REPORT

OF THE

COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY

> Treasury Department, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, December $1,1930$.

Sir: I have the honor to submit the following annual report in accordance with the provisions of section 333 of the United States Revised Statutes, covering activities of the Currency Bureau, in the year ended October 31, 1930. This is the sixty-eighth report made to the Congress since the organization of the bureau.

LEGISLATION RECOMMENDED

Amendments to the national bank act

Since the publication of my 1929 annual report the subject of branch, group, and chain banking has received considerable attention. Bankers and their associations, both national and State, the press, and the public generally have evidenced an interest in the subject to a greater degree than ever before. This interest has been due largely to the increasing number of country bank failures and the changing conditions which have brought hitherto isolated rural districts into closer touch with the commercial centers. These developments were also important factors in prompting my suggestions to the Seventy-first Congress that section 5155 of the Revised Statutes of the United States be amended to permit national banks, with the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency, to establish branches within the regional trade areas of the commercial centers in which they operate.

At the last session of Congress the Banking and Currency Committee of the House of Representatives, under authority of House Resolution 141, conducted extended hearings on the subject of branch, group, and chain banking. During the course of these hearings there appeared before the committee a number of prominent Government officials, bankers, and others, representing unit as well as the different forms of so-called multiple banking in many sections of the country. They testified from experience in their respective spheres, and through their testimony the committee was placed in possession of a fund of first hand and valuable information. At this date the committee has not rendered its report. Nothing, however, materialized during these hearings nor has anything arisen since to justify any change in my attitude. Developments of the last year have, on the contrary, strengthened my belief that the type of branch banking put forward by me is sound and that such an amendment to the law should be enacted.

Failures have not abated. During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, there were 640 failures, 82 of which were national banks and 558 State banks, as compared to a total of 549 failures during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1929, comprising 69 national banks and 480 State banks.

An analysis of the bank failures for the current year shows that the trend toward the gradual elimination of small country banks in the agricultural sections, which has been prevalent during the past decade, is still very pronounced.

Nearly 96 per cent of these failures occurred in the agricultural States of the South, Middle West, and West, while in the more densely populated industrial areas of New England and the Eastern and Pacific Coast States, where a greater diversification of business is possible, the number of failures has been negligible.

In only one section of the country (the Western States) did the total number of bank failures for the fiscal year 1930 fall below that of the preceding fiscal year. In that section 163 banks failed during the fiscal year 1930 as compared to 183 during 1929. This exception was, however, due solely to the situation in Nebraska, where, following the collapse of the guaranty of deposits law, 106 State banks closed their doors during the fiscal year of 1929, while only 50 failed during the comparable period of 1930 .

Illinois, a State wherein antibranch-banking sentiment is quite pronounced, suffered a striking increase in bank failures during the past year. During the fiscal year 1929 only 8 . State banks and 1 national bank in Illinois closed their doors, while in 1930 no less than 42 State-chartered institutions and 11 national associations, a total of 53, were placed in receivership.

Other States contributing largely to the increase in bank failures during the last fiscal year were Alabama, with only 5 failures in 1929 and 25 in 1930; Oklahoma, also with 5 failures in 1929 and 26 in 1930; and Missouri, with 19 failures in 1929 compared to 50 in 1930. In each of these States, following the general trend for the entire country, the great bulk of the failures was made up of banks with limited capital, located in communities of the type which, in my opinion, can be adequately served only by branches of the larger banks in the nearest large commercial centers.

Since I have discussed the subject of bank failures at some length in previous public utterances and in my annual report to Congress for 1929 , I shall ask your further indulgence on this occasion merely to point out that the failure of about 5,600 banks in the past 10 years, tying up deposits of nearly $$ 2,000,000,000$, constitutes one of the main factors responsible for the crystallization of a strong sentiment in favor of some change in our banking structure which will bring to our rural districts, where more than four-fifths of these failures have occurred, the benefits and protection of the strong well-managed banks now operating in our commercial centers. It should not be overlooked that those who have suffered most in these failures were persons of small means-country business men, farmers, and savings depositors in farming communities. That remedial legislation along this line is of great present importance is strikingly emphasized by the latest figures available, which show that up to October 31 of this year no less than 742 banks, with deposits of about $$ 300,000,000$, have closed their doors, as compared to a total of 522 suspensions, with deposits of $$ 200,000,000$, during the same period last year.

In the absence of legislation permitting the extension of branch banking facilities to these rural communities, a type of multiple banking called group banking, practically unknown at the time of the enactment of the McFadden bill, has been evolved. That the development of group banking has been remarkably rapid during the past two years is attested by the fact that on June 30, 1930, there were in existence in this country 289 group and chain banking organizations, controlling 2,144 banks, with loans and investments of approximately $$ 12,000,000,000$, or nearly 21 per cent of the total loans and investments of all the banks in the country.

In not a few instances a highly constructive service has been rendered by group systems in taking over smaller banks which have found themselves in a position where they could no longer function profitably or safely under the conditions with which they were confronted. However, it is a rather significant fact that both group and chain banking have had their greatest development in the States where branch banking is prohibited. A recent survey discloses that in the 9 States and the District of Columbia, wherein state-wide branch banking is permitted, there were 86 banks in group and chain systems and 847 branches located outside of the head office cities, besides 461 branches located in head office cities. In the 22 States in which state-wide branch banking is prohibited, however, there were 1,242 banks in group and chain systems. In these 22 States there were 25 branches located outside of the head office cities and 27 in head office cities, all of which were established prior to prohibitory legislation.

A highly important advantage possessed by branch banking over group banking is the adaptability of the former system for extension into the most remote hamlets, while, generally speaking, group banking facilities are enjoyed only by those communities which are able to support a well-managed independent bank. My observation has been that group banking, instead of alleviating the rural banking situation, has as a rule taken over only the stronger local banks in prosperous communities, leaving the weaker institutions struggling for a meager existence. Failures of these weaker banks have left many communities wholly without local banking facilities, which, however, could readily be supplied by branches of the larger city banks, with but a minimum of overhead expense to the latter institutions.

It does not seem desirable to give sufficiently broad branch banking powers to national banks to enable them to embrace in a single branch system the entire geographical area now embraced by several of the larger group bank systems. Group banking in the main is in capable hands, and includes some of the best-managed banks in the country. However, the field of group banking is now open to every type of operator or promoter who may be able to purchase bank stocks. This constitutes a source of potential danger. In order to facilitate the supervision of group banking, in those cases where the Federal Government has any responsibility, it is my view that no national bank should be permitted to become a constituent of such a group, except upon the condition that all other banks in the group are also national banks. The Comptroller of the Currency under these conditions could more effectively examine and supervise the entire group operations. It is therefore my view that group banking should be brought under the visitorial powers of the Federal Government in those cases where membership in the group is composed in whole or in part of national or State member banks of the Federal reserve system. Legislation along these lines seems to' be necessary in the public interest.

With reference to my recommendation that national banks situated in important commercial cities be permitted to extend branch banking facilities into the trade area of such cities, it has been suggested that any such national legislation would give to national banks an advantage over State chartered institutions in those cities, the trade areas of which embrace territory in more than one State. There are many such cities in the United States. The proposal has, therefore, been made that national banks be given only those branch banking powers which the State legislatures can give to State banks. Such a procedure would seem to be an abdication of a national branch banking policy in favor of the policies of the various States and is open to two serious objections, one economic and the other constitutional.

The theory of trade area branch banking rests upon economic grounds. Its aim is to permit strong city banks to carry their banking facilities to the community surrounding such city to a distance which is governed by the predominant flow of business and trade to and from the city as a trade center. It is designed to give to the rural communities, which have for years been suffering from a lack of safe and adequate banking facilities, the high type of banking and the security from bank failures which residents of the large cities have generally enjoyed. If Congress therefore adopts the policy of withholding from national banks the power to cross State lines with branches in those cases where the trade area of the city clearly does cross the State line, the whole theory and plan of establishing in the rural communities a well-rounded and sound branch banking system is broken down.

The State policy theory is objectionable upon the constitutional ground that Congress alone is responsible for the establishment and maintenance of the system of national banks as an instrumentality of the Federal Government. These banks were established purely in the exercise of the legislative power of Congress and solely upon a national policy. It gave to the United States a uniform system of banking beyond the control of the States.

It is not a valid objection to the national legislation here proposed that Congress would be conferring upon national banks banking powers more extensive than those which lay within the power of the State legislatures to give to State banks. For many years we have witnessed what may be regarded as the reverse of this situation. While Congress has at all times had the constitutional power to give to the national banks charter advantages which could not be acquired by State banks, it has nevertheless been extremely reluctant to exercise this power, although to do so in the manner herein recommended would strengthen our whole banking structure. On the other hand, however, State legislatures have conferred upon State chartered institutions, particularly upon trust companies, banking powers which national banks did not at the time enjoy. As a consequence, the national banking system has within recent years declined in size, importance, and influence and has become thereby relatively less effective as an instrumentality of the Federal Government. Through the diversion of commercial banking from the national to the various State banking systems, Congress has lost control over the major portion of the commercial banking resources in the United States.

Upon the enactment of the McFadden bill the conversion into national banks of several larger State branch banking institutions and the consolidation of several State banks with national banks under the national charter gave rise to the hope that the national banking system would reclaim the most important banks which had left it to operate under State charters. However, this hope was short lived, for there soon followed through State legislative or State judicial action new advantages for State banks, particularly with respect to the operation of the trust business and desertions from the national charter in favor of those offered by the States began to increase. That the disparity between the two systems of banks is pronounced is evidenced by the fact that whereas in 1886 the national banks held 75 per cent of the total commercial banking resources of the country, the latest compiled figures indicate that this proportion has now shrunk to less than 40 per cent.

Any advantage therefore which might accrue to the national banking system through trade-area branch banking around those cities situated near State boundary lines could fittingly be taken by Congress as an opportunity to strengthen its control over a nationwide system of commercial banking such as was established under the original national bank act.

In view of the foregoing considerations, it is recommended that the act of February 25, 1927, otherwise known as the McFadden Act, be amended to incorporate the following banking policy:
(1) That a committee composed of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and the Comptroller of the Currency be authorized to select the various cities which are commercial centers in the United States and to map out their trade areas.
(2) That the term "trade area" be defined to embrace the regional flow of business and trade to and from such cities and that State boundary lines be not considered in determining the territorial limits thereof.
(3) That national banks situated in such cities be permitted, with the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency, to establish branches within the limits of such regional trade areas.
(4) That the paid-in capital stock of such a national bank shall be not less than $$ 1,000,000$ and that the ratio of capital and surplus to deposits shall be maintained at not less than 1 to 10 . The Comptroller of the Currency would in his discretion require a larger capitalization.
(5) That the national bank consolidation act be amended so as to permit any banks situated within the trade area to consolidate, with the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency, under the national charter, but the Comptroller of the Currency should be specifically empowered to disapprove any such consolidation upon the ground that it might result in an undue concentration of banking capital within the trade area.
(6) That there be conferred upon the Comptroller of the Currency such visitorial powers as may enable him to examine into the affairs of any corporation which owns or controls the majority of the stock of any national bank.
(7) That no corporation be permitted to own the majority of the stock of any national bank if it at the same time owns the majority of the stock of a State bank.
(8) That no national bank be permitted to make a loan upon the security of the stock of a corporation which may own the majority of the stock of such national bank.

During the past 12 months I have discussed at length the question of the trade area as the logical basis for the development of branch banking in the rural communities. Particularly at my appearance before the House Committee on Banking and Currency last spring detailed consideration was given to many aspects of the trade area in connection with the question of the extension of the branch banking powers of the national banks. It may be desirable at this time to summarize these discussions.

In defining the trade area it is essential that we keep in mind the chief purpose of proposed amendments to the national bank act with respect to the establishment of branches. It is not the primary consideration that the large city bank should be placed in a position further to develop its business with attendant greater profits and wider influence notwithstanding this would and should follow, as a matter of course, through the extension of branches to the rural sections tributary to the city in which it is located. The primary purpose is the strengthening of rural banking itself through the influence of strongly capitalized and well-managed city banks of which the rural bank might become an integral part. It is, therefore, necessary to consider the trade-area question from the point of view of the rural-bank situation rather than from that of the city bank.

The difficulty in defining a trade area in the abstract is well recognized. The subject has been studied by experts in many phases. The country has been laid out into trade areas from the standpoint of the manufacturers of nationally advertised commodities, the manufacturers of more localized products, wholesale distributors, retailers and newspaper circulation. The present problem deals with a different type of trade area-one which requires that the viewpoint be taken from the rim of the area rather than from the hub.

The aim is the establishment in the rural communities of a sound system of banking which will give to the country depositor a reasonable assurance of safety and will offer to those requiring banking accommodation more adequate facilities than is at present available to them. Those requirements can be met only through the establishment of branches by city banks into the surrounding communities which have access to such a city as their principal market and financial center. It is this surrounding area which I have termed the regional trade area. It is the zone of the city's predominant economic influence in the sense that in that zone the city is both the trade and credit center.

There can be no formula which would determine in advance the exact size of any such trade area, but as has been frequently pointed out there is one economic principle of fundamental and controlling significance. Every city which may be selected as the center of a trade area must be of such importance as a trade center for the surrounding geographical territory as to draw to it a volume and a diversity of trade sufficient to form the potential basis for a wellbalanced branch banking system. This is what I have termed the requirement for economic diversification. By this it is meant that the loans made by the bank to its customers in the trade area must rest upon the security of a wide range of business enterprises and industrial pursuits. The bank should be able to draw its business from the production of natural resources, agriculture, livestock, manufacturing, transportation by land and water, distribution, and communication. In each of these activities there would be further subdivisions of diversification as, for example, the production of natural resources would include the various types of mining, oil, gas, timber, hydroelectric power and so on. The essential weakness of rural banking as we now have it lies in the danger of its complete dependence upon just one such economic activity. By virtue of the small geographical area of its operations its loans rest principally upon one type of security. There is an insufficient economic diversification of its loan portfolio. This objective can be attained in a branch system of banking which taps a number of different types of security.

It has been suggested that proper diversification can be obtained through the purchase of investment securities on the general market. This procedure faces two obstacles. It presupposes a technical equipment which the rural bank does not possess and it would draw the funds of the bank in too great a proportion away from the local field of the bank's operations to the detriment of its legitimate borrowers.

In some sections of the country where industrial activity is concentrated and where the population is dense there are offered a number of different economic pursuits of relative independence, the one of the other. In such a case the physical extent of the trade area of a commercial center may be small as compared with another city in the more sparsely settled sections of the country where a greater territory may have to be embraced in order to gain the required diversification. Every city indeed, no matter how small, has a regional or local trade area but every such trade area would not be a suitable field for branch banking. Under the plan herein recommended it would be necessary for the committee proceeding under a general authority from Congress to select those cities the trade areas of which meet the requirements for economic diversification. In this respect the committee would be dealing with an economic situation very much similar to that presented to the committee which under similar authority laid out the Federal reserve districts. The Federal reserve districts vary in size according to the density of population and the physical concentration of commercial and business activity.

It will be recalled that Congress designated the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Agriculture, and the Comptroller of the Currency as a committee to lay out the Federal reserve districts under instructions to have "due regard to the convenience and customary course of business and shall not necessarily be coterminous with any State or States. The districts thus created may be readjusted and new districts may from time to time be created by the Federal Reserve Board, not to exceed twelve in all." This committee experienced no great difficulty in carrying out these instructions of Congress. There appears no reason to doubt the ability of a similar committee, such as I have recommended, to map out the trade areas around the principal cities in the United States.

These trade areas might be termed regional economic or trade zones to distinguish them from the wider geographical area with which the business enterprises of such city have contact. Banks and business generally in every large city may from time to time have trade relations and business transactions extending to every part of the country and indeed over the whole world. In contrast to this wider field there is an immediate geographical territory surrounding every large city and reaching out into the outlying rural communities, a definite area which can be determined by boundary lines embracing a population having customary access to such a city as the principal market.

Such a trade area might in some cases overlap an adjacent trade area of another commercial center. If upon a determination of fact it be found that the business of a given community flows in substantial volume to more than one city as a financial and business center, it might be found desirable to put such a community in more than one trade area. It would seem sound to permit the establishment of branches to follow the natural flow of regional commerce and trade, and cases of such overlapping would simply mean that a few communities might have branches emanating from more than one trade area center.

As contrasted with the proposal for county-wide branch banking, trade-area branch banking would follow economic rather than political boundary lines. County-wide branch banking could never form a sound economic basis for a national policy in banking. The county seat is often not the most important city in the county and in many cases it is more convenient for trade to flow to an adjoining county. In a few cases it might be found that the county seat is in fact an important center of trade but in such cases it will ordinarily have a stronger trade influence in the adjoining counties than any city situated within them. County-wide branch banking would force banking into artificial channels and would be economically unsound in those cases where the parent bank was of insufficient size to offer adequate banking facilities and safety to depositors or was situated in a county which did not permit of a diversification in the banking business a vailable to it.

There seems, therefore, no escape from the conclusion that rural branch banking, in order to offer an improvement over the present system of rural banking, must proceed from a parent bank situated in a city of sufficient economic importance to sustain, by virtue of the commerce and trade within it and its surrounding economic zone, a well-managed bank of not less than $$ 1,000,000$ capital.

The suggestion for State-wide branch banking appears also economically unsound as the basis for a national policy. In many States there may be found cities whose regional trade areas are embraced within the boundary lines of the State. On the other hand, however, there will be found a great number of important cities situated in such close proximity to State boundary lines that a prohibition against crossing the State line would result in a one-sided branchbanking system for the banks in such a city. The trade area here under discussion is a geographical area for banking purposes. It has no direct political significance. Business and industry pay no heed to State lines in the use of banking facilities. The normal business of a bank in a city situated near the boundary line of more than one State flows over such lines in response to the impulse of convenient communication and transportation. Depositors and borrowers in one State have no prejudices in crossing over the State lines to gain access to their bank. To deny such a bank, under these circumstances, the power to establish branches to meet the convenience of its customers across State lines while at the same time permitting it to establish branches in another direction into the territory of an entire State-in many cases extending far beyond its normal trade area-would set up a system of branch banking under national authority which would appear unworkable and indefensible.

In the consideration of the type or size of a city which would be chosen as the center of a trade area adequate for branch banking purposes, regard must be had for the general banking situation in any given community. If the city be important enough to have strong, successful national banks and is surrounded by a community having a number of country banks whose principal bank correspondent is in such a city, that city might be made the center of a regional trade area. In many such cases the geographical area involved might be not only less than that of a Federal reserve district but less in area than the State in which the city is situated. There may be found a sufficient economic justification for several trade areas whose principal territory is within a single State. Having regard for the situation that branch banking by national banks began with the branch banking limited to the city in which the bank is situated, it would seem the logical economic development to permit a natural growth of these branch-banking systems into the territory where their influence in banking is predominant rather than to proceed solely from the greatest metropolitan centers of the country, which would give to relatively a few great metropolitan banks the exclusive privilege of branch banking in the country districts and lesser cities. It would be highly desirable to preserve as much as possible the element of local autonomy in the establishment of trade areas provided the areas are not so small as to sacrifice the principle of economic diversification.

It is not meant to imply that trade area branch banking should be confined to those States in which branch banking by national banks is now permitted within the city limits. The new policy of branch banking should be uniform in its operation throughout the nation, thereby giving to every rural community an opportunity of access to strong city banking facilities under national supervision and control.

It may, therefore, be said that the following elements contribute to the definition of trade area branch banking:
(1) The principal objective is to strengthen banking operations in the rural communities.
(2) A secondary but not less positive result would be a strengthening of the entire banking structure of the country.
(3) The surrounding geographical territory economically tributary to a city and for which such city provides the chief market and financial center, may be described as its trade area.
(4) Every city may be said to have a trade area but not every trade grea is suitable for branch banking purposes.
(5) In order to lay the basis for a sound system of branch banking a trade area should embrace within its physical limits a diversification of economic activities in order that a bank operating branches throughout its extent may also acquire a diversification in the security for its loans.
(6) For branch banking purposes, therefore, only those trade areas should be chosen which surround cities important enough to be the commercial center of a territory sufficient to meet the requirement of economic diversification.
(7) Since the trade area under discussion is a regional economic area for banking purposes the status of the banks in a given city will furnish a guide to its character and extent, particularly the number and location of the surrounding country banks for which they are the principal bank correspondents.
(8) It would not be a difficult undertaking for a committee composed of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board and the Comptroller of the Currency to select the principal commercial centers in the United States for branch banking purposes.
(9) Upon the selection of such a city the determination of the boundary limits of its trade area would be a question of fact and could easily be discovered through a study of its banking operations and its general trade influence and position.

Small country banks need have no fear that they would be driven out of business through the establishment in their communities of de novo branches by city banks. Such a procedure would be highly abnormal and it is inconceivable to me that any Comptroller of the Currency would lend his office to its support. The natural development of rural branch banking would occur through the consolidation with or purchase of country banks by the city branch banking institutions upon such terms as would be agreeable to each. The conversion of the local bank into a branch of the city bank in this manner would have no disturbing effect upon the local banking situation.

The type of branch banking here recommended would, as compared with the present system of unit banking, lead to a decentralization of banking resources. Within each trade area there would be a concentration of local or regional banking capital and the best interests of the branch banking systems would compel the employment of such capital in the various communities throughout the trade area. The present tendency under our system of a large number of very small banks and a small number of very large and strong banks is for the bulk of the banking resources of the country to be concentrated in a few great metropolitan centers. Under trade area branch banking there would undoubtedly arise in the inland commercial centers regional banks of sufficient strength to hold the banking business originating within their trade areas.

The enactment of legislation vesting authority in the Comptroller of the Currency to examine security or investment companies affiliated with national banking associations is recommended. These companies are generally so closely allied with the national association that it is not always possible to ascertain the true condition of the national

The following recommendations which were contained in my annual report to the Seventy-first Congress are renewed:
(1) That the law be so amended as to provide that the exercise of fiduciary powers shall be'one of the corporate powers of a national banking association subject to the existing limitations in regard to the State law, etc., now contained in paragraph (k) of section 11 of the Federal reserve act.
(2) To give the comptroller supervision over national banking associations going into voluntary liquidation. Under the present law the comptroller's authority is limited to the appointment of a receiver, provided a bank in liquidation should prove to be insolvent. Reports of the liquidating agent are not required under the law, although they are frequently furnished voluntarily. At present the liquidation of a national bank may be carried on for a period of time and the bank may later prove to be insolvent, necessitating the appointment of a receiver. Creditors whose claims have been settled prior to such appointment may thus obtain preference over other creditors. As a remedy for this condition it is proposed that the activities of the liquidating agent of a national bank be conducted under the supervision of the comptroller and that he be required to give bond and to render reports in the same manner as is required of a receiver until the affairs of a liquidating bank are finally closed.
(3) That a law be enacted making it a criminal offense to maliciously or with intent to deceive, make, publish, or circulate any false report concerning any national bank or any other member of the Federal reserve system which imputes insolvency or unsound financial condition, or which may tend to cause a general withdrawal of deposits from such bank or may otherwise injure the business or good will of such bank. A bill, satisfactory to the Treasury Department, was reported by the Banking and Currency Committee of the House of Representatives at the last session of Congress, but failed of passage.

The following recommendations with respect to the laws of the District of Columbia are renewed:
(1) Giving the comptroller the right and power to make regulations governing savings banks or trust companies doing a banking business in the District of Columbia with a penal provision for the enforcement of such regulation, the regulations to be limited so that they shall not in any case place restrictions upon such banks which are not placed upon national banks.
(2) Prohibiting the use of the word "bank" or the words "trust company" by any firm, copartnership, company, or corporation doing business in the District of Columbia and not doing a banking or fiduciary business under the supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency and providing, in the event such title shall be used by a firm, copartnership, company, or corporation doing a banking or fiduciary business, it shall be subject to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency.
(3) The corporations with their principal place of business outside of the District of Columbia may not establish offices in the District of Columbia and do a fiduciary business therein without the permission of the Comptroller of the Currency and without complying with the general conditions of the corporation laws of the District which have been enacted for the protection of those who do business with corporations with their principal place of business in the District.
(4) While the building and loan associations in the District of Columbia are examined and supervised by the Comptroller of the Currency, there is no provision of law which prohibits any building and loan association from organizing and doing business in the District of Columbia regardless of its merits. I recommend that a law be passed which would prohibit any building and loan association from doing business in the District of Columbia or maintaining an office in the District of Columbia without first securing the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency, and that any violation of this provision shall constitute a penal offense and be punishable in the same manner as now provided by the act of April 26, 1922, entitled "An act regulating corporations doing a banking business in the District of Columbia."

ORGANIZATION AND LIQUIDATION OF NATIONAL BANKS

At the close of the current year, October 31, 1930, there were 7,218 national banking associations in existence. This represents a net loss since October 31, 1929, of 288 banks, or 3.99 per cent. However, the last call for reports of condition, as of September 24, 1930, showed an increase in aggregate resources of $$ 454,373,000$, or about 1.63 per cent, during this period.

Up to and including October 31, 1930, there have been authorized to begin business 13,498 national banking associations, of which 4,939 were voluntarily closed to discontinue business or amalgamate with other banks, State or National, including those consolidated with other national banking associations under authority of the act of November 7, 1918. Exclusive of banks which failed but were subsequently restored to solvency, the loss to the system by the liquidation of banks through receivership was 1,341 , the number of these receiverships being a fraction more than 9.93 per cent of the total number of banks organized.

During the year ended October 31, 1930, 263 national banks, with total capitalization of $$ 39,230,400$, went into voluntary liquidation, of which number 3, with capital of $$ 202,500$ and resources of $$ 413,494$, quit business; 112, with capital of $$ 12,405,000$, were acquired by other national banks; while 148, with capital of $$ 26,622,900$ and resources of $$ 321,034,972$, entered the State banking systems. This last-named group included 16 banks of $$ 500,000$ capital or over, with aggregate capital of $$ 14,650,000$ and assets of $$ 165,441,412$.

November, 1914, marked the inauguration of the operation of the Federal reserve system. On that date there were in existence 7,578 national banks with aggregate capital of $$ 1,072,492,175$, as compared with a total capitalization of $$ 1,748,495,629$ for the 7,218 national banks in operation on October 31, 1930-a net decrease of 360 in the number of banks, but an increase in capitalization of $$ 676,003,454$. During the 16 -year period 2,846 national banks were chartered, with aggregate capital of $$ 366,870,300$, while 3,206 such associations were closed voluntarily or otherwise.

During the year ended October 31, 1930, 168 applications to organize national banks and to convert State banks into national banking associations were received, with proposed capital stock of $$ 18,595,000$. Of these applications 103 were approved, with proposed capital stock of $$ 9,505,000,49$ were rejected, with proposed capital stock of $$ 6,145$,000 , and 31 were abandoned, with proposed capital stock of $$ 8,865,000$.

In this same period 108 national banking associations, with capital of $$ 12,240,000$, were authorized to begin business, 4 of which were located in the New England States, 15 in the Eastern States, 20 in the Southern States, 24 in the Middle Western States, 39 in the Western States, and 6 in the Pacific States. The greatest activity, as indicated by the number of national banks organized, was evidenced in the following States: Nebraska 20, New York 8, Texas 8, Minnesota 8, South Dakota 8, Pennsylvania 7, Illinois 7, North Dakota 5, Massachusetts 4, Iowa 4, and Washington 4. In other States the number ranged from 1 to 3 banks.

It further appears that of the total number of charters issued, 31, with authorized capital of $$ 3,040,000$ and resources aggregating approximately $$ 31,138,465$, were the result of conversions of State banks, 9 , with capital of $$ 700,000$, were reorganizations of State banks, and 68, with capital of $$ 8,500,000$, were primary organizations. The business of 40 State banks, with capital of $$ 1,817,750$ and assets aggregating approximately $$ 28,734,391$, was purchased by national banks.

During the year ended October 31, 1930, 90 national banking associations were consolidated into 45, under authority of the act of November 7, 1918, the capital of the consolidated banks being $$ 103$,462,300 . In some instances there were reductions in capital and in others increases, the net result by reason of consolidations being an increase in capital stock of $$ 75,868,500$. During the same period there were 40 consolidations under the act of February 25, 1927, involving the consolidation of 44 State banks with national banks, the aggregate capital of the State institutions amounting to $$ 71$, , 765,850 . Through these mergers five additional branches and total assets of approximately $$ 1,085,124,244$ were brought into the national system.

The net result of the changes above mentioned was a decrease for the year in the number of existing banks of 288 and an increase in the authorized capital stock of $$ 62,243,964$. It appears that during the year 225 banks increased their capital in the aggregate sum of $$ 99,414,364$. Of this number, 68 banks effected the increase by stock dividends, the amount of such increase being $$ 6,085,130$.

BRANCHES

On February 25, 1927, the date of the passage of the so-called McFadden bill, there were in existence in the national system 372 branches, as compared with a total of 1,086 branches in operation on October 31, 1930.

During the intervening period 965 branches have been added to the system, of which total 405 were de novo branches, 307 were branches of State banks which converted into national associations, and 253 were brought into the national system through consolidations of State with National banks, while 251 branches were relinquished, of which number 138 went out of the system through the voluntary liquidation of the parent institutions and the remainder, 113, were discontinued through consolidations and for various other reasons. The net result of these operations was a gain for the national system of 714 branches for the period under discussion.

During the year ended October 31, 1930, a net gain of 25 branches was recorded, 86 de novo branches being established, while 1 branch was added under the provisions of paragraph 2 of section 5155, United States Revised Statutes, as amended February 25, 1927, and 5 branches were brought into the system through the consolidation of State banks with National banks-a total of 92 branches. Sixty-seven branches were lost to the national system, 32 through voluntary liquidation and 35 through action of the directors and shareholders.

There follows a summary of branch banking operations in the national system during the periods discussed in the foregoing:

NATIONAL BANKS IN THE TRUST FIELD

The national banks in 1930 continued to show steady and substantial progress in the development of trust activities. Two thousand four hundred and seventy-two banks, with capital, surplus, and undivided profits aggregating $$ 3,123,303,341$, and banking resources totaling $$ 23,529,097,073$, had authority to administer trusts on June 30, 1930, which represented 34 per cent of the number of banks and 80 per cent of the total banking resources of the 7,252 national banks in operation on that date. Of the number authorized to exercise trust powers under section 11 ( k ) of the Federal reserve act, 1,829 banks had established trust departments and were administering 79,912 individual trusts with assets aggregating $$ 4,473,040,926$, and in addition were administering 11,511 corporate trusts and acting as trustees for outstanding note and bond issues aggregating $$ 11,803,717,370$. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, trust department gross earnings aggregating $$ 22,765,000$ were reported.

Compared with 1929, these figures reflect a net increase during the year of 30 in number of national banks having authority to exercise trust powers; an increase of 95 , or 5 per cent, in the number administering trusts; an increase of 15,435 , or 20 per cent, in the number of trusts being administered; an increase of $$ 235,392,000$, or $51 / 2$ per cent, in the volume of individual trust assets; an increase of $$ 4,433,000,000$, or 60 per cent, in the volume of trusteeships under bond issues, while the gross earnings from trust department operations increased $$ 2,182,000$, or 11 per cent, over the previous year.

The rapid strides which national banks have made in the trust field are emphasized by considering the activities during the past year with those of 1926. Compared with that year, these figures represent an increase during the 4 -year period of 446 , or 22 per cent, in the number of national banks authorized to exercise trust powers; an increase of 725 , or 66 per cent, in the number of banks actively administering trusts; an increase of 65,370 , or 250 per cent, in the number of trusts being administered; an increase of $$ 3,550,000,000$, or 385 per cent, in the volume of individual trust assets under administration; an increase of $$ 9,340,000,000$, or 379 per cent, in the volume of bond issues outstanding for which national banks are acting as trustees, while the gross earnings for the same period increased $$ 14,510,000$, or 176 per cent.

The increasing interest in the creation of insurance trusts is evidenced by the fact that 153 national banks were acting as trustees under 396 agreements involving the administration of $$ 13,495,009$ in proceeds from insurance policies, while 680 national banks had been named trustees under 13,543 insurance trust agreements not operative supported by insurance policies with a face value aggregating $$ 586,706,435$. Compared with 1929, the insurance trust figures represent an increase of 30 per cent in the number of national banks administering insurance trusts, an increase of 46 per cent in the number and 19 per cent in the volume of insurance trust assets under administration.

The number of banks which had been named trustees under insurance trust agreements not operative increased during the year 22 per cent, the number of insurance trust agreements not yet operative naming national banks trustees increased 42 per cent, while the volume of insurance represented by the face value of the policies trusteed under those agreements increased 56 per cent over 1929.

Branches of national banks numbering 187 were actively engaged in the administration of 15,092 trusts, with individual trust assets aggregating $$ 1,340,564,760$, and were acting as trustees for bond and note issues outstanding amounting to $$ 3,151,175,430$.

The following tables show in detail the activities of national banks in the trust field, segregated, first, according to the capital of the bank; second, according to the population of the place in which the bank is located; third, according to Federal reserve districts, with a supplemental table showing the extent to which the branches of national banks are fumishing trust service to the communities in which they are operating.

NATIONAL-BANK FAILURES

During the year ended October 31, 1930, receivers were appointed for 104 national banks. Of this number, 88 were actual failures, while 16 appointments of receivers were made in order to enforce stock assessments, the collection of which was necessary under contracts to succeeding institutions which purchased the assets of the banks under guarantees from stockholders, by which creditors were paid in full. Of the 88 actual failures, 3 were restored to solvency, leaving 85 to be liquidated by receivers. These figures for the year 1930 may be compared with 72 actual failures for the previous year, 2 of which were restored to solvency, with the appointment of receivers for 7 banks to enforce stock assessments. The capitalization of the 104 banks, for which receivers were appointed during the past year, was $$ 8,355,000$, as compared with the capitalization of the 79 banks, for which receivers were appointed during the previous year, of $$ 6,575,000$.

Total assets of the 104 banks for which receivers were appointed during the past year, including additional assets acquired after suspension, as indicated by receivers' reports submitted, amounted to $$ 63,098,244$, in addition to which stock assessments in the amount of $$ 6,760,000$ had been levied by the comptroller as of October 31, 1930, against the shareholders of these banks.
It is of interest to note an important decision handed down by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit dealing with the authority of the comptroller over the appointment of receivers for insolvent national banks.

The Port Newark National Bank of Newark, N. J., was in grave financial difficulties. Arrangements had been made for the deposit liability of this bank to be assumed by another institution, thus assuring depositors of full payment of their deposits. On the day prior to the contemplated consummation of these arrangements, a stockholder filed a petition in the United States District Court for the appointment of a receiver and obtained a rule to restrain the bank from consummating the deal. The Comptroller of the Currency appointed a receiver for the Port Newark National Bank the following morning. Subsequently the District Court ousted the comptroller's receiver and appointed a court receiver. The case was appealed by the comptroller from the District Court to the Circuit Court of Appeals, which remanded the case to the District Court with instructions that the receiver appointed by the court be discharged, first accounting to the comptroller's receiver for his doings and restoring to him possession of all of the bank's property; restoring the comptroller's receiver, dismissing the bill with costs against the complainant in the bill.

The court, in speaking of the right of the comptroller to appoint receivers and whether or not such right is paramount and exclusive, stated that it "is a question we do not feel called on to now decide because the present case does not so require." However, the court in commenting on this phase of the question further said:
"In that regard we also note that in Korbly $v$. Springfield Trust, 245 U. S. 330, the Supreme Court said:
"From the earliest days of the administration of the National Banking Act to this case attempts have been made in many forms to give to it a technical construction which would so restrict the powers of the comptroller as to greatly delay and impede the settlement of the affairs of insolvent banks. But this court has uniformly declined to narrow the act by construction, and has plaved a liberal interpretation upon its provisions to promote its plain purpose of expeditiously and justly winding up the affairs and paying the debts of such unfortunate institutions."
"Not only the research of counsel but our independent research has shown no case where a Federal or State Court has appointed a receiver for a going national bank as distinguished from one in liquidation. Sufficient to say that in the present case we regard the Comptroller at the time this bill was filed as having complete dominion over and, by his bank examiner, full legal control of the then and future operations of the bank, and that such situation might ultimately require the appointment of a receiver. Consequently the court below, when the bill was filed, acquired no jurisdiction to shear the Comptroller of the statutory power to take the further step of appointing a receiver in case insolvency existed and the attempted sale fell through. As the order states, the Comptroller had on file at that time information of the insolvency of the bank, it is clear he had already complied with the statutory provisions of 'on examination of its affairs,' after which he 'may appoint a receiver'."

The full text of this decision is given in Exhibit $A$ in the appendix of this report.

From the date of the first failure of a national bank in the year 1865 to October 31, 1930, 1,417 national banks have been placed in charge of receivers. Of this number, 76 have been restored to solvency and permitted to resume business, leaving 1,341 to be administered by receivers. Of these so administered, 443 ( 17 more than reported at the close of 1929 ) are still in process of liquidation and 898 have been entirely liquidated and the affairs thereof finally closed.

The capital of the 1,417 insolvent national banks at the date of failure was $$ 152,075,420$. The capital of the 76 banks that have been restored to solvency was $$ 12,805,000$. The capital of the 443 banks that are still in process of liquidation was $$ 34,794,500$, and the capital of the 898 banks that have been completely liquidated was $104,475,920.

The aggregate book value of the assets of the 1,341 administered receiverships, including assets acquired after suspension, was $923,470,652 , in addition to which there have been levied against shareholders assessments aggregating $$ 99,710,740$. Total collections by receivers from these assets to September 30, 1930, including offsets allowed and collections from stock assessments, amounted to 55.59 per cent of the total of such assets and stock assessments. The disposition of such collections was as follows:

In addition to this record of distribution there have been returned to shareholders, through their duly elected agents, assets of a book value of $$ 16,471,958$. The outstanding circulation of these 1,341 receiverships at date of failure was $$ 57,944,576$, secured by United States bonds on deposit with the Treasurer of the United States of the par value of $$ 61,236,620$.

The 443 banks that were as of October 31, 1930, still in charge of receivers and in process of liquidation had assets, including assets acquired subsequent to their failure, aggregating $$ 364,322,736$. The capital of these banks was $$ 34,794,500$, and there had been levied by the Comptroller of the Currency to October 31, 1930, stock assessments against their shareholders in the amount of $$ 31,304,500$. The collections from these assets, including offsets allowed and collections from stock assessments, as shown by receivers' last quarterly reports under date of September 30, 1930, amounted to 51.31 per cent of such assets and stock assessments. The disposition of such collections was as follows:

In addition to the above record it is found that total secured and unsecured claims proved and outstanding as of September 30, 1930, aggregated $$ 197,981,404$. The outstanding circulation of the 443 receiverships at date of failure was $$ 17,373,311.50$, secured by United States bonds on deposit with the Treasurer of the United States of the par value of $$ 17,946,850$.

From the date of the first failure of a national bank in 1865 to the close of business October 31, 1930, 974 receiverships have been liquidated and the trusts closed or the affairs thereof restored to solvency. Included in this number are the 76 banks restored to solvency ( 4 in 1930) and 83 the liquidation of which was completed during the year 1930. The 898 banks liquidated by receivers had assets, including assets acquired subsequent to their failure, aggregating $$ 559,147,916$. The capital of these 898 banks was $$ 104,475,920$ and there were levied by the Comptroller of the Currency stock assessments against their shareholders in the amount of $$ 68,406,240$. The collections from these assets, including offsets allowed and collections from stock assessments, as shown by receivers' final reports, amounted to 58.28 per cent of such assets and stock assessments. The disposition of such collections was as follows:

In addition to this record of distribution, there were returned to shareholders, through their duly elected agents, assets of a book value of $$ 16,471,958$.

From the above it will be noted that the average percentage of all dividends paid on the aggregate of secured and unsecured claims proved and outstanding at dates of final reports, against the 898 receiverships that have been finally closed, but not including the 76 restored to solvency which paid 100 per cent, was 68.33 per cent. If payments to secured and preferred creditors, offsets, and other disbursements, as indicated above, were included with the dividends paid in this calculation, the total disbursements to creditors would amount to $$ 337,623,348$ or 77.99 per cent of claims proved plus other liabilities paid but not included in the figure above of proved claims, or $$ 432$,854,821 . In making the above calculations of percentages of payments to secured and preferred creditors it has been impossible to take into consideration those claims of creditors which were neither proved nor paid, as well as secured claims which were proved and upon which dividends were paid but which were subsequently eliminated from the total of claims proved by reason of having been paid in full out of the proceeds of collateral collections. The consideration of such unproved, unpaid claims and secured claims proved but not included in the total thereof set out in the table above, would very Digitized fomaterially reduce the percentages of payments to creditors as given.

Expenses incident to the administration of the 898 closed trusts such as receivers' salaries, legal and other expenses, amounted to $$ 24,346,797$ or 3.87 per cent of the book value of the assets and stock assessments administered, or 6.65 per cent of collections from assets and stock assessments. The assessments against shareholders averaged 65.47 per cent of their holdings and the total collections from such assessments as were levied were 48.69 per cent of the amount assessed. The outstanding circulation of these closed receiverships at date of failure was $$ 40,571,264.50$, secured by United States bonds on deposit with the Treasurer of the United States of the par value of $$ 43,289,770$.

During the year ended October 31, 1930, 83 receiverships were closed, in addition to which 4 banks were restored to solvency. The total assets of the 83 receiverships, including assets acquired subsequent to suspension, aggregated $$ 44,671,504$. The capital of these banks was $$ 5,510,000$ and assessments against shareholders levied by the Comptroller of the Currency aggregated $$ 5,015,000$. The collections from these assets including offsets allowed and collections from stock assessments, as shown by receivers' final reports, amounted to 56.8 per cent of such assets and stocl assessments. The disposition of such collections was as follows:

It is also found that total secured and unsecured claims proved and outstanding at date of final reports aggregated $$ 25,310,410$.

In addition to this record of distribution, there were returned to shareholders, through their duly elected agents, assets of a book value of $$ 260,334$.

From the above it will be noted that the average percentage of dividends paid on unsecured liabilities at date of suspension of the 83 receiverships that were finally closed during the year ended October 31, 1930, not including the 4 banks restored to solvency which paid creditors 100 per cent, was 52.89 per cent. The average percentage of dividends paid on secured deposits and liabilities at date of suspension of the 83 receiverships amounted to 11.62 per cent, while dividends, together with other payments to secured and preferred creditors, amounted to $$ 13,451,712$, or an average payment on secured and preferred liabilities at date of suspension of 93.49 per cent. The inclusion of offsets allowed with dividends paid to unsecured creditors gives total payments of $$ 12,650,735$, or an average total return upon unsecured liabilities at date of suspension of 63.27 per cent, while all payments to all creditors, consisting of offsets, dividends paid on both secured and unsecured deposits, and other payments on secured and preferred liabilities, amounted to $$ 26,102,447$, or an average total return of 75.92 per cent upon all liabilities at date of suspension in the amount of $$ 34,381,339$. In making the above calculations it has been impossible to take into consideration additional liabilities of the 83 receiverships established after suspension, the inclusion of which would reduce somewhat the percentages given. It may also be of interest to note that the average percentage of all dividends, amounting to $$ 12,248,570$, paid on both secured and unsecured claims aggregating $$ 25,310,410$ proved against the 83 receiverships that were finally closed during the year ended October 31, 1930, but not including the 4 banks restored to solvency which paid creditors 100 per cent, was 48.39 per cent.

Expenses incident to the administration of these 83 trusts, such as receivers' salaries, legal, and other expenses, amounted to $$ 1,886,943$ or 3.79 per cent of the book value of the assets and stock assessments administered, or 6.68 per cent of collections from assets and stock assessments. The assessments against shareholders averaged 91.01 per cent of their holdings and the total collections from such assessments as were levied were 53.6 per cent of the amount assessed. The outstanding circulation of these 83 receiverships at date of failure was $$ 2,510,787.50$ secured by United States bonds on deposit with the Treasurer of the United States, of a par value of $$ 2,589,100$.

CHECKS

Power of Federal reserve bank to charge checks to account of drawee bank not revoked by drawee's insolvency.
(U. S. Sup. 1930.) A circular of a Federal reserve bank, authorized by law, provided that when checks were received by the reserve bank for collection and forwarded to the member bank on which they were drawn, the drawee should remit or provide funds to meet them within an agreed transit time, failing which the amount should be chargeable against the reserve account of the drawee in the reserve bank; but that the reserve bank reserved the right to charge checks so forwarded against the drawee's reserve account at any time when in any particular case it deemed it necessary to do so. Held-

1. That the last provision, consented to by the drawee bank, created a power, in the interest and for the security of the owners of such checks, which was not revoked by insolvency of the drawee bank, and that upon learning of such insolvency it became the duty of the reserve bank, even though the transit time had not expired, to charge such checks against the reserve account of the drawee.
2. This lien was not affected by the fact that the drawee bank had retained the right to draw drafts on the reserve. (30 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 198, affirmed.) (Early, Receiver, v. Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, 281 U. S. R. 84.)
Bank held not liable to corporation for aiding fraud in payment of unauthorized notes, where it derived no benefit from checks or notes except small collection fees.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) In suit by corporation against bank on ground that payment of unauthorized notes by checks drawn through deposits constituted fraud which bank aided, dismissal of bill held proper, where defendant had no knowledge of infirmity in notes except such as appeared on face and derived no benefit from any of checks or notes except small collection fees. (Lincoln Oil Producing Co. $v$. Clark National Bank, 35 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 6.)

That one directing bank to draw on corporation for payment of note signed by him afterwards countersigned check for payment did not require bank to inquire whether note or check was authorized.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Fact that one directing bank to draw on corporation for payment of note which bore his signature as one of makers countersigned check for such payment held not to require defendant to go to extent of inquiring whether note or check had been authorized by board of directors, or whether there was possibility of some future complaint by minority stockholders. (Ib.)

That corporation executed note payable to offcer did not show breach of trust.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Corporations frequently execute notes payable to their officers, and such a circumstance did not justify conclusion that breach of trust had been committed by officer or that misapplication of funds was intended by him as respects bank's liability. (Ib.)
Bank was bound to honor corporation's checks drawn in proper form as long as there were sufficient funds.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Defendant bank held bound to honor checks of corporation when drawn in proper form as long as there were sufficient funds, since its relation to corporation was simply that of debtor and creditor and not agent or trustee. (Ib.)

Equity-Corporation's suit against bank for assisting fraud of officers held properly dismissed for laches.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Suit by corporation against bank on theory that bank has aided fraud by officers of corporation in payment of unauthorized notes held properly dismissed for laches, where suit could have been brought earlier, and in meantime of those primarily liable, if liability existed, some were dead, some gone from Sta,te, and some insolvent. (Ib.)
Absent contrary written agreement, bank receiving check for deposit became merely depositor's collecting agent. (Laws Minn., 1927, ch. 198, sec. 1.)
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Under Laws Minn., 1927, chapter 138, section 1, providing that bank receiving items for deposit or collection, in absence of written agreement to contrary, shall act only as depositor's collecting agent, that all items shall be credited subject to final payment in cash or solvent credits, and that bank shall not be liable for default or negligence of its duly selected correspondents, there was a conclusive presumption, in absence of required written agreement, that bank, when it received check from payee for deposit, became merely depositor's collecting agent, and that relation of debtor and creditor never existed between it and drawers of check, and that it never owned check. (Schram $v$. Askegaard, 34 Fed. Rep. 348.)
Bills and notes-Drawers who stopped payment on check held not liable to collecting bank's correspondent which had credited collecting bank with amount thereof before it closed its doors. (Laws Minn. 1927, ch. 138, sec. 1.)
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Since under Laws Minn., 1927, chapter 138, section 1, bank receiving payee's check for deposit never became more than depositor's collecting agent, and did not own such check, correspondent bank to which collecting bank sent check for collection never became anything more than its agent for collection, and drawers of check stopping payment thereon therefore did not become liable to said correspondent on its failure to make collection and inability to recover amount of check previously credited to collecting bank because latter had closed its doors. (Ib.)

COLLATERAL SECURITIES

Pledges-Assignee of bankrupt's note and collateral securing other demands of "payee" could not apply collateral to other notes of bankrupt held by him.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where bankrupt's note provided that collateral was deposited for payment of such note and other demands of "payee," assignee of note and collateral could not apply such collateral to other notes of bankrupts held by him, in view of obvious intention of parties. (Jones v. Kendall. In re Haynsworth et al., 34 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 344.)

Bankruptcy-Order for disposition of stock held by trustees of separate bankruptcy estates held not erroneous, where sale as whole would be more advantageous.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Order for disposition of corporate stock held by trustees of separate bankruptcy estates held not erroneous, where combined stock represented controlling interest in corporation, in view of more advantageous sale of entire stock. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Substantial right and justice should control in bankruptcy proceeding.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Bankruptcy proceeding is litigation in which substantial right and justice, rather than technical form, should control. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Bankrupt's assignment of stock to bank held void, as "preference," where bankrupts were insolvent and bank's president had knowledge of their condition. (Bankruptcy act, sec. 60; 11 U. S. C. A., sec. 96.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Transfer by bankrupts to bank of equity in certain stock, either as collateral to secure past indebtedness or as payment thereon, was "preference," and should be avoided under bankruptcy act, section 60 ( 11 U. S. C. A., Sec. 96), where bankrupts were insolvent and president of bank had full knowledge of their condition, though trustee may move before referee for order permitting him to hold such transfer for benefit of estate. (Ib.)
Subrogation-Contractor's surety, paying materialmen and taking assignment of their claims, became subrogated to rights of materialmen.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Highway contractor's surety, paying claims of materialmen and taking assignments of their claims, became subrogated to rights of materialmen. (Riverview State Bank v. Wentz et al., 34 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 419.)
Subrogation-Contractor's surety, paying claims of materialmen and taking assignments, had right to funds due contractor superior to bank lending contractor money and taking assignment of money due.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Rights of highway contractor's surety, paying materialmen's claims and taking assignments of claims, to funds due contractor, held superior to rights of bank lending money to contractor and securing loan by an assignment of money due and to become due contractor for work done, notwithstanding contract provided that highway commission, if it so elected, could hold any balance due contractor for payment of labor and materialmen, where highway commission paid fund into court. Symes, district judge, dissenting. (Ib.)
Bank authorized to deliver bonds held as securities.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank accepting order to deliver bonds held as securities is presumed to have acted within its powers. (Sibert $u$. Continental National Bank of Jackson County, Mo., et al., 41 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 35.)
Evidence held not to show agreement for or actual substitution of accounts for accounts assigned.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Evidence held not to show agreement between newspaper company in hands of receivers and bank for substitution, nor actual substitution, of accounts for specific accounts assigned to bank in writing by company as security for loans. (Queen City Printing Ink Co. v. Rochester Herald Co. Claim of Commonwealth Bank of New York, 38 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 254.)
Pledges-Agreement to substitute, and actual substitution of, accounts for accounts assigned, are prerequisites to substitution thereof.
(U.S. D. C. 1930.) To substitute accounts for accounts specifically assigned in writing as security for loans to assignor, there must be an agreement to substitute them and actual substitution thereof. (Ib.)
Corporations-Proceeds of receivers' sale exceeding amount necessary to pay half of claims of all creditors except bank, to which corporation assigned certain accounts as security for loans, held not collected for bank.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Proceeds of receivers' sale of corporation's property in excess of amount necessary to pay half of claims of all creditors except bank, to which corporation assigned certain accounts as security for loans, held not collected for bank so as to entitle it to payment in full; receivers having no power to determine validity of bank's claim to preference or collect money for bank. (Ib.)
Pledges-Assignee of bankrupt's note and collateral securing other demands of "payee" could not apply collateral to other notes of bankrupt held by him.
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Where bankrupt's note provided that collateral was deposited for payment of such note and other demands of "payee," assignee of note and collateral could not apply such collateral to other notes of bankrupt held by him, in view of obvious intention of parties. (In re Haynsworth et al., 34 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 334.)
Pledges-Collateral pledged by bankrupts to secure note and other demands of payee does not cover demands against bankrupts jointly with others.
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Where bankrupts pledged collateral to secure certain note and other demands of payee, such collateral can not be applied to any demands, except those against bankrupts alone, and does not cover demands against them jointly with others. (Ib.)
Pledges-Collateral pledged by bankrupts could not be applied to notes, in absence of showing of any assumption of payment of such notes by bankrupt.
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Collateral pledged by bankrupts to secure payment of certain note and other demands of payee can not be applied to payment of other notes, in absence of sufficient showing that there was assumption of payment of such notes by bankrupt. (Ib.)
Evidence-Ex parte statement, without right of cross-examination, that bankrupts assumed note, is not binding on trustee or other creditors.
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Ex parte statement, without right of cross-examination, that payment of certain notes was assumed by bankrupt firm, is not binding on trustee or other creditors. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Where no action was taken on bankrupt's note providing for attorney's fee before filing of petition in bankruptcy, attorney's fee is not proper claim. (11 U. S. C. A., sec. 103.)
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Where bankrupt's note contained provision for attorney's fee, and was secured by mortgage or collateral, and petition in bankruptcy was filed before any action was taken to institute suit; and there was no contest over validity of note, nor right to have property sold, attorney's fee is not proper claim, under 11 U.S. C. A., section 103, and can not be charged against proceeds of property. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Bankrupt's assignment of stock to bank held void as "preference," where bankrupts were insolvent and bank's president had knowledge of their condition. (Bankruptcy act, sec. 60; 11 U. S. C. A., sec. 96.)
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Transfer by bankrupts to bank of equity in certain stock, either as collateral to secure past indebtedness or as payment thereon, was "preference," and should be avoided, under bankruptey act, section 60 (11 U.S. C. A., sec. 96), where bankrupts were insolvent and president of bank had full knowledge of their condition, though trustee may move before referee for order permitting him to hold such transfer for benefit of estate. (Ib.)
Pledges-Negotiability of bankrupts' note did not affect indebtedness to which collateral was applicable.
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Fact that note of bankrupts was negotiable did not add to or diminish indebtedness to which collateral was applicable. (Ib.)
Evidence-As regards admissibility of ex parte statement, right of cross-examination is not saved merely because party making ex parte statement is sworn and subject to cross-examination later.
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) As regards admissibility of ex parte statement, right of cross-examination is not saved, where no right to cross-examination at time can be had, simply by party being sworn and subject to cross-examination later. (Ib.)
Bills and notes-Party can not declare note due and payable by secret intention, never disclosed by act or word.
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Party having option to declare note due and payable can not claim that he has made such declaration by secret intention, never Bankruptcy-Order for sale as whole of stock in certain company owned by bankrupt estates held not disturbed. (11 U.S.C. A., sec. 110 (b).)

(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Order under 11 U. S. C. A., sec. 110 (b), for sale as whole of stock in certain company belonging to bankrupt estates, held not disturbed, as against contention that stock pledged to secure particular note should be sold separately, where sale as whole would bring in larger sum for entire stock, since it represented controlling interest in corporation, especially in view of agreement between original holders of stock not to sell separately. (Ib.)
Shipping-Bills of lading-Drafts-Collateral security.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Bank held under agreements, to have bills of lading and drafts covering shipments wrongfully delivered as collateral security for shipper's outstanding indebtedness.
(The libelant bank suing carrier for wrongful delivery was a creditor of the shipper and was in possession of two hypothecation agreements to effect that all promissory notes, bills of lading, etc., pledged or otherwise deposited with bank, or which might come into bank's possession, should be held by bank as collateral security for any and all indebtedness owing to bank by shipper, and that such securities should be deemed pledged to bank for payment of such indebtedness from moment they or any of them should come into bank's possession.) (Bank of California N. A. $v$. International Mercantile Marine Co., 40 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 80.)
Shipping-Misdelivery-Liability of carrier.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Carrier's misdelivery of freight to person not entitled thereto subjects it to liability to anyone having right of property or entitled to possession. (lb.)
Shipping-Wrongful delivery-Order bill of lading-Carrier's liability.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Carrier's liability for misdelivery extends to anyone who for value and in good faith purchases order bill of lading, either before or after wrongful delivery. (Ib.)
Shipping-Wrongful delivery-Parties entitled to sue-Bank holding documents.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Bank holding bills of lading and drafts as collateral security could sue carrier wrongfully delivering goods. (Ib.)
Shipping-Arrival of goods-Carrier's duty-Storing merchandise.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Where salmon was shipped on order bill of lading, carrier was required to store salmon for owner's account if unable to find consignee or indorsee of bills of lading. (Ib.)
Shipping-Delivery of goods—Strangers.
(U.S. D. C. 1929.) Carrier has no right under any circumstances to deliver goods to stranger. (Ib.)
Shipping-Wrongful delivery-Carrier's liability-Time of fixing.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Carrier's liability for wrongful delivery should be fixed as of time it made it possible for person receiving goods to receive goods, though actual delivery was later. (Ib.)

COLLECTIONS

Federal reserve bank receiving checks for collection held agent of forwarding bank, and not creditor of drawee bank.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Federal reserve bank receiving checks for collection held agent of forwarding bank, and not creditor of drawee bank, so as to constitute its remittances unlawful preference on latter's failure. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 91.)
(Federal reserve bank, as a clearing house and agent for its member banks, received checks for collection and mailed cash letters, being checks designated to drawee bank for collection and remittance. Reserve account of the drawee bank in Federal reserve bank not being large enough to take care of draft covering cash letters, drawee bank sent reserve bank checks for collection and credits drawn by others on other banks and designated amount in currency which was credited to drawee's reserve account. Checks and currency in question were mailed to reserve bank after board of directors of drawee bank adopted resolution closing drawee bank because of its insolvency, and both remittances were made in contemplation of insolvency.) (Hirning $v$. Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, Minn., 42 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 925.)
Federal reserve bank receiving uncollectible draft as remittance for cash letter, acting as agent for collection from itself, held entitled to enforce trust upon cash in drawee bank.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Federal reserve bank receiving uncollectible draft as remittance for cash letter, drawee bank acting as agent for collection from itself, held entitled to enforce trust upon cash in drawee bank sufficient to satisfy draft. (Ib.)
Drafts placed by bank to trust company's credit for borrower held collected by company on being credited by bank, making checks issued for drafts preferred claim against insolvent company. (Banking act, sec. 34 and sec. 19, subd. 4, as amended by Laws, 1925, p. 129, sec. 8.)
(Ga. Sup. Ct. 1929.) Kuniansky obtained two loans from the Mortgage Bond Co. of New York. When the papers were completed they were attached to drafts drawn by the brokers on the lender. These drafts were left with the Colonial Trust Co. for collection. The trust company issued its checks to Kuniansky for the amount of the loan. It deposited the drafts with the Fulton National Bank in its regular checking account. The drafts were accepted by the bank, with the understanding that, if not paid, they would be charged back to the trust company's account. Before the checks given by the trust company to Kuniansky could be cleared, that company failed. It had not checked out its balance; on the contrary, the balance had been largely increased. The Mortgage Bond Co. refused payment of the drafts, and returned them to the bank. At the time the Colonial Trust Co. closed its doors, it was indebted to the Fulton National Bank on notes larger in amount than the balance to its credit in its checking account. The bank undertook to set off this balance against the notes, as it had a right to do, under an express agreement in writing. It then proved against the trust company a claim on the Kuniansky drafts. Thereafter Kuniansky filed his claim against the trust company, based on the checks which the trust company had given to him, and claiming a lien on the trust company's assets under section 34 of article 19 of the banking law. (Laws, 1919, p. 206.) Shortly thereafter he transferred this claim to the Fulton National Bank. The State superintendent of banks rejected the claim, and Kuniansky, for the use of the bank, brought this suit to establish the claim under section 17 of article 7 (Laws, 1919, p. 159), and at the same time to enjoin the superintendent from paying out the funds of the trust company until the question could be determined. Held, that the court erred in refusing an injunction, inasmuch as the petitioner was entitled, under the facts, to assert the lien claimed. (Kuniansky v. Mobley, Superintendent of Banks, et al., 146 S. E. R. 898.)

Trusts-
Consolidation of State Bank with National Bank-Succession of National Bank to Trusts Held by State Bank

Contract to purchase stock of consolidated bank held terminated under new plan requiring purchase of such stock and shares of speculative corporation; "as issued."
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Contract for purchase of stock of consolidated bank, which contemplated nothing more than the purchase of additional stock in established national bank under original plan, held terminated, where new plan required purchase of units including not only stock of consolidated bank, but equal number of shares of presumably more speculative corporation, where both sides contracted with reference to original plan; words "as issued" in original plan relating to right to purchase stock of consolidated bank, not including obligation to purchase units comprising shares of consolidated bank and more speculative corDigitized for FRASporation. (In re Civic et al., 34 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 624.)

Corporations-Consolidation-Rights and liabilities of consolidated corporation.
(Ill. Sup. Ct. 1914.) By the consolidation of two corporations under statutory authority, the original corporations ceased to exist, and the consolidated corporation acquired and succeeded to all the faculties, property, rights, and franchises of its component parts, and became subject to all the duties, obligations, and conditions imposed upon them. (Chicago Title & Trust Co. v. Zinser et al., 105 N. E. R. 718.)
Trusts-Delegation of powers-Discretionary powers.
(IIl. Sup. Ct. 1914.) If a power is given to an executor or trustee which is not ministerial or given for the purpose of executing a declared trust which the court can enforce, but which involves the exercise of discretion and judgment, the power can not be delegated or transferred to another, either by the trustee or a court. (Ib.)
Corporations-Acting as trustees-Delegation of powers.
(Ill. Sup. Ct. 1914.) The rule prohibiting a trustee from delegating powers involving the exercise of discretion is not applicable, where the trustee. is a corporation, as the element of trust in the trustee's judgment and discretion is entirely wanting; a corporation being without personality and subject to change in its administration and organization. (Ib.)
Corporations-Trusts-Delegation of powers-Consolidation.
(Ill. Sup. Ct. 1914.) A consolidated corporation was entitled to execute a trust as executor under a will naming a corporation, which was consolidated into it, as executor to administer the trust, as the testatrix, in making the appointment, knew that the corporation named was subject to change in its administration, and that the statute authorized changes in its organization and consolidations with other corporations, and therefore contemplated such a consolidation. (Ib.)
State legislation is not essential to authorizing consolidation of State and national bank.
(Va. Sup. Ct. App. 1930.) State legislation is not essential to operation of Federal act for consolidation of State and national banks (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 30, 34a). (Hofheimer v. Seaboard Citizens' Nat. Bank of Norfolk, 153 S. E. R. 656. )
State statute governing conversion of State bank into national bank does not apply to consolidation of State bank with national bank.
(Va. Sup. Ct. App. 1930.) State statute governing change of State bank to national bank and consolidation held not to apply to consolidation of State with national bank. (Acts 1928, ch. 507, secs. 8, 9a; 12 U. S. C. A. secs. 30, 34a.)
(Acts 1928, ch. 507, sec. 8, relates to change of status from State bank to national bank, while section 9 a, providing that State banks may be merged or consolidated with other State or with national banks, refers to procedure under statutes having to do only with cases where national banks become consolidated with State banks, and thus the provisions of the national banking act relative to consolidation of State banks with national banks.) ( 12 U. S. C. A. secs. 30, 34a, apply in full force in Virginia.) (Ib.)

ship is that of creditor and debtor. (Pitts v. Pease et al., 39 Fed. Rep. ( 2 d series) 14.)
"Special deposit."
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank deposit is special where bank becomes bailee, and title to deposit remains in depositor; "special deposit." (Ib.)
"General deposit."
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) If title to deposit passes to bank with right to use deposit in its business, it being, bound only to return equal amount, deposit is general; "general deposit." (Ib.)
Bondholders' assessments-Deposit-Nature.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bondholders' assessments deposited under agreement for purpose of retiring notes at maturity held to constitute general and not special deposit.
(Agreement under which deposit was made provided that legal title to deposits should be in bank, but that beneficial interest therein, subject to bank's rights, should remain in depositors, that deposits should draw interest at specified rate per annum until maturity of notes, and that, after notes were paid, bank should account to depositors for amount thereof with interest.) (Ib.)
Subrogation-Promissory notes-Indorsers.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Indorser paying notes before maturity, accepting bank's obligation to hold bondholders' assessments deposited to retire notes at maturity, held not entitled to be subrogated to depositor's rights.

Bondholder's assessments were deposited in bank under agreement between depositors and bank for purpose of retiring notes at maturity. On paying notes before maturity, bank assigned to indorser without recourse bonds which it held as collateral, and agreed to hold deposits of bondholders for his benefit.) (Ib.)
Usury-Interest-Eight per cent-Directly or indirectly.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Interest exceeding 8 per cent annually, either directly or indirectly by way of commission for advances or discount, constitutes usury. (Park's Ann. Civ. Code Ga. sec. 3436.) (Ib.)

Receipt of Deposits

A ppeal and error-Findings on substantially conflicting evidence that bond interest coupons were deposited with bank for collection only will not be disturbed on appeal.
(Cal. Dist. Apps. 1928.) Findings, based on substantially conflicting evidence, that depositor and bank agreed that bond interest coupons, amount of which were credited to depositor's account, were deposited for collection only, and that advance to depositor was conditioned on collection thereof, and that depositor was instructed not to draw any further checks against account until bank reported collection, will not be disturbed on appeal. (Anthony $v$. Crocker First National Bank, 272 Pac. R. 767.)

Appeal and error-Contention that bank pass bool constituted written contract, which could not be varied by parol testimony, can not prevail on appeal, where no objection was made to such evidence. (Code Civ. Proc. sec. 1856.)
(Cal. Dist. Apps. 1928.) Contention that bank pass book, showing unrestricted credit for amount of bond interest coupons, constituted written contract, which could not be varied by parol testimony that coupons were deposited for collection only, under Code Civ. Proc., section 1856, can not prevail on appeal, where no objection was made to such evidence. (Ib.)
Evidence-Bank pass book is not "written contract," which can not be varied by parol testimony. (Civ. Code, sec. 1625; Code Civ. Proc. sec. 1856.)
(Cal. Dist. Apps. 1928.) A bank pass book does not constitute a contract in writing, within Civ. Code, section 1625, so as to preclude parol testimony, under Code Civ. Proc., section 1856, that bond interest coupons, amount of which was credited to depositor, were deposited for collection only. (Ib.)

Statute held to entitle bank to charge uncollectible bond interest coupons to depositor's account. (Bank act, sec. 16c.)
(Cal. Dist. Apps. 1928.) Under bank act (St. 1925, p. 513), section 16c, which became part of terms under which uncollectible bond interest coupons were deposited with bank, which forwarded them for collection on following day, it was entitled to charge them to depositor's account, in absence of written agreement to contrary. (Ib.)
Bank held entitled to judgment against depositor for amount advanced on uncollectible bond interest coupons deposited for collection only, irrespective of statute. (Bank act, sec. 16c.)
(Cal. Dist. Apps. 1928.) Uncollectible bond interest coupons having been deposited with bank for collection only, not sold to it, it was entitled to judgment against depositor for amount advanced thereon, irrespective of bank act (St. 1925, p. 513), section 16c. (Ib.)

Deposit of School Funds

Depositaries-School funds-Oral designation-Assumption of duties.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank, orally designated as school district depository, by giving bond, receiving money, and undertaking to act, can not subsequently complain that it was not legally designated. (Gen. St. Minn. 1923 , sec. 2836 .)
(Gen. St. Minn. 1923, sec. 2836, requires designation of depository for school district to be in writing, which shall set forth all terms and conditions upon which deposits are made.) (Richfield Nat. Bank of Richfield, Minn., v. American Surety Co. of New York et al., 39 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 387.)
Depositaries-Deposits-Conditions-Officers-Authority.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Absent contrary statute, school district officers may prescribe manner in which fund deposited in depository bank should be handled. (Gen. St. Minn. 1923, sec. 2836.) (Ib.)
Depositaries-School fund-Deposit-Terms-Agreement.
(U. S. C. C. A., 1930.) Bank designated as depository of school funds, by acquiescing in terms of deposit, amounting to agreement regarding disbursements, held bound thereby. (Gen. St. Minn. 1923, sec. 2836.).
(Officials of school district followed custom of combining in one instrument warrants of district with check of treasurer, thereby disbursing all funds only upon such instrument when signed by three officials, namely, chairman, clerk, and treasurer. When bank became depository, it was advised in writing that no funds should be disbursed, except upon warrant or check bearing signature of such officials.)
(Ib.)
Depositaries-School fund-Deposit-Instructions-Authority.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank designated as depository of school funds, having been advised by clerk of terms of deposit, can not subsequently contend board's instructions were unauthorized.
(Bank, when it accepted deposit, had right to and should have presumed that such instructions were regularly authorized. Record also disclosed that board regularly approved action of clerk, and deposit was received and accepted upon terms set forth in instructions given by clerk.) (Ib.)
Subrogation-School fund-Misapplication-Knowledge-Evidence-SufficiencySurety.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Evidence in suit by school treasurer's surety to be subrogated to district's rights against bank held to show bank had knowledge of treasurer's default.
(Defendant bank had been designated as depository of school district funds. Treasurer defaulted and absconded, and surety duly paid full amount of defalcation, and, claiming to be subrogated to rights of school district, sought reimbursement from bank on ground that it had wrongfully aided such defalcation or had cashed checks with knowledge that sums paid would be misapplied.) (Ib.)

Subrogation-School treasurer's bond-Surety-Defalcation-Payment.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) School treasurer's surety having paid defalcation held subrogated to rights of school district against depository bank aiding wrongdoer.
(School district acknowledged payment by surety and ceded to surety all of its rights against depository bank. Bank having paid irregular checks with knowledge of their misapplication, its equities are neither superior nor equal.) (Ib.)
Subrogation-School treasurer-Bond-Surety-Laches-Estoppel-Evidence.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Subrogation suit by school treasurer's surety against depository bank held not barred by laches or estoppel under facts showing discovery of defalcations.
(School authorities had no knowledge of defalcations of treasurer until about time he absconded, and it did not appear that they at any time owed any duty to check up on his transactions.) (Ib.)

Application of Deposit on Claim

Set-off and counterclaim-Real debt, as between persons with mutual account, is difference between two accounts.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Where two persons have dealings out of which each becomes indebted to the other, and they have what are called mutual accounts, and respective debts are of a like kind, and each due and payable, the real debt of one to the other is difference between two accounts. (Charles A. Eaton Co. v. Louis Mark Shoes, Inc., 37 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 715.)

Set-off and counterclaim-Right of set-off is purely statutory.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Right of set-off as between mutual accounts, or to defalk one account against the other, is purely statutory. (Ib.)
Payment-Pleading-Defenses of payment and set-off are set up through counterclaim.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Defenses of payment, payment with leave and set-off are, under present practice, set up through a counterclaim. (Ib.)
Relation of bank and depositor under Pennsylvania law is that of debtor and creditor.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Under the law of Pennsylvania, the relation between bank and depositor is that of debtor and creditor, the bank being debtor and depositor creditor. (Ib.)
On demand by depositor for balance of deposit, bank had right to appropriate account to payment of its debt.
(U.S. D. C. 1930.) On demand of depositor for balance of deposit, bank had right to appropriate account to payment of its debt, which was payable on demand, regardless of whether there had been a waiver or withdrawal of previous demand for payment, which, under law of Pennsylvania, would not of itself deprive bank of right to set off its debt. (Ib.)
Receivers-Equity receivers represent court, have no authority outside jurisdiction, and have only defendant's rights.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Equity receivers are no more than the hand of the court, to take assets of defendant into possession and hold them, subject to such disposition as court may decree, and they have no existence outside of the jurisdiction of their appointment, and even within that jurisdiction can, generally speaking, enforce no rights against third persons, other than those defendant himself could have asserted. (Ib.)
Bank deposit, though ultimately found to belong to bank as set-off, must during receivership be in possession of court.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) In case of receivership, though deposit of defendant in bank may ultimately be found to belong to bank as set-off against its debt, and may be so awarded, it must in the meantime be in possession of court. (Ib.)

Bills and notes-Bank, accepting payments on demand note after demand or payment, did not waive rights or withdraw demand made; "waiver."
(U.S. D. C. 1930.) Acceptance by bank of payments on demand note after demand for payment did not justify finding that bank waived any of its rights, or withdrew demand made, since mere withholding of enforcement of its right to payment was not a "waiver" of anything. (Ib.)
Receivers had no equity relative to bank deposit by reason of bank's failure to appropriate balance to payment of debt until after appointment of receivers.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Receivers had no equity as to bank deposit by reason of failure of bank to appropriate balance to payment of its debt until after appointment of receivers, since all that court took under its control by virtue of receivership was a chose in action to be enforced against bank. (Ib.)

Spectal Deposits

Director of insolvent bank held not entitled to recover out of bank's assets value of bonds stolen from bank by employee.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Director of insolvent bank held not entitled to recover out of bank's assets value of bonds stolen from bank by employee.
(Even if bank held bonds, which plaintiff held as trustee for himself for life with remainder in others, as bailee and was negligent, such negligence consisted in failure of directors, including plaintiff, to exercise proper care in selecting employees or in failing to discover that one of them was dishonest.) (Johnson v. National Bank of Franklin et al., 41 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 364.)

Certificate of Deposit

Courts-Holding of court of appeals as to authority of bank cashier not in conflict with Supreme Court decisions.
(Mo. Sup. 1925.) Holding of court of appeals that Revised Statutes, 1919, section 11752, prohibiting bank cashier from issuing bills payable without consent of directors did not apply to certificate of deposit, held not in conflict with decisions of Supreme Court; the question never having been decided. (State ex rel. Cole et al. v. Trimble et al., Judges, 269 S. W. Rep. 959.)
Courts—Holding that title of transferee of certificate of deposit payable to trustee was for jury not in conflict with decision of Supreme Court.
(Mo. Sup. 1925.) The holding of the court of appeals that, where certificate of deposit was issued to payee as trustee and purchased on his indorsement on statement that he was short of funds, there being no evidence of existence of trust or any beneficiary, question whether he acquired title was for jury, held not in conflict with any decision of the Supreme Court, especially in view of Revised Statutes, 1919, section 13426, and negotiable instruments act. (Rev. St., 1919, secs. 811, 817, 818, 830, 837, 838, 842, and 843.) (Ib.)
Bills and notes-Courts-Court's cerlificate of deposit payable in current funds held negotiable; decision as to negotiability not in conflict with Supreme Court decision; "currency."
(Mo. Sup. 1925.) Certificate of deposit payable in current funds held negotiable, and decision to that effect by court of appeals not in conflict with any decision of Supreme Court conditions under which rule that payment in "currency" rendered instrument not negotiable being no longer pertinent, especially in view of Revised Statutes, 1919, section 793; "currency" meaning anything in general lawful use as money and accepted as such without discount. White and Woodson, JJ., dissenting. (Ib.)

Insurance of Deposits

Insurance of deposits.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Certificate of deposit, though in effect becoming demand certificate on due date, was not covered by bond guaranteeing deposit of account subject to check.
(The bond as finally exccuted was on condition that bank receiving deposit should promptly pay over on proper legal order such cash and cash items as should have been actually and regularly deposited with it during term of bond in an account subject to check, together with the balance of cash or cash items to the credit of obligee at beginning of term.) (Clarksburg Trust Co. v. Commercial Casualty Ins. Co., 40 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 626.)
Insurance of deposits.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bond given to secure deposit generally will be held to secure deposits for which interest-bearing certificates have been issued. (Ib.)
Insurance of deposits.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) General language of bond in case of compensated surety will be construed most strongly against company issuing it. (Ib.)
Insurance of deposits.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Certificate of deposit, forwarded for collection, was not "cash item" deposited in account subject to check within meaning of bond. (Ib.)
Equity.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Equity will not ordinarily relieve against mere mistake of law. (Ib.)
Equity.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Equity will grant relief in case of mistake of law going, not to import of agreement actually made, but to meaning of language used in embodying same in written instrument. (Ib.)
Insurance of deposits.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bond of compensated surety is construed by court as is an insurance contract. (Ib.)
Reformation of instruments.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Equity will reform written instrument to make it conform to true agreement. (Ib.)
Reformation of instruments.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Complaint alleging facts showing that parties were mistaken as to effect of language used in bond was sufficient to warrant reformation. (Ib.)
Courts.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Court has power of its own motion to transfer cause to equity and send it back for hearing in accordance with equitable rights of parties. (Jud. Code, sec. 274 (a) ( 28 U. S. C. A., sec. 397.)
(Although Judicial Code, sec. 274 (a), act March 3, 1915, 38 Stat. 956 ( 28 U. S. C. A., sec. 397), authorizing amendment to pleadings in case of suit brought in equity, which should have been brought at law, or suit at law, which should have been brought in equity, does not abolish distinctions between actions at law and suits in equity, its purpose was nevertheless to end unseemly practice of turning litigant out of court because of failure to institute action on proper side.) (Ib.)
Courts.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Parties by instituting action at law did not elect between legal and equitable right so as to be estopped from seeking transfer of cause. (Jud. Code, sec. 274 (a) ( 28 U. S. C. A., sec. 397).) (Ib.)
A ppeal and error.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Ordinarily, in order that points may be passed on by appellate court, they must have been reserved in lower court. (Ib.)
Courts.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Appellate court will transfer cause from law to equity, or vice versa, on its own motion, regardless of failure to properly raise question in lower court when otherwise failure of justice may result. (28 U. S. C. A., sec. 391.) (Ib.)

Reformation of instruments.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Parol proof to warrant reformation of instrument must be of the clearest and most satisfactory character. (Ib.)

Escheat of Deposits to State

Escheat--Power of legislature to prescribe.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Legislature has power to prescribe that property shall escheat on giving preliminary show cause order by publication. (Territory of Alaska $v$. First National Bank of Fairbanks, 41 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 186.)
Escheat-Presumption of intestacy.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where no administration has been had after disappearance for 10 years, presumption of intestacy obtains. (Ib.)
Escheat-When heir can not make claim.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) When owner's right escheats by absence, heir is forcelosed on failure to make claim after giving citation. (Ib.)
Escheat-When Territory became entitled to bonds by escheat.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Territory became entitled to bonds by escleat, on proof owner had not been heard from for 10 years, and that no claim was made by heirs in response to published citation.
(The owner deposited war-savings certificates and United States bonds in bank in 1918, and then disappeared. The bank endeavored without success to locate the depositor during the last two years preceding the trial and made inquiries at post office and probate court. An order to show cause described the property and stated that it had escheated to the Territory of Alaska, described the depositary, and the time for hearing, and admonished all persons to appear and make claim or show cause why escheat should not be decreed.) (Ib.)
Escheat-Presumption that decedent leaves next of kin is rebutted by deceased's absence for 10 years without probate proceedings.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Presumption that decedent leaves next of kin is rebutted by deceased's absence for 10 years without probate proceedings, and by default in asserting claim, after show cause order. (Ib.)

Actions by Depositors

Insolvency-Certificate of deposit-Action-Ptition-Sufficiency.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) Substituted petition, in action on certificate of deposit issued by bank prior to receivership, held sufficient to state cause of action.
(Substituted petition in first count set out certificate of deposit, and alleged that name of bank of deposit was stamped on instrument over part of printed words constituting name of another savings bank. Second count of petition alleged circumstances under which deposit was made, including preliminary negotiations, in order to shed further light on dubious document.) (Deutschle $v$. Wilson et al., 39 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 406.)
Evidence-Contracts-Ambiguity-Preliminary negotiations.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where contract is ambiguous, preliminary negotiations may be considered in determining their true intent. (Ib.)
Contracts-Written portion-Printed portion-Inconsistency-Construction.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where written and printed parts of contract are apparently inconsistent, or there is reasonable doubt as to meaning written words will control. (Ib.)
Contracts-"Written portion"-Printed poriion-Construction.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Under rule that "written portion" of contract will control printed portion when two are inconsistent, it is immaterial whether written portion be by hand, typewriter, or stamped. (Ib.)

EXCHANGE

Liability of writer of letter of credit.

(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) Writer of letter of credit is liable to addressee, paying money on face thereof, to extent determined by letter. (Grouf v. State National Bank of St. Louis, 40 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 2.)
Equities in favor of beneficiary afford no defense.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Equities, in favor of beneficiary of letter of credit, afford no defense to issuer of letter against addressee paying money on faith thereof. (Ib.)
Estoppel.
(U.S.C.C. A. 1930.) Equitable estoppel requires false representation knowingly made to party not having means of knowledge and relying thereon to his prejudice.

Defense of estoppel must be pleaded. (Ib.)
When circuit court of appeals will not disturb finding.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Finding, supported by substantial evidence, can not be disturbed by circuit court of appeals. (Ib.)
Foreign bank cashing drafts payable in dollars not agreeing to accept kronen in payment not estopped to deny payment.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Foreign bank, cashing drafts payable in dollars on basis of letter of credit, not agreeing to accept kronen tendered in payment held not estopped to deny payment against issuer of letter.
(American bank issued letter of credit to resident of Austria and Austrian bank cashed resident's drafts on basis of letter of credit, drafts being payable in dollars. On demand for payment, resident tendered payment in kronen which Austrian bank refused and placed to savings account of resident. There was testimony showing that Austrian bank agreed with resident to accept kronen in payment but there was evidence to contrary and no finding that Austrian bank did agree to accept kronen.) (Ib.)
Foreign bank refusing to return kronen tendered in payment and placing kronen in savings account for drawers of drafts held not estopped from denying payment of drafts.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Foreign bank, refusing to return kronen tendered in payment of drafts and placing kronen in blocked savings account for drawers of drafts, held not estopped from denying payment of drafts. (Ib.)
Addressee cashing drafts on faith of letter of credit, but making no representations to issuer of letter, held not estopped against issuer from denying payment of drafts.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Addressee cashing drafts on faith of letter of credit, but making no representations to issuer of letter, held not estopped against issuer from denying payment of drafts.
(Foreign bank as addressee in letter of credit paid drafts drawn by beneficiary of letter. Evidence showed no representation by addressee to issuer of letter on which issuer relied to his detriment, but merely negotiations between addressee and beneficiary of letter looking to payment of draft, though beneficiary procured fund from issuer to pay addressee.) (Ib.)
Swiss bank sold 9,000,000 Polish marks to American bank at 60 cents, available at Warsaw bank, on June 6, 1920.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Swiss bank, cabling American bank, "sell best three million Warsaw limit 60," and receiving reply, "sold three million Warsaw 60 value June sixth pay Polskakasa account bank United States," held to have agreed to sell American bank, at 60 cents, Polish marks to be made available to United States bank at Warsaw bank on June 6.
(The reply cable was confirmed by letter stating: "We informed you that we sold * * * three million $(3,000,000)$ Polish marks, at the rate of 60 , value June 6th," and "instructed you to remit the amount to the Polish State Loan Bank, Warsaw, to be placed to the credit of the bank of United States." Subsequently, the Swiss bank wrote to the American bank: "We * * * enclose our exchange of cables * * * according to which you sold for our account," and later, "with reference to our letter * * * regarding your sale for our account," but, in letters after dispute arose, spoke of transaction as "our sale to you," and alleged in answer to American bank's complaint praying restitution of amount paid that transaction was "a purchase by the plaintiff from the defendant * * * of foreign exchange.") (American Union Bank v. Swiss Bank Corporation, 40 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 446.)
Contract was not fulfilled when marks were not delivered to Warsaw bank until four days after time for performance of contract.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Swiss bank, whose correspondent bank did not transmit Polish marks, purchased by American bank, to Warsaw bank, at which Swiss bank agreed to make them available to another American bank, nor notify Warsaw bank that correspondent bank was holding them for it, until four days after time for performance, did not fulfill contract. (Ib.)
Words "sixty value June 6" in American bank's cable related not to time interest began to run but to time for establishment of credit for United States bank at Warsaw bank.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Words " 60 value June sixth" in American bank's cable to Swiss bank, "sold three million, Warsaw 60 value June sixth pay Polskakasa account Bank United States," held to relate, not to time interest began to run, but to time for establishment of credit for United States bank at Warsaw bank. (Ib.)
Law of State wherein money was paid by American bank for Polish marks governed in determining time for performance.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Law of State wherein money was paid by American bank for Polish marks, which Swiss bank agreed to make available to third bank at Warsaw bank, governed in determining time for performance in American bank's action for restitution. (Ib.)
Swiss bank placing correspondent bank in funds without instructing correspondent to do more than pay money to the Swiss bank's account failed to form contract.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Swiss bank, merely placing correspondent bank in funds to establish credit for American bank, as directed by another American bank, without instructing correspondent to do more than pay money to Swiss bank's account, failed to perform contract. (Ib.)
Warsaw bank at which American bank directed Swiss bank to make Polish marks available was not agent of purchasing bank.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Warsaw bank, at which American bank directed Swiss bank to make Polish marks, purchased by American bank, available to another American bank, held not purchasing bank's agent, whose failure to set up credit must be imputed to such bank. (Ib.)
Evidence-Custom-Admissibility.
(U.S.C. C. A. 1930.) Questions as to custom of banks to charge account of customer for foreign exchange, held properly excluded. (Aachen & Munich Fire Insurance Co. v. Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, 39 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 578.)
Customs and usages-Evidence-Foreign exchange-Failure to transmit-Recovery of consideration.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Evidence of custom did not establish that debit of depositor's account for transmissal of marks was final, so that cause of action for consideration accrued at that time without completed transfer.
(Plaintiff sued to recover amount charged against plaintiff's account as purchase price of a wireless transfer of marks to Germany, which were never rendered available to plaintiff, wherein defendant pleaded custom of banks dealing in foreign exchange to charge account of purchasers on day of transfer and to treat such charge as final, whether transfer was subsequently completed abroad. Defendant attempted to show that under such custom the debit to plaintiff's account was final and that, because plaintiff thereafter no longer stood in position of customer, right of action to recover the consideration accrued upon the failure to transmit the marks rather than after demand for payment as in case of bank deposit.) (Ib.)
Depositor-Status-Termination.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Termination of status as depositor requires some act by bank, at request of customer, prejudicing rights of former. (Ib.)

Limitation of actions-Statute of limitations does not run against alien enemy during war.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) War can only end by treaty of peace between belligerents, and while war continues, courts of each belligerent are closed to nationals of the other and statute of limitations will not be permitted to run against alien enemy. (First Nat. Bank of Pittsburgh $v$. AngloOesterreichische Bank for Use of Anglo-Austrian Bank, Limited, for Use of Grouf, 37 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 564.)
Limitation of actions-As regards limitation of actions, signing of treaty of St. Germain in 1919 did not terminate war with Austria.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) As regards statute of limitations, signing of treaty of St. Germain in 1919 did not terminate war with Austria, and, even if effect is given to it by reason of its incorporation into treaty of Vienna, it did not become effective until ratification of latter treaty on November 8, 1921. (Ib.)
Limitation of actions-As regards limitation of action, joint resolution of Congress of July 2, 1921, did not terminate war with Austria.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) As regards to statute of limitation, joint resolution of Congress of July 2, 1921 (42 Stat. 105), did not terminate war with Austria, since such resolution was not legally binding on Austria, and restoration of peace can be accomplished only by bilateral treaty. (Ib.)
Limitation of actions-As regards limitation of actions, private rights could not be affected by nunc pro tunc declaration of peace with A ustria in 1921.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Although proclamation by President on November 17, 1921 (42 Stat. 1946), proclaimed peace treaty which had been ratified November 8, and stated peace was proclaimed as of July 2, 1921, private rights, including running of statute of limitation, can not be affected by such nunc pro tunc declaration, since treaty itself specified when it should take effect, and proclamation can not vary terms of treaty. (Ib.)
Courts-In construing limitation statute, Federal court follows rulings of State Supreme Court.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) In construing statute of limitations, Federal court will follow rulings of Supreme Court of State. (Ib.)
Limitation of actions-Limitation against action by Austrian bank against American bank involving settlement of accounts after war held under facts not to begin to run before August 1, 1921.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Action by Austrian bank against bank in United States, brought after close of World War to recover amount received by defendant from Treasurer of United States pursuant to Alien Property Custodian's direction, defendant having taken such amount in settlement of its claim against plaintiff for its kronen balance, held not barred by limitation, since under facts statute did not begin to run before August 1, 1921. (Ib.)

War-Action by Austrian bank against American bank involving settlement of accounts after war held not barred on theory Alien Property Custodian's demand on defendant transferred title, where defendant did not comply with demand. (Trading with the enemy act sec. 9 (50 U. S. C. A., appendix, sec. 9, note).)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Action by Austrian bank against bank in United States to recover amount defendant received pursuant to direction of Alien Property Custodian, defendant having taken such amount in settlement of its claim against plaintiff for its kronen balance, held not barred on theory that Alien Property Custodian's demand in April, 1918, had effect of transferring title to custodian of plaintiff's dollar balance with defendant, where defendant did not comply with custodian's demand, since under trading with the enemy act, section 9 ( 50 U. S. C. A., appendix, sec. 9 , note), payment to custodian is defense only to extent of such payment. (Ib.)
Set-off and counterclaim-Right of set-off depends on fact that debts have mutually matured. (Practice act, 1915 Pa., sec. 14 (Pa. Stat. 1920, sec. 17194).)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Right of set-off depends on fact that debts have mutually matured and are due and payable in hands of parties for and against whom set-off is sought under practice act, 1915, Pennsylvania,

Set-off and counterclaim-A merican bank, not having matured kronen account with Austrian bank, could not set off amount received through Alien Property Custodian after war representing part of Austrian bank's pre-war-account. (Trading with the enemy act, sec. 8 (50 U. S. C. A., appendix, sec. 8).)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) After World War, American bank held not entitled to set-off against its kronen account with Austrian bank amount received through Alien Property Custodian representing part of Austrian bank's balance with it, where it had not matured its kronen account in Vienna, such account not having been matured by outbreak of war, joint resolution of Congress July 2, 1921 (42 Stat. 105), treaty of Vienna of November 8, 1921, nor erection of custody deposit, and defendant not having availed itself of provisions of trading with the enemy act, section 8 ( 50 U . S. C. A., appendix, sec. 8). (Ib.)
Payment-Only rate at which dollars and kronen can be set off against each other is rate at time of set-off.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) In settlement of account between Austrian bank and bank in United States, only rate at which dollars and kronen can be set off against each other is rate at time of set-off. (Ib.)

Federal reserve bank could engage in open market transactions by sale of securities, fix rediscount rate, and decline to rediscount eligible paper. (12 U. S. C. A., ch. 3, secs. 353-357.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Federal reserve bank held entitled to engage in open market transactions by the sale of securities, to fix a rediscount rate, and to decline to discount eligible paper, irrespective of purpose to reduce volume of broker's loans, since purchases and sales in the open market are specifically authorized by 12 U. S. C. A., chapter 3, sections 353-357. (Raichle $v$. Federal Reserve Bank of New York, 34 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 910.)

Federal reserve bank, subject to Federal Reserve Board's supervision, determines what will be reasonable discount. (Federal reserve act, 12 U. S. C. A., sec. 221 et seq.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Under Federal reserve act (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 221 et seq.), it is for the Federal reserve bank, subject to supervision of the Federal Reserve Board, to determine what will be a reasonable discount. (Ib.)
Statements as to condition of affairs, such as money shortage, etc., may be made public by Federal Reserve Board, council, and banks. (Federal reserve act, 12 U. S. C. A., sec. 221 et seq.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Under Federal reserve act (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 221 et seq.), statements as to condition of affairs, such as money shortage and increased volume of collateral loans, may be made public by the Federal Reserve Board, the council, and the Federal reserve banks, in view of provisions for detailed reports on conditions of banks and for intercommunication between the board and council regarding the general affairs of the reserve banking system. (Ib.)
Bill alleging conduct of Federal reserve bank causing general reduction of security prices held insufficient, absent allegation of bad faith or attempt to injure plaintiff.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Bill by owner of securities to restrain Federal reserve bank from doing various acts in derogation of plaintiff's alleged rights, alleging that bank had engaged in a course of conduct which has had for its purpose reduction in the volume of collateral and brokers' loans, and general reduction of security prices, held insufficient, where it was nowhere stated that bank had acted in bad faith or had aimed to injure the plaintiff. (Ib.)
Federal reserve bank may sell its securities in open market, fix discount rates, and refuse to discount eligible paper, though policy may be mistaken. (Federal reserve act, 12 U.S. C. A., sec. 221 et seq.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Under Federal reserve act (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 221 et seq.) a Federal reserve bank may sell its securities in the open market, fix discount rates which are unreasonably high, or refuse to discount eligible paper, even though its policy may be mistaken and its judgment bad. (lb.)
Bill charging Federal reserve bank and Federal reserve system with causing general reduction of security prices held dismissible for failure to join Federal Reserve Board. (12 U.S.C. A., ch. 3, sec. 248 (j).)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Bill by owner of securities to restrain Federal reserve bank from doing various acts in derogation of plaintiff's alleged rights, in that bank and Federal reserve system generally spread propaganda concerning an alleged money shortage and increasing volume of collateral loans, thereby causing a general reduction of security prices, held dismissible, under 12 U.S. C. A., ch. 3, sec. 248 (j), for failure to join members of the Federal Reserve Board as parties. (Ib.)

FORGED OR ALTERED PAPER

Pleading-Affdavit in lieu of demurrer admits only facts well pleaded. (Practice act Pa., sec. 20 (Pa. St. 1920, sec. 17200).)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Affidavit of defense filed in lieu of demurrer, in conformity with practice act, Pennsylvania, sec. 20 (act May 14, 1915, P. L. 486 (Pa. St. 1920, sec. 17200)), does not admit facts in plaintiff's stateinent which are not well pleaded or not sufficiently pleaded. (Grange Trust Co. of Huntingdon, Pa., v. American Surety Co. of New York, 37 Fed. Rep. ( 2 d series), 479.)
Insurance-Where forged name appeared on note as maker and there was no fraud or mistake, no recovery could be had under policy covering losses from forgery of indorser's signature.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where forged name appears at end of note on face thereof as one of joint makers, and note was in common form of judgment note, and there was no allegation of fraud, accident, or mistake as between parties to suit or to the note, loss resulting from the forgery was not within forgery and alteration policy covering loss occasioned by payment of promissory note upon which signature of any indorser shall have been forged. (Ib.)
Pleading-Allegation in statement that indorser's name was forged held not admitted by affidavit in lieu of demurrer, where forged name on note appeared that of joint maker. (Practice act Pa., sec. 20 (Pa. St. 1920, sec. 17200).)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) In action on bankers' blanket forgery and alteration policy covering loss resulting from forgery of indorser's signature, allegation in plaintiff's statement to the effect that the forged name was that of indorser constituted variance from note, and was not admitted by affidavit of defense in lieu of demurrer, under practice act, Pennsylvania, sec. 20 (act May 14, 1915, P. L. 486 (Pa. St. 1920, sec. 17200)), where the forged name appeared on the face of the note as that of joint maker, and where there was no allegation of fraud, accident, mistake, or ambigaity; parol evidence to alter the meaning of note being inadmissible. (Ib.)
Accommodation note without consideration.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) Plaintiff executing accommodation note without consideration, to replace note forged in plaintiff's name, held entitled to cancellation of note in hands of bank's receiver.
(Forged note purporting to be signed by plaintiff was placed in assets of bank, and when it became due president of bank, who was personal friend of plaintiff, induced plaintiff to execute new note, for which plaintiff received no credit or other consideration, and president guaranteed plaintiff against liability thereon. Plaintiff issued another note of like tenor when prior note became due, which came into hands of receiver of bank. Plaintiff was depositor in bank and carried account therein for companies in which he was interested, but otherwise had no connection with bank as stockholder, director, or officer.) (Lensing $v$. Rayzor, 41 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 224.)

GUARANTY

> Courts-General finding in favor of plaintiff, supported by evidence, was not reviewable in appellate court. ( 28 U. S. C. A. sec. 879.)
> (U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) General finding in favor of plaintiff, supported by evidence, was not subject to review in circuit court of appeals, under 28 U. S. C. A., section 879. (Nye et al. 8. Chase National Bank, 34 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 435.)
> Contracts-Guaranty held enforceable, though it contained invalid stipulation precluding defense, where such stipulation was unnecessary to plaintiff's case.
> (U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Contract of guaranty held enforceable, though it contained invalid stipulation that guarantors covenanted that they had no defense whatever to any action, suit, or proceeding at law or otherwise, since such stipulation was unnecessary to plaintiff's case, and valid provisions of contract were separate and could be enfored. (lb.)
> Contracts-Agreement will be enforced, though incidentally connected with illegal transaction, provided plaintiff does not require aid of illegal transaction to make out case.
> (U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) An agreement will be enforced, even if it is inoidentally or indirectly connected with an illegal transaction, provided it is supported by an independent consideration or if plaintiff will not require aid of illegal transaction to make out his case. (Ib.)

Evidence of Insolvency

Payment of depositors and creditors in usual and ordinary course of business is controlling factor in determining solvency of bank.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Payment of depositors and creditors in usual and ordinary course of business constitutes controlling factor in determining solvency of bank, regardless of fact that at some time in the future some of the assets may possibly be made available and debts paid. (Cronkleton $v$. Ebmeier, 38 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 748.)

Insolvency of bank is question of fact.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Whether or not a bank is insolvent constitutes a question of fact. (Ib.)
Evidence sustained finding that bank was insolvent at time of receiving deposit.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Evidence in suit to establish deposit as a preferred claim against insolvent bank held to sustain finding that bank was insolvent at time deposit was received. (Ib.)
Knowledge of bank's insolvency on part of officers may be shown by circumstances.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Knowledge of insolvency of bank on part of officers may be shown by circumstances without violating rule as to presuming fraud, in that there is some responsibility on officers and directors of a bank to know its financial condition. (Ib.)
Evidence sustained finding that officers of bank had knowledge, at time of receiving deposit, that bank was insolvent.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Evidence, in suit to establish deposit as a preferred claim against insolvent bank, held sufficient to sustain finding that managing officers and directors of bank, at time of receiving deposit, knew that bank was insolvent. (Ib.)

Actions by Receivers

Collections of Assets by Receivers

Receiver of insolvent bank stands in no better position than bank stood in collecting notes.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Receiver of insolvent bank stands in no better position than bank stood as going concerı as respects right to collect on accommodation notes. (Andresen $v$. Kaercher, 38 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 462.)

Neither bank nor receiver could collect on accommodation notes on theory purpose was to deceive examiner.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Neither bank nor its receiver could collect on accommodation notes on theory that there was purpose to deceive examiner, since court will not lend its assistance in any way towards carrying out illegal contract, nor will it enforce any alleged rights directly springing from such contract. (Ib.)
Evidence-Bank which continued as going concern for two years after entering contract is presumed solvent when contract was executed.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where bank continued to be going concern for two years after entering contract under which accommodation notes were given, its solvency at time contract was executed must be presumed. (Ib.)
Bank as going concern could take real estate in collecting debts.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) As going concern, bank had full power to collect debts, and officers could take real estate for this purpose, especially where reasonable equity in land over incumbrances was nearly double amount of debt. (Ib.)
Bills and notes-Bank can not enforce accommodation notes executed without consideration.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Notes executed to bank without consideration and solely for accommodation can not be enforced if remaining in hands of bank. (Ib.)
Trial-Where facts are admitted or undisputed and only one conclusion can be drawn, court must declare that conclusion to jury.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where facts are admitted or are undisputed, and are such that reasonable men can draw but one conclusion from them, it is duty of court to declare that conclusion to jury. (Ib.)
Trial-Court must instruct verdict where contrary verdict would have to be set aside.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where situation is such that, if contrary verdict were reached, court would be compelled to set it aside, it is duty of court

Bills and notes-In action on accommodation notes, testimony respecting want of consideration held admissible.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) In action on notes, admission of testimony of defendants as to want of consideration for notes sued on, which were accommodation notes, and as to value of land transferred in payment of debts, at time accommodation notes were given, held not error. (Ib.)

Sale of Assets by Receiverb

National bank-Liquidation-Sale of assets-Court's power.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Court's power respecting sale of assets of national bank in liquidation by receiver extends no further than to order sale made on terms and grant or refuse confirmation of sale made and to it reported. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 192.)
(12 U. S. C. A., sec. 192, provides that receiver in charge of liquidation of national bank may, on the order of a court of record of competent jurisdiction, sell all the real and personal property of such banking association on such terms as the court shall direct.) (In re First National Bank of Billings, 39 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 663.)
National bank-Liquidation-Order of sale-Time.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Court order directing sale of assets of national bank in liquidation must precede sale by receiver. (12 U. S. C. A.; sec. 192.) (Ib.)
National bank-Liquidation-Reopening bids.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Bids for assets of national bank in liquidation could not be reopened for a trifling advance of less than one-half of 1 per cent to creditors. (Ib.)

Actions Against Receivers

Removal of causes-Action against receiver of national bank having to do with winding up of affairs is removable to Federal court. (28 U. S. C. A., secs. 41 (16), 71.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) An action against the receiver of national bank having to do with winding up of affairs of such bank is within Federal jurisdiction in accordance with provisions of 28 U.S. C. A., section 41 (16), and removable from State court by virtue of section 71. (Fleming et al.v. Gamble, 37 Fed. Rep. ( 2 d series), 72.)
Corporations-Those claiming note executed by corporation was ultra vires had burden of proof.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Note executed by corporation was presumably a valid act, with burden on those attacking it as ultra vires of pleading and proving facts showing it to be beyond powers of corporation. (Ib.)
Corporations-Courts will not grant relief concerning note executed by corporation after payment thereof.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where note executed by corporation was paid and transaction closed, courts will not grant relief concerning it on ground it was ultra vires. (Ib.)
Pleading-Judgment on pleadings insufficient to sustain different judgment is generally proper.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Generally a judgment on the pleadings is proper, where they are insufficient to sustain a different judgment. (Ib.)
Pleading-Well-pleaded allegations by opposite party are to be taken as true in determining judgment on pleadings.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Allegations made by opposite party, in so far as they are well pleaded, are to be taken as true in determining whether judgment on pleadings should be entered. (Ib.)
Bills and notes-Bank's payment of note executed by stockholders was sufficient consideration for note of accommodation maker to bank.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1929.) Payment by bank of note executed by stockholders as guaranty of payment was sufficient consideration to bind accommodation maker on note, regardless of whether there was direct consideration to maker. (Ib.)

Bills and notes-Accommodation note is binding, where consideration is given to another party.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) An accommodation note is binding obligation, where consideration was given to another party, regardless of whether there was direct consideration between parties thereto. (Ib.)

Preferences in Insolvency

Bank selling note and mortgage, paid for by check on another bank, became trustee, obligated to preserve intact and account to customer for trust fund.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank selling note and mortgage to customer, who paid amount thereof by check on another bank, was not such customer's creditor, as in case of ordinary depositors, but a trustee, owing obligation to preserve trust fund intact and account to customer therefor. (Blumenfeld $ข$. Union Nat. Bank of Beloit, Kans., et al., 38 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 455.)

One claiming preference for amount paid insolvent bank for note and mortgage wrongfully appropriated by it was bound to trace fund into assets or specific property held by receiver.
(U.S.C. C. A. 1930.) It was incumbent on one claiming preference against assets of bank in hands of receiver for amount paid bank for note and mortgage wrongfully appropriated by it to trace fund into assets taken over by receiver or some specific property held by him by proof that fund was kept by bank in cash or substituted property at all times after its receipt and not dissipated. (Ib.)
Insolvent bank, in which sufficient amount remains to cover trust fund, is presumed to have made authorized payments from other funds.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where sufficient amount remains in insolvent bank to cover a trust fund, it is presumed that bank first made payments it had right to make from other funds in disposing of its money from time to time. (Ib.)
To establish preference, it is insufficient to trace trust fund into insolvent bank and show that its cash or equivalent on its failure exceeded claim.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) To establish a preference against an insolvent bank's assets for a trust fund, it is insufficient to trace fund into bank and show that its cash or equivalent on its failure exceeded beneficiary's claim. (Ib.)
Trusts-Wholly depleted trust fund can not be treated as reappearing in subsequent accumulations.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) A trust fund, which is wholly depleted at any time, can not be treated as reappearing in subsequent accumulations. (Ib.)
Trusts-Claimant of trust fund must identify it.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) A claimant of a trust fund has the burden of identifying it. (Ib.)
One purchasing note and mortgage from insolvent bank wrongfully appropriating. them and proceeds of sale of mortgaged land held not entitled to preference, in absence of evidence of amount remaining in bank from time it acquired fund until receiver took charge.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) One purchasing note and mortgage from insolvent bank, which wrongfully appropriated them and turned proceeds from partition sale of mortgaged land into its assets, held not entitled to preferential payment of amounts paid therefor, in absence of evidence of amount of money remaining in bank from time it acquired trust fund until receiver took charge. (Ib.)
A ppeal and error-Fact intimated in lower court's opinion, but not appearing in evidence brought to appellate court, can not be considered.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) A fact not appearing in the evidence brought to the Circuit Court of Appeals is not entitled to consideration, though intimated in the opinion of the court below. (Ib.)

Appeal and error-Denial of rehearing to show that amount of insolvent bank's credit in correspondent bank at date of receivership exceeded trust fund held not prejudicial to owner claiming preference.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) In absence of showing that correspondent bank of bank in hands of receiver had not disbursed trust fund, which receiver stated was deposited in former bank, or that owner thereof would be able to show it had not done so, denial of rehearing to receive evidence as to greater amount of insolvent bank's credit in correspondent bank at date of receivership was not prejudicial to owner claiming preference against insolvent bank's assets for amount of such fund. (Ib.)
Claim against bank as trustee is established if credits can be traced to receiver.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) In proceeding to impress trust on funds of insolvent bank, it is not necessary to trace coin or currency belonging to claimant, but it is sufficient if credits can be traced into receiver's hands. (Washington Loan & Banking Co. v. Fourth National Bank of Macon et a!, 38 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 772.)
Proceeds of drafts sent bank for collection were sufficiently traced into receiver's hands, where credited by correspondent and no withdrawals had been made.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) If proceeds of drafts sent to insolvent bank for collection and transmitted by it to other bank went into general account of insolvent bank with its correspondents and had not been withdrawn, customer bank seeking to establish trust on funds of insolvent bank as to proceeds of the drafts sufficiently traced proceeds into hands of insolvent bank's receiver, so that receiver was required to account. (Ib.)
Contract determines relationship of bank to draft turned over to it.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Relationship of bank to draft or check turned over to it by customer depends on their contract respecting it, and contract may appear in form of indorsement or otherwise. (Ib.)
Bills and notes-Notice is carried to all persons dealing with paper of contract between customer and bank only if contract appears from indorsement.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) If contract between bank and customer turning over draft or check is in form of indorsement, notice is carried to all persons dealing with the paper, but otherwise not. (Ib.)
Statute and banking customs may influence contract between customer and bank.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Contract between bank and customer turning over paper to bank may be influenced or controlled by statute and local and general banking customs. (Ib.)
Bank indorsing drafts in blank, with letter to another bank stating indorsement was for collection and credit or prompt return if unpaid, made collecting bank agent and became general creditor only when proceeds were made available to it.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where bank sending drafts to another bank for collection sent letter which stated that each draft was indorsed for collection first and for credit after its collection or prompt return if unpaid, ownership of drafts remained in the customer bank, and collecting bank and its correspondents were merely agents for collection, and agency ceased and relationship of general depositor began only when collection had been made and the collecting bank, having the proceeds of drafts made available to it, in turn made them available to its customer by passing them to customer's checking account, and fact that drafts were indorsed in blank and were immediately posted to credit of customer bank did not create debtor-creditor relation prior to effecting the collection. (Ib.)
Where correspondent made proceeds of drafts immediately subject to check, collecting bank after reasonable time for notice must permit checking against fund by customer.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank to which drafts were sent for collection, which sent them on to correspondent bank where proceeds were thereafter subject to check, was bound, after reasonable time for notice of draft's collection or its return in default of collection, to assume that collection had been made and to permit checking by customer bank, in determining whether funds collected were held in trust for customer bank on insolvency of collecting bank. (Ib.)

Customer had preferred claim for drafts sent bank for collection where drafts were collected but proceeds were not made available to bank.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where collections on drafts sent bank were not made available to bank because of failure to notify correspondent of bank, the collections were incomplete and the drafts sent to the bank for credit, if collected, remained the property of bank's customer, giving customer right to preferred claim against bank for proceeds. (Ib.)
Customer sending drafts to bank for collection which transmitted them to correspondent, receiving credit, became general depositor as to collections, compeleted in sufficient time to notify bank before its failure.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where bank to which drafts were sent for collection in turn sent them to correspondent where proceeds were entered to credit of first bank and subject to its check, collections, made in sufficient time for notice to have been given first bank before its failure, became general deposits of customer, precluding claim against bank's receiver for preference, unless by earlier knowledge of bank's insolvency officers were precluded from accepting such proceeds as deposits. (Ib.)
Assignments-Where drawer bank closed before drawee bank opened letter containing check, receiver was entitled to funds as against payee.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where claimant had on deposit with bank, which later closed, more than $$ 4,000$, and requested bank to transmit $$ 4,000$ to its deposit account in C. bank, and bank mailed check on C. bank, as requested, for credit to claimant's account, but first bank closed before C. bank opened letter containing check, receiver of closed bank was entitled to sum C. bank paid into court as against claimant, since claimant, as payee of check, could have no right of action on it against $C$. bank until latter had accepted it. (Wrightsville & T. R. Co. v. Citizens' & Southern National Bank et al.; Whitman v. Bragg, Millsaps & Blackwell, Inc., 36 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 736.)
Assignments-Where draft was to be paid from special funds, and drawee traced proceeds into collecting bank receiver's hands, proceeds belonged to drawer.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) B., principal of drawee of claimant's draft, drew draft in order to provide funds with which to pay claimant's draft, and gave collecting bank check for amount of draft. After payment of B.'s draft was received by F. bank, collecting bank accepted B.'s check for amount of claimant's draft and mailed its own check to claimant for like amount, but failed before check was paid. Claimant showed that proceeds of his draft, at time of collecting bank's failure, were in F. bank, and that it subsequently came into hands of collecting bank's receiver. Held that, since circumstances showed collecting bank treated proceeds of B.'s draft as special funds out of which claimant's draft was to be paid, there was equitable assignment, and money belonged to claimant. (Ib.)
Equity-Doctrine of equitable assignment rests on maxim that equity regards as done that which should be done, and under doctrine effect will be given intention of parties to contract to make particular property security for debts.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Doctrine of equitable assignment or liens rests on maxim that equity regards as done that which ought to be done, and under it effect will be given to intention of parties to contract to make some particular property or fund security for debt or other obligation. (Early & Daniel Co. v. Pearson; Pearson v. Summey & Tolson; Farmers' National Bank of Monticello et al. v. Pearson, 36 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 732.)
Assignments-To make equitable assignment doctrine applicable, fund must be identified or capable of identification.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) In order to make doctrine of equitable assignment or liens applicable, it is necessary that property or fund be identified or rendered capable of identification. (Ib.)
Assignments-It is sufficient if property is in existence during time within which equitable assignment may operate.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) It is not essential, in order to make doctrine equitable assignment or liens applicable, that property or fund be in existence at time contract was made, but it is sufficient if it is in existence during time within which assignment may operate. (Ib.)

Trusts-Cestui que trust has right to property mingled with trustee's property, which may be identified in original or substituted form.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Right of cestui que trust to property which has become mingled with trustee's property continues to exist so long as it is possible to identify property of cestui que trust, either in original or substituted form, but ceases to exist, and trust is destroyed, when trust property has become so intermingled with general property of trustee that it can no longer be traced and identified, and, in case of an insolvent trustee, cestui que trust occupies no better position than that of general creditor. (Ib.)
Assignments-Check does not constitute equitable assignment pro tanto of indebtedness owing by bank.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Check drawn in ordinary form does not, as between maker and payee, constitute equitable assignment pro tanto of indebtedness owing by bank on which check has been drawn. (Ib.)
Assignments-Where parties agree check should be satisfied out of specified fund, equity court will carry agreement into effect against drawer, volunteers, and parties charged with notice.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where, in transaction connected with delivery of check, it was understanding and agreement of parties that advance about to be made should be charge on and be satisfied out of specified fund, court of equity will lend its aid to carry such agreement into effect as against drawer of check, mere volunteers, and parties charged with notice. (Ib.)
Where bank mingled proceeds of draft with general mass of unidentified bank funds, drawer had no preferred claim.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where drawer sent draft for collection to bank, which later closed, and draft contained provision that funds obtained through collection should not be commingled with other funds of collecting bank, but proceeds of draft were mingled with and became part of general mass of unidentified funds of bank, drawer's claim was no better than that of general creditor. (Ib.)
Where proceeds of draft were traceable into balance another bank paid to collecting bank's receiver, drawer could recover amount of draft from receiver.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where drawer sent draft to bank, which later closed, for collection and remittance to another bank for drawer's credit, and drawee gave in payment of draft his check on $\mathbf{C}$ bank, and proceeds of draft were traceable into balance with C bank, after collecting bank's failure, paid to receiver, receiver came into possession of identified fund, which belonged, not to failed bank, but to drawer, and he was entitled to judgment against receiver for amount of draft thus obtained. (Ib.)
Assignments-Where M bank, later closing, agreed with depositing banks to arrange with reserve bank to credit their checks to their reserve accounts immediately and charge $M$ bank's reserve account, there was equitable assignment.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where M bank, which later closed, agreed with depositing banks to make arrangements with Federal reserve bank to credit all checks of depositing banks drawn on it to reserve account of drawer, and charge them to reserve account of $M$ bank immediately on receipt of such checks by Federal reserve bank, and agreed to maintain on deposit with Federal reserve bank sufficient funds to cover checks of depositing banks, and Federal reserve bank agreed to such plan, and at time of M bank's failure it had on deposit with Federal reserve bank sufficient funds to pay checks of depositing banks, there was an equitable assignment to such banks of funds of $M$ bank in Federal reserve bank at time of M bank's failure. (Ib.)
Holder of cashier's check not entitled to preference where bank refused payment because of insolvency.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Holder of cashier's check held not entitled to preference where bank refused payment because of insolvency. (The holder of the check and the bank were in the relation of debtor and creditor, but preference would have been given to company which made deposit and received cashier's check in return because bank was insolvent at the time with the knowledge of two vice presidents whose fraud caused the insolvency and whose knowledge became the knowledge of the bank.)

General rule is cashier's check is merely evidence of debt of bank, and holder is not entitled to preference on bank's insolvency before check is cashed. (Charleroi Supply Co. v. Kelly, 40 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 297.)
Claimants held to have only partially traced trust funds, as against receiver representing general creditors of insolvent national bank; claimants tracing trust funds held entitled to preference, as against receiver representing general creditors of insolvent national bank.
(Neb. Sup. 1929.) Evidence examined, and held, that claimants, as against the defendant receiver representing the general creditors of an insolvent national bank, have traced "trust funds" involved in this controversy, to the extent of $$ 2,520.73$ only, into assets coming into the possession and under the control of such receiver, and that they are entitled, as to such sum, to an order granting them a preference thereto. (Gering, County Treasurer, v. Buerstetta et al., 223 N. W. Rep. 625.)
Claimants, tracing trust funds after insolvency of national bank, were not entitled to recover interest.
(Neb. Sup. 1929.) Under the facts in this case, claimants are not entitled to interest on and after December 14, 1926. (Ib.)
Cashier of insolvent bank, made party to proceeding to establish preference, was entitled to jury trial. (Const. art. 1, sec. 6.)
(Neb. Sup. 1929.) As to defendant George O. Dovey, the issues in this case were properly triable by a jury and the court erred in overruling his application and demand therefor. (Ib.)
Depositor may rescind deposit received by insolvent national bank with knowledge that it can not pay its debts.
(Neb. Sup. 1929.) Where national bank, being insolvent, receives a deposit with knowledge that it can not pay its debts and must fail in business, depositor may rescind for fraud and reclaim the deposit, or its proceeds, out of funds, if traced into specific assets of insolvent bank coming into hands of receiver. (Ib.)
Public funds, deposited by county treasurer without authority of law in national bank, with full knowledge of facts, constitute trust fund.
(Neb. Sup. 1929.) Where public funds, deposited by county treasurer without authority of law and in express violation of its inhibitions, are received by a national bank with full knowledge of the facts, they constitute a trust fund, and can be recovered as such. Goss, circuit judge, and Rose, judge, dissenting. (Ib.)

Deposit of County Funds

Vice president's authority to obtain county deposit implied authority to pledge notes by bank to security deposit.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where vice president of national bank was expressly authorized to obtain deposit of county funds, authority carried by necessary implication power to give security necessary to obtain deposit, and hence pledging of notes held by bank as security for county deposit was not void because not authorized by directors and beyond powers of vice president. (Burrowes v. Nimocks, County Treasurer, 35 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 152.)
Pledge of notes by bank as temporary security for county deposit pending reduction of deposit to save bond premiums held reasonable exercise of authority to give security.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where vice president of bank was expressly authorized to obtain deposit of county funds and had implied authority to give security for deposit, pledging of notes by bank as temporary security pending reduction of deposit so as to save premiums on large bond was reasonable exercise of authority. (Ib.)
Acquiescence by bank directors in temporary pledge of notes to secure county deposit ratified pledge.
(U,S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where notes held by bank were pledged as security for county deposit pending reduction of deposit to save premiums on large bond, acquiescence of board of directors of bank in what had been done when matter was called to their attention at meeting of board was sufficient ratification of pledge of notes. (Ib.)
Pledge of notes by bank to secure county deposit, which was analogous to call loan by vice president having inherent authority to obtain loan and pledge notes, held authorized.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Active vice president as managing officer of bank had authority without special authorization to obtain loan to bank and to pledge notes which it held as security for loan, and hence pledge of notes to secure county deposit required to be secured by law, which was analogous to call loan to bank rather than ordinary deposit, was not void as beyond powers of vice president. (Ib.)
Executive officer of bank without special authority may rediscount bank's paper or otherwise borrow money.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Executive officer of bank may in usual course of business and without special authority rediscount its paper and otherwise borrow money for its use. (Ib.)
Setting aside of notes by bank to secure county deposit created equitable pledge between parties, and subsequent delivery of notes validated pledge against receiver and persons not acquiring intervening rights.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where bank agreed to set aside notes as security for county deposit until deposit was reduced and bond provided, and notes were actually set aside and marked in good faith when there was no question as to solvency of bank, and it was agreed that notes should be delivered to county treasurer on his demand at any time, and bank could withdraw note only by putting up another of equal value, there was created, before delivery of notes to county treasurer, an equitable pledge of notes, which was good in equity between parties, and delivery of notes when occurring related back to original contract of pledge and rendered it valid at law between parties and against receiver of bank and persons who had not in meantime acquired title to or lien on subject of pledge. (Ib.)
Pledge of notes to secure county deposit, made before question of bank's solvency arose, and completed by delivery to treasurer on bank's insolvency, held valid against bank's receiver. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 91.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where bank set aside notes as security for county deposit and agreed to deliver notes to county treasurer on demand, and could not withdraw note without substituting another of equal value, and agreement of pledge was made when there was no question as to solvency of bank, though delivery of notes was made when bank was on verge of insolvency, county treasurer to whom notes were delivered had equitable lien on notes, which was good in equity against bank and its receiver, and was not void under Revised Statutes, section 5242 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 91), avoiding transfers made in contemplation of insolvency. (Ib.)

Pledges-Pledge requires delivery which need not be contemporaneous with contract, but, if subsequently made, relates back to contract.
(U.S.C.C. A. 1929.) Pledge is not good at law without delivery, but delivery need not be contemporaneous with contract of pledge, and, if made subsequently, it relates back to contract and gives it validity. (Ib.)
Statute avoiding preferential transfers in contemplation of insolvency does nct constitute receiver purchaser for value or give him lien on property in possession of insolvent bank. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 91.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Revised Statutes section 5242 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 91), avoiding preferential transfers made in contemplation of insolvency, does not constitute receiver purchaser for value or give receiver any lien on property in possession of insolvent bank, but receiver takes bank subject to all claims and defenses which might have been asserted against it. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-lien good between parties, though not against lien creditors for lack of registration or possession, is valid against trustee in bankruptcy on registration or taking of possession before bankruptcy. (Bankr. act (11 U. S. C. A.).)
(U.S. C. C. A. 1929.) Under bankruptey act (11 U. S. C. A.), giving trustee in bankruptey rights of creditor holding lien on property coming into his possession and rights of judgment creditor with execution returned unsatisfied as to other property where lien is good as between parties but because of lack of registration or possession is not good against lien creditors, registration of lien or taking of possession of property before bankruptey will render it valid as against trustee in bankruptcy, and will not be held to be obtaining of a preference. (Ib.)
Creditor of national bank holding lien on securities does not create "preference" by taking securities. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 91.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Creditor of national bank holding lien on securities does not create "preference," within meaning of Revised Statutes section 5242 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 91), by taking securities into his possession. (Ib.)
Court must carefully scrutinize evidence in insolvency case, where reliance is placed on equitable lien.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) In case of insolvency, where reliance is placed on equitable lien, court is under duty to scrutinize evidence with great care. (Ib.)
Bank pledging notes to secure county deposit must be held to have received general assets equal to lien on notes.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where county funds were deposited and left with bank on understanding that sufficient notes held by bank were to be assigned as security for same, bank must be held to have received and retained general assets as result of agreement to pledge notes in amount equal to lien created on notes. Northcott, circuit judge, dissenting. (Ib.)
Judgment-Pleadings and facts found held to support judgment for bank suing county for borrowed money.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929). In action, by bank against county for borrowed money, pleadings and facts found held to support judgment for bank where they showed county borrowed money, used it, and had not repaid it. (State Bank of New York et al. v. Henderson County, Ky., 35 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 859.)
Appeal and error.-Whether pleadings and facts found support judgment is only question for review on general exception to findings and conclusions and judgment as whole.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) On exception "to each of the findings of fact, conclusions of law, and to the judgment as a whole" no review question is open, except question whether pleadings and facts found support judgment. (Ib.)
Appeal and error.-Bill of exceptions showing defendant's motion for judgment at conclusion of evidence and exception to denial thereof presents reviewable question.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Bill of exceptions showing that at conclusion of all evidence defendant moved for judgment and excepted to denial of its motion held to present reviewable question. (Ib.)
Counties.-Resolution of fiscal court authorizing execution of note for county carried authority to include conventional recital that acts were legal.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1929.) Resolution of fiscal court giving authority to execute note for county would carry authority to make conventional recital that necessary acts had been done, that note was within debt limit prescribed, and that faith and credit of county was irrevocably pledged to payment. (Ib.)
Estoppel.-Where fiscal court by resolution duly signed directed renewal of note containing recitals that limit of county's indebtedness was not exceeded thereby, county was estopped to assert defense that constitutional indebtness was exceeded.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) County held estopped to make defense to note on ground that it exceeded constitutional debt limit, where recitals in notes declared such limit was not exceeded, regardless of whether county judge signed resolution of fiscal court authorizing execution of note, where fiscal court by resolution duly signed directed county judge to renew note, and renewal note contained same recitals. (Ib.)

Appeal and error.-Refusal of new trial for newly discovered evidence will be reviewed only to determine whether there was clear abuse of discretion.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Assignment that refusal to grant new trial on ground of newly discovered evidence was error can be considered only far enough to determine whether refusal involved clear abuse of discretion. (Ib.)

Insolvent State Banks

Receivers Appointed by State Officers and not by Court
Court should interfere with supervision by authorized official over affairs of insolvent State bank only in perfectly clear case.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Court should interfere with supervision by authorized official over affairs of insolvent State bank only in perfectly clear case. (Bank of Bay Biscayne et al. v. Hankins et al., 42 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 209.)
Court can not appoint receiver to control assets of insolvent State bank.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Order appointing receiver to control assets of insolvent State bank, in place of comptroller acting under statutory authority, held unwarranted. (Comp. Gen. Laws Supp. Fla. 1930, sec. 6102 et seq.) (Ib.)

Priority of Claims of the United States

When United States is entitled to priority in payment of claim against insolvent debtor.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) United States is entitled to priority in payment of claim against insolvent debtor, who committed act of bankruptcy, when estate is in control of liquidating officer. ( 31 U.S. C. A. sec. 191.)

Revised Statutes, section 3466 (31 U. S. C. A., sec. 191), provides that whenever any person indebted to the United States is insolvent, debts due the United States shall be first satisfied, and priority established shall extend as well to cases in which an act of bankruptcy is committed. (United States $v$. Bliss, 40 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 935.)
If State bank commits act of bankruptcy it thereby gives United States priority in payment of claim.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) State bank, though exempt from operation of bankruptcy act, may commit act of bankruptcy, thereby giving United States priority in payment of claims. (31 U.S.C. A., sec. 191.) (Ib.)
Taking over of insolvent State bank by banking department and subsequent appointment of receiver held "act of bankruptcy" entitling claims of United States to priority in payment.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Taking over of insolvent State bank by banking department and subsequent appointment of receiver held "act of bankruptcy" entitling claims of United States to priority in payment (Bankr. act sec. 3 (a), as amended by act May 27, 1926, sec. 3 (11 U. S. C. A., sec. 21); 31 U. S. C. A., sec. 191 ; Laws Neb. 1923, ch. 191, secs. 11, 18, 20, and 32, as amended by Laws Neb. 1925, ch. 30, secs. 1, 4-6).
(At time Nebraska Department of Trade and Commerce took possession of State bank under Laws Neb. 1923, ch. 191, as amended by Laws Neb. 1925, ch. 30, bank was insolvent. Bankruptcy act sec. 3 (a), as amended by act May 27, 1926, sec. 3 (11 U. S. C. A., sec. 3 (a), makes it an act of bankruptcy if, while insolvent, a receiver or trustee has been appointed or put in charge of property.) (Ib.)
Priority of United States to payment of claim can not be subordinated to priority claims of bank depositors under State law.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Priority of United States to payment of claim can not be subordinated to priority claims of bank depositors under State law (31 U. S. C. A., sec. 191; Laws Neb., 1925, ch. 30, sec. 12, amending Laws Neb., 1923, ch. 191, sec. 24). (Ib.)

Priority given United States for payment of claim against insolvent debtor can not be impaired by State law.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Priority given United States for payment of claim against insolvent debtor can not be impaired by State law. (31 U. S. C. A., sec. 191.) (Ib.)

National Bank Taking Over Assets and Assuming Litabilities of Insolvent

 State BanksAppeal and error-Trial court's decision as to legal result flowing from undisputed facts was reviewable on appeal.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where facts were not disputed, trial court's decision as to legal result flowing from such facts was subject to review on appeal. (Weicker $v$. Bromfield, 34 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 377.)

Attorney and client-Knowledge of conditions under which notes in litigation were made, possessed by bank's officers, directors, attorney, and national bank examiner, held knowledge of bank.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Knowledge of conditions on which notes in litigation were executed and delivered to bank, possessed by bank's officers, its attorney, a majority of its directors, and national bank examiner, who participated in agreement under which notes were made, was knowledge of the bank. (Ib.)
Bills and notes-Purchaser for value can not take negotiable paper freed from conditions attached known to him.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Even a purchaser for value can not take negotiable paper freed from conditions attached and which he knows all about. (Ib.)
National bank taking over assets and assuming liabilities of insolvent bank could not recover on notes of latter's stockholders and directors without performing conditions on which notes were executed.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where national bank took over assets and assumed liabillties of insolvent State bank under agreement to incorporate a new trust company to take over both banks, and that directors and stockholders of insolvent bank would put up $186,000 to replenish assets of insolvent bank, for which they were to receive approximately $$ 700,000$ face value of notes and securities then belonging to insolvent bank which bank examiner had criticized, and also 172 shares of stock in the new trust company, held that national bank, after receiving such notes with knowledge of the agreement, could not collect on such notes without performing its obligations under agreement. (Ib.)
Evidence-Undisputed testimony respecting negotiations leading to execution of notes must be accepted as true, where adverse party's officers who participated in transactions were in court.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where testimony of counsel for makers of notes involved in litigation as to negotiations leading up to agreement under which notes were executed and delivered was undisputed, though officers of adverse party who participated in negotiations and transactions were in the court room, his evidence must be accepted as true. (Ib.)
Agreement modifying previous agreement for bank's taking over assets and assuming liabilities of insolvent bank merged all prior agreements and fixed rights of parties.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where, after national bank took over assets and assumed liabilities of insolvent state bank, officers and directors of which put up their individual notes to replenish its assets, and after national bank refused to perform conditions on which notes were delivered to it, further negotiations were had resulting in agreement, part of which was a written contract signed by both banks and approved by officers and directors of insolvent bank, modifying original contract and stating further conditions under which notes were delivered and how makers should be reimbursed out of criticized securities of insolvent bank, held that said later agreement merged all prior agreements and alone fixed rights of parties. (Ib.)

Contracts-Party in substantial default may not hold other party to his contract.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1929.) It is fundamental rule of contract law that one party, itself in substantial default, may not hold the other party to his contract. (Ib.)
Failure of bank which took over assets of insolvent bank to perform conditions under which notes of insolvent bank's stockholders and directors were delivered to it constituted defense to liability on notes.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where, after national bank took over assets and assumed liabilities of insolvent State bank, officers and directors of which put up their individual notes to replenish its assets, and after national bank refused to perform conditions on which notes were delivered to it, new contract was made whereby makers ratified delivery of notes to national bank in consideration of its agreement to deliver to insolvent bank certain doubtful securities turned over to it by insolvent bank and to deliver to insolvent bank certain other securities after certain collections thereon were made, to consult and notify certain persons as to handling of such securities, and pay all indebtedness of insolvent bank, national bank's failure to perform any of its agreements and conversion of securities agreed to be turned over constituted defense to makers' liability on notes. (Ib.)
Makers, by alleging breach of conditions under which notes were delivered and praying money judgment, abandoned other claims.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where makers of notes executed to replenish assets of insolvent bank, which were taken over by national bank, and who paid notes, negotiated to purchasers for value before maturity, in litigation respecting such notes, alleged breach of national bank's agreement and of conditions under which notes were delivered, and prayed money judgment for breach of contract, they abandoned any claim to securities of insolvent bank which national bank agreed to deliver for such notes and were not entitled to any lien on general assets or any preference over depositors of national bank on its subsequent insolvency. (Ib.)

Insolvent Trust Companies

Bankruptcy-"Banking corporations"-Banking business-Authorization.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) "Banking corporations," as used in bankruptey law, means those corporations authorized by laws of their creation to do banking business (Bankr. act, see. 4, as amended (11 U. S. C. A. sec. 22)). (Gamble $v$. Daniel; Greenfield $v$. Peters Trust Co., 39 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 447.)
Bankruptcy-"Banking business"-Necessary element-Receipt of deposits.
(U.S.C.C. A. 1930.) Necessary element of "banking business" in law excepting banking corporations from bankruptcy is receipt of deposits for use in business. (Bankr. act, sec. 4, as amended (11 U. S. C. A. sec. 22).) (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Trust company-State law-Banking corporations.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Trust company organized under State law was not "banking corporation" within meaning of State law or bankruptcy law, and was subject to bankruptcy. (Comp. St. Neb. 1922, secs. 7982-8051, 8063-8082; Bankr. act, sec. 4, as amended (11 U. S. C. A. sec. 22).)
(Comp. St. Neb. 1922, secs. 7982-8051, relating to organization, powers, regulation, and dissolution of banking corporations divides banks into three classes, commercial banks, cooperative banks, and savings banks, and clearly shows that some form of deposits was contemplated as integral part of business of banks. Sections 8063-8082, relating to trust sompanies and dealing with organization, power, regulation, and dissolution of such corporations, though conferring most of powers usually exercised by a bank, expressly forbids any trust company to conduct business of banking). (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Summary jurisdiction-Dispute as to title-Possession.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Criterion of summary jurisdiction of bankruptcy court in case of dispute as to title or interest in property is possession at time bankruptcy petition is filed. (Bankr. act, sees. 2 (3) (7), 23, 60 (b), 67 (e), 70 (e); 11 U. S. C. A. secs. 11 (3) (7), 46, 96 (b), 107 (e), 110 (e).)

Bankruptcy-Summary jurisdiction-Adverse possession-State official.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bankruptcy court had summary jurisdiction to determine whether property of trust company was adversely held by official of state department. (Bankr. act, secs. 23, 60 (b), 67 (e), 70 (e); 11 U. S. C. A., secs. 46, 96 (b), 107 (e), 110 (e); Laws Neb. 1929, ch. 38 .)
(The books, accounts, and all property owned or held by the trust company were turned over to the state department of trade and commerce pursuant to a decree declaring the trust company to be insolvent, and that its business should be forthwith wound up by the department of trade and commerce of the State of Nebraska as liquidating agent, subject to orders of court, as provided by Laws Neb. 1929, ch. 38. Subsequently the trust company was adjudicated a bankrupt pursuant to petition of creditors and a receiver appointed, who, after failure to secure delivery of property, petitioned the bankruptey court to require the State officer to deliver property to him.) (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Liquidating agent-Adverse holder-Summary order.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Liquidating agent of trust company under State law was not adverse holder, and could be required by summary order to turn over property to bankruptcy receiver. (Comp. St. Neb. 1922, sec. 8077, as amended by Laws 1927, ch. 35, sec. 3.)
(Comp. St. Neb. 1922, sec. 8077, as amended by Laws 1927, ch. 35, sec. 3, provided that department of trade and commerce may bring an action for purpose of having trust company adjudged insolvent and its business wound up, and that, in case of judgment of insolvency, the department should become a liquidating agent to wind up the business and vested with title to property for that purpose.) (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Summary jurisdiction-Title of bankrupt-Adverse claim.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Summary jurisdiction of bankruptcy court to determine title, right, or interest of bankrupt to property exists irrespective of claim of others. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Custody of property-Summary order—Determination of title.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bankruptey court may by summary order require custody of property to be turned over to receiver pending determination of title. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Adverse claim-Expenditures-Assignee.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Expenditures made or expenses incurred by assignee prior to filing of petition in bankruptey may be adverse claim. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Adverse claim-Expenses-State official-Predicate.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) Claim of adverse possession of State officer in respect to property sufficient to cover expenses in administration prior to bankruptcy must show facts as predicate for ascertaining property affected. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Receiver-Counsel—Interest.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Receiver in bankruptcy and counsel must be entirely without interest or embarrassing connections. (Ib.)

LIQUIDATION

Stockholders present or having opportunity to be present at meetings at which contract for voluntary liquidation of national bank was ratified held estopped to deny validity of contract. (12 U.S.C. A., secs. 181, 182.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Stockholders of national bank who participated in stockholders' meetings at which contract was entered into and accepted, whereby State bank assumed liabilities and assets of national bank which was placed in voluntary liquidation under Revised Statutes, sections 5220,5221 ( 12 U. S. C. A., secs. 181, 182), or who were notified of, and had opportunity to be present at, such meetings, held estopped to deny validity of contract. (Derscheid et al. v. A., secs. 181, 182), whereby State bank assumed all liabilities and assets of national bank, in that stockholders permitted State bank to pay their deposits in full, held precluded from repudiating contract without at least doing equity by tendering benefits which they received thereunder. (Ib.)
Alleged unauthorized acts of liquidating committee held not to affect liability of national bank fixed by consolidation contract. (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 181, 182.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where State bank and national bank, which latter bank was placed in voluntary liquidation under Revised Statutes, sections 5220,5221 ( 12 U.S. C. A., secs. 181, 182), entered into contract whereby State bank assumed assets and liabilities of national bank, liabilities of national bank became fixed, and could not be affected nor released by any act on part of liquidating committee, such as alleged unauthorized renewal of bills receivable. (Ib.)
Credit of guaranty fund on indebtedness of national bank to State bank assuming its assets and liabilities held properly disallowed.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) In action by State bank, in nature of creditors' bill against national bank and its stockholders to recover indebtedness arising from contract whereby State bank assumed assets and liabilities of national bank, court held to have properly refused to allow credit on indebtedness of sum paid into guaranty fund, where such sum was contingent payment to meet an assessment if and when made, and assessment was legally made for the first time by appellate court. (Ib.)

Limitation of actions-Action by State bank liquidating national bank to recover excess of liabilities over assets held not suit for "statute penally" within limitation statute. (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 181, 182; Code Iowa, 1927, sec. 11007, par. 3.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where, pursuant to contract, State bank assumed assets and liabilities of national bank placed in voluntary liquidation under Revised Statutes, sections 5220, 5221 (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 181, 182), and assets pledged were not of sufficient value to pay indebtedness of national bank, held that action by State bank to recover such excess indebtedness is not one to recover for a "statute penalty" within meaning of 2-year statute of limitations of Iowa. (Code Iowa, 1927, sec. 11007, par. 3.) (Ib.)

Liquidation of State Bank

Dissolution of bank was not effected as to creditors who failed to receive statutory notice of dissolution. (Cahill's Rev. St. Ill. 1929, ch. 16a, sec. 11.)
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Where Cahill's Revised Statutes, Illinois, 1929, chapter 16a, section 11, providing that, on dissolution of bank, creditors shall be given notice by advertisement for three consecutive months to present their claims, was not complied with, dissolution of bank was not effected as to creditors who failed to receive notice. (Hon v. State Commercial & Savings Bank et al., 37 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 907.)
Judgment creditor of bank having no notice of dissolution thereof could impress trust on property in hands of assignee taking over bank's assets and assuming liabilities. (Cahill's Rev. St. Ill. 1929, ch. 16a, sec. 11, and ch. 22, sec. 49.)
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Judgment creditor of bank having no notice of bank's dissolution held entitled to have trust impressed on bank's property in possession of assignee thereof, taking dissolved bank's assets and assuming its liabilities, under Cahill's Revised Statutes, Illinois, 1929, chapter 22, section 49, providing for filing of creditor's bill by judgment creditor having execution returned unsatisfied; notice to creditors on dissolution of bank being required by chapter 16a, section 11. (Ib.)
Corporations-Person receiving assets of dissolved corporation with notice of their character takes subject to trust for creditors and stockholders.
(U.S. D. C. 1930.) The assets of a dissolved corporation will be protected in equity as a trust fund for creditors and stockholders, and person receiving them with notice of their character takes subject to trust. (Ib.)
Equity-Judgment creditor of dissolved bank was not precluded from suing assignee of bank's assets to establish trust by reason of legal remedy arising from assignee's promise to pay bank's debts.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) That assignee of assets of bank on bank's dissolution promised to pay bank's debts did not prevent judgment creditor of dissolved bank from suing assignee to enforce trust on assets transferred on ground that there was an adequate legal remedy. (Ib.)
Mortgages-Mortgagee's right to sue solvent mortgage debtor at law does not prevent proceedings to reach security.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) That one has right to sue at law solvent mortgage debtor does not prevent him from also seeking to reach the property held in trust by the mortgage to secure his debt. (Ib.)

NEGOTIABLE PAPER

Count alleging note was due, and that plaintiff was holder of it and entitled to sue, held sufficient although liability on contract which note secured was not pleaded.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where contract provided for sale of doubtful assets of bank, and note and mortgage were executed as security for contract, count which alleged amount of note was due and owing, that plaintiff was owner and holder of it, and that he was entitled to sue on it, and note exhibited in count disclosed that it was security for contract, held sufficient, although failing to plead liability on contract. (Little v. Keaton, 38 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 457.)
Bills and notes-Surety on note is primarily liable thereon at common law.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) At common law a surety on a note is primarily liable.

Bills and notes-Under uniform negotiable instruments act and State statutes, principal and surety on note are primarily and jointly liable as respects holder. (Michie's Civ. Code Ga. 1926, secs. 3538, 3539, 4294 (192).)
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Under uniform negotiable instruments act, section 192 (Michie's Civ. Code Ga. 1926, sec. 4294 (192)), as well as at common law, and under Michie's Civ. Code Georgia, 1926, sections 3538, 3539, defining obligations of a surety, principal and surety on note are in effect comakers, primarily and jointly liable so far as their relation to holder is concerned, though as between themselves principal is primarily liable and surety secondarily liable. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Liability of surety on unmatured note constituted "provable debt" when his petition in bankruptcy was filed, and discharge in bankruptcy was complete defense to action against him on note. (Michie's Civ. Code Ga. 1926, secs. 3538, 3539 , 4294 (192).)
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Under uniform negotiable instruments act, section 192 (Michie's Civ. Code Ga. 1926, sec. 4294 (192)), and Michie's Civ. Code Georgia, 1926, sections 3538, 3539, liability of surety on unmatured note constituted a "provable debt" when his petition in bankruptcy was filed, and his discharge in bankruptey constituted a complete defense to an action against him on the note. (Ib.)
Pleading.
(Ct. of Appeals D. C. 1930.) Maker's defense challenging individual plaintiff's right to sue on note payable to company because no assignment or indorsement was made held erroneously stricken, notwithstanding testimony plaintiff was trading as such company. (Allen $v$. Foer, 40 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 815.)
Bills and notes.
(Ct. of Appeals D. C. 1930.) That note was given as security for payment of claim against another, and on condition not performed, would constitute defense to maker.
(Defendant maker testified that note was given in payment of an account held by payee against B, on condition that it should be held as security by payee for payment of the claim until a legal action was brought against $B$ for recovery of balance due on his account, and that, in event of recovery against B, note should be returned to defendant. No legal action was ever instituted against B.) (Ib.)
Limitation of actions.
(Ct. of Appeals D. C. 1930.) Demand note is present debt, and limitation statute begins to run from its date, unless different intention is apparent from its terms. (Kenyon v. Youngman, 40 Fed . Rep. (2d series), 812.)
Limitation of actions.
(Ct. of Appeals D. C. 1930.) Note payable "on demand after date" held not to indicate intent note should not be due immediately so as to require demand before running of limitations commenced. (Ib.)
Appeal and error.
(Ct. of Appeals D. C. 1930.) Refusal or granting of new trial is not reviewable, except for abuse of discretion. (Ib.)
New trial.
(Ct. of Appeals D. C. 1930.) Refusal to set aside judgement for defendant on ground defense of limitations should have been raised by plea, not demurrer, held not abuse of discretion. (Ib.)
Limitation of actions.
(Ct. Appeals D. C. 1930.) Correspondence between parties must be considered as entirety in determining whether there is written acknowledgment of indebtedness or promise to pay sufficient to remove limitation bar. (D. C. Code, sec. 1271.) (Hayden v. International Banking Corporation, 41 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 107.)
$22439^{\circ}-31-14$

Limitation of actions.
(Ct. Appeals D. C. 1930.) Acknowledgment of debt as subsisting personal obligation, as distinguished from promise to pay, is sufficient to avoid bar of limitations. (D. C. Code, sec. 1271.) (Ib.)
Limitation of actions.
(Ct. Appeals D. C. 1930.) Maker's correspondence with holder of demand note held to acknowledge debt as subsisting obligation sufficient to remove bar of limitations. (D. C. Code, sec. 1271.) (Ib.)

OFFICERS

Bonds of Officers

Insurance.

(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) Indemnity bond limiting liability to losses discovered within term of bond or 15 months thereafter did not make liability dependent on diligence in discovering losses. (Thompson $v$. American Surety Company of New York et al., 42 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 953.)

Insurance.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Surety held not liable for losses by employee's misapplication of funds not discovered within time limited in bond. (Ib.)
Assets taken over by receiver.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Receiver taking over assets of insolvent bank took only assets which bank had. (Ib.)

Insurance.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Provisions of bond indemnifying bank against misappropriation of funds by employee held not suspended by appointment of receiver after termination of bond. (Ib.)
Pleading.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where complaint in action on contract failed to state right of recovery on contract indemnifying employer against loss by employee's misappropriation, no cause of action was stated against employee alone in tort. (Ib.)
Insurance-In action on bond of bank president, testimony respecting his financial condition held properly excluded.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) In action by receiver of bank to recover on bond insuring fidelity of bank's president, testimony relating to financial condition of president held properly excluded, since issue was whether liability existed in favor of plaintiff under bond for alleged shortage in accounts of bank's ex-president, and not whether he was solvent. (Wachovia Bank & Trust Co. $v$. Independence Indemnity Co., 37 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 550.)

Insurance -Failure to notify surety of loss within time stipulated in bond insuring fidelity of bank president held to bar recovery.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where bond insuring fidelity of president of defunct bank contained provision that employer should within reasonable time, and at all events not later than 30 days after discovery of loss, notify surety, failure to give notice of defalcation within proper time held to bar recovery. (Ib.)
Fidelity bonds.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Construction of fidelity bond favorable to bank protected thereby will be adopted, if consistent with objects of bond. (Brandon et al. v. Holman, 41 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 586.)
Fidelity bonds.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank's loss by misuse of funds by cashier and his sons for benefit of another company held recoverable under fidelity bond as loss sustained through "fraud, dishonesty * * * wrongful abstraction or willful misapplication" by cashier, "directly or through connivance with others." (Ib.)

Fidelity bonds.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Words "fraud" and "dishonesty" in fidelity bonds should be given broad signification extending beyond criminal acts. (Ib.)
Fidelity bonds.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) "Connivance" with others within fidelity bond may be committed by passive permission, failure to prevent, or by negligence or voluntary oversight. (Ib.)
Insurance-Bank officer-Fidelity bond-Larceny.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank officer's acquisition of bank funds lawfully and not animo furandi could not constitute larceny within fidelity bond. (U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore v. Hughes, 40 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 34.)
Criminal law-Larceny-Embezzlement-National bank-Officer.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Larceny or embezzlement by national-bank officer could not constitute offense against State, but only offense against United States, which has exclusive power over national banks. (Ib.)
Insurance-National bank-Offcer-Fidelity bond-"Embezzlement."
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank president's withdrawal of currency from another bank on account of his bank, and crediting it to large stockholder, held "embezzlement" within fidelity bond. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 592. )
(Surety contended that president's withdrawal of currency, though fraudulent and dishonest, did not constitute embezzlement. The surety agreed to indemnify bank for such pecuniary loss as it might sustain by reason of fraud and dishonesty of president, in connection with duties of his office or position, amounting to embezzlement or larceny. The evidence showed that when currency was withdrawn president was apprehensive that it would be to detriment and injury of bank.) (Ib.)
Insurance—National bank-President-Fidelity bond-"Embezzlement."
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Transaction by bank president, consisting merely of book entries made at direction of large stockholder, held not "embezzlement" within fidelity bond. ( 12 U.S. C. A., sec. 592.) (Ib.)
Insurance-Bank-President-Fidelity bond-Notice.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank president's conduct, in permitting large stockholder to overdraw account, held not potential claim under fidelity bond, requiring notice to surety.
(Provision in fidelity bond required bank, on discovery of any act capable of giving rise to claim under bond, to give notice thereof to surety. President permitted large stockholder to overdraw account by checks and such conduct was called to the attention of the officers and directors by the bank examiner and condemned as improper practice, together with demand that president resign his position. Surety contended that president's conduct with knowledge of bank officers and directors was act capable of giving rise to claim under bond, and that bank's failure to give notice thereof to it was violation of above condition of bond.) ## Degree of Care Required of Directors

Degree of care required by directors.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank directors, in exercise of duties, must use degree of care which ordinarily prudent and diligent men would exercise under similar circumstances. (Bourne $v$. Perkins et al., 42 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 94.)

National bank directors must exercise ordinary care in managing corporation affairs, being liable for losses from willful departure from duty, fraudulent breaches of trust, gross negligence or ultra vires acts. (12 U.S.C. A. secs. 73, 93.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Under Revised Statutes, sections 5147, 5239 (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 73, 93), directors of national bank owe duty of managing corporation affairs honestly and impartially in behalf of corporation and stockholders, and, though not liable for losses happening through mere mistake of judgment, are liable for losses caused by willful and intentional departure from duty, fraudulent breaches of trust, gross negligence, or ultra vires acts; measure of care required being ordinary and reasonable care. (Burckhardt v. Northwestern National Bank et al., Ballin v. Same, 38 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 568.)
To render national bank directors liable for wrongful acts of other officers, they must have participated or must be chargeable with culpable negligence. (12 U.S.C. A., secs. 73, 93.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) To render directors or other officers of national bank liable to it for fraudulent or wrongful acts of other officers, under Revised Statutes, sections 5147, 5239 (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 73, 93), they must have participated therein, or else they must be chargeable with culpable negligence, since director is not, merely by virtue of his position, liable for mismanagement of officers or employees, unless he fails to exercise reasonable supervision of affairs of corporation with degree of care which ordinarily prudent man would exercise under similar circumstances. (Ib.)
What constitutes negligence of national bank director is fact question. (12 U. S.C. A., secs. 73, 93.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Question of what constitutes negligence or due care of director of national bank under Revised Statutes, sections 5147,5239 (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 73, 93) , is question of fact to be determined according to circumstances of each particular case. (Ib.)
Court under evidence acted within authority in finding plaintiffs failed to establish allegations of bills against national bank and directors to enjoin collection of plaintiff's' indebtedness to bank.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) In suit against national bank and directors to enjoin them from proceeding with collection of indebtedness of plaintiffs to bank, to require accounting of all financial transactions of bank, and to have adjudication of liability for losses sustained by stockholders, trial court under evidence held to have acted within bounds of its authority in finding plaintiffs failed to establish allegations of bills of complaint, and that such bills of complaint were without equity. (Ib.)
Courts—Statute confers personal privilege on defendant, which he may assert or waive, if sued in district of which he is not resident. (Jud. Code, sec. 51 (28 U. S. C. A., sec. 112).)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Judicial Code, section 51 (28 U. S. C. A., sec. 112), relative to bringing of suit in Federal court against defendant in district of which he is not resident, does not limit general jurisdiction of district courts, but confers personal privilege on defendant, which he may assert, or waive, at his election, if sued in some other district, but if privilege is seasonably asserted, suit must be dismissed for want of jurisdiction over person of defendant. (Ib.)
Courts-Defendant residing in Illinois could have dismissed suits brought in Oregon by residents of Washington and California. (Jud. Code, sec. 51 (28 U. S. C. A. sec. 112).)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where one plaintiff in suit in Federal court was resident of State of Washington and another was resident of State of California, and suits were brought in District Court of Oregon, defendant who was resident of State of Illinois was entitled to have suits dismissed and service quashed as to him under Judical Code, section 51. (28 U. S. C. A., sec. 112.) (Ib.)

Intentional violation of national bank act by directors of defunct bank must be shown, to justify recovery under statute. (12 U.S.C. A., sec. 1 et seq.)
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Where gist of action to enforce liability of directors of insolvent bank and collect damages from them for losses sustained by bank is violation of duty imposed by national bank act (12 U. S. C. A. sec. 1 et seq.), it must in effect be shown that there has been an intentional violation of the provisions of the act. (Ringeon $v$. Albinson et al., 35 Fed . Rep. (2d series) 753.)
Director must be honest and diligent in administering bank's affairs.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Director of bank is under common-law obligation to be honest and diligent in administering affairs of bank, and this duty is specifically required by his oath of office under 12 U. S. C. A., section 73. (Ib.)
Charges against directors of defunct national bank, involving statutory and commonlaw liability, may be united in single bill. (National bank act, 12 U. S. C. A., sec. 1 et seq.)
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Charges against directors of defunct national bank, involving statutory liability under national bank act (12 U. S. C. A., sec 1 et seq.) and liability under common-law rules, may be united in one bill. (Ib.)
That director of defunct national bank resided at some distance and did not actively participate in its affairs did not relieve him from liability for losses.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) In action against directors of defunct national bank for damages for losses sustained by bank under common law and under national bank act ( 12 U. S. C. A., sec. 1 et seq.), fact that one of directors resided at some distance from bank and was not active in participation in its affairs did not relieve him from liability. (Ib.)
Liability of directors of defunct national bank for losses is fuxed by determining what part of loss was fairly traceable to their neglect, and by then determining measure of responsibility as to each defendant during time he was director.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) In action against directors of defunct national bank by receiver thereof for damages for losses sustained by bank under common law and under national bank act (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 1 et seq.), in which it appeared that bank's insolvency resulted from mismanagement and failure of directors to exercise proper supervision, measure of responsibility of directors must be determined by ascertaining what part of loss was due to their failure to exercise proper care in management and supervision of bank's affairs, and then measure of responsibility as to each defendant must likewise be determined, taking into consideration circumstance that one defendant held directorship only for part of period of mismanagement involved. (Ib.)
Directors of national bank must be held to their duties with reasonable firmness, where rights of others are involved.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Directors of national bank must be held to their obligations and to the performance of their duties with reasonable degree of firmness, where rights of others are involved. (Ib.)
A mount of liability of each director of defunct national bank should be established by fair preponderance of evidence. (National bank act (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 1 et seq.).)
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) In action by receiver of defunct national bank against directors thereof, to enforce liability and collect damages under common law and national bank act ( 12 U. S. C. A., sec. 1 et seq.), on account of losses sustained by bank, amount of liability of each defendant should be established by fair preponderance of evidence, and should not be fixed at highest possible sum. (Ib.)
Bank directors must exercise ordinary prudence and skill to care for and invest money intrusted in accordance with charter and governing statutes.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) Directors of bank are bound to exercise ordinary prudence and skill to care for and invest money intrusted in accordance with charter and governing statutes, and must be animated by utmost good faith, since they hold themselves out as having superintendence and management of concerns of bank and thereby engage to conduct its business as men of reasonable ability, necessary intelligence, and sound judgment ought to conduct it. (Prudential Trust Co. v. Brown et al., 171 N. E. R. 42.)

Bank directors must be diligent in ascertaining condition of bank's affairs, must to reasonable extent control and supervise executive officers and agents, and display understanding and insight proportionate to particular circumstances.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) (Mass. Sup. 1930.) Directors of bank are not bound to give continuous attention to business of bank, but must be present so far as rationally practicable at stated meetings of board and of its committees. (Ib.)
Bank directors need not be expert accountants or familar with details of bookkeeping or know everything disclosed by books.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) Directors of bank are not required to be expert accountants or familiar with details of bookkeeping or to know everything disclosed by its books. (Ib.)
Bank directors may commit conduct of main business to officers and subordinates and assume they will be upright in performing duties.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) (Ib.)
Bank directors may rely on information and advice given them by executive officers whose probity and competency are not under just suspicion.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) Directors of bank are entitled to rely upon information and advice given them by executive officers whose probity and competency are not under just suspicion, but directors can not surrender to such officers responsibilities resting on directors. (Ib.)
Notwithstanding good faith, bank directors are liable for negligence in performing duties.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) Directors of bank are liable for negligence in performance of responsibilities as directors, even though they acted in good faith. (Ib.)
Bank directors must heed warnings from responsible sources and see that statutes established for protection of depositors are observed.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) Directors of bank must direct and not be led, but must heed warnings from responsible sources and must do something to see that statutes established for protection of depositors are observed and followed. (Ib.)

(Mass. Sup. 1930.) Individual director of bank is liable only for results of his own misconduct, although such results may be magnified in some instances by concurring misconduct of other directors. (Ib.)
Bank directors can not excuse misconduct, ignorance, or negligence by averring failure merely to exercise ordinary care, skill, and vigilance.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) Directors of bank are not liable for errors of judgment while acting with integrity, skill, and prudence, measured according to demands of duties of business which they have taken upon themselves, but can not be excused from consequences of their misconduct or ignorance or negligence by averring that they have failed merely to exercise ordinary

Whether bank director has conformed to standard of duty in given instance is generally question of fact.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) Generally, whether director of bank has conformed to standard of duty required of him in given instance is question of fact. (Ib.)
Burden of proof in suit to establish and enforce liability against bank directors for losses sustained based on misconduct is on plaintiff.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) Where cause of action, in suit to establish and enforce liability against directors of bank for losses sustained, in substance and effect rests on breach of duty arising from acceptance of office of director, cause of action must be supported by proof of failure to exercise ordinary care and prudence in managing bank's affairs, and therefore burden of proof is on plaintiff to establish misconduct, notwithstanding heavy fiduciary obligation resting upon directors. (Ib.)
Bank directors, absent knowledge to contrary, were not negligent in approving loan, if, upon offcers' reporl, loan appeared to be good one.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) If, upon report made by officers of bank to board of directors, prospective loan appeared to be a good loan, directors were not negligent in approving it, unless they had knowledge inconsistent with or contrary to that reported, or if, for any reason, they knew or should have known that reports were not to be relied upon. (Ib.)
Bank dircctors made chargeable with knowledge of mismanagement, excessive loans, and officers' carelessness in conducting its affairs, which could have been gathered from banking commissioner's report of audit, held negligent in failing to remedy conditions rendering them liable.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) Where directors of bank through report of audits made by banking commissioner were chargeable with knowledge of bank's affairs which searching inquiry by competent and disinterested bank experts would have revealed, such as fact that bank was making excessive loans to those unworthy of credit and some in large part, if not wholly, uncollectible, that president and treasurer were reckless and careless in conducting its affairs, and that glaring mismanagement could only have resulted through fault of executive officers or of executive committee, directors held not justified in failing to take effective action to remedy existing conditions, and, failing to do so, they were negligent, rendering them liable for resulting losses. (Ib.)
Directors, if unable to exercise efficient supervision over bank's affairs, held under duty to employ trustworthy and competent person to do so.
(Mass. Sup. 1930.) If directors of bank were too busy or otherwise unable to exercise efficient supervision over affairs of bank, it was their plain duty to employ some trustworthy and competent person to superintend and overlook loans, investments, and collaterals accepted. (Ib.)

(Mass. Sup. 1930.) (U. S. D. C. 1929.) Federal courts, exercising jurisdiction over executors and administrators of the estates of decedents within a State, are administering the laws of the same and are bound by the same rules which govern the local tribunal. (Orth $v$. Mehlhouse et al., 36 Fed. Rep. (2d series),

(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Action in Federal court can not be maintained on a claim against estate of decedent barred because not presented to probate court for allowance as required by General Statutes, Minnesota, 1923; sections 8809, 8811, 8812. (Ib.)

Suit by Stockholders Against Directors

Corporations-Stockholder in suit, for conspiracy to gain control of corporation and misappropriate assets, could before trial amend petition by showing that management was in control of defendants and by seeking judgment for use of corporation.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Stockholder maintaining suit against defendants for conspiracy to gain control of corporation and misappropriate its property and assets, who in original petition prayed for judgment in favor of herself and such other stockholders as might be similarly situated, held entitled to amend petition prior to trial in order to show that interest of defendants as officers and directors of corporation was adverse to plaintiff and that demand on corporation to institute proceedings would be useless, and to further amend prayer by seeking judgment for use and benefit of corporation. (Jacobs v. First National Bank of Shreveport et al., 35 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 227.)
Pleading-In determining right to amend, petition should be construed as whole in view of purposes and relief sought.

(U.S.D. C. 1929.) If petition discloses proper case for equitable relief, court, under Judicial Code, section 274 (a) ( 28 U. S. C. A., sec. 397), may order it transferred on such reformation as to form as may be deemed necessary. (Ib.)
Corporations-If defendants conspired together to control corporation and acquired control, substituted themselves as directors, and diverted assets, stockholder could sue without making demand on corporation.
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) If defendants formed conspiracy to control corporation for purpose of collecting moneys not due by corporation, and forced transfer of majority of capital stock through coercion and threats of receivership, and substituted themselves as directors and proceeded to misappropriate property for benefit of bank of which they were also officers, stockholder could maintain suit in equity against such defendants for use and benefit of corporation without previous demand on corporation to sue to recover the sums wrongfully misappropriated, since law will not require one to do a vain and useless thing. (Ib.)

Survival of Actions

Bank directors are trustees of implied or resulting trust created by operation of law on their official relation to bank.
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) National bank directors are not trustees of express trust, but are trustees of an implied or resulting trust created by operation of law on their official relation to bank. (Schilling $v$. Parman et al., 35 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 780.)

False Entries

False entries-Two entries on bank's books referring to same transaction held not punishable as separate offenses under Revised Statutes, section 5209.
(U. S. Sup. 1930.) Under Revised Statutes, section 5209, as amended (U.S. C., title 12, sec. 592), which punishes any officer of a Federal reserve or member bank who makes any false entry in any book or report of the bank with intent to defraud or deceive, etc., two entries on a bank's books referring to the same transaction, based upon the same draft and which were the correlated means of accomplishing a single fraud, are not separately punishable as separate offenses. (United States v. Adams, 281 U. S. R. 202.)

Under Revised Statutes, section 5209, offense of making false entry in report of condition of bank is distinct from offense of making false entry on books.
(U. S. Sup. 1930.) The offense under this section of making a false entry in a report of condition of a bank, showing a credit, is distinct from the offense of making an earlier false entry on its books, showing the same credit.

In a prosecution under this section for making a false entry of credit in a report of the bank's condition, with intent to defraud and deceive, a former acquittal upon a charge of making with like intent earlier entries of the same credit on the bank's books, is not a bar, since the acquittal, though it establishes that the book entries were not made with criminal intent, does not establish that they were true, and non constat but that the accused may have learned of their falsity after entering them on the books and before making the report. (Judgment No. 281 affirmed; No. 282 reversed.) (Ib.)
Evidence held sufficient to sustain conviction of charging false entries on books of Federal reserve bank. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 592.$)$

S. C. A., section 592, Revised Statutes, section 5209, evidence that defendant drew a check on such bank for political campaign contribution, in violation of 2 U.S.C. A., section 251, with attached memorandum indicating withdrawal from bank's entertainment fund for benefit of county fair, held inadmissible to show wrongful or corrupt intent as merely tending to show his willingness to commit a crime similar to that charged. (Ib.)
Criminal law-Rule requiring evidence in exceptions to be in narrative form, necesscry to understanding of legal questions, applies in every kind of proceeding sought to be reviewed in circuit court of appeals (supreme court rule 8).

Supreme court rule 8, providing that bill of exceptions shall contain only evidence necessary to present questions of law involved, and that evidence shall be condensed and in narrative form, applies in every kind of action or suit, where review is sought in circuit. court of appeals. (Caldwell $v$. United States, 36 Fed. Rep. (2d. series), 738.)

Criminal law-Sentence may be postponed to hear motion for new trial.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Sentence may be postponed for purpose of hearing and deciding motion for new trial. (Ib.)
Criminal law-Jurisdiction to impose sentence held not lost by postponement for over two years, pending hearing of motion for new trial by defendant not seeking earlier hearing.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where verdict was brought in February 25, 1926, and, on date for sentence, defendant filed motion for new trial, and cause was continued on October 8, 1927, and motion for new trial was assigned for hearing on May 26, 1928, when motion was overruled and defendant sentenced, and there was no showing that defendant attempted to secure an earlier disposition of motion for new trial, court did not lose jurisdiction to impose sentence by postponement for more than two years, during which time there were at least 10 terms of court in district. (Ib.)

That false statement by bank cashier was made for advertising purposes, not to deceive bank examiners, held no defense to prosecution for making false statement.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) That purpose of bank cashier in making false statement as to condition of bank, and making false entries in books of bank, was not to deceive officers of Federal reserve bank or Comptroller of the Currency and examiners, but was done for advertising purposes, held no defense to prosecution of bank cashier for making false report and false entries. (lb.)
Criminal law-Error in admitting testimony could not be considered on appeal, where there was no bill of exceptions, and assignments of error did not comply with rules. (Circuit court of appeals rule 11.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where there was no bill of exceptions, and assignments of error were not in accord with rule 11 of circuit court of appeals, alleged error in admitting testimony as to conversation with defendant, prosecuted for making false entries in books of bank, and false statement, was not open for consideration by circuit court of appeals. (Ib.)
Criminal law-Alleged error in admitting defendant's statement concerning condition of bank in prosecution for making false statement held not so radical as to permit its consideration without proper assignment.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) In prosecution of bank cashier for making false report and false entries in books of bank, alleged error in admitting testimony of national bank examiner as to conversation with defendant, to show general condition of bank and facts surrounding transaction, when offense was committed, did not involve such radical error, seriously prejudicing rights of defendant, as could be noticed, in absence of proper assignment of error. (Ib.)

(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Rule that radical errors which appear to have seriously prejudiced rights of defendant may be noticed, in absence of proper assignment of error, can not be invoked generally as substitute for proper assignments of error. (Ib.)
Criminal law-Record showing jury were given books containing entries not admitted in evidence, but were instructed not to consider such entries, and foreman's statement that jury had not considered them, did not show prejudicial error.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where record in prosecution of bank cashier for making a false report to Comptroller of the Currency, and for making false entries in books of bank, showed that jury were given exhibits, consisting of records and books of account, which contained great many entries that had not been admitted in evidence, but that exhibits were recalled from jury room as soon as this was discovered, and jury instructed that it must not give any consideration to any exhibits, except those properly introduced in evidence, and foreman of jury stated that jury only examined entries which related to questions under consideration, and did not look at others, record did not disclose prejudicial error. (Ib.)
Criminal law-Jury should not be permitted to examine exhibits identified but not offered in evidence.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Care should be exercised that exhibits which are identified, but not offered in evidence, are not taken into jury room, and that, where only portion of book or paper is admitted in evidence, jury should not be permitted to consider part not offered in evidence. (Ib.)

A ppeal and error-Error in accounting need not be considered on appeal, where trial court prescribed proper formula and reserved jurisdiction to complete or adjust accounting.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where trial court prescribed proper formula for stating account, and reserved jurisdiction to complete or adjust accounting, any error therein need not be considered by appellate court, being correctible by trial court. (Ib.)
Right of debtor to offset against insolvent national bank must be determined in light of Federal statutes. (12 U. S. C. A. secs. 91, 192, 194.)
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Right of debtor of insolvent national bank to allowance of offset must be determined in light of statutes of United States controlling suspended national banks in hands of receiver, and in the light of 12 U. S. C. A., sections 91, 192, 194, prohibiting preferences in liquidation of national banks. (McCandless $v$. Dyar, 34 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 989.)
Right to set-off against insolvent national bank is governed by conditions existing at moment of bank's insolvency. (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 91, 192, 194.)
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Right to set-off of debtor against insolvent national bank is governed by conditions existing at moment of insolvency, and not by conditions created thereafter under 12 U . S. C. A., sections 91, 192, 194, prohibiting preferences in liquidation of assets of national bank. (Ib.)
As respects set-off, unmatured certificates of deposit issued by national bank became due on bank's suspension.
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Certificates of deposit issued by national bank payable 12 months after date as matter of law become due and payable upon date of suspension of bank, though suspension occurs prior to expiration of year, as regards right of one guaranteeing payment of certificates to set-off as against debt due bank. (Ib.)
Debtor guaranteeing national bank's certificates of deposit, in return for bank's agreement to indemnify him and credit amounts paid under guaranty, could not set off amounts so paid, where bank became insolvent before certificates matured; "preference." (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 91, 192, 194; Rev. Codes S. Dak., 1919, secs. 1505-1510.)
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) One indebted to national bank, who guaranteed payment of bank's certificates of deposit "at any time after maturity" by indorsement on the certificates, and who in return received agreement of bank, as part of consideration for the indorsement, that it would indemnify him against all loss because of the indorsement and would credit upon his indebtedness any amount which he was compelled to pay, held not entitled, on insolvency of bank prior to maturity of certificates, to set off as against receiver claim for amounts paid under the guaranty of the certificates, since right to set-off is determined by conditions existing at time of insolvency, and allowance of set-off would constitute "preference" under 12 U. S. C. A., sections 91,192 , 194; rights of surety or guarantor being defined by Revised Code, South Dakota, 1919, sections 1505-1510. (Ib.).
Agreement of national bank to indemnify guarantor on certificates of deposit, if made in contemplation of insolvency, would be void as giving preference. (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 91, 192, 194.)
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Agreement of national bank to indemnify one guaranteeing certificates of deposits, and to credit amounts which such guarantor might be compelled to pay, if made in contemplation of national bank's insolvency, would be void as attempting to give preference in violation of 12 U. S. C. A., secs. 91, 192, 194. (Ib.)

POWERS

Powers of national banks.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) National banks can not generally exercise any powers except those expressly granted or incidental to carrying on business. (Williams v. Merchants' Nat. Bank of St. Cloud et al., 42 Fed. Rep. ( 2 d series), 243.)

When a national bank may take collateral and become subject to shareholder's liability.
(U. S. D. C., 1930.) National bank may, as incidental to power to loan money, take, as collateral, stock of another corporation and become subject to stockholder's liability. (Ib.)
When national bank taking real estate may pay off encumbrances.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Right of national bank to take real estate in satisfaction of debts includes incidental right to purchase outstanding titles and interest and pay off incumbrances. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 29.) (Ib.)
Disposal of real estate by national bank.
(U.S. D. C. 1930.) National bank, obliged to take real estate in satisfaction of debt, must dispose of it solely for cash or equivalent. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 29.) (Ib.)

Exchange of land taken by national bank for equity in other lands assuming mortgages thereon ultra vires.
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Exchange of land taken by national bank in satisfaction of debt for equity in other lands with assumption of mortgage thereon was ultra vires. ( 12 U. S. C. A., sec. 29.) (Ib.)

Who Deemed to be Shareholders for Assessment

When title to stock in a national bank passes.
(U. S. Sup. 1930.) When the purchaser of stock of a national bank receives from the seller the certificates properly indorsed, title passes and the transfer is complete as between the parties; and, as between them, the purchaser alone becomes liable for assessments thereafter imposed on the shares. (Early, Receiver, v. Richardson, 280 U. S. R. 496.)
Actual owner of stock liable for assessment although his name does not appear upon the books of the bank.
(U. S. Sup. 1930.) The actual owner of stock of a national bank may be held for an assessment thereon although his name does not appear upon the transfer books of the bank. (Ib.)
One who purchases stock of a national bank and has transfers made to his minor children is personally liable for assessment on the stock, as the transferees, being minors, are without legal capacity to assume the obligation.
(U. S. Sup. 1930.) One who in good faith purchases stock of a national bank with the intention of making a gift thereof to his minor children, and causes the transfer to be made to them upon the books of the bank and certificates to be issued in their names, is, nevertheless, liable for assessments on the stock made subsequently for the benefit of creditors, when the bank becomes insolvent, since the transferees, being minors, are without legal capacity to assume the obligation, and the transfer, having resulted to their disadvantage, will be avoided for them by the law. (Ib.)
Purchase of stock of national bank by party as a gift for his minor children does not make the purchaser a trustee for the minors.
(U. S. Sup. 1930.) One who purchases stock of a national bank with his own money as a gift for his minor children, and causes the certificates to be issued and registered in their names, does not become a trustee for the minors. (Ib.)

Actual owner of stock in a national bank must respond to statutory liability.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Actual owner of stock in national bank must respond to statutory liability, though stock is carried in name of another. (Pufahl $v$. Fidelity National Bank of Oklahoma City, 40 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 25.)
Pledgee of national bank stock not liable unless he held himself out as owner and not subject to liability because stock is carried in name of irresponsible third party.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Pledgee of national bank stock is not subject to statutory liability unless he has held himself out as owner.

Pledgee of national bank stock is not subject to statutory liability merely because stock is carried in name of irresponsible third party. (Ib.)
Evidence.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Evidence supported finding that bank, as respected stockholder's liability, was merely pledgee of stock in failed national bank. (Ib.)
Evidence.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Books of bank showing cancellation of indebtedness for which stock had originally been pledged, held not conclusive.
(Books not being conclusive, evidence may be received to effect that the stock was to have been transferred to a third party for the benefit of both debtor and bank, with agreement that in case of sale by either party the excess of the sale price should be paid over to the debtor.) (Ib.)
Appeal and error.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Findings of trial court are entitled to great respect even in equity. (Ib.)
National bank stockholder, surrendering stock for sale to pay assessment by directors, held not relieved from subsequent assessment by Comptroller of Currency. (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 55,63 .)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Surrender by stockholder of national bank of stock to be sold to pay 65 per cent assessment made by board of directors under Revised Statutes, section 5205 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 55), held not to relieve him from liability for subsequent assessment of 100 per cent made by Comptroller of Currency under Revised Statutes, section 5151 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 63), where bank officers did not perform duty to sell stock and stockholder appeared on books of bank as owner, since there is presumption of legal liability arising from presence of stockholder's name on stock register at time of bank's failure. (Brunner et al. v. Johnson; Johnson $v$. Brunner et al., 35 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 493.)
Where certificate representing stock of $A$ and $B$ was surrendered, new certificate being issued to $B, A$ held not liable for subsequent assessment on stock represented by second certificate.
(U.S.C.C. A. 1929.) Where certificate for 20 shares of national bank stock was held by A as trustee for himself and B, but subsequently new certificate was issued to B for 10 shares of original 20 and first certificate was surrendered to bank for sale to make good assessment due on A's stock, holding that A was not liable for subsequent assessment on 10 shares represented by second certificate was affirmed, in view of fact that such decision makes for substantial justice. (Ib.)
Pleading-Allegations of answers and amendments must be taken as true for purpose of demurrer.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where no evidence was introduced, allegations of answers and amendments thereto for purpose of demurrer must be taken as true. (Ib.)

Liability of Estates

Allegations that executrix applied to close estate before assessment of testator's bank stock to prevent receiver from filing claim conferred equity jurisdiction.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Allegations of petition, in action by national bank receiver for stock assessment ordered by Comptroller of Currency, that defendant, who was sole executrix and devisee of deceased stockholder's estate, made application to close estate and order distribution before comptroller could make assessment, thereby endeavoring to prevent plaintiff from filing claim against estate, which was solvent, held to confer jurisdiction in equity. (Luce $v$. Thompson, 36 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 183.)
Courts-Expiration of time under State statute for filing claims does not bar action for subsequent assessment of testator's national bank stock. (12 U. S. C. A., secs. $63,66$.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Fact that period under State statute for filing claims against estate has expired is no bar to action to fix liability of executrix for subsequent assessment on decedent's stock in national bank under Revised Statutes, sections 5151, 5152 (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 63, 66), and administration may be reopened under some circumstances for presentation and allowance of claim which did not accrue or become enforceable until after closing. (Ib.)
Descent and distribution-Heir is liable to ancestor's creditor, whose claim accrued after estate was closed, for value of both personalty and realty received.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Heir is liable to ancestor's creditors for value of personalty, as well as real estate, received, if ancestor's estate was settled and closed before claim accrued. (Ib.)
National bank receiver could follow deceased stockholder's assets into devisee's hands to collect stock assessment ordered after estate was closed. (12 U. S. C. A., sec.66.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Receiver of national bank held entitled to follow assets of deceased stockholder into hands of sole beneficiary under his will to collect assessment ordered by Comptroller of Currency after estate was closed and its entire assets distributed, without reopening estate and establishing claim against such beneficiary as executrix under Revised Statutes, secs. 5151, 5152. (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 63, 66.) (Ib.)
Executrix, applying to close estate and disclaiming interest in testator's national bank stock shortly after bank closed, held liable as devisee for subsequent stock assessment. (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 63, 66.)
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Executrix, filing application to close estate within 12 months after last publication of notice to creditor and only five days after learning that national bank, in which testator owned stock, had closed, and formally disclaiming all interest in such stock but three weeks after bank closed, held liable as sole devisee for stock assessment ordered after estate was closed and assets distributed; such facts justifying finding that she had estate closed to avoid liability for assessment under Revised Statutes, sections 5151, 5152. (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 63, 66.) (Ib.)

Actions to Enforce Liability

National bank receiver, suing transferor of stock for assessment, need not allege transferees were insolvent.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Receiver of national bank, suing transferor of stock for 100 per cent assessment, need not allege in complaint that transferees were insolvent, since it is a defensive matter. (Cooley $v$. Armstrong, 35 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 401.)
National bank receiver, suing stockholder for assessment, need not allege that 100 per cent assessment was necessary.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Receiver of national bank, suing transferor of stock for 100 per cent assessment on stock, need not allege that the 100 per cent assessment was necessary to retire indebtedness of institution pro rata for all stockholders at time of transfer of stock by defendant, since, if amount assessed was unnecessary, it was matter of defense. (Ib.)
National bank stockholder could not evade impending liability for assessment by colorable transfer of stock.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1929.) National bank stockholder could not evade impending liability for assessment as stockholder by colorable transfer of his stock. (Ib.)

Burden was on national bank receiver, suing transferor of stock for assessment, of showing transferor knew or should have known bank was insolvent at time of transfer.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) In action by receiver of national bank against transferor of stock to recover assessment, burden was on plaintiff to show that at time of transfer bank was insolvent, and that transferor either had knowledge of that fact or had knowledge of other facts which would lead reasonable person to believe bank was insolvent. (Ib.)
National bank stockholder, transferring stock knowing bank was insolvent, was liable for assessment, unless he showed tranferees were solvent.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) National bank stockholder, transferring stock when bank was insolvent, and when he either knew or had knowledge of facts which would lead reasonable person to believe bank was insolvent, was liable for assessment on stock, unless he showed he made transfer to people who were solvent. (Ib.)
In action to recover bank stock assessment from transferor, evidence defendant believed bank would become insolvent, if present officers continued in control, held inadmissible.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) In action against transferor of stock to recover assessment, evidence that defendant had sought and received advice from witness whether he should pay 50 per cent assessment levied on stock before transfer, and tending to show that defendant believed bank would become insolvent, if present officers continued in control, held inadmissible, since they were not expressions of bodily or mental feelings. (Ib.)

State Banks

Liability of Shareholders of Georgia State Bane

This court will not assume, in absence of construction by State court, that, under Georgia banking law, notice to stockholder of assessment meeting was not required or that that actually given was insufficient.
(U. S. Sup. 1930.) A Georgia statute provides that, upon being required by the superintendent of banks to make good an impairment of capital by an assessment upon stockholders, the officers and directors of a bank shall call a special meeting of the stockholders for the purpose of making such assessment. In a case from the State court in which a stockholder challenged an assessment, under the due process clause of the fourteenth amendment, held that, in the absence of a controlling decision by the State court, it can not be assumed either that notice of the stockholders' meeting at which the assessment was made was not required by the State law, or that a notice actually given by mailing it 15 days before the meeting, addressed to the stockholder at his address last known to the bank, was insufficient. (Toombs v. Citizens Bank of Waynesboro, 281 U. S. R. 643.)
Attacking statute-Complainant has burden of proving invalidity, and doubts must be resolved in favor of State.
(U. S. Sup. 1930.) In assailing the constitutionality of a State statute the burden rests upon the complainant to establish that it infringes the constitutional guarantee which he invokes. If the State court has not otherwise construed it, and it is susceptible of an interpretation which conforms to constitutional requirements, doubts must be resolved in favor of the State. ## Federal Taxation

In General

Internal revenue-Commissions deducted from mortgage loan paid to borrower held properly returned as income when loan was discounted or paid not when made.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where bank in negotiating mortgage loans on realty in addition to regular interest charged fee of 2 per cent for services in connection with loan and deducted commission from amount paid to borrower, commissions were not returnable as income at time loans were made to borrowers but were properly returnable as income when loan was discounted or paid, since commission is not actually received until bank receives back what it has paid out plus commission. (Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, v. First Trust & Savings Bank of Miami, Fla., 39 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 462.)
Taxation of commissions charged by bank.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Commission charged by bank making loan, commission being deducted from amount of loan, held accrued income, where books were kept on accrual basis. (Columbia State Sav. Bank ข. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 41 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 923.)
Internal revenue-Interest accrued on books of bank held not taxable "income," where corporation procuring loan passed into receivership, and market value of claim for interest only partly collected several years later was not shown.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.). Item of accrued interest entered on books of bank, kept on accrual basis, representing interest on loan to corporation which at close of year went into receiver's hands, held not taxable as income, where the claim for interest only yielded part of amount due after years of delay, and there was no proof as to the value of the claim during the taxable year, since probability was that income would not be received at least within a reasonable time. (Corn Exchange Bank v. United States, 37 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 34.)
Internal revenue-Bookkeeping entries incorrectly reflecting income do not estop taxpayer.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bookkeeping entries which do not correctly reflect income do not estop taxpayer from questioning taxation. Swan, circuit judge, dissenting. (Ib.)
Internal revenue-Double taxation will be avoided whenever taxing authorities have jurisdiction to prevent it.
(C. A. of Dist. of Col. 1929.) Double taxation is to be abhorred and will be avoided whenever the taxing authorities are vested with jurisdiction to prevent it. (National Bank of South Carolina v. Lucas, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 36 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 1013.)
Internal revenue-Internal Revenue Commissioner has discretionary power to credit return of one year with amount included therein returned and taxed in prior year. (Revenue act 1918, sec. 212 (b), 213.)
(C. A. of Dist. of Col. 1929.) Under revenue act 1918, section 212 (b), 40 Stat. 1064, providing that, if taxpayer's method of accounting does not clearly reflect income, computation shall be made on such basis and in such manner as in commissioner's opinion clearly reflects income, and section 213 ( 40 Stat. 1065), providing, after enumerating taxable income items, that amount of all such items shall be included in gross income for taxable year in which received, unless, under methods of accounting permitted by section 212 (b), any such amounts are to be properly accounted for as of a different period, Commissioner of Internal Revenue has sufficient discretionary power to credit return of one year with amount included therein which had previously been returned and taxed in a prior year. (Ib.)
Internal revenue-Banls changing from accrual to cash basis of accounting held entitled to credit for discounts received and which had previously been taxed under accrual basis. (Revenue act 1918, secs. 212 (b), 213; Regulations 45, arts. 22, 23.)
(C. A. of Dist. of Col. 1929.) National bank which kept its books during 1918 on accrual basis so far as accounting for discounts was concerned, but thereafter changed to cash basis, and in making returns for 1919 included in gross income all discounts received, as required by revenue act 1918, section 212 (b), 40 Stat. 1064, including earned discounts reported in 1918 return and on which it had been taxed, held entitled to a credit for discounts which had accrued in 1918 and on which it had been previously taxed, under said statute, section 213 (40 Stat. 1065), and Regulations 45, articles 22, 23, as against contention that change to cash basis was made without commissioner's approval, where commissioner acquiesced therein for about five years before questioning return and until limitations prevented petitioner seeking relief in court. (Ib.)

Deductions

Statutes.
(Ct. Appeals D. C. 1930.) Treasury Department's equitable and reasonable interpretation of income tax statute, apparently approved by Congress, will be followed, as against more technical interpretation of Board of Tax Appeals. (Revenue act 1921, sec. 234 (a) (5), reenacted by revenue act 1924, sec. 234 (a) (5), and revenue act 1926, sec. 234 (a) (5), 26 U. S. C. A. sec. 986 (a) (5).) (Commonwealth Commercial State Bank v. Lucas, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 41 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 111.)
Internal revenue.
(Ct. Appeals D. C. 1930.) Ninety per cent of amount of bonds of Imperial Russian Government held deductible as bad debt loss. (Revenue act 1921, sec .234 (a) (5), reenacted by revenue act 1924, sec. 234 (a) (5), and revenue act 1926, sec. 234 (a) (5), 26 U. S. C. A. sec. 986 (a) (5).)
(After the Soviet Government repudiated the financial obligations of the Imperial Russian Government, including the bonds in question, the State bank examiner directed bank to write such bonds off its books to the full extent of their par value. The Board of Tax Appeals found, however, that at the close of the year 1921 each class of such bonds was quoted on the exchange at about 10 per cent of par value.) (Ib.)

Excess Profits Tax

Internal revenue-Excess profits taxes-Abnormal conditions-Exceptional hard: ships-Existence-Determination-Administrative function.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Whether abnormal conditions exist and exceptional hardships will result calling for special assessment of excess profits taxes held within administrative discretion, absent fraud or other irregularities. (Revenue act 1918, secs. 327 (d), 328.)
(Revenue act 1918, secs. 327 (d), 328 ( 40 Stat. 1093), authorizes special assessment for excess profits taxes where ordinary rules of assessment would work exceptional hardship evidenced by gross disproportion between tax computed without benefit of section and tax computed by reference to other representative corporations.) (National Bank of Commerce of Seattle, Wash., v. United States, 39 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 434.)
Internal revenue-Excess profits taxes-Refund-Complaint-Sufficiency.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Complaint for refund of excess profits taxes paid merely showing tax was erroneously determined, if anything, held iusufficient.
(Complaint alleged in substance that Commissioner of Internal Revenue erroneously determined that deposits in bank were not to be considered borrowed capital within meaning of that term as used in administration of the tax laws. No other allegations of fraudulent conduct or irregularities were made. (Ib.)

Internal revenue-Complaint by banks for refund of excess profits taxes paid, not alleging plaintiffs were discriminated against and not taxed as other representative corporations engaged in similar business, held insufficient. (Revenue act 1918, secs. 327, 328.)
(U.S. D. C. 1928.) Complaint by national banks for refund of excess profits tax paid held insufficient to state cause of action, under revenue act 1918, sections 327, 328 ( 40 Stat. 1093), where there was no allegation that plaintiffs were discriminated against and not taxed in the same ratio to the net income as the average of representative corporations engaged in a like or similar trade or business. (National Bank of Commerce of Seattle $v$. U. S. of America; First National Bank of Seattle v. U. S., 34 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 203.)
Fraud--Fraud is never presumed.
(U. S. D. C. 1928.) Fraud is never presumed, and must be directly charged. (Ib.).

Taxation of Consolidated Banks

Taxation of consolidated banks.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Interest items collected by consolidated bank held taxable, where merger agreement specifically omitted accrued interest in determining capital furnished by merging bank. (Revenue act 1918, secs. 213a, 325a, 326a (40 Stat. 1065, 1091, 1092).) (Pontiac Commercial & Savings Bank v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 41 Fed. Rep. ( 2 d series), 602.)

Taxation of Reorganized Banks

(Ct. Appeals D. C: 1930.) Provision in revenue act for computing invested capital in case of reorganization of trade or business held to include reorganization of corporation. (Revenue act 1918, sec. 331.)
(Revenue act 1918, sec. 331 ( 40 Stat. 1057), provides that, in case of reorganization of trade or business, or change of ownership of property, if interest or control in such trade or business or property of 50 per cent or more remains in same persons, then no asset transferred shall, for purpose of determining invested capital, be allowed greater value than would have been allowed in computing invested capital of such previous owner if assets had not been transferred.) (W. A. Sheaffer Pen Co. v. Lucas, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 41 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 117.)
Internal revenue.
(Ct. Appeals D. C. 1930.) Word "control," used in provision of revenue act for determining invested capital in case of reorganization if control remained in previous owners, when applied to corporation, relates to control by stockholders. (Revenue act 1918, sec. 331.) (Ib.)
Statutes.
(Ct. Appeals D. C. 1930.) Court may properly look to subsequent legislation as aid in statutory construction. (Ib.)
Corporations.
(Ct. Appeals D. C. 1930.) Assets and property of corporation are property of corporation as entity, and not of its stockholders. (Ib.)
Corporations.
(Ct. Appeals D. C. 1930.) Control of corporation is in its stockholders. (Ib.)

Taxation of Affiliated Corporations

Internal revenue-Income taxes-Affliated corporations-Consolidated return.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Corporations affiliated during first five months of tax year held properly required to file consolidated return for such months. (Revenue act 1918, sec. 240 (a).)
(Revenue act 1918, sec. 240 (a), 40 Stat. 1081, requires affiliated corporations to make consolidated return of net income and invested capital.) (Fidelity National Bank & Trust Co. of Kansas City, Mo., v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 39 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 58.)

Statutes-Ambiguous statute-Reasonable construction.
(U.S. C. C. A. 1930.) Statute should be reasonably construed to carry out objects, where meaning is not perfectly clear. (Ib.)
Statutes-Income taxes-Affliated corporations-Fractional year returns-Dcpartmental construction of statute.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Construction of statute by Internal Revenue Commissioner and Secretary of Treasury as requiring fractional year returns by corporations affiliated during portion of tax year is persuasive. (Revenue act 1918, sec. 240 (a); revenue act 1921; revenue acts 1924 and 1926, 26 U. S. C. A., sec. 993.)
(Revenue act of 1918, sec. 240 ( 40 Stat. 1081), was substantially reenacted in revenue act of 1921 (42 Stat. 260), and revenue acts 1924 and 1926 (43 Stat. 288, 44 Stat. 46 (26 U. S. C. A., sec. 993)), without any change indicating that Internal Revenue Commissioner's regulations requiring such returns were not in accordance with proper construction of sections. (Ib.)
Internal revenue-Income taxes-Losses-Transfer of securities-DeductionIntercompany transactions.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Bank's loss from transfer of securities to affiliated trust company held properly disallowed as deduction from gross income, though company subsequently withdrew from affiliated group. (Revenue act 1918, secs. 234 (a) (4), 240 (a).)
(Revenue act 1918, sec. 234 (a) (4), 40 Stat. 1077, provides for deduction of losses sustained during taxable year in computing corporation's net income, while section 240 (a) requires consolidated returns by affiliated corporations.) (Ib.)

Taxation of Joint-Stock Land Banks

Internal revenue-Interest paid by joint-stock land banks on bonds is not deductible from income. (Revenue act 1921, sec. 234 (a) (2).)
(U.S. Court of Claims, 1930.) In determining income tax liability, interest paid by joint-stock land banks on their joint-stock land bank bonds is not deductible from income under revenue act 1921, sec. 234 (a) (2), 42 Stat. 254. (First National Bank of Chicago v. United States, 38 Fed. Rep. (2d series), 925.)
Internal revenue-Bonds issued by joint-stock, land bank were not "indebtedness incurred or continued to 'purchase' or 'carry' obligations or securities' of borrowing farmers represented by their notes and mortgages, within law relating to deduction of interest. (Revenue act 1921, sec. 234.)
(U. S. Court of Claims, 1930.) Indebtedness of joint-stock land banks by reason of bonds issued in order to procure funds to loan to farmers on their notes secured by first mortgages does not constitute an indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry obligations or securities of borrowing farmers represented by their notes and mortgages, within the meaning of the exception to interest deduction clause of revenue act 1921, sec. 234, 42 Stat. 254, in that the words "purchase" and "carry," unless given a technical meaning different from that in which they are ordinarily used, are apt words and characterize precisely the acquisition of and holding of farmers' notes and mortgages by a joint-stock land bank. (Ib.)
Internal revenue-Notes and mortgages owned by joint-stock land bank were "obligations" or "securities" within law relating to deduction of interest. (Revenue act 1921, secs. 234, 213 (b) (4).)
(U. S. Court of Claims, 1930.) Farmers' notes and mortgages given to jointstock land bank created under the Federal farm loan act (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 641 et seq.) were obligations or securities within meaning of the exception to the interest deduction clause of revenue act 1921, sec. 234, 42 Stat. 254 , the interest upon them being specifically exempted from taxation under section 213 (b) (4), and "obligation" being a generic word and including all kinds of contracts by which contracting parties bind themselves, and "security" being a term usually applied to obligation, pledge, mortgage, deposit given by debtor in order to make secure payment or performance of his debt. (Ib.)

Statutes-Courts, where language used in statute is free from ambiguity, must assume legislative intent to be what plain meaning of words imports.
(U. S. Court of Claims, 1930.) Framers of a statute are presumed to know and understand the meaning of words used, and where language used is clear and free from ambiguity and not in conflict with other parts of the same act, the courts must assume legislative intent to be what plain meaning of words used imports. (Ib.)
Internal revenue-Denial of deduction for interest paid on farm loan bonds by joint-stock land bank did not impose burden contrary to intent of law. (Federal farm loan act 1916 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 641 et seq.) ; revenue act 1921, sec. 234 (a) (2).)
(U. S. Court of Claims, 1930.) Refusal to permit joint-stock land bank organized under Federal farm loan act 1916 ( 39 Stat. 360, 12 U. S. C.A. sec. 641 et seq.) to deduct interest paid on farm loan bonds in determining income held not to impose a burden on joint-stock land bank contrary to intent of farm loan act, and not contemplated in exception to interest deduction clause of revenue act 1921, section 234 (a) (2), 42 Stat. 254. (Ib.)
Statutes-Intent of lawmaker is to be found in language of statute.
(U. S. Court of Claims, 1930.) It is a fundamental rule of statutory construction that the intent of the lawmaker is to be found in the language of the statute. (Ib.)
Constitutional law-Plain meaning of statute can not be changed by courts on theory there existed in minds of framers latent, unexpressed intent.
(U. S. Court of Claims, 1930.) Courts can not by interpretation change the plain meaning of a statute on the theory that there existed in minds of its framers latent unexpressed intent not conveyed in language used. (Ib.)

A. sec. 548), for recovery of excess tax imposed on shares of bank by State authority, in that such action was based on construction of United States statute and its application to the facts. (U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Where defendants in action at law by national bank to recover excess tax imposed on shares of stock by State authority had opportunity to defend, and did defend, therein, and appealed from judgment against them which was affirmed, an appeal from judgment of dismissal in subsequent suit to enjoin enforcement of judgment in the action at law was without merit, vexatious, and frivolous, and required imposition of penalty in accordance with 28 U. Taxation—Validity of tax on national bank shares depends on whether other moneyed capital is actually taxed less, not whether tax statute discriminates. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 548 .)
(U. S. D. C. 1930.) Under Revised Statutes, section 5219 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 548), validity of tax on shares of national banks by States depends on whether or not tax imposed is at greater rate than is actually assessed on other competing moneyed capital in hands of individual citizens of State, and not merely on whether wording of State legislation complies with section, or whether State courts correctly interpret decisions of Supreme Court; statute applying to substantial discrimination arising through misapplication of statutes by taxing officers. (U. S. D. C. 1930.) Revised Statutes, section 5219 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 548), authorizing taxation of shares of national banks by States providing tax imposed is not at greater rate than is assessed on other competing moneyed capital, is violated wherever capital substantial in amount when compared with capitalization of national banks, employed either in business or by private investors in same sort of transactions and in same locality in which national banks do business, escapes taxation or is taxed at rate less than is assessed on shares of national banks. (Ib.)
Taxation-Evidence showing moneyed capital competing with national banks was actually exempt from tax imposed on national bank shares showed illegal tax against banks. (Tax Law N. Y.; 12 U. S. C. A., sec. 548.)

burden of taxation than was imposed on substantial amount of competitive moneyed capital in hands of individual citizens of State, in violation of Revised Statutes, section 5219 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 548), though State tax law imposed same tax on banks and on competing moneyed capital. (Ib.)

Taxation-Constitutional law.
(Wash. Sup. 1930.) State law imposing tax, measured by net income, on banks and financial corporations and not on individuals, held unconstitutional, as regards investment banks, as denial of equal protection.
(Laws, 1929, p. 380, imposes a tax, measured by net income, on banks and financial corporations. Plaintiff, a corporation, engaged in the business of dealing in investment securities generally known as "investment banking." They contended that, because a number of individuals and copartnerships who were carrying on exactly the same business as the one in which they were engaged are not by the act taxed upon their net income, the act was unconstitutional as denying to plaintiffs the equal protection of the laws.) (Burr et al. v. Chase et al., Tax Commission, 289 Pac. Rep., 551.)

In General

Trusts-Bank agreeing to pay mill's operating expenses, obtaining proceeds of mill on foreclosure, must account for contribution to proceeds by unpaid seller of cotton to mill.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) Where bank was active party to arrangement whereby mill was to be run by drafts drawn on bank for expenses and supplies in operating mill and was to be beneficiary of any net profits, and bank was mortgagee of assets and products of mill, and plaintiffs, cotton merchants, with knowledge of such arrangement, sold cotton to mill and drew drafts on bank in payment therefor, but bank refused payment of draft with knowledge of foreclosure of mill, whereby bank procured all proceeds of yarns made by mill, including those made from cotton of plaintiffs, bank could not honestly dishonor drafts and keep cotton and products thereof, but equity will construct suitable trust to compel bank to account for proceeds of yarn into which paintiffs' cotton entered and contribution thereto of plaintiffs' cotton ascertained and plaintiffs' pro rata part therein paid to them. (Carroll et al. v. First Nat. Bank of Panama City, Fla., 38 Fed. Rep. ( 2 d series), 195.)
Trusts-Bank agreeing to pay mill's operating expenses had equal claim in proceeds of mill foreclosed as complainants for cotton sold mill.
(U.S.C.C. A. 1930.) Where bank was active party to arrangement whereby mill was to be run by drafts drawn on bank and was to be beneficiary of net profits, and complainants sold cotton to mill used in making its product and drew drafts on bank, and bank obtained all proceeds of products of mill on foreclosure of its mortgage against mill, in absence of intentional fraud, contribution made by, bank to proceeds had equal standing with contribution of complainants' cotton to proceeds of mill's products. (Ib.)

Trusts-Mill having no interest in proceeds from its sale held proper but not indispensable party to accounting for proceeds.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1930.) In bill to compel an accounting for cotton sold by complainants to mill, brought against bank agreeing to pay draft for operation of mill and obtaining products of mill, including cotton on foreclosure of mortgage against mill, mill insolvent and defunct, having no interest in fund to be administered, though proper party, was not an indispensable one. (Ib.)
Appeal and error-Order denying motion to remove trustees appointed under trust agreement was final appealable order.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) An order denying motion to remove trustees appointed under an agreement of trust constituted a final appealable order, in view of fact that court had already taken cognizance of trust and potential control of trust estate. (Franz v. Buder et al.; Mississippi Valley Trust Co. v. Same, 34 Fed. Rep. (2d series) 353.)
Trusts-Court of equity has inherent power to remove trustee for breach of trust or other good cause.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) It is inherent in the powers of a court of equity to remove a trustee for breach of trust or other good cause shown. (Ib.)
Trusts-Unintentional delay of trustees in furnishing bonds due to honest misunderstanding between counsel was not ground for removal.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Delay of trustees appointed under agreement of trust in furnishing bonds ordered in decree of court, which was not intentional but due to an honest misunderstanding between counsel, did not constitute ground for removal of trustees, in that the provision for filing within specified time was not of so strict and unyielding a character that unintentional delay could not be relieved against. (Ib.)
Bonds-Considerable liberality is exercised in construing designations of obligees in bonds.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Considerable liberality is exercised in construing designations of obligees in bonds, so long as the intent of the parties is clear. (Ib.)
Appeal and error-Record on former appeal between same parties is admissible in subsequent appeal.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Record on former appeal between the same parties is admissible for consideration on subsequent appeal therein. (Ib.)
Evidence-Appellate court will take judicial notice of its own records, particularly in same general litigation.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1929.) Appellate court will take judicial notice of its own records, and especially when they are in the same general litigation between the same parties. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Bonds indorsed by bankrupt guaranteeing payment held "provable debt," though bonds had not been declared in default; "guarantee." (Bankr. act, sec. 63 (a) (1), 11 U. S. C. A., sec. 103 (a) (1); Civ. Code, Ga., 1910, sec. 2817, subsec. 11.)
(U. S. D. C. 1929.). In bankruptcy proceeding of company authorized to purchase, invest in, and sell securities under Civil Code, Georgia, 1910, section 2817, subsection 11, which in selling bond issues had by indorsement guaranteed payment, including principal and interest, indorsed bonds held provable debts against bankrupt within bankruptcy act, section 63 (a) (1), 11 U.S. C. A. section 103 (a) (1), though no default touching bonds had been declared at time of bankruptcy, and no foreclosure upon the security had for, though word "guarantee" usually importsliability only after principal debtor has been exhausted, indorsement on bonds was in effect one of surety. Act of trust company authorized to sell bonds in making indorsement guaranteeing payment held not ultra vires. (Civ. Code, Ga., 1910, sec. 2817, subsec. 11, and subsec. 13, as amended by acts, Ga., 1917, p. 56.)

in, and sell securities, and entered contracts to sell entire bond issues, indorsement on bonds guaranteeing payment of principal and interest held not ultra vires, especially where contract had been fully executed on both sides, though bankrupt never complied with subsection 13, as amended by acts Georgia, 1917, page 56, authorizing it to engage in business of guaranteeing payment of bonds, since it was proper for bankrupt to guarantee payment of bond in order to sell it. (Ib.)

Bankruptcy-Where bankrupt trust company guaranteed payment of secured bonds, including interest, bondholder's claim must be allowed in full, regardless of security, until full satisfaction is had from some source. (Civ. Code, Ga., 1910, sec. 2817, subsec. 11.)
(U.S. D. C. 1929.) Where bankrupt trust company, authorized to sell bonds by Civil Code, Georgia, 1910, section 2817, subsection 11, made indorsement on bond secured by real estate guaranteeing payment of principal and interest, liability of bankrupt estate was only secondary, but claim of owner of indorsed bond must be allowed in full, regardless of security, until full satisfaction is had by creditor from some source. (Ib.)
Bankruptcy-Indemnity company held to have provable debt against bankrupt under indemnity contract as to liability which had become fixed at time of bankruptcy. (Civ. Code, Ga., 1910, sec. 2817, subsec. 11; bankr. act, sec. 63 (a) (1) and (4), 11 U. S. C. A., sec. 103 (a) (1) and (4).)

Where bankrupt trust company, authorized to sell bonds under Civil Code, Georgia, 1910, section 2817, subsection 11, guaranteed payment of principal and interest in order to sell them, and arranged with indemnity company to issue certificates of guaranty in consideration of premium, and made indemnifying contract to repay to indemnity company any loss from issuance of such certificates, indemnity company held to have provable debt under indemnity contract, where liability had become fixed at time of bankruptcy under bankruptcy act, section 63 (a) (4), 11 U. S. C. A., section 103 (a) (4), though claim could not be supported under bankruptcy act, section 63 (a) (1), 11 U. S. C. A., section 103 (a) (1). (Ib.)
Subrogation-Where trust company, guaranteeing payment of bonds, entered indemnity contract with indemnity company, indemnity company taking up bonds regarding which it claimed indemnity held subrogated to bondholders' rights. (Civ. Code, Ga., 1910, sec. 2817, subsec. 11.)
(U. S. D. C. 1929.) Where bankrupt trust company, authorized to sell bonds under Civil Code, Georgia, 1910, section 2817, subsection 11, guaranteed payment of principal and interest in order to sell them, and arranged with indemnity company to issue certificates of guarantee in consideration of premium, and made indemnifying contract to repay to indemnity company any loss from issuance of such certificates, indemnity company which took up all bonds in respect of which it claimed indemnity held subrogated to rights of bondholders, including right to enforce indorsement of trust company guaranteeing payment. National Banks May Act as Fiduciaries Notwithstanding State Laws
State law inconsistent with Federal act must yield thereto.
(Pa. Sup. 1923.) In so far as the State banking law is inconsistent with section 11 (k) of act of Congress, December 23, 1913, as amended by act September 26, 1918, section 2 (U. S. Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 9794), the former must yield to the latter, even though the result may place upon the Federal banks a benefit or burden not received or assumed by the State banks and trust companies. (In re Turner's estate, 120 Atl. Rep. 701.)
National banks may act as fiduciary notwithstanding State laws.
(Pa. Sup. 1923.) The right given by section 11. (k) of act of Congress, December 23, 1913, as amended by act September 26, 1918, section 2 (U. S. Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 9794), to national banks to occupy fiduciary positions is not affected by the fact that under the Federal law they are permitted to commingle the assets held in fiduciary capacity with their other assets after they have set aside Government bonds or other securities approved by the Federal Reserve Board, and that the Federal law allows the State authorities to inspect books and records of only that part of their assets which are received in a fiduciary capacity, while the State acts allow supervision by the banking department of all assets and forbids substitution of securities. (Ib.)

Establishment of Federal banks within Federal power not subject to interference by State except as permitted by Congress.
(Pa. Sup. 1923.) The establishment of the Federal reserve bank was a matter within the scope of Federal power, and the State can not in any way interfere with the powers of such bank, except as permitted by Congress. (Ib.)

Consolidation of State Bank with National Bank-Succegsion of National Bank to Trusts held by State Bank

California

On consolidation of two banking corporations, new corporation, in absence of contrary stipulation, becomes owner of properties, trusts, and contracts of former corporations. (Bank act, St. 1913, p. 152, sec. 31 (a), as amended by St. 1917, p. 609, sec. 9.)
(Cal. Dist. Appls. 1928.) Where two banking corporations consolidate under bank act, Statutes 1913, page 152, section 31 (a), as amended by Statutes 1917, page 609, section 9 , resulting in bringing into existence a single corporation as successor of the two, the successor corporation ipso facto succeeds to and becomes owner of the combined capital stocks and properties, trusts, and contracts of the former corporations, provided as to trust estates, or other like contracts, there is an absence of stipulation or agreement between the parties specifically prescribing a different devolution. (Mercantile Trust Co. v. San Joaquin Agricultural Corporation et al., 265 Pac. Rep. 583.)
Mortgages—Mortgage prescribing method of filling vacancy as trustee held not inconsistent with statute authorizing consolidation of banking corporations. (Bank act, St. 1913, p. 152, sec. 31 (a), as amended by St. 1917, p. 606, sec. 9.)
(Cal. Dist. Appls. 1928.) Provision of mortgage, in form of deed of trust, that in case of dissolution, resignation, incapacity, or removal of trustee, a successor may be appointed by holders of a majority of bonds secured, held not inconsistent with bank act, Statutes 1913, page 152, section 31 (a), as amended by Statutes 1917, page 606, section 9, authorizing consolidation of banking corporations into a single corporate entity whereby latter becomes the successor in interest to properties, contracts, trusts, and obligations of consolidating corporations. (Ib.)
Mortgages-Consolidation of corporate trustee with another corporation held not to effect "dissolution" of trustee within trust deed prescribing method of filling vacancy in case of trustee's dissolution. (Bank act, St. 1913, p. 152, sec. 81 (a), as amended by St. 1917, p. 606, sec. 9; Code Civ. Proc. secs. 1227, 1235.)

Consolidation of bank and trust company, which was trustee under a mortgage, with another banking corporation under bank act, Statutes 1913, page 152, section 31 (a), as amended by Statutes 1917, page 606, section 9, providing that new corporation succeeds to rights of consolidating corporation, held not to effect "dissolution" of trustee within meaning of trust deed, so as to make it duty and exclusive right of bondholders to appoint a successor trustee as therein provided, and consolidated corporation was therefore not precluded from becoming successor trustee under said statute; "dissolution" as used in the mortgage meaning "dissolution of corporation" by procedure laid down in Code Civil Proc., section 1227. (Ib.)
Corporations-Corporations are solely creatures of legislature. (Const. art. 12, sec. 1.)
(Cal. Dist. Appls. 1928.) Corporations are solely creatures of the legislature, and they may exist or cease to exist after being brought into being by virtue of statutory enactment authorized by Constitution, article 12, section 1. (Ib.)

Corporations-Corporations must submit to all reasonable and nondiscriminatory conditions on which they are authorized by legislature to do business.
(Cal. Dist. Appls. 1928.) So long as the legislature, in exercising its right to regulate corporations, does not impose on them unreasonable burdens, obligations, or restrictions, nor unfairly discriminate as between corporations of the same general class, such organizations must submit to and abide by all conditions on wnich they are authorized to prosecute the objects for which they were created. (Ib.)
Constitutional law.-Statute authorizing consolidation of banking corporations held not to impair obligation of contracts of merging corporations. (Bank act, St. 1913, p. 152, sec. 31 (a), as amended by St. 1917, p. 609, sec. 9.)
(Cal. Dist. Appls. 1928.) Bank act, Statutes 1913, page 152, section 31 (a), as amended by Statutes 1917, page 598, authorizing consolidation of banking corporations, and providing that the new corporation shall succeed to all capital stocks, properties, trusts, contracts, and assets of merging corporations, in no way impairs the obligations of contracts entered into by merging corporations prior to the merger, within the prohibition of either the Federal or State Constitutions. (Ib.)
Statute authorizing consolidation of banking corporations becomes part of every agreement made by constituent corporations prior to merging. (Bank act, St. 1913, p. 152, sec. 31 (a), as amended by St. 1917, p. 606, sec. 9.)
(Cal. Dist. Appls. 1928.) Bank act, Statutes 1913, page 152, section 31 (a), as amended by Statutes 1917, page 606, section 9 , authorizing the consolidation of banking corporations, in so far as it prescribes a scheme for the transfer of their properties, rights, agreements, obligations, and duties to the consolidated corporation, enters into and becomes a part of every agreement or obligation entered into or assumed by the merging corporations prior to the merger, and of this its directors, bondholders, and others dealing with it are presumed to have knowledge. (Ib.)
Mortgages-Mortgage held to authorize trustee to declare entire principal due on default in interest payment without prior written notice to mortgagor.
(Cal. Dist. Appls. 1928.) That mortgage recited several events of default in the alternative, held clearly to indicate that the happening of any one of the defaults should be sufficient of itself without reference to the conditions involved in any of the other defaults to entitle the trustee to proceed in any of the several ways prescribed to enforce rights of bondholders and of itself; and where one of provisions did not require written notice by trustee to mortgagor of its default in payment of interest before right to proceed to enforce payment of interest in any of ways prescribed should accrue, none was required as prerequisite to action to foreclose the mortgage. (Ib.)
Corporations-Corporation suspended for failing to pay license and franchise tax may be made defendant in action commenced after suspension. (St. 1917, p. 377.)
(Cal. Dist. Appls. 1928.) Corporation which has been suspended for failure to pay its license and franchise tax under Statutes 1917, page 377, may nevertheless be made a party defendant in an action commenced subsequent to such suspension. (Ib.)
Trusts-Probate court is without jurisdiction to determine protests of beneficiaries to statutory substitution as trustee of bank purchasing assets of original trustee, provided statute is valid, but objections must be asserted in equity. (State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) and sec. 31, as amended by St. 1921, p. 1879, sec. 15, and sec. 31 (a), as amended by St. 1921, p. 181, and sec. 31 (b), as added by St. 1921, p. 1375, sec. 16.)
(Cal. Dist. Appeals, 1929.) Under State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) and section 31, as amended by Statutes, 1921, page 1373 , section 15, and section 31 (a), as amended by Statutes, 1921, page 181, and section 31 (b), as added by Statutes, 1921, page 1375, section 16, providing for transfer of business of banking corporations and succession of purchasing bank to trust relationships by operation of law, court sitting in probate is bound to recognize bank purchasing business of original trustee as the new trustee and has no jurisdiction to determine protests on part of beneficiaries to statutory substitution, provided statute is valid, and any other objections to substitution on part of beneficiaries must be Digitized for FRA asserted in court of equity. (In re Barnett's Estate, 275 Pac. Rep. 453.)

Statutes-Title relative to regulation of banking business sufficiently expresses provision of statute for transfer of trusteeships on transfer of bank's business. (State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) and sec. 31, as amended by St. 1921, p. 1973, sec. 15, and sec. $1(a), as amended by St. 1921, p. 181, and sec. 31 (b), as added by St. 1921, p. 1375, sec. 16.)

Constitutional law-Provisions for transfer of trusteeships on transfer of bank's business do not offend special privileges or equal protection clauses, as class legislation. (State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) and sec. 31, as amended by St. 1921, p. 1373, sec. 15, and sec. 31(a), as amended by St. 1921, p. 181, and sec. 31(b), as added by St. 1921, p. 1375, sec. 16.)
(Cal. Dist. Appeals, 1929.) State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) held not void as class legislation in violation of special privileges and equal protection clauses of Constitution, as to section 31, as amended by Statutes, 1921, page 1373, section 15, and section 31(a), as amended by Statutes, 1921, page 181, and section 31 (b), as added by Statutes, 1921, page 1375, section 16, providing for transfer of trusteeships on transfer of business of banking corporations. (Ib.)
Constitutional law-Provision for transfer of trusteeships on transfer of business of banking corporations held not void as depriving courts of equity jurisdiction. (State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) and sec. 31, as amended by St. 1921, p. 1973, sec. 15, and sec. 31(a), as amended by St. 1921, p. 181, and sec. 31 (b), as added by St. 1921, p. 1375, sec. 16; Const. art. 6, sec. 5.)
(Cal. Dist. Appeals, 1929.) State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) held not to violate Constitution, article 6, section 5, giving superior court original jurisdiction of all equity cases, on account of provisions of State bank act, section 31, as amended by Statutes, 1921, page 1373, section 15, and section 31 (a), as amended by Statutes, 1921, page 181, and section 31 (b), as added by Statutes, 1921, page 1375, section 16, providing for transfer of trusteeships on transfer of business of banking corporations by sale, consolidation or merger, since jurisdiction of equity is not altered by statutory changes creating new rights or withdrawing certain rights which formerly existed. (Ib.)
Courts-Court on appeal from decision settling account of national bank as substitute trustee could not determine propriety of application of statute to national banks. (State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) and sec. 31, as amended by St. 1921, p. 1379, sec. 15, and sec. 31(a), as amended by St. 1921, p. 181, and sec. 31(b), as added by St. 1921, p. 1375, sec. 16.)

(Ib.)
Courts-Probatecourt had no jurisdiction, on account by national bank as substitute trustee, to detcrmine whether substitution injured estate or beneficiaries, and jurisdiction of that question was therefore not conferred by appeal to district court of appeal. (State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) and sec. 31, as amended by St. 1921, p. 1373, sec. 15, and sec. 31 (a), as amended by St. 1921, p. 181, and sec. 31 (b), as added by St. 1921, p. 1375, sec. 16.)
(Cal. Dist. Appeals, 1929.) District court of appeal, on appeal from orders setling account of national bank as substitute trustee under State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto), section 31 , as amended by Statutes, 1921, page 1373, section 15, and section 31(a), as amendeḍ by Statutes,

1921, page 181, and section 31 (b), as added by Statutes, 1921, page 1375, section 16, had no jurisdiction to determine whether substitution was detrimental to interest of trust estate or beneficiaries, since probate court had no jurisdiction over that question. (Ib.)

(State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) and sec. 31, as amended by St. 19\%1, p. 1373, sec. 15, and sec. 31 (a), as amended by St. 1921, p. 181, and sec. 31(b), as added by St. 1921, p. 1875, sec. 16.)
(Cal. Dist. Appeals, 1929.) Substitution of national bank as trustee on its succeeding to business of original trustee under State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) and section 31, as amended by Statutes, 1921, page 1373, section 15, and section 31(a), as amended by Statutes, 1921, page 181, and section 31(b), as added by Statutes, 1921, page 1375, section 16, was effective without necessity of approval or consent of beneficiaries, since section 31 makes sale subject "to the rights of trustors and beneficiaries after such transfer to nominate another and succeeding trustee." Wills-Statutory scheme for substitution of trustee on transfer of business of banks is deemed to have been adopted by testator designating bank as trustee. (State bank act (St. 1909, p. 87, and amendments thereto) and sec. 31, as amended by St. 1921, p. 1979, sec. 15, and sec. $31(a)$, as amended by St. 1921, p. 181, and sec. 31 (b), as added by St. 1921, p. 1975, sec. 16.)

of property, franchises and interests, including the right of succession as trustee, executor, or in any other fiduciary capacity in the same manner and to the same extent as was held and enjoyed" by the State corporation; but that no such consolidation shall be in contravention of the law of the State under which such State bank or trust company was incorporated. Held:

That the act enjoins upon a consolidated national bank complete conformity with the State law in its conduct of estates of deceased persons when acting as trustee or administrator thereof. (Ex parte Worcester County National Bank of Worcester, 279 U. S. R. 347.)
Conflict of Laws-Decision by State court as to whether consolidated bank succeeded to executorship, followed by this court.
(U. S. Sup. 1929.) Where the highest State court decided that, under the State law, a national bank with which a local trust company had been consolidated under the act did not succeed to an executorship held by the trust company and could not render an account of the estate, except as executor de son tort, because the consolidation had ended the existence of the trust company and the bank, being a different entity, could not rightfully represent the estate without a new appointment from the probate court, this decision, as to the State law, should be followed by the court. (Ib.)
Executors and Administrators-Consolidated bank should apply to probate court for appointment to succeed to executorship.
(U.S. Sup. 1929.) To conform with the State law, under the act of Congress, the bank, in order to represent and administer the estate, should apply for an appointment by the probate court. ( 263 Mass. 444, affirmed.) (Ib.)

New York

Executors and administrators-A ppointment of executors-Selection by testator.
(N. Y. Appeals, 1912.) A testator, subject to the regulations and restrictions prescribed by law, may select his executor as he pleases, and such designation alone invests the executor with authority and power, and the letters testamentary, which are founded on the probate of the will, and of an evidentiary nature, neither create the office nor confer title or power. (In re Bergdorf's will, 99 Northeastern Rep. 714; 206 N. Y. 309.)
Executors and administrators-Selection of executor-Intention of testator.
(N. Y. Appeals, 1912.) The selection by testator of his executor may be immediate and expressed, or it may be constructive or by implication, or it may be delegated by the will, but the intent of testator as to how, when, and by whom his estate shall be conserved and distributed must be ascertained from the language of the will, which must be carried out unless unlawful, and this rule is not modified by Code Civil Proc., section 2636, providing that, after a will has been admitted to probate, the person or persons named therein as executors, who are competent to serve and who appear and qualify, are entitled to letters testamentary. (Ib.)
Merger of corporations-Statutory authority.
(N. Y. Appeals, 1912.) Domestic corporations organized as trust companies may not merge in the absence of statutory authority, and, where a statute authorizes a merger, the effect is exclusively what is declared by the act. (Ib.)
Merger of corporations-Statutory authority.
(N. Y. Appeals, 1912.) Banking law (Consol. Laws 1909, ch. 2), sections 36, 39, 40, authorizing two or more trust companies to merge into another, and declaring that on the merger the rights and franchises of the corporation so merged shall be vested in the corporation into which it has been merged, etc., permits a trust company to merge itself into another, and a trust company which merges into another company, without surrendering its corporate existence, retains only its corporate entity, but otherwise it is nonexistent, and its property rights and interests vest in the company into which it is merged. (Ib.)

Executors and administrators-Designation of executor-Statutory regulationsValidity.
(N. Y. Appeals, 1912.) The legislature, having the entire legislative power of the people, except as withheld by the State constitution or restricted by the Federal Constitution, may provide that a trust company, into which another trust company lawfully designated as an executor has been merged subsequent to the making and prior to the probate of the will, shall be the transferee of the privilege of being executor. (Ib.)
Wills-Statutory right.
(N. Y. Appeals, 1912.) A testator, in making his will and appointing executors, is and remains throughout the rest of his life subject to relevant existing statutes, and the exercise of the right to make a testamentary disposition depends solely on the statutes, and the legislature may withhold or grant the right, and, where it grants it, it may nake its exercise and its extent subject to such regulations as it pleases, and it must be deemed that a testator intends the results which the operation of the statutory regulations produce. (Ib.)
Executors and administrators-A ppointment of executors-Parties entitled toStatutory provisions.
(N. Y. Appeals, 1912.) A testator appointed as executors two persons and a trust company and "the survivors and successors of them." The trust company subsequently and prior to his death was merged into another trust company pursuant to banking law (Consol. Laws 1909, ch. 2), sections 36-40. Held that, on the probate of the will, the latter company was entitled to letters testamentary, though the merged company was ignorant of the making of the will and its designation as executor. National bank held to succeed to rights and title of consolidated State bank, as trustee under trust deed authorizing State bank to administer trust. (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 34a; acts 1913, ch. 20, sec. 23.)
(Tenn. Sup. 1929.) National bank, with which State bank consolidated under Act of Congress, November 7, 1918, section 3, as added by act of Congress, February 25, 1927, section 1 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 34a), which consolidation was valid under acts 1913, chapter 20 , section 23 , held to succeed to rights and titles of State bank as trustee under trust deed conveying real estate to secure payment of certain notes with power of sale in case of default, since, in case of corporate trustee, one designating corporation as trustee is held to do so with knowledge that trust is to be administered by persons to whom stockholders commit control of its affairs. ## Virginia

Consolidation of State bank with national bank-Succession to trust powers denied in Virginia.
(Va. Sup. Ct. of App. 1930.) Designation of State bank as executor did not authorize national bank to act, notwithstanding consolidation before testator's death, whereby State bank was merged with national bank. (12 U. S. C. A., secs. 30, 34a.)
(Act of Congress, Nov. 7, 1918, ch. 209, sec. 3, 40 Stat. 1044, as added by act of Congress, Feb. 25, 1927, ch. 191, sec. 1, 44 Stat. 1225 (12 U. S. C. A., sec. 34a), provides for consolidation of State banks with national banking associations, and further provides that all the rights, franchises, and interests of the State bank and every species of property shall be transferred to and vested in the National Banking Association "including the right of succession as trustee, executor, or in any other fiduciary capacity in the same manner and to the same extent as was held and enjoyed by such State bank." The designation of the trust company as executor was not a tling which passed as property or an asset on consolidation in view of the fact that the selection is a personal matter involving special confidence, and that will is merely ambulatory and may be changed during testator's lifetime.) So the transaction was consummated and it was consummated in full compliance with the law of this State. * * * Here the corporate entity has been created because the statute permits a corporate entity to make a contract which would be illegal if made by an individual. The law has not been evaded but has been followed meticulously in order to accomplish a result which all parties desired and which the law does not forbid. * * * No ground has been shown for disregarding the corporate entity, though that entity has been formed for the purpose of doing something permitted to a corporation but forbidden to an individual. ${ }^{*} * *$ The fact that the sole owner of the stock of the corporation is an individual does not change those rights." ## TRUSTS

Trubt companies and trust functions.- Double commissions as executor and trustee.

In the absence of language so clear and unequivocal as to make a contrary determination absurd, a testator should never be deemed to have contemplated that where the same individual is to act from start to finish in the administration of his estate, such action should be construed to be in two different capacities so as to entitle such representative to double commissions.

Since the questions here involved are presented virtually ex parte by representatives of those financial institutions which will profit to the extent of an almost incalculable aggregate sum if a contrary rule should be established, it is incumbent on the court, as the trusted guardian of the interests of the fatherless and the widow, to clarify its position so far as possible in order that an appellate tribunal may have such benefit as may be derived from the experience and research of the court of first instance, to which this problem is a matter of daily occurrence. (Matter of Kings County Trust Co. (Florence Fletcher Jackson, dec'd), New York Law Jl., Oct. 21, 1930. P. D. 598.)

Banks and banking-Liability of bank of trust company for unsound investments-Adthority to retain investments.

In trust relations these days, when trust companies have entered the business, much more is expected from a corporate trustee than from the old-fashioned individual executor or trustee. Trust companies seek this character of business, claiming that they are specially qualified and financially responsible. They make a specialty of trust matters and claim to be familiar with the authority of executors and trustees as to trust investments. They have claimed that each estate and trust will receive the personal attention of one trust executive whose life work is the administration of estates and trusts, and decisions with regard to the purchase and sale of securities will be independently arrived at by these officers in consultation with investment experts. (Matter of Fulton Trust Co., Surrogate Slater, Westchester County, New York Law Jl., June 25, 1930. P. D. $602.31 / 2$.)
Trust company practicing law-contempt proceedings. (In re Eastern Idaho Loan & Trust Co. (Sot. Ida. 1930), 288 Pac. 157. P. D. 1644.7.)

No. 4485. October Term, 1930
Port Newark National Bank of Newark, appellant, v. Edward M. Waldron, appellee

No. 4493. October Term, 1930

F. Raymond Peterson, as Receiver of Port Newark National Bank of Newark, defendant-appellant, $v$. Edward M. Waldron, complainantAPPELLEE

Appeals from the District Court of the United States, for the District of New Jersey
(Filed October 29, 1930)

Before Buffington, Woolley and Davis, Circuit Judges

Buffington, J.

These are appeals by the Port Newark National Bank of Newark, New Jersey, and F. Raymond Peterson, appointed receiver of the bank by the Comptroller of the Currency, from an order of the Court below ousting him from the possession of the property and assets of said bank. The facts in the case are these. The National Bank in question was in grave financial difficulties when on August 7, 1930, L. K. Roberts, Chief National Bank Examiner, in pursuance of his duty as such, visited the bank and was there in conference with its officers and Julius S. Rippel, President of the Merchants & Newark Trust Company. The officers of the bank hoped to tide over its difficulties and prevent its being closed by the acceptance of an offer by Mr. Rippel to take over the bank and assume its known liabilities. The negotiations reached a point that day where they were about to be consummated the next day when certain court proceedings hereafter referred to made it impossible to carry out the arrangements and prevent the closing of the bank. On being informed of such facts, the Comptroller of the Currency, the morning of the 8th, issued an order directing that "from information on file in this bureau, I am satisfied that 'The Port Newark National Bank of Newark,' located in the City of Newark, County of Essex and State of New Jersey, is insolvent and unable to pay its just and legal debts," and appointing F. R. Peterson receiver of the bank, "with all the powers, duties and responsibilities given to or imposed upon a receiver under the provisions of the Revised Statutes of the United States which authorize the appointment of a receiver." The statute noted provides: "Whenever the Comptroller shall become satisfied of the insolvency of a National Banking Association, he may after due examination of its affairs * * * appoint a receiver who shall proceed to close up such association."

In pursuance of such appointment, Peterson immediately took possession of and closed the bank. It thus appears that the Comptroller, through his Bank Examiner, was engaged in supervising the bank on August 7th, and when advised the proposed sale could not be effected, immediately appointed a receiver. It is clear that on August 7 th and from then on, the Comptroller was exercising his supervisory powers and had assumed direction and control of the affairs of the bank with reference to its proposed sale. What then was the status of the receiver? In that regard the authorities are clear that the appointment of receivers by the Comptroller is part of a complete Federal system looking to the control of National banks and that such receivers are not like a receiver appointed by a court, but are officers of the United States and their possession of the bank is the possession of the United States. Touching the first point, the Supreme Court in Easton v. Iowa, 188 U. S. 231, after citing the legislation creating the National bank system, says: "It thus appears that Congress has provided a symmetrical and complete scheme for banks to be organized under the provisions of this statute." To the same effect is United States v. Weitzel, 246 U. S. 534 , where it is said: "The Comptroller of the Currency is charged with the duty of supervising National Banks. When he deems it necessary to take possession of the assets of a bank and assume control of its operations, he appoints a receiver under Revised Statutes, Sec. 5234, Comp. Stat. 1916, Sec. 9821." This was in line with the earlier case of Cook County National Bank, 107 U. S. 448, where it is said: "We consider that Act as constituting in itself a complete system for the establishment and government of National banks, prescribing * * * their liability to be placed in the hands of a receiver, and the manner, in such event, in which their affairs shall be wound up, etc." Touching the second point, it was also said in the first case: "Our conclusions upon principle and authority are that Congress having power to regulate and control the exercise of their operations; that Congress has dealt with the subject of the insolvency of such banks by giving control to the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency, who are authorized to suspend the operations of the banks and appoint receivers where they became insolvent." So also the possession of a receiver appointed by the Comptroller is not the possession of a court officer, but is the possession of the United States. Thus, In re Chetwood, 165 U. S. 458, it is said:

"The Receiver was not the officer of any court but the agent and officer of the United States, as ruled by Mr. Justice Gray, on circuit, in Price v. Abbott, 17 Fed. Rep. 506, and by Mr. Justice Jackson, then Circuit Judge, in Armstrong $v$. Trautman, 36 Fed. Rep. 275. And see Porter v. Sabin, 149 U. S. 473,479; Platt $v$. Beach, 2 Ben. 303; Freilinghuysen v. Baldwin, 12 Fed. Rep. 395; Armstrong $v$. Ettlesohn, 36 Fed. Rep. 209. * * * The receiver acts under the control of the Comptroller of the Currency and the moneys collected by him are paid over to the Comptroller, who disburses them to the creditors of the insolvent bank."

From the above it will be seen that on and from August 7 th the Comptroller was, first by his bank examiner and later by his receiver, performing the duties of supervision and possession vested in him by Federal law and that his receiver was "the agent and officer of the United States" in possession of the bank and its assets. These appeals raise the question whether he was by the Court lawfully deprived of such possession as "the agent and officer of the United States."

How this was done we now state. About five o'clock on the afternoon of August 7th, Edward M. Waldron, a stockholder of the bank, presented to the Judge below in chambers at Newark a bill against the bank, which was in the same city, alleging its insolvency and praying for an injunction and the appointment of a receiver. We here note that although the bill, which was not verified, was supported by an affidavit made the day previously, no notice was given to the bank of the presentation and filing of the bill or no conference had with the Comptroller. Moreover, no proffer was then or any time subsequently made of a bond in accordance with Sec. 18 of the Act of October 15, 1914, which provides: "Except as otherwise provided in Section 16 of this act, no restraining order or interlocutory order of injunction shall issue, except upon the giving of security by the applicant in such sum as the court or judge may deem proper, conditioned on the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by any party who may be found to have been wrongfully enjoined or restrained thereby."

On presentation of the bill the Court below granted a rule on the bank, returnable August 11th, to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed and "ordered that until this order should be made absolute or discharged the said defendant, Port Newark National Bank of Newark, its officers, servants and agents absolutely desist and refrain from exercising any of its privileges and franchises, except in the ordinary course of business, until otherwise ordered." On return of the rule on August 11th, the Court entered an order on August 13th, over the protest of the Comptroller's receiver and of the bank, appointing a court receiver for the bank "with full power and authority to  take into his possession all the goods and chattels, rights and credits, moneys and effects, lands, tenements, books, papers, choses in action, bills, notes and property of any kind and every description of said defendant wheresoever situated." In obedience to this order the Comptroller's receiver surrendered possession to the Court's receiver and took an appeal-as did also the bank.

We pass over the omission to give notice to the bank of the filing of the bill and the application for a receiver; of the failure to give bond either when the injunctive ex parte restraining order of August 7 th was entered, or indeed when the final injunction order of August 13th was made; of the effect of the filing of the bill in precipitating the closing of the bank and making impossible of performance the acceptance of Mr. Rippel's offer on behalf of the Merchant's & Newark Trust Company of taking over the bank and preventing its closing; and confine ourselves solely to the question whether the Comptroller's receiver was lawfully ousted from his possession. We are of opinion he was not. This is not a conflict between two courts of coordinate jurisdiction, but is one between the judicial and the executive arm of the sovereignty. In our view, the threatening status of this bank on August 7th and its efforts to prevent its failure necessitated the supervision and "dominion" of the Comptroller and when that duty was begun by the bank examiner the Comptroller had "dominion" over the bank's affairs and so continued until the efforts to prevent closing the bank were defeated by the filing of this bill. When this happened, it became the duty of the Comptroller, who as his order stated, had "information on file in this bureau that the bank is insolvent," to appoint a receiver and close the bank. The wisdom of his so doing prevented a run and a depletion of the bank's assets. For it will be observed that the Court's order of August 7th was not to close the bank, but to except from its order "the ordinary course of business of the bank"a situation that would have precipitated a run upon it and a depletion of its assets from August 7th until August 13th, when the Court's order appointing a receiver was entered. Indeed the manifest inadequacy of the action of the Court to protect the assets of the threatened bank in its order of August 7th, and the promptness and efficacy of the Comptroller's order of August 8th to close the bank and put his receiver in physical possession of its assets is evidenced in the record wherein the Court below said: "I believe the Comptroller by his very, prompt action, frustrated a situation which would have been most disastrous." It requires no stretch of the imagination to see that if the bank had been given notice of the proposed filing of this bill and had opportunity been afforded it to have informed the Judge of the presence of the bank examiner of the negotiations pending with a man of Mr. Rippel's financial position, the "most disastrous" situation would not have arisen. Whether indeed the right of a Comptroller in every instance to appoint receivers is not paramount and exclusive is a question we do not feel called on to now decide because the present case does not so require.

In that regard we also note that in Korbly $v$. Springfield Trust, 245 U. S. 330, the Supreme Court said:
"From the earliest days of the administration of the National Banking Act to this case attempts have been made in many forms to give to it a technical construction which would so restrict the powers of the Comptroller as to greatly delay and impede the settlement of the affairs of insolvent banks. But this court has uniformly declined to narrow the act by construction, and has placed a liberal interpretation upon its provisions to promote its plain purpose of expeditiously and justly winding up the affairs and paying the debts of such unfortunate institutions."

Not only the research of counsel, but our independent research, has shown no case where a Federal or State Court has appointed a receiverfor a going National bank as distinguished from one in liquidation. Sufficient to say that in the present case we regard the Comptroller at the time this bill was filed as having complete dominion over and, by his bank examiner, full legal control of the then and future operations of the bank, and that such situation might ultimately require the appointment of a receiver. Consequently the Court below, when the bill was filed, acquired no jurisdiction to shear the Comptroller of the statutory power to take the further step of appointing a receiver in case insolvency existed and the attempted sale fell through. As the order states the Comptroller had on file at that time information of the insolvency of the bank, it is clear he had already complied with the statutory provisions of "on examination of its affairs," after which he "may appoint a receiver."

So holding, the case is remanded to the District Court with instructions that the receiver appointed by the Court be discharged, first accounting to the Comptroller's receiver for his doings and restoring to him possession of all of the bank's property; that the receiver appointed by the Comptroller be restored and that the bill be dismissed with costs both on these appeals and in the court below to be taxed against the complainant in the bill.
