A Daily Help to the Banker

Anything that aids you in meeting Competition, bringing in New Depositors, satisfying your Customers, and increasing your Earnings is eagerly sought after. To gain these ends you should read the Bankers' Monthly which tells vividly, clearly, specifically just how to handle practically every problem that arises in the operation of the small bank—information written out of the actual and tested experience of bankers whose deposits have increased tremendously by the use of the very methods set forth in the magazine.

The Bankers' Monthly

During 1918 will have special articles on: How to increase deposits—How to cut costs—How to help farmers—How to estimate expense—How to analyze accounts—How to meet competition—How to train help—How to advertise—How to handle credits—How to stop overdrafts—How to buy supplies.

It Will Give the Results and Methods Used by 517 Practical Bankers to Increase Their Deposits!

Instead of having these men come to you—perhaps at a time you are busy or away from the Bank—The Bankers' Monthly has sent its representatives to these bankers for you and secured first-hand, detailed description of the very methods, plans, and policies that have cut their costs, increased their earnings, and made it possible for them to show a steady increase in deposits. These Stories will appear from time to time during 1918.

SEND NO MONEY

Merely agree to look over the proved and tested plans of these successful bankers and see for yourself how easily you can add to your own methods the best plans they have worked out in their years of practical experience. Drop us a postal and we will send you a sample copy.
