstag and reporting his conclusions to the Emperor. Perhaps the result was a foregone conclusion, inasmuch as it was known that the Crown Prince never entertained very friendly sentiments for Bethmann-Hollweg. At all events, the resignation of the Chancellor followed. It appeared that as early as July 9 the resignation of Foreign Minister Zimmermann and Vice-Chancellor Helfferich had been accepted at a session of the Crown Council which had lasted until 1 a. m. of the 10th. Other incidents of the situation were that Maximilian Harden's publication, "Die Zukunft," had been suppressed for the remainder of the war—this according to the Berlin "Tageblatt,"—and that Herr Harden had been "mobilized" under the Auxiliary Civil Service law and would be employed as a military clerk.

All these movements followed the reconvening of the War Committee of the Reichstag on July 6. The opening session was marked by a speech by the President, who said that the war continued to rage and remarked upon what a "shocking amount of misery and distress would be spared the world if Germany's enemies had agreed to the magnanimous peace offer of Emperor William and his allies to find a peace which would preserve the honor and the interests of all nations."

It was made known on July 14 that Dr. Georg Michaelis, formerly Prussian Under Secretary of Finance and Food Commissioner, had succeeded to the Chancellorship. Little apparently was known of his convictions by the outside world, and if he is a man of decided views he had had the rare success of not antagonizing any important elements in political life. That the Emperor, though yielding to necessity, parted reluctantly with von Bethmann-Hollweg was evident from the autograph letter which he addressed to him, reading as follows:

I decide with a heavy heart by to-day's decree to grant your request to be relieved from your office. For eight years you have occupied the highest and most responsible offices in the Imperial and State services with eminent loyalty, and have successfully placed your brilliant powers and personality at the services of the Kaiser and the Empire and the King and the Fatherland.

In the most grievous times that have ever fallen to the lot of the German countries and peoples—times in which decisions of paramount importance for the existence and future of the Fatherland have had to be taken—you have stood by my side with counsel and aid. It is my heart's desire to express my most cordial thanks for your faithful service.

Dr. Michaelis, the new Chancellor, delivered his first speech in the Reichstag on July 19. Previous to this, however, Emperor William had summoned Field Marshal von Hindenburg, Chief of the General Staff, and General Ludendorff, the Chief Quartermaster-General, for a conference with members of the Reichstag. This was alleged to have been for the purpose of influencing action on the peace resolution to be acted upon by the Reichstag. There do not appear to have been, however, any doubts concerning this resolution, as the draft of it which the majority bloc of the Centre, Radicals and Socialists had decided on July 13 to introduce upon the reassembling of the Reichstag was adopted July 20 by that body by a vote of 214 to 116, with 17 not voting. The resolution read as follows:

As on Aug. 4 1914, so on the threshold of the fourth year of the war the German people stand upon the assurance of the speech from the throne: "We are driven by no lust of conquest."

Germany took up arms in defense of its liberty and independence and for the integrity of its territories. The Reichstag labors for peace and a mutual understanding and lasting reconciliation among the nations. Forced acquisitions of territory and political, economic and financial violations are incompatible with such a peace.

The Reichstag rejects all plans aiming at an economic blockade and the stirring up of enmity among the peoples after the war. The freedom of the seas must be assured. Only an economic peace can prepare the ground for the friendly association of the peoples.

The Reichstag will energetically promote the creation of international judicial organizations. So long, however, as the enemy Governments do not accept such a peace; so long as they threaten Germany and her allies with conquest and violation, the German people will stand together as one man, hold out unshaken and fight until the rights of itself and its allies to life and development are secured. The German nation united is unconquerable.

The Reichstag knows that in this announcement it is at one with the men who are defending the Fatherland in the heroic struggles. They are sure of the undying thanks of the whole people.

In his speech the new Chancellor said that "Germany did not desire the war in order to make violent conquests, and therefore will not continue the war a day longer merely for the sake of such conquests, if she can obtain an honorable peace." He declared, however, that the Germans wished "to conclude peace as combatants who have successfully accomplished their purpose and proved themselves invincible first. A condition of peace," he continued, "was the inviolability of Germany's territory. No parley was possible with the enemy demanding the cession of German soil." Peace, he said, must offer the foundation of a lasting reconciliation of nations. "It must," he continued, "as expressed in your resolution, prevent nations from being plunged into further enmity through economic blockades and provide a safeguard that the league in the arms of our opponents does not develop into an economic offensive alliance against us. These aims may be attained within the limits of your resolution, as I interpret it. We cannot again offer peace. We have loyally stretched out our hands once. It met no response, but with the entire nation, and with Germany, the army and its leaders, in accord with this declaration, the Government feels that if our enemies abandon their lust for conquest and their aims at subjugation, and wish to enter into negotiations, we shall listen honestly and readily for peace to what they have to say to us. Until then we must hold out calmly and patiently." With reference to America's part in the war, Dr. Michaelis had the following to say:

We look without serious concern upon the optimistic sentiment in the Entente countries caused by America's intervention. It is easy to reckon how much tonnage is necessary to transport an army from America to Europe, how much tonnage is required to feed such an army. France and England are scarcely able to feed and supply their own armies without influencing the economic situation still further. After our previous success we shall be able to master this situation also through our fleet, particularly the submarines. That is our firm conviction and assurance. We and our allies, therefore, can look forward to any further development of military events with calm security.

The burning question in our hearts, however, is how much longer the war is to last.

Count von Roedern, German Finance Minister, replaced Dr. Karl Helfferich as Secretary of the Interior and on July 15 it was reported that Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, the German Minister at Copenhagen, had been selected to succeed Dr. Alfred Zimmermann as Imperial Foreign Secretary. On July 17, it was said that the Catholic Centre Party had adopted a long apology for the action of Deputy Mathias Erzberger in attacking the Pan-Germans and submarine campaign.

With reference to the franchise reforms, Emperor William took occasion while Bethmann-Hollweg was still in office to declare his position by the issuance of a decree directed to the President of the State Ministry, which was made public July 13, and which was in these words:

Upon the report of my State Ministry, made to me in obedience to my decree of April 7 of the current year, I herewith decide to order a supplement to the same, that the draft of the bill dealing with the alteration of the electoral law for the House of Deputies, which is to be submitted to the Diet of the Monarchy for decision, is to be drawn upon the basis of equal franchise.

The bill is to be submitted in any case early enough that the next elections may take place according to the new franchise. I charge you to make all necessary arrangements for this purpose.

(Signed) WILLIAM.

The British Premier was not favorably impressed with the speech of Dr. Michaelis and speaking at a patriotic demonstration in Queens Hall, on July 21, in commemoration of the Belgian Independence Day called it a mere sham, facing all ways. He said he had sought in the Chancellor's speech for something from which he could hope for the ending of the bloody struggle. "But," he declared, "I see in it a sham independence for Belgium, a sham democracy for Germany, a sham peace for Europe; and I say that Europe has not sacrificed millions of her gallant sons to set up a sanctuary for sham." Mr. Lloyd George asked what hope there was in the Chancellor's speech of peace, and answered his question as follows:

I mean an honorable peace, which is the only possible peace. It is a dexterous speech, a facing-all-ways speech. There are phrases for those who earnestly desire peace—many of them—but there are phrases which the military powers of Germany will understand, phrases about making the frontiers of Germany secure. That's the phrase which annexed Alsace-Lorraine; that's the phrase which has drenched Europe in blood since 1914; that's the phrase—if they dare—that will annex Belgium and Courland; that's the phrase which will once more precipitate Europe into a welter of blood within a generation unless that phrase is wiped out by the statesmanship of Europe.

There are phrases for men of democratic minds, but there are phrases to satisfy the junkers, and there are other phrases which mean nothing. It is the speech of a man waiting on the military issue. It is a speech that may be made better by improving the military situation, and if the Germans win in the West, if they destroy the Russian army in the East, if the Turks drive Great Britain out of Mesopotamia, and if the U-boats sink more merchant ships, then that speech, believe me, means annexation all around and military autocracy more firmly.

What manner of Government the Germans choose to rule over them is entirely a matter for the German people themselves, but as to what manner of Government we can trust to make peace, that is our business. Democracy is in itself a guarantee of peace, but if it cannot be got in Germany, then we must secure other guarantees as a substitute.

The speech of the German Chancellor meant that for the moment the military party in Germany had won and showed that those in charge of affairs had elected for war.

A peace resolution moved in the British House of Commons by James Ramsay MacDonald, Socialist and Labor member, was defeated on July 26 by a vote of 148 to 19. In the discussion incident to action on the resolution former Premier Asquith stated that peace had become the supreme interest of mankind, but subject to an all-important condition—that it is a peace which does not defeat the purpose for which the great nations entered upon and had continued the war and that it does not turn to waste the immeasurable loss and suffering which they had shared and were sharing.

In this country the matter of price fixing of commodities became a subject of surpassing importance. Secretary of War Baker had on June 30 as President of the Council of National Defense, repudiated the fixing of a tentative price of $3 a ton for bituminous coal supplied to the Government under an agreement reached at a conference in Washington on June 28 between representatives of the coal producers, Mr. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, a member of the Council of National Defense, and members of the Council's committee on coal production and the Federal Trade Commission. This was followed on July 2 by the action of Secretary of the Navy Daniels in declining to accept the recommendation that the Government pay for aluminum the price proposed by the producers. The price recommendation was made by Arthur V. Davis, President of the Aluminum Co. of America, in his capacity as chairman of a sub-committee on aluminum of the Council of National Defense. The producers, it was said, were prepared to furnish aluminum to the Government at 27½ cents a pound, 2 cents more than the average price for the last ten years. It appeared also that Secretary of the Navy Daniels had agreed to pay only 75% of 25 cents a pound for the Government's order of 60,000,000 pounds of copper, contracted for previously, leaving the other 25% for adjustment when the cost of production shall have been determined by the Federal Trade Commission. Steel producing interests on their part entered into an agreement with Government officials whereby their entire product would be available for Government use at prices to be determined after the Federal Trade Commission had completed its inquiry into the cost of production. The understanding was that the price would insure "reasonable profits" and would be made with reference to the expanding needs of the industry.

This was the day after President Wilson had appealed to the business interests of the country to put aside every selfish consideration and extend their aid to the nation as freely as those who offer their lives. The President's appeal was made July 11. It was embodied in a statement addressed to coal operators and manufacturers in which he gave assurances that just prices would be paid by the Government for everything it bought during the war. The President insisted that "we must make the prices to the public the same as the prices to the Government," and he declared that "those who do not respond * * * in the spirit of those who have gone to give their lives for us * * * may safely be left to be dealt with by opinion and the law." "Prices," said the President, "mean the same thing everywhere now. They mean the efficiency or the inefficiency of the nation, whether it is the Government that pays them or not. They mean victory or defeat. They mean that America will win her place once for all among the foremost free nations of the world, or that she will sink to defeat and become a second rate power alike in thought and action." In conclusion the President said: "I shall expect every man who is not a slacker to be at my side throughout this great enterprise."

The growing dimensions of Government war taxes, already imposed or suggested, also became a more and more serious matter with industrial concerns. The probable extent of these taxes was well shown in the earnings return of the United States Steel Corporation for the June quarter and the June half-year. The Corporation's net income for the three months reached $144,498,076, far surpassing that of any preceding quarter, and indeed exceeding the result of every full year in the Corporation's history except three, but out of this the directors set aside $53,918,872 to cover the probable excess profits tax and other war taxes for the period. They also took $33,865,000 additional out of the income of the first three months for the same purpose, making no less than $87,783,872 set aside as the probable requirements for this purpose.

An event of the month was the opening of bids by the City of New York on July 12 for $55,000,000 4½% corporate stock, consisting of $47,500,000 50-year bonds due July 1 1967 and $7,500,000 serial bonds maturing annually from July 1 1918 to July 1 1932, inclusive. The entire offering was awarded to a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. at their bid of 100.6507, an income basis of about 4.46% for the 50-year and 4.39% for the 15-year serial bonds. The sale was considered quite satisfactory, considering that the United States Government was in the market borrowing such huge sums for war purposes. At the public offering by the city on April 19 1916 of $40,000,000 50-year and $15,000,000 1 to 15-year (serial) obligations when the rate of interest was only 4 1/4%, the 50-year stock went to 7 separate bidders at an average price of 102.618—an income basis of about 4.125%. The 15-year serial stock was then distributed among three bidders at an average price of 101.432—a basis of about 4.03%.

On July 31 Secretary McAdoo announced the offering of $300,000,000 in new Treasury certificates payable Nov. 15 and bearing 3 1/2% interest (against 3 1/4%, the rate for previous issues) subscriptions to be made by Aug. 7 and payment two days later. The Treasury Department at Washington on July 25 also granted the Canadian Government permission to float a short-time loan of $100,000,000 within the United States. Permission was granted in order that Canada might meet adverse trade balances in this country. The new loan is dated Aug. 1 1917 and is in the form of 5% gold notes maturing Aug. 1 1919. The loan was taken by a syndicate of bankers headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. and the notes were then publicly offered at 98 and interest, making the yield to the investor about 6.10%.

The stock market during July was a tame affair, transactions gradually dwindling in volume. The railroad shares were weak the early part of the month in response to the Inter-State Commerce Commission's unsatisfactory decision at the close of June on the petition of the railroads for a 15% advance in freight rates. Milwaukee & St. Paul common was weak all through the month, breaking badly several times, and the reason for this appeared towards the close of July when announcement came that the semi-annual dividend on the stock had been reduced from 2 1/2% to 2%. The shares of the industrial properties were unfavorably affected by the evident determination of the Government to fix prices both on sales to the United States and for general consumption at much lower figures than those that have recently prevailed, and also by the increasing probability of further tax levies of various kinds on profits. Labor strikes in some of the copper mining districts also had a bad effect. Occasionally the covering of outstanding short contracts led to upward reactions of larger or smaller proportions and of longer or shorter duration, but business remained limited in character, with the trend generally downward to the end of the month, though with a greatly increased business on the last day (July 31), when some sharp fluctuations, first up and then down, occurred.

In the money market a sharp flurry in the rates for demand loans occurred the middle of the month and on July 16 loans were made at 10%. These extreme rates were due to the Liberty Loan operations of the Government and the transfer of large Government deposits from the mercantile banks to the Federal Reserve banks, the effect of which was much like locking up the money in Government vaults. As soon as the equilibrium was restored the monetary strain relaxed and at the close of the month the range for call loans was only 2@2 1/2%. Some confusion in monetary affairs was also occasioned by the action of the New York Clearing House authorities in making the weekly bank return conform to the new Reserve requirements of the Federal law.

In foreign exchange there was, as for a long time past, an almost complete absence of fluctuations as far as prices for sterling bills were concerned. In the case of rates on the Continental cities the features were the continued decline in the Russian ruble, owing to the demoralization of both the Russian Government and the Russian army, and the further rise in Swiss exchange. The ruble, after sharp recovery the early part of the month, in consonance with the successes of the Russian armies, made new low records the latter part as Russian reverses came and the stability of the revolutionary Government itself appeared in jeopardy. On July 24 the ruble was quoted at only 20.80, from which there was a recovery to 21.25@21.45 by July 31. Swiss exchange rose from 4.82 francs to the dollar July 2 to only 4.53 francs to the dollar on July 31.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1917. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. This method of quoting bonds became effective January 2 1909.

For foot-notes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

OF BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following thirty-two pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.

2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method, and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

3. The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

PUBLIC UTILITIES

In the following rearrangement of our quotation lists we bring together under the general designation of "Public Utilities," all the different forms of such securities, thinking it easier for the reader to find any particular issue in a general list than when the securities are subdivided under separate heads and there is doubt as to what head to look under. In other words, under "Public Utilities," we include Street and Electric Railways, Gas, Electric, Power, Water and Telegraph and Telephone Companies.

In quoting Public Utility bonds, we employ the same method as in quoting the bonds of steam railroads. The great majority of issues being quoted "and interest," we use no designating mark whatever where that is the case. On the other hand, we prefix the letter "f" where there is a deviation from this rule; in such cases the interest forms part of the price. Unless, therefore, "f" appears against a quotation, the buyer will understand that the accrued interest is to be added on. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest (should any payment be announced) and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

INDUSTRIAL AND MISCELLANEOUS SECURITIES

In the rearrangement of our quotation lists we classify under the designation "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities," all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous." Quotations marked "f" indicate that accrued interest is included in the price. Prices not marked are "and interest," that is, purchaser has to pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them, "and interest." That is the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities if held to maturity will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

Table listing various state and municipal bonds across multiple columns. Columns include Bond descriptions, Bid prices, Ask prices, Net values, and other financial metrics. The table is organized by state/territory: CANADA, ALBERTA, IDAHO, ILLINOIS, INDIANA, KANSAS, KENTUCKY, LOUISIANA, GEORGIA, and INDIAN TERRITORY. Each entry typically includes the issuer (e.g., Dominion of Canada, City of Montreal), the bond type (e.g., gold notes, debentures), and the maturity date. The table also includes a section for KENTUCKY with a note about tax-exempt bonds.

b Basis. f Flat price. n Nominal. o Tax-exempt; under a law approved Mar. 9 1903 and which went into effect Apr. 23 1903, bonds issued after that date by State or municipal corporations are tax-exempt, and these sell on a better basis. s Sale price.

b Basis. d Now part of New York City. f Flat price. n Nominal. * Subject to taxation. By an amendment to the constitution of Ohio adopted Sept. 3 1912 bonds issued after Jan. 1 1913 by municipalities in that State are subject to taxation. Bonds issued prior to Jan. 1 1913 are exempt from taxation.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.
