<sup>1</sup> Includes reserve with Reserve agents, exchanges for clearing house, and all cash items. Beginning with the year 1936, however, cash items not in process of collection were called for separately and are included with "Other assets."

<sup>1</sup> Includes reserve accounts.

Licensed banks; i. e., those operating on an unrestricted basis.
Includes capital notes and debentures in banks other than national.

NOTE .- Figures in above table have been revised since published in reports prior to 1939 to exclude acceptances of other banks and bills of exchange or drafts sold with endorsement, reported as "contingent liabilities" beginning in 1939. Such acceptances in years 1920 to 1928 in previous reports were included with loans and discounts, and in years 1929 to 1938 with "Other assets." In years 1920 to 1925 these acceptances were previously included with bills payable, and in years 1926 to 1938 with "Other liabilities." The above figures for years 1925 to 1938, published in reports prior to 1939, have been further revised in that securities sold with accements to repurchase are included with bills payable instead of with "Other liabilities."

(See also tables 62 and 63 covering figures for State and private banks and national banks, respectively.)

<sup>1</sup> Includes reserve with Reserve agents, exchanges for clearing house, and all cash items. Beginning with the year 1936, however, cash items not in process of collection were called for separately and are included with "Other assets."

Includes reserve accounts.

* Licensed banks; i. e., those operating on an unrestricted basis.

Note.—Figures in above table have been revised since published in reports prior to 1939 to exclude acceptances of other banks and bills of exchange or drafts sold with endorsement, reported as "contingent liabilities" beginning in 1939. Such acceptances in years 1920 to 1928 in previous reports were included with loans and discounts, and in years 1929 to 1938 with "Other assets." In years 1920 to 1925 these acceptances were previously included with bills payable, and in years 1926 to 1938 with "Other liabilities." The above figures for years 1925 to 1938, published in reports prior to 1939, have been further revised in that securities sold with agreements to repurchase are included with bills payable instead of with "Other liabilities."

(See also tables 61 and 63 covering figures for all banks and national banks, respectively.)

<sup>1</sup> Includes reserve with Reserve agents, exchanges for clearing house, and all cash items. Beginning with the year 1936, however, cash items not in process of collection were called for separately and are included with "Other assets."

Note.—Figures in above table have been revised since published in reports prior to 1939 to exclude acceptances of other banks and bills of exchange or drafts sold with endorsement, reported as "contingent liabilities" beginning in 1939. Such acceptances in years 1920 to 1928 in previous reports were included with loans and discounts, and in years 1929 to 1938 with "Other assets." In years 1920 to 1925 these acceptances were previously included with bills payable, and in years 1926 to 1938 with "Other liabilities." The above figures for years 1925 to 1938, published in reports prior to 1939, have been further revised in that securities sold with agreements to repurchase are included with bills payable instead of with "Other liabilities."

year 1933. <sup>1</sup> Includes 2 national banks (1 in Maryland and 1 in South Carolina) with capital of $150,000 and deposits of $1,234,000, receivers for which were appointed between Mar. 6 and Mar. 12, inclusive, the banking holiday. <sup>1</sup> Includes 4 banks other than national in the District of Columbia, receivers for which were appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency. <sup>4</sup> Figures for State and private banks comprise (a) banks not licensed following the banking holiday and later placed in liquidation or receivership, and (b) unlicensed banks granted licenses after June 30, 1933. In the case of national banks the figures shown represent only 290 (288 national hanks and 2 banks other than national in the District <sup>1</sup> Columbia) of the 1417 unlicensed banks (1 407 natione) and 10 other then national <sup>1</sup> the national in the District of plants (1 407 natione) and 10 other then retioned <sup>1</sup> Columbia). of Columbia) of the 1,417 unlicensed banks (1,407 national and 10 other than national in the District of Columbia) at the close of the banking holiday, which were placed in receivership because plans submitted for reorganization had been disapproved. The remaining 1,127 unlicensed banks (1,119 national and 8 other than national in the District of Columbia) which are not included with bank suspensions were disposed of as indicated in table No. 67 on pp. 328 and 329 of this report. Revised.

Note.-Figures for State and private banks since 1920 compiled by Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and represent associations closed to the public, either temporarily or permanently, by supervisory authorities or directors of the banks on account of financial difficulties. In the case of national bank suspensions, these represent actual failures for which receivers were appointed.

TABLE No. 81.—Bank suspensions, years ended December 31, 1921 to 1939

*re appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency. <sup>3</sup> Includes 2 national banks (1 in Maryland and 1 in South Carolina) with capital of $150,000 and deposits of $1,234,000, receivers for which were appointed between Mar. 6 and Mar. 12, inclusive, the banking holiday.

4 Figures for State and private banks comprise (a) banks not licensed following the banking holiday and later placed in liquidation or receivership, and (b) unlicensed banks granted licenses after June 30, 1933. In the case of national banks the figures shown represent only 290 (288 national banks and 2 banks other than national in the District of Columbia) of the 1,417 unlicensed banks (1,407 national and 10 other than national in the District of Columbia) at the close of the banking holiday, which were placed in receiv-ership because plans submitted for reorganization had been disapproved. The remaining 1,127 unlicensed banks (1,110 national and 8 other than national in the District of Colum-bia) which are not included with bank suspensions, were disposed of as indicated in the bank of a constant of the submission of t table No. 67 on pp. 328 and 329.

NOTE.-Figures for State and private banks compiled by Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and represent associations closed to the public, either tem-porarily or permanently, by supervisory authorities or directors of the banks on account of financial difficulties. In the case of national bank suspensions, these represent actual failures for which receivers were appointed.

TABLE "R"

SHOWING STATEMENTS OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES OF THE INDIVIDUAL NATIONAL BANKS AT CLOSE OF BUSINESS DECEMBER 31, 1940 IS OMITTED FROM THIS REPORT AND PUBLISHED AS A SEPARATE TABLE

(States, Territories, and Towns Arranged Alphabetically)

NOTE.—In each of the years 1923 to 1929, inclusive, a table similar to table "R" mentioned above, showing statements of assets and liabilities of the individual national banks for one date in the year, was also issued as a supplement to the Comptroller's report, but in lieu of being designated as tables "A" to "G", inclusive, they were numbered 89, 93, 94, 98, 121, 97, and 103, respectively. Since 1930 the supplements are lettered alphabetically, beginning with the letter "H." Prior to 1923 individual statements were included in the report proper.
