Data for January 2004

PPI Detailed Report (ISSN 1099-2855; USPS 485-050) is a monthly report on producer price movements including text, tables, and technical notes. An annual supplement contains monthly data for the calendar year, annual averages, and information on weights.

To order this periodical for 1 year, cite PPI Detailed Report (WPPI) and send your check for $55 ($77 foreign) or provide your VISA or MasterCard number and expiration date to Superintendent of Documents, P.O. Box 371954, Pittsburgh, PA 15220-7954. Cost of the supplement only is $23 domestic ($32.20 foreign).

Subscribers will receive the next available subscription issue after their order is received. An acknowledgement card is sent to all customers after their subscription order is processed to let them know that they will receive the next available issue.

Please wait at least 6 weeks before inquiring about your order. Then write to Subscription Service Section, U.S. Government Printing Office, Stop: SSOM, Washington, DC 20402; telephone (202) 512-1800; or fax (202) 512-2168.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to PPI Detailed Report, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402-0001.

Price Movements January 2004

The Producer Price Index for Finished Goods advanced 0.6 percent in January, seasonally adjusted. This increase followed a 0.2-percent gain in December and a 0.2-percent decline in November. Rising prices for gasoline led the increase in the finished goods index in January. At the earlier stages of processing, prices received by manufacturers of intermediate goods moved up 0.8 percent in January, after rising 0.4 percent in the prior month. The crude goods index increased 2.8 percent, compared with a 2.2-percent rise in December. (See table A.)

Among finished goods, the index for finished energy goods jumped 4.7 percent in January, following a 1.6-percent advance in the previous month. Excluding prices for gasoline, the finished goods index rose 0.2 percent in January. Prices for finished goods other than foods and energy increased 0.3 percent, after edging down 0.1 percent in the preceding month. By contrast, the finished consumer foods index dropped 1.4 percent in January, after inching up 0.1 percent a month earlier.

Before seasonal adjustment, the Producer Price Index for Finished Goods advanced 0.6 percent to 145.4 (1982=100). From January 2003 to January 2004, finished goods prices rose 3.3 percent. During the same period, the indexes for finished energy goods, finished consumer foods, and finished goods other than foods and energy moved up 11.4, 4.2, and 0.9 percent, respectively. At the earlier stages of processing, prices for intermediate goods increased 3.8 percent for the 12 months ended in January 2004, while the index for crude goods jumped 13.7 percent.

Finished goods

Prices for finished energy goods increased 4.7 percent in January, after registering a 1.6-percent gain in the prior month. Leading this acceleration, the gasoline index surged 14.1 percent, following a 3.4-percent rise in December. Prices for home heating oil and liquefied petroleum gas also advanced at a faster rate in January than they did a month earlier. The index for residential natural gas turned up, following a decline in the previous month. On the other hand, the rate of increase for residential electric power prices slowed from 0.5 percent in December to 0.1 percent in January.

The index for finished consumer goods other than foods and energy turned up 0.3 percent in January, compared with a 0.1-percent decrease in the preceding month. Light motor truck prices increased 1.1 percent, following a 1.7-percent decline in December. The indexes for passenger cars, periodical circulation, and sporting and athletic goods also advanced in January, after decreasing a month earlier. Prices for pharmaceutical preparations and book publishing rose more in January than they did in the previous month, while the cigarettes index increased, after showing no change in December. Alternatively, household furniture prices inched down 0.1 percent in January, following a rise of the same magnitude in the prior month.

Subsequent to a 0.1-percent decrease in December, the capital equipment index advanced 0.3 percent in January. The indexes for light motor trucks and passenger cars turned up, following declines in December. Prices for heavy motor trucks, construction machinery and equipment, and civilian aircraft rose at a faster pace in January than they did a month earlier, while the truck trailers index moved up after showing no change in the preceding month. By contrast, commercial furniture prices fell 0.4 percent in January, compared with a 0.1-percent gain in the prior month. The integrating and measuring instruments index also turned down, following an increase in December. Prices for x-ray and electromedical equipment fell more than they did in the previous month.

Prices for finished consumer foods decreased 1.4 percent in January, following a 0.1-percent increase a month earlier. Leading this downturn, the index for fresh and dry vegetables dropped 20.9 percent, following a 20.7-percent upsurge in December. Prices for eggs for fresh use also fell, after rising in the prior month. The beef and veal index declined at a faster rate than it did in the previous month. Prices for citrus fruits rose less in January than they did in December. By contrast, the index for soft drinks advanced 1.9 percent, compared with a 0.7-percent decrease in the preceding month. Prices for pork and bakery products also turned up in January, following declines a month earlier. The indexes for processed young chickens, finfish and shellfish, and shortening and cooking oils rose at a quicker pace than they did in December.

Intermediate goods

The Producer Price Index for Intermediate Materials, Supplies, and Components climbed 0.8 percent in January, compared with a 0.4-percent advance in December. Prices for intermediate energy goods, materials for nondurable manufacturing, and materials for durable manufacturing increased at a faster rate in January than they did in December. The index for materials and components for construction turned up, after edging down in the preceding month. On the other hand, the index for intermediate foods and feeds fell at a quicker pace in January than it did a month earlier. Excluding foods and energy, prices for intermediate materials advanced 0.6 percent, after inching up at a 0.1-percent rate in December. (See table B.)

The index for intermediate energy goods jumped 2.7 percent in January, following a 1.8-percent increase in December. A surge in gasoline prices of 14.1 percent followed a 3.4-percent increase in December. The indexes for home heating oil, jet fuel, liquefied petroleum gas, and diesel fuel also advanced at a faster pace than they did in the prior month. Prices for industrial natural gas turned up in January, while the index for industrial electric power fell less than it did in December. By contrast, prices for natural gas to electric utilities declined 6.2 percent in January, compared with a 4.8-percent gain in the previous month. The indexes for commercial electric power and commercial natural gas also turned down in January.

Prices for materials for nondurable manufacturing climbed 1.3 percent in January, following a 0.4-percent increase in December. The index for liquid refinery gases surged 16.2 percent, after rising 7.4 percent in the previous month. The indexes for plastic resins and materials, inedible fats and oils, medicinal and botanical chemicals, and gray fabrics moved up in January, following declines in December. On the other hand, paperboard prices decreased 1.2 percent in January, after inching up at a 0.1-percent rate a month earlier. The index for nitrogenates also turned down, while prices for paper fell more than they did in the preceding month.

The index for materials and components for construction increased 0.3 percent in January, compared with a 0.1-percent decline in December. Softwood lumber prices jumped 1.5 percent in January, following a 0.3-percent decrease in the prior month. The indexes for wiring devices, hardwood lumber, and prefabricated wood buildings and components also rose, after falling in December. Prices for fabricated structural metal products, steel mill products, plastic construction products, and millwork advanced at a quicker rate than they did in the preceding month. Alternatively, the index for concrete products edged up 0.1 percent in January, following a 0.5-percent gain in December. Plywood prices fell more than they did a month earlier, while the indexes for gypsum products and for air conditioning and refrigeration equipment turned down in January.

Prices for materials for durable manufacturing climbed 1.0 percent in January, after posting a 0.5-percent gain in December. The index for primary nonferrous metals jumped 4.3 percent, following a 2.4-percent rise in the previous month. Prices for copper and brass mill shapes; semifinished steel mill products; cold finished steel bars; and hot rolled steel bars, plates, and structural shapes also increased more than in December. The indexes for hardwood lumber and industrial textile products advanced, following December declines. Conversely, prices for aluminum mill shapes turned down 0.4 percent in January, after inching up at a 0.1-percent rate a month earlier. The index for plywood fell more quickly in January, while prices for cold rolled steel sheet and strip rose more slowly than they did in the prior month.

The index for intermediate foods and feeds fell 1.0 percent in January, compared with a 0.5-percent decrease in December. This faster rate of decline can be attributed mainly to prices for beef and veal products, which dropped 11.0 percent in January after a 5.6-percent decrease in December. In addition, the indexes for fluid milk products and for portion control meat and meat-type products also fell at a quicker pace, while prices for confectionery materials and liquid milk products rose at a slower rate in January than they did a month earlier. The indexes for flour and for refined sugar and sugar byproducts turned down, after rising in December. By contrast, prepared animal feed prices advanced 0.2 percent, after declining 0.4 percent in the previous month. The pork index also turned up in January. Prices for shortening and cooking oils and processed young chickens increased more in January than they did in December.

Crude goods

The Producer Price Index for Crude Materials for Further Processing advanced at a 2.8-percent rate in January, after posting a 2.2-percent gain in December. Price increases for crude energy materials were larger in January than in December and outweighed larger price decreases for crude foodstuffs and feedstuffs. In addition, the index for basic industrial materials rose at a slightly faster pace than it did in December. (See table B.)

The index for crude energy materials climbed 12.5 percent in January, following a 4.3-percent increase in December. Natural gas prices led the acceleration by surging 17.8 percent, after advancing 6.1 percent in the previous month. The index for crude petroleum rose 8.1 percent in January, compared with a 2.6-percent gain a month earlier. On the other hand, coal prices dropped 1.6 percent, subsequent to a 0.4-percent rise in December.

The index for crude nonfood materials less energy gained 3.3 percent in January, its eighth consecutive increase, after rising 3.0 percent in December. The index for raw cotton increased 6.8 percent, following a 10.1-percent decline in the prior month. Prices for wastepaper also turned up, while indexes for aluminum base scrap and construction sand, gravel, and crushed stone rose more in January than they did in December. Conversely, the rate of increase for iron and steel scrap prices slowed from 8.8 percent in December to 5.7 percent in January. Prices for copper ores, gold ores, and copper base scrap also rose less in January than they did in the prior month.

The index for crude foodstuffs and feedstuffs fell 6.9 percent in January, following a 0.2-percent drop in December. January prices for slaughter cattle declined 17.4 percent, after slipping 3.5 percent the preceding month. Indexes for fresh vegetables (except potatoes), slaughter broilers and fryers, and wheat turned down in January. By contrast, prices for fluid milk fell 1.4 percent in January, after dropping 7.7 percent in December. The January index for slaughter turkeys rose more than in December, as did the indexes for corn, soybeans, and Irish potatoes for further processing. Unprocessed shellfish prices rose after falling.

Net output price indexes for mining, manufacturing, and services industries

Mining. The Producer Price Index for the Net Output of Total Mining Industries rose 11.3 percent in January, following a 4.2-percent increase in December. (Net output price indexes are not seasonally adjusted.) Prices received by the oil and gas extraction industry group jumped 16.0 percent, after advancing 5.2 percent in the prior month. The industry group indexes for metal ore mining and coal mining also increased at a quicker rate than they did a month earlier. Prices received by the mining support activities industry group rose in January. In January, the Producer Price Index for the Net Output of Total Mining Industries was 141.6 (December 1984=100), 12.4 percent above its year ago level.

Manufacturing. The Producer Price Index for the Net Output of Total Manufacturing Industries increased 0.9 percent in January, after showing no change in the previous month. Prices received by the petroleum and coal products industry group rose 11.8 percent, compared with a 1.4-percent gain in the preceding month. The industry group indexes for chemicals, fabricated metal products, aerospace products and parts, and primary metals also advanced at a quicker rate than they did in December. Prices received by the automobile and light duty motor vehicle industry turned up, after falling in the prior month. By contrast, the industry group index for food manufacturing dropped 1.0 percent in January, after registering a 0.5-percent decline a month earlier. The industry group index for semiconductors and other electronic components also fell more than it did in the preceding month. Prices received by the industry group for communications equipment turned down in January, following gains in the previous month. The plastics and rubber products industry group index showed no change, after rising in December. In January, the Producer Price Index for the Net Output of Total Manufacturing Industries was 138.9 (December 1984=100), 2.4 percent above its year ago level.

Services. Among service industries in January, prices received by the industries for general medical and surgical hospitals, portfolio management, offices of physicians (except mental health), direct property and casualty insurance carriers, nursing care facilities, couriers, and newspaper publishers increased. Conversely, prices received by the industries for scheduled passenger air transportation, television broadcasting, lessors of nonresidential buildings (except mini-warehouse), software publishers, radio stations, passenger car rental, and long distance general freight trucking (truckload) fell in January.

NAICS Conversion

The net output price indexes have been converted from the 1987 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) basis to the 2002 North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) basis, with the release of January 2004 indexes. The NAICS conversion involves major definitional changes to many of the currently published SIC-based indexes. SIC-based indexes are no longer produced or published. Historical index data based on the NAICS publication structure are available, depending on the scope of the definitional changes between SIC and NAICS. A concordance between the two structures is available at <http://www.bls.gov/ppi/ppinaics.htm> through the Bureau of Labor Statistics Web site.

For more information, contact the Division of Industrial Prices and Price Indexes, Section of Index Analysis and Public Information at ppi-info@bls.gov or (202) 691-7705.

Recalculation of Seasonal Adjustment Factors

Effective with this report, seasonal adjustment factors have been recalculated to reflect price movement patterns during 2003 for stage-of-processing (SOP) and commodity-grouping indexes. This routine annual recalculation may affect previously published seasonally adjusted indexes and percent changes for January 1999 through December 2003. To request recalculation information, contact the Division of Industrial Prices and Price Indexes, Section of Index Analysis and Public Information at ppi-info@bls.gov or (202) 691-7705.

The table below provides monthly seasonally adjusted percent changes for the three major SOP categories during 2003, based on former and recalculated seasonal factors. These percent changes include final price data through August 2003 and may differ from values shown elsewhere in this report.

Resampling of Industries

Effective with this report, the Producer Price Index (PPI) includes data for 65 resampled and 21 newly introduced industries classified according to the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS). The Bureau of Labor Statistics periodically updates the sample of producers providing data for the PPI to reflect current conditions more accurately when the structure, membership, technology, or product mix of an industry shifts. The first results of this systematic process were published in July 1986. Subsequent efforts have been completed at 6-month intervals.

For information on specific index additions, deletions, and recodes that are effective with this semiannual update, see tables 10 through 14 of this report or contact the Division of Industrial Prices and Price Indexes, Section of Index Analysis and Public Information at ppi-info@bls.gov or (202) 691-7705.

PPI Introduces Industries to Complete Coverage of the Retail Trade Sector

With the release of indexes for January 2004, the Producer Price Index (PPI) introduced data for 19 additional retail trade industries classified using the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS). Publication of these industries completes the expansion of PPI coverage of the retail trade sector. The introduction of these industry indexes reflects the ongoing BLS effort to expand PPI coverage of the U.S. economy into areas other than the mining and manufacturing sectors. These indexes, published according to NAICS industry definitions, appear in table 5 of the monthly PPI Detailed Report and are available online via the BLS homepage (<http://www.bls.gov>). These NAICS industries include:

- 442110 – Furniture stores
- 442210 – Floor covering stores
- 443111 – Household appliance stores
- 443112 – Radio, television, and other electronics stores

The NAICS identifies establishments in the retail trade sector as primarily engaged in purchasing goods for resale to the general public for personal or household consumption, but some establishments also serve business and institutional clients. Given that little, if any, transformation of these goods takes place, the PPI views a retailer as a supplier of services (rather than goods). This implies that the output of a retail trade establishment can be estimated by the difference between the retail selling price of a good and the acquisition price for that same item. (Any discounts from the vendor to the retailer and any discounts offered by the retailer to the consumer are captured.) The resulting gross-margin prices reflect the value added by the establishment for services, such as marketing, storing, displaying goods in convenient locations, and making the goods easily available for customers to purchase.

Margin weights provided to the PPI by the U.S. Census Bureau are used to weight retail trade at the industry level. Item weights in the PPI retail trade cells reflect margin weights for margin-priced items (items bought and resold) and retail weights for retail-priced items (items typically made by the retailer), in those rare cases when retail-priced items are measured.

The PPI usually classifies establishments based on their major revenue-generating activity. However, the PPI groups retail trade establishments according to their usual trade designation. For example, many drug stores also carry other products—cosmetics, toiletries, tobacco, and novelty merchandise. A store that sells prescription drugs is treated as a drug store if the owner states that its usual trade designation is “drug store,” even if the establishment generates a plurality of its revenue through sales of novelty merchandise.

NAICS 442, Furniture and Home Furnishings Stores

Furniture and Home Furnishings Stores retail new furniture and home furnishings from fixed point-of-sale locations. Establishments in this subsector usually operate from showrooms and have substantial areas for the presentation of their products. The two largest industries from this subsector were introduced into the PPI in January 2004, with historical data back to June 2003.

NAICS 442110, Furniture Stores, includes establishments that retail new furniture, such as household furniture, outdoor furniture, office furniture (except that sold in combination with office supplies and equipment), or furniture sold in combination with major appliances, home electronics, home furnishings, or floor coverings.

NAICS 442210, Floor Covering Stores, comprises establishments that retail new floor coverings, such as rugs and carpets, vinyl floor coverings, and floor tile (except ceramic or wood only). This industry also includes establishments that retail new floor coverings in combination with installation and repair services. For further information relating to NAICS 442, contact Jay Snyder at snyder.jay@bls.gov or (202) 691-7698.

NAICS 443, Electronics and Appliance Stores

Electronics and Appliance Stores retail new electronics and appliances from point-of-sale locations. Establishments in this subsector often maintain floor displays that require special electrical capacity to accommodate the proper demonstration of their products. The classification of an establishment within this subsector is made principally by product type and knowledge required to operate each type of store. As a service primary to NAICS 443, businesses often provide installation, repair, and support work relating to the products that they retail. The PPI introduced three industries from this subsector in January 2004, with historical data back to June 2003.

NAICS 443111, Household Appliance Stores, are establishments that retail an array of new household appliances, such as refrigerators, dishwashers, ovens, irons, coffeemakers, room air conditioners, microwave ovens, sewing machines, and vacuum cleaners. For further information in connection with NAICS 443111, contact Jay Snyder at snyder.jay@bls.gov or (202) 691-7698.

NAICS 443112, Radio, Television, and Other Electronics Stores, comprises: (1) establishments known as consumer electronics stores that retail a general line of new consumer-type electronic products; (2) establishments specializing in selling a single line of consumer-type electronic products (except computers); or (3) establishments that retail new electronic products in combination with repair services.

NAICS 443120, Computer and Software Stores, are establishments that retail new computers, computer peripherals, and prepackaged computer software without retailing other consumer-type electronic products or office equipment, office furniture, and office supplies. For further information pertaining to NAICS 443112 or NAICS 443120, contact Cliff Baker at baker.clifton@bls.gov or (202) 691-7880.

NAICS 444, Building Material and Garden Equipment and Supplies Dealers

NAICS subsector 444 includes retail establishments that sell new building material and supplies and garden equipment and supplies from fixed point-of-sale locations. These products typically are used in the construction, repair, and maintenance of homes and associated grounds. Establishments in this subsector may display their stock either indoors or outdoors under covered areas, and staff is usually knowledgeable in the use of the specific products being retailed. The PPI introduced the following NAICS subsector 444 industries in January 2004: 444110, Home Centers; 444120, Paint and Wallpaper Stores; 444130, Hardware Stores; 444190, Other Building Materials Dealers; and 444220, Nursery, Garden Center, and Farm Supply Stores.

NAICS 444110, Home Centers, includes establishments that retail a general line of new home repair and improvement materials and supplies, such as lumber, plumbing goods, electrical goods, tools, housewares, hardware, and lawn and garden supplies, with no one merchandise line predominating. The merchandise lines are normally arranged in separate departments. A NAICS 444 establishment also is considered a home center when usual trade designation is not clear, and no single product line predominates.

NAICS 444120, Paint and Wallpaper Stores, comprises establishments that retail paint, wallpaper, or related supplies to the general public. While these establishments may sell primarily to construction contractors, they are considered retail establishments within the trade. Establishments that do not sell to the general public, or those that are considered wholesalers within the trade, are classified in NAICS 42, Wholesale Trade.

NAICS 444130 includes establishments known as hardware stores that retail a general line of new hardware items, such as tools and builders' hardware.

NAICS 444190, Other Building Material Dealers, comprises establishments—except those known as home centers, paint and wallpaper stores, and hardware stores—that retail specialized lines of new building materials, such as lumber, fencing, glass, doors, plumbing fixtures and supplies, electrical supplies, prefabricated buildings and kits, kitchen and bath cabinets, and countertops to be installed. All margin-priced products are considered primary, including sales to business customers. Examples of establishments in this industry include: Electrical supply stores, fencing dealers, floor covering stores (wood or ceramic tile only), glass stores, kitchen cabinet (except custom) stores, lumber retailing yards, plumbing supply stores, and prefabricated building dealers.

NAICS 444220 comprises establishments that retail nursery and garden products, such as trees, shrubs, plants, seeds, bulbs, and sod that are predominantly grown elsewhere. Any items that are grown or produced on the premises are tracked using retail selling prices, not margin prices, and are classified as other receipts, rather than primary services. For further information pertaining to NAICS 444, contact Sean Taylor at taylor.sean@bls.gov or (202) 691-7877.

NAICS 448, Clothing and Clothing Accessories Stores

NAICS subsector 448 includes establishments that retail new clothing and clothing accessories merchandise from fixed point-of-sale locations. Two industries within NAICS 448—jewelry stores and luggage stores—have been in publication since June 2000, and four additional NAICS industries entered publication with the release of data for January 2004. NAICS 448110, Men's Clothing Stores, includes establishments that retail a general line of new men's and boys' clothing. NAICS 448120, Women's Clothing Stores, comprises establishments that retail a general line of new women's, misses', and juniors' clothing, including maternity wear. NAICS 448140, Family Clothing Stores, includes establishments that retail a general line of new clothing for men, women, and children, without specializing in sales for an individual gender or age group. NAICS 448210, Shoe Stores, comprises establishments that retail all types of new footwear (except hosiery and specialty sports footwear, such as golf shoes, bowling shoes, and spiked shoes). Establishments that retail new tennis shoes or sneakers are included in NAICS 448210. PPI data for the men's clothing stores industry and the shoe stores industry include historical information back to June 2002, while those for the industries for women's clothing stores and for family clothing stores include data back to June 2003.

Establishments in this subsector have similar display equipment and maintain staff that is generally knowledgeable regarding fashion trends and the proper match of styles, colors, and combinations of clothing and accessories to the characteristics and tastes of the customer.

Seasonal and fashion merchandise make up a substantial part of all merchandise sold in industry subsector 448. Apparel and footwear are very seasonal. Apparel can go through a 3- to 6-month cycle in which different items can come in and out of season at different times. Each season offers a different selection of clothing for the consumer. Like seasonality, fashion can play an important role in these industries, because the majority of the products that are being sold in this industry are clothing. Clothes that are in fashion this month may go out of style in 3 or 4 months, or it may take several years before certain clothes go out of fashion. Despite seasonal and fashion shifts, the services associated with NAICS 448 generally do not change.

Establishments in this subsector may provide basic alterations, such as hemming, taking in or letting out seams, or lengthening or shortening sleeves. The incidental fees for these services, separable from the sale of the good, are considered primary activities for industries in this subsector. For further information in connection with NAICS 448, contact Olga Berman at berman.olga@bls.gov or (202) 691-7878.

NAICS 451, Sporting Goods, Hobby, Book, and Music Stores

Industries in the Sporting Goods, Hobby, Book, and Music Stores subsector are engaged in retailing and providing expertise on the use of sporting equipment or other products used for specific leisure activities. Four industries within this subsector were previously introduced into the PPI in June 2000 — NAICS 451110, Sporting Goods Stores; NAICS 451120, Hobby, Toy, and Game Stores; NAICS 451130, Sewing, Needlework, and Piece Goods Stores; and NAICS 451211, Book Stores. One additional industry was introduced into the PPI in January 2004, with historical data back to June 2003: NAICS 451220, Prerecorded Tape, Compact Disc, and Record Stores. This industry comprises establishments that retail new prerecorded audio and video tapes, compact discs (CDs), digital video discs (DVDs), and phonograph records. For further information relating to NAICS 451220, contact Cliff Baker at baker.clifton@bls.gov or (202) 691-7880.

NAICS 452, General Merchandise Stores

A large part of the retail trade sector is accounted for by General Merchandise Stores, industry subsector 452. These stores retail new general merchandise from fixed point-of-sale locations. Subsector 452 comprises the following NAICS industries: 452111, Department Stores (except Discount Department Stores); 452112, Discount Department Stores; and 452900, Other General Merchandise Stores. Establishments in subsector 452 are unique in that they maintain a wide variety of display equipment and trained staff capable of retailing a large assortment of goods from a single location. Seasonal and fashion merchandise make up a major part of merchandise sold in the NAICS 452 subsector, but, despite seasonal and fashion shifts, the services associated with NAICS 452 generally do not change.

NAICS 452111 includes establishments, known as department stores, that have separate departments for various merchandise lines, such as apparel, jewelry, home furnishings, and linens, each with separate cash registers and sales associates. Department stores in this industry generally do not have central customer checkout and cash register facilities.

Establishments in NAICS 452112, Discount Department Stores, also are commonly referred to as department stores. However, these establishments usually have central customer checkout areas, generally in the front of the store, although they may have additional cash registers located in one or more individual departments. Department stores in this industry sell a wide range of general merchandise (except fresh, perishable foods).

NAICS 452900, Other General Merchandise Stores, includes establishments such as warehouse clubs and supercenters that typically are engaged in retailing a general line of groceries in combination with general lines of new merchandise, such as apparel, furniture, and appliances. This industry also includes variety-type stores that retail a general line of new merchandise in limited amounts, with none of the lines predominating. For further information pertaining to NAICS 452, contact Olga Berman at berman.olga@bls.gov or (202) 691-7878.

NAICS 453, Miscellaneous Store Retailers

Industries in the Miscellaneous Store Retailers subsector retail merchandise from fixed point-of-sale locations. A number of industries from this subsector were previously introduced into the PPI in June 2000: Florists, Stationery Stores, and Gift, Novelty, and Souvenir Stores. One additional industry was introduced into the PPI in January 2004, with historical data back to December 2002: NAICS 453930, Manufactured (Mobile) Home Dealers. (Manufactured homes sometimes are referred to as trailer, modular, or mobile homes.) Establishments in this industry are engaged in the retail sale of new and/or used manufactured homes, parts, and equipment, and are typically responsible for transporting and installing the mobile homes they have sold. For further information relating to NAICS 453930, contact Scott Paris at paris.scott@bls.gov or (202) 691-7892.

New Producer Price Indexes for Electric Power Generation, NAICS 221110, and Electric Bulk Power Transmission and Control, NAICS 221121

With the release of data for January 2004, the Producer Price Index (PPI) introduced data for two new industries within the Electric Power Generation, Transmission, and Distribution sector.

The industry index for Electric Power Generation, NAICS 221110, measures price changes for the initial commercial transaction received by power generating establishments. This industry comprises facilities that convert other forms of energy, such as water power, fossil fuels, nuclear power, and solar power, into electric energy for sale to electric power transmission and distribution systems. Within this industry, the PPI divided output into two subcategories: electric power generation by utilities and electric power generation by non-utilities.

The index for Electric Bulk Power Transmission and Control, NAICS 221121, measures changes in fees and charges associated with the transmission and control of electric power. Establishments in this industry operate electric power transmission systems and/or control the transmission of electricity from the generating source to distribution centers or electric utilities.

Data for the new indexes compliment already published PPIs within NAICS 221122, Electric Power Distribution. The indexes for residential, commercial, and industrial power distribution have historical data back to December 1990.

For further information on NAICS 2211, contact Mike Moskowitz at moskowitz.michael@bls.gov or (202) 691-7724.

² The indexes for September 2003 have been recalculated to incorporate late reports and corrections by respondents. All indexes are subject to revision 4 months after original publication.

⁴ Seasonal product—no price available this month.

n.e.c. = Not elsewhere classified.

Note: NAICS 2002 replaced the SIC classification system beginning with the release of PPI data for January 2004. See <http://www.bls.gov/ppi/ppinaics.htm> for details.

¹ Indexes in this table are derived from the primary product indexes in table 5 that are weighted using 1997 input/output relationships. These indexes only include inputs to construction which are produced by the mining and manufacturing sectors of the economy excluding capital equipment. Since they do not include labor or capital costs, these indexes should not be regarded as comprehensive measures of construction costs. See note on page 190 of the July 1986 issue of Producer Price Indexes.

Technical Note

The Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) term Producer Price Index (PPI) refers to a family of indexes that measure the average change over time in the prices received by domestic producers of goods and services. PPIs measure price change from the perspective of the seller. This contrasts with other measures, such as the Consumer Price Index (CPI); CPIs measure price change from the purchaser's perspective. Sellers' and purchasers' prices can differ due to government subsidies, sales and excise taxes, and distribution costs.

More than 8,000 PPIs for individual products and groups of products are released each month. PPIs are available for the products of virtually every industry in the mining and manufacturing sectors of the U.S. economy. New PPIs are gradually being introduced for the products of industries in the trade, finance, and services sectors of the economy.

More than 100,000 price quotations per month are organized into three sets of PPIs: (1) Stage-of-processing indexes; (2) commodity indexes; and (3) indexes for the net output of industries and their products. The stage-of-processing structure organizes products by class of buyer and degree of fabrication. The commodity structure organizes products by similarity of end use or material composition. The entire output of various industries is sampled to derive price indexes for the net output of industries and their products.

Stage-of-Processing Indexes

Within the stage-of-processing system, finished goods are commodities that will not undergo further processing and are ready for sale to the final-demand user, either an individual consumer or business firm. Consumer foods include unprocessed foods such as eggs and fresh vegetables, as well as processed foods such as bakery products and meats. Other finished consumer goods include durable goods such as automobiles, household furniture, and appliances, as well as nondurable goods such as apparel and home heating oil. Capital equipment includes producer durable goods such as heavy motor trucks, tractors, and machine tools.

The stage-of-processing category for intermediate materials, supplies, and components consists partly of commodities that have been processed but require further processing. Examples of such semifinished goods include flour, cotton yarn, steel mill products, and lumber. The intermediate goods category also encompasses nondurable, physically complete items purchased by business firms as inputs for their operations. Examples include diesel fuel, belts and belting, paper boxes, and fertilizers.

Crude materials for further processing are products entering the market for the first time that have not been manufactured or fabricated and that are not sold directly to consumers. Crude foodstuffs and feedstuffs include items such as grains and livestock. Examples of crude nonfood materials include raw cotton, crude petroleum, coal, hides and skins, and iron and steel scrap.

The illustration shows examples of how products are classified by stage of processing

Commodity Indexes

The commodity classification structure of the PPI organizes products by similarity of end use or material composition, disregarding industry of origin. Fifteen major commodity groupings (2-digit commodity codes) make up the All Commodities index. Each major commodity grouping includes (in descending order of aggregation) subgroups (3-digit), product classes (4-digit), subproduct classes (6-digit), and individual items (8 digit). Nearly all 8-digit commodities under the traditional commodity coding system are now derived from corresponding industry-classified product indexes. In such instances, movements in the traditional commodity price indexes and corresponding percent changes will be virtually identical to their industry-based counterparts, even if their index levels differ.

Industry Net-Output Price Indexes

PPIs for the net output of industries and their products are grouped according to the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS). Prior to the release of January 2004, industry-based PPIs were published according to the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) system. Industry price indexes are compatible with other economic time series organized by industry, such as data on employment, wages, and productivity. Table 5 of the PPI Detailed Report includes data for NAICS industries and industry groups (3-, 4-, 5- and 6-digit codes); indexes for Census product classes (7- and 8-digits), products (9-digits), and more detailed subproducts (11-digits); and, for some industries, indexes for other sources of revenue.

Indexes may represent one of three kinds of product indexes. Every industry has primary product indexes to show changes in prices received by establishments classified in the industry for products made primarily, but not necessarily exclusively, by that industry. The industry classification of an establishment is determined by which products comprise a plurality of its total shipment value. In addition, most industries have secondary product indexes that show changes in prices received by establishments classified in the industry for products chiefly made in some other industry. Finally, some industries have miscellaneous receipts indexes to show price changes in other sources of revenue received by establishments within the industry that are not derived from sales of their products, for example, resales of purchased materials, or revenues from parking lots owned by a manufacturing plant.

Data Collection

PPIs are based on selling prices reported by establishments of all sizes selected by probability sampling, with the probability of selection proportionate to size. Individual items and transaction terms from these firms are also chosen by probability proportionate to size. BLS strongly encourages cooperating companies to supply actual transaction prices at the time of shipment to minimize the use of list prices. Prices submitted by survey respondents are effective on the Tuesday of the week containing the 13th day of the month. This survey is conducted primarily through the mail.

Price data are provided on a voluntary and confidential basis; only sworn BLS employees are allowed access to individual company price reports. BLS publishes price indexes instead of unit dollar prices. All PPIs are subject to revision 4 months after original publication to reflect the availability of late reports and corrections by respondents.

BLS periodically updates the PPI sample of survey respondents to better reflect current conditions when the structure, membership, technology, or product mix of an industry shifts significantly and to spread reporting burden among smaller firms. Results of these resampling efforts are incorporated into the PPI with the release of data for January and July.

As part of an ongoing effort to expand coverage to sectors of the economy other than mining and manufacturing, an increasing number of service sector industries have been introduced into the PPI. The following list of recently introduced industries includes the month and year in which an article describing the industry's content appeared in the PPI Detailed Report.

Weights

Weights for most traditional commodity groupings of the PPI, as well as weights for commodity-based aggregate indexes calculated using traditional commodity groupings, such as stage-of-processing indexes, currently reflect 1997 values of shipments as reported in the Census of Manufactures and other sources. From January 1996 through December 2001, PPI weights were derived from 1992 shipment values. Industry indexes also are now calculated with 1997 net output weights. This periodic update of the value weights used to calculate the PPI is done to more accurately reflect changes in production and marketing patterns in the economy. Net output values of shipments are used as weights for industry indexes. Net output values refer to the value of shipments from establishments within the industry to buyers outside the industry. However, weights for commodity price indexes are based on gross shipment values, including shipment values between establishments within the same industry. As a result, broad commodity grouping indexes, such as the PPI for All Commodities, are affected by the multiple counting of price change at successive stages of processing, which can lead to exaggerated or misleading signals about inflation. Stage-of-processing indexes partially correct this defect, but industry indexes consistently correct for this at all levels of aggregation. Therefore, industry and stage-of-processing indexes are more appropriate than broad commodity groupings for economic analysis of general price trends.

Price Index Reference Base

Effective with publication of January 1988 data, many important PPI series (including stage-of-processing groupings and most commodity groups and individual items) were placed on a new reference base, 1982=100. From 1971 through 1987, the standard reference base for most PPI series was 1967=100. Except for rounding differences, the shift to the new reference base did not alter any previously published percent changes for affected PPI series. (See "Calculating Index Changes," below.) The 1982 reference base is not used for commodity indexes with a base later than December 1981 or for industry net output indexes and their products.

For further information on the underlying concepts and methodology of the Producer Price Index, see chapter 14, "Producer Prices," in BLS Handbook of Methods (April 1997), Bulletin 2490. This document can be downloaded from the BLS website at http://www.bls.gov/opub/hom/homch14_itc.htm. Reprints are available on request.

Calculating Index Changes

Each PPI measures price changes from a reference period which equals 100.0. An increase of 5.5 percent from the reference period in the Finished Goods Price Index, for example, is shown as 105.5. This change can also be expressed in dollars, as follows: Prices received by domestic producers of a sample of finished goods have risen from $100 in 1982 to $105.50. Likewise, a current index of 90.0 would indicate that prices received by producers of finished goods are 10 percent lower than they were in 1982.

Movements of price indexes from one month to another are usually expressed as percent changes, rather than as changes in index points. Index point changes are affected by the level of the index in relation to its base period, whereas percent changes are not. The following example shows the computation of index point and percent changes.

Index point change

Finished Goods Price Index	107.5
Less previous index	104.0
Equals index point change	3.5

Index percent change

Index point change	3.5
Divided by the previous index	104.0
Equals	0.034
Result multiplied by 100	0.034 x 100
Equals percent change	3.4

Seasonally Adjusted and Unadjusted Data

Because price data are used for different purposes by different groups, BLS publishes seasonally adjusted and unadjusted changes each month. Seasonally adjusted data are preferred for analyzing general price trends in the economy, because these data eliminate the effect of changes that normally occur at about the same time, and in about the same magnitude, every year—such as price movements resulting from normal weather patterns, regular production and marketing cycles, model changeovers, seasonal discounts, and holidays. For these reasons, seasonally adjusted data more clearly reveal underlying cyclical trends. Unadjusted data are of primary interest to users who need information that can be related to actual dollar values of transactions. Individuals requiring this information include marketing specialists, purchasing agents, budget and cost analysts, contract specialists, and commodity traders. It is the unadjusted data that are generally cited in escalating long-term contracts such as purchasing agreements or real estate leases. (See Escalation and Producer Price Indexes: A Guide for Contracting Parties, BLS Report 807, September 1991, available on request from BLS.)

In 1998, the PPI implemented the X-12-ARIMA Seasonal Adjustment Method; prior to that year the PPI employed the X-11 method. Each year, the seasonal status of most commodity indexes is re-evaluated to reflect more recent price behavior. Industry net output indexes are not seasonally adjusted. For time series that exhibit seasonal pricing patterns, new seasonal factors are estimated and applied to the unadjusted data for the previous 5 years. These updated seasonally adjusted indexes replace the most recent 5 years of seasonal data.

Seasonal factors may be applied to series using either a direct or aggregative method. Generally, commodity indexes are seasonally adjusted using direct seasonal adjustment, which produces a more complete elimination of seasonal movements than the aggregative method. However, the direct seasonal adjustment process may not yield figures that possess additive consistency. Thus, a seasonally adjusted index for a broad category that is directly adjusted may not be logically consistent with all seasonally adjusted indexes for its components. Seasonal movements for stage-of-processing indexes are derived indirectly through an aggregative method that combines movements of a wide variety of subproduct class (6-digit) series.

Seasonally adjusted indexes can become problematic when previously stable and predictable price patterns abruptly change. If the new pattern persists, the seasonal adjustment method will eventually reflect it adequately; if these patterns keep shifting, however, seasonally adjusted data will become chronically troublesome. This problem occurs relatively infrequently for farm and food-related products but has more often affected manufactured products such as automobiles and steel.

Since January 1988, the PPI has used Intervention Analysis Seasonal Adjustment methods to enhance the calculation of seasonal factors. With this technique, outlier values that may distort the seasonal pattern are removed from the data prior to applying the standard seasonal factor estimation procedure. For example, a possible economic cause for large price movements for petroleum-based products might have been the Persian Gulf War. In this case, intervention techniques allowed for better estimates of seasonally adjusted data. On the whole, very few series have required intervention. Out of nearly 900 seasonally adjusted series, only 16 interventions were performed in 1997.

For more information relating to seasonal adjustment methods, see (1) "Appendix A: Seasonal Adjustment Methodology at BLS," in the BLS Handbook of Methods (April 1997), Bulletin 2490 and (2) "Summary of Changes to the PPI's Seasonal Adjustment Methodology" in the January 1995 issue of Producer Price Indexes.

Producer Price Index Data Via the Internet

In 1995, BLS began posting PPI series, news releases, and technical information to both a World Wide Web (WWW) site and a file transfer protocol (FTP) site. During the years following the introduction of PPI Internet services, usage of these sites has eclipsed more traditional methods of data dissemination, such as subscriptions to the PPI Detailed Report. (There were more than 1.6 million accesses of PPI series over the Internet during the 12 months ended December 31, 2003.)

PPI data can be obtained from the WWW address at <http://www.bls.gov/ppi>. Scrolling down the page to the "Get Detailed Statistics" header reveals the following five methods of data retrieval:

- Most Requested Series is a form-based application that allows the user to quickly obtain PPI time series data by selecting from two separate lists (commodity and industry) of the most commonly requested time series, including the All Commodities index and the stage-of-processing indexes (for example, Finished Goods). Within each list, any one—or all—of the time series shown can be selected. A user can modify the date range and output options after executing the query, using the reformat button above the data output table.

- Create Customized Tables is a form-based query application designed for users unfamiliar with the PPI coding structure. It guides a user through the PPI classification system by listing index titles and does not require knowledge of commodity or industry codes. Data retrieved are based on a query formulated by selecting data characteristics from lists provided. Two options are available to create customized tables, depending on a user's browser capability. The one-screen option is a JavaScript application that uses a single screen to guide a user through the available time series data. The second option is a multiple screen, nonJava-based application. Both methods allow a user to browse the PPI coding structure and select multiple series codes. Using the one-screen option, users can modify the date range and output options after executing the query using the reformat button above the data output table.

- Series Report is a form-based application that uses formatted PPI time series identifiers (commodity or industry codes) as input in extracting data according to a specified set of date ranges and output options. This application provides the most efficient path for those users who are familiar with the format of PPI time series identifiers. Up to 300 indexes can be extracted at one time.

There are three basic formats for creating a unique PPI time series identifier. For commodity and stage-of-processing indexes, enter a "wpu" prefix (not seasonally adjusted) or a "wps" prefix (seasonally adjusted) in combination with a commodity-based code to create a series identifier.

Example:

Commodity code	Will provide data for:
wps063	Drugs and pharmaceuticals, seasonally adjusted
wpu063803	Pharmaceutical preparations, cardiovascular system
wpusop3000	Finished goods, not seasonally adjusted

For a current industry-based price index organized according to the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS), enter the prefix "pcu" followed by the industry-product code. The series identifier for products primary to an industry include 12 numeric digits, the 6-digit industry code is repeated, and up to seven additional digits of product detail. Dashes are used as place holders for higher-level industry group codes.

Industry-product code,
Current NAICS series

pcu325 --- 325 ---

pcu336110336110

pcu621111621111411

Will provide data for:

Chemical manufacturing, not seasonally adjusted

Automobile and light duty
motor vehicle manufacturing

Offices of physicians, one and two physician practices and single specialty group practices, general/family practice

To identify a discontinued industry-product code based on the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC), enter a "pdu" prefix and "#" between the fourth and fifth characters of the product code. A series identifier for the discontinued dataset uses underscores as placeholders to complete a reference to an SIC industry group code of less than four digits. (All PPI industry-based indexes organized by SIC were discontinued with the introduction of the NAICS.) In all cases, no spaces are permitted.

Industry-product code,
Discontinued SIC series

pdu28_ _#

pdu331_ #

pdu3711#111

Will provide data for:

Chemicals and allied products

Blast furnaces, steel works, and rolling and finishing mills

Passenger cars

• Flat Files and the FTP server are best suited for those users requiring access to either a large volume of time series data or other PPI-related documentation (such as, seasonal factor and relative importance tables). The FTP site can be accessed at <ftp://ftp.bls.gov> or directly from the links on the "Get Detailed Statistics" page or the PPI homepage. Data and documentation available for download include:

Directory:

- NAICS Current Series /pub/time.series/pc
- SIC Discontinued Series /pub/time.series/pd
- Commodity Series /pub/time.series/wp

- Special Requests /pub/special.requests/ppi
- Latest News Release /pub/news.release/ppi.txt

The FTP site maintains files to help with searches and downloads. These files are centrally located in the /pub/doc directory. Within this directory, go to the overview.txt file for an overview relating to all BLS data available through the FTP site. For commodity-based PPI data (that appear in tables 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, and 8 of the PPI monthly detailed report and tables 1, 2, 3, and 5 of the monthly news release), the program help file is wp.txt. For current industry-based PPI data based on the NAICS (that appear in tables 4, 5, and 9 of the monthly PPI report and table 4 of the monthly news release), the file is pc.txt. For industry-based SIC time series that have been discontinued, go to pd.txt. (These and other help files are also maintained within each of the five directories listed above.)

Other Sources of PPI Data

PPI data also can be accessed via the BLS homepage (<http://www.bls.gov>). After clicking the "Get Detailed Statistics" link at the top of the homepage, a chart appears listing all available BLS programs. The following four methods are available for PPI data: Most requested statistics, create customized tables (one screen or multiple screens), and flat files. Additional sources of BLS data are also accessible from this page, including: Economic news releases, series report, and economy at a glance.

Additional Information

The PPI homepage (<http://www.bls.gov/ppi>) contains additional information regarding PPI data and methodology. The top section of the homepage provides PPI news releases, both current and archived, as well as general PPI information. The "Tables Created by BLS" section found beneath the statistics section provides relative importance and seasonal factor tables. The remaining sections offer special notices and publications pertaining to PPI methodology and applications.

For questions or comments regarding PPI data classification, methodology, or data availability on the Internet, call or e-mail the Section of Index Analysis and Public Information directly at (202) 691-7705 or ppi-info@bls.gov. Data also can be obtained by calling the national fax-on-demand service at (202) 691-6325; this service enables customers to request faxes of BLS data 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
