Another Improvement

For the greater convenience of Directory users, the List of Bank Recommended Attorneys is bound separately, and a copy mailed to all subscribers shortly after delivery of the Directory.

We are constantly endeavoring to make the BLUE BOOK of greater service and convenience to users and, we believe, this new arrangement of the Attorney Section will make the Directory less bulky and therefore easier to handle and use.

We also believe that users of the Attorney List will find that, compiled in a separate book, it will be more convenient, efficient and serviceable.

Within this State, judges of the supreme court, court of appeals and circuit courts and the clerks of such courts, chancellors, registers in chancery, judges of the courts of probate, justices of the peace, and notaries public. The official should certify that the person signing the conveyance is known to him and acknowledges that "being informed of the contents of the conveyance he executed the same voluntarily on the day the same bears date." 2d. Outside of State—Judges and clerks of any federal court, judges and clerks of any court of record in any state, notaries public, or commissioners appointed by the governor of this State or commissioners of deeds for the state wherein the acknowledgment is taken beyond the limits of the United States, by the judges of any court of record, mayor or chief magistrate of any city, town or borough, or county, notaries public, or by any diplomatic, consular, or commercial agent of the United States. Foreign officers must attach official seal which fact must appear in certificate. For forms of deeds see "Conveyances."

Actions. All ordinary suits at law are commenced by suing out a summons which must be accompanied by a complaint stating the cause of action. Non-resident plaintiffs are required to give security for costs. When two or more persons are jointly bound by judgment, bond, or agreement, the obligation is several as well as joint.

Actions on Account. Suits upon open accounts may be accompanied by itemized, verified statement of the account, which when filed with the summons and complaint may be admissible in evidence to prove the account unless its correctness is denied under oath by defendant within the time allowed for pleading. Such statements must be sworn to by a person having knowledge of the correctness of the account and must show that the amount is due and unpaid after allowing all offsets and counter claims and when sworn to outside State, must bear official seal of officer.

Acceptance. Unconditional promise in writing to accept a bill before or after drawn is good in favor of all who take it upon faith thereof for value. The holder may decline a qualified acceptance and treat the bill as dishonored; if he takes qualified acceptance drawer and endorsers are discharged.

A Check is a bill of exchange on a bank payable on demand; must be presented within reasonable time after issue and if dishonored, notice must be given or drawer is discharged to the extent of loss caused by delay; does not operate to assign any part of drawer's funds in bank, and bank is not liable unless it accepts or certifies. If holder has check certified the drawer and endorsers are discharged. The making, uttering, drawing, or delivery of a check, draft, or order upon which payment is refused upon due presentation because of lack of funds shall be deemed prima facie evidence of intent to defraud and party may be convicted of a misdemeanor.

The present negotiable instrument law of Alabama, consisting of 193 sections went into force August 26, 1909 (Acts 1909, page 156). Its provisions do not apply to instruments made prior thereto, and is substantially uniform negotiable instruments Act. The act so materially changes the law in this State as to suggest the propriety of special examination in any doubtful case.

Administration of estates is had in the probate courts of decedents' residence. All claims must be presented by filing a verified statement thereof in the office of the Judge of Probate in which letters are granted within six months after granting of letters testamentary or of administration. Administration of intestate is granted, 1st: To the husband or widow; 2d: The next of kin entitled to share in the distribution of the estate; 3d: The largest creditor of the intestate residing within this State; 4th: The County or general administrator; 5th: Such other person as the judge of probate may appoint. There can be no appointment until after expiration of five (5) days from date of death. Preference must be exercised within forty days or rights relinquished. If several entitled to administer, men are preferred to women and whole blood to half blood. Nonresident executors and administrators may sue in this State by recording in probate judge's office copy of letters and giving bond to faithfully administer property. A nonresident may be appointed administrator or executor of a deceased resident's estate. Administrations may be removed to court of equity.

Affidavits may be taken within the State before every judge or clerk of any court, justices of the peace, and notaries public or any other person invested by law with judicial functions. Outside the State and within the United States may be taken before any judge or clerk of federal court, judge of any court of record in any state, notaries public and commissioners appointed by the governor. Foreign officer taking affidavit must attach seal which fact must be recited in the jurat.

Aliens. "Foreigners who are, or may hereafter become, bona fide residents of this State, shall enjoy the same rights in respect to the possession, enjoyment, and inheritance of property as native-born citizens."—Sec. 34, Const.

Alterations. When a negotiable instrument is materially altered without the assent of all the parties liable thereon, it is void except as against a party who has himself made, authorized, or assented to the alteration and subsequent endorsers. But when an instrument has been materially altered and is in the hands of a holder in due course, not a party to the alteration, he may enforce payment thereof according to its original tenor. Material alterations consist of any changes in date; sum payable interest on principal; time or place of payment; number and relation of parties; medium or currency in which payment is to be made.

Assignments and Insolvency. Every general assignment made by a debtor, or conveyance by a debtor of substantially all of his property in payment of a prior debt, by which a preference or priority of payment is given to one or more creditors, shall ensure to the benefit of all the creditors equally, but this section shall not apply to mortgages, pledges, or pawns given to secure a debt contracted contemporaneously with the execution of the mortgage. All assignments by a debtor made with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors are void. All deeds of assignment for the benefit of creditors shall, as soon as executed, be filed and recorded in the office of the judge of probate of the county in which the property is situated. Every judgment confessed, attachment procured by the debtor, or other disposition of property by which a debtor conveys all, or substantially all, of his property which is subject to execution in payment or as security for a debt shall be deemed a general assignment.

Attachment process will issue upon affidavit by the creditor or his agent of the amount due and that the debtor absconds, or resides out of the State, or secretes himself so that process cannot be served upon him, or is about to remove out of the State, or has or is about to fraudulently dispose of his property, or fraudulently withholds money, chattels, or effects which are liable to the satisfaction of his debts; plaintiff must give bond in double the amount claimed. Attachments will issue for the following demands: 1. To enforce the collection of a debt, whether it be due or not, at the time the attachment is taken out. 2. For any moneyed demand, the amount of which can be certainly ascertained. 3. To recover damages for a breach of contract when the damages are not certain or liquidated. 4. When the action sounds in damages merely in following cases, viz.: 1. Where defendant is a non-resident. 2. When the defendant has absconded. 3. When defendant has secreted himself. 4. When defendant is about to remove from the State. 5. When defendant is about to remove his property from State. 6. When defendant is about to or has fraudulently disposed of his property or fraudulently withholds same. One non-resident may sue out an attachment against another non-resident by making oath that the defendant has not sufficient property within the State of his residence wherefrom to satisfy the debt. Attachments may be sued out in aid of a pending suit when any of the above grounds exist by making affidavit and executing bond. Garnishment process will issue in aid of attachment in all such cases. Garnishment may be dissolved by giving bond. In all cases of attachments sued out by a resident solely upon the ground that the defendant is a non-resident, the attachment may issue without giving bond, but if defendant appears and pleads, bond must be given or the attachment dismissed.

Banks. State Banks of discount and deposit may be established by individuals or corporations, but before organization must obtain permit from Superintendent of Banks. Before issuing permit Superintendent of Banks must investigate as to public necessity of bank in community where same is proposed and the fitness and character of individuals proposing to organize bank, or if corporation, the character and fitness of stockholders proposing to incorporate bank. Appeal from Superintendent's refusal to issue permit may be taken to State Banking Board.

the within named known to me (or made known to me) to be the wife of the within named who, being examined separate and apart from her husband touching her signature to the within acknowledged that she signed the same of her own free will and accord, and without fear, constraint, or threats on the part of her husband.

In witness whereof, I hereto set my hand and official seal this ..... day of 19.....

(Official Character.)

Corporation to make following acknowledgment:

..... that
whose name as of the said corporation, is signed to the foregoing conveyance, and who is known to me, acknowledged before me on this day, that, being informed of the contents of the conveyance, he, as such officer, and with full authority, executed the same voluntarily for and as the act of said corporation.

Corporations. All corporations are formed under the general state law; creation under a special act is not permitted. Three or more persons may incorporate and articles of incorporation are filed in the office of the Judge of Probate in the county in which the corporation has its principal place of business. Certificate of incorporation must contain a verified statement showing the amount of capital stock paid in, which shall not be less than 20% of the total subscription.
Stockholders are liable to creditors for unpaid subscriptions to the capital stock. Corporations may be sued in any county in which it does business by agent.

Days of Grace are abolished. (See Negotiable Instruments.)

Depositions. In cases at law, depositions may be taken of witnesses who cannot be present at the trial in the following cases:
When the witness is a female; when the witness is too sick to attend court; when the witness resides more than 100 miles from the place of trial, or is absent from the State; when the witness is about to leave the State; and not return in time for the trial; when the witness is the sole witness of the facts; when the witness is one of the officers designated in Code section 7744, Code of 1923 (last code). Affidavit must be made of one of the above facts, and of the materiality of the witness.
May be taken on interrogatories by a commissioner appointed by the court for that purpose. The commissioner may be any suitable person, need not be an officer. In equity suits, where witnesses live within 100 miles of the place of trial, depositions may be taken by oral examination before the register, or a special examiner, or commissioner appointed for the purpose.

Descent and Distribution. The real estate of persons dying intestate, in this State, descends, subject to the payment of debts and the widow's dower as follows: First to the children of the intestate or their descendants per stirpes in equal parts. Next, to the parents, if they survive, in equal parts. If only one parent survives, then one-half to such parent and one-half to the brothers and sisters of the deceased or their descendants, and if there be no brothers and sisters, and their descendants, then the whole estate shall go to the surviving parent. If there are no children or their descendants, and no father or mother, then to the brothers and sisters of the intestate, or their descendants, in equal parts. If there are none of the above to take, then the whole to the husband or wife of the intestate, and if there be no husband or wife or none of the foregoing living, then to the next of kin in equal degree in equal parts. If there are no next of kin it escheats to the State. The personal estate is distributed the same as the real estate, except that if there are no children the widow is entitled to all of the personal estate. If but one child she takes one-half. If not more than four children to a child's part and if more than four to one-fifth. Posthumous children take as others. Illegitimate children inherit from their mother. The husband upon the death of the wife is entitled to half of her personal estate absolutely, and to the use of all of her real estate for life, unless he has been divested of all control over her estate by a decree of the chancery court.
Damages recovered by personal representative for death of deceased are distributed according to statute of distribution and are exempt from payment of debts.

Discovery. Either party to a suit at law or in equity may examine his adversary by filing written interrogatories and making affidavit that answers will be material evidence for him.

Dower. Unless the wife has relinquished her right of dower in the manner provided by statute she is, upon the death of the husband, entitled to dower in all lands of which the husband was seized in fee during the marriage, or of which another was seized to his use or to which he had a perfect equity having paid all the purchase money therefor. The dower interest is one-half when the husband leaves no lineal descendants, and one-third when the estate is insolvent or the husband leaves children or their descendants. If the wife has at the death of the husband a separate estate equal in value to her dower interest, she shall not have dower, and if of less value is only entitled to such amounts as with her estate will make the full value of the dower.

Executions. Property subject to: 1st. On real property, to which the defendant has a legal title or a perfect equity, having paid the purchase money, or in which he has vested interest, in possession, reversion, or remainder, whether he has the entire estate, or is entitled to it in common with others. 2d. On personal property of the defendant (except things in action), whether he has the absolute title thereto, or the right only to the possession thereof for his own life, the life of another, or a less period. 3d. On an equity of redemption in either land or personal property, when any interest less than the absolute title is sold. The purchaser is subrogated to all the rights of the defendant, and subject to all his disabilities. Writ of fieri facias is a lien only within the county in which it is received by the officer, on lands and personalty of defendant subject to levy and sale, from the time only that the writ is received by such officer and continues as long as writ is regularly delivered to the sheriff without the lapse of an entire term. A statement of a judgment certified by the clerk of the court may be filed in the office of the judge of probate, which makes the judgment a lien within the county in which it is filed for ten years thereafter. Execution may be issued on such judgment at any time.

Executions issued by justices are liens on the property of the defendant, on which they are levied, from the time of the levy. An order must be obtained from the circuit court for the sale of lands levied on under execution from a justice's court. No stay of execution in circuit court except by appeal, and supersedeas bond which delays collection until affirmance by supreme court, and entails 10 per cent damages, with legal interest and costs. In justice's court stay is granted on good security, below $20, thirty days over $20, sixty days.

Exemptions. Homestead not exceeding 160 acres and $2,000 in value.

Personal property to the amount of $1,000. Exemptions of personal property may be waived by instrument in writing except as to certain household furniture and provisions and wages to amount of $25.00 per month.

Foreign Corporations. Before engaging in business in the State, corporations are required to file in the office of the Secretary of State a certified copy of its charter and designate a known place of business in the State and an authorized agent residing in the State upon whom service of process may be had. Foreign corporations failing to comply with foreign corporation laws become liable for penalty of $1,000.00 for each act which constitutes doing business in the State. Agents of such corporations who have not complied with foreign corporation laws are also liable for penalty of $500.00 for each act, and all contracts of foreign corporations who have not complied with Alabama laws are void. Foreign corporations are required to pay license fees ranging from $25.00 upwards according to the amount of capital invested in the State and to procure a permit on the first of each year from the Secretary of State. Charge for this permit is $10.00 per year.

Frauds, Statute of. In the following cases, every agreement, or note or memo thereof, expressing the consideration, is in writing and signed by the party to be charged: 1st. Every agreement which by its terms is not to be performed within one year from the making thereof. 2d. Every special promise by an executor or administrator to answer damages out of his own estate. 3d. Every special promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another. 4th. Every agreement, promise, or undertaking, made upon consideration of marriage, except mutual promises to marry. 5th. Every contract for the sale of lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or of any interest therein, except leases for a term of not longer than one year, unless the purchase money, or a portion thereof, be paid and the purchaser be put in possession by the seller.

Garnishment may issue in any case after suit commenced upon affidavit of necessity and bond as in attachment cases, or after judgment, without bond.

Holidays. The following are the legal holidays: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); January 19 (Robert E. Lee's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); Mardi Gras Day, which is Tuesday before Ash Wednesday; April 13 (Jefferson's birthday); April 26 (Confederate Memorial Day); June 3 (Jefferson Davis' birthday); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Fraternal Day). Where October 12th falls on Sunday there is no provision that the following Monday is a holiday. Extra Session 1933, page 183-4. November 11
(Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; December 25 (Christmas Day).

If a holiday falls on Sunday, the following Monday is a holiday.
Husband and Wife. The wife has full legal capacity to contract as if she were sole, except that she can not alienate or encumber her real estate without the husband joining in the conveyance, unless the husband be insane or has abandoned her, or is a non-resident, or is imprisoned under a conviction for crime for a period of two years or more, in which cases the wife may convey it as if she were sole.

Husband and wife may contract with each other, but the wife cannot be surety for the husband. All of the property and the earnings of the wife are her separate estate, and are not liable for the debts of the husband. The wife must sue and be sued alone for all matters relating to her separate estate or contracts, and for all torts to her person or property. Divorce bars dower and husband's courtesy.

Interest. Legal rate 6%; 8% permitted by contract.

Judgments of courts of record are proved by a certified transcript.
Judgment not a lien, but when a certified statement thereof, made by the clerk of the court is filed in the office of the probate judge, it becomes a lien on all property of the defendant therein in the county, which is subject to execution for ten years, to enforce which execution may issue at any time within that period. Execution received by sheriff during life of defendant may be levied after his decease or alias execution issued and levied if there has not been lapse of entire term so as to destroy lien originally created. Above applies to executions from circuit and chancery courts. An execution issued by a justice of the peace is a lien only from time of its levy. All agreements to confess judgment, or to authorize another to confess judgment, made before the commencement of the suit in which such judgments are so confirmed are void.

Lien for Rent. The landlords of any store house, dwelling house, or other building, shall have a lien on the goods, furniture and effects belonging to the tenant, and sub-tenant for his rent, which shall be superior to all other liens, except those for taxes, also on crops grown on rented premises for rent and advances.

Limitations. Notes and stated accounts, six years; open accounts, three years; sealed instruments, real actions, and motions against officers, ten years; judgments, twenty years; actions on the case, one year. Bar created by statute can only be removed by a partial payment, made on the contract before the bar is complete, or by an unconditional promise in writing. If anyone entitled to bring an action, or make an entry on land, or defense founded on title to real estate, be at the time such right accrues within the age of twenty-one years, or insane or imprisoned on a criminal charge for a term less than life, he shall have three years, or the period allowed by law, for bringing such action, if the period allowed by law be less than three years, after the termination of such disability to bring such suit, etc., but no action can be commenced after twenty years. Statutes of limitation apply to married women's separate estates. Actions founded on a promise in writing not under seal, or for trespass to person or property, must be brought within six years. Statutes of limitation are made applicable to equitable as well as legal demands, but do not run against direct trusts. Any agreement or stipulation to shorten the period prescribed by law for the bringing of any action is void. Actions seeking relief on the ground of fraud where the statute created a bar, the cause of action begins to run upon discovery of the fraud by aggrieved party.
No promise or acknowledgment is sufficient to remove the bar to a suit, except a partial payment made upon the contract by the party sought to be charged before the bar is complete, or an unconditional promise in writing, signed by the party to be charged thereby.

Married Women. (See Husband and Wife.)

Mechanics' Lien. Contractors, including subcontractors mechanics, material men, and laborers have a lien on houses built and the ground on which they stand upon complying with the law.

Mortgages are executed and acknowledged in the same manner as deeds. May be foreclosed by bill in equity, or if there be a provision to that effect, by sale under power, upon such default as authorized a sale. All mortgages are void against creditors or purchasers without notice, unless recorded. Mortgages operate as notice from day of delivery to probate judge for record. There is no fixed time within which they shall be recorded. Homestead realty cannot be mortgaged or otherwise aliened without the voluntary signature and assent of wife, evidenced by acknowledgment, upon private examination separate and apart from the husband, and certified. All mortgages must be in writing, signed by the mortgagor. Payment of mortgage debt made before or after maturity of debt, revests in the mortgagor, or his assigns, the title to the real or personal property mortgaged, if made in the lifetime of the mortgagor; if made after his death, such payment reverts title to personal property in the personal representative, and title to realty in the heirs, devisees, or legatees of the mortgagor. Chattel mortgages must be in writing. When the mortgagor is sued by the mortgagee for possession of the mortgaged property, he may defend by showing payment of the debt, or part payment and a tender of the balance, or may pay it after judgment.

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act effective January 1, 1908. See full text of the law following "Digest of Banking & Commercial Laws."

Partition. Partition of real or personal property may be made, upon application of any tenant in common in either Courts of Probate or Courts of Equity, and may be sold for division if it can not be equitably divided.

Powers of Attorney. Powers of attorney or other instruments conferring authority to convey property must be proved or acknowledged in the same manner and must be received as evidence to the same extent as conveyances (see Conveyances), and must be executed as conveyances. A power of attorney to relinquish dower must be executed by husband and wife jointly. Her signature must be acknowledged as required for conveyances of land.

Presentment. Is not necessary to charge one primarily liable except in case of bank notes; if payable at special place ability and willingness to pay it there at maturity is equivalent to a tender: if not on demand it must be presented on day it falls due, if on demand then within a reasonable time after its issue, except a bill of exchange must be presented within reasonable time after its last negotiation.

Probate Law. A court of probate, consisting of one judge, is established for each county in the State. This court has jurisdiction of the probate of wills, of granting letters testamentary and of administration, and the repeal or revocation of the same; of the settlements of accounts of executors and administrators, of the sale and disposition of the real and personal property belonging to, and the distribution of, intestates' estates. Also of the appointment, removal, and settlements of guardians for minors and persons of unsound mind, the binding out of apprentices, the allotment of dower, and the partition of land belonging to joint owners. A court of probate must be held at the court house of each county on the second Monday of each month, and the judge may hold special or adjourned terms whenever necessary, but such court must at all times be considered open, except on Sundays. It also keeps a record of deeds, mortgages, and instruments entitled to record.

Promissory Note. (See Negotiable Instruments.)

Protest. (See Negotiable Instruments.)

Protest of Foreign Bills. (See Negotiable Instruments.)

Replevin. Writ of replevin lies to recover property in custody of an officer of the law, and is limited to this. The action of detinue lies to recover personal property in all other instances.

Sales. Uniform sales act in force.

Sales in Bulk. Sales of all or substantially all of stock of merchandise except in regular course of trade is prima facie fraudulent and void against creditors unless they are notified in writing prior to the sale in manner prescribed by statute.

Taxes become due October 1st, and delinquent on the 31st of December of the year for which they are levied and lands may be sold by proceedings had in the Probate Court commenced in the month of March following the due date of taxes provided the personal property is insufficient to pay taxes. The rate of taxation is 64 mills or sixty-five cents on each $100.00 on amounts assessed. This is for State purposes only. Municipalities may levy taxes at the rate of fifty cents on each $100.00 except that certain named municipalities of the larger class may levy a larger amount by special constitutional provision. Counties may levy similar amount to the municipalities except that certain special taxes varying in different counties are levied in addition. Assessments based on 60% of the valuation of the property. Counties may vote additional levies for specific purposes and may secure the same by bonds. The purchaser of lands sold for taxes receives from the tax collector a certificate of purchase showing a description of the property, the date and amount of assessment, the taxes, costs, and fees, etc., and after the expiration of three years from the date of sale, the purchaser may get a deed from the Judge of Probate. The delinquent tax payer has three years from date of sale in which to redeem. After purchaser goes into possession under a deed and keeps possession for three years recitals in the deed are held to be true and cannot be disproved. On redemption, the person redeeming pays the amount of taxes for which the land sold, costs of sale, with interest at 8% per annum and all taxes paid subsequent to the sale by the purchaser with interest thereon at 8% per annum. Whenever land is sold for state or county taxes and from any cause such sale is invalid to pass title to purchaser, sale operates as transfer to purchaser of lien of state or county on the property for payment of taxes for which sold. All cotton factories or cotton mills and certain other industries which shall be constructed in this State shall be exempt from taxation for a period of 5 years.

Wills. All wills of real or personal property must be in writing signed by the testator and declared his last will and testament in the presence of two witnesses who must sign as witnesses in the presence of testator. Unwritten will of personal property valid only when the property does not exceed $500 in value, and must be made during last sickness by testator at his home. Persons present must be called on to witness that it is testator's will and must be reduced to writing by one of the witnesses within six days. Minor over eighteen may make a will of personal property. No will effective until probated. May be contested in probate or chancery court. Widow may within six months dissent and take dower.

SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF ALASKA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by M. E. MONAGLE, 206 Seward Bldg., Juneau, Alaska
(See card in Attorneys List)

Acknowledgments. (See Deeds.)

Actions. The distinction between actions at law and suits in equity and all forms of pleading heretofore existing in actions at law and suits in equity are abolished, and there is but one form of action, denominated a civil action, for the enforcement or protection of private rights and the redress or prevention of private wrongs. Every action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, except that an administrator or executor, a trustee of an express trust, or a person expressly authorized by statute may sue without joining with him the person for whose benefit the action is prosecuted; but the assignment of a thing in action not arising out of contract is not authorized.

Affidavits. An affidavit or deposition taken out of Alaska, otherwise than upon commission, must be authenticated as follows: 1. It must be certified by a commissioner appointed by the governor of Alaska to take affidavits and depositions in the state, territory, district or country where taken; or, 2. it must be certified by a judge of a court of record having a clerk and a seal to have been taken and subscribed before him at a time and place therein specified, and the existence of the court, the fact that such judge is a member thereof and the genuineness of his signature must be certified by the clerk of the court, under the seal thereof. In all affidavits or depositions witness should speak in the first person.

Aliens. Any alien who is a bona fide resident of the United States, or who has declared his intention to become a citizen, or whose rights are secured by treaty, may acquire and hold lands upon the same terms as a citizen. Any alien may acquire lands by inheritance or in the ordinary course of justice in the collection of debts, and may acquire and enforce liens upon lands, but such lands must be sold within ten years. Any alien may also acquire and hold lots or parcels of land in any incorporated or platted city, town, or village, or in any mine or mining claim, but is not authorized to acquire title from the United States to any of the public lands.

Associations. A non-profit Co-operative Association may be formed by fifty or more persons, a majority of whom are residents of the Territory, engaged in the production of agricultural or aquatic products.

The corporation may be organized with or without capital stock. Articles must be subscribed by incorporators and acknowledged by at least one of them and filed in the manner of any corporation in the Territory.

Meetings, other than those provided for in the by-laws, may be called by a petition of 40% of the members.

Marketing contracts are provided for, but are not binding for a period exceeding ten years.

Attachment. The plaintiff, at the time of issuing the summons or afterwards, may have the property of defendant attached in an action upon a contract, express or implied, for the direct payment of money, and, 1, which is not secured by mortgage, lien, or pledge upon real or personal property, or if so secured, when the security has been rendered nugatory by the act of the defendant; or, 2, against a non-resident defendant. The writ issues whenever the plaintiff, or anyone in his behalf, files an affidavit showing that defendant is indebted to plaintiff (specifying the amount of indebtedness over and above all legal set-offs or counter-claims) upon a contract, express or implied, for the direct payment of money; that the payment has not been secured by mortgage, lien, or pledge upon real or personal property; and that the sum for which attachment is asked is an actual, bona fide existing debt due and owing from plaintiff to defendant; and that the attachment is not sought nor the action prosecuted to hinder, delay, or defraud any creditor of the defendant. Plaintiff must also file an undertaking, with one or more sureties, in a sum not less than $100, and equal to the amount for which he demands judgment, conditioned that plaintiff will pay all costs adjudged and all damages sustained by reason of the attachment if the same be wrongful or without sufficient cause, not exceeding the amount specified.

Banks and Banking. The banking business is regulated by the Territorial Banking Board. Board may declare Banking Holiday at any time it sees fit. Every bank whether incorporated or private is required to make quarterly reports and also special reports to the Banking Board.

Paid in capital stock of an incorporated bank must be not less than $25,000, except in towns that have a population of not to exceed 1,000 people within a five-mile radius thereof, the paid in capital stock may be not less than $15,000, providing the consent of the Banking Board is first obtained. Individuals and partnerships have the same requirements as to capital actually invested. However, with the permission of Banking Board a bank may reduce its capital stock to $15,000 where its deposits have not exceeded $100,000 at any time during past fifteen months. On the other hand Banking Board may require bank to increase capital stock to $25,000 where deposits have exceeded $150,000 for a period of nine months. (Laws 1917, c. 7, amending 1913, c. 48.)

Three or more persons may incorporate to carry on the banking business, but one of said persons must be resident Territory. No bank incorporated within Territory is authorized to carry on their business until it meets the requirements covering paid up stock nor until said stock is paid in full. The list of subscribers to the Capital stock of an incorporated bank must be filed with Banking Board and give name, residence and amount subscribed by each stockholder.

There are special corporate laws regulating the procedure of incorporating banks.

No bank is allowed to make loans greater than the sum of $1,000 to any person without such loan having been approved by the Board of Directors; or a loan exceeding 35% of its combined capital and surplus in any case. Banks may not give preference except to Territory to secure Territorial funds and to the United States; but bank is allowed to borrow not to exceed its paid up capital, and may pledge not to exceed 50% of amount borrowed as collateral security. A reserve of 20% of its demand liabilities must be kept on hand at all times by every bank in the territory. Ch. 31 Laws 1915. Any authorized bank can postpone payment of deposits.

Bank Collection Code. None in effect in Alaska.

Bills and Notes. The uniform Negotiable Instrument act has been adopted.

Chattel Mortgages. Any interest in personal property, capable of being transferred, may be mortgaged; but the mortgage is void as against creditors and subsequent purchasers and incumbrancers in good faith and for value, unless possession of the property be delivered to and retained by the mortgagor or the mortgagee provide that the property may remain in the possession of the mortgagor and be accompanied by the affidavit of all the parties thereto that the same is made in good faith to secure the amount named therein, and without design to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors, and be acknowledged and filed. The mortgage must be acknowledged by the mortgagor as a conveyance of real property is and be filed in the office of the recorder of the precinct where the mortgagor resides and of the precinct where the property is. Within thirty days next preceding the expiration of one year from the date upon which such indebtedness became due a verified statement of the interest of the mortgagee in the property at the time the same is renewed, must be filed in the office where the original was filed, and the lien is thereby extended another year. Chattel mortgages are foreclosed in the same manner as mortgages and liens upon real property, but a clause may be inserted in a mortgage authorizing the marshal to execute the power of sale therein granted to the mortgagee.

Corporations. Domestic Corporations. Three or more adult persons may form a stock corporation for any lawful purpose, whose chief business shall be in the Territory, except for the purposes of brokerage, or loan, trust and guaranty associations. At least one director must be a resident of Alaska.

Shares of stock are not assessable unless original or amended Articles of Incorporation expressly confer authority to levy assessment, or unless stock certificates provide for assessments, except Insurance and Banking shares, which are assessable to certain limits by operation of law.

All corporations once qualified to do business must thereafter file a copy of any change in its articles or capital structure within sixty days of such change.

Foreign Corporations. Every corporation or joint stock company organized under the laws of the United States or any state or territory shall, before doing business within the district, file in the office of the auditor of the district and in the office of the clerk of the district court for the division wherein it intends to carry on business a duly authenticated copy of its charter or articles of incorporation, and of any amendments thereto, and also a financial statement, giving certain statutory information, verified by the oath of its president and secretary and attested by a majority of its board of directors. Thereafter such statement must also be so filed within sixty days after January first of each year. The corporation must also file in the same offices the appointment of a resident of Alaska upon whom service of statutory service or process may be made. The consent of the statutory agent is no longer required by statute, but since there is no cost for filing the consent it is better procedure to file same.

Deeds. A conveyance of lands, or of any estate or interest therein, may be made by deed, signed and sealed by the person from whom the estate or interest is intended to pass, and acknowledged or proved, and recorded, without any other act or ceremony, provided, however, that in all deeds or conveyances of the family home or homestead made by a married man, or a woman, the husband and wife shall join in such deeds or conveyances. A quit-claim deed passes all the estate which the grantor could convey by deed of bargain and sale. No covenants are implied in any conveyance. The term "heirs" or other words of inheritance are not necessary to create or convey an estate in fee simple. Wife may convey her lands without joinder of husband. Within the district deeds must be executed in the presence of two witnesses, who shall subscribe their names as such;

and the person executing a deed may acknowledge the execution before a judge, clerk of the district court, notary public, or commissioner or a United States Postmaster (48 U. S. C. A. 35a) within the district, and the officer taking the acknowledgment must indorse thereon a certificate of acknowledgment and the true date of making the same under his hand.

Depositions. The testimony of a witness, in the district, may be taken by deposition, in an action, at any time after the service of the summons or the appearance of the defendant, and in a special proceeding after a question of fact has arisen, when, 1. the witness is a party to the action or proceeding, by the opposite party; 2. the witness's residence is more than one hundred miles from the place of trial; 3. the witness is about to go more than one hundred miles beyond the place of trial; 4. the witness is too infirm to attend the trial; or, 5. the testimony is required upon a motion, or in any other case where the oral examination of the witness is not required.

The testimony of a witness, out of the district, may be taken by deposition, by commission issued, upon eight days' notice to the other party, by the clerk of the court, or justice of the peace in a cause in his own court, to a person agreed upon by the parties, or, if they do not agree, to a judge, justice of the peace, notary public, or clerk of a court selected by the officer issuing the commission.

The amount of the commissioner's fees should be indorsed upon the deposition.

Descent and Distribution. The real property of an intestate descends in equal share to children and to the issue of any deceased by right of representation; and if there be no child of intestate living at the time of his or her death, to all his or her other lineal descendants; and if all such descendants are in the same degree of kindred to the intestate, they take equally; otherwise, by representation. 2. If intestate leave no lineal descendants, to his wife; or if intestate be a married woman, to her husband; and if intestate leave no wife nor husband, to the parents equally or the survivor. 3. If intestate leave no lineal descendants, neither husband nor wife, nor parents, such real property descends in equal shares to his brothers and sisters, and to the issue of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation. 4. If intestate leave no lineal descendants, nor father, brother, nor sister, living at time of his or her death then real property descends to mother, to exclusion of issue of any deceased brothers or sisters. 5. If intestate leave no lineal descendants, neither husband nor wife, nor father, mother, brother, nor sister, such real property descends to his next of kin in equal degree, excepting that when there are two or more collateral kindred in equal degree but claiming through different ancestors, those who claim through the nearest ancestor are preferred. 6. If intestate leave one or more children, and the issue of one or more deceased children, and any of such surviving children due under age without having been married, all such real property that came to such deceased child by inheritance from such intestate descends in equal shares to the other children of such intestate and to the issue of any other children who have died, by right of representation. But if all the other children of intestate be dead, and any of them have left issue, such real property so inherited by such deceased child descends to all the issue of such other children of the intestate in equal shares, if they are in the same degree of kindred to such deceased child; otherwise, they take by right of representation. 7. If intestate leave no lineal descendants or kindred, such real property escheats to the territory of Alaska. Personal property same as real property except (1) apparel and ornaments to widow (2) payment of debts (3) same as real property except (a) if husband and issue, half to husband; if no issue, all to husband; (b) if widow and issue, half to widow; if no issue, all to widow; (5) if no husband, widow or kindred, all escheats to territory.

Property escheated to the Territory may be recovered by bringing petition for said recovery within seven years after judgment entered in escheat proceedings.

Dower and Curtesy. The widow of every deceased person is entitled to dower, or the use during her natural life of one-third part in value of all the lands whereof her husband died seized of an estate of inheritance. Estates by Curtesy are abolished.

Evidence. Holidays. The legal holidays are Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); March 30 (Seward's Day in commemoration of the signing of the Treaty ceding Alaska to the United States); May 30 (Memorial Homestead. The homestead of any family, or the proceeds thereof, is exempt. Such homestead must be the actual abode of, and owned by, such family or some member thereof, and not exceed $2,500 in value nor exceed 160 acres in extent, if not located in a town or city laid off into blocks or lots; or if located in any such town or city, one-fourth of an acre. This exemption does not apply to decrees for the foreclosure of any mortgage property executed; but if the owners of such homestead be married, the mortgage must be executed by husband and wife.

Interest. The legal rate of interest is 6 per cent, but on contract interest at the rate of 8% per cent may be charged by express agreement of the parties. Judgments bear interest at 6%. If usurious interest has been received or collected the party paying the same, or his legal representatives, may, by action brought within two years, recover double the amount of such interest. If it is ascertained in any action upon contract that an unauthorized rate of interest has been contracted for, judgment must be rendered against the defendant for the amount due, without interest, and against the plaintiff for costs. If the rate contracted for is 8 per cent or less, the debtor may also agree to pay the taxes upon the debt, credit, or mortgage.

Judgment and Execution. A judgment is docketed immediately after entry. At any time thereafter while execution may issue a certified transcript of the docket may be filed in the office of the recorder of any recording district, and from the date of docketing a judgment or transcript thereof the judgment is a lien upon all the real property of the defendant within the recording district or districts which were docketed, or which he may afterwards acquire therein during the time an execution may issue. If no execution issues within ten years the lien expires, but is renewed if afterwards leave is given to issue execution and a transcript of the docket of the order docketed with the recorder.

Execution may issue at any time within five years from the entry of the judgment, and thereafter on order of the court made on motion of the party in whose favor the judgment was given. Such motion must be subscribed and verified as a complaint, and summons must be served upon the judgment debtor or his representatives, to which he or they may demur or answer. The order made must be docketed as a judgment. Execution may be against the property of the judgment debtor, his person, or for the delivery of the possession of real or personal property, or such delivery with damages. Execution from the district court is returnable within sixty days; from the commissioner's court within thirty days. Until a levy property is not affected by the execution.

Statutory liens given to: (a) person who makes, alters, repairs, or bestows labor on any article of personalty at request of owner or lawful possessor; (b) person who is a common carrier or who shall, at request of owner or lawful possessor, carry, convey, or transport personalty from one place to another; (c) any person who shall safely keep or store any grain, wares, merchandise, and personalty at request of owner or lawful possessor; (d) any person who shall pasture or feed any horses, cattle, hogs, sheep or other live stock, or bestow any labor, care or attention upon them, at request of owner or lawful possessor; (e) laborers and loggers for labor on or in assisting to obtain any sawlogs, spars, piles, cordwood, fuelwood, shingle bolts, or other timber; (f) laborers, material men and contractors for work, labor and materials for the construction altering, digging, drilling, boring, operating, completing or repairing of gas wells, oil wells, or other wells, gas pipe lines or oil pipe lines; (g) laborers and material men for labor or materials furnished that contribute to the preparation of fish or aquatic animals for food, fish meal, fertilizer, oil or other article of commerce; (h) laborers, miners and watchmen for labor and work in, on or about mines and mining property.

Limitations. Civil actions must be commenced within the following periods after the cause of action accrued: Within ten years—action for the recovery of real property, or the possession thereof; upon a judgment or decree of any court of the United States, or of any state or territory within the United States; upon a sealed instrument. Within six years—action upon a contract or liability, express or implied, except judgment or sealed instrument; upon a liability created by statute, other than a penalty or forfeiture; for waste or trespass upon real property; for taking, detaining, or injuring personal property, including an action for the specific recovery thereof on a mutual, open and current account. Within three years—action against a marshal, coroner, or constable, upon a liability incurred by the doing of an act in his official capacity or in virtue of his office, or by the omission of an official duty, including the non-payment of money collected upon execution, but not an action for an escape; action upon a statute for penalty or forfeiture, where the action is given to the party aggrieved, or to such party and the United States, except the statute prescribe a different limitation. Within two years—action for libel, slander, assault, battery, seduction, false imprisonment, or for any injury to the person or rights of another not arising on contract; upon a statute for a forfeiture of penalty to the United States. No acknowledgment or promise is sufficient to take the case out of the operation of the statute unless some memorandum is made in writing and signed by the party to be charged or some payment made on principal or interest. If case is with reference to realty the instrument signed by the party to be charged must be acknowledged and recorded in the office where original instrument or contract was recorded. Statute does not run while party out of the Territory or concealed therein.

Married Women. The property and pecuniary rights of every married woman at the time of marriage, or afterwards acquired by gift, devise, or inheritance, or by her own labor, are not subject to the debts or contracts of her husband, and she may manage, sell, convey, or devise the same by will to the same extent and in the same manner that her husband can property belonging to him. For civil injuries damages may be recovered from a married woman alone, and her husband is not responsible therefor. Contracts may be made by a wife, and liabilities incurred, and the same enforced by or against her to the same extent and in the same manner as if she were unmarried. All laws which impose or recognize civil disabilities upon a wife which do not exist as to the husband are repealed. Wife may record list of her personal property and such list is prima facie evidence of her separate ownership, and property not so registered is deemed prima facie the property of the husband. Neither husband nor wife is liable for the debts or liabilities of the other husband before marriage. Husband and wife may make conveyances and transfers and create liens between themselves, and either may constitute the other his or her attorney in fact. A woman becomes of age at twenty-one or upon being married according to law.

Mortgages. Mortgages are executed, acknowledged, and recorded in the same manner as deeds. No covenant is implied for the payment of the sum intended to be secured. Record of assignment is not notice to the mortgagor, his heirs, or personal representatives. Mortgage may be discharged by entry in margin of record signed by mortgagee or his personal representative or assignee and witnessed by the commissioner or deputy, or by certificate executed and acknowledged as other conveyances. Foreclosure is by action of an equitable nature in which a deficiency judgment may be had.

But judgment of foreclosure does not bar equity of redemption and property may be redeemed in the same manner and effect as real property sold on an execution issued upon a judgment for payment of an unsecured debt. No mortgage moratorium on foreclosure has been enacted.

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act (adopted April 28, 1913). (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Records. An unrecorded conveyance of real property is void as against any subsequent innocent purchaser in good faith and for a valuable consideration whose conveyance is first duly recorded. A commissioner is ex-officio recorder of a recording district, the boundaries of which are fixed by the court. Conveyances of lands not in any recording district are recorded with the clerk of that division of the district court within the limits of which such lands are situated.

Replevin. The plaintiff, at any time after the commencement of an action to recover the possession of personal property and before judgment, may claim the immediate delivery of such property upon filing an affidavit showing that he is the owner of the same or entitled to the possession thereof; that the property is unlawfully detained by defendant; the alleged cause of detention; that the same has not been taken for a tax assessment or fine, pursuant to a statute, or seized under an execution or attachment against the property of the plaintiff; or, if so seized, that it is exempt; and the actual value of the property and by delivering an undertaking in twice the value of the property to be replevined to the Marshal or officer retaking the property.

No general property tax except in Municipal corporations, but both the United States and the territory levy and collect license taxes upon occupations and businesses, the amount of which differs on the several different occupations and businesses. Wills. Every person of twenty-one years of age, of sound mind, may dispose of all his or her property by will saving a widow's dower. Will must be in writing, signed by the testator, or under his direction, in his presence, and attested by two or more competent witnesses subscribing their names in the presence of the testator provided that olographic wills, with or without attestation, shall be admitted to probate the same as other wills and proved the same as other private writings. "Will" includes "Codicils." A will by an unmarried person is revoked by his subsequent marriage. Children or descendants of children not named or provided for in the will take as if testator had died intestate. A mariner at sea or soldier in military service may dispose of his personal property as at common law. Proof of nuncupative will must be made within six months, and the words or their substance reduced to writing within thirty days after they are spoken. A person owning property in, but not an inhabitant of, the district may devise or bequeath the same according to the laws of his domicile. If such will be probated without the district, copies of the will and the probate thereof, certified by the clerk of the court in which it was probated, with the seal of the court affixed thereto, if there be a seal together with a certificate of the chief judge or presiding magistrate, that the certificate is in due form, and made by the clerk or other person having the legal custody of the record, may be recorded, admitted in evidence, or contested and annulled as if executed and proved within the district.

THE LAWS OF ARKANSAS
RELATING TO
BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Revised by SYDNEY S. TAYLOR, Attorney at Law, Arkansas National Bank Bldg., Hot Springs National Park, Ark.
(See card in Attorneys List)

Accounts. In suits upon accounts the Affidavit of the plaintiff that the account is just and correct shall be sufficient to establish the same unless the defendant shall under oath deny the correctness of the account, either in whole or in part; in which event the plaintiff shall be held to prove such part of his account as is thus denied by other evidence.

Acknowledgments may be taken within the State before the supreme or circuit court, or a judge thereof, county and probate court, or by county or probate judge, or clerk of any court of record, or if acknowledgment is taken before a Justice of Peace it should be a Justice of Peace of its county where real estate is located, or notary public; elsewhere in the United States before any court having a seal, or clerk of such court, notary public, unless taken out of state, commissioner of Arkansas; without the United States before any court having a seal, mayor of a city having a seal, United States consul, or any officer authorized by the laws of such country to probate conveyances of real estate, provided he has a seal.

Administration of Estates. Executors and administrators must be residents of the State and must give bond in double the value of the personal property. Claims are classified as follows: First, funeral expenses and of last illness, wages of servants and medical, medicine, and hospital bills; Second, judgments rendered against the deceased in his lifetime which are liens on the lands of the deceased; Third, all demands without regard to quality which are exhibited to the administrator within six months after the granting of the letters; Fourth, all demands as may be exhibited after six months and within one year after the granting of the letters of administration. All demands not presented within one year are barred by limitation. Demands must be authenticated by an affidavit to the effect that nothing has been paid or delivered toward their satisfaction except what is credited thereon, and that the sum demanded, naming it, is justly due. Demands must first be presented to the executors or administrators for action and if disallowed by him may be presented to the probate court for allowance. Notes and debts secured by mortgages must be probated as any other claim if it is desired to hold the estate responsible.

Affidavits in this State are made before a judge, justice of the peace, notary public, or clerk of the court; without the State before a judge, mayor, notary public, justice of the peace or commissioner for this State.

Assignments for the Benefit of Creditors. are a very popular method of winding up insolvent concerns where there is a prospect of a reasonably good dividend. As soon as the assignment is made it is the duty of the assignee to take immediate possession of the property, make a detailed inventory of same and file the deed with the chancery court together with the bond in double the amount of the value of the property. The sale and distribution of the assets and the entire administration of the estate is handled under the direction of the chancery court. Releases may be exacted as the condition for participating in the assignment.

Attachments may be sued out where the defendant is a foreign corporation or non-resident, or being insolvent has been absent from the State four months, or has left the State with intent to defraud his creditors, or has left the county of his residence to avoid the service of summons, or conceals himself so that summons can not be served on him, is or about to remove or has removed a material part of his property out of the State, not leaving enough to satisfy his creditors, or has sold, conveyed or otherwise disposed of his property, or suffered it to be sold with the fraudulent intent to cheat, hinder, or delay his creditors, or is about so to do. It is obtained by filing an affidavit stating the nature of the plaintiff's claim, that it is just, its amount and the existence of the ground, and by giving bond conditioned to pay all damages the defendant may sustain if the attachment is wrongfully sued out. The defendant is allowed to traverse the attachment, and the affidavit and traverse then stand as pleadings upon which the issue is tried. If the attachment is dissolved, the defendant may have an assessment of damages upon the bond in the same suit. Persons claiming the attached property may interplead in the same action. Attachments may be sued out before the debt is due where the defendant has sold, conveyed, or otherwise disposed of his property, or permitted it to be sold with the fraudulent intent to cheat, hinder or delay his creditors, or is so to do, or is about to remove his property, or a material part thereof, out of the State with the intent of cheating, hindering or delaying his creditors.

No bank or trust company shall change or remove the location of its banking house, office or place of business from one town or city to another save by charter amendment first approved by the Bank Commissioner and the State Banking Board.

Every bank shall, at all times, have on hand as a reserve an amount equal to at least fifteen per cent of the aggregate sum of its deposits. A part of said fifteen per cent shall be in cash in the vaults and the remainder thereof may be held on deposit subject to check with any other bank which may have been approved by the Commissioner as reserve agents.

Any five or more qualified natural persons, a majority of whom shall be bona fide residents of Arkansas, who may desire to associate themselves by articles of agreement for the purpose of establishing any bank or trust company, may apply to the Commissioner to be incorporated and shall submit their proposed articles of agreement in duplicate.

The stock of every bank shall be deemed personal property and in case of sale shall be transferred only on the books of the bank. Whenever any stockholder may wish to transfer his stock, certificates in duplicate of such transfer, signed by the President and Cashier or Secretary, and setting forth the name and residence of the transferee and transferee, shall first be sent to the Bank Commissioner. The Commissioner shall thereupon endorse upon said duplicate certificate his approval or disapproval of the transfer showing the date thereof. After making such endorsement, the Commissioner shall, within 30 days from the receipt of such certificate, forward the original copy of the certificate to the Bank. The Bank may then file the certificate with the Clerk of the County in which the bank is located. No transfer of bank stock shall be valid as against creditors of the transferee unless a certificate of such transfer is filed with County Clerk.

A bank may hold and sell all kinds of property that may come into its possession as collateral security for loans or any ordinary collection or debts but must dispose of it as soon as possible and within twelve months. Banks can not lend money on their own stock.

No stockholder of any bank whose deposits are insured by the F. D. I. C. shall be subject to any assessment or liability imposed by any law of this State upon stockholders of banks. Upon the date of procuring such insurance the stockholder of said Bank shall be released and relieved from all liability imposed by any law of this State upon any bank stockholders. The purpose and intent of this statute are to make the stockholders of banks whose deposits are insured by the F. D. I. C. liable to the same extent as stockholders of ordinary business corporations but no further.

Whenever a state or national bank whose deposits are insured by the F. D. I. C. shall be appointed as an executor or administrator or guardian and the moneys to come into its hands do not exceed Five Thousand Dollars. It is not necessary that the said bank execute a bond. If the amount exceeds Five Thousand Dollars the bank or trust company is required only to give bond and security for the excess.

If a check is presented for payment more than six months after its date the bank may at its option refuse payment unless expressly instructed by the drawer at or prior to such presentation to pay same. Acts required on a holiday may be done upon the next succeeding business day.

Real estate acquired through the collection of debts previously contracted in the due course of business shall not be held by the bank as an asset for a longer period than five years. Interest on deposits in excess of four per cent is prohibited.

A bank may not loan over twenty per cent of its capital stock to any one person.

Bills and Notes. With a few minor variations the Arkansas Act is a literal copy of the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law. Bills and notes given for any patented machines, instruments or implements of any kind to a citizen of this State are not commercial paper, unless it shall be executed on a printed form and show that it is executed in consideration of a patented machine, etc. and no person should be considered an innocent holder of same though he may have given value for same before maturity and the maker may make any defense to the collection of same in the hands of any holder. All such notes not showing on the face for what they shall be given are void. This does not apply to merchants or dealers who sell patented things in the usual course of business. No note given for premiums on insurance in this State shall be negotiable until the policy for which the said note was given as payment for premium thereon shall have been issued and delivered to the maker of the note and all notes so given shall set forth what purpose they were given. The following damages are allowed where a bill is protested for non-acceptance or non-payment. If the bill is drawn on any place in this State, 2 per cent; if the bill is drawn on any person in payable in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, or Missouri, or any point on the Ohio River, 4 per cent; if drawn on any other place in the United States, 5 per cent; if beyond the limits of the United States, 10 per cent. For a non-payment after acceptance within this State, 2 per cent; without the State, 6 per cent; foreign countries, 10 per cent.

Bills of Lading. (See Warehouse Receipts and Bills of Lading.)
Blue Sky Law. The State Banking Department has full authority to permit or prohibit the sale of contracts, stocks, bonds and other securities in Arkansas. An application must be made and permission obtained before said securities can be offered for sale. Suits may be commenced against every foreign or domestic company holding permits issued by the Arkansas Bank Commissioner for any cause of action arising out of the sale or offer for sale of any of its securities and process may be served on the Bank Commissioner.

Collaterals are governed by the law merchant.
Contracts touching commercial matters are governed by the law merchant.

Conveyances. A married woman may convey her separate real estate by deed of conveyance executed by herself the same as if she were a feme sole. A married woman must join in the Deed of her husband to relinquish her dower and homestead rights and must acknowledge same in the proper manner. All acknowledgments should be in the proper statutory form. The legislature from time to time enacts curative acts.

Corporations. Three or more persons of full age may form a corporation for any lawful purpose by filing in the office of the Secretary of State articles in duplicate originals showing the name of the proposed corporation, which must end with the abbreviation "inc." or must include the word corporation. The Articles must state the purpose of the corporation; the duration may be perpetual or limited; it must state the name of the county and the city in which its principal place of business is located and the name of its resident agent and the total numbers of shares of stock which the corporation shall have authority to issue mentioning the par value of each share or stating that they are to be without par value. The amount of paid-in capital with which the corporation will begin business shall not be less than $300.00. The name and address of the incorporators and the number of shares subscribed for by each and any general provision for regulation of the corporation. The following are excluded from this form of incorporation: banks, trust companies, railroad companies, cooperative marketing association, fraternal benefit societies, fairs or expositions. The later are all covered by special acts. Upon filing with the Secretary of State, the duplicate copy bearing the file mark of the Secretary should be filed with the County Clerk in the County in which the corporation has its place of business. Every holder of shares of stock not fully paid shall be personally liable for any debt of the corporation to an amount equal to the unpaid balance. Transfer of stock is guided by the Uniform Stock Transfer Act. Any foreign corporation seeking permission to do business in this State must file with the Secretary of State a copy of its articles of incorporation together with a statement of its assets and liabilities and the amount of capital employed in this State and shall also designate its general office or place of business in this State and shall name an agent upon whom process may be served.

Costs. A plaintiff who is a nonresident of this State, or a corporation other than a bank created by the laws of this State can be required on notice to file a bond for the payment of all costs which might accrue in the action which it has brought.

Courts. The supreme court is held at Little Rock and has jurisdiction of appeals from the circuit and chancery courts. This State has separate chancery courts which handle all equity matters including divorces and foreclosures of liens. The Circuit Court shall have jurisdiction in all civil and criminal cases, the exclusive jurisdiction of which may not be vested in some other court. In other words, the circuit court is the general trial court of all cases. The probate court has jurisdiction of all probate matters but is presided over by the chancellor. However, this court is entirely separate from the chancery court. Justice courts and municipal courts have exclusive jurisdiction in all matters of contract where the amount in controversy does not exceed the sum of $100.00 and concurrent jurisdiction in matters of contract, where the amount in controversy does not exceed the sum of $300.00 exclusive of interest, and has concurrent jurisdiction for the recovery of personal property where the value does not exceed the sum of $300.00. Most of the cities have abolished justice courts and have municipal courts exclusively.

Courtesy. Upon the death of a married woman intestate, her husband shall be entitled to one-third of her real property for life, and one-third of her personal property in fee, where she leaves descendants; but the rights of the husband shall be limited to such proportionate share after the payment of all her debts.

Deeds. (See Acknowledgments and Conveyances.)

Depositions may be taken in the State before any judge or clerk of a court of record, justice of the peace, mayor, or notary public; out of the State before a commissioner for this State, judge, justice of the peace, mayor, notary public, or person commissioned by the court or by consent of parties.

Descents and Distributions. Property descends to children and their descendants in equal parts; if no children, then to father, then to mother, then to brothers and sisters and their descendants in equal parts, and in default of such to the nearest lineal ancestor or his descendants in equal parts per stirpes. Illegitimate children inherit and transmit an inheritance from the mother in the same manner as if legitimate. If the parents of illegitimate children subsequently intermarry and the father recognizes them as his, they shall be deemed legitimate. In default of heirs the whole property goes to husband or wife, and in their default to the State. If the estate is ancestral it goes to the blood of the ancestor from whom it was derived. Relations of the half-blood inherit equally. Heirs take as tenants in common.

Divorce. It is necessary that a person be a resident of the State for at least 2 months prior to the filing of the Complaint in the divorce action and a final decree cannot be had unless he has been a resident at least 3 months in the State at the time the decree is entered. Divorces are granted by the Chancery Court and in Hot Springs the court is in session all of the time and all proof is submitted on depositions, it not being necessary for the plaintiff to appear in the courtroom in person. The grounds for divorce are: Where either party, at the time of the contract, was or is impotent; desertion for the period of one year; where he or she had a former wife or husband living at the time of the marriage sought to be set aside; where either party shall be convicted of a felony; where either party shall be addicted to habitua drunkenness for the period of one year, or shall be guilty of such cruel and barbarous treatment as to endanger the life of the other, or shall offer such indignities to the person of the other as to render the condition intolerable; where either party shall have committed adultery subsequent to such marriage; separation for three years without cohabitation.

Dower. Where there are children the wife takes one-third of the husband's personal estate absolutely and one-third of the real estate of which he was seized at any time during the marriage, for life. Where there are no children she takes in a new acquisition one-half of the real and personal estate absolutely as against heirs, or one-third absolutely as against creditors. If it is an ancestral estate, she takes one-half for life against heirs and one-third for life against creditors. Husband takes same interest in wife's property by courtesy after death of wife. If wife kills husband or husband kills wife and is convicted of murder in first or second degree for such homicide their dower and curtesy rights are forfeited.

Executions from the circuit court are returnable in sixty days, those from justices' courts within thirty. They may be stayed for six months by giving bond. They are a lien on the personal property of the defendant in the county from the time they come to the officers' hands. The officer before levying on personal property, the title to which is doubtful, may require the plaintiff to give him an indemnifying bond, and then suit must be brought by the claimant upon the bond. The defendant and other judgment creditors have one year in which to redeem from the sale of real estate. In case the writ is returned nulla bona the plaintiff may proceed by bill of discovery against the defendant and examine him on oath, and enforce a surrender of concealed property by imprisonment.

Exemptions. Unmarried persons are entitled to $200 and married persons and heads of families to $500 in selected articles of personal property as exempt against debts by contract. No personal property exempt as to tort judgments but homestead is so exempt. Persons who are married or heads of families are entitled to a homestead as against all debts, except the purchase-money, specific liens, laborers, and mechanics' liens, taxes and claims for trust funds converted. The homestead in the country is not to exceed 160 acres, and in town not to exceed one acre, not to be worth more than $2,500, but the country homestead is not to be reduced to less than 80 acres nor the town homestead to less than one-fourth of an acre, regardless of value. The homestead goes to the widow and minor children after the husband's death. The homestead can only be conveyed by deed in which the wife joins and which is acknowledged by her, and if the husband neglects to claim the homestead the wife may do so.

Fraud. Statute of Frauds has been re-enacted in this State and a Standard Bulk Sales Law.

Garnishments may be sued out pending suit upon giving bond in double the amount garnished, or after judgment without bond. Garnishment may be discharged and funds or property in hands of garnishee released by filing bond for double the amount of sum garnished. Upon judgment being rendered against defendant summary judgment may be rendered against sureties on bond. Act 177 of Acts 1925.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); January 19* (Robt. E. Lee's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Decoration Day); June 3* (Jefferson Davis' birthday); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12* (Columbus Day); general election day; November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; Arbor Day* (first Saturday in December, a special day); and December 25 (Christmas Day). When bills become due on any of these days, they are payable the next business day. October 12th is Columbus Day* (a public holiday, but not affecting commercial paper, or the execution of written instruments, nor interfering with judicial proceedings).

*These days are not generally observed. Banks are open.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Injunctions may be issued by circuit judges, chancellors, or the judge of any court in which suit is brought. The person applying for the injunction must give bond as the court or judge may direct in absence of both circuit and chancery judges, county judge may issue injunction.

Insolvency. The Supreme Court has held that the Federal Bankruptcy Act has suspended the State Insolvency laws.

Interest. The legal rate of interest is 6 per cent, but parties may contract in writing for not exceeding 10 per cent. Interest exacted in excess of 10 per cent forfeits the debt. In computing the interest commissions paid to the agent of the lender are counted as interest. Where usury is charged the borrower may go into equity and have the debt and securities cancelled without tendering the amount lawfully due. Judgments bear the same rate of interest as the obligation sued on. Judgments against counties bear no interest.

Judgments. A judgment of a court of record shall be a lien on the real estate owned by the defendant in the county in which the judgment was rendered from the date of its rendition for a period of three years but it is not a lien on the land of a defendant in other counties unless a transcript of the judgment is filed in the office of the clerk of each county in which the real estate is situated. Judgments of the United States Courts can be made liens on the real estate by filing a transcript in the office of the circuit clerk. A judgment of lower courts may be abstracted and filed in the office of the circuit clerk whereupon it becomes lien on real estate for a period of three years. Circuit Court liens may be continued in force by revival. A judgment of the circuit or chancery court is good for ten years and can be revived any time during that period, making it good for another ten years. Judgments of Municipal and J. P. Courts are only good for five years.

Jurisdiction. (See Courts.)

Liens. Mechanics, builders, artisans laborers, and others doing any work upon or furnishing any material for any building or erection under any contract with the owner or his agent, contractor or subcontractor, shall have for such work or material furnished a lien on the building or improvement together with the land on which it stands to the extent of one acre if in the country; if in a city the lot or land upon which the erection is situated. Hotel keepers have lien on baggage and personal effects of guests. Livermen have lien on all stock and property left in their care.

Limitations. Suits for the possession of real estate must be brought within seven years, saving to minors and lunatics three years after their disabilities are removed. Actions for recovery of lands sold at judicial sales must be brought within five years, saving to minors and lunatics three years after removal of disabilities. Actions for the recovery of lands held under tax title must be brought in two years. Actions for forcible entry and detainer, on contracts not in writing, for trespass and for libel, within three years. Actions for criminal conversation, assault and battery, false imprisonment, and slander, within one year. Actions on written instruments, within five years; on judgments, within ten years; on bonds of executors and administrators, within eight years. In all cases, except actions for the recovery of lands, minors and lunatics have, after removal of their disability, the statutory period in which to sue. Verbal promises or acknowledgments do not take a claim out of the statute. One year is allowed after dismissal of a suit in which to begin a new action. No person can avail himself of a disability which did not exist at the time the right of action accrued. No endorsement of payment made by the payee or on his behalf is sufficient proof to take the case out of the statute.

Married Women. The property, real and personal, of married women remains their separate estate as long as they choose, and may be devised or conveyed without the husband's assent, and is not subject to his debts. If she dies without making any disposition of her real estate, he is entitled to curtesy if they have or have had issue born alive. She may carry on any business or perform any services on her own account, and her earnings are hers, and she may sue alone in respect of her separate property. She can bind herself by contract only in reference to her separate estate or business. She can not enter into partnership with her husband. If she does not file a schedule of her personal property, the burden of proof is on her to show that it is hers.

Mortgages. Deeds of trust should be properly acknowledged and filed for record, otherwise are not such liens as would effect the title of the third person. Mortgages of real estate should be recorded in the county where the land lies. Mortgages are barred five years after the maturity of the obligation which it secures unless a notation is made on the margin of the record showing payment of interest or part of the principal. Mortgages are foreclosed in the chancery court and sold by commissioner appointed by the court. Chattel mortgages may be filed as other mortgages or may be filed but not recorded. They should be filed in the county in which the property is located.

Chattel Mortgages may be acknowledged and filed as other mortgages, or they may be endorsed "This instrument is to be filed but not recorded," signed by the mortgagee, and may then be filed in the recorder's office with the same effect as though recorded. Mortgages of personal property reserving in the mortgagor the power of disposition are fraudulent.

Mortgages and Deeds of Trust may be enforced by foreclosure at any time within the period prescribed by law for foreclosing mortgage or deed of trust so far as the property mentioned and described in such mortgage or deed of trust is concerned, but no claim or debt against the estate of a deceased person shall be probated against such estate whether secured by mortgage or deed of trust or not except within the time prescribed by law for probating claims against said estate.

Protests. (See Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes.)

Records. (See Acknowledgments, Conveyances, Mortgages, Chattel Mortgages, and Powers of Attorney.)

Redemption. Owners of real estate sold for taxes may redeem from such sales within two years after sale.

Replevin. The plaintiff in replevin may file an affidavit describing the property, stating its value and the amount of damages he expects to recover, his title, that the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant, that it has not been taken for a tax or under process against plaintiff, and that his cause of action has accrued within three years, and upon giving bond in double its value, the property shall be taken from the defendant and given to the plaintiff pending the suit, unless the defendant within two days after it is taken gives a cross-bond.

Revision. The last revision of the statutes was in 1937.

Sales. Conditional sales contracts do not have to be recorded. Upon breach by the vendee the vendor may either repossess the property or sue for its value.

Taxes. All property should be assessed for taxes between the first Monday in January and the 10th day of April, in the county in which the property is located. The State Tax Commission has general supervision and control of the tax matter. Taxes may be paid in three installments, the first quarter being payable before the first Monday in January and the 10th of April, the second being payable before the 10th of July and the balance being payable before October first. If taxes are not paid by that date all delinquent property is sold by the collector under proper notice for the taxes. The taxes are a first lien upon all real and personal property.

Testimony. (See Evidence.)

Transfer of Corporation Stock. (See Corporations.)

Trust Companies must have a paid-up capital of $50,000, and in counties with a population exceeding 50,000, they must have a subscribed capital of not less than $100,000. They may exercise all the powers commonly conferred on such companies.

Warehouse Receipts and Bills of Lading shall not be given except where the commodities mentioned are received on the premises, and are under the control of the warehouseman at the time of its issuance. No warehouseman shall sell, encumber, ship, or remove any such commodity for which a receipt has been given without the written assent of the holder of the receipt. The same provisions cover owners and agents of boats and vessels. All warehouse receipts and bills of lading are made negotiable by written endorsement and delivering the same as bills of exchange and promissory notes, and no printed or written conditions, clauses, or provisions inserted in or attached to them shall in any way limit their negotiability or impair the rights and duties of the parties thereto, or persons interested therein, or such conditions shall be void. Warehouse receipts given by any warehouseman or other person for goods and other commodities deposited, and all bills of lading given by any carrier, boat, vessel, railroad, transportation, or transfer company may be transferred by endorsement and delivery; and the transferee shall be deemed to be the owner of such commodities so far as to give validity to any pledge, lien, or transfer given, made, or created thereby; and no property so stored or deposited shall be delivered except on surrender and cancellation of such receipts and bills of lading, unless such receipts and bills of lading have the words "not negotiable" plainly written or stamped on their face. A carrier may however deliver to shipper or consignee goods without presentation of bill of lading upon receiving from such shipper or consignee a bond to double the value of the goods conditioned for delivery to the carrier thereafter the original bill of lading (acts 1907). Penalties are denounced against any warehouseman or other person who shall violate any of the provisions of this statute. So much of the act as forbids the delivery of property except the surrender and cancellation of the original receipt or bill of lading shall not apply to property replevined or removed by operation of law.

Wills. A will must be subscribed by the testator or by some person for him at his request in the presence of two attesting witnesses, and he must acknowledge it to be his will to each of them. He must declare at the time of his subscription or acknowledgment to the witnesses that the instrument is his will and testament. The witnesses must sign their names at the end of the will as witnesses at the request of the testator. If, however, the entire will is in the hand-writing of the testator, it need not be attested, but may be proved by three witnesses familiar with the hand-writing. Such will, however, can not be pleaded in bar of an attested will. Wills are revoked by marriage and birth of issue, unless provision for such issue is made by settlement, or is provided for in the will. The will of an unmarried woman is revoked by her marriage. Afterborn children, not mentioned in the will, take their regular distributive share. If the testator fails to mention in his will any child, or its legal representatives, living at the time of executing the will, he shall, as to such child, or its representatives, be deemed to have died intestate, and such child, or its representatives, is entitled to its regular share.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF CALIFORNIA RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES.

Revised by TANNER, ODELL & TAFT,
Attorneys at Law, Suite 1011 Van Nuys Building, Los Angeles.
(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. An account is assignable, and the assignee may maintain an action thereon, although the account is assigned merely for collection. An action to recover a balance due upon a mutual current and open account or upon an open book account is barred after four years. The cause of action on an open account is deemed to have accrued from the date of the last item. In the case of a book account consisting of a single item it becomes outlawed four years after its date. (See Actions and Limitations.)

Acknowledgments. Before an instrument can be recorded, its execution must be acknowledged by the person executing it, or if executed by a corporation, by its president or secretary, or other person executing the same on behalf of the corporation, or if a partnership by a member thereof (to be so identified in the acknowledgment) or proved by a subscribing witness, or by judgment in an action brought for the purpose. The proof or acknowledgment of an instrument may be made at any place within the State before a justice or clerk of the supreme court, and within the city, county or township for which the officer was appointed or elected, before either: (1) A clerk of a court of record; (2) a county recorder; (3) a county clerk; (4) a court commissioner; (5) a notary public; (6) a justice of the peace. Officers taking and certifying acknowledgments or proof of instruments for record must authenticate their certificates by affixing thereto their signatures, also their seals of office, if by the laws of the State or country where the acknowledgment or proof is taken, or by authority of which they are acting, they are required to have official seals. Acknowledgments taken out of this State but within the United States, to be used within this State, may be taken before a notary public, a commissioner appointed by the governor of this State, a judge, or clerk of a court of record, or in foreign countries a minister, consul, vice-consul, or consular agent of the United States, or a judge of a court of record or a notary public.

Actions. All civil actions are commenced by filing a complaint upon which plaintiff may, at any time within one year thereafter, have a summons issued. There is but one form of action and the only pleadings allowed are: 1. The complaint. 2. The demurrer. 3. The answer which may contain a counterclaim. 4. The demurrer to the answer. 5. The cross-complaint. 6. The demurrer to the cross-complaint. 7. The answer to the cross-complaint. 8. The demurrer to the answer. Motions to strike and to make more certain may be made. Bill of particulars may be demanded.

Administration of Estates. Estates are administered in a department of the Superior Court under a Probate Code. For intestates letters of administration are issued upon petition. For wills the nominated executor takes out letters testamentary, or someone eligible petitions for letters of administration with the will annexed. Rights to letters begin with surviving spouse and proceed through ten classifications, preference being given those of the whole blood over those of the half. Administrators must give a bond as fixed by the court, but executors may be relieved of bond by the terms of the will.

Six months is given after the first publication of notice to creditors for presentation of claims. Rejected claims must be sued upon within three months after notice of such rejection. Claims are marshalled under nine preference provisions. Estates of $2500 or less are subject to summary disposition.

Affidavits. An affidavit to be used before any court, judge, or officer of this State may be taken before any officer authorized to administer oaths. In this State every court, every judge or clerk of any court, every justice and every notary public, and every officer or person authorized to take testimony in any action or proceeding, or decide upon evidence, has power to administer oaths and affirmations. An affidavit taken in another State of the United States to be used in this State, may be taken before a commissioner appointed by the governor of this State to take affidavits and depositions in such other State, or before any notary public in another State, or before any judge or clerk of a court of record having a seal. An affidavit taken in a foreign country to be used in this State, may be taken before an ambassador, minister, consul, vice-consul, or consular agent of the United States, or before any judge of a court of record having a seal, in such foreign country.

Aliens. 1. All aliens eligible to citizenship may take, hold and dispose of property, real and personal, within this State, when the country in which alien resides grants reciprocal rights of some nature.

2. All aliens not eligible to citizenship may acquire and possess land in accordance with the terms of any existing treaty with any foreign country of which such alien is a citizen, and not otherwise. Nor can such be guardian of any estate consisting in part or whole of real estate.

No non-resident alien can take by succession unless he appear and claim within 5 years after death of decedent. No alien may be employed upon any public work except in cases of extraordinary emergency. No alien shall be employed in any department of the state, county or city. No alien may own or possess or have under his control any firearms capable of concealment.

Arrest. In an action for the recovery of money, upon a contract, express or implied, the defendant may be arrested if about to depart from the State with intent to defraud his creditors, upon order of court based upon affidavit therefor, also in an action for money or other property embezzled or fraudulently misapplied by a public officer, officer of a corporation, or an attorney, factor, broker, agent, or clerk in the course of his employment, or by any person in a fiduciary capacity; also in actions to recover the possession of personal property where it has been concealed or removed or disposed of to prevent its being found; also in cases where the defendant has been guilty of a fraud in contracting the debt or obligation for which action is brought; or in concealing or disposing of property; also when the defendant has removed or disposed of his property or is about to do so with intent to defraud creditors. Bail given upon arrest is liable upon judgment secured.

Assignments for the Benefit of Creditors. There are statutory provisions for assignments but they are so seldom resorted to that their place in the state's commercial code is negligible.

Attachments may be issued at the time of or any time after issuing the summons, and prior to judgment, where amount sued for is not less than $15.00 (no attachment issues from small claims court) as is hereinafter provided. All property not exempt from execution may be attached. If attachment is to recover for necessities the affidavit must so state including the character or nature constituting the alleged necessities. An attachment lien upon real property continues for three years and may be extended for two years more and thereafter from time to time. On personal property an attachment continues three years. Attachment issues upon affidavit alleging (1) indebtedness made and payable in this state and not secured; or (2) defendant is non-resident or cannot be found; or (3) that cause of action is damages, fraud or wrongful act of defendant; (4) that attachment is not sought to delay or defraud creditors.

Bond must be filed with the clerk before writ issues, to protect defendant if plaintiff fails to recover.

Banks. Cannot pay interest on demand deposits. The business of banking may be carried on only by corporations organized for such purpose under the California Bank Act and National Banks. But three classifications are permitted: Commercial banks, savings banks, trust companies. Banking corporations may be organized by not less than three persons. Where banks have complied with the provisions of recent legislation the stockholders are no longer liable for the debts of the bank. Directors must each own stock of the par value of not less than $500. Provisions are made for branch banks; also for issuing and retiring preferred stock. A bank organized under the laws of another state must comply with all the requirements of the California Bank Act. A banker has a general lien dependent upon possession of all property in his hands belonging to a customer for balance due from customer in the course of business. Every bank must designate the character of its business. By virtue of the existing California Bank Act all banks, foreign and domestic except National Banks, are under the supervision of the State Superintendent of Banks and must obtain a certificate of authority to do a banking business. The Act sets forth the minimum requirements regarding capital and surplus, such requirements being identical for both commercial and savings banks, as follows: $50,000 in cities of less than 25,000 inhabitants; $100,000 in cities of from 25,000 to 100,000 inhabitants; $200,000 in cities of from 100,000 to 200,000 inhabitants; $300,000 in cities of over 200,000 inhabitants. Commercial and savings banks must have a surplus of 25 per cent of capital stock. Capital and surplus must be at least 10 per cent of deposit liabilities up to $1,000,000—5 per cent of any amount in excess of $1,000,000. For savings banks a decreasing per cent on larger amounts. Special reserves against unsecured deposits are required of commercial banks, unless they are members of the Reserve Bank. Amount of reserve is regulated by statute. Bank officers cannot be borrowers from their bank. All state banks are eligible to become members of the Federal Reserve Bank. Any bank to become member of the Federal Home Loan Bank must have the previous written consent of the superintendent of banks. Trust companies likewise operate under the supervision of State Superintendent of Banks, and must deposit cash or securities with State Treasurer to insure faithful performance of trusts. The minimum deposit required is $100,000, and the amount varies according to population and amount of the res. Any savings bank may discount or purchase bankers' acceptances eligible for discount by the Federal reserve bank, and may purchase, hold or sell real or personal property, as follows: (1) The real estate, furniture, fixtures, etc., in which its business may be conducted, such real estate, etc., not to be carried on the books of such bank as an asset to an amount exceeding one-half its paid-up capital and surplus except with the written consent of the Superintendent of Banks. Commercial banks are restricted to one-half such amount.

(2) Such as may have been mortgaged, pledged or conveyed to it in trust for its benefit in good faith, or money loan in regular course of business. (3) Such as may have been loaned or purchased at sales under pledge, mortgage or deed of trust made for its benefit or money loaned and such as may be conveyed to it by borrowers in satisfaction and discharge of loans. (4) Gold and silver bullion, and United States Mint Certificates. (5) Bonds and other securities of certain classes as are set forth in Section 61 of California Bank Act. Savings banks may not make loans for longer periods than ten years. There are many other minor restrictions on loans. With some exceptions no commercial bank can lend more than 10 per cent of its capital stock on unsecured loan, or 15 per cent, in addition to the amount that may be loaned without security, upon security worth at least 15 per cent more than the amount loaned so secured, provided the total amount cannot exceed 25 per cent in all and separate note must be taken for the unsecured and the secured loan, or 25 per cent upon security worth at least 15 per cent more than the amount of the loan so secured, or 40 per cent upon commercial or business paper actually owned by the person negotiating same to the bank and are endorsed by such persons without limitation. But commercial banks may accept drafts or bills of exchange having not more than six months sight to run growing out of transactions involving importation or exportation of goods or involving domestic shipment of goods providing shipping documents are attached as security or are secured by warehouse receipts or other muniment of title. No bank shall hold as security for loans more than 25 per cent of the capital stock of another bank, nor loan in excess of 10 per cent of its assets upon the security of capital stock of any corporation. A bank organized or doing business in this state may refuse payment of check or draft, except cashier's check or bank draft, if presented for payment more than six months from its date unless expressly instructed to pay by drawer or maker, and no liability shall attach to drawer or maker by such non-payment. To stop payment on a check the notice therefor in writing must be delivered to the particular branch upon which it is drawn.

Any bank may purchase Class A stock in the Federal Bank Deposit Insurance Corporation and with the approval of the superintendent of banks may become a member of the Temporary Federal Deposit Insurance Fund.

In addition to all other holidays banks are permitted to close all day on Saturday. General practice, however, continues to be to close on Saturday afternoon only.

Bills and Notes. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law is in force. Statutes of 1917. Chapter 751.

Breach of Promise. Breach of promise to marry, or for alienation of affections, are no longer bases for action for damages; neither is seduction of a female over the age of consent a basis for action.

Bulk Sales. (See Fraudulent Sales and Conveyances.)

Chattel Mortgages may be made upon all personal property, including growing crops, except such as is not capable of manual delivery, articles of wearing apparel and stock in trade of merchandise. Recording must be made of growing crops in the County where the land is situated; if of animate personal property other than growing crops in the County where the mortgagor resides at time of the mortgage, or if he is a non-resident then in the County where the property is at date of mortgage; of all other personal property in the County where the mortgagor resides at the date of the mortgage and also in the County where the property is located at that date, and to which it may be thereafter removed. As notice to third parties it continues for four years only unless re-recorded. This provision does not apply to chattel mortgage executed to secure payment of order or decree of a court of record, or of indebtedness permitted to be incurred by the Commissioner of Corporations or that is made by a public utility under the Public Utility act. On a motor vehicle the instrument must be deposited with the state motor vehicle department in lieu of recording. No deficiency judgment allowed after sale under power of sale in mortgage.

Moratorium on foreclosure under conditions has been extended to July 1, 1943.

Codes. California laws have been codified under sixteen titles: civil procedure, probate, civil, penal, political, agricultural, business and professional, fish and game, harbors and navigation, insurance, labor, military and veterans, school, streets and highways, vehicle, welfare and institutions; and until codified they make a volume of general laws. Also there are many general laws not codified.

Collaterals. Are governed by the law relating to pledges of personal property. Delivery of the thing pledged is essential to the validity of the bailment. Before the property can be sold the pledgee must demand performance from the debtor, if he can be found, and must give actual notice to the pledgor of the time and place at which the property pledged will be sold, at such a reasonable time before the sale as will enable the pledgor to attend, but notice of the sale may be waived by the pledgor at any time. The sale must be by public auction. The pledgee, or a pledgeholder, may purchase the property pledged when the public auction is at public auction. A pledgee can not sell any evidence of debt (collateral) pledged to him, except the obligations of governments, states, or corporations; but he may collect the same when due. Also moratorium laws are applicable in certain cases.

Contracts. Certain contracts are invalid unless the same or some note or memorandum thereof is in writing. (See Statute of Frauds.) A contract for personal services cannot be enforced specifically but its breach may be compensated by damages. For special provisions relating to contracts refer to various subjects involved.

Conveyances. An estate in real property, other than an estate at will, or for a term not exceeding one year, can be created or transferred only by operation of law, or by an instrument in writing, subscribed by the party disposing of the same, or by his agent thereunto authorized in writing. Leases of agricultural land for a longer period than fifteen years and of city property for a longer period than ninety-nine years are void with some exceptions. A fee simple title is presumed to be intended to pass by a grant of real property, unless it appears from the face of the grant that a lesser estate was intended. A grant of real property may be made in the following form: "I, A. B., grant to C. D., all that real property situated in (insert name of county) county, State of California, bounded (or described) as follows: (Here insert description). Witness my hand this (insert) day of (insert month), 19—A. D." "Grant" implies present ownership in grantor, free from incumbrances made or suffered by grantor. Subsequently acquired title passes to grantee. Instruments entitled thereto must be recorded in the county where the property is situated. An instrument of later date, acquired for a valuable consideration in full faith, takes precedence of one of earlier date but subsequently recorded. Joint tenancies may be created by the owner or owners by written and recorded conveyance by and to themselves in addition to the ordinary grants by vendors to joint tenants.

Corporations. Private corporations may now be formed by three or more persons. The former provisions holding each stockholder liable for a pro rata of debts have been repealed. All original papers for organization are now filed with the secretary of state. Certified copy of articles must be filed with County Clerk in County where its principal place of business is. Capital stock of a corporation organized for pecuniary profit can only be issued under authority of the State Commissioner of Corporations. Foreign corporations to establish places of business must file copies of articles with Secretary of State and pay certain franchise taxes.

Courts. Each county has a Superior Court, with from one up to fifty judges. Several of the larger cities have Municipal Courts with jurisdiction in law cases to $2,000. Such cities also have police courts, and there are also justice's courts in two classes according to limit of jurisdiction. Trial courts are, in contemplation of law, in continuous session, holidays excepted.

Between the Supreme Court of seven judges and the trial courts there are District Courts of Appeal, of which there are six divisions of three judges each. The bulk of appeals goes first to these intermediaries, from whose decisions the Supreme Court may, in its discretion, grant a further hearing before itself. Criminal cases involving capital punishment and cases in equity and cases involving title of real estate or taxes are appealed directly to the Supreme Court. All appellate courts have original jurisdiction for writs of mandamus, habeas corpus, etc.

Depositions. The deposition of a witness out of this State may be taken upon a commission issued from the court under the seal of the court, upon an order of the court, or a judge or justice thereof, on the application of either party, upon five days' previous notice to the other, plus one day's additional notice for each one hundred miles of travel between residence of witness and place of deposition or by stipulation of the parties without an order of Court. If the court be a justice's court, the commission shall have attached to it a certificate under seal by the clerk of the superior court of the county to the effect that the person issuing the same was an acting justice of the peace at the date of the commission. If issued to any place within the United States, it may be directed to a person agreed upon by the parties, or if they do not agree, to any notary public, judge or justice of the peace or commissioner selected by the court, or judge, or justice issuing it. If issued to any country out of the United States, it may be directed to a minister, ambassador, consul, vice-consul, or consular agent of the United States in such country, or to any person agreed upon by the parties or judge of a court of record in such country. Depositions must be taken in the form of question and answer. The words of the witness must be written down, in the presence of the witness, by the officer taking the deposition or by some indifferent person appointed by him. It may be taken down in short hand in which case it must be transcribed to long hand by the person who took it down. When completed, it must be carefully read to or by the witness and corrected by him in any particular, if desired, by writing, or causing his corrections to be written at the bottom of the deposition, and must then be subscribed by the witness. Corrections must be initialed by officer before whom deposition is taken. If the parties agree in writing to any other mode, the mode so agreed must be followed.

Depositions in this State. The testimony of the witness in this State may be taken by depositions in an action at any time after the service of summons or the appearance of defendant, and in a special proceeding after a question of fact has arisen therein in certain enumerated cases. Deposition of a party to the action may be taken under a cross-examining statute.

Depositions for use out of the State. Any party to an action or special proceeding in a court or before a judge of a sister state, may obtain the testimony of a witness residing in this State, to be used in such action or proceeding, in the cases mentioned following: If a commission to take such testimony has been issued from the court, or a judge hereof, before which such action or proceeding is pending, on producing the commission to the Clerk of the Superior Court of the county in which such witness is to be examined, with an affidavit satisfactory to him of the materiality of the testimony, he may issue a subpoena to the witness, requiring him to appear and testify before the commissioner named in the commission, at a specified time and place.

Descent and Distribution of Property. There is no dowry right, but all property acquired during continuance of the marriage relation (except by gift, devise or inheritance) is community property, one-half of which goes to the surviving spouse, and in absence of testamentary disposition the survivor takes all. A widow, however, may have the whole estate, if less than $2,500, set off to her. All property not community is separate, and if not disposed of by will is distributable; first to the surviving spouse and children. If no surviving spouse then all to child or children. If surviving spouse and one child, half to each; if more than one child one-third to surviving spouse, remainder to issue; in absence of children one-half to the surviving spouse remainder to lineal descendants of decedent or their children. Those next entitled to inherit are, in their order: father and mother, or if neither, then brothers and sisters; if there are none of any of these the surviving spouse takes all. If there be no surviving spouse then the next of kin take in equal degree. Illegitimate children inherit from the mother, and from the father where parentage has been acknowledged in writing. Where widow or widower dies intestate, and there has been no issue, community property goes half and half to the lineal descendants of each spouse. No assignment of an interest, power of attorney to act nor contract for compensation of an agent is of any force until approved by the court. A reasonable family allowance to widow or minor children may be ordered during pending of probate proceedings.

Exemptions. Exemptions from attachment, judgment and forced sale are very liberal, and the list is gradually increasing to include some of the later inventions and implements of labor and production. An automobile is now exempt if of value of $100 or less. Unemployment and several other benefits under recent legislation are also exempt.

Fraud. (For Fraudulent Debtors, see Arrest.) In certain actions involving money where fraud is charged, the debtor is subject to arrest. These include actual fraud, always a question of fact, and promises made without any intention of performing; misdirecting a prospective hotel guest to a misdeanor, as is also any false representations made for the purpose of procuring public relief. Fraud and fraudulent representations are prolific sources of litigation to set aside contracts or conveyances and are controlled by code provisions.

Fraudulent Sales and Conveyances. Sale, transfer, or assignment of a substantial part of stock in trade, except in ordinary course of business, and sale, transfer, assignment, or mortgage of fixtures or equipment of merchant is void as to existing creditors unless seven days prior thereto seller or purchaser record with County Recorder a notice of such intended sale, transfer, etc. The notice must conform to certain statutory requirements. Exceptions relating to warehouse receipts have been made.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Saturdays after 12 noon for all public business (banks may claim the entire day); Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); September 9 (Dismissal Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); general election day; May and August primary election days; November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; and December 25 (Christmas Day). Monday is holiday if holiday falls on Sunday. Injunctions and writs of prohibitions may be issued and served on any day. Contracts made on a holiday are valid. In the larger counties a designated judge of the superior court is available nights and every day in the year for issuing and approving bail, original writs and issuance of release for a person's property or title thereto.

Homestead. The homestead consists in the interest of the claimant, divided or undivided, in the dwelling house in which the claimant resides, and in the land on which the same is situated, selected, if the claimant be married, from community property, or the separate property of the husband, or with the consent of the wife from her separate property. The homestead can not be selected from the separate property of the wife without her consent, shown by her making or joining in the declaration of homestead. The homestead is exempt from execution or forced sale, except in satisfaction of judgments obtained. 1. Before the declaration of homestead was filed, for record, and which constitutes liens upon the premises. 2. On debts secured by mortgage or trust deed, of date prior to declaration, or proper execution subsequent. Homesteads may be selected and claimed: 1. If not exceeding $5,000 in value by any head of a family. 2. If not exceeding $1,000 in value, by another person. Upon death of either spouse, if homestead is selected from community property or from separate property of spouse joining therein, title thereto vests in survivor, otherwise the heirs or devisees of the person whose property was selected.

Husband and Wife. The husband is the head of the family. He may choose any reasonable place or mode of living, and the wife must conform thereto. In other respects their interests are separate except as to community property. Neither husband nor wife has any interest in the separate property of the other, and either may enter into any engagement with the other, or with any other person, respecting separate property, which either might if unmarried. All property of either owned by him or her before marriage, and that acquired afterward by gift, bequest, devise or descent, is the separate property of such person. All other property acquired after marriage by either husband or wife or both, is community property, except that a married woman may acquire and hold shares in building and loan associations as her separate property; may transfer shares of corporate stock generally as if unmarried. Property conveyed to a married woman by an instrument in writing is presumed to be her separate property. Property conveyed to husband or to husband and wife as such is presumed to be community property. A married woman may become a sole trader by authority of court, thus converting a limited amount of community property into her separate estate. The husband has the management and control of the community property, with absolute power of disposal other than testamentary, provided that he can not make a gift of the same or convey the same without valuable consideration, unless the wife consents in writing, either personally or by her authorized agent, and provided that in the execution of any instrument by which community real property, or any interest therein is leased for a longer period than one year, or is sold, conveyed, or encumbered, the wife and husband must join in the execution of any such instrument. The community property except earnings of the wife is not liable for the contracts of the wife made before or after marriage, unless secured by a pledge or mortgage thereof executed by the husband. Except for the necessities of life the husband is not liable for damages or torts committed by wife except in a case where he would be jointly liable with her if the marriage did not exist. Neither the separate property of the husband nor his earnings after marriage is liable for the debts of the wife contracted before marriage, and the separate property of the wife is not liable for the debts of her husband, nor for debts secured by mortgage or other hypothecation of community property unless expressly assented to by her in writing, but is liable for her own debts contracted before or after marriage. Community property is not liable for contracts of the wife made after marriage unless secured by pledge or mortgage executed by the husband. A husband and wife may hold property as joint tenants, tenants in common, or as community property. Upon death of husband or wife intestate, the entire community property goes to the survivor. Either the husband or the wife may subject one-half of the community property to testamentary disposition by will, the wife's right so to do being subject to special statutory conditions.

Interest. The legal rate of interest is 7 per cent and is due upon judgments after rendition and upon other obligations unless there is an express contract in writing fixing a different rate, which, however, is limited to 10 per cent with severe penalties for any agreement or subterfuge by which the lender profits above that rate. On loans of $300 or less, secured by pledge or chattel mortgage or assignment of wages, 10% annual interest may be agreed upon. All other charges against the borrower shall not exceed: on amounts of $100 or under, 2 1/2% per month; on amounts in excess of $100, 2% per month.

Judgments. Judgments, including those of inferior courts if an abstract be recorded with the county recorder, are a lien on real property for five years, and may be renewed by an action, or still enforced by order of court. The lien expires, however, unless the judgment is renewed. (Recording is required for all judgments to constitute a lien).

Liens. Mechanics, material-men, contractors, sub-contractors, artisans, architects, machinists, builders, miners, teamsters, draymen and all persons and laborers of every class performing labor upon or furnishing material to be used in or furnishing appliances, teams and power contributing to the construction, alteration, or repair of any building, wharf, bridge, ditch, flume, aqueduct, well, tunnel, fence, machinery, railroad, wagon road, or other structure, have liens upon the property upon which they have worked or furnished material, and any person performing labor in a mining claim has a lien upon the same, and the works owned and used by the owners for reducing the ores from such mining claim, for the work or labor done. The common carrier has a lien upon the luggage of a passenger for the payment of his fare. One who sells real property has a vendor's lien thereon. Improvers of personal property, depositors of furs, furs, veterinary surgeons, grooms, livery stable keepers and persons pasturing horses or stock, have a special lien, dependent upon possession. Factors, warehousemen, banks, and laundry proprietors have a general lien, dependent on possession, on any personal property in their hands. Seamen have general liens independent of possession. Owners of animals used for propagating purposes have a lien for the agreed price upon the offspring. Loggers rendering services upon logs, bolts and other timber have a lien thereon for the amount due for their personal services. A personal judgment may be had against the debtors with or without attachment for security, without infringing the right to a mechanic's lien when legally established. Landlords and innkeepers have liens on the personal property of guests.

Every person performing work or labor in, with, about, or upon any threshing machine or engine, horse-power, wagon, or other appliance thereof, while engaged in threshing, has a lien thereon to the extent of the value of his services, for ten days after ceasing work or labor, provided, within that time, action is brought, to recover the amount of the claim, persons repairing or altering any personal property have a lien for the reasonable value of such service. Pest destruction in orchards by authority of statute creates a lien against the realty involved in favor of the county causing such destruction. The lien of a garage man for work on a vehicle (dependent upon possession) is valid up to $100 if the work is done on the order of other than the owner; but not for more unless the owner had previous notice of the work to be done.

Limitations. If real estate is held adversely for five years, such adverse possession ripens into title if claimant pays taxes for five years, except against infants and persons under disability. The periods prescribed for the commencement of actions other than for the recovery of real property, are as follows: Within six years, upon certain corporation bonds and notes. Within five years: (1) An action upon a judgment or decree of any court of the United States, or of any State within the United States. (2) An action for mesne profits of real property. (3) Action by heir unknown at time an escheat estate is distributed, counting from date of decree. Within four years: (1) An action upon any contract, obligation or liability founded upon an instrument in writing. (2) An action to recover a balance due upon a mutual open and current account or upon an open book account. Within three years: (1) An action upon a liability created by statute, other than a penalty or forfeiture. (2) An action for trespass upon real property. (3) An action for taking, detaining or injuring any goods or chattels, including actions for the specific recovery of personal property. (4) An action for relief on the ground of fraud or mistake, the cause of action in such case not to be deemed to have accrued until the discovery by the aggrieved party of the facts constituting fraud or mistake. Within two years: (1) An action upon a contract, obligation or liability not founded upon an instrument in writing. (2) An action on a debt, liability or obligation evidenced by an abstract, guarantee or certificate of title, and such action shall not be deemed to have accrued until the discovery of the loss or damage. (3) An action for foreclosure of a lien securing an assessment against real property for street improvement; but time does not commence to run until the last installment becomes due. (4) An action against a sheriff, coroner, or constable, upon a liability incurred by the doing of an act in his official capacity, and in virtue of his office, or by the omission of an official duty, including the non-payment of money collected upon an execution; but this subdivision does not apply to an action for an escape. Within one year: (1) An action upon a statute for a penalty or forfeiture, when the action is given to an individual or to an individual and the State, except when the statute imposing it prescribes a different limitation. (2) An action upon a statute, or upon an undertaking in a criminal action, for a forfeiture or penalty to the people of this State. (3) An action for libel, slander, assault, battery, false imprisonment, or seduction, or for injury to or for the death of one caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another, or by a depositor against a bank for the payment of a forged or raised check, or a check that bears a forged or unauthorized endorsement. (4) An action against a sheriff, or other officer for the escape of a prisoner arrested or imprisoned on civil process. (5) An action against a municipal corporation for damages or injuries to property caused by a mob or riot. Within six months: (1) An action to recover property seized by tax collector. (2) To recover corporation stock sold for delinquent assessment. Ninety days for recovery of or conversion of personal property, bags, trunks, etc., left in hotel, lodging house, etc. To actions brought to recover money or other property deposited with any bank, banker, trust company, or savings and loan society, there is no limitation. If when the cause of action accrues against a person, he is out of the State, the action may be commenced within the term herein limited, after his return to the State, and if, after the cause of action accrues, he departs from the State, the time of his absence is not part of the time limited for the commencement of the action. And if the person entitled to bring the action be, at the time the action accrued, either a minor, insane, imprisoned for a term less than life, or a married woman, and her husband is a necessary party with her in commencing such action, the time of such disability is not a part of the time limited for the commencement of the action. No acknowledgment or promise is sufficient to take a case out of the operation of the statute of limitations, unless the same is in writing, signed by the party to be charged. Part payment will not take the case out of the statute of limitations. Where a cause of action has arisen in another State, and would be barred by the statute of limitations of that State, an action cannot be maintained here, except in favor of one who has been a citizen of this State and has held the cause of action from the time it accrued. There is no limitation upon actions to recover money or property with banks or trust companies. (See Accounts.) The above limitation applies to contracts executed outside of the State, unless barred by the laws of the State where made.

There are now in force various moratorium acts concerning mortgage foreclosures, tax redemptions, building and loan operations and similar matters, which for the present modify former statutes of limitation, which are of a temporary character, and changed with each session of the legislature. Act of 1941 further extends time to July 1, 1943.

Married Women. A married woman may be sued without her husband being joined as a party and may sue without her husband being joined as a party in all actions, including those for injury to her person, libel, slander, false imprisonment, or malicious prosecution, or for the recovery of her earnings or concerning her right or claim to the homestead property. A married woman may become a sole trader by the judgment of the superior court of the county in which she has resided for six months next preceding the application. The husband of the sole trader is not liable for any debts contracted by her in the course of her sole trader's business unless contracted upon his written consent. A married woman may convey her separate property without consent of her husband, and is not liable for the debts of her husband, but is liable for her own debts contracted before or after her marriage. She may contract as a femme sole so as to bind her separate property. The wife may make a will of her separate property and under statutory conditions of one-half the community property. The earnings of the wife are not liable for the debts of her husband unless it be community property, and are liable for her contracts.

Mechanics' Liens. (See Liens.)

Mortgages. Any interest in real property which is capable of being transferred may be mortgaged. A mortgage can be created, renewed, or extended only by writing executed with the formalities required in the case of a grant of real property. It requires the signature of the wife except as to property which is the separate estate of the husband, and in practice the wife's signature should always be required. Every transfer of an interest in real property, other than in trust, made only as the security for the performance of any act, is to be deemed a mortgage, and the fact that the transfer was made subject to defeasance on a condition may, for the purpose of showing such transfer to be a mortgage, be proved (except as against the subsequent purchaser or encumbrancer for value and without notice) although the fact does not appear by the terms of the instrument. A mortgage is a lien upon everything that passes by a grant of the property. A mortgage does not entitle the mortgagee to the possession of the property. The assignment of a debt secured by a mortgage carries with it the security. When a mortgage is satisfied or the mortgage indebtedness paid, the mortgagee must satisfy the mortgage of record under penalty for failure on demand. A mortgagee may foreclose the right of redemption of the mortgagor. (See also Trust Deeds.)

Temporary moratorium measures have been continued by the 1941 legislature to July 1, 1943.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Notes and Bills of Exchange. (See Bills and Notes.)

Pledge. (See Collaterals.)

Powers of Attorney. An attorney in fact may be appointed for any purpose for which an agency can lawfully be created. Powers of attorney can only be conferred by an instrument in writing subscribed by the principal which must particularly specify the powers conferred. If the instrument contains a power to convey or execute instruments affecting real property, it must be duly acknowledged and must be recorded in the county within which the real property to be conveyed or affected is situated. No such instrument which has been so recorded is revoked by any act of the party by whom it was executed, unless the instrument containing such revocation is also acknowledged or proved, certified, and recorded in the same office in which the instrument containing the power was recorded. When an attorney in fact executes an instrument transferring an estate in real property, he must subscribe the name of his principal to it, by his own name as attorney in fact.

Probate Law. The superior court has jurisdiction of proceedings in probate, which must be instituted (1) in the county in which the decedent was a resident; (2) in the county in which he may have died, leaving estate therein, he not being a resident of the State; (3) in the county in which any part of the estate may be, if the decedent died out of the State and was not a resident. (4) In any county in which any part of the estate may be, or the decedent not being a resident of the State nor leaving an estate in the county of death. (5) In other cases where application is first made. Any person interested may petition for probate of a will or may contest such probate before letters issue or thereafter within six months. If no homestead has been previously selected, the court on petition must select, designate and set apart and cause to be recorded a homestead for the use of the surviving husband or wife, or of the minor children, or if there be no surviving husband or wife, then for the use of the minor children out of the common property, or out of the real estate owned in common by the decedent and the person or persons to whom the homestead is set apart, or if there be no common property and no such jointly owned property, then out of the real estate belonging to the decedent as his own separate property. Property so set apart is not subject to further administration. If upon the return of the inventory it appears that the value of the whole estate does not exceed $2,500, the court may set apart the whole of the estate for the use and support of the widow of the deceased, and if there be no widow, then to the minor children of deceased. Where an entire estate is of personal property of less than $1,000 value no court proceedings are necessary. Sales encumbrances and important leases must be sanctioned by court order. (See Administration of Estates, Claims against Estates, Descent and Distribution.)

Protest. (See Bills and Notes.)

Replevin. There is no action of replevin in this State, but the action of claim and delivery is a substitute and very similar in its provisions.

Sale of Stock Shares. Permit must be obtained from State Corporation Commissioner on all original issues of stock of corporations organized for pecuniary profit. We have an elaborate "Blue Sky" Law.

Statute of Frauds. A will must be in writing, except a nuncupative will. (See Wills.) An agreement not to be performed within a year from making it must be in writing; also a special promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another with certain statutory exception which in the State are similar to those in most other jurisdictions; also agreements made in consideration of marriage other than a mutual promise to marry; also an agreement for the sale of goods and chattels or things in action at a price not less than $500, unless the buyer accept and receive part of the same or pay any part of the consideration. Goods manufactured especially for the buyer, not suitable for general sale, are excepted from this rule. No estate in land will pass other than leases not to exceed one year, unless in writing. An agreement authorizing or employing an agent or broker to purchase or sell real estate for compensation or for a commission; an agreement by its terms not to be performed in the lifetime of the promisor or to make, devise or bequeath or make any provisions for any person by will, must be in writing. No evidence is admissible to charge a person upon representations as to the credit of another, unless the representations be in writing. However, where promisor has received property to apply pursuant to promise or a discharge of an obligation in consideration of the promise, or where a creditor parts with value or where the new promise is substituted for the old debt, or where levy or execution is released or there is benefit moving to promise from any party or where a factor undertakes for a commission to guarantee a sale, contracts to answer for the default of another need not be in writing. Transfer of personal property in bulk capable of manual delivery, except wine in cellars and tanks, when not accompanied by delivery and change of possession are deemed fraudulent as to third parties unless notice of intention of sale is recorded seven days before transfer is made in accordance with law.

Supplementary Proceedings. When an execution is returned unsatisfied, the judgment creditor can obtain an order requiring the judgment debtor to appear and answer concerning his property before the judge or referee.

Taxes. On the fifth day of December of each year taxes become delinquent, except the last half of the real property taxes, and thereafter 8 per cent is added for delinquency; provided, that if they be not paid before the 20th day of April next succeeding, 5 per cent is added for delinquency. On the 20th day of April, of each year, all the unpaid portion of the remaining one-half of the taxes on all real property is delinquent, and thereafter 3 per cent is added for delinquency; and provided further, that the entire tax on any real property may be paid at the time the first installment as above provided is due and payable; and provided further, that the taxes on all personal property, unsecured by real property, shall be due and payable immediately after the assessment of said personal property is made. Legislation of 1935 imposes income taxes of practically 51% of those provided by Federal laws. There is also a sales tax of 3% except on foods. By moratorium legislation in 1935 and 1937 interest and penalties on tax delinquencies may be avoided under certain temporary conditions. Inheritance taxes are also levied on estates of deceased persons with exemptions of limited amounts. If taxes remain unpaid or unredeemed, real property is deeded to State, which may then sell same at auction.

Trust Deeds. Trust deeds as security are in general use, and are usually preferred to mortgages by banks and other lenders, as a right of redemption does not exist after foreclosure of trust deed by trustee's sale. Also, the method of foreclosure is more simple. To foreclose the beneficiary must record with the County Recorder a three-months notice of his election to cause the property to be sold and thereafter the trustee must give notice of time and place of sale by posting in statutory manner and by publishing copy once a week for twenty days in newspaper of general circulation. Should such sale result in a deficiency, judgment for same may be recovered in appropriate action, but action therefor must be begun within three months after the time of sale. (See Mortgages.) Trust Deeds may also be foreclosed by an action in court.

A temporary moratorium act also modifies foreclosure proceedings under trust deeds up to July 1, 1943.

Wills. Every person over the age of eighteen years, of sound mind, may, by last will, dispose of all his estate, real and personal. A married woman may dispose of all her separate estate by will without the consent of her husband, and may alter or revoke the will in like manner as if she were single; she may also under certain conditions, dispose of by will one-half of the community property. Her will must be executed and proved in like manner as other wills. Every will other than a nuncupative will must be in writing, and every will other than an holographic will and a nuncupative will, must be executed and attested as follows: 1. It must be subscribed by the testator himself, or some person in his presence, and by his direction must subscribe his name thereto. 2. The subscription must be made in the presence of the attesting witnesses, or acknowledged by the testator to them to have been made by him or by his authority. 3. The testator must, at the time of subscribing or acknowledging the same, declare to the attesting witnesses that the instrument is his will, and 4. There must be two attesting witnesses, each of whom must sign his name as a witness at the end of the will, at the testator's request, and in his presence. An holographic will is one that is entirely written, dated, and signed by the hand of the testator himself. It is subject to no other form, and may be made in or out of this State, and need not be witnessed. A nuncupative will may dispose of personal property only and of value not exceeding $1,000. A witness to a will should always write his name and residence. All devises or gifts to a subscribing witness are void unless there are two other competent subscribing witnesses unless such witness is entitled to a share, if there had been no will. No will made out of this State is valid as a will in this State, unless executed according to the provisions of the code, except that a will made in a State or country in which the testator is domiciled at the time of his death, and valid as a will under the laws of such State or country is valid in this State as to personal property. Wills proven out of state may be recorded in county where testator has left real estate. Ancillary administration is usually necessary.

Bequests for charity are void unless made more than thirty days before death and must in no case exceed more than one-third of the estate unless there are no legal heirs, except that bequests to the State or a political subdivision or to educational institutions exempt from taxation, and other similar institutions, under certain conditions, are not so limited. Also, bequests to charity by will made six months or more before death are not so restricted unless there are living spouse, child, grandchild or parent, and these may in writing executed at least six months before the testator's death waive the restriction. Wills are revoked by marriage unless provision for the same or an intention not to provide clearly appears.

THE LAWS OF COLORADO
RELATING TO
BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by J. Frederick Schneider, Attorney at Law, Majestic Bldg., Denver.
(See card in Attorneys List)

Acknowledgments. The statutory form and manner of real estate acknowledgment are as follows:

STATE OF..... } ss.
COUNTY OF..... }

The foregoing instrument was acknowledged before me this..... day of..... 19..... by..... (if by natural persons here insert name of each person acting in representative or official capacity or as attorney-in-fact, then insert name of person as executor, attorney-in-fact or other capacity or description; if by officer of corporation, then insert name of such officer or officers as the president or other officers of such corporation, naming it. If acknowledgment is taken by notary public, the date of expiration of commission shall also appear on the certificate.)

WITNESS my hand and official seal. (If acknowledged before notary, the date on which his commission expires must be here stated.)

Title of Officer.

For chattel mortgage form, see "Chattel Mortgages." The acknowledgment may be before the clerk of any court of record, commissioner of deeds, or notary public, or certain other specified officers.

Administration of Estates. All demands not exhibited in six months are barred, unless such creditor can find other estate of the deceased not inventoried. Claims are classified for payment, ordinary debts being in the fifth class. Creditors having liens can foreclose at any time by court action, but cannot foreclose without court action within one year without permission of court. Administration is granted to surviving husband or widow, or next of kin of an intestate, if they will accept or are not disqualified; if no such relative appears within twenty days after death of intestate, administration may be granted to a creditor; if no creditor appears in ten days after twenty days from death of intestate, or if next of kin files written relinquishment county judge may select administrator. In counties having a population of more than 50,000 on default of relatives administration is made by public administrator. An abbreviated form of administration is provided for estates of $2,000 or less, and where less than $300, administration may be waived. (See Wills; Husband and Wife; Descents and Distributors.)

Assignments. Assignments for the benefit of creditors are provided for. Assignments of wages not due at the time of the assignment, or of other sums to become due to the assignor, are invalid unless recorded with the recorder of the county where the wages are to be earned, or the sums are to become due, within five days from the date thereof. If the assignor is a married man or woman, residing with the wife or husband, he or she must join in the assignment. There are also provisions regulating assignments to wage-brokers and others.

Attachments. In actions on contracts, express or implied, or in tort against a non-resident, the plaintiff may have the defendant's property attached, upon filing a bond in double the amount sued for, with affidavit "showing the existence of statutory grounds, consisting, in general, of the defendant's non-residence or fraud." Garnishee process will issue in aid of attachment when money or property of the debtor is found in possession of third persons.

Banks. Kinds Permitted. Banks of Deposit and Discount, which may have a savings department and a trust department; Trust, Deposit and Security Companies; Trust companies, which may engage in general banking; Industrial Banks; Credit Unions. The discussion which follows is necessarily limited to Banks of Deposit and Discount.

Supervising Authority. The State Bank Commissioner.
Incorporators. Any number of persons not less than three.
Officers and Directors. The officers, usually a president, vice-president and cashier, are elected annually by the board of directors. The directors may be from three to twenty-one in number, must give bond, must own a fixed amount of stock free from indebtedness, and must never have been convicted of a felony or a violation of banking laws. They must attend meetings monthly.

Capital Stock and Surplus Requirements. The minimum paid-up cash capital required to commence business is $25,000 in cities or towns of 4,000 or less; $50,000 in cities of from 4,000 to 50,000; $100,000 in cities of more than 50,000; to which must be added, in each case, a cash surplus of 10% of the capital stock. The capital and surplus thereafter maintained must also equal 10% of the average daily deposits for the preceding calendar year.

Reserves. Reserves are required to be maintained in an amount equal to 15% of all deposits.

Examinations and Reports. Examinations by the State Bank Commissioner are made at least twice a year; directors must prepare and file a detailed report at least twice a year, 5 months apart. The dates of examination and reports are determined by the State Bank Commissioner.

Loan Limitations. No loans are permitted on a bank's own stock or to its officers. Loans on real estate cannot exceed 25% of its interest bearing securities except that up to 50% of its savings deposits may be so invested. No commercial loan can exceed 15% of the bank's capital and surplus except that loans fully secured by collateral of definite value in excess of the loan are not so limited.

Stockholders' Liability. Shareholders are individually liable for the corporations' indebtedness to the extent of double the amount of their stock therein, at par, in addition to the amount invested in such shares. This liability is not subject to offsets on account of deposits.

Branch Banking is prohibited.

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation authorized to act as liquidator of closed banks.

Federal Deposit Insurance. Banks authorized to make loans in co-operation with National Housing Act. Mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administrator eligible for investment.

Dividends. Before dividends are declared, twenty-five per cent of net profit for the period put into surplus fund until surplus fund equals one hundred per cent of capital of bank.

Banks, Miscellaneous. Savings Banks, Trust Companies, either independent or as a part of a bank, Industrial Banks and Credit Unions are all authorized and are regulated by the State Bank Commissioner.

Blue Sky Law. All corporations organized in Colorado who desire to place on sale to the public, securities in certain classes must comply with the "Securities Act" or "Blue Sky Law" of 1923 as amended in 1931, which provides that two copies of prospectus issued shall be filed with the Secretary of State setting forth certain information with reference to the company and the Secretary of State shall charge and collect a fee of $10 for the filing of such prospectus. Securities salesmen must further register under the Act of 1931 with the Secretary of State. In 1933 an amendment was passed extending the scope of the former acts, and empowering the Secretary of State to prohibit the sale of securities by insolvent, unlawful, fraudulent or unsound issuers.

Building & Loan Associations are authorized and are regulated by a Building and Loan Department under a complete code adopted and in effect June 8, 1933, and amended by Act of Legislature, effective May 17, 1939.

Chattel Mortgages as between the parties are good until the indebtedness is paid or barred by limitation. To be valid as to third persons they must state the amount and maturity of the debt, describe the property, and be acknowledged and filed or recorded. The form of acknowledgment is "This mortgage was acknowledged before me this..... day of..... 19....., by..... mortgagor"; if by a corporation or partnership, the form is varied to read "by..... for..... mortgagor." The notary must state when his commission expires. The lien remains good until the maturity of the indebtedness but not to exceed two years if for not over $2,500, for five years if for from $2,500 to $20,000, and for ten years if for over $20,000, but as to mortgages for over $2,500 a sworn statement must be filed every two years beginning with the second anniversary showing good faith and the amount unpaid. Possession may be taken at any time within six months after the maturity named, or to which it may have been extended, and the mortgage may be extended or further extended by filing or recording a sworn statement showing total payments, amount unpaid, that the debt is due, and that it is extended to a definite stated time, not exceeding two years. During said six-month period the debt may be paid and the lien discharged as at maturity. Mortgages of stocks of goods which reserve possession and power of sale to mortgagor, are void as against creditors and bona fide purchasers. Disposing of mortgaged property is larceny. Chattel mortgages upon household goods used by the family, when made by husband or wife residing with the other, must be made by husband and wife jointly.

Collaterals. Shares of stock may be validly pledged only by delivery of the certificate properly indorsed. Persons holding stocks in corporations as collateral security are not personally liable as stockholders for corporate debts. A pledgee of stock may represent same at corporate meetings.

Commercial Paper is governed by the uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted in 1897. See complete text of uniform law elsewhere in this publication.

Conditional Sales. Conditional sales contracts give the seller no rights as against purchasers for value without notice from a buyer in possession, and should never be used in this state, a chattel mortgage being the only satisfactory form of security.

Conveances. No joint tenancy in real property unless expressly declared in the deed, except in certain particular cases. Unless so declared grantees shall be deemed tenants in common. Lands not in possession may be conveyed. Not necessary for wife to join in deed except in a conveyance of a mortgage or a homestead, entered as such of record. Witnesses are unnecessary. Seals are not necessary excepting in the case of corporations, but a printed or ink seal is advisable. Acknowledged deeds are deemed notice from the date of filing but they can not be read in evidence unless subsequently acknowledged or proved, unless they are on record for over twenty years. (See Acknowledgments; Husband and Wife.)

Corporations. Colorado corporation laws are broad and flexible. Three or more residents or non-residents may form a Colorado corporation by signing, acknowledging and filing with the Secretary of State a certificate stating the name (containing "Association," "Company," "Corporation," "Club," "Incorporated," "Limited," "Society," "Union," "Syndicate," "Co.," "Inc.," or "Ltd."), objects, term of existence, which may be perpetual, the amount of stock which may have any or no par value and may be divided into classes with respect to voting power, preferences, participation, etc., the number of directors, who may be classified according to term of office, location of principal office, and whether cumulative voting is allowed, and, if desired, special provisions limiting or regulating powers of the company, directors, stockholders or any class thereof, providing for compromises between the corporators power to sell or mortgage, giving to stockholders the board of directors and its creditors or stockholders, giving the board of directors the right to subscribe to additional stock issues, requiring more than the legal proportion of voting for corporation action, or permitting the directors to meet out of the state or to make by-laws. Filing fees are $20 plus 20c per thousand capital in excess of $50,000 capital or shares of no par stock, plus $5.00 for certificate. Stock may be issued full paid and non-assessible for property or services. Stockholders are liable for the amount remaining unpaid on stock. When fully paid a certificate thereof should be filed.

Stock is transferred only by delivery of the certificate, unless the by-laws otherwise provide for. Unless the certificate of incorporation otherwise provides, mining and manufacturing companies can encumber their property only by authority of a majority of stockholders. The certificate may be amended in any respect excepting to change its original purpose. The term of existence may be extended from time to time and the corporation may be dissolved by a vote of two-thirds of the stockholders. Foreign corporations are prohibited under penalty from transacting business until they file a copy of their charter of incorporation and a certificate identifying the act under which it is organized and a certificate appointing an individual or corporate agent for the service of process and pay a fee of $30 plus 30c on each thousand dollars in excess of $50,000 represented by capital in Colorado, plus $5.00 for a certificate of authority and $5.00 for designating agent. Foreign corporations cannot mortgage property as against citizens without published notice. Every corporation foreign or domestic must on or before March 15th, or the next business day, file an annual report as to its officers, stock and condition, on forms furnished by the Secretary of State, paying a fee of $5.00, unless the capital is $10,000 or less when the fee is $1.00, and for wilful concealment of any material fact or failure to file such report the directors and officers become liable for the debts contracted in the preceding calendar year up to $1,000 each. An annual license tax of $10.00 plus 10c per thousand dollar capital or shares of no par stock above $100,000 must be paid by all foreign or domestic corporations on or before May 1st, failure to pay resulting in forfeiture or right to do business subject to reinstatement within two years.

Special statutory provisions in addition to those governing general business corporations apply to title and guaranty, banking, insurance, mining, telegraph, ditch and reservoir, flume and pipe line, water users, toll road, bridge and ferry, gas, cemetery, cooperative, religious and for non-profit and other corporations.

Other provisions of the Revenue bill, approved August 4, 1917, and this act regarding annual reports, assessment of tangible and intangible property, etc., too voluminous to be quoted, make it advisable that care should be exercised by both domestic and foreign corporations operating in the State to acquaint themselves fully with its requirements.

Depositions. The deposition of a witness out of the State shall be taken upon commission issued by the clerk of the court where the suit is pending on the application of either party on five days' previous notice to the other, which notice shall be accompanied by a copy of the interrogatories to be attached to the commission. It may be issued to a person agreed upon by the parties or to any judge or justice of the peace, or to a commissioner appointed by the governor of the State to take affidavits and depositions in other States and Territories, or to a notary public. The adverse party may file and have attached to the commission such cross-interrogatories as he may desire. Parties may agree by written stipulation to take the deposition orally, or, upon proper cause shown, may obtain an order of court directing it to be so taken. Depositions can be taken at any time after starting suit. Either party may have a deposition taken in this state at any time after commencing suit and may therein examine the adverse party as under cross-examination.

Descents and Distributions. The estate of an intestate descends one-half to the surviving husband or wife, and the residue to the surviving children and descendants of children, if any; if none, then the whole descends to such surviving husband or wife. Except as enumerated the estate of every intestate descends: 1. To his children surviving, and the descendants of his children who are dead, the descendants collectively taking the share which their parents would have taken if living. 2. If no children nor their descendants, then to his father and mother, share and share alike, and if one dead, then to the other; if no father or mother, then to his brothers and sisters, and to descendants of brothers and sisters who are dead, the descendants collectively, taking the share of their immediate ancestors in equal parts. 3. If none of the foregoing living, then to the grandfather, grandmother, uncles, aunts and their descendants, the descendants taking collectively the share of their immediate ancestors in equal parts. 4. If none of the relatives above enumerated be living, then to the nearest lineal ancestor and their descendants, the descendants collectively taking the share of their immediate ancestors in equal parts. All posthumous children or descendants of the intestate, inherit as if born in the lifetime of the intestate, and all children of the half blood and all legally adopted children shall inherit as children of the whole blood. Illegitimate children inherit if parents subsequently intermarry. Convicted Murderers shall not inherit property of victim.

Dower. Common Law Dower and curtesy are abolished, as such, but neither husband nor wife can by will devise more than one-half of her estate away from the other without his consent.

Exemptions. These consist, in brief, of a $2,000 homestead, 60% of the wages of the head of a family, and specified personal property of certain classes of persons of from $100.00 to $300.00 in value.

Frauds, Statute of. The following must be in writing: Contracts for leasing of land for period longer than one year or for the sale of lands, or any interest in lands; every agreement which by its terms is not to be performed within one year; every special promise to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another; every agreement, promise, or undertaking made upon consideration of marriage, except mutual promises to marry, and every contract for the sale of any goods, chattels, or things in action, for the price of $50 or more, unless the buyer accepts and receives part of such goods or the evidence of some of them, or the buyer at the time pays part of the purchase money.

Garnishment. (See Attachments.)

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); August 1 (Colorado Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); general election day; November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; December 25 (Christmas Day). If any such holiday falls on Sunday, the Monday following or the preceding Saturday in the case of November 11th are legal holidays for all purposes including presentment of commercial paper. Third Friday in April, second Friday in May, and October 12th are holidays not affecting business transactions. Saturday afternoon in cities of 25,000 and over in June, July and August, on which days commercial paper may be presented in the forenoon or the following Monday.

Husband and Wife retain their separate property, real, personal and mixed owned at marriage, and any such property which shall come to either of them by descent, devise, or bequest, or the gift of any person, for their own separate use. Such property of the wife is not liable for the husband's debts except as hereafter stated. Wife may carry on trade or business, sue and be sued, contract debts, and execute promissory notes, bonds, bills of exchange, and other instruments precisely as if sole and may convey real estate without the husband joining in the deed. Any chattel mortgage upon, or sale of, the household goods used by the family, and any conveyance of, or mortgage upon, a homestead, and any assignment of future wages, or sums to be come due in the future, when made by husband or wife residing with the other, must be joined in by that other. A married woman may make a will, but neither husband nor wife shall devise or bequeath more than half of his or her property away from the other without the consent in writing of the other, executed after death of the testator or of testatrix. Marriage revokes a will previously made. The husband is liable for the debts and liabilities of the wife contracted before marriage to the extent of the real and personal property he may receive with or through her, or derive from the sale or rent of her lands, and no further. The expenses of the family and the education of the children are chargeable upon the property of both husband and wife, and in relation thereto they may be sued jointly or severally. Either husband or wife living together can separately declare property of record in the name of the other "A Homestead," by an entry of record over his or her signature. Neither can mortgage nor convey homestead without the signature of the other.

Interest. The legal rate was 8% from the organization of the state up to March 7, 1935, when it became 6%, but any other rate may be fixed by agreement with the exception of loans of $300 or less made by money lenders upon which the maximum rate is 10 per cent.

Judgments. A transcript of judgment may be filed in the office of the county clerk and recorder of any county in the State, and thereupon such judgment becomes a lien upon all real property owned by the judgment debtor in that county. The lien holds for six years from the date upon which filed, and successive transcripts may be filed. Justice court judgments expire in six years; judgments of courts of record in twenty years, unless revived by appropriate proceedings. (See Executions.)

Limitations—Personal Actions. All actions upon any contract or liability express or implied must be begun within six years next after the cause of action accrues. In actions on account the last item proved fixes the date. Bill of relief in the case of equitable trusts shall be filed within five years; personal actions on any contract other than the above and bills for relief on the ground of fraud shall be filed within three years after discovery, by aggrieved party, of facts; and all actions based on implied or constructive fraud must be commenced within three years after act complained of. The doctrine of laches applies in equitable proceedings. Additional statutes govern limitations in certain unusual proceedings. The limitation does not apply to minors, married women or persons insane, in prison or absent from the United States; and legal representative of a person under disability has not less than two years after appointment to take action, unless person under disability dies, in which case executor or administrator has 1 year after death. Payment, new promise in writing or absence from the state extend the period.

Real Actions. Actions to recover real property must be brought within not more than 18 years after the right accrued as defined by extensive statutory provisions. If the claim be against an actual resident holding under fee or tax title, or against a person in possession of land under claim or color title or having color of title to vacant land, and having paid taxes for seven years, the action must be brought within seven years after the right accrued.

Married Women. (See Husband and Wife.)

Mechanics' Liens. Mechanics, material-men, contractors, subcontractors, builders, miners, and all persons of every class performing labor upon, or furnishing materials used in the construction or repair of any building, or any other structure or improvement upon land, also all who have rendered their professional, skilled service upon such structure, have a lien upon the property, also those who work or furnish materials or machinery for the working of a mining claim or mineral deposit shall have a similar lien. Liens rank in the following order: 1. Laborers or mechanics working by the day or piece, without furnishing material. 2. Sub-contractors and material-men, whose claims are either entirely or principally for materials, machinery or other fixtures. 3. All principal contractors. Laborers are allowed one month, material men two months, and the original contractor three months after the completion of the structure, within which to file claim of lien. Action to enforce such lien must be commenced within six months after completion of the building upon which it is claimed.

Mortgages. Ordinary mortgages on realty are in common use; also deeds of trust to a public trustee and to private trustees. A trust deed to private trustee is foreclosed as a mortgage. In case the public trustee is named, the property is sold by him as provided in the deed, after advertisement in a newspaper designated in the trust deed, and such advertisement shall not be less than four weeks. Upon a sale by the public trustee, a certificate of sale is issued. Redemption may be made by the grantor within six months. Within 10 days thereafter, if notice of intention to redeem has been filed within six months, subsequent encumbrancers or lienors may redeem in order of priority.

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted 1907. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Partnerships. General partnerships are governed by the rules of the common law ordinarily applicable, without statutory change, excepting that individuals or partners doing business under any name other than their personal names must file an affidavit showing the real persons represented, or may not bring suits upon debts due, and may be convicted or fined. Limited partnerships are organized under the uniform limited partnership act adopted in 1931. A limited partnership is formed by signing a certificate in statutory form. A limited partner is not liable to creditors beyond the amounts stated in such certificate unless he takes control of the business. The rights of the partners, rights of third persons, method of conducting the partnership, its dissolution, etc., are minutely provided for.

Powers of Attorney. Powers of attorney for the conveyance of lands must be acknowledged in the same manner as deeds, and must be recorded in the same county wherein the real property to be conveyed is situated.

Sales of Personal Property. Every sale or assignment of goods and chattels in the possession or under the control of the vendor is void, as against creditors or subsequent purchasers in good faith, unless accompanied by immediate delivery and followed by actual and continued change of possession. Sales of any portion of a stock of merchandise otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade are prima facie fraudulent and void against creditors, unless seller and purchaser together, before sale, make inventory, showing quantity and cost price of the various articles; and unless purchaser makes full inquiry of the seller as to names and addresses of all creditors of seller, and the amount due to each, and obtains an answer; and notifies each creditor of the proposed sale, the cost price, and the proposed selling price; and unless the purchaser retains the inventory and written answer at least six months after the sale. This act does not apply to sales by legal representatives of public officers conducting sales in their official capacity and there are some other exceptions to this law. (See Husband and Wife.)

Securities Act. See Blue Sky Law.

Taxes. A schedule of taxable property in each county with the owner's valuations must be filed between April 1 and May 20. Taxes are assessed after a review of valuations in August. Taxes levied on real estate and personal property until paid, as also upon stocks of goods including new goods added thereto. Taxes may be paid in two semi-annual installments; the first on or before the last day of February, and the residue on or before the last day of July of the year following the one in which they are assessed. Tax sales are held in November when tax certificates are given to purchasers on which treasurer's deed may issue after three years. Prior to sale delinquent taxes bear interest at 6 per cent per annum from March 1 to, July 31 and at 8 per cent per annum from July 31 to date of sale; plus a 10 per cent penalty if the first half be not paid by April 30; after sale at 18 per cent per annum for the first six months, 12 per cent thereafter. Household goods to the value of $200 belonging to a head of a family are exempt from taxation. A graduated sales tax law was passed in 1935 to raise revenue for relief. In 1937 an income tax law was enacted.

A 2% tax on services passed in 1937 and was re-enacted in 1939 with minor changes requiring all persons including corporations, trusts, estates, syndicates, etc., to pay a tax on services rendered, except medical, undertakers and religious. Act terminates June 30, 1943.

Unclaimed Dormant Bank Deposits. A list of all deposits with names and last known addresses of depositors which have remained unchanged except for credits for interests for ten years or more or which have for ten years remained unclaimed shall be published in one issue of a newspaper of general circulation in the city where the deposit is located, sworn to by the cashier at any convenient day during March in each year.

Wills. Males of the age of twenty-one years, and females of the age of twenty-one years, may dispose of their real and personal property by will but personal property may be disposed of by will by any person of the age of seventeen years. For restrictions as to married persons, see "Husband and Wife." All wills, whether of realty or personalty shall be in writing signed by the testator or some one for him in his presence and at his direction, and attested in his presence and in the presence of each other by two or more credible witnesses. Unless otherwise expressed in the will an after-born child will share in the property. Devises and bequests to witnesses are null and void, unless they will be attested by a sufficient number of witnesses exclusive of such persons. No will can be revoked otherwise than by the subsequent marriage of the testator, or by burning, tearing, or obliterating the same by the testator, or in his presence and by his direction and consent, or by another will or codicil, declaring the same, duly signed and witnessed. The property devised by will must be administered by the county court, and all property of non-residents must generally be administered to clear title to real property situated in this State. (See Husband and Wife. Descents and Distributions. Administration of Estates.)

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF CONNECTICUT

RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by CARL A. LUNDGREN, Attorney at Law, Ansonia, Conn.

Accounts. In all actions for a book debt, the entries of the parties in their respective books shall be admissible in evidence. (For limitation of actions on accounts, see Limitations to Suits.)

Acknowledgments. (See Conveyances.)

Administration of Estates. The probate court has jurisdiction of deceased estates. Bonds which must be furnished by the administrators or executors, are usually made double the estimated value of personal property. Banks and trust companies generally excepted from the requirement of furnishing bond. Bonds of surety companies authorized to do business in the State may be accepted. Not less than six months are limited for the presentation of claims against deceased estates. Such claims are presented to the administrator or executor if the estate is solvent, or to commissioners appointed by the probate court if the estate is insolvent. Creditors not inhabitants of this State may exhibit their claims against any estate which has not been represented insolvent, at any time within one year after order of notice, and if presented more than six months after order of notice, shall be entitled to payment only out of the clear estate remaining after payment of claims exhibited within time limited. Twelve months is the usual time allowed for the settlement of deceased estates. Foreign Corporations may act as executors or trustees under a will, but not as administrators, providing state of foreign corporations' domicile grants reciprocal rights to Connecticut corporations. Trust funds may be invested in securities selected by trustee with the care of a prudent investor. Annual accounts required of trustees. There are no statutory fees for fiduciaries, but fees are fixed by the probate court.

Affidavits. Civil actions do not ordinarily have to be supported by affidavits. Affidavits have no weight as evidence, and are never admitted as such.

Allens. Any alien resident of any of the United States, and any citizen of France, so long as France shall accord the same right to citizens of the United States, may purchase, hold, inherit, or transfer real estate in this State in as full a manner as native-born citizens.

Arbitration. Parties to any controversy desiring to submit the same to arbitration under a rule of court, and having signed and sworn to an agreement to that effect, may, upon filing this agreement in the court having jurisdiction of the subject matter, have this agreement entered of record and obtain a rule of court that the said parties shall submit to and be finally concluded by such arbitration.

Assignments. Assignments of wages or debts due for personal services are invalid.

Attachments. Attachment may be made upon the original process, and is served by attaching the goods or lands of the defendant, or, if sufficient goods be not found, the person in actions where there is fraud in contracting the debt or concealing property or refusing to pay an admitted debt. Attachments may be granted upon all complaints containing a money demand. Supplemental attachment may be ordered by the court upon application at any time during the pendency of the action. If the plaintiff be a non-resident, he is required to furnish a bond for prosecution from twenty dollars to one hundred and forty dollars, according to amount attached. An attachment lien expires unless execution is levied within sixty days after final judgment upon the attached personal property, or within four months upon the attached real estate. (See Exemptions.)

Conveyances of real estate situated in this state, executed and acknowledged in any other state or territory, in conformity with the laws of such state or territory, are valid. If the land conveyed belongs to the wife, the husband should join in the conveyance, if married before April 20, 1877. If the land conveyed belongs to the husband, the wife need not join in the conveyance. No separate examination of a married woman is required in taking her acknowledgment. Conveyances, including leases for more than one year, to be effectual against any other person than the grantor and his heirs must be recorded on the town records of the town in which the land lies. The common law right of survivorship in the case of joint tenancies is not ordinarily recognized.

Stock may be paid for either in cash or property, but if in property, a majority of the directors must make and sign upon a record book a statement of the amount for which the property is received and its actual value. In case of fraud in such valuation, directors personally liable.

Certificate of organization must be signed and sworn to by a majority of the directors and filed in the office of the secretary of state, setting forth the amount of stock subscribed for amount paid in cash and in property, amount paid on each share of stock which is not paid for in full, names and address of subscribers with number of shares subscribed for, statement that the directors are officers have been duly elected and by-laws adopted, names and addresses of directors, the location of the principal office in the state with the name of the agent in charge.

There must be at least three directors; vacancies in directors may be filled by remaining directors.

No stock can be issued until it has been paid for in full. Receipts for partial payments of stock may be issued by the treasurer. Certificates for fractional shares cannot be issued. The corporation has a lien on capital stock owned by any person for debts due to capital stock with the approval of stockholders owning three-fourths of its entire outstanding capital stock, given at a meeting called for that purpose.

Stockholders' meetings must be held in this state.

Similar corporations may consolidate.

A corporation may be wound up by voluntary agreement of all stockholders, signed and acknowledged, directors acting as trustees to wind up the business.

May be taken in a civil action by a judge or clerk of any court, justice of the peace, notary public, or commissioner of the superior court, when witness lives out of the State, or more than twenty miles from place of trial, is over sixty years of age and unable to attend the trial, is going to sea, or out of the State, or by age and infirmity is unable to travel to court, or is confined in jail. Reasonable notice must be given to adverse party. Deponents must be cautioned to speak the whole truth, and carefully examined. They must subscribe their depositions and make oath before the authority taking the same who shall attest the same and certify that the adverse party or his agent was present (if so), or that he was notified, and shall also certify the reason of taking such deposition, seal it up, direct it to the court where it is to be used, and deliver it, if desired, to the party at whose request it was taken. Depositions may be taken in any other State or country by a notary public, commissioner appointed by the governor of this State, or by any magistrate having power to administer oaths, and they may also be taken before a foreign minister, secretary of legation, consul or vice-consul appointed by the United States, if taken out of the United States. A judge of the superior, common pleas, or district court can issue a "commission" to take the deposition of a person residing out of this State, to be used in a cause pending before such court. The superior court, upon petition, may allow depositions to be taken to perpetuate testimony concerning that which may thereafter be the subject of a suit. The person taking depositions may compel attendance of witnesses by subpoena and capias. Depositions may be taken in Connecticut for suits pending in any court in the United States or any foreign country.

Descent and Distribution of Property in Intestate Estates. (As to the share of a surviving husband or wife, see the title Husband and Wife.) After the share of the surviving husband or wife, the residue of the real or personal estate is distributed in equal proportions among the children and the legal representatives of any of them who may be dead (children who have received estate by advancement of the intestate in his lifetime being charged with the same in the distribution). If there be no children or legal representatives thereof, such residue shall be distributed to the parent or parents, then equally to the brothers and sisters of the intestate of the whole blood, and those who legally represent them; and if there be no such kindred, then equally to the brothers and sisters of the half blood and those who legally represent them; and if none, then equally to the next of kin in equal degree, kindred of the whole blood to take in preference to kindred of the half blood, in equal degree, and no representatives to be admitted among collaterals after the representatives of brothers and sisters.

Dower. (See Husband and Wife.)

Evidence. (See Courts, Insurance Company, Corporations.)

Executions. Issue on final judgment, and are returnable within sixty days. No execution issued in an action founded on contract merely can be levied on the body of the debtor except for breach of promise of marriage, misconduct or neglect in office or professional employment, or breach of trust and cases where the original attachment is against the body. Any judgment debtor, an execution against whom shall have been returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, may be examined on oath touching his property and means of paying such judgment, and may be committed for contempt. Executions may issue against wages and debts due for personal services subject to a weekly exemption of fifteen dollars.

Foreign Attachments. Goods concealed in the hands of agents or debts due the defendant are subject to foreign attachment which takes the place of garnishment. Wages and debts due for personal service are not subject to foreign attachment.

Foreign Corporations. Every foreign corporation, except insurance and surety companies and building and loan associations and investment companies (a corporation which has power to or does sell or negotiate its own choses in action or sell, guarantee, or negotiate the choses in action of other persons or corporations as investments), shall, before transacting business in this state, file in the office of the secretary of the State a certified copy of its charter or certificate of incorporation, together with a statement, signed and sworn to by its president, treasurer, and a majority of its directors, showing the amount of its authorized capital stock and the amount thereof which has been paid in, and, if any part of such payment has been made otherwise than in cash, such statement shall set forth the particulars thereof. Every foreign corporation with an office or place of business in this state, except insurance companies, surety companies, and building and loan associations, shall, before doing business in this state, appoint in writing the secretary of the state and his successors in office to be its attorney, upon whom all process in any action or proceeding against it may be served; and in such writing such corporation shall agree that any process against it which is served on such secretary shall be of the same legal force and validity as if served on the corporation, and that such appointment shall continue in force as long as any liability remains outstanding against the corporation in this state. Such written appointment shall be acknowledged before some officer authorized to take acknowledgments of deeds and shall be filed in the office of said secretary, and copies certified by him shall be sufficient evidence of such appointment and agreement. Service upon said attorney shall be sufficient service upon the principal, and may be made by leaving a duly attested copy of the process with the secretary of the state or at his office. Every foreign corporation doing business in this state shall, within thirty days after an increase or reduction of its capital stock file in the office of the secretary of the State a certificate substantially like that required of domestic corporations organized under the like conditions. The president and treasurer of every foreign corporation doing business in this state which is not required by law to make other annual returns in this state, shall, annually, on or before the fifteenth day of February or August, make, sign, and swear to and file in the office of the secretary of the state a certificate similar to the certificate required of domestic corporations (See Corporations), except that such certificate need not give the name of the agent or person in charge of its principal office upon whom process against the corporation may be served. The secretary shall thereupon record such certificate in a book kept by him for that purpose and shall furnish a certified copy to be recorded in the office of the town clerk of the town in this State in which such corporation has its principal office or place of business and said town clerk shall record the same in a book kept by him for that purpose. On the thirtieth day of March and September the town clerks of the several towns shall report to the secretary of the state the names of all corporations whose annual reports have been filed for record during the preceding six months, in accordance with the provisions of this section, and the secretary shall report to the attorney-general every six months the names of all corporations which have failed to comply with the provisions of this section, and the attorney-general shall collect all forfeitures due under this section. Every corporation whose officers shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall forfeit to the State $100 for each failure. The attorney-general may remit this fine. The corporations' license to do business shall be suspended for failure to file reports for two successive years.

Foreign Judgments. Not conclusive on question of jurisdiction. A foreign judgment when used by way of defence, is as conclusive to every intent, as those of our own courts. In an action on a judgment rendered in another State, evidence on the part of the defendant that he had no legal notice of the suit and did not appear, is admissible, although the record of the judgment stated that the defendant appeared by the attorney. Where the foreign court has a peculiar and exclusive jurisdiction, its decree is binding upon the judgment of any other court, into which the same subject comes immediately into controversy. A judgment rendered by a court in one state has no efficacy when it is sought to be enforced in Connecticut, unless such court had jurisdiction of the person against whom it is rendered, acquired either by service upon him of the process in the suit, or actual notice to him of the suit, or at least by his having appeared in it, and thus submitting to the jurisdiction of the court. Jurisdiction presumed to have been properly exercised, if court once had jurisdiction. Notice presumed of resumption of jurisdiction if required by practice of foreign court. A judgment recovered in a sister State is a bar to the further prosecution of an action pending at the time in this State between the same parties on the same cause of action. It makes no difference that the judgment of the sister state has been appealed from, and that the appeal is still pending, where by the laws of that state, such appeal operates only as a proceeding in error, and does not supersede the judgment. Only such pleas are pleadable to a foreign judgment, as are pleadable when rendered.

Fraud. All fraudulent conveyances, suits, judgments, executions, or contracts, made or contrived with intent to avoid any debt or duty belonging to others, shall, notwithstanding any pretended consideration therefor, be void against those persons only, their heirs, executors, administrators, or assigns, to whom such debt or duty belongs.

Garnishment. (See Foreign Attachments.)

Guaranty Companies. (See Surety Companies.)

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; December 25 (Christmas Day). The Governor may declare a "Bank Holiday." Whenever any of such days shall occur upon Sunday, the Monday next following such day, and any day appointed or recommended by the governor of this state or the president of the United States as a day of thanksgiving, fasting or religious observance, shall each be a legal holiday.

Husband and Wife. In all marriages contracted after April 19, 1877, neither husband nor wife acquires by force of the marriage any right to or interest in any property held by the other before the marriage or acquired after the marriage, except as to the share of the survivor in the property of the other as hereinafter stated. Wife married subsequent to April 19, 1877, may hold and convey real estate separate from her husband. Separate earnings of the wife are her sole property. On the death of the husband or wife the survivor shall be entitled to the use for life of one-third in value of all the property, real or personal, owned by the other at the time of his or her decease, after the payment of all debts and charges allowed against the estate. The right to such third can not be defeated by will. Where there is no will the survivor shall take such third absolutely, and if there are no children, shall take all of the estate of the decedent absolutely to the extent of $2,000, and one-half absolutely of the remainder of said estate, and if there are no children of the decedent or representatives of children, and no parent, the survivor shall take all of the estate absolutely.

Injunctions. Any judge of any court of equitable jurisdiction may, on motion, grant and enforce writs of injunction, which shall be of force until the sitting of such court and its further order therein, unless sooner dissolved. Superior court judge may dissolve temporary injunction granted by other court. It shall be the duty of the court to continue said injunction until a final decision be rendered in the supreme court of errors.

Insolvency. Suspended, owing to United States Bankruptcy Act.

Interest. Legal rate, in absence of express agreement, 6 per cent; no more than 6 per cent can be recovered in either case after debt becomes payable. Express agreements in which 12 per cent is charged are valid and any person making a greater charge is liable to fine and imprisonment. There is no limit to the interest charge which can be made by any National Bank or any Bank or Trust Company, incorporated under the laws of this State nor is there any limit to the interest charge on a bona fide mortgage of real property exceeding the sum of five hundred dollars. Special law for pawn-brokers. Loan companies licensed by Bank Commissioner may loan not more than $300.00 and may charge not to exceed 36 per cent per annum on that part of the unpaid principal balance of any loan not in excess of $100.00, and not to exceed 24 per cent, per annum on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance.

Jurisdiction. (See Courts.)

Liens. (Mechanics' Liens.) Any person having a claim for materials furnished or services rendered, exceeding the sum of $10.00, in the construction, erection, and repair of any building, or in the removal of a building, may have a lien on such building, and the land on which the same may stand, and said premises may be foreclosed, in the same manner as if held by mortgage. No one other than the original contractor, or a sub-contractor under a written contract, assented to in writing by owner, shall be entitled to claim a lien unless, after starting and not later than 60 days after ceasing to furnish labor or materials, he gives written notice to the owner of his intention to claim and such lien. A certificate, subscribed and sworn to, describing the premises, the amount claimed as a lien thereon, and the date of the commencement of the claim, must be lodged with the town clerk of the town in which such premises are situated, within 60 days after the person performing such services or furnishing such materials has ceased so to do. Mechanics' liens may be dissolved on substitution of bond. Such lien continues only 2 years after it is perfected unless foreclosure is commenced. Vessels can be subjected to a lien for moneys due for work or materials furnished in their construction, by recording claim in town clerk's office within 10 days after job is done. Persons keeping animals under contract with owner have lien for their contract charge. Mechanics' liens, on claims for materials furnished or services rendered, under any contract with or approved by a railroad corporation owning or managing the railroad, are enforceable. The lien, however must be lodged with the secretary of state. By Public Acts 1925, there is no priority among mechanics lienors, unless some other incumbrance intervenes, in which case prior liens take precedence of incumbrance on pro rata basis as between themselves. Liens after the incumbrance yield to the incumbrance and as between themselves none has priority. The mechanics' lien attach subject to apportionment only to the amount which owner agreed to pay under the contract.

Limitations to Suits. Open accounts and contracts not under seal, six years; contracts under seal and promissory notes not negotiable, seventeen years. Usual exceptions in favor of married women minors, lunatics, and those imprisoned. The time during which the party against whom there may be such cause of action shall be without the state shall be excluded from the computation. Title to real estate by adverse possession may be gained in fifteen years. There is no limitation against judgments but the common law presumption of payment after twenty years exists.

Limited Partnerships. Such partnerships (except banking and insurance) shall consist of one or more partners, jointly and severally responsible, as in ordinary cases, to be called general partners; and one or more partners, furnishing capital to the partnership stock, whose liability shall not extend beyond the capital so furnished by them, to be called special partners. Such partnerships shall be conducted under a company name, in which the name of one or more of the general partners shall appear; and if any special partner's name shall be used in said company name, he shall be held liable as a general partner. No such partnership shall be deemed to be formed until the persons forming it shall make, and severally sign and acknowledge before any officer authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds, a certificate stating the company name and names and residences of all the partners designating which are general and which are special partners, and which of the general partners are authorized to transact the partnership business and sign the firm name, and also the amount of capital furnished by each special partner and the time at which the partnership is to commence and terminate; nor until such certificate, and also a certificate of the amount actually paid in by each special partner, signed and sworn to by such of the general partners as are authorized to transact the partnership business, shall be filed and recorded in the office of the town clerk of the town where the principal business of the partnership is to be carried on; and a copy of such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the matters therein contained; and the partnership shall be responsible only for the acts of the general partners designated as specially authorized as aforesaid; and copies of said certificates shall, in like manner, be filed in every town where such partnership may have a place of business. Terms of such partnership must be published for six weeks in newspaper published in county where business is to be carried on. Any such partnership may be renewed by filing at any time before its expiration, with the town clerk, a sworn certificate of the general partners, setting forth the time for which said renewal is made, whether the special capital has been reduced or impaired since the last certificate filed by said partnership, and if so, to what amount, and by publishing not less than once a week for two weeks in a newspaper published in county, the time at which the said renewed partnership is to commence and terminate, signed by the partners thereto, and specifying which are general and which are special partners. If the requirements concerning original certificate are not complied with, or false certificate be made, all special partners shall be liable as general partners. All advancements to the capital stock by the special partners shall be in cash and no part of the capital furnished by them shall be withdrawn, either in the shape of dividends, profits or otherwise, at any time while such partnership continues; except that any special partner may lawfully be paid from the assets of such partnership, each year during the continuance thereof, a sum not exceeding 10 per centum upon the cash contributed by him to the capital stock; provided that such payment shall only be made out of the net profits actually earned by such partnerships during the year for which such payment is made. No special partner shall under any circumstances be considered a creditor, or allowed to claim as a creditor. No special partner shall be joined as a party in any action by or against such partnership unless liable as a general partner.

Married Women. (See Husband and Wife.)

Mortgages of real estate are executed, acknowledged, and recorded in the same manner as deeds, and are generally foreclosed by strict foreclosure with time allowed for redemption, although it is also possible to foreclose by decree of sale. Chattel mortgages to be good against third parties, where the mortgagor retains possession, must be executed, acknowledged, and recorded as mortgages of land, and can only be made of the following described personal property—with or without the real estate in which the same is situated or used—namely: machinery, engines, or implements situated and used in any manufacturing or mechanical establishment; machinery, engines, implements, cases, types, cuts, or plates situated and used in any printing, publishing, or engraving establishment; household furniture in a dwelling house used by the owner therein in housekeeping; hay and tobacco in the leaf in any building. Piano, organ, melodeon, and any musical instrument used by an orchestra or band. Brick burned or unburned, in any kiln or brickyard. Hotel keepers may mortgage the furniture, fixtures, and other personal chattels contained and used in the hotels occupied by them or employed in connection therewith. Any one engaged in farming, oyster growing, etc., may mortgage to production credit associations or governmental agencies live-stock, farm machinery or equipment and crops, or oysters and oyster planting or digging equipment and vessels used in oyster business. Chattel mortgages are foreclosed by sale under order of court. In all chattel mortgages there must be a particular description of each article of personal property. Any corporation with a paid-up capital of not less than $250,000, incorporated and organized for the purpose of transacting business as surety on obligations for persons or corporations, on complying with certain requirements of law may be accepted as surety upon the bond of any person or corporation required by the laws of this State to execute a bond. Every foreign corporation before transacting any business in this State must deposit with the insurance commissioner a copy of its charter or articles of association, and sworn statement of the condition of its business. The insurance commissioner may thereafter issue to such company a license to do business in this state. Such company must appoint the insurance commissioner its agent on whom process may be served. If after the making of a will, the testator shall marry or a child shall be born to the testator or a minor child shall be legally adopted by him, and no provision is made in such will for such contingency, such marriage, birth or adoption of a minor child shall operate as a revocation of such will. SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF DELAWARE

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by CALEB M. WRIGHT, Attorney at Law, Georgetown, Delaware.

(See card in Attorneys List)

Acknowledgments, in Delaware, may be made in the Superior Court, before the Chancellor, or any judge or notary public or before two justices of the peace for the same county, or before the judge of the municipal court or the Mayor of Wilmington. Elsewhere in the United States, before any Federal Judge or judge in any court of record of any state or mayor or chief officer of any city or borough, with official seal attached; or before the clerk or other officer of said courts, or before any Commissioner of Deeds, or any notary public. In foreign countries, before any consul or representative of the United States, at his official residence, or any Commissioner of Deeds.

In 1941, all deed records prior to January 1, 1941, were validated by statute where signed and sealed by the grantor, although the acknowledgment might be defective.

Actions. Actions at law and suits in equity are, in general, according to the common law. The distinctions between case and trespass, and covenant and debt are abolished. A simplified procedure is followed in suits on instruments in writing for the payment of money, book accounts, judgments and mortgages, wherein the plaintiff files an affidavit of demand; judgment is entered by default unless an affidavit of defense is filed. All personal actions except actions for defamation, malicious prosecution, or any injury to the person or upon penal statutes, shall survive to and against the executors or administrators.

Affidavits, in Delaware, may be made before the Chancellor, any judge, justices of the peace, or notary public. In legal proceedings in Delaware, where an affidavit of a non-resident is required, it may be made before any person authorized to take acknowledgments.

Aliens. All real and personal property situate in this state may be taken, acquired, held and disposed of by an alien in the same manner as by a citizen of the State of Delaware.

All conveyances to or from an alien at any time made, are validated, ratified and confirmed.

Attachments. All corporations doing business in the State are liable to attachment, except banks, saving institutions, and loan associations. Insurance companies are only so liable for moneys due on the happening of risks provided in the policy.

Auctions. Auctioneers must be licensed, except honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the Civil, Spanish and World War and disabled soldiers and sailors who have served in the Military and Naval forces of the United States and who have been honorably discharged from said services and are residents of the State of Delaware.

Fee is $10.00 for residents and for non-residents an additional $100.00 for each County wherein they act as auctioneer.

Banks. All banks are under the supervision of the State Bank Commissioner, and subject to examination by him annually or oftener. Federal Reserve members may be exempted by him from examination. He also has control of small loan companies. Banks may only be created by special act of the Legislature, and no corporation created under the general corporation law may be deemed to have banking powers. Banking powers may be exercised only by a duly chartered and authorized corporation. New banks must have a certificate from the State Bank Commissioner that they are duly authorized to do business. A certificate must also be had to open a branch office in the state. Merger of banks is prohibited, unless approved by the Commissioner. In case of impairment of capital, the Commissioner must give a sixty-day warning, and if the deficiency is not corrected in that time, he assumes control of the business or has a Receiver appointed. Four reports a year of financial condition must be sent to the Commissioner. Strict limitations are put on cash reserves, loans, investments, equipment and pledging of assets. Directors must be shareholders. No double liability in this state.

Use of the word "Trust" as a part of a corporate name is prohibited. There is only one state bank, chartered in 1807. Minors are recognized as adults in banking. Passing worthless checks is a crime, if the maker knew at the time the check was passed that he did not have sufficient funds on deposit to meet the check. Ten days' notice to the maker must be given before criminal proceedings are instituted. The Bank Commissioner has jurisdiction over the business of receiving deposits or payments on income contracts, annuity contracts or certificates, or annuity bonds. Registration and a certificate of authority are required, but this does not apply to sellers of merchandise on installments, insurance companies, building and loan associations, banks or trust companies or surety companies authorized to do business in the state. Companies engaged in making small loans are under rigid control by statute and the Bank Commissioner.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is by statute subrogated to the rights of the depositors in closed banks and trust companies, in like manner as if assigned. Taxation is assessed on the true value of shares of stock. In savings banks or societies, where there is no capital stock, taxes are assessed on the average of deposits held during the preceding year. Such taxes are a lien on the property of such savings banks or societies.

Brokers must be licensed. An unlicensed broker cannot collect commissions and is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Building and Loan Associations are under the jurisdiction of the State Bank Commissioner. The amount of fines is limited to 5 per cent per month for six months and 1/2 per cent per month thereafter. After six months arrearage, a shareholder may be forced to withdraw. All fees, etc., in any one association must be uniform. Funds may not be invested in corporate stocks. An association may issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness up to 30 per cent of dues paid in, at not over 6 per cent per annum. No more than 50 per cent paid in dues may be loaned on real estate security on other than first liens. The business must be licensed annually, and after July 1, 1931, it is a misdemeanor to solicit sales of shares on commission. An annual statement of business is required, and a list of accounts and standing thereof may be demanded. Failure to maintain standards will expose associations to suit by the Attorney General and assumption of its business by the Bank Commissioner.

Such associations are exempt from the attachment laws. No limitation is placed on the lien of judgments on the bonds for loans. Loans may be made with their own capital stock for security. Partial payments of their mortgages do not have to be recorded. If funds are in excess of requirements, they may be loaned to outsiders for not over 6 per cent. Foreign associations must deposit sufficient securities with the State Treasurer which, with the assets in the state, will be equal to the indebtedness to shareholders in the state.

Chattel Mortgages. A bona fide mortgage of personal property duly signed and sealed and acknowledged is a valid lien on the property for five years, if recorded within 10 days of the date of acknowledgment. It may be foreclosed in equity or by ecl. fa. If defaulted for 60 days. Affidavit of bona fides must accompany the mortgage. It is unlawful for the mortgagor to remove the goods from the county without consent of the mortgagee.

Contracts are joint and several, unless otherwise expressed. Bonds, specialties and notes in writing, payable to order or assigns, are freely assignable; suits thereon are brought by the real party in interest. Assignments of bonds and specialties must be under seal and before one credible witness. A sealed agreement has its common law significance. A sale of goods must be accompanied by payment or security for payment, or delivery; if such goods subsequently come into the vendor's possession, they are liable to the demands of his creditors. No action shall be brought whereby to charge any person upon any agreement made upon consideration of marriage, or sale of lands, or any agreement not to be performed within one year, or any promise to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another, of any sum over $25, unless reduced to writing or memorandum signed by the party to be charged or his agent. Nor shall any action be brought whereby to charge the personal representatives or heirs of any deceased person upon agreement to make a will of real or personal property, or to give a legacy or make a devise, unless such agreement, if made after May 1, 1933, shall be reduced to writing, or some memorandum or note thereof be signed by the decedent, or his agent authorized in writing. Goods sold and delivered and other matters properly chargeable in an account are excepted. In such cases the oath of the plaintiff together with a book regularly kept, is recognized as evidence. Bulk sales are presumed fraudulent against creditors unless inventoried five days before sale and full information is given by the purchaser to all creditors of the seller; failure to comply is also a misdemeanor. Sales by personal representatives or public officers are excepted. A Fair Trade Act was passed April 22, 1941.

Corporations. Not less than three persons may form a corporation for any business except banking, municipal government or charitable, penal, reformatory or educational institutions. The certificate of incorporation must set forth the name; principal place of business in the state; nature and purposes of the business; types and amount of stock authorized, minimum of capitalization being $1,000; name and residence of incorporators; term of existence, which may be perpetual; extent of liability of stockholders. Corporations have the power to have succession in its corporate name, to sue and be sued, to have a corporate seal, to hold real and personal property, to appoint officers and agents, to make by-laws, to dissolve according to law, to conduct business anywhere, and to exercise all the powers and privileges insofar as may be necessary for the transaction of business. It may not issue currency, receive deposits of money, or buy and sell foreign money as a business. Corporations may hold and transfer their own shares, but cannot vote them. The certificate may be amended. Dividends are payable from annual net profits or net assets beyond capital. At least three directors are required; the president must be one. Other officers are elected by the board. Stock may be paid for by cash, labor done, or real or personal property. No-par stock is recognized, as are proxies, not over three years old, and voting trusts. Meetings may be held outside the state, if so provided by the by-laws. Shares of stock are intangible personalty. Fees are based on the number of shares of stock authorized or gross assets whichever is the lesser; minimum, $10. Taxes are likewise so based; minimum, $5, maximum, $25,000. An annual report is required. Charters are voided by proclamation if taxes are not paid for two years in succession; although action may be brought by the Attorney General for such taxes, and he may also have a receiver appointed for the corporation.

Foreign corporations, except insurance companies, must register with the Secretary of State in order to do business in Delaware, showing its charter, an authorized agent in the state for service of process, and a statement of its assets and liabilities, with a fee of $10. Exceptions: Mail order or similar business, one that merely employs salesmen to solicit orders, one installing machinery sold outside the state requiring technical skill, and those engaged in wholly interstate business.

Courts. Supreme Court: regular term at Dover third Tuesday in June and January; adjourned term is held first Tuesday after the fourth Monday in October; special sessions are had at the call of the Chancellor at Dover when deemed expedient by a majority of the members.

Court of Chancery, Orphans Court: New Castle County at Wilmington, fourth Monday in March and second Monday in September; Kent County at Dover, third Mondays in March and September and second Mondays in June and December. Sussex County in Georgetown, second Monday in March and first Mondays in June, September and December.

Superior Court and Court of General Sessions: New Castle County at Wilmington, first Monday in January, March, May, and November and third Monday in September (for criminal cases only). Kent County at Dover, first Monday in July and third Mondays in February, April and October. Sussex County at Georgetown, first Mondays in February, April and October and last Monday in June.

Court of Oyer and Terminer meets on call of Judges.

The Superior Court has general jurisdiction in all civil cases, but if suit is brought for less than $50, costs can not be recovered. The Court of Common Pleas, for New Castle County, has contract jurisdiction up to $1,000. Court of Common Pleas for Newcastle County now has a limited criminal jurisdiction. The Court of Common Pleas of Kent County, created in 1931, has both contract and tort jurisdiction up to $1,000, and a limited criminal jurisdiction; appeals are to the Superior Court of Kent County. The jurisdiction of the Justices of the Peace is limited to $500, exclusive of interest and costs.

Curtesy. The conveyance or devise of a married woman will not divest the husband's right to curtesy in her real estate. If a wife dies intestate leaving a husband and issue, he is entitled to a life estate in half of her realty. If she dies without issue, he is entitled to a life estate in all of her realty.

Death, Presumption of, arises after seven years, as at common law.

Decedents Estates. Letters of administration are granted to (1) a person entitled to residue of personal property, or (2) a creditor, or (3) to any suitable person. Executors or administrators must give bond in double the estimated value of the personal property. The order of payment of claims is (1) funeral expenses, (2) medical services during last illness, (3) household and farm servants wages, not over one year, (4) rent, not over one year, (5) judgments, (6) mortgages, recognizances, and other obligations of record, (7) sealed obligations, (8) contracts under hand for payment of money or delivery of goods, and (9) other demands. If real estate is sold upon order of the Orphans Court to pay debts, all liens thereon become of equal grade and must be paid from the purchase money before other debts. Banks are authorized to pay over personal deposits of decedents not exceeding $75, not less than 15 days after death to the wife, husband, children, father, mother, sister or brother (preference in order named) without requiring letters of administration; such payment is a full release for the amount so paid. A widow of a decedent shall be entitled to receive from the executor or administrator as soon as possible the sum of $500.00 from the estate of the decedent, shall have priority on all unsecured debts with the exception of taxes, costs of administrator, reasonable personal expenses and reasonable expenses of medicine and medical attendance and for nursing and necessaries during last illness of deceased, but such payment shall not affect any rights under husband's will, or intestacy laws. Widow must notify Registrar of wills in writing within six months from the date of death of the decedent of her demand for the sum of $500.00. A debtor, in order to recover from an estate, must make affidavit of non-payment of the debt by the decedent. One year is allowed for the settlement of estates, but an inventory is required within three months from granting of letters. Escheat is recognized. Non-residents, banks and trust companies of Delaware or elsewhere (if permitted by their charters) may act as executor or administrator, but a foreign bank may only act to the extent that a Delaware bank may act in the place of incorporation of such foreign bank. General claims should be presented within six months. Letters granted in another state are sufficient authority for a personal representative to act in Delaware.

Deeds. Warranty deeds are customary. The words "grant" and "bargain and sell" imply a special warranty against the grantor and his heirs, and all claiming under him, in the absence of an express provision otherwise. Deeds must be preserved by the grantor or proved by a subscribing witness in open court to be acknowledged. A deed of a corporation must be executed by the president or a vice-president, duly authorized by resolution of the board of directors, or by the legally constituted attorney of the corporation; the seal of the corporation, attested by the secretary, must be affixed.

If a deed is not recorded within 15 days from the sealing and delivery, it does not avail against a subsequent creditor, mortgagee, or purchaser for a valuable consideration. A deed to two or more persons creates a tenancy in common, unless to husband and wife, when it creates a tenancy by the entireties.

Depositions may be by written interrogatories or orally; they are taken before a Commissioner named by the applicant, by agreement, or by the Court. With the interrogatories must be filed a list of witnesses, who alone may be examined. If oral, all questions and answers must be written down by the Commissioner or his duly qualified stenographer.

Depositions may be taken to perpetuate testimony of aged, infirm or going witnesses, but may be used in evidence only in case those examined are unable to attend the trial. In cases of boundary disputes, such testimony may be preserved by order of the chancellor. Registers and justices of the peace may take depositions of those beyond the reach of process or of those who are sick.

Descent and Distribution. Real estate descends in fee unless otherwise provided, to (1) children in equal shares and lawful issue of deceased children by representation, (2) father and mother, as tenants by the entireties, unless divorced, in which case as tenants in common; if one only survives, then in fee. (3) (a) brothers and sisters of whole blood and lawful issue by representation, (b) brothers and sisters of half blood and lawful issue by representation. In either case brothers and sisters of blood of ancestor from whom intestate acquired land by devise or descent shall be preferred. (4) Next of kin, or lawful issue, with preference to those claiming through the nearest common ancestor. (5) Curtesy and dower are saved (see those titles). (6) If no kin or heir of intestate, then to his or her spouse in fee.

Personal Estate (1) children and lawful issue surviving deceased children, (2) father and mother in equal shares, or all to survivor, (3) brothers and sisters of whole blood and lawful issue surviving, (4) brothers and sisters of the half blood and lawful issue surviving, (5) next of kin in equal degrees, and lawful issue of such as are deceased. Provided, (1) if intestate is married person without issue, spouse takes entire estate, and (2) if with children, spouse takes one-third and children take two-thirds.

Duly adopted children are recognized as of the whole blood. Advancements to children of real or personal property are deemed to be in lieu of their share pro tanto, but do not affect dower. Descent from an illegitimate child is first to its mother, and after that to her heirs. An illegitimate child shares with legitimate children or their issue in property descending from the mother. A child legitimated by either marriage before birth or marriage after acknowledgment of paternity takes as though legitimate. A child acknowledged without marriage cannot inherit from its father.

Dower. A widow is entitled to a life estate in an undivided third of all real estate held by her husband, free from lien or other alienation unless relinquished by her. If the husband dies intestate, the widow becomes tenant in dower of one half, and if he dies without issue, then all of his real estate. Dower may be alienated by antenuptial contract. A widow has the election of taking dower or devise. Dower is barred by the widow's having lived in adultery without her husband's connivance or reconciliation. Dower may be barred by the wife's deed, or upon sale of the lands by the executor or administrator to pay debts of the decedent.

Executions. An execution becomes a lien on personalty when delivered to the sheriff, and binds all goods actually levied upon within 60 days. Priority of writs is based on the time of delivery. A sale cannot be had for 30 days after levy, unless goods are perishable. The lien is valid for 3 years as against subsequent execution on the same goods. Executions issued by justices of the peace must be levied on in 60 days and the lien continues for two years. Goods are liable to one year's rent in preference to execution. There is no redemption of property sold on execution. A stay of six months is granted to defendant from judgment for want of an affidavit of defense, when security is posted. Before justices of the peace, six months stay may be obtained by pleading freehold and nine months by posting security.

Exemptions. Family Bible, school books, family library, family pictures, seat or pew in church, lot in burial ground, all wearing apparel of debtor or his family, and, in addition tools or fixtures necessary to carry on a trade, value not exceeding $75 in New Castle and Sussex counties and $50 in Kent county. Sewing machines owned and used by seamstresses and private families are exempt, and pianos and organs which are rented are not liable to distress if the owner has notified the landlord of his title. The above exemptions apply to distress for rent as well as to ordinary executions. There is a further exemption to head of families of personal property of $200 in New Castle county and of $150 of household goods in Kent county; but this does not include goods bought to be sold in the regular transaction of business by the debtor. There is no such exemption in Sussex county. This latter exemption will not avail against a judgment for work and labor held by an employee—60 per cent of all wages exempt in Kent and Sussex counties. In New Castle county, 90 per cent of all wages are exempt from attachment, and balance, not over $50, may be taken for board and lodging. No exemptions are recognized on a sale for taxes. Any husband and wife may make a joint waiver of exemption.

Frauds. Statute of, see Contracts.

Fraudulent Sale of Securities. Jurisdiction has been conferred on the Chancellor to enjoin the fraudulent sale or exchange of securities in the State, upon the verified petition of the Attorney General.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); Good Friday; May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); General Election Day as it biennially occurs; Thanksgiving Day; December 25 (Christmas Day). Saturday in New Castle County and Kent County shall be known as Saturday Bank Holiday, but any business done in a bank on Saturday is not illegal because it is Saturday Bank Holiday. When a holiday falls on Sunday, the Monday following is a legal holiday.

Homestead. There is no homestead law in Delaware.

Insolvent Laws exist and may be applied in the absence of equivalent provisions in the Federal Bankruptcy Act. They are seldom resorted to. There is no provision for a general discharge.

Insurance. The insurance law was codified in 1931. The Insurance Commissioner has complete supervision of all insurance companies, agents and brokers, including the collection of taxes. A certificate of authority to do business is required of all companies; it may be revoked for insolvency, fraudulent operation, insufficient assets, failure to comply with laws, or financial instability. A foreign or alien company must file copies of its charter, by-laws, policy forms, authorization to do business in its home state, and an appointment of the Commissioner as agent upon whom process may be served. An annual statement of financial condition is required. The resident agent must countersign all policies. A domestic company cannot do business elsewhere without a certificate of authority. Political contributions, defamation of rival companies, misrepresentations as to policies and rebates are prohibited. Real estate holdings and investments are strictly limited by statute. No person may insure the life or health of another without his consent, except a wife for her husband, an employer for his employees collectively, or heads of educational institutions for health of students. Any minor fifteen years of age or more may validly contract for insurance on his or her person as though he or she were of full age. Insurance agents and brokers must be licensed to do business.

The Insurance Commissioner likewise has jurisdiction over domestic and foreign surety and guaranty companies and title insurance companies.

Interest. The legal rate is 6 per cent. No debtor shall be required to pay more than the legal rate, but may deduct any excess from the amount of the debt. If already paid, the debtor may recover the excess paid over the legal rate in an action if brought within one year from date of payment. Properly registered "small loan" companies, firms or individuals or state banks or trust companies, which need not be registered, may charge 6 per cent on amounts up to $500 with an additional investigation fee of not more than 2 per cent.

Judgments are a lien from the date of signing or entry, or, if on a jury trial, from the date of the verdict. If the amount is not determined, it is a lien from date of entry only if amount is ascertained and entered before the first day of the next term; otherwise, the lien commences on date of entry of amount. No judgments are entered by confession in New Castle County, in spite of a statute permitting it. Satisfaction must be entered in 60 days. If a testatum fi. fa. is issued, the Prothonotary must notify other counties within thirty days. Failure to mark record creates liability to damage suit, and rule to show cause thereon may be served by publication.

A foreign judgment will found an action in debt in Delaware. If the plaintiff files an affidavit of demand, with a certified copy of the judgment, judgment may be had at the first term for want of an affidavit of defense, although appearance may have been entered. The only defenses recognized go to the jurisdiction of the court rendering the foreign judgment.

Limitations. Action for mesne profits must be begun 6 months after ejection or mandate of affirmance if appeal is taken. Recovery is allowed for 3 years next preceding the ejection.

One year: Actions for personal injuries, forfeiture on a penal statute, forcible entry, and any suit where prior suit failed for want of service or reversal on appeal.

Two years: Forcible detainer.

Three years: Guardian's bond, recognition in Orphans Court, official bond, waste, and all personal actions. Mutual running accounts do not accrue while open and current.

Six years: Sheriff's official recognition, testamentary bond, bills, notes and acknowledgments of debt signed by the debtor.

Seven years: After expiration of term of office of Escheator on his bond.

Twenty years: Real estate titles. Only ten years is allowed after removal of disability.

Infancy, coverture or mental incompetency will bar the running of the statute. If the defendant is absent from the state when the action accrues, the limitation runs from the entry into the state. Absence after accrual bars running of the statute until return.

Appeals from an interlocutory decree in equity must be presented at the first day of the next term of the Supreme Court; from a final decree, six months from signing the decree; taking exceptions to account of executor or administrator 3 months after notice that account is filed with the register, guardian account 3 years, partition 3 months. In other cases, rules of court apply.

Married Women may freely alienate all property and contract as though unmarried. A married woman may not affect her husband's right of curtesy, unless he has abandoned her without just cause. She may sue and be sued. A husband is liable on his wife's mortgage bond only if he joins in executing it.

Mechanics Liens. The contractor has a lien on buildings and land for money due for construction or repairs; his claim must be filed within thirty days after ninety days have elapsed from the completion of the work. All other claims must be filed within the ninety-day period. Proceedings are by sci. fa., and judgment may be had for failure to file an affidavit of defense. Execution is by levari facias.

Mortgages are executed like deeds, usually accompanied by bond. Foreclosure must be by intervention by the proper court. Priority of mortgages is based on the date of recording. Lien of purchase money mortgage is superior to all other liens on the property, if recorded within five days from date of sale. Satisfaction must be entered on the record within sixty days from payment; failure to do so will render the mortgagee liable to court action and for damages. One witness is required on an assignment. Release of part of lands does not affect the balance, but it must be under seal and recorded within sixty days.

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted January 1, 1912. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Partnerships, associations and persons using trade names must register them with prothonotary, together with the full names of each and every person comprising such firm. Jurisdiction of dissolution of partnerships is in the Court of Chancery. Limited partnerships may be formed for any business but banking and insurance. A record of members and their liability must be filed with the Recorder of every county in which the firm does business.

Protest is required on foreign bills, otherwise optional. (N. I. L., §118.)

Sales. See Contracts.

Tax Liens. Taxes are a primary lien on all real estate for two years from July first of year imposed. If land is sold by order of the Orphans Court the lien transfers to funds in the hands of the officer so selling, and continues as a lien on the land for balance due. Taxes in New Castle county are a primary lien now for ten years.

Trade Marks may be registered with the Secretary of State, as may be labels or forms of advertisement, by filing two copies thereof with him. The remedy for infringement is by bill for injunction. There is also a criminal penalty for unauthorized use.

Trustees. Trust companies incorporated under the laws of Delaware and having their principal place of business there may be appointed to any office of trust without giving surety on their bond for faithful performance. A liability growing out of a trust estate is a first lien on the company's real estate. National banks located in the state are accorded the same powers, and security on their bonds may not be required, in the discretion of the appointing authority. Trustees must file a just and true account at least every two years with the Register in Chancery.

Trust Investments may be any of the following: (a) Those specified by trust deed. (b) Bonds of the United States, or any State; of any county, school district or incorporated city or town of Delaware; of any city in United States of over 75,000 population, if net debt is not over 10 per cent of assessed valuation of taxable property; first mortgage bonds on real estate located in Delaware without prior encumbrance, and not exceeding 60 per cent of the value of the land when invested; bonds of railroads whose earnings for five years average one and one-half times the fixed charges; bonds of transportation or public service companies whose earnings for five years average two times the fixed charges; bonds of industrial companies whose earnings for five years average three times the fixed charges; equipment trust obligations, covering not over 30 per cent of the cost, which mature in 15 years payable in installments beginning not later than three years from date of issue; bonds of railroad or transportation companies guaranteed by a corporation whose bonds satisfy requirements above; and securities of any kind approved by the court having jurisdiction.

Unsecured obligations of Industrial corporations of any State including finding companies, maturing not more than fifteen years from date of purchase; obligation cannot be convertible into stock or carry the creation of mortgage debt maturing after one year and provided further:

1. Assets of corporations shall be $100,000,000.

2. Total secured debt of corporation not greater than 10% of total unsecured debt of corporation.

A Bank or Trust Company may establish a common fund for the investment of trust funds.

Responsibility for due care in selection still rests upon fiduciaries. Other property may be taken and held while prudent, but may not be purchased. Investments legal under prior laws may be retained, but when sold, the proceeds must be applied in accordance with the above.

Uniform Acts adopted are: Aeronautics, Bills of Lading, Conditional Sales, Federal Tax Liens, Fraudulent Conveyances, Negotiable Instruments, Non-Support; Warehouse Receipts, Sales Act, Fresh Pursuit.

Wills. Any person of the age of twenty-one or upward, of sound mind, may make a will. It must be in writing and signed by the testator or some person subscribing the testator's name in his presence and by his express direction. It must be attested and subscribed by two or more credible witnesses. Nuncupative wills are accorded a limited recognition.

Probate proceedings are held before the Register of Wills of the county in which the decedent was a resident. Appeals are usually to the Superior Court, although exceptions to accounts of executors are heard by the Orphans Court. Probate of foreign wills is authorized when there is filed with the Register of the county where the property is located, a certified copy of the probate proceedings from the place of the testator's domicile; such wills are recognized as to personal property although they may not conform to local requirements.

Devise without limitation passes a fee. After-acquired land passes by will. A will is revocable by cancellation, a writing executed by the testator in testamentary form, by implication. After-born children take their intestate share of the estate, in the absence of provision to the contrary. Marriage after the execution of a will by a husband entitles his widow to her intestate share, which must be contributed ratably by all the beneficiaries. Posthumous children born alive are considered as after-born children. A devise or legacy to a child, lineal descendant, brother, sister, nephew or niece does not lapse on his or her decease prior to that of the testator, but passes to their surviving issue. A legacy is not satisfaction of a debt, unless a contrary intent clearly appears.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by HEWES PRETTYMAN AWALT & SMIDDY, Attorneys at Law, 822 Connecticut Ave., Washington, D. C.

Acknowledgments. The deed of a corporation shall be executed by having the seal of the corporation attached and being signed with the name of the corporation, by its president or other officer, and shall be acknowledged as the deed of the corporation by an attorney appointed for that purpose, by a power of attorney embodied in the deed or by one separate therefrom, under the corporate seal, to be annexed to and recorded with the deed.

Acknowledgment of Deeds. When any deed or contract under seal relating to land is to be acknowledged out of the District of Columbia, but within the United States, the acknowledgment may be made before any judge of a court of record and of law, or any chancellor of a State, any judge or justice of the supreme, district, or territorial courts of the United States, or any justice of the peace or notary public; Provided that the certificate of acknowledgment aforesaid, made by any officer of a State or Territory, not having a seal, shall be accompanied by a certificate of the register, clerk, or other public officer that the officer taking said acknowledgment was in fact the officer he professed to be. Deeds made in a foreign country may be acknowledged before any judge or notary public, or before any secretary of legation or consular officer or acting consular officer of the United States as such consular officer is described in section 1674 of the revised statutes of the United States, and when the acknowledgment is made before any other officer other than a secretary of legation or consular officer or acting consular officer of the United States, the official character of the person taking the acknowledgment shall be certified in the manner prescribed as to deeds out of the District of Columbia but within the United States. No deeds of conveyance of either real or personal estate by individuals shall be executed or acknowledged by attorney.

Actions. Under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure there is one form of action known as "civil action," which is commenced by the filing of a complaint. In suits at law in Municipal Court, involving $1,000 or less, the old forms of action obtain, except as modified by statute.

Administration. The probate court, a special term of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, has exclusive jurisdiction of the settlement of estates. A written petition stating the facts in the case must be filed with the register of wills. This petition is acted upon by a justice of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, who sits daily. All executors and administrators and guardians are required to give bond with security to be approved by the court. The testator may waive the giving of bond, but the court always requires a bond sufficient to cover the debts and legacies of the deceased not to exceed double the value of the personal estate. By act of Congress, certain trust companies incorporated thereunder may act as executor or administrator without bond, and corporations having power under their charters may act as sureties in all cases where individuals can. Creditors may be barred in thirteen months provided the required notice is properly published. Probate court may order sale of real estate to pay debts, in case personal assets are insufficient. Assets of non-residents in District of Columbia are subject to claims of local creditors for one year after death.

Affidavits. Affidavits for use in the District of Columbia should be taken before a justice of the peace, notary public, judge of any court of record, or a United States commissioner. If taken before a justice of the peace, a certificate of his official authority from a clerk of a court of record should be attached.

Aliens. Alien individuals and corporations may acquire and hold personal property and lots or parcels of land in the District of Columbia.

Appeals. Appeals lie from final orders and certain interlocutory orders of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia direct to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Appeals lie, as a matter of rights, from the Municipal Court to the Municipal Court of Appeals. Appeals to the Supreme Court of the United States are governed by statutes and rules pertaining to appeals from the federal courts generally.

Arrest. There is no imprisonment for debt in the District of Columbia. The court has the power to imprison for non-payment of alimony in divorce cases, and for contempt of court.

Attachments. In any action at law in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia or the Municipal Court for the recovery of specific personal property, or a debt, or damages for the breach of a contract, express or implied, if the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, either at the commencement of the action or pending the same, shall file an affidavit showing the grounds of his claim and setting forth that the plaintiff has a just right to recover what is claimed in his declaration, and where the action is to recover specific personal property stating the nature and, according to affiant's belief, the value of said property and the probable amount of damages to which the plaintiff is entitled for the detention thereof, and where the action is to recover a debt stating the amount thereof, and where the action is to recover damages for the breach of a contract setting out, specifically and in detail, the breach complained of and the actual damage resulting therefrom, and also stating either, first, that the defendant is a foreign corporation or is not a resident of the District, or has been absent therefrom for at least six months; or, second, that the defendant evades the service of ordinary process by concealing himself or temporarily withdrawing himself from the District; or, third, that he has removed or is about to remove some or all of his property from the District, so as to defeat just demands against him; or, fourth, that he has assigned, conveyed, disposed of, or secreted, or is about to assign, convey, dispose of, or secrete his property with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors; or, fifth, that the defendant fraudulently contracted the debt or incurred the obligation respecting which the action is brought, the clerk shall issue a writ of attachment and garnishment, to be levied upon so much of the lands, tenements, goods, chattels, and credits of the defendant as may be necessary to satisfy the claim of the plaintiff: Provided, That the plaintiff shall first file in the clerk's office a bond, executed by himself or his agent, with security to be approved by the clerk, in twice the amount of his claim, conditioned to make good to the defendant all costs and damages which he may sustain by reason of the wrongful suing out of the attachment.

Attachment may be had upon accounts in the names of two or more persons held by any bank, trust company or any other corporation or person.

(See Execution).

Banks. All banking institutions are under supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency. No banking business may be done in the District except by corporations previously organized and doing such business or organized in accord with the incorporation laws of the District of Columbia or United States. Non-member banks of the Federal Reserve System are required to maintain reserves on the same basis as national banks doing business in the District. Liquidation of any banking business is provided for by a two-thirds vote of shareholders. Many other sections of the national banking laws are extended to apply to all banks. Criminal laws applicable to member banks of the Federal Reserve System are also in force. Bank or trust company is not liable for refusal to pay check or other demand instrument presented more than one year after date of check or instrument, unless expressly instructed by drawer or maker to pay the same. Liability of bank or trust company for non-payment, through mistake or error and without malice of a check or other negotiable instrument which should have been paid, is limited to actual damage shown by reason of such non-payment.

Bills and Notes. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act, with some modification, in force, adopted January 12, 1899.

Chattel Mortgages. No bill of sale or mortgage or deed of trust to secure a debt of any personal chattels whereof the vendor, mortgagor, or donor shall remain in possession, is valid and effectual to pass the title therein, except as between the parties to such instrument and as to other persons having actual notice of it, unless the same be executed and acknowledged and within ten days from the date of such acknowledgment recorded in the same manner as deeds of real estate; and as to third persons not having notice of it, such instrument shall be operative only from the time within said ten days when it is delivered to the recorder of deeds to be recorded.

Collaterals. The holder of the note as collateral security for debt stands upon the same footing as the purchaser and may maintain suit thereon for his own benefit. The collateral pledged may be sold in accordance with the terms of the collateral note which usually provides that the collateral may be sold upon non-payment of the principal of the note, either at public or private sale, and in such cases the purchaser at any such sale obtains a valid title to the collateral sold.

Conditional Sales. Unlawful to sell, convey, conceal or remove from the District, with intent to defraud, property possessed under written conditional sales contract, before conditions are fulfilled, without consent of vendor. No conditional sale of chattels, where purchase price exceeds $100, is valid as against third parties without notice, unless reduced to writing, signed, acknowledged and recorded.

Contracts. Every contract and obligation entered into by two or more persons, whether partners or merely joint contractors, whether under seal or not, written or verbal, and whether expressed to be joint and several or not, is for the purposes of suit deemed joint and several. On the death of one or more of such persons, his or their executors, administrators, or heirs are bound by said contract in the same manner and to the same extent as if the same were expressed to be joint and several. In actions ex contractu against alleged joint debtors it is not necessary for the plaintiff to prove their joint liability in order to maintain his action, but he is entitled to recover, as in actions ex delicto, against such of the defendants as shall be shown by the evidence to be jointly indebted to him, or against one only, if he alone is shown to be indebted to him, and judgment will be rendered as if the others had not been joined in the suit. Any of several joint debtors, when their debt is overdue, may make a separate composition or compromise with their creditors.

Common Law Statute of frauds in force.

Corporations. Any three or more persons may form a company for the purpose of carrying on any enterprise or business which may be lawfully conducted by an individual, excepting banks of circulation or discount, railroads and such other enterprise or business as is otherwise provided for. Such corporations may have a perpetual existence. All of the stockholders of such company are severally and individually liable to the creditors of the company in which they are stockholders for the unpaid amount due upon the shares of said stock held by them respectively for all debts and contracts made by such company, until the whole amount of capital stock fixed and limited by such company shall have been paid in, and a certificate thereof shall have been made and recorded. Every such company must annually, except insurance companies, within twenty days from the first of January, make a report, which shall be duly published and which report shall state the amount of capital and the proportion actually paid and the amount of existing debts. Foreign corporations doing business in the District of Columbia are subject to service of process on their agents or on the persons conducting their business, or by leaving copy thereof at the principal place of business of such company, or at the residence of its agent. The affairs of the corporation shall be managed by not less than three nor more than fifteen trustees, a majority of whom must be residents of the District, to be annually elected, except for the first year, by the stockholders, at such time and place as may be provided by the by-laws. The fee of the recorder for filing certificates of incorporation where capital stock is authorized is a minimum of $50.00 on the first $100,000 of capital stock, fifty cents on each additional $1,000., plus $1.00 for first two hundred words in certificate and twenty cents for each additional one hundred words or fraction thereof.

The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure govern.

Descent and Distribution. (a) Real Estate. Lands of intestate descend first to child or children equally. Children of a deceased child take (equally) the share of their immediate ancestor. If there be no child or descendant of a child, the estate descends equally to the father and mother of the intestate, or the whole to the sole surviving parent. If there be no father or mother, the brothers and sisters of the intestate take equally, and the descendants of a brother or sister or sister share equally in the share of such brother or sister. If there be no brother, or sister or a descendant of a brother or sister, the whole goes to the widow or widower of the intestate. If there be no widow or widower, one half goes to the paternal, and the other half to the maternal kindred of the intestate in the following order: To the grandfather and grandmother equally, or the entire half to the surviving grandparent. If none, then to the uncles and aunts of the intestate equally or to the descendants of any deceased uncle or aunt. If none, then to the great-grandfathers and great-grandmothers, in the same manner prescribed for grandfather and grandmother. If none, then to the brothers and sisters of the grandfathers and grandmothers or their descendants equally. And so on, in other cases, without end, passing to the nearest lineal ancestors and the descendants of such ancestors. If there be no paternal kindred, the whole goes to the maternal kindred; and if there be no maternal kindred, the whole goes to the paternal kindred. If there be neither paternal nor maternal kindred, the whole goes to the kindred of the husband or wife of the intestate in like manner as to the kindred of the intestate, and if the intestate has had more than one spouse, all deceased before the intestate, the estate shall be equally divided among the kindred of the several spouses in equal degree equality. There is no distinction between kindred of the whole blood and kindred of the half blood.

Personal Estate. Surplus of personal estate of an intestate, after paying debts and expenses of administration, is to be distributed as follows: If the intestate leave a widow or surviving husband and no child, parent, grandchild, brother, or sister, or the child of a brother or sister of the said intestate, the said widow or surviving husband shall be entitled to the whole. If there be a widow or surviving husband and a child or children, or a descendant or descendants from a child, the widow or surviving husband shall have one third only. If there be a widow or surviving husband and no child or descendants of the intestate, but the said intestate shall leave a father or mother, or brother or sister, or child of a brother or sister, the widow or surviving husband shall have one half. The surplus, exclusive of the widow or surviving husband's share, or the whole surplus (if there be no widow or surviving husband), shall go as follows: If there be children and no other descendants, the surplus shall be divided equally among them. If there be a child or children and a child or children of a deceased child, the child or children of such deceased child shall take such shares as his, her, or their deceased parent would, if living, be entitled to, and every other descendant or descendants in existence at the death of the intestate shall stand in the place of his, her, or their deceased ancestor. If there be no child, or descendant, the whole shall go to the father and mother in equal shares, or to the survivor of them. If there be a brother or sister, or child or descendant of a brother or sister, the said brother, sister, or child or descendant of a brother or sister shall have the whole. Every brother and sister of the intestate shall be entitled to an equal share, and the child or children, or descendants of a brother or sister of the intestate, shall stand in the place of their deceased parents respectively. After children, descendants, father, mother, brothers, and sisters of the deceased and their descendants, all collateral relations in equal degree shall take, and no representation among such collaterals shall be allowed. If there be no collaterals, the grandfathers and grandmothers, or such of them as survive, shall take alike. If any person entitled to distribution shall die before the same shall be made, his or her share shall go to his or her representatives. Posthumous children of intestate shall take in the same manner as if they had been born before the decease of the intestate, but no other posthumous relation shall be considered as entitled to distribution in his or her own right. In the distribution of personal estate there shall be no distinction between the whole and half blood.

Dower. A wife is entitled to dower in all real estate owned by the husband during coverture, whether or not owned by him at the time of his death, including equitable as well as legal estates. The wife may relinquish dower by joining in deed with husband or by separate deed.

Evidence. In all trials the testimony of witnesses is taken orally unless otherwise provided by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. All evidence is admitted which is admissible under the statutes of the United States, or under the rules of evidence applied in courts of the United States on the hearing of suits in equity. An official record may be evidenced by an official publication thereof or by a copy attested by the officer having the legal custody of the record, or by his deputy, and accompanied with a certificate that such officer has the custody; or by a certificate of the one having custody under the seal of the office or court where the record may be made.

Executions. Executions may be levied upon all goods, chattels and credits of the debtor not exempt, and upon gold and silver coin, bank notes or other money, bills, checks, promissory notes or bonds, or certificates of stock in corporations owned by said debtor, and upon money owned by him in the hands of the marshal or of the constable charged with the execution of such writ, and also upon all legal leasehold and freehold estates of the debtor in land. Executions on judgments before justices of the peace may be superseded, according to the amount of the judgment, upon good and sufficient security being entered by a person who may at the time be the owner of sufficient real property located in the District, above all liabilities and exemptions, to secure the debt, costs and interests from one to six months, but there can be no stay of execution for wages of servants or common laborers, nor upon any judgment for less than $5.

Exemptions. (Actual residents.) In addition to wearing apparel, etc., there are exempt from execution or attachment household furniture to the value of $300, implements of debtor's trade or business to the value of $200, stock for carrying on business to amount of $200, one horse, harness and cart, wagon or dray, and earnings of married men or heads of families, not to exceed $100 per month for two months. Exemptions are only allowed where the party claiming such is the head of a family or householder residing in the District. Also exempt are a notary's seal and his official documents, money or benefits to be paid by a fraternal beneficial association and money recovered by family of deceased as damages on wrongful death.

Foreign Judgments. Actions may be instituted in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia on any judgment of a court of record in any other jurisdiction. The complaint in any such case must be accompanied by a transcript of the record of such judgment with the attestation of the clerk of the court and a certificate of the judge, chief justice and presiding magistrate that the attestation is in due form. Action may not be brought if barred in foreign jurisdiction.

Garnishment. After judgment, the writ of garnishment may issue against specific property or credits in the hands of the garnishee and on the return of the writ, if there be property or credits, the judgment or condemnation follows. Writ may issue against property or credits in joint account. The writ of garnishment can not be issued against the United States or the District of Columbia.

The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; December 25 (Christmas Day); and day of the inauguration of the President, in every fourth year. Every Saturday is a legal half holiday after twelve o'clock noon and notes falling due on that day are not payable until Monday, except demand notes which may, at the option of the holder, be presented for payment in the forenoon.

Husband and Wife. The wife's property is exempt from execution for the husband's debts. The husband may convey direct to his wife. The wife may use all of her property of every description as fully as if she were unmarried, and may dispose of the same by deed, etc., as fully as if she were unmarried. She also has power to trade and to sue and be sued, but no married woman under the age of twenty-one years can make a valid deed or conveyance. On the death of a married woman the husband is entitled to an estate by curtesy in her fee simple property of which she dies intestate, if a child be born capable of inheriting. The husband is not liable for the debts of his wife contracted before marriage. A husband, who wilfully neglects to provide for wife, or minor child under sixteen years, in destitute circumstances, may be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and may be fined, or imprisoned, by the court having jurisdiction.

Interest. The legal rate of interest in the District of Columbia is 6 per cent, and in any suit where the contract is tainted with usury the plaintiff forfeits the whole of the interest so contracted to be received, and where usurious interest has been paid it can be recovered provided action for such recovery be brought within one year. In an action on a contract for the payment of a higher rate of interest than is lawful in the District, made or to be performed in any state or territory of the United States where such contract rate of interest is lawful, the judgment for the plaintiff shall include such contract interest to the date of the judgment and interest thereafter at the rate of 6 per centum per annum until paid. By written contract this rate may be increased to 8 per cent.

Judgments. Every judgment is good and enforceable by an execution issued thereon for a period of twelve years from the date when an execution might first have been issued thereon or from the date of the last revival thereof by motion to revive. Judgments of the Municipal Court are good for six years, but are not liens on real estate until recorded in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia.

Municipal Court. The Municipal Court for the District of Columbia is a court of record. It has exclusive jurisdiction in all civil cases in which the claimed value of personal property, debt or damages exclusive of interest and costs, does not exceed $3,000. Equitable defenses may be interposed. When the value in controversy shall exceed $20, and in all actions for the recovery of the possession of real property, either party may demand a jury trial. Judgment rendered by the Municipal Court remain in force for six (6) years and no longer, unless docketed with the clerk of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, when it remains in force for twelve (12) years. No judgment shall be a lien upon real property until so docketed.

Partnerships. Limited partnerships for the transaction of any mercantile, mechanical, or manufacturing business within the District may be formed by any two or more persons, but the number of special partners is limited to six. The special partners are not liable for the debts of the partnership beyond the fund contributed by them to the capital. A certificate setting forth the firm name, general nature of the business to be conducted; names of all the general and special partners interested therein, distinguishing which are general and which are special, and their respective places of residence; the amount of capital contributed by each special partner to the common stock; and the period at which the partnership is to commence and terminate, must be filed with the clerk of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia after having been acknowledged in the manner prescribed for deeds. Where a foreign bill, appearing on its face to be such, is dishonored by non-acceptance, it must be duly protested for same; and where such a bill which has not previously been dishonored by non-acceptance, is dishonored by non-payment, it must be duly protested for same. If it is not protested the drawer and indorsers are discharged. Where a bill does not so appear to be a foreign bill, protest thereof in case of dishonor is unnecessary. The protest must be annexed to the bill or contain a copy thereof and must state the (1) time and place for presentment; (2) the fact that presentment was made and the manner thereof; (3) the cause or reason for protesting; (4) the demand made and the answer given, if any, or the fact that the drawee or acceptor cannot be found.

Records. The exemplification of the record under the hand of the keeper of the same, and the seal of the office or court where such record may be made, is good and sufficient evidence to prove any record made or entered in any of the States or Territories of the United States; and the certificate of the party purporting to be the keeper of such record, accompanied by such seal, is prima facie evidence of that fact. A copy of the record of any deed or other instrument in writing not of a testamentary character, where the laws of the State, Territory, or country where the same may be recorded require such record, and which has been recorded agreeably to such laws, and the copy of any will which said laws require to be admitted to probate and record, by judicial decree, and of the decree of the court admitting the same to probate and record, under the hand of the clerk or other keeper of such record and the seal of the court or office in which the record has been made, is prima facie evidence to prove the existence and contents of such deed, will, or other instrument in writing, and that it was executed as it purports to have been. See Evidence.

Sales. Uniform Sales Act in force, effective July 1, 1937, does not relate to conditional sales.

Taxes. The rate fixed annually by Congress, on real and tangible personal property is, at present, 1.75 per centum of the assessed value of such property. These taxes are payable, one-half in September and one-half in March of each year, with a penalty of one per centum per month for default. Real estate taxes become liens on real property on the date placed on the records, July 1st.

Corporations, whether domestic or foreign, are required to pay 5% on taxable income derived from District of Columbia sources. Taxable income is arrived at by exemptions, exclusions and deductions substantially the same as in the federal income tax law. Returns and payment of one-half of the tax must be made on April 15 of each year, or, if the return is made on the basis of a fiscal year, the return and payment of one-half of the tax must be made on the 15th day of the fourth month following the close of the fiscal year. The remaining one-half of the tax must be paid on October 15, or, if the return is made on the basis of a fiscal year, on the 15th day of the tenth month after the close of the fiscal year.

Inheritance taxes are levied on all transfers of property, or interest therein, having its taxable situs in the District of Columbia, made or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment after the death of the decedent, or made in contemplation of death. Rates are graduated on the basis of the relationship of the beneficiary to the decedent. In addition thereto, an Estate Tax is imposed equal to 80% of the federal tax imposed under the 1926 Act and must be paid within seventeen months after the death of the decedent. Where the gross value of the estate exceeds $1,000, the personal representative must file a return within fifteen months from the date of death of the decedent, and pay the tax within eighteen months from the date of death. If there be no personal representative, each beneficiary of property in excess of $1,000, in value, must file a return within six months from the date of death of the decedent and pay the tax within nine months from the date of death. No will, testament, or codicil is effectual for any purpose whatever unless the person making the same be, if a male, of the full age of twenty-one years, and if a female, of the full age of eighteen years, and be at the time of executing or acknowledging it, of sound and disposing mind and capable of executing a valid deed, or contract. Any will executed after January 17, 1887, and before January 1, 1902, devising real estate, from which it shall appear that it was the intention of the testator to devise property acquired after the execution thereof shall be deemed, taken and held to operate as a valid devise of all such property; and any will executed after January 1, 1902, which shall by words of general import devise all of the estate or all of the real estate of the testator shall be deemed, taken and held to operate as a valid devise of any real estate acquired, by said testator after the execution thereof, unless an intention shall appear to the contrary. Where a devisee or legatee dies before the testator, leaving issue, such issue stands in the place of the deceased devisee or legatee unless a contrary intention appear from the will.

Domestic and Foreign corporations are required to file with Secretary of State a certificate designating an office for service of process, which office must contain a sign with name of corporation and agent and must be kept open and agent must be present from ten a.m. to twelve noon each day except Sundays and Holidays. In lieu of such agent corporation may designate Clerk of Circuit Court. Failure to comply with act authorizes service by publication once each week for four weeks, and carries penalty of one dollar per day up to two hundred fifty dollars. Service against dissolved corporations can be had by publication. Service of process by publication may be had where personal service of process can not be had against a defendant who is a resident of the State of Florida and has been absent from the State of Florida for more than sixty days or conceals himself so that process can not be personally served upon him and there is no person in the State of Florida upon whom service of process would bind said absent or conceal defendant and upon a known defendant who is a resident of some State or Country other than the State of Florida and against unknown defendants.

Writs are returnable on the next rule day, provided ten days intervene; if not, then on the rule day in the next succeeding month. If no appearance of defendant, default is entered forthwith. Default may be entered for want of plea or other pleading on rule day, next after appearance day.

Taxes. Taxes are not due and payable until the first day of November, and if not paid by first day of the following April property may be sold. Owner has two years within which to redeem. Taxes are a lien from the first day of the year of the assessment, and have the force and effect of a judgment upon which execution may issue.

Testimony. (See Depositions.)

Transfer of Stock. Stock is transferable in the manner prescribed in the by-laws. No stock can be transferred until, after all previous assessments thereon have been fully paid. The transferee succeeds to all the rights and liabilities of the prior holder.

Warehouse Receipts. Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act adopted, and effective after July 31st, 1917.

Wills. Who May Make a Will. Every person, male or female married or single, who is at least eighteen years of age and who is of sound mind may make a will. No other person may make a will.

Property Which May Be Devised. Any property, real or personal, held by any title, legal or equitable, with or without actual seizin, may be devised or bequeathed by will; provided, however, that whenever a person who is head of a family, residing in this State and having a homestead therein, shall die and leave either a widow or lineal descendants or both surviving him, the homestead shall not be the subject of devise, but shall descend as otherwise provided in this Act for the descent of homesteads.

Requisites of Nuncupative Wills. No nuncupative will shall be good which is not proved by the oaths of three witnesses present at the making thereof, nor unless it be proved by the said witnesses that the testator at the time of pronouncing the same did desire the persons present, or some of them to bear witness that such was his will, or to that effect, nor unless such nuncupative will was made in the time of the last sickness of the deceased. Personal property only shall be subject to disposition by nuncupative wills.

Execution of Wills. Every will, other than a nuncupative will, must be in writing and must be executed as follows: It must be signed at the end thereof by the testator himself, or some person in his presence and by his direction must subscribe the name of the testator thereto.

The testator, in the presence of at least two attesting witnesses present at the same time, must sign his will or cause his name to be signed as aforesaid or acknowledged his signature thereto.

No will executed by a non-resident of Florida, is valid as a will in this state unless it is executed in accordance with the laws of this state in force at the time of its execution, except that a will valid under the laws of the state or country in which the testator is domiciled at the time of his death is valid in this state, so far as the same relates to personal property.

A codicil shall be executed with the same formalities as a will. Revocation may be by fraud, subsequent inconsistent will, codicil, or by testator's act. Neither subsequent marriage nor subsequent marriage and birth of issue shall revoke a will, except that when a person marries after making a will and the spouse survives the testator such surviving spouse shall receive a share in the estate of a testator equal in value to that which the surviving spouse would have received if the testator had died intestate, unless provision has been made for such spouse by marriage contract or unless she is provided for in the will or unless the will discloses an intention not to make such provision, and except when a testator omits to provide in his will for any of his children born after the making of the will and such child has not had bestowed upon him by way of advancement a portion of the testator's property equivalent to a child's part, unless it appears from the will that such omission was intentional, such child shall receive a share in the estate of the testator equal in value to that which he would have received if the testator had died intestate.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF GEORGIA RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by MACDOUGALD, TROUTMAN & ARKWRIGHT, Attorneys at Law, 1607 William-Oliver Bldg., Atlanta. (See card in Attorney List.)

Acknowledgments. (See Deeds.)

Actions. All distinction between suits at law and in equity is abolished. Equitable relief can be had in superior courts of law.

Administration of Estates. Letters of administration issue in the line of preference, first to the husband or wife, second to the next of kin, relations by consanguinity are preferred to those by affinity. If there are several of the next of kin in the same degree, preference is given to that one selected in writing by those most interested in the estate. If no preference is expressed the ordinary exercises his discretion. If no application is made by next of kin a creditor may be appointed, and if no application is made the ordinary will vest the administration in a county administrator, an officer authorized by statute for that purpose. Administrators must give bond in double the value of the estate. Out of the estate of each deceased person, the first charge, and before payment of funeral expenses, is a year's support for the family, to be laid off by commissioners according to the condition and standing of the family. Foreign administrators may act in this State on giving bond to the ordinary where they qualify. The bondsmen must be residents of this State. A citizen of any other State may act as executor of the will of a deceased citizen of this State when he has the same interest and will give the same bond as in the case of foreign administrators. Administrators of other States may sue in this State by filing in the office of the clerk of the court, to which suit is brought, a properly authenticated copy of their letters of administration.

Affidavits. Pleas and defenses in the courts of this State which are required to be under oath, may be made before any official of the State or county where the oath is made, who is authorized by the laws of such State or county to administer oaths. Prima Facie the official attestation of the officer is evidence that he was authorized to act. Any non-resident seeking equitable relief, when called on to verify proceedings, should be sworn before a commissioner of this State, or a judge of a court of record where the oath is made, with the attestation of the clerk of such court that the signature of the judge is genuine, and that the court over which he presides is a court of record.

Aliens. The subjects of governments at peace with the United States and this State are entitled to the rights of citizens of other States, resident here, in so far as they accord to them the privilege of purchasing, holding, and conveying real estate.

Appeals. (See Courts.)

Arbitration. Under the law of Georgia disputes and controversies relating to rights, or property, may be submitted to arbitration.

Assignments. Assignments for the benefit of creditors are permitted.

Attachments. A summary process of attachment will lie in the following cases: 1. Where the debtor resides out of the State, 2. Where he is actually removing, or about to remove, without the limits of the county, 3. When he absconds, 4. When he resists a legal arrest, 5. Where he is attempting to remove his property beyond the limits of this State, 6. Where he has disposed of, or threatens to conceal, his property, liable for the payment of his debts, or shall make a fraudulent lien thereon to avoid paying his debts. Attachment will lie to recover the purchase money of an article sold when the debtor is still in the possession of the property. Attachments may issue upon affidavit by the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, who must swear that one of the state of facts exists which authorize an attachment, and also as to the amount of the claim. Bond and security, in double the amount sworn to, must accompany the affidavit and the officers require personal security. Non-resident corporations are liable to attachments, and one non-resident may attach the property of another non-resident in this State, except for wages earned without the State.

Banks and Trust Companies.

Kinds of Banks permitted: Banks and Trust Companies. Private banks or private bankers, not within definition of A Banks, given right to pay checks drawn on it or them when presented by any bank, banker, trust co. or agent thereof, and to charge an exchange charge of not more than $\frac{1}{2}$ of 1% of the aggregate amount of the check or checks paid.

Any bank now located in town of not over 2,500 pop. and having capital of $25,000 or more may, within 2 yrs. from date of passage of this Act (March 27, 1941) reduce their capital to $15,000 by amending their charter.

Branch Banking: Branch banks established prior to 1920 are permitted, but not permitted after that date.

Bills of Lading. A bona fide assignee of a bill of lading of goods will be protected in his title against the seller's right of stoppage in transit.

Collaterals. The holder of a note as collateral security for a debt stands upon the same footing as the purchaser. Property left in pledge or pawn may be sold at public sale to the highest bidder, upon thirty days' notice.

Corporations. Power to create corporations in this State is vested in the general assembly and the superior courts. Said courts may grant charters to all corporations except banking, insurance, canal, navigation, express, and telegraph companies and railroads. The Secretary of State may grant charters for the corporations above enumerated in manner prescribed by law in the particular case. A charter for a private corporation is obtained by a petition to the superior court, setting forth the object, particular business, corporation name, capital, place of business, time for which incorporation is desired, not exceeding thirty-five years. The petition and order granting the same constitute the charter. Thereafter must be advertised in newspaper of general circulation in County of principal of corporation, once a week for four consecutive weeks. In such corporations the liabilities of the stockholder is measured by the amount of unpaid stock subscription due by him. The liability of Bank Stockholders exists only to the extent of the balance remaining unpaid on his or her shares of stock. The payment of 10 per cent of the capital stock is necessary before commencing business. General powers of corporations are conferred on all corporations organized in this state. All corporations organized under the laws of the State or doing business therein are required to register with the Secretary of State and pay a graded license fee, with a minimum of $10, maximum $1000. Voluntary dissolution of a corporation may be granted by the Superior Court upon petition filed by the Corporation if authorized by two-thirds of capital stock. Lost stock certificates must be established by petition to Superior Court. Corporations organized under charter granted by act of Legislature, or by Secretary of State, may at any time renew or extend its charter for an additional 30 years, by filing with the Secretary of State a petition signed in corporation's name, stating name of corporation, when incorporated, date of original incorporation and all amendments—; and paying fee of $100 to Secretary of State and filing affidavit from editor that applicant has deposited with newspaper the cost of publishing four insertions of said applicant for renewal.

Costs. A deposit of $10 is required in courts of record from non-resident plaintiffs before the filing of suits and a deposit of $6 in all divorce cases except in certain counties it is $10.00.

Courts. The term, jurisdiction, etc., of the several courts of the State are as follows: JUSTICE COURTS hold monthly sessions and have civil jurisdiction up to $200. In criminal matters they are only committing courts. COURTS OF ORDINARY hold their sessions monthly and have jurisdiction over wills, administration of estates, and of the conduct of administrators, executors and guardians. COUNTY COURTS have monthly and quarterly sessions. Their jurisdiction is limited to controversies not exceeding $300. CITY COURTS hold four sessions per annum. The jurisdiction of city courts is unlimited except in matters of divorce, titles to land and administration of equitable relief. The Civil Court of Fulton County replaces the Justices Courts. Its jurisdictional limit is $2500. It holds one term each month. SUPERIOR COURTS have jurisdiction in all suits and controversies and have exclusive jurisdiction in equity powers, divorce cases, and suits involving titles to land, and on the criminal side exclusive jurisdiction of all cases involving life or imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Deeds. Deeds to real estate in Georgia must be in writing, and should be executed in the presence of two witnesses, one of whom shall be an officer authorized for that purpose. They should be recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county where the land lies, and all deeds, mortgages and other liens, should be recorded immediately to be available against third parties and innocent purchasers. To authorize the record of a deed to realty, it must be attested by or acknowledged before, if executed out of this State, a commissioner of deeds for the State of Georgia, notary public, clerk of a court of record, or a consul, or vice-consul of the United States (the certificates of these officers under their seals being evidence of the fact). When the deed is executed out of this State before a notary public, the attestation should be under his hand and official seal. In case of acknowledgment it is better, as a matter of precaution, always to have two witnesses, besides the officer who takes the acknowledgment. If executed in this State, it must be attested by a judge of a court of record of this State, or a justice of the peace, or notary public, or clerk of the superior court, in the county in which the three last mentioned officers respectively hold their appointment, or if substituted to its execution the deed is acknowledged in the presence of either of the named officers, that fact, certified on the deed by such officer, shall entitle it to be recorded. (Act of 1893.) Deeds to secure loans are in more common use than mortgages because they have been held to pass the absolute title and protect against year's support and dower, the equity of redemption remaining in the maker, can not be levied upon until the debt secured by the deed has been paid off. Under the law of Georgia these deeds can not be foreclosed as mortgages, the notes they are given to secure must be sued to judgment, the land must be re-conveyed to the grantor, and then levied on, but the lien of the judgment relates back to the date of the conveyance. In the Federal courts, however, foreclosure can be made in equity as in the case of ordinary mortgages. Usury will, however, void such a conveyance, only as to the interest paid on such debt.

Depositions. Testimony is taken in this State by written interrogatories where the witness is a female, or where the witness does not reside in the county where the suit is pending, or by reason of disability is unable to attend court. In all counties within this State, depositions may be taken upon five days' notice to the other party of the time and place at which the witness is to be examined. This latter process cannot be used for taking testimony outside of the State. Depositions may be taken within or without the state, without commission, before a notary public or any officer authorized to issue attachments. If within the state or if taken without the state, before any officer of the state or county where taken, authorized by laws of Georgia to attest deeds or take acknowledgments, upon 10 days' notice to opposite party. In taking answers to interrogatories, which must be authorized by a commission issued for such purpose by the court here, two commissioners must act. Commissioners must be disinterested and not related to either party, or connected with the case; attorneys of the parties are incompetent. None of the parties to the case, nor their agents or attorneys, can be present when the commission is executed. The witness can only write his answer in the presence of the commissioners. It is usual, and the better practice, for one of the commissioners to write the answers of the witness as and commissioners may be written with the typewriter. The following instructions for taking testimony are important: Instructions for taking answers to interrogatories: 1. Insert the commissioners' names in the commission; any two respectable citizens will do. 2. State the case as you find it. Then comes the caption, thus: State of (Here insert the county and State County of ss. where the commission is executed.)

By virtue of a commission from the court of county, we have caused the person in said commission named to come before us, who being duly sworn true answers to make to certain interrogatories thereto annexed, deposes and answereth as follows: (Here insert answers of the witnesses to each interrogatory in order 3. Let the witness sign the answers; then say: "Answered, sworn to, and subscribed before us, this day of 19" Then sign your own names, adding the words "Commissioner (L. S.)" after each name. 4. Seal all up together, using two wafers, each commissioner writing his name with "Commissioner" across a wafer or seal. 5. State the case on the package, and address it to the clerk of the court issuing the commission. 6. If it is to go by mail, get the postmaster to receipt on the package. "Received from one of the commissioners (giving his name) the within interrogatories, to be forwarded by due course of mail," naming his post-office. Testimony thus taken must be sent by mail, or by some person specially authorized by the commissioner to carry it to the court.

Descent and Distribution of Property. The husband is the sole heir to his intestate wife, unless she leave children, and in that event the husband and children shall inherit per capita, but the descendants of children shall take per stirpe. If a man die without children, or the descendants of children, leaving a wife, the wife is his sole heir. If there are children, or those representing deceased children, the wife shall take a child's part, unless the shares exceed five in number, in which case the wife shall have one-fifth part of the estate. If the wife elects to take her dower, she has no further interest in the estate. Children stand in the first degree to the intestate, and inherit equally. Posthumous children stand upon the same footing with other children. Lineal descendants of children stand in the place of their deceased parents, and take per stirpe, and not per capita. Brothers and sisters stand in the second degree and inherit if there be no widow or children, or representatives of children. The half-blood on the paternal side inherit equally with the whole blood. The father, if living, inherits equally with brothers and sisters, and stands in the same degree. If there be no father, and the mother is alive, she shall inherit in the same manner as the father would. Real estate descends direct to the heirs, and personal estate to the administrator. But real estate is subject to administration for the purpose of paying debts, and if necessary, for distribution.

Dower. In this State the wife is entitled to an estate for life in one-third of all lands of which the husband dies seized or possessed at the time of his death, or to which the husband obtained title in right of his wife. There is no necessity for renunciation of dower in this State, and a married woman, on that question, need not join with her husband in conveying land, except in cases where, before 1866, he obtained real estate belonging to his wife, by virtue of the marital relation.

Executions. Must follow the judgment or decree from which they issue. They are good for seven years and may be renewed for a like period by entry nulla bona.

Exemption and Homesteads. Under the constitution and laws of Georgia, each head of a family or guardian, or trustee of a family of minor children, or of an aged or infirm person, or a person having care and support of dependent females of any age, who is not the head of a family, shall have exemption of realty, or personality, or both, to the aggregate of $1600. The debtor shall have power to waive or renounce, in writing, his right to the benefit of exemption above stated, except as to wearing apparel and not exceeding $300 worth of household and kitchen furniture, and provisions. The homestead or exemption may be sold by the debtor and his wife, if any, with the sanction of the judge of the superior court of the county where the debtor resides, or the land is situated. The proceeds to be re-invested upon the same uses. A general waiver in writing, of the homestead, or exemption, is good.

The homestead of each resident of the state actually occupied by owner as a residence shall be exempt from all taxes for state, county, and school purposes, to value of $2,000, if said applicant file his written application and schedule with County Tax Receiver on or before April 1st of year in which exemption from tax is sought.

Foreign Corporations. All corporations, except those chartered and organized under the laws of this State, are held to be foreign corporations. Such corporations are recognized by comity only; they are subject to attachment, but have all the rights of replevy and defense. They cannot exercise any corporate powers or privileges which by the constitution and laws of Georgia are denied to domestic corporations or the exercise of which would be contrary to the public policy of this State. There is otherwise no restriction upon foreign corporations except in the case of insurance companies and building and loan associations, which are required to make deposits. All corporations are subject to license fees for doing business and all are liable for taxes on property owned or held in the State. (See Corporations.)

Fraud. Contracts, awards, marriages, judgments, sales, and wills are void when they are brought about and procured by fraud. Promissory notes when procured by fraud are void in the hands of the holder, who so procures them. The statute of frauds, as of force in Georgia, requires the following obligations to be in writing, signed by the party, or his authorized agent, to be binding: 1. A promise by an executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, to answer in damages out of his own estate. 2. A promise to answer for the debt, default, or mismanagement of another. 3. An agreement made upon consideration of marriage, except marriage articles as otherwise provided. 4. Any contract for the sale of lands, or any interest in or concerning them. 5. An agreement that is not to be performed in a year. 6. A promise to revive a debt barred by statute of limitations or bankruptcy.

7. Any contract for the sale of goods, wares, and merchandise, in existence or not in esse, to the amount of $50 or more, except the buyer shall accept part of the goods sold and actually receive the same or give something in earnest to bind the bargain or in part payment.

8. An acceptance of a bill of exchange.

Garnishments. This process may be invoked in any case, but wages or salaries are not subject until after judgment has been rendered. Garnishment may be dissolved by giving bond and a third party may claim a fund held up under garnishment and may release the fund by giving bond. Any person may claim exemption from garnishment as to wages to the extent of $1.25 per day and one-half of the remainder.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); January 19 (Robert E. Lee's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); April 26 (Confederate Memorial Day); June 3 (Jefferson Davis' birthday); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; and December 25 (Christmas Day).

Interest. The legal rate of interest in Georgia is 7 per cent, but 8 per cent is legal when contracted for in writing. But $1\frac{1}{2}\%$ per month may be charged under Small Loan Act up to \$300. Parties charging usury forfeit the excess if usury is set up. Usury has no present penalty in Georgia, except forfeiture of all interest paid upon the debt.

Judgments create liens from their rendition upon the real or personal property of the defendant; all judgments at the same term rank equally, and property sold by a debtor after judgment is obtained against him is only discharged from the lien of such judgment, if real estate, after four years' possession by the vendee, and in cases of personal property, after two years'. Judgments, whether in the United States court, or in any State court, obtained in any other county than that in which the defendant resides have no lien on the property of the defendant in any other county, unless the execution thereon is recorded in the county of the defendant's residence. Unless such execution is recorded as so required within thirty days, its lien will only date from the time of record. (See Actions.)

Jurisdiction. (See Title Courts.)

License. No license is required of commercial travelers. Itinerant traders must pay license fees.

Liens. Under the laws of Georgia mechanics, material-men, machinists, employes of steamboats, millwrights, builders of gold mine machines, stone-cutters, and marble works laborers have special liens on property improved or worked on. Landlords have a general lien which takes effect from the levy of distress and a special lien on crops for rent of land on which they are raised. Common law liens of innkeepers, factors, pawnees, carriers, attorneys and others are recognized. Vendor's lien on land has been abolished. Attorneys have a special lien on papers in their hands and on property recovered in suits brought by them or successfully defended by them.

Limitations. Suits on open accounts are barred after four years, on promissory notes and bills after six years, on instruments under seal after twenty years, on suits for personal injury after two years. Seven years' adverse possession of real estate under color of title, and twenty years' adverse possession without color of title, will bar the claims of all persons not laboring under disability. Infants have seven years to assert their rights, after becoming twenty-one years of age. This State does not require that notes or contracts under seal be witnessed, so that a note or contract under seal whether witnessed or not carries the twenty-year statute of limitation provision.

Married Women. The wife may contract and sue and be sued in her own name in respect to her separate estate as a femme sole, except that she can not bind her separate estate by suretyship for any one, and any promise to pay her husband's debt is void. She cannot sell to her husband or trustee for any purpose, except by order of the superior court. A wife or her heirs may sue and recover for any person money or property used by her husband to pay his debt where the creditor takes with notice. All the property of the wife at the time of marriage, and all she may acquire by gift, inheritance, or purchase, shall vest in and belong to her, and shall not be liable for the debt, default, or contract of her husband. The wife with her children, if any, is entitled to twelve months' support out of the estate of her deceased husband. The husband is bound to support and maintain the wife, and his consent is presumed to her agency in the purchase of necessaries. The wife's separate property is not liable for debts contracted by her as agent of her husband in the ordinary support of herself and children, but by special contract in her own capacity, and not as agent for her husband, she could bind her separate estate, for that purpose. A married woman can dispose of her property by will.

Mortgages. Mortgages are only security for debts. They may embrace property in the mortgagor's possession, or to which he has a right of possession. They may cover a stock, in bulk, but changing in specifics, and after acquiring property. No particular form is necessary, but it must be cleared that the instrument indicates a lien, describes the property and specifies the debt it secures. Mortgages on land are not good against dower, and a wife cannot waive her dower as against this lien. Mortgages must be executed and attested in the same manner as deeds, except that in mortgages on personal property, only the official witness is necessary. Mortgages with power of sale are valid in Georgia. Homestead and exemption may be waived in the mortgage. All mortgages on personal property must be recorded in the county where the mortgagor resides and the property is located. Mortgages on land must be recorded in the county where the land is situated.

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act (see complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws"). Adopted August 18, 1924, with certain changes, i.e., may be made payable in cotton or other articles of value, omits provision authorizing confession of judgment if not paid at maturity, where instrument payable at bank it shall not be equivalent to an order to the bank to pay same for account of principal debtor. A contract to pay attorney's fees cannot be enforced unless the debtor when served ten days before suit is filed with a written notice of intention to sue with amount and term of court to which suit will be brought, shall fail to pay such debt before return day. A waiver of homestead in a promissory note is a bar to such a claim as against the collection of such note. Promissory notes and contracts containing reservation of title to personal property must be executed before a notary public, justice of the peace, or clerk of a court of record, and must be recorded as mortgages to hold such property as against third parties or innocent purchasers. Any draft, bill of exchange or check, drawn upon an institution or person with which the drawer has not sufficient funds on deposit to meet the same, subjects the drawer to criminal liability.

Notaries. Commercial notaries, male or female, are appointed for four years by the superior courts, and for the state at large by the State Librarian. They must have seals and are authorized to attest deeds and mortgages, and make protest of commercial paper.

Probate Law. (See Administration or Estates, Deeds and Mortgages.)

Protests. (See Bills of Lading and Promissory Notes.)

Records. (See Deeds and Mortgages.)

Redemption. There is no redemption in this State under judicial sales except in case of sale of property under tax execution where parties may redeem in twelve months if improved land and wild land within two years. Unless after 12 months from date of sale notice is given the defendant in execution of purchaser's intention to foreclose redemption real estate may be redeemed any time thereafter. (Not applicable to redemption of wild land.)

Replevy. All property seized under attachment, distress, or other similar process, may be replevied. Property seized under process and claimed by the third party may be delivered over upon bond and security for its forthcoming to answer final judgment of decree.

Revision. (See Courts.)

Sales. Sales may be made to pay debts, but any sale of stocks or goods in bulk is deemed fraudulent unless the seller delivers to the buyer a list of all creditors and the amount due each. It shall then be the duty of the buyer to notify the creditors of his purchase. This notice must be mailed five days before completion of the purchase.

Taxes. Taxes are a lien upon all the property of the debtor, real or personal, and its lien is preferred as stated in section herein relating to distribution of the estates. Sales of property for taxes are conducted in the same manner as other judicial sales. One year in which to redeem is allowed. All taxes and liens for taxes accrued against property, an equity of redemption in which is embraced in a year's support duly set apart, shall be thereby divested, the same as if the entire title were included in such year's support.

Wills. All persons of full age and sound and disposing memory, including married women, may make wills, and dispose of their estates. Wills must be executed in the presence of three witnesses, all of whom shall be present, must be called by the testator as witnesses, and must sign, and shall certify that they signed, in the presence of the testator, and in the presence of each other. Wills must be in writing, except nuncupative wills. Wills of citizens of other States, where executed according to the laws of the State, and probated in solemn form in such State, which dispose of real or personal property in Georgia, may be admitted to probate in this State, when an exemplified copy of the will is presented. Wills are probated in the court of ordinary in the county where the testator resides at the date of his death. All wills executed out of this State by citizens of this State to dispose of property in Georgia must be executed according to our law. A foreign will, executed according to the law of Georgia, will constitute a muniment of title to real property without being probated in this State, when recorded on the record of deeds in the county where the land lies, together with an exemplification of record admitting it to probate in another State, certified according to the Act of Congress, Uniform Stock Transfer Act adopted March 24, 1939.

THE LAWS OF IDAHO

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by CHAS. H. DARLING, Attorney at Law, Boise.
(See card in Attorneys List.)

Acknowledgments. All conveyances and other instruments required to be acknowledged in this State must be acknowledged, if within the State, before a judge or clerk of a court of record, or the Secretary of State, as county recorder, a notary public, or a justice of the peace. Bank Act does not apply to national banks. Supervising authority is the Department of Finance of State. Banks are divided into the following classes: Savings Banks, Commercial Banks, Trust Companies. Articles of Incorporation must be prepared under the General Corporation Laws and must be approved by the Department of Finance before filing. No bank shall transact any business, except such as is incidental to its organization, without the written approval of the Commissioner of Finance and his Certificate stating that it has complied with the provisions of the Bank Act and all requirements of law. The entire Capital, plus 10% for Surplus, in cash, or property approved by the Commissioner of Finance, must be paid in before commencing business. Officers and Directors, (4) Names and addresses of all Subscribers to its Capital Stock and amount subscribed by each, (5) Financial Statement of each and every Subscriber, showing the property he owns, not exempt from execution, which must be at least three times the amount of subscriber's subscription, (6) Oath of each Director, (7) Affidavit of Directors that corporation has complied with all provisions precedent to doing business.

Every bank not a member of the Federal Reserve System shall, at all times, have on hand as a Reserve an amount equal to at least 15% of its aggregate deposits, in cash, in its vaults or held on deposit, subject to check, with other banks, which shall have been approved by the Commissioner of Finance. 33 1/4% of Reserve may consist of U. S. Bonds not hypothecated. Any bank becoming a member of Federal Reserve System shall comply with requirements of Federal Reserve Act.

Commissioner of Finance is required to examine State Banks twice each year and whenever he shall deem it necessary. Fees for examination are required to be paid by the bank. Every bank is required to make not less than three reports to Department each calendar year at the times reports are called for from National Banks. Department of Finance prints and forwards reports. Commissioner of Finance may omit examination of any bank and accept in lieu thereof findings of the examination made by any agency of the United States authorized and required by laws of the United States to make such examination.

Total liabilities of any one person to any bank shall not at any one time exceed 20% of the aggregate paid in Capital and Surplus. Indebtedness of an Officer who is actively engaged in managing of bank, or an Employee, shall not exceed 5% of paid up Capital and Surplus. No loan to Officer or Employee shall be made without being approved by majority of Board of Directors, and every such loan shall be acted upon in absence of applicant. Combined indebtedness of Directors, Officers and Employees shall not exceed 40% of paid up Capital and Surplus. No Officer or Employee may borrow except on good collateral or other ample security. Loans to Officials of Department of Finance are prohibited.

Banks may make real estate loans secured by first liens, represented by mortgages or deeds of trust, upon real estate including improved farm lands, business and residential properties, and may purchase obligations secured when entire amount of such obligation is sold to bank. Amount of any loan on real estate shall not exceed 50% of appraised value of real estate, and no loan shall be made for a longer term than five years except that loans may be made in an amount not to exceed 60% of appraised value of real estate for term not longer than 10 years if loan is secured by amortized mortgage or deed of trust upon terms by which instalment payments shall amortize 40% or more of principal of loan within not more than 10 years, and these limitations do not prevent renewal or extension of loans which are insured under act of Congress relating to Federal Housing Administration. No bank shall make real estate loans in aggregate in excess of the amount of the capital stock of the bank paid in and unimpaired plus unimpaired surplus fund or in excess of 60% of amount of its time and saving deposit—whichever is greater. Loans made to finance construction of residential or farm buildings and having maturities of not to exceed six months, whether or not secured by mortgage on real estate, shall not be considered as real estate loans but shall be classed as ordinary commercial loans provided no bank shall invest in or be liable on any such loans in aggregate amount in excess of 50% of actually paid-in and unimpaired capital. Loans made to established industrial or commercial businesses which are in whole or in part discounted or purchased or loaned against by Federal Reserve Bank under act of Congress of June 19, 1934, or for any part of which a commitment shall have been made by Federal Reserve Bank or in the making of which a Federal Reserve Bank participates under the provisions of said act of Congress, are not subject to the above restrictions or limitations upon loans secured by real estate.

Banks may invest their funds and money in their custody eligible for investment in notes or bonds secured by mortgage or deed of trust insured or debentures issued by Federal Housing Administration and in securities of National Mortgage Associations, and in bonds or other obligations issued by a housing authority pursuant to the Housing Authorities Law of this state or issued by any public housing authority or agency in the United States when such bonds or obligations are secured by a pledge of annual contributions to be paid by the United States Government or any agency thereof. No bank shall accept as collateral or make loan on, or purchase any of its own Capital Stock or Shares of any other bank, except Stock of Federal Reserve Banks, unless such security or purchase shall be necessary to prevent loss upon debt previously contracted in good faith, and Stock so purchased or acquired shall, within six months from date of acquisition, be sold or disposed of at public or private sale.

Banks and trust companies may act as executors or administrators and are not required to give bond, except when appointment is made under will requiring bond.

Excess or double liability of stockholders is prohibited by Section 17 of Article 11 of the State Constitution.

Branch banks may be operated with approval of Commissioner of Finance, provided that any corporation operating branch banks shall have paid in Capital Stock of not less than $100,000 and Surplus of not less than 10% of Capital Stock. Community Property. All property acquired after marriage other than by gift, bequest, devise, or descent, is community property. The personal earnings of the wife and the income from her separate property are community property unless she is living apart from her husband.

Contracts. A written instrument is presumptive evidence of a consideration.

Conveyances. Real estate is conveyed by instrument in writing, subscribed by the party or his authorized agent in writing. The community property can be conveyed or incumbered only by husband and wife joining in the execution and acknowledgment of the instrument. During the continuance of the marriage the wife has the management, control, and absolute power of disposition of her separate property, and may bargain, sell, and convey her real and personal property, and may enter into any contract with reference to the same, in the same manner and to the same extent and with like effect as a married man may in relation to his real and personal property. Separate property of wife not liable for debts of her husband, wife is not liable as surety unless the obligation is for her benefit or benefit of her separate property. An instrument purporting to grant real property to take effect upon condition precedent, does not pass the estate upon the performance of the condition. Such instrument is merely an executory contract. (See Acknowledgments.)

Corporations. Private corporations may be formed by three or more natural persons of full age, at least two-thirds of whom are citizens of the United States. Such corporations are formed by executing articles of incorporation signed in triplicate by each of the incorporators and acknowledged by at least three of them before an officer authorized to take acknowledgments, and in addition to stating the name of the corporation, shall state in the English language:

1. Its purpose.
2. Its duration.
3. Location and post-office address of its registered office in this state.
4. Total authorized number of par value shares and their aggregate par value, and if any of its shares have no par value, the authorized number of such shares.
5. Description of the classes of shares, if shares are to be classified, and a statement of the number of shares in each class and the relative rights, voting power, preferences and restrictions granted to or imposed upon the shares of each class.
6. The name and post-office address of each of the incorporators and a statement of the number of shares subscribed by each, which shall not be less than one, and the class of shares for which each subscribes. Triplicate originals of the articles of incorporation shall be delivered to the Secretary of State, and if he finds that they conform to law he shall put an endorsement of his approval on each set and when all taxes, fees and charges have been paid as required by law, he shall file one of such sets in his office and record the same and shall issue and record a certificate of incorporation. One of the sets of articles of incorporation shall then be filed for record in the office of the County Recorder of the County in which the registered office of the corporation is situated, and the other shall be retained by the corporation. Railroad, wagon road, telegraph and telephone corporations must state also in their articles:

1. The kind of road, telegraph or telephone line intended to be constructed.
2. The estimated length of the road or line.
3. They may provide in their articles the number of directors which shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, the decision of the majority of such quorum to be a valid act.
4. Whether meetings of the board shall be held within or without the State.
5. Whether stockholders shall be individually liable for debts of corporation. Railroad corporations must have subscribed, before filing articles, $1,000 per mile; wagon road corporations, $300 per mile; telegraph corporations, $100 per mile, and the articles must be verified by affidavit of president, secretary, or treasurer named in articles, that such stock has been subscribed. All corporations, except insurance, non-production mining companies, co-operative telephone and irrigation companies, must pay between July 1 and September 1 of each year, a license fee based on the amount of authorized capital stock, varying from $10 to $150; a failure to make payment by September 1 entails a penalty of $10, and a failure to make payment by November 30 entails a loss of charter for domestic corporations and a loss of the right to do business within the State for foreign corporations. Between July 1 and September 1, all corporations must make an annual report. Corporations may be reinstated by paying all license taxes that have accrued and a penalty of $10 for each year they have failed to file their annual statement or failed to pay their annual license fee (I. C. A., Title 29, Chap. 1), styled the "business Corporation Act," follows very closely the Uniform Business Corporation Act drafted by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform Laws.

Corporation, Foreign. Foreign corporations desiring to do business in this State, may have all the rights and privileges of like domestic corporations, by filing with the secretary of state, a certified copy of the articles of incorporation, and in the office of the county recorder of the county where the principal place of business of such corporation is to be conducted, a copy of their articles of incorporation duly certified by the secretary of state of this State, and the designation of some person residing in the county in which such principal place of business is to be located upon whom process issued by authority of or under any law of this State may be served. The original designation of agent must be filed with the secretary of state and a copy certified by the secretary of state must be filed in the office of the County Recorder in which its principal place of business is located in this State. Surrender of authority to transact business in this state does not affect any action pending at time of such withdrawal, and retirement from transacting business in the state without filing certificate of withdrawal does not revoke appointment of agent upon whom process may be served within the state. Any foreign corporation that has voluntarily surrendered its right to do business in this state, or whose license has been forfeited for failure to pay its annual license tax or otherwise comply with the laws of the state relating to foreign corporations, before it is again permitted to resume doing business in the state, shall reinstate with the Secretary of State by paying all the fees and annual license taxes which have accrued during the time the charter was forfeited, or shall regularly under the statutes of the state and pay the fees and annual license tax fixed by statute for corporations not previously qualified to do business in the state.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. The judge of the district court of each of the judicial districts of the State must annually fix the time for holding the district court in the several counties of his district; and he may hold such special terms as he deems proper and necessary. All aliens, subject to certain restrictions mentioned in the act, may acquire and for a limited time hold real estate situated in this State by deed, devise, or descent, and may transfer, devise or encumber it.

The property or funds may be released by the debtor giving a forthcoming bond, or entering into a recognition in court to pay the judgment.

Banks and Banking. Under the state constitution stockholders have a double stock liability, and every bank must make, under oath, and publish each quarter a full and accurate statement of its affairs.

An Act to revise the law in relation to banks and banking was passed and approved June 23, 1919, and ratified by referendum at the election of November 2, 1920. Banks may be formed under the statute for the purpose of discount and deposit, buying and selling exchange, and doing a general banking business, except the issuing of bills to circulate as money; may loan on both personal and real estate security, and may accept and execute trusts. An association of persons, as hereinafter set forth may organize a bank by filing a statement with the Auditor. The minimum number of persons in such associations is fixed according to populations as follows:

Populations	No. of Persons
10,000 or less	5
10,000 to 25,000	10
25,000 to 50,000	15
50,000 to 100,000	20
Over 100,000	25

All such persons must be residents of place where bank is to be established and in places exceeding 100,000 population, 20 persons of the association must reside within 3 miles of the proposed location of the bank.

Accompanying the application must be a statement made before some officer authorized to acknowledge deeds giving the net financial worth of each of the members of such associations together with at least three references as to personal character of each individual named therein. Whereupon the Auditor issues a permit to organize. The shares shall be not less than $10 nor more than $100 each. After the permit to organize is issued and the stock fully subscribed, the stockholders meet, fix the number of directors and elect the directors who shall manage the corporation for one year, or until their successors are elected. At the election of directors, stockholders have the right of cumulative voting. The directors elect one of their number President, appoint the necessary Officers and employes, fix their salaries and make by-laws. Each director shall file with the State Auditor an affidavit that he will faithfully perform the duties of his office in accordance with law; that he is the owner in his own right, of ten shares of the stock of the bank of the par value of $1,000 all told, free from incumbrance. The directors must cause suitable books to be kept and file with the Auditor a list of stockholders and a copy of any other records the Auditor may require. Unless another day is fixed by the by-laws of the Association, the stockholders shall meet the first Monday in January and elect directors. Vacancies are filled by vote of two-thirds of the directors. Each director must own shares of the stock of the bank of the par value of not less than $1,000 and file a certificate or certificates thereof with the Cashier, to be held during his term as director. A quorum of the directors must meet once each month. Any officer, director or employe who shall make a false statement to any official authorized to examine the affairs of the bank, upon conviction shall be punished by imprisonment of not less than one or more than ten years. When the State Auditor is satisfied on examination that the bank has been duly organized and its stock fully paid, he issues a certificate that the bank is authorized to commence business, which certificate must be filed with the Recorder of Deeds of the county in which the bank is to carry on its business.

The double liability of stockholders applies to all debts contracted while they hold stock in the bank and is not released by an assignment of the stock. The President or Cashier must, within thirty days after organization file with the Recorder of Deeds, a complete list of stockholders and their holdings and record thereafter a certificate of all transfers within ten days after such transfers. A statement of the resources and liabilities of the bank must be filed with the State Auditor when required by him. The Auditor must call for such report at least once each three months. This report must be published in a newspaper of the city or town where the bank is located.

The State Auditor shall appoint a suitable person, not connected with the bank, to make a thorough examination of the affairs of each bank once a year, and report the same to the Auditor. A bank may hold only such real estate as may be necessary for a banking house or such as may be acquired in the collection of debts. Real estate acquired for debts must be disposed of within five years. No bank may establish branches. The total liability for money borrowed of any person, corporation or firm (including the members of the firm) to any banking association shall at no time exceed 15 per cent of the capital and surplus (not including undivided profits) of such bank and shall in no event exceed 30 per cent of the capital stock actually paid in. Provided, however, that money borrowed within the meaning of the Act shall not include (1) the discount of bills of exchange drawn in good faith against actually existing values; (2) the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by the person negotiating the same; (3) the purchase of, or loaning money in exchange for, evidences of indebtedness which shall be secured by mortgage or trust deed upon productive real estate, the value of which, exclusive of buildings, as ascertained by the oath of two disinterested appraisers, is double the amount of the principal debt secured; but in no event shall the liabilities of any such person, corporation or firm to such bank exceed the amount of its capital stock and unimpaired surplus or 25 per cent of its deposits. Directors are made personally liable for any violations of this provision to the extent of the loss occasioned thereby to the bank, its stockholders or any other party. No loan shall be made to the President, Vice-President or any employe of the bank or to corporations or firms controlled by them, or in the management of which any of them are actively engaged, until the loan shall have been approved by the Board of Directors.

The minimum amounts provided for the capital stock of banks are as follows. In cities, towns and villages that have not exceeding ten thousand inhabitants, $50,000; between ten thousand and fifty thousand, $100,000; over fifty thousand, $200,000. Upon impairment of the capital stock the Auditor may require assessments of stockholders or a reduction of the capital. If he shall deem the bank is being conducted in an unsafe, fraudulent or illegal manner, he may, for the purpose of reorganization, or liquidation through receivership take possession and control of such bank. Such receiver may upon order of Circuit Court borrow money and issue evidences of indebtedness therefor and may receive the payment of such loan by pledge of assets of such bank, for the purpose of facilitating liquidation, protecting or preserving the assets.

Creditors may enforce stockholders liability by a bill in equity in the nature of a creditor's bill, provided same is bought within one year. There are provisions for consolidation, change of name and voluntary dissolution. All banking associations heretofore organized by general or special Act, are made subject to all the provisions of this Act.

After January 1, 1921, no natural person or natural persons, firm or partnership shall transact the business of banking or the business of receiving money upon deposit, or shall use the word "Bank" or "Banker" in connection with said business; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit banks incorporated under the laws of this State or of the United States from appointing natural persons as agents to receive deposits of savings in and through the public schools. Any person violating the Act is guilty of a misdemeanor and is subject to a fine not exceeding $1,000, or imprisonment in the penitentiary for one year. A banker is liable to fine and imprisonment if he receives a deposit after he knows the bank has become insolvent and thereby the depositor suffers loss.

One drawing and delivering a check, draft, or order on a bank with intent to defraud, and knowing at the time that he had not sufficient funds in or credit with the bank to pay the check, draft or order in full is guilty of a misdemeanor and is subject to a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for one year, or both. (See Negotiable Instruments.)

Copies of the law and forms for use thereunder can be obtained by writing to the office of the Secretary of State, Springfield, Ill. The act is entitled "The Illinois Securities Law."

Such instrument shall be acknowledged before any officer authorized by law to take acknowledgments of deeds. After acknowledgment and within ten days after its execution the instrument must be filed for record with the recorder of the county in which the mortgagor resides when the instrument is executed, or, in case of a non-resident of the State, then in the county where the property is situated. The mortgage is a valid lien until ninety days after the maturity of the entire debt or obligation, not exceeding five years from the filing of the mortgage, and may be renewed for one year by affidavit which must also be filed for record. A note secured by chattel mortgage must state on its face that it is so secured, otherwise the mortgage is void. A mortgage may be released on the margin of the record, or by a release deed. A domestic corporation or a foreign corporation licensed to do business in Illinois (except insurance companies), and which are required to make annual reports, must pay to the Secretary of State an

Supreme court (seven judges); four appellate courts (intermediate court of appeals, with certain exceptions final up to $1,500, three judges each); circuit courts (in Cook County also superior court of equal jurisdiction); criminal courts; county courts (which also exercise probate jurisdiction in counties having less than 70,000); probate courts (except where abolished by statute where the county has less than 85,000 population) (and in counties having over 85,000 unless established by statute where they have over 70,000 population); municipal courts (Chicago has a municipal court with a chief justice and thirty-six associate judges and special practice); and justice courts.

Deeds conveying land should be signed, sealed, and acknowledged by grantor. Scroll seal is sufficient. No subscribing witnesses are required. Statutory forms of warranty and quit claim deeds and mortgages are provided. The words employed are (1) conveys and warrants, (2) conveys and quit claims, (3) mortgages and warrants. No deed releases the right of homestead unless it contains a clause substantially as follows: "Hereby releasing and waiving all rights under and by virtue of the homestead exemption laws of the State of Illinois." To release dower the husband or wife must join in the conveyance, except in the case of a mortgage for purchase money; otherwise the husband and wife may convey as unmarried. Deeds and other instruments affecting real estate should be recorded in the county where the real estate is situated; until so recorded they are void as to creditors and subsequent purchasers without notice. (See Land Registration.)

Depositions. In chancery cases if the witness resides in the county, depositions may be taken on five days' notice; otherwise on ten days' notice and one day in addition for every fifty miles. At law, on like ten days' notice, where the witness resides in another county or is about to depart from the state. Where the witness resides out of the county or state, the deposition may be taken before a notary public or commissioner on a commission issued on ten days' notice, either on written or oral interrogatories. If a witness subpoenaed to give his deposition before a notary public or other officer under commission issued by a court of this State, or of any other State or country, declines to appear or testify he may be cited before the circuit court of the county where he resides and be compelled to appear, testify, and produce documents.

Descent and Distribution. Property in this State, both real and personal, of residents and nonresident proprietors in this State dying intestate, or whose estates or any part thereof shall be deemed and taken as intestate estate, after all just debts and claims against such estate are fully paid, shall descend to and be distributed in manner following, to wit: 1. To his or her children and their descendants, in equal parts; the descendants of the deceased child or grandchild taking the share of their deceased parents in equal parts among them. 2. When there is no child of the intestate, nor descendant of such child, and no widow or surviving husband, then to the parents, brothers and sisters of the deceased and their descendants, in equal parts among them, allowing to each of the parents, if living, a child's part or to the survivor of them if one be dead, a double portion; and if there is no parent living, then to the brothers and sisters of the intestate, and their descendants. 3a. When there is a widow or surviving husband and also parents, brothers and sisters of the deceased and their descendants but no child or children, or descendants of a child or children of the intestate, then (after the payment of all just debts) one-half of the real estate and the whole of the personal estate shall descend to such widow or surviving husband as an absolute estate forever and the other half of the real estate shall descend to the parents, brothers and sisters of the deceased and their descendants in equal parts among them, allowing to each of the parents, if living, a child's part or to the survivor of them, if one be dead a double portion; and if there is no parent living, then to the brothers and sisters of the intestate and their descendants. (See Dower.) 3b. When there is a widow or surviving husband and no child or children or descendants of a child or children of the intestate and no parents, brothers or sisters of the deceased and their descendants, then after the payment of all just debts, the entire estate, real and personal, shall descend to the surviving widow or husband outright. 4. When there is a widow or surviving husband and also a child or children or descendants of such child or children of the intestate, the widow or surviving husband shall receive as his or her absolute personal estate, one-third of all the personal estate of the intestate; and he or she shall also receive as his or her absolute estate, in lieu of dower therein, one-third of each parcel of real estate of which the intestate died seized and in which such widow or surviving husband shall waive his or her right of dower. 5. If there is no child of the intestate or descendant of such child, and no parent, brother or sister, or descendant of such parent, brother or sister, and no widow or surviving husband, then such estate shall descend in equal parts to the next of kin to the intestate in equal degree (computing by the rules of Civil Law), and there shall be no representation among collaterals, except with the descendants of brothers and sisters of the intestate; and in no case shall there be any distinction between the kindred of the whole and the half blood. 6. If any intestate leaves a widow or surviving husband and no kindred, his or her estate shall descend to such widow or surviving husband. 7. If the intestate leaves no kindred, and no widow or husband, his or her estate shall escheat to and vest in the county in which said real or personal estate, or the greater portion thereof, is situated. (See Dower and Courtesy.)

Dower. A surviving husband has dower (i. e., life interest in a third part of all lands whereof deceased was seized of an estate of inheritance during marriage) the same as a widow. Equitable estates, and land contracted for before death, are subject to dower. If dower is waived, surviving husband or wife takes one third of the real estate and personal estate absolutely. Dower may be barred by jointure assented to; by devise, unless widow or surviving husband renounces benefit of devise within one year from date of letters of administration; by divorce as to the party in fault; and by abandonment coupled with adultery. There is no dower in land as against a purchase-money lien. The husband or wife may renounce any devise under the will of the other and take if there be children, one third of the real estate, and one-third of personal estate, or, if no children, one-half of all real and personal estate absolutely.

Executions. (See Judgments and Executions.)

Executors and Administrators. (See Administration.)

Exemptions. There is a homestead exemption to the extent of $1000. It may be extinguished by conveyance joined in by husband and wife properly acknowledged. (See Deeds.) The following personal property is exempt: 1. The necessary wearing apparel, Bibles, school books, and family pictures. 2. One hundred dollars worth of other property, to be selected by the debtor, and in addition, when the debtor is the head of a family and resides with the same, $300 worth of other property, to be selected by the debtor. Exemptions can not be claimed out of partnership property. The wages of an employee being the head of a family and residing with the same are exempt from garnishment to the amount of $20 per week.

Frauds, Statute of. The following contracts should be in writing: 1. A promise of an executor or administrator to answer any debt or damages out of his own estate. 2. A promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another. 3. An agreement made in consideration of marriage. 4. An agreement not to be performed within one year. 5. Any contract for the sale of lands, or any interest therein for a longer term than one year. 6. Express trusts relating to real estate. 7. A contract to sell or a sale of any goods or choses in action of the value of five hundred dollars or upwards is not enforceable by action, unless the buyer accepts part of the goods or choses in action so contracted to be sold or sold, and actually receives the same, or gives something in earnest to bind the contract, or in part payment, or unless some note or memorandum in writing of the contract or sale be signed by the party to be charged or his agent in that behalf. The act applies to sales for future delivery and to goods to be obtained or manufactured by the seller, but not to sales of goods to be manufactured on special order if they be not suitable for sale to others in the usual course of business."

Garnishment. The funds or property of a debtor in the possession of a third party may be garnished in an attachment suit, or in a separate proceeding after judgment has been obtained against the principal debtor. (See Attachments.) Wages up to $20.00 a week are exempt from garnishment.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday) the Friday before Easter; May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); Thanksgiving Day; Tuesdays next after first Mondays in November in even years (election days); November 11 (Armistice Day); December 25 (Christmas Day); also every Saturday from 12 o'clock noon to 12 o'clock midnight (in cities of 200,000 or more population). Where holidays fall on Sunday, the day following.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Insurance. Agents are required to have license. Write director of Trade and Commerce, Springfield, Ill. Insurance companies are bonded to state.

Interest. Extreme contract rate, 7 per cent, except as to corporations, no limit as to corporations; legal rate, 5 per cent. Interest is allowed at the legal rate on moneys after they become due on any bond, bill, promissory note, or other instrument in writing; on money loaned or advanced for the use of another; on money due on the settlement of an account, from the date of ascertaining the balance; on money received to the use of another, and retained without the owner's knowledge; and on money withheld by an unreasonable and vexatious delay of payment. Judgments or decrees draw interest at 5 per cent. Penalty for contracting for more than 7 per cent is the loss of the entire interest, and only the principal sum can be recovered. A written contract, wherever payable made, in this State between citizens of this State and of a foreign State (or secured by a mortgage on lands in this State) is controlled by the law of this State as to the rate of interest, and the penalty for usury. Usury must be specially pleaded. In all computations of time, and of interest and discounts, a month is considered to mean a calendar month, and a year twelve calendar months, and a day the thirtieth part of a month. A foreign corporation is subject to the same penalties for usury as a citizen of this State. Justice of Peace has jurisdiction in all claims under $500. The interest rate does not apply to the loan business where $300 and less is involved upon which 3% per month may be charged. This requires an annual license fee of $200 in counties of 500,000 and $100 in counties less than 500,000.

Judgments and Executions. A judgment of a court of record with county jurisdiction is a lien on real estate situated in the county where the judgment is rendered, for seven years from its date, and to become a lien on land registered under Torrens System must be filed with registrar of titles. If an execution is not issued on a judgment within one year the judgment ceases to be a lien. A transcript of a judgment in another county may be filed and thereupon becomes a lien upon real estate of the defendant in the county where filed, and execution may issue thereunder. An execution becomes a lien on personal property from the time it is delivered to the officer to be executed. All goods and chattels, including and including stock in a corporation, may be levied on. Personal property may be sold under execution on ten days' notice. A forthcoming bond may be given by the defendant to the officer. A third party claiming the property levied on may have a trial as to the right of property in the county court. Judgments may be confessed by a debtor or his authorized attorney without process in term time or vacation. Land Registration Torrens System in use in Cook County. (See Mortgage Foreclosure.) Lien of judgment may be revived after expiration of seven years by scire facias, but not after twenty years.

Liens. A landlord has a lien for rent upon crops growing on the demised premises. Hotel, inn, and boarding-house keepers have a lien upon baggage and other valuables of guests. Stable-keepers have a lien upon horses, carriages, and harness for the keeping thereof. Garage keepers are entitled to liens on automobiles, parts and accessories, for keeping, repairing, materials furnished thereto, and the expenses bestowed thereon at the request of the owner, or the person having the possession thereof. Agisters and persons keeping, yarding, and feeding domestic animals have a lien therefor. All persons furnishing supplies, or doing work for any railroad organized under the laws of this State, necessary for the construction, maintenance, operation, or repair of the road, have a lien therefor on all the property of the company, which is good as against mortgages and other liens acquired after the commencement of the delivery of supplies, or the doing of the work. Attorneys have liens on all demands, claims, and causes of action of their clients, after the service of notice upon the adverse party. Contractors and sub-contractors, including architects, superintendents, timekeepers, etc., have liens on any real estate, interest therein, or improvements thereon, for all kinds of labor and services performed, and materials furnished for the erection of any building, or the improvement of any real estate, or thing connected therewith. A person furnishing material, apparatus, fixtures, machinery or labor to a contractor for a public improvement, has a lien upon the money, bonds or warrants due or to become due under such contract; provided, the claimant serves upon the municipality a notice of his claim before payment be made to such contractor; but the lien attaches only to the portions of the money, bonds, or warrants against which no voucher or other evidence of indebtedness has been issued and delivered to the contractor. Any person expending labor, service, skill or material on any chattel furnished at the request of the owner has a lien therefore not to exceed $25.00.

Limitations. In personal actions as follows: Libel and slander, one year; actions for damages for injury to persons, two years (where death results, one year after death); for false imprisonment, malicious prosecution, for a statutory penalty, for abduction, seduction, or criminal conversation, two years; actions on unwritten contracts, express or implied, on awards of arbitration, to recover damages for injury to property real or personal, to recover possession of personal property, or damages for the detention or conversion thereof, and all civil actions not otherwise provided for, five years; actions on bonds, promissory notes, bills of exchange, written leases, written contracts, or other evidences of indebtedness in writing, ten years; but any payment or new promise to pay in writing renews the right of action on such instrument for ten years from the time of such payment or promise. A domestic judgment of a court of record, twenty years; of a foreign court of record, five years. When a cause of action has arisen in a state or territory out of this state, or in a foreign country, and, by the laws thereof, an action thereon cannot be maintained by reason of the lapse of time, an action thereon shall not be maintained in this state. This applies only where both debtor and creditor are non-residents of this state when the cause of action accrues, and does not govern an indemnity contract where the indemnitors were residents of Michigan and the other parties in Illinois. If a person liable to an action fraudulently conceals the cause of such action from the knowledge of the person entitled thereto, the action may be commenced at any time within five years after the person entitled to bring the same discovers that he has such cause of action, and not afterwards.

Limited Partnership. There are statutory provisions as to the formation of limited partnerships, but such partnerships are not common in Illinois.

Married Women. A married woman may sue, be sued, or defend, as if she were unmarried. When the husband deserts, the wife may prosecute or defend in his name. The husband has the same right upon the desertion of the wife. The husband is not liable for the wife's torts except in cases where he would be jointly responsible if the marriage did not exist. The husband or wife is not liable for the debts of the other incurred before marriage, or for the separate debts of each after marriage, except that the husband and wife are jointly and severally liable for the expenses of the family and the education of their children. The wife may contract as if unmarried. She may receive and use her own earnings free from the interference of the husband or his creditors. Neither the husband nor the wife can recover compensation for any labor performed or services rendered for the other. She may own in her own right real and personal property obtained by descent, gift, or purchase, and manage, sell and convey it to the same extent that the husband can property belonging to him; but no transfer of personal property between the husband and wife living together is good as against third persons, unless acknowledged and recorded as chattel mortgages are required to be. A married woman who without her fault lives apart from her husband may maintain an action for reasonable support and maintenance. The wife may insure her husband's life. She may become surety for the husband. She may execute a will, if over eighteen years of age, at which age she attains majority.

Mortgages. Real estate mortgages should be executed and acknowledged the same as deeds. The wife must join to bar dower except in mortgages for purchase-money. Trust deeds are often preferred to mortgages because of the facility in the transfer of the security and, in case of non-resident creditors, in obtaining a release, the trustee generally being a resident. Real estate mortgages may be released upon the record or by release deed. Mortgages and trust deeds must be foreclosed by scire facias or by regular foreclosure suit in a court of chancery. In extreme cases, where the mortgaged property is clearly of less value than the debt secured and the mortgagor is insolvent, there may be a strict foreclosure which cuts off the right of redemption, in which case the mortgagee takes the property in discharge of the debt. In other cases, after decree of foreclosure, the officer designated to execute the decree delivers a certificate of sale to the purchaser and files a copy thereof for record. The debtor may redeem within twelve months. Judgment creditor may redeem after twelve months, but within fifteen months; at the end of which time the purchaser is entitled to a deed. Corporations may waive right of redemption by provision in any mortgage or trust deed waive right of redemption. The holder in due course of a note secured by a mortgage or trust deed on real estate in Illinois stands in no better position, so far as the enforcement of his security is concerned, than the payee or original holder; but this doctrine does not apply to corporate bonds payable to bearer.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act (see complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws") is in force in Illinois with the following modifications: 1. All Promissory Notes, Bonds, Due Bills, and other instruments in writing, whereby one promises or agrees, to pay any sum of money or articles of personal property, or any sum of money in personal property, or acknowledges any sum of money or article of personal property to be due, are negotiable. Except as to Promissory Notes payable in money due diligence must be used by the holder against the maker, if he be a resident and solvent, by suit at first term of Court after maturity, in order to hold the endorser. 2. Accommodation paper may be issued after maturity, if such was the intention of the accommodating party. 3. The addition of words of assignment or guaranty to a blank indorsement does not affect the signature as an indorsement unless otherwise expressly stated. 4. The defenses of fraud and circumvention in the execution of negotiable paper, or that the consideration arose out of a gambling transaction prohibited by sections 130, 131, and 136 of our Criminal Code, may be asserted against a holder in due course. 5. The fact that a depositor makes his note payable at a bank does not authorize the bank to pay it out of his funds on deposit. 6. An alteration of an instrument voids it only when it is material or fraudulent, and made by the holder. 7. A promise in writing to accept a bill made either before or after it is drawn is deemed an actual acceptance as to the person receiving the bill on the faith thereof. 8. Section 137 of the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law, providing that the destruction by the drawee of a bill of exchange left with him for acceptance, or his refusal to return the same within twenty-four hours after delivery to him or within such further period as the holder might allow, should be deemed an acceptance of the bill, is omitted from the Illinois act.

Except as otherwise provided by agreement and except as to subsequent holders of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer or indorsed specially or in blank, where an item is deposited or received for collection, the bank of deposit shall be agent of the depositor for its collection and each subsequent collecting bank shall be sub-agent of the depositor but shall be authorized to follow the instructions of its immediate forwarding bank and any credit given by any such agent or sub-agent bank therefor shall be revocable until such time as the proceeds are received in actual money or an unconditional credit given on the books of another bank, which such agent has requested or accepted. Where any such bank allows any revocable credit for an item to be withdrawn, such agency relation shall nevertheless continue except the bank shall have all the rights of an owner thereof against prior and subsequent parties to the extent of the amount withdrawn.

A credit given by a bank for an item drawn on or payable at such bank shall be provisional, subject to revocation at or before the end of the day on which the item is deposited in the event the item is found not payable for any reason. Whenever a credit is given for an item deposited after banking hours such right of revocation may be exercised during the following business day.

An indorsement of an item by the payee or other depositor "for deposit" shall be deemed a restrictive indorsement and indicate that the indorsee bank is an agent for collection and not owner of the item.

An indorsement "pay any bank or banker" or having equivalent words shall be deemed a restrictive indorsement and shall indicate the creation of an agency relation in any subsequent bank to whom the paper is forwarded unless coupled with the words indicating the creation of a trustee relationship; and such indorsement or other restrictive indorsement whether creating an agency or trustee relationship shall constitute a guaranty by the indorser to all subsequent holders and to the drawee or payor of the genuineness of and the authority to make prior indorsements and also to save the drawee or payor harmless in the event any prior endorsement appearing thereon is defective or irregular in any respect unless such indorsement is coupled with appropriate words disclaiming such liability as guarantor.

Where a deposited item is payable to bearer or indorsed by the depositor in blank or by special indorsement, the fact that such item is so payable or indorsed shall not change the relation of agent of the bank of deposit to the depositor, but subsequent holders shall have the right to rely on the presumption that the bank of deposit is the owner of the item. The indorsement of an item by the bank of deposit or by any subsequent holder in blank or by special indorsement or its delivery when payable to bearer shall carry the presumption that the indorsee or transferee is owner provided there is nothing upon the face of the paper or in any prior indorsement to indicate an agency or trustee relation of any prior party. But where an item is deposited or is received for collection indorsed specially or in blank, the bank may convert such an indorsement into a restrictive indorsement by writing over the signature of the indorser the words "for deposit" or "for collection," or other restrictive words to negative the presumption that such bank of deposit or indorsee bank is owner; and in the case of an item deposited or received for collection payable to bearer, may negative such presumption by indorsing thereon the words "received for deposit" or "received for collection" or words of like import.

It shall be the duty of the initial or any subsequent agent collecting bank to exercise ordinary care in the collection of an item and when such duty is performed such agent bank shall not be responsible if for any cause payment is not received in money or an unconditional credit given on the books of another bank, which such agent bank has requested or accepted. An initial or subsequent agent collecting bank shall be liable for its own lack of exercise of ordinary care but shall not be liable for the neglect, misconduct, mistakes or defaults of any other agent bank or of the drawee or payor bank.

Where an item is received on deposit or by a subsequent agent bank for collection, payable in another town or city, it shall be deemed the exercise of ordinary care to forward such item by mail, not later than the business day next following its receipt either (1) direct to the drawee or payor in the event such drawee or payor is a bank or (2) to another bank collecting agent according to the usual banking custom, either located in the town or city where the item is payable or in another town or city.

Where an item is received on deposit or by a subsequent agent bank for collection, payable by or at another bank in the same town or city in which such agent bank is located, it shall be deemed the exercise of ordinary care to present the item for payment at any time not later than the next business day following the day on which the item is received either (1) at the counter of the drawee or payor by agent or messenger or (2) through the local clearing house under the regular established procedure, or according to the usual banking custom where the collecting or payor bank is located in an outlying district.

The designation of the above methods shall not exclude any other method of forwarding or presentation which under existing rules of law would constitute ordinary care.

Where the item is received by mail by a solvent drawee or payor bank, it shall be deemed paid when the amount is finally charged to the account of the maker or drawer.

Where an agent bank forwards an item for collection, it shall not be responsible for its loss or destruction in transit or, when in the possession of others, for its inability to repossess itself thereof, provided there has been no lack of ordinary care on its part.

Where ordinary care is exercised, any agent collecting bank may receive in payment of an item without becoming responsible as debtor therefor, whether presented by mail, through the clearing house or over the counter of the drawee or payor, in lieu of money, either (a) the check or draft of the drawee or payor upon another bank or (b) the check or draft of any other bank upon any bank other than the drawee or payor of the item or (c) such method of settlement as may be customary in a local clearing house or between clearing banks or otherwise. Provided that whenever such agent collecting bank shall request or accept in payment an unconditional credit which has been given to it on the books of the drawee or payor or on the books of any other bank, such agent collecting bank shall become debtor for such item and shall be responsible therefor as if the proceeds were actually received by it in money.

Where ordinary care is exercised, any agent collecting bank may receive from any subsequent bank in the chain of collection in remittance for an item which has been paid, in lieu of money, the check or draft of the remitting bank upon any bank other than itself or the drawee or payor of the item or such other method of settlement as may be customary; provided that whenever such agent collecting bank shall request or accept an unconditional credit which has been given to it on the books of the remitting bank or on the books of any other bank, such agent collecting bank shall become debtor for such item and shall be responsible therefor as if the proceeds were actually received by it in money.

Where an item is duly presented by mail to the drawee or payor, whether or not the same has been charged to the account of the maker or drawer thereof or returned to such maker or drawer, the agent collecting bank so presenting may, at its election, exercised with reasonable diligence, treat such items as dishonored by non-payment and recourse may be had upon prior parties thereto in any of the following cases:

- (1) Where the check or draft of the drawee or payor bank upon another bank received in payment therefor shall not be paid in due course;
- (2) Where the drawee or payor bank shall without request or authority tender as payment its own check or draft upon itself or other instrument upon which it is primarily liable;
- (3) Where the drawee or payor bank shall give an unrequested or unauthorized credit therefor on its books or the books of another bank; or
- (4) Where the drawee or payor shall retain such item without remitting therefor on the day of receipt or on the day of maturity if payable otherwise than on demand and received by it prior to or on such day of maturity.

Provided, however, that in any case where the drawee or payor bank shall return any such item unpaid not later than the day of receipt or of maturity as aforesaid in the exercise of its right to make payment only at its own counter, such item cannot be treated as dishonored by non-payment and the delay caused thereby shall not relieve prior parties from liability.

Provided further that no agent collecting bank shall be liable to the owner of an item where, in the exercise of ordinary care in the interest of such owner, it makes or does not make the election above provided or takes such steps as it may deem necessary in cases (2), (3) and (4) above.

In case of the dishonor of an item duly presented by mail as provided for in the next preceding section, notice of dishonor of such item to prior parties shall be sufficient if given with reasonable diligence after such dishonor; and further in the event of failure to obtain the return of any such item notice of dishonor may be given upon a copy or written particulars thereof, and delay in giving notice of dishonor caused by an attempt with reasonable diligence to obtain return of such item shall be excused.

1. When the drawee or payor, or any other agent collecting bank shall fail or be closed for business by the Auditor of Public Accounts in the case of banks incorporated under the laws of this State, or the Comptroller of the Currency in the case of banks incorporated under the Federal laws, or by action of the board of directors or by other proper legal action, after an item shall be mailed or otherwise entrusted to it for collection or payment but before the actual collection or payment thereof, it shall be the duty of the receiver or other official in charge of its assets to return such item, if same is in his possession, to the forwarding or presenting bank with reasonable diligence.

2. Except in cases where an item or items is treated as dishonored by non-payment as provided in section 11, when a drawee or payor bank has presented to it for payment an item or items drawn upon or payable by or at such bank and at the time has on deposit to the credit of the maker or drawer an amount equal to such item or items and such drawee or payor shall fail or close for business as above, after having charged such item or items to the account of the maker or drawer thereof or otherwise discharged his liability thereon but without such item or items having been paid or settled for by the drawee or payor either in money or by an unconditional credit given on its books or on the books of any other bank, which has been requested or accepted so as to constitute such drawee or payor or other bank debtor therefor, the assets of such drawee or payor shall be impressed with a trust in favor of the owner or owners of such item or items for the amount thereof, or for the balance payable upon a number of items which have been exchanged, and such owner or owners shall be entitled to a preferred claim upon such assets, irrespective of whether the fund representing such item or items can be traced and identified as part of such assets or has been intermingled with or converted into other assets of such failed bank.

3. Where an agent collecting bank other than the drawee or payor shall fail or be closed for business as above, after having received in any form the proceeds of an item or items entrusted to it for collection, but without such item or items having been paid or remitted for by it either in money or by an unconditional credit given on its books or on the books of any other bank which has been requested or accepted so as to constitute such failed collecting or other bank debtor therefor, the assets of such agent collecting bank which has failed or been closed for business as above shall be impressed with a trust in favor of the owner or owners of such item or items for the amount of such proceeds and such owner or owners shall be entitled to a preferred claim upon such assets, irrespective of whether the fund representing such item or items can be traced and identified as part of such assets or has been intermingled with or converted into other assets of such failed bank.

In any case not provided for in this Act the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant and those rules of law and equity relating to trusts, agency, negotiable instruments and banking, shall continue to apply.

It must be signed by the testator or by some person in his presence and by his direction, and attested in his presence at his request by at least two witnesses. The witnesses should be disinterested. A devise to a witness is void unless the will be otherwise duly attested by two witnesses exclusive of such person. Where the subscribing witnesses are dead, secondary evidence of the execution is admissible. The will is proved, after notice to heirs and legatees, in the county (or probate) court, and may be contested, in chancery, within one year after its probate. Wills or authenticated copies, affecting estate within this State, duly proved outside of this State, in accordance with the law of the State where executed, accompanied with a certificate of the proper officer of that fact, may be recorded here. SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF INDIANA

RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by LUTHER M. SWYGERT,
Lloyd Building, Hammond, Ind.
(See card in Attorneys List)

Acknowledgments. All conveyances of real estate, except leases for less than three years, must be in writing, and acknowledged and recorded at once, or they will not bind third parties. Within the State acknowledgments may be taken before a judge or clerk of the court of record, justice of the peace, auditor, recorder, notary public, member of the general assembly, or mayor of a city, and in other states and territories before the like officers, or a commissioner of deeds for Indiana. In any foreign country, before a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States. If such acknowledgment or proof is in some other than the English language, or is not attested by such official seal, it must be accompanied by the certificate of an officer of the United States, to the effect that it is duly executed according to the laws of such foreign country, and that the officer has legal authority to certify to the proof or acknowledgment and the meaning of his certificate, if made in a foreign language. Wife must join in deeds and mortgages of husband's lands in order to carry her inchoate one-third interest in husband's lands. No separate acknowledgment of wife necessary in order to convey her inchoate interest in husband's lands, although she must acknowledge. The certifying officer should state the date when his commission expires.

Actions. The distinction between actions at law and suits in equity, and the forms of each, are abolished. There is but one form of action for the enforcement of private rights and redress of private wrongs, denominated by the Code a civil action. Every action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, except in suits by an executor, administrator, guardian of an idiot or lunatic, trustee of an express trust, or person expressly authorized by statute, who needs not join with them the person for whom the action is prosecuted.

All parties in interest must be joined as plaintiffs or defendants; and when a complete determination of the controversy can not be had without the presence of other parties, who have not been made plaintiffs or defendants, the court must cause them to be joined.

Commencement. A civil action is commenced by filing in the office of the clerk a complaint and causing summons to issue thereon; and the action is deemed commenced from the time of issuing the summons, or, if publication be made, from the time of the first publication.

Joinder of Causes. The plaintiff may unite several causes of action in the same complaint, but they must fall within the term of the statute, and causes of actions so joined must affect all the parties to the action, must not require different places of trial and must be separately stated and numbered.

Severance. Where causes of action are improperly joined the court is required by statute to cause as many separate actions to be docketed as there are causes improperly joined.

Consolidation. The courts have inherent power to consolidate causes before them in the absence of statute, when necessary to the ends of justice and to avoid a multiplicity of suits.

Joint Debtors. In an action against defendants jointly indebted on contract, plaintiff may proceed against such defendant or defendants as are served. A judgment may be enforced against joint property of all and the separate property of those served. Where judgment is recovered against one or more persons jointly liable on contract, but judgment is rendered against only part of the persons jointly liable for the reason that others were not summoned or did not appear, plaintiff may proceed against those not summoned and not appearing, in the same manner as if they were alone liable, but the complaint must allege the facts aforesaid.

Survival. All causes of action survive death of person entitled or liable to such action except action for personal injuries and for promises to marry.

Administration of Estates. Except where special statutes provide otherwise with respect to a particular county the Circuit Court has exclusive probate jurisdiction. In cases of intestacy letters are granted in following order: 1. Widow or widower. 2. Next of kin. 3. Largest resident creditor. Letters of administration shall be granted in the county: 1. Where intestate was inhabitant at time of death. 2. Where, not being inhabitant of the State he leaves assets. Where an intestate, not being an inhabitant, shall die out of the State, leaving assets in several counties, letters may be granted in any one of the counties in which such assets may be at time of death, and the administration first lawfully granted shall extend to all of the estate. Preference is given to foreign executor of a decedent not an inhabitant of State, if, before letters are granted in this State it appears that proper letters have been granted in another state, except there be resident creditors, legatees and heirs entitled to distribution, who are inhabitants of the State. No action shall be brought against an estate for any claim against the decedent; but the holder thereof, whether the claim be due or not, shall file a succinct and definite statement thereof in the office of the clerk of the court, setting forth all credits to which the estate is entitled, and accompanied by the affidavits of the claimant, his agent, or attorney, that the claim is just and wholly unpaid. If claim be secured by a lien, the lien shall be particularly set forth. The claim must be filed within six months from the notice of the administrator's appointment, or claimant must pay costs; and if not filed at least thirty days before the final settlement of the estate, it shall be barred, except that heirs, devisees and distributees shall be liable to the extent of the property received by them, to any unpaid creditor who six months prior to the final settlement was insane, an infant, or out of the State,—suit to be brought within one year of removal of disability, and if upon claim of non-resident creditor, within two years of the settlement of the estate.

Affidavits may be taken before any officer qualified to take acknowledgments (see above). Date of expiration of officer's commission must be certified by the officer himself.

Aliens. Resident aliens who have declared their intention to become citizens, may acquire, hold, and enjoy real estate, and may convey, devise, mortgage, or otherwise encumber the same, in like manner and with the same effect as citizens of this State. Aliens, whether resident or not, may own real estate not exceeding 320 acres lands in excess of that amount they must convey within five years or suffer escheat as to such excess.

Assignments and Insolvency. Any debtor may make a general assignment of all property in trust for benefit of all bona fide creditors. This trust is administered under the direction of the county court. Dividends are allowed on all claims allowed by the trustee or court. Debtor is not discharged from his liabilities.

Attachment may issue against the property of a non-resident or foreign corporation, and against any who may have disposed of, or be about to dispose of, property, to cheat, hinder or delay creditors, or against a debtor who conceals himself so that summons can not be served upon him or where the debtor is secretly leaving the state. An affidavit is required, and a bond to pay damages if the proceedings be wrongful or oppressive. Creditors who file under the original attachment, before final judgment, are required to furnish a like affidavit and bond, and all share pro rata in the proceeds of the attached property. The wages of a resident householder, not exceeding one month at any one time, are exempt so long as debtor remains in such employment. It is a misdemeanor to send claims out of the State to be collected by attachment, or garnishment, when creditor, debtor, and person owing for earnings intended to be reached are all within the jurisdiction of the court of this State. The collection of claims so sent may be enjoined.

Bank Collection Code. Given directly following laws. Adopted July 1, 1929, Acts 1929 Ch. 164.

Banks and Banking. All financial institutions are controlled by the "Indiana Financial Institutions Act." (1933, c. 40, as amended by Acts 1935, C. 5.) The Department of Financial Institutions has all powers formerly possessed by the banking department and is vested with control over organization, supervision, regulation, examination and liquidation of all financial institutions, which term includes every bank, trust company, building and loan association, credit union, rural loan and savings association, guaranty loan and savings association, mortgage guarantee company and credit union.

No bank, trust company, building and loan association, savings bank or credit union may be organized unless, after investigation and public hearing, the Department approves its articles and the establishment of such institution in the city or town where it is proposed to be established.

Any existing private bank, bank of discount and deposit, trust company, loan and trust and safe deposit company, building and loan association or rural or guaranty loan and savings institution may reorganize under the Financial Institutions Act, with approval of two-thirds of the outstanding shares and of the Department.

Organization. Ten or more persons, a majority of whom are citizens of Indiana, may organize a bank or trust company. Articles of incorporation must set forth name, purpose, period of existence, addresses of principal officers, amount of capital stock, par value of shares, paid-in capital with which business will begin, and names and addresses of directors and incorporators. Name must include words to indicate power as bank or trust company, and may not include words indicating powers not possessed. Articles must be approved after public hearing by Department and filed with Secretary of State.

Bank or trust company may not begin business until: (a) Articles approved by Secretary of State have been filed in recorder's office of the county of location; (b) amount of capital stock prescribed has been paid in; and (c) affidavit of majority of directors, stating that capital has been paid in, is filed with recorder.

Minimum Capital Requirements of bank or trust company are: $25,000 in cities or towns of less than 3,000 inhabitants; $50,000 in cities of 3,000 or more and less than 6,000 inhabitants; $100,000 in cities of 6,000 or more and less than 75,000 inhabitants; $200,000 in cities of 75,000 or more inhabitants.

Amendment of Articles. Articles of incorporation of bank or trust company may be amended from time to time and capital stock increased or decreased.

Reserve. Bank or trust company must maintain reserve balance equal to 12 1/2% of demand deposits and 3% of time deposits.

Stock. Shares of a bank or trust company shall be of $100 par value or of par value of such less amount as provided by the articles of incorporation, but not less than $10, and may have only such preemptive rights as are stated in the articles. Bank or trust company may not purchase its own stock, except when same is taken on a previous debt, in which case it must be resold.

General Powers. Every bank or trust company has power to: Act as fiscal or transfer agent; discount and sell negotiable or nonnegotiable instruments; purchase and sell securities without recourse; purchase, hold and convey real estate; act as commissioner, guardian, trustee, receiver, executor or administrator; accept property management; receive deposits for safekeeping and in escrow; become a member of Federal Reserve System and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to make loans under the provisions of the National Housing Act.

Loans and Discounts. The obligation of any person to any bank may not exceed 10% of the sound capital except as follows: No limitation is placed on drafts or bills of exchange drawn in good faith against actually existing values, obligations arising out of discounts on paper actually owned by person negotiating, obligations drawn against existing values and secured by goods in process of shipment, or tax anticipation warrants or loans to National or Indiana State Banks. A 15% limitation applies to obligations as indorser of notes other than commercial paper of not more than six months owned by person indorsing, obligations of any person in form of notes or drafts secured by shipping documents or warehouse receipts covering readily marketable non-perishable staples or live stock when market of such staples or live stock is not less than 115% of such obligation or obligations secured by bonds or notes of United States, obligations secured by loans under provisions of Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933 if Commodity Credit Corporation is under obligation to redeem same. Obligations in form of bankers' acceptances, having not more than six months sight to run, if the accepting bank is secured by some adequate security are subject to a 90% limitation. The total loans to all directors or companies in which directors are interested may not exceed 15% of unimpaired capital and surplus and violation of the same is a felony.

Loans on real estate are limited to that within fifty miles of the bank, and must be secured by a first lien except for taxes and special assessments; the amount of the loan shall not exceed 60% of the appraised value and the term of the loan shall not extend beyond 16 2/3 years. If loan is in excess of 50% of appraised value or for more than 5 years a semi-annual reduction of not less than 3% of the principal must be required by contract. The aggregate of such loans together with loans on which the bank is liable as guarantor shall not exceed 35 per cent of its deposits or in excess of its total sound capital, whichever is greater.

Trust Department. Every bank or trust company exercising fiduciary powers must maintain a trust department, keeping separate books of account and maintaining all trust securities segregated from other property of the bank. All trust money not directed to be specifically invested may be invested in: (a) Obligations of the United States; (b) obligations of municipalities or taxing districts of Indiana; (c) bonds, notes or mortgages with maturities of five years or less secured by first liens on fee simple of real estate in Indiana worth not less than twice the total obligation secured; (d) bonds issued by authority of Federal Farm Loan Act or Federal Home Loan Bank Act, or Home Owners Loan Act or obligations of National Housing Act. No profit, other than interest at legal rate on a loan, may be received by any bank or trust company directly or indirectly out of the sale or purchase to or from any estate. All money not invested in accordance with the Act is at the risk of the bank or trust company except trust funds. Money awaiting investment or distribution may be kept on deposit provided sufficient book entries show true ownership of such money in both bank and trust departments, but no money in excess of $1,000 may be held uninvested for longer than six months unless the trust provides otherwise. On liquidation of any bank or trust company, all persons beneficially entitled to receive property or proceeds held by it in trust have preference and priority in all the assets over general creditors for all uninvested funds, to the extent that such money is commingled with general assets and is not duly accounted for.

Examinations and Reports. All financial institutions are subject to examination without notice and the Department may require submission and publication of as many statements of condition as are deemed necessary in any year.

Consolidation or Disposition of Assets. Two or more banks or trust companies may consolidate if consolidation is approved by a majority of the outstanding shares and by the Department. Any bank or trust company may sell, lease, exchange or otherwise dispose of all its assets if such disposal is approved by two-thirds of the outstanding shares and by the Department. In either event dissenting stockholders are entitled to receive the value of their shares.

Voluntary Dissolution of a bank or trust company must have approval of a majority of the directors and of the Department. In such case, the directors, with approval of the Department, appoint a liquidating agent, who winds up the affairs of the corporation under supervision of the Department.

Insolvency or Suspension. If any financial institution is insolvent, or in imminent danger of insolvency, or falls or suspends operation, the officers of such institution must notify the Department. The Department may take charge of the business of any financial institution, except a small loan company, when such institution: (a) Has violated its articles, law of State or regulation of Department; (b) is conducting its business in unauthorized or unsafe manner; (c) is in unound or unsafe condition; (d) cannot with safety continue business; (e) has an impairment of capital; (f) has suspended payment of obligations; (g) has failed for thirty days to comply with order of Department essential to preserve solvency; (h) has refused to submit its records to Department; (i) has refused to be examined under oath regarding its affairs; or (j) is insolvent or in imminent danger of insolvency.

When possession of the Department has once attached for any of the foregoing reasons it does not terminate until liquidation unless: (a) The Department approves resumption of business on conditions approved by it or with restricted deposits after consent by 75% of the unsecured creditors and depositors or two-thirds of stockholders; or (b) such institution, by proceedings instituted within five days after the Department takes possession, enjoins such possession; or (c) the institution has undertaken voluntary liquidation.

When the Department takes charge of any such institution it must liquidate and distribute the assets of such institution. The circuit, superior or probate court of the county to which the Department must make application has certain powers with reference to liquidation, allowance of claims and priorities, etc. The Department is vested with power to affirm or disaffirm leases and to enforce the shareholders' liability. After liquidation proceedings are complete, the Department must file articles of dissolution of the institution.

Institutions Other Than Banks or Trust Companies. The Financial Institutions Act contains detailed provisions with respect to the formation, management, etc., of various financial institutions other than banks and trust companies, such as building and loan associations, credit unions, etc.

Foreign Corporations. A bank, trust company, or building and loan association organized under the laws of any other state, before transacting business in this state, must procure a certificate of admission from the Department and the Secretary of State. Before such certificate of admission is granted, such corporation must deposit $100,000 in money or bonds of the United States or of any state of the United States or of any municipal corporation of Indiana to the satisfaction of the Department, with the Department, or in lieu thereof, file a written contract or bond executed by a responsible surety company to the approval of the Department, by the terms of which such surety company agrees that on notice by registered mail from the Department, it will pay indebtedness to citizens of Indiana up to $100,000. Such foreign corporation must also file with the Department a written instrument agreeing that summons may issue against it from any county in the state by service on the Director of the Department.

No foreign corporation may be admitted for the purpose of transacting any kind of business in this state which a domestic corporation is not permitted by the laws of the state to transact, nor may any such corporation hold any real estate in this state, except such as may be necessary for the proper carrying on of its legitimate business.

No foreign corporation admitted to do business in this state may have a name which a domestic corporation with like powers could not have.

The application submitted to the Department and the Secretary of State must contain a copy of the articles of incorporation, and must state the name, principal place of business, states in which it is admitted or qualified to do business, character of business, authorized capital stock and amount thereof outstanding, amount of tangible property and estimated total of tangible property to be employed during current fiscal year and succeeding year, names of directors and officers and resident agent of corporation. The application must be approved or disapproved by the Department in like manner as in the case of domestic banks and trust companies. In case of approval, the application is filed by the Secretary of State and a certificate of admission issued. Within ten days after admission of the corporation, there must be filed with county recorder of county wherein principal office is to be located, a duplicate certificate of admission.

If any foreign corporation transacts business in this state, after it has received, but before it has recorded its certificate of admission, the officers and directors participating therein are severally liable for the debts of the corporation arising out of such business. The Department has power at any time to interrogate the corporation in matters pertaining to its business.

Application for withdrawal from the state by any corporation must be filed with and approved by the Department.

The certificate of admission or any foreign corporation may be revoked at any time by the Department or by the Secretary of State with approval of the Department: (a) On failure of officer or director to answer interrogatories of Department; (b) on failure to file reports; (c) on failure to maintain a resident agent; (d) on failure to keep authenticated copies of instruments amending charter of corporation on file with Secretary of State; (e) on failure to file certificate of admission or amendments thereof with county recorder; (f) if corporation has not transacted business in state for a year and has no tangible property in the state; (g) on failure to pay fees required; (h) for willful misrepresentation of material matters in application, affidavits, or other papers.

Foreign corporations entitled to transact business in the state when the Financial Institutions Act became effective are subject to the limitations of the act.

Corporation failing to maintain an agent for service of process may be served by issuing summons to the Director of the Department.

Foreign corporation transacting business without procuring a certificate of admission may not maintain any suit or action in any courts of the state and such corporation is subject to a penalty not exceeding $10,000 to be recovered in a suit brought by the Attorney General.

Taxes on bank shares, surplus, undivided profits and deposits and on building and loan associations, see Taxation.

Fiduciaries. "Fiduciary" includes a trustee under any trust, expressed, implied, resulting or constructive, executor, administrator, guardian, conservator, curator, receiver, trustee in bankruptcy, assignee for the benefit of creditors, partner, agent, officer of a corporation, public or private, public officer, or any other person acting in a fiduciary capacity for any person, trust or estate.

"Person" includes a corporation, partnership, or other association, or two or more persons having a joint or common interest.

"Principal" includes any person to whom a fiduciary as such owes an obligation.

If a fiduciary in whose name are registered any shares of stock, bonds or other securities of any corporation, public or private, or company or other association, or of any trust, transfers the same, such corporation or company or other association, or any of the managers of the trust, or its or their transfer agent, is not bound to Inquire whether the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in making the transfer, or to see to the performance of the fiduciary obligation, and is liable for registering such transfer only where registration of the transfer is made with actual knowledge that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in making the transfer, or with knowledge of such facts that the action in registering the transfer amounts to bad faith.

If any negotiable instrument payable or endorsed to a fiduciary as such is endorsed by the fiduciary, or if any negotiable instrument payable or endorsed to his principal is endorsed by a fiduciary empowered to endorse such instrument on behalf of his principal, the endorsee is not bound to inquire whether the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in endorsing or delivering the instrument, and is not chargeable with notice that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary or with knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounts to bad faith. If, however, such instrument is transferred by the fiduciary in payment of or as security for a personal debt of the fiduciary to the actual knowledge of the creditor, or is transferred in any transaction known by the transferee to be for the personal benefit of the fiduciary, the creditor or other transferee is liable to the principal if the fiduciary in fact commits a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in transferring the instrument.

If a check or other bill of exchange is drawn by a fiduciary as such, or in the name of his principal by a fiduciary empowered to draw such instrument in the name of the principal, the payee is not bound to inquire whether the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation in drawing or delivering the instrument, and is not chargeable with notice that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation unless he takes the instrument with actual knowledge of such breach or with knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounts to bad faith. If, however, such instrument is payable to a personal creditor of the fiduciary and delivered to the creditor in payment of or as security for a personal debt of the fiduciary, to the actual knowledge of the creditor, or is drawn and delivered in any transaction known by the payee to be for the personal benefit of the fiduciary, the creditor or other payee is liable to the principal if the fiduciary in fact commits a breach of his obligation in drawing or delivering the instrument.

If a check or other bill of exchange is drawn by a fiduciary as such, or in the name of his principal by a fiduciary empowered to draw such instrument in the name of his principal, payable to the fiduciary personally, or payable to a third person and by him transferred to the fiduciary, and is thereafter transferred by the fiduciary, whether in payment of a personal debt of the fiduciary or otherwise, the transferee is not bound to inquire whether the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation in transferring the instrument, and is not chargeable with notice that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation, unless he takes the instrument with actual knowledge of such breach or with knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounts to bad faith.

If a deposit is made in a bank to the credit of a fiduciary as such, the bank is authorized to pay the amount of the deposit or any part thereof upon the check of the fiduciary, signed with the name in which such deposit is entered, without being liable to the principal, unless the bank pays the check with the actual knowledge that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation in drawing the check or with knowledge of such facts that his action in paying the check amounts to bad faith. If, however, such check is payable to the drawee bank and is delivered to it in payment of or as security for a personal debt of the fiduciary to it, the bank is liable to the principal if the fiduciary in fact commits a breach of his obligation in drawing or delivering the check.

If a check is drawn upon the account of his principal in a bank by a fiduciary who is empowered to draw checks upon his principal's account, the bank is authorized to pay such check without being liable to the principal, unless the bank pays the check with actual knowledge that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation in drawing such check, or with knowledge of such facts that its action in paying the check amounts to bad faith. If, however, such a check is payable to the drawee bank and is delivered to it in payment of or as security for a personal debt of the fiduciary to it, the bank is liable to the principal if the fiduciary in fact commits a breach of his obligation in drawing or delivering the check.

If a fiduciary makes a deposit in a bank to his personal credit of checks drawn by him upon an account in his own name as fiduciary, or of checks payable to him as fiduciary, or of checks drawn by him upon an account in the name of his principal if he is empowered to draw checks thereon, or of checks payable to his principal and endorsed by him, if he is empowered to endorse such checks, or if he otherwise makes a deposit of funds held by him as fiduciary, the bank receiving such deposit is not bound to inquire whether the fiduciary is committing thereby a breach of his obligation; and the bank is authorized to pay the amount of the deposit or any part thereof upon the personal check of the fiduciary without being liable to the principal, unless the bank receives the deposit or pays the check with actual knowledge that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation in making such deposit or in drawing such check, or with knowledge of such facts that its action in receiving the deposit or paying the check amounts to bad faith.

When a deposit is made in a bank in the name of two or more persons as trustees and a check is drawn upon the trust account by any trustee or trustees authorized by the other trustee or trustees to draw checks upon the trust account, neither the payee nor other holder nor the bank is bound to inquire whether it is a breach of trust to authorize such trustee or trustees to draw checks upon the trust account, and is not liable unless the circumstances be such that the action of the payee or other holder or the bank amounts to bad faith.

In any case not provided for in this act, the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant and the rules of law and equity relating to trusts, agents, negotiable instruments and banking, shall continue to apply. (Acts Feb. 23, 1927, effective May 16, 1927, Uniform Fiduciaries Act.)

Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes. No grace is allowed. Damages for protest on bills upon any person at any place out of this State, but within the United States, 5 per cent on bills drawn upon any person at any place without the United States, 10 per cent. It is a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment to possess a cognovit note. (See Negotiable Instruments.)

Cognovit Notes. The execution, indorsement and procurement of such notes, and the taking of judgment thereon otherwise than by action of court upon a hearing after personal service upon the debtor, are prohibited. (Act March 10, 1927, effective May 16, 1927.)

"Fraud" and "fraudulent" include any misrepresentations of a relevant fact which are intentional or due to gross negligence; any promise as to future not made in good faith; intentional failure to disclose a material fact.

S., or any security issued or guaranteed by any National, or State, or Federal Reserve Bank.

(b) Any securities issued or guaranteed either as to principal, interest or dividend by a corporation owning or operating a railroad or any other public service utility; Provided, that such corporation is subject to regulation or supervision as to the issue of its own securities by a public commission of the U. The transfer or exchange by one corporation to another of their own securities in connection with a consolidation or merger of such corporations.

No securities except those exempted shall be sold or resold within this state unless and until such securities shall have been registered by notification or by qualification.

Securities entitled to registration by notification shall be registered by the filing by any registered dealer interested in the sale thereof in the office of the Commission of a written statement containing the following:

Name of issuer and name of state under which it is organized.

Brief description of the securities including the amount of the issue.

Amount of securities to be offered in the state.

Brief statement of the facts which show that the securities fall within one of the notification classes.

The price at which the securities are to be offered for sale and numerous other specific regulations.

The filing of such statement in the office of the Commission and the payment of the fee shall constitute registration of such security, and such security when so registered may be sold in this state by any registered dealer.

Applicants for registration shall pay to the Commission a fee of one-twentieth of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the securities to be sold in this state, but in no case shall such fee be less than $25.00.

Applications shall be in writing and sworn to upon prescribed forms. The applicant shall pay to the Commission a fee of one-twentieth of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the securities to be sold, but in no case shall such fee be less than $25.00.

Upon application for registration by qualification, whether made by an issuer or registered dealer, where the issuer is not domiciled in this state, there shall be filed with such application the irrevocable written consent of the issuer that suits and actions growing out of the violation of any provision or provisions of this Act may be commenced against it in the proper court, said consent agreeing that such service of process upon the Secretary of State shall be taken as valid and binding as if due service had been made.

The Commission may revoke the registration of any securities upon cause, and the Commission shall have access to and may compel the production of all the books and papers of such issuer.

No dealer or agent shall engage in the business of selling securities until he has been registered. Provided that partners of a partnership and officers of a corporation registered as a dealer shall not be required to register as agents.

The fees shall be $75.00 in the case of dealers and $5.00 in the case of agents.

Registration may be refused such applicant or registrant upon cause.

Nothing in this Act shall be construed to relieve corporation from making reports now or hereafter required by law to be made to the Secretary of State or any other state officer, or paying the fees now or hereafter to be paid by corporations.

This Act shall not be construed to repeal any law now in force regulating the organization of corporations or the admission of any foreign corporations.

An appeal may be taken by any person interested from any final order of the Commission to the Marion Circuit Court by serving upon the Commission within twenty days from the entry of such order a written notice of such appeal, and executing a bond in the penal sum of $500.00.

The Act approved July 26, 1920, and amended March 9, 1921, provides various penalties for violation of the various sections ranging from a fine of $500 to a fine of $2,000 or imprisonment up to 5 years.

Chattel Mortgages. The lien of a chattel mortgage that has been filed is superior to other forms of liens, allows for sale of mortgaged property if funds applied in payment of debt. Invalid after 3 years unless extended. Removal of property from county does not extinguish lien. (For new act see Chattel Mortgage Act of 1935, c 147.) For certain restrictions on the lending of money on mortgage of household goods, see statutes. Conveyances as security by way of Trust Receipt are regulated by the Uniform Trust Receipts Act (Acts 1935 c. 206). Conditional Sales are regulated by the Uniform Conditional Sale Act (Acts 1935, c. 182) and by the Uniform Retail Installment Sale Act (Acts 1935, c. 231).

Conveyances. All conveyances, mortgages or leases for more than three years shall be recorded and take priority according to time of filing as against good faith purchaser, lessee or mortgagee. Lands in this State may be taken, held, conveyed, devised, or by or from any alien (see Aliens), with some provided exceptions as to descent or devise. Lands which may have come by descent or purchase to the wife of an alien, may be held, conveyed, devised and passed by descent by and from her, notwithstanding the fact of her residence with her husband in a foreign state or country.

Except bona-fide leases for a term not exceeding three years, conveyance of lands, or of any interest therein, must be by deed, subscribed, and acknowledged by the grantor or by his attorney in fact. The joint deed of a husband and wife is sufficient to pass the lands of the wife. Except in cases of mortgages, conveyances in trust, conveyances to husband and wife, and cases of estates vested in executors or trustees, as such, and so held by them in joint tenancy, all conveyances and devises of lands, or of any interest therein, made to two or more persons, shall be construed to create estates in common, and not in joint tenancy, unless it shall be expressed therein that the grantee or devisees shall hold the same in joint tenancy and to the survivor of them, or it shall manifestly appear from tenor of instrument, that it was intended to create an estate in joint tenancy. A deed of release or quit-claim shall pass all the estate which the grantor could convey by a deed of bargain and sale. If it be the intention of the grantor to convey any lesser estate it must be so expressed in the deed. Liability on lineal and collateral warranties is expressly abolished; a covenant or agreement of any person leaves heirs and devisees answerable thereon only to the extent of property descended or devised to them. Any conveyance of land worded—"A. B. conveys and warrants to C. D. (here describe the premises) for the sum of (here insert the consideration)," or "A. B. quit-claims to C. D. (here describe the premises) for the sum of (here insert the consideration),"—the same being dated, and duly signed and acknowledged by the grantor,—shall, in the one case, be a conveyance in fee simple to the grantee, his heirs and assigns, with covenant from the grantor for himself and his heirs and personal representatives that he is lawfully seized of the premises, has good right to convey the same, and guarantees the quiet possession thereof, that the same are free from all incumbrances, and that he will warrant and defend the title of the same against all lawful claims; and shall, in the other case, be deemed to be a good and sufficient conveyance in quit-claim to the grantee, his heirs and assigns. Any mortgage of lands worded—"A. B. mortgages and warrants to C. D. (here describe the premises) to secure the repayment of (here recite the sum for which the mortgage is granted or the note or other evidences of debt, or a description thereof, sought to be secured, also the date of the repayment)"—the same being dated and duly signed and acknowledged by the grantor—is a sufficient mortgage to the grantee, his heirs, assigns, executors and administrators, with warranty from the grantor and his legal representatives of title perfect and unincumbered in the grantor. When a deed purports to convey absolutely any estate in lands, but is made, or intended to be made, defeasible by force of a deed of defeasance, bond or other instrument for that purpose, the original conveyance shall not thereby be defeated or affected as against any person other than the maker of the defeasance, or his heirs or devisees, or persons having actual notice thereof, unless the instrument of defeasance shall have been recorded, according to law, within ninety days after the date of said deed. Every conveyance or mortgage of lands, or of any interest therein, and every lease for more than three years, shall be deemed fraudulent and void as against any subsequent purchaser, leasee or mortgagee in good faith and for a valuable consideration, unless recorded in the recorder's office of the county where such lands are situated. (See Acknowledgments, Married Women.)

When either the husband or wife is of unsound mind the party with the sound mind can either join in the guardian's deed or make his separate deed and the effect would be the same as a joint deed of husband and wife both of whom are of sound mind.

Collections. Uniform Bank Collection Code as recommended by American Bankers Association, see complete text back of Laws.

Corporations. Three or more persons may form a corporation for any lawful purpose by filing articles of association with the Secretary of State and the Recorder of the County. Special charters are necessary for banks, building and loan associations, insurance, security, railroad, telegraph, telephone, turn-pike company, etc. The liability of stockholders varies. In banking corporations the stockholder is responsible not only for his original subscription, but for an amount equal thereto. In all other corporations he is liable for the subscription price of his stock.

A corporation act was passed by the legislature in 1929, which gives great liberality. A corporation may change its powers, increase or decrease its capital stock, change the par value of any class or classes of shares of its capital stock with par value, change the number of its outstanding shares of any class of stock into different numbers of shares of said class, increase its Board of Directors, fill vacancies therein, hold its meetings within or without the state, transfer its stock free of taxes and must report but once each year to the Secretary of State. This report is merely a formal one giving amounts of stock outstanding, list of officers, etc. The corporation is assessed for local taxes upon the value of its holdings within the State of Indiana and only upon such holdings.

Foreign corporations, or their agents, before entering upon the duties of their agency in this State shall deposit in the Clerk's office of the County where they propose doing business the power of attorney and appointment under which they act. They shall also file with the Secretary of State an application to do business in the State of Indiana, naming a resident agent thereon. Foreign Corporations must pay a fee of $10 if proportion of its stock represented in Indiana is less than 1,000 shares and one cent a share if in excess of 1,000. They also agree that the secretary is authorized to accept service of process in any suit against them.

Courts and Jurisdiction. Circuit Courts in all counties, original general jurisdiction in all civil causes, original general jurisdiction in all criminal causes, except in the counties of Lake and Marion in which there are criminal courts, probate jurisdiction in most counties, probate exclusive and concurrent jurisdiction in civil matters, also appellate jurisdiction in appeals from Justices of Peace, Mayors of cities and Board of County Commissioners. Superior Courts are established in many counties with original concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit courts in all causes except slander and libel, criminal causes, probate matters and concurrent appellate jurisdiction with circuit courts. Justices of the Peace in all townships, jurisdiction in civil actions for $200.00 or less, in the township, also jurisdiction in petty criminal causes. Party may confess judgment in Justice's court for $300.00. In actions on written obligations for money of more than one party Justice has jurisdiction in township where either party resides and may issue process to any county in the state for other parties. Supreme Court is highest appellate court and has no original jurisdiction except in a few specified cases. Appellate Court has final appellate jurisdiction in many cases, no original jurisdiction. In some specified classes of cases defeated party may have cause transferred to Supreme Court. Both Supreme and Appellate Courts sit only in Indianapolis. Municipal Court, Marion County (Indianapolis), four judges. Original jurisdiction concurrent with Superior and Circuit Courts in all civil cases founded on contract or tort in which debt or damage or value of property sought to be removed does not exceed $500. Jurisdiction irrespective of value of property in possessory actions between landlord and tenant. Criminal jurisdiction as is now vested in city courts in cities of first class. Jurisdiction in cases involving violation of ordinances of cities and towns or other municipalities.

Courts of record within their respective jurisdictions shall have power to declare rights, status, and other legal relations whether or not further relief is or could be claimed.

Any person interested under a deed, will, written contract or other writings constituting a contract, or whose rights, status or other legal relations are affected by a statute, municipal ordinance, contract or franchise, may have determined any question of construction or validity arising under the instrument, statute, ordinance, contract, or franchise and obtain a declaration of rights, status or other legal relations thereunder.

A contract may be construed either before or after there has been a breach thereof.

Any person interested as or through an executor, administrator, trustee, guardian or other fiduciary, creditor, devisee, legatee, heir, next of kin, or cestui que trust, in the administration of a trust, or of the estate of a decedent, infant, lunatic, or insolvent, may have a declaration of rights or legal relations in respect thereto.

The court may refuse to render or enter a declaratory judgment or decree where such judgment or decree, if rendered or entered, would not terminate the uncertainty or controversy giving rise to the proceeding.

All orders, judgments and decrees under this act may be reviewed as other orders, judgments and decrees. (Act March 5, 1927, in effect May 16, 1927.)

Days of Grace are no longer recognized.

Depositions. Depositions may be taken anywhere in the United States without a commission, before any judge, justice of the peace, notary public, mayor, or recorder of a city, clerk of a court of record, or commissioner appointed by the court to take depositions. Person taking deposition must not be of kin to either party or interested in the action. When taken outside of the United States they shall be taken pursuant to an order of the court, under a commission, with such reasonable notice of the time and place of taking the same as the court shall require, and they shall be certified and returned by the commissioner in such manner as the court shall direct. Notice of the taking of the deposition should be served upon the adverse party or his attorney, specifying the cause, the court or tribunal of trial, the time and place of taking, and the names of the witnesses. Reasonable time shall be allowed for the attorney so served to communicate with the client, and for travel to the place of taking, excluding the day of service, of the taking and intervening Sundays. The deponent shall be first sworn according to law. He shall then be examined by the party producing him, and then by the adverse party, and then by the officer, if he see cause. The deposition shall be written down by the officer, by the deponent, or by some disinterested person, in the presence and under the direction of the officer, and after the same has been carefully read shall be subscribed by deponent. The following facts shall be stated in a certificate to be annexed by the officer: 1. That the deponent was sworn according to law. 2. By whom the deposition was written, and if written by deponent or some disinterested person, that it was written in the presence and under the direction of the officer. 3. Whether the adverse party attended. 4. The time and place of taking, and the officer shall sign and attest the certificate, and seal the same, if he have a seal of office. If he have no seal, his certificate shall be authenticated by the certificate and seal of the clerk or prothonotary or any court of record of the county in which the deposition was taken, and then by the officer taking the deposition, who shall seal the same in a sufficient envelope and himself, post, or express, or deliver the same to the clerk, of the court in which the action is pending, endorsing on the envelope the names of the parties and of the court and of the witnesses whose depositions are enclosed. Adjournments may be had from day to day after the deposition has been begun, and for longer periods, upon written consent of the parties, which written consent must be attached to the deposition. Adjournments should be noted at the place in the deposition when they occur. A narrative form may be used. A witness identifying a written instrument should attach it to his deposition, making it a part of his answer.

Descent. The real and personal property of any intestate shall descend to his or her children equally; and posthumous children inherit equally with those born before the death of the ancestor. Children of deceased children take the share which would have descended to the father or mother; and grandchildren, and more remote descendants, and other relatives, lineal and collateral, inherit by the same rule, excepting that if the heirs are all grandchildren they inherit equally. Where there are no heirs as aforesaid, one-half of the estate goes to the father and mother as joint tenants, or to the survivor, and the other half to the brothers and sisters, and to the descendants of such as are dead, as tenants in common. If there be neither father nor mother, the brothers and sisters, and the other descendants, take the estate as tenants in common; or, per contra, the father and mother as joint tenants of the survivor. Kindred of the half-blood inherit equally with those of the whole-blood in property purchased by the ancestor; otherwise, as to property acquired by gift, devise, or descent. Illegitimate children inherit from the mother same as if they were legitimate, and vice versa. Tenancy by the curtesy and dower are abolished, and widows take one-third of the real estate in fee simple, unless the property is worth over $10,000, in which case, as against creditors, she takes one-fourth only; and where the real estate is worth over $20,000, one-fifth only as against creditors, but as against other heirs she takes one-third in fee simple, regardless of value, except where there is but one child, in which case each inherits one-half. A second or subsequent wife, however, takes only a life estate in her husband's lands, if there be a child or children by a previous marriage, and none by such widow. Other special provisions of the statute are too extensive to set out. The estate of a person dying intestate without kindred capable of inheriting will escheat to the State for the support of the common schools. When there is no evidence but that tenants by entirety died simultaneously, property so held is distributed one-half as if one had survived and the other half as if the other had survived; property of joint tenants are similarly distributed in like situations according to their respective interests.

Dower. (See Married Women.)

Executions may issue at any time within ten years after judgment and are returnable in 180 days. From a court of record may issue to any county in the State. Are a lien on personal property within the county from the time they are placed in hands of officer. The liens upon personal property attach in the order in which the officer receives them. When levy is upon real estate the dates of the judgment control the right to participate in the proceeds, and they must be applied according to their priority. Personal property taken in execution may be left with execution defendant by the giving to the officer of a delivery bond with sufficient surety; debtor may, by giving sufficient freehold sureties, have a stay of execution on any sum exceeding $100, for six months. Where the sum is less than $100, the stay is not so long, varying with amount of judgment. Lands sold under execution may be redeemed within one year by the owner, mortgagee or person having a lien thereon, the owner retaining possession during the redemption year and being liable for reasonable rents and profits in case of failure to redeem.

Exemptions. Personal property up to $600 and real property up to $700, nor in any event more than $1000 in both personal and real property is exempt in suits on contract where debtor is a resident householder. Resident householder is entitled to exemption as well when in transit with his family and property as when permanently settled. The debtor must file a schedule of all of his property, and select the property claimed, which is then appraised. Contract waiving exemption is void. Pension money in transit to pensioner is exempt, but when received by him and invested in other property is no more so than any other property. One month's wages also exempt if the debtor is still employed. No exemption of mechanics liens or purchase-money liens.

Fraud. Assignments, in writing or otherwise, of any property made or suffered with intent to hinder, or defraud are void as to the persons defrauded. The question of fraudulent intent is a question of fact.

Frauds—Statute of. The following contracts, if enforceable in court, must be in writing and signed by the party to be charged: 1. To charge an executor or administrator, upon any special promise, to answer damages out of his own estate. 2. To charge any person, upon any special promise, to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another. 3. To charge any person, upon any agreement or promise, made in consideration of marriage. 4. Upon any contract for the sale of land (except loan not exceeding the term of three years). 5. Upon any agreement not to be performed within one year from the making thereof. 6. Sale of goods exceeding $500 in value, unless part payment or part delivery be made. 7. Upon any representation made concerning the character, conduct, credit, ability, trade or dealings of any other person.

Garnishment. If at the time an order of attachment issues, or at any time before or afterwards, the plaintiff, or other person in his behalf, shall file with the clerk an affidavit that he has good reason to believe that any person named has property of the defendant in his possession or under his control, which the sheriff cannot attach by virtue of such order; or that he is indebted to the defendant, or has control or agency of any money, property, credits or effects; or that defendant has any shares or interest in the stock of any association or corporation, the clerk shall issue a summons to such person, corporation, or association, to appear and answer as garnishee in the action. From the service of summons the garnishee is accountable to plaintiff for the money, property, etc., in his hands, or due to defendant. If the summons issues before attachment, the affidavit must show some one of the causes authorizing attachment. The garnishee is required to furnish the sheriff, within five days after service, a certificate of the property, etc., of defendant in his hands or due to him, to be returned with the summons. If he fails or refuses the court may require him to appear and be examined under oath, or proceed against him on default to judgment. If it appear by affidavit that a garnishee is about to abscond before judgment can be had, an order of arrest may issue and he be held to special bail. Return of "No property found" on an order of attachment does not affect the proceedings against the garnishee. He may, before judgment against the defendant, by delivery of all the defendant's property in his possession to the sheriff, or payment of all money due him to the sheriff, or into court, discharge himself from the suit without costs, and from all liability to the defendant or the money or property so paid or delivered, not exceeding the plaintiff's claim.

Clerks of the circuit courts, sheriffs, justices of the peace, constables and all other officers who may collect money by virtue of their office, executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, are subject to garnishment as other persons.

The wages of all householders in the employ of any person or corporation are exempt from garnishment and proceedings supplemental to execution, in the hands of the employer, so long as the employee remains in such employment, not exceeding twenty-five dollars at any one time, and the employee is allowed no other exemption as against garnishment. (Burns' Ann. S. 1933, §§3-505.) Applies to householders in other jurisdictions. Resident householders still have six hundred dollars exemption. (Pomeroy v. Beach, 143 Ind. 511.) See also 15, 47, 50, 71, 114.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); Good Friday; May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; December 25 (Christmas Day); and any election day. When any holiday (other than Sunday) comes on Sunday the Monday next succeeding shall be the legal holiday; Saturday afternoon is a legal half-holiday in all cities over 35,000 in population. Every Saturday after 12 o'clock noon shall be a legal half-holiday for banks and trust companies. The validity of transactions by a bank, otherwise legal, are not affected if performed on a legal holiday. However, banks may at their option open any legal holiday.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Inheritance Tax. (See Taxes.)

Interest. The legal rate is 6 per cent, but interest may be taken in advance. No agreement to pay a higher rate is valid unless the same be in writing, and in such case it is not lawful to contract for more than 8 per cent. When a greater rate is contracted for, the contract is void as to all interest in excess of 6 per cent, is usurious and illegal, and the excess may be recovered by the debtor whenever it has been reserved or paid before the bringing of the suit. Interest on judgments runs from the date of the verdict or finding, at the rate specified in the original contract, not exceeding 8 per cent, and if no contract has been made 6 per cent is allowed.

Judgments of courts of record are a lien upon all real estate of defendant within the county for ten years. Judgment may be obtained at the first term of the court, after process has been served on debtor ten days prior to the first day thereof. Judgment in justice court becomes a lien on real estate of judgment defendant; run time of filing a transcript in office of the clerk of circuit court. A certified copy of any judgment rendered by the District Court of the United States for district of Indiana may be filed with the county clerk.

Liens. Liens are granted by statute to attorneys; to persons holding claims against watercraft on account of supplies furnished or work done; also for demands for damages arising out of freight contracts, or for willfulness or negligence of the master, owner, or agent or out of any contract relating to transportation, and for injuries to persons or property; also to employees of any corporation as against any of its corporate property, or earnings for labor done; also to keepers of livery stables and all persons engaged in feeding stock, for the feed and care bestowed upon the same, also to blacksmiths; also to contractors, sub-contractors, mechanics, journeymen, laborers, and all persons performing labor or furnishing material or machinery for erecting, laboring, repairing or removing any house, mill, manufactory or other building, bridge, reservoir, system of water-works, or other structure, known as a mechanic's lien; also to bailees and tradesmen for their valid and reasonable charges in the construction, repair, or alteration of any article of value; also to the bailee or keeper of personal property for any feed or care bestowed by him upon such property; special lien for storage or repair of motor vehicles; also to forwarding and commission merchants on goods which may have remained in store for one year or more; also to all persons, firms and corporations engaged in the business of storing, warehousing and forwarding, goods remaining in possession of such person, firm or corporation for more than six months may be sold at public auction to pay amount of lien; also to landlords upon crops. Persons storing, furnishing supplies or repairing a motor vehicle or garage owners have lien on motor vehicle which can be foreclosed within one year from failure of owner to pay charges. Judgments rendered in any county in the State are a lien upon the real estate situated in such county for a period of ten years from the rendition thereof and judgments rendered in the federal courts are a lien upon any real estate in the State for the same period. Provision is made by statute, however, for the filing in the county where the real estate is situated of a transcript of any judgment rendered in the United States courts. The office of the clerk of the circuit court in each county contains a public record known as the lis pendens record, in which notice of the filing of complaints to enforce liens are required to be recorded, and also in cases where real estate is seized by attachment or execution. Unless so recorded the bringing suits does not operate as a constructive notice.

Limitations to Suits. Actions for injury to person and character, and for statutory penalty or forfeiture, two years; against public officers relating to their official duties, and on public improvement assessments, five years; open accounts and contracts not in writing, for use, rents and profits of real estate, injuries to and detention of property, recovery of personal property and relief against frauds, six years; upon promissory notes, bills of exchange and other written contracts for payment of money, ten years; actions not limited by statute, fifteen years; other written contracts, judgments of courts of record and real actions, twenty years. Persons under a legal disability may sue 2 years after disability removed. Revivor: part payment or new promise in writing. Except in favor of sureties, the statute of limitations does not run against the State.

Married Women control their real and personal property. The husband is liable for the wife's debts contracted before marriage to the extent of the personal property he may receive from her, and no further, and her lands are liable for such indebtedness. A married woman may devise her separate estate; may sell and transfer her separate personal property; carry on any business, labor, or service, and receive the earnings accruing therefrom; enter into any contract in regard to her separate personal estate business, labor, or service, and her separate estate, real and personal, be liable therefor, the same as a femme sole; and her husband is not liable for such debts, nor for indebtedness created by the wife for improvement of her separate real estate. She can make leases of real estate for terms of three years or less, and execute mortgages to secure purchase money, without husband joining. She is bound by covenants of title in conveyances of her separate real estate. Her deed conveying her real estate, her husband not joining, is absolutely void. She may sue as a femme sole for any damage to her person or character. She is bound in like manner as principal on her official bond. Disability as to suretyship has been abolished, therefore, in making loans to married women it is not necessary for her to make an affidavit that the money used is for her own benefit. She is entitled to hold as exempt from execution in any suit on contract personal property to the amount of $600 and real property to the amount of $700. A widow takes one-third of her deceased husband's real estate in fee, and free from all demands of creditors where the estate does not exceed $10,000; one-fourth, if under $20,000, and one-fifth, if above that amount. She also takes a child's interest in the personality where the number of children does not exceed two, and where there are more than two, her interest shall not be less than one-third of the whole of personality after payment of debts, and in all cases takes $500 without accounting, and may occupy the dwelling of forty acres of her husband's land for a year, rent free. But the one-third of her real estate which the widow takes in fee, can not, upon her marrying again, be effectively conveyed or mortgaged by her, if there be a minor child or children, or their descendants, alive by the previous marriage. Real estate which husband and wife hold by title made to them as husband and wife, is held as an estate by entirety; it cannot be taken for the debt of either; is not subject to the lien of a judgment against either, except in case of the death of either or upon divorce granted, when the estate is destroyed and becomes subject to levy and sale; and a mortgage thereof by them both for a debt of the husband has no legal validity.

Mortgages. (See Conveyances.)

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted 1913. (See complete text of the law following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Power of Attorney must be executed and acknowledged, and (if for the conveyance of real estate, or to affect real estate) recorded, in the same manner that deeds are made.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates.)

Protest. The statutory damages on such protest are 5 per cent on the principal of a bill of exchange, if drawn or negotiated within this State, upon any person, at any place out of this State, but within the United States, and 10 per cent if upon any person, at any place without the United States.

Replevin. When any personal property is wrongfully taken or unlawfully detained, or, if taken on execution or attachment, is claimed by a third party, the owner or claimant may bring an action for possession thereof. He may claim immediate delivery upon affidavit therefor, whereupon the sheriff takes possession of the property, and if delivery bond is given on behalf of the defendant within twenty-four hours, the property is returned to him, otherwise the plaintiff may give bond and take the property; failing to do so it is returned to the defendant. The plaintiff has twenty-four hours in which to file bond. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction in replevin suits involving property worth $200 or less. Procedure is same before justice of the peace, except that the plaintiff must file bond in all such cases. Replevin may also be had without bond, by allowing defendant to retain possession of property pending suit.

Sales. Uniform Sales Act adopted by Acts of 1929.

Suits. (See Actions.)

Taxes. The general tax law of Indiana was revised and codified by the acts of 1919, p. 198. Personal property is listed for taxation between the first day of March and the 15th day of May of each year, with reference to the quantity held or owned on the first day of March in the year for which the property is required to be listed. Realty is listed and assessed by the township assessor. Assessment lists of personal property are filed with the township assessor. From the assessment of the township assessor, an appeal may be taken to the county assessor and the county board of review. An appeal lies from the county board to the State Tax Board. Thereafter illegal taxes will be enjoined by the courts in accordance with the usual rules of law.

Valuation. All property must be assessed and valued for taxation purposes at the true cash value thereof. (64-103.)

Liens. Taxes attach as a lien on real estate on March 1 each year. The lien is perpetual and is not divested by any sale or transfer. The first half of taxes becomes delinquent if not paid on the first Monday in May of the succeeding year, and the second half on the first Monday of November following. (64-2001, 2008.)

Sales. If not paid by the first Monday of February following, the property, or so much thereof as may be necessary, will be sold for the payment of taxes and penalty. Sales of real estate for taxes are made on the second Monday in February, annually. (64-2201, 2211.)

Redemption. The property may be redeemed within 6 months by payment of the amount bid at the sale, with 10 per cent penalty; if redeemed after 6 months and within 12 months, the penalty is 15 per cent; after 12 months and within 2 years, 25 per cent; at the expiration of which time the purchaser is entitled to a deed, and no redemption may thereafter be made. But infants and insane persons may redeem within 2 years after removal of their disability. A tax deed may be set aside if any substantial provision of the law has not been complied with, and redemptions are generally favored by the courts, even after a deed has issued. (64-2301, 2314.)

Intangibles. Intangible personal property is taxed by means of a stamp tax (Acts 1933, c. 81, as Amended Acts 1935, c. 294).

Exemptions. The property of the U. S. and of this state, and the property of any county, city, town or township is exempt from taxation. Generally, and under certain conditions, the following property is exempt from taxation: property used for educational, literary, scientific, religious, fraternal, benevolent, or charitable purposes, battle grounds, and other historic sites and public libraries. Cemeteries incorporated under the law of this state, not for pecuniary profit, and certain funds for the state militia and every soldier and sailor in the service of the U. S. are exempt from paying poll or road tax.

All bonds and other evidences of indebtedness hereafter issued by or in the name of any municipality or other political or civil subdivision of this state, or by or in the name of any taxing district in this state, for the purpose of paying the cost of improvement or maintenance of streets, highways, etc., and other improvements of public benefit, and which bonds, or other evidence of indebtedness are payable from special assessments or special taxes, are exempt from taxation. (64-201.)

Income Tax. A tax is imposed on the gross income of all residents of Indiana or persons domiciled here and on all income arising from a business conducted on property located in Indiana (Acts 1937, c. 117).

Inheritance Tax. (1931, c. 75.) Tax is imposed subject to conditions and limitations, on all transfers in trust or otherwise of the following property or interests therein or income therefrom: When transfer is from a resident of state, real property situated in state, all tangible personal property except such as has an actual situs without state and all intangible personal property wherever situated; when transfer is from a nonresident, all real and personal property within jurisdiction of state.

The following transfers are taxable: By will; by statute regulating descent; made in contemplation of death of transferor, if made within two years, it is presumed to be in contemplation of death, in absence of contrary showing, made by gift or grant to take effect in possession or enjoyment after death of transferor; made in payment of debt created by antenuptial agreement by its terms payable by will or contract at or after death. If transfer is for a valuable consideration; except love and affection, no tax is imposed on the value up to the money value of the consideration received by the transferor, but the excess is taxed. Where property is held in joint names of two or more persons as joint tenants or otherwise, except real estate held by entreties, or is deposited in banks, etc., in joint names and payable to survivor or survivors, exercise of right of survivor or survivors is a taxable transfer; except such as may have belonged originally to survivor or survivors and never have belonged to decedent. Proceeds of insurance on decedent's life, payable to his estate, are taxed; but insurance payable to some other person and not a part of decedent's estate is not taxed. A transfer by deed of trust (before or after enactment of statute) wherein trustor reserved to himself any income or interest, or reserved powers of revocation, alteration or amendment, on exercise of which property would revert in him, is taxable on his death to extent of value of property subject to such powers and as to which such powers have not been exercised. Property transferred to executors or trustees in lieu of commissions, allowances or fees, is taxable on excess over commissions, etc., which would be payable in absence of any such transfer.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF IOWA RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by STANLEY A. FRICK, Attorney at Law, Wilson Building, Rockwell City, Iowa (See card in Attorneys List)

Rates of tax and exemptions vary according to relationship of beneficiary and amount of transfer, as follows:

Class A. Husband, wife, lineal ancestor or descendant, legally adopted child and child to whom transferor stood in acknowledged relationship of parent and child for not less than ten years prior to transfer.

Following transfers are entirely exempt: To U. S., any state or territory or political subdivision thereof, or any corporation, institution, association or trust formed for charitable, educational or religious purposes, provided property is to be used exclusively for such purposes in Indiana.

Tax is imposed on full, fair cash value of property, subject to exemptions above stated in case of transfers by will or intestate laws. Tax is payable at time of transfer and is a lien against the land. Trustees, executors or administrators of estates are personally liable for the tax.

Tax is determined by any court having probate jurisdiction, on appraisal by county assessor, or by inheritance tax appraiser in counties of 400,000 or more population. Provision is made for notice of appraisal, hearing upon report and rehearing to persons interested or State Board of Tax Commissioners. The Board may move for a rehearing within 2 years after entry of delivery by the court if they believe appraisal was fraudulently, collusively, or erroneously made.

Tax on resident decedent's estate is payable to treasurer of county where court having jurisdiction is situated. If paid within 1 year after accrual, deduction of 5 per cent is allowed; if not paid within 18 months, interest at 10 per cent from date of accrual is assessed.

Determination of tax on taxable transfers from nonresidents is under exclusive jurisdiction of Tax Commissioners. Appeal from appraisal lies to Marion county circuit court. Tax is payable to State Board of Tax Commissioners. Taxes erroneously assessed may be refunded on order of Tax Commissioners. Person or institution permitting stock or personal property or securities to be transferred without consent of Tax Commissioners is liable for the tax and subject to penalty of not more than $1,000 in addition.

In case of contingent or expectant estate where taxes are not presently payable, Tax Commissioners and Attorney General may enter into agreement with trustees, executors or administrators to compound taxes and grant discharges therefor. If agreement cannot be reached, tax is held in abeyance and trustees, executors or administrators must give bond for prompt payment.

State Board of Tax Commissioners is charged with enforcement of the act and will provide forms required.

Wills. No will except a nuncupative will shall affect any estate unless it be in writing, signed by the testator or by someone in his presence, with his consent, and subscribed in his presence, by two or more competent witnesses in the presence of each other. A will made before marriage becomes void on marriage of testator. No nuncupative will shall be valid when more than the value of $100.00 is bequeathed, nor unless it is made in the last sickness of the testator, and the subject thereof be reduced to writing within fifteen days after it shall have been declared and proved by two competent witnesses who shall have heard the testator, in effect, request some of those present to bear witness thereto; and no such nuncupative will shall be proved after six months from the death of the testator, nor until his widow and heirs shall have reasonable notice of the time and place of proving the same. Any soldier or sailor in actual service may dispose of his personal estate, in his actual possession, and his wages, by a nuncupative will. Any person may contest the validity of any will or resist the probate thereof at any time within one year after the will has been offered for probate, but an infant, an insane person or one who has been absent from the state must contest or resist within 3 years. Upon the death of any testator any person interested in any part of the estate specified in the will may have the will probated. A will in writing shall be proven by one or more of the subscribing witnesses, or, if they be dead, out of the state, or have become incompetent from any cause since attesting the will, then by proof of the handwriting of the testator or of the subscribing witnesses thereto.

Accounts. In all instances where any sum of money is claimed on an account, the same must be itemized. If suit is brought on such an account the items thereof should be consecutively numbered and the account must be sworn to. Such a sworn statement of account together with a petition which has been likewise sworn to, constitutes a prima facie case enabling the creditor to take judgment thereon in the event the debtor is unable to disprove the items.

Acknowledgments. All instruments affecting real estate, including mortgages, deeds of trust, powers of attorney relating thereto, and leases for more than one year, must be acknowledged or the execution thereof proved and the instruments must be recorded in the proper office, in order to affect third parties. The same is also true as to bills of sale of personal property. Conditional sales contracts or leases must be signed by both vendor and vendee, or lessor and lessee and acknowledged by one of them, and must be filed the same as chattel mortgages (see Chattel Mortgages). Articles of incorporation must also be acknowledged and recorded. Forms of acknowledgments are prescribed by statute, and must be substantially as follows:

1. In the case of natural persons acting in their own right: State of ... County of ... ss.

On this day, ... of ... A. D. 19... before me, ... (Insert title of acknowledging officer) ... personally appeared ... to me known to be the person named in and who executed the foregoing instrument, and acknowledged that ... executed the same as ... voluntary act and deed.

Notary public in and for said County

(In all cases add signature and title of the officer taking the acknowledgment, and strike from between the parentheses the word or clause not used, as the case may be.)

Actions. The common law forms of pleading are not used, although the common law forms the basis of procedure. Pleading, practice, and procedure are statutory, and accord, in the main, with what is known as the reformed, or code procedure.

Administration of Estates. When an executor is not appointed by will administration shall be granted to any suitable person or persons on the request and application of: 1. The surviving spouse. 2. The next of kin. 3. Creditors. 4. Any other person showing good grounds therefor.

To each of the above classes in succession, a period of 20 days, commencing with the burial of the deceased, is allowed within which to apply for administration.

A special administrator may be appointed to preserve property if for any reason general administration cannot be immediately granted.

Administration shall not be originally granted after five years from the death of the decedent, or from the time his death was known, in case he died out of the state of Iowa; except, however, when personal property belonging to the estate of the decedent is discovered after the expiration of said five years, administration may be granted for the purpose only of making proper disposition thereof.

Claims against the estate of a deceased person are payable in the following order: 1. Charges of the last sickness and funeral of the deceased. 2. Any allowance made by the court for the maintenance of the widow and minor children. 3. Debts entitled to preference under the laws of the U. S. 4. Public rate and taxes. 5. Claims filed within 6 months after the first publication or posting of the notice given by the executors or administrators of their appointment. In this class, claims for labor performed within the next preceding 90 days of the death of decedent are preferred. 6. All other debts. 7. Legacies and the distributive shares, if any.

All claims of the sixth of the above classes not filed and allowed, or if filed and notice thereof not served within 12 months from the giving of the notice of appointment are barred, except as to actions against decedent pending in the district or supreme court at the time of his death or unless peculiar circumstances entitle the claimant to equitable relief.

Affidavits. Affidavits may be taken before any person authorized to administer oaths in the state where taken. Those taken out of the state before any judge or clerk of a court of record, or before a notary public, or a commissioner appointed by the governor of this state to take acknowledgment of deeds in the state where such affidavit is taken, are of the same credibility as if taken within the state. Affidavits may be taken within the state for any lawful purpose, of one unwilling to voluntarily make an affidavit, by filing a petition with an officer authorized to administer oaths, who may cause the person to come before him and make affidavit. This proceeding is statutory and must conform strictly to the statutes of Iowa.

Affidavits for proving accounts and form: State of ... County of ... ss. I ... being first duly sworn, on oath depose and say that I am (a member of the firm of ... and that said firm is) the owner of the account hereto attached, marked exhibit A, and made a part hereof, that the same is correct in all particulars and that the articles named therein were sold and delivered to said ... at the prices and times therein named and agreed upon, and that said articles were reasonably of the value charged, and that the said account is due and unpaid. That there is no legal set off or credit to the same or any part thereof except as herein stated. Subscribed and sworn to before me, by the said ... this ... day, etc.

Allens. Non-resident aliens or corporations incorporated under the laws of any foreign country or corporations organized in this country, one-half of the stock of which is owned or controlled by non-resident aliens are prohibited from acquiring title to or holding any real estate in Iowa, but the non-resident alien widow, heirs, or devisees of an alien or naturalized citizen may hold the same for twenty years, and if not sold within that time, escheats to the State. Aliens may acquire property of any kind within a city or town or lands not exceeding 320 acres or stock in any corporation for pecuniary profit and may alienate or devise the same, but this law does not affect personal property. A lien holder may acquire title to the property embraced in such lien but real estate so acquired must be sold within ten years after title is perfected in an alien, otherwise it will escheat to the State.

Arrest. No person can be imprisoned for debt on either mesne or final process, unless in case of fraud. Debtors, however, may be ordered to appear before a court of record wherein a judgment has been rendered, and if the debtor is about to leave the State, or conceal himself, he may be arrested and compelled to give bond to appear before the court for examination, and in the meantime, not dispose of his property. (See Supplementary Proceedings.)

Assignments and Insolvency. General assignments not valid unless for benefit of all creditors, when assent of creditors is presumed. The debtor must annex to the instrument of assignment a sworn inventory and list of creditors; and such instrument must be acknowledged and all of the papers recorded like a deed of real estate. The assignment vests in the assignee title to all property of the debtor. Assignee must give bonds, prepare a verified inventory and valuation, and notify creditors by mail to file claims within three months. All claims not filed within three months after notice published or within such extended time as the court grants, not exceeding nine months, including claims not yet due, can not be paid until all claims filed within said time are paid. An assignment does not discharge the debtor from his debts and liabilities, but only entitles creditors to share equally in his estate. All claims filed must be itemized and sworn to.

Attachments. An attachment, auxiliary to the ordinary proceedings, may be sued out at the commencement or during the progress of the proceeding if the petition is sworn to and states one or more of the following grounds:

1. That the defendant is a foreign corporation or acting as such.
2. That he is a nonresident of the state.
3. That he is about to remove his property out of the state without leaving sufficient remaining for the payment of his debts.
4. That he has disposed of his property, in whole or in part, with intent to defraud his creditors.
5. That the defendant is about to dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors.
6. That he has absconded, so that the ordinary process cannot be served upon him.
7. That he is about to remove permanently out of the county, and has property therein not exempt from execution, and that he refuses to pay or secure the plaintiff.
8. That he is about to remove permanently out of the state, and refuses to pay or secure the debt due the plaintiff.
9. That he is about to remove his property or a part thereof out of the county with intent to defraud his creditors.
10. That he is about to convert his property or a part thereof into money for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors.
11. That he has property or rights in action which he conceals.
12. That the debt is due for property obtained under false pretences.

Property of debtor may be attached for debt not yet due if his petition states one or more of following grounds: 1. That defendant is about to dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors. 2. That he is about to remove or has removed from the state, and refuses to secure the payment of the debt when it falls due, and which removal or contemplated removal was not known to the plaintiff at the time the debt was contracted. 3. That the defendant has disposed of his property in whole or in part with intent to defraud his creditors. 4. That the debt was incurred for property obtained under false pretences.

Special attachments are permitted in certain cases.

On all above cases the plaintiff must file a bond in a penalty at least double the value of the property sought to be attached except in landlord's attachments on rent accounts, and in any case where only real property is sought to be attached the bond shall be in an amount fixed by the court or clerk, usually considerably less.

Banks and Banking. Savings banks and trust companies may be formed by not less than five persons of lawful age, a majority of whom shall be citizens of the state. The minimum paid up capital depends upon the population of the city wherein the bank is located.

The president and cashier shall verify by oath a copy of the list and send the same to the Superintendent of Banking within ten days after each annual meeting. And the Superintendent may, if he desires, require the president or cashier to furnish him with financial statements of the stockholders.

No encumbrance of personal property which may be exempt from execution by the head of a family if a resident of the State shall be of any validity unless the same be by written instrument and unless the husband and wife concur in and sign the same joint instrument.

Collateral Securities. There are special statutory provisions concerning the pledging of corporate stock, as security; and also upon the subject of sales of collaterals by action in court and judicial sale. Otherwise the subject is governed by the common law.

Conditional Sales. No sale, contract, or lease wherein the transfer of title or ownership of personal property is made to depend upon any condition, shall be valid against any creditor or purchaser of the vendee or lessee in actual possession, obtained in pursuance thereof, without notice, unless the same be in writing, executed by the vendor and vendee, or by the lessor and lessee, acknowledged by the vendor or vendee, or by the lessor or lessee, and recorded or filed and deposited the same as chattel mortgages.

The name of the parties, the description of the property, the consideration, the date, signature, and acknowledgment, is all that is necessary, as between the parties they are valid without being recorded. The wife must join with her husband in conveyances, and a conveyance of the homestead is of no validity unless husband and wife concur in and sign the same joint instrument. A corporation executes conveyances under its corporate seal, except where the corporation has not adopted a seal. Such conveyances must be signed in the name of the corporation by the officers authorized so to do, by the Articles of Incorporation, or By-Laws, or by resolution duly entered of record in the minutes of the corporation, and duly acknowledged by such officers, as the act of the corporation.

Corporations. Private corporations, sole or aggregate, may be formed for any lawful purpose. But there are special statutory provisions which must be complied with for the organization and government of insurance, banking, loan and trust, building and loan, and railway corporations. In all cases, the articles of incorporation must be acknowledged and recorded, in the manner provided by law, and approved by the secretary of state. With a few exceptions, an incorporation fee of $25, plus $1 for each thousand dollars of capital in excess of $10,000 must be paid, upon the organization or renewal of a private corporation. The general term of the life of a private corporation is twenty years, renewable for a like term. Railroads, savings banks, and a few others may last fifty years, also renewable.

No foreign stock corporation doing business in this state shall maintain any action in this state upon any contract made by it in this state, unless prior to the making of such contract it shall have procured such permit. This prohibition shall also apply to any assignee of such foreign stock corporation and to any person claiming under such assignee of such corporation or under either of them.

The Articles of Incorporation may prescribe any figure as the par value of each share of stock, or the stock may be issued, "Without Par Value."

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. The district court has jurisdiction of all actions, civil and equitable, and has criminal and probate jurisdiction. Superior courts may be established by the vote of the people in any city of 4,000 inhabitants. It has jurisdiction to try all violations of city ordinances, and the same criminal jurisdiction as justice of the peace courts. It has jurisdiction to try and determine civil and criminal appeals and civil writs of error from justices of the peace, situated in the township where the court is located. Has the same jurisdiction as the district court to try all suits in law and equity, except grant divorces, alimony, and separate maintenance, and it has no probate jurisdiction. Transcripts from superior and justice's courts must be filed in district court to create a lien on real estate, and are then enforced as judgments of the district court; justice's jurisdiction, $100, or, by written consent of parties, $300. The supreme court has only appellate jurisdiction and holds sessions at Des Moines, January to May, from May to September (less vacation), and from September to December.

Municipal Court may be established by the vote of people in cities of 5,000 inhabitants. It has jurisdiction to try all violations of city ordinances, and the same criminal jurisdiction as Justice of the Peace court, and exercise the jurisdiction conferred on the District Court for the trial of misdemeanors. It has concurrent jurisdiction with the District Court in all civil matters involving $1,000 or less, but has no jurisdiction to grant divorces, alimony or separate maintenance, and has no probate jurisdiction. Transcripts must be filed in District Court to create a lien, and appeals are taken direct to the Supreme Court.

Days of Grace. Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein without grace.

Depositions may be taken within the State, on notice, and within or without the State, on commission or agreement of parties issued after notice by the clerk of the proper court. When to be taken on commission, defendant may elect, in writing, duly served, to cross examine orally; thereupon plaintiff may also elect in writing to examine orally. Exceptions must be filed within three (3) days, after the filing of the deposition, but objections may nevertheless be made at the trial for competency, materiality, and relevancy.

Descent and Distribution of Property. Subject to rights of dower and other charges thereon, and burdens imposed during the lifetime of the decedent, and in the absence of a valid will, the estate of one deceased shall descend in equal shares to his children. The heirs of any deceased child shall inherit in same manner as though such child had outlived his parents. If the intestate leave no issue the whole of the estate to the extent of $7,500 after payment of debts and administration expense, and one-half of the estate in excess of said $7,500 goes to the surviving spouse and the other half to the parents. If no surviving spouse, the whole thereof shall go to his parents or the survivor of them; and so on through ascending ancestors and their issue, if both parents be dead. Personal property not necessary to pay debts is distributed to the same persons, and in the same proportions as though it were real estate.

Dower. The surviving spouse is entitled to one-third in value of all the legal and equitable estates in real property possessed by the deceased spouse at any time during the marriage, which have not been sold on execution or any other judicial sale, and to which such survivor has made no relinquishment of right. A spouse, heir or devisee feloniously taking or procuring the taking of the life of the other spouse, or decedent, cannot have dower or inherit power or take under the will of the decedent. (See Limitations.)

Employers Liability. Employers liability and workmen's compensation is governed by statute.

Executions may be stayed according to their amount, for ninety days or six months, with a few specified exceptions. The issuance of execution may be prevented by filing an appeal bond. Otherwise execution may issue immediately after rendition of judgment. A stay of execution waives right of appeal. The judgment is a lien on realty within the county where rendered, or by transcript, it may be made a lien in any other county. Executions become liens on personal property only from the time of the levy and seizure. Real estate is sold on execution subject to redemption within one year, except in appealed cases, or where the interest is a leasehold of two years or less. Creditors having liens, may redeem from the sale after six months and before nine months from date of sale. Personal property is sold without redemption.

Exemptions. The head of a family is entitled to a homestead of forty acres or less of farm land or half an acre or less in a city or town. When a debtor absconds and leaves his family, such property as is exempt to him shall be exempt in the hands of his wife and children or either of them. The statute provides for numerous exemptions of personalty to the head of the family including: 1. There are statutory provisions concerning the creation of liens on exempt real or personal property and the assignment of exempt wages. There is no exemption to debtor under a decree for the support of minors. Nor is there any exemption for the payment of alimony unless the party in whose favor the decree was rendered remarries.

Fraud. In actions for fraud, heretofore solely cognizable in a court of chancery, the cause of action shall not be deemed to have accrued until the fraud complained of shall have been discovered by the party aggrieved by the exercise of due diligence. In actions brought by a judgment creditor to set aside a fraudulent conveyance of property from one spouse to the other and to subject said property to execution, either husband or wife may be compelled to testify against the other. Gross fraud is punishable by fine or imprisonment.

Garnishments. (See Attachments.)

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); general election day; November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; December 25 (Christmas Day). Interest. By written contract, maximum legal rate, 7 per cent. Judgments draw 5 per cent, or such rate as is fixed by the contract on which the judgment or decree is rendered, not exceeding 7 per cent per annum. Open accounts draw 5 per cent after six months from date of last item; money loaned, money due, money due on settlement of accounts, bear interest at 5 per cent per annum. Contract for more than 7 per cent forfeits all interest and costs.

Judgments in the district and superior courts may be obtained at first term after suit commenced, if undefended. Causes shall be triable at the first term after legal and timely service has been made. Judgments of the district court are liens on real estate owned by the debtor at the time of rendition, if the lands lie in any other county, from the time of filing therein an attested copy of the judgment. Lien also covers all lands which defendant may acquire within ten years from date of judgment, or upon which a levy is made after ten or before twenty years from the date of the judgment, but this lien dates only from the time of the levy. Judgments of superior courts and justice of peace courts become liens on real estate by filing transcript in district court within county where obtained, and become liens in other counties in the same manner as if rendered in the district court.

A judgment in an action for the foreclosure of a real estate mortgage or deed of trust or in any action on a claim for rent or judgment assigned by the receiver of the closed bank, or rendered upon credits assigned by the receiver of the closed bank, when the assignee is not a trustee for the depositors or creditors of the bank cannot be enforced nor execution issued thereon and no force or validity is given thereto except for the purpose of set off or counterclaim after the expiration of a period of two years from the entry thereof unless a voluntary written stipulation of the parties continuing it in force for a longer period is filed in the case.

Liens. These are mainly created by statute and are enforceable in equity. In a few cases, and under peculiar circumstances, equitable liens on real estate are established and enforced in equity.

Limitations. Actions, according to their subject matter, have various periods of limitation, fixed by statute, extending from three months to ten years after the cause of action accrued. Actions upon judgments rendered in courts of record have a limitation of twenty years. There are special limitations barring action for interest in real estate based on defective trustees, guardians, administrators, executors and sheriffs deeds; also as to other defects in the title to real estate.

Married Women may own in their own right, real and personal property, and may manage, sell, convey, and devise the same by will. Neither husband nor wife is liable for the separate debts or liabilities of the other incurred before or after marriage, nor are the wages, earnings, or property of either liable for the separate debts of the other. Contracts may be made by a wife, liabilities incurred, and enforced by or against her, as if unmarried. Both husband and wife are liable for the reasonable and necessary expenses of the family, and the education of the children.

Mortgages. Mortgages must be subscribed and acknowledged by the parties creating the lien and recording the same as deeds. The wife should join in the instrument, except mortgages for purchase money, and mortgages upon non-exempt personal property. When a mortgage is paid off, satisfaction thereof must be made on the margin of the record, or by a satisfaction piece, acknowledged and recorded. If no such satisfaction is entered within 30 days after request in writing, the mortgagee forfeits $25.00. The mortgagor has one year in which to redeem real estate after execution sale.

The owner is entitled to possession and exclusive right to redeem during this period and the court in its discretion may appoint a receiver. The income shall be paid to the Clerk of the District Court to be applied in the following order: 1. Cost of Receivership; 2. Payment of taxes due and to become due during receivership; 3. To pay the insurance on buildings on the premises or such other benefits to the real estate as may be ordered by the court; 4. The balance shall be paid and distributed as determined by the court. (See executions, chattel mortgages, limitations.)

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted April 12, 1902.

Non-residents. Action may be brought against non-residents to enforce liens on any property within the state; to enforce any debt against a non-resident where action is aided by attachment on property found within the State. Personal judgment cannot in any case be rendered against defendants, not appearing, unless personal service is had on such defendants within the State. Non-residents may not sell at auction as auctioneers unless reciprocal legislation exists in the state of their residence.

Notaries. These officers are appointed and commissioned by the governor, upon filing a bond and paying the fee required by law. They have power to administer oaths, take depositions, and the usual power of such officers concerning presentation, demand, protest, and notice of protest of negotiable commercial paper, only within the county in which commissioned.

All notarial commissions expire July 4, 1939 and are renewable for three year periods commencing with that date.

Partnerships, Limited and Special. Limited and special partnerships are permitted, but not favored. The statutes on this subject must be strictly complied with. A certificate showing prescribed details and particulars of the partnership must be signed, acknowledged, and filed in the office of the County Recorder of the county in which the principal place of business is situated, to be there recorded and similarly recorded in each county where such partnership has a place of business. There must be an affidavit that the amount stated in the certificate has been actually contributed by each separate partner. Publication should be made of the certificate and affidavit for six weeks in two newspapers in each senatorial district in which the partnership is to transact business.

Powers of Attorney. A power of attorney to convey, or in any manner affect real estate, must be acknowledged and recorded. A revocation of such power must be acknowledged and recorded in the same office wherein the original power of attorney is recorded.

Receivers. A receiver may be appointed on the petition of either party to a civil action or proceeding wherein he shows that he has a probable right to or interest in any property which is the subject of the controversy and that such property is in danger of being lost or materially injured or impaired. When the property of any person, partnership, company or corporation has been placed in the hands of a receiver for distribution, after the payment of all costs, the following claims shall be entitled to priority of payment. 1. Taxes or other debts entitled to preference under the laws of the U. S. 2. Debts due or taxes assessed and levied for the benefit of the state, county, or other municipal corporations in the state. 3. Debts owing to employees for labor performed within the 90 days next preceding the transfer of such property.

Records. All instruments conveying or creating liens upon the real or personal property and all conditional sales must, after having been signed and acknowledged, be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds in the proper county or counties where the property conveyed is situated. Mortgages and conditional sales of personal property executed by residents of the state of Iowa must be recorded in the county where the maker resides. Unless so recorded, such instruments are invalid as to a bona fide purchaser or encumbrancer.

Redemption. Redemption from a sheriff's sale of real estate, whether sold under a general or special execution, may be made by the debtor during a period of one year and by a creditor who has a lien on the property sold, any time after six months and within nine months from date of sale by paying to the clerk of the court the amount provided by statute, being generally, the amount of the purchaser's bid, with interest at the same rate that the judgment bears. Within the time named creditors may redeem from each other. After nine months, and within one year from the date of sale the owner of the real estate sold has the exclusive right to redeem from such sale, and in so doing, the debtor must pay off the claims of judgment creditors, who have made redemptions as herein above stated in addition to the amount originally bid.

Replevin. In actions for the recovery of personal property, the petition must be verified; and if plaintiff desires immediate delivery of the property, he shall execute a bond for double the value of the property sought to be recovered. The defendant may stay all proceedings and retain the property by executing a bond to the plaintiff with sureties to be approved by the clerk.

Sales. This State has a uniform sales law.

Sales of Goods in Bulk. The sale, transfer or assignment in bulk of any part of the whole or a stock of merchandise and fixtures pertaining thereto otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular prosecution of business, is void as against the creditors of seller: 1. unless at least seven days before the sale a detailed inventory is made, and 2. unless the purchaser demands and receives from the seller a written list of names and addresses of the creditors of the seller, with the full amount of indebtedness due or owing to each and certified by the seller under oath to be a full, accurate and complete list of his creditors and of his indebtedness, and 3. unless the purchaser shall at least seven days before taking possession or paying the purchase price, notify personally or by registered mail every creditor whose name and address are stated in said list or to which he has knowledge, of the proposed sale and of the price, terms and conditions thereof.

The bulk sales law does not apply to sales by executors, administrators, receivers, trustees in bankruptcy, or any public officer under judicial sale. A purchaser not complying with these provisions becomes a receiver and accountable to the creditors for all merchandise and fixtures coming into his possession by virtue of the purchase.

Security for Costs. Nonresident and corporation plaintiffs may, on motion of defendant, be required to file a bond with sureties to be approved for security of costs either in Justice Court, Municipal Court, or District Court.

Statute of Frauds. No evidence except in writing and signed by the party to be charged or by his authorized agent, is competent relative to the following contracts: 1. In relation to sale of personal property, when no part of the property is delivered and no part of the price is paid. 2. In consideration of marriage. 3. Wherein one promises to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another, including promises by executors to pay the debt of decedent from their own estate. 4. For the creation or transfer of any interest in lands, except leases for a term not exceeding one year. 5. Those not to be performed within one year from the making thereof.

Stocks and Bonds. The sale of stocks and bonds is governed by what is termed a "Blue Sky Law."

Supplementary Proceedings. When an execution has been returned unsatisfied, plaintiff may have an order for the appearance and examination of the judgment debtor; or such order may be obtained after execution has issued upon proof by plaintiff's affidavit or other proof that debtor has property which he unjustly refuses to apply to the satisfaction of the judgment. If any property be found by such examination it may be levied upon; if in the hands of others the court may require its delivery to satisfy the judgment, and appoint a receiver of debtors property, forbid the sale thereof and order equitable interests in realty to be sold.

Taxes. Property shall be taxed each year, and personal property shall be listed and assessed each year in the name of the owner thereof on the first day of January.

Real estate assessed every four years. Next assessment in 1941.

All property is assessed at 60% of its actual value and taxed at actual value. All other taxes are one-half of the other taxes levied are payable without interest or penalty before April 1st. The balance is payable before October 1st. Delinquent taxes bear interest at the rate of $\frac{3}{4}$ of 1 per cent per month.

Real estate taxes are liens thereon and personal property taxes are liens upon the owner's real estate except the homestead and may be continued as liens from year to year by compliance with the statute.

Taxes upon stocks of goods or merchandise, fixtures and furniture in hotels, restaurants, rooming houses, billiard halls, moving picture shows and theatres are a lien thereon which continues when sold in bulk and the purchaser is personally liable therefor. They are also a lien upon buildings assessed separate from the real estate.

Taxes assessed on personalty in this state owned by a non-resident is a lien thereon. Personal property may be levied on and sold for taxes by a distress and sale. Real estate is sold for unpaid taxes after notice by publication on the first Monday of December of each year subject to redemption in three years except when sale is made under so called tax scavenger or public bidder law when less period of redemption exists from the date of sale by payment to the county auditor the amount for which the same was sold and 4 per cent of such amount added as a penalty, with 6 per cent per annum on the whole amount thus made from the day of sale, and the amount of all taxes unpaid and delinquent the first day of April, the interest and costs paid by the purchaser or his assignee for any subsequent year or years with a similar penalty added as before on the amount of the payment and each subsequent year, and 6 per cent per annum on the whole of such amount from the day of payment.

Trust Companies. Domestic trust companies are organized under and governed by the general corporation laws of the State. Foreign trust companies doing business in this State are governed and controlled by the general statutes concerning and relating to foreign corporations doing business in Iowa. (See Corporations.)

Trust Deeds. They must be executed and foreclosed, and considered as mortgages. That is, the power of sale on notice is abolished, and they must be foreclosed by equitable action.

Warehouse Receipts. Any person, firm, or corporation desiring to issue elevator or warehouse certificates (or receipts) must file a written declaration with the recorder of deeds in the county where his or its elevator or warehouse is situated, setting forth the particulars required by statute, which declaration must be recorded by the recorder of deeds. Thereafter he or it may issue certificates for commodities actually in such elevator or warehouse, but the certificates must conform to the statutory provisions. A register of certificates issued must be kept by the parties issuing them. A violation of these provisions, issuing double certificates for the same property, or selling or encumbering property included in any warehouse receipt, is made a criminal offense. There is also a criminal statute against issuing false warehouse receipts or certificates.

Wills. Any person of full age and sound mind may dispose of his property by will, subject to the rights of homestead and exemption created by law and the distributive share in his estate given by law to the surviving spouse, except sufficient to pay his debts and expenses of administration. Also if a testator has spouse, child, grandchild or parent living he cannot give more than 25 per cent of his property to a corporation organized for charitable purposes. Wills, to be valid, must be written, witnessed by two competent witnesses, signed by the testator, or by some person in his presence and by his express direction. Subscribing witnesses can derive no benefit from a will, unless there be two competent witnesses besides them. Wills executed outside of Iowa, in accordance with the laws of the State where executed or of the testator's domicile, if in writing and subscribed by the testator are valid in Iowa. If probated in any other state or country they shall be admitted to probate in this State on the production of a copy of such will, and of the original record of probate thereof, authenticated by the attestation of the clerk of the court in which such probate was made or of the probate judge, under seal, if they have one. All wills must be probated before they can be effectual.

Bills of Exchange. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Bills of Lading. These are governed by the common law.

Bulk Sale. "The sale or disposal of any part or the whole of a stock of merchandise or the fixtures pertaining thereto, otherwise than in the ordinary course of his trade or business, shall be void as against the creditors of the seller, unless the purchaser receives from the seller a list of the names and addresses of the creditors of the seller certified by the seller under oath to be a complete and accurate list of his creditors and unless the purchaser shall, at least seven days before taking possession of the property, or before paying therefor, notify in person or by registered mail, every creditor whose name and address is stated in said list, or of whom he has knowledge, of the proposed sale."

In lieu of notice, seller may give to purchaser a bond conditioned upon the payment of debts due creditors of the seller and upon which creditors may sue in an amount equal to present value of the property transferred and signed by at least two resident sureties; the bond to be approved by and filed with the clerk of the district court of the county where the property is sold is located before purchaser takes possession or pays.

Chattel Mortgages. A mortgage of personal property, where the property is not immediately delivered to the mortgagee who retains actual and continuous possession thereof, is void as against creditors of the mortgagor and as against subsequent purchasers and mortgagees in good faith, unless the mortgage, or a copy thereof is filed in the office of the register of deeds in the county where the property is situated, and if the mortgagor is a resident of the state, then also in the county of which he is at the time a resident. A mortgage so filed is invalid as against creditors or subsequent purchasers in good faith after two years unless within thirty days next preceding the expiration of such two years and each two years thereafter the mortgagee, his agent or attorney, makes an affidavit exhibiting the interest of the mortgagee in the property and showing the balance unpaid on the debt, and files the same in the same manner as the mortgage. In case of default the mortgagee may sell in the manner provided in the chattel mortgage.

A mortgage of exempt personal property is invalid unless executed jointly by husband and wife where that relation exists unless it be given for the purchase price of the mortgaged chattel.

Livestock pasturing lien, duly recorded, has priority over other liens. Collaterals. Governed by the common law on Bailments and Pledge.

Conditional Sales. Conditional contracts, by which the ownership remains in the party proposing to sell until the purchase price is paid, are treated as chattel mortgages and must be filed in the office of the register of deeds in the same manner as such chattel mortgages but remain in force without the renewal affidavit required in chattel mortgages.

Contracts. All contracts which, by the common law, are joint only, shall be construed to be joint and several. The use of private seals in written contracts (except seals of corporation) is abolished, and in suits upon written contracts, as to the performance of conditions precedent, it is sufficient after setting out the contract to allege generally that plaintiff has fully performed the contract.

Conveyances. (See Deeds.)

Corporations. Chapter 152 of the 1939 Session Laws of the State of Kansas largely revises the Kansas Corporation Law. Corporations are formed under a general statute requiring three or more incorporators. Incorporation is effected by filing in the office of the Secretary of State articles of incorporation signed and acknowledged by each incorporator; recording a certified copy of the articles with the Register of Deeds for the county where the registered office of the corporation in the state is located, and payment of a $25.00 application fee, capitalization fee and filing and recording fees. The capitalization fee is one-tenth of one per cent of the authorized capital stock upon the first $100,000.00; one-twentieth of one per cent on all in excess of $100,000.00. Duration of corporate existence is limited to not to exceed one hundred years. Every corporation must maintain a registered office in the state and a resident agent who may be either an individual or a corporation residing in or located in the state. The name of such corporation must be displayed at its registered office. No corporation shall commence active business until its corporate existence has been established in the manner outlined above and the amount of capital with which it will begin business as stated in the articles of incorporation fully paid in; and an affidavit filed in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county where the registered office of the corporation is located; and an affidavit signed by the Treasurer stating the amount of capital which the articles of incorporation recite will be paid in before commencement of business has been fully paid. The name adopted must indicate the nature of the business and shall be followed by the word "Incorporated" or the abbreviation "Inc." except banks and corporations not for profit. The articles of incorporation must state the name of the corporation, the location of its registered office, the name of its resident agent, the name and address of the registered agent, the nature of the business to be carried on, the total number of shares of stock which the corporation shall have authority to issue, the par value of each share, or a statement that all such shares are to be without par value if the corporation is to issue only one class of stock. If the corporation is to be authorized to issue more than one class of stock the articles should also set forth the total number of shares of all classes which the corporation shall have authority to issue, the number of shares of each class that are to have a par value and the par value of each share of each class or the number of shares that are to be without par value, the considerations with respect to any class or classes of stock. The articles shall also contain a grant of authority to the board of directors to fix by resolution any such powers, preferences, limitations or qualifications on classes of stock, and shall set forth the minimum amount of capital with which the corporation will commence business, which shall not be less than $1,000.00, the names and places of residence of each incorporator, the duration of the corporate existence and the number of directors. Numerous other provisions in the articles of incorporation are permissible but not required. By-laws may be amended in accordance with provisions of the articles of incorporation or by the board of directors subject to amendment, alteration or repeal by majority vote of the stockholders. An annual statement shall be made by each corporation for profit except banking and insurance corporations and building and loan associations on or before March 31st of each year on forms furnished by the Secretary of State showing a complete detailed statement of the conditions of the corporation. Failure to file this report within ninety days from that time works a forfeiture of incorporation and works a penalty for each day the report is delayed. Dividends may be declared from net profits or net assets in excess of capital as computed in accordance with provisions of the statute. Corporations may borrow money and may pledge property and income therefor; cannot engage in agricultural, dairying or horticultural business or learned professions.

Corporations (except banks, insurance, building and loan companies and those not organized for profit) must pay an annual franchise tax on paid-up capital as follows: Not over $10,000, $10; over $10,000, and not over $25,000, $25; over $25,000 and not over $50,000, $50; over $50,000 and not over $100,000, $100; over $100,000 and not over $250,000, $125; over $250,000 and not over $500,000, $250; over $500,000 and not over $1,000,000, $500; over $1,000,000 and not over $2,000,000, $1,000; over $2,000,000 and not over $3,000,000, $1,500; over $3,000,000 and not over $5,000,000, $2,000; over $5,000,000, $2,500.

Non-resident plaintiffs may be required by order of court to give additional security for costs. In Justice Courts cost deposits may be $3.00 to $5.00, depending on custom of Justice. In City Courts cost deposits are customarily $5.00., nonresident plaintiffs, $3.00 residents.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. District courts, holding two to three terms a year in every county, have general original jurisdiction in law and equity. Regular terms of the probate court are held in each county on the first Monday in each month and special or adjourned terms may be held as business may require. Justice's jurisdiction in civil actions for the recovery of money $300; to recover specific personal property not valued in excess, $300. The supreme court is the court of last resort. City courts with jurisdiction in civil actions for amounts not in excess of from $300 to $1,000 are established in the following cities: Arkansas City, Atchison, Coffeyville, Kansas City, Leavenworth, Topeka, and Wichita. Procedure corresponds to that of justice courts.

Days of Grace. Abolished.

Deeds. No particular forms of conveyances are required. As a rule the form used in other States is sufficient. As between the parties conveyances are valid without being recorded. Deeds may be valid as against attaching creditors without being recorded. The wife should join with her husband in the conveyance, and any conveyance or mortgage of the homestead without her joining in the same is absolutely void. If the wife has never resided in the State her signature is not necessary. Grantors need not attach any seal or scroll to their signatures, and no witnesses are necessary unless grantors are unable to write. Corporations convey by deed, sealed with the corporate seal and signed by president, vice-president, presiding member, or trustee. The acknowledgment must be before a judge or clerk of the district court having a seal, a justice of the peace, notary public, county clerk, register of deeds, mayor or clerk of an incorporated city. Every notary public shall add to his official signature the date of the expiration of his commission as notary public. In cases where the acknowledgment is made out of the State it must be made before a court of record, a clerk, or other officer having the seal thereof, a commissioner of deeds for Kansas. Justice of the peace or notary public, or before any consul of the United States resident in any foreign country or port. Deeds and mortgages must be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the land is situated, or they will be void as to subsequent grantees in good faith without notice.

Deeds of Trust in the nature of mortgages are not used so far as sale by the trustee is concerned. (See Trusts, etc.)

Depositions. Depositions are taken upon notice to the opposite party. Courts are also authorized to appoint commissioners to take depositions. The depositions may be taken before any person authorized to take acknowledgments. Each witness must sign his own deposition. The notice must be attached to the depositions and inclosed with them. Depositions should be taken on the date named and some portion on each successive day or the officer before whom the depositions are taken should note continuances or adjournments from day to day. Sundays and national holidays not being regarded. If taken by interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, under agreement or otherwise, each interrogatory and cross-interrogatory must be put to each witness and answered so far as he can answer it, and the answer written down. If the depositions are taken before the mayor, notary public, or commissioner appointed as aforesaid, they must be certified under his official seal. If before any officer not possessing a seal, a certificate must be annexed, under the seal of the county, or the great seal of the State, that the officer by whom the depositions were taken was, at the time of taking the same, such officer as he represents himself to be in his certiffactae. This should be attached to the certificate of the officer (not possessing a seal) who took the depositions.

Descent and Distribution. The homestead is the absolute property of the widow and children—one-half in value to the widow, the other half to the children, when both survive. The homestead shall not be subject to forced partition unless the surviving spouse remarries nor until all the children arrive at the age of majority. When a resident of the state dies testate or intestate the surviving spouse shall be allowed for the benefit of such spouse and the decedent's minor children during the period of their minority from the personal property of which the decedent was possessed or to which he was entitled at the time of death the following: One, wearing apparel, family library, pictures, musical instruments, furniture and household goods, utensils and implements used in the home, one automobile and provisions and fuel on hand necessary for the support of the spouse and minor children for one year; Two, other personal property not exceeding an appraised value of $750.00. One-half of all real estate owned by husband during coverture, and not conveyed by husband and wife, nor sold at judicial sale, and not necessary to pay debts goes to the wife in fee simple: except of land sold by husband whose wife never before such conveyance resided in the State. Remaining real estate goes to the surviving children, and living issue of prior deceased children, children taking per stirpes, in equal shares, or, if none, the whole estate goes to the widow. For want of wife or child or living issue of deceased child the whole estate goes to the parents. The rules applicable to widow of deceased husband apply to husband of deceased wife. Illegitimate children inherit from the mother, and also from the father, if his recognition has been general and notorious, or in writing. When a child would inherit from either parent, such parent will inherit from the child. Personal property descends in the same way as real estate except exempt household furniture is sole property of surviving spouse. Property descending by law or will is subject to an inheritance tax, varying in percentage according to relationship and amount. Special statute provides for administration and distribution of estate of persons dying without known heir or will. (Chapter 168, Laws, 1835).

Dower. Dower is abolished by law. (See Descent and Distribution.)

Executions may be ordered as soon as judgment is obtained if stay has not been granted or supersedeas given. Executions running to the sheriff of the county where the levy is to be made, may be levied on property in any county of the State and issue only out of court where judgment obtained except where abstract or transcript of justice judgment filed in district court of same county as that of the justice court, execution will issue on said judgment only out of said district court. There is no stay of execution in the district court except by supersedeas bond which may be given on appeal. In justice's courts, by filing bond, stays of execution are granted as follows. On any judgment for $20 and under, thirty days; over $20 and under $50, sixty days; over $50 and not exceeding $100, ninety days; over $100, one hundred and twenty days. Real estate is only subject to execution issued out of district court of county wherein judgment rendered or abstract or transcript from justice of the peace filed. Executions are liens on personal property only from time of levy. Real estate sold on execution or order of sale, giving the debtor eighteen months in which to redeem. The debtor is entitled to possession of the property and rents and profits, during the period provided for redemption, except in case of waste. Receiver may be appointed to prevent waste and may use so much of rents and profits as are necessary to repair waste and pay costs of receivership. Surplus if any to be paid to judgment, debtor free from the lien of any judgment.

Exemptions. Homestead of 160 acres of farming land, or of one acre within an incorporated town or city, with buildings thereon, appurtenant to the use of the property as a homestead, unlimited in value. To the head of a family the following articles of personal property: All books, pictures, musical instruments, pews in churches, burial lots; wearing apparel of debtor and family; beds and bedding, cooking utensils, stoves and appendages necessary for use of family; sewing machine and all other household furniture not exceeding $500; two cows, 100 chickens or other domestic fowl, ten hogs, one horse or mule; yoke of oxen or in lieu thereof span of horses or mules; twenty sheep; food necessary for support of stock hereinbefore mentioned; also one wagon, two plows, one drag and other farming utensils not exceeding $300; all provisions, and fuel necessary for support of family for one year; necessary tools and implements of mechanic, miner or other person used and kept for carrying on trade or business, and in addition thereto stock in trade not exceeding $400; library, implements and office furniture of professional man. Also personal earnings of the debtor earned during three months preceding the garnishment or attachment, and three months' pension money, where such earnings or pension money is necessary for the support of the debtor's family, but 10 per cent of such earnings may be required to be paid in and applied on the judgment.

Foreign Corporations. A foreign corporation seeking to do business in this State must make application to the State Charter Board showing a copy of its charter, or articles of incorporation, the place where the principal office is located, place where the principal office in this State is to be located, nature and character of the business to be conducted in this state, names and addresses of officers, trustees or directors, statement of assets and liabilities subscribed and sworn to by president and secretary of the corporation, written consent that actions may be commenced against it in courts of this state, and paying to the State Treasurer the same fees upon the amount of capital invested or used in this state as a domestic corporation. A registered office must be maintained in the State with a resident agent who may be an individual or a corporation.

When it receives a certificate authorizing it to do business, it is then subjected to substantially the same provisions, and judicial control as a domestic corporation. Annual statements must be filed on or before March 31st, giving condition on the 31st of December preceding. If a foreign corporation fails to file with the secretary of state the statement required by law within ninety days after the time provided for its right to do business in the State is thereby forfeited. A penalty is imposed of $100 and in addition $5.00 for each day this report is delayed. Foreign corporations must pay an annual franchise tax on that portion of their capital represented by its property and business in Kansas on the same basis as domestic corporations. Failure of foreign corporations who transact business in Kansas, other than interstate commerce to comply with this law renders them subject to ouster and receivership proceedings on the part of the State but does not now affect the right of such foreign corporation to sue in the courts of this State. A foreign corporation transacting business in Kansas with a majority of its property located in Kansas must have two directors residents of the State.

Fraud. (See Attachments, Arrest, and Assignments.)

Garnishment. At or after the time of beginning an action to recover damages founded upon contract, judgment or decree, or after the issuance of an execution and before it is returned, if the plaintiff cause to be filed with the clerk an affidavit stating the amount of his claim over and above all offsets, that he believes that some person, naming him, indebted to, or has property in his possession or under his control belonging to the defendants, and that such defendant has no property liable to execution sufficient to satisfy his debt, and that the indebtedness or property so held is not by law exempt from seizure or sale upon execution, the clerk shall issue a garnishment summons. In justice courts the affidavit differs from that acquired in district court actions only in that affiant states that plaintiff is in danger of losing his claim, in lieu of the allegations that the defendant has not property subject to execution sufficient to satisfy the debt. In the district courts bond in double amount claimed is required on garnishments before judgment, except where defendant is a non-resident or when garnishment is issued on a judgment rendered in any court. No bond required in justice courts. Defendant may at or after complaint is filed and before judgment, release garnishment by entering into undertaking with sufficient surety to the effect that they will pay on demand any judgment rendered against defendant. The bond shall be not less than double amount of plaintiff's claim.

No garnishment shall be issued against salary or wages of any persons dropped from public emergency relief work by obtaining regular employment until after the expiration of 60 days from the time of his leaving such relief work.

Injunctions. Injunctions may be granted by a district court or by the judge thereof at the beginning of an action or afterwards, in his discretion. The legal interest originally contracted for continues until the debt is paid, and no additional interest can be charged by way of penalty for default except from date of default. A purchaser of a negotiable note in due course takes the note free of the usurious taint.

Judgments. Judgments of courts of record are liens on the real estate of the debtor within the county from the first day of the term at which the judgment was rendered; but judgments by confession and judgments rendered at the same term during which the action was commenced are liens only from the day on which the judgment was rendered. Judgments lose their priority over subsequent judgments unless execution is issued and levied within one year after judgment. A certified copy of the judgment appearing of record in the district court may be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of any other county and the judgment will then be a lien on real estate in that county. Abstracts or transcripts of justice court judgments may be filed in the district court or the same county, are liens on real estate in such county from the date of filing, after which executions issue only out of said district court on such judgments.

Jurisdiction. (See Courts.)

Lien claimants other than original contractors, must give immediate notice of filing of lien claim to owner or person in possession of the premises, where that may be done, otherwise must post notice on the premises. In any case founded on contract, part payment, or an express written acknowledgement or promise, renews the contract. The statute runs from the date of such renewal. Married Women. The real and personal property owned by a woman at the time of her marriage, and any property which comes to her by descent, devise, or bequest, or gift of any person except her husband, remains her sole and separate property notwithstanding her marriage, and is not subject to the disposal of her husband or liable for his debts. Mines and Mining. The law provides for the appointment of a mine inspector with authority to require mine owners to provide certain facilities for the health and safety of persons employed and compel proper ventilation, regulate excavations, air courses, etc. This law is quite elaborate and violations of the safety provisions of the act—resulting in injury to employees, usually results in liability even where the Kansas Workmen's Compensation Act does not apply, on the part of the mine operator to the employees because of the positive duty resting on the operator to comply with such statutory provisions.

Monopolies and Unfair Trade. Any retailer or wholesaler who shall advertise, offer to sell or sell merchandise at less than cost to said retailer or wholesaler (as defined by the Act) shall be guilty of a misdemeanor subject to a fine of not more than $500. Advertising, offering to sell or sale of merchandise, either by retailers or wholesalers, at less than cost (as defined by the Act) with intent of unfairly averting trade from a competitor or otherwise injuring, impairing or preventing fair competition, is unfair competition, contrary to the policy of the Act, where the result of such advertising, offer or sale is to tend to deceive any purchaser or prospective purchaser or to substantially lessen competition or unreasonably restrain trade or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce. The Act does not apply to sales at retail or wholesale where (a) merchandise is sold in bona fide clearance sales; (b) perishable merchandise sold to forestall loss; (c) merchandise imperfect or damaged or being discontinued as advertised, marked and sold as such; (d) merchandise sold upon final liquidation of any business; (e) price of merchandise is made in good faith to meet price of a competitor in same locality; (f) merchandise is sold by an officer acting under order of court; (g) merchandise is sold for charitable purposes or relief agencies; (h) merchandise is sold on contract to departments of government or governmental institutions. Provisions of the Act do not apply to grain and feed dealers.

Mortgages. A mortgage of real estate, to be valid as against subsequent bona-fide purchasers without notice, must be duly acknowledged and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the land is situated. Mortgages may be valid as against attaching creditors without recording. Mortgages may be discharged on margin of record by mortgagee or attorney or assignee by duly acknowledged power of attorney or assignment in presence of register, or by satisfaction entered on the instrument when copied on the margin by the register; or by an independent release duly acknowledged and recorded. Wife must join in all mortgages except those for purchase money, except in cases where she has never been a resident of the State. Mortgages are foreclosed by suit only. By an act of the Legislature which took effect May 18, 1893, real estate sold under foreclosure of mortgage is subject to eighteen months period of redemption. Period of redemption may be extended as the court may fix, but not beyond January 15, 1937, and provided mortgagor pays rental ordered by court. Corporation mortgagor may agree for a shorter period of redemption or may wholly waive it. If the mortgage foreclosed is on abandoned property or not occupied in good faith and the court so finds, six months only is allowed for redemption. This act does not apply to mortgages executed prior to the date the act took effect. When a mortgage is assigned the assignment should be acknowledged and recorded. If half of the taxes are paid by December 20, payment of the remaining half may be deferred until June 20 of the succeeding year without penalty. Payment of taxes in full on or before December 20 entitles payer to 2 per cent discount on last half of taxes. When the tax upon real estate is delinquent it is sold for taxes on the first Tuesday in September following. After sold it bears interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum and the same rate upon subsequent taxes paid and indorsed on the tax certificate. Lands bid off for taxes by county at tax sale of September, 1940, or prior years, and held by county, may be redeemed any time prior to September 1, 1941, by paying delinquent taxes, without penalties, costs or interest. Mortgagee must pay interest of 6% from date of redemption by a mortgage holder. The tax lien attaches to real estate on November 1, in the year in which the tax is levied. After land is sold for taxes, it may be redeemed within four years from date of sale. The interest of a minor may be redeemed at any time within one year after he attains his majority, and idiots and insane persons may redeem within five years after the sale.

No tax certificate issued for delinquent taxes for which no tax deed shall have been taken out shall be a lien on such real estate after the expiration of five years from the date of sale, providing that whenever any extension of the time for redemption is secured by statute, the lien of the tax certificate shall be extended for a like period.

The state imposes an inheritance tax and income tax.

The state imposed the "Kansas Retailers Sales Tax," effective June 1, 1937. Direct sales tax, payable by the purchaser, must be collected by the person making a sale and reports are required to be made to the State Tax Commission. Compliance with these requirements should appear in the witnessing clause. A will executed, proved, and allowed in another State, in the court of original probate, according to the laws of that State, may, relative to property in this State, be admitted to record in the probate court of the county in which such property is situated, by producing an authenticated copy of the will and order of probate admitting it to probate by the proper court of the county and State of which deceased died a resident, after due publication of notice thereof. Every will, when admitted to probate shall be filed in the office of the probate court and recorded. No will shall be effectual to pass real or personal property unless it shall have been duly admitted to probate.

All banks and trust companies are under supervision of the Director of the Division of Banking which is under the supervision of the Department of Business Regulation. This department must make periodical examinations and reports of all banks and trust companies, the fees for such examinations to be paid by the institution examined. No bank may permit any person to become indebted to it in a sum exceeding 20 per cent of the capital actually paid in and actual surplus unless secured by good collateral or mortgage on property, the cash value of which above all other encumbrances exceeds such indebtedness. If borrower is a director or officer of the bank he may not become indebted to it in excess of 10 per cent of its paid up capital stock without first securing the excess by a mortgage or pledge of property double in value the amount of such excess. In no event may the indebtedness of any person exceed 30% of the bank's paid up capital and actual surplus. Stockholders in banks, trust companies, and combined banks and trust companies are liable individually for all contracts and liabilities of such corporation, equally and ratably, and not one for the other, to the extent of the par value of their stock, in addition to the amount of such stock and a transfer of stock does not release liability provided the action to enforce such liability shall be commenced within two years from the time of the transfer. This liability terminated on July 1, 1937, as to such banks as published notice thereof.

The uniform bank collection code has been adopted. Any bank or trust company, or combined bank and trust company, heretofore or hereafter organized under the laws of this Commonwealth, may issue non-assessable preferred capital stock, of one or more classes, to which the double liability shall not apply. Such preferred capital stock may be considered as part of the minimum "capital stock", and in the case of existing corporations shall be issued in the manner now provided for increasing capital stock. The holders of such preferred capital stock shall be entitled to receive such cumulative dividends at a rate not exceeding 6 per cent per annum and shall have such voting and conversion rights, and such control of management, and such preference over the holders of common stock in the event of liquidation, as may be provided in the original or amended articles of incorporation under which said stock is issued. No issue of preferred stock shall be valid until the par value of all stock so issued shall be paid in.

Any bank or trust company or combined bank and trust company, organized under the laws of this Commonwealth, may subscribe for and own stock of the Federal Reserve Bank within the Federal reserve district where such bank is located and may take any steps necessary to become a member of such Federal Reserve Bank.

Any bank or trust company organized under the laws of this Commonwealth is hereby empowered upon authority of a majority of its board of directors to do anything necessary to acquire insurance of its deposits in the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, established pursuant to Section 12 B of the Federal Reserve Act, as amended, and to acquire stock or securities of such corporation, and to enter into and take advantage of all contracts, rights and privileges which may at any time be available to said bank or trust company pursuant to said Federal Act.

No Bank shall permit any one person to become indebted to it, either as principal or surety, in excess 20% of its capital and surplus unless good collateral pledged. If borrower is director or officer, the limitation is 10% of paid up capital stock. In no event shall the indebtedness of any one person exceed 30% of capital and surplus.

Blue Sky Law. Kentucky's Blue Sky Law is a comprehensive regulation of the sale of corporate securities. Non-residents must appoint the Banking Commissioner as agent for service of process. Dealers and salesmen must obtain licenses from the Director of the Division of Securities.

It is a penal offense for any person to sell or remove from the state any personal property on which there is a recorded mortgage with the intent to prevent the foreclosure of the mortgage. To be valid, an assignment of any chattel mortgage must be filed or recorded in the same manner as the original mortgage.

Checks. Any person who with intent to defraud shall make or draw or utter or deliver any check, draft, or order for the payment of money upon any bank or depository, knowing at the time of such making, drawing, uttering, or delivery that the maker or drawer has not sufficient funds in or credit with such bank or other depository for the payment of such check, draft or order in full upon its presentation; or who after having made, uttered or delivered any check, draft, or other order for the payment of money upon any bank or other depository shall withdraw or cause to be withdrawn, the money or any part thereof to the credit of the maker of such draft, check or other order for the payment of money without leaving with such bank or other depository a sum sufficient to cover such check, draft, or other order for the payment of money, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, if the amount of such check, draft or order be under Twenty Dollars, and if the amount of such check, draft or order be for Twenty Dollars or over, he shall be guilty of a felony. The making, drawing, uttering or delivering of such check, draft, or order as aforesaid, shall be strong prima facie evidence of intent to defraud.

Collections. Uniform Bank Collection Code as recommended by American Bankers Association, see complete text back of Laws.

Contracts. A seal or scroll is in no case necessary to give effect to a deed or other writing. All unsealed writings stand upon the same footing with sealed writings, having the same force and effect, and the same actions may be founded upon them. The State or county seal, or the seal of a court, corporation, or notary to any writing has not, however, been dispensed with.

The issue of no par value stock is permitted where provided for in the articles and such stock is deemed fully paid when consideration determined on by board of directors is paid. But for purposes of corporation license or franchise taxes value is fixed at $100.00.

Executions may issue upon judgment any time until execution of it is barred by limitation, but no execution shall issue on any judgment, unless ordered by the court, until after ten days from rendition. Execution constitutes lien on property of debtor from time it reaches hands of proper officer. Provided that such lien shall be void as to a purchaser for value without notice unless and until notice of such execution shall be filed in the office of the County Clerk. Execution may be replevied for three months, any time before sale under same, by defendant giving to the officer an obligation (replevin bond) payable to plaintiff, with good security for the amount thereof, interest and costs. A judgment to enforce a lien cannot be replevied. No replevy allowed upon judgment against any collecting officer, attorney at law, or agent, for a delinquency or default in executing or fulfilling duties of his office or place, or for failing to pay over money collected by him in such capacity, nor against a principal by his surety, nor upon a debt due by obligation having the force of a judgment, nor upon judgment for specific property, or for the property or its value. If land sold does not bring two-thirds of appraiser's valuation, defendant and his representatives have right to redeem within a year from the day of sale, by paying purchaser or his representatives original purchase money and ten per centum per annum interest. Land in which the execution defendant has a legal or equitable title or a contingent remainder, a defeasible fee, may be taken and sold under execution.

In addition to personal property there is for actual bona fide housekeepers with a family resident in this Commonwealth a homestead exemption of so much land including the dwelling house and appurtenances owned by debtor as shall not exceed in value one thousand dollars. This does not extend to a mortgage on or purchase money due for the land or for debts or liability existing prior to the purchase of the land, or of the erection of the improvements thereon.

Personal property or money on hand or in bank to the amount of $750.00 shall be exempt from distribution and sale and shall be set apart by the appraisers of the estate of an intestate to his widow and infant children, or, if no widow, to his infant children or child surviving him. The appraisers shall state in their appraisalment the money or the articles and value of each set apart by them to the widow, or infants, separately to the articles appraised for sale, but if the widow be present at the time of the appraisalment, or any one authorized by her in writing, she may make her selection out of the property appraised to the amount of said $750.00 and said appraisers shall so report. These provisions also apply to cases where the husband dies testate, and the widow renounces the provisions of the will in the time prescribed by law.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); January 19 (Robert E. Lee's birthday); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); June 3 (Confederate Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); the first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day and all days appointed by President of the United States or by the Governor of this State as days of fasting and Thanksgiving; and December 25 (Christmas Day). All such legal holidays shall be treated as Sunday. If any of those days named as holidays shall occur on Sunday, the next day thereafter shall be observed as a holiday. The observance of all Holidays other than Independence Day, Labor Day and Christmas Day are suspended during the continuation of hostilities. At the end of hostilities the governor shall issue a proclamation so declaring and thereupon the holidays now provided by law shall again be observed.

Husband and Wife. Marriage gives to the husband during the life of the wife no interest in any of the wife's property. She has full power to contract and to bind herself and her property, except that she can not bind herself to answer for the debt, default, misdoing of another, except as to property set apart for that purpose by mortgage. She may sell and dispose of personal property as if unmarried, but may not sell or convey real estate unless her husband unites in the contract, or conveyance unless empowered to do so by decree of court, in case of insanity, conviction of felony, or abandonment by the husband. After the death of either husband or wife the survivor shall have a life estate in one-third of all the realty of which the decedent was seized in fee simple during the coverture unless such right shall have been forfeited or relinquished. Such survivor has also absolute title to one-half the personality of the decedent left after the payment of debts. Abandonment and living in adultery by either party, or divorce works a forfeiture of these rights.

Interest. The lawful rate of interest is 6 per centum per annum, and contracts for a greater rate are void as to the excess of interest. The Court of Appeals has refused repeatedly to allow attorneys fees to be collected. Under Sections 833 i-14, etc., a company engaged in making loans of $300.00 or less may obtain a license from the Director of Division of Banking and legally charge 3 1/2% per month on the unpaid balance, on loans of less than $150.00, and 2 1/2% per month on unpaid balance on loans of more than $150.00 not exceeding $300.00.

Judgments. A judgment does not constitute a lien on property in this State. All judgments bear interest from their dates. Judgment can be kept alive for 15 years additional by having execution issued at any time within 15 years after date of judgment. (See Executions and Limitations.)

Limitations. The following are the periods within which actions must be brought, the time commencing to run from the accrual of the cause of action. Fifteen years: Actions to recover real property; actions upon judgments and written contracts, except negotiable instruments actually negotiated. Seven years: Actions by senior patentees against junior patentees, who have held possession for seven years. Five years: Actions upon merchants' accounts for goods sold; actions upon verbal contracts; upon a liability created by statute; actions for trespass to real or personal property or for damages for withholding same; for the specific recovery of personal property; actions upon negotiable instruments, though as to the makers of an undiscounted note it is fifteen years and as to sureties seven years; actions upon accounts between merchants, and actions for relief from fraud or mistake and all other actions not arising on contracts and not included in the 1 and 2 year statutes. One year: Actions for injury to person or character and for breach of promise of marriage.

Merchandise in Bulk. When any one who shall buy any stock of goods in bulk or fixtures before he shall deliver to the vendor the purchase price or any promissory note therefor shall obtain from the vendor a verified written statement of all the creditors of the vendor together with their addresses and the amount of indebtedness due to each, also an accurate inventory of the stock or fixtures to be purchased and making it the duty of the vendor to furnish such statement under oath. Upon receiving such a statement the purchaser shall notify, personally or by registered mail, each of the creditors of said vendor as appears on the list, of the proposed sale, the price to be paid therefor, the conditions of the sale and a copy of the statement furnished by the vendor. This notice shall be given or sent at least ten days before the completion of the sale. If any such purchaser fails to obtain a verified statement from the vendor or to give the notice to the creditors as above or to see that the proceeds of the sale are prorated among creditors according to dignity of their claims then such sale or transfer shall be fraudulent and void and shall operate as a general assignment for the benefit of the creditors of the vendor and the purchaser shall at the suit or option of the creditor be held liable to the creditors for the fair value of all property so bought or sold, provided, however, such suit must be brought within four months.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law was approved March 24, 1904. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Notes and Bills of Exchange. The uniform negotiable instruments law was approved March 24, 1904. Section 1 declares that an instrument to be negotiable must conform to the following requirements. (1) It must be in writing and signed by the maker or drawer. (2) Must contain an unconditional promise or order to pay a sum certain in money. (3) Must be payable on demand, or at a fixed or determinable future time. (4) Must be payable to the order of a specified person or to bearer. (5) Where the instrument is addressed to a drawee, he must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty. Days of grace are abolished. The signature of any party may be made by an agent duly authorized in writing thus differing from the uniform negotiable instruments law as enacted elsewhere. Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein; when the day of maturity falls upon Sunday, or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. The Negotiable Instruments Law has been amended and enlarged by Acts of 1930 which should be consulted by those interested.

Powers of Attorney. Powers of attorney to convey or release real or personal property may be acknowledged, proved and recorded in the proper office in the manner prescribed for recording conveyances. If the conveyance made under a power is required by law to be recorded or lodged for record to make the same valid against creditors and purchasers, then the power must be lodged or recorded in like manner.

Protest. Where any negotiable instrument has been dishonored it may be protested for non-acceptance or non-payment as the case may be; but protest is not required, except in the case of foreign bills of exchange. It is the safer practice to protest in all cases, because in all cases notice of dishonor is necessary to charge parties secondarily liable.

Sales. On March 24, 1928 the uniform sales act drawn by Professor Williston was enacted without change from the original as drawn by Professor Williston.

Taxes. State and County taxes are due on March 1st annually unless otherwise provided. Assessments are made by the state and counties as of July 1st in each year for taxes for the following year. The Sheriff is collector of state, county and school district taxes. Municipalities select their own collector.

Municipal taxes are due at different dates as may be fixed by the municipal government.

All taxes on real estate are a lien thereon from the date of assessment. The state gasoline tax is 5 cents per gallon.

The state has an income and an inheritance tax.

Unclaimed Bank Deposits. Every bank organized under the laws of Kentucky or doing business under any law of Kentucky, must annually, in January, publish in at least two issues of a newspaper published in the County in which the bank is located, a statement under oath of its Cashier, of all deposits made with it and of all the dividends and interest declared and payable by it which, at the date of such statement shall have remained unclaimed by any person authorized to receive the same for five years, giving the time when, and the name of, the person by whom the deposit was made and the name of the person in whose favor the dividend or interest was declared and when and from what source derived. It is the duty of all state and national banks and all other holders of property to report annually in duplicate to the Department of Revenue as of July 1st all property held by them declared by this Act to be presumed abandoned. The report shall be filed on or before September 1st of each year for the preceding July 1st and give the name of the owner, his last known address, amount and kind of property and such other information as the Department shall require. Property held by any person for the benefit of another shall be presumed abandoned unless claimed by beneficiary or person entitled thereto within 10 years. Person making such report required to turn over property to Department of Revenue between November 1st and 15th. (See escheat.)

Wills. Any person of sound mind and over twenty-one years of age may make a will. Wills must be in writing with the name of the testator subscribed thereto either by himself or by some other person in his presence and by his direction. If not wholly written by the testator the subscription must be made or the will acknowledged by the testator in the presence of two witnesses, who shall subscribe their names in the presence of the testator. The will of a person domiciled out of this State is valid as to personality, if executed according to the law of the domicile; but to be valid as to lands, it must be executed as required by the law of this State. The county court has exclusive original jurisdiction over the probate of wills. Holographic wills are valid if entirely written, signed and dated in the testator's own hand.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF LOUISIANA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by MESSRS. SCHWARZ, GUSTE, BARNETT & REDMANN
Attorneys at Law, Canal Bldg., New Orleans.
(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts. (See Acknowledgments.)

Acknowledgments. The uniform foreign (Act 154 of 1916), and domestic (Act 226 of 1920) acknowledgment laws have been adopted. Acknowledgments may be taken within the state by a notary public or by a recording officer.

Acknowledgments may be taken in the United States, outside of the state, by any judge, justice of the peace, notary, commissioner for Louisiana, or by any officer authorized to take acknowledgments where he acts.

Acknowledgments may be taken in foreign countries by any ambassador, minister, envoy or charge d'affairs of the United States, in the country to which he is accredited, or before any officer of the United States, a notary public, or a commissioner or other agent of Louisiana authorized to take acknowledgments, if such officers have an official seal, and are commissioned or accredited to act where the acknowledgment is taken.

Any commissioned officer of the army or navy of the United States is authorized to take acknowledgments in any foreign country in which he may be serving. (Act 192 of 1918.)

All acknowledgments taken within the United States must be witnessed by two witnesses over the age of fourteen years, who must subscribe the certificate of acknowledgment. If the party making acknowledgment be blind, three witnesses are required. Witnesses are not necessary when acknowledgments are taken outside of the United States. The officer taking the acknowledgment must not act as a witness. While a female may act as a witness, this is of doubtful advisability.

The acknowledgment of a married woman may be taken as though she were single, separate examination being unnecessary.

No authentication is required of certificates of acknowledgments taken in the state, or taken in foreign countries, or taken in the United States by notaries public, or commissioners for Louisiana, under their official seals. Certificates of acknowledgments taken in the United States before other officers must be authenticated by a certificate of a secretary of state as to the capacity of the officer.

Authentication for use out of the state may be by the secretary of state, whose fee is one dollar, or by any clerk of a court of record, civil district or federal court, whose fee is fifty cents.

Actions. Commenced by petition setting forth cause of action, articulated in numbered paragraphs, signed by plaintiff or his attorney and duly sworn to. Plaintiff must give resident security for costs or make deposit to cover same if demanded. (See Act 300 of 1914 regulating pleadings and practice as amended by act 27 of 1926.) After filing of petition, defendant is cited to appear ten days after receipt of citation in District Courts and Justice of Peace courts outside of city of New Orleans. One day additional for every ten miles his residence is distant from court. Delay in no case to exceed fifteen days. In city courts of New Orleans, defendant must appear three days after receipt of citation. Neither day of service nor day on which answer must be filed is included in delay. If defendant fails to appear, judgment by default is rendered against him. In district courts such judgment is confirmed two judicial days after preliminary entry of default. In Justice of Peace courts judgment of default is confirmed the same day as that on which default is entered.

Administration of Estates by executors, administrators, or tutors and are ex-officio administrators—also by dative executors—where there is no heir present or agent of heir, public administrator takes charge in New Orleans. A non-resident executor of a will must in all cases give bond; a resident need not unless required by creditors. Administrators and executors of other states must open succession of deceased in the courts of this State, and be recognized as such here before they can sue or be sued or transfer property in this State. Stock in local corporations may be transferred by non-resident executors, etc., without the necessity of securing an order from the local court, but no transfer can be made until the inheritance tax is adjusted. No debts can be paid by administrator without authorization of probate court. The administrator or executor presents to the court an account or tableau of distribution setting forth the payments and disbursements he proposes to make. Parties interested are notified by publication to show cause within ten days why the account so filed should not be approved. Any party interested may oppose the account by opposition in writing at any time within the said ten days. In absence of opposition account is homologated upon production of satisfactory evidence by administrator or executor, and the funds ordered distributed in accordance therewith.

Claims against estates should be presented in writing to the administrator or executor. Should he approve the same in writing, no further action is required except to see that the claim is placed upon his account when filed. Should he decline to recognize the claim, creditor may file suit against succession representative and obtain a judgment to be paid in ordinary course of administration. If there is no danger of prescription, creditor may await filing of account and then oppose same if claim is not included.

Affidavits. (See Acknowledgments.)

Aliens. No alien who is ineligible to citizenship of the United States may hold land or any real right. Aliens may not vote.

Arbitration. Agreements to submit to arbitration recognized by law. "Louisiana Arbitration act" adopted Act 262 of 1928. Arbitrators must be sworn, otherwise decision is not binding. State board of arbitration of labor troubles established. [Act 139 of 1894.]

Assignments and Insolvency. State insolvent laws superseded by National Bankruptcy act.

Attachment. Writs of attachment issue on application of creditor, under oath, when debtor about permanently leaving state, without possibility in ordinary course of obtaining or executing judgment previous to departure, or when such debtor has already left state permanently, when the debtor resides out of the state; when he conceals himself to avoid being cited; when he has mortgaged, assigned or disposed of, or is about to mortgage, assign, or dispose of his property, rights, or credits, or some part thereof, with intent to defraud his creditors or give an unfair preference to some of them; and when he has concealed, or is about to convert, his property into money or evidences of debt with intent to place it beyond the reach of his creditors, or, if debt not due, is about to remove his property out of the State. Creditor must furnish bond equal to the amount claimed to be due, with at least one solvent surety, residing within the jurisdiction of the court, conditioned for payment to any party injured by issuance of writ of all damages sustained by him in case it is decided that the attachment was wrongfully obtained. (Act 119 of 1916). Bond of $250 is sufficient if debtor resides outside of state but bond may be increased to amount of claim upon order of court at demand of debtor. Garnishment may be had as an accessory either to a writ of attachment or fieri facias. Attachment may now issue for an offense, quasi offense or tort if defendant is non-resident (Act 215 of 1920).

Banks. Capital Stock and Surplus Requirements. Savings banks must have a capital stock of $30,000.00, all fully paid, in towns of less than 15,000 population; or $50,000.00 in towns of more than 15,000 population, and less than 30,000 population; or $100,000.00 in towns of more than 30,000 population. Corporations carrying on general banking business must have capital of $25,000.00 in towns of less than 3,000 population; or $50,000.00 in towns of more than 3,000 population and less than 30,000 population; or $100,000.00 in towns of more than 30,000 population. Surplus of all banks must be 50% of the capital stock.

Reserve. A cash reserve of 20% of the demand deposits is required, 4% to be kept on the premises or on deposit in the Federal Reserve Bank in cash. For the remainder of the liabilities for demand deposits, an amount equal thereto in discounted paper or bonds, stocks, etc., should be maintained as reserve.

Incorporators. Not less than seven persons are required to form a corporation for the purpose of carrying on general banking business. Not less than five persons may form a savings or trust bank.

Directors. There must be a board of directors of not less than five, nor more than 30 members, the majority of whom must be citizens of Louisiana, owning at least $100.00 of stock.

Supervision—Examination and Reports. A State Bank Commissioner is appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate, who examines the banks twice each year, and reports thereon to the Legislature at the commencement of each session. In addition all banks must file sworn reports with Commissioner four times each year.

Loan Limitations. Loans cannot be made to one borrower for more than 20% of the bank's capital stock and declared surplus. However, loans secured by good collateral may be made to one borrower for one-half of the capital and declared surplus, and loans to one borrower of an amount not greater than the capital and declared surplus may be made when the loan is secured by the pledge of obligations of the U. S. or of the State of Louisiana. Loans to any employees are prohibited.

Kinds of Banks. Companies organized under the banking laws of this state consist of banks of deposit, discount, exchange and circulation, savings banks, safe deposit and trust banks.

Branch Banks. No banking association or savings bank with capital stock of less than $50,000 may locate or operate branch offices. The total number of branch banks permitted any one bank is determined according to a scale dependent upon the capital of the bank.

Stockholder's Liability. No stockholder is liable for more than the unpaid portion of the original purchase price of his stock. Act No. 180 of 1934 authorizes banks of this State to contract for Federal Deposit Insurance. The act further provides that upon assuming the powers of receiver or liquidator of a bank in this State, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation shall have the right and power to enforce the individual liability, under the laws of this State, of each stockholder of any such banking institution, when it ascertains that the assets thereof will be insufficient to pay its debts and liabilities.

Chattel Mortgages. As provided by Act 198 of 1918, as amended, any kind of movable property may be mortgaged for debts, for money loaned, future advances or to guarantee contractual obligations. The act of mortgage may be passed before a Notary Public and two witnesses, or by private Act duly acknowledged by one of the parties thereto or a witness before a Notary Public (if acknowledged by witness no right of executory process), and must be recorded in Parish where property is situated and Parish where mortgagor resides in order to affect third persons without notice. Chattel so mortgaged cannot be transferred from one parish of the State into another without written consent of mortgagee. Inscription of chattel mortgage must be renewed within five years.

Collaterals must be delivered to be effectual. Act 9 of 1914 makes it a felony for a customer of bank to wrongfully dispose of collateral security pledged to bank. Uniform Bills of Lading law obtains. (Act 94 of 1912.)

Conditional Sale. Act 119 of 1918 makes lawful a conditional sale of tank cars providing for retaking of car by conditional vendor without right of redemption being given to vendee, all payments of such date of retaking being forfeited. Act 111 of 1894 provides for conditional sale of railway equipment. Other conditional sales of movable property are ineffective as between the parties or innocent third persons.

Conveyances. All agreements affecting real property must be in writing, and transfers and mortgages, etc., must be recorded in the place where the property is situated to affect the rights of third persons. Deeds are made under private signature or by act passed before a notary public in the presence of two witnesses. Both vendor and vendee sign, though signature of vendee is not essential, as any act of acceptance will answer. The notary in Parish of Orleans preserves the originals of deeds passed before him and certified copies given by him are received as evidence in the courts. Every notarial deed should contain (1) date of act and place where it was passed, (2) names and surnames and qualities of contracting parties, (3) description of the property, etc., (4) price of transfer and terms and conditions. (5) The marital status, of all parties must be given. Married women may not dispose of separate property without authorization of husband or court. The husband acts alone in the sale of community property; the signature of the wife being unnecessary. Either husband or wife, if husband refuses to do so, may designate family home by registration. If so designated, wife's signature necessary to pass title.

Corporations. Any number of persons, exceeding six, may form themselves into corporations for literary, scientific, religious, and charitable purposes; for works of public improvement, and generally all works of public utility and advantage; and any number of persons, not less than three, may form themselves into a corporation for the purpose of carrying on mechanical, mining, or manufacturing business, except distilling or manufacturing intoxicating liquors, with a capital not less than $5,000 or more than $1,000,000. Any number of persons not less than three may form themselves into a corporation on complying with the general corporation laws, for the purpose of carrying on any lawful business or enterprise not otherwise specially provided for, except banking and insurance, homestead and building and loan associations. By act 250 of 1928 the corporation law of Louisiana has been largely revised, generally along the lines of the uniform corporation law but with distinctive features. The act is effective as from January 1st, 1929. The legislature can not pass a special act conferring corporate powers. Corporation committing a trespass or damage may be sued at place where it occurred. (Act 130 of 1926.) (See Act 154 of 1902 for formation of corporations for works of public improvement.) Act 120 of 1902 provides for organization, etc., of local and foreign building and loan or homestead associations. No corporation can declare dividends out of its capital stock. Annual meetings of corporations may be held anywhere within or without the state.

Foreign Corporations may be licensed and taxed by a mode different from that provided for home corporations. No domestic or foreign corporations shall do any business in this State without having one or more known places of business and an authorized agent or agents in the State upon whom process may be served. All corporations (except mercantile corporations) domiciled out of the State and doing business in the State in default of filing with the secretary of state a declaration of the place of its locality or domicile together with a resolution authorizing the appointment of an agent together with a power of attorney appointing an agent in the State upon whom service of process may be made, may be sued upon any cause of action in any parish where the right of action arises and such corporation must show its principal place of business and the places of business it proposes to have in Louisiana.

Foreign corporations must file in office of secretary of state a written declaration setting forth and containing the place or locality of its domicile, the places in the State where it is doing business, and the name of its agent or other officer in this State upon whom process may be served. (Act 54 of 1904 amended by Act 284 of 1908. Act 284 of 1908 amended by Act 243 of 1912. See Act 194 of 1912.) Act 107 of 1922 requires foreign corporations doing business in this state to pay a tax of one-twentieth of 1 per cent on the amount of the capital stock employed in this state. Act to operate prospectively only. Foreign Corporations are denied the right to sue in the courts of this state unless qualified to do business herein. (Act 27 of 3rd Extra Session of 1935.)

As to non trading corporations, see Act 259 of 1914.

Act No. 16 of 1934 provides for the cancellation of the charter of any corporation failing to make any report or pay any tax as provided by law. Act No. 18 of 1934, as amended by Act No. 25 of the First Extra Session of 1934, provides for the levying of a franchise tax on corporations doing business in this state, and provides for annual report by them. Acts Nos. 12 and 23 of the Third Extra Session of 1934 provide that domestic and foreign corporations are required to keep detailed books showing stock, ownership, transfers of stock, assets, liabilities, and business transaction in Louisiana.

and insolvency business, as the courts en banc may by rule determine. On all amounts up to $2,000 inclusive, and in suits for damages or death caused by wrongful injury, an appeal may be taken to the court of appeals, from the city and district courts respectively, and on all amounts over $2,000, except suits for damages or death caused by wrongful injury, to the state supreme court. An appeal lies on both law and facts. Appeals from the city courts shall be tried de novo, except suits for amounts between $100 and $300.

Days of Grace. Abolished.

Depositions. To take testimony of witness residing out of parish or State it is necessary to file motion duly sworn to showing non-residence and materiality of evidence. Written interrogatories are prepared and served on opposite party, or his counsel, who has three days in which to cross. Commission then issues, directed to some proper officer, with interrogatories and cross interrogatories annexed, who must cause witness to appear before him to answer under oath the direct and the cross interrogatories. He should reduce answer to writing, read same to witness and cause witness to sign same. The officer then prepares a process verbal of the whole, attaches it to the commission, interrogatories, etc., and should return same to the court issuing the commission within the time fixed therein for taking the deposition. The deposition of a fugitive from justice is not admissible in evidence. (Also see Act 176 of 1910 and 98 of 1926.) The uniform foreign depositions act has been adopted (Act 34 of 1922).

An additional method of taking depositions of witnesses residing out of the parish, but in the state, or residing out of the state is provided by Act No. 143 of 1934.

Descent. If one dies leaving no descendants, but a father and mother and a brother and sister, or descendants of these last, the succession is divided into two equal parts, one goes to father and mother, the other to brothers and sisters or their descendants. If either father or mother of deceased dies before him, the portion which would have been inherited by such deceased parent goes to the brothers and sisters of the deceased, or their descendants. If deceased left neither descendants nor brothers nor sisters, nor descendants from them, nor father nor mother, but only other ascendants, they inherit to the exclusion of all collaterals. If ascendants in paternal and maternal lines are all of the same degree, the estate is divided into two parts, one goes to ascendants on the paternal and the other to ascendants on the maternal side. If there is in the nearest degree but one ascendant in the two lines such ascendant excludes all other ascendants of a more remote degree. If one dies leaving no descendants, and his father and mother survive, his brothers and sisters, or their descendants, take half of his estate. If the father or mother only survive, brothers and sisters, or their descendants, take three-fourths. If one dies leaving no descendants nor father nor mother, his brothers and sisters, or their descendants, take all the estate. The partition of the half and three-quarters, or the whole of the succession falling to brothers and sisters, as above set forth, is made in equal portions, if they are of the same marriage; if they are of different marriages, the succession is equally divided between the paternal and the maternal lines of the deceased, the Germaine brothers and sisters taking part in the two lines, the paternal and maternal brothers and sisters each in their respective lines only; if there are brothers and sisters on one side only, they inherit the whole succession to the exclusion of all other relations of the other line. If deceased died without descendants, leaving neither brothers nor sisters, nor descendants from them, nor mother nor father, nor ascendants in the paternal or maternal lines, his succession passes to his other collateral relations, the one nearest in degree excluding the others. When the deceased has left neither lawful descendants nor lawful ascendants, nor collateral relations, the law calls to his inheritance either the surviving husband or wife, or his or her natural children, or the State. If natural mother left no lawful children or descendants, her natural children, acknowledged by her, inherit to the exclusion of her father and mother and other ascendants or collaterals of lawful kindred. Natural children inherit from their natural father, who has acknowledged them, when he has left no descendants nor ascendants, nor collateral relations, nor surviving wife, and to the exclusion only of the State. Donations inter vivos or mortis causa cannot exceed two-thirds of the property of the disposer if he leaves at his decease a legitimate child, one-half if he leaves two children, and one-third if he leaves three or more. If he leaves no descendants but a mother or father or both, cannot exceed two-thirds. The remaining half, third or fourth, as the case may be is the legitime of the child or children and father and for mother. Tax: To descendants, etc., 2 per cent from $5,000 to $20,000, 3 per cent above $20,000. To collaterals, 5 per cent or $1,000 to $20,000, 7 per cent above $20,000. To strangers 5 per cent from $500 to $5,000, 10 per cent above $5,000. Exemptions: $5,000 for direct descendant, ascendant, or surviving spouse, $1,000 to collaterals, $500 to strangers. Bequests to educational, religious or charitable institutions located within the state are exempt. R. C. C. 915 amended to read, "When either husband or wife shall die, leaving neither a father nor mother nor descendants, and without having disposed by last will and testament of his or her share of the community property, such undistributed share shall be inherited by the surviving spouse in full ownership. In the event the deceased leave descendants his or her share in the community estate shall be inherited by such descendants in the manner provided by law. Should the deceased leave no descendants, but a father and mother, or either, then the share of the deceased in the community estate shall be divided in two equal portions, one of which shall go to the father and mother or the survivor of them, and the other portion shall go to the surviving spouse."

Note: This article controls community property; for inheritance of separate property by surviving spouse see above.

If two-thirds of appraised value is not bid, property must be re-advertised for fifteen days, and sold on a credit for twelve months for whatever it will bring. There is no redemption of property sold under execution or mortgage. No stay of execution is given except on appeal, and execution may issue at any time after the delay for appealing suspensively has expired. Act 113 of 1906 authorizes sheriffs and constables to put purchaser of seized property in possession. On proper petition the court can order an examination of a judgment debtor as to his assets and liabilities. (Act 198 of 1924.)

Limitation of Actions. Limitation of actions, or prescription, under the law of Louisiana is a manner of acquiring ownership of property, or of discharging debts by the effect of time and under the conditions regulated by law.

Of the prescription by which the ownership of property is acquired. He who acquired an immovable in good faith and by a just title prescribes for it in ten years, provided he has had continuous and uninterrupted possession during that time. This runs against minors in twenty two years from birth and all others excepted by law. Act 161 of 1920.

The ownership of immovables is prescribed for by thirty years without any need of title, and without reference to good faith, provided there has been continuous and uninterrupted possession as owner during this time.

If a person is possessed in good faith, and by a just title of a movable during three years without interruption he acquires the ownership by prescription, unless the thing was stolen or lost.

When the possessor of any movable whatever has possessed it for ten years without interruption he shall acquire the ownership of it without being obliged to produce a title, or to prove that he did not act in bad faith.

Prescription runs against all persons unless they are included in some exception established by law.

Minors and persons under interdiction cannot be prescribed against except in certain cases provided by law.

Husbands and wives cannot prescribe against each other.

Of the prescription which operates a release from debt. Various actions are prescribed by one year. Among these may be mentioned those of masters and instructors for lessons which they give by the month. Those of inn keepers, on account of lodging and board which they furnish. Those of retailers of liquors. Those of workmen, laborers and servants, for the payment of their wages, and actions for injurious words, whether verbal or written. Those for damages caused by animals, and all actions for damages or torts.

This prescription runs against minors and interdicted persons, reserving, however, to them their recourse against their tutors and curators.

Actions by or against common carriers for collection or recovery of freight charges or for loss of or damage to freight are prescribed by two years from date of shipment.

The following actions are prescribed by three years, to wit: First—That for arrearages of rent charges, annuities and alimony, or for hire of movables and immovables. Second—That for payment of money lent. Third—That for the salaries of overseers, clerks, secretaries and of teachers who give lessons by the year or quarter. Fourth—That of physicians, surgeons and apothecaries for visits, operations and medicines. Fifth—That of parish recorders, sheriffs, clerks and attorneys for their fees and emoluments. Sixth—That on accounts of merchants. Seventh—That on all other accounts. Eighth—Tax inscriptions. Ninth—Licenses. Tenth—Inheritance taxes as against purchasers and third persons in good faith.

This prescription runs against minors and interdicted persons, reserving to them, however, their recourse against their tutors and curators.

Four years' prescription applies to special action—as action of minor against tutor respecting acts of tutorship; of minor for rescission of judgment; action of lesion.

The following actions are prescribed by five years, to wit: Actions on bills of exchange, notes payable to order or bearer, except bank notes. Those on all effects negotiable or transferable by endorsement or delivery, and those on all promissory notes negotiable or otherwise. Inheritance taxes as against heirs in five years from opening of successions.

This prescription runs against minors and interdicted persons, reserving to them, however, their recourse against their tutors and curators.

Second—Actions for the nullity or rescission of contracts, testament or other acts.

Third—Actions for the reduction of excessive donations.

Fourth—Actions for the rescission of partitions.

Any and all informalities of legal procedure connected with or growing out of any sale at public auction of real or personal property made by any sheriff of the parishes of this State, licensed auctioneer, or other persons, authorized by an order of the courts of this State, to sell at public auction, shall be prescribed against by those claiming under such sale after the lapse of two years from the time of making said sales, except where minors or interdicted persons were part owners at the time of making it, and in the event of such part ownership by said minors or interdicted persons, the prescription thereon shall accrue after five years from the date of public adjudication thereof. Act 231 of 1932.)

All personal actions, except those above enumerated, are prescribed by ten years.

Actions for immovable property, or for an entire estate, as a succession, are prescribed by thirty years.

Limitation on Tort Actions. All actions on torts are prescribed by one year.

Limitations to Suits. Prescription—Accounts stated and acknowledged in writing are prescribed only by ten years. (Act of 1888.) Personal actions one year: action for torts of all kinds; for injury to or non-delivery of merchandise shipped on vessels; for fees of justice, notary, or constable; for innkeepers' accounts; for accounts of retailers of liquors; for wages of laborers or sailors; for freight; and for tuition by month. Three years: Action for arrearages of rent charges, hire of movables or immovables or money lent; for salaries of overseers, clerks, or tuition by quarter or year; for fees of physicians, apothecaries, attorneys, sheriffs, clerks, and recorders; on open accounts of merchants, whether wholesale or retail, and others. Four years: Actions by minors against their tutors, counting four years from majority. Five years: Action on bills of exchange or promissory notes, counting from maturity, and for nullity of contracts or wills; for rescission of partitions; to set aside public and judicial sales for informalities. Ten years: All other actions; the right to a usufruct or servitude, all judgments, whether rendered within or without the State, but judgments may be revived before lapse of ten years, and are then good for ten years from date of revival. Prescription of ten and thirty years now runs against minors, interdicts and married women (Act 161 of 1920). Husband and wife can not prescribe against each other. Promise to pay or payment on account will interrupt prescription. Only written promise to pay will revive when prescription has accrued.

Limited Partnerships. (See Partnership.)

Married Women. Act 132 of 1926 and Act 283 of 1928 provide that a married woman, whether a resident of this state or not, shall be competent to contract debts, purchase, sell and mortgage, and to bind and obligate herself personally and with reference to her separate and paraphernal property; to appear in court and to sue and be sued; to sell, alienate or otherwise dispose of, and to mortgage and pledge, or otherwise encumber, her separate and paraphernal property for the benefit of herself, her husband or any other person, and to bind and obligate herself personally or as surety for her husband or any other person; and that such rights may be exercised without the necessity of obtaining the authority of her husband or the judge; provided, however, that the rights granted by said act shall not apply to married women under the age of eighteen years or to married women who are interdicted, nor shall anything therein contained be deemed or construed to affect in any way the statutes of this state establishing and regulating the matrimonial community, whether a resident of this state or not, shall be deemed separate property of the spouses. Revenues of all separate property administered by the husband, and all property acquired by either husband or wife after marriage, except by donation or inheritance constitute part of community, unless bought with the separate means of either and as a separate acquisition. Wife has no dower in her husband's real estate. The wife can have no claim upon the property of the husband to the prejudice of third parties, unless recorded. Where one of the spouses is agent for the other, he or she may be witness for the other in a matter connected with that transaction. Act 157 of 1916 permits but does not compel one spouse to be a witness either for or against the other in any civil proceeding. After dissolution of marriage by death or divorce the survivor is entitled to one-half of all property remaining after payment of debts, acquired during marriage, and in case of death, if there is issue, the usufruct of the other half, unless this half is disposed of by will of deceased spouse. Wife cannot be a witness to husband's will. (See "Liens and Privileges.")

Monopolies or Trusts are regulated and rights are given against them similar to those existing under Federal Law. The state authorities may take action and the individual may recover threefold damages sustained. See Acts Nos. 11 and 12, extra session 1915.

Mortgages can be foreclosed at any time after maturity of the debt, by instituting a regular suit and obtaining judgment thereon, or

If the act imports a confession of judgment in favor of the holder, he can apply to the court for an order directing the sheriff to seize and sell the property. All mortgages must be recorded before they can have any effect as against third parties. Trust deeds are not legal, except as provided under "Trusts." There is no redemption of property sold under mortgage. All tacit mortgages have been abolished since 1870. In making sales or giving a mortgage upon his property, it is not necessary for the husband to obtain the signature of the wife, except as affecting the homestead and family home. A mortgage resulting from recording a judgment cannot have that effect until after adjournment of court. [Act 1888.] Lease or sub-lease or assignee of lease or sub-lease may mortgage his interest in such lease or sub-lease, together with his interest in buildings, etc., upon leased premises; provided, such mortgage shall not affect, diminish or destroy lessor's privilege. Leases and contracts to explore for oil, gas and minerals may be mortgaged. [Act 232 of 1910.]

Act 118 of 1934 authorizes the issuance of an order for executory process when there is a variance between an act of mortgage and the note, or notes issued in connection therewith, due to clerical error. Act 121 of 1934 authorizes administrators and executors to transfer property, encumbered with mortgages in excess of the value of such property, to the holder of such mortgage. Act 159 of 1934 provides for a general suspension on all foreclosures of mortgages of real estate. Act No. 199 of 1934 provides that mortgages on rural real estate shall not cover or affect the live stock and implements and machinery used in the farming thereof.

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted Aug. 1, 1904, Act No. 64 of 1904. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws," Sec. 85 of the negotiable instruments act was amended by Act No. 89 of 1926, abolishing days of grace and providing that when the day of maturity falls upon Saturday, Sunday, or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day which is not a Saturday. This amendment further provides that instruments payable on demand may at the option of the holder be presented for payment before 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, when the entire day is not a holiday, however, said holder shall not be guilty of neglect for failure to present on Saturday. Sec. 132 of the negotiable instruments act was amended by Act No. 189 of 1908, providing that the acceptance of a bill must be in writing.

Partnership, Limited and Special. Stipulations that one shall participate in the profits and shall not contribute to losses is void, both as regards partners and third persons. Partnerships are divided as to their object into commercial and ordinary partnerships. Commercial partnerships are such as are formed: 1. For the purchase of any personal property, and the sale thereof either in the same state or changed by manufacture. 2. For buying or selling any personal property whatever, as factors or brokers. 3. For carrying personal property or passengers for hire, in ships, vessels, or in any other vehicle of transportation. (Act 150 of 1932.) There is also a species of partnership which may be incorporated with either of the other kinds, called partnership in commendam. It is formed by contract, by which one person or partnership agrees to furnish another person or partnership a certain amount, either in property or money, to be employed by the person or partnership to whom it is furnished, in his or their own name or firm, on condition of receiving a share in the profits, in the proportion determined by the contract, and of being liable to losses and expenses to the amount furnished and no more. Partner in commendam cannot bind other partners by his act. Partnership in commendam must be made in writing; must express amount furnished or agreed to be furnished; must state whether it is received in goods or money, etc.; the proportion of profits which partner is to receive and expenses and losses he is to bear; must be signed by parties in presence of at least one witness and recorded in full within six days in mortgage office. If branch houses are established the contract must be recorded in parish where branches are located. If partner in commendam allow his name to be used, or if he take any part in the business of the partnership, he will be liable as a general partner. Ordinary partners are not bound in solido for debts of partnership, and no one of them can bind his partners unless they have given him power to do so; each is bound for his share of the debt in proportion to the number of partners. Commercial partners are each liable for the entire debts of the partnership.

Powers of Attorney. May be written or oral. May be either general for all affairs or special for one affair only. One conceived in general terms confers only power of administration; to sell, mortgage or do any other act of ownership, the power must be express and special.

Probate Law. There is no special probate court. District courts are vested with probate jurisdiction. Successions are opened upon petition of interested persons in the parish where the deceased resided, if he had a domicile or fixed place of residence in the state; in the parish where he left his landed property, if he had neither domicile nor place of residence in the state; or in the parish in which it appears from the inventory that his principal property was situated, if he left property in several parishes; in the parish where he died, if he had no certain domicile nor any fixed property. If presumptive heir does not begin legal proceedings to settle succession within ten days after death of "de cuius," creditors may demand that he state whether he accepts or rejects succession, or if no heirs appear, that a curator ad hoc be appointed to settle the estate. The judge appoints an administrator when deceased leaves no will. Administrators must render annual accounts, and are allowed 2½ per cent on the inventory as commissions. Attorneys at law are appointed to represent absent heirs. Properties acquired during marriage are presumed to be community property, and surviving spouse is owner of one-half. When either husband or wife dies, leaving no ascendants or descendants, and without having disposed by will of his or her share in the community, such undivided share shall be inherited by the surviving spouse in full ownership. (See Successions).

Protest. (See Negotiable Instruments.)

Separation from Bed and Board. May be claimed reciprocally for: 1. Adultery. 2. When spouse condemned to infamous punishment. 3. Habitual intemperance, excesses, cruel treatment, or outrages, when such renders living together insupportable. 4. Public defamation of one spouse by the other. 5. Abandonment. 6. Attempt of one spouse against life of other. 7. When one spouse charged with infamous offense actually flees from justice.

Judgment of Divorce "a vinculo matrimonii" can be obtained immediately for first two causes. For other causes it is necessary first to obtain judgment of separation "a mensa et thoro." After judgment of separation from bed and board, if there has been no reconciliation, party in whose favor judgment is rendered can obtain final divorce one year after finality of judgment of separation. Party against whom judgment is rendered must wait one year and sixty days when marriage is celebrated outside of state parties cannot obtain divorce in state on grounds occurring outside of state, except, as provided by C. C. Art. 142, as amended by Act No. 1 of the Second Extra Session of 1934, when the wife shall have been domiciled in Louisiana prior to the marriage. Divorce may now be obtained if both parties have lived separate for two years*, Act 430 of 1938.

Taxes. Taxes on real estate cannot be enforced until the expiration of the year for which they are levied and after legal notices to delinquents and advertisement. Lands sold for taxes are redeemable within three (3) years, by the owner, his agent, or heirs, or any creditor, on payment of the purchase money, with 5 per cent interest plus 1 per cent per month, and costs, and all subsequent taxes paid. Lands sold for taxes due prior to 1880 are not redeemable. State taxes are 5½ mills on actual value, parish taxes not exceeding 4 mills. City of New Orleans taxes are 21½ mills on 85 per cent of actual value plus 7 mills (Orleans Parish School Board) on 100 per cent of actual value, other municipal taxes not to exceed 7 mills. Delinquent state taxes bear interest at 2 per cent a month, city taxes, 10 per cent a year.

Act No. 21 of 1934, as amended by Act No. 2 of the First Extra Session of 1934, and as amended by Act No. 7 of the Second Extra Session of 1934, provides for a state income tax of 2% on the first $10,000, 4% on the next $40,000, and 6% on any amount in excess of $50,000; allowing the following exemptions: $1,000 for a single person, $2,500 in the case of the head of a family or married person living with husband or wife, and $400 for each additional dependent. The act also provides for a tax of 4% upon the net income of every corporation, in excess of $3,000.

Trusts. Act 81 of 1938. Allows Trusts to be established for a period of ten years.

Wills. There are four different kinds of wills, viz.: The olographic, nuncupative by public act, nuncupative by private act, and mystic (or sealed) will. The olographic will must be wholly written, dated and signed by the testator, and may be made within or without the State. Nuncupative will by public act is written by a notary in presence of three witnesses, over the age of 16 years complete, not insane, deaf, dumb or blind, residing in the place where will is executed, or five witnesses not residents of the place, at the dictation of the testator. Nuncupative will by private act and mystic wills are subject to many formalities which may be best obtained by reference to Civil Code Arts. 1581-1587 both inclusive. All persons of sound mind over sixteen years of age may dispose of their property by will. Wills executed without the state given force and effect provided same be in writing and subscribed by testator and follows form of place where executed, or of testator's domicile. (See act 176 of 1912.)

Wife or husband may bar the dower by inheritance to one-third or one-half, as the case may be, of realty by joining in the other's deed, or by sole deed, or by ante-nuptial settlement, or by jointure. Either refusing to join in other's conveyance (or if incapacitated with no guardian in this state, other being a non-resident) may be barred of inheritance upon application to supreme judicial court and decree after hearing. (See Estates of Deceased Persons.)

Allowance to widow and minor children, made by court from estate. Non-resident executor or administrator must appoint attorney. Time of demand or notice extended for absent creditor if further assets, but prior payments not disturbed thereby. No administration granted after twenty years. The real and personal estate of a person deceased intestate (excepting wild lands conveyed by him) being subject to the payment of debts descends according to the following rules: 1. If he leaves a widow and issue, one-third to the widow. If no issue, one-half to the widow. And if no kindred, the whole to the widow. And to the widow shall descend the same shares in his wife's real and personal estate. There shall likewise descend to the widow, or widow, or widower, the same share in all such real estate of which the deceased was seized during coverture, and which has not been barred, or released, as herein provided. In any event, one-third shall descend to the widow or widower free from the payments of debts. 2. The remainder of which he dies seized, and if no widower, or widow, the whole, together with all wild lands shall descend in equal shares to his children, and to the lawful issue of a deceased child by right of representation. If no child is living at the time of his death, to all his lineal descendants; equally, if all are the same degree of kindred; if not, according to the right of representation. 3. If no such issue, it descends to his father and mother in equal shares. 4. If no such issue, or father, it descends one-half to his mother. If no such issue or mother, it descends one-half to his father. In either case, the remainder, or if no such issue, father or mother, the whole descends in equal shares to his brothers and sisters, and when a brother or sister has died, to his brothers and sisters, or grandchildren by right of representation. 5. If no such issue, father, brother or sister, it descends to his mother. If no such issue, mother, brother or sister, it descends to his father. In either case, to the exclusion of the issue of deceased brothers and sisters. 6. If no such issue, father, mother, brother or sister, it descends to his next of kin in equal degree; when they claim through different ancestors, to those claiming through a nearer ancestor, in preference to those claiming through an ancestor more remote. 7. When a minor dies unmarried, leaving property inherited from either of his parents, it descends to the other children of the same parent, and the issue of those deceased; in equal shares if all are of the same degree of kindred; otherwise, according to the right of representation. 8. If the intestate leaves no widower, widow or kindred, it escheats to the State. Property in warehouse may be attached as that of person named in receipt, or of last endorsee shown by books of warehouseman. Common law rules prevail generally.

Wills executed in another State or country according to laws thereof, may be proved and allowed in this State in the county where the testator had his residence at time of decease; if proved without this State (at his domicile), may be allowed in any county here where he has property. Widow or widower may within six months waive provision in will of deceased husband or wife and claim same share in property as would have had in case deceased died intestate. (But see Husband and Wife.)

Not effectual to dispose of more than $100.00 worth of property unless proved by three witnesses who acted at testator's request.

Acknowledgments. Maryland has adopted the Uniform Acknowledgments Act. (1) The acknowledgment of any instrument may be made in this State before: a Judge of a court of record; a Clerk or Deputy Clerk of a court having a seal; a Notary Public; a Justice of the Peace; or a Master in Chancery. (2) The acknowledgment of any instrument may be made without the State but within the United States or a territory or insular possession of the United States or the District of Columbia or the Philippine Islands and within the jurisdiction of the officer, before: a Clerk or Deputy Clerk of any Federal Court; a Clerk or Deputy Clerk of any court of record of any State or other jurisdiction; a Notary Public; a Commissioner of Deeds. (3) The acknowledgment of any instrument may be made without the United States before: an Ambassador, Minister, Charge d'Affaires, Counselor or Secretary of a Legation, Consul General, Consul, Vice-Consul, Commercial Attache, or Consular Agent of the United States accredited to the country where the acknowledgment is made; a Notary Public of the country where the acknowledgment is made; a Judge or Clerk of a court of record of the country where the acknowledgment is made.

The officer taking the acknowledgment shall know or have satisfactory evidence that the person making the acknowledgment is the person described in and who executed the instrument. An acknowledgment of a married woman may be made in the same form as though she were unmarried. The certificate of the acknowledging officer shall be completed by his signature, his official seal if he has one, the title of his office, and if he is a Notary Public, the date his commission expires. If the acknowledgment is taken without this State the certificate shall be authenticated by a certificate as to the official character of the acknowledging officer. Corporations acknowledge either by attorney appointed for that purpose in the body of the instrument itself, or by the President or Vice-President of the corporation without such appointment. All conveyances acknowledged prior to June 1, 1941 in which the acknowledgment is defective, have been validated by Chapter 141 of the Acts of 1941 (See Conveyances).

Administration of Estates. The Orphans' Courts of the Counties and the Orphans' Court of Baltimore City are the courts of probate. Where decedent leaves a will, letters testamentary are committed to the executor or executors (male or female) named in the will, if any are named. Letters testamentary or of administration will not be granted to any person under the age of eighteen years or of unsound mind, or convicted of any infamous crime nor to any person not a citizen of the United States. A non-resident of Maryland may be appointed as the personal representative of a decedent resident of Maryland only when the State of his or her residence extends reciprocal privileges to residents of Maryland. In granting letters of administration where decedent dies without leaving a will, or leaving a will, does not name an executor or executors, certain persons are preferred to others. The order of preference follows: 1. Surviving spouse, or child, or children (in discretion of the Court); 2. Grandchild; 3. Father; 4. Mother; 5. Brothers and Sisters; 6. Next of kin. Where one of a class of persons is entitled the appointment is in the discretion of the Court. Relations of the whole blood are preferred to those of the half-blood in equal degree, and relations of the half-blood are preferred to those of the whole-blood in a remoter degree. A single woman is preferred to a married woman in equal degree. 7. If there be no relations who qualify, letters of administration shall be granted to the largest creditor applying for the same. 8. If there shall be none of the first five groups above named, or if these be incapable or refuse to act, and if the sixth and seventh groups neglect to apply, the appointment is in the discretion of the Court. Bond is required with two sureties, or one of certain surety corporations authorized by the law of Maryland to qualify upon such bonds. When testator requests in will that executor therein appointed be excused from giving bond, then bond shall be given only in such amount as the court shall consider sufficient to secure payment of debts of deceased. Six months' notice to creditors must be given by publication in as many newspapers as the Orphans' Court shall direct (usually one) before the estate is distributed. Personal property of the decedent must be appraised, an itemized inventory thereof filed in the Orphans' Court, and distribution thereof made through the Orphans' Court. All sales made by the personal representative must be authorized and ratified by the Orphans' Court which appointed him. The personal representative must within twelve months of his appointment file in the Orphans' Court of his appointment a detailed account of his administration, and if such first account does not show the estate to be fully administered, further accounts must be filed at six-month intervals until the estate is fully administered. The Orphans' Courts also have similar powers to administer upon the estates of persons found to be dead pursuant to the Uniform Absence as Evidence of Death and Absentees' Property Act.

Affidavits. (See Acknowledgments.) No particular form necessary, but whoever can take an acknowledgment can take an affidavit. Affidavit of mortgagee always required in a mortgage as to the bona-fides of mortgage consideration. (See Mortgages.)

Aliens. Aliens, not enemies, may take and hold lands, tenements, and hereditaments acquired by purchase, or to which they would, if citizens, be entitled by descent; and may sell, devise or dispose of the same, or transmit the same to their heirs, as fully and effectually, and in the same manner, as if by birth, they were citizens of this State.

Arbitration. Any cause in the law courts or Orphans' Courts of this State (in their respective spheres) may, by rule of court and by consent and agreement of the parties thereto, be submitted and referred to the award and arbitration of any person or persons, and the Court may give judgment on the award of the person or persons to whom such submission and reference shall be made as of the term to which said award shall be returned and award execution thereon as upon verdict, confession or non-suit. By agreement, disputes between employer and employee may be submitted, for arbitration, to any judge or justice of the peace, or if the parties so elect, to a group of arbitrators appointed by such judge or justice of the peace, the determination of such judge, justice of the peace or of the arbitrators appointed by them to be filed as a judgment of the court presided over by the judge or justice of the peace to whom the dispute was submitted for arbitration. An agreement to arbitrate, as distinguished from a case actually submitted for arbitration, cannot be specifically enforced.

Attachments for debt or for liquidated damages can be obtained in all cases when the defendant is a non-resident or has absconded, affidavit being first made by the plaintiff to the correctness of his claim and the fact that the defendant is a non-resident or has absconded. They may be also obtained in connection with an original process when the creditor or some one in his behalf shall give bond in double the amount of the debt, with sureties to be approved by the clerk, and make affidavit before the clerk of the Court where the suit is brought that the defendant is bona fide indebted to the plaintiff in the sum claimed, and that the plaintiff knows or has good reason to believe that the debtor has absconded or is about to abscond from the State, or that the defendant has assigned, disposed of, or concealed, or is about to assign, dispose of, or conceal his property, or some portion thereof, with intent to defraud his creditors, or that the defendant fraudulently contracted the debt or incurred the obligation; or that the defendant has removed or is about to remove his property, or some portion thereof, out of this State, with intent to defraud creditors and the attachment may be maintained, although the debt or obligation upon which the action is brought may not have matured, but the date of the maturity of the debt or obligation must be set forth in the affidavit. A claimant may have the attached property released by filing a bond in double the amount of the appraisement. Any kind of property or credits belonging to the defendant, in the plaintiff's own hands or in the hands of any one else may be attached. There is a special provision for capital stock of a corporation. The certificate itself must be seized. Credits not due may be attached, but wages, hire, or salary not due cannot be attached, and $100 of wages, hire, or salary due shall always be exempt. Imprisonment for debt is abolished. Defendant may be sued in the city or county of his residence or that of his place of business. In addition to attachments

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF MARYLAND RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by BLADES & ROSENFELD, Attorneys at Law, 1206-1207 Fidelity Building, Baltimore.
(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

In general, Flack's Annotated Code—Edition of 1939 (two volumes) as amended by the Acts of 1941, embraces the Public General Laws of Maryland and, by an Act of the General Assembly, has been legalized and made evidence of the law. Especial reference to statutes in the following, is, therefore, unnecessary.

against non-residents or absconding debtors for debt (i. e., a liquidated sum) attachments may be issued against such debtors in cases arising from contracts when the damages are unliquidated, and in actions for wrongs independent of contract, but in such cases no attachments can be issued until a declaration is filed setting out specially and in detail the breach of the contract complained of or the tort actually committed, verified by the affidavit of the plaintiff or some one in his behalf, and until a bond shall be filed similar to the bond required in attachments for fraud. All papers in attachment proceedings can be amended as in any other actions at law. If neither the Defendant nor Garnishee appear condemnation may be had upon filing bond to be in force for period of six months, accounting from the return of the attachment.

Bank Collection Code. Effective June 1, 1929. Follows directly after Laws.

Banks. Any number of persons, not less than five, citizens of the United States and a majority of them citizens of this State, may associate to establish a bank upon the terms and conditions and subject to the liabilities prescribed in Article Eleven of the Code. The capital stock for any bank shall not be less than twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00) in cities, towns, or villages having up to fifteen thousand (15,000) inhabitants, and shall not be less than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000.00) in cities, towns, or villages having more than fifteen thousand (15,000) and up to fifty thousand (50,000) inhabitants, and shall not be less than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00) in cities, towns and villages having more than fifty thousand (50,000) and up to one hundred and fifty thousand (150,000) inhabitants, and shall not be less than five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000.00) in any city, town or village having more than one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants (150,000); the number of inhabitants in each case to be ascertained or determined by the last Federal or State enumeration; and no bank shall start business until all of the capital stock provided for in its charter and an additional sum equal to 20% thereof, as surplus shall have been paid for in full in money and no payment shall be regarded as made by the delivery of any note, security or property of any kind as a substitute for money, except as otherwise provided by law. provided that the above shall not apply to any person, co-partnership, incorporated bank, or other incorporated institution engaged in the banking business in this State on April 21, 1933, except in such cases where said person, co-partnership, incorporated banks or other incorporated institution doing a banking business shall thereafter undertake to establish a branch or branches outside of the city, town or village in which they were then located. In such a case the foregoing provisions relative to capital and surplus shall be complied with, by adding to the capital and surplus of the parent institution, the amount that would be required if such branch or branches were separately incorporated. And provided, further, that in estimating such addition to the capital and surplus of the parent institution, credit shall be given for the amount that the existing capital and surplus of such parent institution exceeds the amount thereof required by law; and provided further, that no branch shall be established by any bank, in the city, town, or village, where said bank is located, until said bank conforms to the requirements, as to the minimum amount of capital stock for banks in said city, town or village.

Every bank (other than a savings bank without capital stock) shall keep on hand at all times a reserve of at least 15 per cent of its demand deposits and of at least 10 per cent of its time deposits. These reserves may be kept as cash on hand, or on deposit in such bank or banks, or trust company or trust companies of the State of Maryland, or elsewhere, of good standing, as the board of directors or executive committee by resolution may direct; in addition to the above methods of keeping reserves, the reserve of at least 3 per cent of time deposits may be kept in the form of direct obligations of the United States Government, or the State of Maryland. Every trust company shall keep on hand at all times a reserve of at least 15 per cent of its demand deposits (not including any deposits made by the City of Baltimore and secured by the counter deposits of Baltimore City stock). Of this 15 per cent, 10 per cent shall be kept on deposit in such bank or banks, or trust company or trust companies of good standing, either in the State of Maryland or elsewhere, as the board of directors or executive committee may direct, and the other 5 per cent may be kept in the same manner as the 10 per cent, or in the form of registered or coupon bonds or public stock of the United States, or the State of Maryland, or of Baltimore City, or of the bonds of any county or municipal corporation of this State which shall be approved by the Bank Commissioner. Every trust company shall also keep on hand at all times a reserve of at least 3 per cent of its time deposits; which reserve may be kept in the same form as time deposits of banks are required to be kept as set forth above. Cash items shall not be considered as a part of the reserve required to be kept by either banks or trust companies, but cash actually on hand held by a trust company shall be considered as a part of the 10 per cent reserve above mentioned.

No savings institution or savings bank incorporated after 1910 could have any capital stock, but must be a mutual association. Such "association for carrying on the business of savings banking may be formed by any number of persons, not less than fifteen, citizens of the United States, and a majority of them citizens of this State, who shall enter into articles of association which shall specify the object for which the association is formed and shall state: The name by which the savings institution is to be known, the village, town or city and county where such institution is to be located, the names and residences of the members thereof, the date on which it is proposed to commence operations, the number of directors proposed to manage the association's affairs, which shall not be less than five, who must be members of the association and the names and residences of the directors who shall serve the first year." The articles of association shall be presented to the Bank Commissioner for examination. He will make an investigation and will either approve or refuse the formation of the savings institution.

The banking laws of Maryland provide for the appointment of a Bank Commissioner with broad powers for the examination of all banking institutions in this State other than National Banks. Whenever capital is reduced by impairment commissioner may require Bank to make such deficiency good within sixty days, and upon its failure to do so may take possession of property and business of such institution and retain until affairs are finally liquidated, or until a reorganization has taken place which will fully protect depositors and creditors. This also applies where the business is conducted in an unsafe or unauthorized manner. Every banking and trust institution shall have the right of perpetual succession until forfeiture. Every bank and trust company shall make to the Bank Commissioner, not less than three reports during the calendar year, at such times as the Bank Commissioner shall require. At least once a year the bank or trust company shall report to the Bank Commissioner, on call by him, a list of its stockholders. The Bank Commissioner shall have a right to call for special reports, whenever in his judgment the same are necessary.

Banks are permitted to establish and operate branches within the State after having first obtained the approval of the Bank Commissioner. No bank or trust company may have any affiliate or closely allied corporation, or own controlling stock in any other corporation.

Stockholders of every bank and trust company were formerly held individually responsible, equally and ratably, and not one for another, for all contracts, debts and engagements of every such corporation, to the extent of the amount of their stock therein, at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such stock. By an Act of the General Assembly of Maryland (Chapter 81, Acts of the Regular Session of 1937) this liability does not apply with respect to stock originally issued by any bank or trust company subsequent to November 23, 1936. Such responsibility, with respect to all outstanding stock issued by any bank or trust company, shall cease three months after such bank or trust company shall cause a notice of such productive termination of responsibility to be published in a newspaper published in the city, village or county in which the bank or trust company is located; provided that such bank or trust company shall certify to the Bank Commissioner the fact of such publication. In the event of the termination of the individual responsibility of stockholders as above provided, such bank or trust company is required to transfer to surplus at the close of a fiscal period, either annually or semi-annually, not less than 10% of its net earnings, until such surplus shall equal, and thereafter continue to equal 100% of its capital.

Every bank, savings institution and trust company is specially granted the power and authority, if the action is approved by a vote of a majority of its Board of Directors, to become a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Blue Sky Law. No preliminary reports or qualifications are required and only if it shall appear to the Attorney General of Maryland that in the issuance, sale, promotion, negotiation, advertisement of securities within the State of Maryland, any person, partnership or corporation, is employing or is about to employ any device, scheme or artifice to defraud, or for obtaining money or property by means of any false or fraudulent pretense, representation or promise, the said Attorney General may require said person, partnership or corporation to file with him a statement in writing under oath of all the facts concerning the same. From the action of the Attorney-General, there is an appeal to the courts, with final resort to the Court of Appeals.

The Law also provides that any person, partnership or corporation having been served with any order of the Attorney General, or having knowledge of the issuance of said order and while said order remains in effect, either as originally issued or as modified, who shall execute or carry on any scheme or device against which said order has been issued, or wilfully attempts to do so, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than two years or be subject to both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court.

Collections. Uniform Bank Collection Code as recommended by American Bankers Association, see complete text back of Laws.

Contracts. The normal condition of all persons is one in which they are capable of making any contract. The fourth and seventeenth sections of the Statute of Frauds are in force in Maryland. It is no longer necessary to show that the consideration for a special promise to answer for the debt of another is in writing. A citizen can not make a contract with an alien enemy during the continuance of hostilities, but aliens, not enemies, may contract and hold real property as fully as citizens. The later cases decide contract of infants to be voidable and not void; and they are capable of ratification by infants on arrival at age of twenty-one. The contracts of infants for necessities are binding upon them. The contract of a lunatic is voidable and not void. A married woman may engage in business, contract, sue and be sued upon contracts and torts, as if unmarried. All gambling contracts are void.

Conveyances. No estate in or title to any land lying within this State, for any period above seven years shall pass or take effect unless the deed conveying the same shall be executed, acknowledged and recorded. Such deed shall be signed and sealed by the grantor, and attested by at least one witness. Unless the contrary intention appears, every deed is construed to pass the whole estate of the grantor. Deeds of real estate should be recorded within six months from date in county, or in Baltimore City, where land lies. Where there are two or more deeds conveying the same lands, the deed first recorded shall be preferred if made bona fide and upon good and valuable consideration. A scroll with the word "seal" therein by way of a seal, is sufficient, as "(signed) John Doe (Seal)." The Deed of a body corporate must be signed in the corporate name by the President or a Vice President, and the official Corporate seal impressed on the deed, the seal to be attested by the Secretary of the corporation.

Corporations are organized under the authority of Article 23 of Flack's Code wherein most liberal provisions are made for general incorporation, including such features as stock without par value, issuance of stock for considerations other than cash, convertibility of stock from one class to another class, cumulative voting, stock fully paid and non-assessable, convenient amendment and consolidation, etc. Every domestic corporation having capital stock, except building or homestead associations, credit unions, and cooperative associations shall, at or before the time of incorporation, pay for the use of the State a bonus tax at the following rates:—$20 for an authorized capital stock of $100,000, or less, and, in addition, $1 for each $5,000, or fractional part thereof, of the amount of authorized capital stock in excess of $100,000 and not in excess of $1,000,000.

$200 for an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000, and, in addition, $10 for each $100,000, or fractional part thereof, of the amount of authorized capital stock in excess of $1,000,000 and not in excess of $2,000,000.

$300 for an authorized capital stock of $2,000,000, and, in addition, $15 for each $500,000, or fractional part thereof, of the amount of authorized capital stock in excess of $2,000,000 and not in excess of $5,000,000.

$390 for an authorized capital stock of $5,000,000, and, in addition, $20 for each $1,000,000, or fractional part thereof, of the amount of authorized capital stock in excess of $5,000,000.

For the purposes of the above provisions as to bonus tax, shares without par value shall be treated as if they were of the par value of $20.00 each.

Every domestic corporation except corporations the shares of which are subject to ordinary taxes, charitable and benevolent institutions, building or homestead associations, credit unions, and corporations having no capital stock, pay annually for the use of the State, in addition to any other tax imposed by Law, a tax for its franchise to be a corporation at the following rates:—

$70 on a capital of $100,000, and, in addition, $15 for each $200,000, or fractional part thereof, of its capital in excess of $100,000 and not in excess of $500,000.

$100 on a capital of $500,000, and, in addition, $20 for each $500,000, or fractional part thereof, of its capital in excess of $500,000, and not in excess of $1,000,000.

$480 on a capital of $1,000,000, and, in addition, $30 for each $200,000, or fractional part thereof, of its capital in excess of $1,000,000.

For purposes of the franchise tax on the shares of domestic corporations, the word capital means the issued capital stock plus paid-in or capital surplus.

Every foreign corporation subject to the jurisdiction of this State, except insurance companies, national banks, building or homestead associations, credit unions, and charitable and benevolent institutions, must file an annual report with the State Tax Commission of Maryland and pay an annual filing fee of $25.00.

Every foreign corporation doing interstate or foreign business in this State, except insurance companies, railroads, and national banks, shall have at least one resident agent in this State whose name and address, as such, have been certified to the State Tax Commission.

A foreign corporation before doing intrastate business in this State shall appoint a resident agent, file with the State Tax Commission a certified copy of its charter and pay to the State Tax Commission a qualification fee of $25.00. Failure to qualify to do business in Maryland does not affect the validity or enforceability of any contract made with a foreign corporation. However, the corporation and its officers and agents are subject to criminal penalties for having failed to qualify and no suit may be maintained by such foreign corporation until certain penalties have been paid.

No corporation may interpose the defense of usury in any action at law or in equity. Maryland corporations may hold stockholders meetings and directors meetings outside of this State.

Courts. The Circuit Courts of the counties have common law jurisdiction in all cases involving more than $50.00, and in all cases involving title to land; and equity jurisdiction in all cases involving more than $20.00. The Circuit Court of Baltimore City and the Circuit Court No. 2 of Baltimore City have exclusive equity jurisdiction in the city. The Superior Court of Baltimore City, the Court of Common Pleas of Baltimore City, and the Baltimore City Court have concurrent common law jurisdiction in Baltimore City in cases involving more than $100.00. All records pertaining to the transfer of title to land in Baltimore City are in the custody of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Baltimore City, and in the counties, in the custody of the clerks of the various Circuit Courts of the counties. All such records are open to the public. The Orphans' Court of Baltimore City, and the Orphans' Court of each county have exclusive probate jurisdiction. In the counties justices of the peace have common law jurisdiction to the amount of $100.00 (concurrently with the Circuit Courts from $50.00 to $100.00). In Baltimore City the People's Court has jurisdiction up to $100.00 and suits on small claims in Baltimore City are brought in this Court instead of before the individual justices of the peace.

Depositions. When the courts are satisfied, by affidavit or otherwise, that there are material and competent witnesses residing without the State, they will direct that a commission be issued to take the testimony of such witnesses. The commissioners are selected by the court, and must qualify before some person authorized to administer an oath in the state where they reside. The depositions, duly certified by the commissioners, shall be admitted as evidence at the trial of the cause, subject to the same objections and exceptions as the same testimony would be if the witness had been personally present in court and there examined. Parties have the right to be present when the testimony is taken under the commission, and must receive reasonable notice of the time and place. Interrogatories and cross-interrogatories may be annexed to the commission or the witness may be examined by counsel. The testimony of non-resident witnesses or parties to a cause may also be taken before a commissioner, notary public or justice of the peace upon giving notice of not less than five days to the opposite party of the time and place, when and where the testimony of such non-resident witnesses is proposed to be taken, and the name of the commissioner, notary public or justice of the peace before whom the same is proposed to be taken, together with the names of the witnesses proposed to be examined. Depositions shall be signed by the witnesses, and signed and sealed by the officer taking the same and returned to the Court in which the case is pending.

Descent and Distribution of Property. As to descent, see Code 1939, Art. 46, and as to distribution, Code 1939, Art. 93. The Rule in Shelley's case has been abolished by Ch. 144, Acts 1912, Code 1939, Art. 93, sec. 348.

Dower. The common-law right of dower exists in Maryland, and extends to equitable estates. By act 1898, the husband's dower was created; an estate of the husband in his wife's estates of inheritance, exactly equivalent to the wife's dower in her husband's estate. A devise or bequest of real or personal property to the wife or husband shall be construed to be in lieu of dower in lands or share of personal estate, respectively, unless otherwise expressed in the will. If the widow or widower renounces formally in writing, however, such provision made in her or him by the will within thirty days after the expiration of the six month notice to creditors on the estate of the deceased husband or wife, the dower right and the share of personal property remain undisturbed. (See Married Women.)

Executions may issue and judgments may be renewed or revived by scire facias at any time within twelve years from date of judgment. In the circuit courts for the counties there is a stay until the first Thursday of the term succeeding the rendition of the judgment, provided the judgment is obtained at the second term after the defendant is summoned. There is no stay upon judgments rendered in the courts of Baltimore City or by justices of the peace in the city or counties, but execution may issue forthwith. The defendant may stay the execution by superseding with sureties for six months. Certified copy of docket entries of judgment when recorded in another county makes the judgment a lien there.

Exemptions. No homestead law. Wearing apparel, books and tools (not kept for sale) and $100 of money, land or goods, and $500 payable to the debtor as life, health, or accident insurance are exempt from execution, except (1) on judgments for breach of promise to marry or seduction and (2) aggregate exemptions not to exceed $500 and (3) not applicable to any but actual bona fide residents of this State.

Foreign Corporations. (See Corporations.)

Foreign Judgments. Judgments of the courts of other states certified under the Act of Congress, are proper causes of action against any person subject to the process of the courts of this State.

Fraud. When any false representation is made by one to another with the intent to defraud, and the defrauded party, thinking the alleged fraud to be true, acts upon it, any contract thus made can not be enforced. But if the injured party knows such representations to be false it can not be said to have influenced his conduct. For general doctrine in this State see McAleer vs. Horsey 35 Md. 439. Giving checks or drafts without provision for acceptance is prima facie evidence of intent to defraud, and is punishable as a crime unless such provision is made within ten days. Every person buying merchandise in bulk shall demand and receive from the vendor a written statement under oath containing the names and addresses of all creditors with amount of indebtedness at least ten days before the sale is consummated. The vendee at least ten days before consummating such sale shall notify all of said creditors either personally or by registered mail of such proposed purchase and is required to see that the purchase money is applied to the payment of the vendors debts shown on said statement. A sale or transfer of goods in bulk without such notice shall as to all subsisting creditors of the vendors be void.

Special provisions of criminal law apply to the making of false financial statements.

Garnishments. (See Attachments.)

Holidays. Saturdays after twelve o'clock noon (except in Baltimore County (not City), Caroline, Howard and Talbot Counties); Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 22 (Washington's birthday); March 25 (Maryland Day); Good Friday; May 30 (Decoration Day); July 4 (Independence Day); the first Monday in September (Labor Day); September 12 (Defenders' Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); December 25 (Christmas Day); all days of general and congressional elections throughout the State. When any of these days except March 25 falls on Sunday the ensuing Monday is a legal holiday. All special days that may be appointed or recommended by the Governor of this State or the President of the United States, as days of thanksgiving or fasting and prayer, or other religious observance, or for the general cessation of business, shall also be regarded as legal holidays. All bills, drafts, checks and notes presented for payment or acceptance on these said days shall be deemed to be presented for acceptance or payment on the secular or business days next succeeding such holiday.

Husband and Wife. (See Dower, and Married Women.) In this State the husband is not liable for wife's ante-nuptial debts or contracts. Husband is liable for necessities of wife. Husband has same interest in wife's estate as wife has in husband's estate. Married women are expressly authorized to become partners and to contract with husband. Either can relinquish interest in other's real estate by joint or separate deed, or by agent or attorney properly constituted. The wife's property is protected by the Constitution from the debts of the husband.

Interest. The legal rate of interest is 6 per cent per annum. A person proved guilty of usury forfeits the excess over the aggregate of the real sum lent and 6% interest thereon. Judgments bear interest from the date of the verdict. A corporation cannot plead usury. Licensed loan brokers may charge 3 1/2% per month on loans up to $300.00.

Judgments are liens for twelve years from the date of rendition on any interest of the defendant in real or leasehold property within the county where rendered. They can be transferred from one county to another by sending a certified copy of the docket entries to the clerk for record. The lien commences from the date of the entry of the docket entries by the clerk. Judgments are not liens on mortgages or other personal property until execution has issued and the writ is in the hands of the sheriff.

Liens. (See Judgments.) Mechanics' Liens. Every building erected, repaired, rebuilt, or improved to the extent of one-fourth of its value is subject to a lien for work done or materials furnished for or about the same, except that there are no liens for materials furnished in Baltimore City. Every machine, wharf, or bridge, constructed or repaired is subject in like manner, as buildings are, to a lien. All boats or vessels are subject to a lien for materials furnished or work done in building, repairing, or equipping the same. Garages are given lien for storage and accessories. To secure the lien and lay foundation for enforcing it, the material man must within six months after the last work has been furnished, file a claim in the circuit court for the county, or in the Circuit Court for Baltimore City, as the case may be. The liens are enforced by scire facias or by bill in equity.

Limitations of Suits. Accounts and notes are barred after three years, sealed instruments after twelve years; judgments twelve years except against foreign corporations (no limitations). A verbal promise or acknowledgment will revive a debt barred by the statute.

Married Women. Married women may hold and dispose of their property lawfully as if unmarried, but husband must join in conveyances of real estate to release his dower interest. Married women may engage in business, contract, sue, and be sued upon contracts and for torts, as if unmarried. Married woman is alone liable for ante-nuptial debts and contracts. Husband is still liable for necessities. Where husband or wife is adjudged a lunatic upon inquisition, and the finding remains in force, either spouse may convey after acquired property by separate deed, as if unmarried. Surviving spouse is also allowed ahead of creditors $75 if no minor children, $150 if children. Surviving spouse is entitled to (a) one-third of net personal estate if there are children or one-half thereof if there are no children but a surviving parent, or $2,000.00 and one-half of the residue if there are neither children nor parents but a brother or sister or descendant of a brother or sister surviving, and (b) the same share in net real estate or at option of surviving spouse in lieu of share of real estate surviving spouse, either husband or wife, may elect to take dower rights which are one-third of real estate for life ahead of creditors unless dower rights have been specifically waived or waived by joining in deeds. (See Husband and Wife, and Dower.)

Mortgages are executed, acknowledged, and recorded the same as deeds, and are not valid against creditors unless recorded within six months after date. There must be an affidavit made by the mortgagee or his agent at any time before recording, that the consideration is true and bona fide. If made by agent, he must, in addition, make oath that he is the agent of the mortgagee. A like affidavit is required to chattel mortgages, and absolute bills of sale, both of which must be recorded within twenty days. The lien of a mortgage may be barred by ceasing to pay interest or any installment of the principal for twenty years. They may be foreclosed at any time after the debt becomes due and before the lien is barred.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Notes and Bills of Exchange. Negotiable instruments are defined by Article 13 of Flack's 1939 Code, which repeals all laws, inconsistent therewith. Section 20 provides as follows: "An instrument to be negotiable must conform to the following requirements: 1. It must be in writing and signed by the maker or drawer. 2. It must contain an unconditional promise or order to pay a sum certain in money. 3. Must be payable on demand, or at a fixed or determinable future time. 4. Must be payable to order or to bearer; and 5. Where the instrument is addressed to a drawee he must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty." Its negotiability is not affected by a seal, or by a provision which authorizes the sale of collateral securities in case the instrument is not paid at maturity, or authorized confession of judgment if the instrument be not paid at maturity; or waives the benefit of any law intended for the advantage or the protection of the obligor; or gives the holder an election to require something to be done in lieu of payment of money. It is not necessary that paper should be made payable at a bank or any fixed place. To charge indorser, notice of non-payment and of protest must at once be given to him. The time of maturity is regulated by Art. 13 of the Code as follows: "Section 104: Time of Maturity. Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein without grace. When the day of maturity falls upon Sunday, or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Instruments falling due on Saturday are to be presented for payment on the next succeeding business day, except that instruments payable on demand may, at the option of the holder, be presented for payment before 12 o'clock noon, on Saturday, when that entire day is not a holiday." Legal holidays. (See Holidays.) It is lawful for banks and bankers to close their doors for business at 12 o'clock noon, on each and every Saturday in the year, and every Saturday in the year, after 12 o'clock noon, is a legal half-holiday, so far as regards the presenting for payment or acceptance, and the protesting and giving notice of the dishonor, of bills of exchange and other negotiable paper, and for these purposes shall be considered as the first day of the week, or Sunday, and all negotiable paper shall be deemed to be presentable on the secular day next succeeding.

Power of Attorney. Every power of attorney authorizing an agent or attorney to sell and convey any real estate, shall be attested and acknowledged in the same manner as a deed, and recorded prior to or with the deed executed in pursuance of such power of attorney. A corporation shall have power to appoint an attorney for the same purpose, under its corporate seal. Such power of attorney shall be deemed to be revoked when the instrument containing the revocation is recorded in the office in which the deed should properly be recorded.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates and Wills.)

Protest is usually made by notary public. Notary must keep register of protests. A protest of notary public is prima facie evidence of non-acceptance or non-payment, and of the presentment of said note for payment, or of said bill for acceptance or payment, at the time and in the manner stated in the protest, and the protest shall also be prima facie evidence that such notice has been sent or delivered in the manner therein stated. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Replevin is a remedy to recover specific goods and chattels to the possession of which the plaintiff is entitled. Also the proper remedy to recover possession of goods distrained unlawfully. Bond must be given to the State of Maryland, and any party having an interest in the property, may, upon breach of any covenant in bond, maintain an action in the name of the State for his or her use.

Sales and Notices. Acts 1910, Ch. 346, adopts the Uniform Sales Act. (Art. 83, secs. 19 to 96 incl.)

Taxes. The county commissioners of the several counties of the State, and the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore City are directed to levy a tax annually upon real and personal property situated within the State. The County and/or City tax on Banks located and in business anywhere in Maryland is uniformly 1 per cent of the value of its capital stock. The property of religious, charitable, benevolent, and educational institutions, and cemetery companies is exempt from taxation. On timely application exemption may be had for manufacturer's tools and machinery in actual use from Municipal taxation in Baltimore City and in some of the Counties. Collectors may sell property to compel payment of overdue taxes, upon giving due notice of sale, and complying with other requisites of statute, and any person interested in property may redeem within twelve calendar months from date, and in default of redemption, title to property vests in purchaser.

Trust Companies (See also Banks). Five or more persons citizens of the United States, and a majority of them citizens of this State, may form a corporation to be known as a trust company. The capital stock of such corporation must be at least seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars; provided, however, that a corporation with a capital of not less than two hundred thousand dollars may be organized in a city containing more than one hundred thousand and less than two hundred fifty thousand inhabitants, and a corporation may be organized with a capital of not less than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in a city containing more than twenty-five thousand inhabitants and less than one hundred thousand inhabitants, and with a capital of at least one hundred thousand dollars in a city or town the population of which does not exceed twenty-five thousand inhabitants, the number of inhabitants in each case to be ascertained or determined by the last Federal or State enumeration, and no trust company shall start business until all of the capital stock provided for in its charter and an additional sum equal to 20% thereof as a surplus, shall have been paid for in full in money and no payment shall be regarded as made by the delivery of any note, security or property of any kind as a substitute for money, except as otherwise provided by law.

In the event that any trust company hereafter establishes a branch or branches outside of the city, town or village in which it is now located, it shall add for each branch established, to its paid-in-capital the following sums and twenty per cent (20%) thereof as additional surplus; the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars in towns or villages having less than fifteen thousand (15,000) inhabitants; seventy-five thousand dollars in towns, villages or cities having more than fifteen thousand (15,000) and up to fifty thousand (50,000), inhabitants, and not less than one hundred thousand dollars in towns or cities having more than fifty thousand and less than one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants; and not less than five hundred thousand dollars in cities having more than one hundred and fifty thousand; the number of inhabitants in each case to be ascertained or determined by the last Federal or State enumerations; unless the surplus and paid-in capital of such trust company is already sufficient under the present conditions of the law to provide the surplus and capital required by a trust company hereunder doing business in the city, town or village in which it may be located, and for branches in cities, towns or villages in which it proposes to establish branches; provided, however, that no branch shall hereafter be established by any trust company, in the city, town or village where said trust company is now located and engaged in business, until said trust company conforms to the requirements herein provided as to the minimum amount of surplus and capital stock for a trust company in said city, town or village.

Nuncupative wills invalid except in case of disposition of personal property by soldiers in actual military service or mariners at sea. Every will or other testamentary instrument executed without this State in the mode prescribed by law, either of the place where executed or of the testator's domicile, or according to the forms required by the law of this State shall be deemed to be legally executed, and shall be of the same force and effect as if executed in the mode prescribed by the law of this State, provided, said last will and testament is in writing and subscribed by the testator; and if the testator was originally domiciled in Maryland, although at the time of making the will or at the time of his death he may be domiciled elsewhere, the said last will or testamentary instrument so executed shall be admitted to probate in any orphan's court of this State; and when so admitted shall be governed by and construed and interpreted according to the law of Maryland, without regard to the lex domicilii, unless the testator shall expressly declare a contrary intention in said will or testamentary instrument. No will, testament, codicil, or other testamentary paper shall be subject to caveat or other objection to its validity after the expiration of one year from its probate.

THE LAWS OF MASSACHUSETTS

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by VALMORE O. COLE, Attorney,

412-414 Kimbell Building,

North Adams, Mass.

(See Card in Attorney's List)

Accord and Satisfaction. An accord is an agreement whereby one of the parties undertakes to give or perform, and the other to accept in satisfaction of a claim, liquidated or in dispute, and arising either from contract or from tort, something other than or different from what he is or considers himself entitled to; and a satisfaction is the execution of such agreement.

Where the claim is undisputed, and is settled only in part, such part payment is without consideration and the balance can be collected. This, however, can be remedied by taking a release under seal which purports a consideration in full settlement of the entire claim. In order to take advantage of a suit pending in court because of accord and satisfaction, it must be specially pleaded in the defendant's answer.

However, in case of a disputed claim, the acceptance of a smaller sum in lieu of the entire claim is a valid consideration and therefore is a full release on the entire claim.

Accounts. Ex parte affidavit on claims and accounts is of no value. They must be established by evidence produced in court after suit brought either by testimony, deposition, or other material evidence.

Acknowledgments and Deeds. Acknowledgments may be made before any justice of the peace, notary public or special commissioner in the State; when the acknowledgment is made by any person without this State and within any other state, territory or district of the United States, it may be made before any officer of such state, territory or district authorized by the laws thereof to take the oath and acknowledgment of deeds, and when so taken there shall be attached to the certificate of acknowledgment a certificate of the secretary of the state or territory in which such officer resides, under the seal of the state or territory, or a certificate of the clerk of a court of record of such state, territory or district, in the county in which such officer resides, under seal of said court, certifying as to the authority, of such officer to take acknowledgments and as to the genuineness of his signature. In deeds where there is more than one grantor, the acknowledgment of one of them is sufficient. Official taking acknowledgment on instruments relating to real property and to be recorded, must state date of expiration of his commission before it can be accepted for recording.

No separate acknowledgment of wife joining in a release of dower necessary. Conveyances of land are made by deed under seal executed by the grantor or attorney having authority therefor. Original power of attorney to execute sealed instrument must be sealed, to sign deed or instrument requiring acknowledgment power of attorney must also be acknowledged and recorded with the deed or instrument. A conveyance in fee, for life or a lease for a term exceeding seven years, shall not be valid, except as against the grantor and persons having actual notice of it, unless recorded in the county registry district in which the real estate is situated. Recording of mere notice of lease with names of parties, location and dates of expiration or options is sufficient under recent statute. Deeds should be under seal. No subscribing witness is necessary. Release of dower, homestead and other interests must be explicitly stated in deed, body of deed must state that party releasing is the wife or husband of grantor, for identification as such, wife's or husband's joining in deed merely being insufficient. Husband and wife may make conveyances of real estate to each other except by way of mortgage, as if unmarried, but no such conveyance shall have any effect, either in passing title or otherwise, until the deed describing the property to be transferred is duly acknowledged and recorded in the registry of deeds for the district where the land lies. Any interest in real estate may be transferred by a person to himself jointly with another person or persons in the same manner in which it might be transferred by him to another person, except a conveyance to himself and his wife as tenants by the entirety. No interest in land except an estate at will can be created except by instrument in writing and acknowledged or by operation of law.

Actions. There are three classes of actions: contract, tort, and replevin. Actions at law are begun by writs issued in blank form by the clerks of the several courts. No declaration need be inserted in the writ, except in cases of arrest on mesne process or of an attachment of a vessel. Suits in equity are begun by filing a bill of complaint with the Clerk of the Superior Court upon which a subpoena or order of notice is issued by the clerk of the court, or by original writ as at law where no immediate relief by restraining or mandatory order or injunction is sought. Actions begun by trustee process must be brought in the county or district in which the trustees or one of them resides or has his usual place of business. (See Trustee Process, infra.)

Administration of Estates. Administration or probate is to be taken out in county where deceased last resided. Executors or administrators are required to give a bond of the value of the personal estate. An executor will be exempt from giving sureties if testator so directs. An administrator will be exempt if all persons interested in this State except creditors consent. In case a non-resident is appointed executor or administrator he must appoint a resident agent. There are public administrators in each county to whom administration is granted upon estates of persons who die intestate leaving property, and not having any husband, widow, or heir in this State. Ancillary administration may be granted upon the estate of a non-resident who dies leaving property in this State. Every administrator and executor shall file an inventory within three months. Notice of a debt, and demand for its payment should be given to an executor or administrator within six months after his appointment and the debt should be paid after six months and within one year of the appointment. No suit can be brought by a creditor against an executor or administrator within six months after his giving bond, except on a claim not affected by the insolvency of the estate. No suit can be brought against an executor or administrator after one year from time of his giving bond, unless he has received new assets after the expiration of the one year, or unless further time is allowed by court, and in either event, unless the estate is still open and the executor or administrator has not been discharged. A creditor whose claim does not accrue within the one year may cause assets to be reserved to answer to his claim. When the estate is insufficient to pay all claims, the executor or administrator shall represent the estate insolvent and commissioner will be appointed to receive proof of claims, or the Court may receive and act upon the claims. Claims for funeral expenses, last sickness, and charges of administration, are priority claims in insolvent estates. Executors and administrators shall render an account at least once a year. Compensation executors and administrators may now be appointed by Court between principal and income (1941).

Aliens have the same rights and liabilities as citizens do, only so, during the continuance of peace between the country of the alien and our own country. When war exists between the respective nations, the alien cannot sue but may be sued by a citizen of this country. Ordinarily contract rights are suspended during the operation of war unless the alien is within our territory, then he may be sued as above stated.

Arrest. Right of arrest exists irrespective of domicile of either party. The debtor may be arrested and imprisoned on execution after the same is obtained, if the execution is not otherwise satisfied, and the debtor has property which he conceals and fails to surrender to his creditors, and he fails to make a fair and full disclosure of his property and his ability to pay money in reference to the debt owed by him, after the creditor has cited him in the District Court where Supplementary Process is had, and after the examination by the creditor or his attorney it is found that he has money or property and won't pay, then the Judge may order weekly payments or place the debtor in jail for contempt of court by reason of his failure to obey the court orders generally. If no assets are discovered the debtor will be discharged and the proceeding dismissed. The creditor may one year from date thereof, cite the debtor into court once again and examine him anew as to his assets, property, and ability to pay on the debt.

Assignments for benefit of creditors. A voluntary assignment to trustees for benefit of creditors can not be avoided by creditors who assent thereto, except by proceedings in bankruptcy begun within four months or by proof of fraud. If there is property in excess of the claims of creditors who have assented, the excess in hands of the trustee can be reached by trustee process. As a matter of procedure the assignee usually waits the full four months from date of assignment before making distribution amongst assenting creditors.

Where Claims Are Assigned. The assignee, at common law, by virtue of the assignment could sue on the contract, but only so in the name of his assignor where no written assignment appeared.

By Statute. If the assignment is evidenced by a written document, then by virtue of the statute hereon, the assignee has an election of remedies, to wit, sue in his own name, or in the name of his assignor, on the contract so assigned.

An assignment is considered a legal chose in action, and the assignee may prove a claim in bankruptcy in his own right and name, provided the assignment is made prior to the institution of bankruptcy proceedings, subject, however, to all defences and to all rights of counter-claim, recoupment, or set-off to which the debtor would have been entitled if the action had been brought by the assignor. The assignee's rights and liabilities are those of the assignor purely, and it should be remembered that the assignee is not considered as a holder in due course of trade, as a holder of a negotiable instrument. The assignee steps into the shoes of the assignor and all personal defences available against the assignor are good as against the assignee.

Where Wages Are Assigned. By virtue of Statute, future wages of a person may be assigned for a period of two years from the date of the assignment only, and it shall be valid to all intents and purposes, if the document is formally executed, the consideration shown in apt words, rate of interest, signed by the parties thereto, and a copy delivered to the assignor by the assignee. Three-fourths of the weekly wages of the assignor shall be exempt from assignment and no assignment shall be valid which does not so state on its face. No such assignment shall be valid when made by a married man unless the written consent of his wife is attached thereto. Assignment not valid unless copy thereof is delivered to assignor by assignee at the date of execution of same. A standard form of assignment may be found in Chap. 154 of the General Laws. Assignment must be in standard form: Not valid unless accepted in writing by the employer of assignor.

Future Earned Wages may be assigned for a period of only one year, where the assignment is given as security for a loan of money less than $300 in amount. The employer must accept the order of the assignment by a writing attached to the assignment and recorded. If the assignor is married, then it is necessary to a valid assignment of his wages that the wife by written consent agrees to the assignment and such written consent must be attached to the assignment. Ten dollars of the assigned wages must be exempt and must be so stated on the face of the assignment when recorded in order to be valid.

Notice to Third Persons or Creditors When. Until the assignment is placed on record at the City Hall, in the office of the City Clerk or Town Clerk, in the place where the assignor lives, or if he is a non-resident of the State, then in the city or town where he is employed, to be effective against attaching creditors.

No assignment of future earnings shall be valid against a trustee process unless before service of the writ on the alleged trustee, the assignment has been duly placed on record where the assignor resides at the time of such record.

Attachment. All real estate, goods, and chattels not exempt, may be taken in attachment on the original writ and held as security for judgment, except that lands and tenements can not be attached in suits involving less than $20, exclusive of interest and costs. Attachments may be made in suits by or against non-residents as well as in suits by or against residents. After attachment of property of a non-resident on an original writ, if service cannot be made on defendant, affidavit must be made of that fact to court; court then issues order of notice for service on non-resident by publication. No bond is required to make an attachment. Except that attaching officer may require plaintiff to give him a bond to protect him in an attachment of personal property. Shares of stock in corporations cannot be attached except by bill in equity. Attachment of shares of stock is not valid against a bona fide transfer although not recorded in book of corporation. Debtor may dissolve attachment by furnishing bond with sureties to pay judgment obtained or value of property attached determined by appraisal. This is so in all except cases of attachment in cases in rem. Debtor against whom judgment is rendered may be subjected to sworn examination touching this property under the Supplementary Process Statute. An attachment is dissolved by death of the defendant if administration is granted upon his estate upon application made within one year after his death. Levy must be made on execution obtained by attachment on real estate within 30 days from date of judgment. If not levied upon within that time, new seizure must be made on the execution, interest seized to be as of date of new seizure, subject to intervening encumbrances or attachments.

Attachment of motor vehicle registered in Massachusetts on mesne process in contract action must be consented to by endorsement on writ, by justice of court where action is commenced.

Keeper of attached personal property can be appointed only by permission of Court issuing writ, permission to be endorsed on writ. If seizure is made on an execution, officer may appoint keeper without permission of court, but costs of keeper discretionary with court if point is raised.

Banks. The banking business is extensively regulated by statute. In general, savings banks, co-operative banks, trust companies, or other corporations or persons doing banking business in Massachusetts are subject to supervision of commissioner of banks. (General Laws, ch. 167, ch. 168, ch. 169, ch. 170, ch. 172) and amended by Chapter 349 of the Acts and Resolves of the Commonwealth year 1934. No foreign banking association or corporation shall transact business in Massachusetts until it has received certificate from board of bank incorporation. For extensive provisions relative to Savings Banks, see Gen. Laws, ch. 168, 1932 T. Ed. and its numerous amendments since 1932.

Savings banks may take mortgages for time loans up to 60% of value of real estate for periods of from 3 to 20 years, if quarterly payments on principal, amounting annually to 2% of the original loan, are required. Up to 70% of value if quarterly principals are required to 3% annually of original loan, not to exceed $25,000. Extended to Dec. 31, 1945.

Savings banks may loan up to $500, on any one parcel of real estate on which it holds mortgage, on unsecured note of owner, but only for repair, alteration or rehabilitation of property; must provide for repayment in three years maximum term in equal monthly installments to begin one month from date. This Act (1941) passed to save expense of small mortgage loans where equity is adequate above first mortgage. Total of such loans cannot exceed 1% of deposits of bank.

Emergency Law, passed March 24, 1939, makes ineligible for savings banks, and savings departments of other banks, bonds or other securities of railroad companies which, as shown by its reports to the I. C. C. has failed to earn a net income as defined by the Commission for 3 of the 5 fiscal years next preceding date of investment. Bank may now consent to settlement, modification or readjustment of any investment and accept substitutes pursuant to reorganization or otherwise.

No dividend to be declared on savings deposits where income of bank for period is less than 1% net after required amount set apart for guarantee fund.

The trust company is the prevailing form of banking institution. Fifteen or more persons associating by written agreement may, upon compliance with statute, become a trust company. Agreement of association must set forth corporate name, purpose, city or town in Massachusetts where business is to be transacted, amount and classes of its capital stock and number of shares into which it or any class is to be divided. Notice of intention to form trust company shall be given to board of bank incorporation, and such notice must be published. Unless the board issues a certificate that public convenience and advantage will be promoted by establishment of such a trust company, no further proceedings shall be had, but after one year the application may be renewed. After the first meeting of the subscribers the clerk and majority of board of directors execute in duplicate articles setting forth copy of agreement of association, names of subscribers and names and residences of officers, date of first meeting and successive adjournments thereof, if any. When the whole capital stock has been issued, a new list of the stockholders, with the name, residence and post-office address of each, and the number in each class of shares held by each shall be filed with the Board of Bank Incorporations, which list shall be verified by the Clerk of the Corporation. The articles are filed with the secretary of state, with filing fee of one twentieth of 1 per cent of capital stock, and certificate of incorporation issues. Before business can be commenced a certificate authorizing such must be obtained from board of bank incorporation. (Gen. Laws, ch. 172, section 11). A director of trust company must hold at least capital stock of a par value in the aggregate of not less than $1,000, the same to be unpledged, and majority of directors must be citizens of and resident in Massachusetts. Except in smaller municipalities capital stock of trust company must be not less than $200,000; shares par value of $100 each. Entire capital stock must be paid in cash. The former double liability of the common stockholders of trust companies has been eliminated. Commissioner of banks has extensive power to require returns and to supervise and examine. Savings departments may be established, and are governed by laws as strictly as savings banks. The kinds of business which may be done are prescribed by statute with considerable detail. By Act of 1939, Ch. 244, requirements for establishment of trust company branches have been lightened. Requirements also lightened for bank taking over a trust company as a branch.

Banks may pay to a minor funds deposited in his name, unless in violation of written agreement to which bank is a party.

Employees or officers of a bank are liable to fine or imprisonment if they receive a deposit knowing that such bank is insolvent.

In 1932, the Legislature incorporated the Central Credit Union Fund, Inc. to assist such Credit Unions as become members thereof, when they are temporarily in need of cash or hold investments which cannot be readily liquidated, by making loans to them or any of them, and it has the rights and powers and is subject to the duties and obligations provided in Sections 2 to 7 of Chapter 216 of the Acts of 1932. By-laws of credit unions may under certain conditions provide for release of endorser on death of borrower in personal loans. Fund, Inc. may become member and invest in shares of Mass. Credit Unions. Credit Unions may use up to 10% of a contingent fund in any year to cancel loans of deceased members, where no estate even when endorsed.

Emergency Law was enacted and approved March 2, 1932, creating The Co-operative Central Bank, making all The Co-operative Banks now established under the laws of the Commonwealth and subject to the provisions of Chapter 170 of the General Laws, member banks thereof as provided in Chapter 45, Sections 1 to 11.

Co-operative banks may borrow from any source for specific purpose of securing funds to make real estate loans. Requires vote of three-fifths of all directors and consent of Bank Commissioner. Constitutes priority debt upon assets of bank. Rate of interest on real estate loans may now be fixed by its directors on loans by Co-operative Banks.

The purpose of the central bank was to promote the elasticity and flexibility of the resources of the co-operative banks of the commonwealth by centralizing their reserve funds; Central Bank establishes fund for insurance of shares of member cooperative banks. Central Bank may loan to any member bank up to 10% of member bank's assets.

The deposits by the member banks, together with any surplus which may hereafter be accumulated by the central bank, shall constitute its capital structure.

The central bank shall be exempt from all State and local taxation, except in respect to any real estate owned and, or used by it for its corporate purposes.

An Emergency Law was passed and approved March 2, 1932, creating The Mutual Savings Fund Inc. for the purpose of protecting deposits in Savings Banks, as provided in Chapter 44, Sections 1 to 9 of the 1932 Acts and Resolves of Massachusetts. The enactment of this law will enable the Corporation to assist such member banks when they are temporarily in need of cash or hold investments which cannot readily be liquidated, by making loans to them or any of them secured by the pledge of mortgages or other securities legally held by such member banks. Any savings bank hereafter established during said term under the authority of said Chapter 168 shall upon its organization become a member bank. Fund, Inc. now has executive office and quarters at Boston and Bank Commissioner may furnish Fund, Inc. information relating to any member bank and advise with Fund, Inc. directors.

Banking corporations and Morris plan banks doing business under special banking certificate granted by authority of Ch. 172A added by Act of 1935, are under supervision of commissioner of banks. Such banking companies must fulfill requirements of special act as to capital and as to population of place where business place is located; law gives such banking companies broad banking powers. Loans by commercial departments of trust companies for term of more than 3 years, must provide for 2% annual repayment of principal, to commence not less than 2 years after date of note.

Bills and Notes. The law of negotiable instruments is governed by the Negotiable Instruments Law, as amended, where applicable; in other cases by the law merchant. A person becoming a party to a non-negotiable promissory note payable on time, by signature in blank on the back thereof, is entitled to notice of non-payment same as an indorser. A depository of funds, subject to withdrawal by check or demand draft may pay a check or demand draft drawn on it by a depositor having funds on deposit to pay same, notwithstanding his death, upon presentation within ten days after its date. If waiver of demand, presentment protest and dishonor is intended by endorser, this must appear above his endorsement. Recent Supreme Court decision holds that if such waiver by more than one endorser, words must appear and be repeated over the signature of each endorser or words above first endorsement must clearly state that each of the endorsers so waives.

Protest of bill, note or order duly certified by notary public under his hand and official seal is prima facie evidence of facts, stated in such protest and of giving notice to drawer or indorser.

There are various statutory provisions bearing upon the validity of the notes of municipalities of this Commonwealth. Where a negotiable instrument is not payable on demand, presentment must be made on the day it falls due. Where it is payable on demand presentment must be made within a reasonable time after its issue.

An accommodation party to a negotiable instrument is liable thereon to a holder in due course notwithstanding such holder at the time of taking the instrument knew him to be only an accommodation party. When the day, or the last day, for the performance of any act, including the making of any payment or tender of payment, authorized or required by statute or by contract falls on Sunday or a legal holiday, the act may be performed on the next succeeding secular or business day, unless it is specifically authorized or required to be performed on Sunday or on a legal holiday.

Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein without grace, except that three days of grace shall be allowed upon a draft or bill of exchange made payable within Massachusetts at sight unless there is an express stipulation to the contrary. Where the day, of maturity falls upon Saturday, Sunday, or a holiday, instrument is payable on next succeeding business day which is not a Saturday. Instruments payable on demand may, at option of holder, be presented for payment before twelve o'clock noon on Saturday when that entire day is not a holiday; provided however that no person receiving any check, draft, bill of exchange or promissory note payable on demand, shall be charged with any neglect or omission of duty or incur any liability, for not presenting for payment or acceptance or collection such check, draft, bill of exchange, or promissory note on a Saturday; provided also that the same shall be duly presented for payment, acceptance, or collection on the next succeeding business day.

Under certain circumstances the original named payee of order paper may be a holder in due course.

Law allows only two days for "making good" bad checks after receipt of notice. Failure to pay within that time is prima facie evidence of intent to steal or defraud.

No bank shall be liable to a depositor, or to the drawer of a bill of exchange upon the bank, for an amount charged to or collected from him on account of payment by such bank of a negotiable instrument upon which the signature of any party is forged, or which is made, drawn, accepted or indorsed without authority, or which is materially altered or the amount of which is raised; unless within one year after return of such negotiable instrument to such depositor or drawer, he shall notify the bank in writing that, as the case may be, the instrument was made, drawn accepted or indorsed without authority, that signature of a party to instrument is forged, or that instrument has been materially altered, or that the amount has been raised.

Bills of Lading. The so-called Uniform Bills of Lading Act is in force, and has been held constitutional by the Supreme Judicial Court. A bill in which it is stated that the goods are consigned or destined to a specified person is a non-negotiable or straight bill. A bill in which it is stated that the goods are consigned or destined to the order of any person named in such bill is a negotiable or order bill. A non-negotiable bill cannot be negotiated, and indorsement of such a bill gives transferee no additional right. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by indorsement of person to whose order goods are deliverable by tenor of bill. Such indorsement may be in blank or to a specified person. If indorsed to a specified person it may be negotiated again by the indorsement of such person in blank or to another specified person. Subsequent negotiation may be made in like manner. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by any person in possession of same, however such possession may have been acquired if, by the terms of the bill, the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of such person, or if at time of negotiation bill is in such form that it may be negotiated by delivery. Indorsement of bill does not make indorser liable for any failure on part of carrier or previous indorsers of the bill to fulfill their respective obligations. Any provision in an order bill that it is non-negotiable shall be void.

Bills of Sale. A bill of sale of personal property intended for security must be recorded, the recording provisions as to mortgages of personal property being applicable. See Chattel Mortgages, Ch. 255 of General Laws.

Blue Sky Law. Acts of 1921, ch. 499, approved May 27, 1921, entitled Promotion and Sale of Securities. Act does not apply to contracts valid and effective before act became effective. Certain securities are exempted. Act defines at length what is meant by security and sale. Persons dealing in securities within operation of act must be registered and information specified must be furnished Public Utilities Commission. Certain classes of sales and certain securities are exempted from operation of Act. Annual license fee for broker, $50, for salesman, $2. Act does not limit any statutory or common law right of any person to sue civilly or right of state to punish for violation of any law. Commission has power of inquiry, of summoning witnesses and of suspending certain sales. Act has immunity provisions. Violation of act punishable by fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment not more than two and one-half years or both. Scope of law extended by Acts 1924, ch. 487, which should be consulted.

Chattel Mortgages. Chattel mortgages must be recorded in the records of the city of town where the mortgagor resides when the mortgage is made, and in the city in which he then transacts business, every mortgage, must be recorded within fifteen days of the date, until recorded the mortgage is not valid except between the parties and record subsequent to time limited is void. If mortgagor resides in own city or town and mortgaged personal property is located or kept in another, record must also be made in city or town where property then is. If record in two places is required, and mortgage is recorded in one place within fifteen days, it may be recorded in other place within ten days after date of first record. The mortgage shall not be valid as against a person other than the parties thereto until so recorded.

A mortgage of after-acquired property is good as against an attaching creditor where possession of the after-acquired property is obtained before attachment thereof is made and subsequently retained by the mortgagor. A mortgage is good, however, between the parties, thereto, although unrecorded and no actual or constructive delivery of the property takes place. Mortgage does not cover after-acquired personal property unless mortgage has adequate provision, including "after-acquired property."

A Chattel Mortgage may be foreclosed by notice delivered personally or by publication, and notice with proof thereof must be recorded where the mortgage was recorded. After sixty days, the foreclosure becomes complete if the condition is not performed.

Chattel Mortgages may be assigned. Assignment should be recorded. Upon performance of the conditions therein contained the mortgagor is entitled to a release.

Where the mortgagor defaults, then the mortgagee may sell the goods at public auction by giving notice, in accordance with the time as specified in the mortgage, or advertising sale for three successive weeks in a local newspaper in said City or Town. The proceeds of the sale are applied to repay all sums secured by the mortgage and all costs and expenses incurred by reason of the sale. The surplus, if any, shall be forthwith paid to the mortgagor.

Conditional Sales of personal property are valid in this jurisdiction and the vendor may retain title for the unpaid purchase price therefor. It is usually a written formal document. It need not be recorded and will be good generally as against an attachment of the property in the hands of the conditional vendee, except by special statute. Lien notes, and conditional sales contracts providing the payments already made shall be forfeited or considered as rental of property, are void in Massachusetts.

Where the sale of personalty consists of household furniture, or other household property, then if title still remains in the vendor till the last payment has been made, the vendee must be given thirty days notice in writing by the vendor as to the breach of condition of sale before the goods or furniture can be repossessed, and also attached thereto by the vendor to said written notice must be an itemized statement showing amount due. If fifty per cent of the purchase price has been paid on the contract when the vendee so requests, the vendor must sell the goods at public auction and the proceeds shall pay the vendor his balance due, and any surplus over and above this shall forthwith be paid to the vendee.

To be valid, copy of conditional sale contract of furniture or household property must be delivered by vendor to conditional vendee at the time of the sale.

Acts of 1937, ch. 112 require recording of notice of conditional sale of elevator apparatus or machinery for validity as against mortgagees, purchasers or grantees of real estate. This includes heating apparatus or other apparatus which the vendor wishes to keep separate from the realty. Vendor must also (Acts 1937, ch. 245) record date of final payment within 90 days and a sworn statement of the account and name of second owner of the real estate.

Acts of 1937, ch. 315 require vendor of household furniture, jewelry, etc., on conditional sale, to embody all articles sold in a single written contract. Requires such vendor to note all payments with remaining balances, on the note, contract or receipts. Requires all finance charges to be inserted in advertisements offering conditional sales. Penalty, fine $100 to $500.

Conditional Sales Contracts of personal property simplified and additional safeguarding of interests of vendors, see Ch. 509, Acts of 1939, too lengthy to be summarized. This Act makes void certain contracts which do not comply with new law and further imposes penalties for violation. Counsel should be taken before any such contracts are discounted or assigned. While law is simplified, it is made clear and in some respects makes important changes too numerous to be set out here. Consult counsel.

Corporations. By special act of 1903, chapter 437, the law of business corporations was revised and as amended, and now codified in General Laws, applies to all corporations organized in this commonwealth for the purpose of carrying on business within the commonwealth for profit, except the following: Banks, savings banks, cooperative banks, trust companies, surety or indemnity companies, safe deposit companies, insurance companies, railroad or street railway companies, telegraph or telephone companies, gas or electric light, heat or power companies, canal, aqueduct or water companies, cemetery, or crematory companies, or any corporation which now have or may hereafter have the right to take or condemn land, or to exercise franchise in public ways, provided that corporations, formed for purpose of dealing in real estate shall state the term of the duration of the corporation, such term not to exceed fifty years.

Three or more persons may associate together and form a corporation for carrying on any lawful business not included in the above provisions. Such a corporation must have a capital of not less than $1,000, if having shares only with par value. Shares with par value must be of par value of at least $1.00. There is no maximum limit. Business corporations may create shares of stock with or without par value, and corporations with stock with par value may, by appropriate proceedings, change such stock to stock without par value. The stock may be divided into two or more classes with such preferences, voting power restrictions and qualifications as may be fixed by the agreement of association. Upon due organization of the associates and filing a copy of the agreement of the association and articles of organization with the commissioner of corporations and on payment of a fee of one-twentieth of 1 per cent of total amount of authorized capital stock with par value, and five cents per share for all authorized shares without par value, but in no case less than $50, a certificate of incorporation is issued by the secretary of state. The capital stock may be issued for cash, property, tangible or intangible services or expenses, but not for notes. The amount of capital stock may be increased from time to time. The corporation must have not less than three directors, president, clerk and treasurer. The directors, treasurer, and clerk are elected by the stockholders. The president is chosen by and from the board of directors. The clerk must be a resident of the commonwealth. Meetings of stockholders must be held within the commonwealth, but directors may meet within or without the commonwealth. Voting by proxy is permitted, but no proxy dated more than six months before the meeting named is valid. Any corporation may hold, purchase, convey mortgage or lease such real or personal property as the purposes of the business may require. One stockholder holding 1/10 interest can compel calling of special meeting of stockholders of business corporation. If proper corporate officer refuses to call meeting, three or more stockholders holding in the aggregate 1-10 the interest may apply to justice of the peace to issue warrant to one of applicants to call such a special or other legal meeting.

Every such corporation is required to file an annual report of its condition and if its capital stock is over $100,000, shares without par value being taken as of $100 in value, to file a written statement under oath by an auditor. It is also required to make an annual return to the tax commissioner.

Every foreign corporation which has a usual place of business here, or is engaged here permanently or temporarily in the construction, erection, alteration or repair of a building, bridge, railroad, railway or structure of any kind, shall before doing business here appoint the commissioner of corporations, its attorney for the service of process, such authority to continue as long as any liability remains outstanding against it in this commonwealth, and shall file with the commissioner of corporations a copy of its charter, articles or certificate of incorporation, by-laws, and a certificate setting forth its name, location of principal office, names and addresses of its officers, date of its annual meeting, amount of its capital stock authorized and issued, the number and par value of its shares, the amount paid thereon, and details of any payment thereof not made in money. Such corporations are required to file annual statements with the commissioner of corporations showing their condition. If it fails to file a copy of the charter, by-laws, etc., as above, it cannot maintain any action started by it in any court in this State. This has to be pleaded by a plea in Abatement, or may be otherwise specifically pleaded in each action, by the defendant, if he, or it wishes to set up such a defense against the action or suit brought by such a corporation.

Courts, Terms and Jurisdiction. Trial justices may severally hold courts within the counties for which they are appointed, and shall have original jurisdiction, exclusive of the superior court, of all actions of contract, tort, or replevin, where the debt or damages demanded or value of the property alleged to be detained does not exceed $100, and concurrent jurisdiction with the superior court of such actions where such amount exceeds $100 and is less than $300. District courts may in their respective counties have original jurisdiction, exclusive of the Superior Court, of actions of contract, tort or replevin, in which the debt or damages demanded or the value of the property alleged to be detained does not exceed $100 and have original and concurrent jurisdiction with the Superior Court of actions of contract, tort replevin in which the debt or damages demanded or the value of the property alleged to be detained is more than $100. The former limitation upon the jurisdiction of district court (of cases under $3000) has been removed and the district courts now have concurrent jurisdiction with the superior court over all actions of contract or tort, with no maximum or limitation in amount. The supreme judicial court has original jurisdiction in equity matters and may on appeal hear all matters of law determined by the probate court, and determine questions arising under wills. Superior court has jurisdiction where the amount claimed exceeds $20. Municipal court of the City of Boston has jurisdiction concurrently with superior court in the county of Suffolk, in actions where the debt does not exceed $5,000 provided one or more of the defendants resides or has his usual place of business in the county of Suffolk. The Land Court has exclusive original jurisdiction for registering titles to real estate under the Torrens system, and foreclosing tax and municipal lien titles under statutory provisions. Probate Court decree as well as Land Court can vest title in cases involving title to real estate owned by deceased person and in cases where jurisdiction is in Probate Court, that Court can make declaratory decrees affecting title to real estate.

The Probate Courts have jurisdiction over administration of estates of deceased persons, matters of adoption, guardianship, conservatorship, trusts under wills and written instruments, petitions for separate support, and of partition of land, and divorce. There is a Probate Court and Registry of Probate in each county. It has jurisdiction of insolvency cases under statute. In Land Registration Cases, Land Court may fix fees of guardian ad litem where minors involved. Equity jurisdiction is lodged in the Superior Court and in Supreme Judicial Court. By statute Probate Courts have jurisdiction in equity in certain special matters connected with estates and petitions before the same court.

Small Claims Procedure. General Laws of Massachusetts, Chapter 218, Section 21, provides for a simple, informal and inexpensive procedure, for the determination, according to the rules of substantive law, of claims in the nature of contract or tort, other than slander and libel, in which the plaintiff does not claim as debt or damages more than $50, and for a review of judgments upon such claims when justice so requires. Small Claims Court may now defer payment or order payment of judgment in installments and to enforce by contempt proceedings. The procedure is not exclusive, but is alternative to the formal procedure for causes begun by writ. The method of procedure is very simple and does away with the requirement of attorneys and enables the creditor to file his own papers in court at a minimum cost. Service is made by registered letter sent out by the Clerk of the District Court. The expense is about $1.25 for each claim.

Death. Where a person is absent and unheard from for a period of seven years, said person is presumed to be dead in legal theory. The estate of such an absentee is administered and held by a receiver appointed by the Probate Court of the county where he was last domiciled.

Depositions. Taking of such is governed by statute and rules of courts. The commission issued to take depositions contains full instructions to magistrate how to proceed.

Descent and Distribution of Property of Decedents. After deducting widow's allowance and allowances for minor children, and payment of debts and expenses of administration, the remaining personal and real estate is distributed as follows: If deceased leaves no issue, surviving husband or widow shall take $5,000 and one-half of remaining real and personal property. The real estate may be sold to pay the surviving spouse the $5,000, if necessary. If deceased leaves issue, surviving husband or widow shall take one-third of remaining real and personal property. If deceased leaves no kindred, surviving husband or widow shall take whole of remaining real and personal property.

A husband on death of wife shall hold for his life one-third of all land owned by her at any time during coverture, estate known as tenancy by curtesy. Wife is entitled to lower at common law. But in the event of testate estates, in order to be entitled to such curtesy or dower election and claim therefor must be filed in registry of probate within six months of approval of bond of executor or administrator, and such election is a waiver of the interests on real property above mentioned. Probate Court assigns dower or curtesy. Rights of curtesy which exist on February 1, 1919, may be claimed as above provided, but in such case husband shall take no other interest in real or personal property of wife, and except as above preserved curtesy at common law is abolished.

Subject to all the above, the rest and residue of intestate property is distributed as follows: 1. In equal shares to children and issue of any deceased child by right of representation; if there is no surviving child, then to the other lineal descendants if all are in same degree of kindred, otherwise by right of representation. 2. If intestate leaves no issue, then in equal shares to father and mother. 3. If no issue nor mother, then to father. 4. If no issue or father, then to mother. 5. If no issue, father or mother, then to brothers and sisters and to issue of deceased brothers or sisters by right of representation; if no surviving brother or sister, then to issue of such equally if all in same degree of kindred to intestate, otherwise by right of representation. 6. If he leaves no issue, no father, mother, brother or sister or issue of deceased brother or sister, then to next of kin in equal degree, but if there are two or more collateral kindred in equal degree claiming through different ancestors, those claiming through nearest ancestor are preferred. If intestate leaves no kindred, husband or widow, estate escheats to commonwealth.

Executions can not issue until twenty-four hours after judgment rendered, and an original execution must be issued within one year after plaintiff is entitled to sue out the same. Original executions in all courts are returnable within twenty years; when satisfied in full, within ten days of date of satisfaction of same in full.

Exemptions. Homestead, if recorded, to the value of $4,000 is exempted. Necessary wearing apparel of family, certain specified articles of household furniture, and $300 worth in addition thereto, library, $50; tools and implements, $100; stock, $100; boats and fishing tackle, etc., $100; one cow, six sheep, one swine, and two tons of hay, sewing machine, pew in church, etc. Materials and stock designed and necessary for carrying on his trade and intended to be used or wrought therein, not exceeding $100 in value. Shares in co-operative associations not exceeding $20 in value, funds of railroad relief societies, assessment insurance benefits, uniforms, arms, and equipments of militia officers.

Factor's Act. A factor or other agent intrusted with possession of merchandise or of bill of lading consigning merchandise to him with authority to sell the same shall be deemed the true owner of such merchandise, so far as to give validity to any bona fide contract of sale made by him. Bona fide consignees from shippers in lawful possession have liens for advances or securities to shipper. Bona fide pledges from consignees or factors are also protected.

Frauds, Statute of. No action can be brought to charge an executor or administrator as such on a special promise, to charge any person upon a special promise, to answer for debt, or misdoing of another, upon an agreement made on consideration of marriage, upon a contract for sale of any interest in land, upon an agreement not to be performed within a year, to charge a discharged debtor, unless the promise, contract or agreement or some memorandum thereof is signed by the party or by his authorized agent. No agreement to make a will, or to devise or to give a legacy is binding unless in writing. No contract of sale of personal property of $500 or over is actionable unless there is part payment, acceptance and receipt of part of the goods, or some memorandum in writing signed by party to be charged or his agent.

Gifts between Husband and Wife. Gifts of personal property and conveyances of real estate, other than mortgages, between husband and wife shall be valid to same extent as if they were sole.

Guardians. Probate Court may now authorize investment of funds of ward in life insurance endowments or annuity contracts. Compensation of guardian may now be apportioned by Court between principal and income (1941).

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 22 (Washington's birthday); April 19 (Patriot's Day); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day (Last Thursday in November in Massachusetts). But as to Thanksgiving special inquiry should be made in view of likely change from year to year, with little or no notice. December 25 (Christmas Day); or the day following when any such dates (except Labor Day) falls on Sunday. Acts of 1941, Chapter 91 makes March 17 (Evocation Day) and June 17 (Bunker Hill Day) as to Suffolk County only, legal holidays.

Infants. Age of majority, male and female, is twenty-one. Infant is liable for his torts and on contracts for necessities. He may repudiate or ratify all contracts after reaching majority. During minority, he may sue by next friend, often called prochein ami.

Insolvency. Insolvency law suspended by National Bankruptcy Act. Acts of Bankruptcy: (1) Fraudulent conveyance in order to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors; (2) Where insolvent has transferred his property to one or more of his creditors with intent to prefer him or them; (3) Where insolvent has suffered or permitted a creditor to obtain a preference through legal proceedings and not having discharged such preference at least 5 days before sale or other disposition of the property affected; (4) Made general assignment for benefit of creditors; (5) Being insolvent applied for a receiver or trustee of his property, or because of insolvency, a receiver or trustee put in charge of his property; (6) Admitted in writing his inability to pay his debts and a willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt; (7) While insolvent permitted attachment, lien, etc., on his property and has not vacated the same within thirty days therefrom. (1927 and 1928 amendments.)

Interest. Legal rate is 6 per cent. Loans of less than one thousand dollars, interest shall not be charged exceeding eighteen per cent. Small loan business ($300.00 or less) maximum rate 3% per month on unpaid balances. Not more than seven per cent can be charged on bonds issued by corporations. It shall be lawful to pay, reserve, contract for any rate of interest or of discount except as above.

Judgments. A judgment or decree of a court of record of the United States or of any state thereof shall be presumed to be paid and satisfied at the expiration of twenty years after it was rendered.

Leases. In leases of real estate for term of seven years or more, no longer necessary to record entire lease "disclosing" private terms to the public. Chapter 85 of Acts of 1941 provides for recording of mere "notice" of lease only. Consult the Act for modified requirements.

Limitation of Suits. Contract express or implied and not under seal and not otherwise limited, six years; real actions, those upon an attested note, if suit is brought by original payee or his executor or administrator, and personal actions on contracts not limited, twenty years. Absence from the State prevents the running of the statute of limitations as to a defendant until he comes into the State. If the person entitled to bring an action is a minor or is insane or imprisoned when the right to bring such action first accrues, such action may be commenced within the time hereinbefore limited after the disability is removed. The statute does not run against those residing out of the State, but if the State in which debtor resides has a statute of limitations, same would run against this debt as for an action on said debt where the debtor resides. See also Administration of Estates.

Married Women. The real and personal estate of a married woman, acquired at any time, remains her sole and separate property, not subject to the control of her husband, nor liable for his debts. Married women may carry on trade or business, make contracts, sue and be sued, in all matters relating to their separate property, and such contracts are not binding upon the husband. Wife carrying on business on own account must record certificate with city or town clerk; neglect to do this renders her property so employed liable for husband's debts, and renders husband liable for her debts thus contracted.

Married Women. A married woman is also liable jointly with her husband for debts due to the amount of $100 in each particular case for necessities furnished with the knowledge or consent to herself and her family where she is possessed with property valued at $2,000 or more.

Work and labor performed by a married woman for a third person other than her husband and children shall be deemed, in the absence of any agreement in writing to the contrary, to be performed on her sole and separate account. She may pledge her husband's credit for her support, but may also be personally liable for her purchases.

Mechanic's Liens. Subject covered by statute. General Laws Ch. 254.

Mortgages of Real Estate. Power of sale mortgage is universally used. Foreclosure is regulated by statute, requiring publication once each week for three successive weeks in same newspaper published in town or city where real estate is situated, first publication to be not less than 21 days from date of sale by Public Auction, and sale bars redemption. Because of requirements of Soldiers and Sailors Relief Act of 1940, State Legislature has prescribed simplified procedure for foreclosure authority under the Federal Act, in State Courts. Mortgages may also be foreclosed by entry and peaceable possession for three years.

Probate Court has jurisdiction in equity to issue injunction restraining foreclosure if it will hinder proper administration of an estate; to issue on petition of executor, etc. of the estate.

Upon payment or performance of condition, mortgagee liable in tort for all damages caused by his neglect or refusal to discharge mortgage within seven days from date of request therefor. Gen. Laws, C. 183, S. S. "55."

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Real Estate; Fraudulent Conveyances are a ground for civil arrest generally. An equitable action lies to recover property that has been so conveyed fraudulently. Special attachment on original writ or by order of court may be made of realty which has been fraudulently conveyed by a debtor in fraud of his creditors.

Agreement for sale of real estate must be acknowledged. Good for ninety days only after deed delivery date unless suit brought meanwhile to enforce agreement.

Replevin Actions are the forms of actions at law by which a party can obtain possession of specific goods or chattels unlawfully taken or wrongfully detained from the rightful owner or person who is entitled to its possession. Before the replevin writ can be served, a bond for double the value of the property to be replevied must be delivered to the officer before he will proceed to act under the writ.

Sales of Personal Property. Uniform Sales Act adopted in 1908, is now Gen. Laws ch. 106. There is a Bills of Lading statute, (Gen. Laws ch. 108), and Gen. Laws ch. 105 relates to warehouse receipts. As to sales of $500 or over, see Frauds, Statute of. Sales of merchandise in bulk are fraudulent unless the provisions of Gen. Laws ch. 106, sec. 1, are complied with. Delivery of a bill of sale is not constructive delivery of the goods. Delivery of possession of goods sold is essential as to third persons without notice who purchase same goods for value, or as to attaching creditors without notice. Vendor's retention of possession after sale is prima facie evidence of fraud. As to conditional sales, see that topic supra.

Statutes. General revision and consolidation of statutes, effective January 1, 1921 under title of General Laws. Except such as are declared to be emergency laws, statutes take effect 90 days after passing, under Amendment to Article XLVIII of Massachusetts Constitution, 1941.

Stock Transfer. This subject is covered by Stock Transfer Act as codified in General Laws.

Suits. Civil actions in general, except those concerning land (if one of the parties lives in the State), must be brought in the county where one of them lives or has his usual place of business. But in lower courts venue depends on residence or place of business of defendant. This is so in all cases except those cases involving damages arising out of operation of a motor vehicle on the highways of Massachusetts; as to these, original jurisdiction of such cases is in District Courts, but either party may remove to Superior Court. Where all parties are non-resident, action may be brought in any county. Attachment of property owned by defendants residing out of State may be made sufficient to give jurisdiction for a special judgment in suit after notice published by order of court. Such notice to be given within one year from the entry of the suit. Persons comorant in State may also be arrested on mense process and held to bail. This, however, can be done only upon special order of court upon plaintiff's application for arrest, on a civil debt. A non-resident plaintiff is usually required to furnish indorser for costs. See also Actions, supra.

Civil process cannot be served on the Lord's Day, except such process as may be served by publication, in which event same may be published in a newspaper published on Lord's Day.

Taxes assessed upon land shall with all incidental charges and fees be a lien thereon from January 1st, in the year of assessment. Such lien shall terminate at the expiration of two years from October 1st in said year, if the estate has in the meantime been alienated and the instrument alienating the same has been recorded, otherwise it shall continue until a recorded alienation thereof; but if while such lien is in force a tax sale or taking has been made and the deed or instrument of taking has been duly recorded within sixty days, but the sale or taking is invalid by reason of any error or irregularity in the proceedings subsequent to the assessment, the lien shall continue for ninety days after a release, notice or disclaimer, has been duly recorded, or for ninety days after the sale or taking has been finally adjudged invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction. There shall be no lien for taxes reassessed if the property is alienated before the reassessment. Said taxes if unpaid for fourteen days after demand therefor, may, with said charges and fees, be levied by sale or taking of the real estate if the lien thereon has not terminated. By recent Act, city or town may acquire tax title by mere taking (this was enacted to relieve heavy expense of tax sales of small lots and land of little value). Upon certification by State Tax Commissioner, these lands are of low value. Taking to be recorded at Registry of Deeds, costs $1.00.

Owner of tax title has benefit of all covenants running with the land subject to and together with assessments and restrictions then existing. Except where lands have been certified as of lands of low value, owner of the tax title does not acquire absolute title until tax title foreclosed in Land Court; petition to foreclose can be brought two years after sale or taking, not before.

Mortgagee may at any time pay overdue taxes and have same added to mortgage debt. Interest on overdue taxes now 4%.

Petition for abatement of taxes must be filed with assessors not later than October 1 of year in which they are assessed.

The matter of enforcing the payment or collection of taxes is one concerning which there is a considerable body of statute law which cannot be briefly summarized.

Trustees. Investments. See Guardians, supra.

Trustee Process. All personal actions except replevin, and actions of tort for malicious prosecution, slander, libel, or assault and battery may be begun by trustee process and goods, effects, or credits of defendant in hand of a third person may be attached and held to satisfy final judgment. But certain actions with ad damnum of more than $1,000, can be commenced by trustee process only upon the filing of bond with sureties to indemnify defendant for costs and damages by reason of trustee attachment, bond to be approved by a justice of the Court. Bond premium taxable as costs. This new Act should be consulted in cases where ad damnum over $1,000 in trustee process.

In trustee process, if attachment of wages is desired, permission endorsed in writing on the writ must be obtained from a justice of the court where action commenced. See also Actions, supra.

Warehouseman and Warehouse Receipts. The Warehouse Receipts Act as codified into Gen. Laws is in force. Chap. 105.

Wills. Every person of full age and sound mind including married women may make a will. Will must be signed by testator, or by some person in his behalf, by his express direction, and be attested and subscribed by three or more competent witnesses in his presence. A will executed in mode prescribed by the law either of place where will is executed or of place of testator's domicile, shall be deemed legally executed and shall be of same force and effect as if executed in mode prescribed by laws of Massachusetts provided will is in writing and subscribed by testator. As to waiver of provisions of will by husband or wife, see Descent and Distribution, supra, also General Laws ch. 190, section 15.

A will may be revoked in the identical manner in which the statute requires a will to be revoked. Will may be revoked by destruction such as burning, tearing, cancelling, or by obliterating it with a manifest intention to revoke the same, and it may be revoked by a formal written instrument by a later will or by a codicil.

Ordinarily marriage operates by statute as a revocation of a will unless the will was made in contemplation of the coming marriage.

Witnesses. Any person, although a party, may testify in any proceedings, except that neither husband nor wife may be compelled to testify to private conversations with each other, or be compelled to testify in a criminal proceeding against the other. The defendant in a criminal proceeding may testify, at his own request and not otherwise, and once he takes the witness stand in a criminal proceeding or matter, he waives all his privileges even where the desired testimony tends to incriminate him, and the privilege not to give testimony has been waived.

The neglect or deliberate refusal of a defendant to take the stand and testify in his own behalf shall not be a presumption or be even considered against him, and the prosecution shall not comment to the jury upon the defendant's failure to take the stand.

However, where the wife is necessary to explain certain acts, or omissions in a criminal matter against her husband, if she refuses to take the stand in his defence, the district attorney is not barred from commenting to the jury as to why she failed to testify for and behalf of her husband.

The communications of a client to his attorney as a legal adviser are privileged and is a personal privilege belonging to the client. The attorney over the objection of his client cannot take the stand and testify as to private conversations disclosed to him as an authority on the laws of the Commonwealth. However, if the client takes the stand he may be interrogated as to what he told his lawyer, provided such evidence is otherwise admissible under the rules of evidence generally.

Michigan in 1923 passed an act, commonly known as the Blue Sky Law, regulating the selling of and dealing in stocks, bonds and other securities with certain exceptions of corporations, associations, partnerships and individuals, so as to prevent fraud in such dealings and creating a Commission of three to administer the provision of the law. Under this law application must be made to the Michigan Securities Commission and the approval of the Commission secured before such securities may be sold. Certain penalties are imposed under the law for non-compliance with its provision. The Michigan Supreme Court has declared the act to be Constitutional and valid.

Chattel Mortgages. Chattel mortgages and bills of sale intended as security, signed and delivered by mortgagor to mortgagee, sufficient between the parties, but void as to creditor, subsequent purchasers and encumbrances in good faith without notice, unless such mortgages and bills of sale or true copies thereof are filed in the office of the register of deeds for the county where the mortgagor resides, or where the goods are situated if mortgagor is a non-resident of the State, and unless affidavit of mortgagor, or some one for him, having knowledge of the facts, is annexed to the mortgage or bill of sale, showing the consideration is actual and adequate and in good faith.

Conditional Sales. Michigan has not adopted the Uniform Sales Act and such contracts are construed in accordance with common law. (See 230 Mich. p. 23.) The pure conditional sales gives possession of chattels with the right to ownership upon payment of the agreed price, retaining title in the seller with the right of reclamation in case of default or the alternative of passing the title by suit for the purchase price.

The right to retake the property, retain payment made, and look to the buyer for deficiency in the agreed price, is inconsistent with a conditional sale, and should be executed and filed as a chattel mortgage to be valid as against creditors and purchasers in good faith. If consignee or purchaser is authorized by the contract to resell, then for a retention of title to be effective, the contract must be written and recorded as a chattel mortgage.

Conveyances. Any person of full age or otherwise capable may convey by deed any interest in lands, whether in actual possession or not. All grants and devises of lands to two or more persons create estates in common; no joint tenancy, unless expressly so declared, except such as are made in trust or to executors, and except such as are made to husband and wife, who take as "tenants by entirety." The words "conveys and warrants" in the deed describing the premises and specifying the consideration, dated, duly signed and acknowledged by grantor are sufficient to convey title in fee simple and to warrant, that grantor and his heirs and personal representatives is seized of the premises, has good right to convey same, guarantees quiet possession thereof, and that he will warrant and defend the title against all lawful claims. The words "conveys and quit claims" duly signed, sealed and acknowledged by grantor are sufficient to convey grantor's interest. The words "mortgages and warrants" and duly described premises, specifying "to secure the payment" and reciting the sum for which mortgage is given and the notes and other evidences of debt secured thereby, mortgage being dated, signed, sealed and acknowledged by grantor, is sufficient and warrants perfect title in the grantor and against all previous incumbrances; omitting the word "warrants" sufficient, but without any warranty. Dower and homestead rights not waived unless wife joins in the mortgage. No homestead right will avail against the mortgagee if there is no wife, nor if wife joins in the mortgage. Married women of full age joining with husbands in any deed, mortgage, power of attorney or other writing, shall be bound in respect to their own title. The names of all parties who sign witnesses, etc., must be typed under or reasonably connected with their signatures before recordable.

Marital status of a grantor must be shown.

Corporations. Corporation for Transportation of Passengers and Freight, Pipe line, Transmission of Messages, Canal, Harbor and River Improvement, Electricity and Water, Banks, Insurance, Fraternal Benefit, Trust, Ecclesiastical, Cemetery, Summer Resort and Park Associations are organized under separate general laws.

All other general business corporations must incorporate under the general corporation act.

One or more persons may incorporate. Articles of Association to be made out in triplicate and sent to Secretary of State who returns one and sends the other to County Clerk at main office of corporation. May be par or no par stock, preferred or common as articles provide. If par, consideration must be as much as par. If no par, at least one-half consideration received must be deemed capital and not surplus. Holders of par value stock may be called on to pay up the par value. Consideration may be property or services.

Stockholders vote in person or by proxy. At least one vote for each share, and at election of directors as many votes per share as directors to be elected. May be voted cumulatively.

Must be at least three directors elected annually. Hold office until successor appointed. Make duplicate reports in July or August annually for fiscal year last ending of financial and general business condition of corporation to Secretary of State. Declare dividends from net earnings or earned surplus. (Only realized appreciation of assets may be included.)

If no par, may declare dividends only when average consideration received is unimpaired. Directors liable for wilful or negligent declaration in violation of these provisions.

Stockholders are liable for labor debts with right contribution. Make by-laws. Dissenting stock may have fair cash value of shares on sale of substantially all the corporate property or in case of a merger, either of which may be done by two-thirds vote of stock.

General corporate powers—sue, be sued, etc. May acquire, hold and convey realty.

It is unlawful for Foreign Corporations to carry on business in this state until certificate of authority procured from Secretary of State, until which time cannot make valid contracts, unlawful for any person to act as agent of. Sales of goods or merchandise by right inter-state commerce not affected by state laws.

Courts. Terms of Jurisdiction. Circuit courts, holding two or more terms annually in each county, have original jurisdiction in all cases of law and equity wherein the amount in controversy is $100 and upwards; and have appellate jurisdiction from justice of the peace probate courts, and other inferior tribunals. Justice courts in each county have concurrent jurisdiction of cases at law involving from $100 to $300, and to $500 in some cities by charter. In Detroit this court is now known as the Common Pleas Court. In Grand Rapids is a "Superior Court" for civil cases, limited to parties resident of the city. Probate courts in each county have jurisdiction of estates of deceased persons and testamentary trusts. Supreme court has final appellate jurisdiction from circuit, municipal and recorders' courts.

Commissions to take depositions of any witnesses may be issued by circuit court wherein the suit is pending or by the judge or register thereof, or by a justice of the peace in a suit before him on written interrogatives. Fees for taking, certifying, sealing and forwarding $5, for each 100 words in deposition 15c and copies 3c. Each party pays for his own examination or cross examination in the first instance.

Stockholders are individually liable for debts of the bank in an additional amount equal to the par value of the stock owned by them and this liability continues one year after the transfer of the stock. Branch banking is not permitted in the State of Minnesota.

Bills of Lading. The Uniform Bills of Lading Act became effective June 1, 1917.

Blue Sky Law. The commission is headed by the Commissioner of Securities. The law prohibits the selling by anyone of securities within the state until such securities have been registered with the commission and until the commission has granted permission to sell the same. Securities are defined to include any stock, share, bond, note, debenture, commercial paper, evidence of indebtedness, investment contract, interest in or under a profit sharing or participating agreement or scheme, any interest in or under any oil, gas or mining property or in any property represented to contain or be a prospect for oil, gas or minerals, beneficial interest in a trust or pretended trust or any interest in the capital, assets, property or profits of any person.

The commission is given rather extensive powers to regulate the selling price of securities and cost of promotion, to fix the conditions under which a permit shall be granted to require the furnishing of relevant information, and to suspend or annul existing permits.

The more important securities exempt under the Act are: (1) Any security issued or guaranteed by the United States or by any state or territory or insular possession thereof, or by the District of Columbia, or by any political subdivision or agency of a state, territory, or insular possession, or by the Dominion of Canada, or any province or any political subdivision thereof, having the power of taxation or assessment; (2) Any security issued by and representing an interest in, or issued by and representing a direct obligation of, a state bank organized and operating under the laws of Minnesota; and any security issued by a national bank or by a corporation or governmental agency created or existing by an act of the Congress of the United States other than a corporation created or existing under the code of laws for the District of Columbia or under the code of laws for any territory or possession of the United States provided that such corporation is subject to supervision or regulation by the Government of the United States; (3) certain securities issued or guaranteed by railroads or public service utilities; (4) Securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange, New York Curb Exchange and Chicago Stock Exchange, which securities have been so listed pursuant to official authorization by such exchange, and all securities senior to any securities so listed, subscription rights so listed, or evidences of indebtedness guaranteed by companies any stock of which is so listed, such securities to be exempt only so long as such listing shall remain in effect; (5) Commercial paper or negotiable promissory notes, maturing not more than within six months from the date of issue; (6) Securities of certain corporations organized for religious, educational and charitable purposes and not for pecuniary gain; (7) Policy contracts of insurance companies licensed to do business in the State; (8) Any security issued by a building and loan association organized under the laws of this state; (9) Securities of co-operative associations organized under the laws of the State for agricultural, dairy or livestock purposes.

Certain sales are exempt, such as isolated sales; sales of notes or bonds secured by a mortgage lien when the entire lien, together with all notes or bonds secured thereby, is sold to a single purchaser at a single sale; sales made under the order of court; stock dividends or issuance of increase of stock to existing stockholders where no commission is paid; sales to banks, savings institutions, trust companies, insurance companies or licensed brokers or dealers; subscriptions where no cash is paid by purchaser prior to registration; sales by pledgeholders or mortgages selling in the ordinary course of business at public or private sale; exchange of securities by issuer with its own security holders without consideration or commission; solicitation for execution of any orders by licensed dealer or broker for the purchase of securities provided the broker is the mere agent with no money interest in the sale or distribution of the security.

Chattel Mortgages. Every mortgage of personal property which is not accompanied by immediate delivery and followed by actual and continued change of possession is void as to creditors and subsequent purchasers and mortgagees in good faith, unless it is made in good faith, attested by two witnesses, acknowledged and filed with the register of deeds of the county in which the mortgagor resided at the time of its execution, is a resident of the State, or of that in which the property was then situated if a non-resident. If the mortgagor resides in St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth or is a non-resident, and the property is situated there, the mortgage must be filed with the city clerk of such city instead of the register of deeds of the county. Duplicates or copies certified by any officer with whom the mortgage has been properly filed, may be filed in other places wherein any part of the property was situated when the same was made. As against creditors of the mortgagor and subsequent purchasers and mortgagees in good faith the lien does not continue beyond the term of six years from the date of filing the mortgage unless the indebtedness is not then due and payable by its terms, in which case it continues two years after the maturity of the debt and no longer.

Every mortgagee of a chattel mortgage shall at the time of its delivery make and deliver to the mortgagor a full, true and complete copy of such mortgage. No register of deeds nor city clerk is allowed to receive or file any chattel mortgage which does not contain a receipt of the signer of the mortgage to the effect that a copy of such mortgage has been received by him.

Chattel mortgages given by a married man or woman on property exempt from execution must be executed by both husband and wife if living.

Conveyances. Deeds and mortgages of real estate must be executed in the presence of two subscribing witnesses and to entitle them to record must be acknowledged by the person executing the same. Conveyances made out of the State, may be executed as above, or according to the laws of the place of execution.

Corporations. Three or more natural persons of full age may form a corporation for any lawful business purposes. Articles of Incorporation shall be signed by each of the incorporators and acknowledged by at least three of them, and shall state: (1) The purposes of the corporation. (2) Its duration, limited or perpetual. (3) Total authorized number of par value shares and the par value of each; authorized number of no par value shares, if any. (4) Description of classes of shares, if classified. (5) Amount of stated capital with which corporation is to start business; not less than $1,000. (6) Names, addresses and terms of office of first directors. (7) Names and addresses of each of incorporators. (8) Such provisions, if any, limiting or denying stockholders the preemptive right to subscribe for shares of any class or series.

Articles are filed with the Secretary of State, who attends to recording the same with the Register of Deeds. Corporate existence begins upon issuance of a certificate of incorporation by the Secretary of State. Within fourteen days after issuance of the certificate the corporation must publish once in a qualified newspaper a notice stating its name, the date of its incorporation, the general nature of its business, the address of its registered office, names and addresses of incorporators and its first directors. Proof of such publication must be filed with the Secretary of State. A penalty of $50 is provided for failure to comply with the provisions relating to filing and publication.

The Legislature shall have power from time to time to provide for, limit and otherwise regulate the liability of stockholders or members of corporations and co-operative corporations or associations, however organized. Provided every stockholder in a banking or trust corporation or association shall be individually liable in an amount equal to the amount of stock owned by him for all debts of such corporation contracted prior to any transfer of such stock and such individual liability shall continue for one year after any transfer of such stock and the entry thereof on the books of the corporation or association. The liability of stockholders of corporation as formerly provided in the constitution has been abolished by constitutional amendment and at the present time the liability applies only to the stockholders in banks and trust companies.

No foreign corporation can transact business or bring suit here unless it holds a certificate of authority which is procured by making application to the Secretary of State setting forth (1) the name of the corporation and state or country under which organized; (2) its date of incorporation and duration; (3) its address in state or country under which organized; (4) the address of its proposed registered office and the name of its proposed registered agent in this state; (5) that it irrevocably consents to the service of process against it; (6) the names and addresses of its directors and officers; (7) authorized number of par value shares and no par value shares itemized by classes and series; (8) aggregate number of its issued or allotted par value and no par value shares itemized by classes and series; (9) that the officers executing application have been duly authorized so to do by the board of directors of the corporation. Such application is delivered to the Secretary of State, together with authenticated copies of its articles of incorporation and payment to the State Treasurer of an initial license fee of $50.00. The Secretary of State issues and records the certificate of authority, and thereafter the corporation shall continuously maintain in this state (a) a registered office; (b) a registered agent. Provision is made for the withdrawal of a foreign corporation, for the revocation of its authority to transact business, for the filing of annual reports, and for the payment of additional license fees based on the annual reports. Licenses of foreign corporations existing as of April 20, 1935, continue in force and effect until March 1, 1936, and then terminate without further act. Licensed foreign corporations existing as of April 20, 1935, may at any time prior to March 1, 1936, deliver to the Secretary of State such instruments required as if originally applying for a certificate of authority, omitting instruments already on file. (See Minnesota Foreign Corporation Act, Chapter 200, Laws of 1935); No foreign corporation may carry on in Minnesota the business of banks, trust companies or building and loan associations. Foreign corporations may, however, obtain certificates of authority to make realty loans.

Courts. District courts hold one or more terms a year in each organized county, have original jurisdiction in all civil actions at law and in equity, and in all criminal cases where the punishment exceeds three months' imprisonment or a fine of more than $100.

The supreme court has appellate jurisdiction in all cases, but there is no trial by jury in that court. It has original jurisdiction in such remedial cases as are prescribed by law.

Probate courts have exclusive jurisdiction of matters connected with the settlement of estates of deceased persons, minors, and insane persons.

Municipal courts exist in certain cities, and are courts of record with limited jurisdiction in civil and criminal actions.

Justices of the peace have no jurisdiction in civil actions where the amount involved exceeds $100.

Days of Grace are abolished.

Depositions may be taken at any place within or without the State upon notice in writing, stating the reason for taking the same, the time and place and giving the opposite party one day for preparation, and one day for every 100 miles, exclusive of Sundays and the day of service, before any officer authorized to administer oaths.

Descent and Distribution of Property. Homestead descends to surviving spouse for life, remainder to children and issue of deceased children. If no children or issue of deceased child, then to surviving spouse in fee. Where the homestead is disposed of by will and where it descends to the spouse or children or issue of deceased children, it is exempt from all debts which were not valid charges thereon at the time of decedent's death. After payment of debts and certain allowances to the surviving spouse out of the personal property, the estate, real and personal, descends as follows: (1) One-third to the surviving spouse, provided that if a spouse and only one child or the issue of a deceased child survive, the share of the spouse is one-half; balance in equal shares to the surviving children and to issue of deceased children by right of representation. (2) If no surviving child and no issue of deceased child, the whole estate descends to surviving spouse, if any. (3) If no issue or spouse, to father and mother in equal shares, or if but one survive then to such survivor. (4) If there be no surviving issue, spouse, father, nor mother, then to the surviving brothers and sisters, if any, and to the issue of any deceased brother or sister in equal shares if all are of equal degree and if not, then in equal shares to those in the nearest degree and by right of representation to those in a more remote degree. (5) If no issue, spouse, father, mother, brother or sister, to next of kin in equal degree, but those who claim through the nearest ancestor shall take to the exclusion of those claiming through an ancestor more remote. (6) If a minor dies leaving no spouse, nor issue surviving, all of his estate that came to him by inheritance or will from his parent descends in equal shares to the other children of the same parent and to the issue of any deceased child of such parent, by right of representation; failing all such, it descends by intestate succession as in other cases. (7) If no spouse or kindred, to the State.

Dower is abolished.

Employers Liability Act. Effective since April 24, 1913.

Executions issue from district courts any time within ten years after judgment and may run to any county where judgment is docketed, are returnable in sixty days and may be renewed for sixty days at a time on request of judgment creditor or his attorney. Personal property is sold on ten days posted notice; real estate on six weeks published notice, and subject to redemption by judgment debtor, his assignees and creditors of a deceased mortgagor who have proved their claims in probate court may redeem within one year from the date of the foreclosure sale. (For extension of period of redemption from real estate mortgage foreclosure sales see 'Mortgages' herein).

It is provided that when Sunday and one or more legal holidays or two or more legal holidays fall on the same day, and when Sunday and one or more legal holidays, or two or more legal holidays, immediately succeed each other, then negotiable instruments etc. shall be deemed as due or maturing on the day following the last of such days.

Interest. Six per cent is legal rate, but by contract any rate not exceeding 8 per cent may be exacted. Usurious contracts are void as to both principal and interest. Licensed small loan companies may charge up to 3% per month on loans up to $300. Licensed corporations doing a salary loan and/or a chattel mortgage loan business may charge up to 1% per month on loans up to $200, plus a service charge of $1.75 to $5.75.

Judgments may be entered by default in district courts at expiration of twenty days after service of summons. When docketed in those courts they become liens upon all real estate of the debtor in the county where docketed, then owned by him or afterwards acquired, and the lien continues for ten years after the entry of the judgment. Transcripts of judgments in justice and municipal courts may be filed in district court and there docketed, and then become lien on real estate. Uniform declaratory judgments act adopted April 17, 1933.

Liens. To preserve a mechanics lien a verified statement must be filed by the lien claimant within ninety days after furnishing the last item of labor or material in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the improved premises are situated, or if claimed upon a line of railway or its appurtenances with the secretary of state. The lien may be released by a court order on deposit with the clerk of the District Court of a sufficient sum of money to protect the lien claimant, and anyone interested in the property may bring an action in the nature of an action to determine adverse claims to remove the lien. Action to foreclose the lien must be commenced within one year of the date of furnishing the last item of labor or material as set out in the verified statement.

Limitation of Actions. On contracts express or implied less than ten years; judgments ten years; to foreclose mortgages fifteen years; to recover real estate, fifteen years. S. or of any State or Territory entered by Confession under a warrant of attorney, unless the action upon such judgment be begun within one year after the rendition or entry thereof.

Married Women. Property acquired by wife before or after marriage remains her separate estate. It is liable for her debts and torts to the same extent as if she were unmarried, and she may make any contract which she could make if unmarried, except that no conveyance or contract for sale of her homestead or any interest therein is valid unless her husband joins in the same.

Both husband and wife are liable for necessities furnished to and used by the family.

Mortgages on real estate executed in the presence of two subscribing witnesses, acknowledged and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the mortgaged premises are situated may be foreclosed by publication or by action. At the mortgagor's option the right to foreclose by publication may be changed into a foreclosure by action up to July 1, 1942. The right to foreclose by action remains the same. The right of redemption may be extended by the District Court to July 1, 1942. Prior to July 1, 1942, no action shall be maintained for a deficiency judgment until the period of redemption as above stated has expired. The mortgagor, his assigns, and creditors of a deceased mortgagor who have proved their claims in probate court may redeem from foreclosure.

The authority of an attorney conducting a foreclosure by advertisement, must be in the form of a Power of Attorney, executed and acknowledged by the mortgagee or assignee in the same manner as a conveyance and recorded prior to the sale in the County where the foreclosure proceedings are had.

The mortgagor may covenant to pay or authorize the mortgagee to retain any attorney's fee in case of foreclosure of not exceeding $25 where the mortgage debt does not exceed $500; $50 where the mortgage debt exceeds $500 and does not exceed $1,000; $75 where the mortgage debt exceeds $1,000 and does not exceed $5,000; $100 where the mortgage debt exceeds $5,000 but does not exceed $10,000; and $200 where the mortgage debt exceeds $10,000. Mortgagor or subsequent lien holder may before foreclosure sale pay debt and costs in full in which case attorney's fee shall not exceed fifty dollars.

A Registry Tax of 15 cents is imposed upon each $100 or fraction thereof of the principal debt secured by any mortgage covering property within the State of Minnesota and recorded in said State. In case the maturity of any portion of the debt so secured shall be fixed at a date more than five years and sixty days after the date of said mortgage, the amount of such Registry Tax shall be at the rate of 25 cents on each $100. No such mortgage or assignment or satisfaction thereof or papers relating to its foreclosure, shall be recorded or registered unless such tax has been paid, nor shall any such document or record thereof be received in evidence in any court or have any validity as notice or otherwise. No mortgage nor papers relating to its foreclosure, nor any assignment or satisfaction thereof shall be recorded or registered after the passage of the act, unless said tax shall have been paid; nor shall any such document or any record thereof be received in evidence in any court or have any validity as notice or otherwise; but if the tax be paid, no error in computation or ascertainment of the amount thereof shall affect the validity of such mortgage or the record or foreclosure thereof. If such mortgages describe real estate outside of Minnesota, such tax shall be imposed upon such proportion of the whole debt secured as the value of the real estate described in this State bears to the value of the whole real estate, such value to be determined by the State Auditor upon application of the mortgagee.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act was adopted in Minnesota July 1, 1913. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.") The act is in effect in Minnesota as compiled by the Uniform Laws Commission except for four changes as follows:

1. Instruments payable to the estate of a deceased person shall be deemed payable to the order of the administrator or executor of his estate, Laws of 1929, Chapter 353.

2. The incorporation of the terms of a mortgage, deed of trust, indenture or lien in any bond, note, debenture or promise to pay does not render it non-negotiable where it is otherwise drawn to fall under the N. I. L. Laws of 1927, Chapter 416.

3. Instruments presented after 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, when not a full holiday, may at the option of the payor be then paid. Laws 1917 Chapter 204.

4. Instruments payable at a bank shall not be an order on the bank to pay the same for the account of the principal debtor. General Statutes of 1913, Sec. 5899.

Right to Hold Property. No person unless he be a citizen of the United States, or has declared his intention to become a citizen, and no corporation unless created under the laws of the United States, or of some state thereof, shall acquire lands exceeding 90,000 square feet, except by devise, inheritance, or through security for indebtedness. This does not apply to actual settlers on farms not exceeding 160 acres, or to subjects of a foreign country, whose rights to hold lands are secured by treaty.

No corporation, more than 20 per cent of whose stock is owned by persons not citizens of the United States, or by corporations not created under its laws, or those of some state thereof, can acquire lands, and no corporation unless organized for the construction or operation of a railway canal or turnpike can acquire more than 5,000 acres or more than is necessary for its operation, and lands granted it by the State or United States.

But this does not apply to lands acquired in the collection of debts nor to a person or corporation engaged in selling lands to actual settlers, or engaged in manufacturing in Minnesota while so engaged. Such persons or corporations not so engaged must sell what they had April 13, 1911, within ten years from that date and sell what they acquire subsequent to that date within ten years after they acquire it.

Sales of Goods. The Uniform Sales Act became effective June 1, 1917.

Securities Commission. See Blue Sky Law.

Taxes. Personal property is assessed once a year; real estate every two years. Taxes on both classes of property are levied every year. Taxes on real estate constitute a prior lien. Land on which taxes not paid sold on second Monday in May each year. Moneys and credits are subject to an annual tax of three mills on each dollar of the fair cash value thereof. Moneys and credits belonging to incorporated banks located within the state are exempt. Real estate mortgage indebtedness is exempt from the moneys and credits tax; but is taxed under the mortgage registry tax law at the rate of 15 cents per hundred, except where the indebtedness or a portion thereof runs for a longer period than five years and sixty days, in which event the rate on such indebtedness or portion is 25 cents per hundred.

An Income Tax is imposed upon both individuals and corporations by the provisions of Laws of 1933, Chapter 405, as amended.

Wills. Every person of sound mind, not a minor, may dispose of property by will in writing signed by the testator, or by some person in his presence and by his direction, attested and subscribed in his presence by two or more competent witnesses. Every person includes married women. If, after making a will the testator marries, the will is thereby revoked. If after making a will the testator is divorced, all provisions in the will in favor of the testator's spouse so divorced, are thereby revoked.

In general assignments, where the value exceeds $1,000, the assignee must give bond and administer the trust in chancery. Preferences not prohibited.

Attachment. Against a debtor who is a non-resident or who removes or is about to remove himself or property out of the State; who so absconds or conceals himself that he cannot be served with a summons; or who incurred the debt in conducting the business of a ship, steamboat or other water craft in some of the navigable waters of this State; or who assigns or disposes of his property, or some part thereof, or is about to assign or dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors; or who has property or rights in action which he conceals and unjustly refuses to apply to the payment of his debts; or who has converted or is about to convert his property into money; or evidence of debt, with the intent to place it beyond the reach of creditors; or who has fraudulently contracted the debt or incurred the obligation for which suit has been or is about to be brought, may be attached. In addition to those named above, the following grounds exist: "9. That the defendant is buying, selling, or dealing in, or has within six months next before the suing out of the attachment, directly or indirectly, bought, sold, or dealt in future contracts, commonly called 'futures.' 10. That he is in default for public money, due from him as a principal, to the State, or some county, city, town, or village thereof. 11. That defendant is a banker, banking company, or corporation, and received deposits of money, knowing at the time that he or it was insolvent, or has made or published a false or fraudulent statement as to his or its financial condition." Attachments for debts not due allowed for last six grounds—or when the creditor has just cause to believe that the debtor will remove himself or his effects out of State before debt will be due, with intent to defraud. Non-resident creditors have the same rights of attachment as resident creditors, whether the debtor be resident or non-resident. Plaintiff must furnish bond double the debt and make affidavit as to one or more grounds. Suit does not abate on verdict for defendant, on a plea denying grounds; but judgment on the debt, to be offset by damages in favor of defendant for wrongfully suing out attachment. Any creditors may intervene and contest ground of attachment.

And this shall apply to all banking institutions, including national banks and postal savings banks within the state.

Banks may not issue bills payable or be liable on rediscounts at any time to a total amount in excess of three times their capital and surplus, except with approval of comptroller.

May hold and convey real estate for the following purposes:

1. Banking house not to exceed in cost thirty per cent of its capital, surplus and undivided profits; but in cities of more than 5,000 people may invest not more than fifty per cent with consent of comptroller.

2. Such real estate as shall be purchased by or conveyed to such bank in satisfaction of or on account of debts previously contracted in the course of its business;

3. Such as it shall purchase at sale under judgments, decrees or mortgages or deeds of trust. And any real estate acquired as in subdivision two and three must be sold within five years.

In order to conform with federal regulatory enactments governing the requirements imposed upon state banking corporations, and in order to become affiliates of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, on or before July 1, 1934, the following regulations shall apply to Mississippi state banking corporations:

The acts of all state banking corporations by which their capital debentures have been sold to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation are ratified, and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has assumed no liability through the purchase of said debentures, and the debentures are exempt from taxation. All banks prohibited, either through their officers or as a banking agency, from participating, directly or indirectly, in the operation of any underwriting syndicate, which handles securities for re-sale. But this does not apply to bonds issued by federal, state, county or other governmental agencies.

Executive officers of banks prohibited from owning stock in private banking houses or other agencies engaged in underwriting securities for re-sale. Employees of banks required to make and file with board of directors a sworn financial statement at least semi-annually.

No loan in excess of $1,000.00 shall be made except on approval of a loan committee of the board of directors, which committee shall require of all prospective borrowers a financial statement. Banks may purchase for the account of their customers bonds, stocks and other securities and may charge for their service in connection with the handling such transactions only actual expenses plus the usual broker's fees allowed for similar service by national banks.

Banks may not receive deposits when insolvent. Transfers and assignments made after the commission of an act of insolvency and with a view to prevent the application of its assets in the manner prescribed, or with a view to a preference of one creditor to another, are utterly null and void.

Sixty per cent of unsecured depositors of an insolvent bank may by proper proceeding take over the liquidation of same.

If deposits of any insolvent bank are to any extent insured by Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and said Corporation will accept the receivership of said bank, it is mandatory upon the court to appoint said Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation receiver of such bank.

Disclosure of the name of any depositor, or the amount of his deposit, except when required to be done in legal proceedings or in case of insolvency, a misdemeanor.

State bank guaranty law repealed April 2, 1934.

State banks may become members of federal reserve bank.

Blue Sky Law. Under this statute, certain statements, reports, etc., must be made to the Secretary of State, and a permit received, before the sales of stock in certain corporations. Since it is not the class of corporation, or the object for which it is incorporated, that determines whether it is subject to this act, but the promotion fees, commissions, etc., that are to be paid out of the capital subscribed, it is best that every corporation have its counsel examine this law and determine for itself whether it should comply.

Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trust may be executed and recorded as other mortgages. Foreclosure is usually by trustee's sale. If property be removed to another county, mortgage must be there recorded within twelve months to affect purchasers without notice. Mortgages on property to be acquired for a stated period not exceeding twelve months are valid, but not on a changing stock of goods if the mortgagor remain in possession and continue business. Reservation of title by the seller of a chattel to secure purchase money is valid without record, save against purchasers without notice where seller leaves chattel more than three years with buyer, except as to chattels used or acquired in the business of a "trader." Banks, professional men and manufacturers are not traders.

Collaterals. General law prevails.

Contracts for sale of land, or for lease for more than one year, to be in writing. Same in regard to sale of chattels of the value of more than $50, unless delivery in whole or in part is made, or payment in whole or part is made. Gambling contracts and ordinary contracts made on Sunday void. Contracts by foreign corporations who have not complied with registration of charter law are void.

Conveyances. May vest title presently or in future. All estates in land greater than for one year must be by deed, and to affect purchasers without notice must be recorded. Estates tail prohibited, except that a deed or devise may be made to a succession of living donees not exceeding two and to the heirs of the body of the remainderman, or in default thereof, to the right heirs of the donor in fee. Corporations convey under seal. In all other cases private seals abolished. Conveyances or devises to two or more, or to husband and wife, create tenancy in common. Rule in Shelly's case abolished. Remainder good without particular estate. The words "grant, bargain, and sell" operate as a covenant that grantor is seized of some estate of inheritance. Words "convey and warrant" operate as a general covenant of warranty. The words "convey and warrant specially" operate as a warranty only against the grantor or those claiming under him. A quitclaim deed has practically the same effect. Husband and wife, if living together must join in conveyance or incumbrance of homestead of either, or it will be void as to all under $3,000.

Corporations. Corporations except for the construction and operation of a railroad other than street railroads, and the carrying on of an insurance business, other than mutual insurance, may be created under a general charter.

Application for charter signed by each of the incorporators and acknowledged. The application must be forwarded to the secretary of state together with the fee for recording, and he must refer the same to the attorney general for his opinion as to the constitutionality and legality of the proposed corporation, after which it is referred to the governor for his approval or disapproval. The governor then returns it to the secretary of state with his action endorsed thereon. If he approve it, the secretary of state shall record it in his office and certify to the same and transmits it to the applicants. Charter must be published one time, within thirty days after it is granted, in county where domiciled. It must be recorded in the office of the clerk of the chancery court of the county in which the corporation shall do business. Within thirty days after the organization, the corporation must make report of the organization to the secretary of state. If such report be not made the charter granted shall be void, and all persons doing business thereon shall be deemed partners in the business and liable as such.

Corporations thus created possess the powers usual and incident to private corporations generally, but existence is restricted to fifty years. That all corporations, heretofore or hereafter organized, whether they be domestic or foreign, are hereby authorized and clothed with full power and right to own, in free simple or otherwise, lands for any legitimate purpose in this state; and no restriction against such corporations holding lands for agricultural purposes shall exist or obtain in this state, except that no one corporation shall hold and cultivate for agricultural purposes more than 10,000 acres of land in any one year.

Stockholders individually liable for the debts the corporation contracted during his ownership of stock for the balance that may remain unpaid for stock subscribed for and may be sued by any creditor. Directors are liable for the wilful mismanagement or for allowing capital withdrawn while debts exist. Corporations under the laws of other states or of foreign countries may sue in this State, and have the same rights in the State as non-resident individuals. The legislature may repeal or amend charters granted after November 1, 1890, provided rights of stockholders are not infringed. All foreign corporations doing business in this state shall file a certified and duly authenticated copy of its charter or certificate with the secretary of state and file power of attorney with the secretary of state designating him or some agent as person to accept service of process for it. Charter must be certified by the president and secretary or other chief executive under the corporate seal.

All corporations, domestic and foreign are now subject to an annual franchise tax, which shall be calculated at the rate of $1.50 per $1,000 or part thereof, of its capital, if a resident corporation, but based on the value of its capital used, invested or employed in Mississippi, if a non-resident corporation.

Costs. Non-resident or insolvent plaintiff required to give security through an insolvent citizen may sue in forma pauperis.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. Justices' courts meet twice each month; circuit and chancery courts in each county two or more times each year, supreme court twice a year in September and March. Justices' courts have jurisdiction up to $200. Circuit courts have general jurisdiction of all common law actions where the amount or value exceeds $200 and jurisdiction of appeals from justices' and mayors' courts, and boards of supervisors, and county courts in actions at law. County Court created, effective January 1st, 1927; concurrent jurisdiction with Justice and Circuit Court in misdemeanor cases and in civil cases in matters where amount involved does not exceed $1,000.00 and concurrent with Chancery Court up to same amount, except matters in equity restricted by constitution. Court meets monthly, rule of practice same as in court, where jurisdiction would have been except for county court. Certain counties only have said court. Chancery courts have jurisdiction of the administration of estates of deceased persons, of minors' business and other probate matters, and of all matters in equity, and have appellate jurisdiction in equity matters from County Courts. Appeals may be taken to the supreme court from any final judgment of the circuit court and from the chancery court, except in suits for not more than $50 originating in the justice's court. Appeals from county court taken to circuit court and chancery courts depending on side of court in which suit is tried. Suits of equitable cognizance improperly brought in the circuit court are transferred to chancery court and vice versa. No suit dismissed because being of an equitable nature it is improperly brought in the circuit court and e converso.

Creditor's Bills may be filed under general laws to subject equitable assets and in aid of execution at law. Such suits may, under the statute, be filed to subject property of a debtor fraudulently conveyed without a judgment and return of nulla bona; and this whether complainant's debt is due or not. No bond is required unless a sequestration is desired.

Curtesy and Dower. Both abolished since 1880.

Deeds. (See Conveyances.)

Depositions in civil cases, on written or verbal interrogatories; ten days' notice to opposite party. If such party is absent and has no attorney, filing interrogatories ten days sufficient. The other shall swear the witness to testify the truth and shall impartially examine him on the interrogatories. The testimony shall be fairly written down by the officer or witness, or by a disinterested person in the presence of, and shall be subscribed by the witness. Depositions then certified, and transmitted by mail or other safe and convenient manner to the court where the same are to be used. Officer's certificate prima facie evidence of his character.

Descent and Distribution. Estates of inheritance, real and personal descend. 1. To children and their descendants per stirpes. Surviving spouse takes all if no children or descendants of children, otherwise a child's share. 2. To brothers and sisters and father and mother in equal parts and their descendants by representation. 3. To the next of kin according to the civil law. Except among brothers and sisters there is no representation among collaterals. Advancements must be brought into hotchpot. No distinction between children of the whole blood and those of the half blood, except that children of the whole blood are preferred to those of the half blood in equal degree. Where there is no one to inherit property escheats. Illegitimates inherit from the mother and from her other children and her kindred. Children of illegitimates and their descendants inherit from brothers and sisters of their father or mother and from grandparents. But children of illegitimates do not inherit from any ancestor or collateral kindred if there be legitimate heirs of such ancestor or collateral kindred, in the same degree. The mother of an illegitimate and her other children, legitimate or otherwise, inherit from the illegitimate. Exempt property of husband or wife descends to survivor and children as tenants in common.

Dower and Curtesy have been abolished since 1880.

Evidence. In the main common law rules apply. Parties and interested persons competent; except against decedent. Affidavit to open account entitles to judgment, unless defendant denies under oath. Warehouse receipts and bills of lading conclusive evidence in favor of a bona fide holder that the property was received by the issuer. (See also Accounts and Affidavits.)

Executions in circuit court issue within twenty days after the adjournment of court unless otherwise ordered by the plaintiff, and in justices courts after the lapse of ten days from judgment rendered, unless recovering party makes affidavit that he is in danger, by delay, of losing his debt or demand, in which case execution issues forthwith. Attorneys at Law,

(See card in Attorneys List)

Absentees. Statute provides for presumption of death after absence from the state by resident for seven years. This statute does not exclude the common law presumption of death arising from an unexplained absence for seven years of a nonresident of the state.

Accord and Satisfaction. An unliquidated or disputed claim may be discharged by the payment of a lesser amount. An unliquidated claim cannot be so discharged regardless of agreement that such payment should be accepted in full satisfaction, unless there is some other consideration.

Accounts. Items of account need not be set forth in petition, but if they are not, an itemized statement of account must be attached thereto. If the items are not set forth in or attached to the petition the plaintiff is precluded from giving evidence thereof. (R. S. 1939, 954.) Where itemized statement of account is served on defendant, case may be tried upon fifteen days service. Otherwise thirty days service is required. Where copy of account is served on defendant, failure to answer is considered an admission and final judgment may be rendered. (R. S. 1939, 921.)

Acknowledgments. Acknowledgments of instruments affecting real estate must be made before one of the following: (a) Within the State: Before some Court having a seal or some judge, justice of the peace or clerk thereof, a notary public or some justice of the peace of the county in which the real estate is situated. If before a notary public, the acknowledgment must show the date the notary public's commission expires; (b) Out of the state and in the U.S.: Any notary public; any court having a seal, or the clerk of such court, or any commissioner of deeds of the state of Missouri; (c) In foreign countries: Any court having a seal, or the mayor or chief officer of any city or town having an official seal, or a minister or consular official of the United States, or a notary public having a seal. Notaries public must have a seal. It is not necessary for a United States Consul to certify to the official character of a notary public or other officer taking an acknowledgment in a foreign country; (d) Proof by subscribing witness: Subscribing witnesses are not necessary to validity of a deed. If a deed is attested by subscribing witnesses and not acknowledged by the grantor, proof of its execution may be by the testimony of a subscribing witness; (e) Forms of Acknowledgment. The following forms of acknowledgments are authorized in this state:

State of Missouri } ss.

(If the grantor is single, add "and the said AB declares himself to be single and unmarried").

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal the day and year aforesaid. My commission expires day of 19 (Seal)

Notary Public

State of Missouri } ss.
County of }

On this day of 19 , before me appeared AB, to me personally known, who being by me duly sworn (or affirmed) did say that he is the president (or other officer or agent) of a corporation, and that the seal affixed to the foregoing instrument is the corporate seal of said corporation and that said instrument was signed and sealed in behalf of said corporation by authority of its Board of Directors; and said AB acknowledged said instrument to be the free act and deed of said corporation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, (as above form).

In case corporation has no seal, omit the words "The seal affixed to said instrument is the corporate seal of said corporation", and add "and that said corporation has no corporate seal."

When required, a certificate as to a Notary Public's authority is obtained from the county clerk.

Actions. There is but one form of civil action, the practice being under a code. A nonresident plaintiff must file the written undertaking of a responsible person, resident of the state, or a deposit of money in court sufficient to cover the costs to accrue. Absent such security, the attorney is liable for the costs incurred. Suits cannot be instituted in the name of a firm. Attachment in aid of summons may be obtained at any time on compliance with the statute. There is no process provided for the detention of a debtor who is about to leave the state. All contracts made in this state which by common law are joint only are declared by statute to be joint and several, and the parties may be sued jointly or severally. The assignee of a negotiable note or account may sue the surety of the obligor, maker or debtor if he has used due diligence in instituting suit against obligor, or if the obligor be insolvent or a nonresident of the state. A cause of action accrued under the laws of any other state may be brought in Missouri by the persons entitled to the proceeds of such action, provided such person could bring the action by the laws of the other state. If the person entitled to the benefit is not so authorized, then the person authorized under the laws of that state may sue.

Administration of Estates. The probate court in each county has jurisdiction of the settlement of estates of deceased persons. In granting letters of administration, priority in right is given as follows: (1) to the husband or wife; (2) to one or more of the distributees of the estate according to the discretion of the court. If after the expiration of thirty days after death of deceased, such persons do not, on five days notice, appear and qualify, letters may be granted to any other person, in the discretion of the Court. Nonresidents cannot be executors or administrators, nor may nonresident executors or administrators maintain an action in this state. A separate administration is necessary in this state where a nonresident decedent owned real estate, but not where the estate is personalty, if the legal representative files in the proper probate court, a properly authenticated copy of evidence of his authority with an affidavit that the deceased did not own any real estate in the state and is not indebted to any resident of Missouri. A creditor of such nonresident may thereafter have administration of the estate under certain conditions. Executors and administrators are required to give bond in double the amount of the personal property, with two or more sureties, residents of the county, unless the testator by will requests executor be not required to give bond, but in such cases, the court in its discretion may require bond. Classification of priority of demands against an estate must be filed within one year and must be accompanied by an affidavit that they are justly due and there are no set-offs. They bear interest at the rate of six per cent after allowed. Demands are classified as follows: (1) funeral expenses; (2) expenses of last sickness, wages of servants, claims for medicines and medical attendance during last sickness. Also cost of tombstone if allowed by Court; (3) all debts, including taxes due the state, county or any town in state; (4) all judgments rendered in life time of deceased; (5) all demands without regard to quality which shall be legally exhibited against the estate within six months after granting of the letters; (6) all demands exhibited after the end of six months and within one year. The period of one year begins to run from the date of the letters where notice is published within ten days, and in all other cases, from the date of the first insertion of publication of notice. The demands must be presented to the executor or administrator at least ten days before commencement of term at which demand is intended to be presented, but notice may be waived. Executors and administrators are required to make first settlement at end of six months from date of appointment and the second settlement at the first term after the end of one year. If estate is not closed in one year, annual settlements are required.

Aliens. Aliens or alien corporations may not acquire, hold or own real estate except such as may be acquired by inheritance or in the ordinary course of justice in the collection of debts. Real estate acquired by an alien creditor at foreclosure sale must be disposed of within six years. This prohibition does not apply to cases where the right to hold and dispose of lands is acquired by treaty.

Arbitration. The Statutes of Missouri provide for agreement to arbitrate, method of submission and entering of judgment thereon. This procedure is seldom used.

Arrest. There can be no arrest for debt in Missouri.

Assignments. All contracts for the sale of lands, all judgments and decrees recovered in court, and choses in action arising on contract are assignable at law, and the assignee may sue thereon in his own name, but is subject to all defenses available against the assignor. Assignments for benefit of creditors may be either under the statute or by an assignment in the nature of a chattel deed of trust wherein the property is conveyed to the trustee to be sold for the benefit of all creditors. If made under the statutes, the assignee must give bond and the assignment is administered by the circuit court. Claims due the State of Missouri and wage claims earned within six months and not in excess of One Hundred Dollars are preferred claims. Voluntary assignment does not release debtor unless provision is made thereof with the creditors.

Real estate is attached by filing notice in the Recorder's office but the officer must take actual possession of personal property. Any person may intervene and claim attached property.

Attachment for Rent. The security or attachment bond must be by resident householders of the county where suit is brought and must be approved by the court or the Clerk. If defendant is not found and his property be attached process by publication is obtained against him. Exempt property, however, is not subject to attachment for rent except growing crops.

Bank Collection Code. Code (1939) §§8172-8182. Effective August 27, 1929. Omits §§11, 12. Given directly following the Laws.

Banks. All banks, trust companies, savings and safe deposit companies and mortgage loan companies are under the supervision and control of the Department of Finance, the chief officer of which called the "Commissioner of Finance." The Commissioner has broad powers. The Commissioner is required to examine the banks and trust companies at least once each year, and he may require additional reports at his discretion. No bank or trust company may be incorporated unless authorized by the Commissioner of Finance. The law provides for the incorporation of banks, trust companies, savings banks, and mortgage loan companies. Banks may exercise fiduciary powers upon complying with the law, as regards capital, regulating trust companies. Savings banks may exercise the powers granted banks and trust companies, upon complying with the law regulating banks and trust companies. No bank or trust company is permitted to engage in trade or commerce.

Cash capital of banks shall amount to not less than $15,000 in towns or villages of more than 1000 inhabitants; $25,000 in towns or villages of more than 1000 and less than 5000; $50,000 in towns or cities of more than 5000 and less than 10,000; $100,000 in towns or cities of more than 10,000 and less than 50,000 inhabitants; $200,000 in cities of 50,000 or more. The cash capital of trust companies shall amount to not less than $50,000 in cities of less than 10,000 inhabitants; $100,000 in cities of 10,000 and less than 50,000 and $200,000 in cities of 50,000 or more. The cash capital of savings banks shall amount to $10,000 in cities and towns of less than 50,000; $50,000 in cities and towns of more than 50,000 and less than 150,000, and $100,000 in cities and towns of more than 150,000 inhabitants. The capital of mortgage loan companies must be at least $100,000.00. Private banks organized prior to 1915 are permitted to continue in business. Since 1915 no private banks are permitted to be established.

Capital stock of banks and trust companies must be of not less than $20.00 par, and the capital stock of savings banks must be of $100.00 par value. Banks may have from 5 to 30 directors, trust companies from 5 to 60 directors, and savings banks from 5 to 13 directors. Three-fourths of the directors in banks and trust companies, and a majority of directors in savings banks, must reside in Missouri. The officers of banks and trust companies and savings banks shall be a president, who shall also be a director, one or more vice-presidents and other such officers as may be provided for by the by-laws. The directors and officers are elected annually. Directors are required to hold monthly meetings.

Under a law enacted in 1935, banks and trust companies are required to create and maintain a surplus fund equal to forty percent of their capital, to be used only for the payment of losses in excess of undivided profits. A bank or trust company shall not lend, directly or indirectly, to any individual, partnership, corporation or body politic, an amount in the aggregate exceeding 15 per cent of the paid in capital stock and surplus if located in a city of 100,000 or over, 20 per cent if located in a city of over 700,000 and less than 100,000, and 25 per cent if located elsewhere. If certain requirements as to security are met the total liability of any individual, partnership or corporation may be not in excess of 35 per cent of paid in capital stock and surplus. Bank shall maintain reserves against aggregate demand deposits of 18 per cent if located in a city having 200,000 people or over, and 15 per cent elsewhere, plus reserves against time deposits of 3 per cent. Banking institutions, trust companies, insurance companies, loan and investment companies and mortgage loan companies are authorized to make such loans and advances of credit and purchases of obligations representing loans and advances of credit as are eligible for insurance pursuant to the National Housing Act. Banks are authorized to subscribe for and purchase stock in the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and to become members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Fund. Stock holders are not liable to assessments on stock which is fully paid for. Branch banks are not permitted. Banks may carry on a safe deposit business receiving personal property as bailee, receipt for same and be deemed "warehouse man." Under the Laws of 1933, banks and trust companies may issue preferred stock subject to the approval of the Finance Commissioner. Trust companies, in addition to the powers granted them to carry on a trust company business may certify and guarantee titles. This power is now invested in title and guaranty corporations organized under special act. The bank collection code enacted by the Legislature of 1929 defines the powers and liabilities of agent and subagent of depositors, also defines the matter of restrictive endorsement and lays down definite rules governing deposits for collection liability of collecting bank. This Act concludes with a well considered section covering the duties of receivers or other officers in matters of collections. The receipt of deposits with knowledge of the fact that the bank is in failing circumstances makes officers and agents consenting to the creating of debt with such knowledge individually responsible therefor.

Bonds. Two sureties are required on most penal bonds. Domestic corporations or foreign corporations, having complied with Missouri law organized as surety company and having a paid up capital of not less than Two Hundred Thousand Dollars may become sureties on penal bonds and when such corporation surety is accepted no other is required.

Collections. Uniform Bank Collection Code as recommended by American Bankers Association, see complete text back of Laws.

Conditional Sales of personal property, unless recorded, are void as to subsequent purchasers in good faith and creditors. Where such conditional sales provide for payments in installments or the sale is in the nature of a lease, or rental contract and title is retained by the vendor, the same is void as to purchasers in good faith and creditors unless evidenced by writing, executed, acknowledged and recorded as in case of chattel mortgages. Before the vendor or lessor however can retake such rented or leased personal property he must tender or refund to the purchaser or lessee all moneys he has received on account thereof after deducting reasonable compensation for the use of such property which shall in no case exceed 25% of the amount to be paid and also reasonable compensation for any damage done to the property.

Conveyances. A person may convey title to lands although not in possession, and although the same be in adverse possession. The signature of the grantor in a deed need not be attested by a subscribing witness. A deed by a natural person need not be under his seal. The corporate seal must be affixed to deeds of corporations. The use of the word "heirs" in a deed is not necessary to create a fee simple. The statute abolishes estates tail and converts an estate tail into a life estate for the first taker, with remainder in fee simple to the heirs of his body. The words "grant, bargain and sell" are employed in the granting clause of a warranty deed; by statute those words constitute express covenants that the grantor was seized of an indefeasible estate in fee simple; that the real estate was free from all incumbrances done or suffered by him or any person under whom he claims; and for further assurances of the title to be made by him and his heirs. Title, subsequently acquired by the grantor in a warranty deed, will immediately pass to the grantee without further conveyance. An estate of freehold may be made to commence in future, by deed. An interest in real estate, granted or devised to two or more persons, other than executors or trustees, or husband and wife, is a tenancy in common unless expressly declared to be a joint tenancy. A conveyance to husband and wife creates an estate by entirety as at common law. The Legislature of 1929 enacted a law regarding the matter of error or initials of grantor or grantee in conveyance. Such documents will be received in evidence until the contrary is shown that error exists.

Corporations are formed under general law. Stock may be either par value or non par value as desired by the incorporators. Corporations with stock of par value must have a capital not less than $2,000, at least ten per cent of which must be subscribed and actually paid up in money or property of the full value thereof, if part of the capital stock is paid in property, there must be an itemized description, the actual cash value of each item being shown. In case of corporations with stock of no par value, it is only necessary for the incorporators to state the amount of capital with which the corporation will begin business. The stock may be either common or preferred. The dividends on preferred stock shall not exceed eight per cent annually. Cumulative voting is permitted. Number of directors must not be less than three nor more than twenty-one; at least one of them must be a citizen and resident of the state. A stockholder having paid for his stock in full is subject to no further liability. All non par stock is presumed to be fully paid and is non-assessable. The bonded indebtedness of a corporation can not be increased nor the capital stock increased or diminished, except with the consent of persons holding three-fourths of the amount in value of the stock. The number of directors may be increased or decreased by vote of the stockholders. Perpetual charters may be issued.

A corporation may buy and sell its own stock and the stock of other corporations.

Corporations owing no debts may be dissolved by unanimous vote of all shareholders, or it may be dissolved by decree of a circuit court upon petition of the directors or the holders of a majority in amount of outstanding shares of stock if such corporation be insolvent or of the persons holding two-thirds in amount of outstanding stock whether such corporation be solvent or insolvent or upon the petition of the holders of at least ninety per cent in amount of outstanding stock for any reason that they deem sufficient. Upon decree of dissolution, the affairs of the corporation are wound up by the directors under order of the court.

A corporation pays annual franchise tax equal to one twentieth of one per cent of the par value of its outstanding capital stock and surplus, or if such capital stock, or part thereof, consists of no par value stock, such stock is considered as having a value of five dollars per share unless the actual value of such shares shall exceed five dollars each, in which case the tax is levied on the actual value and the surplus.

No stocks, bonds and securities (a few securities excepted) may be issued and sold by any corporation, unless a permit is granted therefor by the supervisor of corporation registration who administers the Missouri Securities Act under the direction of the secretary of state.

The 1939 Legislature provided in detail for the sale, disposition and registration of certain securities under the supervision of the securities department, a branch of the Secretary of State's office.

A foreign corporation must file in the office of the secretary of State a copy of its charter with a statement of the proportion of its capital stock invested in Missouri, and pay certain fees. It then receives a license to do business in the State. It must also maintain an office in the State. Its personal property in this State may not be incumbered to the injury of any creditor who is a citizen of this State, and no mortgage by a foreign corporation except a railroad or telegraph company, to secure a debt created in another state is effective as against any citizen of this State until its debts, due to resident citizens at the time of recording the mortgage, have been paid. A corporation falling to comply with these provisions is subject to a fine and cannot maintain a suit in a court of this State. A corporation of any country outside of the United States before being authorized to transact business in this State must have a public office in the State, where books shall be kept, showing in detail its assets and liabilities, the names and residences of its shareholders, officers, directors, and managers. None of these requirements apply to insurance companies.

All shareholders are entitled to inspection of corporate books at reasonable hours. It is unlawful for any corporation to adopt any name which has already been assumed by another corporation, nor can a corporation use the name of a firm of persons for corporate purposes without adding some word to designate the business which is to be carried in followed by the word "company" or "corporation". All corporations organized under the laws of the State must have a general office in the state and make annual reports to the Secretary of State.

Courts. Circuit Courts have original jurisdiction in all cases at law and equity except where the action is for the recovery of money and all of the defendants live in the same county and the amount involved is less than $50.00. Two or more terms are held each year in each county. Jurisdiction of the estates of deceased persons and estates of minors and insane persons is vested in the probate court in each county. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction exclusive of interest up to Two Hundred Fifty Dollars. In counties and cities having over fifty thousand population and less than three hundred population, up to Three Hundred Dollars. In towns having more than two hundred thousand population and less than four hundred thousand, up to five hundred dollars. In cities of more than three hundred thousand, in some cases up to seven hundred fifty dollars. The state is divided into three districts over each of which is a separate court of appeals, to which appeals lie from the circuit court within said district where the amount involved does not exceed seventy-five hundred dollars, exclusive of costs. Where the amount involved exceeds this sum or the title to real estate or a constitutional question is raised the Supreme Court has exclusive appellate jurisdiction.

Depositions. May be taken on notice of at least three days and one day additional for every fifty miles of the first 300 and beyond that one additional day for each 100 miles from the place of serving the notice. If taken outside of the State a commission issues from the court in which the suit is pending. They may be taken within the State by any judge, justice of the peace, notary public, clerk of a court, mayor or chief officer of a city or town having a seal of office; and if out of the State by any officer appointed by authority of the laws of this State to take depositions, a consul or commercial representative of the United States having a seal or mayor or any city or town having a seal, or any judge, justice of the peace, or other judicial officer, or a notary public. They may be taken upon written interrogatories, but this is not customary. The names of the witnesses or of the officer need not be mentioned in the notice. Objections to the competency or relevancy of the testimony need not be noted, but can be first made when it is offered at the trial. Objections to the form of questions must be made or they are deemed to have been waived.

Descent and Distribution. Where person dies intestate, both real and personal property descends subject to the payment of debts and the widow's dower in the following course: first, to children or their descendants in equal parts; second, if there be no children or their descendants, then to father, mother, brothers and sisters and their descendants in equal parts; third, if there be no one to inherit under the second class, then to the husband or wife; fourth, if there be no husband or wife then to the grandfathers, grandmothers, uncles and aunts and their descendants in equal parts; fifth, if there be no one to inherit under the preceding classifications, then to the great-grandfathers, great-grandmothers and their descendants in equal parts and so on in other cases without end, passing to the nearest lineal ancestors and their children and their descendants in equal parts. The dower right of the surviving spouse depends upon whether the spouse died childless or not and the election that the surviving spouse may make under the statutes upon dower. (See Dower.) Post-humous children inherit. When there are collateral of the half-blood, they inherit one-half as much as those of the whole blood. Lineal descendants in equal degree take per capita, but where part of them are dead and part living, the issue of those dead take per stirpes. An illegitimate child becomes legitimate if the parents intermarry or if recognized by the father under the statute. Adopted children inherit from parents by adoption and parents by adoption inherit from an adopted child. The law is unsettled as to whether an adopted child can inherit from natural parents.

Dower. Dower and courtesy in real estate no longer exist as a common law, but both are greatly modified or abolished by statute. Widow is entitled to one-third of all land of which her husband shall die seized, for her natural life, free from debts. If husband die leaving child or children and the widow has a child or children by such husband, she may elect to take a child's part, or if the husband die childless, she may elect to take one-half of the real estate, in both cases subject to the debts of the husband. Unassigned dower interest is assignable. Where husband or wife die leaving child or children, the survivor is entitled to a child's part in personal estate. The election to take in lieu of dower must be made in writing, acknowledged the same as a deed, filed in the Probate Court in which letters are granted and recorded in the recorder's office in the county in which letters were granted, within twelve months after the first publication of notice of granting of letters. Where wife receives any real estate under will of husband, it is deemed in lieu of dower unless she renounces the will. The widow may remain in and enjoy mansion house and plantation of her husband belonging thereto, without being liable for rent until dower is assigned. Dower may be barred by marriage contract. Dower and statutory allowances are barred if wife voluntarily leaves her husband and goes away and continues with adulterer or abandons him and lives apart from him without reasonable cause for one whole year next preceding his death. In addition to dower, wife is entitled to family Bible and books not to exceed the value of Two Hundred Dollars, wearing apparel, implements, articles of domestic industry and clothing, the household, kitchen and table furniture, including beds and bedding not to exceed the value of five hundred dollars and such sum of money as the Court may deem reasonable for the proper support of the widow and minor children under the age of eighteen, for a period of one year after the death. Statutory allowances take priority over the debts of the estate. If there is not sufficient personal property, the real estate is liable for the payment of said allowance. In addition to the above, the widow or widower may take such personal property as he or she may choose, not to exceed the appraised value of four hundred dollars or that amount in cash. The husband has the same right in the property of deceased wife that the widow has in the property of her deceased husband. If a widow or widower die leaving minor children under eighteen years, they are entitled to the statutory allowances made for the widow or widower.

Exemptions. The homestead of the head of a family is exempt in the country to the extent of 160 acres not exceeding in value $1,500. In cities of 40,000, eighteen square rods, not exceeding in value $3,000. In cities of 10,000, thirty square rods not exceeding in value $1,500, in towns of less than 10,000, five acres, not exceeding in value $1,500. The exemption continues to the widow and to the children until their majority. There are also exempt, when owned by the head of a family, ten hogs, ten sheep, two cows, and certain farm implements; two work animals, spinning wheel, loom, and small quantity of hemp, flax, and wool; wearing apparel; $100 in household and kitchen furniture; mechanic's tools; provisions on hand for family use; Bibles and other books used in the family. Lawyers, physicians, ministers, and teachers have the right to select professional books in lieu of other property allowed to them and doctors may select medicines. In lieu of certain of the exempted articles any other property, not exceeding $300 in value, may be selected. No exemptions are allowed against taxes, or claims of blacksmiths, house servants, or common laborers to the amount of $90 provided suit is brought within a legal limit. Head of family is very liberally construed by the courts. An unmarried man keeping a house with his sister has been held to be the head of the family. There is also exempt from garnishment all wages of the last thirty days except 10%.

Frauds and Perjuries. No executor or administrator is bound by his promise to pay any debt or damages out of his own estate, and no person is liable upon any agreement to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another, or made in consideration of marriage, or for the sale of lands or any interest in or lease thereof for a longer time than one year, or on any agreement that is not to be performed within one year unless the agreement sued on, or a memorandum thereof is in writing signed by the party to be charged or his authorized agent; and no contract for the sale of lands by an agent is valid unless the authority of the agent is in writing. Every gift, conveyance, or assignment of or charge upon real or personal property made with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors or defraud or deceive persons who shall purchase the same lands, is void against creditors and purchasers, prior and subsequent. The disposition of the larger part or the whole of a stock of merchandise pertaining to vendor's business otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade is fraudulent and void as against creditors of the vendor, unless the vendee shall, at least seven days before the sale, furnish to the creditors a statement of the consideration for the sale, the amount of the indebtedness of the vendor, and the names of his creditors. All creations of trust in lands must be in writing except those resulting by implication of law. The right of action given to any vendee on a violation of the Bulk Sales Law is limited to 90 days from the date of the delivery of such property to any such vendee.

Garnishment. Garnishees may be summoned under writs of attachment or execution. A garnishee may discharge himself by delivering up the property or paying the debt to the officer under order of court. Credits or property attached in the hands of a garnishee may be claimed by a third person, who may assert his title by interpleader. Not more than 10 per cent of the wages due for the last thirty days of service of the head of a family and resident of this State can be garnished. Public corporations and their officers are exempt from garnishment, as are also administrators and executors prior to an order of distribution.

A garnishee must answer under oath and if this answer is denied by plaintiff there is a trial of the issue. If the garnishee prevails he is allowed reasonable compensation for expenses, including attorney's fee but in any case the garnishee receives a small allowance for appearing in the cause. If effects are found in the hands of the garnishee, he must deliver them up or personal judgment will be entered against him.

Holidays. Legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); general election day and any general state election day; November 1 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving; and December 25 (Christmas Day). When any of these days fall on Sunday, the next day is such holiday. Arbor Day, Bird Day, February 12, known as "Lincoln Day," and October 12, known as "Columbus Day" are also holidays but are not such as respects commercial paper. Negotiable instruments or written contracts executed on Sunday or legal holidays are not thereby made void but it has been held that there can be no recovery for labor performed on Sunday. Presidential election day is a legal holiday only in so far as it occurs on our general state election day.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Income Taxes. The income tax law is administered by the State Auditor. Returns are filed with County Assessor and taxes paid to County Collector in county in which tax payer resides. Rate of tax, graduated from 1% to 4% on net income above exemptions. Exemptions: Head of family, $2,000; single person, not head of family, $1,000; corporations none. Return must be filed by March 15th. Tax becomes due May 1st and delinquent June 1st.

Inheritance Tax. A tax is levied upon the estates of deceased persons varying from one to five per cent, depending on the relation of the beneficiary to the deceased, and exceeding those rates when the value of the property received by a beneficiary exceeds $20,000, with certain exemptions in favor of different classes of persons mentioned in the law. There is no inheritance tax on transfer of intangibles held by nonresident of state.

Interest. Legal rate six per cent but by agreement in writing any rate not exceeding eight per cent. The legal rate is collectible on money after it becomes due; on written contracts of accounts, after due and demand made; on money recovered for the use of another and retained without the owner's consent. If usurious interest has been paid, that paid in excess of the legal rate is deemed payment and credited on the debt, the holder of which recovers the debt only, with legal interest after deducting such payments, and costs are adjudged against him. The receipt or exaction of usurious interest upon a debt secured by a lien upon personal property renders the lien invalid; Parties may contract that interest may be compounded but not oftener than once a year. The Legislature of 1927 enacted what is known as the small loan act. The act was amended in 1933 to provide for loans not exceeding $300. On loans not exceeding $100, 3% per month may be charged; on loans of $100 to $300, 2½% per month may be charged by any licensee under the act. Interest under the act is not payable in advance or compounded and is computed only on unpaid balances. No charges in addition for interest are to be made except fees allowed by law and necessarily paid out by the licensee to public officers. If interest is charged, in excess of that permitted by the act, the loan, evidence thereof, security and lien therefor are void and of no effect and the licensee is not allowed to collect either principal or interest. The act provides for licensing of individuals and corporations under the act.

Judgments. Judgments and decrees rendered by a court of record are liens on the real estate of the person against whom they are rendered situate in the county for which the court is held. Transcript of a judgment filed in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of any other county becomes a lien upon real estate in such county. The lien of a judgment continues for three years, and may be revived at any time within ten years from its rendition. Execution may issue at any time within ten years from the rendition of a judgment. When two or more judgments are rendered at the same term as between parties entitled to the judgments, the liens commence on the last day of the term at which they are rendered. Judgments bear interest at 6 per cent, but if upon contracts bearing more than 6 per cent, the judgment bears the rate of the contract. A lien may be obtained in other counties than the one where the judgment was rendered by filing a certified copy of the judgment with the Clerk of the Circuit Court in said County. Judgments may also be assigned in writing on the margin of the record or other legal transfer but if such assignment is not entered on the margin of the record the judgment debtor will be protected if payment is made to the original creditor.

Liens. Statutory provisions exist for mechanics' liens, liens of keeping horses and other animals, liens of inn and boarding-house keepers, liens of contractors, material-men, and laborers against railroads. There are also statutory liens in favor of garages and automobile repair men under certain conditions.

Limitations. Actions must be commenced within ten years: 1. Upon any writing for the payment of money or property. 2. On any covenants of warranty of seizin contained in any deed. 3. For recovery of land. 4. For relief not otherwise provided for. Within five years: 1. Upon contracts, express or implied, except judgments or decrees of court. 2. Upon a statutory liability other than a penalty or forfeiture. 3. Trespass. 4. Replevin, and for any other injury to the person or rights of another not arising on contract and not otherwise enumerated. 5. For relief on the ground of fraud. Within three years: 1. Against public officers for acts of official commission or omission. 2. For a penalty or forfeiture where the action is given to a party or a party and the State. Within two years: Actions for libel, slander, assault, battery, false imprisonment, or criminal conversation. Statute does not begin to run against a resident of this State who is absent at the time it accrues, until his return; if he departs after it accrues, the period of his absence is not counted. Claim under Workmen's Compensation Act must be filed within one year after injury or death, or within one year of date of last payment on account of injury or death. Acknowledgments or promises, to take a case from the operation of the statute, must be in writing. Judgments are presumed to be paid after ten years. A cause of action barred by the laws of the State in which it originated is barred in this State. Partial payment of principal or interest revives the debt.

Limited Partnership. May consist of one or more general and one or more special partners. Special partners contributing a specified amount in cash to the capital are not personally liable for the debts of the partnership and have no power to transact its business. A verified statement of the terms of the partnership must be filed with the recorder of the county and published. There can be no limited partnership for the business of insurance or banking.

Married Women. A married woman is deemed a femme sole so far as to enable her to carry on or transact business on her own account, to contract and be contracted with, to sue and be sued, to enforce or have enforced against her property such judgments as may be rendered for or against her, and may sue or be sued at law or in equity, with or without her husband being joined as a party. Her real estate and personal property cannot be taken by any process of law for the debts of her husband. Neither the rents, issues, or products of her real estate, nor the interest of her husband in her right in any real estate, can be levied on for his debts, except for necessities of the family and for improvements made upon it.

Mortgages. Mortgages on real estate are executed like deeds. Husband and wife must join to bar dower or homestead, except to secure purchase money. The common form of real estate security is a deed of trust with power of sale in the trustee upon default in the payment of the debt. Sale is at public auction upon twenty or more days' public notice, as may be provided in the instrument. The trustee executes deed to the purchaser. There is no redemption from sale unless the holder of the debt is the purchaser, in which case the debtor may redeem within one year if he gives written notice at the sale or within the preceding ten days of his purpose, and within twenty days after sale give security for payment of interest to accrue within the year and all interest on prior incumbrances paid by the creditor and taxes and assessments accruing during the year. Evidences of debt secured by mortgage or deed of trust must be produced to the recorder when satisfaction is entered. No foreign corporation or individual may act as trustee in any deed of trust unless there be named as co-trustee a Missouri corporation or individual citizen of this state, and the resident trustee must be a party plaintiff in an action to foreclose. Trustee's commission is fixed by statute. In case of death of mortgagor, there can be no foreclosure for a period of nine months.

In cities having 600,000 inhabitants or more and in counties adjacent thereto, note must be presented to recorder and identified when deed of trust is recorded. In such cities and in counties having more than 200,000 inhabitants and less than 400,000 no trustee's deed under power of sale shall be recorded, unless note or other principal obligation unpaid when foreclosure sale was commenced, is presented to the recorder at the time the trustee's deed is presented for recording.

Chattel mortgages are invalid except as between the parties unless possession of the property be taken and retained by the mortgagee or the mortgage be acknowledged and recorded in the county of the mortgagor in the same manner as conveyances of real estate, or the mortgage or a copy thereof, be filed in the office of the recorder of the county of the mortgagor, or where he is a nonresident of the state, then in the office of the recorder of the county in which the property is situated at the time of executing said instrument. Most chattel mortgages are filed and not recorded. Every such mortgage ceases to be valid after the expiration of five years from the filing of the same. In case of the death of the mortgagor there can be no foreclosure for four months.

The Recorder of Deeds at request of mortgagee or his assignee must certify on the certificate of title to a mortgaged motor vehicle that a chattel mortgage has been filed and the Recorder must show the release of the chattel mortgage on the certificate of title when requested to do so. Such mortgage is not "notice to the whole world" unless record of it is noted on the certificate of title, unless mortgage is to secure purchase price to manufacturer or distributor.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted in Missouri, June 16, 1905. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates.)

Protest. (See Negotiable Instruments.)

Replevin. Goods or chattels wrongfully taken or retained may be replevied by the owner or parties entitled to possession. Affidavit must be filed by the party, his agent or attorney, and bond in double the value of the property as given in the affidavit. Unless the plaintiff alleges the property was wrongfully taken, defendant may retain possession of the property by giving bond in double its value. If plaintiff fail in his suit, defendant recovers judgment against plaintiff and the sureties on the bond for the value of the property taken and damages. He may elect as to whether he will take the property or the value. Replevin actions can be brought without giving bond, but the property cannot be taken from the possession of the defendant until plaintiff obtains final judgment.

Taxes. State and county taxes are usually paid in November or December. They become a lien on June 1st and become delinquent on the first day of the succeeding January. If not paid before the first of January, interest is added at the rate of one per cent per month for the first ten months of the year. Interest shall not exceed ten per cent per year. In addition, two per cent is added for the collector.

The Legislature of 1933 enacted a new law for the collection of delinquent real estate taxes. The property is sold by the collector on the first Monday in November after publishing notice once weekly for three consecutive weeks, the last insertion to be at least fifteen days prior to the date of sale. The notice must give the description of the property and the taxes due thereon, each year being separately stated. The property cannot be sold the first time offered for less than the taxes due. The purchaser receives a certificate of purchase, but is not entitled to possession for one year, and in case of a home-stand, for two years. At the end of one year, the owner may retain possession for the remainder of the redemption period by giving a written agreement to pay rent. Purchaser is required to pay taxes after receiving certificate of purchase and upon failure to do so, loses his rights under the certificate. Purchaser gets a deed at the end of redemption period. Owner may redeem at any time during two-year period ensuing the sale by paying the county collector the full sum of purchase money named in the certificate of purchase and all costs of the sale, together with interest at the rate specified in the certificate, which shall not exceed ten per cent per annum, together with all subsequent taxes that may be paid by the purchaser with interest at the rate of eight per cent. Infants, idiots and insane persons may redeem within two years after the expiration of such disability.

The 1939 Legislature provided that if an owner or one legally liable for taxes should bid in the property at the tax sale for less than the amount of taxes, interest and penalties, the collector shall not make a deed until taxes, interest and penalties are paid in full.

Municipal taxes are payable according to the provisions of the charter or general laws by which they may be governed, and in most smaller cities, are payable at the same time state and county taxes are payable.

The state imposes a collateral inheritance tax and income tax. Officers are not to divulge any information relative to income tax returns.

The present gross retail sales tax imposes a sales tax of 2% on every retail sale of tangible property and for certain services rendered. The act has been extended by the 1941 legislature to December 31, 1943. The tax is a direct sales tax payable by the purchaser. It must be collected by the person making the sale and reports are required to be made to the State Auditor. If any purchase is sold the purchaser is required to withhold sufficient money to cover sales tax collected, plus interest or penalties due and unpaid.

Wages. (See Garnishments; Exemptions.)

Warehouse Receipts. Missouri has adopted the uniform warehouse receipts law. Warehouse receipts must contain the following terms: location of warehouse, date of issue, serial number or receipts, statement as to whether chattels will be delivered to bearer or to a specific person or to his order, rate of storage charge, description of goods, signature of warehouseman; if the ownership is on the part of the warehouseman, such fact must be shown in receipt. Statement of amount of advance under receipt for which lien is claimed. Non-negotiable receipt must be plainly marked "not Negotiable."

Wills. Wills as to realty may be made by males over the age of twenty-one years and as to personality by males over the age of eighteen. Women twenty-one years of age, whether married or single, may make wills as to either realty or personality. Wills must be in writing or typewriting, signed by the testator in the presence of at least two witnesses and attested by them at his request and in his presence. At the time of the signing, it is necessary that the testator declare the instrument to be his will. Will should be recorded in the recorder's office in the county where probated if there is any realty in that county and certified copies recorded in all other counties where there is any real estate. Wills are probated by taking the testimony of the witnesses thereto showing that the will was signed by the testator in their presence, declared to be his will, and that he was of sound mind at the time. Suits to contest a will or to establish a rejected will must be brought in the circuit court within one year of the date of admission or rejection, except persons under disabilities, who have a period of one year after removal of the disabilities to institute the suit. If will probated is declared not to be the last will of deceased, a prior will may be probated, provided it is done within one year after letters have been granted, upon the estate. A beneficiary is an incompetent witness unless he waives the gift made to him. A nonresident cannot qualify as executor. Executors must give bond in double the amount of the personal property where bond is required. The dower interest of wife and husband cannot be affected by will unless the provisions of the will are accepted by them, by the non-rejection of the will within twelve months. There is no limitation as to the amount a testator may will to charity and no requirement as to the portion of his estate that should be left to his family. If a child or children of a deceased child are not mentioned in the will, the testator is deemed to have died intestate as to such child or children. A child may be disinherited but he must be mentioned. Spendthrift trusts are subject to claims of wife or children for support. If a testator after having made a will disposing of his whole estate, marries and dies leaving issue by such marriage, living at or born after his death, such will is revoked unless such issue is provided for by some settlement or in the will.

Nuncupative wills are recognized in Missouri when properly proved. Workmen's Compensation Act is in force. Employer presumed to accept the Act unless written election to reject it is filed. Provisions for medical and hospital services and medicines and schedule of benefits. Payable as wages were paid, but at least every two weeks. Amount payable for injuries varies with extent of injury. No contributory negligence is a bar to compensation.

The affidavit must further show the nature of plaintiff's claim, that it is just and the amount which affiant believes plaintiff ought to recover. No undertaking is required where the defendant is a foreign corporation, or is a non-resident of the State but in such cases no attachment can be had for claim other than debt or demand arising upon contract, judgment or decree, unless plaintiff has been bonafide resident of state for six months preceding filing of petition. Bank Collection Code. Comp. Stat. (1929), §§62-1801 to 62-1815. Effective April 30, 1929. Omits §3. Given directly following Laws.

Banks. 1. The statute recognizes three kinds of banks; commercial banks, cooperative banks and savings banks.

2. Only National Banks and State Banks duly incorporated in the State of Nebraska may transact a banking business here. Before beginning business, charter must be obtained from the Department of Banking.

3. Banking is declared to be a quasi public business, subject to control and regulation by the state. The Department of Banking, headed by the Superintendent of Banks, has general control and supervisory authority over banks and other financial institutions, including discretionary power to require executive officers and employees of state banks to give surety bonds against fraud, embezzlement, etc.

4. Majority of Directors must be residents of County wherein bank is located, or of county immediately adjacent thereto and every director of a bank having capital of $25,000.00 or less shall own at least $500.00 stock in his own name. The director of a bank having stock of more than $25,000.00 shall own at least $1,000.00 stock in his own name. The director of a Savings Bank shall own at least $500.00 stock.

Board must consist of not less than three or more than fifteen members, which elects a president and secretary from its own members and selects a cashier. It has general charge of management of bank's affairs.

5. To obtain charter a Commercial Bank must have a surplus of $2,500.00 and paid up capital stock as follows:

In any case not less than $10,000.00
In villages of less than 1,000	$ 10,000.00
In villages of 1,000 to 2,000	25,000.00

In cities of 25,000 to 100,000	100,000.00
In cities over 100,000	200,000.00

If the average daily deposits of a bank of less than $25,000.00 capital for a given calendar year are more than ten times its paid up capital and surplus, the Superintendent of Banks shall require capital to be increased up to ten per cent of the average daily deposits. Failure to do so forfeits charter.

No commercial bank, hereafter organized in this state, having a capital stock of less than $25,000, shall invest more than 30 per centum of its paid up capital stock in banking house, furniture and fixtures.

Bank must apply twenty per cent of net profits to surplus fund until such surplus equals twenty per cent of amount of paid up capital stock and until combined capital and surplus equals ten per cent of average daily deposits for preceding calendar year. Surplus shall be carried in separate account in cash or in securities approved by Superintendent of Banks. No dividends may be declared or paid until surplus requirements are fulfilled.

6. Savings banks must maintain a reserve of five per cent of deposits. Other banks in cities of 25,000 or larger must maintain a reserve of twenty per cent of deposits and in smaller cities fifteen per cent. One-fifth of the reserve fund may be kept in U. S. government bonds at their market value.

Reports shall be according to a form prescribed by the Superintendent of Banking and a summary thereof shall be published in a legal newspaper where bank is located and proof of publication shall be furnished the Department.

8. No person, firm, or corporation may receive a loan of more than 20 per cent of the paid up capital and surplus of the bank.

Total liabilities of stockholders to bank may never exceed fifty per cent of paid up capital and surplus.

No bank may make loans to its own employees or officers, or to its directors, except with approval of the Board of Directors duly voted on at a meeting thereof.

9. A Commercial Bank may hold and convey real estate; (1) such as is necessary for convenient transaction of its business, in value only up to 50 per cent of its paid up capital. (2) Such as shall be conveyed to it for pre-existing debts. (3) Such as bank may purchase at foreclosure sales of securities held by bank.

Real Estate so acquired must be disposed of within five years, unless written permission to hold longer is given by the Department of Banking. In no case may real estate holdings amount to more than 75 per cent of its paid up capital without permission of the Department of Banking.

10. Formerly every stockholder was liable to creditors of bank, over and above amount of his stock, by an amount equal to the amount of his stock, for debts occurring or existing while he was a stockholder. His liability accrued immediately on bank being declared insolvent. Repealed by constitutional amendment, Nov. 8, 1938.

11. "Branch banking" is prohibited.

12. Banks may make such loans as are eligible for insurance by Federal Housing Administration.

All certificates of deposit issued by banks are non-negotiable. Guarantee Fund Law in effect since 1909 repealed by Legislature March 18, 1930, but provision made for levy of a two-tenths per cent assessment upon deposits of state banks for period of ten years to constitute part of Depositors Final Settlement Fund for payment of losses of depositors in banks while Guarantee Fund Law in operation. Any person who with the intent to defraud shall make or draw—any check—upon any bank—knowing at the time of such making—that the maker or drawer has no account or deposit in such bank—shall upon conviction be deemed guilty of a felony—punished by confinement in the penitentiary for not less than one year or more than three years.

Infancy. All persons, male and female, under twenty-one are infants. County court appoints guardians, but if infant over fourteen years, may nominate his own. Infants' real estate may be sold or mortgaged to obtain funds for maintenance by permission of district court.

Insolvents. (See Assignments.)

Interest. Legal rate is 6 per cent and maximum contract rate 9 per cent. Judgments draw same rate as specified in the instrument on which judgment obtained if more than 6 per cent, otherwise 6 per cent. A contract is not avoided by usury, but in action thereon all payments are deducted from the principal and plaintiff recovers only the balance without interest and pays all costs. (See also Chattel Loans.)

Judgments. (See Actions, Appeals, Exemptions, Executions, Interest.) Those recovered in district court are liens upon real estate of debtor in county where judgment is entered, from the day of the rendition. All other lands and chattels are bound from the time they are seized on execution. Judgments of county and justice courts become liens from date of filing transcript in the office of the clerk of the district court. Judgments may be made a lien upon lands in other counties by filing transcripts in the office of the clerk of the district court in such counties. A judgment becomes dormant in five years and lien upon real estate is lost if execution not issued within that time. After dormancy may be revived by certain proceedings. Dormant judgments cannot be revived unless action to revive be commenced within ten years. In judgments by confession cause of action must be stated in the judgment or in a writing filed as a pleading. The 1935 Legislature repealed the law permitting deficiency judgments to be entered in foreclosure proceedings, but after foreclosure suit may be brought directly upon the note for any deficiency.

Jurisdiction. (See Actions, Judgments.)

Justices of the Peace. (See Courts, Judgments, Actions.)

License. (See Insurance, Agents) Commercial travelers are not required to take out a license. There is a provision in the code requiring peddlers and commission merchants to take out a license. Does not apply to persons selling their own works or productions or books, charts, maps or other educational matter, or fresh meats, fruit, farm products, trees or plants exclusively.

Lien. (See Judgments.) Material men and laborers and mechanics are entitled to liens upon the building or improvements for material furnished and labor performed, by filing in the office of the register of deeds an itemized statement of account duly verified by affidavit of party, showing amount due, nature of the contract, description of property, names of the parties, and if the claim arise out of a written contract, or if a note or other written evidence has been taken in payment of the account, copies must be attached. An original contractor must file such statement within four months from the time of furnishing such material or performing the labor; a subcontractor within sixty days. Lien dates back to commencement of work or labor and is valid for two years from date of filing. All mechanics' liens on the same property are of equal priority upon the same estate if no mortgage intervenes, and prorate in the proceeds of sale of property, if sold under foreclosure thereof. Statute also provides for artisans, jewelers, innkeepers, hotel, and rooming house liens.

Limitations. Actions brought to recover real property or foreclosure mortgages thereon must be commenced within ten years after cause of action accrues. Actions for forcible entry and detention, libel, slander, assault and battery, malicious prosecution, false imprisonment, and those to enforce penalties or forfeitures, must be commenced within one year. Actions for trespass to real property, taking, detaining or injuring personal property, upon contracts not in writing upon a liability created by statute other than a forfeiture or penalty, for injuries to rights not arising out of contract, for relief on the ground of fraud, and all other actions not specially limited by statute, must be commenced within four years. Actions upon a specialty, agreement, contract in writing, promissory notes, etc., and foreign judgments, must be commenced within five years. Actions upon official bonds of executors, administrators, guardians, sheriffs, or other officers, and upon statutory bonds, must be commenced within ten years. If parties under disability, cause of action does not commence to run until such disability removed. Actions for damages for causing death must be brought within two years.

Limited Partnership. (See Partnerships.) Articles thereof must be in writing, acknowledged by the parties and recorded in the office of the county clerk of every county where partnership shall have a place of business. The special partner is not liable beyond the amount contributed to the partnership funds, but has nothing to do with the management or conduct of the business; otherwise is liable as general partner. Special partner's name shall not appear in the firm.

Married Women. (See Decedents, Evidence, Exemptions.) May contract, bargain, sell, and convey their separate property in the same manner as may a married man, and retain ownership and control of their own property notwithstanding the marriage. May sue and be sued, carry on trade or business as if unmarried, and earnings of any married woman are her sole and separate property. Liability as surety only applies to separate property owned at date of contract.

Mortgages. (See Actions, Acknowledgments, Courts, Dower, Limitations, Chattel Mortgages.) Mortgagee, regardless of stipulation contained in mortgage and in the absence of special agreement, which must be in a separate writing, retains legal title and right of possession of property. In case of assignment of mortgage it is safer to record the assignment. If note secured by mortgage is negotiable assignment need not be recorded. Release may be by separate instrument or upon the mortgage records in register of deeds office, and if mortgagee, after mortgage fully paid, neglects or refuses for seven days to discharge such mortgage, he is liable to a penalty of $100 and all actual damages suffered by the other party. Mortgages can only be foreclosed by suit, and after foreclosure suit commenced no action can be maintained at law upon the debt, unless authorized by the court and if action be first commenced at law, cannot foreclose the mortgage until judgment obtained and execution returned thereon unsatisfied. After decree of foreclosure or mortgage obtained, defendant may stay further proceedings for nine months by filing a request for stay in the office of the clerk of the court within twenty days after such decree entered. Such stay is equivalent to redemption period allowed in other states, and owner may redeem at any time before confirmation of sale. Deeds are held to be mortgages when intended only as security, and must be foreclosed same as mortgages. Mortgage must state actual consideration where it exceeds $100. Mortgage presumed to be paid at expiration of 10 years from date cause of action thereon accrues unless re-filed or an extension placed on record. In such case, the record thereof ceases to be notice and as against subsequent purchasers or encumbrancers for value the lien ceases to exist. Provision in mortgage requiring mortgagee to pay tax thereon does not destroy negotiability of note secured thereby nor render it usurious.

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted August 1, 1905. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Notary Public. General commission may be issued by governor, authorizing notary to act in any county of state in which he files certified copy of his commission and bond with county clerk.

Partnership. (See Limited Partnerships.) Must adopt and sign articles of partnership agreement showing firm name, nature and place of business, name and residence of each member, and file same in the office of the county clerk of the county where business is located. Neglect or refusal to comply with this requirement entails penalty, but does not affect legality of business transacted. Partnership may sue and be sued in the firm name, and it is not necessary to set forth in the pleading, or prove at the trial, the name of the persons composing the firm, but in such event plaintiff must give security for costs.

Pleadings. (See Actions.)

Power of Attorney to convey real estate must be executed and acknowledged same as deeds and may be recorded.

Practice. Regulated by code which is patterned after Ohio.

Probate. (See Courts, Decedents.) County court has exclusive original jurisdiction of all probate matters.

Party may recover possession of personal property within four years after cause of action accrued by filing petition and affidavit of himself, agent or attorney, giving a description of the property, stating the facts connected with the ownership, and that he is entitled to the immediate possession, etc., of the property. It is then seized by the officer and duly appraised, and within twenty-four hours thereafter plaintiff must give bond in double the appraised value, executed by at least one surety, conditioned that he will prosecute the action and pay all costs and damages that may be awarded against him, and return the property or its reasonable value to the defendant in case judgment for a return be rendered.

Exception to sufficiency of surety approved by officer, must be taken in twenty-four hours or officer's liability is waived.

Revenue. (See Taxes.)

Sales. (See Conditional Sales.) Bulk sale of a stock of goods by merchant void without notice to creditors. Uniform Sales Act in force.

Security for Costs. Non-resident plaintiff must give security for costs or furnish cash bond.

Statute of Frauds. Every contract for the purchase or sale of real estate or any interest therein, except a lease for a period not exceeding one year from the making thereof, must be in writing and subscribed by the party to be charged. Every agreement by its terms not to be performed within one year from the making thereof, every special promise to answer for the debt, default or misdoings of another, every agreement, promise, undertaking made upon consideration of marriage, except mutual promise to marry, and every special promise of an executor or administrator to answer damages out of his own estate, and every contract for the sale of goods and things in action, for the price of $500, or more, shall be void unless note or memorandum be made in writing by the party to be charged thereby. If, however, when contract for sale of goods and chattels of the value of $500 or more is made, and a part of the purchase price thereof is paid, or a part of the goods and chattels are delivered, to the buyer, no memorandum is necessary. (See Statute of Fraud.)

A comprehensive plan for liquidation and reorganization is provided, in which the State Board of Finance is authorized to restrict the percentage of withdrawals from all accounts.

The minimum capital is $50,000.00, of which a surplus of 20% must be maintained.

The paid up capital and surplus must equal 8% of the deposit liabilities.

A reserve of 15% of the entire deposits must be kept, $\frac{1}{2}$ of which must be in cash, and $\frac{1}{2}$ of which may consist of balances due from solvent banks.

The incorporators may comprise any 3 or more persons, a majority of whom must be residents of the State.

[Act of March 25, 1933, Sec. 12, Stat. 193, p. 300] For constitutional liability any bank on the authority of a majority of its Board of Directors may do all things necessary to take advantage of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act, and in such event, upon liquidation, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, without bond, is authorized to act as liquidator or receiver.

There are no special rules on branch banking.

Conveyances. The husband has the entire management and control of the community property, with the like absolute power of disposition thereof, except as hereinafter provided, as of his own separate estate; provided, that no deed of conveyance, or mortgage, of a homestead as now defined by law, regardless of whether a declaration thereof has been filed or not, shall be valid for any purpose whatever, unless both the husband and wife execute and acknowledge the same as now provided by law for the conveyance of real estate.

Corporations. In 1925 an entire new corporation law was enacted. It is most liberal, modern and flexible and filing fees are low. Amendments of 1929 make this act still more flexible. Corporations may also be organized under the old act which is very similar to that of New Jersey. The new act is preferable and filing fees lower. Articles should expressly state that the corporation is organized under "an act providing a general corporation law," approved March 21, 1925. Foreign corporations to transact business and institute actions, in this State must file certified copy of articles of incorporation with the secretary of state and county clerk; also designation of resident agent. There is a license tax of $5 a year. Stockholders and directors' meetings of Nevada Corporations may be held in or out of State. There is no "Blue Sky" law. The laws of this State are generally regarded as most desirable in every way for the formation of corporations to do business in other states. There is no stockholders' liability and stock may be either assessable or non-assessable as provided in articles. All classes of stock are permitted. Various amendments to the 1925 act were enacted in 1929, 1931, 1933, 1935 1937 and 1941, making the act still more flexible and attractive.

Foreign corporations are granted the benefit of the statute of limitations.

Curtsey is not recognized in this State.

Courts. Jurisdiction. District courts have original, statutory, and common law jurisdiction in all cases at law and in equity, also in law, when the title or possession of land or mining claims may be involved, or legality of any tax, etc., also in actions to foreclose mechanics' lien; and in all cases in which the demand, exclusive of interest, or the value of the property in controversy exceeds $300, and in probate in all cases relating to estates of deceased persons, and persons and estate of minors, insane persons. Justice's jurisdiction, $300, exclusive of interest, and attorney's fees.

Deeds. A deed of quit-claim passes all the title that the grantor has at the date of the conveyance. A deed of grant, bargain and sale carries with it the statutory covenant that at the time that the grantor executed the deed, he had not conveyed it to any other person and had placed no encumbrance upon it. This form of deed conveys any title that the grantor shall afterwards acquire. A warranty deed contains a covenant: "The grantor herein will forever warrant and defend the title to the premises herein described against any and all persons whomsoever claiming the same."

The law governing and form of acknowledgments is titled under "Acknowledgments."

Depositions. Depositions may be taken within this State before any judge, clerk, justice of the peace or a notary public, upon notice to the opposite party of the time and place of taking. Depositions may be taken out of the State upon commission under the seal of the court upon proper application, or by stipulation of the attorneys.

Divorce. Divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be obtained by complaint, under oath (where the cause of the action arises out of the State), to the District Court of the County in which either plaintiff or defendant reside, provided either has resided within the state for six weeks, upon the following grounds:

First: Impotency at time of marriage continuing to the time of divorce.

Second: Adultery, since the marriage, remaining unforgiven.

Third: Wilful desertion, at any time, of either party by the other for the period of one year.

Fourth: Conviction of felony or infamous crime.

Fifth: Habitual gross drunkenness, contracted since marriage of either party, which shall incapacitate such party from contributing his or her share to the support of the family.

Sixth: Extreme cruelty in either party.

Seventh: Neglect of the husband, for the period of one year, to provide the common necessities of life, when such neglect is not the result of poverty on the part of the husband which he could not avoid by ordinary industry.

Eighth: Insanity existing for two years prior to the commencement of the action. Upon this cause of action the court, before granting a divorce, shall require corroborative evidence of the insanity of the defendant at that time and a decree granted on this ground shall not relieve the successful party from contributing to the support and maintenance of the defendant and the plaintiff in such action shall give bond therefor in an amount to be fixed by the court. (New 1927).

Ninth: When husband and wife have lived apart for three (3) consecutive years without cohabitation. (New 1939.)

Provided, that unless the cause of action shall have accrued within the county while plaintiff and defendant were actually domiciled therein, no court shall have jurisdiction to grant a divorce unless either the plaintiff or the defendant shall have been a resident of the state for a period of not less than six weeks next preceding the commencement of his action.

Residence is defined as follows:

"The legal residence of a person with reference to his or her right of suffrage, eligibility to office, right of naturalization, right to maintain or defend any suit at law or in equity, or any other right dependent on residence, is that place where he or she shall have been actually, physically and corporally present within the state or county, as the case may be, during all of the period for which residence is claimed by him or her; provided, however, should any person absent himself from the jurisdiction of his residence with the intention in good faith to return without delay and continue his residence, the time of such absence shall not be considered in determining the fact of such residence."

Dower is not recognized in this State.

Executions. Stay of Execution; Judgments. The laws of Nevada on these points are similar to those of California (see ante), except that the redemption period is one year in Nevada and that when redemption is made of real estate, 7 per cent per annum must be paid in addition to purchase money. When property is redeemed from a previous redemption, which may be done within sixty days, the purchase price plus two per cent thereon is required.

See attachments as to third party claims.
Exemption. Homestead, $5,000; the earnings of the debtor, if earned thirty days preceding, if it is made to appear necessary for the support of the debtor, except where debt is for necessities, or his family when only one-half exempt; personal and mining property, tools, implements, etc., exempt same as in California (which see).
Garnishment. (See Attachment.)

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); October 31 (Admitted to statehood); Thanksgiving Day; general election day and day of any state primary; December 25 (Christmas Day); also Arbor Day, fixed by proclamation of governor one month before fixing such date, and is only a holiday for public schools. Bills of exchange, checks, promissory notes, and other negotiable instruments falling due upon any holiday are payable the day afterward. When Christmas or similar holiday falls on Sunday the following Monday is the legal holiday.

The governor is granted power to declare banking holidays, when the public interest requires, upon the request of the State Board of Finance by formal resolution.

Husband and Wife: Neither husband nor wife is liable for the debts of the other incurred before marriage. (See Married Women.)

Interest. The legal rate is 7 per cent per annum, but parties may contract in writing for the payment of any other rate not in excess of 12 per cent per annum. After a judgment on such a contract, only the original claim shall draw interest, and the rate of interest must be mentioned in the judgment. Unadjusted accounts do not bear interest.

Limitations of Suits. Open or store account and contract not in writing, four years; upon contract or instrument in writing, six years; actions concerning real property, except mining claims, five years; mining claims two years. Judgment, or decree of the district court, six years; of the justices court, five years. Revivor: Acknowledgment or new promise in writing or payment on account. Judgments become a lien upon real property for three years.

Married Women. All property of the wife, owned by her before marriage, and that acquired afterward by gift, bequest, devise or descent, her separate property. In Nevada, under the statute of 1873, the wife has absolute power over her separate property, and may dispose of the same without the consent of her husband. All other property acquired during coverture by husband or wife, common property, but controlled by husband. Upon a dissolution of the community by the death of the husband, the homestead set apart by the husband and wife, or either of them, goes to the wife and minor children, and if there are no minor children, to the widow. If a homestead is declared in separate property its homestead character ceases on death of either spouse and property goes to owner or heirs. When living together, upon the death of the wife, the community property vests in the husband without administration; upon the death of the husband, one-half vests in the wife, and the other half is subject to the testamentary disposition of the husband. Separate property of wife should be inventoried and recorded. Failure so to do raises prima facie presumption property is not her separate estate.

Mortgages must be recorded. No mortgage of personal property is valid unless possession is delivered to and retained by the mortgagee, or unless the mortgage be accompanied by the statutory affidavit of the mortgagor and mortgagee or some person on their behalf and is recorded in the county where the mortgagor resides, if he be a resident of the State, and also in the county in which the mortgaged property is situated at the time of the execution of the mortgage.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Probate. All claims against estates of deceased persons must be filed within three months after the first publication of the notice of appointment of the executor or administrator. Estates not exceeding $5,000 in value, in the discretion of the judge, may be summarily administered and in cases of summary administration all regular proceedings and notices are dispensed with, except the notice of the appointment of the executor or administrator. Creditors of such an estate must file their claims within forty days. A new probate act was adopted in 1941, substantially the same as the old act with minor amendments.

All estates of husband or father of $1000, or less, are distributed to widow or children under age without probate, not subject to any debts.

Sales. The uniform sales act is in force in Nevada. There is also a "bulk sales" act.

Suits. Practice is under a code, and there is but one form of action known as a civil action, and commenced by filing complaint with the clerk of the court and the issuance of a summons. Service on non-residents may be had by publication. Personal service of a copy of summons and complaint is equivalent to the publication of the summons. A declaratory judgment act was enacted in 1929.

Taxes are a lien upon the property assessed and the real estate of the owner thereof from the first Monday in March in each year. Suits for delinquent taxes may be commenced by direction of the county commissioners, and there is redemption within two years, of real estate sold at tax sales in the same manner as realty sold under ordinary execution. There is no income nor inheritance tax in Nevada. Taxes may be paid in four equal quarterly installments.

Wills. Wills executed out of Nevada are good here if good where made. The Uniform Wills Act has been adopted.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by DEMOND SULLOWAY PIPER & JONES, Attorneys at Law
Concord, N. H.

(See card in Attorneys List)

Acknowledgment. Deeds and conveyances of real estate must be acknowledged:

- Within the State of New Hampshire, before a Justice, a commissioner or a notary public.
- Outside the State, before a commissioner or a notary public.
- In a foreign country, before a minister, ambassador, charge d'affaires or before any consular official of the United States accredited to the country where taken.

The signature of the grantor must be attested by one witness. Certificates of acknowledgment outside U. S. must contain name of persons making the acknowledgment; date and place; statement that signers knew the contents of instrument and acknowledged same to be his; name of person taking acknowledgment, title and seal and be substantially in form prescribed by statute.

Actions. The common law prevails as to procedure.

Administration of Estates. Administration shall be granted in the following order of precedence: 1. To executor named. 2. To widow, husband, or any of next of kin, or their nominee. 3. To one of devisees or creditors. 4. To any other person judge may think proper. A non-resident shall not be appointed unless urgent necessity demands. An ample bond with resident sureties shall be filed. No suit shall be brought against the administrator within the first year of his administration. Claims shall be presented within one year after his appointment, and no action can be brought after two years. If no administration has been granted within two years after the date of death, a creditor may not thereafter bring an action to appropriate deceased's real estate in payment of his claim (P. A. 1941 C. 54). Actions are not maintainable against an administrator of an estate, after a decree of insolvency. Estates may be administered in the insolvent course, and then a commissioner shall be appointed to examine and allow claims. Preferred claims to be settled in full are: Expenses of administration, widow's allowance, charges of burial, and taxes. Claims for the last sickness shall be paid in full if there remains anything after paying the preferred claims. Legacies of not more than $200 payable to minors not under legal guardianship shall be paid on the approval of the Probate Court to the parents of such minors. (See Arbitration.)

Affidavits. Affidavits are not admissible in evidence, being ex parte, but motions are heard upon affidavits presented to the court. May be made before an officer authorized to administer oaths. According to a rule of New Hampshire practice, the certificate of a foreign officer who signs his name as such and affixes his seal wherever one is required, may be taken as prima facie proof of his qualifications. (See Attachments.)

Aliens. They are not entitled to vote. An alien may purchase, hold or convey real estate, and it will descend in the same manner as if he were a native born citizen. When the wife of an alien has resided in the State six months, separate from her husband, she acquires all the rights of the wife of a native born citizen.

Assignments and Insolvency. Assignments for benefit of creditors to be filed in the probate court of the county in which debtor resides. The provision of the law upon this subject are suspended by the United States bankruptcy law.

Attachments of all real and personal property may be made on the original writ, and constitute a valid lien on the property for thirty days after judgment, within which period the execution must be levied to preserve and perfect the lien. An attachment may not be made in an action of replevin nor in a summary process against tenants. All attachments take precedence in order of priority, except in case of liens of builders, contractors, etc., when they take precedence in the order of priority of the lien. Trustee process (analogous to garnishment in other states) may be used to reach money or credits of the defendant in the hands of another. Save as against claims for necessities the wages of the defendant up to $20 are exempt from such process. In an action for necessities only $10 will be exempt. In actions on contracts where debt exceeds $13.33, defendant may be arrested on affidavit of plaintiff that he (defendant) has concealed his property or is about to leave the State to avoid payment of his debts. (See Garnishment.)

Banks. State banks are divided roughly into

1. Mutual Savings Banks..... 47
2. Trust Companies..... 8
3. Banking Companies..... 3

All these are under the supervision of the Savings Bank Commissioner of the State.

Mutual savings banks have boards of trustees. These banks have no stock. The deposits belong to the depositors. The banking companies are organized under state laws as are the trust companies. Some of these latter have Federal Deposit Insurance. None of the mutual savings banks have such insurance but they are probably better protected by a protective association organized by them. There is no liability on depositors.

All these banks are permitted to engage only in certain lines of business and their investments are very strictly limited. They are required to have at least 5% guaranty fund or reserve. State banks are required to have examinations by a committee of trustees at least twice a year. In addition the State Bank Commissioner examines at least once and usually twice a year. They are required to make annual reports to the state. Branch banking is not permitted. Banks and any other institutions under the supervision of the Bank Commissioner are authorized to act as agents for the sale of United States Defense Bonds.

Incorporators of savings banks are named in the charter as no banks are permitted to organize under our general corporation law. Their successors are elected annually by the incorporators as they still continue to be known. From these the trustees are elected who in turn elect officers usually consisting of a president, treasurer and clerk. Savings banks are not allowed to invest in real estate mortgages in excess of 70% of the value of the property but in practice this is limited to about 60%. Savings banks may petition the Superior Court to decree that deposits, of which the bank is unable to locate the owner, shall be paid into State treasury.

Trust companies are incorporated by a board consisting of the bank commissioner, the deputy bank commissioner and the attorney general. No trust company may be organized with less capital than $25,000.00. This sum is graduated upward according to population. As the population increases the minimum limit increases. But in no instance may the capital stock exceed $500,000. The shares must be of $100.00 par value which must be paid in in cash. It may loan not exceeding 25% of its capital and surplus on first mortgage investments but no loan shall exceed 70% of the value. If the capital stock becomes impaired, an assessment is made by the bank commissioner upon the stockholders pro rata and shares may be sold for non-payment. Directors and officers are elected by stockholders.

The requirements above described for savings banks apply likewise to building and loan associations.

An exception was made in the limitation on investments by the legislature of 1935 of notes eligible for insurance by the Federal Housing Administration and also making eligible notes, bonds, debentures and other obligations of National mortgage associations.

A further amendment was adopted creating a board to prepare a list approved by them for investment of bonds and senior obligations of railroad, public utilities and industrial companies.

The banking laws were further amended to authorize any trust company or similar corporation organized under the laws of this state, or any national bank duly authorized and organized within the state, to act as trustee or executor in any case where an individual can be appointed but such company shall not advertise or circularize the fact that it is authorized to act as executor.

Bills of Exchange. (See Notes, and Bills of Exchange.)

Chattel Mortgages. (See Mortgages.)

Collateral. There have been no statutory enactments on this subject. A Pledge of stock is not liable as a stockholder, but the general owner is.

Conveyances. Every deed, and lease for more than seven years, shall be signed, sealed, attested by one witness acknowledged before a justice of the peace, notary public, or commissioner, and recorded in the registry of the county wherein the real estate is situated. Every power of attorney to convey real estate must be executed with the same formalities. Conditional conveyances must state the sum to be secured, or the thing to be performed. Administrators, guardians, and trustees can convey only by virtue of a license from the probate court. Sheriff's deeds shall give full particulars as to the action, and shall covenant that he has observed all the requirements of law.

Corporations. Voluntary corporations can be formed for any purpose excepting banking, the construction and maintenance of railroads, insurance, business of making contracts for the payments of money at a fixed date, or the business of a trust company, surety or indemnity company, a safe deposit company, or a trading stamp business.

Three or more persons not necessarily residents of New Hampshire may associate themselves by articles of agreement, which must contain the name of the corporation, object or objects for which it is established, city or town in which its principal place of business is to be located, the amount of its authorized capital stock with nominal or par value, and in the case of a corporation with capital stock or any class thereof without nominal or par value the total number of shares authorized, and any other provisions not inconsistent with law for its dissolution or for limiting, defining, or regulating the powers of the corporation, its directors, stockholders, or any class of stockholders, and shall be signed by the associates with the designation of the post office address of each.

Any name may be adopted not in use by any other New Hampshire corporation or foreign corporation doing business in the State.

Such corporation may issue stock with or without nominal or par value, shares being not less than ten in number, which may be issued from time to time in such amount and for such consideration as may be authorized by vote. Two or more kinds or classes of stock with preferences may be provided.

Stock with nominal or par value shall be not less than $1,000 in amount, par value of the shares shall not be less than $5.00 or more than $1,000.

After the organization meeting the treasurer and a majority of the directors shall make, sign and make oath to the record of organization, which shall contain the original or a true copy of the articles of agreement, the date or dates of the organization meeting, the names and address of the officers and directors, and the original or true copy of all votes passed determining the amount of capital stock, the kinds and classes of stock, and when and how to be issued.

Such record shall contain a statement that the consideration for which stock with nominal or par value is to be issued is of actual value in money equal to the par value of the stock.

The record shall be submitted to the Attorney General, approved by him and filed with the secretary of state, together with the filing fee, which is $10 where the capital stock does not exceed $10,000; $25 when it does not exceed $50,000; $100 when it does not exceed $250,000; $150 when it does not exceed $500,000; $250 when it does not exceed $1,000,000; and $10 for each $100,000 above $1,000,000.

The clerk of every corporation shall be and continue a resident of the State.

Stock may be issued for cash, property, real or personal, rights, franchises, services or expenses, and may be issued from time to time in accordance with the provisions of the statute.

Corporations must render a return on or before March 1st of each year, stating the amount of its authorized capital, the amount of stock issued, number of shares, par value thereof, amount of indebtedness, value of all its property and assets as of the first of the preceding January, and shall pay a filing fee of $5.00. Fine of $5,000 or imprisonment for five years, or both, for failure of treasurer or directors neglecting to file.

All corporations shall annually pay to the State a fee equal to one-fourth the amount paid upon filing its original record of organization, plus one-fourth of additional payments for increases in capital stock, fee to be not less than $5.00 nor more than $100.

Courts. The superior court has original jurisdiction over all causes. The supreme court decides questions of law upon bills of exception, transferred from the superior court, and it holds its sessions every month, except July and August. Probate courts have jurisdiction over estates of deceased persons, insolvent estates, minors, insane persons, adoptions, change of names, trustees, and partition of real estate. District police courts and justices of the peace have concurrent jurisdiction with the superior court up to $100 (except in cities of 50,000 or more population they have civil jurisdiction up to $500) when the title to real estate is not involved, and can render judgment upon confession up to $200. The terms of the superior court shall be held in each year at the times and places following: For the county of Rockingham, at Exeter, on the fourth Tuesday of October, and at Portsmouth on the second Tuesday of April. For the county of Strafford, at Dover, on the second Tuesday of February and September. For the county of Belknap, at Laconia, on the third Tuesday of March and the fourth Tuesday of October. For the county of Carroll, at Ossipee, on the third Tuesday of May, and the third Tuesday of October. For the county of Merrimack, at Concord, on the first Tuesday of April and the fourth Tuesday of October. For the county of Hillsborough, at Manchester, on the first Tuesday of January and April, and at Nashua the second Tuesday of September. For the county of Cheshire, at Keene, on the second Tuesday of February and September. For the county of Sullivan, at Newport, on the second Tuesday of February and September. For the county of Coos, at Lancaster, on the fourth Tuesday of April, and at Berlin, on the third Tuesday of October. For the county of Grafton, at Plymouth, on the second Tuesday of May, at Haverill, on the second Tuesday of September, at Lebanon, on the second Tuesday of January.

Days of Grace. None except on sight drafts.

Depositions. The party proposing to take depositions shall give the opposite party a four days' notice, of which the following is a form.

"To A. B. C., of etc., or att'y of record: Depositions will be taken at the office of in in the County of and State of on the day of 19..... at o'clock in the noon, in which action is plaintiff, and is defendant, to be heard and tried at the Court to be held at in the County of on the day of 19..... Dated at this day of 19..... Justice of the Peace."

One extra day's notice to be given, up to twenty days, for each twenty additional miles. They are taken before a justice of the peace or a commissioner. They can only be taken by written questions and answers proposed by counsel and administered by the magistrate. Objections are minuted on the deposition by the magistrate, but he does not pass upon the validity of such objections. Depositions shall be signed by the deponent, and he shall be sworn to testify to the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. They must be enclosed in an envelope and sealed up by the magistrate, with the following endorsement:

"To the Supreme Court:

Enclosed is the deposition of to be used in the action of vs.

Sealed up by me, Justice of the Peace."

They should then be mailed to the clerk of the court where they are to be used. No deposition can be used in a jury trial unless taken before the Tuesday next preceding the Tuesday on which the term commenced.

The taking of said deposition was begun at o'clock in the noon of said day, and was continued until finished. The said was (not) present and did (not) object.

Dated at said this day of 19..... Justice of the Peace"

Descent of Property. The real estate subject to dower or curtesy and homestead shall descend in equal shares as follows: 1. To the children and to the legal representatives of such of them as are dead. 2. If there be no issue, to the father and mother in equal shares, if both are living, and to the father or mother, if one of them is dead. 3. If there be no issue or father or mother, in equal shares to the brothers and sisters or their representatives. 4. To the next of kin in equal shares, if a person dies under age, his estate, derived by descent or devise from his father or mother, shall descend to his brothers and sisters, or their representatives, if any, to the exclusion of the other parent. No representation allowed beyond the degree of brothers' and sisters' grandchildren. The personal estate shall be distributed as follows: 1. To the widow, her share according to law. 2. To the same persons who would take as in the case of realty. The widow is entitled, in addition to her dower and homestead, to one-third or one-half of the personalty, as she does or does not leave issue surviving, and she holds the same interest in the real estate, by releasing her dower and homestead, and by waiving any provision in the will in her favor. In case the real estate (provided no issue survives) does not exceed $5,000 in value, the survivor husband or wife, takes the whole thereof. The same provision exists as to distribution of the personalty. As to any balance above $5,000, the distribution is made according to the other provisions of the law, as above set forth. A surviving husband has the same rights in his wife's estate that a wife would have in her husband's estate. (See Dower.)

The only material change is in relation to the descent and distribution of personal property. In 1933 the respective interests of husbands and wives surviving were modified so that such interests in personalty are as follows: 1. One-third part thereof if he (she) intestate leaves issue surviving him (her). 2. If testate and he (she) leaves no issue surviving him (her), $5,000.00 of the value thereof and one-half of the remainder above said $5,000.00. 3. If intestate and he (she) leaves no issue surviving him (her) $7,500.00 of the value thereof and also one-half the value of the remainder above said $7,500.00.

A like provision is made in reference to real estate except that in the case of the wife her interest must be assigned to her as in case of dower.

In 1941 there was enacted a Uniform Simultaneous Death Act to apply in cases where the title to or devolution of property depends upon priority of death and there is no sufficient evidence that the persons have died other than simultaneously. (P. A. 1941 ch 55)

Dower. A widow is entitled to dower in the real estate of which her husband died seized, excepting in land not under cultivation or in a wood lot not used in connection with a farm. The dower may be assigned by metes and bounds, and the widow has an undivided net third part of the rents and profits until dower is assigned. She may be endowed with so much of the real estate of her late husband as will produce a yearly income equal to one-third of the total income.

Evidence. Persons are not excluded from testifying because of interest, except where the party is an executor, administrator or guardian of insane, and the subject of the testimony occurred during the life of the deceased, or prior to the ward's insanity, unless the executor, administrator, or guardian of the insane person elects to testify, or, if the court finds that an injustice may be done without the testimony of party, it may in its discretion allow such testimony. Husband and wife are competent witnesses for or against each other, except as to matters, which in the opinion of the court, might lead to the violation of marital confidence. In criminal proceedings, respondent may testify in his own behalf, if he elects, but not otherwise. Conviction of an infamous crime does not bar the party from giving evidence but bears upon his credibility. The rules of common law govern generally the admissibility of evidence.

Garnishment. Known to our law as trustee process. Any personal action except trespass, defamation of character, and malicious prosecution, may be begun by trustee process. Trustees are not chargeable upon default. Wages earned after the service of the writ are not held by the process.

Wages of the defendant earned before service of writ upon trustee are exempt in the amount of $20, except that only an amount up to $10 shall be exempt in actions for necessities furnished to the defendant or any of his family.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); general election day; November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; December 25 (Christmas Day); and Fast Day. When any holiday falls on Sunday the following day is observed as a holiday.

Husband and Wife. They may make ante-nuptial agreements which can be in lieu of dower, homestead, and distributive share. (See Arrest, Aliens, Descent of Property, Dower, Divorce, Married Women, and Wills.)

Interest. Interest may be any rate, but is computed at 6 per cent per annum unless different rate is stipulated in writing. If any person, upon any contract, receives at a higher rate than 6 per cent, he forfeits three times the excess paid, to the person aggrieved and suing therefor; but no contract is invalidated by reason of any stipulation for usurious interest; the money actually advanced may be recovered with legal interest. Interest upon all judgments is at the rate of 6 per cent per annum. Interest upon unpaid taxes is at the rate of 10 per cent after the first day of December following their assessment, until sale of property taxed, and 12 per cent thereafter until time of redemption. Upon current accounts interest commences from date of demand for payment, unless controlled by the custom of trade, which is a question of fact to be determined by a trial thereof. Interest on small loans of $300.00 or less is limited to a rate of 2% per month.

Liens. Besides the common law lien the legislature has provided for a lien upon all the effects and baggage of a boarder; also liens or the pasture of horses, cattle, sheep, or other domestic animals. A person who may have performed labor or furnished material toward building, repairing, fitting or furnishing a vessel shall have a lien thereon for the space of four days after completion. A person who may have furnished a monument or tablet, or curbing, shall have a lien thereon. And a person having a lien on personal property, when no time is limited for the payment of the debt, may sell the same at auction, fourteen days' notice of the sale being required, if the value of the property exceeds $100, and a sworn return of said sale shall be recorded in the office of the town clerk.

Building liens for labor and materials furnished in excess of $15 extends to land on which the building is erected and continues for thirty days from the time the work is completed within which time it may be secured by attachment. In the event of a contract notice must be given to owner prior to the work of intention to claim a lien but notice after the work has begun will be valid to the extent of the amount then due or that may thereafter become due.

Limitations of Suits. Accounts and simple promissory notes six years after maturity; judgments, sealed instruments, and notes secured by mortgage, twenty years. Time of debtor's absence from the State is excluded. Verbal acknowledgment and promise to pay is sufficient to revive the debt. Action against administrators limited to two years.

Married Women retain all property owned by them before marriage, or acquired afterward in any way except through property of the husband, to their sole and separate use, as if unmarried. All their contracts in relation to such property are valid and binding, and all their other contracts are binding, except those as sureties or guarantors for their husbands, or for and in behalf of their husbands. Upon the death of wife, the husband is entitled to substantially the same share of her estate as she would be of his estate in case of his death. (See Descent of Property.) They are liable for debts contracted while single, and their property may be attached to pay them. They are also liable for their torts before marriage in relation to their separate property. The husband is not liable for the wife's ante-nuptial debts, and cannot convey his improved real estate so as to bar his wife's right of dower and homestead without her consent. Married women of the age of twenty-one years may dispose of their property by will, but not to affect husband's rights, nor can they convey so as to deprive the husband of his right.

Mortgages. Real Estate. A conditional conveyance shall be ineffectual unless the sum to be paid, or the thing to be done, is stated in the conveyance. All mortgages shall be signed in the presence of witnesses and acknowledged before a justice of the peace or a notary public. Mortgages may be foreclosed. 1. By entry under process of law into the premises and continued actual possession for one year. 2. By peaceable entry in the presence of two witnesses and continued actual possession for one year. 3. By the mortgagee in possession taking formal possession under the second method. 4. By a sale under the provisions of a power of sale mortgage. To make effectual mortgages of personal property, the mortgagor and mortgagee must take and subscribe the following oath: "We severally swear that the foregoing mortgage is made for the purpose of securing the debt specified in the condition thereof and for no other purpose whatever, and that said debt was not created for the purpose of enabling the mortgagor to execute the said mortgage, but is a just debt, honestly due and owing from the mortgagor to the mortgagee." The mortgage must be recorded in the office of the clerk of the town where the mortgagor resides, and in case of the non-residence of the mortgagor, it must be recorded in the office of the clerk of the town where the property is situated.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act has been adopted. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Notes and Bills of Exchange. An instrument to be negotiable must conform to the following requirements: 1. It must be in writing and signed by the maker or drawer. 2. It must contain an unconditional promise or order to pay a sum certain in money. 3. Must be payable on demand, or at a fixed or determinable future time. 4. Must be payable to order or to bearer; and 5. Where the instrument is addressed to a drawee, he must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty. Its negotiability is not affected by a provision which authorizes the sale of collateral securities in case the instrument be not paid at maturity, or authorizes a confession of judgment if the instrument be not paid at maturity; or waives the benefit of any law intended for the advantage or the protection of the obligor; or gives the holder an election to require something to be done in lieu of payment of money. To charge indorser, notice of non-payment must at once be given to him. Time of Maturity: Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein without grace, except sight drafts. When the day of maturity falls upon Sunday, or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Instruments falling due or becoming payable on Saturday are to be presented for payment on the next succeeding business day, except that instruments payable on demand may, at the option of the holder, be presented for payment before 12 o'clock, noon, on Saturday, when that entire day is not a holiday. (See Holidays.)

Power of Attorney. (See Conveyances.)

Probate Law. The probate court is a county court, and holds numerous sessions in various places. Proceedings are begun by petition and citation issued. The citations are served twelve days before the return day. The court may proceed without notice in the following cases. In the probate of wills in the common form; in the appointment of an executor nominated in a will; in the appointment of appraisers of an estate; in licensing the sale of real estate under $200 in value, or where the heirs consent in writing; in appointing guardians over minors other than parents, notice to parents is necessary; in granting allowances; in assigning dower and homestead. In making orders for suits upon bonds, in changing names; in appointing trustees nominated in a will. (See Administration of Estates, Courts, Descent of Property, Dower, Married Women, and Wills.)

Protest. Notaries public are the proper protesting officers. Notice of the non-payment or the non-acceptance upon residents by mail is sufficient. (See Notes and Bills.)

Replevin may be brought to recover goods or chattels in specie. The question of right of possession being in issue, the plaintiff shall give bond to the sheriff in a sum not less than double the value of the property to be replevied, to pay such damages as may be awarded against him. If the defendant shall prevail he shall have judgment for the return of the goods, and other damages, or for their value.

Taxes become a lien upon the realty simultaneously with their assessment (April 1st of each year). One year from the day of sale is allowed in which to redeem land sold for taxes, costs of sale and interest at the rate of 12 per cent per annum being added. A succession or inheritance tax of 5 per cent upon inheritances by collateral heirs, is collected through the probate courts.

Trusts. Legal investments for trustees: (1) Notes secured by mortgages of real estate at least double in value of the notes. (2) Deposit in savings banks or in the savings departments of national banks or trust companies located in this state. (3) Stocks and bonds such as a prudent man would purchase for his own investment.

Warehouse Receipts. The Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act has been adopted.

Wills. Every person of the age of 21 years and married persons under that age, of sane mind, may devise and dispose of their property, real and personal, and of any right or interest they may have in any property by their last will in writing.

SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF NEW JERSEY

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by CHARLES K. BARTON, Attorney at Law, 126 Market St. Paterson, N. J.

Acknowledgments of deeds are made within the State before the chancellor or a justice of the supreme court, a master in chancery, attorney at law, judge of the court of common pleas, commissioner of deeds, notary public, surrogate of county, or a deputy surrogate, or register of deeds, county clerk, or deputy county clerk during his continuance in office; without the State, before a justice of the supreme court of the United States, circuit or a district judge of the same, or a judge or justice of the supreme or superior court or chancellor of the State district, or territory, or before any mayor or chief magistrate of any city, borough, or corporation, duly certified under the seal of such city, borough, or corporation, or before a judge of the court of common pleas or county court of such state, district or territory, or commissioner for New Jersey, duly certified, under the official seal of such commissioner, or by a master in chancery, or attorney at law of this State, notary public, or by any officer authorized at the time of such proof or acknowledgment, by the laws of the State wherein the same shall be made or taken, to take the acknowledgment of deeds of lands lying and being in such state. In case the acknowledgment is made before a mayor or chief magistrate, the certificate must be attested by the seal of the city; if before a judge of the court of common pleas or county court, or other officer, it must be attested by seal of such court, and certified by the clerk of the court. If before an officer not enumerated but authorized as above stated, it must be certified that he is such officer and authorized under the laws of such state, district or territory, at the time of taking such acknowledgment to take acknowledgments and proofs. In foreign countries acknowledgment or proof may be made before a master in chancery, any court of law, notary public, mayor, or chief magistrate, or any ambassador, consul, vice-consul, consular agent, or other representative of the United States; if before foreign officer then the proof or certificate must be accompanied by a certificate under the great seal of such foreign kingdom, etc., that the officer was authorized, under the laws of such kingdoms, at the time, to take acknowledgments and proofs of deeds or conveyances of lands, tenements or hereditaments in such kingdom, etc. '46:14-7

Administration of Estates. Wills are proved before the ordinary of the State, or the surrogate of the county, and letters testamentary are granted. In case there is no will, letters of administration are granted. Should there be a contest of the will or dispute as to the right of administration, the orphans' court has power to act. This court is also the proper tribunal for all disputes in matters of estates, is the auditor of all accounts, and has varied powers in matters regarding estates, such as the right to appoint trustees under a will, partition where minors are interested in lands, etc.

With certain exceptions, no personal action can be brought against a decedent estate for six months following the death unless by court's leave. Creditors must file claims with the decedent estate within one year, or sooner if court so orders. A disputed claim must be sued upon within three months after notice of disallowance. A creditor barred by time may nevertheless sue on refunding bonds given by legatees and the like, or may reach funds still in the decedent estate after payment of other creditors or may satisfy his claim by a lien on the decedent's real estate in favor of creditors. Creditors of decedent have a paramount lien upon said real estate for one year; they may also reach any of the decedent's real estate still in the hands of a devisee or heir or anyone except a bona fide purchaser therefrom. Power to carry out agreements relating to land. Powers of suit for or against a foreign administrator are acquired by filing an exemplified copy of his appointment with the register of the pre-rogative court. (R. S. '37—Sec. 3:13-7.)

Affidavits in the state may be taken before the Chief Justice of the United States or any associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, the Chancellor, Vice Chancellor, a judge of any court of record, master in chancery, attorney at law of New Jersey, justice of the peace, mayor, recorder, or alderman of any city or borough, supreme court commissioner, city clerk, clerk or surrogate or any county clerk of a court of record, notary public or commissioner of deeds. Affidavits outside the state are taken by same officers, etc. authorized to take acknowledgments outside the state. (See Acknowledgments, supra.)

Aliens. No restrictions as to holding property. Foreign corporations, other than municipal, may purchase, use, and convey real estate in New Jersey. (R. S. '37—Sec. 14:15-1.)

Appeals. From justice's court to court of common pleas of county. From district court to supreme court on question of law. From common pleas or circuit court to supreme court. From circuit or supreme court, to court of errors and appeals. From orphans court to prerogative court. From prerogative court or court of chancery to court of errors and appeals. Motor Vehicle appeals from judgment of magistrate to court of Special Sessions for trial de novo. 1933. (R. S. '37—Sec. 39:5-11.)

Assignments and Insolvency. The insolvent laws provide for the discharge of a person under arrest for debt or damages on his delivering up all his real and personal property to his creditors. Assignments by debtors for the benefit of creditors must be without preference, and all others are void. Debtor must annex sworn inventory. Wages of servants, clerks, and laborers up to $300 each are preferred claims. Rent for one year is a preferred claim and shall first be paid and satisfied out of the goods and chattels of assignee on the demised premises. Transfers of property within two months of assignment to give preference are void. Assignee must file list of creditors at the end of three months, and make dividends at the next term of court. Creditor not presenting claim does not share in the dividend, but retains his right of action against the debtor. Corporation may make assignment for the benefit of its creditors.

Voluntary assignment for benefit of creditors of all debtor's chattels and movables, valid where made, is effective there and in other States, provided law or policy of such State is not infringed (re related topics see 186A, 525).

Attachment. There are two attachment acts. The procedure under the 1903 Act is the simpler, but the act is limited to liquidated demands. (189 A, 613.) Under this act, a creditor may attach property of a non-resident or absconding debtor by making oath to the fact, and to the amount of his claim, before anyone authorized to administer oaths or affirmations. The writ is issued as of course by the clerk of court upon presenting such affidavit. Attachments are for the benefit of all applying creditors, but the plaintiff is to be paid in full the amount due him before division among other creditors. Debts not due may be proved under any attachment issued, and receive their pro rata dividend. Females and corporations not created or recognized by law of this state are subject to the act. No attachment can issue against joint debtors unless all are absconding or nonresident. Properties subject to attachment are: rights, credits, moneys, effects, goods, chattels, lands and tenements, except that wages due nonresident cannot be attached by nonresident creditor, and personal property of nonresident is not attachable by nonresident creditor where same is exempt by laws of state where debtor and creditor live. Goods in transit are not attachable as such; must surrender negotiable bill of lading or enjoin negotiation. Property of decedent may be attached for decedent's debt, where personal representative, heir, etc., is non-resident or absconding.

Upon proof by affidavit of fraud warranting a capias (see Arrest) writ may issue against a resident, but only by order of court, judge or commissioner.

Under 1903 Act, demand may be liquidated or unliquidated, but writ issues only on order of court, judge or commissioner supported by affidavit or other proof (1) of facts entitling plaintiff to order for bail (see Arrest) females and corporations being subject to this provision, except that in tort no attachment can issue against corporation if a summons can be served, or (2) that defendant absconds or is nonresident, and that summons cannot be served, except that no attachment against rolling stock of common carrier of another state, or against goods of nonresident in custody of common carrier, or (3) that debtor is deceased leaving property in state liable for same, and some or all of heirs or devisees are unknown or nonresident. The 1903 Act is not frequently used.

Bank Collection Code. Effective May 6, 1929. Given directly following the Laws.

Supervision. Every banking institution is under supervision of Department of Banking and Insurance, chief officer of which is Commissioner of Banking and Insurance. (R. S. 17:1-1, 2), to whom must be made not less than two verified reports during each year, which must be published, and such other reports as Commissioner may call for. R. S. 17:4-93, 17:5-1 to 6-9. After complying with the statutory incorporation requirements the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance issues a certificate that the bank is authorized to do business.

Must have on hand amount equal to 15% of all immediate liabilities; 3% of all time liabilities; three-fifths of this amount may consist of balances due from other solvent banks; two-fifths must be cash on hand. R. S. 37-17-4-30. If the assets fall below the reserves then no new loan or discounts may be made save by purchasing or discounting bills of exchange payable at sight.

Loan Requirements. Banks may discount bills, notes and other evidences of debt, receive deposits, with or without interest thereon, buy and sell bullion, foreign coins, promissory notes, mortgages, and other evidences of debt, and foreign and inland bills of exchange, and loan money on real and personal security and exercise all powers and privileges usual and incidental thereto (17-4-32; 33) and purchase, invest in and sell stock of corporations (17-4-32). With certain exceptions State banks cannot loan on or purchase own stock. 17-4-29, as amended 1938. With certain limitations, indebtedness of any one person to bank shall not exceed 10 per cent of bank's unimpaired capital and surplus. 17-4-27. Chattel Mortgages. Chattel mortgages to be valid must be acknowledged as deeds and affidavit of the consideration must be made by the mortgagee. They must be recorded immediately in the county where the chattels are at the time the sale or transfer takes place.

Chattel mortgages are absolutely void as against creditors and subsequent bona fide purchasers and mortgagees, unless the mortgage is acknowledged or proved according to law and recorded, or unless the mortgage is accompanied by immediate delivery and followed by continued change of possession of mortgaged property. Exception: When the mortgage is on chattels held by a mortgagor engaged in the business of manufacturing, processing, shipping or selling of such chattels it is not necessary to have instrument recorded; provided, prior to the execution, the proposed mortgagor and mortgagee execute under seal and acknowledge a statement setting forth place of business of each, that they may accept a series of mortgages on business of mortgagor, and a general description of the type of chattels, which statement must be recorded as would chattel mortgage. Foreclosure of chattel mortgages is usually effected by seizure and sale, although may be foreclosed in equity. Failure to give five (5) days written notice of foreclosure to mortgagor is a misdemeanor. Chattel mortgages must have an affidavit annexed, setting out the interest of the mortgagee, true consideration of the mortgage and the amount due and to grow due thereon, said affidavit to be made by the holder, or his agent or attorney (187 A, 155). Contracts. The following must be in writing: Leases for a longer term than three years. Assignments, grants, or surrender of leases. Declarations or creations of trust (does not interfere with implied or constructive trusts), grants and assignments of trusts. Special promise of executor or administrator to answer out of his own estate.

Special promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of any other person. To charge any person upon any agreement made upon promise of marriage. Contract or sale of lands, tenements, or hereditaments or any interest in or concerning them. Any agreement not to be performed within one year or the making thereof. Contract for the sale of goods of the value of $500 or upward (acceptance of part of the goods or payment of part of the price or earnest money obviates necessity of writing); applies to sales for goods to be made as well as such as are in existence, unless goods are to be made especially for purchaser and are not suitable for sale to others in ordinary course of seller's business. Promise made after coming of age to pay debt contracted during infancy. Promise of bankrupt to pay after discharge. Promise to pay claim barred by Statute of Limitations. Commissions to broker or real estate agent, authority to sell or exchange must be in writing and rate of commissions stated. 25:1-1 to 9, 46:30-10. In case of debts fraudulently contracted, suit may be brought for recovery as soon as the fraud is discovered, notwithstanding debt may not be due.

A seal is ordinarily only presumptive evidence of consideration in any contract sued upon, but remains conclusive evidence of consideration in a release or when no other consideration is intended. A third party beneficiary may sue upon the contract in his name or in the name of a contracting party. An assignee may sue upon the contract in his own name, or in his assignor's name, or in his assignor's name to the assignee's use. A bona fide assignee for value defeats the latent equity in favor of third parties.

The Fair Trade act provides that a manufacturer or owner of trademarked goods in open competition may determine a minimum resale price binding upon wholesalers and retailers in the state; 56:4-3, 4, 5, 6, as amended 1938; 199A, 402. Fair Sales Act, providing that there should be no sales for less than cost (1938) 56:4-7 to 15.

Contract for sale of real estate must be recorded and suit must be brought thereon within three months after date for performance or if no fixed date, within three months after date when contract was made, or, if there is recorded within this period an extension of time for performance, within three months after such extended time, or, if party dies within any of these periods, within three months after the death; otherwise void as against judgment creditors and bona fide purchasers. If conveyance pursuant to a court order or a foreclosure sale, formal defects as to advertising, or failure of administrator to file proper papers showing authority, will not bar the passing of good title.

The Rule in Shelley's case and estates tail have been abolished 46:3-14, 15.

New Jersey has adopted the Uniform Fraudulent Conveyance Act; and see 25:2-14, 15.

The certificate of incorporation may also contain any provision as to the regulation of the business and conduct of the affairs of the corporation, and any provision creating, defining, limiting, and regulating powers of the corporation, the directors and the stockholders, or any class of stockholders, provided such provision be not inconsistent with the act concerning corporations. Every certificate and report must give address of New Jersey office and name of agent in charge thereof, upon whom process against the corporation may be served. Directors shall be stockholders or stockholders of a corporation holding 25 per cent of the capital stock of the corporation of which they are to be directors (14:7-2) and shall be chosen annually by the stockholders. They must be three in number, at least. The officers are chosen annually, president must be a director. None of directors need be residents of New Jersey. By 14:8-1, corporation may now issue stock without any nominal or par value. Change in the nature of corporation's business name, amount of capital stock, classes of stock, etc., may be made by vote of two-thirds of stockholders. (14:11-1.) If any stock without par value is retired, not more than the amount of capital received upon the issuance of such stock may be charged against or retired out of the capital of such corporation. A decrease of capital stock or of capital of a corporation may be effected by reducing the capital represented by shares of any class stock with or without par value, or by purchase of shares without reduction of capital of the Corporation. If result is a decrease of capital a certificate of reduction must be filed with Secretary of State, and 30-day notice given; for default, directors liable. (14:11-5.) Provision for reorganization under National Bankruptcy Act (14:14-44 to 48; 14:14-21 to 23.) Corporation may determine the manner of calling and conducting all meetings, and what number of shares shall constitute a quorum. (14:10-9; 14:10-10.) When corporation is insolvent, remedy is by bill in chancery, the application for an appointment of receiver of such insolvent company. Laborers and workmen have first lien upon assets to a limited amount. Liability of the stockholder ceases when shares are fully paid for, or in other words, a stockholder is only liable to the amount of his unpaid subscription to the capital stock. Ten year voting trust permitted (14:10-10). Foreign corporations are subject to the provisions of the general corporation act in so far as the same are applicable; the provisions of which having been complied with, there is issued by the secretary of state to such foreign corporations a certificate that it is authorized to transact business in this state. It is unlawful for a foreign corporation to transact business in this State until such certificate is obtained. Foreign corporations, other than municipal, may purchase, use, and convey real estate in New Jersey. General Corporations of New Jersey are permitted to merge with corporations of another State. (14:12-1), provided all taxes are paid, 14:12-4, as amended, 1938. Corporation of State. 5% of whose voting stock is held by another corporation of the State may merge with that corporation, notwithstanding that the corporations have been organized for dissimilar purposes unless a railroad, canal, insurance or banking corporation is involved. Unincorporated associations of seven or more persons having a recognized name may sue or be sued in such name. Service may be made on the

Upon dissolution in any manner of any corporation, the proctors have power to wind up the affairs of such corporation, 14:13-5. A copy of the corporation law of the State, with full forms and instructions for incorporating, is sent without expense by the secretary of the state, Trenton, N. J., upon application. A copy of the corporation act may be had free upon application to New Jersey Registration and Trust Company, 525 Main Street, East Orange, N. J. Foreign corporations, exercising their franchise, doing business, or maintaining an office in this state are subject to franchise taxes. Returns must be filed before Aug. 15 with the State Tax Commissioner. If 90% or more the assets of the corporation are located in state the state will not apply. Administration of the act is by the State Tax Commissioner. The basis of the tax is the proportion of the total stock outstanding as the total business of the corporation in the State of New Jersey is related to the total business done everywhere. (54:32A to 53.)

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. Circuit courts and courts of common pleas, holding three terms a year in each county, have jurisdiction in all civil cases, except that the court of common pleas has no jurisdiction where title to lands comes into question. The supreme court, holding three terms a year at Trenton, has also original jurisdiction in all cases, but to recover costs in the Supreme, Circuit or Common Pleas courts, the plaintiff must recover over $500 if the matter is cognizable in a District Court, unless the plaintiff and defendant do not reside in the same county. Court of chancery has exclusive equity jurisdiction, and sits at Trenton. District court jurisdiction, co-extensive with county, in amounts $500 or under; justices' court jurisdiction co-extensive with county, in amount $200 or less. In cities where district courts are established and defendant or justice of the peace reside within the limits of said city the justices' court has no civil jurisdiction whatever. The court of errors and appeals has no original jurisdiction but hears appeals from court of chancery, prerogative court, supreme court and circuit courts. The statutory law of New Jersey is now compiled in one statute, called the Revised Statutes of 1937, which is all of the public law of the state (197A367). The Revised Statutes must be cited in all courts as Revised Statute of 1937—Sec.

RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by E. P. RIPLEY, Attorney-at-Law, Tucumcari, N. M.

(See Card in Attorneys' List)

Acknowledgments. (See Conveyances.)

Actions. The practice in this State is the code modified by rules of court. All civil actions in district courts are brought as follows: All transitory actions shall be brought in the county where either the plaintiff, or defendant, or some one of them, resides, or in the county where the contract sued on was made, or is to be performed, or where the cause of action originated, or indebtedness sued on was incurred or in any county in which the defendant, or either of them, may be found, in the judicial district where the defendant resides. When the defendant has rendered himself liable to a civil action by any criminal act, suit may be instituted against such defendant in the county in which the offense was committed, or in which the defendant may be found, or in the county where the plaintiff resides. When suit is brought for the recovery of personal property, other than money, it may be brought as above provided, or in the county where the property may be found. When lands, or any interest in lands, are the object of any suit, in whole or in part, such suit shall be brought in the county where the land, or any portion thereof, is situated. Suits for trespass on land shall be brought as provided for in transitory actions, or in the county where the land, or any portion thereof, is situated. Suits may be brought against transient persons or non-residents in any county of this State. Suits against state officers as such shall be brought in court of county wherein their offices are located or at the capital and not elsewhere.

Administration of Estates. Letters of administration are granted in the county in which the mansion, house, or place of abode of the deceased is situated, or in the county in which lands of the decedent are located, and in the absence of all these, in the county where the deceased died. Letters are granted, first, to the spouse surviving; secondly, if there be no husband or wife surviving, to the nearest relative or other person having an interest in the distribution of the estate, be it an executor, legatee or creditor, or one or more of them, as the probate judge shall believe will best manage the estate; thirdly, if there be no such person or such person should not take out administration within 20 days the probate judge may select a suitable person. Fourthly, to any resident national or state bank or trust company. The probate court has exclusive jurisdiction, and from all its acts an appeal lies to the district court. (See Claims Against Estates.)

Affidavits. Affidavits to be used in court may be taken before any person authorized to take acknowledgments. See Conveyances.

Aliens. By statute of the State foreigners except those ineligible to citizenship have the same right to own and dispose of real estate that citizens of this country enjoy, and property descends to their heirs and is controlled by their executors and administrators in precisely the same way.

Attachment. Creditors may sue their debtors in the district court, or in justice of peace court, for amounts less than two (2) hundred dollars, by attachment in the following cases, to wit: 1. When the debtor is not a resident of nor resides in the State. 2. When the debtor has concealed himself or absconded, or absented himself from his usual place of abode in this State, so that the ordinary process of law can not be passed upon him. 3. When the debtor is about to move his property or effects out of this State, or has fraudulently concealed or disposed of his property or effects, so as to defraud, hinder, or delay his creditors. 4. When the debtor is about to fraudulently convey or assign, conceal, or dispose of his property or effects, so as to hinder, delay or defraud his creditors. 5. When the debt was contracted out of the State, and the debtor has absconded or secretly removed his property or effects into the State with intent to hinder, delay or defraud his creditors. 6. When defendant is a corporation whose principal office or place of business is out of this State, unless such corporation shall have a designated agent in the State, upon whom service of process may be made in suits against the corporation. 7. When the defendant fraudulently contracted the debt or incurred the obligation, respecting which the suit is brought, or obtained credit from the plaintiff by false pretenses. 8. That the debt is for work and labor, or for any services rendered by the plaintiff, or his assignor, at the instance of the defendant. 9. Where the debt was contracted for the necessities of life. An attachment may issue upon a demand not yet due, attachment may issue upon any legal or equitable interest of defendant in any case where an attachment is authorized, in the same manner as upon demands already due. The attaching creditor must file with the clerk of the court a bond with two or more sureties or some bond company authorized to do business in New Mexico in double the amount of the claim, and an affidavit sworn to by plaintiff or some person for him, setting out the amount of the claim, after allowing all just credits and offsets, and on what account; and that affiant has good reason to believe, and does believe, in one or more of the causes for attachment hereinbefore set forth. Any person having property or effects of defendant in his hands may be garnished subject to exemptions of debtor. The attachment may be dissolved by denying and successfully contesting the truth of the ground of attachment specified in the affidavit, and then the suit proceeds as an ordinary action.

Administration of Estates. The administration of estates is committed to surrogate's courts. In cases of intestacy, letters of administration are to be granted to the relatives of the deceased entitled to succeed to the personal property of decedent, who will accept the same in the following order: 1. To the surviving husband or wife. 2. To the children. 3. To the grandchildren. 4. To the father or mother. 5. To the brothers or sisters. 6. Arbitration may be resorted to, upon disputed questions. (Laws 1920, Chap. 275.) The practice is regulated by the Civil Practice Act. (Article 84.) Clauses in contracts providing for arbitration are irrevocable.

Assignments and Insolvency. Statutory provision exists, regulating the making of general assignments in trust for the benefit of creditors. (Laws 1909, Chap. 17, as amended.) Wages or salaries of employes, for services rendered within three months prior to the assignment not exceeding $300, to each employe are preferred over all other debts; the debtor may create other preferences to the amount of one-third in value of the assigned estate left after deducting such wages or salaries and the costs and expenses of executing the trust, also regulating the filing of inventory, the giving of bonds and accounting by the assignee. The court has power to remove assignees, and may require creditors to present claims within a period to be prescribed, notice whereof is to be given by advertisements, etc. The dividends paid by such an assignee need only be applied upon the debt of the assignor, and do not discharge or satisfy the whole indebtedness of the assignor.

Statutory provision also exists for a resident insolvent debtor to be discharged from his debts upon his written petition and the written consent of unsecured creditors whose claims amount to not less than two-thirds of all the debts owing by the petitioner to creditors residing within the United States. (Laws of 1909, Chap. 17, Art. III.) This proceeding is rarely resorted to.

Attachments may issue in actions to recover a sum of money only as damages for breach of contract, wrongful conversion of personal property, or injury to person or property in consequence of negligence or fraud, a wrongful act, neglect or default causing death where the cause of action arose in this state where action is brought by an executor or administrator, where the defendant is either a foreign corporation, or non-resident, or has left the State, or conceals himself to avoid service, or has removed from the State, or sold, assigned, secreted, or is about to remove, sell, assign, or secrete his property with intent to defraud creditors, or where, for the purpose of procuring credit or an extension of credit, a false statement was made in writing, under the hand and signature of the defendant, or a duly authorized agent, made with his knowledge and acquiescence, as to his financial responsibility or standing, or where the defendant, being an adult, has been continuously without the State of New York for more than six months and has not made a designation of a person upon whom to serve a summons in his behalf.

Added by Laws of 1934, Chapter 666. Effect May 16, 1934.

On April 16, 1914, the present banking act became a law. This act repeals virtually all previous laws on this subject and covers the entire banking field.

The supervising authority lies in the Banking Department, the head of which is the Superintendent of Banks.

The act expressly includes every private banker engaged in the business of private banking in the state.

1. Who makes use of the work "bank," "banker," "banking," or any derivative or compound of any such word or any words in a foreign language having the same or similar meanings, in or on any sign or any passbook, check, receipt, note, stationery, billhead, certificate, blank, form, pamphlet, circular or newspaper or other advertising matter, or who solicits deposits by means of signs or other advertising; or

2. Who pays or credits interest, or pays, credits or gives any bonus or gratuity or anything of value, except on certificates of deposit actually outstanding at the time this act takes effect, to any depositor on any deposit balance of less than seven thousand five hundred dollars, if such deposit balance is that of any depositor resident in the United States who does not have with such banker during the period in respect of which interest is so paid or credited, an average daily credit balance or securities of an average daily market value, together exceeding seven thousand five hundred dollars; provided the aggregate amount of such deposit balances on which interest is so paid or credited exceeds two per centum of the total deposits of such private banker; or

3. Who receives money on deposit for safekeeping or for any other purpose (other than for transmission to others) in such sums that the average of all the separate deposits so received by such private banker from all depositors during any twelve months' period (or for such period, if less than twelve months, that such private banker has been engaged in such business) is less than one thousand dollars. The term "deposits" as used in this subdivision three shall mean coin or currency of the United States or of any foreign country, and checks, drafts and other funds credited by such private banker to the account of any one depositor on any one day, but shall not include dividend checks, coupons, or other similar items collected by such private banker for the account of a depositor, or remittances made by a depositor for the purpose of repaying, in whole or in part, any existing indebtedness due to such private banker or interest credited by such private banker to the account of a depositor; or

4. Who receives from any person at any one time money for transmission to others in any manner whatsoever in amounts of less than five hundred dollars, provided, however, that any private banker may, without thereby becoming subject to the provisions of this article, sell letters of credit, bankers' checks, travelers' checks, bills of exchange, drafts or other similar documents or may make cable transfers in amounts of less than five hundred dollars, if he has deposited and shall keep on deposit with the superintendent of banks interest bearing stocks or bonds of the United States or of this state or of any city, county, town, village or free school district in this state authorized by the legislature to issue the same, in a principal amount equal to one hundred thousand dollars. In case of the failure or suspension of any such private banker, the claims of persons holding letters of credit, bankers' checks, travelers' checks, bills of exchange drafts or other similar documents issued by such private banker in amounts of less than five hundred dollars or arising out of cable transfers made by such private banker in amounts of less than five hundred dollars shall be preferred against the proceeds of any securities deposited by such private banker with the superintendent of banks under the provisions of this subdivision four, and the holders of such claims shall also share pro rata with general creditors in the proceeds of any other assets belonging to such private banker.

The following are some of the more important subjects under this article: Verified certificate to be submitted by private banker to department; Conditions precedent to transacting business; Rights of private banker under authorization certificate; Permanent capital, increase or decrease; Segregation of investments of capital and deposits, how title to be taken; Depositors preferred in case of insolvency; Annual report of unclaimed deposits; Deposit of securities with the superintendent of banking; Investment of permanent capital and deposits; reserves against deposits, etc.

Five or more persons may form a corporation to be known as a bank. In a village whose population does not exceed 2,000, a capital of $25,000 is required; where the population exceeds 2,000, but does not exceed 30,000, $50,000 is the capital required, and not less than $100,000 elsewhere. A bank's affairs must be managed by a board of directors in number not less than 5 nor more than 15 unless its capital exceeds $2,000,000 or more not less than 5 nor more than 20 and where capital exceeds $5,000,000 not less than 5 nor more than 25.

Subject to the approval of the Superintendent of Banks and of two-thirds of the members of the Banking Board, and providing that the actual paid-in capital of a bank exceed by $100,000 the amount in the preceding paragraph for each branch bank (A) a bank in a city with a population of more than 50,000 may open a branch office whether or not such city is located entirely within one banking district (B) a bank may open a branch office in any city or village located in the banking district in which is located its principal office, providing no branch shall be opened in a city or village in which is already located one bank, except for the purpose of acquiring, by merger, sale or otherwise, the business and property of such bank. Any bank having a combined capital and surplus of $1,000,000 or over may, with the written approval of the Superintendent, open a branch office in one or more places located without the State of New York either in the United States or any foreign countries.

Provision is made for circulation and a deposit for security thereof. Stockholders of all banking corporations are liable to the extent of the amount of their stock at par, in addition to the amount invested in such shares, for all debts and liabilities; bill holders, in case of insolvency, shall be entitled to a preference in payment over all other creditors of the bank. Quarterly reports are required to be made to the superintendent as of a date designated by him by all private bankers, trust companies and banks of discount. Savings Banks are required to report on or before February 1st and August 1st of each year which report shall state its condition on the morning of January 1st and July 1st in said year. The superintendent of banks is given authority to examine the books of any bank. No corporation other than a moneyed or insurance corporation may do business in this State with the words, "trust," "bank," "banking," "insurance," "assurance," "indemnity," "guarantee," "guaranty," "savings," "investment," "loan," or "benefit," as a part of its name or corporate title.

The general banking act also provides for the organization and management of savings banks and trust companies.

Banks of discount and deposit shall maintain total reserves against its aggregate demand deposits as follows: 13 per cent of such deposits if located in borough having population of 1,500,000 or over, 15 per cent if in borough of 1,000,000, 12 per cent elsewhere in State. Member of a Federal Reserve Bank may maintain such portion of reserves with said Federal Bank as required of its members. Any part of reserves in excess of 4 per cent of deposits may be deposited, subject to call, with federal reserve bank in district.

Trust companies having their principal place of business or a branch office, in a borough of this State, having population of 1,500,000, are required to have a lawful money reserve of fifteen (15) per cent, in borough of 1,000,000 population 13 per cent, and in all other places in the State ten (10) per cent. The amount of reserve to be carried on hand is dependent upon location. Any part of reserves on hand in excess of 3 per cent of such deposits, may be deposited, subject to call, with a federal reserve bank in district where the trust company is located, reserves on hand not so deposited shall consist of gold, gold bullion, gold coin, U. S. gold certificates, U. S. Notes, or any form of currency authorized by laws of the U. S. Any bank becoming a member of a federal reserve bank will nevertheless be protected if it maintains such reserves with such federal reserve bank as are required by the Federal Reserve Act.

Foreign banking corporations may transact in this State the business of buying, selling, paying or collecting bills of exchange, or of issuing letters of credit or of receiving money for transmission or transmitting the same or of making sterling or other loans, if the corporation is authorized by its charter to carry on such business by paying a license fee of $250 a year, submitting to Superintendent of Banks exemplified copy of its charter and by-laws, designating superintendent as attorney in fact to accept service of process and otherwise comply with Secs. 144-147 of the Banking Law, and receive from the superintendent of banks a license authorizing it to transact such business.

A deposit in the names of depositor and another person and made payable to either or the survivor, may be paid to either during the lifetime of both, or to the survivor after death of one.

Blue Sky Law. Chapter 475 of the Laws of 1913, constituting Section 952 of the Penal Law, provides that any person who with intent to deceive makes, issues or publishes a statement or advertisement as to the value or as to facts affecting the value of the stocks, bonds or other evidences of debt of a corporation, and who has reasonable ground to believe that any material representation, prediction or promise made in such statement or advertisement is false is guilty of a felony punishable by a fine of not more than $5,000, or by imprisonment of not more than three years, or by both.

By Chapter 520 of the Laws of 1921, in effect September 1, 1921, Section 421 of the Penal Law theretofore applying to untrue or misleading advertisements pertaining to the sale of merchandise, real estate or service, was amended to include securities. By the aforesaid amendment any person, firm, corporation or association, or agent or employe thereof, who with intent to sell or dispose of securities to the public makes, publishes, disseminates, circulates or places before the public in a newspaper, magazine or other publication, or in the form of a book, notice, circular, pamphlet, letter, handbill, poster, bill, sign, placard, card, label, or tag, or in any other way, an advertisement, announcement, or statement of any sort, containing any assertion, representation or statement of fact which is untrue, deceptive or misleading, is guilty of a misdemeanor. The so called Martin Act (General Business Law Act. 23-A P 352 et seq. as amended gives the Attorney General wide powers to investigate alleged fraudulent practice in the sale of stocks, bonds and other securities by any person, partnership, corporation, company, trust or association. The act is aimed at foreign as well as domestic corporations and provides for action by the Attorney General on behalf of the people in which either preliminary or final injunction may be granted. The giving of testimony in the investigation or action is made compulsory even though such testimony tends to incriminate but immunity is of course granted.

Consolidated Laws. The Legislature of 1909 passed a large number of compiled statutes reported by the Statutory Consolidation Board, known as "Consolidated Laws," to distinguish them from the "Revised Laws," "Revised Statutes," and "General Laws" heretofore in force in this State.

Conveyances. An estate or interest in real property other than a lease for a term not exceeding one year, cannot be created or granted except by a deed or conveyance, in writing, subscribed by the person creating and granting the same, or by his lawful agent thereto authorized by writing. This does not affect the power of the testator in the disposition of his real property by will. Deeds must be acknowledged and take effect from delivery only.

Every conveyance not recorded is void, as against a subsequent purchaser in good faith and for a valuable consideration from the same vendor, his heirs or devisees, whose conveyance is first duly recorded.

Acknowledgment must be made by the party who executes the conveyance, except that proof of due execution may be made by the affidavit of some other person who is a witness to its execution, and at the same time subscribed his name to the conveyance as a witness.

On Real property acquired by husband prior to Sept. 1, 1930, wife must join in execution of conveyance or mortgage. The former provisions of the Revised Statutes relating to the sealing of deeds have been omitted from the present Real Property Law, but it is the universal practice to affix a seal and the forms of deeds incorporated in the "Real Property Law" refer in the attestation clause to the affixing of the seal. The word "Seal" or the letters "L. S." opposite the signature will, however, suffice as the seal of a person. It is otherwise as to corporations, which should adopt a seal and affix it to the conveyance. After Sept. 1, '35 no instrument shall be deemed invalid because of absence of seal, and seal will not be received as either presumptive or conclusive evidence of a sufficient consideration.

Section 258 of Chapter 50 of the Consolidated Laws, being Chapter 52 of the Laws of 1909, provides the following form for a Full Covenant Deed:

Deed with Full Covenants
This indenture, made the day of in the year nineteen hundred and between of (insert residence) of the first part, and of (insert residence) of the second part.

3. That the said premises are free from incumbrances.

4. That the party of the first part will execute or procure any further necessary assurance of the title to said premises.

5. That the party of the first part will forever warrant the title to said premises.

In presence of:

The above enactment does not prevent or invalidate the use of other forms.

Corporations. Insurance, banking, railroad, transportation, and business corporations may be formed under the general laws of the State.

Foreign Corporations (other than moneyed corporations) before doing business in the State, are required to obtain a certificate of authority from the secretary of State. A foreign corporation doing business in this State, shall not maintain any action in this State upon any contract made by it in this State unless prior to the making of such contract it shall have procured such certificate. "This prohibition shall also apply to any successor in title of such foreign corporation, and to any person claiming under such successor in title of such foreign corporation or under either of them." What constitutes "doing business in this State" depends on the particular state of facts in each given case; in general it may be said that the selling of goods in this state by mail or through traveling salesmen does not constitute "doing business." Foreign corporations doing business in this State may acquire real property for its corporate purposes and convey the same in the same manner as a domestic corporation. Foreign corporations may acquire on sale in foreclosure of a mortgage held by them or upon any judgment or decree for debts due them, or upon a settlement to secure such debts, real property in this State covered by or subject to such mortgage, judgment, decree, or settlement, and may take by devise any real property situate within this State. An assignment for the benefit of creditors made in this State by an insolvent foreign corporation, valid under the law of its domicile, will be recognized as valid here. (Vanderpool vs. Gorman, 140 N. Y., 563, Jan., 1894.)

No domestic or foreign corporation, except religious, charitable or benevolent corporations, are authorized to do business in the State of New York unless its name has such word or words, abbreviation, affix or prefix therein or thereto as would clearly indicate that it is a corporation as distinguished from a natural person, firm or co-partnership, or unless such corporation uses with its corporate name, in this State, such an affix or prefix; this provision relates only to corporations authorized to do business in this State, or to domestic corporations formed since January 1, 1912. Co-operative corporations are now specifically defined and governed by the provisions of the Co-operative Corporations Law constituting Chap. 77 of the Consolidated Laws. According to the classification in Act. 172 such corporation shall be either: 1. A Co-operative non-stock agricultural dairy or horticultural corporation. 2. A consumers' co-operative non-stock corporation. 3. A producers' and consumers' co-operative stock corporation. 4. A Co-operative marketing corporation which may be either a stock or a non-stock corporation. 5. A co-operative agency corporation.

Courts. Terms and Jurisdiction. The supreme court has unlimited jurisdiction. There is a county court for each county (except New York County) having jurisdiction to the amount of $3,000, in actions where the defendant is, or if there is more than one, where all of the defendants are, residents of the county. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction in actions on contract where the sum claimed does not exceed $200, City Court of New York, where amount does not exceed $3,000, the city court of the city of Albany, where the sum does not exceed $2,000 and the Municipal Court of the City of New York, where the amount does not exceed $1,000.

Days of Grace are abolished.

Descent and distribution of estate: The real property of a deceased person, male or female, not devised, shall descend, and the surplus of his or her personal property, after payment of debts and legacies, and if not bequeathed, shall be distributed to the surviving spouse, children, or next of kin or other persons, in manner following: One-third part to the surviving spouse, and the residue in equal portions to the children, and such persons as legally represent the children if any of them have died before the deceased. If the deceased leaves a surviving spouse and both parents surviving, and no child or descendant, the surviving spouse shall take five thousand dollars and one-half of the residue, and the parents shall each take one-half of the balance; if there be no surviving spouse, the parents shall each take one-half of the whole. If the deceased leaves one parent surviving, and no child or descendant, and a surviving spouse, the surviving spouse shall take five thousand dollars and one-half of the residue, and the surviving parent shall take the balance; if there be no surviving spouse, the surviving parents shall take the whole. If the deceased leaves a surviving spouse, and no descendant, parent, brother or sister, nephew or niece, the surviving spouse shall be entitled to the whole thereof; but if there be a brother or sister, nephew or niece, and no descendant or parent, the surviving spouse shall take ten thousand dollars and one-half of the residue, and the balance shall descend and be distributed to the brothers and sisters and their representatives. If there be no surviving spouse, the whole thereof shall descend and be distributed equally to and among the children, and such as legally represent them. If there be no surviving spouse, and no children, and no representatives of a child, and no parent, the whole shall descend and be distributed to the next of kin in equal degrees to the deceased; and if all the brothers and sisters of the intestate be living, the whole shall descend and be distributed to them; if any of them be living and any be dead, per stirpes to the brothers and sisters living, and the descendants in whatever degree of those dead; so that to each living brother or sister shall descend or be distributed such share as would have descended or been distributed to him or her if all the brothers and sisters of the intestate who shall have died leaving issue had been living, and so that there shall be distributed to such descendants in whatever degree, collectively, the share which their parent would have received if living; and the same rule shall prevail as to all direct lineal descendants of every brother and sister of the intestate whenever such descendants are of unequal degree. If the deceased was illegitimate and leave a mother, and no child or descendant, and no surviving spouse, such mother shall take the whole and shall be entitled to letters of administration in exclusion of all other persons. If the deceased shall leave a surviving spouse, the surviving spouse shall take five thousand dollars and one-half of the residue, and the mother shall take the balance. If the mother of such deceased be dead, the relatives of the deceased on the part of the mother shall take in the same manner as if the deceased had been legitimate, and be entitled to letters of administration in the same order. Where the distributees of the deceased, entitled to share in his estate, are all in equal degree to the deceased, their shares shall be equal. When such distributees are of unequal degrees of kindred, the whole shall descend and shall be distributed to those entitled thereto, according to their respective stocks; so that those who take in their own right shall receive equal shares, and those who take by representation shall receive the share to which the parent whom they represent, if living, would have been entitled. No representation shall be admitted among collaterals after brothers and sisters descendants. Relatives of the half-blood shall take equally with those of the whole blood in the same degree; and the representatives of such relatives shall take in the same manner as the representatives of the whole blood. Descendants and other distributees of the deceased, begotten before his death, but born thereafter, shall take in the same manner as if they had been born in the lifetime of the deceased, and had survived him. If a woman die, leaving illegitimate children, or the legitimate descendants of deceased illegitimate children and no lawful issue, such children or descendants inherit her real and personal property as if such children were legitimate. If there be no husband or wife surviving and no children, and no representatives of a child, and no other distributees as hereinbefore provided, then the whole estate shall descend and be distributed to a surviving child of the husband or wife of the deceased, or if there be more than one, it shall descend and be distributed to them equally. If there be no husband or wife surviving and no children, and no representatives of a child, and no other distributees, and no child or children of the husband or wife of the deceased, then the whole shall descend and be distributed equally to the next of kin of the husband or wife of the deceased, as the case may be, and such next of kin shall be deemed next of kin of the deceased for all purposes specified in this article or in article seven hereof. The right of an adopted child to take a share of the estate and the right of succession to the estate of an adopted child shall continue as provided in Sec. 114 of the Domestic Relations Law.

Deeds. See Conveyances.

Depositions. The deposition of a party or of a person not a party within this State, in an action brought or to be brought, may be taken where shown that such testimony is material and necessary in the prosecution or defense of the action; or if the action is pending that the person to be examined is about to depart from the State, or that he is so sick or infirm as to afford reasonable ground to believe that he will not be able to attend the trial. Such deposition, except that of a party taken at the instance of an adverse party, can only be used upon proof of the witness' inability to attend the trial. Depositions may be taken without the State for use within the State. The commission, in the discretion of the court, may direct the examination upon oral questions or written interrogatories. Depositions may also be taken within the State for use without the State in an action or special proceeding pending in a court without the State, either in the United States or in a foreign country. A person who fails to respond to a subpoena for such examination is guilty of contempt of court. Depositions may also be taken for use on a motion in any action or proceeding.

Executions will issue at any time within five years from date of judgment; after five years, leave must be obtained from the court. Executions may issue to two or more counties at the same time. There are no stay laws, unless an appeal is taken, when an undertaking securing the judgment can be given. On a judgment, defendant and others, including corporations, may be examined as to the judgment debtor's property in proceedings supplementary to judgment, and required to apply any not exempt in payment.

Exemptions. Homestead, $1,000 (to secure such exemption, deed, or notice designating that the property is to be used as a homestead, must be recorded); necessary furniture, tools, team, etc., $250, except where execution is issued on judgment for either work performed in the family as a domestic, or for the purchase price of one or more articles, specially exempt. Not to exceed 10 per cent of the earnings or income of a judgment debtor receiving $12 or more per week may be collected and applied on judgment by order of the court under a garnishee execution.

False Pretenses. A purchase of property by means of a false pretense is not criminal, where the false pretense relates to the purchaser's means or ability to pay, unless the pretense is made in writing, and signed by the party to be charged. Whenever property is purchased by aid of a statement relating to the purchaser's means or ability to pay, made in writing and signed, wherein he states that he keeps books of account, the purchaser upon failure to pay at maturity and during the period of ninety days subsequent to such failure must produce within ten days, upon request, his books of account and permit creditors to examine them, and failure to do so is made presumptive evidence of the falsity of such statement, and the party so making the statement may be proceeded against criminally.

False Statement to Obtain Property or Credit. Any person who knowingly makes, or causes to be made, directly or through any agency whatsoever, any false statement, in writing, respecting his financial condition, or that of any person, firm or corporation in whom he is interested, or for whom he is acting, for the purpose of procuring the delivery of personal property, the payment of cash, the making of a loan or credit, the extension of credit, the discount of an account receivable, the execution, making, or delivery by any person, firm or corporation of any bond or undertaking, or the making, acceptance, discount, sale or endorsement of a bill of exchange or promissory note for the benefit of either himself or of such person, firm or corporation, or knowing that a false statement, in writing, has been made, procures upon the faith thereof any of the things of benefit above mentioned, or who represents on a later day, either orally or in writing, that such statement theretofore made, if again made on said day, would be then true when, in fact, the statement if then made would be false, and procures upon the faith thereof any of the things of benefit aforesaid, is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than one year or a fine of not more than $1,000, or both.

Garnishment. (See Exemptions.)

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); general election day; November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; December 25 (Christmas Day); and if any of such days is Sunday, the next day thereafter; each general election day and each day appointed by the president of the United States or by the governor of this State as a day of general thanksgiving, general fasting and prayer or other general religious observance. The term half-holiday includes the period from noon to midnight of each Saturday which is not a holiday. Where a contract by its terms requires the payment of money, or the performance of a condition on a public holiday, such payment may be made or condition performed, on the next business day succeeding such holiday, with the same force and effect as if made or performed in accordance with the terms of the contract.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Insolvency. (See Assignments and Insolvency.)

Interest. The legal rate of interest is fixed at 6 per cent. All notes, bonds, contracts, securities, etc., whereby a greater rate is reserved, or taken, or agreed for, are absolutely void, and the lender can recover neither principal nor interest in such cases, but corporations cannot plead usury as a defense. Usury, in certain cases, such as loans on household furniture, etc., is also punishable as a misdemeanor by fine or imprisonment, or both. State banks have been placed on the same footing as national banks as regards usury, and are thereby exempt from the extreme penalties mentioned above. On demand, loans of $5,000 and over, made with warehouse receipts, bills of lading, certificates of stock, certificates of deposit, bills of exchange bonds, or other negotiable instruments, pledged as collateral, it is lawful to receive and collect, as compensation for making such advances, any sum, to be agreed upon in writing by the parties to the transaction.

Judgments. Judgments docketed in a county clerk's office bind, and are a charge upon, real property for ten years, which the judgment debtor has or acquires within that time. A judgment is presumed to be paid after the expiration of twenty years from the time when the party recovering it was first entitled to a mandate to enforce it. Confession or an offer of judgment can be made in an action. Married woman may confess judgment.

Limitations of Suits. Contracts, express or implied, except those under seal, six years; recovery of real estate, fifteen years; upon judgments of courts of record and sealed instruments, twenty years. Revivor: Part payment or new promise in writing.

Married Women may take, hold, mortgage, and convey real and personal property. A married woman may contract with her husband, or any other person, to the same extent, with the effect, and in the same form as if unmarried, and she and her separate estate shall be liable thereon, whether the contract relates to her separate estate or otherwise, and in no case shall a charge upon her separate estate be necessary. A married woman may convey real estate directly to her husband, and the husband may convey directly to his wife. After the 31st day of August, 1930, no inchoate right of dower shall be possessed by a wife during a coverture, and no widow shall be endowed in any lands whereof her husband became seized of an estate of inheritance. Amended by Laws of 1929, Chap. 229, Subdivision 12. In effect Sept. 1, 1930.

Mortgages must be executed and recorded same as deeds. Where containing a power of sale, may be foreclosed by an action brought for the purpose, or without intervention of court (by advertisement.) There is no redemption under a mortgage sale. Chattel mortgages, except where the possession of the property mortgaged passes to, and is retained by, the mortgagee, must be filed forthwith, or are void as against creditors and innocent purchasers. Such mortgage ceases to be valid in one year, except as to the mortgagor or his representative, unless a copy thereof is refiled annually with certificate of the mortgagee as to the amount unpaid thereon, and this copy, mortgage, and certificate constitutes a renewal of the mortgage for one year. All mortgages on real estate are taxable at the rate of five mills on each dollar of the amount of the principal debt, payable at the time of recording the mortgage.

Negotiable instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act, adopted October 1, 1897. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws".)

Rights of the holder: Section 56—What constitutes notice of defect—amended by adding to the text of Section 56 a provision that the drawing or making of a check or other negotiable instrument by an officer or agent of a corporation against the account of, or in the name of, such corporation to himself as payee, or the endorsement of a check in the name of such corporation to himself as endorsee, and in either case the cashing of such or the deposit thereof to his personal account shall not be sufficient to put a bank, banker or trust company on inquiry as to the authority of such officer or agent or impute knowledge of any infirmity or defect in such check, provided such bank have on file an authorization from the corporation showing that the said officer or agent is authorized to perform any of the above acts and that the amount of said check does not exceed the limits named in the authorization. Laws of 1927, Chapter 473.

Promissory Notes and Checks. Sections 184-189. There is added to these sections an additional section providing that Saturday afternoon bank transactions shall be valid, providing they would have been valid if done prior to noon on such Saturday. Laws of 1929, Chapter 588.

An additional article makes provisions for bank collections, which provides for bank as agent for collection, duty and responsibility of bank collecting agents, rules of ordinary care in forwarding and presentment, items lost in transit, medium of payment, insolvency and preference, etc. Laws of 1929, Chapter 589.

Personal Property Law. By Chapter 571, Laws of 1911, in effect September 1, 1911, the Legislature enacted a law in relation to sales of goods. This enactment is a codification of the entire law as to such sales and makes extensive changes in the common law upon the subject. "A contract to sell or a sale of any goods or choses in action of the value of $50 or upwards shall not be enforceable by action unless the buyer shall accept part of the goods or choses in action, so contracted to be sold or sold, and actually receive the same, or give something in earnest to bind the contract, or in part payment, or unless some note or memorandum in writing of the contract or sale be signed by the party to be charged or his agent in that behalf." This does not apply to goods to be manufactured by the seller especially for the buyer and not suitable for sale to others in ordinary course of business. The statute also defines Warranties, express and implied, etc.

The transfer of a stock of goods in bulk is void as against creditors unless they have ten days' notice of the proposed transfer. (Chap. 507, Laws 1914.)

Probate Law. (See Wills.)

Protest. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Sales of Goods. (See Personal Property Law.)

Statute of Frauds. (See Personal Property Law.)

Taxes. Lands returned to the State Department of Taxation and Finance for non-payment of taxes may be sold at any time after the expiration of one year subsequent to February 1st, following the year in which the tax was levied; notice of the proposed sale must be published for twelve weeks; the owner, or occupant, or any other person in interest may redeem from the sale at any time within one year by paying the amount for which the property was sold, with interest at 10 per cent per annum; the time when taxes become a lien varies in the several cities and counties of the State; in cities assessments for local improvements constitute a lien enforceable against the real estate.

Income Tax. All residents and all nonresidents, conducting business within the State, must pay an annual income tax on net income: 2% on the first $1,000, 3% on $1,001-$3,000, 4% on $3,001-$5,000, 5% on $5,001-$7,000, 6% on $7,001-$9,000, 7% on amount in excess of $9,000.

Temporary increase, 2% on first $10,000, 4% on $10,001-$50,000, 6% on amount in excess of $50,000. This temporary increase shall apply to personal incomes based on calendar year 1934, or a fiscal year, a return for which is due during the calendar year 1935.

Emergency Tax of an additional 1% on net incomes applicable to personal incomes based on returns for the calendar years 1935 and 1936, or fiscal years returns for which are due during the calendar years 1936 and 1937.

Single persons are entitled to exemptions of $1,000, plus $400 for persons under 18 years of age or mentally or physically defective whom he or she supports; married persons of $2,500 with additional $400 for minor children or defectives.

Wills. All persons, except idiots, persons of unsound mind, and infants, may devise their real estate by will. Every person of 18 years or upwards, of sound mind, may bequeath personal estate. Wills must be subscribed by the testator in the presence of two witnesses, each of whom must sign his name at the end of the will, at the request of the testator, who must acknowledge and declare the instrument to be his last will. Subsequent marriage revokes a will as to husband, wife or issue of such marriage unless such husband, wife or issue shall have been provided for by settlement or in the will or so mentioned therein as to show an intention not to provide for them. A devise or bequest to a witness whose testimony is necessary to establish the will is void. The Surrogate's Court Act regulates the counties of the State. No person can devise more than half his estate to any charity if he has a husband, wife, child, or descendant or parent living.

THE LAWS OF NORTH CAROLINA
 RELATING TO

 (See card in Attorneys List)

Accounts and Claims, Proof of. In any action instituted in any court of the State upon an account for goods sold and delivered, for services rendered, or labor performed or upon an oral contract for money loaned, an itemized statement of said account, properly verified, shall be received in evidence, and shall be deemed prima facie evidence of the correctness of said account. All creditors of the maker of a deed of trust or assignment must file with the clerk of the superior court a statement under oath, that the amount claimed is justly due, after allowing all credits and offsets. Creditors of a decedent must present their accounts and claims to the administrator or executor within twelve months after first publication of notice of administration. But if they fail to do so, and the personal representative has not disbursed the assets of the estate, the creditor may still recover of the personal representative. If he has disbursed the assets, the creditor may recover of the heirs, devisees, legatees, or next of kin who may have received property of the intestate.

Acknowledgments and Probate of Deeds. Every conveyance of land must be acknowledged or proved and registered in the county where the land lies. All deeds conveying lands in this State, or letters of attorney, or other instruments requiring registration, may be proven or acknowledged (1) before any one of the following officers of this State: A justice of the supreme court, a judge of the superior court, a commissioner of affidavits appointed by the governor of this State, the clerk of the supreme court, a clerk of the superior court, a deputy clerk of the superior court, a clerk of the criminal court, a notary public, or a justice of the peace of this State, or (2) before any one of the following officials of the United States, of the District of Columbia, of the several states and territories of the United States, and of countries under the dominion of the United States and of foreign countries. Any judge of a court of record, any clerk of a court of record, any notary public, any mayor or chief magistrate of an incorporated town or city, any ambassador, minister, consul, vice-consul, vice-consul general, or commercial agent of the United States. The execution of such instrument may be proven or acknowledged before any justice of the peace, of any State or Territory of the United States, but when such acknowledgment or proof is taken by the last named officer residing out of the county in which the instrument is offered for registration, the clerk of some court of record in the county where such justice resides must attach his certificate that the justice was at the time an acting justice of the peace of such county.

Administration of Estates. Letters of administration are granted by the clerks of the superior court: 1. To the husband or widow. 2. To the next of kin in the order of their degree, when they are of different degrees; if of equal degree, to one or more of them at the discretion of the clerk. 3. To the most competent creditor who resides in the State and proves his debt on oath before the clerk of the superior court. 4. To any other person legally competent. 5. There may be in every county a public administrator, to be appointed by the clerk of the superior court, who may obtain letters of administration, if the party entitled does not apply in six months, or if the person entitled renounces. Where no one applies within six months, all persons are deemed to have renounced, and the clerk may appoint any discreet person.

The following persons are incompetent to qualify as administrators, namely: A minor, a non-resident of the state (non-resident, however, may act as executor), an alien, a person who has been convicted of a felony or one adjudged by the clerk incompetent by reason of drunkenness, improvident or want of understanding, or one who refuses or fails to give the bond required.

Affidavits may be made before the clerks of the supreme court and superior courts, notaries public, and justices of the peace of the State; and also before commissioners of deeds for North Carolina residing in other states, and clerks of any court of record for another state. A pleading may be verified before a notary public in or out of the State, as well as before the other officers above named.

Aliens. Resident or non-resident aliens may take real property by purchase or descent or other operation of law. Aliens residing in state for 90 days or more must register name, nationality, etc., with clerk of superior court of county of residence.

Arbitration. Uniform Arbitration Act adopted and in force.

Arrest and Bail. The defendant may be arrested in certain cases prescribed by statute.

Assignment and Insolvency. Debtors are not permitted by the state law to make assignments or deeds of trust with preferences of particular creditors. A general assignment for the benefit of creditors will not affect any lien in favor of a creditor previously obtained, unless same constitutes preference made within four months previous to assignment.

Attachments. A warrant of attachment against the property of one or more defendants in an action may be granted upon the application of the plaintiff when the action is to recover a sum of money only, or damages for one or more of the following causes. 1. Breach of contract express or implied. 2. Wrongful conversion of personal property. 3. Any injury to real or personal property in consequence of negligence, fraud, or other wrongful act. 4. Injury to the person caused by negligence or other wrongful act. The warrant of attachment may be granted to accompany the summons, or at any time after the commencement of the action. It is requisite that the defendant be (a) a foreign corporation, or (b) a domestic corporation none of whose officers can be found in the state, or (c) an individual who has departed from or conceals himself in the state, with intent to defraud, or (d) a corporation or individual who has or is about to remove or dispose of his property with intent to defraud.

Banks and Banking. 217 (a) How incorporated. Any number of persons, not less than five, who may be desirous of forming a company and engaging in the business of establishing, maintaining and operating banks of discount and deposit to be known as commercial banks, or engaging in the business of establishing, maintaining, and operating offices of loan and deposits, to be known as savings banks, or of establishing, maintaining, and operating banks having departments for both classes of business, or operating banks engaged in doing a trust, fiduciary and surety business, shall be incorporated in the manner following and in no other way; that is to say, such persons shall, by a certificate of incorporation under their hands and seals set forth:

1. The name of the corporation; no name shall be used already in use by another existing corporation organized under the laws of this state or of the congress, or so nearly similar thereto as to lead to uncertainty or confusion.

2. The location of its principal office in this state.

3. The nature of its business, whether that of a commercial bank, savings bank, trust company, or a combination of two or more or all of such classes of business.

4. The amount of its authorized capital stock which shall be divided into shares of ten, twenty, twenty-five, fifty or one hundred dollars each; the amount of capital stock with which it will commence business, which shall not be less than twenty-five thousand dollars in cities or towns of three thousand population or less; nor less than thirty thousand dollars in cities and towns whose population exceeds three thousand, but does not exceed ten thousand; nor less than fifty thousand dollars in cities and towns whose population exceeds ten thousand but does not exceed twenty-five thousand; nor less than one hundred thousand dollars in cities and towns having a population of more than twenty-five thousand; the population to be ascertained by the last preceding national census; Provided that this subsection shall not apply to banks organized and doing business prior to its adoption. Provided further, that fractional shares may be issued for the purpose of complying with the requirements of section 221 (k).

5. The names and postoffice addresses of subscribers for stock and the number of shares subscribed by each; the aggregate of such subscriptions shall be the amount of the capital with which the company will commence business.

6. Period, if any limited for the duration of the company. (1921, C. 4, s. 2. 1927, C. 47, s. 2. 1929, C. 72.)

Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes. Protest is not required in order to hold the maker or endorser of a promissory note, or the acceptor of a bill of exchange, but it is necessary to hold the drawer or endorser of the bill of exchange.

Unless the contrary be plainly expressed, the endorser of any bill, negotiable bond, or promissory note is liable as a surety, and no demand upon the maker is necessary previous to bringing an action against the endorser. But this does not apply to bills of exchange, whether inland or foreign, nor to notes which are made and become operative as contracts beyond the limits of the State, nor to endorsements made out of this State. It applies in those cases only where not only the endorsement in question, but all antecedent endorsements were made within this State. A note signed and endorsed in another State, but which was never delivered until negotiated in this State is governed by the law of this State, and under it, no demand, protest, or notice of non-payment is required to bind the endorser. All bonds, bills, and notes for money with or without seal, and expressed or not to be payable to order or for value received, are negotiable in like manner, as are inland bills of exchange by custom of merchants of England. January 1st, January 19th, February 22d, April 12th, May 10th, May 20th, July 4th, first Monday in September, and the day appointed by the governor as a thanksgiving day, Tuesday after the first Monday in November when a general election is held, and December 25th of each and every year, are public holidays, and whenever any such holiday shall fall upon Sunday the Monday following shall be a public holiday, and papers due on such Sundays or Mondays shall be payable on the next succeeding business day. There is no difference between Saturday and any other business day so far as negotiable instruments are concerned. When the date of maturity falls upon Sunday or a legal holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Demand paper falling due on a Saturday not a holiday may be presented before 12 noon. The Negotiable Instruments Law, which is the same as the New York statute, was adopted in 1899, and is chapter 53 (secs. 2976-3171 (b)) of Code of 1935.

Claim and Delivery. In an action to recover the possession of personal property the plaintiff may, at the time of issuing summons, or at any time before answer, claim the immediate delivery of such property. He must file an affidavit showing: 1. That the plaintiff is the owner of the property claimed (particularly describing it) or is lawfully entitled to the possession thereof. 2. That the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant. 3. The alleged cause of the detention thereof. 4. That the property has not been taken for a tax, assessment or fine pursuant to statute, or seized under an execution or attachment against the property of the plaintiff, or, if so seized that it is exempt by statute from such seizure. 5. The actual value of the property. The plaintiff must give an undertaking with sureties in double the value of the property, for its return to the defendant, if return thereof be adjudged, and for damages. The defendant may retain the property to abide the event of the action on giving bond to deliver the property to the plaintiff and pay damages, if it be so adjudged.

Conditional Sales. All conditional sales of personal property in which the title is retained by the bargainor must be reduced to writing and registered in the same manner, for the same fee, and with the same effect, as is provided for chattel mortgages; otherwise they are inoperative as against creditors and purchasers for value. In so far as they reserve the title in the vendor. Upon default, foreclosure may be had by the vendor on twenty days posted notice, in event contract does not otherwise provide.

Corporations. May be formed, by any number of persons, not less than three, under the general statute, by filing and recording a plan of incorporation or articles of incorporation, duly signed in the office of the secretary of state. Thereupon the secretary of State shall record them and send a copy of the same to the clerk of the superior court of the county where the office of the corporation is located, who shall record the same in his office. Charters of corporations formed under general laws may be amended by proceedings before the secretary of state with whom the plan of incorporation was filed, provided there be no change of the business incorporated.

Domestic corporations may hold, purchase and convey real and personal estate, without limit, in and out of the state, and may take such property by devise or bequest. Any corporation created by another state or foreign government may acquire by devise or otherwise, and may hold, mortgage, lease and convey real estate in this State, "for the purpose of prosecuting its business or objects, or such real estate as it may acquire by way of mortgage or otherwise in the payment of debts, provided the foreign government under whose laws such corporation was created be not at war with the United States at the time of purchasing such real estate.

Every foreign corporation before being permitted to do business in this state, insurance companies excepted, shall file in the office of the secretary of state a copy of its charter or articles of agreement, attested by its president and secretary, under its corporate seal, and a statement attested in like manner of the amount of its capital stock authorized, the amount actually issued, the principal office in this state, the names of the agents in charge of such office, the character of the business which it transacts, and the names and postoffice addresses of its officers and directors. And such corporation shall pay to the secretary of state, for the use of the state, forty cents for every one thousand dollars of the total amount of the capital stock authorized to be issued by such corporation, but in no case less than forty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars; and also a filing fee of five dollars. Such corporation may withdraw from the state upon filing in the office of the secretary of state a statement signed by its president and secretary and attested by its corporate seal, setting forth the fact that such corporation desires to withdraw, and upon payment to the secretary of state of a fee of five dollars. Every corporation failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall forfeit to the state five hundred dollars, to be recovered, with costs, in an action to be prosecuted by the attorney-general, who shall prosecute such actions whenever it appears that this section has been violated.

Courts. The supreme court is the appellate court of last resort. It sits twice a year. The superior courts have exclusive original jurisdiction of all civil actions, whereof original jurisdiction is not given to some other court, and they have appellate jurisdiction of all cases appealed from a superior court clerk or a justice of the peace, or other inferior Courts. They sit twice a year in every county, and in nearly all of the counties oftener. Clerks of the superior court have jurisdiction of the probate of deeds, granting letters testamentary and of administration, appointment, and removal of guardians, apprentice-ing orphans, auditing of administration and guardian, receivers' and trustees' accounts, the appointment and removal of trustees. Their offices are always open. Justices of the peace have original jurisdiction of all civil actions founded on contracts, when the sum demanded does not exceed $200, and when the title to real estate does not come into the controversy. They also have jurisdiction concurrent with the superior courts of civil actions not founded on contract, wherein the value of property in controversy does not exceed $50.

Days of Grace. All bills of exchange payable within the state, at sight, in which there is an express stipulation to that effect, and not otherwise, shall be entitled to days of grace as the same are allowed by the customs of merchants in foreign bills of exchange payable at the expiration of a certain period after date on sight. Provided that no days of grace shall be allowed on any bill of exchange, promissory note, or draft payable on demand.

Deeds. A scroll is a sufficient seal to a deed in North Carolina.

When real estate shall be conveyed to any person, the same shall be held and construed to be a conveyance in fee, whether the word "heirs" shall be used or not, unless such conveyance shall in plain and expressed words, show or it shall be plainly intended by the conveyance or some part thereof, that the grantor meant to convey an estate of less dignity.

If the deed conveys husband's lands, it should contain a clause releasing dower by the wife, although her signature and acknowledgment alone bars her right of dower. It is not necessary, however, for the wife to join in the husband's purchase money mortgage or deed of trust. (See Acknowledgments and Probate of Deeds.)

Depositions. Any party in a civil action or special proceedings may take the depositions of persons whose evidence he may desire to use. Written notice of the time and place of taking a deposition, specifying the name of the witness, must be served by the party at whose instance it is taken, upon the adverse party or his attorney. The time for serving such notice shall be as follows: Three entire days when the party notified resides within ten miles of the place where the deposition is to be taken; in other cases, where the party notified resides in the State, one day more for each additional twenty miles, except where the deposition is to be taken within ten miles of a railway in running operation in the State, when one day only shall be given for every 100 miles of the railway to the place where the deposition is to be taken. Where a deposition is to be taken beyond the State, ten days' notice of the taking thereof shall be given, when the party whose deposition is to be taken resides within ten miles of a railway connecting with a line of railway within twenty miles of the place where the person notified resides. In other cases, where there are no railways running as above specified, twenty days' notice shall be given. Deposition may be read in evidence when witness (1) has died or become insane, (2) is a non-resident of the state, (3) confined to prison, (4) unable to attend court on account of age or infirmity, (5) government official of certain classes.

Descent and Distribution. When any person shall die seized of an inheritance, not having devised the same, it shall descend according to the following rules: 1. Real estate lineally descends. 2. Females shall inherit equally with males, and younger with older children. 3. The lineal descendants shall represent their ancestors. 4. On the failure of lineal descendants, and when the inheritance has been transmitted by descent or derived by gift, devise or settlement from an ancestor, the estate shall descend to the next collateral relations of the person last seized, who were of the blood of such ancestor. 5. On the failure of lineal descendants, and when the inheritance has not been so transmitted or devised, or when the blood of such ancestors is extinct, the estate passes to the next collateral relations of the person last seized. 6. Collateral relations of the half blood shall inherit equally with those of the whole blood. 7. A person dying, without issue, and leaving no brother or sister, or issue of such, the father, if living, shall inherit, and if not, the mother. 8. When a person shall die leaving no heirs, the widow shall be deemed his heir. 9. Illegitimate children shall inherit from their mother. 10. Illegitimate children may inherit from each other. When an illegitimate child shall die without issue, his mother shall inherit from him. 11. The personal estate of a deceased person, in case of intestacy, shall be distributed in the following manner: 1. If not more than two children, one-third to the widow and all the residue equally among the children and such persons as legally represent such persons who may be dead. 2. If there are more than two children, the widow and all the children share alike. 3. If there be no child nor legal representative of a deceased child, then one-half of the estate to the widow and the residue equally to the next of kin to the intestate, who are of equal degree, and those who represent them. 4. If there be no widow, then equally among the children and the legal representatives of the deceased children. 5. If there be neither widow nor children nor any legal representatives of the children, then the next kin of the intestate who are in equal degree and those who legally represent them. 6. If, in the lifetime of the father, any of his children shall die intestate without wife or children, then the father shall be entitled to all of the personal property of such deceased child, but, if after the death of the father and in the lifetime of the mother, any of his children shall die intestate, without wife or children, every brother or sister, and the representatives of them, shall have an equal share with the mother of the deceased child. 7. If there be no child nor legal representative of a deceased child nor any of the next kin of the intestate, then the widow, if there be one, shall be entitled to all of the personal estate of such intestate. 8. If any married woman die intestate leaving one child and a husband, her personal estate shall be equally divided between the child and the husband. If she leave more than one child and a husband, her personal estate shall be divided in equal portions and the husband shall receive a child's part: Provided, However, that this act shall not apply where the husband of the deceased woman is father of all the children, or their descendants of his deceased wife.

Detinue. (See Claim and Delivery.)

Dower. The wife is entitled to one-third in value of all the land of which her husband was seized during coverture, including the dwelling house in which her husband usually resided, for her lifetime. Dower, and all other rights in a husband's estate, are forfeited by elopement with an adulterer, by abandonment without just cause, and by a divorce a vinculo, or divorce a mensa et thoro granted at the suit of the husband. A wife who murders her husband forfeits her right of dower. (See Administration of Estates.)

Executions. At any time within ten years after docketing of judgment, judgments may be enforced by execution by the judgment creditors, or in case of his death by his personal representative duly appointed. Associations for carrying on the business of banking may be formed by any number of natural persons not less than three, two-thirds of whom shall be residents of the State. 3. The amount of capital stock and the number of shares into which same shall be divided.
4. The names and places of residence of the shareholders and the number of shares held by each of them.
5. The period at which such bank shall commence and terminate business.

The organization certificate must be acknowledged and transmitted to the State Banking Board with a request for permission to present the same to the Secretary of State, with an application to him for issuance of a certificate of authority. The Board publishes Notice of application in an official newspaper of the County, where the proposed association is to be established, stating time and place of hearing the application. On the hearing the Board hears application and inquires into necessity of further banking facilities in the community where the bank is proposed to be located, the character, integrity, reputation and financial standing of the proposed incorporators as shown by detailed financial statements. The conclusions of the Board are written and attached to the organization certificate. A determination granting permission to present the organization certificate to the Secretary of State must be joined in by all members of the Board.

If the application is granted, the organization certificate and permission of the Board must be recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County where such bank is to be established and transmitted to the Secretary of State, who must record and preserve the same and issue a certificate of authority to the corporation. The certificate of authority is delivered to the State Examiner to be held by him until he has made an examination and certifies that the capital stock of the proposed bank has been paid in full and all conditions of the law complied with.

Increase in capital stock is required when capital and surplus amount to less than 10 per cent of the deposits. All of the capital stock and 20 per cent surplus must be paid in before commencing business. The organization certificate and authorization of the secretary of state must be published.

Shares may be sold for non-payment of installments and may be assessed 100 per cent first year and 25 per cent in each succeeding year if capital impaired. Stock may be sold for non-payment of assessment, or stockholder may be held personally liable for amount of assessment.

State Banking Board requires reserve to be made good on thirty days notice and may impose penalty of $100.00 to $500.00 for failure to do so.

This receipt may be endorsed on mortgage but must be signed separately from mortgage to be valid. Chattel mortgage on household goods, effects and furniture of married person is void unless executed by both husband and wife. Mortgages upon growing and unharvested crops, other than mortgages securing rental or purchase price of the land, are null and void. Mortgages on growing and unharvested crops and on property described generally such as "all other property owned by the mortgagor" are prohibited. A chattel mortgage is valid for three years but may be renewed once only for an additional three years. It becomes void as to all persons six years after the date of filing the original mortgage.

Collaterals. Collateral note may provide for a sale of securities pledged, in which case the sale may be made on ten days' notice without court proceedings, but the pledgee cannot legally purchase at the sale unless authorized by the collateral note. Report of sale must be filed with Register of deeds, same as Chattel mortgage sales. (For pledges by banks see special statute referred to above under Banks.)

Contracts. The civil code contains a codification of the law on the subject of contracts, not materially different from the rules of the common law. Contracts for sale of real property must be in writing, signed by vendor or by his agent thereunto authorized in writing.

Conveyances. Conveyances of real estate or mortgages thereof, must be by an instrument in writing, subscribed by the party disposing of the same, or by his agent having written authority. To entitle such conveyance to be recorded, it must be acknowledged as provided by law. (See Acknowledgments.) Witnesses or seals are not required. Instrument must be recorded to make it valid as against subsequent purchasers or incumbrancers in good faith for value where conveyances are first duly recorded, and as against judgments and attachments. Husband need not sign conveyance of wife's property, nor wife that of husband's, unless it is a homestead.

Corporations. Corporations may be formed for any purpose for which persons may lawfully associate, and, except railroads and insurance companies, may be formed by the association of three persons, and the proper filing of articles of incorporation. Transfers of stock must be made upon the books of a corporation, and are only valid as between the parties unless so made. A creditor of a corporation having secured judgment, issued execution against the corporation thereon, may, when the same is returned unsatisfied, have a receiver appointed for the property of the corporation, and the district court is then empowered to distribute the property of the corporation among its creditors, and a settlement of the judgment, which is the basis of the proceedings, does not prevent the continuance of the action, which may be continued by any creditor. Corporations may also be dissolved by action on the part of the State, or in case the attorney-general fails to commence action after proper application, by action on the part of the creditor or stockholder. Domestic corporations must file a report during the month of July in each year with the secretary of state, and failure to do so forfeits charter. All corporations are prohibited from engaging in business of farming or agriculture. Insurance companies must have $100,000 capital paid in cash. Conveyances or other instruments affecting real estate may be executed by any officer authorized by the by-laws of the corporation, and in the absence of such by-laws, the president or secretary of such corporation, or the president, secretary, treasurer, or cashier of any banking house, or trust company, may acknowledge and execute such instrument, when authorized by resolution of the Board of Directors, who must sign the corporate name by himself as such officer, and it must be attested by the corporation seal and signature of the secretary.

The state has a "Blue Sky Commission" whose requirements must be conformed to before corporate stocks can be sold in the state to persons other than banks, bankers and brokers.

Costs. Costs are allowed to the prevailing party in suits.

Courts. There are six judicial districts. The district courts have exclusive jurisdiction in equity, and at common law, and where the title or boundary of real property is in question, except in a few counties where county courts have concurrent jurisdiction at law with district courts in civil actions where amount in controversy does not exceed $1,000. Two terms of district court are held each year in all organized counties and oftener in a few counties. Each organized county has a county court, and the county courts have exclusive probate jurisdiction. In some counties the county courts have jurisdiction of actions at law, where claim does not exceed $1,000. Justices' jurisdiction is $200. No costs can be recovered in district court in an action at law where the amount is less than $50. That is the only limitation in the district court.

Days of Grace are not allowed.

Deeds. Deeds must be subscribed by the grantor or by his agent thereunto authorized in writing. To entitle them to record they must be acknowledged and contain the post-office address of each grantee named in such deed. No seal or witnesses are necessary. Can be recorded on proof by witness if not acknowledged; one member of partnership may execute.

Depositions. Depositions may be taken upon commission issued by a court of record, or upon notice, which latter is the usual method. The deposition must be written by the officer, or some disinterested person, and must be subscribed by the witness. The officer taking the deposition must annex thereto his certificate showing: 1. That the witness was sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. 2. That the deposition was reduced to writing by the officer taking the same or by some disinterested person, naming him. 3. That the deposition was written and subscribed in the presence of the officer certifying thereto. 4. That the deposition was taken at the time and place specified in the notice. The deposition so taken must be sealed, endorsed with the title of the cause, with the name of the officer taking the same, and by him addressed and transmitted to the clerk of the court where action or proceeding is pending. When taken outside the State on notice they can be taken by a judge, justice or chancellor or clerk of any court of record, a justice of the peace, notary or mayor, or a commissioner appointed by the governor of the State.

Descent and Distribution of Property. 1. If a decedent leave a surviving husband or wife, and only one child, or the lawful issue of one child, in equal shares to the surviving husband or wife and child, or issue of such child. If the decedent leave a surviving husband or wife, and more than one child living, or one child living, and the lawful issue of one or more deceased children, one-third to the surviving husband or wife, and the remainder in equal shares to his children, and to the lawful issue of any deceased child, by right of representation; but if there be no child of the decedent living at his death, the remainder goes to all of his lineal descendants; and if all the descendants are in the same degree of kindred to the decedent, they share equally, otherwise they take according to the right of representation. If the decedent leave no surviving husband or wife, but leaves issue, the whole estate goes to such issue, and if such issue consists of more than one child living, or one child living and the lawful issue of one or more deceased children, then the estate goes in equal shares to the children living, or to the children living and the issue of the deceased child or children by right of representation. 2. If the decedent leave no issue, and the estate does not exceed in value the sum of $15,000, all the estate goes to the surviving husband or wife, and all the property in excess of $15,000 in value, one-half thereof goes to the surviving husband or wife, and the other one-half goes to decedent's father and mother in equal shares and if either be dead, to the survivor, and if both father and mother are dead and the decedent leaves no issue, and estate does not exceed $25,000, the whole thereof goes to the surviving husband or wife and the excess is divided one-half to the surviving husband or wife and one-half in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of decedent and to the children of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation. If the decedent leave no issue, nor husband, nor wife, the estate must go to the father and mother in equal shares and if either is dead, to the survivor. If the decedent leave a surviving husband or wife, and no issue, and no father nor mother, nor brother, nor sister, nor children of a deceased brother or sister, the whole estate goes to the surviving husband or wife. 3. If there be no issue, nor husband, nor wife, nor father, nor mother, then in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of the decedent, and to the children of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation. 4. If the decedent leave no issue, nor husband nor wife, and no father, nor mother, nor brother, nor sister, the estate must go to the next of kin, in equal degree excepting that when there are two or more collateral kindred, in equal degree, but claiming through different ancestors those who claim through nearest ancestors must be preferred to those claiming through an ancestor more remote. However, if the decedent leave several children, or one child and the issue of one or more children, and any such surviving child dies under age, and not having been married, all the estate that came to the deceased child by inheritance from such decedent, descends in equal shares to the other children of the same parent, and to the issue of any such other children who are dead, by right of representation. 5. If, at the death of such child, who dies under age, not having been married, all the other children of the parents are also dead, and any of them have left issue, the estate that came to such child by inheritance from his parents descends to the issue of all other children of the same parent; and if all issue are in the same degree of kindred to the child, they share the estate equally, otherwise they take according to the right of representation. 6. If the decedent leaves no husband, wife, or kindred, the estate escheats to the State for the support of the common schools. 7. If deceased be infant, and leaves no heirs, but leaves any person of kin acting as whole foster parent who supports infant the whole estate goes to such foster parent.

Dower. Dower is abolished. Surviving spouse has homestead rights of same nature as stated below under Exemptions.

Exemptions. Absolute exemptions are family pictures, pew in house of worship, a lot or lots in burial ground, family bible and school books used by the family and other books used as a part of the family library, and not exceeding $100 in value, all wearing apparel and clothing of debtor and his family, one year's necessary supply of provisions for debtor and family, provided, or growing or both, and one year's fuel; also all crops and grain raised on 160 acres occupied as homestead, in lieu of additional personal property exemption. The homestead of every head of a family residing in this state, not exceeding two acres of land and the improvements thereon if within a town plat and not exceeding in value $8,000.00 over and above liens and encumbrances, and if not within a town plat not exceeding in the aggregate more than 160 acres, and consisting of the dwelling house in which the homestead claimant resides and all its appurtenances and other improvements on said land regardless of the value of the same is exempt to the family of debtor. Husband and wife must join in conveyance of homestead of either. In addition to said absolute exemptions, a head of a family may select from all other of his personal property, goods, chattels, merchandise, money or other personal property up to $1500. Single person has exemption of $150. No personal property, except absolute exemptions and household goods to value of $500, is exempt from execution for laborers or mechanics wages, or nurse, or hospital bills, or bills for groceries and provisions or for property obtained under false pretenses. No property is exempt from execution for the purchase money thereof.

A partnership can claim but one exemption of $1,000 in value or alternate property out of the partnership property, and the property so claimed as exempt shall constitute a part of the exemptions of the several partners.

Cash surrender value as well as proceeds of life insurance policies are exempt from debts of insured, either under execution in probate or bankruptcy proceedings.

Farm leases. Leases of farms containing provision reserving title to crops in lessor must be filed with Register of Deeds of County in which land is situated prior to July 1st. Failure to so file constitutes waiver of reservation of title as to subsequent purchasers and encumbrancers of lessee.

Foreign Corporations. (New foreign corporation Act adopted as Chapter 116, Laws of 1937, which is digested below.) "Foreign corporation" defined as a corporation not formed under the laws of North Dakota, but does not include corporations which, under Constitution and Statutes of United States, may transact business in North Dakota without first obtaining a certificate of authority, or insurance companies. No foreign corporation can transact business in this state unless it holds a certificate of authority from the Secretary of State. No foreign corporation shall transact in this state the business which only a bank, trust company or building and loan association may transact in this state. Application for certificate of authority is made to Secretary of State, which application shall set forth (1) The name of the corporation and the state or country under the laws of which it is organized, (2) If name of corporation does not end with word "Corporation" or "Incorporated" or abbreviation "Inc." or contain the word "Company" or the abbreviation "Co.," not immediately preceded by word "and," then the name of the corporation with the word or abbreviation which it agrees to add for use in this state, (3) The date of its incorporation and the period of its duration, (4) The address of its principal office in the state or country under the laws of which it is organized, (5) The address of its proposed registered office in this state and name of proposed registered agent, (6) That it irrevocably consents to the service of process upon it, (7) The names and respective addresses of its directors and officers, (8) A statement of the aggregate number of shares having par value and shares without par value which it shall have authority to issue, itemized by classes and series, (9) A statement of the aggregate number of its issued or allotted shares having par value and of shares without par value, itemized by classes and series, (10) A statement that the officers executing the application have been duly authorized so to do by the board of directors. Application to be made on forms prescribed and furnished by Secretary of State and executed, acknowledged and verified by its president or a vice president and by its secretary or an assistant secretary and delivered to the Secretary of State with authenticated copies of its articles of incorporation. Applicant to pay to State Treasurer initial license fee of $50 when application made. Application when approved, filed in office of Secretary of State, who issues and records certificate of authority in office of Register of Deeds of county where registered office of the corporation in this state is situated. Foreign corporation then has same rights and privileges as a domestic corporation organized for same purposes. Each foreign corporation must have and continuously maintain in this state (a) A registered office in the county where it has its principal place of business, or if it has no place of business, then in county where it does or proposes to do business, and (b) A registered agent, either an individual resident or corporation, having a business office identical with such registered office. Provision is made for change of registered office and registered agent upon application to Secretary of State. If foreign corporation amends articles of incorporation or reduces capital or is a party to a statutory merger or consolidation, it must file with Secretary of State a copy of such amendment or articles of merger or consolidation duly authenticated, and must similarly file with Secretary of State information as to all changes of address of registered office, name, or duration of incorporated existence. Service of process made on registered agent or, under certain conditions, on Secretary of State. Between January 1st and April 1st in each year after 1937, every foreign corporation holding a certificate of authority shall make and file with Secretary of State a report for the next preceding calendar year setting forth certain information on forms prescribed by Secretary of State. License fees to be fixed by Secretary of State based on report filed. Provision for withdrawal of foreign corporation from the state upon filing with Secretary an application setting forth certain information. License of foreign corporation revoked under certain conditions, with provision for reinstatement. A foreign corporation may not maintain an action in any court of this state until it shall obtain a certificate of authority and is subject to penalties if it does so. The Act applies to all foreign corporations whether now or hereafter transacting business in this state. Foreign corporations now holding a valid license to do business must comply with Act prior to March 1, 1938. Provisions of the Act do not apply to associations or co-operative corporations organized under laws of any state or the United States.

Foreign as well as domestic corporations (other than railroads, banking, insurance or corporations not organized for profit) must file with the secretary of state between July 1st and August 1st of each year, a report showing the location of its principal office, names of officers with their residence and post office address, date, expiration of their terms of office, whether or not they are pursuing active business under charter and kind of business engaged in. Foreign and domestic insurance companies must file annual statements with Commissioner of Insurance on or before March 1st of following year. Such statements shall be published as directed by Commissioner of Insurance.

Garnishment. A creditor may proceed by garnishment. No judgment can be rendered against a garnishee on: 1. By reason of the garnishee having drawn, accepted, made, or indorsed or guaranteed any note, bill, draft, note or other security. 2. By reason of money collected as sheriff or other officer. 3. By reason of money in the hands of a public officer, for which he must account to the defendant as a public officer. 4. By reason of money, or other thing owing from him to the defendant which shall not have become absolutely due, but judgment may be rendered for any money or other thing owing to the defendant after it shall have become due absolutely.

Any person including public corporations, the state of North Dakota or any institution, department or agency of the state may be made garnishee when owing or holding property belonging to the debtor. Wages or salary of any person who is the head of a family and a resident of this state to the amount of $20.00 a week are exempt from garnishment.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); every day an election day is held throughout the state; November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving; December 25 (Christmas), and every day appointed by President of the United States, or by the Governor of the State for a public fast or holiday. If January 1st, February 12th and 22d, May 30th, July 4th, or December 25th, fall upon Sunday, the Monday following is a holiday. All other days are business days, and any act of a secular nature appointed by law or contract to be performed upon a particular day, which day falls upon a holiday, may be performed upon the next business day, with the same force and effect as if it had been performed upon the day appointed.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Interest. Usury. The legal rate of interest is 4 per cent per annum unless a different rate, not exceeding 7 per cent, is contracted for in writing, and contracts shall bear the same rate after as before due, and any contract attempting to increase the rate after maturity is void as to such increase. It is usury to take more than 7 per cent per annum; any contract to pay interest on interest overdue is deemed usury. Evasion by charging more than cash selling price for goods sold on credit is usury. A contract for usury forfeits all interest, and 25 per cent of principal. If usury has been paid, twice the amount of interest and usury may be recovered back by action commenced within four years, and in addition thereto any person who violates this provision shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction confined in the county jail not exceeding ninety days and be fined not exceeding $300.

Judgments of courts of record are a lien on all real estate of the judgment debtor, except the homestead, for ten years from time such judgment is docketed in the clerk's office of the county where the land is situated, and may be renewed by affidavit within ninety days before expiration of the ten years. Judgments bear 2% interest.

Jurisdiction. Courts of the State consist of the supreme court, district courts, county courts, courts of justices of the peace, and such other courts as may be created by law for cities, incorporated towns and villages. Supreme, district, and county courts are courts of record. The supreme court has appellate jurisdiction only, except that it may exercise original jurisdiction to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, quo warranto, certiorari, and such original and remedial writs as are necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction. But it issues writs of habeas corpus only in case of strictly public concern involving questions affecting sovereign rights of the State, or its franchises or privileges. District courts have general jurisdiction. County courts have original and exclusive jurisdiction in all probate matters, and in certain counties have concurrent jurisdiction—in civil actions where amount in controversy does not exceed $1,000, and in criminal actions below felony. Courts of justice of the peace have concurrent jurisdiction with the district court in civil actions when amount in controversy does not exceed $200, but have no jurisdiction in cases when the boundaries of, or title to real estate comes in question.

Land Contracts. Contracts for the sale of land can be cancelled by the vendor by service of a written notice upon the vendee one year before such cancellation is to take effect. Such notice to be served in the same manner as a summons in a civil action. Such cancellation may be had by an action in District Court, where the above notice need not be given, and the court in the judgment determines the time in which redemption may be made.

Liens. Mechanics, laborers, and furnishers of material, machinery, or fixtures for improvement of real estate, have a lien therefor and must file a verified account of the claim, within ninety days from the date of the last item, in the office of the clerk of the district court. Where a person is entitled to a mechanic's lien for material a notice of intention to claim a lien must be filed in the clerk's office by the contractor or material-man; if not filed, deeds and mortgages first recorded will be prior to the lien.

Limitations. An action by the State of North Dakota respecting real property must be commenced within forty years. An action for the recovery of real property or the possession thereof must be commenced within twenty years. Actions other than for the recovery of real property can only be commenced within the following periods after the cause of action shall have accrued: 1. Within ten years; an action upon a judgment or decree of any court in the United States, or of any state or territory within the United States, or on contract contained in conveyance or mortgage of real property except covenants of warranty, which must be commenced within ten years after the final decision against the title of the covenantor, or proceeding by advertisement under power of sale, or by suit, to foreclose real estate mortgages. 2. Within six years; (a) actions upon a contract, obligation or liability, express or implied; (b) action upon a liability created by statute; (c) action for trespass upon real property; (d) action for taking, detaining or injuring any goods or chattels; (e) action for criminal conversation; (f) action for relief on ground of fraud; (g) action for foreclosure of mechanic's lien. 3. Within three years; an action against an officer for breach of official duty; an action for a penalty given by statute; 4. Within two years; actions for libel, slander, assault, malpractice and death by wrongful act or negligence. 5. Within one year; all actions against a sheriff or other officer for the escape of a prisoner arrested or imprisoned on civil process. 6. All other actions for relief in ten years. No acknowledgment or promise is sufficient evidence of a new or continued contract whereby to take the case out of the operation of the statute of limitation, unless the same be in writing, signed by the party to be charged thereby; but this does not alter the effect of any payment of principal or interest.

Married Women retain their own real and personal property, and may make contracts, sue and be sued as if single. Neither husband nor wife has an interest in the property of the other except under the statute relating to the homestead; but neither can be excluded from the other's dwelling. They may enter into any engagement or transaction with each other, subject to the general rules which control the actions of persons occupying confidential relations with each other. Dower and curtesy are abolished. Neither husband nor wife, as such, is answerable for the acts of the other. The earnings of the wife are not liable for the debts of the husband. The separate property of the husband is not liable for wife's debts contracted before marriage; nor separate property of wife for husband's debts, but is liable for her own debts contracted before or after marriage. Husband and wife are both liable for family necessities while living together. Women may be notaries public.

Mortgages of real property must be in writing, and executed as required in case of a grant of real property. Neither husband nor wife need join the other in mortgage except of homestead and exempt personal property. Unless mortgage and assignment of mortgage contain post office address of mortgagee and assignee respectively, they will not be entitled to record. Mortgagor may redeem from foreclosure sale within one year (see "Redemption" for moratorium) on payment of the sum for which the property is sold, with 6 per cent interest thereon from date of sale, and also all taxes paid by the purchaser and interest thereon at 8 per cent. Possession of real property sold upon foreclosure not delivered to purchaser until the end of period of redemption and debtor is entitled to the possession, rents, use and benefit during the period of redemption. Real estate mortgage cannot be foreclosed by agent or attorney, without power of attorney authorizing foreclosure. Agents and attorneys must have power of attorney to foreclose, which power must be filed with register of deeds and pleaded when foreclosure is by action. Statutory attorney's fee of $25 taxable where foreclosure conducted by resident attorney. Thirty days written notice must be given to the record title owner of the mortgaged premises before foreclosure of a mortgage upon real estate can be commenced. (See also Chattel Mortgages.)

Negotiable Instruments. The law known as the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Notes and Negotiable Instruments. Law of notes and negotiable instruments is substantially what is called the negotiable instrument law adopted by many States. Notes taken for patent rights, stallions, jackasses, lightning rods, patent medicines, or for cure of diseases, or for the sale of the capital stock of foreign corporations, must have written in red ink or stamped across face, "given for a lightning rod" or "given for a stallion," or other purposes as the case may be, and are non-negotiable.

Powers of Attorney. Powers of attorney to convey real estate must be acknowledged and recorded, and can only be revoked by an instrument in writing acknowledged and recorded in the same office in which the power of attorney is recorded.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates, Descent and Distribution of Property.) The county court has exclusive original jurisdiction of all probate matters. A special administrator may be appointed to preserve and collect the property of the estate when there is delay in the appointment of an executor or administrator. Claims must be presented within the time fixed by law, which is six months after notice, and all claims not properly presented and filed in the and payable within this State are barred. The giving of barring claims does not prevent the foreclosure of a mortgage or other lien on specific property by civil action, and does not prevent the foreclosure of the real estate mortgage by advertisement, but if deficiency judgment is desired in foreclosure of lien, claim against estate must be filed for same within the time allowed for filing claims. If a claim is rejected, the claimant may bring suit in proper court according to amount within 90 days after date of rejection if then due, otherwise it is barred forever. No claim barred by the statute of limitation can be allowed. An executor or administrator, unless otherwise provided in the will, must give bond. Real and personal property is equally liable for the payment of the debts. The executor or administrator must take into his possession all the property of the decedent, real and personal, except the homestead and personal property exempt. Time for probating will, within six years after testator's death or if not made known within that time, within one year after its discovery.

Protest. Notice of dishonor of a foreign bill of exchange can be given only by notice of protest. An inland bill of exchange is one drawn and payable within this State, all others are foreign. Notice of protest must be made by an instrument in writing, giving a literal copy of the bill of exchange with all that is written thereon, or annexing the original, stating the presentment and the manner in which it was made, the presence or absence of the drawee or acceptor, as the case may be; the refusal to accept or to pay, or the inability of the drawee to give a binding acceptance; and in case of refusal, the reason assigned, if any, and finally protesting against a party to be charged. Protest must be made by a notary public, if with reasonable diligence one can be obtained, and if not, then by any reputable person in the presence of two witnesses. A protest for non-acceptance must be made in the city or town in which the bill is presented for acceptance, and a protest for non-payment in the city or town in which it is presented for payment. A protest must be noted on the day of the presentment, or on the next business day, but it may be written out at any time thereafter. Notice of protest must be made and given by the notary who makes the protest. If a foreign bill of exchange on its face waives protest, notice of dishonor may be given to any party thereto, except that if any indorser of such a bill expressly requires protest to be made, by a direction written on the bill at or before the indorsement, protest must be made, and notice thereof given to him and all subsequent indorsers. An irregular indorser is not considered joint maker and must be given notice of protest to be held.

Redemption. Real estate sold in foreclosure or on execution may be redeemed within one year after sale. Under moratorium statute, District Courts have power to extend redemption period to July 1, 1943 on compliance by mortgagor or debtor with conditions prescribed by Court.

Replevin. Personal property may be replevied at the time the summons is issued, or at any time before answer. An undertaking approved by the sheriff must be given in double the value of the property.

Revision. The latest revision of the laws of the State is contained in the compiled Laws of 1913. A supplement, containing all laws passed from 1915 to 1925 inclusive has been published. New Code Revision Commission Created by Ch. 110, Laws of 1939.

Service. (See Actions.)

Suits. (See Actions.)

Taxes. All personal property taxes become due on the 31st day of December in each and every year for which the tax was levied and become delinquent on the first day of March next after they become due, and thereupon a penalty of 5 per cent attaches and is charged upon all delinquent taxes, and thenceforth there is charged interest at the rate of 3/4 of 1 per cent per month on the original amount of taxes until same is paid. On the 15th day of September following the year in which personal property taxes are levied, the list of such uncollected taxes is turned over to the Sheriff of the County who immediately proceeds to collect the same.

All real estate taxes become due on the 31st day of December in each and every year for which taxes are levied and one-half thereof becomes delinquent on the first day of March following. If said one-half becoming delinquent on March 1st shall remain unpaid after that date, there attaches thereto a penalty of 1 per cent on April 1, June 1 and August 1 and an additional penalty of 2 per cent on October 15. The other half shall become delinquent on the 15th day of October, and if unpaid on that date, a penalty of 2 per cent shall be added thereto. A rebate of 5% allowed if taxes paid in full on or before February 15. Delinquent taxes may be paid without penalty on installment plan by contract with county. On the second Tuesday in December following the year for which taxes were levied, the county Auditor sells lands for unpaid taxes. Land sold for taxes may be redeemed at any time within three years from the date of sale by any person or corporation having an interest therein, who shall pay unto the Treasurer of the County for the credit of the person entitled thereto, the amount paid by the purchaser at the time of sale with a penalty of 3 per cent and interest thereon at the rate specified in such certificate of sale, which interest cannot exceed nine per cent, together with all amount of subsequent taxes, penalties and interest paid by the holder of such certificate of sale up to the date of redemption with interest at the rate of three-quarters of 1 per cent per month from the date of payment of such subsequent tax. The rate of interest specified in tax sale certificates upon sale for taxes for 1932 and subsequent years cannot exceed 6 per cent. Date of payment shall not be prior to the day upon which subsequent taxes became delinquent. Taxes and special assessments become a lien as between vendor and purchaser on and after December 31st in each year. No deed can be recorded without County Auditor's certificate thereon that all delinquent taxes are paid.

Wills. Every person over the age of eighteen years, of sound mind, may, by last will, dispose of all his estate, real and personal. An holographic will is one entirely written, dated, and signed by the hand of the testator himself. It is subject to no other form, and may be made in or out of this State, and need not be witnessed. Every will other than a nuncupative will, must be in writing. The words "writing" and "written" include "printing" and "printed," except in case of signatures, and where the words are used by way of contrast to printing. Writing may be made in any manner, except that when a person entitled to require the execution of a writing demands that it be made with ink, it must be so made. This applies to all instruments and papers. Every will, other than an holographic will and nuncupative will, must be executed and attested as follows: It must be subscribed at the end thereof by the testator himself, or some person in his presence, and by his direction must subscribe his name thereto; the subscription must be made in the presence of the attesting witnesses, or be acknowledged by the testator to them to have been made by him or by his authority. The testator must, at the time of subscribing or acknowledging the same, declare to the attesting witnesses that the instrument is his will; and there must be two attesting witnesses, each of whom must sign his name as a witness at the end of the will, at the testator's request and in his presence. A witness to a written will must write, with his name, the place of residence; and a person who subscribes the testator's name, by his direction, must write his own name as a witness to the will. But a violation of this section does not affect the validity of the will. A will of real or personal property, or both, or a revocation thereof, made out of this State by a person not having his domicile in this State, is as valid, when executed according to the law of the place in which the same was made, or in which the testator was at the time domiciled, as if it were made in this State and according to the provisions of the laws of this State. No provisions made for proof of wills made out of the State different from those made within. A married woman may dispose of all her separate estate by will, without the consent of her husband, and may alter or revoke the will in like manner as if she were single. Her will must be executed and proved in like manner as other wills. A will executed by an unmarried woman is revoked by her subsequent marriage, and is not revived by the death of her husband. If after making a will, the testator marries and has issue of such marriage, and the wife or issue survives him, the will is revoked unless provision has been made for such issue or unless such issue are provided for in the will, or in such way mentioned therein as will show an intention not to make such provision, and no other evidence to rebut the presumption of such revocation can be received. If after making a will, the testator marries and his wife survives the testator, the will is revoked unless provision has been made for her by marriage contract or unless she is provided for in the will, or in such a way mentioned therein as to show an intention not to make such provision, and no evidence to rebut the presumption of such revocation must be received. A foreign will may be admitted to probate, upon the production of a copy of the same, and the probate thereof duly authenticated with a petition for letters, by the executor, or any other person interested in the will, to the county judge, and the same proceedings must be had for the settlement of the estate as in the probate of a domestic will.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF OHIO

RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by WOODLE AND WACHTEL, Attorneys and Counselors, Leader Building, Cleveland

(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts Receivable. Assignments of accounts receivable must be recorded with the Recorder of the county in which the assignor resides, or if the assignor is a corporation, firm, association or partnership, then with the recorder of the county in which the assignor has its principal place of business.

The assignment must be recorded by the filing of an affidavit setting forth the name and the address of the assignor and of the assignee at the time of the execution thereof, stating that the assignor has arranged to assign to the assignee, an account or accounts, which account or accounts, however, need not be described in such affidavit in any manner. The affidavit must be sworn to by both the assignor and the assignee, or their respective agents, and will be filed and indexed in the same manner as chattel mortgages upon chattel property, other than motor vehicles.

The filing of such affidavit constitutes notice to all persons, except the obligors, that the assignor intends to assign one or more of his accounts to the assignee, until such affidavit shall have expired or shall have been cancelled, and until such expiration or cancellation, the assignee shall have a first interest in or lien upon any and all accounts assigned to him for a valuable consideration prior to the expiration or cancellation of such affidavit, and a first interest in or a lien upon the proceeds thereof.

The affidavit will expire at the end of three years from the date of filing, but may be refiled by the assignee at the end of three years, providing that in the meantime no subsequent affidavit has been filed assigning a subsequent interest in the accounts referred to in the original affidavit.

The priorities of assignees of accounts receivable will be determined in a manner similar to the priorities existing between the holders of chattel mortgages upon personal property other than motor vehicles.

Assignments of accounts made prior to September 6, 1941, are not governed by this Act.

The rights of the assignor and assignee of an account as between themselves are not affected.

Acknowledgments. A deed, mortgage, a power of attorney for conveyance or mortgage, or lease for more than three years, of any estate or interest in real property, shall be signed by the grantor, mortgagor, or lessor, and such signing shall be acknowledged by the grantor, mortgagor, or lessor, in the presence of two witnesses, who shall attest the signing and subscribe their names to the attestation and such signing shall also be acknowledged by the grantor, mortgagor, or lessor before a judge of a court of record in this State, or clerk thereof, a county auditor, county surveyor, notary public, mayor, or justice of the peace. No separate examination of wife required. When the officer has a seal, same must be affixed. A notary public is required to have a seal. The acknowledgment must be written or printed on the instrument to be acknowledged, and not on a separate piece of paper, pasted on or attached to it. When executed, acknowledged, and proved out of this State, in accordance with the laws of the place where executed, it is as valid as if executed in this State.

Actions. There is but one form of action, known as a civil action. An action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, except that (1) one acting in the position of a trustee (2) one in whose name a contract is made for the benefit of another, and (3) the beneficiary or a surety in a forfeited bond may sue in his own name. All persons having an interest in the subject of the action, and in obtaining the relief demanded, may be joined as plaintiffs. Any person may be made a defendant who has or claims an interest in the controversy adverse to the plaintiff, or who is a necessary party to a complete determination or settlement of a question involved therein. One or more of the persons severally liable on an instrument may be included in the same action thereon. A partnership formed for the purpose of carrying on a trade or business in this state, or holding property therein, may sue or be sued by the usual or ordinary name which it has assumed, or by which it is known.

Several causes of action may be united in the same petition, regardless of whether they are legal or equitable or both, providing they are included in the following:

1. Causes arising out of the same transaction.
2. Transactions connected with the same subject matter.
3. Contracts express or implied.
4. Injuries to person and property or to either.
5. Injuries to character.
6. Claims to recover possession of personal property either with or without damages.
7. Claims to recover possession of real property with or without damages, rents, or profits.
8. Foreclosures of a mortgage or other lien and recovery of personal judgment for the debts secured by such mortgage or lien.
9. Claims against a trustee by virtue of a contract or by operation of law.

Administration of Decedent's Estate. A Probate Court in each county has exclusive jurisdiction. Administration is granted in the county where the decedent was a resident at the time of his death, or if he was a non-resident of the State, ancillary proceedings may be instituted in any county where there is an estate to be administered. If the decedent dies intestate, preference is given to the following persons in order for appointment as administrator:

1. The surviving spouse if resident in the State.
2. One of the next of kin if resident of the county.
3. One of the next of kin if resident of any other county in the State.
4. If none of the above qualify within a reasonable time, their right to priority is lost and the Court may appoint any suitable person or persons resident of the county who may or may not be a creditor of the estate.

Banks and trust companies may be appointed. Special proceedings by petition are provided for where death is presumed from an absence of seven years or more. Executors and administrators are required to give bond in such sum as the Court may order. Securities of large estates may be deposited in banks subject to order of the Court, and the amount of the bond diminished. Executors may be excused from giving bond where the will so provides, unless interested parties object on sufficient ground. Inventory and appraisal of the estate must be filed within one month after appointment of the executor or administrator. Claims against the estate must be filed for allowance and verified by the oath of the claimant that the same is justly due and that no set-offs exist against the same (see proof of claims). Claims of the executor or administrator against the estate must be presented within three months after appointment. Claims of all other creditors must be presented to the executor or administrator within four months after his appointment. The administrator has thirty days within which to allow or reject the claim; it is deemed refused if he refuses to endorse his allowance on the same upon demand. Suit must be filed upon a rejected or disputed claim within two months after notice of rejection. Suit must be filed if desired upon an allowed claim after nine months, but less than twelve months following the appointment of the administrator. Appraisers are required to fix an allowance for widows and children under eighteen years for the first year's support.

Debts are paid in the following order:

1. Bill of funeral director not exceeding $350.00 and such other funeral expenses and expenses of the last sickness as may be approved by the Court and costs of administration.
2. The allowance to the widow and children for the year's support.
3. Debts entitled to preference under the laws of the United States.
4. Taxes.
5. Wages due for manual labor performed within twelve months preceding the decedent's death not exceeding $150.00.
6. Other debts on which claims have been presented within four months after appointment.
7. Debts due all other persons.

Executor and administrator must file an account within nine months after appointment and subsequent accounts every six months thereafter.

Real estate in the hands of bona fide purchasers or encumbrancers ceases to be liable for debts of the decedent unless Letters of Administration are issued within four years after his death except as to mortgages or other liens recorded prior to his death.

Affidavits. (See Oaths, etc.)

Aliens. An alien can hold title to real estate as fully as a citizen. An alien may sue or be sued in the same manner as a citizen. No person shall be deprived of inheriting by reason of his ancestors being aliens.

Arbitration of controversies is governed by statute. Any controversy except those relating to collective or individual contracts between employer and employees concerning terms and conditions of employment, or those involving a question of the title to or possession of real estate may be arbitrated. Arbitrators may be appointed by the Court on application, and any arbitrators named by the parties or the Court shall have the same power as the Court itself to administer oaths, require the presence of witnesses, or documentary evidence, and punish for contempt. The award must be in writing designating the county in which it was made and must be signed by at least a majority of the arbitrators. Judgment may be entered upon the award at any time after it has been made; and may only be vacated or modified by reason of fraud or undue influence, or misconduct or impartiality on behalf of the arbitrators, or action upon a matter not within their jurisdiction.

Assignments. Voluntary assignments for the benefit of creditors may be made and are administered in the insolvency court, or probate court. Assignee must give bond, make inventory and appraisement and give notice. Creditors must file proof of claims within six months after notice, and if rejected must file suit thereon within 30 days. Assignee reports at expiration of six months. Assignment to prefer creditor operates for benefit of all. Assignment with intent to hinder, etc., creditors void and operates for benefit of all. Preferred claims are taxes and labor.

Assignments of Accounts Receivable. See accounts receivable.

Assignments of Wages. See wages.

Attachment Before Judgment is a civil action for the recovery of money may be had when defendant is a foreign corporation, excepting such foreign corporations as by compliance with the law therefor are exempted from attachment as such, or when defendant is a non-resident of state, or has absconded or concealed himself, or is about to remove, convert or assign, or has concealed his property with intent to defraud creditors, or where the debt was fraudulently or criminally contracted, or claim is for work or labor, or necessities. Plaintiff must give bond in double the amount at issue, except where defendant is a non-resident or a foreign corporation, when a bond is not required. An attachment against a non-resident or a foreign corporation shall not be granted, on a claim other than a demand arising out of contract judgment or decree. Garnishee process may be had in aid of attachment against any debtor of the defendant. A citizen of this state may be enjoined from prosecuting an attachment in another state against a citizen of this State, to subject to the payment of his claim the earnings of the debtor, which by the laws of this State are exempt from being applied to the payment of such claim. Attachment before debt due. A creditor may bring an action on his claim before it is due and have an attachment against the property of his debtor: 1. When a debtor has sold, conveyed, or otherwise disposed of his property with the fraudulent intent to cheat or defraud his creditors, or to hinder or delay them in the collection of their debts. 2. Is about to make such sale, conveyance or disposition of his property with such fraudulent intent. 3. Is about to remove his property or a material part thereof, with the intent to cheat and defraud his creditors, or to hinder and delay them in the collection of their debts. The plaintiff must give bond as in other cases of attachment, and must by himself, his agent or attorney, before the action is brought or attachment made, make oath in writing, showing the nature and amount of his claim; that it is just, when it will become due, and the existence of any of the grounds above mentioned. Attachment may be discharged by motion if wrongfully obtained or by bond.

Banks. The supervising authority over all banks in Ohio is known as the Banking Advisory Board composed of seven (7) members, one of whom is the Superintendent of Banks, who acts in an administrative capacity and has full charge of all banks closed or in liquidation. The powers of this Board are advisory only, and with their advice the Superintendent of Banks may act upon any of the following subjects: Organization of Banks and Issuing of Charters, Examination of Banks, the Valuation of Assets, Establishment of Branch Banks, Defining Bank Emergencies, Recommendation of New Laws.

Any five or more persons, a majority of whom are citizens of Ohio, may apply for a bank charter for either a commercial or savings bank or trust company, or a combination of two or more of such banks.

Every bank must maintain total reserves against time or savings or demand deposits, exclusive of United States and Postal Savings deposits, equal to ten per cent (10%) of the aggregate time and savings deposits, and fifteen per cent (15%) of the aggregate demand deposits. Such reserves may be kept in the bank vaults in the shape of legal tender, or, if the bank has been approved as a reserve bank its reserves may be deposited subject to call with the District Federal Bank, provided that not more than six tenths of the reserve against time deposits may consist of bonds or other obligations issued, or guaranteed as to both principal and interest, by the United States Government.

A bank may invest its funds in the following securities:

(a) Bonds or other obligations of the United States, the Philippines, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia, or those for which the faith of the United States is pledged to provide payment of the interest and principal, and in farm loan bonds issued by federal land banks and joint stock land banks, bonds issued under the Home Owners Loan Act of 1933, and amendments thereto, and collateral trust debentures or other similar obligations issued by federal intermediate credit banks.

(b) External bonds or other obligations of any foreign government, which are the direct obligations of such foreign government, and for which the full faith and credit thereof are pledged to provide payment of interest and principal, and which has been in existence and has not defaulted in the payment of principal or interest on its external bonds or obligations within a period of twenty years last prior thereto.

(c) Bonds or other obligations of the State of Ohio, and of any other state or territory of the United States, which are the direct obligations of such state or territory, and for which its full faith and credit are pledged to provide payment of interest and principal.

(d) Bonds or other obligations of any county, town, township, city, school district, improvement district, sewer-district, or other organized or political subdivision in Ohio, which are the direct obligations of the subdivision or district issuing the same, and for which the full faith and credit of such subdivision or district are pledged for the payment of interest and principal.

(e) Bonds or other obligations of a city, town, county or other political or taxing subdivision outside of Ohio, within specific limits provided in Section 710-111 of the Ohio General Code.

(f) Bonds or debentures of the Dominion of Canada, or its provinces, within specific limitations.

(g) Bankers' acceptances of the kind and maturity made eligible by law for rediscount with Federal Reserve Banks, provided the same are accepted by a bank incorporated under the laws of Ohio, or any member bank of the Federal Reserve System.

(h) Marketable obligations evidencing indebtedness of any corporation in the form of bonds, notes and debentures, and equipment trust certificates, commonly known as investment securities, under such further definition and restriction as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Superintendent of Banks with the approval of the Banking Advisory Board.

(i) Notes, bonds, debentures and other obligations issued by the Federal Housing Administrator.

(j) Bonds or notes secured by mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administrator, and shares issued by a Federal Savings and Loan Association, organized and incorporated under the Home Owners Loan Act of 1933, and amendments thereto.

(k) Bonds or other obligations of any state or political subdivision thereof, or of a public corporation or a governmental agency, body or commission, which are payable solely or in part out of anticipated revenues, provided that no funds shall be invested therein unless such investment is approved in writing by the Superintendent of Banks.

Loans may be made to feeholders of improved real estate in Ohio or contiguous states secured by a first mortgage not to exceed 50% of the appraised value, nor to be made for a longer term than five years, except that the loan may amount to 60% of the appraised value and extend for a term of ten years, when amortization of at least 40% of the principal by installment payments is required within the ten year period. Loans upon real estate and investments in real estate bonds, excluding those insured by the Federal Housing Administrator, shall at no time exceed the total amount of capital and surplus, plus debentures and capital notes, or 60% of the total deposits of the bank, whichever may be greater.

Special requirements are provided by statute relating to construction loans, farm loans and commercial discounts. For further details, see Ohio General Code 710-112.

Collateral loans are subject to such marginal requirements as the Superintendent of Banks may prescribe. No bank may lend money on the security of shares of its capital stock. Loans may be made to officers or directors upon compliance with strict conditions relating to amounts and circumstances of the loans. For further details, see Ohio General Code, Section 710-115.

Strict limitations upon total amount of investment of funds in any one stock or security, and total amount of loans to any one person, company or corporation, are set forth in great detail in Sections 710-121 and 710-122.

Double liability of bank stockholders in Ohio has been removed by recent amendment to the Ohio Constitution. However, stockholders are subject to assessment upon order of the Board of Directors whenever the Superintendent of Banks shall serve notice upon the Board that the capital has become impaired by losses or otherwise. Failure to pay the assessment within sixty days after receipt of notice of the same by any stockholder results in a forfeiture of his stock to the extent necessary to make good the amount of the assessment.

Under the State constitution the legislature cannot authorize banks of issue, Savings and loans associations, and trust companies are provided for by statute. Each such bank must report to the superintendent of banks on oath quarterly, which report must be published. Banking institutions may invest in: 1. Collateral securities. 2. Bonds of the United States or those for which the faith of the United States is pledged to provide payment of the interest and principal, including bonds of the District of Columbia; also bonds or other interest bearing obligations of any foreign government. Also bonds or other interest bearing obligations of any foreign government which has not defaulted in the payment of principal or interest on its external bonds or obligations within the previous twenty years. 3. Bonds or interest bearing obligations of this or any other state of the United States. 4. Legally issued bonds or interest bearing obligations of any city, village, county, township, school district, or other district, or political subdivision of this or any other state or territory of the United States. 5. Detailed provisions are included authorizing investment in bonds or other interest bearing obligations of cities, towns, county and other taxing subdivisions in the United States, Canada and foreign countries, where the net indebtedness of the issuer and the payment of interest on the obligations comply with the provisions of the act. Provisions are also made for investment in bankers acceptances which are eligible for rediscount with Federal Reserve Banks, also mortgage and collateral trust bonds and debentures under certain circumstances, and all notes, bonds, debentures and other obligations issued under the provisions of the National Housing Act. All banks may invest in bonds or notes secured by first mortgages on improved real estate of not more than 60% of the value thereof, and on unimproved real estate if not more than 40% of the value thereof. In the case of commercial banks not more than 50%, and in the case of savings banks and trust companies, not more than 60% of the paid in capital surplus and deposit, may be invested in real estate securities, other than bonds or notes secured by mortgages insured under the National Housing Act.

The capital of a commercial or savings bank, or a combination of both, shall be not less than $35,000 in villages of 5,000 population or less; $50,000 in towns and cities between 5,000 and 25,000; and $100,000 in cities of over 25,000 population.

The capital of a corporation transacting a trust business shall be not less than $100,000 and if such business is combined with that of a commercial or savings bank, or a combination of both, such capital shall be in addition to the capital required for such commercial or savings bank.

No bank hereafter incorporated in Ohio shall begin to transact business until it has a surplus equal to at least 20 per cent of its capital.

For each branch bank established by a commercial, savings or trust bank, additional capital is required in the same amount specified for the parent institution according to the population of the village or city in which such branch is located. No trust company or corporation, foreign or domestic, doing a trust business may begin business in Ohio until its paid in capital is at least $100,000, and until it has deposited with the Secretary of State in cash or in United States State, County, Municipal or Railroad bonds of approved value, the sum of $100,000.

No bank may deposit, as a reserve or otherwise, in any other bank or national bank, an amount in excess of fifty percent of the capital stock and surplus of the depository bank.

No property or securities received or held by any trust company in trust shall be mingled with the investment of the capital stock or other property belonging to such trust company or be liable for its debts or obligations. Monies held in the trust department by any trust company or by any bank having a trust department or doing a trust business, pending distribution or investment may be treated as a deposit in the trust department or may be deposited in any other department of the bank, subject in other respects to the provisions of law relating to deposits of trust funds by trustees and others, but in case of the insolvency, closing or suspension of any such trust company or bank, claims for such monies hereafter so deposited in any other department of such trust company or bank, shall be preferred and the property and assets of such closed trust company or bank shall be impressed with a trust for the payment thereof.

Foreign Banks may lend money but can do no other banking business in Ohio.

The Banking Code permits establishment of branch banks with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks in any part of the county or counties in which the municipality containing the main bank is located; permits the establishment of branch banks in a contiguous city or village, whether or not such city or village is in the same county, and also in a contiguous county to that in which the main bank is located where such branch bank on January 1, 1935, and prior thereto, bore to the main bank the relationship of affiliate within the meaning of that term as used in the 1933 banking act of the United States; permits funds of savings banks to be invested in common or preferred stock upon which dividends have been earned and paid for five consecutive years next prior to the investment, with the approval of a majority of the Board of Directors, also in promissory notes of individuals, firms or corporations, when secured by sufficient pledge of collateral approved by the Executive Committee or by the Board of Directors; in like manner in promissory notes secured by sufficient approved collateral, and ground rents from certain types of improved real estate.

Blue Sky Law. The Ohio Securities Act provides that with certain exceptions no "dealer" shall offer or dispose of in Ohio any security without first obtaining a license. The term "security" means any certificate or instrument which represents title to, or interest in, or which is secured by any lien upon the capital, assets, profits, property or credit of any person; also any real estate or any interest in real estate not situated in Ohio. The term "dealer" includes every person other than a salesman who engages or professes to engage in Ohio either for all or part of his time, directly or indirectly in the business of the sale of securities. Ordinary sales by the owner of securities not engaged in that business are exempted from the provisions of this act.

Application for licenses must be made to the Division of Securities on blanks furnished by that office. Issuers of stock desirous of disposing of the same without obtaining a license may qualify for that purpose by filing an application with a Division of Securities containing detailed information regarding the issuer and the nature of the securities, including the names and addresses of the parties interested, the principal place of business, the purpose and general character of the business of the issuer, a statement of capitalization and balance sheet, if possible, the price of the security, and the consideration to be received. Severe penalties are provided for fraudulent statements.

For further information see Ohio Securities Act.

Chattel Mortgages. Unless possession is given chattel mortgage is void as to creditors, subsequent purchasers and mortgagees in good faith, unless filed with county recorder. Oath of mortgagee must be attached showing amount due and that same was executed in good faith. Mortgage must be re-filed within thirty days before expiration of three years of original filing with new affidavit. It is a criminal offense to sell, secrete, or remove from county where mortgage is filed mortgaged property. Both husband and wife must execute mortgage on personal household property other than purchase money mortgage. Mortgages upon motor vehicles executed after January 1st, 1938, are not to be filed in the same manner as other mortgages. Such mortgages must be accompanied by the owner's certificate of title of such vehicle, and when filed, a notation of the lien of the mortgage must be made by the Recorder upon the original certificate of title. Cancellation of the lien must be similarly noted and copies of such certificates remain on file for public inspection.

All mortgages and other liens upon motor vehicles take priority according to the order of time in which the same are noted on the certificate of title by the Clerk of Courts. Trust receipts, signed by persons importing goods or merchandise or purchasing a readily marketable staple for manufacture or sale by the signer of the receipt, issued in good faith to a person who pays part of the purchase price of such goods and who holds title to secure the repayment of the amounts paid and who upon faith of the trust receipt delivers possession of the goods to the signer with permission to sell or manufacture the same, are valid against creditors of the signer.

The holder of the trust receipt, shall, however, previously file with the Recorder of the County where the person signing the receipt lives or has his principal place of business, or of the county where the goods are located, if the signer is non-resident, an affidavit setting forth the name and address of the signer of proposed trust receipts and of the person to whom the same are to be issued and setting forth that the signer has arranged to finance the purchase of such goods by trust receipts, the kind of goods to be covered by the receipts to be described in general terms. This affidavit protects such receipts for three years after it is filed.

Conditional Sales. Where personal property is sold to be paid for in installments and possession is taken by the purchaser, or where it is rented to be paid for in installments, or delivered under conditional sale, reservation of title in the seller is void as to creditors of the buyer unless the instrument is executed, verified and filed in the same manner as a chattel mortgage. A conditional sales contract involving a motor vehicle and accompanied by delivery of possession to the purchaser, is regarded as the equivalent of a chattel mortgage, and in order to preserve the lien of the contract, a notation of such lien must appear upon the certificate of title of the motor vehicle. The vendor cannot maintain a possessory action or reclaim possession without tendering or refunding to the purchaser the money paid, after deducting a reasonable compensation for the use of the property, in no case to exceed 50 per cent of the amount paid plus reasonable compensation for breakage or damage. However, no money need be refunded unless the amount paid exceeds 25 per cent of the contract price of the property. Where property consists of machinery, equipment and supplies for railroads and contractors for manufacturing brick, cement and tiling or for quarrying and mining purposes no sum need be returned.

Consignments. A carrier, warehouse man, factor, storage, forwarding or commission merchant, or his clerk, agent, or employee, who, with intent to defraud, in any way disposes or converts to his own use any bill of lading, custom-house permit, or warehouse keeper's receipt entrusted to or possessed by him, or any property entrusted or consigned to him, or the proceeds of the sale of such property, or the profits, product, or result thereof, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary. The lien of a consignee shall not be affected by an attachment.

Corporations. (Domestic.) Corporations are formed under general laws and for any purpose or purposes except professional business. Each stockholder is liable on his stock for any amount unpaid thereon and stockholders in corporations authorized to receive deposits are also liable for a further amount equal to the par value of the stock held by them. Articles are filed with the Secretary of State upon blanks prepared for that purpose and must state, in addition to certain other information, the amount of capital with which the corporation will begin business which shall be not less than $500.00. These articles must be signed by three or more persons, a majority of whom are citizens of the United States. Corporations are for profit and not for profit. If for profit, must have not less than three directors who shall be share holders. Stock is personal property. Capital stock may be increased or diminished. Fee for incorporation 10 cents for each share of the first 10,000 shares, 5 cents per share for the next 40,000 shares; 3 cents per share from 100,000 up to 100,000 shares; 2 cents for each share from 100,000 to 150,000; 1 cent for each share in excess of 150,000, but in no event less than $25.00. Insurance and certain other companies are incorporated under special laws. Reports must be made to Secretary of State annually between January 1st and March 31st, and fee of 1/8 of 1 per cent (in no case less than $25.00) paid in 1927 and 1928 and thereafter 1/10 of 1 per cent annually of the fair value upon an asset basis of that proportion of the outstanding shares of stock corresponding to the proportion of the Ohio assets and business to the entire assets and business of the corporation. The corporation's name must end with "company", "corporation", "incorporation" or "Inc." Corporations may be formed with or without par value stock, or with both par value and no par value stock.

For further information refer to Ohio General Corporation Act.

A corporation name may not be used if it is likely to mislead the public, nor unless the name is such as to distinguish the corporation from any other corporation, domestic or foreign, authorized to do business in this State, unless the legal consent of such other corporation signed by its president or vice president is filed with the articles of incorporation. The articles of incorporation may be cancelled upon the order of the Tax Commission of Ohio for failure to file the reports required of the corporation or to pay any of the taxes or other charges due. A charter which has been so cancelled may be reinstated upon application at any time by payment of all charges and penalties due and filing all required reports; provided that if reinstatement has not been made within two years from cancellation of the articles, the corporation may be required to change its name if the same or similar name has been issued to any other company.

Foreign Corporations. Foreign corporation for profit must have certificate from the Secretary of State before doing business in Ohio. To procure a license to do business it must file with the Secretary of State a complete certified copy of its articles and an application setting forth its name, the state under the laws of which it was incorporated, the location and complete address of its principal office, the name of the city and county in which its principal office is to be located within this state, the appointment of a person resident in the county in which its principal office is located, upon whom process against it may be served within this state, and his complete residence address, the irrevocable consent of such person to service of process on such agent so long as his authority shall continue, and to service thereafter upon the Secretary of State if his authority shall be concluded or he cannot be found.

Annual reports giving detailed information with reference to the location and value of the company's property, the extent of its share holdings, earnings, and other information are required. Fee for filing application for license is $50.00. Temporary license for six months' time may be secured immediately upon filing of application and copies of articles and payment of filing fee of $100. A foreign corporation duly licensed to do business in this State is not subject to attachment on the ground that it is a foreign corporation or non-resident of the State. The mere retirement from business of a foreign corporation in this State without filing a Certificate of Surrender of its license does not exempt it from the filing of required reports or payments of fees and taxes. Any foreign corporation required to be licensed in this State which does business here without securing a license is subject to a penalty of $1,000 and an additional penalty of $500 for each month that it continues to transact business in this State without being licensed. Any officer of such corporation who transacts business on its behalf where a license has not been secured is guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a penalty of thirty days maximum imprisonment and $100 maximum fine. Failure to obtain a license does not impair the validity of any contract made with such corporation, but until such license has been obtained, it may not maintain any action in any courts of this State and may be subject to additional penalty of $250 before bringing such action. The same requirements apply to corporations organized not for profit.

For further information refer to New Ohio Foreign Corporation Act, General Code 8625, effective August 6, 1931.

Costs. Generally no costs are allowed to the successful party as and for attorney fees. Exceptions include (1) actions for divorce alimony; (2) Actions in foreclosure brought on behalf of the holder of a Mechanic's Lien where a fund remains for the payment of such Mechanic's Lien after payment of all prior encumbrances.

Courts. Supreme Court—Court of last resort. A court of error and appeal with original jurisdiction in habeas corpus, mandamus, and quo warranto. Court of Appeals—The state is divided into nine appellate districts. Original jurisdiction similar to that of the Supreme Court; appellate jurisdiction and jurisdiction in error from the Common Pleas Court and other inferior courts of record. Its judgments are final except in cases involving constitutional questions, criminal cases and cases of public or great general interest. Where decisions of appellate courts of two districts conflict the question may be brought before the Supreme Court for determination. Common Pleas Court—Original jurisdiction in all civil cases where amount in dispute is $100.00 or more, general jurisdiction in equity cases and all types of special proceedings, appellate jurisdiction from courts of justices of the peace and from the probate courts of the respective counties and from specified administrative agencies. Probate Courts—Original jurisdiction in control of estates of insolvents, deceased persons, minors, lunatics, imbeciles, and habitual drunkards; probating wills and settlement of estates; original jurisdiction in all matters of guardianship, inquest of lunacy; concurrent jurisdiction with insolvency court in appropriation proceedings. Justice of the Peace—Exclusive original jurisdiction in amounts less than $100; concurrent jurisdiction with common pleas court in amount from $100 to $300, except in cases involving title to real estate.

Municipal Courts have been established in Akron, Alliance, Ashland, Ashtabula, Canton, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton, Hamilton, Lakewood, Lorain, Mansfield, Painesville, East Liverpool, Marion, Massillon, Newark, Springfield, Toledo, Youngstown, Zanesville, Barberton, Conneaut, Pistoria, Gallipolis, Lima, Niles, Piqua, Warren, East Cleveland, Oakwood, Middletown, Miamisburg and Steubenville. They have jurisdiction in their respective cities concurrent with Justice Courts and in certain cases concurrent with Common Pleas Court. Designed to supersede Justice Courts and relieve Common Pleas of controversies of $5000.00 and less, the amount varying in the different cities.

Insolvency Court established in Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) having jurisdiction in all probate matters in the absence of the Probate Judge, also concurrent jurisdiction with Common Pleas Court in many matters including proceedings in aid of execution, also concurrent jurisdiction with probate Court in appropriation proceedings.

Deeds, Mortgages, etc. All deeds or instruments conveying an interest in real property shall be signed by the grantor in the presence of two witnesses, and such signing shall be acknowledged before a judge of a court of record of this State, or a clerk thereof, a county auditor, county surveyor, notary public, mayor, or justice of the peace, who shall certify the acknowledgment on the same sheet of paper, subscribe his name thereto, and affix his official seal if he have one. No separate examination of the wife is required. Deeds and instruments conveying an interest in real estate must be recorded in the office of the recorder of the county where the land is located, and until so recorded or filed for record, are deemed fraudulent, as to bona fide purchasers without notice. Mortgages on real estate take effect from time of delivery for record. Mortgage first presented must be first recorded. Private seals have been abolished in this State. Taking a purchase money mortgage waives the vendor's lien. Vendor's lien is not valid in Ohio as against a purchaser, mortgagee, judgment creditor, or other encumbrancer, unless recited in the deed, or in some instrument of record executed with the same formalities as a deed. Ohio has a mortgage moratorium law permitting courts to postpone sale of real estate on foreclosure until April 1, 1939.

Depositions. The deposition of a witness may be used only when it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the court. (1) That he does not reside in, or is absent from, the county where the action or proceeding is pending, or, by change of venue, is sent for trial; (2) that he is dead, or from age, infirmity, or imprisonment is unable to attend court; (3) that the testimony is required upon a motion; (4) where the oral examination of the witness is not required. As soon as service is had in a case, either party may begin taking depositions. Written notice of the intention to take depositions must be given the opposite party, specifying the court, parties, time and place of taking, and if the testimony of a party is to be taken, the notice must so specify. Sufficient time must be given the adverse party to reach the place of taking by the usual routes, and also one day for preparation, exclusive of the day of service. The taking of depositions may be continued from time to time. The deposition should be written in the presence of the officer taking the same, and when completed, must be read over by the witness and by him subscribed, and the officer should then conclude the deposition by the following certificate:

State of } ss:
 County, }
 a in and for the county and State above named, duly commissioned and qualified, do hereby certify that the above named was by me first severally sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, and that the deposition by subscribed as above set forth, w reduced to writing by and w subscribed by the said witness respectively in my presence, and w continued from day to day, as above set forth, that said deposition w taken at the time and place specified in the notice hereto attached, and that I am not counsel, attorney, or relative of either party, or otherwise interested in the event of this suit.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and official seal, this day of A.D. 19

[Seal.] (Signature and official title.)
 Depositions out of the State may be taken before a judge, justice, or chancellor of any court of record, justice of the peace, notary public, mayor, or chief magistrate of any city or town corporate, a commissioner appointed by the governor of the State, or any person authorized by special commission.

If deposition is intended to be read in evidence on the trial it must be filed at least one day before the day of trial. Exceptions to depositions must be in writing, must specify the grounds of objection, and must be filed with the papers in the case.

Descent and Distribution. Property owned by a decedent who dies intestate descends as follows:

1. If there be no surviving spouse, to the children of such intestate or their lineal descendants, per stirpes.
2. If there be a spouse and one child, or its lineal descendants, surviving, one-half to the surviving spouse and one-half to such child or its lineal descendants, per stirpes.
3. If there be a spouse and more than one child, or their lineal descendants, surviving, one-third to the surviving spouse and the remainder to the children equally, or to the lineal descendants of any deceased child, per stirpes.
4. If there be no children, or their lineal descendants, three-fourths to the surviving spouse and one-fourth to the parents of the intestate equally, or to the surviving parent; if there be no parents, then the whole to the surviving spouse.
5. If there be no spouse and no children, or their lineal descendants, to the parents of such intestate equally, or the survivor of such parents.
6. If there be no spouse, no children or their lineal descendants and no parent surviving, to the brothers and sisters, whether of the whole or of the half blood of the intestate, or their lineal descendants, per stirpes.
7. If there be no such brothers or sisters or their lineal descendants, one-half to the paternal grandparents of the intestate equally, or to the survivor of them, and one-half to the maternal grandparents of the intestate equally, or to the survivor of them.
8. If there be no paternal grandparent or no maternal grandparent, then such one-half to the lineal descendants, if any, of such deceased grandparents, per stirpes; if there be no such lineal descendants, then to the surviving grandparent or grandparents or their lineal descendants, per stirpes; if there be no surviving grandparents or their lineal descendants, then to the next of kin of the intestate. There shall be no representation among such next of kin.

9. If there be no next of kin, to stepchildren or their lineal descendants, per stirpes.

10. If there be no stepchildren or their lineal descendants, escheat to the State of Ohio.

When a relict of a deceased husband or wife dies intestate and without issue, possessed of identical real estate or personal property which came to such relict from any deceased spouse, by deed of gift, devise, bequest or descent, or by virtue of an election to take under the statute of descent and distribution, then such estate, real and personal, except one-half thereof which shall pass to and vest in the surviving spouse, if any, of such relict, shall pass to and vest in the children of the deceased spouse from whom such real estate or personal property came, or their lineal descendants, per stirpes. If there are no children, or their lineal descendants, then such estate, real and personal, except for the one-half passing to the surviving spouse, if any, of such relict, shall pass and descend as follows: one-half to the other heirs of such relict, under the provisions of the other statutes of descent and distribution, in the same manner and proportions as if the relict had left no surviving spouse; and one-half to the parents of the deceased spouse from whom such real estate or personal property came, equally, or the survivor of such parents, and if there be no parent surviving, to the brothers and sisters, whether of the whole or of the half blood of such deceased spouse, or their lineal descendants, per stirpes.

If there be no children, or their lineal descendants, no parent and no brothers or sisters, whether of the whole or of the half blood, or their lineal descendants, of the deceased spouse from whom such real estate or personal property came, who survive such relict, then the provisions of this section shall not apply, and all such real estate and personal property shall pass and descend under the provisions of the other statutes of descent and distribution.

When a person dies intestate leaving children, and none of the children of such intestate have died leaving children or their lineal descendants, such estate shall descend to the children of such intestate, living at the time of his or her death, in equal proportions.

When all the descendants of an intestate, in a direct line of descent, are on an equal degree of consanguinity to the intestate, whether children, grandchildren or great-grandchildren, or of a more remote degree of consanguinity to such intestate, the estate shall pass to such persons of equal degree of consanguinity to such intestate in equal parts, however remote from the intestate such equal and common degree of consanguinity may be.

If some of the children of such intestate are living, and others are dead, the estate shall descend to the children who are living, and to the lineal descendants of such as are dead, so that each child of the intestate who is living will inherit the share to which he or she would have been entitled if all the children of the intestate were living, and the lineal descendants of the deceased child or children of the intestate inherit equal parts of that portion of the estate to which such deceased child or children would be entitled if such deceased child or children were living.

Any person of sound mind and memory may appear before the Probate Judge of any county and in the presence of such judge and two disinterested parties file a written declaration subscribed by him and attested by such persons and designate or appoint another naming and stating his place of residence to stand toward him in the relation of an heir-at-law in the event of his death. In such case the rule of inheritance will be the same between the declarant and the person so named as though such person were a child born in lawful wedlock.

Dower. Vested dower is abolished in this State. Dower in Ohio is now a life estate in one-third of all real property which a consort owns as an estate of inheritance at any time during marriage. However, such dower interest shall terminate and be barred upon the death of the consort except: first, in such property as the deceased consort may have conveyed at any time during marriage without the surviving spouse relinquishing or having been barred of dower therein; second, in such real property as may have been encumbered by the deceased consort during marriage by mortgage, judgment, or any other lien except a tax lien or aliened during the marriage by judicial or other involuntary sale, when the surviving spouse did not relinquish or has not been barred of dower therein. In such case the dower interest of the surviving spouse shall be computed on the basis of the amount of the encumbrance at the time of the death of such consort or such alienation, as the case may be, but never on an amount exceeding the sale price of the property. Dower may be barred by a conveyance in lieu thereof; by living in adultery, or by absolute divorce whether in favor of or against such spouse and whether granted within or without this State. Dower may be forfeited by waste. A surviving spouse is required to elect within one month after service of a citation by the Probate Court upon such spouse for such purpose whether he or she will take under a will or under the law of descent and distribution. If the surviving spouse fails to make such election in person or by written instrument duly acknowledged and filed within the time limit provided by law, he shall be conclusively presumed to have elected to take under the will. The same presumption exists if the spouse dies without having made election, and his heirs are bound thereby.

Executions issue from the court of common pleas or any Municipal Court to any county. Execution against the person will only issue when the judge of one of the superior courts is satisfied of the existence of cause—such as concealment of property by the debtor—or where debtor was arrested before judgment and not discharged under the law. Lands levied on must be appraised by three disinterested freeholders, and cannot be sold for less than two-thirds of such appraisal. There is no redemption of lands after sale; and stay of execution is allowed in any case taken to higher court upon giving bond. Executions are stayed before justices, by entering into a bond to adverse party within ten days after rendition of judgment, on judgments for $5 and under, sixty days; $5 and under $20, ninety days; $20 and under $50, 150 days; $50 and upward, 240 days, and in Municipal Court on judgment for $50 and under for 150 days and over $50 for 180 days. No stay on judgment in favor of any person for wages due for manual labor performed not exceeding $100.

Writs of execution are satisfied in the order of their issuance, provided, however, that where two or more are issued on the same day, the proceeds realized are distributed in proportion to the amounts due the several creditors. Executions upon deficiency judgments are limited as to time. (See judgments.)

Exemptions. Every unmarried person may hold exempt from execution, attachment or sale: Wearing apparel not exceeding $100 in value, and tools and implements for carrying on his profession, trade or business not exceeding $200 in value, and his personal earnings for services rendered within thirty days next prior to the issuance of an attachment or execution not exceeding the sum of $30.

Every person who is the chief support of a family, the support of any dependent, or who is paying under order of any Court, alimony or money for the support of a child or children, and every widow may hold exempt from execution, attachment or sale, in addition to $500 in cash or personal property allowed as an exemption in lieu of a homestead.

1. Wearing apparel, beds and bedding for his personal use, a stove, fuel sufficient for sixty (60) days, all books and family pictures, $50 worth of provisions, specimens and so forth of material, history or science unless kept for gain.

2. Live stock or household furnishings not exceeding $150 in value.

3. Tools and implements necessary for carrying on his profession, trade or business not exceeding $200 in value.

4. His personal earnings for services rendered within thirty (30) days next prior to the issuance of an attachment or execution as follows, 80 per cent of the first $200 of such earnings, but in no event less than $60, and 60 per cent of the balance of such earnings over $200.

In lieu of a homestead, a husband and wife living together, a widow, widower or an unmarried female having custody of any minor child of a deceased relative may hold exempt chattels real or personal property not exceeding $500 in value. Personal earnings and passenger automobiles, unless used chiefly for carrying on a trade or business, cannot be held exempt in lieu of a homestead. No personal property is exempt from execution under a judgment for its purchase price. Regalia and so forth of benevolent societies is exempt.

Any promise or agreement attempting to waive, or avoid the benefit of, the exemption laws of Ohio shall be void.

Guarantee Companies. The law provides that guarantee companies complying by deposit of securities are accepted on statutory bonds.

Holidays. For the purposes of the uniform negotiable instrument laws, the legal holidays are:

Sundays; January 1st (New Year's Day); February 12th (Lincoln's Birthday); February 22nd (Washington's Birthday); May 30th (Memorial Day); July 4th (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12th (Columbus Day); November 11th (Armistice Day); December 25th (Christmas Day); every Saturday afternoon from 12:00 o'clock noon; or in any case except Lincoln's Birthday, and Columbus Day, when the date named falls on Sunday the succeeding Monday shall be a holiday. Any day named by the governor of Ohio or the president of the United States as a day of fast or thanksgiving, and all designated holidays in Ohio.

Ohio has designated the following as legal holidays by statute:

The first Monday in September of each year (Labor Day); November 11th (Armistice Day), and if said day falls on Sunday the following Monday is the legal Armistice holiday; the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of each year between the hours of 12:00 o'clock noon, Central Standard Time, and 5:30 P. M., Central Standard Time, is a legal part holiday; every Saturday afternoon of each year is a one-day legal holiday for all purposes beginning at 12:00 o'clock noon and ending at 12:00 o'clock midnight.

All contracts executed, bills and notes signed, etc., on any holiday in Ohio are neither void nor voidable.

Homestead. Husband and wife living together, widow or widower living with unmarried daughter, or unmarried minor son may hold exempt family homestead not exceeding $1,000 in value. Wife may make demand if husband refuses, but neither can demand if other has a homestead. Where a homestead is sold for lien, owner may exempt $500 out of excess in lieu of homestead.

A judgment debtor who is the owner of a homestead in making a selection of property as exempted from levy and sale in lieu of a homestead may not make such selection or have such exemption allowed from money, salary, or wages, due him from any person, partnership, or corporation. Money deposited by or in the name of a judgment debtor is money due him within the meaning of such statutory provision and may not be allowed him as exempt in lieu of a homestead (see also: Exemptions).

Interest. The legal rate is 6 per cent. Parties may contract in writing for 8 per cent. No penalty is attached for the violation of the law. If a contract is made for a higher rate than 8 per cent, the contract as to interest is void, and the recovery is limited to the principal sum and 6 per cent, except that corporations may pay higher than 8 per cent on loans maturing in not less than one year. Interest is computed upon judgments and decrees at the rate specified in the instrument upon which said judgment or decree is rendered, otherwise at 6 per cent on other judgments. Interest is not recoverable on open running accounts, when there are no circumstances from which an agreement to allow interest can be inferred, and there has been no vexatious delay of payment. Open accounts draw interest after statement is made and account rendered. Interest from and after maturity may be allowed on items of wages, or salary, payable monthly.

Special provision is made by statute for the licensing of small loan companies who are permitted to charge up to 3% per month on loans not exceeding $300.00 in principal. Pawn brokers also are permitted to charge interest not exceeding 5% per month on loans not in excess of $25.00, and 3% per month on loans in excess of $25.00. Small loan companies and others licensed to charge more than 8% interest annually are barred from collecting either interest or principal if notes or other instruments signed by the debtors provide for the payment of attorney fees, garage bills, expenses of repossession or any other sums in addition to the principal amount and the interest allowed by statute. Moreover, judgments rendered on notes or other obligations which bear more than 8% per annum prior to judgment bear only 6% per annum from the date of the judgments.

No corporation wherever organized shall, nor anyone in its behalf, may interpose the defense or make any claim of usury in any suit or proceeding upon or with reference to any corporate obligation for the payment of money maturing or payable in whole or in part one year or more after the date thereof.

Judgments. Judgments become a lien on real estate if rendered within the State of Ohio by the filing of a certificate with the Clerk of Courts in the county in which the real estate is situated. The lien of the judgment dates from the day upon which the certificate was filed. Judgments become a lien on personal property upon the issuance of an execution and a levy against the property and the lien dates from the day upon which the property is seized under the levy. If no execution is issued within five years from the date of the judgment, and no certificate has been filed within any county in the state within five years from the date of the judgment, the judgment becomes dormant. It also becomes dormant unless a new certificate is filed or a new execution issued within five years from the date of the issuance of the last execution or the filing of the last certificate, whichever may have been done later. By the issuance of an execution or the filing of a certificate within every five-year period, a judgment may be kept alive during the entire lifetime of the person or corporation against whom it was rendered. If such certificate is not filed or execution issued periodically, the judgment may be revived at any time within twenty-one years from the date of the filing of the last certificate or the issuance of the last execution.

A judgment for money rendered upon any debt secured by a mortgage or other instrument in the nature of a mortgage on real property or any interest therein upon which there has been or is located a dwelling or dwellings for not more than two families, which has been used in whole or in part as a home or a farm dwelling, or which was or is held as a homestead by the person who executed or assumed such mortgage or other instrument, becomes unenforceable as to any deficiency remaining due thereon after the expiration of two years from the date of the confirmation of any judicial sale of such property completed subsequent to the rendition of the judgment, or after August 19th, 1939, whichever date shall be later; provided, however, that execution or attachment proceedings or creditors' bills instituted within that period for the purpose of collecting the judgment may thereafter be tried to completion. This limitation, however, may be waived in writing by agreement between the judgment debtor and the creditor entered into within the stipulated period and filed in the office of the clerk of the court in which the judgment was rendered.

Legal Tender. Notes of the United States, notes of solvent National Banks organized under act of Congress, notes of Federal Reserve Banks, silver certificates of the United States, and gold certificates of the United States may be received by county treasurers and the state treasurer in payment of legal demands, demand treasury notes, gold coins of the United States silver dollars and for obligations not exceeding ten dollars, lesser silver coins.

Liens. Every person who does work or labor, or furnishes machinery, material or fuel, for constructing, altering or repairing a boat, vessel or other water craft, or for erecting, altering, repairing or removing a house, mill, manufactory, or any furnace or furnace material therein, or other building, appurtenances, fixture, bridge or other structure, or for digging, drilling, boring, etc., any oil, gas or other well, or for altering, repairing, or constructing any oil derrick, oil tank, oil or gas pipe line, or furnishing tile for the drainage of any lot or land, by virtue of a contract, express or implied, with the owner, part owner, or lessee, of any interest in real estate, or the authorized agent of the owner, and every person who shall, as subcontractor, laborer or material man perform any labor or furnish machinery, materials or fuel to either original or principal contractor, or any subcontractor in the carrying forward, performing or completing such contract, shall have a lien upon the structure, etc., and upon the land whereon the same is located, upon filing in the office of the Recorder in the county in which said labor was performed, or material was furnished an affidavit showing the amount due over and above all legal off-sets, a description of the property to be charged with the lien, the name of the person for whom such machinery, etc., were furnished and labor performed, and of the owner, part owner or lessee, if known. Said affidavit must be filed within sixty days from the date on which the last machinery, etc., shall have been furnished, or the last labor performed.

Said affidavit must be filed within sixty days from the date on which the last machinery, etc., which have been furnished, or the last labor performed. Within thirty days from the date of the filing of such affidavit a copy thereof similarly sworn to must be sent by Registered Mail to the owner of the premises. In order to complete his lien, a general contractor or a sub-contractor, but not a materialman, must within thirty days of the date of the filing of said affidavit send to the owner of the premises by Registered Mail and affidavit setting forth the names of any sub-contractors or material-men under affiant and the amount due, or to become due, each, if any, and the names and amount due to laborers, if any is due.

The original contractor shall, whenever any payment of money becomes due from the owner or whenever he desires to draw any money from the owner, under such contract, or upon written demand of any mortgagee, make out and give to such owner, etc., a statement under oath showing the name of every subcontractor or laborer in his employ, and of every person furnishing machinery, labor, material, etc., which statement shall be accompanied by a certificate signed by every person furnishing machinery, material or fuel to him showing the amount due them, and shall also deliver to such owner, etc., similar sworn statements from every subcontractor accompanied by like certificates. Until such statements are furnished the owner contractor, subcontractor, etc., shall have no right of action against the owner or lien, and any payments made by the owner, before such statements are made, or without retaining sufficient money to pay such subcontractors, etc., as shown by said statements, shall be considered illegal and made in violation of the rights of the person intended to be benefited, and the rights of such material men, etc., to a lien shall not be affected thereby.

The liens of subcontractors shall be superior to any already taken by the principal contractor, but have no priority among themselves, except liens filed by persons performing manual labor shall have priority to the extent of the labor performed during the thirty days immediately preceding the date of the performance of the last labor.

The owner, part owner, etc., shall not be liable to the subcontractor, material men or laborers for any greater amount than he contracted to pay the original contractor, and shall be entitled to set off any damages which he may sustain by reason of any failure or omission in the performance of such contract.

The liens date back to the commencement of the construction excavation or improvement and are superior to liens given or recorded after that time, except that an elaborate statute gives priority to later construction mortgages, the proceeds of which are paid out property. Said lien shall remain six years from and after the date of the filing thereof, but if action is brought within that time to enforce the lien, the same shall continue in force until final adjudication. On sixty-day notice by owner action to foreclose must be brought or lien becomes void.

Liens are also given to persons who furnish material for the construction of roads, sidewalks, ditches, drains, etc.

Limitations. No limitation upon judgments; may be kept alive indefinitely by filing of certificate or issuance of execution every five years, or within twenty-one years from filing of last certificate or issuance of last execution, whichever is later. Within twenty-one years: An action for the recovery of the title or possession of real estate. Within fifteen years: An action upon an agreement or promise in writing or a foreign judgment. Within ten years: An action upon an official bond or undertaking of an assignee, trustee, or administrator. Within six years: An action upon a contract not in writing either express or implied. Married Women. Femme covert may sue and be sued as if sole, and husband shall join only when cause of action is joint. Like proceedings shall be had, and judgment rendered as though she were sole. Any interests, legal or equitable, in realty or personally belonging to women at marriage, or which are acquired by her during coverture becomes her separate property under her sole control, not to be taken for debts of husband or conveyed or incumbered by him, and to be conveyed by her as if sole, (except as to dower of husband). Neither husband nor wife, as such, is answerable for the actions of the other.

Minors. The age of majority for all persons is twenty-one years. Limitations of actions begin to run as to minors from the date of majority. "Issuers" of all securities, including stocks, bonds, notes, debentures, trust certificates, etc., with or without notice of the fact that owners of such securities are minors, may treat them as having full capacity and authority to exercise all rights of ownership in respect of such securities, including the right to receive and to receipt for payments and distributions, to transfer said securities, and to vote or execute proxies for voting, unless such issuer receives a certified copy of an order, judgment or decree of a court, judge or administrative body, the legal effect of which is to restrict, suspend or remove such capacity or authority.

Mortgages must be executed in the same manner as deeds, and the first mortgage recorded has the preference. Are foreclosed by suit in the court of common pleas, and there is no redemption of lands sold under foreclosure after confirmation of sale by the court. (See Chattel Mortgages.)

Motor Vehicles. Title to a motor vehicle in Ohio must be evidenced by a certificate of title in a form specified in detail by statute. See Ohio General Code 6290-13. Provision is made for noting on the certificate of title the debts and amounts of all liens against the motor vehicle, and the cancellation of such liens. Where there is no lien against the motor vehicle, the certificate of title is delivered to the owner thereof, otherwise possession of the certificate is given to the holder of the first lien.

Penalties are provided for purchasing or selling a motor vehicle without obtaining a proper certificate of title and promptly recording the same. Any right to or claim against a motor vehicle transferred in Ohio after January 1st, 1938, will not be recognized by any court in the absence of such a certificate.

Speed limit must be no greater or less than is reasonable or proper having due regard to the traffic, surface and width of the street or highway and of any other conditions then existing. Exceeding the following speed limits is prima facie unlawful: 20 miles per hour when passing a school building or the grounds thereof during school recess and while children are going to or leaving school during the opening or closing hours, and when appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected. 25 miles per hour in all other portions of a municipal corporation except on state routes and on through highways outside business districts, 35 miles per hour on state routes or through highways within municipalities outside business districts, 50 miles per hour on highways outside of municipal corporations.

Oaths. An oath required by law may be taken before the following officers: Within State—A judge or clerk of supreme court or court of common pleas, a probate judge, justice of the peace, notary public, mayor, or other officer as designated by statute. Without the State—By any officer authorized by law to take a deposition in such state.

Powers of Attorney. A power of attorney for the conveyance, mortgage, or lease of any estate or interest in real property, shall be signed, attested, acknowledged, and certified in the same manner as deeds, mortgages, and leases. Any other Power of Attorney granted for any other purpose or purposes need not be in writing.

Practice. Practice is regulated by the code of civil procedure. Proof of Claims. All claims against an assignee or administrator or executor must be verified by oath of the claimant, his agent or attorney that the same is just and lawful, and that the said amount is now due and unpaid; that there are no set-offs or counter claims, and what if any security the claimant holds. A default judgment may be taken before a justice of the peace on an account thus verified.

Replevin. An order for the delivery of specific personal property shall be issued upon the filing of an affidavit of plaintiff, his agent or attorney, showing: 1. A description of the property claimed. 2. That the plaintiff is the owner of the property, or has an interest therein, stating the facts. 3. That the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant. 4. That it was not taken on process issued against the plaintiff and is not claimed by plaintiff under title acquired directly or indirectly from one from whom the property was taken by process or court order, or if so taken, that it is exempt from execution. An order for the delivery shall thereupon issue, commanding the officer to take possession of the property. The sheriff shall then take the property, and cause the same to be appraised. The sheriff shall deliver the property so taken to plaintiff after the expiration of five days, upon plaintiff's executing to the defendant a bond in double the value of the property taken; that plaintiff will duly prosecute the action and return the property, or pay the value so appraised; provided, however, that the defendant may at any time within five days execute an undertaking to the plaintiff that he shall return the property, or pay the value so appraised, together with costs, etc., whereupon the property shall be returned to the defendant by the officer. If the property replevined consists of heir-looms, personal keepsakes, or other articles of like nature, the sheriff shall retain and safely keep the same, subject to the order of the court. If the defendant within ten days serve written notice that he will demand the return of the same upon final hearing of the case, the action of replevin may be maintained before a justice of the peace under proceedings, as above stated, when the appraised value of the property is $300 or less. If the appraised value of the property exceed $300, he shall then certify his proceedings to the court of common pleas. Municipal Courts have jurisdiction in Replevin actions when the appraised value of the property sought to be replevined does not exceed the amount of which said courts have jurisdiction in actions for the recovery of money only.

Sales of Goods. Sales Code. Contracts to sell need not be in writing unless goods valued at $2500.00 or over.

Sales in Bulk. Sales in bulk of merchandise or fixtures otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade, shall be void as against creditors of the seller unless the purchaser demands and receives from the seller a written list, certified under oath, containing the names, addresses and amounts due each of the seller's creditors and unless the purchaser shall, at least five days before taking possession of said goods and paying therefor, notify personally or by registered mail, every creditor whose name appears on said list or of whom the purchaser has knowledge of the proposed sale, the price terms and conditions thereof. Any purchaser not conforming to these terms shall at any time within ninety days after such sale, upon application of any of the creditors of the seller, become a trustee and be held accountable to such creditors for all such goods.

Service. Constructive service may be made by publication for non-residents of State or by personal service outside of Ohio. Service may be obtained upon a foreign corporation doing business in Ohio by serving the managing agent in charge of such business.

Every corporation, whether domestic or foreign, is required to designate an agent and the address of such agent upon whom service may be obtained at any time in any action against such corporation. This method of service is not exclusive but is additional to all other methods provided for by law.

In any action for any claim arising out of any accident or collision in which a motor vehicle is involved, if the owner or operator of such motor vehicle is a nonresident of Ohio, or is a resident of Ohio but conceals his whereabouts, service may be made upon the Secretary of the State of Ohio, and a copy of the petition in such case must be sent by registered mail to the address of the defendant if known.

Statute of Frauds. The usual form.

Stay of Execution. No stay of execution is allowed, except on judgments rendered by justices of the peace or municipal court, and where cases are taken from a lower to a higher court. For stay of executions in justice courts, see Executions.

Supplementary Proceedings. Such proceedings in this State are known by the name of proceedings in aid of execution, wherein a debtor, as well as persons supposed to be indebted to him, may be summoned before a referee, and an examination had as to his property and rights in action, which if found may be subjected to the plaintiff's claim.

Taxes. All property taxes are based on the true value of the property in money. Taxes on real estate become a lien on the day preceding the second Monday in April. Taxes are due on December 20th, of each year, but the party charged, may, at his option pay one-half on that date and the remainder on or before June 20th, next. If four consecutive years of taxes remain unpaid the State may foreclose and sell the land without appraisal and without right of redemption. If all the taxes and penalties are paid before the sale, the State relinquishes its claim. There is a collateral succession tax. No tax on shares of stock if the corporation pays taxes on its property in the state of Ohio and its franchise fees.

A distinction is made between money on hand, deposits in banks, receivables, productive investments, unproductive investments, and investments in bank and insurance shares and other classifications which are usual. Stock in Ohio corporations is not exempt. For further information refer to Ohio Classified Tax Law.

Wages. Wages or personal earnings are subject to attachment either prior to judgment on the several grounds provided by law, or after judgment under proceedings in aid of execution. (See however exemptions, this digest.)

No personal earnings are subject to attachment or garnishment unless a demand in writing for the excess over and above the amount of the personal earnings of the debtor exempt from execution or attachment shall be made at least five days and not more than thirty days before the order of attachment or garnishment is sought by delivering such demand to the debtor personally, or by leaving it at or by sending it by registered letter to the debtor's usual place of residence.

Assignments of wages are valid if executed prior to April 1st, 1933, or between April 1st and June 1st, 1939. No assignments of wages will be valid in Ohio if executed after June 1st, 1939. However, contracts between employers and their employees, or between employers and labor unions, as to any check off on the wages of such employees for the benefit of the unions, are valid.

Warehouse Receipts. Same as other states.

Wills. Every last will and testament (except nuncupative wills) shall be in writing, and signed at the end thereof by the party making the same, or by some other person in his presence and by his express direction, and shall be attested and subscribed in the presence of such party by two or more competent witnesses who saw the testator subscribe, or heard him acknowledge the same. No legatee or devisee under the will shall be a witness. Verbal wills made in the last sickness will be valid in respect to personal estate if reduced to writing and subscribed by two competent disinterested witnesses within ten days after the speaking of the testamentary words, and offered for probate within six months after the death of the testator. Contests of wills must be begun within six months after probate, except by infants and persons of unsound mind or in captivity, and as to such a like period exists after the respective disabilities are removed. Every will when admitted to probate must be filed in the office of the probate judge. Wills executed, proved, and allowed out of the State may be admitted to record in this State under proper proceedings in the probate court. A will drawn and executed in accordance with the law of the place where executed is valid in Ohio.

Workmen's Compensation Act. Employers of one or two employees may qualify by filing the proper certificate and paying the required premium to the Ohio Industrial Commission. Every person, firm, or corporation, including public service corporations that has in service three or more workmen or operatives regularly in the same business or in or about the same establishment under any contract of hire, express or implied, oral or written, is required to pay an annual premium into the State Insurance Fund and to qualify with the Industrial Commission of Ohio. All employers whether of one or more employees who so qualify are exempt from suit arising out of any injury or death occurring in the course of, or by reason of the employment of any employee. Failure to so qualify carries severe penalties and deprives the employer of the right to the common law defenses of the assumption of the risk and the fellow servant rule. Ohio has an elaborate Workmen's Compensation Act. (For further details see Ohio General Code, Section 1465 and sub-sections.)

Assignment. An insolvent debtor may, in good faith, execute an assignment of property to one or more assignees, in trust toward the satisfaction of his creditors, which will not, however, be valid if it be upon, or contain, any trust or condition by which any creditor is to receive a preference; but in such case, the property of the debtor becomes a trust fund to be administered in equity, inuring to the benefit of all creditors. The debtor is insolvent when he is unable to pay his creditors, from his own means, his debts when they fall due. An assignment is void against any creditor not assenting to it. 1. If it tends to coerce any creditor to release or compromise his demand. 2. Provides for the payment of any claim known to the assignor to be false. 3. Reserves any interest in the assigned property to the assignor, or for his benefit, before his debts are paid, except his lawful exemptions. 4. Confers upon the assignee any power which, if exercised, might prevent or delay the immediate conversion of the assigned property to the purposes of the trust, or 5. Exempts the assignee from liability for neglect of duty or misconduct. The assignment must be in writing, subscribed by the assignor, or by his authorized agent, in writing, and must be acknowledged. Within twenty days after the assignment, the assignor must make and file a full and true inventory showing: 1. All the creditors. 2. The place of residence of each creditor if known, and if not, the fact that it is not. 3. The sum owing each creditor, and the nature of the liability, whether arising on written security, account or otherwise. 4. The true consideration of the liability in each case and the place where it arose. 5. Every existing judgment, mortgage or other security for the payment of any debt or liability of the assignor. 6. All property of the assignor at the date of the assignment which is exempt by law from execution, and 7. All of the assignor's property at the date of the assignment, both real and personal, or every kind not exempt, and the incumbrance existing thereon, and all vouchers and securities relating thereto and the value of such property according to the best knowledge of the assignor. The assignor must make affidavit, that the inventory is in all respects just and true, according to his best knowledge and belief. The assignment must be recorded in the office of the county clerk and the inventory must be filed with such officer. If more than one assignor, the assignment, or a copy of it, must be recorded, and a copy of the inventory filed in every county in which any assignor has a place of business. The filing and recording of inventory and assignment must be done in twenty days after the assignment, or it is void. Within thirty days after the date of an assignment for the benefit of creditors the assignee must enter a bond to the State, with sufficient sureties, the amount of said bond to be named and approved by the judge of the district court of the county in which the original inventory was filed, and conditioned for the faithful discharge of the trust and due accounting for all moneys received by the assignee, which bond must be filed in the same office with the original inventory.

Attachment. The plaintiff in a civil action may, at or after the commencement thereof, have an attachment against the property of the defendant: 1. When the defendant or one of the several defendants, is a foreign corporation, or a non-resident. 2. When the defendant, or one of several defendants, has absconded with intention to defraud his creditors. 3. Has left the county of his residence to avoid the service of summons. 4. So conceals himself that a summons cannot be served upon him. 5. Is about to remove his property, or a part thereof, out of the jurisdiction of the court, with the intent to defraud his creditors. 6. Is about to convert his property, or a part thereof, into money, for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors. 7. Has any property or rights in action, which he conceals. 8. Has assigned, removed or disposed of, or is about to dispose of his property or a part thereof, with the intent to defraud, hinder or delay his creditors. 9. Fraudulently contracted the debt, or fraudulently incurred the liability or obligation for which suit is about to be or has been brought. 10. Where the damages for which the action is brought are injuries arising from the commission of some felony or misdemeanor, or the seduction of any female. 11. When the debtor has failed to pay the price or value of any article or thing delivered, which by contract he is bound to pay upon delivery. The order of attachment is made by a clerk when there is filed an affidavit of the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, showing: 1. The nature of the plaintiff's claim. 2. That it is just. 3. The amount which the affiant believes the plaintiff ought to recover. 4. The existence of some one or more grounds for the attachment above enumerated. But the order shall not be issued until an undertaking on the part of the plaintiff has been executed by one or more sufficient sureties approved by the Clerk and filed in his office, in a sum not exceeding double the amount of plaintiff's claim, to the effect that the plaintiff shall pay to the defendant all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment together with a reasonable attorney's fee if the order be wrongfully obtained; but no undertaking shall be required where the party or parties defendant are all non-residents or a foreign corporation. The order is directed to the sheriff and requires him to attach the lands, tenements, goods, stocks, rights, credits, moneys and effects of the defendant in his county. And orders may issue to the sheriffs of several counties at the same time. The return day of the order when issued at the commencement of the action, shall be the same as that of the summons, and when issued afterwards, it shall be returnable in twenty days. If several are issued, they must be levied in the order received by the sheriff and take precedence as levied. An order of attachment may be granted by the court in which the action is brought or the judge thereof, although the claim is not due, upon the filing of the usual undertaking and the affidavit of the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, showing the nature of the plaintiff's claim, that it is just, and when the same will become due, and that the debtor has sold, conveyed, or otherwise disposed of his property with the fraudulent intent to cheat and defraud his creditors, or to hinder or delay them in the collection of their debts, or is about to make such sale, conveyance or disposition of his property with such fraudulent intent, or is about to remove his property, or a material part thereof with intent or to the effect of cheating or defrauding his creditors, or hindering or delaying them in the collection of their debts. No bond is required in the attachment of the property of a non-resident person in any court.

Banks. All state banks are under supervision or control of a Bank Commissioner and Banking Board consisting of the Commissioner and three other members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the State Senate. They are required to be examined at least twice each year and a report of the condition of each bank may be called for at any time and at least three times each year.

Banks may be organized by three or more persons approved by the Bank Commissioner, a majority of whom must be residents, but only after an application for authority to engage in banking business has been filed with and a certificate issued by the Bank Commissioner and the Banking Board, who are required to make an investigation and hold a public hearing touching upon the qualifications. Length of incorporation shall be for not to exceed fifty years. Capital stock must be fully paid and shall be based on a graduated scale based on population of town or city, ranging from ten thousand ($10,000) dollars for a population of one thousand or less, to one hundred thousand ($100,000) dollars for twenty thousand inhabitants or more. A surplus of ten per cent of the paid-up capital must also be created and paid in; capital may be increased or decreased subject to approval of Banking Board. A bank may also issue preferred stock subject to approval of Bank Commissioner, and said stockholders shall not be subject to double liability. Stockholders are liable additionally for the par value of stock owned, except that this provision does not apply to banks organized after April 23, 1937. Such additional liability shall cease as to all banks transacting business on July 1, 1927, provided due notice is given according to the act and provided that this provision shall only apply to banks which are members of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and only so long as said bank remains a member of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

No stockholder can borrow from a bank on the security of the bank stock. Banks are managed by a Board of Directors not less than three or more than twenty-one, who must own a certain number of unhypothecated shares of stock, depending on the capital of the bank. Banks are limited by law to amount of securities of any one obligor or maker which they may purchase, and also to amount of obligation of any one person, or entity.

Interest on deposits cannot be paid in an amount in excess of that fixed by Bank Commissioner and Banking Board. No bank shall employ its money directly or indirectly in trade or commerce, and shall not hold stock in any other bank or corporation.

No bank, banker, or bank official shall give preference to any depositor or creditor by pledging the assets of the bank as collateral security or by selling or transferring any of the assets of any insolvent bank in consideration of any deposit in such bank; provided any bank by the unanimous consent of a quorum of its Board of Directors may pledge the assets of such bank as security for postal savings funds, Government funds, Indian funds under the control of the Federal Government, funds deposited by order of Federal court, or by any officer of the Federal Government in his official capacity, funds under the control of the Bank Commissioner, State funds of the State of Oklahoma, County, Township, City, Town, School District, benevolent or fraternal association funds deposited in such bank in cases where no surety bond is given to secure such deposits; may also borrow money and pledge assets of the bank as collateral security subject to provisions of the Act and with the consent of the Bank Commissioner.

Every bank doing business under the laws of this State shall have at hand at all times available funds in the following sums, to-wit: an amount equal to five per cent of all time deposits, and fifteen per cent of all demand deposits unless the bank shall be an approved depository for the reserve of any other bank, in which event an amount equal to five per cent of their time deposits, and eighteen per cent of all demand deposits, which amount may consist of actual cash on hand and balances due to them by good solvent banks selected from time to time with the approval of the Bank Commissioner; said Bank Commissioner may at his discretion require up to but not exceeding one-third of said amounts to be in actual cash. Whenever the available funds shall be below the required amount, said banks may not increase their loans or investments or make any division of profits until the required proportion has been restored; if not restored within thirty days after notice by the Bank Commissioner, the bank may be deemed insolvent.

Except as otherwise provided by agreement, and except as to subsequent holders of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer or endorsed specially or in blank where an item is deposited or received for collection, the bank of deposit shall be the agent of the depositor for its collection, and each subsequent collecting bank shall be sub-agent of the depositor but shall be authorized to follow the instructions of its immediate forwarding bank, and any credit given by any such agent or subagent therefor shall be revocable until such time as the proceeds are received in actual money, or an unconditional credit given on the books of another bank.

Credit given by a bank for an item drawn on or payable at such bank shall be provisional subject to revocation at or before the end of the day on which the item is deposited in the event the item is found not payable for any reason. It shall be the duty of the initial or subsequent agent collecting bank to exercise ordinary care in the collection of an item, and when such duty is performed, such agent bank shall not be responsible if for any cause payment is not received in money or in unconditional credit given on the books of another bank. The initial or subsequent agent collecting bank shall be liable for its own lack of exercise of ordinary care, but shall not be liable for the negligence, misconduct, mistakes or defaults of any other agent bank or of the drawee or payor bank. When an item is received on deposit payable in another town or city, it shall be deemed the exercise of ordinary care to forward such item by mail not later than the business day next following its receipt, either direct to the drawee or payor in the event such drawee or payor is a bank or to another bank collecting agent according to the usual banking custom, either located in the town or city where the item is payable or in another town or city. An item received by deposit payable, at another bank in the same town shall be deemed handled with ordinary care if presented or payment at any time not later than the next business day following the day on which the item is received either to the drawee or payor by agent or messenger or through the local clearing house under established procedure. An item is deemed paid when the amount is finally charged to the account of the maker or drawer if the item was received by mail. An agent bank forwarding an item for collection is not responsible for loss or destruction in transit provided there is no lack of ordinary care on its part.

A bank shall be deemed insolvent, first, when the actual market value of its assets is insufficient to pay its liability; second, when it is unable to meet the demands of its creditors in the usual and customary manner; third, when it shall fail to make good its reserve as required by law.

In case of insolvency, the winding up of its affairs shall be under the control of the Bank Commissioner.

False reports by any officer, director, agent, or clerk of any bank with intent to deceive as to the condition of the bank shall make the person guilty of a felony.

No active managing officer may borrow money from the bank with which he is connected. No bank shall accept on deposits when such bank is insolvent and a violator is guilty of a felony.

Banks may be members of a Federal Reserve Bank. The bank has a general lien depending on possession for all that is due him as such upon all property in his hands belonging to a customer for the balance due him from such customer in the course of the business. Any bank or trust company may with the approval of the State Bank Commissioner and by action of its Board of Directors, enter into contracts, incur obligations, subscribe to and acquire stock, debentures, bonds, or securities of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and do all acts necessary to become entitled to membership or other rights or privileges by virtue of the provisions of Section 12B of the Federal Reserve Act as amended.

In case of insolvency, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation may act without bond as liquidating agent of the State Bank Commissioner for any closed bank and have all usual powers of a liquidating agent except those in conflict with Section 12B of the Federal Reserve Act. When the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation shall have paid the insured deposit liabilities of any closed bank, it shall be subrogated to all rights which the owners to such deposits against such closed banking institution. The State Bank Commissioner and the liquidating agent of any closed banking institution may borrow from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and pledge the assets of such closed banking institution as security for the loan provided the loan is approved by the District Court having jurisdiction of the closed banking institution. Any custodian of public funds of any kind or nature required by law to secure proper collateral before depositing public funds in a bank or trust company whose deposits are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, will be required to secure collateral only for sums deposited in excess of the amount of deposit insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

The bank must notify the Tax Commission of the delivery of any papers or securities from a deposit box, giving them a copy of the list of securities taken therefrom.

All employees of a bank are required to give fidelity bonds in lieu of individual bonds.

Blue Sky Law. It shall be unlawful for any person, co-partnership, association, or corporation, hereinafter called the promoter, either as principal, or through bankers or agents, to sell or offer for sale or by means of any advertisements, circulars, or prospectus, or by any other form of public or private offering, to attempt to promote the sale of any speculative securities in this State, including capital stock of such promoter, unless there first shall have been filed with and approved by the Oklahoma Securities Commission. (a) The names and addresses of the directors, trustees and officers, if the issuer be a corporation, or association or trust; or all partners, if the issuer be a partnership, and of the issuer, if the issuer be an individual; (b) The location of the issuer's principal business office and of its principal office in this State, if any; (c) The purpose of incorporation (if incorporated) and the general character of the business actually to be transacted by the issuer, and the purposes of the proposed issue; (d) A statement of the capitalization of the issuer; a balance sheet showing the amount and general character of its assets and liabilities on a day not more than sixty days prior to the date of filing such balance sheet; a detailed statement of the plan upon which the issuer propose to transact business; a copy of the security for the registration of which application is made and a copy of any circular, prospectus, advertisement or other description of such securities then prepared by or for such issuer or by or for such applicant (if the applicant shall not be the issuer) to be used for distribution or publication in this State; (e) A statement of the amount of the issuer's income, expenses, and fixed charges during the last fiscal year, or if in actual business less than one year, then for such time as the issuer has been in actual business; (f) A statement showing the price at which such security is proposed to be sold, together with the maximum amount of commission or other form of remuneration to be paid in cash or otherwise, directly or indirectly, for or in connection with the sale or offering for sale of such securities; (g) A detailed statement showing the items of cash, property, services, patents, good will and any other consideration for which such securities have been or are issued in payment; (h) The account of capital stock which is to be set aside and disposed of as promotion stock, and a statement of all stock issued from time to time as promotion stock; (i) If the issuer is a corporation, there shall be filed with the application a certified copy of its Articles of Incorporation with all amendments and of its existing By-laws, if not already on file in the office of the Commission or of the Secretary of State of this State. If the issuer is a trustee, there shall be filed with the application a copy of all instruments by which the trust is created or declared and in which it is accepted and acknowledged. If the issuer is a partnership or an unincorporated association, or joint stock company, or any other form of organization whatsoever, there shall be filed with the application a copy of its articles of partnership or association and all other papers pertaining to its organization, if not already on file in the office of the Commission or the Secretary of this State.

At the time of filing the information, as hereinbefore prescribed in this section, the applicant shall pay to the Commissioner a fee of one-tenth of one per centum of the aggregate par value of the securities to be sold in this state, for which the applicant is seeking registration, but in no case shall such fee be less than twenty ($20.00) dollars or more than two hundred ($200.00) dollars. In case of stock having no par value, the price at which such stock is to be offered to the public shall be deemed to be the par value of such stock.

If the said Commission shall decide that the sale of stock or bonds will be fairly and honestly conducted both to the corporation and to the public, such permit shall be granted, provided the commissions, promotion and other incidental expenses, exclusive of exempted expenses, shall not be more than fifteen per cent of the price of which the stock or bonds is sold. Every foreign corporation, before selling or offering for sale, any speculative securities in this state, shall also file its written consent, irrevocable, that actions may be commenced against it in the property courts of any county of the state. The said Commission shall at any time have the authority and jurisdiction to investigate the affairs of any speculative enterprise, the securities of which are being sold or offered for sale in this state. Whoever violates any provision of this Act shall be punished by a fine not more than $5000.00 or by imprisonment for not more than three years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Bogus Checks. Every person who with intent to cheat and defraud, shall issue or use any false or bogus checks shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed $100 or by imprisonment in county jail for thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Chattel Mortgages. A mortgage on personal property must be signed by the mortgagor. Such signature may either be attested by acknowledgment before any person authorized to take acknowledgments of deeds, or it may be signed and validated by the signatures of two persons not interested therein. The chattel mortgage or a duly authenticated copy thereof must be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county where the property is situated. A chattel mortgage insufficiently witnessed or unfiled gives no right against any one. It may provide for attorney fee and contain a power of sale. When the conditions of a chattel mortgage have been broken, it may be foreclosed by a sale of the property mortgaged. Notice of such sale shall be given by posting in three public places in the county where the property is to be sold and by mailing a copy by registered mail to mortgagor, at least ten days before the time therein specified for such sale. The notice must contain: 1. The names of the mortgagor and mortgagee, and the assignor, if any. 2. The date of the mortgage. 3. The nature of the default and the amount claimed to be due thereon at the date of the notice. 4. A description of the mortgaged property, conforming substantially to that contained in the mortgage. 5. The time and place of sale, and 6. The name of the party, agent or attorney foreclosing such mortgage. The mortgagee, his assigns, or any other person may, in good faith become a purchaser of the property. If foreclosed by an attorney of record, an attorney fee, if specified in the mortgage, may be taxed as costs. A chattel mortgage is valid for three years from the date of filing with the county clerk. At any time after foreclosure by notice has been commenced and before sale, if it shall be made to appear by the affidavit of the mortgagor, his agent or attorney, to the satisfaction of the judge of the district court that the mortgagor has a legal counter-claim or any other valid defense against the collection of the whole or any part of the amount claimed to be due on the mortgage, such judge may enjoin further proceedings and direct foreclosure to be made in the district court. Failing debtor may now prefer one or more of his creditors by mortgage. A chattel mortgage ceases to be valid against creditors, subsequent purchasers of incumbrances in good faith after the expiration of three years from the filing thereof, unless a copy of the mortgage and a sworn statement of the amount remaining due thereon be filed anew in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the mortgagor then resides.

Conditional Sales. Any instrument in writing, or promissory note, evidencing the conditional sale of personal property, which retains the title to the same in the vendor until the purchase price is paid in full, shall be void as against innocent purchasers, or the creditors of the vendee, unless the original instrument or a true copy thereof shall have been deposited in the office of the county clerk in and for the county wherein the property shall be kept; and when so deposited, it shall be subject to the law applicable to the filing of chattel mortgages; and any conditional, verbal sale of personal property, reserving to the vendor any title in the property sold, shall be void as to creditors and innocent purchasers for value.

Conveyances. Husband and wife may own and convey property separately without the other joining, except homestead. In case of conveyance or mortgage of, or contract relating to homestead, the same may be avoided by one not joining in instrument. Conveyance valid between parties without being recorded, but no deed, mortgage, contract, bond, or lease (for more than one year) is valid against third persons unless recorded, except in case of actual notice. Deed intended as security is a mortgage, and must be recorded and foreclosed as such. Power of attorney must be executed and acknowledged same as deed, and also recorded. To admit to record, acknowledgment indispensable in case of instruments affecting real estate. Statute prescribes forms of deeds and mortgages and acknowledgments, which should be complied with in word or substance. (For sales of merchandise, see Sales.)

Courts. The courts of the State are: Supreme, District, Superior, County, Justice of the Peace, and Courts of Common Pleas. Supreme court has appellate jurisdiction. Falling Building, Portland, Oregon
(See Card in Attorneys' List)

Accounts. In an action brought to recover a balance due upon a mutual, open, and current account where there have been reciprocal demands between the parties, the cause of action shall be deemed to have accrued from the time of the last item proved in the account on either side; but whenever a period of more than one year shall elapse between any of a series of items or demands, they are not to be deemed such an account. Accounts are assignable either verbally or in writing and the assignee may sue thereon in his own name, but the action by the assignee shall be without prejudice to any set-off or other defense existing at the time of, or before notice of the assignment. This does not apply to negotiable promissory notes or bills of exchange transferred in good faith and upon good consideration before due.

Acknowledgments. May be taken in the State by any judge of the supreme court, county judge, justice of the peace, clerk of the supreme court, county clerk, or notary public. In any other state, territory, or district of the United States, according to the laws of such state, territory, or district; or of this State, before the judge of a court of record, justice of the peace, notary public, or other officer authorized by the laws of such state, territory, or district, or before any commissioner appointed by the governor of this State for that purpose. Foreign countries: Deeds may be acknowledged according to the law of such country, or of this State before any notary public therein, minister plenipotentiary, minister extraordinary, minister resident, charge d'affaires, commissioner, counsel, vice-counsel or counsel general of the United States, appointed to reside therein.

Actions. Every action shall be brought in the name of the real party in interest but an executor or administrator, a trustee of an express trust, or a person expressly authorized by statute, may sue without joining with him the person for whom the action is prosecuted. The complaint, answer, and reply must be verified. Summons must be subscribed by plaintiff or his attorney who shall be a resident attorney of Oregon, and who shall state his residence or post office address thereon. A defendant must appear, plead, or answer within seven days in the Justice and District Courts, and in the Circuit Court within ten days from service of summons, if served in the county where the action is brought; within twenty days if served elsewhere in the State.

Service of summons by publication shall be not less than once a week for four weeks. The defendant has from first day of publication to the last day, as prescribed in the order for publication, in which to answer.

Administration of Estates. In counties having a population of over 35,000 all in one judicial district, the Circuit Court has jurisdiction; and in counties having less than 35,000 population, the County Court has jurisdiction of all estates, as follows: 1. When the deceased was an inhabitant of the county in which he died. 2. When the deceased not being an inhabitant of the state dies in the county leaving assets therein. 3. When the deceased not being an inhabitant of the state dies out of the state leaving assets in the county or where assets thereafter come into the county. 4. Where real property devised by the testator is situated in the county and no other county has gained jurisdiction. Letters shall be issued as follows: 1. To the widow, husband, or next of kin, in the discretion of the court. 2. To one or more of the principal creditors. 3. To any other suitable person whom the court may select, but a non-resident is not qualified to act as executor or administrator. An action may be commenced against an executor or administrator any time after the expiration of six months from the granting of letters testamentary, or of administration, and until the final settlement of the estate and discharge of such executor or administrator from the trust, and not otherwise. Presentation of the plaintiff's claim to the executor or administrator and disallowance by him is a condition precedent to the bringing of action. Upon proper showing to the county court, executor or administrator may borrow money upon any property belonging to estate to facilitate the settlement of the estate, and upon proper showing to the county court, executor or administrator may execute deeds of conveyance to fulfill bonds or contracts to convey real property, made by the deceased. Executor or administrator must publish notice of his appointment, and make and file an inventory of the estate which must be appraised by three competent persons appointed by the court. 1929 Statute augments this provision by providing that County Court shall determine terms and rate of interest of mortgage which executor or administrator may execute. Following not qualified to act as Administrators or Executors: nonresidents of Oregon, minors, judicial officers, other than justices of the Peace, persons of unsound mind, or who have been convicted of any felony or of a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude.

A foreign corporation not prohibited by the laws of this State and having complied with our law with reference to doing business here, may hold property and convey the same as freely as domestic corporations and may sue and be sued. Law is silent as to right of individual aliens to hold property depends upon international reciprocity.

All powers granted or assumed by any corporation may subsequently be amended, altered or repealed.

A sale, lease, assignment or transfer of business, franchise and property as a whole of any corporation now existing or hereafter formed in this State, may be made with the consent of the stockholders, holding of record two-thirds of the issued capital stock of such corporation, provided such consent be expressed (at a regular or special meeting of the stockholders of such corporation, called for that purpose), and the conveyance be in consideration of lawful money of the United States.

Both domestic and foreign corporations, excepting only those herein-after mentioned, and those organized for any educational, literary, scientific, religious or charitable purpose, pay a graduated annual license fee based on their authorized capital stock as shown by annual report required. Costs. If plaintiff is a non-resident of the county, in a justice court, the justice may require him to give an undertaking for costs. Costs follow the judgment in justice's court irrespective of the amount recovered. In courts of record, if plaintiff recovers, he is entitled to cost in actions involving open mutual accounts, actions for recovery of personal property and certain other cases, where the total of both parties exceed $250.00; in other actions for the recovery of money or damages if he recovers $50 or more.

In courts of equity, costs are discretionary with the judge.

Attorneys representing non-resident clients are responsible for costs. A defendant who prevails in an action is always entitled to costs.

Costs follow the judgment in District Court irrespective of amount recovered.

Courts. The Supreme Court has jurisdiction to revise the final decisions of the Circuit Courts, and may in its own discretion take original jurisdiction in mandamus, quo warranto, and habeas corpus proceedings. It consists of seven justices who are elected for terms of six years.

All judicial powers not vested in some other court belong to the Circuit Court, which sits in each of the 20 judicial districts: they have appellate jurisdiction and supervisory control over all inferior courts, officers, and tribunals, including the County Courts, the jurisdiction of which is exclusive in probate matters, and concurrent in civil actions at law up to $500.00.

In a judicial district comprising one county which has more than 35,000 and less than 100,000 population, however, all judicial jurisdiction has been transferred to the Circuit Court.

In all counties having a population in excess of 100,000 there shall be a District Court with jurisdiction up to $1,000.00 in civil cases, except those affecting real property, and a limited criminal jurisdiction.

In such counties there shall be no County Court, and the probate jurisdiction shall be administered by the Circuit Court.

The Justice Courts, whose powers in Multnomah County are exercised by the District Court, shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the Circuit and County courts of all civil actions, except those regarding real property, not involving a sum greater than $250.00. Such courts also exercise a limited criminal jurisdiction.

Curtsey. The widower of every deceased person shall be entitled to the use, during his natural life, of one-half part of the lands his wife was seized of an estate of inheritance at any time during the marriage, although no issue born; all other laws of this State applicable to dower shall be applicable in like effect to estate by the curtesy. No action or suit shall be brought after ten years from death of a decedent, to recover or reduce to possession curtesy or dower by the surviving spouse of such decedent.

Days of Grace. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Deeds. No witnesses are needed in execution of deed. (See Acknowledgments.) If executed in any other state, territory, or district of the United States, such Deed shall be acknowledged by: (1) a Clerk or Deputy Clerk of any Federal Court; (2) a Clerk or Deputy Clerk of any Court of Record of any State or other jurisdiction; (3) a Notary Public; (4) a Commissioner of Deed.

Unless recorded, a conveyance is void against a subsequent purchaser in good faith and for a valuable consideration whose conveyance is first recorded.

Deeds executed within this State of lands or any interest in lands therein shall be signed by the grantors and may be acknowledged before any Judge of the Supreme Court, Circuit Judge, County Judge, Justice of Peace or Notary Public within the State, and the officer taking such acknowledgment shall indorse therein a certificate of the acknowledgment thereof and the true date of making the same under his hand.

Conveyances, transfers, or liens executed by either husband or wife, to or in favor of the other, are valid to the same extent as between other persons. A conveyance to husband and wife, jointly, creates an estate by entirety.

Depositions. In all affidavits and depositions the witness must be made to speak in the first person. Depositions shall be taken in the forms of questions and answers, unless the parties agree to a different mode. Depositions of witnesses outside of the State may be taken upon a commission issued by the court, on the application of either party, upon five days' previous notice to the other. It shall be issued to a person agreed upon by the parties, or if they do not agree, to a judge, justice of the peace, notary public, or clerk of a court selected by the officer issuing it. Such interrogatories, direct and cross, as the respective parties may prepare, may be annexed to the commission, or, when the parties agree to that mode, the examination may be without written interrogatories. If deposition be taken outside of State, eight days' notice shall be given to adverse party of time and place of examination, name of commissioner and the witness, if the distance of place of examination from place where testimony is to be used do (does) not exceed fifty miles, and one day in addition for every additional 25 miles. Either party may attend upon such examination, and examine the witness on oral interrogatories, but if either party by written notice to the other, within three days from the service of the original notice, require it, it shall be taken upon written interrogatories, to be settled, if not agreed upon, by the same officer and in the same manner as in case of a deposition upon commission; and in such case the deposition shall be taken, certified, and directed by the commissioner in same manner as a deposition upon commission. Either party may take the deposition of a witness in this State before any person authorized to administer oaths, upon giving the adverse party three days' previous notice, and one day's additional notice for every twenty-five miles the witness resides from the place of trial, of the time and place of examination, the name of the officer and of the witness. The deposition shall be written by the officer taking the same or by the witness, or by some disinterested person, in the presence and under the direction of such officer. When completed it shall be read to or by the witness and subscribed by him. The officer taking the deposition shall append thereto his certificate, under the seal of his office, if there be a seal to the effect that the deposition was taken before him, at a place mentioned, between certain hours of a day or days mentioned, and reduced to writing by a person therein named; that before proceeding to the examination the witness was duly sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth; that the deposition was read to or by the witness, and then by him subscribed. The deposition should then be securely sealed, and addressed to the court of the county issuing the commission. Parties may stipulate that depositions may be taken without issuance of a commission by the Court.

Descent and Distribution of Property. Real property descends as follows: 1. In equal shares to his or her children, and to the issue of any deceased child by right of representation; and if there be no child of the intestate living at the time of his or her death, such real property shall descend to all his or her other lineal descendants; and if all such descendants are in the same degree of kindred to the intestate, they shall take such real property equally or otherwise they shall take according to the right of representation. 2. If the intestate shall leave no lineal descendants, such real property shall descend to his wife, or if the intestate be a married woman, and leave no lineal descendants, then such real property shall descend to her husband; and if the intestate leave no wife or husband, then such real property shall descend in equal proportions to his or her father and mother. 3. If the intestate shall leave no lineal descendants, neither husband, nor wife, nor father, such real property shall descend to his or her mother; if the intestate shall leave no lineal descendants, neither husband, nor wife, nor mother, such real property shall descend to his or her father; if the intestate shall leave no lineal descendants, neither husband, nor wife, nor father, nor mother, such real property shall descend in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of the intestate, and to the issue of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation. 4. If the intestate shall leave no lineal descendants, neither husband nor wife, nor father, mother, brother, nor sister, such real property shall descend to his or her next of kin in equal degree, excepting that when there are two or more collateral kindred in equal degree but claiming through different ancestors, those who claim through the nearest ancestor shall be preferred to those claiming through a more remote ancestor. 5. When any child shall die under the age of twenty-one years and leave no husband nor wife nor children, any real estate which descended to such child shall descend to the heirs of the ancestor from whom such real property descended the same as if such child died before the death of such ancestor. 6. If the intestate shall leave no lineal descendants or kindred, such real property shall escheat to the State of Oregon. Personal property descends the same as realty, except the husband surviving takes half wife's personality, the wife surviving takes half husband's personality, and survivor takes all in the absence of issue.

Dower. The widow of every deceased is entitled to dower during her natural life of one-half part of all the lands whereof her husband was seized during marriage, unless she is lawfully barred thereof. Same right given to husband re curtesy. Where a husband purchases land during coverture, and mortgages the same to secure payment of the purchase money, his widow is not entitled to dower as against the mortgagee, although she shall not have united in the mortgage. A woman is not barred of her dower by reason of being an alien.

Equity of Redemption. (See Executions.)

Executions. The party in whose favor judgment is given may at any time thereafter within ten years, have execution issued to enforce payment. After ten years from the entry of judgment the lien thereof shall expire, provided the judgment is not renewed within the ten-year period, which may be done and repeated until satisfied. Execution may issue against the person or judgment debtor, against his property, or for the delivery of real or of personal property. The sale of property upon execution shall be made by auction. Property sold on execution, when subject to redemption, may be redeemed by the following persons: First—The mortgagor, or judgment debtor or his successors in interest. Second—A creditor having a lien by judgment decree or mortgage on any portion of the property. A lien creditor may redeem within sixty days after confirmation of sale by the court. A mortgagor or judgment debtor may redeem within one year after confirmation.

Foreign Judgments may be basis of action, but must be pleaded and proved.

Garnishment. Attachment or execution may be levied upon personal property of the defendant in the hands of third persons, or on debts due defendant, by leaving a copy of writ and notice of garnishment to be served upon third party holding property of defendant, and such debtor or third person shall furnish the sheriff a certificate showing property in his possession belonging to defendant. If the certificate is unsatisfactory, the garnishee may be examined under oath, and be subjected to judgment if consistent.

The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); Nov. 11 (Armistice Day); general election day; Thanksgiving; December 25 (Christmas Day); and election days and any day set apart by the President or the Governor. No judicial business can be transacted on any of foregoing days except for certain purposes. When day of maturity of negotiable instrument falls upon Sunday, or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Instruments falling due on Saturday are to be presented for payment on next succeeding business day, except that instruments payable on demand may, at the option of the holder, be presented for payment before twelve o'clock, noon, on Saturday, when that entire day is not a holiday. Whenever any legal holiday other than Sunday falls upon Sunday, the Monday following shall be observed as such holiday.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

A conveyance transfer or lien executed by either husband or wife to or in favor of the other shall be valid to the same extent as between other persons; provided that when a husband or wife shall convey to the other an undivided one-half of any real property and shall retain a like undivided one-half and in such conveyance there be used words indicating an intention to create an estate in entirety, said husband and wife shall be deemed to hold the real property described in said conveyance by entirety.

Injunctions. The ordinary rules of equity apply in injunction proceedings.

The injunction may be allowed as a provisional remedy during the pendency of the suit when it appears to the court that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded.

The plaintiff is required, in all injunction proceedings, to give an undertaking with one or more sufficient sureties for the purpose of indemnifying the defendant, should the injunction be wrongful, or without sufficient cause.

The right to injunctive relief in connection with labor disputes is limited.

Interest. Legal rate, 6 per cent; contracts may be made in writing for 10 per cent. Usury works forfeiture of principal and interest; but judgment will be rendered against defendant for the principal of the debt to be paid into the common school fund of the county in which suit was commenced and against the plaintiff for costs.

The right to charge a higher rate of interest is given to those engaged in the small loan business and further provides that it shall be unlawful for anyone engaged in said business to contract for or receive any interest or consideration at a greater rate than 10 per cent per annum on loans made to any one person in the aggregate sum of more than $500.00, the security for which consists of a chattel mortgage or a title retaining contract upon a motor vehicle. This section further provides that it shall be unlawful to charge, contract for, or receive any interest or consideration at a greater rate than 2 per cent per month on any loan or loans made to any one person in the aggregate sum of $500.00, or less, the security for which consists of a chattel mortgage or a title retaining contract upon a motor vehicle.

Jurisdiction. (See Courts.)

Liens. Person furnishing material or performing labor in building or repairing any structure or superstructure has a lien on the same and sufficient land for its enjoyment.

Hotel and boarding house keepers have a lien on guests' baggage. Common carriers and warehousemen have a lien for charges.

Various statutes provide for laborers' liens in certain cases.

Wearing apparel exempt from apartment house owners lien. Apartment house owners not have lien on personal property of tenants brought on leased premises. No writing necessary to create such lien.

Revivor: Part payment or new promise in writing. On torts to real and personal property, six years, and on personal torts, two years.

Married Women retain their real and personal estate owned by them at time of marriage or afterwards acquired, free from the debts and control of their husbands. A married woman may make contracts in her own name, buy goods, and give notes in settlement, and her real and personal property may be sold to satisfy the same. She may dispose of her real estate by will, subject to any rights which her husband may have as tenant by the curtesy. Wife may manage, sell, convey or devise by will to same extent and in same manner as her husband can. She is entitled to receive and hold the wages of her personal labor, and sue therefor in her own name, and she can prosecute and defend all actions for the preservation or protection of her property and rights if unmarried. The expenses of the family and education of the children are chargeable upon the property of both husband and wife or either of them, and in relation thereto they may be sued jointly or separately. All laws imposing or recognizing civil disabilities upon the wife not imposed or recognized upon the husband have been repealed. The wife's dower and the husband's curtesy in real property are preserved.

Mines and Mining. Any person being a citizen of the United States, or having declared his intention to become such, discovering a vein or lode of mineral bearing rock, may locate claim by posting notice, and thirty days thereafter marking the boundaries with six substantial posts, and making the improvements provided by statute within sixty days after the posting of notices, and within said sixty days, and after the required improvements have been made, file for record with the recorder of conveyances copy of such notices. All mining claims in this State are deemed real estate, and subject to all the provisions as to transfer, mortgage, etc., except that redemption from execution sale must be made within sixty days. Abandoned claims may be taken under the provision of the act without reference to any work previously done thereon. Ditches and mining lines permanently affixed to the soil are considered real estate, provided that non-user for five years or removal from the State will forfeit all title or interest. Grub stake contracts must be in writing and recorded in the county where locations thereunder are made. Any person may hold one claim by location and as many by purchase as the laws of the district where the claims are located will allow, but the discoverer of any new lead or vein not previously located upon may take one additional claim for discovery.

Mortgages. A mortgage on realty, which creates a lien upon the land, but conveys no interest therein, is executed in the same manner as a deed. It (the mortgage) may be satisfied by the person appearing on record as the owner thereof, whose entry of payment on the margin of the record shall discharge the lien.

Every transfer or conveyance of an interest in real property, if made for security, is, irrespective of its form, construed as a mortgage, and the same does not entitle the mortgagee to possession, or bind the mortgagor to personally perform the act for the performance of which it is security, unless there is an express covenant to that effect.

Mortgages shall be foreclosed and the property adjudged to be sold to satisfy the debt secured thereby, by a suit in equity, and the plaintiff shall also have a decree for the amount of such debt, if it appear that a promissory note or other personal obligation has been given for payment of the debt, but deficiency judgments will not be given in a suit to foreclose a purchase money mortgage. The holder may, however, disregard the mortgage and sue at law for the amount of the note. The mortgage lien shall expire by limitation ten years after the maturity date.

A chattel mortgage is executed in the same manner as conveyance of real property. Such mortgage, where the mortgagor is permitted to remain in possession, and dispose of the property in the usual course of business, is void as to purchasers and attaching creditors unless recorded.

With respect to a mortgage on a migratory chattel (motor car) the same must be recorded, and a certificate filed with Sec. of State. When the certificate is so filed, the mortgage lien shall be effective and follow such chattel in all counties of the state.

Notaries. Appointed by governor for four years and give bond of $500.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted. (See complete text following the "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Power of Attorney. Powers of attorney for conveyances of real estate, or whereby real estate is affected must be executed and acknowledged with the same formality that deeds to such property are made. A husband or wife may constitute the other his attorney to make conveyances of and dispose of his or her property, subject to revocation, the same as any other power of attorney.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates.)

Protest. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Records. Public records are notice to the world of their contents when duly recorded.

Replevin. In an action to recover possession of personal property, the plaintiff may, at any time after the action is commenced, and before judgment, claim the immediate delivery of such property, by filing an affidavit and undertaking as required by statute.

Surety Companies. Both domestic and foreign companies are under the jurisdiction of the State Insurance Commissioner, and must satisfy him that they have complied with all statutory requirements before a certificate of qualification and authority to do business will be issued. Any foreign surety company, qualified to write bonds for the Federal Government and having a paid-up capital of $250,000.00 and a surplus of $100,000.00, incorporated under the laws of any state of the United States for the purpose of transacting a surety business on obligations of persons or corporations, may transact business in this state upon depositing $25,000.00 in money or bonds with the State Treasurer. Domestic companies must have $100,000.00 capital, and $50,000.00 surplus.

The licenses of companies failing to comply with any statutory requirement, or failing to meet their obligations within sixty (60) days after final judicial determination, shall be withheld or revoked, as the case may be.

In order that service of process might be effected, it shall be required of foreign companies that they appoint a resident general agent upon whom such service may be had.

Having qualified, a surety company may execute any bond or undertaking, so long as the same (undertaking) is no greater than 10% of its capital and surplus as determined by the United States Treasury Department Standard.

Taxation. All real property in the state and all personal property situated or owned in the state, not specifically exempted, is subject to assessment and taxation at its true cash value, except that ocean-going vessels enrolled or registered in Oregon are taxable at various rates according to the district in which located. (In actual practice, however, the assessment is considerably lower than the true cash value.)

All taxes are levied in July on the basis of assessments made on the first of March and equalized by the county board on the second Monday in May following.

Building and Loan Associations. See Summary.

Chattel Mortgages. Allowed in iron, steel, and certain other articles. Must be recorded. Act of 1933 authorizes chattel mortgages on farm equipment and on crops planted or to be planted within one year, given to Federal Agencies and to banks having rediscout privileges with certain Federal Agencies. Recording required.

Contracts may be specifically enforced in equity where there is no adequate remedy at law. Contracts for an interest in real estate, except leases for not exceeding three years and contracts to hold an executor or administrator individually, and to hold a guarantor or surety, must be in writing, unless the amount involved be less than $20. Uniform Written Obligations Act adopted May 13, 1927, P. L. 985.

Conditional Sales. The Uniform Conditional Sales Act was passed in 1925, requiring recording of such agreements in order to be valid against creditors of the vendee, and by amendment includes chattels attached or to be attached to real estate. Act does not apply to bailment leases, which are not recorded.

Corporations. Corporations are divided into two classes, business corporations and non-profit corporations. A new Business Corporation Law and a new Non-Profit Corporation Law were adopted in 1933. Three or more natural persons of full age and either sex, married or single, at least two-thirds of whom are citizens of U. S. or of its territories or possessions, may form a business corporation for any lawful purpose or purposes. Incorporates must advertise intention to apply for certificate of incorporation. Articles of incorporation are forwarded to Dept. of State, and when approved are filed and a certificate of incorporation issued. Corporate existence begins upon issuance of certificate. Amount of paid-in capital with which a corporation will commence business, which shall not be less than $500, must be fully paid as condition precedent to beginning business. Defense of ultra vires is abolished as defense between business corporations and third parties. Voluntary dissolution without supervision of court is authorized; and shareholders or creditors, under certain circumstances, may institute dissolution proceedings. Merger or consolidation of domestic business corporations and foreign business corporations is authorized.

Non-profit corporations may be formed for any lawful purpose or purposes which do not involve pecuniary gain or profit to corporate members. Charters are issued only by local Courts of Common Pleas, and recording of charters in office of Recorder of Deeds is condition precedent to corporate business.

Uniform Stock Transfer Act is in force in this state.

Days of Grace are abolished.

Deeds and Mortgages. Mortgages should be under seal and duly acknowledged. Scroll seal is sufficient. Since Act of 1925, P. L. 404, a seal is not necessary on a deed of a natural person. Acknowledgments taken out of the State are usually taken before a notary, whose authority should be evidenced by certificate of clerk of court. Husband must join in wife's deed or mortgage. Wife must join in husband's deed, not in his mortgage. The wife need not acknowledge separate and apart from husband. By statute, the words "grant and convey" import all usual covenants except warranty. Words "grant and/or convey" in deed, unless expressly limited to lesser estate, will pass fee simple without words of inheritance. Covenants of warranty are added by the words "will warrant generally the property hereby conveyed," or "will warrant specially the property hereby conveyed," as the case may be. Essential words of quitclaim deeds are "release and quitclaim." (For forms see Act 1909, page 91.) A mortgage is in form a conveyance, usually reciting a bond which it secures, and containing a clause of defeasance.

By Act of 1925, P. L. 613, all deeds, conveyances, contracts and other instruments of writing for sale of lands in the State must be recorded in order to be effective against subsequent bona-fide purchasers or mortgagees or judgment creditors by Act 1931, P. L. 558, without notice, thus in effect making necessary immediate recording of such deeds, etc., but this does not modify the lien of purchase money mortgages, which may be recorded under present law within 30 days after execution and delivery. All deeds executed after April 22, 1929, must carry thereon a certificate of the residence of the grantee.

Descent and Distribution of Property. Estates of intestates are to be distributed as follows: 1. Where an intestate shall leave a spouse surviving and one child only, or shall leave a spouse surviving and no children but shall leave descendants of one deceased child, the spouse shall be entitled to one-half part of the real and personal estate. 2. Where an intestate shall leave a spouse surviving and more than one child, or one child and the descendants of a deceased child or children, or the descendants of more than one deceased child, the surviving spouse shall be entitled to one-third part of the real and personal estate. 3. Where an intestate shall leave a spouse surviving and other kindred, but no issue, the surviving spouse shall be entitled to the real or personal estate or both, to the aggregate value of $5,000, in addition in case of a widow, to the widow's exemption as allowed by law (now $500); and if such estate shall exceed in value the sum of $5,000 the surviving spouse shall be entitled to the sum of $5,000 absolutely to be chosen by him or her from real or personal estate or both, and in addition thereto, she be entitled to one-half part of the remaining real and personal estate. 4. Where a wife, for one year or upwards previous to the death of her husband, willfully and maliciously deserts her husband, she shall have no interest in his real or personal estate after his decease under the intestate law. 5. The real and personal estate of an intestate not hereinbefore given to the surviving spouse, if any there be, shall descend to and be distributed among his or her issue according to the following rules and order of succession, namely: (a) If such intestate shall leave children but no other descendant, being the issue of a deceased child, the estate shall descend to and be distributed among such children. (b) If such intestate shall leave grandchildren but no child or other descendant, being the issue of a deceased grandchild, the estate shall descend to and be distributed among such grandchildren. (c) If such intestate shall leave descendants in other degrees of consanguinity, however remote from him, and be in the same degree of consanguinity to him, the estate shall descend to and be distributed among such descendants. (d) If such intestate shall leave descendants in different degrees of consanguinity to him, the more remote of them being the issue of a deceased child, grandchild or other descendant, the estate shall descend to and be distributed among them as follows, namely: (1) Each of the children of such intestate shall receive such share as such child would have received if all the children of the intestate who shall then be dead, leaving issue, had been living at the death of such intestate. (2) Each of the grandchildren, if there shall be no children, in like manner shall receive such share as he or she would have received if all the other grandchildren who shall then be dead, leaving issue, had been living at the death of the intestate, and shall in like manner to the remotest degree. (3) In every such case the issue of such deceased child, grandchild or other descendant shall take, by representation of their parents respectively such shares only as would have descended to such parents if they had been living at the death of the intestate. (6) In default of issue as aforesaid the real and personal estate of such intestate not hereinbefore given to the surviving spouse, if any there be, shall go to and be vested in the father and mother of such intestate, or if either the father or mother be dead at the time of the death of the intestate the parent surviving shall take such real and personal estate. (7) In default of issue, father and mother, the real and personal estate of such intestate not hereinbefore given to the surviving spouse, if any there be, shall descend to and be distributed among the collateral heirs and kindred of such intestate, without distinction between those of the whole and those of the half blood according to the manner enumerated in the Act of 1917. (8) A person adopted shall, for all purposes of inheritance and taking by devolution, be a member of the family of the adopting parent or parents. Illegitimate children and maternal ancestors inherit from each other. Every illegitimate child shall be considered as a brother or sister to every other child of its mother, legitimate or illegitimate.

The Prothonotaries and Clerks of the Orphans' Court likewise make a report of the same nature at the same time annually, and so also with every person, partnership, limited partnership, partnership association, bank, national bank, trust company, safe deposit company, or other corporation or association engaged in the business of receiving moneys on deposit or securities or other property for safe keeping, which has received and holds any money or other property or estate belonging to another person, or for storage or safe keeping or otherwise in any manner whatsoever, is required to make such a report as to the money or property which has not been claimed, or access to which has not been had by the person for whom the same is held within seven or more successive years preceding the month of said report, or as to dividends or profits declared by said corporation to any stockholder or member and not paid for three or more successive years preceding said report, and all debts or interest on debts due by said corporation to any creditor and not paid for three or more successive years prior to said report.

If the testator be unable to sign his name, for any reason other than the extremity of his last sickness, a will to which his name is subscribed in his presence, by his direction and authority, and to which he makes his mark or cross, unless unable so to do, in which case the mark or cross shall not be required, shall be valid as though he had signed his name thereto: Provided that such will shall be proved by oath or affirmation of two or more competent witnesses. A devise or bequest by a husband to his wife of any portion of his estate or property shall be deemed and taken to be in lieu and bar of her dower in the estate of such testator, in like manner as if it were so expressed in the will, unless such testator shall in his will declare otherwise. Surviving spouse has election to take under or against will of deceased spouse. Will is revoked by subsequent marriage or birth of children as to such spouse or afterborn children. A devise or bequest in trust for any religious or charitable use requires two attesting witnesses to the will, and if made within thirty days prior to testator's death is void.

SYNOPSIS AND NOTES AS TO DIGEST OF THE LAWS OF COMMONWEALTH OF THE PHILIPPINES

Prepared by J. A. WOLFSON, Attorney at Law, National City Bank Bldg., Manila.
(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Judgments carry interest at rate of 6 per cent, unless higher rate agreed, but not higher than usury law.

Our Municipal Court in the city of Manila and our justices of the peace in the provinces have jurisdiction from one cent to $300, United States currency. For $300 (United States currency) or over suit must be filed in our court of first instance, which court has concurrent jurisdiction with the justice of the peace from $100, United States currency, to $300, United States currency. Appeals can be taken to the Court of Appeals which was created by the new Judiciary Law effective February 1, 1936. The jurisdiction of the Supreme Court is specifically provided by law, but in general only matters involving questions of law may be taken to the Supreme Court. Special laws relating to land.

The cost of filing in the justice court, inclusive of sheriff's fees, is about $3.00, United States currency, in courts of first instance from $4.00 to $40.00 depending upon amount in litigation, plus sheriff's fees, which depend upon distance that service must be made. Docket fee in Court of Appeals is $12.00 United States currency; the same amount in the Supreme Court.

If facts are to be reviewed, all pleadings must be printed. Cost $1.00 per page. All costs are payable in advance of filing the cause.

A civil cause is appealed to the Court of Appeals of these islands from the court of first instance by preparing and having approved a record on appeal by the latter court, which record on appeal contains the pleadings and the judgment and the appeal. The evidence and testimony goes to the court of appeals from the court of first instance in its original form as filed below. Briefs, of course, are paid for by the respective parties and cannot be recovered as costs. There are statutory fees allowed the winning party.

Appeal may be taken direct to the Supreme Court from the Court of First Instance only in specific cases, among which are where the constitutionality of a law is in question or where an error or question of law is involved.

A case from the Court of Appeals may be reviewed by the Supreme Court by a petition for a writ of certiorari. Upon approval of the petition, briefs are filed by the parties as provided for by rules of the Supreme Court.

Attachments are allowed on statutory grounds (a) intent to depart and defraud creditors; (b) money or property embezzled; (c) concealment or removal of property with intent to defraud; (d) against a non-resident.

A chattel mortgage law has been enacted enabling a person to secure loans on personal property.

There is a liberal corporation law, except that land holdings are limited, and no corporation returns—other than public utilities, banks, trust companies and insurance companies—need be filed. Five incorporators are necessary and the secretary must be a resident of the Philippines and a citizen of the United States or of the Philippines. Recent amendments (Act 3519) permit no par stock issues and liberalize to a limited extent holding corporations and voting trusts. Agricultural lands—public or private—may not be acquired by, and no franchise for the operation of a public utility shall be granted to, corporations unless sixty per centum of the capital of which is owned by citizens of the Philippines. A residence tax, effective January 1, 1940, requires a maximum of $500.00 a year.

The divorce law grants absolute dissolution of marriage only when offending spouse has been criminally convicted of adultery in the case of wife, or concubinage in case of husband, and only upon petition of innocent spouse.

Garnishment of a debtor is allowed, as well as supplementary proceedings.

There is no settled jurisprudence regarding the lien and privilege of a judgment debtor, nor have we any recognized or settled jurisprudence regarding mechanic's liens, but many laws protecting laborers have recently been passed.

The civil code treats fully the rights of married women. Married women may administer and dispose of their paraphernal property.

We have several classes of mortgages, which are fully treated in the civil code. The form most in vogue here is the "venta con pacto de retro," which is a conditional sale. The non-payment of the debt at the time mentioned in the mortgage, forfeits the property to the mortgagee. The uniform "Negotiable Instruments Law" is now in force here, also the uniform "Warehouse Receipts Law," and "Workmen's Compensation Act."

A claim sent for collection may be proved by deposition or by oral examination in court. If a claim is presented by an attorney, and the amount acknowledged as due and owing by the debtor, his evidence will be accepted as proof of admission of the claim.

Real estate sold under execution is redeemable by the judgment debtor, or any party in interest, within twelve months from the date of sale, upon the payment of all costs and expenses and 1 per cent per month interest. Personal property may be replevined upon complying with the conditions prescribed by the code of civil procedure.

Service of summons is made by the Sheriff of the City of Manila and by the Provincial Sheriffs.

Under the head of wills, our law relative thereto is exceedingly simple.

A bankruptcy law, practically the same as the national bankruptcy bill of the United States, was passed at the 1909 session of our legislature. A merchant may be put into bankruptcy upon the petition of three or more local creditors whose claims have remained unpaid for thirty days, provided their claims aggregate $500 United States currency or more, and accrued in the Philippines. There are of course other grounds for bankruptcy.

We have the "Torrens Title" system of registering title to lands. This system has been in force since 1903 and has worked splendidly. Cadastral surveys are now being made in many parts of the islands.

Our mining laws—formerly set forth in the Act of Congress of July 1, 1902, and a few amendments—are now to be found in "The Mining Act," approved by our First National Assembly, November 7, 1936. Under the new Act, ownership of minerals and mineral lands belong to the State, hence mining leases only (not more than fifty (50) years) are granted to persons authorized to locate mining claims. The disposition and utilization of natural resources of the Philippines, including mines, are limited to citizens of the Philippines or to corporations or associations at least sixty per centum of the capital of which is owned by such citizens subject to existing rights acquired prior to the inauguration of the Commonwealth.

Banking. Recent amendments (Act No. 3520) provide for a Bank Commissioner who has wide discretionary powers but his rulings are appealable to the President of the Philippines. Foreign banking corporations must maintain in the Philippines (or with a trustee abroad, approved by Bank Commissioner) 90 per cent of its deposits payable in the Philippines and resident creditors have preferential rights to such deposits.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 22 (Washington's birthday); Thursday and Friday of Holy Week; May 1 (Labor Day); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); August 13 (Occupation Day); November 15 (Commonwealth Day); Thanksgiving Day; November 30 (Bonifacio Day); second Tuesday in December every three years beginning 1937 (Election Day); December 25 (Christmas Day); December 30 (Rizal Day).

SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF RHODE ISLAND

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by HENRY E. CROWE, Attorney at Law, 255 Main St., Pawtucket, R. I.
(See Card in Attorneys' List)

Accounts. (See Proof of Claims.)

Acknowledgment of any instrument required by any statute of this State to be acknowledged shall be made, within this State, before any state senator, state representative, judge, justice of the peace, mayor, notary public, town clerk or recorder or deeds; without this State, and within the limits of the United States, before any judge or justice of a court of record or other court, justice of the peace, mayor or notary public of the State, District of Columbia, or territory in which such acknowledgment is made, or before any commissioner appointed by the governor of this State; without the limits of the United States, before any ambassador, minister, charge d'affaires, consul-general, vice-consul-general, consul, vice-consul, consular agent, or commercial agent of the United States, or before any commissioner appointed by the governor of this State in the country in which such acknowledgment is made. (See Deeds.)

Affidavits may be taken by any magistrate within the State and before any commissioner appointed by the governor within the State or county described in the commission. Affidavits to be used in this State may usually be taken outside of Rhode Island, before magistrates authorized to take depositions. No particular form is prescribed.

Aliens may take, hold, convey, and transmit title to real estate, and may sue for and recover possession of the same in the same way and with the same effect as if they were native-born citizens of the United States.

Assignments. Every person making an assignment at common law for the benefit of creditors shall file with his assignee a sworn, itemized schedule of all his assets, showing the amount and kind of his property, where located, and the cash value thereof, to the best of his knowledge and belief, and a list of his creditors stating their names, residences, and the amounts due each of them and the evidences thereof and securities therefor, if any, held by them. Such deed and assignment must be recorded, and the assignee must give public notice of his qualification to all creditors to present claims and to all debtors to make payments to such assignee, in some newspaper published in the county in which such assignee resides or is located, and such assignee shall also notify creditors in like manner by mail. One-fifth in amount of the creditors of the assignor, by petition to the superior court, may require assignee to give bond to the superior court, with good surety, in the amount of the total value of all property conveyed by the deed of assignment, conditioned on the faithful performance of his duties. Such assignee may be required to make an itemized, sworn report in writing to the superior court of all his doings under his trust.

Attachment lies in assumpsit. Writs may issue to attach real or personal estate of a debtor when the plaintiff, his agent or attorney shall make affidavit, to be endorsed on the writ or annexed thereto, that the plaintiff has a just claim against the defendant that is due, on which he expects to recover a sum sufficient to give jurisdiction to the court to which the writ is returnable.

Costs can not be obtained in a Civil Action where the judgment is less than $50 unless the obligation sued upon is for necessities.

The first ten dollars of the wages of an employee are exempt from attachment and wages of an employee who has been on relief are exempt from attachment for one year after leaving the relief rolls.

The property of a non-resident defendant may be attached in tort actions upon like affidavit stating also the fact of his non-residence.

Banks and Trust Companies. The Chief of the Division of Banking and Insurance, Department of Taxation and Regulation, has supervising authority over banking and trust companies. The Board of Incorporation consists of the Chief of the Division of Banking and Insurance, General Treasurer and the Attorney General of the State. There are three classes of banking corporations: banks, trust companies and savings banks. In any case the incorporators must include fifteen or more persons, all of whom are citizens and residents of the State. In the case of a bank or trust company, there must be a Board of Directors, a President and a Secretary, and such other officers as the by-laws provide. In the case of savings banks, the officers must be, a President, one or more Vice Presidents, a Board of Investment of not less than three members, a Treasurer, a Clerk or Secretary, and such other officers as may be necessary for the management of its affairs. There must also be a Board of not less than nine Trustees, of which the President, Vice Presidents and the members of the Board of Investment shall be members ex officio. The officers must be sworn to the faithful performance of their duties. A list of all persons elected and qualified must be published in a newspaper published in the County.

The issuance of capital stock is subject to the approval of the Board of Incorporation and no stock may be issued until par value is paid in cash. Any increase or decrease of capital stock is subject to the approval of the Board, as well as the transference of any surplus accounts to its capital account.

Trust companies must deposit with the General Treasurer, bonds, notes, etc. equal to 20% of entire capital stock as security for faithful performance of the duties of trustee, executor, etc. Deposits in trust companies must not exceed ten times the capital and surplus.

Banks and trust companies must maintain a reserve fund of 15% of their deposits. This reserve fund does not apply to deposits as savings or in participation. Every bank and trust company must report to the Chief of the Division of Banking and Insurance at least five times within any calendar year and at such other times as may be required. Savings banks shall report at least twice in any year and the Chief of the Division of Banking is required to make an examination of the books at least twice within a year. Loans may not be made to officers, except in certain specified cases, and there are certain limitations on the amount that may be loaned in other cases.

Banks, trust companies and savings banks may establish branches subject to the approval of the Chief of the Division of Banking and Insurance. Savings banks must on February 1st, annually, reserve as a guarantee fund, a certain amount from the net profits of the preceding year. Any savings bank may become a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank, organized pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Home Loan Act.

Unclaimed Bank Deposits. Treasurers of Savings Banks and Treasurers of Trust Companies having savings or participation departments are required to report to the Chief of the Division of Banking and Insurance at definite periods in regard to accounts which have been inactive in certain respects for a period of twenty years and are required to publish the same in one or more newspapers published in or near to the City or Town wherein such institution is located.

At the expiration of six months from the first publication, the Attorney General of the State is required to take action asking the Court to order such deposits turned over to the State Treasurer. Deposits so turned over may be recovered by any person establishing a lawful right thereto, together with interest at the rate of three per cent per annum.

Loan and investment companies may make loans for a longer period than (1) year provided the loans are secured by a real estate mortgage. The loan must not exceed 26 years, however.

Bills of Lading. Every bill of lading must embody within its written or printed terms, the date of its issue, the name of the person from whom the goods have been received, the place where the goods have been received, the place to which the goods are to be transported, a statement whether the goods received will be delivered to a specified person, or to the order of a specified person, description of the goods or of the packages containing them, which may, however, be in such general terms as are referred to in section 23, and the signature of the carrier. (The Uniform Bills of Lading Act went into effect in April, 1914.)

Blue Sky Law So-Called. Brokers or salesmen of securities must register with Chief of Divisions of Banking and Insurance. Applicant must furnish names of three citizens who can vouch for his character. Brokers must pay an annual fee of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars. Salesmen must pay an annual fee of two dollars ($2.00). Except in case of certain securities which are exempted, notice of intention to sell must be sent by registered mail to commissioner. Brokers must place name and address on all literature or advertisements. Must not state that provisions of act have been complied with. Applicant must file permanent mail address. Commissioner has wide powers of inquiry and investigation and severe penalties are provided for non-compliance with the provisions of the act.

Chattel Mortgages are executed in the same manner as mortgages of real estate, and may cover any kind of personal property.

To be valid against third parties, they must be recorded where the mortgagor resides, if he be a resident of the State; if a non-resident the record must be in the town where the property is at the time of making the mortgage. Or the mortgagee may take possession of the mortgaged property and will be protected as a pledgee in possession against third parties. But, the mortgage must be recorded or possession must be taken within five days of date of signing, otherwise it is void except as to the parties and those having actual notice of it.

Foreclosure is usually effected by sale under power in the mortgage. Mortgagor may redeem at any time within sixty days after condition is broken, unless the property shall have been sold pursuant to the contract between the parties.

Claims against Estates of Deceased Persons. All claims must be filed in the office of the probate clerk, within six months from the date of the first advertisement of the notice of the qualifications of the executor or administrator, or within any longer period not exceeding one year from such date. No claims other than those presented as aforesaid can be enforced against said estate, unless claimant can show same was not duly filed by reason of accident or mistake or unforeseen cause, which claims shall be paid if the administrator still has funds in his hands. Creditors failing to file claim in time may petition probate court for leave to file claim; claims filed within six months from first publication are preferred. Claims filed within six months may be disallowed in thirty days after expiration of six months from first publication of notice; claims filed within one year in thirty days after the year; and claims filed after the year in thirty days after filing. Interested parties may secure authority from the probate court to disallow after the term as above specified has expired. Suits on disallowed claims may be brought in six months after notice has been given of disallowance unless the estate is insolvent or commissioners are appointed. Debts due to the United States, the necessary funeral charges of the deceased, the charges for medical attendance and nursing, specially employed, and medicines used in the last illness, debts due to this State, wages, debts filed within six months, all other debts, and all state and town taxes, are to be first paid, and in the order in which they are named. If a commission, on either solvent or insolvent estates be requested, such commission shall be appointed by the court at once, and shall report on the contested claims within a period of three months, unless further time be allowed for cause shown. Such commissioners shall give due notice of the times and places of their meetings to hear the creditors on their claims, and they or either of them may admit or deny and compel the attendance of witnesses. Any person whose claim is not allowed in the whole by the commission shall have the right to appeal to the superior court.

Collaterals. No person holding stock in any manufacturing corporation as collateral security, shall be personally liable, by virtue of such stock, to any liabilities as a stockholder of such company. There is no statutory provision as to the method of foreclosure of collateral.

Contracts. All contracts, except for necessities, made by any person under guardianship shall be void. Assignments of wages to be earned in the future will be void unless recorded in the form prescribed by statute. Contracts for the sale of lands, or the lease thereof for more than one year, shall be made upon consideration of marriage; contracts not to be performed within one year from the making thereof; and contracts to sell or a sale of goods or choses in action of $500 or more, unless the buyer shall accept part of the goods or choses in action and actually receive the same, or gives something in earnest to bind the contract, or in part payment, must be in writing and signed by the party to be charged or his lawfully authorized agent.

Conveyances. (See Deeds.)

Corporations. Under the provisions of Chapter 116, General Laws 1938, any three or more persons of lawful age may associate for the purpose of organizing any ordinary business corporation, and upon filing articles of association with the secretary of state and payment of incorporation fee, secure perpetual charter unless the duration of the corporation is limited in the articles of association. (Corporations which shall need to exercise right of eminent domain, insurance companies, banks and corporations to trade in bonds, stocks, etc., are otherwise organized.) Organization fee of 50 cents for each $1,000 of authorized capital, and in case of stock having no par value, 5 cents a share; but with a minimum fee of $25.00. Corporation must have place of business within the state, and treasurer, if a resident, must file name and address with the secretary of state. If treasurer is a non-resident there must be some competent person appointed resident attorney to accept service of process. Records of transfers of stock shall be kept within the State. Meetings of stockholders must be held within the state, but directors' meetings may be held either within or without the state. There is only a restricted stockholders' liability. There are special provisions for literary, scientific and miscellaneous corporations.

Courts. The Supreme Court is the court of last resort. It takes jurisdiction of bills of exceptions, appeals, and extraordinary writs. The Superior Court takes jurisdiction of actions at law where the writ is for more than $1,000, matters in equity, probate appeals, and appeals from the District Court. The jury sits only in the Superior Court and appeals from the District Court are heard de novo. The District Court takes jurisdiction of Civil matters where the ad damnum is $1,000 or less.

Deeds. Every conveyance of lands, tenements, or hereditaments absolutely, by way of mortgage, or on condition, use, or trust, for any term longer than one year, shall be void unless made in writing, duly signed, acknowledged, delivered, and recorded in the records of land-evidence in the town or city where the said lands, tenements or hereditaments are situated: Provided, however, that the same, if delivered, as between the parties and their heirs, and as against those taking by gift or devise, or those having notice thereof, shall be valid and binding, though not acknowledged or recorded. Such instrument may be referred to as, and shall be, a deed, though no seal be affixed thereto. Acknowledgment of any deed must be by all the parties grantors, including married women, even though releasing dower only. (See Acknowledgment.) A lease for one year or less is valid by parole.

Depositions. Except in equity cases, any justice of the supreme court, justice of the peace, or notary public, may take the depositions of any witness, to be used in the trial of any civil suit, action, petition, or proceeding, which is not interested, nor connected, nor the attorney of either party, and which shall then be commenced or pending in this State, or in any other state, or in the District of Columbia, or in any territory, government or country. Previous to the taking of any deposition as aforesaid within this State the official authorized to take the same shall, in all cases, cause the adverse party, or his attorney of record, to be notified of the time and place appointed for taking such deposition, so that he may attend and put interrogatories to the deponent if he think fit. Depositions taken without this State to be used in the tribunals thereof, may be taken by such person and in the manner and with the formalities required by the law of the State, District of Columbia, territory or country in which the same shall be taken. Every person, before deposing, shall be sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, and shall subscribe his name to such deposition in the presence of the official before whom the same was taken. The deposition, so taken, shall be retained by such magistrate, officer, or commissioner, until he deliver the same with his own hand to the court for which it is taken, or shall, together with a certificate of its having been duly taken, be, by said magistrate, officer, or commissioner, sealed up and directed to such court, and remain so sealed until opened by order of the court, or of some justice thereof, or by the clerk, by the consent of the parties; and any person may be compelled to appear and depose as aforesaid within this State, in the same manner as to appear and testify in court.

Instructions for Taking Depositions. The magistrate, officer, or commissioner authorized to take depositions, in his notification to the adverse party, should state the time and place appointed, and the names of witnesses to be examined, which must be served by a proper officer or by any impartial or disinterested person, who must make oath to his return. The depositions, when taken, will be returned under seal to the court in which the suit is pending with a certificate, indorsed by the magistrate, of the contents and name of the case.

Descent and Distribution. Dower and curtesy exist. The following provisions went into effect June 1, 1919. Where intestate dies, without issue, surviving husband or widow takes life estate in all realty. Probate court may, upon petition filed within one year after decease, set off to widow or husband in fee real estate not exceeding five thousand dollars in value over any above encumbrances, if not required for the payment of debts. Subject to above provision real estate descends in the following course: 1. To children or their descendants. 2. To the parents in equal shares or to the surviving parent. 3. To the brothers and sisters and their descendants. 4. In default of these, in equal moieties to the paternal and maternal kindred, each in the following course: 1. To the grandparents, in equal shares. 2. To the uncles and aunts, or their descendants by representation. 3. To the great-grandparents, in equal shares. 4. To the great-uncles and great-aunts, or their descendants by representation, and so on, in other cases, without end, passing to the nearest lineal ancestors and other descendants. But if the title of the intestate came "by descent, gift or devise from the parent or other kindred of the intestate, and such intestate die without children, such estate shall go to the kin next to the intestate of the blood of the person from whom such estate came or descended, if any there be." Surplus of personal estate, after payment of debts and charges, not bequeathed, is distributed as follows: 1. $3,000 and one-half of the remainder to husband or wife, if there be no issue. 2. One-half to husband or wife, if there be issue. 3. The remainder is distributed in the manner provided for the descent of real estate, but without regard to the blood of the person from whom such personal estate, came or descended.

Dower. (See Descent and Distribution.)

Employers' Liability. A Workmen's Compensation Act providing for payments to employees for personal injuries and for certain specified occupational diseases received in the course of their employment applies to employees except in domestic service, agriculture and any other lines, where three or less workmen or operatives are regularly employed. Employers to whom the act applies may elect whether or not to accept its provisions, but those who do not are deprived by the act of the defenses of assumption of risk, contributory negligence and negligence of a fellow servant in actions brought against them by their employees. Employees electing to become subject to provision of said act are held to have waived rights of action at common law unless notice in writing is given to employers, claiming such rights within a specified time. For injuries resulting in death of employees or in incapacity for labor for a period of more than one week, certain fixed amounts must be paid by employers to those dependent upon the employees or to the employees themselves for specified periods of time, the same to be full compensation for said injuries.

False Statements to Obtain Property on Credit. The making of a false statement in writing of financial condition for the purpose of procuring the delivery of personal property, the payment of cash, the making of a loan or credit, the extension of credit and the discount of an account receivable, or the making, acceptance, discount, sale or endorsement of a bill of exchange or promissory note, is a misdemeanor.

Foreign Corporations. Every foreign corporation, other than national banking associations and foreign insurance companies, shall file in the office of the secretary of state a copy of its charter and all amendments thereto, certified under the seal of the state or country in which such corporation is incorporated by the secretary of state thereof; also a certificate signed and sworn to by certain of its officers setting forth the name and place of business in this state of the corporation, the character of its business, amount and classes of its capital stock issued and outstanding, names and addresses of directors and officers and dates when respective terms of office expire, and date of annual meeting, and a written power appointing some competent person resident in this state as its attorney to accept service of process. As a condition precedent to carrying on business, must pay a fee of $25.00. All foreign corporations must file an annual report with the secretary of state in the month of February of each year.

Foreign corporations doing business in this state without having complied with the above conditions may not sue in the state courts until they do comply.

Foreign Judgments. There is no statutory provision as to foreign judgments.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 4 (Rhode Island Independence Day); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); general election day; the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each year when a general election of state officers is held; November 11 (Armistice Day); Thanksgiving Day; December 25 (Christmas Day); and such other days as the governor or general assembly or the President or Congress of the United States shall appoint as holidays. Holidays other than Sunday, falling on Sunday, are observed on the Monday following.

Insolvency. Any inhabitant of this State owing debts in this State to the amount of $300 or more, and who shall be insolvent, may prefer his voluntary petition under oath for relief as an insolvent; and such person shall be adjudged insolvent if he has within four months prior to the filing of a petition in insolvency against him, procured or suffered to remain for forty days, any attachment of or levy upon his property, with intent to give or suffer a preference, or, being insolvent, has suffered judgment to be entered against him in this State or elsewhere, or has made a conveyance, gift or transfer with intent to hinder, delay or defraud his creditors; or has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, or has secreted his property, with intent to hinder, defraud or delay his creditors, or has, within four months next prior to the filing of a petition against him, knowingly in writing made a false statement involving his financial condition, property, or ability to pay, or has done or omitted other things prescribed by Chapter 390 of the general laws, 1923. Proofs of claim shall be made in writing under oath by the creditor or his agent, and filed with the clerk of the superior court, unless the matter has been sent to a register, in which event they shall be filed with the register. (See also title Assignments.)

Insurance Companies are controlled by the Chief of Division of Banking and Insurance, who may examine any of their officers or agents under oath, and to whom they must transmit true statements of their condition and business in the month of January in each year.

Whenever by the laws of any other state of the United States any fees, charges, taxes, deposits of money or of securities or other obligations or prohibitions are imposed on insurance companies incorporated or organized under the laws of this State or on the agents of such insurance companies, so long as such laws continue in force, the like fees, charges, taxes, deposits and obligations shall be imposed on the like insurance companies doing business in this State which are incorporated or organized under the laws of such other State and on their agents. (P. L. 1914, Chap. 1063.)

Interest. In all cases where no rate of interest is specified interest shall be figured at the rate of 6 per cent.

Licensees under the Small Loan Act may charge 3 per cent (after July 1, 1937) per month on amounts not in excess of $300.00. There are several other statutes including a usury statute, which provide the rate which may be charged in specific cases. There is a special rate for licensed pawnbrokers.

Judgments are not a lien on real estate. Foreign judgments are proved in accordance with act of Congress. There is no statute or rule of court on the subject.

Jurisdiction. (See Courts.)

Licenses. No license by commercial travelers is required in this State. Peddlers of merchandise must obtain a license from the State Treasurer. Insurance agents must procure license from the insurance commission.

Liens. Persons doing work for, or furnishing materials to be used in the construction, erection, or reparation of any building, canal, wharf, pier, railroad, or other improvement of the owner of the land on which same is situated, by contract with such owner, or with the husband of such owner with the consent of his wife in writing, has a lien thereon for such work and materials, subject to the encumbrances on land at time of the commencement of work or delivery of the materials. A sub-contractor has such lien, provided he gives written notice to the owner of the property affected thereby within forty days after doing such work, and sixty days after materials are placed upon the land, that he will claim such lien. Spinners, bleachers, manufacturers, throwsters, etc., are entitled to a lien for work or labor performed or materials furnished. This lien is not waived, suspended or impaired by the recovery of any judgment or the taking of any bill or note for money due. After advertisement, the lienor may sell the goods or enforce the lien by any other lawful procedure.

Limitations of Actions. Actions for words spoken shall be commenced and sued within one year, next after the words spoken. Actions for injuries to the person shall be commenced and sued within two years next after the cause of action shall accrue. Actions of trespass, except for injuries to the person, shall be commenced and sued within four years next after the cause of action shall accrue. All actions of account, except on such accounts as concern trade or merchandise between merchant and merchant, their factors and servants, all actions of the case except for words spoken and for injuries to the person, all actions of debt founded upon any contract without specialty or brought for arrearages of rents, and all actions of detinue and replevin shall be commenced and sued within six years next after the cause of action shall accrue. All actions of debt other than those in the preceding sections specified, and all actions of covenant, shall be commenced and sued within twenty years next after the cause of action shall accrue. No executor or administrator may (except in certain cases, for which special provision is made by statute) be sued at law or in equity, by a creditor of the deceased, within six months from the date of the first publication of the notice of the qualification of the first executor or administrator. No executor or administrator shall be held to answer to the suit of a creditor of the deceased, except to a suit on his bond or as is otherwise provided, unless such suit is commenced within two years from the date of the said first publication and before any order of distribution has been made on the estate of the deceased.

Married Women. The property of a married woman is secured to her separate use, and is not liable for debts of her husband. She can transact business as a trader as though single and unmarried. Bond executed by her is legal and binding. She may make any contract whatsoever, the same as if she were single and unmarried, and with the same rights and liabilities. Property secured to her shall be liable to attachment and levy for her debts and liabilities under the same circumstances and with the same effect as if she had continued sole and unmarried. (See Deeds.)

Mortgages must be executed in the same manner as deeds, and recorded (see ante). Foreclosure is usually enforced by sale under power in the mortgage, which in most cases enables the mortgagee to sell after prescribed notice thereof published in newspaper, after default. Mortgages may be discharged by release on the face of the record, or upon original mortgage deed, or by separate deed of discharge and release. Mortgages are usually given to secure promissory note of the mortgagor to the mortgagee's order, described in the mortgage. The redemption period is three years. For chattel mortgages sixty days unless property has been sold.

Notaries Public are appointed by the governor in June to serve five years. They have the power to administer oaths, take acknowledgments to deeds and other instruments, take depositions and protest bills of exchange, notes and checks, and may issue subpoenas to witnesses in any case, civil or criminal, and in any matter before any body or person authorized by law to summon witnesses.

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted 1899. See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws," Chapter 138, G. L. 1938, providing that certain bank transactions performed after 12 o'clock noon on Saturday not to be invalid if otherwise valid. Also Chapter 455, G. L. 1938, which defines certain terms used in said Act.

Proof of Claims. The proof of claims by affidavit is not required, except in insolvency. An affidavit drawn in compliance with the law as mentioned under title Attachment, or Arrest, should be sent with the claim when suit is to be brought. Claims must be filed with assignees within six months from the date of the published notice of the assignment. If disallowed the assignee gives notice in writing to creditor, who must sue within sixty days. Non-resident plaintiffs may always be required to give security for costs after a suit is entered in court, and other plaintiffs in the discretion of the court. (See Claims against the Estates of Deceased Persons.)

Protest. Notes, bills of exchange, and drafts are protested by notary public.

Sale of Goods. Uniform Sale of Goods has been in effect in this State since April 30, 1908.

Sales in Bulk. The transfer of the major part in value of the whole of a stock of merchandise and fixtures, or merchandise, or fixtures, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular and usual prosecution of the transferor's business, whether in one or more parcels or to one or more persons, provided the transfer is all part of substantially one transaction or proceeding or occurs substantially at one time, shall be fraudulent and void as against all creditors of the transferor unless the transferee demands and receives from the transferor a written list of the names and addresses of the creditors of the transferor and certified by him, under oath, to be, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a full, accurate, and complete list of his creditors; and unless the transferee shall, at least five days

Citation shall be served six days before its return day. At hearing, the court shall examine debtor as to the circumstances, his income and ability to pay, and if finds able to pay, shall after allowing sufficient for support of debtor and his family, order payment in whole or by installments. Surety Companies must have a paid-up capital of $250,000. Foreign surety companies must appoint, by written power, the insurance commissioner of this State to be their true and lawful attorney in and for this State. Such companies, complying with the law of this State, may become sureties on any bond.

Taxes. All corporations doing business within the State are taxed upon the corporate excess. Stock in all such corporations is exempt from taxation in the hands of resident stockholders. Every corporation, joint stock company or association incorporated in this State, which pays no tax to the State or a tax less than two and fifty-one hundredths dollars on each $10,000 or fractional part thereof of its authorized capital, except insurance corporations, religious, charitable and literary corporations, public service corporations, shall pay an annual franchise tax to the State upon its authorized capital stock, which, when added to any tax paid by it in the same year to the State on its corporate excess, shall equal two and fifty-one hundredths dollars for each $10,000 or fractional part thereof or such authorized capital: Provided, however, that such tax shall not be assessed against any such corporation in the year in which said corporation is incorporated. There is a uniform tax throughout the State on intangible personal property of 40 cents on the hundred. The tax upon real estate and tangible personal property is fixed by each town or city. Individual tax payers are not obliged to make returns, but are without recourse if such returns are not made. If returns are made tax payer is entitled to an appeal to the superior court in the event of over-taxation. Taxes are a lien on real estate and land may be sold for taxes after proper assessment and levy. Owner, his heirs or assigns, may redeem within one year by paying purchase money with 20 per centum in addition.

By the Inheritance Tax Law of May 10, 1939, two methods of taxation are imposed, one, a tax upon the net estate of resident and non-resident decedent, the other a tax upon the respective shares inherited from the decedent.

A tax of 1% is assessed on net estates in excess of $10,000, regardless of the amount. If payment of the legacy tax is postponed until the transferee comes into the beneficial enjoyment thereof, an additional tax of 2% may be assessed. This tax also applies to any disposal of an estate taking the form of a final distribution of the estate when made within the period of two years prior to the death of the decedent. When property passes to any grandparent, parent, adopted parent, husband, wife, child, wife or widow of son, husband or widower of daughter, or any child legally adopted, or standing in the acknowledged relationship of parent for a period of ten years, or to any lineal decedent born in lawful wedlock, a tax shall be imposed at the following rate: $10,000 shall be exempt; at the rate of 1% on the next $15,000; at the rate of 2% on the next $25,000 at the rate of 3% on all amounts over $50,000 but not exceeding $250,000; at the rate of 4% on all amounts over $250,000 but not exceeding $500,000; at the rate of 5% on all amounts over $500,000 but not exceeding $750,000; at the rate of 6% on all amounts over $750,000 but not exceeding $1,000,000; at the rate of 7% on all amounts over $1,000,000 but not exceeding $250,000; at the rate of 8% on all amounts over $250,000 but not exceeding $500,000; at the rate of 9% on all amounts over $500,000 but not exceeding $750,000; at the rate of 10% on all amounts over $750,000 but not exceeding $1,000,000; at the rate of 11% on all amounts over $1,000,000. In addition to the above taxes, a further tax is imposed at varying rates upon varying amounts exceeding $250,000. Provided, however, that whenever these taxes exceed the amount allowed as a credit under Section 301, Subsection B of the Federal Revenue Act of 1926 apportioned to this State through the General Treasurer, a refund of the excess is made through the Tax Commissioner to the person on whom the tax was imposed. Only that part of the estates of non-residents consisting of real property or tangible property having an actual situs within the State are subject to this tax. Certain inventories must be filed with the Board of Tax Commissioners. The Board of Tax Commissioners, with the approval of the Attorney General, may effect such a settlement of the amount of any taxes imposed as they shall determine to be for the best interests of the State, and payment of the amount so agreed upon shall be a full satisfaction of such tax. These taxes are a lien upon the property of the estate until paid.

Trade Name. Any person carrying on business, except a corporation, or a partnership which contains the name of at least one member of the firm, shall file in the town or city clerk's office a sworn statement, giving the assumed name and the name of the person or persons carrying on the business. Failure to comply makes the person or persons liable to one year's imprisonment, or to a fine not exceeding $500.

Transfer of Corporation Stock shall be made agreeable to the provisions of Chapter 113 of the General Laws of the State of Rhode Island, 1938, commonly known as Uniform Stock Transfer Act.

Trust Deeds are executed the same as other deeds.

All wills of lands, tenements, and hereditaments, and bequests of personal estate, shall be in writing and signed by the party devising and bequeathing the same, or by some person in his presence and by his express direction; and shall be attested and subscribed in his presence by at least two witnesses, or else shall be void and of no effect. No form of proof is required, but the subscribing witnesses should appear at probate of the will, if living in the State. Non-residents may be executors of wills. Every person being upwards of eighteen years of age may dispose of personal estate and every person of twenty-one years or above may dispose of real estate by last will and testament. SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF SOUTH CAROLINA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by ROBERT McC. FRIGG, JR., Attorney-at-Law, 38 Broad St., Charleston. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Accounts and Claims. Accounts shall be itemized and contain a statement of all payments and credits. Full names of creditors and residence should be sent. If partnership, firm name and full name of each partner. If corporation, its name and under the laws of what state incorporated. Claims should be verified by a member of the firm or officer of the corporation before a notary public having a seal, or a commissioner of deeds for South Carolina. (See Interest.)

Acknowledgments. All deeds for the conveyance of real estate must be signed and sealed by the grantor in the presence of two witnesses, and recorded within the county in which the land lies immediately upon delivery. Before any deed or other instrument in writing can be recorded in the proper office within the State, the execution thereof shall first be proved by the affidavit, in writing, of a subscribing witness to such instrument, taken before some officer within the state competent to administer an oath, or before a commissioner or commissioners appointed by dedimus, issued from the court of common pleas of the county in which the instrument is to be recorded; or, if taken without the limits of the State, and within the United States, before a commissioner of deeds of the State, or before a clerk of a court of record, who shall certify the same under his official seal, or before a notary public, who shall affix thereto his official seal, or, if taken without the United States, before a consul or vice-consul or consular agent of the United States of America. All verifications of pleadings, affidavits, and proofs of claims made before notaries public in other states have the same force and effect as if sworn to before a commissioner of deeds, provided notary shall use his official seal.

Affidavits. All affidavits should be made before a commissioner of deeds for South Carolina, or before a notary public having an official seal. The affidavit used for the purpose of proving the execution of deeds when taken without the limits of this State, but within the United States, must be made before a commissioner of deeds for this State, or before the clerk of a court of record, who must use his official seal, or before a notary public, who must also use his official seal. If taken without the United States it must be made before a consul, vice-consul, or consular agent of the United States.

Allens. No alien person, either in his own right in severalty, or as tenant in common, in fee or for a term of years, or as trustee, cestui qui trust, or agent, shall own or control within the limits of this State more than 500 acres of land, provided this section does not apply to land purchased under proceedings to foreclose mortgage held by foreign corporations purchasing the same, but in such case such foreign corporation shall not be entitled to hold said excess of land more than five years without sale of the same, unless the comptroller-general shall certify that a sale during that time would be detrimental to the interest of such corporation, in which case said land may be held for five years longer upon same conditions. This article does not apply to lands already owned or controlled by the persons or corporations referred to in this article, nor to lands already mortgaged to such persons or corporations. Alien widows are entitled to dower and descent can be traced through aliens. It seems as if alien heirs at law and devisees can not own more than 500 acres of land in this State.

Assignments and Insolvency. Insolvents may assign for benefit of creditors, without making preferences, and creditors may appoint agent to act with assignee. Debtor can require creditors to release. All transfers within ninety days of assignment are void.

Attachments will issue in an action arising on contract for the recovery of money, or in an action for the wrongful conversion of personal property, or for the recovery of property, whether real or personal, and damages for the wrongful conversion and detention of personal property or in an action for injury done to either person or property, or for libel and slander, or against corporation created by or under the laws of any other state, government or country, or against a debtor who has absconded or concealed himself, or whenever any person or corporation is about to remove any of his or its property from the State, or has assigned, disposed of, or secreted, or is about to assign, dispose of, or secrete any of his or its property, with intent to defraud creditors, the creditor, at the time of issuing the summons, or at any time thereafter, may have the property of such debtor or corporation attached as a security for the satisfaction of such judgment as the creditor may recover. Proceedings in case of attachment are prescribed by the code. Attachment may issue to secured purchase money of property real or personal. By statute, person damaged in person or property, by careless or negligent operation of auto vehicles may attach same, securing lien next to taxes. Civil process in attachment proceedings may be served on Sunday.

Bank Collection Code. Effective March 28, 1930. Given directly following the Laws.

Banks. (See Trust Companies.)

Supervising Authority. The office of Bank Examiner is abolished. All banks are under the regulation and supervision of the State Board of Bank Control. Sec. 7843. The board is composed of seven members, one being State Treasurer ex officio, who is Chairman, and other six appointees by Governor, with advice and consent of the Senate. Two must be experienced in commercial banking, two in the building and loan business, and two in the cash depository business.

The board is vested with power to supervise all State Banks, cash depositories and building and loan associations, including the promulgation of rules, regulations and instructions for the directions, control and protection of such institutions, the conservation of their assets and the liquidation thereof, when necessary.

The office of Bank Examiner is abolished, and the Board is directed to set up an examining department, appointing a chief examiner in charge, who shall appoint such assistants as necessary to perform the duties incident to the work of the Board.

The Board is vested with full and plenary power over all institutions coming within the purview of the Act, and may appoint conservators of such banks as close, or as it may take over, provided such conservator may not be an officer, director, or attorney of the institution at the time or for two years prior thereto.

When the Board may conclude that any bank, building and loan association or cash depository is in imminent danger of insolvency or is insolvent, it shall order the liquidation thereof, by a conservator. Conservators are given the powers and duties of receivers. The liquidation shall proceed as the Board shall direct, and the conservator may apply to the Courts for direction and instruction. The Board shall fix and limit the liquidating expenses.

On order of the Board, the conservator shall, after ten days' notice to each depositor by mail, call a meeting, at which shall be elected a committee of not exceeding three depositors to advise with the conservator and the Board in the liquidation of the institution. Sec. 7844.

Conservators may be authorized by the Board to borrow in the corporate name of the institution, and upon the pledge of all or any of its assets, to reopen or pay dividends to depositors. Sec. 7844-1.

The permanent provisions of law regulating the liquidation of defunct banks, appointment of receivers, etc., are superseded by the plenary powers given to the Board of Bank Control, and the appointment of conservators operating thereunder. For the provisions thus superseded see Secs. 7855, 7856-1.

Kinds of Banks Permitted. Under the banking laws, banks, trust companies, bank and trust companies, stock savings banks, cash depositories, building and loan associations, savings and loan associations and industrial banks making personal loans on monthly payment plans requiring no collateral except endorsements and not receiving deposits, are permitted to be organized and do business. Term "Banks," and "Banking Institutions" defined as and construed to include duly incorporated banking corporations, firms, partnerships, associations, individuals or groups of individuals a substantial part of whose business consists of receiving deposits and making loans and discounts.

Incorporation. Banks are incorporated under the general incorporation laws (Const. Sec. 9, Article 9; Sec. 7726). (See Corporations).

Officers and Directors. Directors must each own not less than 1 per cent of capital stock. They may make and change by-laws not inconsistent with the law regulating the manner in which the stock of the bank shall be transferred, its directors elected or appointed, its property transferred, its general business conducted, and the privileges granted to it by law exercised. The directors may appoint all necessary officers and employees, fix their compensation and prescribe the manner of paying for the stock of the corporation. The directors shall, within 30 days of receiving a copy of the report of the Bank Examiner, meet and review the report and certify such action to the Bank Examiner. The receipt of deposits or trusts by an officer after he shall become aware of insolvency of a bank constitutes a felony and also renders him civilly liable to injured parties.

Capital Stock and Surplus. No bank shall be chartered until its capital stock be paid in full in cash and additional amount of 10 per cent for organization expenses. Before a charter may issue, the bank must have the approval after investigation of the State Treasurer, State Bank Examiner, and Secretary of State. Sec. 7835.

No charter can issue until Board of Bank Control certifies that paid in capital qualifies bank for membership in Federal Deposit Insurance Fund.

The general minimum capital stock requirements are: (a) in towns of less than 3,000, $25,000; (b) in towns of 3,000 to 10,000, $50,000; (c) in towns over 10,000, $100,000. Sec. 7835.

Branch banks are permitted under this law, with the requirement that the parent bank must have a total unimpaired capital in excess of the minimum requirements of $25,000 for each branch. Each branch is required to have paid in cash, or allocated to it, the same amount of capital stock and surplus as required for establishment of independent banks in locality. Sec. 7836.

In certain cases the minimum capital stock requirements fully paid in cash are: (a) in towns under 5,000 and rural communities, $10,000; (b) in towns of 5,000 to 20,000, $20,000; (c) in towns over 20,000, $50,000. Such banks must have paid in cash a surplus of 25 per cent of capital stock, may not be located in towns under 5,000 and rural communities where there is an existing bank, and may not be branch banks. Banks organized under such requirements may own no real estate except such as acquired by foreclosure of security for loans, and may pay no dividend until unimpaired surplus shall equal its capital stock. Directors of such banks must each own not less than 1 per cent of the capital stock. Sec. 7836 (1).

Cash depositories, incorporated under the general corporation law, each having a minimum capital stock paid in cash of $2,500, may operate in this State, but not more than one may be organized in each town, city or community. Half of any capital in excess of $2,500 may be used in organization and operating expense. They shall make a regular monthly charge on a fee basis for services rendered. No depository may be owned by or affiliated with any bank. (Sec. 7935-1).

With approval of the chief Bank Examiner and by vote of stockholders owning the majority of stock in the bank, in meeting duly called, any bank may issue preferred stock of one or more classes in such amount and with such par value as shall be approved by said Bank Examiner. Issues of preferred stock shall not be valid until the par value of all stock so issued shall be paid in. Preferred stock issued shall be included in determining whether such bank has complied with the minimum capital requirements, and holders of preferred stock are not liable to assessments to restore impairments to the capital. (Act 342, 1935).

With the approval of the chief Bank Examiner any bank may at any time, through action of its board of directors and without action of stockholders, issue and sell its capital notes or debentures, which are subordinate and subject to the claims of depositors. The term "capital" as used in the laws of this State is construed to embrace the amount of outstanding notes and debentures sold by the bank to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and the capital of any bank is deemed unimpaired when the amount of such capital notes and debentures as represented by shown cash and assets exceeds the impairment found by the chief Bank Examiner. Before such notes or debentures are retired or repaid any existing deficiency of the bank's capital must be paid in cash, so that the shown capital assets shall at least equal the capital stock of the bank. (Act 326, 1935).

Reserves. Banks are required annually to set aside not less than one-tenth of the annual net earnings until the surplus is equal to 25 per cent of the capital stock, and it is made the duty of a bank examiner to enforce this law. It shall also at all times maintain either the cash or as cash in banks 3 per cent of its time deposits and 7 per cent of its checking deposits. Sec. 7863.

Examinations and Reports. The Board of Bank Control shall have at least two examinations made every year of all banks and one examination of all building and loan associations, for which it collects from banks and building and loan associations for each examination $40.00 for the first $100,000 of resources, and 3 cents for each additional $1,000, and for cash depositories with resources less than $50,000, $10.00, and others $15.00. Any examination made under authority of Federal Government, if filed with Board, and in cooperation therewith, shall be accepted as the equivalent of a required examination, and the Board may accept an audit of a building and loan association made by an accountant approved by the Board.

The amount of bank notes issued and circulation shall be certified to the Comptroller General each week, together with the amount of gold and silver coin and bullion held by the bank.

The directors shall report to the Bank Examiner when they have met and reviewed his reports of the examination of the bank within 30 days after receiving the Bank Examiner's report.

Banks lending money and receiving deposits are required to publish in a newspaper in the city, town or village where they or any branch thereof, may do business, at the end of every three months, a correct report of their condition and business, showing under oath the capital paid in, deposits, discounts, property and liability, verified by three of the directors; failure to publish such statements constitutes a misdemeanor and subjects the charter to forfeiture. (Sec. 1354).

Banks having branches must publish statements of affairs of branch banks in the county where the branch is located; provided, that a bank having a capital of $1,000,000 or more, and operating more than 10 branches, may publish in each county where it has a branch, a consolidated statement, with the written approval of the respective local boards of directors. Sec. 7859.

Any bank who issues to the Comptroller General or any of his clerks or agents a false certificate of the amount of cash on deposit to the credit of any public officer for use in settlement with such public officer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Loan Limitations. Sec. 7829. The president, directors and company of any incorporated bank in this State are authorized to make loans on negotiable paper for any period not exceeding twelve months; and also to open an account and give a credit to any other bank or banks in any of the sister states. They may invest in loans secured by first liens on real estate up to 60% of appraised value, maturing not longer than five years, and amortized at least 10% each year. Limitations of this section do not apply to loans made in participation with R. F. C. or any Federal Reserve Bank, and restrictions of section may be removed by State Board of Bank Control.

Such corporations shall have the power to invest, from time to time, such part of their capital, not exceeding (with the amount of stock any such bank may hold) one-half of the amount originally subscribed to such bank, in the stock of this State or the United States. Sec. 7830.

Banks forfeit $500 a week, if bank notes issued and in circulation exceed for more than four successive weeks three times the amount of gold and silver coin and bullion held by the bank. Sec. 7837.

The liability to a bank of any person other than a director or officer shall not exceed 10 per cent of the capital. This debt not to include bills of exchange drawn against values and commercial and business paper. Two-thirds of directors can increase 10 per cent limit to 15 per cent only. Sec. 7869.

Directors and other officers shall only borrow on security to be approved by two-thirds of directors in writing. Directors cannot endorse for each other. Companies and firms of which directors are officers or members shall not borrow more than 10 per cent of capital. Officers violating subject to criminal prosecution. Sec. 7827.

Banking Associations may not make any loan or discount on security of shares of its own capital stock or purchase or hold such shares, unless necessary to prevent loss on a debt previously contracted in good faith. This does not apply to existing loans, or renewals thereof, secured by bank stock. Sec. 7873.

In no case shall a loan be made by any bank which added to the then existing total loans would increase the total to more than 25 per cent in excess of the credit, surplus and deposits of said bank, less the amount invested in real estate, bonds or other securities.

Cash depositories may invest in United States securities, bonds of the State or its political subdivisions to be held as cash at cost price when deposits become too large or bulky for safe handling; provided the total of such investments may not exceed 25 per cent of the total deposits.

Cash depositories shall make loans of depositor's money only with his written consent to such borrower as depositor may select, depository to receive brokerage charge.

Stockholders' Liability. By Acts 28 and 37 of 1935, the constitutional and statutory requirements of double liability of bank stockholders were repealed. Now such stockholders have no greater liability than stockholders of business corporations, except where assessments are provided by directors.

Rule on Branch Banking. Banks incorporated under the general minimum stock requirements are permitted to have branch banks with the requirement that the parent bank must have a total unimpaired capital in excess of the minimum requirements of $25,000 from each branch. Each branch is required to have paid in cash or allocated to it the same amount of capital stock in surplus as required for establishment of independent banks in locality. (See Capital Stock and Surplus, supra.)

Required statements of the affairs of branch banks must be published in the county where the branch is located unless the parent bank has a capital of $1,000,000 or more and operates more than 10 branches, in which case a consolidated statement may be published in each county, with the written approval of the respective local boards of directors.

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. All banks, trust companies, bank and trust companies, stock savings banks, mutual savings banks, and cash depositories are authorized, by vote of majority of board of directors, and with approval of State Banking Department, to do and perform any and all acts and things necessary to take advantage of Federal banking legislation, and particularly the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. They may with the Banking Department's approval subscribe for stock, debentures, bonds or other types of securities of said Corporation and comply with its lawful regulations and requirements made from time to time.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is authorized to act without bond as receiver or liquidator of any banking institution, the deposits in which are to any extent insured by it, and whose doors have been closed; and such receivership or liquidatorship may be tendered to it by the appropriate State authority. Whether it acts as liquidator or not, it is subrogated to the rights of the insured depositors, as determined under the laws of this State.

The examinations of banking institutions by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and reports made to it, may, in his discretion be accepted by the chief State Bank Examiner in lieu of examinations and reports required by the State laws. He may also furnish to said F. D. I. C. copies of his examinations, reports and information on any banking institution.

The receiver or liquidator of any closed bank may borrow from the F. D. I. C., with the consent of the chief Bank Examiner, and pledge any part or all of its assets as collateral; and upon order of a court of competent jurisdiction may sell to the F. D. I. C. any part or all of its assets, if the F. D. I. C. acts as liquidator, the loan must be approved by order of court.

Banking. It is unlawful for any person to obtain money or other property with fraudulent intent, or to obtain credit with like intent, by means of check, draft or order, of which such person is maker or drawer, or which, though he is not maker or drawer, he with like intent, utters or delivers, aids or abets another to utter or deliver. If such paper is not paid by the drawer, the person so drawing or uttering same shall be guilty of misdemeanor. Fact that paper is not paid because drawer did not have funds on hand with drawee or bank, and fact that paper not made good in seven days prima facie evidence of fraudulent intent. Prosecution once begun cannot be discontinued. The word credit is construed to mean securing further advances of money or goods by worthless check on existing account in full or in part. Section 1167.

The Uniform Collection Code, effective March 28, 1930, has been adopted in this state. Sections 6948-6963.

Certificates of Deposit. After January 1, 1928, no transfer or assignment of certificate of deposit shall be effective or valid to prejudice bank until notice of assignment has been made on books of bank, and certificates must so state on their face. When lost, new certificates shall be issued, after advertisement once a week for two weeks of intention to apply, and sixty days after last advertisement. Sections 7832-7833.

It is unlawful for state or county officers to deposit public or trust funds with their private funds or to withdraw the same or any part thereof for any purpose other than that for which received or deposited.

Bills and Notes. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Bills of Lading. The usual principles of mercantile law are applicable to bills of lading in this State.

Blue Sky Law. The sale of securities is regulated by the Uniform Securities Act, recommended by the Investment Bankers Association. For details, reference to the law itself is recommended (Acts of 1937, No. 1.)

Chattel Mortgages. Description of property covered must be in writing or typewriting, but not in print, except as to mortgages covering the whole or any part of the real or personal property of a public utility company, hydro-electric company, railroad company, or manufacturing company. The law in regard to chattel mortgages provides that in case the condition is broken the mortgagee appoints an agent with authority to foreclose, who immediately takes possession of the property and advertises the same for sale at a given date. Mortgagor has right to redeem property at any time before sale by paying debt and all costs. Chattel mortgages take effect as notice to subsequent purchasers without actual notice and subsequent creditors only from the day and hour of recording, and recording gives notice thereof for three years, and may be renewed for successive periods of three years each on mortgagee's affidavit, duly recorded showing amount still received thereby.

Claim and Delivery. The plaintiff in an action to recover the possession of personal property may at the time of issuing the summons or at any time before answer claim the immediate delivery of such property by making the necessary affidavit and executing bond in double the value of the property, and defendant may require redelivery of property by executing a like bond.

Collaterals. Collateral loans are allowed in this State, and collateral notes are commonly used.

Contracts. Every agreement whereby the vendor or bailor reserves any interest in personal property, must be recorded in the same manner as mortgages. This is not applicable to livery-stable keepers and inn keepers. Ordinary provisions of statute of frauds in force in this State.

Contracts of Sale for Future Delivery. All contracts of sale for future delivery of cotton, grain, stocks, or other commodities, made in accordance with the United States Cotton Futures Act approved August 11, 1916, and (1) made in accordance with the rules of any board of trade, exchange, or similar institution, and (2) actually executed on the floor of such board of trade, exchange, etc., and performed or discharged according to the rules thereof, and (3) when such contracts are placed with or through a regular member in good standing of a cotton exchange, grain exchange, board of trade, etc., organized under the laws of this or any other state, are valid and enforceable in this State according to their terms.

Certain Contracts Void. Contracts of sale for future delivery where there is not the bona fide intention that the things mentioned therein are to be actually delivered, but which are to be settled according to market quotations, or prices only, are null and void. Bucket shops, dealing in such contracts, are prohibited. The failure of agents to furnish to the principal on demand for whom such agent has executed a contract for future delivery, a written statement showing the name and location of the exchange, etc., on which such contract has been executed, the date of the execution, and the name and address of the person with whom the same was executed, will be prima facie evidence that such contract is illegal and the person who executed it is maintaining a bucket shop.

Local Exchanges. Voluntary associations to be known as cotton exchanges, grain exchanges, boards of trade, or similar institutions, to receive in post quotations for the benefit of its members or other persons engaged in the production of such commodities, which shall be composed of members, and adopt a uniform set of rules and regulations not incompatible with the laws of South Carolina and the United States, may be organized in any city, town or municipality in the State of South Carolina.

Conveyances. All conveyances of real estate must be signed and sealed by the grantor in the presence of two subscribing witnesses and recorded immediately. They take effect as to third parties only from the date of record. If the grantor be married his wife must renounce her dower in a peculiar form prescribed by statute. (See Dower.)

Corporations. Assignments and Insolvency. A law providing for assignments for the benefit of creditors is in force. The assignee acts under the direction of the circuit court. The operation of the law has been practically suspended by the National Bankruptcy Act.

Attachment process issues at the time of issuing the summons or at any time afterward in all actions against a corporation which has no officer, agent or attorney upon whom the summons can be served within this State, or non-resident defendant, or when defendant has departed or concealed himself, or whenever any person or corporation is about to remove any of his or its property from this State, or has assigned, disposed of, or secreted any of his or its property, or is about to do so with intent to defraud or delay creditors or when the debt sued upon was incurred for property obtained under false pretenses, and also in an action to recover purchase money for personal property sold to defendant, such property may be attached. Plaintiff must make affidavit and furnish bond in not less than $250, and at least the amount claimed in circuit courts, and at least $50 and not exceeding $300 in justice's courts. Real and personal property, debts, moneys, credits, and bank-notes may be attached or levied on under execution or attachment.

Banks. Banking associations may be formed subject to approval of the superintendent to do general banking business except issuing bills as money. The capital stock required varies from $15,000 to $50,000 depending upon the size of the town. Deposits may not be received in excess of fifteen times capital and surplus. Cash, due from banks, and United States securities, of 17 1/2 per cent of deposits required. Five incorporators required, who must be residents of state. Five (under specified conditions, with consent of Superintendent, three) directors required, majority of whom must be residents of state. Officers elected by directors, president and vice-president from members of board. Officers and directors personally liable for excessive loans. Banks subject to supervision of Superintendent of Banks and State Banking Commission. Examination by Superintendent, Deputy or Examiner required once each year. Three reports each year required to Superintendent at times he shall require, which reports must be published. Loan to any corporation, partnership, members thereof, or individual may not exceed 20 per cent of paid up capital and surplus, or loans in aggregate to stockholders may not exceed 50 per cent of paid up capital. Each stockholder is individually responsible equally and ratably, and not one for the other, for the benefit of creditors to the amount of stock held at par value in addition to the amount invested in stock, provided if stockholders of national banks are exempt from liability by federal law, the stockholders of state banks are exempt where state bank is member of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Branch banking by state or national banks authorized subject to rules and regulations prescribed by State Banking Commission. Bank, subject to approval of Superintendent, may establish branch office in county or adjoining counties for purpose of receiving deposits, issuing drafts and cashier's checks, making change, paying checks, but not making loans or discounts.

Bills of Exchange. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Blue Sky Law. (See Sale of Securities.)

Checks. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Collaterals. There are no statutory provisions concerning them. The common law governs.

Conditional Sales. The uniform Conditional Sales Law has been in force since July 1, 1919.

Consignments. There are no penal provisions regarding consignments.

Conveyances. Conveyances of real estate or mortgages thereof must be by an instrument in writing, subscribed by the party disposing of the same, or by his agent having written authority. To entitle such conveyance to be recorded, it must be acknowledged as provided by law. (See Acknowledgments.) The seal of a grantor or mortgagor is not required, and its absence does not invalidate or in any manner impair a conveyance. Every conveyance of real estate other than a lease for a term not exceeding one year, is void as against any subsequent purchaser or encumbrancer, including an assignee of a mortgage or lease, in good faith and for a valuable consideration, whose conveyance is first duly recorded. The word "conveyance" embraces every instrument in writing by which any estate or interest in real property is mortgaged, aliened, or encumbered, or by which the title to any real property may be affected, except wills, executory contracts of sale and powers of attorney. An instrument containing a power to convey, or to execute instruments affecting real property, can not be revoked except by an instrument in writing, properly acknowledged and recorded in the same office in which the instrument containing the power was recorded. Real estate may be conveyed or mortgaged by the owner thereof alone, unless the same is a homestead, when both the husband and wife must join in the conveyance or encumbrance. A conveyance need not be witnessed. The only instruments which need be witnessed in this State are chattel mortgages (which, however, instead of being witnessed may be acknowledged) satisfactions thereof, and wills, which must have two witnesses. Quitclaim deeds, unless otherwise stated therein, have substantially the same effect as special warranty deeds. Deeds executed subsequently to June 30, 1911, to be entitled to record, must contain the postoffice address of the grantee.

Corporations. Corporations are formed under general laws, and can be formed by the association of three or more persons for the following purposes: Mining, manufacturing, and other industrial pursuits, and for any other lawful business; the construction or operation of railroads, wagon roads, irrigating ditches; for colleges, seminaries, churches, libraries, benevolent, charitable, and scientific associations; for conducting the business of insurance, banks of discount and deposit, and for loan, trust, and guarantee associations. The articles of incorporation must show the name of the corporation, the purpose for which it is formed, the place where its principal business is to be transacted, the term for which it is to exist, the number of its directors, and the names and residence of such of them who are to serve until the election of such officers; the amount of its capital stock and the number of shares into which it is divided. The articles must be subscribed by three or more persons, one of whom must be a resident of the State and acknowledged before some competent officer. The articles must be filed with the secretary of state and can be amended at any regular annual meeting of the stockholders, or at a special meeting called for that purpose. Each stockholder is individually and personally liable for the debts of the corporation to the extent of the amount that is unpaid upon the stock that is held by him. If its articles of incorporation so provide (and they may be amended so to provide), a private corporation may issue shares of its capital stock without par or face value. The Uniform Stock Transfer Act has been in force since July 1, 1921.

Corporations, Foreign. No corporation, incorporated or organized otherwise than under the laws of this state except railroad corporations, corporations or associations created solely for religious or benevolent purposes, or foreign insurance companies, associations, societies, or orders furnishing insurance or benefits in the nature of insurance of any kind, shall transact business or acquire, hold, or dispose of property in this state until such corporation shall have caused to be filed in the office of the Secretary of State a copy of its charter, articles of association or incorporation and all amendments thereto duly certified by the Secretary of State of the state wherein the corporation was organized, and also an appointment of the Secretary of State as its agent resident in the state of South Dakota for the service of legal process. However, any foreign corporation may without being licensed to do business in the state advance and loan money therein and take, acquire, hold and enforce notes, bonds, mortgages or trust deeds given to represent or secure money so loaned or advanced or for other lawful consideration, provided, however, that any such corporation, except a savings bank or trust company which is engaged solely in loaning money secured by mortgages on real estate, which shall transact any such business subsequent to July 1, 1925, shall first file with the Secretary of State an appointment of the Secretary of State as its agent in the state for the service of process. A fee of $1.00 for every $1,000 of the capital stock of the corporation, excepting $25,000 exempted or to be employed in the state is to be paid to the Secretary of State. An annual statement as of December 31 is to be filed prior to March first next.

Depositions may be taken by leave of court after jurisdiction is obtained and without leave after answer has been served within or without the state before an officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of this state or of the place where the examination is held or a commissioner appointed by the court. Depositions may be used for purposes of impeachment, against an adverse party, or when the witness is dead, out of the county, unable to testify because of age, infirmity, imprisonment or attendance cannot be secured by subpoena. The officer before whom taken must not be interested, or relative, employee or attorney of either party. Are taken upon notice, signed by attorney, and the adverse party must be given sufficient time to travel to the place of taking by the usual route, and one day for preparation, exclusive of Sundays and day of service, and may be adjourned from day to day. Must be recorded by officer or by someone acting under his direction and in his presence, and after being transcribed must be signed by witness unless signature waived by stipulation or witness is ill, cannot be found or refuses to sign. When taken must be certified sealed up, indorsed with title of the cause, name of officer taking the same, and by him addressed and transmitted to the clerk of the court, where action is pending; must be filed at least one day before trial.

Descent and Distribution of Property. The property both real and personal, of one who dies without disposing of it by will, passes to the heirs of the intestate, subject to the control of the probate court, and to the possession of any administrator appointed by that court for the purpose of administration; and descends, and must be distributed, in the following manner: If the decedent leave a surviving husband or wife, and only one child, or the lawful issue of one child, in equal shares to the surviving husband or wife, and child or issue of such child; if the decedent leave a surviving husband or wife and more than one child living, or one child living and the lawful issue of one or more deceased children, one-third to the surviving husband or wife, and the remainder in equal shares to his children, and to the lawful issue of any deceased child; if the decedent leave no surviving husband or wife, but leaves issue, the whole estates goes to such issue; if the deceased leaves no issue and the estate does not exceed $20,000 all the estate goes to the surviving husband or wife; if the estate exceeds $20,000, the first $20,000 goes to the survivor, and of the excess, one-half goes to the survivor and the other half to the decedent's father and mother in equal shares, and if either is dead, the whole of such other half goes to the other, but if neither such father nor mother survive, such other half goes in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of the decedent, and to the children of any deceased brother or sister. If decedent leave no issue, nor husband, nor wife, the estate goes to the father and mother in equal shares, or if either is dead, then to the other; if there be no issue, husband, wife, father, nor mother, then in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of decedent, and the children of any deceased brother or sister, by right of representation. If the decedent leave a surviving husband or wife and no issue, and no father, mother, brother, or sister, the whole estate goes to the surviving husband or wife. If the decedent leave no husband, wife, or kindred, the estate escheats to the State for the support of common schools. Kindred of half blood inherit equally with those of whole blood in the same degree, unless the inheritance came to the intestate by descent, devise, or gift of some one of his ancestors in which case persons not of the blood of such ancestor are excluded.

Dower. Dower and curtesy are abolished.

Executions issue as of course at any time after entry of judgment, and must be returned within sixty days. Lands levied on need not be appraised, but notice of sale must be given. Same provisions apply in justice's courts as to levy, etc., on personal property. There is no stay law, and execution can only be stayed by order of the court, by injunction, or by appeal with security given.

Exemptions allowed are a homestead not exceeding one acre in area, if within a town plat, or 160 acres if not. The homestead exemption is limited to $5,000 in value. Certain personal property is absolutely exempt, such as family pictures, school books, lot in a family burying ground, etc. Additional personal property exemptions to the amount of $750 are allowed and may be claimed to the head of a family, and to a single person to the value of $300. In lieu of the same certain specific articles may be selected and held as exempt. Proceeds of life insurance, including cash surrender value, to extent of $5,000 exempt.

Fraudulent Conveyances. The uniform Fraudulent Conveyances Law has been in force since July 1, 1919.

Garnishment. This remedy lies in all courts, upon affidavit showing defendant's indebtedness, and that some person or corporation within the State has property, money, or credits in his hands or under his control belonging to the defendant. No undertaking is required. Property may be delivered or money paid into court or undertaking given to the plaintiff, with sureties, that the judgment if recovered will be paid. The garnishee may defend for himself.

Holidays: The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); December 25 (Christmas Day), and every day on which an election, either primary or general, is held throughout the State, and every day appointed by the Governor of this State, for a public fast, thanksgiving, or a holiday.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women, post.)

Interest. Legal rate, 6 per cent; but parties may contract in writing for 8 per cent, except that in real estate loans the rate shall not exceed 8 per cent including commissions. In the computation of interest the same shall not be compounded. Usury forfeits all interest. Interest on open accounts runs from date of last item charged, whether debit or credit. Legal rate allowed on judgments is 6 per cent from date and after property sold on execution during the year of redemption, 7 per cent.

Judgments of courts of record are a lien on all real estate in the county where the judgment was recovered and in the counties to which its transcript, except the homestead, for ten years from time such judgment is docketed in the clerk's office of the county where the judgment was entered and are good for twenty years. Judgment may be obtained where no defense interposed, in Circuit Court within thirty days after service of summons, in Municipal Court within ten days, in Justice Court four days. The Uniform Declaratory Judgments Act has been in force since July 1, 1925.

Liens. Banker has general lien dependent on possession upon the property in his hands belonging to customer for balance due from customer in course of business. Laborers and materialmen have lien upon improvement and land to secure payment for labor or material furnished. A verified account of the amount of the lien claimed must be filed in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county wherein the property is located within ninety days after such materials shall have been furnished and labor performed, as against some classes of public service corporations the account or claim is to be filed in the office of the Secretary of State. Any person owning and operating a threshing machine may have a lien upon the grain threshed by the machine for the threshing thereof, and this applies as well to persons owning and operating corn shelling, husking and shredding and silage cutting and seed hulling machines.

Limitations. Personal injury, three years; libel, slander, assault, etc., forfeiture or penalty to state or malpractice, two years; on contracts or obligations, six years; on sealed instruments and action affecting real property, except mortgage foreclosures, twenty years; on real estate mortgages (foreclosure thereof) fifteen years, and on judgments, or decrees of any court other than the courts of this State, ten years; of the courts of this State, twenty years.

Married Women retain their own real and personal property, and may make contracts, sue and be sued, as if sole. Neither husband nor wife has any interest in the property of the other. Dower and curtesy are abolished. Married women retain the same legal existence and personality after as before marriage, and shall receive the same protection of all rights as a woman which her husband does as a man, and has the same right to sue in her own name as her husband has in his.

Mortgages on real property are executed same as deeds. The execution of a mortgage upon a homestead, even though it be for part of the purchase price, by both husband and wife is necessary to its validity. Mortgages containing a power of sale may be foreclosed by advertisement, unless enjoined at request of mortgagor, who may demand foreclosure by action. Nonresident mortgagee must foreclose by South Dakota attorney. A chattel mortgage must be executed in the presence of two witnesses, or its execution must be acknowledged before some officer qualified by the laws of the State of South Dakota to take acknowledgments, and it must appear from the mortgage that duplicate of it has been received by the mortgagee. The mortgage is void as against creditors and subsequent purchasers and encumbrancers in good faith and for value unless it is filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the mortgaged property is situated. A chattel mortgage is not valid as against creditors and subsequent purchasers or encumbrancers in good faith after expiration of six years from filing thereof. Chattel mortgages may be foreclosed by advertisement. Real estate mortgages and assignments thereof, to be entitled to record, must contain the post office address of the mortgagee or assignee, as the case may be.

Mortgagee in purchase money mortgage on real estate given subsequently to June 30, 1933 may not take deficiency judgment upon foreclosure. Real estate mortgagee must establish that property was bid in for true market value to obtain deficiency judgment.

Effective July 1, 1935, the following provisions in real estate mortgages are unenforceable and a mortgage containing any such provision is not entitled to record: Upon homestead or adjacent property a pledge, assignment or transfer of right to possession or income prior to expiration of period of redemption; agreement to pay taxes of mortgagee on account of mortgage debt; waiver of any part of exemptions of personal property allowed by law; consent to appointment of receiver during foreclosure or period of redemption.

Negotiable Instruments. Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted, effective July 1, 1913. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.") The South Dakota Act conforms with the Uniform Act.

Note given subsequently to June 30, 1933 for purchase price of real estate secured by mortgage must bear endorsement that it is given for such purpose and is not negotiable and may be enforced only by foreclosure of mortgage in rem. Absence of endorsement does not affect rights of parties.

Any person who with intent to defraud shall for a present consideration make or deliver check, draft or order for payment of money upon bank or other depository knowing that the maker or drawer has not sufficient funds shall be guilty of misdemeanor. Making, drawing or delivery of such check, draft or order prima facie evidence of intent to defraud and as against maker knowledge of insufficient funds.

Powers of Attorney. A power of attorney to convey or mortgage real property must be acknowledged and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the property is situated and can only be revoked by an instrument in writing acknowledged and recorded in the same office. (See Acknowledgments and Conveyances.)

Probate Law. (See Administration, Descent and Distribution, and Wills.)

Protest. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Redemption. A judgment debtor or his successor in interest or a creditor having a subsequent lien by mortgage or judgment may redeem from the sale of real property under execution or foreclosure within twelve months from the date of sale. Successive redemption may be made by such creditors within sixty days after the preceding redemption. There is no right of redemption in case of a sale of personal property. Redemption from foreclosure of real estate mortgage may be extended two years upon payment of taxes, costs, and interest upon mortgage and upon amount of bid. Redemption from mortgage or execution sales may be extended to March 1, 1943 upon petition and order requiring payment of reasonable part of income or rental value.

Sales. The Uniform Sales Act has been in force since July 1, 1921. (See Conditional Sales.)

Sales in Bulk. A bulk sales law is in force.

Sales of Securities. A law regulating the sale of certain classes of securities, commonly spoken of as a blue-sky law, is in force. This law in some respects is quite stringent and is of such character that it is impracticable to digest its provisions. Any one interested in it should consult the law itself or take the matter up with the State Securities Commission which has charge of the enforcement of the law.

Taxes become due and payable on the first day of January, and the first half delinquent on the first day of May, and the second half on the first day of November following and draw 1 per cent per month interest and penalty thereafter until paid, or the land is sold as hereinafter stated, the interest being added on the first day of each month. Lands are sold on the first Monday of December following, and may be redeemed within four years by payment of purchase money and interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum (sometimes less, depending on the terms of the sale) and all taxes subsequently paid. Taxes become a lien on real property as between vendor and vendee on the first day of January, and if personal property taxes are not paid by the first day of July, the county treasurer, who is the tax collector, may proceed to enforce the collection of them by distress and sale. An inheritance tax law went into effect July 1, 1905. The tax depends upon the value of the property and the degree of relationship.

Effective July 1, 1935, tax imposed upon net income at rates varying from 1 per cent to 6 per cent and upon gross receipts from retail sales of tangible personal property, gas, electricity, water, communication services, amusement and athletic contests at 2 per cent.

So-called use tax imposed on privilege of use, storage, consumption in state of tangible personal property of 2 percent of purchase price effective July 1, 1939.

Chain store tax effective July 1, 1939, imposes license fee upon stores in state from $1.00 to $150.00 per store based upon the number of stores under the same management, whether operated in the state or not.

Banks, state and national, finance corporations, including trust companies, finance companies, etc., beginning January 1, 1939, subject to tax of 3% of net income assignable to South Dakota in lieu of all other taxes except real property taxes.

Warehouse Receipts. The uniform Warehouse Receipts Law has been in force since July 1, 1913.

Wills. Every person over the age of eighteen years, of sound mind, may by last will, dispose of all his or her estate, real and personal. A married woman may dispose of all her separate estate by will, without the consent of her husband. A will must be subscribed at the end thereof by the testator himself, or some person in his presence, and by his direction, must subscribe his name thereto. Unless the will be a holographic will, the subscription must be made in the presence of the attesting witnesses, or be acknowledged by the testator to them, to have been made by him, or by his attorney. The testator must at the time declare to the attesting witnesses that it is his will. There must be two attesting witnesses who must sign their names to the end of the will, at the testator's request and in his presence. Nuncupative wills are valid when the estate bequeathed does not exceed in value $1,000. Must be proved by two witnesses. The decedent must, at the time of making, have been in military service, in the field or at sea, or at the time in expectation of immediate death from injury received the same day. Will executed without state in mode prescribed by law of place where executed or of testator's domicile legal in this state provided it is in writing and subscribed by testator.

SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF TENNESSEE

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by A. J. GRIGSBY, JR. Attorney at Law, 928-930
Stahlman Bldg., Nashville.

(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgments within the State must be taken before a chancellor or judge or any court of record, or clerk of a court county, or his deputy, or a notary public. In other States, before any judge or clerk of a court of record, notary public, or commissioner of Tennessee. The certificate of a notary public or a commissioner, under his seal of office, is sufficient proof of his official character, and this must state when such officer's commission expires. If before a judge of a court of record, his official character must be certified to by the clerk of his court, under his official seal, or private seal, if there is no official seal, or by the governor of his State, under the great seal of said State. If before a clerk of a court of record, and certified by him under his seal of office, the judge, chief justice, or presiding magistrate shall certify to the clerk's official character. Chapter 82, Acts of Tennessee, 1921, provides, that all deeds or other instruments requiring acknowledgment, if acknowledged without the United States, shall be acknowledged before an Ambassador, Envoy or Charge d'Affairs of the United States in the country to which he is accredited, or before one of the following officers commissioned or accredited to act at the place where the acknowledgment is taken, and having an official seal, viz.; any Consular Officer of the United States, a Notary Public or a Commissioner or agent of this state having power to take acknowledgment to deeds. That every certificate of acknowledgment made without the United States, shall contain the name or names of the person or persons making the acknowledgment, the date when and the place where made, a statement of the fact that the person or persons making the acknowledgment knew the contents of the instrument, and acknowledged the same to be his, her or their act; the certificate shall also contain the name of the person before whom made, his official title, and be sealed with his official seal, and may be substantially as follows:

Before the undersigned, (name of officer and designating his official title) duly commissioned, (or appointed) and qualified, this, day personally appeared at the place above named, (naming the person or persons acknowledging) who declared that he (she or they), knew the contents of the foregoing instrument, and acknowledged the same to be his, (her or their), act.

Witness my hand and official seal this, day of, 19.....
Seal, (Name of officer).
..... (Official title).

When the seal affixed shall contain the name or the official style of the officer, any error in stating or failure to state otherwise the name or the official style of the officer, shall not render the certificate defective. A certificate of acknowledgment of a deed or other instrument acknowledged without the United States before any officer mentioned above, shall also be valid if in the same form as now or hereafter may be required by law, for an acknowledgment within this State.

Acts of Tennessee, Chapter 48, 1919, provide a uniform form of acknowledgment for the authentication of acknowledgment for record of written instruments, and are as follows:

"Personal"

State of Tennessee

The acknowledgment of a married woman is taken in the same manner as if she was a feme sole.

Notaries must note the expiration of his or her commission on every certificate of acknowledgment.

Actions. All contracts may be sued on in the same form of action. The common law forms and pleadings modified by statute are used. Non-residents must in all cases give bonds.

Administration. Letters of administration are granted: 1. To the husband or widow; 2. To the next of kin; 3. To the largest creditor; 4. To the public administrator, if no one applies in six months. All property, real and personal, except what is exempted and what widow takes, are assets for payment of debts. Preferred debts are, funeral expenses, expense of administration, and debts due the State. (For widows' rights, see Husband and Wife.) Insolvent estates, not exceeding the value of $1,000, may be administered in county courts. Of such estates of greater value, county and chancery court have concurrent jurisdictions. Executor or administrator makes suggestion of insolvency to county court; clerk thereupon requires executor or administrator to give notice in a newspaper published in the State and at court house door of the county for creditors to file their claims, by a day fixed in said notice, which day shall not be less than three, nor more than six months after day of said notice, and any claim not filed on or before said day, or before a distribution of the funds is made, is forever barred in both law and equity. The assets of insolvent estates, after preferred debts above enumerated and exempt articles are deducted and widow's rights are allowed, are divided ratably among the creditors, whose claims have been properly filed.

After Executor or Administrator has been appointed, all claims must be filed with such officer, and all creditors are allowed one year in which to file claims. No suit can be brought against the Executor or Administrator until after six months has elapsed after his appointment and not after one year has elapsed. The one year beginning to run from the date of death. (See Chap. 175, Acts 1939.) (See Code Sec., 8225).

(For claims against executors or administrators of other estates, see Limitations of Suits.)

Affidavits may be taken in another State of the Union, or foreign country, for use in this State, before a commissioner of Tennessee. Answers and other pleadings in chancery, may be sworn to before commissioner of Tennessee, notary public, justice of the peace, judge of a court of record, or clerks of such court, or special commissioner appointed by Tennessee court or clerk. The certificate of the commissioner, notary public, and clerk must be under seal of office. The certificate of the judge or justice of the peace must be authenticated by the certificate of the clerk of the court wherein the judge or justice presides.

Allens. An alien, resident, or non-resident, may take and hold property, real or personal, in this State, either by purchase, descent, or devise and dispose of and transmit same by sale, descent, or devise, as a native citizen.

Assignments. The Act of 1895 regulating general assignment was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court and the Act of 1881 goes back into effect. Under this act, preferences in general assignment are not allowed but special assignments are made with preferences, and under these the act of 1881 as to general assignments is practically rendered nugatory.

Attachment process will issue when the debtor resides out of the State; is about to remove, or has removed himself or property out of the State; has removed or is removing himself from the county privately; is concealing himself, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him; absconds or is absconding or concealing himself or property; has fraudulently disposed of, or is about fraudulently to dispose of his property; or when any person, liable for any debts, residing out of the State, dies, leaving property in the State. Attachment will also issue on demands not due, in all the above cases except the first; also in above cases at suit of surety, as accommodation endorser on paper due and not due. When debtor and creditor are non-residents of this State, and are residents of the same State, the creditor shall not attach, unless the property has been fraudulently removed to evade process in said State. Debts due and owing to the defendant, and property of the defendant of any kind in the hands of a third person, are subject to garnishment. Statutory liens on personal property, when no method of enforcing same has been provided by the statute creating them, may be enforced by original attachment levied on property on which lien exists, whether in hands of creditor, owner, or other party not an innocent purchaser. A foreign corporation, having complied with law of Tennessee, and doing business therein, and having no agent in county in which suit is brought upon whom process can be served, may be proceeded against by attachment.

Banks. Kind of Banks Permitted. Trust Companies, State Banks and (National Banks).

Banks are designated by Statute as only those institutions permitted to take deposits.

Companies loaning money on whatever basis, but not taking deposits, are prohibited from using the name "Bank" or "Banker."

Building and Loan Associations are permitted by Statute; as are Companies doing business under what is known as the Morris Plan, that is, loaning money, repayable in small installments, weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly; Companies loaning money at 6% but which are permitted to charge a maximum of 1 1/2% per month on unpaid balances, for expenses, on loans up to and including $300.00 are permitted by special Statute, but none of these Companies are permitted to use the word "bank" or "banker," and must be chartered as Loan Companies.

Supervising Authority. As to banks only, that is, institutions taking deposits, and chartered under the Statute made and provided for Banks, the Supervising Authority are State Bank Examiners, who operate under supervision of the Department of Banking and Insurance.

Incorporators. Three or more for Loan Companies, five or more for Banks or Trust Companies;

Wife must join in conveyance to private lands. Private lands sold. No attesting witnesses required by law. Deed should contain covenant of seizin. Acts of Tennessee, 1919, Chapter 126, provide for the removal of the disability of coverture of married women. (See Acknowledgments.)

Corporations. Private corporations, for a variety of purposes embracing every industry, may be formed by three or more persons over the age of twenty-one, copying the form of charter adapted to the purpose, and appending an application to the State of Tennessee for such charter, and acknowledging and registering the same in the county where the principal office is to be situated, and in the office of the secretary of state, and then registering in said county the certificate of registration given by the secretary of state, and a facsimile of the State seal. The amount of capital stock cannot be less than $1,000, and may be changed and new powers added by the board of directors under resolution of stockholders authorizing the proposed amendment, and signing an application therefor to the State of Tennessee, and acknowledging and registering the same in the same way as provided for charters. The general powers of such corporation shall be to sue and be sued, to have and use a common seal, to hold, in addition to personal property, real estate necessary for corporate business, and real estate in payment of debts, and to sell realty for corporate purposes, and to establish by-laws, etc., not inconsistent with the laws and constitution, to appoint officers and agents, to designate name of office and officers and compensation of officers, to borrow money and issue notes and stock upon corporate property, and secure same by mortgage. Acts of 1917, Chapter 113, makes the law as to a transfer of shares of stock in a private corporation, chartered, organized and existing under the laws of Tennessee, uniform with the laws of other states. Chapter 56, Acts of Tennessee, 1919, provide that it is not necessary to prove corporate existence, either for a domestic or foreign corporation, unless the same is denied under oath. No corporation chartered under the laws of Tennessee can operate until after 25 per cent of all classes of stock has been bona fide subscribed for, or paid in. (Chap. 36, Acts 1927.) Acts of 1929, Chapter 90, provide that charters issued thereunder only require three or more incorporators, more than twenty-one (21) years of age; may have limited existence; the amount of capital set out in the charter as having been paid in, must be paid in before the corporation may commence business, or the stockholders will become personally liable for the debts of the corporation; the fees are reduced from that required under the former law. For details of the law, reference is made to Chapter 90, of the laws of Tennessee, 1929.

Corporations (Foreign). Every foreign corporation desiring to carry on business in Tennessee shall first file in the office of the secretary of state a copy of its charter, and shall file for record in the register's office of each county where said corporation purposes to do business an abstract of its charter. It is unlawful for such corporation to do business in Tennessee without having first complied with this provision, and a failure to do so subjects the offender to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500.

By the Acts of 1907, Chapter 434, it is provided that all corporations, both foreign and domestic, doing business in Tennessee, shall, in addition to the foregoing, on or before the first day of July, in each year, file with the secretary of state a written statement, signed by its president, or vice-president, attested by its secretary and sworn to by either, which shall state the name and style of the corporation, its principal office or place of business in the State of its creation, and also in the State of Tennessee, the amount of its capital stock authorized by its charter, the amount of capital stock issued and outstanding, and the names of its principal officers, viz.: The president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, and a list of its board of directors, and the nature and character of the business in which it is engaged. A penalty is provided for a refusal to comply with the above.

When taken by a notary public in another state his certificate shall show the date of the commencement and expiration of his commission. The depositions, when complete, shall be enveloped, together with the commission, if any, and all documents which may have been deposited to, sealed, with the commissioner's name written across the seal, and directed to the clerk of the court where the cause is pending, with the title of the cause endorsed thereon, and may be sent by mail, express, or private conveyance. Descent and Distribution. Real estate, real property, and lands, include lands, tenements and hereditaments, and all rights thereto, and interest therein, equitable as well as legal. The land of intestate owner is inherited in the following manner: Without reference to source of intestate's title, by all the sons and daughters of deceased, to be divided among them equally. And if any child of said intestate shall have died in his lifetime, his lineal descendants shall represent their parent and be entitled to same portion of the estate of the deceased as their parent would have been entitled to if living. If there be no issue or brothers or sisters, nor their issue, and either parent be living, then by such parent. If the estate was acquired by the intestate, and he died without issue, his land shall be inherited by his brothers and sisters of the whole and half blood born before his death or afterward, to be divided among them equally. And if any such brother or sister died in the intestate's lifetime leaving issue, said issue shall represent their deceased parent, and be entitled to the same part of the estate of the whole or half blood, as their father or mother would have been entitled to, if living. In default of brothers and sisters and their issue, the land shall be inherited by the father and mother of the intestate as tenants in common. If both be dead, in equal moieties by the heirs of the father and mother in equal degree, or representing those in equal degree of relationship to the intestate; but if such heirs, or those they represent, do not stand in equal degree of relationship to the intestate, then the heirs nearest in blood, or representing those who are nearest in blood, to the intestate shall take in preference to others more remote.

Where the land came to the intestate by gift, devise, or descent from a parent, or the ancestor of a parent, and he die without issue: (a) If he have brothers or sisters of the paternal line of the half blood, and brothers or sisters of the maternal line also of the half blood then the land shall be inherited by such brothers and sisters on part of the parent from whom the estate came, in the same manner as by brothers and sisters of the whole blood, until the line of such parent is exhausted of the half blood, to the exclusion of the other line. (b) If he have no brothers or sisters, then it shall be inherited by the parent if living, from whom or whose ancestors it came, in preference to the other parent. (c) If the transmitting parent be dead the surviving parent shall take. (d) If both parents be dead, then by the heirs of the parent from whom or whose ancestor it came. The personal estate as to which any person dies intestate, after the payment of debts and charges against the estate, shall be distributed as follows: (1) To the husband or wife and children, or the descendants of children representing them equally, the husband or wife taking a child's share. (2) To the husband or wife altogether, if there are no children nor the descendants of children. (3) To the children, or their descendants, in equal parts, if there is no husband or wife, the descendants taking in equal parts, the shares of their deceased parents. (4) If no husband, wife or children, to the father and mother in equal parts, but if either father or mother be dead, then to the survivor of them; provided however, that where the father and mother of a person dying intestate have been divorced by valid decree which commits the custody of such person to one of the parents to the exclusion of the other, then the personal estate of such person shall be distributed to that parent to whom custody has been committed, as sole next of kin, to the exclusion of the other parent. (5) If no father or mother, to brothers and sisters, or the children of such brothers and sisters representing them equally. (6) If no brother or sister, or their children, to every of the next of kin of the intestate who are in equal degree, equally. There is no representation among collaterals, after brothers' and sisters' children.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); January 19 (Robert E. Lee's birthday); February 12 ("Lincoln Day"); February 22 (Washington's birthday); March 15 (Andrew Jackson's birthday). It is the duty of the Governor to issue proclamation that the day is a legal holiday; Good Friday; May 30 (Memorial Day); June 3 (Confederate Decoration Day or Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); July 13 (Forest Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); November 11 (Victory Day); December 25 (Christmas Day).

When any of these holidays fall on Sunday the following Monday is to be substituted. Also all days appointed by the governor of this State, or by the President of the United States as days of fasting or thanksgiving, and all days set apart by law for holding County, State, or National elections, throughout this State are made legal holidays, and the period from noon to midnight of each Saturday which is not a holiday, is made a half holiday. On which holidays and half holidays all the public offices of this State may be closed and business of every character, at the option of the parties in interest or managing the same, may be suspended. Bank transactions after 12 o'clock noon on Saturdays are pronounced valid by Ch. 18, Acts of 1919.

Homestead of value $1,000 in real estate, legal or equitable, is reserved to the head of a family, exempt from sale under legal process during his life. At a husband's death it inures to the benefit of his wife and children, free from the claims of creditors. It may be sold by joint consent of husband and wife, when that relation exists, evidenced by conveyance, duly executed as required by law for married women. It is liable for taxes and purchase money, or money paid for improvement thereon.

Husband and Wife. Husband is not liable for ante-nuptial debts of his wife, but his marital rights do not so attach to her property as to defeat the collection of same. Wife's personality cannot be subjected to the payment of husband's antenuptial debts. Wife can hold real and personal property separate from the husband and not liable for his debts. Rents and profits of wife's, and not subject to husband's debts, nor can the husband's marital interest in wife's land be sold during her life. Wife can dispose of her separate estate by deed or will unless the power so to do is expressly withheld in the instrument creating it. Husband has curtesy, as at common law. Wife has dower, which is one-third or life of real estate, both legal and equitable, of which her husband died seized and possessed. At husband's death, homestead inures to benefit of wife and children. Widow of intestate entitled to year's support, and exempt personal property of husband for benefit of herself and children. Life insurance effected on life of husband, by either husband or wife, this death inures to the benefit of his widow and children, free from claims of his creditors. Married women are under no disability on account of coverture; they can acquire, hold, use and dispose of property, real and personal, contract in reference to it, bind themselves personally and can sue and be sued just as if they were not married.

Interest. Legal rate, 6 per cent. Contract for more is void as to excess, and an instrument showing usury on its face cannot be sued on.

Judgments. From court of record are a lien from date of rendition for one year on all lands then owned by defendant, and on after-acquired lands for one year after acquisition.

Limitation of Suits. Upon bonds, notes, accounts, and contracts, six years; judgments or decrees of courts of record and other cases not expressly provided for, ten years. Revivor: Acknowledgment, expressed willingness to pay or promise, part payment not in itself sufficient. All demands against administrators and executors must be presented and filed in duplicate with the County Court Clerk and sued on in one year after date of death of deceased, but no suit can be brought within six months after such qualification. Continuous adverse possession of real estate for seven years, under color of title, makes a title.

Mechanics' Lien for one year upon any ground upon which a house is constructed or repaired, or fixtures, etc., put in, in favor of the person doing the work. Covers the lands of married women. Benefit extends to any workman or furnisher of material giving notice to owner within ninety days after the work is done by him or materials furnished, or his discharge, or the completion of his contract. Railroad contractor, sub-contractor, furnisher of material, and every one who does any valuable service, manual or professional, for railroad, shall have lien for one year; if within ninety days after work done or material furnished, written notice is given railroad company or owners. No mortgage or contract with construction company shall be superior to this lien.

Mortgages and deeds of trust take effect as to third parties only from registration. Can be foreclosed without intervention of court when power of sale is conferred in the instrument. Chattel mortgages are good as to the contracting parties without registration, but not as against purchasers without actual notice, and creditors. It is a felony for maker of registered mortgage of personal property to dispose of same with purpose of depriving beneficiary of same. Railroad cannot make a mortgage which shall be superior to judgments for timbers furnished, or labor, or for damages done to persons or property in operation of road. Equity of redemption may be waived, in deed of trust, and on default realty may be sold thereunder by trustee, free therefrom, for cash or otherwise, due advertisement having been made. When mortgages foreclosed in court, property may be sold if equity of redemption not waived on credit of not less than six months nor more than two years, and in bar of all equity of redemption, personal security being required of vendee and lien being retained on land to secure purchase money. Otherwise mortgagor has two years to redeem.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Acts adopted May 16, 1899. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws".)

Partnership. Uniform Partnership Law in force in Tennessee, which Act regulates and makes uniform the rights, duties and liabilities of a general and limited partner. Limited partnership may be formed for transaction of any mercantile, mechanical, manufacturing, agricultural, or mining business in this State; but not for carrying on business of banking and insurance. The articles of co-partnership must specify the name of the firm, and of each individual partner, and his place of residence, general nature of the business, amount of capital each partner has contributed to common stock, and the period at which partnership is to commence and terminate. Articles must be acknowledged by each partner and registered in every county where firm has a place of business. Terms of partnership must be published for six weeks, immediately after registration, in a newspaper, to be designated by register. At time of filing original articles for registration, an affidavit of a general partner must be filed in same office, stating that the sums specified in the articles to have been contributed by each partner to common stock, were actually and in good faith contributed and in cash. If all formalities are not complied with, or are violated, the special or limited partner will be liable as a general partner.

Power of Attorney. All powers of attorney authorizing the sale, conveyance, and transfer of real estate must be registered. Other powers of attorney may be registered. The Married Women's Act is in effect in Tennessee and a married woman can contract and convey property as fully as a feme sole.

Protest. (See Bills and Notes.)

Taxes are a lien on the real estate on which they are levied, and as between vendor and vendee they are a lien from January 10th, of the year for which they are assessed; as between the State, County, City and the owner, they are a lien for six (6) years from January 10th, of the year for which they accrued, after which they are barred. Payable first Monday in October of the year they are assessed. After the first day of March, following, taxes bear interest, and distress warrants are issued for collections. Under the Acts of 1923, chapter 77, they become delinquent January 1st, following, and bear additional interest, from that date until paid; during the month of January, the Trustee of the County must advertise that additional penalties will accrue on February 1st, and he has from February 1st, to March 1st, to hand a list of delinquents, to an attorney for suit, either in the Chancery Court, or Circuit Court; after the list has been handed to the attorney, an additional penalty of 10 per cent is imposed. The delinquent taxpayer has two years from the date on which the property is sold, by decree of Court, in which to redeem the property by paying taxes, interest, costs, and penalties.

Wills. No will can convey an estate in lands unless written in testator's lifetime and signed by him, or by some person in his presence by his direction, and subscribed in his presence by two witnesses at least neither of whom is interested in the devise of said lands; but a paper writing purporting to be the will of the deceased person, written by him, having his name subscribed to it or inserted in some part of it, and found after his death among his valuable papers, or lodged in the hand of another for safe-keeping, shall be good and sufficient to give and convey lands, if the hand-writing is generally known by his acquaintances, and it is proved by at least three credible witnesses that they verily believe the writing, and that every part of it to be in his hand. Every devise shall convey the entire estate of the testator in lands unless the contrary plainly appears from the context. Foreign wills may be probated in same manner and form as domestic wills, if properly probated in states where will was made.

Actions. The distinction between law and equity proceedings does not exist in Texas. All forms of action are abolished. To compel defendant to appear at any term of the court he must have been cited ten days before the term begins. Service by publication not good except in proceedings in rem., which by statute are made to include suits to determine the title to, or incumbrances upon, property within this State.

Administration of Estates. Letters testamentary or of administration may be granted within four years after the death of a party. They issue to persons who are qualified to act in the following order:
1. To the executor named in the will. 2. Surviving husband or wife. 3. Principal devisee or legatee. 4. Any other devisee or legatee. 5. Next of kin. 6. Creditor. 7. Person of good character residing in the county. The county court acts as a court of probate in all matters pertaining to estates of decedents, testate or intestate, and, unless the will dispenses with such supervision, administrators must furnish bond in double the amount of the estate. Surviving husband or wife qualifying as such must give bond in a sum equal to the value of the estate. Wills may by express provision dispense with administration, other than probating the will and filing of inventory and appraisal, and confer independent administration on the executor. Foreign executors, administrators or guardians are not recognized by the Court of Texas and as such may not transact business in Texas.

Affidavits, within this State, may be made before a notary public, judge or clerk of any court of record, or justice of the peace; without this State, and within the United States, before any clerk of a court of record having a seal, any notary public, or any commissioner of deeds for Texas; without the United States, before a notary public, minister, commissioner or charge d'affaires, consul-general, consul, vice-consul, commercial agent, vice-commercial agent, deputy consul, or consular agent of the United States.

Aliens. No alien shall acquire title to or own lands or leaseholds thereon, except as hereinafter stated. Aliens may hold and own personal property to the same extent as citizens of the United States may hold and own personal property under laws of nation to which particular alien may belong.

This provision of the law does not apply to land owned in the State by aliens, not acquired in violation of laws of State, so long as held by present owners (1921); nor does it apply to lots or parcels of land owned by aliens in incorporated cities and towns, nor to aliens who are or shall become bona fide inhabitants of the State, in the following instances: (1) aliens who were bona fide inhabitants of State when law went into effect (1921). (2) aliens eligible to become citizens of the United States and who have declared intention to become citizens, (3) aliens who are natural born citizens of nations having a common land boundary with the United States, (4) aliens who are citizens or subjects of nations which now permit citizens of this State to own land in fee in such country; and any resident alien who shall acquire land under provisions of this law shall have five years after he shall cease to be a bona fide inhabitant of Texas in which to alienate land. Corporations are considered aliens under this law if the majority of capital stock is owned by aliens prohibited from owning land in Texas.

Non-resident aliens may acquire land in connection of debt, acquire lien on real estate, lien money secured by real estate lien, enforce liens against lands, may hold land for five years by whatever source acquired; minor may hold land until five years after majority and person of unsound mind until five years after appointment of legal guardian; lands subject to escheat to State if law violated.

All aliens owning lands in this State in 1925 required on or before January 31, 1926 to file report under oath with county clerk of county where land is located, giving name, age, occupation, personal description, place of birth, last foreign residence and allegiance, date and place of arrival in United States, and his or her present residence and post-office address, length of residence in Texas, foreign government to which alien may at time be subject, number of acres of land owned by alien in county, name and number of survey where land is located, abstract and certificate number, name of person or persons from whom acquired, date acquired, describe land by metes and bounds or refer to recorded deed in which land is described, and shall endorse report "Report of Alien Ownership"; aliens acquiring lands after January 31, 1926 must file same report within six months after purchase or acquisition of land.

Appeals. (See Courts.)

Arbitration. The statutes provide for arbitration, the award made in such cases, if the proceeding was in compliance with the statute, becomes the judgment of the court in which it is filed. Right of appeal to court having jurisdiction of the amount involved exists only when such right is reserved in the agreement of arbitration.

Assignments and Insolvency. (See Insolvent and Assignment Laws.)

Attachments. Debtors' property, such as is not exempted by law, can be attached on certain statutory grounds, under oath of creditor and bond in double the amount of the debt. The grounds of attachment must follow strictly the provisions of the Statute, in view of the fact this remedy is construed to be a harsh one by the Appellate Courts of this State. Attachment, now, may also issue upon unliquidated demands when the defendant is a non-resident.

No foreign corporation except national banks can do a banking and discount business in the State. Private banks or individuals cannot be incorporated under the banking laws and must carry the designation "unincorporated."

Bills of Exchange. (See Days of Grace, Notes and Bills of Exchange, Protest.)

Bills of Lading. Common carriers are required, when they receive goods for transportation, to give the shipper, when it is demanded, a bill of lading stating the quantity, character, order, and condition of the goods; and such goods shall be delivered in the manner provided by common law in like order and condition to the consignee. Liability as at common law for damages. Bill of lading is prima facie evidence of ownership of goods in transit by the consignee. Carriers can not restrict their common law liability by any general or special notice, or by inserting exceptions in a bill of lading; and this rule is applied to a through bill. Bills of lading are negotiable paper.

Blue Sky Law. (See Corporation.)

Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trust of Personal Property, to be valid as to creditors, and as to purchasers without notice, must be accompanied by immediate delivery, followed by actual and continued change of possession of property, unless the same, or a true copy thereof, is filed in the county clerk's office of county where mortgagor resides, or if he is a non-resident of the State, then in the county where the property is situated. And all reservations of the title to chattels as security for the purchase money thereof are held to be chattel mortgages, and are, when possession is delivered to the vendee, void as to creditors and bona fide purchasers, unless such reservation be in writing, and filed as required for chattel mortgages. Mortgages are held to be mere security for the debt, and must be enforced by sale of property, either through a decree of foreclosure or power of sale given in the mortgage; sale of property, upon death of mortgagor, must be enforced through probate court. Any lien attempted to be given on a stock of goods exposed to daily sale in the regular course of business, and contemplative continued possession and sale of the goods by the owner, is fraudulent and void. Chattel mortgage given to secure creditors is invalid against such creditors as do not accept under it. By a recent amendment to our statutes relating to chattel mortgages, any chattel mortgage or reservation of title to secure purchase price covering any machinery, or other manufactured article, which is susceptible of being attached to realty in such a manner as it becomes fixture thereto, and is in fact located on such estate real in such a way as to be deemed a fixture and a part of the realty, may be protected and the rights of the mortgagee preserved by the execution of a special form of chattel mortgage, which is to be recorded in the special record in the office of the county clerk, wherein the property is situated. This amendment is somewhat lengthy, in fact, too lengthy to be quoted herein, but should be followed to the letter in order to properly protect the rights of the mortgagee.

Collaterals. Holder of claims as collateral security who fails to use due diligence to collect is liable for loss. Is not affected by limitation against the debt. After the death of the debtor the creditor may still collect the collaterals. Surety on principal debt is subrogated to rights of creditors as to collaterals. If, by negligence or design, the creditor loses the collateral, the surety on the principal debt is to that extent discharged. Note pledged as collateral can be held for no other debt. Taking collateral security does not extinguish original contract.

Contracts. No seal is required to be affixed to written contracts. An agreement to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another, or for the sale of real estate or the lease thereof for more than a year, or which is not to be performed within a year from the making thereof, must be in writing and signed by the person to be charged therewith.

Conveyances. The husband alone can convey his separate estate. During coverture, husband alone can dispose of the community property, not the homestead, except that where the husband has disappeared and his whereabouts shall have been unknown to the wife for more than twelve months, upon such proof the wife by court decree may be given full control and disposition of the community property. Husband and wife must join in the conveyance of the wife's separate real estate or of the homestead, whether the separate property of the husband or community, and the wife must, privily from her husband, acknowledge the execution of the instrument before a proper officer in the manner pointed out by statute. A married woman may by decree of court be authorized to convey, etc., where husband refuses to join. No special form required for a deed in Texas; any words of transfer convey fee simple, unless a less estate is expressly limited. No warrantee required, but any provisions of warrantee may be embodied by agreement. Conveyance of greater estate than grantor has passes what he has. Estate in future can be made by deed or conveyance as well as by will. (See Acknowledgments.)

Corporations. Before a charter will be granted for a domestic corporation, the full amount of the proposed capital stock must have been in good faith subscribed, and at least 50 per cent thereof paid in in cash, property or labor. Two years from the date of the issuance of the charter is allowed for payment of unpaid subscriptions. Permit must be obtained from the Secretary of State before any person is authorized to solicit subscriptions for the capital stock of any proposed corporation, and such application will be granted and permit issued only on filing of proper bond, which is fixed by graduated scale, according to the amount of the capital stock of the proposed corporation. Promotion fees and other organization expenses are limited to 20 per cent of the stock actually sold. The same limitation as to promotion and organization expenses applies to any foreign corporation desiring to sell stock in this state. A foreign corporation desiring to sell stock in this state must first procure a permit from the Secretary of State, which permit will be issued only upon the execution and filing of a proper bond, which is fixed by graduated scale, according to the amount of the capital stock of the foreign corporation, which is to be sold within the State of Texas.

Costs. Bond or deposit for cost required on filing suit. Execution for costs may issue against the party incurring the cost at the close of each term.

Courts. The federal courts of Texas are district courts with circuit court powers; there are four of these districts in Texas and each holds two sessions of court a year, in from four to five places in each district designated by statute—Tyler, Jefferson, Beaumont, Sherman, Paris, Texarkana, and Austin, Waco, El Paso, Del Rio, San Antonio, Pecos, and Dallas, Ft. Worth, Abilene, Amarillo, San Angelo, Wichita Falls, and Galveston, Houston, Laredo, Brownsville, Victoria, Corpus Christi. State courts with civil jurisdiction are: justice courts in each precinct, jurisdiction $200.00 or less. No appeal in cases of $20.00 or less; above that, appeal to County Court. County court in each county has general probate jurisdiction and exclusive jurisdiction from $200.00 to $500.00; above $500.00 to $1,000.00, concurrent jurisdiction with the district court. Appeals in probate matters to the district court; in all other civil appeals to the Court of Civil Appeals. District court has concurrent jurisdiction with the county court over amounts above $500.00 to $1,000.00, exclusive jurisdiction over amounts above latter sum, and also of all suits involving title to land, slander and libel, divorce, elections, suits in behalf of the State, irrespective of amounts, and trial to the right of property levied on by virtue of any writ of execution, sequestration, or attachment, when property levied on shall be equal to or exceed in value $500.00. Appeal in civil matters to court of civil appeals. There are twelve courts of civil appeals, each in separate districts, to which all civil appeals from the district and county courts are taken. There is one supreme court sitting at Austin to which certain characters of cases can be brought from the Courts of civil appeals by writ of error granted by the supreme court. In each county there must be as many as two terms of the district court each year, and in a number of the more populous counties there are from four to seven terms each year. At least four sessions of the county court in each county must be held each year. In a number of the sparsely settled counties the civil jurisdiction of the county courts, except as to probate matters, has been transferred to the district court. Justices of the peace and clerks of the courts are required to file and docket all suits tendered, but cannot be compelled to take any further action unless the costs are secured.

Creditors' Bills. The remedy allowed a creditor by a bill of discovery has been revived in Texas, and is cumulative of other remedies the creditor has, as for instance: by the statutory proceeding of garnishment after judgment. Bills of discovery issue under the practice of the Texas Courts in conformity to the usages and customs of equity. (See Garnishment.)

Days of Grace. Abolished by adoption of a uniform Negotiable Instrument Act, in 1919.

Deeds. (See Conveyances.)

Depositions. All witnesses' depositions may be taken. The deposition of a party to a suit except where either party is a corporation, may be taken by the adverse party, ex parte, and without notice. To take the deposition of any other witness, it is necessary that the opposite party, or his attorney of record, shall be served with notice, stating name and residence of witness, together with copy of interrogatories, five days before the commission will issue. Officer taking deposition, if witness does not voluntarily appear, may subpoena witness, giving notice also of time and place of taking deposition to each of the parties or their attorney of record, and written interrogatories must be propounded seriatim and witness not allowed to be advised of contents of interrogatory until so propounded.

The testimony of witnesses may be taken orally, provided they be within one hundred miles of the court in which the suit is pending. Also, they may be taken orally at points more distant than one hundred miles when the Court may upon application so order it. In taking the deposition the officer will make a caption stating the number and style of the case, the residence of the witness, the official title of the officer, etc., as is usual, and after swearing the witness, will proceed to take his answers to the several interrogatories and cross interrogatories separately. When the same have been so reduced to writing, they shall be signed by the witness and the officer shall affix his jurat showing that they were sworn to and subscribed before the officer by the witness. In addition, the officer shall attach a certificate under his seal and official signature, showing that the answers of the witness as made were signed and sworn to by the witness before him and that said answers were reduced to writing by him or under his direction. The deposition with the commission and interrogatories must be sealed in an envelope, and the officer's name must be written officially across the seal. The envelope shall be addressed to the Clerk of the Court from which the commission issued, and should have on it the amount of the fee, the number and style of the suit and the seal of his office, stating that he is in person deposited the same in the U. S. Mail (giving the postoffice) for transmission on the . . . day of . . . 19 . . .

Descent and Distribution of Property. Separate, real, personal, or mixed property, when deceased leaves no husband or wife, descends: To his children and their descendants; if none such exist, then to father and mother in equal portions; if only father or mother survive, then such survivor takes one-half, and the other half goes to the brothers and sisters of deceased and their descendants; if none of the latter survive, the parent then living takes the whole; if neither parents, nor sisters or brothers or their descendants survive, then the estate goes in equal moieties to the paternal and maternal kindred, i. e., to grandfather and grandmother of each side and their descendants; if one be dead, and have no descendants, then the whole moiety to the survivor, and so on to the nearest lineal ancestors and their descendants. When deceased leaves husband or wife, the estate descends, when there are children, one-third of personal property and life estate in one-third of real estate to husband or wife, balance of personal and real estate, as well as remainder to child or children. If deceased leaves no child or children, husband or wife takes all personal and one-half of real estate, the other half goes to the father and mother, etc., under the general rule above as to descent, but surviving husband or wife takes all, in case neither father or mother, nor sister or brothers or their descendants survive. Community property goes entirely to surviving husband or wife, when there are no children or their descendants, but if there are such, the property goes one-half to surviving spouse and the other half to the children and their descendants.

Dower. The right of dower does not exist in Texas.

Evidence. Parties can testify in their own behalf, except that in actions by or against executors, administrators, or guardians, or the heirs or legal representatives of a decedent, neither party can testify against the others as to any transaction with, or statement by, the testator, intestate or ward, unless called to testify thereto by the opposite party.

Executions from district and county courts issue after adjournment, and may, on application of successful party, issue twenty days after judgment, if no supersedeas bond has been filed and approved; from justices' courts, execution shall issue on the eleventh day after judgment. No redemption of land sold under execution. The time and place of sale of real estate under execution shall be advertised by having a notice thereof published once a week for three consecutive weeks preceding such sale, in some newspaper in the County, the first publication being at least twenty days before the day of sale. Said notice shall contain a statement of the authority by virtue of which the sale is to be made, the time of levy, and the time and place of sale; shall also contain a brief description of the property and shall give the number of acres, original survey, locality in the county, and the name by which the land is most generally known, but it shall not be necessary for it to contain field notes. The officer making the levy shall give the defendant or his attorney written notice of such sale, either in person or by mail, which notice shall substantially conform to the foregoing requirements. The sale shall take place at the Court House door of the county on the first Tuesday of the month between the hours of ten o'clock A. M. and four o'clock P. M. and shall be by public auction. Judgment becomes dormant if execution be not issued thereon within twelve months. If execution issue within twelve months another may be issued at any time within ten years, and by so issuing within each succeeding ten years from date of last issuance, a judgment may be continued alive.

Exemptions. The following property shall be exempt to every family from forced sale: The homestead, household and kitchen furniture, lots in a cemetery held for the purpose of sepulture, implements of husbandry, tools, apparatus and books belonging to any trade or profession, family library and family portraits and pictures five milk cows and their calves, two yoke of oxen and necessary yokes and chains, two horses and one wagon, one carriage or buggy, one gun, twenty hogs, twenty head of sheep, saddles, bridles and necessary harness for the use of the family, provisions and forage on hand for home consumption, and current wages for personal services. The homestead, not in the town or city, shall consist of not more than two hundred acres, which may be in one or more parcels, with the improvements thereon; the homestead in a city or town shall consist of a lot or lots, not to exceed in value $5,000.00 at the time of their designation as a homestead, without reference to the value of any improvement thereon; provided that the same shall be used for the purposes of the home, or as a place to exercise the calling or business of the head of the family. The exemption of the homestead does not apply where the debt due is for the purchase money of such homestead or a part of such purchase money or for taxes due thereon or for work and material used in constructing improvements thereon, but in this last case, such work and material must have been contracted for in writing and the consent of the wife must have been given in the same manner as is by law required in making a sale of the homestead. In case of death of the husband, the widow and children shall be allowed one year's support from the estate, if their separate property be insufficient for their support, and such allowance in no case shall exceed $1,000.00. And if property exempt by law does not exist in kind, a sufficiency of the estate may be sold for cash to raise the allowance for homestead, not to exceed $5,000.00, and for other exempt property not to exceed $500.00. To every person not a constituent of a family, the following property is exempt from forced sale: Lots in a cemetery held for purposes of sepulture, all wearing apparel, all tools, apparatus and books belonging to any trade or profession, one horse, saddle, and bridle, and current wages for personal services. Exempt personal property may be made subject to valid liens by contract. Current wages for personal services and benefits under a policy of insurance payable in installments are not subject to execution, attachment, or garnishment.

Foreign Corporations, except railroads, can file their charter in office of secretary of state at Austin, Texas, and on payment of fee get a ten-year permit to do business in Texas. Foreign corporations doing a strictly interstate and commerce business in Texas do not have to file charter or get permit. Should a foreign corporation, without procuring permit, do other than interstate business in Texas, it will be denied the right to file suits in State Courts. (See Corporations.)

Foreign Judgments can be sued on in Texas.

Fraud. Every gift, conveyance, assignment, transfer of, or charge upon any real or personal property, or suit commenced, decree, judgment, or execution suffered or obtained, and every bond or other writing given with intent to delay, hinder, or defraud creditors, purchasers, etc., is void as to them, excepting as against innocent purchasers for value without notice. Gifts, conveyances, etc., not upon valuable consideration, are void as to then existing creditors, unless debtor had then enough additional property subject to execution to pay his debts existing at that time.

Futures, Dealings in, with no intention of actual delivery, made a misdemeanor. No contract can be enforced for or growing out of future contracts where there was no intention of actual delivery of the article.

Garnishment. May issue either before or after judgment to attach moneys due by garnisher to debtor or effects of debtor in hands of garnishee. Except after judgment a bond in double amount of debt must be given. Current wages are exempt from garnishment. The proceeds of the sale of the homestead are exempt for six months.

Guarantee Companies must have at least $100,000 paid-up capital; must deposit at least $100,000 with some state officer in some state of the United States; must deposit $50,000 good securities with treasurer of State of Texas, must designate to commissioner of insurance of Texas some one on whom service of legal process can be made, can make statutory bonds in Texas.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); January 19 (R. E. Lee's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); March 2 (Texas Independence Day); April 21 (San Jacinto Day); June 3 (Jefferson Davis' birthday); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); December 25 (Christmas Day); all days appointed by the President of the United States or Governor of Texas as days of fasting or thanksgiving, which shall be treated as Sundays for the purpose of presenting for payment or acceptance, and protesting and giving notice of dishonor of negotiable paper instituting suits and serving process in civil cases, except in attachments. If any of said days falls on Sunday, the next day thereafter is holiday. No civil suit shall be commenced, nor shall any process be issued or served on Sunday or any legal holiday, except in cases of injunction, attachment, garnishment, sequestration, or distress proceeding.

Husband and Wife. All property of either spouse, both real and personal, owned or claimed before marriage, and that acquired afterwards by gift, devise, or descent, as also the increase of all lands thus acquired, and the rents and revenues derived therefrom, shall constitute the separate property of such spouse. The interest on bonds and notes belonging to the wife and dividends on stocks owned by her shall be the separate property of the wife. All property acquired by either the husband or wife during marriage, except that which is the separate property of either, is community property. During marriage the husband shall have the sole management, control and disposition of his separate property and the wife shall have the sole management, control and disposition of her separate property, except that the joinder of the husband in any incumbrance or conveyance of the wife's land shall be necessary and the joint signature of husband and wife shall be necessary to transfer stocks and bonds belonging to her. During marriage the husband alone can dispose of the community property, not the homestead, except that where the husband has disappeared and his whereabouts shall have been unknown to the wife for more than twelve months, upon such proof the wife by court decree may be given full control and disposition of the community property. Funds on deposit in a bank in the name of either the husband or the wife shall be presumed to be the separate property of the party in whose name they stand, regardless of who made the deposit. Neither the separate property of the wife nor the rents from the wife's separate real estate, nor the interest on bonds and notes belonging to her, nor dividends and stocks owned by her, nor her personal earnings, shall be subject to the payment of debts contracted by the husband nor of torts of the husband. (See Conveyances.)

Injunctions, statute as to, is almost entirely declaratory of equity rules and practice.

Insolvent and Assignment Laws. The statute provides for a general assignment by an insolvent debtor. The assignee must, within thirty days, give notice to all the creditors. Creditors, to share in the benefits, must accept within four months, and must file with the assignee verified statements of their claims within six months. Moneys must be distributed by the assignee whenever he has funds sufficient to pay ten per cent of all properly proven claims after payment of expenses. Assignee must file sworn report with the County Clerk and any opposition to this report must be filed within twelve months after the filing. Preferences are not allowed in discharge of debtor unless the estate pays as much as one-third of amount due to all accepting creditors. As a general assignment is an act of bankruptcy, the bankrupt act has practically done away with the state assignment law.

THE LAWS OF UTAH

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by H. A. Smith, Attorney at Law,
516 Felt Bldg., Salt Lake City, Utah

(See card in Attorneys' List.)

Interest. Legal, 6 per cent; by contract up to 10 per cent. Open accounts, no rate unless agreed upon, legal interest from January 1st thereafter. Judgments bear rates stipulated in contracts sued upon, and 6 per cent when none stipulated. Usury forfeits all interest. Where usurious interest has been paid, double the amount may be recovered by suit within two years.

Judgment Lien. In Federal, District, County, and Justice Courts a judgment is a lien on debtor's real estate in any county where an abstract of judgment shall be filed and recorded in a book kept for that purpose in the office of County Clerk and properly indexed and cross-indexed in the name of each plaintiff and defendant. Lien takes effect from date of record and index of abstract, and if plaintiff issues execution within twelve months after judgment, lien continues for ten years. A transfer of a judgment when acknowledged as required for deeds and filed with the clerk of court in which recovered and by him noted in the minute book of report, is constructed notice to, and valid and binding on, all persons subsequently dealing with reference to the cause of action or judgment.

Jurisdiction. (See Administration of Estates, Courts, Divorce, Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Liens. Exempt property, excepting homestead, and all other property is subject to lien by contract, saving a stock of goods daily exposed to sale where change of possession is not contemplated. The homestead is subject, however, to lien for taxes, vendor's lien, and mechanic's lien, if the latter is fixed by prior contract and wife's separate acknowledgment thereof. The statutes provide further for mechanic's liens, for liens in favor of hotel and boarding-house keepers, and for liens on vessels.

Limitation to Suits. Written contracts, four years; accounts other than open accounts between merchant and merchant, their factors and agents, two years. Mortgage lien barred with the debt, but new promise which revives debt, and which must be in writing, revives mortgage. Renewals of mortgages or other liens affecting real estate must be recorded to be effective. Limitation must be pleaded. Does not run during period of absence of debtor from State, nor against minors, married women, and persons non compos mentis.

Married Women. Contracts made by a married woman may not be enforced against the separate property of the husband nor against the community property other than the personal earnings of the wife save when the contracts are for necessities furnished her or her children. A married woman shall never be a joint maker of a note or surety on any bond or obligation of another without the joinder of her husband with her in making such contract. A married woman may, on proper application to District Court wherein they reside, have their disabilities of coverture removed for mercantile and trading purposes. The husband must be served with citation or notice of the application, and application will be granted only after proper hearing before the district judge. Until this is done, any person dealing with married women in this state on a credit basis, virtually do so at their own risk. (See also Husband and Wife.)

Mines and Mining. There are statutory provisions as to mineral lands of the State, but too lengthy for the compendium.

Mortgages. No mortgage or other voluntary encumbrance of the homestead, except for labor or material used in its improvement (as to which see exemptions and liens supra), is valid.

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted in 1919. (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Notaries appointed by the governor and approved by senate; hold office for two years and have seal of office.

Partnerships, Limited. Statutory provisions for record of certificate by which the special partner is limited in his liability to the capital named as amount to be contributed.

Powers of Attorney. If intended to effect title to real property, should be acknowledged and recorded like a deed to real estate. Revocation should be made in the same way.

Private Seals. Abolished February 2, 1858, except as to private corporations.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates.)

Promissory Notes. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Protest. The holder of any bill of exchange or promissory note assignable or negotiable by the law merchant, may also secure and fix the liability of any drawer or endorser of such bill of exchange or promissory note for the payment thereof, without suit against the acceptor, drawer, or maker, by procuring such bill or note to be regularly protested by a notary public for non-acceptance or non-payment, and giving notice of such protest to such drawer or indorser according to the usage and custom of merchants. No legal advantage in protesting negotiable paper where there is no one secondarily liable.

Records. Deeds, mortgages, and other liens must be recorded (See Acknowledgments, Chattel Mortgages).

Redemption. None allowed in cases of forced sales, except lands sold for taxes may be redeemed within two years of date of sale by payment to purchaser, or his representatives, of double the amount of money paid for the land.

Service. Citations must be served ten days before first day of term of court to require appearance and answer to that term.

Suits, Where Brought. The rule is that a resident of the State should be sued in the county in which he may reside, but there are numerous exceptions, among them being suits brought on written contracts, providing where they are to be performed—which may be brought either in the county of the defendant's residence or where the performance is agreed to be made. Thus, a note payable at Austin may be sued on in Travis county, though defendant reside in another county. This enables parties to concentrate their collections. A party sued in a County other than the county of his residence, must claim the privilege to be sued in his own county, other wise the court has jurisdiction to try the case.

Taxes. Non-residents may pay State and County taxes to the comptroller of the State, at Austin, on or before January 1st next after assessment. Taxes are a lien upon land until paid. Taxes become delinquent and forced collections of same begin on and after January 1st next succeeding the year for which they are assessed. Owner has two years within which to redeem land sold for taxes, by paying to purchaser double the amount paid for the land.

Testimony. (See Depositions.)

Transfer of Corporation Stocks. Such stock is transferable only on the books of the corporation in such manner as the by-laws may direct.

Trust Companies may assume banking privileges; can act as trustees, executors and agents.

Warehouse Receipts. Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act was adopted in 1919, and is now in full force. This is an amendment to the Act of 1914.

Wills. All adult persons of sound mind may dispose of their property, real and personal, as they choose. A will must be signed by the testator himself, or in his presence, by his direction, and, unless wholly written by himself, signed by two witnesses in his presence. Application for the probate of a will must be made to the county court of the proper county within four years from the date of the death of the person making it. A will which has been probated in another state or country can be probated here. A duly certified copy of such will may be filed and recorded, and have the same effect as the original will, if probated here. Real estate can not be devised by a nuncupative will.

Affidavits may be taken before any judge or clerk of any court, or any justice of the peace, or any notary public in the state. When an affidavit is taken before a judge or clerk out of the State, the existence of the court, and the fact that such judge is a member thereof, must be certified by the clerk of the court under the seal thereof.

Aliens have same property rights as citizens.

Arrest. A judgment creditor may obtain the arrest of an absconding debtor by making the proper showing to the court and furnishing a bond of not less than $500.

Assignments. Any insolvent debtor may make an assignment for the benefit of his creditors and may be with or without preferences, which assignments are administered by the district courts. Amounts owing for rent or wages are preferred by law. Assignment is void for fraud or if it gives a preference upon any condition or contingency.

Attachment may issue on any day in an action upon a contract or judgment which is not secured by mortgage, lien, or pledge, upon real or personal property situated in this State, or if so secured, after the security has, without any act of the plaintiff or the person to whom the security was given, become valueless, against a non-resident defendant, or against a defendant who has departed or is about to depart from the State to the injury of his creditors, or who stands in defiance of an officer or conceals himself so that process cannot be served on him, or has disposed of, or is about to dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors, or who has fraudulently contracted the debt or incurred the obligation respecting which the action is brought, or against a defendant when the plaintiff sets forth facts in his affidavit showing probable cause that he is justly apprehensive of the loss of his claim unless writ of attachment issue.

Process issued by clerk on receipt of affidavit made by or on behalf of plaintiff, and on the filing of an undertaking on the part of the plaintiff with sufficient securities in a sum not less than $200 in district court and $50 in justice court and not less than the claim.

Banks. Corporations to conduct commercial and savings banks, or banks having departments for both classes of business, may be formed by any number of persons, not less than five, at least one of whom shall be a resident of this State.

The subscribed capital stock shall not be less than $25,000. In cities having from 5,000 to 25,000 inhabitants, not less than $50,000; and in cities having from 25,000 to 50,000 inhabitants, not less than $75,000; and cities having more than 50,000 inhabitants, not less than $100,000. Banks hereafter incorporated shall provide in addition a surplus or expense fund of 25% of its capital. Nor shall the certificate of incorporation be issued, unless it shall appear by affidavit of at least three of the incorporators, that the proposed corporation has the requisite amount of subscribed capital stock, and that at least 50 per cent of the capital stock has been paid in cash. And it must also appear by affidavit that at least 25 per cent of any increased capital has actually been paid in cash. Unpaid subscriptions shall be paid in installments of not less than 10 per cent per month.

Any bank having a paid in capital of not less than $50,000 and a paid in capital and surplus of $100,000 or more may, with approval of Bank Commissioner and the governor, and with consent of established banks in the city where branch bank is to be located, establish a branch bank.

All instruments drawn on a bank which has branches shall specify branch at which instrument is payable.

Banks may qualify to act as fiduciary and do a trust business. To qualify to do a trust business the bank shall have a paid up capital and surplus of at least $100,000, and separate deposits shall be made with the State Treasurer, the amount depending on the population of the city where the bank is located. The deposit so required shall be treated as separate capital and surplus of the trust business as distinguished from the banking business, for the protection of trust business, and the liabilities of the trust business shall be paid therefrom upon liquidation.

Loans to officers and directors in excess of 15 per cent of the capital stock and surplus are prohibited, and the capital stock of the bank shall not be taken as security for such loans. All loans to officers must be secured in double the amount of the loan and must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the directors or executive committee, on which vote, the officer or director securing the loan shall not participate.

The total liabilities of any bank to any person, company, corporation or firm for money borrowed, shall not exceed 15 per cent of the capital stock and surplus.

All wills executed according to the law of the state or country where made, or where testator was at the time domiciled, or in conformity to the laws of Utah, may be admitted to probate hereafter, being duly proved and allowed in any other state, territory, or foreign state or country. Nuncupative wills are good, provided the estate bequeathed does not exceed in value the sum of $1,000, and provided the will be proved within six months after decedent's death by two witnesses who were present, one of whom was asked by testator to bear witness that such was his will, or to that effect. Such wills are only good in cases where testator was in expectation of immediate death from an injury or casualty happening within twenty-four hours previous to the making of the will. An holographic will, defined as one that is entirely written, dated and signed by the hand of the testator himself, need not be witnessed, and may be proved in the same way as other private writings.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF VERMONT RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by ALBAN J. PARKER, Attorney at Law, Box 200, Springfield, Vt.

(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgments. All deeds must be signed and sealed in the presence of two witnesses. The seal shall consist of a wafer, wax, paper or other adhesive substance affixed thereto, or the word "seal" or the letters "L. S." opposite the signature. They may be acknowledged in this State before a justice of the peace, notary public, or master in chancery. Outside the State, before a justice, notary public, or commissioner for Vermont, or any other officer authorized by the laws of such other state to take acknowledgments of deeds. A stockholder, officer or employee of a corporation who is legally qualified to take acknowledgments may take acknowledgments to an instrument in which such corporation is a party.

Actions. Are such as are recognized by the common law. Suits before a justice must be served at least six days and not more than sixty days before the return day, except when served in another county, then at least twelve days prior to return day; if defendant is properly notified, judgment may be rendered on the return day, if no defense is interposed. If there is no personal service there must be one continuance for notice. Suits before a justice must ordinarily be brought in the town where one of the parties resides; if neither lives in the State, then in any town. Suits before a Municipal Court must be served not less than ten days nor more than sixty days before the return day. Judgment may be rendered on the return day if no defense is interposed. Suits in Municipal Court may be brought in the Municipal Court District where either of the parties reside, or, if neither party is a resident, in any Municipal Court within the State. Suits before the supreme or county courts must be brought in the county in which one of the parties resides, if either lives in the State; if neither resides in the State, then in any county, but actions of ejectment and trespass on the freehold must be brought in the county where the land lies. Replevin is to be brought in the county where the goods are detained. Every writ and process returnable before the supreme or county courts, except as otherwise provided, shall be served within twenty-one days from the date of issuing the same, including the day of service, and excluding the day of issuing. The party suing out any process shall cause the same to be entered and docketed in the county clerk's office on or before the expiration of said twenty-one days, or the process shall be of no avail. The defendant shall cause his appearance therein to be entered with the clerk within forty-two days from the date of process. Process served by an officer shall be returned by him to the court or judge to which, or the place where, it is made returnable, within the time allowed by law for serving the same. Suits are commenced by writs of summons or attachment, as the plaintiff prefers. There is no distinction between residents and non-residents, either plaintiff or defendant, in respect to the right of, or liability to, an attachment of property on mesne process. The declaration is contained in the writ. Security for costs to the defendants must be given by way of recognizance by some other person than the plaintiff and must be minuted upon every writ.

Administration of estates is conducted in the probate courts in the several probate districts. Appeal may be had to the county court, or when only a question of law is involved direct to the supreme court.

Affidavits may be taken and oaths administered out of the State by commissioners appointed by the governor.

Appeals. (See Courts.)

Arrest. In actions ex delicto the defendant may be arrested for want of attachable property. In actions ex contractu no woman can be arrested. Nor can a resident citizen of any of the United States be arrested in an action ex contractu except upon the affidavit of the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, "that he has good reason to believe, and does believe, that the defendant is about to abscond or remove from the State, and has secreted property to an amount exceeding $20 or sufficient to satisfy the demand upon which he is to be arrested," or upon the affidavit of the plaintiff "that the defendant is the receiver of money of the plaintiff in a fiduciary capacity which the defendant has not paid on demand, and that his action is instituted to recover the same."

Assignments and Insolvency. There is an insolvent law. The probate courts have jurisdiction in insolvency. All assignments must be for the benefit of all creditors. Non-resident creditors can prove their claims and take their dividends; but the discharge does not disturb the unproved claim of a non-resident creditor.

Attachment. The defendant's property, not exempt, may be attached on mesne process in serving the writ, and trustee process will reach goods, effects, or credits of defendant in the hands of a third party, but workmen's wages are exempt up to the amount of $10.

Banks. Capital Stock—Banks may be organized with or without capital stock.

Reserves. Banks shall maintain a reserve of 15 per cent of Commercial accts. and at least 3 per cent of Savings accts. Federal Reserve compliance is held to be adequate compliance.

Incorporators. Not less than 15, all of whom shall be citizens of the State.

Officers and Directors. Officers shall consist of a President, one or more Vice-presidents and a board of trustees of not less than seven and not more than eleven. President and Vice-presidents shall be elected from members of the Corporation. There shall also be a Treasurer and as many other officers as may be necessary to management of the business.

Supervising authority. Commissioner of Banking and Insurance. Also an Advisory Banking board, consisting of five members.

Loan Limitations. Not to exceed eighty per cent in R. E. Mtgs. No mtgs. shall be taken for more than 60 per cent of the value of the property if within the State and for not more than fifty per cent if without the State. No loans to any person, corporation, association or partnership (including individual loans to members of the partnership) for more than Thirty Thousand Dollars; except that a loan made by directors in writing this may be increased on Vermont Real Estate to one and one-half per cent.

Stock-holders liability. Liable for an amount equal to the par value of their stock in addition to the stock itself. (Known as the "double liability clause"). Preferred stock and new common stock may be limited to "single" liability.

Commissioner may omit one of the semi-annual examinations where bank deposits are insured by the FDIC

The bank commissioner shall semi-annually, without previous notice, visit and examine the condition and affairs of every bank, and oftener if he deems it necessary or believes the interest and safety of the depositors or creditors require. He shall be given access to all the files, books, accounts, securities, and assets of the bank, and shall be afforded every reasonable facility for making an examination of its affairs. He may examine, upon oath, the officers, agents, and servants of such bank or any other person, in relation to the affairs and condition of such institution, and may administer oaths for that purpose. In addition to the examinations required to be made by law, said commissioner shall make such examinations when ordered so to do by a court of competent jurisdiction. Said commissioner may cause an examination of a bank to be made by an expert under his direction but at the expense of such bank.

When the treasurer of a bank is an officer of a national bank or banking association, or the business of a bank is carried on in the same office or building with a national banking association, said commissioner shall, at least once in each year, visit and inspect the condition of such bank, at the same time that the United States bank examiner visits and examines such national banking association.

Every bank shall at all times carry as a reserve 15 per cent of its commercial deposits and 3 per cent of its savings deposits.

Not less than 2/5 of such reserve shall be in cash on hand and in balances payable on demand in banks and national banking associations in which banks of this State are authorized by law to make deposits, and at least 1/2 of such 2/5 shall be in cash on hand, but balances payable on demand in banks or national banking associations located not more than 100 miles from the depositing bank or in banks which are members of the Federal Reserve System located in the first district or in New York City will be accepted as and in lieu of cash to the amount of half of such cash requirement.

Three-fifths of such reserve may be in United States bonds.

No new loans may be made when a bank's reserve is not in accord with the requirements of this section.

The trustees shall have the general management of the affairs of the bank, but they may act through committees of investment, examination, and audit, subject to their general supervision and control.

A regular meeting of the board of trustees of a bank shall be held at least once each month to receive the report of its treasurer and for the transaction of other business. A majority of the trustees shall constitute a quorum, but a less number may adjourn from time to time or until the next regular meeting.

A trustee or other officer of a bank who intentionally violates a provision of this act shall be imprisoned not more than ten years or fined not more than $10,000, or both; and the state's attorney for the county in which such corporation is located shall prosecute such violation on complaint thereof by the bank commissioner.

A trustee or officer of a savings bank shall not, directly or indirectly, either for himself or as the partner of others, borrow or use its funds or deposits, or sign any note, as surety, upon which any of such deposits are loaned.

A savings bank shall, immediately before making each interest payment to savings depositors, reserve from the net profits accumulated since the preceding interest payment, not less than one-eighth of one per cent of the average amount of deposits during such period, as a surplus fund until such fund amounts to 10 per cent of the amount of deposits and other liabilities except surplus. The accumulation toward such fund shall be set aside and held intact and, when the fund amounts to said 10 per cent, it shall thereafter be maintained and held to meet losses in its business from depreciation and securities or otherwise; and, if at any time it falls below said 10 per cent, reservations from net profits shall in like manner be renewed until such fund again reaches the 10 per cent requirement. (Suspended during 1941 & 1942.) (No. 165 of Acts of 1941.)

A savings bank or trust company may pay interest on deposits not to exceed one and three-fourths per cent semi-annually, provided one-half of above 10 per cent fund has been accumulated. Not to exceed 2 per cent semi-annually until above 10 per cent fund has been accumulated.

In determining the percent of the surplus fund held by a bank, its interest or dividend paying stocks and bonds, and its real estate shall be estimated at their market value, and its notes and mortgages shall be estimated at their face.

No loan shall be made to an officer, director, or employee of any trust company without the written consent of a majority of the directors; and such loan shall not at any one time, directly or indirectly, exceed 5 per cent of the capital stock actually paid in, but the discount of bona fide bills of exchange drawn against existing values, and the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by such director, officer, or employee negotiating the same to an amount not exceeding $10,000 or a loan upon the pledge of any of the securities which are legal investments and subject to the restrictions thereof to an amount not exceeding the same sum, shall not be prohibited by this section, but no loan shall be made by such corporation upon its own stock as collateral, and no officers, director or employee of a trust company shall become surety on any note held by such trust company.

A Bank or Trust Company organized under the laws of the State shall have the power to subscribe to the capital stock and become a member of a Federal Reserve Bank subject to the supervision, and examination required by the laws of the State except that the Federal Reserve Bank shall have the right, if it deems necessary, to make examinations.

Six per cent of the deposits of a bank may be invested in the purchase of a suitable building for the convenient transaction of its business.

If a bank is closed and a receiver appointed, 75 per cent in amount of depositors, with the approval and consent of the bank commissioner, may select a committee of not to exceed 12 depositors, provided a depositor who has been notified and does not refuse to give his consent within 15 days therefrom shall be included in reckoning said 75 per cent, to form plan for reorganization. Upon receiving approval of commissioner, said committee or the bank commissioner may petition the court in which such receivership is pending, and the court shall make order for hearing, take testimony, and if it appears to be for the best interests of depositors that such plan be approved, may make an order approving same and fixing terms and conditions upon which the receivership shall be terminated. The plan may provide for assessment upon stockholders under sec. P. L. 6810.

In the event that any depositor of such bank files written objection to the approval of the plan and refuses to consent thereto, the court at such hearing may direct the receiver to set aside assets of each class of such receivership, in such amounts and character as the court shall find to be just and equitable, and upon such terms as may be just and equitable shall continue the receivership as to such assets and such depositors, and direct the receiver to turn over the remainder of the assets to such new or reorganized bank when directed by the bank commissioner, and discharge such receivership from further liability in relation thereto.

The governor shall appoint a board of five persons to act as Advisory Banking Board. The commissioner shall not be liable in any civil action or criminal prosecution for any act or omission in his official capacity, under the provisions of chapters 271 to 276 of the Public Laws, or for any act or omission in accord with the advice of the Advisory Banking Board.

Savings deposits in banks with the interest credited thereto may be withdrawn by depositors or their legal representatives under such regulations as to time, manner and previous notice as the board of trustees prescribes. The bank commissioner may regulate the payment of all classes of its deposits as to time, amount and manner in which the payments shall be made.

When it shall appear to the governor that the public welfare and the equal protection of depositors in banks doing business in this state require it, he may proclaim such bank holidays as in his judgment are necessary.

When the bank commissioner shall deem it necessary in order to conserve the assets of any savings bank or trust company, he shall appoint a conservator for such bank or trust company.

A trust company may under certain conditions issue preferred stock, the holders of which shall be entitled to dividends not exceeding 6 per cent per annum but shall not be held individually responsible for debts of the trust company and shall not be liable for assessment. Such stock shall be subject to retirement as provided in articles of association with approval of commissioner.

Institutions eligible to become members of the Federal Home Loan Bank System are authorized to borrow from the Federal Home Loan Bank for the purpose of meeting withdrawals, extraordinary demands, making new real estate loans, or other corporate purposes, and may pledge its securities for such loans.

A bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of Vermont may establish and maintain agencies and branches for the general transaction of banking business in towns other than that in which its main office is located.

Banks in this State may qualify under the Federal Reserve Act and U. S. Banking Act of 1933.

Chattel Mortgages. All personal property including crops, etc., is subject to mortgage. A mortgage of personal property shall not be valid against any person except the mortgagor, his executors and administrators, unless at the time of making such mortgage the possession of the property is delivered to, and actually retained by the mortgagee, or the mortgage is recorded in the office of the clerk of the town in which the mortgagor at the time of making the same resides, or if he resides out of the state, in the town in which the property is situated. When the condition of a chattel mortgage has been fulfilled, the mortgagee shall within thirty days thereafter cause said mortgage to be discharged of record and if he refuses or neglects to do so shall be fined not more than fifty nor less than five dollars. Mortgagor and mortgagee are required to subscribe to an affidavit that the debt secured is a just one, honestly due and owing from the mortgagor to the mortgagee, and if such a mortgage is given to indemnify the mortgagee against liability assumed, or to secure the fulfillment of an agreement other than the payment of a debt due from the mortgagor to the mortgagee, or if such mortgage is given to a trustee to secure bonds issued or to be issued thereunder, such liability, agreement or obligation shall be stated specifically in the condition of the mortgage, and the affidavit shall be so varied as to verify the validity and justice of such liability, agreement or obligation.

Contracts. (See Actions.) Contracts based upon an illegal or immoral consideration are void.

Conveyances of real estate are to be by deed and recorded in the clerk's office in the town in which the land is situated. (See Acknowledgments.)

Corporations may be formed by three or more persons, by application to the secretary of state, for any purpose not repugnant to the laws of this state except (1) any business subject to regulation by the Public Service Commission; (2) the business of a bank, or trust company or savings bank, or any business contemplating the receipt or holding of money on deposit, or letting, loaning, or managing money deposited; and (3) the business of insurance. Not less than twenty-five persons, a majority being inhabitants of the State, may form a railroad corporation under the general law. Articles of association may be amended for all lawful purposes. Amendments may be made by such vote of stockholders or members as is provided by articles of association—if no provision then generally by 2/3 vote of outstanding stock having voting rights.

If incorporated by act of legislature and no capital stock is provided for, $25; if incorporated by voluntary association and no capital stock is provided for, $25; if capital stock does not exceed $5,000, $10; if exceeds $5,000 and is not over $10,000, $25; if exceeds $10,000 but does not exceed $50,000, $50; if exceeds $50,000 but does not exceed $200,000, $100; if exceeds $200,000 but does not exceed $500,000, $200; if exceeds $500,000, but does not exceed $1,000,000, $300; if exceeds $1,000,000 but does not exceed $2,000,000, $500; $100 for each additional million dollars or fraction thereof. Charter fee must be paid with application for charter, and if charter is refused money is refunded.

A corporation may own shares of stock in any domestic corporation provided that the principal business of such domestic corporation is ancillary and auxiliary to its business or that it holds such stock for purposes ancillary and auxiliary to its business. A corporation may also own shares of stock in any corporation organized under the laws of any other jurisdiction, if the principal business of such foreign corporation is to handle and develop in that jurisdiction the business of the domestic corporation. Any charitable, religious or educational corporation may accept and hold shares of stock in any corporation given to it by will or otherwise.

No corporation whose business is primarily to hold shares of stock in other corporations, commonly called "a holding company," shall be permitted to acquire or hold such stock in other corporations. A violation of this provision shall be a cause for the dissolution of the corporation.

Corporations, Agriculture Co-operative Marketing. To encourage the orderly marketing of agricultural products through co-operation. See Pub. laws Chapter 241.

Courts. The supreme court has appellate jurisdiction, and sits as a court of error in law and chancery; it has exclusive jurisdiction of certain statutory petitions not triable by jury; it may issue and determine writs of error, certiorari, mandamus, prohibition, and quo warranto; and may try and determine questions of law removed from the county court upon bills of exception. Court of chancery has general chancery jurisdiction. The county court has original and exclusive jurisdiction of all original civil actions not cognizable by a justice, and of certain statutory petitions; it has appellate jurisdiction in most cases cognizable by a justice where the matter in controversy exceeds $20 and in some cases where it is less than that sum; and it also has appellate jurisdiction in cases in the probate court and in the court of insolvency. There are also inferior courts; municipal courts, juvenile courts, and justice courts.

Days of Grace. None.

Descent and Distribution. The real and personal estate of a deceased person, not devised nor bequeathed and not otherwise appropriated and distributed in pursuance of law, descends in the following manner:

1. In equal shares to the children of the deceased person, or the legal representatives of deceased children.
2. If the deceased is a married person and leaves no issue, the surviving husband or wife, as the case may be, takes the whole of the deceased's estate if it does not exceed $4,000; if it exceeds that sum, then the survivor is entitled to $4,000 and half the remainder, and the remaining part of the estate descends as the whole would if the husband or wife did not survive. If deceased has no kindred who may inherit the estate, the surviving husband or wife is entitled to the whole estate.
3. If deceased person leaves no issue, nor surviving husband or wife, the estate descends in equal shares to the father and mother of the deceased person. If the mother is not living, the estate descends to the father. If the father is not living and the mother survives, the estate descends to the mother.
4. If the deceased person leaves no issue, nor wife, nor husband, nor father, nor mother, the estate descends in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of the deceased person and to the legal representatives of deceased brothers and sisters.
5. If none of the relatives above named survive the deceased, the estate descends in equal shares to the next of kin in equal degree; but a person is not entitled, by right of representation, to the share of such next of kin who has died.

Depositions may be taken in the State by justices of the peace, notaries public, masters in chancery, judges and registers of probate, and by commissioners of other states residing in this State. They may be taken out of the State by commissioners appointed by a supreme court judge, or by the governor, and by officers who are qualified to take depositions in other states.

Dower. The statutory rights of a widow are: (1) Homestead ($1,000.00); (2) Statutory dower; (3) one-third, at least, of the personal property. By statute a widow shall be entitled in fee to one-third in value of all the real estate of which her husband died seized, except that if the husband leaves only one heir, the issue of the widow, or heir by adoption of both, the widow is entitled to one-half in value in such real estate unless barred in the manner specified in the statute, i. e.: by jointure, settlement, by will or when husband leaves no children or representatives of children. If no children, widow entitled to the first $4,000 and one-half the balance of husband's estate.

Executions. May be levied upon property not exempt from attachment. Personal property levied upon is sold by the officer at public auction. Real property is sold at public auction, but the debtor may redeem within six months. In cases in which the body is liable to arrest, the officer may for want of property take the debtor and commit him to jail.

Exemptions. Homestead, $1,000; necessary wearing apparel, household furniture and tools, one sewing machine, one cow, one swine or meat of one swine, ten sheep, either one yoke of oxen or two horses (horses not to exceed in value the sum of $200), as the debtor may select, with forage for one winter, one sleigh, two sets of harness, two halters, and some other small articles. Ten cords of firewood or five tons of coal, twenty bushels of potatoes, the arms used by a soldier in the service of the United States, growing crops, ten bushels of grain, one barrel of flour, three swarms of bees and their produce in honey, 200 pounds of sugar, one sled or one set of trawlers sleds, one tool chest used by a mechanic, live poultry, not exceeding in value the sum of $10; one two-horse wagon or ox-cart, as the debtor may select, with whiffletrees and neck-yoke, two chains, one plow. Also a sewing machine and instruments and libraries of professional men to the value of $200.

Garishment. (See Attachment.)

Holidays. January 1st, February 12th, February 22nd, May 30th, July 4th, August 16th, 1st Monday in September, October 12th, November 11th, December 25th, and any day appointed by the Governor or by the President as a day of fast or thanksgiving, are legal holidays.

Husband and Wife are competent witnesses for or against each other in all cases, civil and criminal, except that neither is allowed to testify against the other as to any statement, conversation, letter or other communication made to the other or to another person, and neither is allowed in any case to testify as to any matter which, in the opinion of the court, would lead to a violation of marital confidence.

Interest. The legal rate is 6 per cent per annum. Judgments bear legal rate. Only the excess paid is forfeited, and that may be recovered back or set up in reduction of claim.

Judgments do not of themselves create a lien on property not attached upon mesne process.

Limitations of Suits. Simple promissory notes are barred in six years, but notes signed in presence of an attesting witness are not barred until fourteen years next after the right of action shall accrue thereon. Accounts are barred after six years from the last credit; sealed instruments and judgments, after eight years. A verbal promise to pay will not revive a debt, but the promise must be in writing signed by the party to be charged. A partial payment will revive the debt; but, in case of a note, the payment can not be shown by the indorsement of the payment alone unless in the handwriting of the party making the payment.

Married Women. May dispose of property by will. May make contracts with any person other than her husband, and bind herself and her separate property, as if she was unmarried, and may sue and be sued as to such contracts made by her before or during coverture. She may convey or mortgage by her separate deed the real estate of which she is seized in her own right to her sole and separate use as she might do by her separate deed, if unmarried. A married woman may, by her sole deed, convey or mortgage and may manage and control any other real estate hereafter acquired by her except that a homestead interest therein and the real estate of which she is seized jointly with her husband may be conveyed or mortgaged only by the joint deed of herself and husband. Real estate and tangible personal property and the products thereof held and owned by husband and wife by the entirety are chargeable, during the lifetime of the husband, for the debts contracted by him for the necessary support of his family and for the necessary upkeep of such property in the name of the husband and to the same extent as if owned and held by him in his sole name. All personal property and rights of action acquired by her before coverture, or during coverture, except by gift from her husband, are held to her separate use, and neither her separate property, nor the rents, issues, incomes, or products of it, are subject to the disposal of her husband or liable for his debts; but this provision does not authorize any claim by either husband or wife against the other for personal services. The husband is not liable for her torts unless committed by his authority or direction, nor liable for her debts contracted before the marriage, unless the marriage was before January 1, 1885. (See Husband and Wife—Divorces.)

Mortgages of real estate are foreclosed by bill or petition and writ of possession given after decree and failure to redeem. The usual time for redemption granted in the decree is one year, but it may be shortened upon cause shown. (See Chattel Mortgages.)

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted in 1913. (See Complete text following the "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.")

Replevin. Replevin may be maintained for beasts distrained; for goods attached, and for the unlawful taking or detaining of goods.

Securities, Sale of. See Blue Sky Law.

Suits before the county court are brought in the county where plaintiff or defendant resides—if both are non-resident, then in any county. Actions of ejectment and trespass on the freehold must be brought in the county where the land lies, and actions of replevin where the goods are detained.

Taxes. Lands sold for taxes may be redeemed within one year on payment of the full sum for which they were sold, with legal costs and 12 per cent interest.

Wills. Every person of age and sound mind may dispose of his or her real and personal estate by will. The testator must sign in the presence of three witnesses, who must also sign at the request and in the presence of the testator and in the presence of each other.

Administrators must qualify in the court in which the decedent's will would have been probated had he made a will. The assets of the decedent, after the payment of funeral expenses not to exceed $200.00 and the charges of administration, are applied as follows: 1. For articles furnished and services rendered during last illness, not exceeding $50, for claims: (a) By physicians, (b) By druggists, (c) By nurses, (d) By hospitals. 2. Where discretionary powers are conferred upon the executors of any will, and some but not all of the executors die, resign or become incapable of acting, the remaining executor or executors shall exercise such discretionary powers, unless the will expressly provides otherwise. Administrators with the will annexed shall exercise the same powers unless they were expressly limited to the original executors. This includes the sale of real estate.

Affidavits. Any oath or affidavit required by law which is not of such a nature that it must be made in court, may be administered by or made before a justice and certified by him, unless otherwise provided; and in any case in which an oath might be administered by or an affidavit made before a justice, the same may be administered by or made before a notary, a commissioner in chancery, a commissioner appointed by the governor, or a clerk of a court. An affidavit may also be made before any officer of another state or country authorized by its laws to administer an oath, and shall be deemed duly authenticated if it be subscribed by such officer and there be annexed to it a certificate of the clerk or other officer of a court of record of such state or country, under an official seal, verifying the genuineness of the signature of the first mentioned officer, and his authority to administer such oath. When such affidavit is made before a notary public of such other state or country the same shall be deemed and taken to be duly authenticated, if it be subscribed by such officer with his official seal attached, without being certified by any clerk or other officer of a court of record.

Aliens. Any alien not an enemy, may acquire, by purchase or descent, and hold real estate in this State, and the same shall be transmitted in the same manner as real estate held by citizens.

Arbitration. Persons desiring to end any controversy, whether there be a suit pending therefor or not, may submit the same to arbitration, and agree that such submission may be entered of record in any court.

Arrests. In aid of remedy in civil action arrest does not lie, but capias can be taken out against debtors about to quit the State. Before plaintiff can obtain this writ, he has to give bond with security, to pay costs and damages occasioned by arrest of the defendant.

Attachments may be upon real or personal property, and allowed as follows: 1. Against foreign corporations and non-residents having property in this State. 2. Against an absconding debtor in a suit removing, or intending to remove, his property out of the State. 3. Against a debtor who has removed, is removing, or intends to remove, his property, whether the claim is due or not. 4. Against a debtor converting, about to convert, or who has converted his property, or some part thereof, into money, securities, or evidences of debt, with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors. 5. Has disposed of, or is about to dispose of his property, or some part thereof, with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors. 6. Against a tenant removing property from leased premises before rent is due. 7. Against vessels for materials and supplies furnished or work done thereon. 8. Against crops of tenants cultivating land. 9. Against crops of persons cultivating lands for advances made upon crops. 10. Against property claimed in action of detinue, when defendant is alleged to be insolvent.

Banks. The State Corporation Commission has the power to charter banks under the general corporation law with a minimum capital stock of not less than $50,000.00 and the minimum is thereafter increased in accordance with the size of the city. The state corporation commission can require reports and examinations and exercise general supervision thereof. Trust companies require a minimum capital of $50,000.00.

Every such bank has power to prescribe by its board of directors by-laws regulating the manner in which its stock shall be transferred, its general business conducted, and the privileges granted to it by law exercised and enjoyed.

The affairs of such bank shall be managed by a board of directors consisting of not less than five persons, a majority of whom shall be citizens of the State, and each director is required to own at least $500 of the capital stock of the bank of which he is director and this minimum is increased by statute with the increase of the capital stock of the bank. The board of directors shall meet at least once a month. The directors shall be elected at the annual meeting of the stockholders. Any vacancy in the board of directors shall be filled by appointment by the remaining directors, and any director so appointed shall hold his place until the next election of directors. They are to elect from their number the president. The directors shall at least twice in each calendar year make an examination of the moneys of the bank, and a settlement of the accounts of the cashier. A statement of such examination and settlement shall be recorded with the proceedings of the board.

Every such bank may purchase, hold, and convey real estate for the following purposes, and no other:

1. Such as may be necessary for its immediate accommodation in the transaction of its business.

2. Such as may be mortgaged or encumbered to secure, or conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings; or such as it may purchase at sales, under order of court, or deed of trust held by it, or to secure debts due to it but no such property, purchased or acquired under this head, shall be held for a longer period than ten years.

No dividend shall be declared by any bank until the bank has a surplus of 10 per cent of its capital, nor shall any dividend be declared by which such surplus fund is reduced below the said 10 percent.

Every such bank must make statements to the state corporation commission, at such times as the national banks are required to make to the comptroller of the currency, and at such other times as the State Corporation Commission may demand, and must publish such statements in a condensed form, as published by said national banks, and the state corporation commission is required to call for such statements, whenever the comptroller of the currency calls on the national banks for such statements; and upon written application, by stockholders representing two-fifths of capital stock of the bank, the state corporation commission may make a special examination. There may, at any time, be an inspection of the books and examination into the proceedings of any bank by a joint committee of the two houses of the general assembly, or a committee of each house, or one or more commissioners appointed by the general assembly or by the governor.

Any banker, broker, or officer of any trust or savings institution, or of any state bank, or employee of any private banker, who shall take and receive money from a depositor with the actual knowledge that the said banker, broker, or bank, or institution is at the time insolvent, shall be guilty of embezzlement, and shall be punished by a fine double the amount so received and imprisoned in jail from fifteen days to one year, or from one to three years in the penitentiary in the discretion of the jury.

There are no laws restricting savings banks as to the class of bonds and securities in which their funds may be invested.

A bank examiner and assistant are provided for with full powers of frequent and rigid examination of state banks at the expense of the banks.

No dividend on the capital stock paid in shall be declared by any bank until the bank has a surplus of 20% of its capital stock exclusive of any preferred stock issued to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation nor shall any dividend be declared by which such surplus fund is reduced below the said 20 per cent.

No Bank shall make any loan secured by real-estate, when such loan together with all prior liens and encumbrances exceed sixty per cent of the appraised value of the said real estate, nor shall any bank make such loans in an aggregate sum in excess of the amount of its capital stock actually paid in and unimpaired plus the amount of its unimpaired surplus fund, or in excess of sixty per cent of its time and savings deposits.

Deposits made in the name of two or more persons payable to either or the survivor, any part or all of it and the interest and dividends may be paid to either whether the other be living or not. Safety boxes in the name of two or more persons with right of access to either or the survivor, entitles any one of them to enter and remove any or all of its contents, whether the other be living or not.

All loans made in excess of 15% of the capital and surplus must be by resolution of a majority of the directors or the executive committee. No loans can be made upon its own stock.

Court may order publication for two times of list of creditors of insolvent bank who have not appeared or filed claims, and if they fail to file claims within six months thereafter, may bar them entirely.

Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trusts. There may be mortgages or deeds of trusts upon personal or real property to secure the payment of money, except deed of trust upon stock invalid, and upon default of payment the property may be sold by the trustee without the intervention of court proceedings. The mortgage or deed of trust must be acknowledged, and must be recorded in the county or corporation wherein the property is situated. It is larceny to fraudulently dispose of personal property on which a deed of trust exists, without the consent of the trustee or beneficiary.

Checks. The death of the drawer of a check, presented within two weeks from date of death, does not operate as a revocation. Bank or bankers retain for a period of two weeks after notice of the death of a depositor money standing to his credit, and after paying thereout any checks which may be presented within said two weeks shall, upon demand, pay the residue to the persons entitled thereto in the manner prescribed by law. This applies only to checks made payable at a bank or bankers. (Acts 1906). It is larceny for any person with intent to defraud, to make, draw, utter or deliver any check upon any bank or Trust Company, knowing at the time that he has not sufficient funds for payment of the check. It is prima facie evidence of such intent if the person has not sufficient funds in the depository on which it is drawn, unless maker or drawer shall have paid holder within five days after notice of nonpayment.

Collaterals. No special legislation

Conditional Sales. Every sale or contract for the sale of goods or chattels, wherein the title is reserved until the same be paid for in whole or in part, or the transfer of the title is made to depend on any condition, and possession to be delivered to the vendee, is void as to creditors of and purchasers for value without notice from such vendee unless such sale or contract be evidenced by writing executed by the vendor and vendee, in which the said reservation or condition is expressed, and until and except from the time the said writing is duly admitted to record in the county or corporation in which said goods or chattels may be. As to rolling stocks, cars, etc., of railroad companies, contracts concerning them are to be recorded in the circuit or corporation court of the county, or corporation where the principal office of the company is located; if in Richmond where the principal office of the company is located, a copy filed with the state corporation commission, and each locomotive, car, or other piece of rolling stock is to be plainly and permanently marked with the name of the vendor on both sides thereof, following by the word "owner." Conditional Sales must be recorded within five days after delivery of property. Writing must set forth the date of sale, amount due, when payable, a brief description of the conditions and chattels, and the terms of the reservations or conditions.

Contracts. Every contract not in writing, made in respect to real estate or goods and chattels, in consideration of marriage, or made for the conveyance or sale of real estate, or a term therein of more than five years, shall be void, both at law and in equity, as to purchasers for valuable consideration without notice and creditors.

Conveyances are made by deed which may be written, typewritten, or printed, and must be sealed. The seal of a natural person may be a scroll, affixed by way of seal; but the impression of a corporate or an official seal on paper or parchment alone shall be as valid as if made on wax or other adhesive substance. The seal must be recognized as a seal in the body of the instrument, e. g.: "Witness my hand and seal." An attorney in fact may execute a deed, but the power of attorney must be under seal. No prescribed form is required for deed of a corporation, but it must be executed by duly authorized officers or agents. Any interest in or claim to real estate may be disposed of by deed, and any estate may be made to commence in future, by deed. A deed conveying real estate, without a contrary intention appears by the deed. A deed or will is necessary to convey an estate of inheritance or freehold for a term of more than five years, in lands; and a deed is also necessary for a voluntary partition of lands by coparceners having such an estate therein. A deed or will is also necessary to make a valid gift of goods or chattels, unless actual possession shall have come to and remained with the donee, or some person claiming under him. The deed must be acknowledged before an officer authorized to take acknowledgments. (See acknowledgments.) His official character and when his commission expires must appear in the certificate, and acknowledgment must be taken within his county or corporation. Deeds must be recorded in the clerk's office of the court of the county or corporation in which the land lies, or in which the goods or chattels may be, except in the city of Richmond, where all papers are recorded in the clerk's office of the chancery court. Neither the acknowledgment nor registry of a deed is necessary to make it valid between the parties thereto, except in case of a deed from husband and wife, which must be acknowledged and registered to convey wife's interest. But no deed can be registered unless properly acknowledged or proved by two witnesses.

Corporations. The state corporation commission, consisting of three members, is the department of government through which must be issued all charters and amendments or extensions thereof, for domestic corporations, and all licenses to do business in this State to foreign corporations; and through which must be carried out all provisions for the creation, visitation, supervision, regulation and control of corporations chartered by, or doing business in this State.

Costs. Non-resident plaintiffs may be required to give security for costs on motion of defendant to any officer of the court.

Courts. Their Organization and Jurisdiction. The supreme court of appeals. This is the court of last resort in this State. Its sessions are held at three points in the State, viz.: At Richmond, Staunton, and Wytheville. It has original jurisdiction in proceedings by mandamus, prohibition, and habeas corpus. The appellate jurisdiction of the supreme court of appeals extends to all criminal cases, to all cases involving the constitutionality of a law, controversies concerning title or boundaries of land, the condemnation of property, the probate of a will, appointment of personal representative, etc., without regard to the amount involved, and in all other civil cases where the amount in controversy is $300, or more, exclusive of costs and interest accrued after judgment of lower courts. Circuit court.—There are thirty-four circuit courts, presided over by as many judges, having jurisdiction of all matters of law and equity where the amount exceeds $200.00. Justice courts have jurisdiction to the extent of $1000.00, but any action, if over $300.00, may be removed to the circuit or corporation court, upon payment of accrued costs and the writ tax in the circuit or corporation court to which the case is removed. Appeals are allowed to said courts on all amounts exceeding $20.00 upon security being given. Corporation courts.—A city or town containing 5,000 inhabitants is entitled to a corporation court. These courts are given jurisdiction of both law and equity matters, and civil and criminal jurisdiction. Courts of the city of Richmond.—The circuit court of the city of Richmond (four terms a year) has within the city like jurisdiction of other circuit courts as above, except in chancery and criminal matters. The chancery court of the city of Richmond (four terms a year) is the court of record and probate for the city, and has general jurisdiction of chancery matters. The law and equity court of Richmond (four terms a year) has concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit and chancery courts of Richmond, except as to a few matters. The Hustings court (monthly terms except August and September) is the court of criminal jurisdiction within the city except as to small matters, which may be tried in the police court. It is the court of appeal for criminal matters which may be appealed from the police court. The police court of the city of Richmond has jurisdiction of criminal matters, such as may be tried by a justice of the peace. In cities of 45,000 or more there may be a civil justice court, presided over by a lawyer who has had five years' practice in this state. The court meets daily except on Sundays and legal holidays and cases may be heard upon five days' notice. The court has jurisdiction of claims less than $300 in value inclusive of interest. From any judgment of this court exceeding $20 exclusive of interest there may be an appeal as of right to any of the courts exercising common law jurisdiction in civil cases in such cities, but there can be no removal before trial. Richmond has such civil justice court. Jurisdiction in cases not exceeding $1,000 permitted, except that if it exceeds $300 the justice on application of the defendant and upon payment by him of accrued cost and a $5.00 writ tax may remove the case to a court of record.

The Legislature of 1936 created Trial Justice Courts for all counties in the State. They have exclusive original jurisdiction of all claims not exceeding $200.00 and concurrent jurisdiction with the Circuit Courts in claims exceeding $200.00 but not exceeding $1000.00. Claims of $300.00 or more may be removed by the defendant to the Circuit Court upon payment of accrued costs and by making affidavit of a substantial defense. No appeals on judgments not exceeding $20.00 exclusive of interest and costs. On judgments exceeding that sum appeals may be to the Circuit or Corporation Courts as a matter of right, and are tried de novo.

Deeds. (See Conveyances, and Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trust.)

Depositions. Evidence in chancery causes is generally taken by depositions, while in common law cases it is generally oral, but depositions can be read in a common law case where the witness has died since his deposition was taken, or is out of the State, or is more than a hundred miles from the place of trial. The deposition of certain public officers, where the duties of the office prevent their attending court, may be taken and read. No commission is necessary to take a deposition, either within or without the State, except where an attesting witness to a will is unable, by reason of sickness, non-residence, etc., to give his testimony before the court in which the will is probated, except that when the depositions are to be taken in a state where a commission is necessary then the clerk of the court in this State where the suit is pending may issue such commission. Reasonable notice shall be given to the adverse party of the time and place of every deposition. In this State depositions may be taken by a justice of the peace or notary public, or a commissioner in chancery, except depositions in divorce proceedings, which the statute requires shall be taken in all cases before a commissioner in chancery. In the United States, but without this state, before any commissioner appointed by the governor of Virginia, or any justice, notary, or other officer authorized to take depositions in the state wherein the witness may be. In a foreign country, before any person that the parties may agree upon, in writing, or before certain officers of the United States.

Descent and Distribution of Property. When any person having title to any real estate of inheritance shall die intestate as to such estate, it shall descend and pass in parcenary to such of his kindred, male and female, as are not alien enemies, in the following course:

- First. To his children and their descendants.
- Second. If there be no child, nor the descendant of any child, then to his or her father and mother, or the survivor.
- Third. If there be neither father nor mother then to his or her brothers and sisters, and their descendants.
- Fourth. If none such, then the whole shall go to the surviving consort of the intestate.
- Fifth. If none such, then one moiety shall go to the paternal, the other to the maternal kindred of the intestate, in the following course:
- Sixth. First to the grandfather and grandmother, or the survivor.
- Seventh. If none, then to the uncles and aunts, and their descendants.
- Eighth. If none such, then to the great-grandfathers or great-grandfather, and great-grandmothers or great-grandmother.
- Ninth. If none then to the brothers and sisters of the grandfathers and grandmothers, and their descendants.
- Tenth. And so one (on), in other cases, without end, passing to the nearest lineal ancestors, and the descendants of such ancestors.
- Eleventh. If there be no paternal kindred the whole shall go to the maternal kindred; and if there be no maternal kindred, the whole shall go to the paternal kindred. If there be neither maternal nor paternal kindred, the whole shall go to the kindred of the husband or wife, in the like course as if such husband or wife had died entitled to the estate.

Collaterals of half blood shall inherit half as much as those of whole blood; but if all the collaterals be of the half blood, the ascending kindred, if any, shall have double portions.

Whenever those entitled to partition are all in the same degree of kindred to the intestate, they shall take per capita, but where a part are dead and part living the issue shall take the shares of their deceased parents.

Distribution of Personal Estate. When any person shall die intestate as to his personal estate, or any part thereof, the surplus (subject to certain exemptions), after the payment of funeral expenses, charges of administration and debts, shall pass and be distributed to and among the same persons and in same proportions, to whom and in which real estate is directed to descend, except as follows: 1. The personal estate of an infant shall be distributed as if he were an adult. 2. If the intestate was married, the surviving husband or wife shall be entitled to one-third * * * if surviving issue * * *; if no issue, husband and wife entitled to whole of estate. In other words, this Statute has put both husband and wife on an equal footing, the law formerly being that the husband was entitled to the whole of the personal estate, and the wife only one-third.

Dower. A widow is endowed of one-third of all the real estate whereof her husband or any other to his use was at any time during the coverture seized of an estate of inheritance or entitled to a right of entry or action for such estate, unless her right to such dower shall be lawfully barred or relinquished. Her dower is a life estate and to the extent of a one-third life interest is superior to the rights of her husband's creditors. But if the husband die wholly intestate and without issue, his widow shall be endowed of one-third of such real estate, as aforesaid, and, in addition thereto, subject to the rights of the husband's creditors, of all the residue of such real estate. The right of dower may be relinquished by the wife uniting with her husband in conveying the real estate by deed of conveyance, etc., but no privity examination is now required. If wife, of her own free will, leave her husband and live in adultery, she shall be barred of her dower, unless he be afterward reconciled to her, and suffer her to live with him.

Executions may issue at any time within one year, and scire facias, or action to revive judgments within ten.

Exemptions. Bible, family pictures, and books to value of $100, pew in church, burial lot, beds and bedding for family, and also various articles of housekeeping, and sewing machine, mechanic's tools to value of $300, seaman's or fisherman's boat to the value of $200; farmer, one yoke of oxen or pair of mules and farming utensils. A householder, the head of a family, is entitled to have, in addition real and personal property, exempt from sale under execution to the value of $2,000, excepting for a debt incurred for the purchase of such real or personal property, rent, services rendered by a laboring person or mechanic, liabilities incurred by any public officer or officer of court, or any fiduciary or attorney for money collected, and taxes, for the legal or taxable fees of any public officer or officer of a court, or for any debt or liability on contract as to which the debtor has waived his homestead exemption. And in case of householder or head of a family, seventy-five (75%) per centum of all wages, providing the amount be not less than $50.00 nor more than $75.00 per month are exempt. The homestead claimed to be exempt must be described in a writing signed by the householder and duly admitted to record in the county or corporation wherein the property claimed is located. Waiver, to be effectual, must be in writing.

Foreign Corporations. Foreign corporations, when they have complied with certain statutory requirements, have all the privileges and disabilities of domestic corporations.

Foreign Judgments. Action may be brought upon a judgment or decree of another state or country, unless barred by the laws of such state or country; but must be brought within ten years, if against a citizen who has resided ten years in this State. The statutes of this state give the same force and effect to a judgment of a foreign state court of record as it would receive in the courts of the state where it was rendered.

Fraud. Every gift, conveyance, assignment or transfer of or charge upon any estate, real or personal, every suit commenced or decree, judgment, or execution suffered or obtained, and every bond or other writing given with intent to delay, hinder, or defraud creditors, purchasers, or other persons of or from what they are or may be lawfully entitled to, shall, as to such creditors, purchasers, or other persons, their representatives or assigns, be void. This section shall not affect the title of a purchaser for valuable consideration, unless it appear that he had notice of the fraudulent intent of his immediate grantor or of the fraud, rendering void the title of such grantor. Every gift, conveyance, assignment, transfer, or charge, which is not upon consideration deemed valuable in law, or which is upon consideration of marriage, shall be void as to creditors whose debts shall have been contracted at the time it was made, but shall not on that account, merely, be void as to creditors whose debts shall have been contracted, or as to purchasers who shall have purchased after it was made; and though it be decreed to be void as to a prior creditor, because voluntary or upon consideration of marriage, it shall not, for that cause, be decreed to be void as to subsequent creditors or purchasers.

Garnishment. By garnishment any money due the defendant upon claim reduced to judgment, may be collected and the proceeds applied by the court to payment of judgment against the defendant.

Holidays. In each year, the 1st day of January, 19th day of January (known as Lee-Jackson Day), the 22d day of February, 13th day of April (Thomas Jefferson day), the 30th day of May (Confederate Memorial Day), the 3d day of June (Jefferson Davis Day), the 4th day of July, the first Monday in September (known as Labor Day), 12th day of October (known as Columbus day), the Tuesday next following the first Monday in November (known as election day), the 11th day of November (Armistice Day), the 25th day of December, or whenever any of said days shall fall on Sunday, the Monday next following such day, and any day appointed by the governor of this State or the President of the United States and every Saturday after twelve o'clock noon shall be a legal holiday.

Husband and Wife. All real and personal estate to which any married woman is entitled at the time of the marriage, or which she may thereafter acquire or become entitled to during coverture, shall be and continue her separate estate. Such separate estate shall not be subject to the use, control, or disposal of her husband, or to his debts or liabilities incurred before or after marriage, or to his business (but not as a partner with her husband) for her separate use and benefit. She may make contracts as if sole in respect to such trade, and the profits therefrom shall be her separate estate. She may sue and be sued as an unmarried woman in the conduct of such business, and any liability incurred by her as such sole trader shall not render her husband of his estate liable for such debts.

Insolvency. (There is no special statute on the subject.)

Interest. Six per cent per annum; all contracts for a greater rate of interest shall be deemed to be for an illegal consideration as to the excess beyond the principal sum so loaned. If an excess beyond the lawful interest be paid in any case, the person paying the same may, in a suit brought within one year thereafter, recover it from the person with whom the contract was made; but where a bank or private individual has loaned money at a greater rate than 6 per centum and permits the maker of the note, bond, or other evidence of debt to renew the same at the rate of 6 per centum, the maker and endorsers shall be barred from the plea of usury, after twelve months from date of renewal. A bank, licensed banker or broker, or corporation authorized to make loans, may take interest at rate of one-half of 1 per cent for thirty days, and may receive such interest in advance. Corporations cannot plead usury.

Judgments are liens on real estate possessed by debtor at or after the date of judgment, but no judgment shall be a lien on real estate as against a purchaser thereof for valuable consideration without notice until and except from the time that it is duly docketed in the clerk's office of the county or corporation wherein such real estate may be.

Jurisdiction. (See Actions and Courts.)

Liens. (See Judgments, Mechanics' Liens, and Supply Liens.)

Limitations of Suits. Upon an indemnifying bond, or bond of executor, administrator, guardian, curator, committee, sheriff or sergeant, deputy-sheriff or sergeant, clerk or deputy-clerk, or any other fiduciary or public officer or contract under seal, suit must be brought within ten years; on an award, contract, in writing (notes, etc.) signed by the party to be charged thereby, but not under seal within five years; accounts between merchant and merchant or for settlement of partnership, five years; on any other contract and on open accounts within three years. All real actions must be brought within fifteen years east of the Alleghany Mountains, and within ten years west of same. No new promise will take an obligation out of these periods unless in writing.

Married Women. (See Husband and Wife.)

Mechanics' Liens. Any person performing labor or furnishing materials for the construction, repair, or improvement of any property, building, or railroad, is entitled, under the law of Virginia, to a lien on the whole of the same, or sufficient thereof to cover the value of labor performed or materials furnished. An account showing the amount and character of the work done, or materials furnished, the prices charged therefor, the payments if any, and the balance due, verified by affidavit, and describing the property on which the lien is claimed, is required to be recorded in county or corporation wherein the land lies, within sixty days from the time such building, structure, or railroad is completed or the work thereon otherwise terminated, and from the time such labor is last performed or materials furnished. Liens remain in force for only six months from the time the money to be paid is due, unless suit is equity to enforce the lien instituted within the six months. The lien also inures to the benefit of persons to whom the general contractor is indebted for labor or materials, to the amount due to the general contractor by the owner of the property at the time the latter is notified in writing of the sub-contractor's claim. Crop liens must be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county.

Mines and Mining. Employees of a mining company are given a prior lien by statute for wages due.

Mortgages in general have been superseded by deeds of trust. Mortgages on real estate must be recorded in office of clerk of county or corporation. Chattel mortgages can be made, but are void as to creditors and purchasers for value, without notice unless recorded. (See also Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trust.)

Notaries. (See Acknowledgments.)

Negotiable Instruments. The Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act adopted (See Complete text following the "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws").

Probate. (See Wills.)

Recordation. Contracts in writing, deeds, or mortgages conveying real estate, or goods and chattels, which are admitted to record within ten days from the day of its being acknowledged before a person authorized to certify the same for record, shall, unless it be a mortgage or deed of trust, not in consideration of mortgage, be as valid as to creditors and subsequent purchasers as if such admission to record had been on the day of such acknowledgment and certificate.

Suits. (See Actions.)

Supply Liens. All persons furnishing supplies necessary to the operation of any railway, canal, or other transportation company have a prior lien upon the property of such company. The lien must be filed in the clerk's office of the county or corporation court, where the chief office of the company is located within ninety days after the last item of the bill becomes due and payable.

Taxes. Individuals and corporations are subject to the same taxation laws, but the legislature, by special enactment, may exempt a corporation from taxation. Corporations pay taxes at the same rate as is required of individuals, but the manner of assessment is not uniform. In some classes of corporations the taxes are assessed on the actual capital invested; in others, on the amount of capital stock. Most of the mercantile corporations are assessed on the capital invested. For some classes of corporations there are special provisions relating to taxes. (It is impossible to treat of this subject in a short space.)

Testimony. (See Depositions and Evidence.)

Wills. Every person may make a will, except, 1. A person of unsound mind. 2. A person under twenty-one years of age; but a minor may, by will, dispose of personal estate if eighteen years of age. No will shall be valid unless it be in writing and signed by the testator, or by some other person in his presence and by his direction, in such manner as to make it manifest that the name is intended as a signature; and, moreover, unless it be wholly written by the testator, the signature shall be made or the will acknowledged by him in the presence of at least two competent witnesses, present at the same time; and such witnesses shall subscribe the will in the presence of the testator, and in the presence of each other but no form of attestation shall be necessary. The will of a man or woman is revoked by his or her subsequent marriage, except a will made in exercise of a power of appointment, etc. Will may be revoked by subsequent will or codicil, or by testator's canceling, destroying, etc., the same, with intent to revoke. A will is construed, as if made just before testator's death, unless contrary intention appear by the will. The circuit, and corporation courts shall have jurisdiction as to the probate of wills (and to hear and determine suits and controversies testamentary) according to the following rules, that is to say: In the county or corporation wherein the decedent has a mansion, house, or known place of residence; if he has no such house or place of residence, then in the county or corporation wherein any real estate lies that is devised or owned by the decedent; and if there is no such real estate, then in the county or corporation wherein he dies, or a county or corporation wherein he has estate, except that in the city of Richmond, the chancery court shall have such jurisdiction. It shall be the duty of the personal representative of the testator to cause a duly certified copy of any will, or of any authenticated copy so admitted to record to be recorded, in the clerk's office of the county or corporation court of each county or corporation, wherein there is any real estate whereof the testator died seized and possessed.

THE LAWS OF WASHINGTON

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by J. Will JONES, Attorney
1009 Lowman Bldg., Seattle, Wash.

Acknowledgments. Deeds, and other instruments may be acknowledged in this State before a judge of the supreme court, or the clerk, or deputy, before a judge of the superior court, or court Commissioner thereof, or the clerk, or deputy, or a county auditor, or deputy, or a qualified notary public, or any qualified United States Commissioner appointed by any District court of the United States for the State of Washington. Non-par value stock where authorized may be issued from time to time for such consideration in labor, services, money or property as the directors provide, pursuant to articles, or if such articles shall not so provide, then by consent of 2/3 of every class of stock outstanding. Within 30 days, and within 90 days after a subsequent allotment of shares, a report shall be filed with the County Auditor of total number and kind of shares allotted, consideration received, the valuation put upon consideration, other than money, received in payment, and in cases of stock allotted as a stock dividend, whether all or any of such surplus was created by a revaluation of assets, and if so, the value of the assets on the books of the corporation before and after such valuation, etc. When the articles shall have been filed the corporation shall have the usual powers.

The "capital stock" of a corporation at any time is the aggregate of the par value of all allotted par value shares including shares allotted as stock dividends, together with its cash and property and services to be given or rendered for allotted stock having no par value plus such amounts as may have been transferred from surplus upon the allotment of stock dividends in shares having no par value. A certificate of stock shall not be issued until the shares represented have been fully paid for. For the purpose of determining whether shares have been fully paid for, the following valuations shall be conclusive: (a) the valuation placed by the incorporators, the shareholders or directors, as the case may be, upon the consideration other than cash with which the subscriptions for shares are made payable; (b) the valuation placed by the board of directors upon the corporate assets in estimating the surplus to be transferred to capital as payment for shares to be allotted as stock dividends. The incorporation and annual license fees are graduated, depending on amount of capitalization. Secretary of State shall strike from the rolls in his office the names of corporations not paying annual license for two years. But they may be reinstated upon application by paying all license fees and penalties due and the further sum of $10 each year its name has been stricken from the rolls. Forbidden to blacklist employees. Penalties, $100 to $1,000, or imprisonment from ninety days to one year, or both fine and imprisonment. Every corporation shall maintain an office in this state to be known as its registered office to be designated in Articles. Violation of this makes it liable to fine of $25 per day.

In 1933 and in extra session 1934, a new corporation act was adopted. The foregoing embodies about all that can be covered in a short statement. Where special provision is made by law for the preparation and filing of articles of incorporation of designated classes of corporations, as banks, etc., such corporations shall be formed under such special provisions, and not hereunder.

The superior courts are always open, except on non-judicial days; they have appellate jurisdiction in cases arising in justice courts. Justice courts jurisdiction less than $100 (except where the action includes the title to real property, landlord and tenant actions, the enforcement of a lien on real estate), or a suit against an executor, or administrator as such; a transcript of judgment, filed in the office of the county clerk becomes a lien upon real estate of the judgment debtor. Garnishment in justice courts.

Either party may commence taking testimony by depositions at any time after the court has acquired jurisdiction. (Laws '27.) They may be taken in the State before any judge of the superior court, justice of the peace, clerk of the supreme or superior court, mayor of a city, or notary, by serving on the adverse party or his attorney previous notice of the time and place of examination, which notice shall be served in sufficient time to allow time by usual route of travel to attend, and three days for preparation, exclusive of the day of service; they may be taken out of the State by any person authorized by a special commission from any court of this State, which shall be issued by the clerk under the seal of the court. If there be no child of decedent living at his death, the remainder goes to all of his lineal descendants; and if all the descendants are in the same degree of kindred to the decedent, they share equally, otherwise according to the right of representation.

If decedent leaves no surviving spouse the estate goes in equal shares to his children.

If the decedent leaves no issue, the estate goes in equal shares to spouse and to decedent's father and mother or the survivor if one dead. If no father nor mother, then one-half in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of decedent and to the children of any deceased brother or sister. If no issue nor spouse, the estate to father and mother.

If no issue nor spouse nor father and mother nor either, then in equal shares to brothers and sisters and to children of any deceased brother or sister by representation.

If decedent leaves a husband or wife and no issue and no father nor mother nor brother nor sister nor nephew nor niece, the whole estate to surviving spouse.

If decedent leaves no issue nor husband nor wife and no father nor mother, nor brother nor sister, the estate goes to the next of kin in equal degree, excepting when there are two or more collateral kindred in equal degree, but claiming through different ancestors, those who claim through the nearest ancestors, must be preferred; however, if decedent leaves several children or one child and the issue of one or more other children, and any such surviving child dies under age, and not having been married, all the estate that comes to the deceased child by inheritance from such decedent descends in equal shares to the other children of the same parent, and to the issue of any such other children who are dead, by right of representation.

If at the death of such child, who dies under age, not having been married, all the other children of his parents are also dead, and any of them have left issue, the estate that came to such child by inheritance from his parent descends to the issue of all other children of the same parent and if all the issue are in the same degree of kindred to the child, they share the estate equally; otherwise they take according to the right of representation. The words "issue", "child" and "children" wherever used includes adopted children.

If the property sold be farm land, in the possession of purchaser, and is redeemed after the first day of April and before the first day of December, the purchaser shall be entitled to possession until the first day of December following, or shall be reimbursed for his labor in preparing such property for crops, or planted crops, subject, however, to rental charges. Any subsequent judgment creditor or encumbrancer may likewise redeem. The purchaser is entitled to immediate possession, rents and profits from date of sale, except in the case of homestead or family residence; or in the case of agricultural land, the owner may retain possession, and the purchaser may have a lien on the crops raised or harvested, for interest on the purchase price at 6 per cent per annum, and for taxes. (See Execution.)

County taxes shall be levied by the county commissioners between the first and second Mondays of October, each year. The county treasurer shall receive and collect all taxes whether levied for state, county, bridge, road, municipal or other purposes. Taxes are due and payable on and after the first Monday in February, and become delinquent on May 31, from which date interest at 10 per cent per annum is charged until paid; provided that if one-half of taxes be paid on or before May 31 then the time of payment of the remainder thereof shall be extended to November 30; but if said remainder be not paid on or before November 30, then such remainder shall be delinquent and shall draw interest as above from June 1, preceding. After the expiration of 5 years from the date of delinquency for which no certificate of delinquency has been issued, the county can foreclose all in one suit. King County never issues a C. D. to an individual, but it can do so. If the taxes due in any year be paid on or before March 15th of said year, a rebate of 3 per cent shall be allowed.

Any person who has a lien by mortgage or otherwise upon any real property upon which taxes have not been paid, may pay the same and the receipt shall constitute an additional lien on such land and draw interest in same amount as mortgage does, and shall be collectable therewith and in the same manner. SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF WEST VIRGINIA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Prepared and Revised by MESSRS. FITZPATRICK, BROWN & DAVIS
Attorneys at Law, First Huntington National Bank Bldg.,
Huntington. (See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgments. The clerk of the county court of any county in which any deed, contract, power of attorney, or other writing is to be, or may be recorded, shall admit the same to record in his office as to any person whose name is signed thereto, when it shall have been acknowledged by him or proved by two witnesses as to him before such clerk of the county court. But notwithstanding such acknowledgment or proof, such clerk shall not admit to record any instrument that secures the payment of any debt unless such instrument sets forth therein who at the time of execution and delivery thereof is the beneficial owner of debt secured thereby and where he resides. Provided in case of mortgage or deed of trust securing issue of bonds or negotiable notes exceeding five in number and payable to bearer it is not necessary to show the beneficial owner, but in such case such mortgage or deed of trust shall show the name and address of the person or corporation with or by whom the notes or bonds have been, or are to be, first negotiated. A clerk of the county court shall also admit any writing to record as to any person whose name is signed thereto, upon the request of any person interested therein, upon a certificate of his acknowledgment before a President of a county court, a justice of the peace, notary public, recorder, prothonotary or clerk of any court within the United States, or any of its territories, possessions or dependencies, or a commissioner appointed within the same by a governor of this State, written or annexed to the same; or upon a certificate so written or annexed under the official seal of any ambassador, minister plenipotentiary, minister resident, charge d'affaires, counsel general, counsel, deputy consul, vice consul, consular agent, vice consular agent, commercial agent or vice consular agent, appointed by the government of the United States to any foreign country, or the proper officer of any court of record of such country, or the mayor or other chief magistrate of any city, town or corporation, written or annexed to the same.

Administration of Estates. A non-resident may not act as executor, administrator or guardian, except that if the testator is a non-resident, he may appoint a non-resident executor; and if an infant be a non-resident, the person appointed guardian at the infant's domicile may serve in West Virginia. Administrators may be appointed by the County Court, or the clerk thereof during the recess of the regular sessions of said court. Administration is granted to the distributees who apply therefor, preferring first the husband or wife, and then such of the others entitled to distribution as the court shall see fit. If any distributees fail to apply for administration for a period of thirty days after death of decedent, the court may grant administration to one or more of his creditors or to any other person. Bond is required in a penalty equal to full value of personal estate. If two months elapse without a personal representative being appointed, the court or clerk on motion may appoint the sheriff who acts without giving additional bond.

Upon appointment of personal representative, three to five appraisers must be appointed an appraisal of estate to be made in duplicate, and after approval of appraisal by commissioner of accounts one copy to be recorded with county clerk and the other with state tax commissioner; and every note, bond or evidence of indebtedness must have word "appraised" endorsed thereon with signature of appraisers, and no judgment shall be rendered on same unless first shown to have been listed by appraisers.

After the qualification of the personal representative, the estate is referred to a commissioner of accounts of the county who, within one month after such reference, publishes notice to creditors to present claims against the estate on or before a specified date. Failure to prove claims within time set postpones such creditors to all creditors who have so proved. In first instance claims proved by vouchers and affidavit of creditor showing nature of debt, the amount, from what date and upon what items interest runs and further stating that the claim is just and true, and that neither the creditor nor a prior owner of the claim has received any part of the money stated to be due or any security or satisfaction for the same except such as is shown. Counter-affidavit may be filed by any interested party and claim is tried before the commissioner. The commissioner makes a report of the assets in the hands of the personal representative, the indebtedness of the estate and the manner in which the assets shall be applied to the payment of debts, legacies, etc. Such report is returned to the county court for confirmation and the hearing of exceptions and from its decision there is an appeal to the circuit court.

Affidavits may be made before any officer of another state or country authorized by its laws to administer an oath, and shall be deemed duly authenticated if subscribed by such officer, with his official seal annexed, and if he have none, the genuineness of his signature, and his authority to administer an oath, must be authenticated by some officer of the same state or country under his official seal. They may also be made before a commissioner appointed by the governor of this State.

Aliens. No disabilities attach to aliens, in reference to purchase enjoyment, conveyance, devise, or descent of property.

Arbitration. Parties to any controversy, whether there be a suit pending therefor or not, may submit the same to arbitration and agree that said submission may be entered of record in any court. Fiduciaries may arbitrate with leave of court.

Assignments and Insolvency. Every assignment by an insolvent for the benefit of all the creditors must be in writing, state residence, business of debtor, place where conducted and the name, residence, address, and place of business of trustee, and there shall be annexed thereto a statement of assets of debtor, location thereof and names and addresses of creditors. Such assignment must be acknowledged and recorded in the office of the county clerk where place of business located and, if real property, certified copy must be recorded in county where located, and assent of trustee, subscribed and acknowledged, shall appear on assignment before recordation. Assignment not valid unless executed as above and recorded within five days of date of execution.

Trustee must take oath and give bond, in penalty double amount of estate, before clerk of court in which such assignment recorded, before entering upon duties. After qualification of trustee, estate referred to commissioner of accounts, who appoints three appraisers to make sworn appraisal of estate within seven days of appointment. Within ten days, if not extended by commissioner, from date of recordation of assignment, trustee must file a schedule in accordance with specified requirements with clerk of county court and commissioner, and within ten days from filing of schedule trustee must publish notice once a week for two successive weeks for creditors to present claims on or before specified date, which must be not less than thirty nor more than sixty days from date of publication of first notice. Failure to present claims within time set bars creditors unless surplus after payment of all other claims. Claims proved by vouchers and affidavit of creditor showing nature of debt, amount, from what date and upon what items interest runs, and further stating claim is just and true and that neither creditor nor prior owner of claim has received any part of money stated to be due or any security or satisfaction for the same except as is shown. Claim taken as proven unless counter-affidavit filed by any interested party, and if counter-affidavit filed hearing before commissioner within seven days from last day upon which claims may be presented.

Creditors holding liens of specified character set forth in statute need not file proof of secured claim, and if they do not, property sold subject to same; but if said creditors file proofs of secured claims and deliver consent in writing, duly acknowledged, with trustee, that property be sold free of liens, trustee may, in discretion, record such consent in office of county clerk where property located and sell property free of lien, but lien to attach to proceeds of sale and to be paid to creditors to amount of secured claim without any deduction for cost of administration. Creditors holding landlord liens, and other liens not specified in statute, must file proof of claim in manner and time for unsecured claims, and if properly filed, lien shall attach to proceeds of sale of property. Trustee may sell property subject to or free of taxes, and pay same, but no proof of delinquent taxes need be filed with trustee.

Act further provides for the time and manner of meeting of creditors; the methods, conditions, terms and time of sale of property by trustee; the reports of trustee; the rights of creditors; the powers, duties and qualifications of trustee; the powers and duties of the commissioner; the duties of the assignor; the expenses and fees of the trustee, commissioner, appraisers and attorneys for the trustee.

An appeal may be taken from report of commissioner by any interested party within ten days from filing of same to circuit court of county without any formal bill of exceptions, and appeal shall be tried and heard in circuit court, or before judge in vacation, upon the record made before the commissioner.

Attachments. In any action at law or suit in equity the writ may issue when the defendant is a foreign corporation, or a non-resident, has left or is about to leave this State to defraud his creditors, conceals himself so that summons cannot be served upon him, is removing or is about to remove his property from this State, is converting or is about to convert his property into money or securities with intent to defraud his creditors, or has assigned or disposed of his property with like intent, or conceals his property or rights of action or fraudulently contracted the debt for which the suit or action is brought. Plaintiff or agent must make affidavit that one or more of these facts exist and unless attachment is issued on first grounds, affiant must also state in affidavit the material facts relied upon.

Act further provides for certain exceptions and exclusions from above limitations relating to discount of commercial paper, obligations in form of notes secured by warehouse receipts, etc., and obligations of United States, State political subdivisions and certain agencies of the same, and 1937 Act should be referred to for the same and other provisions relating to this question.

(a) To his children and their descendants.

(b) If there be no child, nor descendant of any child, then one moiety each to his father and mother.

(c) If there be no child, nor descendant of any child, nor mother, then one moiety to the father; or if there be no child, nor descendant of any child, nor father, then one moiety to the mother; and in either case the other moiety, or if there be no child, nor descendant of any child, nor father, nor mother, the whole, shall go to the wife or husband of the intestate and to the intestate's brothers and sisters and the descendants of brothers and sisters:

(k) And so on, in like manner, in other cases without end, passing to the nearest lineal ancestors, male and female, and if any of them be dead his or her share, or if all of them be dead, the whole, to the brothers and sisters of the lineal ancestors, male and female, of the degree next nearer the intestate, and the descendants of such brothers and sisters; and if there be no brother nor sister of any lineal ancestor, male or female, of the degree next nearer the intestate, nor descendant of any such brother or sister, then to such of the lineal ancestors in this subdivision (k) first mentioned as may then be living, in equal shares, or to the survivor of them.

(l) If there be no paternal kindred the whole shall go to the maternal kindred, and if there be no maternal kindred the whole shall go to the paternal kindred. (a) Collaterals of the half blood shall inherit only half so much as those of the blood. But if all the collaterals be of the half-blood, the ascending kindred, if any, shall have double portions. (b) When the children of the intestate or the wife or husband of the intestate with his brothers and sisters, or the uncles and aunts of the intestate, or the brothers and sisters of any of the intestate's lineal ancestors of the same degree, come into the partition, they shall take per capita, or by persons; and where a part of them being dead and a part living, descendants of dead right to partition and they take per stirpes, that is shares of deceased ancestors; but whenever person entitled to partition, other than wife

(f) Any person in ventre sa mere who may be born after the death of the intestate shall be capable of taking by inheritance in the same manner as if he were in being at the time of such death.

If the intestate was a married woman, and leave issue surviving, her husband shall be entitled to one-third of the said surplus, and if she leave no issue he shall be entitled to the whole thereof. 2. If the intestate leave a widow and issue by the same or a former marriage, the widow shall be entitled to one-third of the said surplus, and if he leaves no issue she shall be entitled to the whole thereof. The plaintiff or judgment creditor has a lien upon such indebtedness or property from the time of the service upon the garnishee.

There are special provisions enacted in 1939 relating to suggestion of salary and wages of public and private employees. Suggestion may be issued for any salary or wages to become due within one year to private or public employees provided, the amount to become due exceeds ten dollars a week; and suggestion constitutes a lien on an amount equal to twenty per centum thereof, but in no event shall payment in satisfaction of same reduce amount payable to judgment debtor to less than ten dollars per week. Suggestion may be renewed and retains same priority as original if served within thirty days before expiration of life of original. (See Acts of Legislature, 1933).

Judgments. All judgments for money are liens upon the real estate of the debtor at, and after, their date, or if rendered by the circuit court, from the first day of the term at which rendered if cause in such shape that judgment could have been rendered then. To preserve the lien as against a purchaser, for value, without notice, an abstract of the judgment must be docketed in the office of the clerk of the county wherein the land lies before a deed to such purchaser is recorded. Judgment liens are enforced in chancery after two years from the date of the judgment or after the return of an execution. No property found. A judgment which is a lien on real estate shall continue to be a lien, in case execution issued on such judgment, only if a copy of the execution be filed in the office of the county clerk within ten years of the date of such judgment, or if the purchaser has knowledge of such an execution.

Limitations. Saving certain exceptions in favor of persons under disability no person shall make an entry on or bring an action to recover any land, but within ten years next after the time at which the right to make such entry or to bring such action shall have first accrued to himself, or to some person through whom he claims. No lien, reserved on the face of any conveyance of real estate, or lien created by any deed of trust or mortgage on real estate, shall be valid or binding as a lien on such real estate after expiration of twenty years from date on which the debt or obligation secured thereby becomes due. Personal actions for the recovery of money founded upon an award, or any contract other than a judgment or recognizance, shall be brought within ten years after the right to bring the same shall have first accrued if upon a bond or other contract in writing; if upon any other contract, within five years, unless it be an action for a settlement between partner and partner, or upon accounts between merchant and merchant, in which case it must be brought within five years from the cessation of dealing. Suit upon a recognizance, not a recognizance of bail, or upon a judgment shall be brought within ten years after the right to bring the same shall have first accrued; and upon a recognizance of bail, within three years. Every action upon a judgment rendered in another state or country shall be barred, if by the laws of such other state or country such action or suit would be there barred, and no such action shall be brought against any person who has resided in this state more than ten years upon a judgment or decree rendered more than ten years before the commencement of such action. A claim may be removed from the operation of the statute by a promise in writing to pay the same. If right accrues against person who resided in the state, if such person departs, conceals himself or obstructs by any indirect means the prosecution of the same, such time shall not be computed in determining the time within which said right should have been prosecuted.

Married Women. A married woman may take by inheritance, grant, gift, bequest, or devise from any person and hold as her sole and separate property, free from the control and disposal of her husband and from liability for his debts, real and personal property as if a femme sole, and may convey and devise the same, without her husband joining in the deed; but any such disposition of real estate shall not affect the husband's right of dower therein.

Mortgages and Deeds of Trust. Mortgages are executed and acknowledged in the same manner as deeds, but are seldom used because foreclosure can only be had by a suit in equity and a decree of sale therein. Deeds of trust under which the property is conveyed to a trustee as security for the indebtedness, empowering the trustee to sell upon being required so to do by the holder of the indebtedness after default in payment, are in general use. Unless the deed of trust otherwise provides, sale is made at public auction, upon notice by advertisement once a week for four successive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation in the county wherein the property is situate, and posting notice at the front door of the court house of the county in which the property is situate, if in the opinion of the trustee the property be over three hundred dollars in value; if in the opinion of the trustee the property be less than three hundred dollars in value, by posting such notice at the front door of the court house and in three other public places in the county (one of which, in the case of real estate shall be as near the premises as practicable) at least twenty days prior to sale. In all cases notice must be served on the grantor, his agent or personal representative, if in the county, at least twenty days prior to sale unless specifically waived by the grantors.

Sec. 134: After the word "person" omit words "to whom it is shown and."

Sec. 137: The following provision is substituted: "Where a drawee to whom a bill is delivered for acceptance destroys the same, or refuses after the expiration of twenty-four years after such delivery or such longer period as the holder shall allow, to return the bill, accepted or non-accepted, to the holder, he will be deemed to have converted the same and shall be liable in damages for the amount of the bill."

Probate Law. The county court, or the clerk thereof during recess of the court in the absence of a contest, has jurisdiction to hear proof and admit wills to probate, appoint and qualify personal representatives, guardians, etc. An appeal from the county court lies to the circuit court. See "Administration of Estates," supra.

Every year sales are held by the sheriff of each county of the lands delinquent for taxes of the preceding year. One year after sale is allowed for redemption. All lands, upon which no individual will bid the amount of the taxes, etc., charged thereon at such sale, are knocked off to the State, and, after the time of redemption has expired, are sold in proceedings by the State commissioner of forfeited lands and the proceeds pass to the free school fund of the State.

If a will be attested by a person to whom, or to whose wife or husband, any beneficial interest in any estate is thereby devised or bequeathed, if the will may not be otherwise proved, such person shall be deemed a competent witness; but such devise or bequest shall be void, except, that if such witness would be entitled to any share of the estate of the testator, in case the will were not established, so much of his share shall be saved to him as shall not exceed the value of what is so devised or bequeathed. If a will charging any estate with debts, be attested by a creditor, or the wife or husband of a creditor, whose debt is so charged, such creditor shall, notwithstanding, be admitted a witness for or against the will. Where a will relative to estate within this State has been proved without the same, an authenticated copy and the certificate of probate thereof may be offered for probate in this State. When such copy is so offered, the court to which, or the clerk to whom, it is offered, shall presume, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that the will was duly executed and admitted to probate as a will of personality in the State or country of the testator's domicile, and shall admit such copy to probate as a will of personality in this State; and if it appear from such copy that the will was proved in the foreign court of probate to have been so executed as to be a valid will of land in this State by the law thereof, such copy may be admitted to probate as a will of real estate.

Affidavits. (See Acknowledgments.) May be taken before any judge, court commissioner, resident of U. S. commissioner, clerk of a court of record, notary public, town clerk, justice of the peace, police justice or county clerk. They may be taken in any other state or territory, before any judge, court commissioner, master in chancery, notary public, justice of the peace, or other officer authorized to administer oaths; but must have attached the certificate of a clerk or other proper certifying officer of a court of record of the county or district in which it was taken, under the seal of his office, that the person whose name was subscribed to the jurat was, at the date thereof, such officer as he therein represented to be, and that he believes the signature of such officer to be genuine.

Aliens may acquire, transfer, and inherit property like citizens, except that non-resident aliens cannot acquire more than 320 acres of land by purchase. Alien women are not barred of dower. (See Descent, Dower.)

Arbitration. Agreements in writing to submit any controversy to arbitration is valid, irrevocable and enforceable except upon such grounds as exist in law or in equity for revocation of any contract but does not apply to contracts between employers and employees.

Arrests are permitted in certain actions based on tort or fraud and in actions for fine or penalty, and for recovery of personal property unjustly detained or concealed; undertaking must be given for costs and damages from arrests. No female can be arrested on any action except for willful injury to person, character or property.

Attachments. (See Garnishment.) May be had, on contracts, when indebtedness exceeds $50, for absconding from state or concealment in it, to avoid process, for fraudulent disposition or removal, actual or intended, of property; for fraudulent contraction of liability; for official defaults; or against a non-resident, or a foreign corporation. On torts, it may be had in the two latter cases. It may be had in justice court, when indebtedness exceeds $5.00, on the same grounds, and also for residence of defendant over 100 miles away and in another county of this State. The writ issues only upon affidavit of the ground for it and of the debt or tort, and (except in justice court) a bond for not less than $250 must go with it. Attachment may be had on a debt not due, if bond is given for thrice the debt; but on failure to sustain the writ, the action too fails. (See Assignment for Benefit of Creditors.)

Bank Collection Code. Effective August 3, 1929. Given directly following the Laws.

Banks. State banks may be formed by any number of adult persons who are residents of the State of Wisconsin, not less than seven (7) nor more than twenty (20) in number.

The aggregate amount of the capital stock of any bank hereafter organized shall not be less than thirty thousand dollars in towns, villages or cities having five thousand inhabitants or less; and shall not be less than seventy-five thousand dollars in any city or village having more than five thousand and less than twenty-thousand inhabitants; and shall not be less than one hundred thousand dollars in any city or village having twenty thousand or more and less than two hundred thousand inhabitants; and shall not be less than two hundred thousand dollars in any city having a population of two hundred thousand inhabitants or more according to the last official census.

The stockholders of every bank shall be individually liable, equally and ratably, not one for another, for the benefit of creditors of said bank to the amount of their stock at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in said stock. Such liability shall continue for * * * one year after written notice to the commission of banking of any transfer of stock, as to the affairs of the bank at the time and prior to the date of the transfer. But persons holding stock as executors, administrators, guardians or trustees, and persons holding stock as collateral security, shall not be personally liable as stockholders, but the assets or funds in their hands constituting the trust shall be liable to the same extent as the testator, intestate, ward or person interested in such trust fund would be, if living, or competent to act, and the person pledging such stock shall be deemed the stockholder and liable under this section. Such liability shall accrue and become due and payable as to the stockholders of any bank forthwith, upon the banking commission taking possession of the property and business of such bank under the provisions of the statutes, and may be enforced by the Commission in an action brought in its name, in any court of record having civil jurisdiction of the county in which such bank is located, and such action shall have precedence over all other actions pending in such court. In the event of the liquidation of such bank, the stockholders who shall have discharged such additional liability shall, after the payment of expenses and the claims of creditors, be entitled to reimbursement on account thereof out of any remaining property of such bank before the same is distributed among its stockholders.

State banks are regulated by a banking department managed and controlled by a banking commission of three members and a banking review board consisting of five. The principal duties of the commission are to examine the affairs of each state bank at least once each year, and at such other times as it deems necessary, to examine any bank when requested to do so by its board of directors, to remove, after hearing had, incompetent officers or directors, to conduct the liquidation of delinquent banks and enforce the double liability of shareholders in connection therewith, and to make and enforce certain rules relative to bank management. Every bank shall make at least three reports on prescribed forms to the commission each year showing the condition of the business on the call date. Such reports shall be published in a newspaper in the county. An examining committee composed of directors or stockholders shall also examine the condition of the bank and report to the commission at least once every six months. The double liability of stockholders persists for one year after written notice to the commission of a stock transfer as to the affairs of the bank at the time and prior to the transfer. Persons holding stock as executors, administrators, guardians or trustees, or as collateral, are not personally liable, but only to the extent of the assets in their hands. The pledgor of stock is deemed the stockholder and is liable. By written declaration filed with the commission each stockholder may become individually liable for all debts of the bank, and in an action brought by a creditor he may be joined with the bank or sued individually. The liability of a stockholder under such declaration terminates six months after transfer of the stock and notice thereof to the commission.

The duties of the banking review board are to advise and review the acts and decisions of the commission. It has power to subpoena witnesses. Final orders or determinations of the review board are reviewable by action in the Circuit Court of Dane County.

The organization of branch banks is prohibited, but banks may, on approval of the commission, establish receiving and disbursing stations. Whenever the commissioner of banking shall become satisfied that the capital of any bank is impaired or reduced below amount required by law he may require such bank to make good such deficiency within 60 days. In such event directors have right to make pro rata assessment.

Savings banks may be organized by nine to fifty persons, citizens of the U. S., of whom not less than three-fourths are residents of the county. Before such bank is authorized to do business the incorporators must pay in cash to the banking commission not less than $5,000.00, and must, if ordered by the commission, enter into an agreement, secured by a corporate surety bond, with the commission to make such further contributions to the guaranty fund as may be necessary to make the bank a safe depository. The incorporators must also create an expense fund of at least $5,000.00 to maintain the bank until earnings are sufficient. Such funds are returnable on certain conditions. No trustee or director of a mutual savings bank may borrow from it. Individual deposits are limited to $5,000.00, and may be further limited by the bank. Investment of deposits by such banks is regulated by law.

Trust company banks may be formed as are general state banks. The capital stock of such banks shall be fixed by the articles of association at not less than $50,000.00 in cities of less than 100,000, not less than $100,000.00 in other cities, and not to exceed $5,000,000.00 in any case. Before commencing business such corporation must deposit with the state treasurer an indemnity fund of cash or approved securities of 50% of its capital, but not exceeding $100,000.00. A trust company may act as executor, administrator, trustee, receiver, assignee or guardian. A cash reserve of 12% of deposits must be maintained. Foreign trust companies named as executors or testamentary trustee by a resident of this state may act as such if (1) Wisconsin trust companies are permitted to do likewise in the state of domicile of the foreign company; (2) the commissioner of banking is appointed attorney for service of process; (3) a copy of articles are filed with the secretary of state; and (4) the indemnity fund is created. No foreign trust company may maintain a branch office or solicit business in Wisconsin.

It is made a misdemeanor by statute to issue a check, draft or order with intent to defraud when the maker has no funds on deposit with the drawee.

Bills of Sale. (See Assignments.)

Chattel Mortgages or Assignments thereof must be filed in the office of the register of deed of the county in which the mortgaged property is situated or actual possession must be taken and kept by mortgagee, and when filed they must be renewed by filing affidavit of amount unpaid in the office of said register of deeds within thirty (30) days before the expiration of every three years from date. The first filing is good for three years, can be renewed every year thereafter by filing the amount unpaid with register of Deeds within 30 days of expiration of initial three year period. Same procedure must be carried out at the expiration of renewal period of one year. An indefinite number of renewals can be had until full amount is paid. Each renewal period is only for one year. When such mortgage shall be of a stock of goods, wares and merchandise, or of fixtures pertaining to same, with right of sale of mortgaged property, the proceeds of which to be applied upon the face of the mortgage, the mortgagor every four months must file a verified statement in the office of said register of deeds of amount sold, payments made and new stock added; if this statement is not so filed, the mortgage becomes due between the parties and invalid as to third parties fifteen days thereafter; such mortgage shall cover and be a valid lien upon the property added to such stock for the amount of indebtedness remaining unpaid, but only if the mortgage recites it is intended to apply to and cover such additions; such statement must be verified by the affidavit of the mortgagor, his agent, or attorney.

No chattel mortgage on exempt personal property, except a purchase money chattel mortgage, shall be valid unless the same be signed by the wife of the person making such chattel mortgage, if he be a married man and his wife at the time be a member of his family, and unless such signature of said wife be witnessed by two witnesses.

No foreclosure sale or sales shall be made unless at least ten days before such sale a written notice of such proposed sale shall be served upon the owner of such property, if he resides within the county; nor shall any property during such time be removed from the county where it was situated when taken; and during such period such property shall be subject to redemption by payment of the mortgage debt, and the actual and necessary costs and expenses incurred at the time of making redemption. No costs or expenses for taking and keeping the property seized shall be taxed or allowed unless the mortgagor shall have given at least ten days written notice to the mortgagor, his assigns or the person in whose possession the said mortgaged property shall be, of his intention to levy upon and take such property by virtue of such mortgage.

Any person aggrieved by a violation of this provision in question, as to notice, may recover of the person who violated the same, twenty-five dollars in addition to his actual damages. If the property is sold at private or public sale without proper notice or is sold within the period limited, the mortgage debt shall be deemed paid and the mortgage securing the same be deemed cancelled.

No foreclosure sale shall be valid as against the mortgagee of any duly filed subsequent mortgage, who has served written notice on the first mortgagee of the existence of such second mortgage prior to the date of sale under the first mortgage, unless ten days notice previous to such sale shall be given to said mortgagee or mortgagees.

These provisions as to notice may not be waived by the mortgagor. Whenever any property covered by chattel mortgage shall be taken and sold, the owner of such mortgage, or his agent who conducted the sale, shall, within ten days after the sale file in the office of the Register of Deeds, an affidavit setting forth the date of such sale, the description of the property sold, the sum then claimed to be due, the amount realized on such sale, and a statement of expenses. Any person failing to file this affidavit shall be liable to the person personally liable for the indebtedness, and he shall be entitled to recover the sum of twenty-five dollars in addition to his actual damages.

Collections. Uniform Bank Collection Code as recommended by American Bankers Association, see complete text back of Laws.

Corporations may be formed by at least three adult residents of state under written articles, stating business and purposes of corporation, name, location, capital stock, number of shares and par value. Articles must be recorded with secretary of state and in county where corporation is located. Until at least one-half of the capital stock is duly subscribed and at least 20 per cent thereof actually paid in, corporations cannot transact business with other than members. When a corporation is so organized, stockholders are liable to amount of stock subscription until same is fully paid. In case of banking corporations stockholder is further liable for debts of bank to amount of his stock, and similarly in other corporations for six months wages.

However, such further liability of holders of bank stock does not apply to holders of stock issued subsequent to by any bank which is a member of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or which is an insured bank as defined by Federal Act, but if such bank ceases to be a member of such fund or an insured bank the further liability does attach.

No foreign corporation shall transact business in Wisconsin until it shall file with the Secretary of State a certified copy of its charter, articles of association or incorporation, and shall have been licensed in this state. A license is unnecessary to loan money, take, acquire, hold and enforce notes, bonds, mortgages or trust deeds given to represent or secure money so loaned, but a statement signed by an officer must first be filed designating the Secretary of State agent for service of process. A foreign corporation desiring a license shall file with the Secretary of State a sworn statement giving name and location, names and addresses of officers and Wisconsin agent, amount of paid-in capital, number and value of no par value stock, nature of business, proportion of capital in this state, appointment of Secretary of State as attorney for service of all process, when the corporation was authorized to do business in the state of its incorporation, and that compliance will be made with the foreign corporation laws. The filing fee for articles is $25.00 and $1.00 for every $1000.00 of its capital exceeding $25,000.00 employed in the state. Amendments to articles must be filed and notice of change in officers or directors given to the Secretary of State. Service of process on a licensed foreign corporation may be made by delivering two copies to the Secretary of State, together with a fee of $2.00. Contracts made by unlicensed foreign corporations are void in their behalf, but enforceable against them. Failure to comply with the statutes subjects the foreign corporation, and any agent acting within the state, to a penalty of $500.00, and invalidates all contracts made by any such organization failing to comply with this rule, but such contracts may be enforceable against it or them. Every foreign corporation transacting business in this State shall annually, between January 1st and April 1st, file with the secretary of state a report sworn to by the president, secretary, treasurer or general manager containing: (1) Name and location of principal office without this State and principal office or place of business within this state, if any. (2) Names and addresses of officers of said corporation, and name and address of agent or manager representing it within this State. (3) Nature of business done in this State during preceding year. (4) Capital stock in money, property, or services. (5) The proportion of the capital stock represented, in the State of Wisconsin. (6) That it has not violated the statutes in regard to entering into combinations, conspiracies, trust, pool or agreement to restrain or prevent competition. In case of failure to file such report in the time above stated, such corporation shall pay $25 as penalty if filed before June 1st. In case report not filed then, the license to said corporation shall be void. The Wisconsin Public Service Commission has jurisdiction to enforce a stringent Blue Sky Law and no corporate securities should be sold in this state before consulting local attorneys.

Courts. (See Actions.)

Days of Grace are abolished by statute.

Depositions. The depositions of any witnesses residing within the state, may be taken, for use in the trial of an action, when such witness shall live more than thirty miles from the place of trial or hearing of the action, proceeding or matter in which his testimony is desired, or is beyond reach of the subpoena of the court, or when he shall be about to go out of the state, not intending to return in time for the trial or hearing, or when he is so sick, infirm or aged as to make it probable that he will not be able to attend at the trial or hearing, and for other grounds which are less important; such testimony may be taken by the party desiring to use the same, under commission, upon written or oral interrogatories, or it may be taken on ordinary notice without the commission.

Notice in writing shall be given to the adverse party, his attorney, or agent, that the deposition of the witness or witnesses named will be taken before the officer, naming him, at a time and place appointed therein, for one of the causes mentioned in the preceding paragraph, and three days' notice shall be given of the taking of such deposition, whether taken within or without the state, and additional time at the rate of one day for each three hundred miles, or fraction thereof, after the first 30 miles from the place where the notice is served; provided, that one day's notice shall be sufficient to authorize the taking of depositions of additional witnesses desired to be examined, given during the course of the taking of any deposition.

A commission may issue from any court of record to any competent person or persons without the State to take the deposition of any such witness; no commission should issue to any attorney who is the attorney for either party except by express stipulation; every objection to the competency of the witness, or to the propriety of any question put to him, or the admissibility of any testimony given by him may be made when the deposition is produced, in the same manner as if the witness were personally examined on the trial and without being noted upon the deposition unless the objection is to the form or order of a question, when the objection must be noted in the deposition before it is answered.

The deposition must be read to or by the witness and subscribed by him, unless expressly waived by stipulation on the record.

Descent and Distribution. Realty (except homestead, q. v.), undivided, descends to: 1. Children and their issue, if all are in the same degree; else by right of representation. 2. Widow or husband surviving. 3. Parents or survivor of them. 4. Brothers and sisters, or if deceased their issue by right of representation. 5. Other next of kin in equal degree. All realty owned in husband's life is subject to dower unless barred by wife's assent to deed, or by a jointure or provision by will accepted in lieu of it, and is defined to be "a one-third part of all the lands whereof her husband was seized of an estate or inheritance at any time during marriage", and all owned by wife at death and not devised by her or descended to issue by a former husband, is subject to a tenancy by the curtesy. Acceptance by widow of jointure or provision is presumed unless she gives notice of refusal within one year. A non-resident wife is dowerable only of lands owned by husband at decease. Tenancy by curtesy is independent of issue: The husband holds the lands of which the wife died seized and not disposed of by her last will for his life as tenant thereof by the curtesy; provided, that if the wife, at her death, leaves issue by any former husband, to whom the estate might descend, such issue shall take the same discharged from the right of the surviving husband to hold the same as tenant by the curtesy. If husband remarries right of curtesy extinguished. Personality is distributed by rule—widow entitled to same share as a child; in a distribution of personality the widow is entitled to the same share as a child when there is one child, and in all other cases one-third thereof. If no issue, all property goes to surviving husband or wife. A Wisconsin law imposing inheritance taxes has been declared constitutional.

Dower and Curtesy. (See Descent and Distribution.)

Executions from justice court may be stayed by bond; from a court of record only by security on appeal. Levy and sale on personal property is on twenty days' notice. On realty, lien, begins with docket of judgment or transcript from justice, or record court, in circuit court clerk's office of the county where the land lies; all papers or certified copy may be filed in county where land lies for enforcement of judgment. Sale is had on six weeks' notice, and sheriff's deed absolute issues after one year without redemption. Supplementary proceedings lie after issue of execution, and after return unsatisfied. Execution is issued, as of course, in favor of judgment creditor or his assignee, within five years after judgment; after five years, only on authority from the court.

Exemptions. (See Homesteads.) Exempt chattels are clothing, bedding, stoves, cooking utensils and other furniture to value of $200; library; eight cows, ten swine, two horses or mules (or one of either and a yoke of oxen), ten sheep and their wool, and a year's food for all exempt live stock; a wagon, a sleigh, a dray, a plow, a binder, a corn binder, a mower, a springtooth harrow, a disc harrow, a seeder, a hay loader, a corn planter and a set of heavy harness, and $300 worth of other farm tools or tackle for teams; a year's provisions for debtor and family; small tools and implements, or stock in trade, or both, up to $200; sewing machines for family use; printing materials and presses of a printer or publisher up to $1,500 (except that as to claims of laborers and servants for services, only $400 shall be exempt); patents, owned by the inventor; three months' earnings ($60.00 a month plus $10.00 for each child under sixteen years old and persons absolutely dependent on them for support), if the debtor has a family to support; and all insurance money on exemptions; automobile used in business up to $400.00 value; shares in local building and loan not exceeding $1,000.00 except where debtor has exempt homestead; liberty bonds up to $200.00; and money received by a resident as pension, compensation or government insurance from the U. S. for one year after receipt thereof. Most of these exemptions avail residents only. Partners, however many, may take exemptions as individuals from joint assets if severable. None of above property exempt from execution or attachment in action for purchasing money of the same property. If husband does not select exemptions, wife may.

False Pretenses may be committed by word or writing, and are punishable by fine or imprisonment.

Garnishment. (See Attachment.) This remedy lies in any court. In Justice Court. Upon affidavit for it showing indebtedness and the debtor's lack of sufficient non-exempt assets to satisfy it. In courts of record upon summons and complaint. No undertaking is required. This is a common mode of testing an alleged fraudulent transfer or invalid assignment for creditors. All garnishees may be united in one summons, and be deemed severally proceeded against unless otherwise specified; money garnisheed. Answer of garnishee is conclusive unless issue taken thereon. If so taken, security for costs may be demanded and trial had as in other actions, and examinations of garnishee allowed. Garnishment may be released by proper undertaking in lieu thereof.

Garnishment proceedings may be commenced at the time of issuing summons in the principal action or at any time thereafter, before final judgment in actions on contract, express or implied, or any action on which an attachment may be had, or upon judgment or decree, or at any time after the issuing of an execution and before the time when it was returnable.

Holidays. First day of January, February 12th, February 22nd, May 30th, July 4th, Labor Day, Columbus Day (October 12th), November 11th, Thanksgiving Day, December 25th, primary election day in September, general election day in November, and in cities of the first class the day of holding any municipal election, and in every such city the afternoon of each day upon which a primary election is held for the nomination of candidates for city offices, is a half holiday. Whenever any of said days shall fall on Sunday the succeeding Monday shall be the legal holiday.

Homestead. (See Exemptions.) Real estate not exceeding $5,000 in value and not over one-quarter acre in a city or village, or forty acres for agriculture in the country, is exempt to the actual resident owner. So, too, of its insurance, when burned, or its proceeds when sold and held not over two years for purchase of a new one. A recent act provides machinery whereby the owner against whom a judgment has been docketed may have a court order declaring the homestead exempt from judgment liens, upon a showing that the property is of less value than the cash exemption. But it is subject to mechanic's and mortgage liens, created with the wife's assent, and it cannot be conveyed without her signature (except that purchase money mortgage is good without wife's signature). On death of owner (unless widow is otherwise provided for to her satisfaction) it descends to wife if no issue, if issue survives to widow during widowhood and then, as other realty, to the heirs. (See Married Women.)

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Interest. The legal rate is 6 per cent; maximum contract rate, 10. Usury (except in bottomry and respondentia bonds) forfeits the whole interest if not yet paid; if paid, treble the unlawful excess may be recovered by suit within a year. (See Chattel Mortgages.)

Judgments. (See Executions and Limitations of Actions.) Judgments in circuit court keep debts alive for twenty years, are liens on land when docketed for ten years, and bear legal interest. Judgments or foreclosure bear interest at rate stated in mortgage note, but shall not exceed the legal rate of interest, i. e. 6 per cent. Transcripts of judgments recovered in justice court may be docketed in circuit court and thus become a lien. Judgments may be satisfied by attorney or judgment creditor within five years; afterward by judgment creditor only. A judgment of a U. S. District Court requiring the payment of money is a lien upon the real property of the judgment debtor situated in the county in which it is docketed.

Liens. Mechanics have liens on personal property to the amount of repairs. Every innkeeper, hotel keeper, and every keeper of a boarding house or lodging house, whether individual, copartnership, or corporation, shall have a lien upon and may retain the possession of all the baggage and other effects brought into his inn, hotel, boarding house, or lodging house by any guest, whether the same is the individual property of such guest or under his control, for the proper charges owing such innkeeper. Livery stable keepers, garage keepers, and persons pasturing horses, cattle, etc., have liens on property in their possession. Consignees and factors and brokers have certain liens for advances made by them.

Limitations of Action are these: On sealed instrument, when cause of action accrues within the State, twenty years; when it accrues without the State, or on equitable cause of action, or a foreign judgment, ten years; on a municipal bond or other contract even when sealed, on any unsealed contract or liability at law, or trespass, trover, or replevin, six years; on action against a sheriff or other officer for violation of duty, three years; on action for a penalty or forfeiture, for an injury to person or character, two years; on an action for equitable relief against fraud, within six years after discovery of the facts constituting the fraud; on an action for recovery of realty, ten years after the adverse possession begins, where occupant claims under a paper title; otherwise, twenty years. Whenever any land or any interest therein has been or shall hereafter be taken, entered upon or appropriated for the purpose of its business by any railroad corporation, electric railroad or power company, telephone company or telegraph company without said corporation or company having first acquired title thereto by purchase or condemnation, as statute requires, the owner of such land, his heirs, assigns and legal representatives shall have and are hereby given the right to at any time within twenty years from date of such taking, entry or appropriation, sue for damages sustained, in the circuit court of the county in which land is situated. Absence from state, after cause of action accrued, suspends running of statute as does part payment, infancy, insanity, or imprisonment. In case of injury to person, no action can be brought unless notice in writing given or complaint actually served within two years from time of injury, describing it and grounds on which claim is made, and the same as to actions based on libel, slander, assault, battery, or to recover a penalty or forfeiture imposed by a by-law or ordinance of a town, city, county, village or domestic corporation. Actions to test assessments or taxes, 9 months. In actions on open accounts time is computed from the last item on the account.

Limited Partnerships. A uniform partnership act was passed by the Legislature of 1915.

Married Women. The property of a married woman is not subject to the disposal of her husband nor liable for his debts, but is deemed her sole and separate property, the same as if she were unmarried. She has power to receive, grant, devise and bequeath property and make all contracts in respect to her separate property. Her individual earnings are her separate property, except those accruing from labor performed for her husband. Where her husband deserts her or refuses to support her, she may transact business in her own name and for her own benefit. She may sue and be sued in her own name in respect to her separate property or business, and she may sue in her own name for personal injuries and for alienation of the affections of her husband. Her husband is not liable for her antenuptial debts.

Mechanic's Liens. Principal contractors including architects, civil engineers and surveyors employed by the owner shall have a lien on the land of the owner for work performed, any materials, plans or specifications furnished, or for improvements made for permanent benefit to land. Such lien is limited to one acre in municipalities and forty acres elsewhere. Such lien shall be prior to any lien which originates subsequent to the visible commencement of the work or improvement except as to mortgages of Building and Loan Associations and mortgages of Investment Associations organized under Chapter 216, recorded prior to filing date of liens. Every person other than contractor, who furnishes labor or materials as above shall have a lien, if within thirty days after furnishing the first labor or materials he gives notice in writing to the owner either by personal service on the owner or his agent or by mailing copy thereof addressed to such owner or his agent at his last known post-office address stating he has been engaged to furnish labor or materials, describing real estate so that owner is not misled or deceived thereby.

Every contractor and subcontractor at the time he purchases or contracts for any materials to be used shall deliver to materialman a description of the real estate upon which materials are to be used and the name of the owner.

The thirty day notice above referred to need not be given to the owner by any laborer or mechanic employed by any contractor or subcontractor.

No lien exists and no action to enforce the same exists unless within 60 days as to all lien claimants except principal contractor and within 6 months as to principal contractor from the date of the last charge for labor or materials a claim for such lien is filed in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court of the County in which the lands are situated and such action brought and summons and complaint filed within two years from such date.

The claim for lien must contain a statement of the contract or demand in respect to which it is founded, the name of the person against whom the demand is claimed, name of claimant or assignee, last date of performance of labor or furnishing of materials, description of the property, statement of amount claimed and other material facts. Claims must be signed by claimant or his attorneys but need not be verified.

Mortgages. (See Chattel Mortgages, Conveyances.)

Negotiable Instruments. By chapter 356, laws of 1899, the so-called uniform negotiable instruments act became the law in Wisconsin. Its general effect is to strengthen decidedly the negotiable character of commercial paper. The following are the principal changes in the Wisconsin law: 1. Protest may be made but it is not necessary except in case of foreign bills of exchange. 2. If a place of payment is specified in the note it must be presented at that place. 3. The fact that a note is to be paid with exchange, with costs of collection, or with attorney's fees, or bears a seal, does not affect its negotiability. 4. A holder who derives his title through the holder in due course and who is not himself a party to any fraud, duress, or illegality affecting the instrument, has all the rights of such former holder in respect to all parties prior to such holder. 5. An instrument obtained by fraud, duress, force, or fear, or based upon an illegal consideration, is defective instead of void, but if the maker did not know the nature of the instrument, and could not have obtained such knowledge by the use of ordinary care, the title of the holder is absolutely void.

Banks may refuse payment without liability on all demand instruments or checks presented more than one year from date. (Laws 1937, Ch. 191.)

Probate Law. The jurisdiction of the county courts extends to probate of wills, granting of letters testamentary and of administration on the estate of all persons deceased, who were, at the time of their decease, inhabitants or residents of the same county, or had property in such county to be administered. Such jurisdiction also extended to appointment of guardians and trustees, and settlement and control of estates of minors and persons under guardianship. (See Administration.)

Promissory Notes and Bills. Warehouse receipts are negotiable unless expressed not to be. Municipal orders, bonds, etc., are not negotiable unless expressly authorized by law. Days of grace are abolished. Damages on foreign bills 5 per cent, with costs and charges of protest. One action may be brought against all parties liable on a note or bill. Negotiable paper maturing on Sunday or holiday becomes due on the next succeeding secular or business day. Acceptance must be in writing and signed by the drawer, and if acceptance is not written on the bill when requested, the bill may be treated as dishonored. Notes, bonds, or other contracts based in part or wholly upon money staked, lost or won on gambling are absolutely void.

Legislature passed Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act in 1899.

Replevin. Specific personalty may be recovered by this action, but in cases where immediate possession of such specific personalty is demanded, it must be on an affidavit by or for plaintiff showing his title or right of possession, description of property, the wrongful detention thereof and alleged cause of detention that it has not been taken for a tax or seized on execution and the value thereof. Plaintiff must post bond with sureties in double the value of property. The defendant can regain possession of the property pending the suit by due security in his turn. In case of contest, allegations of affidavit must be proved as questions of fact.

Sales are prima facie invalid as to third persons unless accompanied by immediate and continued change of possession. Unless the vendee proves his good faith this presumption is absolute. Installment leases and contracts for sale reserving title to vendor till full payment must be written and filed like chattel mortgages. "Futures" in grain, etc., are void if intended by both parties only as a wager on prices; else valid.

By chapter 463 of the laws of 1901, the sale of any portion of a stock of merchandise, in bulk or otherwise, than in the ordinary course of trade and business is presumed fraudulent and void as against creditors unless the seller and purchaser, at least five days before the sale, make a final inventory showing quantity and cost prices of seller and the purchaser demand of the seller a certified list of all creditors with amounts owing to each and each such creditor notified personally or by registered mail of such proposed sale of terms of sale. By Chap. 549, Laws of 1911, the "uniform sales act" was adapted and went into effect January 1, 1912. It codifies the law on the question of sales, contracts, warranties, rights of parties, and defines terms ordinarily used.

Uniform Bills of Lading Act passed in 1917.

Supplementary Proceedings. (See Executions.)

Taxes are assessed as if May 1st, and must be paid by the first day of February following or certain interest will be incurred. If taxes are not paid on land not previously redeemed, the land is returned delinquent to the County Treasurer and sold on the second Tuesday in June next thereafter. The tax certificate, therefore, bears interest at the rate of eight-tenth of one per cent per month, and after five years, unless sooner redeemed, a deed is issued to the purchaser. As between the grantor and the grantee of land, where there are no express agreements as to which shall pay the taxes assessed thereon for the year in which the conveyance is made, if said land is conveyed on or before the first day of December, then the grantee shall pay the same, and if conveyed after that date, then the grantor shall pay the same.

Transfer of Corporation Stock. Shares of stock are transferred by endorsement and delivered good in the hands of bona fide purchaser, or pledge, for value as against all parties. The corporation may treat holder of record as holder in fact until transfer on record or new certificate issued, and courts will compel such record or issue.

In 1913, the Legislature passed the Uniform Stock Transfer Act. Wills. Any person over twenty-one and a married woman over eighteen years, of sound mind, may make a will, which must be signed by testator, or in his presence and at his request, and also attested and subscribed by two witnesses in his presence and at his request, and in the presence of each other. Nuncupative wills under certain strict conditions are allowed. Revocation is by usual modes of destruction or by writing executed under the formalities of a will.

Workmen's Compensation Act. This act was passed by the 1911 Legislature and has upon subsequent occasions been amended. It abolishes some of the common law defenses available to the master and provides for payment of a stated proportion of the servant's wages during disability, or in case of death. It has been held constitutional.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF WYOMING

RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Prepared and Revised by GEO. W. FERGUSON, Attorney-at-Law, Casper, Wyo.

(See card in Attorneys List)

Acknowledgments must be made before a judge or clerk of a court of record, or before any county clerk, notary public, justice of the peace, or United States commissioner, within this State. If made out of the State, before any officer authorized, by the state or territory in which it is made, to take acknowledgments, before the clerk of any court of record, or before any commissioner appointed by the governor of this State for such purpose, provided that if such acknowledgment is not made before an officer having a seal, it must have attached thereto a certificate of the clerk of a court of record, or a county clerk of the same place, having a seal, certifying that the officer taking the acknowledgment is authorized to take the same, and that he believes that the signature appended to the acknowledgment is genuine. Every notary public, justice of the peace, and commissioner of deeds for Wyoming, who takes an acknowledgment to any written instrument to be recorded in any public office in Wyoming, shall add to his certificate the date when his commission or term of office expires. It is lawful for a notary public, who is a stockholder, director, officer or employee of a bank or other corporation to take the acknowledgment of any party to any written instrument executed to or by said corporation. Forms of certificate of acknowledgment may be found in Wyoming Statutes, revised, 1931, Sec. 97-125.

Actions. The distinction between an action at law and a suit in equity is abolished and the district courts of the various counties have a general common law and equity jurisdiction. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction, except in cases where the title to land comes into controversy, to the amount of $200. Non-residents of the State are required to furnish security for costs if application is made for that purpose, or to pay the costs of the action as they accrue. The uniform Declaratory Judgment Act adopted 1923 provides that in an action affecting the title or right of possession of real property, or in an action between husband and wife, the plaintiff at the time of filing the petition and the defendant at the time of filing his pleadings, when affirmative relief is claimed in such pleading, or at any time thereafter may file in the office of the county clerk where the property is situated a notice of the pendency of the action containing the names of the parties, the object of the action or defense, and a description of the property in that county affected thereby. From the time of the filing of such notice a subsequent purchaser or encumbrancer of the property affected thereby shall be deemed to have constructive notice of the pendency of the action.

Administration of Estates. All probate jurisdiction is vested in the district court of the county of decedent's domicile, or in the case of a non-resident, of the county in which any part of the estate may be. Administrators, executors and guardians are appointed on petition and notice, the surviving husband, or wife, having preference of appointment, ordinarily. Administrators and executors are required to furnish security to an amount equal to double the value of the personal property and the rents, issues and profits of the real estate. Guardians are required to give bond in such sum as may be prescribed by the court. Foreign executors can act here upon filing proof of their appointment as executor, and of the admission of the will to probate in the foreign jurisdiction. Administrators and executors are entitled to possession of all real and personal property and the income of all realty, except the homestead, during the period of administration. Claims against the estate of a deceased person should be presented to the executor, or administrator, or to some competent person, at his place of residence or business to be specified in the notice, or be filed, in the office of the clerk of court, for allowance within ten months after the first publication of the notice. Uniform Foreign Probate Act adopted in 1921.

A married woman may act as an administratrix or as executrix. All claims must be presented to the administrator or executor or filed with the clerk of the court within ten months after the first publication of the notice of creditors.

Affidavits. Affidavits may be made before any officer authorized to administer oaths.

Aliens. The State constitution provides that no distinction shall ever be made by law between resident aliens and citizens as to the possession, taxation, enjoyment and descent of property.

Arbitration. The law provides that all persons who have any controversy, except those relating to the possession or title to real estate, may submit such controversy to the arbitration, or umpirage, of any person, or persons, to be mutually agreed upon by the parties, and they may make such submission a rule of any court of record in the State. The law further provides for process to compel the attendance of witnesses before the arbitrators, and for the enforcement of the award of the arbitrators when one is made.

Attachments may issue against the property of persons who are non-residents of this State or are about to become non-residents or a foreign corporation; or when the defendant has absconded with intent to defraud his creditors; or has left the county of his residence to avoid the service of summons; or so conceals himself that a summons cannot be served upon him; or is about to remove his property or a part thereof out of the jurisdiction of the court with intent to defraud his creditors; or is about to convert his property or a part thereof into money for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors; or has property or rights in action which he conceals; or has assigned, removed, disposed of, or is about to dispose of his property or a part thereof with intent to defraud his creditors; or has fraudulently or criminally contracted the debt or incurred the obligation for which suit is about to be or has been brought. In order to obtain an attachment, the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, must make affidavit showing the nature of the plaintiff's claim, that it is just, the amount which the affiant believes that the plaintiff ought to recover, and the existence of any one of the grounds for attachment mentioned above, or that the affiant has good reason to believe and does believe that some one or more of said grounds (stating which ones) exists. The plaintiff must also give an undertaking with sufficient surety, who must be a resident property holder in the State, and be approved by the clerk of the court by whom the order of attachment is issued, in a sum equal to double the amount of the plaintiff's claim, to the effect that the plaintiff shall pay the defendant all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment if the order prove to have been wrongfully obtained. Garnishee process may be had in aid of attachment. A creditor may bring an action upon a claim before it to due and have attachment against the property of the debtor when a debtor has sold, conveyed, or otherwise disposed of his property with a fraudulent intent to cheat or defraud his creditors or to hinder or delay them in the collection of their debts; or is about to make such sale, conveyance, or disposition of his property with such fraudulent intent; or is about to remove his property of a material part thereof with the intent or to the effect of cheating or defrauding his creditors or hindering or delaying them in the collection of their debts; or where the defendant is about to become a non-resident of the State. An attachment authorized in case of a debt not yet due may be granted by the court in which the action is brought or by a judge thereof, but an affidavit and undertaking of the creditor similar to those required for attachment in case of a debt past due must be executed before the writ of attachment will be issued. In civil actions before a justice of the peace involving an amount not to exceed $200 when affidavit is filed showing that claim is just and is founded on contract express or implied and is not secured attachment will issue. In civil actions in the District Court involving an amount not to exceed $500 a writ will issue on the same grounds.

"Blue Sky" Law is now in force requiring that no speculative securities shall be sold in the State until a complete showing of facts has been filed with the Secretary of State and County Clerk of each County in which such speculative security shall be offered for sale. These facts include a statement of the assets and liabilities of the person or company making and issuing such securities; the amount of such securities prior thereto in interest or lien; if secured by mortgage or other lien, a copy thereof, and competent appraisal of the property covered thereby, and all prior liens thereon; a statement showing the gross and net earnings; a copy of the general or public prospectus; the names, addresses and selling territory in this state of any agents; the name and address of the promoter; all partners, directors, trustees and persons owing more than 10 per cent of the capital stock, the plan on which the enterprise is to be conducted if a co-partnership or association, a copy of the articles thereof, and if a corporation, a copy of its charter.

Failure to comply with this provision within fifteen days after the above dates forfeits right to sell by virtue of the certificate of secretary of state.

Chattel Mortgages. Chattel mortgages are required by law to be executed and acknowledged in the same manner as mortgages of real estate. They are required to be filed, but not recorded, in the office of the county clerk of the county where the mortgaged property is situated. Chattel mortgage may cover future advances where specific sum as ultimate amount to be secured, date prior to completion of advances and date on which last installment of indebtedness secured shall mature are stated. A mortgage may be given on crops growing or to be grown, provided crop matures summer and autumn after execution of mortgage.

Collaterals. There is no statute relating expressly to collaterals. Collections. Uniform Bank Collection Code as recommended by American Bankers Association, see complete text back of Laws.

Conveyances. (See Acknowledgments and Mortgages.)

Corporations. Corporations may be formed by three or more persons for the purpose of carrying on any one line or department of business which natural persons may lawfully conduct in this state, and the incorporators are required to sign and acknowledge before some officer competent to take the acknowledgment of deeds duplicate certificates in writing, in which shall be stated the name of said corporations, the object for which the corporation shall be formed, the amount of capital stock of said company, the term or existence (not to exceed fifty years), the number and classes of shares of which the said stock shall consist, the number and names of directors and their names, who shall manage the concerns of the company for the first year, and the name of the municipality and county in which the principal part of the business of said corporation are to be carried on. One of the certificates must be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county wherein the business of the company is to be carried on and the other in the office of the secretary of state. Within 30 days after filing articles, notice of its incorporation must be published three times in one newspaper of general circulation in this state giving all the above information. A corporation may provide for issuance of its shares of stock without any nominal or par value. For purposes of payment of filing fees, license tax, or other assessments, each share of such stock shall be taken to be of the par value of $1.00.

Upon failure of a corporation to designate a resident agent service of process may be made upon the Secretary of State. If three or more persons desire to form a company, the object of which shall be to aid in the industrial or productive interests of this state or any political subdivision thereof, but without any purpose of direct gain to itself, then, in such case, such company shall not have a capital stock, and the certificate of incorporation shall so state giving the reason therefor. The number of directors for a corporation is not less than three nor more than nine, and the directors must be stockholders in the company. Any corporation, upon the assent of the holders of two-thirds of the outstanding stock thereof, may issue and dispose of preferred stock and stipulate that the holders of such stock shall be entitled to dividends not exceeding 7 per cent per annum in preference to all other stockholders. Both foreign and domestic corporations must have resident agent under penalty for forfeiture of all its rights and franchises. Domestic and foreign corporations must file with the secretary annually (or before) sworn statements of their condition. Domestic corporations may file such a statement by its secretary or assistant secretary giving the names and addresses of officers and directors, amount of capital stock outstanding, total amount authorized, and pay a fee of $5.00 if the capital is not more than $50,000. If more, the fee is $10.00 to $100,000; $100,000 to $500,000, $25.00; $500,000 to $1,000,000, $50.00 and $50.00 for every million or fraction. The statement of a foreign corporation must be made out by its treasurer setting forth the portion of its capital, property and assets located in this State, the names of officers and directors and a $10.00 license is exacted if the property located in the State shall not exceed $100,000, in excess thereof at 10 cents per $1,000.

Filing fees of domestic corporations when formed: Capital stock not more than $50,000, $25; $50,000 to $100,000, $50; a 30 cents for each $1,000 of stock above $100,000.

Costs. In justice court the costs of suit are ordinarily taxed against the losing party. In the district court, when the judgment is less than $100, unless the recovery be reduced below that sum by counter claims, or set off, each party shall pay his own cost; and in all actions for libel.

slander, malicious persecution, assault, and battery, false imprisonment, criminal conversation, or seduction, action for nuisance, or against a justice of the peace for misconduct in office, when the damage assessed is under $5, the plaintiff shall not recover costs. When it is not otherwise provided by statute, costs shall be allowed, of course, to the plaintiff, upon a judgment in his favor, in action for the recovery of specific, real, or personal property. Costs shall be allowed, of course, to any defendant, upon a judgment in his favor in the actions mentioned in the preceding part of this paragraph. In other actions the court may award or tax costs and apportion them between parties, on the same or adverse sides, as it may adjudge to be right and equitable.

Days of Grace abolished by the negotiable instrument act of the legislature of 1905, being an act to establish a law uniform with the laws of other states on that subject.

Depositions. The code of civil procedure makes provision for taking depositions upon commissions to which are to be attached interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, but the law is not very specific in regard to the method of taking depositions in this way. Definite provision is made for taking depositions in actions pending in the district court upon notice to be served upon the opposite party, or his attorney of record. The notice must be served in time to allow the adverse party sufficient time, exclusive of Sunday, the day of service, and one day of preparation to travel, with the usual route and modes of conveyance to the place named in the notice, which must state the time and place of taking the depositions. Depositions may be taken before any officer authorized to administer oaths. The officer taking the depositions must annex thereto a certificate showing that the witness was first sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth; that the deposition was reduced to writing by some proper person, naming him; that the deposition was written and subscribed in the presence of the officer certifying thereto, and that the deposition was taken at the time and place specified in the notice. Depositions cannot be taken by a relative or attorney of either party to the case, or one who is otherwise interested in the event of the action or proceeding. If taken out of the state by an officer authorized to take the same, the certificate may be in the form authorized by the laws of the place where taken. Uniform Foreign Deposition Act, enacted in 1927.

Descent and Distribution. In the case of parties owning property dying and leaving no will, distribution of the estate is made as follows: If such intestate leave a husband, or wife, and children, or the descendants of any children, him or her surviving, one-half of such estate shall descend to such surviving husband or wife, and the residue thereof to such surviving children and descendants of children, as limited by law; if such intestate leave a husband, or wife, and no child, nor descendants of any child, then the real and personal estate of such intestate shall descend as follows, to wit: All of said estate up to the sum of $20,000, after the payment of debts, descends to wife, and the balance if any, shall descend as follows, to wit: Three-fourths thereof to such surviving husband or wife, and one-fourth thereof to the father and mother of the intestate, or the survivor of them; provided, that if such intestate have a husband or wife and no child nor descendants of any child, or parent, or brothers or sisters, then the whole thereof shall descend to and vest in the surviving husband or wife, as his or her absolute estate, subject to the payment of the debts of the intestate. Except in cases above enumerated the estate of any intestate descends and is distributed as follows: First, to his children surviving and the descendants of his children, who are dead (the descendants, collectively, taking the share which their parents would have taken if living). Second, if there be no children, nor their descendants, then to his father, mother, brothers and sisters, and to the descendants of brothers and sisters who are dead (the descendants, collectively, taking the share their parents would have taken if living), in equal parts. Third, if there be no children nor their descendants, nor father, mother, brothers, sisters, nor descendants of deceased brothers or sisters, nor husband nor wife, living, then to the grandfather, grandmother, uncles, aunts, and their descendants (the descendants taking, collectively, the share of their immediate ancestors), in equal parts.

Dower. Under the territorial law formerly in existence and which has never been repealed, dower was abolished, and since the admission of Wyoming as a state no law has been enacted on that subject.

Execution may issue immediately after judgment rendered, and is returnable in sixty days from a court of record, and thirty days when issued by a justice of the peace. Provision is made for a stay of execution in justices' courts, for a period of thirty days on a judgment not exceeding $50, exclusive of costs, or stay of four months on a judgment of $50 and not more than $100, exclusive of costs, and a stay of six months on a judgment in excess of $100, exclusive of costs. Provision is also made for a stay of execution in the district court for a period of six months from the time of the entry of judgment by the judgment debtor procuring one or more freehold sureties to enter into his recognizance, acknowledging themselves bail for defendant for the payment of the judgment, together with the interest and costs accrued, and to accrue. Provision is also made for a stay of execution in cases where an appeal or proceeding in error is taken to a higher court.

Exemptions. Household furniture, provisions, etc., for head of family residing with same, $500; tools, team, implements or stock in trade of mechanic, miner, or other person kept for his trade or business, $300, except where debtor is adjudged a bankrupt either in voluntary or involuntary proceedings; library and instruments of professional man, $300; homestead actually occupied as such by head of family in country, of value of $2,500 but not exceeding 160 acres; in town, lot or lots in value, $2,500; necessary wearing apparel of every person to the value of $150. One-half of the earnings of a judgment debtor for his personal services, rendered at any time within sixty (60) days next preceding the levy of execution or attachment and due and owing at that time, where necessary to the use of a family supported wholly or in part by his labor, and residing in this State. No property is exempt for a person removing or absconding from the State, and all persons claiming exemption must be actual, bona-fide residents of the State. No article of property is exempt from attachment or sale on execution for its purchase price.

Fraud. A judgment may be vacated for fraud practiced by the successful party in obtaining it. It is not a ground for a judgment debtor to be excused for not answering in an examination in regard to his property. It is also a ground for attachment. Uniform Fraudulent Conveyance Act enacted in 1929.

Garnishment. The laws relating to attachment and garnishment are similar in character and there is no provision for garnishment except when ground for attachment exists, and a bond must be furnished, to obtain a garnishment in the same manner as to obtain an attachment. Garnishment process may be had in aid of execution after judgment, without such bond, and without affidavit, except such as may be necessary to lay the foundation for an order by the district judge for the examination of the judgment debtor or any person or corporation indebted to him.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: Sundays; January 1 (New Year's Day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial Day); July 4 (Independence Day); first Monday in September (Labor Day); October 12 (Columbus Day); November 11 (Armistice Day); day appointed by the President as the annual Thanksgiving Day; general election day; December 25 (Christmas Day); and the day designated by the Governor as Arbor Day. If a holiday falls on Sunday the following Monday is a legal holiday.

Husband and Wife. The husband is not liable for the debts of the wife contracted before marriage, without an assumption in writing of such debts, but the estate of the wife is liable for debts of that character. Separate deed of the husband conveys no interest in the wife's lands. (See Married Women.)

Interest. In the absence of express contract, all moneys, claims, or judgments draw interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum. Any rate may be agreed upon in writing, not exceeding 10 per cent per annum. If any greater rate is agreed upon the lender forfeits all interest. Unsettled accounts draw interest after thirty days from the date of last item.

Judgments are a lien on debtor's real estate within the county from the first day of the term at which judgment is entered, but judgments by confession and judgments rendered at the same term at which the action is commenced bind the debtor's real estate only from the time of entry, which lien continues for five years. Judgments may be revived by statutory proceedings. Judgments of U. S. District and Circuit Courts liens in counties where rendered and liens in other counties on filing transcripts thereof. Uniform Federal Tax Lien Registration Act enacted in 1929.

Liens. The law provides for liens of rancher, farmer, agistor, herder of cattle, tavern keeper, livery stable keeper, or keeper of fur-bearing animals, and men upon property entrusted to them to care for, also for attorneys, threshermen, hay-balers and combiners upon the grain, hay and crops threshed, etc., and also for mechanics and material men for labor and materials furnished for the construction or repair of buildings, and also a lien for mechanics, artisans or other persons who may make, alter, repair or bestow labor upon any article of personal property at the request of the owner or party having possession thereof. Liens are now specifically granted for materials or labor for mines or oil wells but shall not affect any lien, encumbrance or mortgage upon the land or leasehold interest at the time of the inception of the laborer or miner's lien.

Limitations of Suits. On contracts not in writing, eight years, upon specialty or agreement in writing, ten (10) years; on all foreign judgments, or contracts made or incurred before debtor becomes a resident, within five (5) years after he establishes residence in the State; recovery of lands, ten years. Revivor: Part payment or acknowledgment in writing. Limited partnerships.

Married Women. A married woman retains her property, both real and personal, may make a will, carry on business, sue and be sued, and retain her own earnings in the same manner as if sole. She may also vote and hold office. There is no right of dower under the state law.

Mortgages must be acknowledged and recorded in the manner provided by law for the execution and recording of deeds, and are foreclosed by action at law, or by advertisement for four weeks. Real property sold under foreclosure of mortgage, either by decree of court or by advertisement, may be redeemed in six months by mortgagor from date of sale, upon payment of the amount for which the property was sold and ten per cent interest thereon, and within three months thereafter by any creditor. A mortgage or other specific lien on real property shall take precedence over the lien of taxes levied against any other property than the property subject to such liens.

Negotiable Instrument. The legislature of 1905 passed what is known as the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act, being an act to establish a law uniform, with the laws of other states on that subject (See complete text following "Digest of Banking and Commercial Laws.") The legislature of 1917 passed the Uniform Warehouse Receipt Act.

Partnerships. The legislature of 1917 passed the Uniform Partnership Act.

Powers of Attorney. When executed for the purpose of enabling the attorney in fact to convey real estate, powers of attorney must be executed with the same formalities as a deed, and they should be recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the land conveyed by virtue of such instrument is situated.

Probate Law. (See Administration of Estates.)

Protest. Protest must be made by a notary public or any other officer authorized to administer oaths. It must be made by an instrument in writing giving a literal copy of the bill of exchange with all that is written thereon, or annexing the original, stating the presentment and the manner in which it was made, the presence, or absence of the drawee, or acceptor, as the case may be, the refusal to accept or pay, or the inability of the drawee to give a binding acceptance, and in case of refusal the reason assigned, if any, and finally protesting against all the parties to be charged.

Sales. The legislature of 1917 adopted the Uniform Sales Act.

Taxes. Fifty per cent of all taxes become due and payable on the first day of September in each year and the tax payer should pay that amount of his taxes after that time and before the 10th of November following. The remaining 50 per cent becomes due and payable March 1st of the following year and delinquent May 10th. Taxes delinquent November 10th and May 10th draw 11 per cent interest. Taxes upon real estate are made a perpetual lien thereon against all persons or corporations except the United States and the State of Wyoming, and taxes due from any person or corporation on personal property shall be a lien on real estate owned by such person or corporation, subject, however, to all prior existing valid liens. Both personal and real property may be sold for taxes in the manner provided by law. Real property may be redeemed from tax sale at any time within four years after the date of the sale by payment to the county treasurer the amount for which the same was sold with 3 per cent on the same, and 8 per cent interest per annum on the whole amount from the date of sale and the amount of all taxes accrued after such sale with 9 per cent interest per annum on such subsequent taxes, unless such subsequent taxes have been paid by the person for whose benefit the redemption is made. If purchaser has given notice of application for tax deed he shall be entitled to actual expenses on same, exclusive of attorney's fees.

Shares of stock in banks and loan and investment companies shall be assessed to the owners thereof, at par value, less the proportionate value of the real estate owned by it.

Property engaged and used in the manufacture of beet sugar or any of the products of sugar beets in Wyoming is exempt from taxation for ten years during the actual use thereof.

Wills. Any wills to be valid must be in writing, or typewritten, witnessed by two competent witnesses, and signed by the testator, or by some person in his presence, and by his express direction, and if the witnesses are competent at the time of attesting the execution of the will, their subsequent incompetency, from whatever cause it may arise, shall not prevent the probate and allowance of the will. No subscribing witness to any will can derive any benefit therefrom unless there be two disinterested and competent witnesses to the same, but if without a will such witness would be entitled to any portion of the testator's estate, such witness may still receive such portion to the extent and value of the amount devised. Wills are admitted to probate in the court of the proper county upon petition being filed, and after notice by publication for not less than ten, nor more than thirty days from the production of the will. Every custodian of a will, within thirty days after receipt of information that the maker thereof is dead, must deliver the same to the district court having jurisdiction of the estate or to the executor named in the will. No married person shall deprive his or her husband or wife of over one-half of his or her property remaining after the payment of his or her debts, and it shall be optional with the surviving spouse, after the death of the testator or testatrix, to accept the condition of such will, or one-half of the estate, real and personal, of the deceased spouse. However, if decedent leave children surviving by previous marriage, or their descendants, and none by present spouse, disposal may be made by will to others than surviving spouse of three-fourths of the property.

Nuncupative wills are not valid. Olographic or holographic wills are not required to be witnessed.

SYNOPSIS OF
THE LAWS OF ALBERTA
 RELATING TO
BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by D. S. MOFFAT & Co.,

By chapters 41 and 42 of the acts of parliament of Canada for the year 1905, the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were erected out of a portion of the Northwest Territories. By the acts creating these Provinces, existing territorial laws were continued until repealed or amended by the legislatures of the new Provinces.

Administration of Decedent's Estate. Probate of wills or letters of administration are granted by the district court in the judicial district where the deceased resided when he died; in case residence was outside the Province at the time of death, the district where there was any property of the deceased. Bond, with one or two sureties, is required from a person to whom letters of administration or guardianship are committed. Where probate or letters of administration granted in the United Kingdom or any dominion or British Province, are produced to, and copy thereof deposited with the clerk of the district court together with a certificate of the court granting them that they are wholly unrevoked and of full force and effect, they may under the direction of the judge, be sealed with the seal of the district court, and thereupon will have the same force and effect as if granted by that court. In the case of American Probates and letters of administration, it is necessary to make a substantially new application for ancillary probate or letters of administration. A judge has power, in his discretion, to order sale of an infant's estate. Real property descends as chattels, and becomes vested in the executor or administrator as personal property. Widows must be made fully aware of their rights with regard to their deceased husband's property before his will is proved.

Affidavits. In matters in Court affidavits must be entitled in the cause or matter and must be drawn up in the first person and must state the name of the deponent in full, his description and true place of abode. Affidavits for use in Alberta when sworn outside the Province and in Great Britain and Ireland or any British possession, before a Judge of a Court of Record or before the mayor or chief magistrate of any city, borough or town under the common seal of such city, borough or town; or before a notary public or person lawfully authorized to administer oaths therein; and when in any foreign country before any of His Majesty's consuls or vice-consuls, a judge of any court of record or of supreme jurisdiction or before a notary public certified under his hand and official seal, or before commissioner authorized by the laws of Alberta to take affidavits in such foreign country, or before the mayor or chief magistrate of any city, borough or town corporate under the common seal of such city, borough or town.

Every person administering oaths, shall express the date when and the place where the affidavit is taken. All interlineations, alterations or erasures whether in the jurat or body of the affidavit shall be authenticated by the initials of the officer taking the affidavit. Accounts, extracts, documents, etc., referred to in the affidavit must be referred to as exhibits and must be marked and signed and sealed by the officer taking the affidavit. An official administering an oath must state below his signature the date when his term of office expires.

As to affidavits of executions see Deeds, etc., below.
 Rules of Court, 1914, Sections 413-428, Alberta Evidence Act Revised Statutes of Alberta, 1922, Chap. 87.

Aliens. Aliens may acquire, hold and dispose of real property as effectually as natural born British subjects. They may become naturalized upon proof of residence in Canada for one year immediately preceding the application and previous residence in Canada or His Majesty's Dominions for a period of five years within the last eight years before application or five years in the service of the Crown during the eight years preceding the application, upon complying with the procedure laid down in the Naturalization Act.

Arrest. There is no provision made for arrest for debt.

Assignments and Fraudulent Preferences. Assignment or transfer of property by any person at a time when he is in insolvent circumstances or is unable to pay his debts in full or knows that he is on the eve of insolvency with intent to defeat or delay or prejudice his creditors or one or more of them or to or for a creditor with intent to give such creditor a preference over the others or over any one or more of them or which have that effect is void. If the assignment is attacked within sixty days after the date thereof it is sufficient to show that the assignment had the effect of preferring such creditor without proving the intent. But any assignment, sale or payment made in the course of trade to innocent purchasers or parties is valid. Sales or transfers of property made by insolvents who have been adjudged bankrupts under the Bankruptcy Act are governed by the provisions of that Act. (See title "Bankruptcy" below.)

Attachment of Debts. Debts due or accruing due to a defendant or judgment debtor may be attached by garnishee summons either before or after the signing of judgment, upon affidavit of the plaintiff, his solicitor or agent, setting out the facts required. The clerk issues a garnishee summons, $75 per month is exempt from attachment except where it is incurred for board and lodging. No debt due a workman or clerk, etc., shall be liable to attachment unless it exceeds the sum of $75.00 if the debtor is a married person or a widow or widower with dependents, or the sum of $40.00 if the debtor is an unmarried person.

After service upon the garnishee all debts due or accruing due are bound and must be paid into Court or to the Sheriff.
 See Rules of Court, 1914.

Attachment of Goods. Property not exempt from seizure under execution may be attached after the commencement of an action wherein the claim is for the recovery of a debt of $100.00 or upwards.

An ex parte application grounded upon affidavit made by the plaintiff or by his agent having a personal knowledge of the matter, stating from what cause the claim arose and the amount thereof and that the deponent has good reason to believe (giving reasons therefor) that the debtor is about to or has absconded from Alberta leaving personal property liable to seizure under execution or has attempted to remove such personal property out of Alberta or to sell or dispose of the same with intent to defraud his creditors generally or the plaintiff in particular, or keeps concealed to avoid service of process; and stating also that the deponent verily believes that without the benefit of the attachment the plaintiff will lose his debt or sustain damage; and upon the affidavit of one other credible person that he is well acquainted with the defendant and has good reason to believe (giving such reasons) that the defendant is about to or has absconded or has attempted to remove his personal property out of Alberta or to sell or dispose of the same or keeps concealed to avoid service or process, must be made to the Judge who, is satisfied with the material submitted directs the Clerk of the Court to issue writ of attachment directed to the Sheriff authorizing him to attach and keep all the personal property of the defendant.

Where the debtor has actually absconded or is about to abscond from the Province leaving no wife or family behind no property of such debtor shall be exempt from seizure. The amount of the debt is stated in the writ of attachment and the Sheriff levies for the amount thereof and the costs of the action. A creditor who attaches a debt shall be deemed to do so for the benefit of all creditors of the debtor as well as for himself.

Vide Rules of Court, 1914, Sec. 666, sqq.

Statutes, 1910, Cap. IV, Secs. 4 and 5.

Bankruptcy. An Act relating to bankruptcy which affects the whole of Canada was adopted by the Parliament of Canada on the 7th of July 1919, and is effective from the 1st of July, 1920. Under this Act the creditor or creditors having claim or claims aggregating $500 may petition the Court alleging that the debtor has committed an act of bankruptcy within six months before the presentation of the petition. An act of bankruptcy may consist of making an assignment for the benefit of creditors, making a fraudulent conveyance of property, absconding or having an execution against him unsatisfied for a specified time or exhibiting a statement showing insolvency or making a bulk sale of his goods without complying with the Bulk Sales Act. Or if he gives notice to any of his creditors that he has suspended or that he is about to suspend payment of his debts or if he ceases to meet his liabilities generally as they become due. No farmer or wage earner may be forced into bankruptcy nor may any person be forced into bankruptcy by reason of any debt which was contracted before the first of July, 1920. A farmer may make a voluntary assignment and in such case if the provincial government has appointed an officer to act as custodian and trustee, the official receiver shall appoint such officer as trustee. He may, however, be removed by the creditors and is not entitled to fees or remuneration. If the petitioner proves the debt and act of bankruptcy, the Court may declare the debtor a bankrupt and make a receiving order and appoint a custodian of the estate of the bankrupt. The Court may before making the order appoint an interim receiver of the property of the debtor. Any debtor may make a voluntary assignment to the Official Receiver for the locality in which he resides who appoints a custodian from among the creditors. A trustee in bankruptcy is appointed by the creditors at their first meeting and thereupon becomes vested with all the property and estate of the debtor. After paying costs, wages and certain preferred claims the balance is distributed among the creditors pari passu. A receiving order or voluntary assignment does not prevent the creditor from realizing on his security. Secured creditors must value their security and trustee has right to take it over at that valuation or order a sale of the security. On a bankrupt being declared, all executions, garnishments, attachments, general assignments of book debts and various other transactions all mentioned in the Act are void as against the Trustee in Bankruptcy. After the order for bankruptcy has been made, the Court may sanction a composition or extension agreement approved of by the majority of the creditors. The bankrupt may under certain circumstances, having complied with the Act, apply for and obtain a discharge which releases him from all his obligations except certain limited kinds of claims. Every conveyance or transfer of property or charge thereon, every payment made or obligation incurred by any insolvent person in favor of any creditor with a view to giving such creditor a preference over the other creditors, if the person making the same is adjudged a bankrupt within three months after the date of making or paying as above or makes an authorized assignment within three months shall be deemed to be fraudulent and void as against the trustee in bankruptcy.

Banks. The subject of Banks is one which by the provisions of the British North America Act is expressly reserved for the Dominion Parliament. The Legislature of the Province has no power to deal therewith. The legislation on the subject is contained in the Bank Act of 1934 being Chap. 24 of the Statutes of Canada, 24-25, George V. For a resume of its main provisions see the synopsis of the laws of Ontario.

Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes. Three days' grace is allowed on all notes and bills other than those payable on demand, etc. In case of dishonor the indorser is relieved from liability unless he has been given notice of dishonor. Bills and notes falling due on legal holidays are payable the day after. All checks, bills, and notes must bear 3 cent stamps. The Bills of Exchange Act, 1890. See Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, Chap. 16.

Book Debts. Except as otherwise provided in the assignment of Book Debts Act every assignment of Book Debts made by any person engaged in a trade or business shall be absolutely void as against the creditors of the assignor and as against subsequent purchasers unless such assignment is in writing and is accompanied by an affidavit of an attesting witness identifying the assignment and stating the date of execution by the assignor and by a further affidavit of the assignee or his agent stating that the assignment was executed in good faith and for valuable consideration and not for the mere purpose of protecting the book debts against the creditors of the assignor or for the purpose of preventing such creditors from recovering any claims which they have against the assignor, and must be registered within thirty days of the execution of the assignment.

Registration must be made where the assignor is a corporation incorporated under the Alberta laws, in the registration district in which the head office or registered office is situate, and where the assignors are an extra provincial company but having a head office or registered office in the Province, in the District in which such office is situate, but where such extra provincial company has no registered office in the province it shall be registered in the registration district at Edmonton. Where the assignor is not a corporation it shall be registered in the office of the district in which he resides at the time of the execution of the assignment. Where the assignor carries on business in more than one district it may be registered in any one and copies registered in the other districts.

Where the assignor is a corporation no affidavit of an attesting witness shall be required. There are also rules in the Act for rectification of omissions or misstatements by order of the Judge. The Act does not apply to any assignment of book debts by way of a floating charge made by a corporation nor any assignment of book debts due at the time of the assignment from specified debtors nor to those growing due under specified contracts nor included in a transfer of a business made bona fide for value nor to those included in an authorized assignment under the Bankruptcy Act.

Bulk Sales. It is the duty of each purchaser of a stock in bulk before paying to him any part of the purchase price, except a sum not exceeding $50 on account thereof or giving any promissory notes or any security for the purchase price or part thereof, or executing any transfer, conveyance or encumbrance of such property, to demand to receive from the vendor a written statement verified by the statutory declaration of a vendor or his duly authorized agent, giving the names and addresses of all the creditors of the vendor, the amount of the indebtedness or liability due to each of the said creditors according to a form prescribed. If such a statement is furnished and duly verified as provided, no preference or priority shall be obtained by any creditor of the vendor in respect of such stock in bulk or the proceeds of such sale thereof by attachment, garnishment proceedings, contract or otherwise.

At the time of completion of every sale in bulk, one of the following provisions must also be complied with.

- (a) The claims of all the creditors of the vendor as shown by the statement shall be paid in full, or
- (b) The vendor shall produce and deliver to the purchaser a written waiver of the provisions of the act other than the provision requiring the delivery of the duly verified statement previously mentioned from creditors of the vendor representing not less than 60 per cent in number and amount, of the claims exceeding $50 as shown by the said statement, which waiver shall be according to a form prescribed by the act, or
- (c) The vendor shall produce and deliver to the purchaser the written consent thereto of creditors of the vendor not less than 60 per cent in number and amount of the claims exceeding $50 as shown by the statement previously referred to.

Where a sale in bulk is made with the written consent of the creditors of the vendor, the entire proceeds of such sale shall be paid to a trustee. When the proceeds of sale are paid to the trustee he shall be a trustee for the general benefit of the creditors of the vendor and shall distribute the proceeds of such sale pro rata among the creditors of the vendor.

Every sale in bulk, in respect of which the provisions of this act have not been complied with, shall be deemed to be fraudulent and void as against the creditors of the vendor and every payment made on account of the purchase price or delivery of any note or notes or other security therefor and every transfer, conveyance and encumbrance of the property by the purchaser shall be fraudulent and void as between the purchaser and the creditors of the vendor.

If the purchaser has received or taken possession of the stock without the provisions of the Act being complied with he shall be personally liable to account to creditors of the vendor for all monies, security or property realized or taken by him from, out of or on account of the sale or disposition of the stock or any part thereof. An action to have the sale declared void must be brought within six months of the date of the sale. This Act applies only to sales by traders and merchants defined as follows:

- (a) Persons who as their ostensible occupation or part thereof, buy or sell goods, wares or merchandise ordinarily the subject of trade and commerce
- (b) Commission merchants.
- (c) Manufacturers.

Caveats on Land. Any person claiming to be interested under any will, settlement or trust deed or any instrument or transfer or transmission or under an unregistered instrument or under an execution where the execution creditor seeks to affect land in which the execution debtor is interested beneficially, but the title to which is registered in the name of some other person or otherwise howsoever on any land, mortgage or incumbrance, may cause to be filed on his behalf with the registrar a caveat in form W in the schedule to this act against the registration of any person as transferee or owner of, or of any instrument affecting, such estate or interest, unless such instrument be expressed to be subject to the claim of the caveator. Registration by way of caveat shall have the same effect as to priority as the registration of any instrument under the Act. The Registrar may allow the withdrawal of caveat and registration in lieu thereof of the instrument under which caveat filed if such instrument may be registered under the Act.

Land Titles Act, Revised Statutes of Alberta, 1922, Chap. 133.
Chattel Mortgages and Bills of Sale. Every sale or mortgage which is not accompanied by an actual and continued change of possession of the chattels sold or mortgaged shall be void as against creditors, subsequent purchasers or mortgagees in good faith for valuable consideration whose conveyances or mortgages have been duly registered unless such sale or mortgage is evidenced by a Bill of Sale duly registered and such sale or mortgage shall take effect from the time of registration.

Every such sale or mortgage shall contain a full and sufficient description of the chattels so that they may be readily known and distinguished. Registration must be effected within thirty days from the date of Execution in the proper office where the chattels are situate. Each document must be accompanied by an affidavit of an attesting witness of the execution thereof and identifying the bill of sale and stating the date of execution by the grantor. No affidavits of execution, however, is required where the grantor is a corporation.

A Bill of Sale may be given to secure future advances or loss by endorsement, by bill of exchange or promissory note or against loss or damage by reason of any other liability incurred by the grantee in which case it shall set out clearly the liability against which loss is secured and shall be accompanied by an affidavit setting out fully the circumstances of the agreement or liability.

Where the Bill of Sale is given to secure the payment of an ascertained amount due or accruing due or of a present advance it shall be accompanied by an affidavit of the Grantee or his agent stating that the amount in the Bill of Sale is justly due or accruing due or is a present advance and was executed in good faith and for the purpose of securing a payment of such amount and not for the purpose of protecting the chattels therein mentioned against the creditors of the Grantor or for the purpose of preventing such creditors from recovering any claims which they may have against the Grantor.

Where the Bill of Sale is not one for future advances or for security for an amount due or accruing due or present advance it shall also be accompanied by an affidavit setting forth that the bill of sale is executed in good faith and for good consideration and not for the purposes as set out in the other affidavits above.

Bills of Sale and Chattel Mortgages shall only be kept in force by filing a renewal statement before the expiration of three years from the date of execution and subsequently within three years of the last renewal statement accompanied by an affidavit.

If the goods subject to the mortgage are removed from one district to another the Grantee must within thirty days after notice of such removal file the mortgage in the new district.

Where chattels, subject to a mortgage which was executed at a time when they were situated without the province, are permanently removed into the province, the mortgage shall within thirty days after the Grantee has received notice of the place to which the chattels have been removed be registered as a bill of sale in the office of the proper officer in the Registration District into which the chattels are removed by filing therein a copy of the mortgage and all affidavits and documents accompanying or relating thereto proved to be a true copy by the affidavit of some person who has compared the same with the original.

An assignment of a Bill of Sale need not be registered but it may be by filing the assignment accompanied by an affidavit of an attesting witness.

No mortgage or bill of sale can be given as security over growing crops except for the price of seed grain or for provisions, wages, or repairs called "Necessaries" furnished to the mortgagor.

Claims Against Estates of Deceased Persons. The executor, administrator or any creditor may apply to a Judge in chambers for the administration of the estate of a deceased person, and for payment of claims against the estate.

Provision is also made for the appointment of an official administrator.

In the administration of the estate of the deceased persons simple contract debts and specialty debts rank equally. (Imp. Act, 32-33, Vic. Cap. 40.)

Creditors must be advertised for by executors and administrators of deceased persons pursuant to the directions of the Probate Judge.

Conditional Sales. No sale or bailment of goods to the value of $15.00 or upwards, conditioned that the right of property or of possession shall remain in the seller or bailor, is good as against a purchaser or mortgagee from the buyer or bailee, or against judgments, executions, or attachments against the purchaser or bailee, unless the sale or bailment is in writing and signed by the buyer, bailee, or their agent, and containing a description of the goods such that they may be known. The writing or a true copy thereof, accompanied by an affidavit of the seller, bailor, or his agent, stating that the writing truly sets out the agreement and that agreement is bona fide and not for the purpose of protecting the goods, must be registered in the registration district where the buyer or bailee resides within 30 days after actual delivery of the goods. If the goods are delivered in a district other than that in which the buyer or bailee resides registration must be made also within the same time in the district in which the goods are delivered. In the case of a subsequent permanent removal, registration must be made in the district into which the goods have been removed within 30 days of such removal. A seller or bailor repossessing must hold the goods for 20 days and give 5 days' notice of sale. The registration remains effective only for three years unless within the three years, a statement of the amount still due for principal and interest under such sale and all payments made on account thereof, is registered in the office of the Registration Clerk where the goods are situated, with an affidavit of the vendor or one of them or the Assignee of the Vendor or their agents duly authorized for that purpose that such statement is true and that the sale is not kept on foot for any fraudulent purposes or to defeat, delay or prejudice the creditors of the purchase. Similar statements must be similarly registered within three years from the filing of the above statement and so on. If these renewal statements are not so filed the property or right of possession in the goods shall after each succeeding period of three years be deemed to have passed to the Purchaser. No registration is required if the goods at the time of the actual delivery have the Manufacturer's or Vendor's name printed, painted, or stamped thereon or attached thereto by a plate or similar device provided that such Manufacturer or Vendor, being Seller, keeps an office in Alberta where inquiry may be made and information procured concerning the sale or bailment of such goods and providing the Manufacturer or his agent within five days after receiving a request for particulars of the sale from any creditors of the buyer furnishes to him a statement of the amount paid thereon and the balance remaining unpaid. Assignments of lien notes or conditional sales agreements transfer all of the assignor's property in the goods and his rights of seizure and sale, etc. but do not require registration as Bills of Sale. In case of default the Vendor may either seize or bring an action for the balance, not both. In each case he is limited to the amount realized by the sale of the goods under seizure, or on the execution in the action.

(See Seizure and Sale.)
Corporations. Incorporation of a company for any lawful purpose to which the authority of the Legislative Assembly of the Province extends may be obtained under the Companies Act of the Province by any number of persons not less than three in number.

Application is made by filing with the Registrar Memorandum of Association signed by the applicants, being not less than three in number, and otherwise complying with the Act.

Companies may be limited by shares, by guarantee, or may be incorporated as unlimited companies. Where limited by shares shareholders are only liable for unpaid balance on the shares subscribed for. Mining Companies may be incorporated under special provisions relating to such and if so provided in charter shareholders are not liable for more than the amount paid by them on shares. Companies may also be incorporated under the Dominion Companies Act.

By the Corporations Taxation Act, Revised Statutes of Alberta, 1922, Chap. 29 certain corporations are subject to special taxes to be paid to the Province.

The Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act 1934. Chapter 53, Statutes of Canada, 1934, is a species of Bankruptcy legislation passed to enable farmers to compromise with their creditors and the Bankruptcy Act applies except where specially excepted by the Arrangement Act.

By this Act a farmer may submit a proposal to an Official Receiver appointed under the Act. A meeting of the creditors is held and if approved and confirmed by the court becomes binding on all parties. The Official Receiver, however, cannot approve a compromise which affects the right of a secured creditor without the secured creditor's consent.

If the creditors do not agree on the proposal as submitted or amended the farmer or any creditor may appeal to a Board of Review consisting of three Commissioners, one of whom is a Judge of the Supreme Court. This Board has power if the creditors and debtor cannot agree to a composition to formulate a composition or arrangement themselves and when approved by the Court becomes binding on all parties.

Foreign Companies. Every foreign company which carries on business in the Province must register under the Companies Act within thirty days after the commencement to carry on business in the Province. A Company is not deemed to be carrying on business which has no resident agent or representative or no warehouse, office, or place of business in the Province. A detailed statement of the Company's charter, etc., must be made on application for registration and the necessary fees paid. An Attorney resident within the Province must be appointed by the Company. Annual statements must be made by the Company subsequent to registration, particulars of which are obtained from the Registrar of Companies. Any foreign company not being a company incorporated under the Companies Act of the Dominion of Canada shall not, while unregistered, be capable of commencing or maintaining any action or other proceeding in any court in respect of any contract made in the Province or in connection with its business nor shall it be capable of acquiring or holding lands or any interest therein in the Province.

Insurance Companies and Banking Companies must be incorporated under the acts of the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada.

The Execution Creditors' Act. By this Act there is no priority among execution creditors of any debtors. The Sheriff realizing money under execution, writ of attachment, garnishee proceedings or proceedings in the nature of equitable execution shall distribute the same subject to costs and preferred claims within fourteen days in most cases or such further time as the Judge may order. Creditors who have not executions in the Sheriff's hands at the time may file their claims pursuant to specified rules in that behalf and shall then share in the distribution.

Courts. There are two courts: supreme and district. The judges of the supreme court have jurisdiction in any judicial district in the Province. The judges of the district court only have jurisdiction in their respective judicial districts, but an action begun in one district may be transferred to another. The district court has jurisdiction in all cases, actions, matters, suits or proceedings, whether of debt, covenant, contract or damage or involving the validity of any will or settlement or in relation to land or any legal or equitable interest therein, or in actions seeking equitable relief or for a declaratory judgment, or to establish the right of a creditor, to rank upon an insolvent estate, and generally in all matters which may be made the subject of a claim for relief whether legal or equitable, or to enforce any right whether legal or equitable where the debt, damage claim or demand does not exceed $600. The district court has also jurisdiction in all probate matters. Actions in the District Court must be commenced and carried on in the District in which the Defendant resides or carries on business, unless special leave is obtained to bring same elsewhere. The supreme court has jurisdiction in all other matters. There is an Appellate Division of the Supreme Court which decides all appeals from Supreme and District courts.

Deeds—Acknowledgments, etc. This is an incorrect appellation under the existing ("Torrens") system of land transfer. Land is now conveyed by a transfer. Transfers, mortgages, etc., should be executed in the presence of one witness who can write, and for the purpose of registration an affidavit of execution must be attached or endorsed. General forms are provided by statute relating to registration. The affidavit of execution, if made in the Province, shall be made before the inspector of land titles offices, registrar or deputy registrar of the district in which the land is situate, or a judge, or a stipendiary magistrate, notary public, commissioner for taking affidavits, or a justice of the peace in and for the Province; if made in any province of Canada, before a judge or any court of record, and in any province for taking affidavits in such province for use in any court of record in Alberta, or before any notary public under his official seal. In Great Britain or Ireland before a judge of the supreme court of judicature in Great Britain or Ireland, or of the court of sessions or judiciary court in Scotland, or a judge of any county, courts within his county, or the mayor of any city or incorporated town under its common seal, or before any commissioner in Great Britain or Ireland for taking affidavits for use in Alberta, or a notary public under his official seal; or if made in any British possession or colony out of Canada, before a judge of any court of record, the mayor of any city or incorporated town under its common seal, or notary public under its official seal; if made in a foreign country, before the mayor of any city or town under its common seal, or the British consul, vice-consul, or consular agent therein, or before a judge of any court of record, or a notary public under his official seal. (Land Titles Act, Alberta.)

Debt Adjustment Act. In 1937 the Debt Adjustment laws were consolidated. The Provisions of the Act now extend to all resident debtors. No action for any debt or for sale under foreclosure of land or under judgment of the court, no seizure under distress for rent or lien contract or to enforce the provisions of any chattel mortgage may be taken or continued without the consent of the Debt Adjustment Board. Further, any resident debtor who is in financial difficulties may apply to the Debt Adjustment Board for a certificate which if granted protects him from all actions for debt or foreclosure during the currency of the certificate. The debtor who has been granted a certificate is required to pay over to the Board one-fourth of his grain, livestock or gross earnings when they exceed $480.00 per year. There are special provisions with regard to the protection of farmers who by reason of bad crops are unable to provide themselves with the necessities of life and pay their obligations. They may apply to the Board and obtain leave to retain from any payments required to be made under crop lease or mortgage sufficient produce or revenue to provide them with the necessities.

Depositions. Depositions in any case or matter pending in court may be taken out of the Province under commission. Application for same is made by way of Notice of Motion before a Judge or Master in Chambers.

Descent. If the Intestate leaves a widow and any child or children or descendants of any child, the widow shall, if only one child has been born to the marriage, take a half interest in the property of the deceased and the child shall take the other half. If more than one child has been born to the marriage, the widow takes one-third and the children or surviving child shall take two-thirds.

If the intestate leaves no issue his widow shall take all provided she has not left him and is not living in adultery at the time of his death.

The husband of a married woman is entitled to the whole of her estate upon her dying intestate without issue unless he has left her and is living in adultery at the time of his death.

The father and mother of any person dying intestate leaving no wife or children take all the intestate's property in equal shares; if either is dead the surviving parent takes all.

In default of issue or parents the deceased's brothers and sisters take his property in equal shares, children of a deceased brother or sister take the share of their parent, and in default of all of these the property goes to the next of kin to the deceased in equal shares.

The estate of a woman dying intestate is distributed in the same proportions and in the same manner as the estate of a man so dying. In the distribution of any personal property of any woman dying intestate, illegitimate children of the same rank as though they were legitimate and the mother of any illegitimate child dying intestate leaving no wife, husband or child shall take all the personal property of the child.

Distress. (See Seizure and Sale.)

Dower. A Dower Act was passed by the Provincial Legislature on April 5, 1917. It provides that any disposition inter vivos of a man's homestead, made during the life of the wife is void, unless made with the consent in writing of the wife. The wife must acknowledge before a Notary Public or other officer authorized to take affidavits in connection with the execution of documents required to be registered, apart from her husband that she has executed the instrument of her own free will and accord and without any compulsion on the part of her husband. Every disposition by Will of a married man of his homestead is subject and postponed to an Estate for life of his wife surviving him. The term "homestead" in a City, Town, or Village means the house and lots, not exceeding four lots, on which the residence of the owner is situate and elsewhere means the land on which the residence of the owner is situate, consisting of not more than 160 acres, and "homestead" has an extended meaning so far as a disposition by will or devolution is concerned, including his personal property exempt from seizure in his lifetime. The Act, however, does not affect any disposition of property provided for in writing before the passing of the Act. Where a man and wife are residing separate and apart the wife's consent may be dispensed with in the discretion of a judge on good cause shown, and where at the time of her husband's death the wife is living apart from him under circumstances disentitling her to alimony, she takes no life estate or benefit under the Act.

Evidence. (See Testimony.)

Executions. Executions may be issued immediately on signing judgment unless the judge fixes a period for payment and except in cases for foreclosure or specific performance, but in such cases a clerk's certificate of the judgment may be filed in the Land Titles office preventing transfers. No execution may be issued in foreclosure actions until the land is sold. Absolute foreclosure is equivalent to satisfaction of the mortgage. Every writ of execution shall be issued against both goods and lands of the debtor and shall remain in force so long as the judgment on which it is issued remains in force unless otherwise provided by any statute for the purpose of such statute.

Exemptions. The following are exempt from seizure under writs of execution: 1. The necessary and ordinary clothing of himself and his family. 2. Furniture and household furnishings and household appliances to the value of $700.00. 3. Cattle, sheep, pigs, fowls, grain, flour, vegetables, meat, dairy and farm produce sufficient to provide: (a) food and other necessities of life for debtor and family for next 12 months. (b) payment of any sums incurred in harvesting his crops or amounts borrowed during the preceding six months for purchase of feed, etc. (c) payment of current taxes and one year's arrears. (d) necessary cash outlays during the next ensuing 12 months for the repair and replacement of agricultural implements. 4. All horses or animals and farm machinery, dairy and farm equipment reasonably necessary for the debtor's agricultural operations for the next 12 months. 5. One tractor and one automobile valued at $800.00 or motor truck required for agricultural purposes or in his trade or calling. 6. Seed grain sufficient to feed the execution debtor's land under cultivation. 7. The books of a professional man required in his profession. 8. The necessary tools and necessary implements and equipment to the value of $500.00 used by the debtor in the practice of his trade or profession. 9. The homestead of the debtor of not more than 160 acres. 10. The house actually occupied by the execution debtor and buildings used in connection therewith and the lot or lots on which they are situated to the value of $3,000.00.

Any article except for the food, clothing, and bedding of the defendant and his family, the price of which forms the subject matter of the judgment upon which execution issued, is not exempt.

In case of death, the exemptions may be claimed by the widow, children, executor, administrator, or other personal representative of the deceased. A mortgagee now has the right to withdraw from seizure as exempt similar articles although covered by a chattel mortgage. These exemptions do not apply to judgments for alimony or to maintenance for wife or children nor if the debtor has absconded from the Province.

Infants. An official known as the Official Guardian is the guardian of the estates of all infants who have no other guardian. And no application in which an infant's person or estate is conserved may be proceeded with except after notice to the Official Guardian. Husband and wife have equal rights as to custody of children. In case of dispute the welfare of the infant is practically only thus considered.

If the parents of a child born out of lawful wedlock subsequently intermarry the child is regarded legitimate from birth.

Holidays. Every Sunday, New Year's Day, Ash Wednesday, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Victoria Day (May 24), the King's Birthday (June 3), Dominion Day (July 1st), Labor Day (first Monday in September), Thanksgiving Day (Proclaimed by Proclamation), Armistice Day, Christmas Day, and any other day which may by proclamation be declared a holiday. When a holiday falls on Sunday, the following Monday is a holiday.

Interest. Five per cent is the legal rate of interest if no other amount is agreed upon. Parties may stipulate for the payment of any rate of interest with the exception of Money Lenders who are not allowed to charge a rate exceeding 12 per cent on loans under $500. Except as to mortgages on real estate, whenever any interest by the terms of any contract is made payable at a rate per day, week or month or for any period less than a year, no interest exceeding the rate of 5 per cent per annum shall be recoverable unless the contract contains an expressed statement of the yearly rate or percentage to which such other rate is equivalent.

Judgments. Judgments remain in force for ten years from the date thereof.

To be binding on land, a writ of execution issued on the judgment must be registered in the Land Titles Office.

Renewals of such writs must be registered in the Land Titles Office within six years from the date of registration of the writ.

Liens, Mechanics'. Every mechanic, machinist, builder, miner, laborer, contractor, and other persons doing work upon and furnishing materials in respect to any building, erection or mine, or furnishing machinery or material in respect thereof, has a lien for the amount of such work or value of such material, machinery, etc., on said building, erection or mine, etc., and the lands on which same are situate. He has thirty-five days within which to file statement of his account in the Land Titles Office and every lien in respect of which an affidavit has been filed against the title of the land shall be deemed to have lapsed after the expiration of sixty days after service upon the lien holder of a notice provided for by the Mechanics Lien Act unless before the expiration of the said thirty days the lien holder shall have taken proceedings in Court to enforce his lien and shall have filed in the Land Titles Office certificate of his pendens.

Limitations of Actions. All actions for recovery of merchants' bills and notes and all actions for trespass and on a bond or recognizance or both or other specialty or on a simple contract or for fraudulent misrepresentations or mistake or other equitable ground of relief shall be commenced before the expiration of six years. Actions on a mortgage or other claims being a charge on land—10 years; on a judgment or order for payment of money after 10 years. If the debtor, however, acknowledges in writing to the creditor the debt or makes a payment on account then the action must be brought within six years of the date of such promise or acknowledgment or payment on account. Foreign judgments, the period of limitation is six years if the debtor appeared in or attorned to the original court, or was resident within its jurisdiction in which such foreign judgment was obtained. If he did not appear or attorn, or was not resident within the jurisdiction of such court, then such foreign judgment is really of no value, and claim in Alberta should be based upon the original cause of action, and the period of limitation will be governed accordingly.

Married Women. Real and personal estate of married women are free from husband's debts. She may convey to her husband and her husband may convey to her without the intervention of trustees. She may carry on business separate from her husband as if she were a femme sole. Her husband is not entitled to any estate by curtesy in her real property.

(See also Dower and Infants.)

Mortgages. Mortgages are executed in the form prescribed by the Land Titles Acts (Torrens' System). A mortgage does not operate as a transfer of land, but after default of payment the mortgagee can institute foreclosure proceedings which are carried on by direction of court, or in the office of the Registrar. Mortgages must be duly registered under the provision of the Land Titles Act, and take priority in order of registration. All transferees of title of land subject to mortgage are impliedly bound to pay the amount of the mortgage unless in the transfer they expressly negative the implied covenant to pay. Proceedings on mortgages are now fixed by an amendment to the Land Titles Act in 1915, such amendment being Section 63a of the said Act. If wife has dower in land proposed to be mortgaged she must bar her dower or mortgage is subject to her life estate or dower.

Mortgages or other debts charged on the lands although under seal are barred after ten years.

Partnership. All persons associated in partnership for trading, manufacturing, contracting or mining purposes in the Province must file in the office of the Registrar, Clerk of the District declaration in writing signed by the various members and giving particulars required by act. Registration must be made within six months after the commencement of the partnership.

Every person engaged in business for any of the purposes mentioned and who is not in partnership with anyone but trades under a name indicating a plurality of members shall file declaration setting out particulars.

The act provides for penalty for non-registration and also provides for the filing and publication of declaration of dissolution of partnership.

Proof of Claims. In all cases in which the party pleading relies on any misrepresentation, fraud, breach of trust, wilful default or undue influence and in all other cases in which particulars may be necessary, particulars shall be stated in the pleadings provided that if the particulars be of debt, expenses or damages and exceed three folios the fact must be so stated, with reference to full particulars delivered or to be delivered. (Rules of Court, 1914.) If the claim is contested, claims may be proved by commission to take evidence abroad. If on judgment, exemplification of same is required. If the plaintiff resides out of the jurisdiction, defendant may demand security for costs which must be furnished within time fixed by court, or action stands dismissed. The security usually ordered is a deposit of $200 or more or a bond with two resident responsible sureties in the sum of $200.

Protest. It is not necessary in this Province to protest Inland Bills. It is only necessary to protest a foreign bill, that is, one which is not or does not on its face purport to be both drawn and payable within Canada. But as a Notarial protest is a convenient form of proof, the practice of protesting bills has, as a rule, been adopted in this Province. If bill is not protested, Notice of Dishonour must be given to the drawer and each endorser not later than the juridical or business day next following dishonour of bill. This notice may be either in writing or by personal communication in any terms which identify the bill and intimate that it has been dishonoured. Protest must be made by a notary public or in absence of a notary then by a justice of the peace. It must be made by an instrument in writing giving a literal copy of the bill of exchange with all that is written thereon, or annexing the original, stating the presentment and the manner in which it was made, the presence, or absence of the drawee, or acceptor, as the case may be, the refusal to accept or pay, or the inability of the drawee to give a binding acceptance, and in case of refusal the reason assigned, if any, and finally protesting against all the parties to be charged.

Recording Acts. Registration of land in the Province of Alberta and registration offices are provided for by the Land Titles Act of Alberta. The registration districts are respectively North Alberta and South Alberta. Transfers, mortgages, assignments, and other instruments, to be in substance in forms given by acts, which are of very simple character. It is further declared in act that no instrument till registered be effectual to pass any estate or interest in any land (except a leasehold interest for the period of three years or less), or render such land liable as security for payment of money, but when registered has full force and effect. An instrument before registered must be attested by a witness, who must make affidavit as to same.

Instruments take priority according to time of registration. A certificate of title may be granted under the act which is declared to operate as conclusive evidence that the person named in such certificate is entitled to the land included in such certificate for the estate and interest therein specified. An assurance fund is provided to compensate a party deprived of land by any fraud, error, omission or misdescription, in any certificate or title.

Redemption. (See Mortgages.)

Replevin. The plaintiff claiming that personal property was unlawfully taken and is unlawfully detained may obtain an order of replevin. Such order may be obtained from the Clerk on praecipe grounded on affidavit of the plaintiff or his agent stating description and value of the property and the right to possession and that the property was unlawfully taken or fraudulently got out of his possession within two months next before making the affidavit, etc.

Such order may also be obtained from a Judge on motion. Before the Sheriff replevies the plaintiff must give a bond to him in such sum as is prescribed by order or if no sum is prescribed in double the value of the property.

Rules of Court, 1914.

Review of Judgment. Appeal lies to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. Notice must be given within twenty days after formal judgment or order has been signed and entered. Leave to appeal is necessary where the amount in question on appeal is less than $200. Execution is not stayed unless specially ordered by the Judge. (See Rules of Court, 1914.)

Seizure and Sale. Every distress or seizure under any lien, attachment clause in real estate mortgage or agreement for sale, conditional sale, chattel mortgage, bill of sale, lien note, hire receipt, ware-house receipt or any other extra judicial process shall be made, levied and executed by the Sheriff, Sheriff's Bailiff or some person authorized in writing by the Sheriff, Assistant or Deputy Sheriff and by no other person whatsoever. No sale may be made without first obtaining leave of the Court, if notice of objection to the sale is filed by the debtor within fourteen days from the date of seizure.

Statute of Frauds. The fourth section of the Imperial Statute of Frauds is in force and is as follows: "That no action shall be brought whereby to charge any executor or administrator upon any special promise to answer damages out of his own estate; or whereby to charge the defendant upon any special promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another person or to charge any person upon any agreement made in consideration of marriage, or upon any contract or sale of lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or any interest in or concerning them or upon any agreement that is not to be performed within the space of one year from the making thereof, unless the agreement upon which action shall be brought or some memorandum or note thereof shall be in writing and signed by the party to be charged therewith, or some other person thereunto by him lawfully authorized."

By the sale of goods ordinance a contract for the sale of goods of the value of $50.00 or upward shall not be enforceable by action unless the buyer shall accept part of the goods so sold and actually receive the same, or give something in earnest to bind the contract or in part payment, or unless some note or memorandum in writing of the contract be made and signed by the party to be charged, or his agent in that behalf.

No action shall be brought whereby to charge any person either by way of commission or otherwise, for services rendered in connection with the sale of any land, tenements, or hereditaments or any interest therein, unless the contract upon which recovery is sought in such action, or some note or memorandum thereof, is in writing signed by the party sought to be charged, or by his agent, thereunto lawfully authorized in writing. Or unless the person sought to be charged as the result of the services of an agent has effected a sale or lease of lands and has either executed a transfer or lease or entered into an agreement for sale entitling the purchaser to possession and has delivered the agreement or transfer to the purchaser.

Taxes. Taxes are a lien on land. When they are in arrears for more than a year (i.e. from the end of the year in respect of which they became due) a tax recovery notification is made on the title by the Registrar at the Land Titles office of the Registration District within which the land is situated. After the expiry of one year from the first day of April of the year in which such notification was made if the taxes are still unpaid, the land is offered for sale by public auction, and if not then sold, may be sold by private sale. Title to the land is finally acquired by the Municipality on the expiry of one year from the date of the public auction, if the land is not sold and the taxes are not paid in the meantime. Redemption may be made at any time before sale or final acquisition by the Municipality on payment of all arrears of taxes and costs.

Taxes may be distrained for if not paid within a certain period after notice requiring them to be paid has been mailed. In the case of a Village, Municipal District of Local Improvement District, thirty days is the time allowed, and in the case of towns, if the debtor is a resident, fourteen days, and if a non-resident, one month is allowed. Taxes may also be recovered by suit as a debt.

Testimony. Witnesses are examined viva voce in open court but the judge may order that any particular fact may be proved by affidavit or that affidavit of any person may be read at the trial, or he may order that any witnesses whose attendance in court for some reason ought to be dispensed with may be examined by interrogatories or before a commissioner or examiner. Any evidence taken in one cause may by leave of the judge be read in any other cause or matter. Copies of all writs, records, pleadings, documents, etc., filed in court are, when verified by clerk, admissible in any cause or matter to the same extent as the original would be. The provisions of the Canada Evidence Act apply to all criminal proceedings and to all civil proceedings and other matters respecting which the Parliament of Canada has jurisdiction in this behalf. The Canada Evidence Act also applied to the taking of evidence relating to proceedings in Courts out of Canada. (See Rules of Court, 1914.)

Alberta Evidence Act, 1910. Canada Evidence Act.

Trust Deeds to Secure Debentures. Every mortgage made by a company for the purpose of securing any debentures or on any uncalled or unpaid share capital or as a floating charge on its undertaking or as a charge on good will or any patent or trade mark or license shall be registered with the Registrar of Companies within sixty days after the date of its creation otherwise it shall be void as against the liquidator or subsequent purchasers or mortgagors provided that the court may extend the time for registration on cause being shown. If any receiver is appointed under any such mortgage or trust deed he shall make returns to the Registrar periodically of receipts and payments.

Wills. Any wills to be valid must be in writing, or typewritten, witnessed by two competent witnesses, and signed by the testator or by some person in his presence, and by his express direction, or wholly in the handwriting of the testator and signed by him whether attested or not. The two witnesses shall attest and subscribe in the presence of the testator and if the witnesses are competent at the time of attesting the execution of the will, their subsequent incompetency, from whatever cause it may arise, shall not prevent the probate and allowance of the will. No subscribing witness to any will or the wife or husband of such witness can derive any benefit therefrom. Wills are admitted to probate in the court of the proper district upon petition being filed after lapse of seven days from death of testator.

Wills are revoked by subsequent marriage except when expressed to be in contemplation thereof or in exercise of a power of appointment in respect of property which would not otherwise pass to the heirs or personal representatives of the testator.

Workmen's Compensation. A system of government insurance of workmen at expense of the employers is in force.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Prepared by HEISTERMAN & MANZER, Barristers,
Suite 1, Bank of Montreal Bldg., Victoria
(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgment of Deeds, Etc. (or proof by subscribing witness), for registry in British Columbia, if taken within the Province, may be before the registrar or deputy registrar of titles, a stipendiary magistrate or justice of the peace, a judge or registrar of a court having a seal, a commissioner for affidavits or a notary public. If taken or acknowledged without British dominions, may be before any British ambassador, charge d'affaires, minister, consul, or consular agent appointed to reside in the country where the acknowledgment or proof is taken; any judge of any court of record having a seal, or any notary public practicing in such country, certified to be such by a British ambassador, charge d'affaires, minister, consul, or consular agent, or by the governor or secretary of the State, province, or territory. The fact of the taking of such acknowledgment must appear by a certificate under the hand and official seal of the officer taking the same, endorsed upon or attached to the instrument. Such certificate must show that the person making the acknowledgment or proof (being either personally known to the officer or his identity proved by the oath or affirmation of a competent witness) has appeared before the officer (stating when) and acknowledged that he is the person mentioned in the instrument as the maker thereof, and whose name is subscribed as party thereto, that he knows the contents thereof and executed the same voluntarily, and that he is of the full age of twenty-one years. Deeds and instruments by corporations should be executed and acknowledged by the secretary; and the certificate of acknowledgment must state, in addition to such of the above matters as are applicable, that such secretary acknowledged that he is the person who subscribed his name and affixed the seal of the corporation, as the secretary, to such instrument, and that he was first duly authorized to subscribe and affix the said seal to the same and that the company is authorized to hold and dispose of land in the Province.

Actions. See Courts and their jurisdictions.

Administration of Estates of Deceased Persons. There are no separate courts of probate, but county courts have, within their respective districts, concurrent jurisdiction with the supreme court, to grant administration or otherwise act in probate matters, where the personal estate of the deceased does not exceed $2,500. In larger estates the supreme court has sole jurisdiction. Persons taking out administration must furnish security for the due performance of the trust by furnishing a bond with two sureties, in double the amount of the personal estate. Creditors rank equally upon estates of deceased persons (subject to any security they may hold), there being no priority of specialty debts over simple contract debts. Where a person dies intestate as to personal property, or having appointed an executor resident out of the province, administration may be granted to the attorney of the executor or administrator of the estate or to the official administrator. Claims against the estates of deceased persons should be presented to the executor or administrator, verified by affidavit or declaration made before a proper officer. (See Succession, Duties.)

Affidavits, Affirmations, and Declarations may be sworn or made abroad, for use in British Columbia, before a commissioner authorized to administer oaths in the supreme court of judicature in England; a judge of any of the superior courts of England, Ireland, or Scotland; a judge of any of the county courts of England or Ireland, within his county; a notary public, certified under his hand and official seal; the mayor or chief magistrate of any city, borough, or town corporate in Great Britain or Ireland, or in any British colony without Canada, or in any foreign country, certified under the common seal of such city, borough, or town corporate; a judge of any court of record or of supreme jurisdiction in any British colony or dependency without Canada, or in any foreign country; or before any British consul, vice-consul, or consular agent, exercising his functions in a foreign place, or before any Officer in His Majesty's Naval, Military or Air Forces of or above the rank of Lieutenant Commander, Major, or Squadron Leader. (See Evidence.)

Aliens have the same capacity as natural-born British subjects to take, hold, enjoy, recover, convey and transmit title to land and real estate of every description in British Columbia.

Arrest. In actions in the supreme or county court, the defendant may be arrested in the first instance on a writ of capias, where the claim is for debt or damages amounting to $100 or upward. Such writ issues on a judge's order, upon the plaintiff filing an affidavit showing a cause of action against the defendant to the amount of $100 or upward, or that he has sustained damages to that amount, and that there is probable cause for believing that the defendant is about to quit the Province unless forthwith apprehended.

Attachment. (See Courts, Garnishee.)

Bankruptcy. (See Bankruptcy under New Brunswick Laws.)

Banks and Banking are not within the jurisdiction of the provincial legislature, but are dealt with by the Canadian federal parliament, and the law is the same for all the provinces. (See Nova Scotia, same subject.)

Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes. The law on this subject is governed by the Canadian federal parliament, and is the same for all the provinces. (Bills of Exchange Act, Canada.) Bills and notes are negotiable, and the general law is almost identical with that of England, and much the same as in most of the United States of America. Three days' grace are allowed on all bills and notes, except when payable on demand.

Bills of Sale and Chattel Mortgages. Bills of Sale and Chattel Mortgages where the goods comprised therein remain in the apparent possession of the Grantor thereof to be valid as against subsequent bona fide purchasers or mortgagors for valuable consideration, execution creditors or trustee in bankruptcy, are required to be registered in the office of the County Court Registry in the district wherein the goods are situate within five days after the making thereof, where the goods transferred or mortgaged are within the corporate limits of the municipality within which such office is situate, and in other cases within twenty-one days. The Bill of Sale or Chattel Mortgage must be accompanied by an affidavit of execution in the prescribed form and also an affidavit of bona fides as prescribed by the Bills of Sale Act.

A Bill of Sale comprising a motor vehicle is filed in the office of the Commissioner of Provincial Police at Victoria instead of a County Court Registry. Time for registration is ten days from the execution of the Bill where the motor vehicle is in the Counties of Victoria, Nanaimo, Vancouver and Westminster and in all other cases twenty-one days from the execution. When other goods are included as well as a motor vehicle the document is to be filed in the proper County Court Registry as well as the Police Office.

It is necessary to renew the registration of a Chattel Mortgage within three years from its first registration and every three years thereafter. In respect of Chattel Mortgages registered prior to the 23rd March, 1935, the first renewal of registration must be made within three years from that date.

Bulk Sales. (See Sale of Goods in Bulk.)

Companies. Companies may be incorporated in British Columbia by special Act of the Legislature and (except as to Railway and Insurance Companies) under the Companies Act. The Companies Act provides for the incorporation of two classes of Companies, namely, a Company which restricts the right of transfer of its shares, limits the number of its members to fifty or less exclusive of members who are employees and prohibits any invitation to the public to subscribe for its shares or debentures; and a public Company, which must consist of not less than five members. The capital of the Company may be divided into shares with a nominal capital of any amount or with shares of no par value. There is no liability on the part of the shareholders in respect of shares held by them other than to pay for the par value of their shares or in case of non par value shares, the value at which the same were issued. A Company, other than a non-personal liability Company, must sell its shares for money or moneys worth, and must not issue its shares at a discount. Provision is also made for non-personal liability Mining Companies, which Companies may issue their shares at a discount and such members are not personally liable to the Company to pay the amount, if any, which may remain unpaid on their shares. Companies incorporated outside the Province of British Columbia are required to obtain a license to carry on business as defined by the Act, within the Province, and are liable to a penalty if they fail to do so. Companies incorporated or licensed within the Province pay a fee in order to obtain incorporation or a license, but the payment of an annual fee is not required. All Companies must file with the Registrar of Companies each year an Annual Return showing its members, Directors and financial statement (except that a private company is not required to file its financial statement). The Companies Act is drawn upon the lines of the English Companies Act and many of its provisions are similar.

Conditional Sale of Goods. Receipt notes, lien orders, or hire receipts must be evidenced in writing signed prior to, or at the time of, or within 10 days after the delivery of the goods and filed within thirty (30) days in the office of the county court registrar of the district in which the goods are delivered, and also filed in the like office in the district in which the buyer resides. Like documents covering goods delivered outside the Province must also be registered within twenty (20) days after their removal to this Province. Otherwise they are void as against subsequent purchasers or mortgagees. A copy of the receipt note, lien order or hire-receipt must also be left within the purchaser. Goods held under a conditional sale agreement are subject to distress for rent due by the purchaser, to the extent only of the interest of such purchaser in the goods. Where the document comprises a motor vehicle it is filed at the office of the Commissioner of Provincial Police at Victoria within the time limited above instead of in the County Court Registry. When other goods are included as well as a motor vehicle the document is to be filed in the proper County Court Registry as well as the Police Office. The registration of a Conditional Sale must be renewed every three years in the prescribed manner, except that Conditional Sale Agreements filed prior to the 29th March, 1934, must be renewed within three years from that date. If the chattels to be sold are to become fixtures to land, then notice of the Conditional Sale Agreement must also be filed in the Land Registry Office within which the land upon which the fixtures are to be installed is situate.

Contracts. (See Frauds, Statute of.)

Conveyances. (See Acknowledgments, Deeds.)

Corporations. (See Companies.)

Costs, Security for, must be given in supreme and county court actions, if demanded, where the plaintiff resides outside British Columbia, or is an extra-provincial corporation, unless the plaintiff is the owner of real estate in the province. (See Companies.) The amount is fixed by a judge in the province. In the County Court where the Plaintiff's claim is for less than $100, a cash deposit of $25 is required in all other cases a cash deposit of $50 or a bond of like amount.

Courts and Their Jurisdictions. Small debts courts (preided) over by police and stipendiary magistrates) have jurisdiction within their districts, concurrently with the county courts and supreme court, in actions of debt, or damages, where the demand does not exceed $100, but have no jurisdiction where the title to land comes in question. County courts have jurisdiction, concurrently with the supreme court, in personal actions for debt or damages, up to $1,000; in ejectment where the value of the premises does not exceed $2,500; in replevin where the goods do not exceed $1,000 in value; equitable jurisdiction (including trusts, foreclosure, specific performance, injunctions, accounts, etc.) up to $2,500; jurisdiction in probate matters where the personal estate does not exceed $2,500. In the county court, as in the supreme court, execution may issue only against goods, but the judge may order defendant's lands to be sold where judgment is over $100. (See Execution.) An appeal lies, with or without special leave according to the nature of the judgment, to the court of appeal, from any judgment or order of a county court, whether interlocutory or final. The supreme court has jurisdiction over all actions civil and criminal, arising in the province, and is vested with all the powers of the courts of common law, chancery, and probate. An appeal lies to the court of appeal from any order or judgment of a judge. An appeal lies from the judgment of the court of appeal to the supreme court of Canada, at Ottawa, and to the judicial committee of the privy council, England. (See also Arrest, Costs, Evidence, Execution, Garnishee, Judgments, Probate, Replevin.)

Deeds, Mortgages, and Registration. Deeds, mortgages, and other transfers and charges affecting lands need not necessarily be under seal, except in the case of bodies corporate, but it is advisable to so have them. They must be registered in the registry office of the district wherein the lands to be affected lie, in order to be valid and mortgages executed by incorporated companies must also be registered with the Registrar of Companies within twenty-one days after execution. Priority of registration creates priority of title, and purchasers, for valuable consideration, of registered real estate or registered interest therein are not affected by notice, express, or implied, of any prior unregistered title affecting the same, save only leasehold interests in possession for a term not exceeding three years. Want of consideration alone will not invalidate a registered voluntary conveyance executed in good faith. A will cannot be registered until probate thereof has been granted. The execution of instruments requiring to be registered must be first proved or acknowledged before the proper officer. (See Acknowledgments.)

Descent of Real Property. The real property of a person dying intestate descends to the administrator and is liable for the intestate's debts in the same manner as personality.

Dower. There is no right to dower.

Execution. In the supreme or county court, where judgment is for non-payment of a sum of money or costs, or for the recovery of land, execution against goods, or for delivery of possession of the land, as the case may be, may issue forthwith. On judgments of a different nature than above specified, unless otherwise ordered, fourteen days must elapse before execution. There is no execution against lands, but where a judgment has been recovered exceeding $100, the judgment may be registered against lands of the defendants, and a judge may order the same sold by the sheriff to satisfy the judgment. Judgments registered against lands affect the lands from the time of the registration of the judgment, and bind the same for two years; they may be renewed for a further period of two years, and so from time to time. (See Judgment.) An execution binds goods from the time of actual seizure thereunder.

Executors and Administrators. (See Administration, Probate Succession, Duties.)

Exemptions. The goods and chattels of any debtor, at his option, to the value of $500, are exempt from forced seizure of sale by any process of law or equity (save distress for rent or taxes). This does not extend to goods taken in satisfaction of a debt contracted for or in respect of such identical goods, nor to the stock in trade of a trader. Lands, duly registered as a homestead, are exempt to the value of $2,500. (See Homesteads, Garnishee.)

Frauds, Statute of. Leases, or estates in land, not in writing and signed by the party creating the same, have the force of estates at will only, except leases not exceeding three years. The following must also be in writing: Promise by an executor or administrator to answer damages out of his own estate; promise to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another person; agreement made upon consideration of marriage or upon any contract or sale of lands or of any interest therein; agreement which is not to be performed within one year; declaration or assignment of trust; acknowledgment of debt, to bar the operation of the statute of limitations (except where such acknowledgment takes the form of a payment on account of principal or interest) ratification or promise made after full age to pay a debt contracted during infancy; representation or assurance concerning the character, credit, ability, etc. of another person, in order that such person may obtain credit. No contract for the sale of goods valued at $50 or upwards is binding, unless the buyer accept and actually receive part of the goods sold, or give something in earnest to bind the bargain or in part payment, or sign a memorandum of the sale.

Foreclosure. Property subject to Mortgage may in default of payment be brought to sale under the powers contained in the Mortgage or an order for sale or for foreclosure of the equity of redemption obtained from the Court. The Mortgagees and Purchasers Relief Act 1934, however, provides that proceedings shall not be taken by way of foreclosure or sale, etc., or to enforce payment of principal money and interest payable under the provisions of any Mortgage or Agreement for Sale unless the leave of the Court is first obtained in the manner prescribed in the Act. The Act has no application to obligations or charges created by by-laws of Municipalities, moneys payable in respect of premiums of insurance, taxes, in arrears for one year or more, or to moneys payable under any instrument affecting lands situate without the Province or made or created after the 12th day of April, 1932, unless the property was the home of a Member of His Majesty's Forces and was created prior to the 6th of December, 1940. Furthermore the sale of the home of a Member of the Forces under a judgment is prohibited.

Garnishee. In all courts of the province, debts owing to the judgment debtor may be attached by the judgment creditor, upon an ex parte application supported by affidavit showing that judgment has been recovered and is still unsatisfied, and to what amount, or that an action is pending, verifying the debt, and stating that any other person is indebted to the judgment debtor, and is within the jurisdiction of the court. Debts due to defendant may be thus attached before judgment, as well as after. Wages due defendant are exempt from attachment up to $60 per month or a proportionate part thereof except where the Plaintiff's claim is for board or lodging. Salaries of Provincial Civil Servants are subject to attachment.

Homesteads. Lands may be registered as a homestead, up to the value of $2,500, upon the owner filing in the registry office a notice thereof and a declaration disclosing assets equal to that amount, or to the value of the homestead, where it is worth less than $2,500.

Insolvency. This is regulated by the "Bankruptcy Act"—a Federal Statute having force throughout all the Province. Insolvent debtors may make an assignment for the general benefit of creditors to an authorized trustee. Provision is also made to enforce such an assignment by court order. No person who has become a bankrupt under the Act can afterwards carry on business until discharged from bankruptcy by the court.

Interest. The legal rate of interest is 5 per cent, where no other rate is stipulated, but any rate may be agreed upon between the parties there being no usury law at present in force in Canada; banks, however, cannot lawfully recover more than 7 per cent on loans and money lenders are prohibited from charging more than twelve per cent on loans of less than $500. Unpaid bills of exchange and promissory notes bear interest at 5 per cent from maturity, whether so expressed or not.

Judgments of the supreme and county courts are valid for twenty years. They bind lands and interests therein of every description for two years from the time of registry thereof in the land registry office of the district wherein the lands lie, and affect lands acquired by the judgment debtor after, as well as before, registration of the judgment. Judgments must be registered before lands can be sold thereunder. (See Execution.) Registration may be renewed from time to time for a further period of two years. Foreign Judgments: Judgments recovered in any court outside of British Columbia are foreign judgments and this includes judgments of courts of the other provinces of Canada. A final judgment of a foreign court having jurisdiction over the parties and subject matter of the suit is conclusive between the parties, on the merits; and in an action brought in British Columbia upon such a judgment no defence can be given which might have been given in the original action, if the defendant was served with or had notice of the process in such original action, and an opportunity to answer it. A foreign judgment constitutes a simple contract debt and accordingly as to limitation of time for bringing action thereon, see Limitation of Actions.

Leases must be in writing, and signed by the lessor, except leases for terms not exceeding three years. They need not be under seal, except in the case of incorporated companies, but it is advisable to so have them, as consideration is then presumed. Leases for three years or more should be registered, and must be first proved or acknowledged. (See Acknowledgments.)

Limitations of Actions. Actions upon simple contracts notes, bills, accounts, libel, trespass to lands, detinue, replevin, and for seamen's wages, must be brought within six years; for assault, battery, wounding, or false imprisonment, within four years; and for slander and penalties fixed by statute, within two years from the time the cause of action respectively arose. Actions upon judgments, bonds, mortgages, or instruments under seal, or to recover lands must be brought within twenty years. Where the plaintiff is under any disability, such as infancy, coverture or lunacy, or the defendant is beyond seas, the limitation does not begin to run until the removal of the disability. Acknowledgments to bar the statute of limitations must be in writing. Foreign Limitations. An action cannot be maintained in British Columbia, on a cause of action arising beyond the Province, where it is barred by any statute of limitations of the country in which it arose. (See Judgments.)

Married Women, Property and Status of. A married woman may acquire, hold, and dispose, by will or otherwise, of any property, real or personal, as her separate property, in the same manner as if she were a femme sole, independently of her husband, and without the intervention of a trustee. She may contract in respect to her separate property, and sue and be sued without joining her husband, either in contract, tort, or otherwise; any damages or costs recovered by her are her separate property and if recovered against her are payable out of her separate property. Husband and wife may sue each other, except in tort, and give evidence against each other.

Partnerships are either general or limited, the latter consisting of one or more general partners associated with one or more special or silent partners, who contribute to the firm capital. General partners are each liable for all the partnership debts; special partners are not liable beyond the amount contributed by them to the capital, but are not allowed to transact business and sign for the partnership, or bind the same in any way, though they may examine the state and progress of the partnership concerns and advise as to the management. Special partners interfering further than this thereby become general partners, and are liable accordingly. Persons forming limited partnerships for trading, mining, or manufacturing business, within the Province, must register a certificate and publish notice thereof, and any renewal, change in members or objects, or dissolution must be similarly registered and published, otherwise the partnership is treated as a general one. General partnerships must also be registered and a certificate filed on their formation, dissolution, or any change in firm name or membership, or removal of any member from the province, otherwise a penalty is recoverable against the parties.

Probate. Where a person dies leaving a will, probate of the will is granted by the Courts, but the Executor is not required to furnish bonds. Where a person dies without the Province leaving a will and resident within British Dominion the foreign probate is resealed, but where he dies domiciled elsewhere abroad, Ancillary Probate is granted. (See Administration, Courts, Succession Duties, Wills.)

Promissory Notes. (See Bills of Exchange.)

Redemption. Mortgaged property may be redeemed up to time of actual sale, under power of sale or decree of court, upon payment of all arrears of principal and interest, together with costs of proceedings. Lands, sold for taxes may be redeemed within one year, if within incorporated municipalities, and two years in unincorporated communities, upon payment of arrears, interest, and costs.

Replevin. Where goods, chattels, papers or other personal effects are wrongfully held, taken or detained, the owner may bring an action of replevin to establish his right thereto and in such proceedings may obtain an Order of the Court and on furnishing the required bond obtain repossession of the property pending the determination of the replevin action.

Sale of Goods in Bulk. Purchasers of stocks-in-trade of goods in bulk must, before making any payment or giving any promissory note, etc., on account, obtain from the vendor an affidavit showing the names and addresses of the vendor's creditors, with amounts of their claims, or else a written waiver of such requirement, signed by the creditors; otherwise the sale is void as against such creditors if attached within 6 months.

Succession Duties on Estates of Deceased Persons are not charged on estates of less net value (after payment of all debts) than \$1,000, nor on estates of less value than \$20,000, where the property passes to the father, mother, husband, wife, child, grandchild, daughter-in-law, or son-in-law of the deceased. Save, as above mentioned, duty is charged ranging from $\frac{1}{4}$ per cent upwards, depending on the value of the estate and the degree of relationship of the inheritors. No Probate duties are charged on property of a deceased person passing to his wife, children or grandchildren. A duty of 1% is imposed on the portion of the Estate passing to a father, mother, husband, brother, sister, son-in-law, or daughter-in-law and a probate duty of 5% on strangers or those more distantly related. The foregoing applies to duties imposed by the Province. The Dominion Parliament at its session in the Spring of 1941 passed an Act also imposing Succession Duties on estates of persons dying after the 14th June 1941.

Taxes. Municipalities impose a tax on land and improvements but no personal property tax or income tax.

Provincial: The Province imposes a tax on lands and improvements situate outside of Municipalities and a tax on incomes, after allowing certain exemptions. The rate of taxation is 1% on the first thousand of taxable income, increasing until the rate of 10% is payable on an income of $20,000 or more. There is also a sur-tax on the excess income above $5,000.00 at prescribed rates.

Transfer of Corporation Stock must be effected in the manner fixed by the by-laws of the corporation.

Wages. (See Liens.)

Wills must be in writing, and signed at the foot by the testator, or by some other person in his presence and by his direction; and such signature must be made and acknowledged by the testator in the presence of two or more witnesses, present at the same time, who shall attest and subscribe in the presence of the testator. No form of attestation is necessary. Any property or interest in property may be disposed of by will, and a will speaks from the time of the testator's death, not from its execution. Infants cannot make a valid will. A gift to an attesting witness is void, but does not otherwise affect the will, or the competency of such witness to prove the execution. An executor may be a witness. A will is revoked: By marriage, except where made in exercise of a power of appointment; by a subsequent will or codicil, or some writing declaring an intention to revoke the same, and executed in the manner required for a will, or by the destruction of the will. Where real estate is devised without any words of limitation, such devise will pass the fee simple or other the whole estate of the testator therein, unless a contrary intention appears. Gifts to children or other issue, who have died leaving issue at the testator's death, do not lapse, but descend to such issue. A will must be duly proved in a court having jurisdiction in probate before it can be registered. Amendment to the "Wills Act" now provides that any member of the Naval, Military or Air Forces of the British Empire or of any Ally of Canada under the age of 21 years shall during the continuance of any war in which Canada is engaged have the same capacity for making a Will or testamentary disposition real and personal estate as if he were of the full age of 21 years. And further, that any such member may dispose of his real and personal estate by writing, signed by himself or by some other person in his presence and by his direction. Where such Will is signed by the testator, no witness is required, and where the Will is signed by another person on behalf of the testator, the signature of the person signing must be attested by the signature of at least one person who shall attest in the presence of the Testator and of the person signing, all being present at the same time when both signatures are affixed.

Arrest. No one can lawfully be arrested or held to bail for debt or non-payment of money.

Assignment of Book Debts. Every assignment of book debts made by any person engaged in a trade or business is void as against creditors or subsequent purchasers unless in writing and accompanied by affidavit of execution and affidavit of bona fides and registered within thirty days from the date of execution; if the trader is a corporation, in the County Court District where the head office in Manitoba is situate and if not a corporation in the District where the trader carries on business. The assignment as against creditors and subsequent purchasers takes effect only from the time of registration. No renewal statement is required.

The Act does not apply: to an assignment of book debts made by a corporation contained in trust deed, bonds or debentures; to any assignment of book debts due at the date of the assignment from specified debtors, or accruing due under specified contracts, or included in a transfer of business made bona fide and for value, or included in any authorized assignment under the Bankruptcy Act; to any valid assignment of the earnings of an implement in favor of the vendor under The Farm Implement Act.

Attachments. An order for attachment may be obtained in an action commenced by statement of claim, against any benefit, estate or interest in any real or personal property not exempt from seizure under execution or from liability to answer a judgment upon such cause of action in the following cases: 1. When any debtor or other person, being an inhabitant of Manitoba, shall depart therefrom with intent to defraud his creditors or to avoid arrest or service of process, or shall conceal himself therein with like intent. 2. When such debtor or other person, not being a resident of the Province, shall be indebted or liable to a resident of the Province upon contract. When said debtor or other person, whether resident or non-resident, is about to remove any of his property out of the said Province, or has assigned or secreted or is about to assign or secrete any of his property therein with intent to defeat, delay or defraud creditors. Except in one or two instances no bonds are required to be given by plaintiff. As to remedy by garnishee see "Garnishment". A judgment requiring a person to do or abstain from doing anything except the payment of money may be enforced by mandamus.

Bankruptcy. The Bankruptcy Act (Dominion Statute) which came into effect July, 1920, introduces voluntary as well as compulsory bankruptcy. A debtor may be compulsorily adjudged bankrupt where he absconds, makes a fraudulent preference or conveyance or leaves an execution unsatisfied or no goods to be found by the Sheriff or removes his goods with intent to defraud his creditors, or if he ceases to meet his liabilities generally as they become due. The debt of the petitioning creditor must be over $500.00. The Court appoints a custodian at the hearing of the Petition whose duties are the same as where an authorized assignment is made. An insolvent debtor whose liabilities exceed $500.00 may make an authorized assignment to the Official Receiver in Bankruptcy in the Division he resides. The official Receiver then appoints as custodian a licensed trustee selected by reference to the wishes of the most interested creditors, who takes charge of the debtor's assets until the first meeting of creditors. The custodian must advertise the assignment or the Receiving Order, as the case may be, in the Canada Gazette and a local newspaper and send out notice to all creditors of the debtor and convene a meeting within twenty days from the date of such assignment or Receiving Order. At the meeting of creditors the custodian retires and a trustee is appointed by the creditors, upon whom devolves the winding-up of the debtor's affairs. Claims are to be proven by affidavit and must be filed with the custodian prior to the meeting of creditors to entitle the creditor to vote at this meeting. Inspectors are appointed at the first meeting of creditors who advise the Trustee on matters of importance. All questions discussed at meetings of creditors are decided by the majority of votes, and for such purpose the votes of creditors shall be capitulated as follows:

All claims up to $200, one vote; over $200 and under $500, two votes; over $500 and under $1,000, three votes; for every additional $1,000 or fraction thereof, one vote; the compulsory features of this Act do not apply to farmers.

Banks. The subject of Banks is one which by the provisions of the British North America Act is expressly reserved for the Dominion Parliament. The Legislature of the Province has no power to deal therewith. The legislation on the subject is contained in the Bank Act of 1934 being Chap. 24 of the Statutes of Canada, 24-25, George V. For a resume of its main provisions see the synopsis of the laws of Ontario.

Bills of Sale and Chattel Mortgages. Sales and Mortgages of personal property not accompanied by immediate delivery and not followed by an actual and continued change of possession are absolutely void as against the creditors of the vendor and mortgagor and against subsequent purchasers or mortgagees in good faith for value, unless the bill of sale or mortgage be filed with the Clerk of the County Court in the District where the goods and chattels are situated within thirty days from the execution thereof accompanied by an affidavit of execution and an affidavit of the vendee or mortgagee showing the good faith of the transaction. Such mortgage must be renewed within 3 years by registering a renewal statement or else it will cease to be valid.

THE LAWS OF MANITOBA

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Prepared and Revised by MESSRS. FILLMORE, RILEY AND WATSON, Barristers, 303 National Trust Bldg., 250 Portage Ave., Winnipeg. (See Card in Attorneys' List)

Acknowledgments. (See Deeds.)

Actions. In the county court a defendant served within the Province with a writ for a liquidated claim or debt must within ten days from service upon him file a statement of defence, otherwise judgment by default may be signed against him and execution may be issued against his goods at any time after judgment. In the king's bench bench the defendant has sixteen days to file his defense if served within the Province, four weeks if served in any other Province or in the United States, eight weeks if within the United Kingdom or Newfoundland, and twelve weeks if within any other country, otherwise judgment may be signed and execution issued immediately, provided the plaintiff's claim is a liquidated one. If the defendant enters a defense to such a claim, a plaintiff may apply for leave to sign final judgment after filing an affidavit made by himself or any other person who can swear positively to the cause of action, and stating that in his belief there is no defense to the action. Every debt or chose-in-action rising out of a contract is assignable at law by any form of writing.

Administration of Estates. (See Probate.)

Affidavits. For use in the province affidavits and declarations may be made in the province before

(a) a commissioner for oaths;

(b) a justice of the peace or police magistrate in the province;

(c) the judge of any court in the province;

(d) the master, referee, prothonotary, clerk of the Crown and Pleas, or registrar of the Court of King's Bench or the deputy of any of them;

(e) the clerk of any County Court in the province;

(f) any registrar or deputy registrar of any registration division or any district registrar or deputy district registrar of any land titles office in the province;

(g) any barrister-at-law or attorney-at-law duly admitted and entitled to practice as such in the province;

(h) a notary public appointed for the province;

(i) the clerk of any municipality or municipal district or the secretary-treasurer of any school district in the province;

The sale or mortgage as against creditors and subsequent purchasers or mortgagees takes effect only from the time of registration. Mortgages do not include: a charge made by a corporation contained in trust deed, bonds, or debentures; or a security taken by a bank under Section 88 of the Bank Act; a power of distress contained in a mortgage of real property. A sale does not include: an assignment for the general benefit of creditors; a transfer or sale of goods in the ordinary course of any trade or business; a conditional sale. (See paragraph headed "Exemption" for exemptions.)

Collaterals. There are no statutory provisions on this subject in Manitoba.

Contracts. All persons are capable of contracting except minors, persons of unsound mind, and persons deprived of civil rights. Minors are persons under the age of 21 years. All contracts may be oral, except such as are required by statute to be in writing, namely: 1. Any agreement whereby to charge an executor or administrator upon a special promise to answer damages out of his own estate. 2. Any promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another. 3. Any agreement made upon the consideration of marriage. 4. Any agreement for the sale of real estate or any interest in or concerning it. 5. Any agreement not to be performed within a year. This does not apply to leases for less than three years in pursuance of which the leased premises have been or shall be actually occupied by the lessee or any person claiming under him during any part of such term. No agreement for the sale of personal property of the value of $50 or upward shall be good unless the buyer shall receive part of the property sold or give something to bind the bargain or in part payment or unless some memorandum in writing of such agreement is signed by the parties to be charged or their agent. Wagering contracts are void. For beverage purposes spirits or wine may be imported and sold by the Government Liquor Control Commission only.

The Bankruptcy Act provides that every conveyance made by any insolvent person with a view to giving the creditor a preference shall, if an assignment or Receiving Order is made within three months, be deemed fraudulent and void against the Trustee, and if any such conveyance, etc. has the effect of giving a preference it shall be presumed prima facie to have been made with such view whether or not made voluntarily or under pressure.

(See headings, Debt Adjustment Act, Orderly Payment of Debts Act, and Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act.)

Corporations are created by act of Parliament or by Letters Patent under the Manitoba or Dominion Companies' Act or the general Acts relating to the incorporation of Joint Stock Companies. Shareholders are limited in liability to the amount of their shares subscribed, and when paid in full they are discharged from any further liability. Insolvent companies are wound up and assets distributed under the provisions of the Winding-Up Act, by the court of king's bench. An insolvent company may make an authorized assignment or a receiving order may be made against it in either of which cases the assets would be distributed under the provision of the Bankruptcy Act. In the case of incorporated banks, shareholders are liable for 5% of the par value of their stock. Foreign corporations are required to register and obtain licenses from the provincial government, when they shall have the same powers and privileges in Manitoba as if incorporated for the purposes mentioned in their acts or charters so far as they are within the jurisdiction and control of the legislature of Manitoba, and may then hold lands. Corporations doing business in the Province have to pay Dominion income tax and excess profits tax, and must have an agent within the Province authorized under power of attorney to act in all legal proceedings on behalf of the corporation.

Courts. The court of king's bench is the supreme court of Manitoba, and has an original jurisdiction both at law and in equity. A court of appeal has been constituted to dispose of appeals from the court of king's bench and other courts in the Province. Its judges are ex-officio judges of the court of king's bench. There are five sessions a year for the hearing of appeals from a single judge. County courts have jurisdiction up to $500 in contract and $800 in tort, except claims in the nature of seduction, breach of promise of marriage, and a few others which are confined exclusively to the king's bench. An appeal lies from the county court to the court of appeal. No appeal lies from a county court judgment by consent of the parties or for costs.

Debt Adjustment Act. Unless the Debt Adjustment Commissioner issues a certificate no action, nor any proceeding for sale or foreclosure, or by way of execution, attachment or garnishment shall be brought, which relates to land used by a resident for farming operations, or the personal property of a resident who is or was engaged in farming operations, or to land which was used by a farmer before his retirement and on which he holds a mortgage, lease or agreement. This applies only where the consideration arose before the first day of May, 1940.

Unless the Debt Adjustment Commissioner issues a certificate, no action nor any proceeding for sale or foreclosure or by way of execution, attachment or garnishment shall be brought which relates to land of a resident not a bona fide farmer which he owns or has purchased under agreement of sale or occupies as his home or which is his homestead within the meaning of The Dower Act.

Unless the Debt Adjustment Commissioner issues a certificate no action or proceeding shall be brought under a mortgage, agreement, lien or encumbrance, or upon any covenant contained therein, if the only default be for a period of one year or less, or for the non-payment of principal money only. The above two paragraphs apply only where the consideration arose before the 1st April, 1931.

No action or other proceeding can be taken against a person on active service on a full time basis in the Army, Navy or Air Force or against the wife of such a person and certain other dependents unless a certificate is obtained from the Commissioner.

Deeds. Deeds of land, or of any interest in land, in this Province may be executed in the presence of a single witness. For the purpose of registration, an affidavit must be made by the witness of the due execution by the grantor. As to parties before whom affidavits may be made, see heading "Affidavits". No witness, or affidavit is necessary in cases of execution by a body corporate, provided the corporate seal is affixed to the instrument and same signed by two of the principal officers. No acknowledgment is necessary if the due execution of the instrument is proven as above. It is not necessary for a wife to join in a conveyance by the husband of lands held in his own name as dower does not attach during the life-time of the husband. An affidavit stating that the land in question is not the homestead of the husband should, however, be taken by him. From and after September 1, 1918 every disposition by act (inter vivos) of the home or homestead (not exceeding 320 acres) of any married man shall be null and void unless made with the consent in writing of the wife. Such consent must be acknowledged before certain officers as set out in the "Dower Act." There are special provisions covering case of wife having lived apart from husband for two years or more. A husband is given a similar interest in his wife's home or homestead. The Torrens System of land transfers has been introduced in the Province, but registration under the act is optional with the owners. When once brought under the operation of the act, however, all subsequent transfers or conveyances must be in the manner laid down and according to the forms prescribed by the statute. The old rule that no typewritten documents are to be received in any Land Title Office in Manitoba has been relaxed to some extent where the document has been typewritten with an indelible ribbon. All deeds, conveyances and transfers of land together with the affidavit of execution must be in accordance with the forms outlined by the Registry Act, the Real Property Act and the Dower Act, otherwise same will not be accepted for registration.

Depositions. The court or a judge may at any time order a commission to issue for the examination of witnesses (under oath) who are outside the jurisdiction of the court, by interrogatories or otherwise. In case of a commission from a competent foreign court to take evidence, or examination in discovery of persons resident in Manitoba, for use in suits outside the Province the court of king's bench may order the attendance of witnesses, production of documents, and give directions in accordance with the tenor of commission.

Distribution of Intestate's Property. If an intestate die leaving a widow and one child, one-half of his real and personal estate goes to his widow and one-half to his child. If he leaves a widow and children, one-third of his estate goes to his widow and two-thirds to his children in equal shares. If a child has died leaving issue and such issue is alive at the date of the intestate's death, the widow shall take the same share of the estate as if the child had been alive at that date. There is no distinction between males and females, or between children of half-blood or whole-blood, and posthumous children share equally with children born during the lifetime of the intestate. If no issue, the whole estate, real and personal, goes to the widow. If issue and no widow, the whole to the issue. If no widow or issue, to his father and mother in equal shares or to the survivor; if no widow, issue, father or mother, to his brothers and sisters in equal shares; or if any of his brothers or sisters be dead their children take the parent's share; all these failing to his next of kin, but in no case are representatives admitted among collaterals after brothers' or sisters' children. Illegitimate children inherit through their mother as if legitimate. The separate property of a married woman dying intestate is to be distributed in the same manner as the property of a husband dying intestate. Real estate vests in the personal representatives since July 1, 1885, in the same manner as personal estate.

Divorce. The divorce laws in England as they existed on the 15th day of July, 1870 are in force in Manitoba and the jurisdiction to administer the same is vested in the Court of King's Bench. The husband must be domiciled in Manitoba before he or his wife can present a Petition to the Court for a divorce.

Dower. (See Deeds—Wills.)

Executions issue from the king's bench in all cases as of course against the goods of the judgment debtor at any time within six years from the date of recovery of judgment, and bind the goods from the date of receipt by sheriff as against the debtor or purchaser with notice or from date of seizure as against purchaser for value without notice, and must be renewed every two years. Lands are bound by the registration of a certificate of judgment in the registration division where the lands are situated, which must be renewed every two years. The county court has similar powers to the court of the king's bench in enforcing its judgments; executions remain in force for two years; a writ of execution in the county court is binding from time of seizure only. All executions in the hands of the sheriff or a county court bailiff at the date of seizure, or which are received by him within three months after such seizure, share ratably in the distribution of the amount realized. All shares and dividends of stockholders in any incorporated bank or other company in Manitoba having transferable joint stock and the interest of a mortgagee in any property mortgaged to him may be attached, seized and sold.

Exemptions. The following personal and real property are free from seizure under any writ of execution issued by any court in the Province: 1. Beds and bedding in the common use of the judgment debtor and his family, and also household furniture and effects not exceeding in value $500. 2. The necessary and ordinary clothing of debtor and his family and the necessary fuel for the debtor and his family for six months. 3. Twelve volumes of books, books of a professional man, one axe, one saw, one gun, six traps. 4. The necessary food, if in possession of the debtor at the time of seizure, for himself and family for eleven months. 5. Four horses, mules, or oxen, six cows, ten sheep, ten pigs, fifty fowls, and feed for the same during eleven months. The exemption as to horses over the age of four years shall apply only in case they are used by the judgment debtor in earning his living. 6. The tools, agricultural implements, and necessaries used by debtor in practice of his trade, profession, or occupation to the value of $800. 7. The articles and furniture necessary to performance of religious services. 8. The land upon which debtor and his family actually reside, or which he cultivates or uses, provided the same does not exceed 160 acres, if outside the limits of any city or town. 9. The houses, stables, barns, and fences on debtor's farm, subject as aforesaid. 10. All necessary seeds or roots for the cultivation of one hundred and sixty acres. 11. The actual residence of any person, other than a farmer, in any city or town, provided the same does not exceed in value $1,500; if it exceed the above value, before it can be sold, the said amount must be paid or secured to the debtor. 12. Where debtor is a farmer, one tractor and one motor vehicle which has been used by him for not less than one year. Any agreement by debtor to abandon or waive exemption is null and void. Partnership firm can claim only one exemption. Remedy against real property is now more generally by registered judgments, under which no proceedings may be taken against 8, 9, 11, so long as the land is affected by the conditions recited. The mortgagor in a chattel mortgage is entitled to exemption from seizure of chattels free from seizure under executions.

Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act. This is an Act passed by the Dominion Parliament. It provides that a farmer who is unable to meet his liabilities may make a proposal for composition, extension or scheme of arrangement to the Official Receiver. The Official Receiver then calls a meeting of Creditors to consider the proposal. The consent of the secured Creditors is required before the proposal may then be approved by the Court and becomes binding. If not accepted the proposal goes before the Board of Review. This is a permanent board consisting of a Chairman and two members, one appointed as a general representative of the Creditors and one as a general representative of the Debtors. This Board may confirm, amend or refuse any proposal. A finding of the Board approved by the Court is binding upon all Creditors. (See Limitation of Suits.)

The time for making proposals in the Province of Manitoba under the above Act expired on the 30th day of June, 1939, except in the case of farmers who were soldier settlers within the meaning of "The Soldiers Settlement Act."

Garnishment. All debts, obligations, and liabilities due, owing, or accruing due to a debtor may be attached to answer the claim of his creditor. Debts may be garnished both before and after judgment. In the county court the wages or salary of a person may not be attached until judgment is entered against him. In the court of king's bench a garnishing order can not be obtained until an act has been commenced; in the county court the garnishing proceedings and the action may be commenced together. Any debts due to mechanic, laborer, servant, clerk or employee for wages or salary shall be exempt to the extent of $30 per month in case of unmarried men and widow or widowers without dependent children, $60 per month in case of married man. Garnishee must reside within this Province.

Homestead. (See Deeds.)

Interest. The legal rate is 5 per cent. Parties may contract for any rate, except banks, which are prohibited from charging more than 7 per cent. Interest rates on loans of $500 and under are limited to 2% per month for a period of 15 months or less and 1% per month plus such proportion of 1% per month as fifteen is of the period of the loan expressed in months for longer periods. Interest is computed on judgments from date of entry at 5% per annum. Rests not allowed unless there is a contract in writing. Accounts bear interest at legal rate from date of demand of interest or notice that it will be charged.

Judgments remain in force ten years. Suit can be brought upon foreign judgment, but defendant who at time of trial was not subject to jurisdiction of foreign court and who does not appear and plead can set up any defense which could have been set up in the foreign court on the original cause of action. No action or suit can be brought upon a judgment recovered upon a judgment. (See Executions.)

Liens. Parties erecting or repairing building or furnishing material for building have a lien on such land and building to the value of their work or material provided a statement of the claim verified by affidavit, is filed in local registry office within thirty days of completion of work, or of furnishing of material.

Lien Notes and Conditional Sales. There are no provisions for registration of Lien Notes or Conditional Sale Agreements in Manitoba.

Limitation of Suits on contract, written or parol, within six years after date of action accrued. If party entitled to sue is under disability, then within six years from date of removal of disability, or time party entitled dies, whichever event first happened. In most cases if a person be out of the Province at the time a cause of action against him arises within the Province the person entitled to the action may bring the same within two years after the return of the first mentioned person to the Province or within the time otherwise limited for bringing action. Recovery of real estate or money charged on land, ten years (arrears of rent or interest in respect of money charged upon the land within six years). Case taken out of statute, by part payment or acknowledgment in writing. The limitations do not affect the rights against an express trustee for breach of trust. The period during which proceedings are stayed and the period during which a debtor is not in default under a contract or judgment as affected by a proposal under the "Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act" is not included in calculating the time. Likewise the period during which proceedings are stayed or prohibited under The Debt Adjustment Act is not included in calculating the time.

Married Women since 14th day of May, 1875, retain all property owned by them at date of marriage, or subsequently acquired for their own separate use, free from the debts or control of husband, but such property is liable for their own separate debts and contracts, and may be sold to satisfy same. In every respect, wife is considered separate from her husband; she may carry on business in her own name, and deal with her property, and sue and be sued in the same manner as if she were unmarried. Her property is not liable for any of the ordinary or necessary expenses of the family, unless specially charged by her. A man may convey land to his wife, and vice versa, without the intervention of a trustee. (See "Deeds.")

Mortgages are executed in the same manner as deeds and are governed by same laws as to registration in the local registry offices, and as to priorities. "Dower Act" applies after September 1, 1918 (See "Deeds.") Tacking prohibited by statute. Foreclosure or sale proceedings taken in the king's bench, where land is under Old System of Titles and through the Land Titles Office where land is under the Torrens System, there is no redemption after final order for foreclosure or sale. For Chattel Mortgages see paragraph re bills of Sale and Chattel Mortgages

Notes and Bills of Exchange. Bills of exchange, promissory notes, and checks are the ordinary forms of commercial paper used in this Province. It is not necessary that notes or bills of exchange be made payable at a bank or other particular place within the Province. Three days of grace are always allowed except when payable on demand. In case a bill or note falls due on a bank holiday (i. e., Sunday, New Year's Day, Christmas Day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Arbor Day, 24th May, 1st July, Labor Day, the King's birthday, Armistice Day, and Thanksgiving Day) must be presented on the following day, when properly presented and properly given, the indorsers are liable, otherwise they are relieved. If the specified day falls on Sunday, Monday is observed. The production of the protest in any court, within the Province, proves presentment and notice of dishonor without further evidence. No stamp duty is now required on commercial paper within the Dominion of Canada except where discounted with or drawn on a Bank.

Orderly Payment of Debts Act. Small debtors who become involved with liabilities may file an affidavit with the Clerk of the County Court setting out particulars of his Creditors and the amounts owing as well as his assets. The Clerk of the Court then fixes a date for a hearing and after considering objections, if any, made by Creditors, provides for the periodic distribution among the Creditors of any assets in excess of the amount required by the Debtor for his living.

Probate Law. The Province has seven Surrogate Courts: of the Eastern Judicial District, of the Central Judicial District, of the Western Judicial District, of the Southern Judicial District, of the Dauphin Judicial District, of the Northern Judicial District and of St. Boniface. The seats of the Courts are Winnipeg, Portage la Prairie, Brandon, Morden, Dauphin, Minnedosa, and St. Boniface, respectively. Grants of probate made in any other province in Canada, the United Kingdom or any British province may be re-sealed in this Province by producing the grant of probate or administration, or exemplification thereof, purporting to be under the seal of the court by which the same has been granted, and the necessary affidavits. If probate or administration has been granted in any other country than Canada, the United Kingdom, or a British province, ancillary probate or administration must be taken out. Ancillary probate or administration may be obtained by producing the foreign probate or administration or exemplification thereof (a certified or notarial copy is not sufficient), purporting to be under the seal of the court by which the same has been granted, and the necessary affidavits. Executors, resident in the British Empire, are not required to give security, but an executor, not resident in the British Empire, and an administrator must furnish usually two sureties, each in double the value of the estate. A bond from any of the recognized Bond Companies for the value of the estate will replace the two sureties. Where an applicant cannot find sureties he may apply to have the official administrator or a trust company, such as National Trust Company Limited, appointed.

Sale of Merchandise in Bulk. The Bulk Sales Act, Chap. 26 Revised Statutes of Manitoba, 1940, prohibits the sale of goods, wares or merchandise in bulk for cash or on credit unless 60 per cent in number and amount of the creditors of the vendor consent to the same in writing. Any sale made without such consent is under this Act fraudulent and void against the creditors of the vendor. Action must be brought, however, to declare void any sale for failure to comply with the provisions thereof, within six months from the date of such sale.

Where a sale is made with the written consent of the creditors the entire proceeds have to be paid to the person named as trustee by the creditors in such written consent or if no trustee is named then to the trustee named by the vendor or appointed under the provisions of the Act for distribution pro rata amongst the creditors of the vendor. In lieu of the written consent the vendor may produce and deliver to the purchaser a written waiver of the provisions of the Act from creditors of the vendor representing not less than 60% in number and amount of the claims.

The act applies to sales by traders and merchants. These classes are given a very wide interpretation by the Act and include commission merchants and manufacturers.

Suits. (See Actions, Courts.) There are two superior courts, the court of appeal and the court of king's bench, which have all the powers possessed by the various courts of law and equity at Westminster, together with the probate and divorce, admiralty and ecclesiastical courts of England, as they stood on the 15th day of July, 1870, including power to grant injunctions. All suits must be commenced by statement of claim entitled in and under the seal of the court from which issued, and such statement must be served on defendants within one year from date. Provision is made for substitutional service of process by publication or otherwise.

Taxes. Lands may be sold for taxes when in arrears for one year, or upward, by the treasurer of the municipality within which the lands lie, and may be redeemed at any time within one year from date of sales upon payment of the sum paid by purchaser, with 10 per cent interest if redeemed within one year. If not so redeemed purchaser may, within one year from the expiry of the said one year from the date of sale, apply to the land titles office for absolute title, but owner has a further three months from date of service of notice of such application upon him to redeem through the district registrar. Land in the city of Winnipeg may be sold when any taxes are unpaid for more than one year after the end of the year in which the rate was struck and may be redeemed within two years from the day of sale on payments of arrears of taxes and costs for which land sold and a penalty calculated upon such arrears at the rate for the period of non-payment of 1/4% per month plus the taxes paid by the tax sale purchaser and similar penalties thereon. The Tax Purchaser may apply for Title within three years from the expiry of two years from the date of sale.

Trust Companies. These may do business in Manitoba subject to certain restrictions and supervision by the government. They are much favored on that account where the courts desire to safeguard the interests of estates, and recourse is now generally had to them in all cases where their services can be availed of. Companies now doing business as such in Manitoba are the Canada Trust Co., Canada Permanent Trust Company, Montreal Trust Company, National Trust Company, Northern Trusts Company, Royal Trust Company, London and Western Trust Company, Toronto General Trust Corporation, Trust and Guarantee Company and Western Trust Company.

Unclaimed Bank Deposits. Banks must deliver to the Minister of Finance at the end of each year, a return of all balances in respect of which no transactions have taken place or interest has been paid for five years.

Wills. Every person over the age of 21 years, of sound mind, may dispose of his real and personal estate by will. Subsequent marriage operates as a revocation. A married woman may dispose of her separate estate by will without the consent of her husband, and may alter or revoke the same in like manner as if she were a femme sole. Her will must be executed in like manner as other wills. Every will must be in writing, and every will other than a holograph will must be executed and attested as follows: 1. It must be subscribed at the end thereof by the testator or by some person in his presence and by his direction. 2. The subscription must be made or acknowledged by the testator in the presence of two attesting witnesses present at the same time. 3. The said witnesses shall attest and subscribe the will in the presence of the testator, but no form of attestation shall be necessary. A holograph will wholly written and signed by the testator himself is valid in this Province. Such a will is subject to no particular form and requires no attesting witness or witnesses. The will of a member of naval, military, air or marine forces including a minor when in actual service or of any mariner or seaman when at sea or in course of a voyage may be made in writing signed by him or by some other person in his presence and by his direction without any further formality. Bequests to a witness or the wife or husband of a witness are absolutely null and void, although such person is competent to prove the will.

Notwithstanding anything contained in the Wills Act, a widow is entitled to receive one-third of the estate of the testator in addition to a life interest in the homestead. The Dower Act provides certain exceptions. For instance when the widow receives $100,000.00, or when the income from that amount is set aside for her use.

SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF NEW BRUNSWICK

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by FRIEL & FRIEL, Barristers & Solicitors, Moncton, N. B.
(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Absconding Debtors. If any person severally, or persons jointly indebted in the sum of $50.00 depart from or keep concealed within the Province, with the intent to defraud creditors, a creditor may make affidavit of the departure or concealment, which must be verified by affidavit of two witnesses, of whom the creditor may be one, stating reason for their belief of such departure or concealment.

The Judge or commissioners appointed for that purpose by the Supreme Court may thereon issue a warrant to one or more sheriffs directing them to seize all the estate, real and personal of such party. Such warrant shall have priority over all other processes not actually executed. If the debtor does not return within sixty days and satisfy his creditors, a meeting of the creditors, is called, and the property may be sold and distributed to the creditors, who prove their claim by affidavit.

Acknowledgments. Before the registry of any deed, conveyance, mortgage, certificate of discharge of mortgage, assurance, lease, or power of attorney, or other instrument affecting any interest in or title to land, the execution of the same shall either be acknowledged by the person executing the same or be proved by the oath of a subscribing witness. If such acknowledgment is to be taken or made out of the Province, it may be taken or made before any notary public certified under his hand and official seal; the mayor or chief magistrate of any city, borough, municipality or town corporate, certified under the common or corporate seal of such city, borough, municipality or town corporate, or the seal of such mayor or chief magistrate; any judge of the high court of Great Britain or Ireland; any judge or lord of session in Scotland; any judge of a court of supreme jurisdiction in any British colony or dependency; any British minister, ambassador, consul, vice-consul, acting-consul, pro-consul or consular agent of His Majesty, exercising functions in any foreign place; the governor of any state; the handwriting and certificate of any such judge or lord of session being authenticated under the seal of a notary public, and the taking of any such acknowledgment before such minister, ambassador, consul, vice-consul, acting-consul, pro-consul, consular agent or governor being certified respectively under his hand and seal of office. If the proof of the execution of such instrument be taken out of the Province the same shall be taken before any commissioner for taking affidavits and administering oaths under chapter 71 of the Revised Statutes; any notary public, certified under his hand and official seal; the mayor or chief magistrate of any city, borough, municipality, or town corporate, under the seal of such mayor or chief magistrate; any judge of the high court of justice of Great Britain or Ireland; any judge or lord of session in Scotland; any judge of a court of supreme jurisdiction in any British colony or dependency; the handwriting of any such judge or lord of session being authenticated under the seal of a notary public; any British minister, ambassador, consul, vice-consul, acting-consul, pro-consul, or consular agent of His Majesty exercising his functions in any foreign place; the governor of any state; such proof being certified under the hand and seal of office of such minister, and ambassador, consul, vice-consul, acting-consul, pro-consul, consular agent, or governor.

Administration of Estates. In case of any deceased person being at the time of his death an inhabitant of any county in the Province or not being an inhabitant of the Province leaving assets in any county thereof, the judge of probates of such county may take probate or grant administration and shall in either case have exclusive jurisdiction over all the estate of such deceased person in the Province. Letters testamentary or of administration are granted on application to the judge by petition of the party entitled by law or one or more of the creditors of the deceased. Probate or administration will not be granted (except it be made to appear that the estate is being wasted, or for other good reason) until after the lapse of ten days after the death of deceased. Caveats must declare the interest of the caveator and give his address, or the address of his attorney.

Before administration is granted a bond is taken from the applicants with two sureties to the satisfaction of the judge. Every such bond being in the sum equal to the total probate value of the estate. An administrator may, instead of obtaining two sureties, give bond of a guarantee company licensed to do business in the Province. Unless further time is allowed by the judge it is necessary to file an inventory of the estate within one month, and an account of the administration must be rendered within twelve months. Where the witnesses to a will reside out of the Province, a commission may be had to take their testimony. Probate of a notarial will may be granted by producing and filing a certified copy of the will and certificate under seal of the officer having custody of will that such will is the valid subsisting and last will under the laws of the place where executed. If the personal estate is insufficient to pay the debts of the deceased the executor may within ten years from his appointment, or a creditor after six months and before expiration of the ten years obtain a license or order from the judge for the sale of the real estate or any part thereof. Where an infant's estate does not exceed $5,000, the judge of the probate may appoint a guardian for the person and estate of the infant. Claims against an estate for debts due by the deceased must be certified by affidavit, and filed with the executor or administrator, and no debt shall be paid or action brought therefor until this has been done. (See Succession Duty.)

Affidavits. Affidavits sworn out of the Province before any person appointed commissioner for taking affidavits in and for the courts in the Province of New Brunswick or before any of the several officials and persons authorized to take acknowledgments out of the Province (see Acknowledgments) are valid in all matters in which they would be valid if sworn before a competent official within the Province.

Aliens. Real and personal property of any description, except British ships, may be held and transmitted by aliens as by subjects. May be naturalized after residence in Canada for not less than one year immediately preceding application and previous residence for periods of four years within last eight years before such application in any part of the British Dominions, or after being in the service of the Crown for not less than five years within last eight years before the application.

Arrest. Any person not having privilege may be arrested and held to bail or committed to prison on mesne process or capias in any action brought in any court having jurisdiction by showing by affidavit to the satisfaction of the judge or other official having jurisdiction that he has a cause of action against a person for over Twenty Dollars, and that there is good reason for believing said person is about to quit the Province. The following persons have jurisdiction: In the Supreme Court, a Judge of the Supreme Court, the Registrar thereof, the Clerk of the Circuits; in the County Court, a Judge of the County Court or Clerk thereof; in the Magistrate's Court, a Police or Stipendiary Magistrate or Parish Court Commissioner. After judgment defendant making default, may be committed to prison for a term not over one year by order of Court or Judge, if it be shown that defendant has the means and refused to pay or if he had the means divested himself of same with intent to defraud plaintiff. If he has not transferred any property intending to defraud the plaintiff, or since his arrest given any preference to any other creditor, the defendant may be discharged. If it is shown that a judgment debtor is in position to pay by installments the judge may, in his discretion, order payment by installments. Disobedience of the order renders debtor liable to attachment as for contempt of court. (See Courts.)

Bankruptcy. An Act relating to Bankruptcy which affects the whole of Canada was adopted by the Parliament of Canada effective from the 1st of July, A. D. 1920. This act was amended in 1932. A bankruptcy may be voluntary or involuntary; a voluntary one is made by an assignment to trustee to be appointed by the creditors. If no custodian or trustee is appointed in the case of a voluntary assignment, the Official Receiver may, thirty days after the date the assignment is filed, and after giving the debtor seven days' notice of his intention, cancel said assignment. An involuntary one may be brought about by a creditor or creditors having claim or claims aggregating $500.00 petitioning the Court alleging that the debtor has committed an act of bankruptcy within six months before the presentation of the petition. An act of Bankruptcy may consist of making an assignment for the benefit of creditors, making a fraudulent conveyance of property, absconding or having an execution against him unsatisfied for a specified time or exhibiting a statement showing insolvency or if he fails to meet his liabilities generally as they fall due. No farmer or wage earner may be forced into bankruptcy nor may any person be forced into bankruptcy by reason of any debt which was contracted before the first of July, 1920. On the petition being presented if the petitioner proves the debt owing to him and proves the act of bankruptcy the Court may make an order declaring the debtor a bankrupt. Any debtor no matter what his occupation nor when his debts were contracted may voluntarily become a bankrupt by making an assignment to a trustee in bankruptcy. The trustee in bankruptcy either in case an order of Bankruptcy is made or in case the debtor voluntarily assigns to him, takes over all the property of the bankrupt and disposes of it, and pays the creditors pro rata, except those entitled to security including employees who rank as preferred for three months wages. After the order for bankruptcy has been made the Court may sanction a composition or extension agreement approved of by the majority of the creditors. The bankrupt may under certain circumstances, having complied with the Act, apply for and obtain a discharge which releases him from all his obligations except certain limited kinds of claims.

Bulk Sales. All sales or transfers of a stock of goods, wares and merchandise or a substantial part thereof, not in the usual way of business, by traders and merchants shall be deemed fraudulent and void as against creditors of vendor unless requirements of statute designed for their benefit are observed. Provisions made for payment of creditors or distribution of proceeds of sale rateably among them. Failure to comply therewith makes purchaser of stock personally liable to creditors of vendor to extent of stock acquired.

Chattel Mortgages and Bills of Sale. Every mortgage or conveyance of goods and chattels which is not accompanied by an immediate delivery and an actual and continued change of possession of the property mortgaged is void as against subsequent purchasers or creditors, unless the same or a true copy thereof is filed with the registrar in the county in which the maker resides, or if non-resident of the Province in the county in which the things are, within thirty days from the execution thereof, with an affidavit of the subscribing witness of the due execution and an affidavit of the mortgagee or his agent that the mortgagee is justly and truly indebted to the mortgagee in the sum mentioned in the mortgage, and that it was executed in good faith and for the express purpose of securing payment and not for the purpose of protecting the property mentioned therein against the creditors of the mortgagor, or of preventing them from obtaining payment of any claims against him. Future advances may be secured where agreement therefor is recited in the mortgage. Every sale of goods and chattels not accompanied by an immediate delivery and followed by an actual and continued change of possession, must be in writing and accompanied by an affidavit of a subscribing witness thereto of the due execution and an affidavit of the bargainee or agent authorized in writing to take the conveyance, a copy of which authority shall be attached to the conveyance that the sale is bona fide and for good consideration, and not for the purpose of holding or enabling the bargainee to hold the goods against the creditors of the bargainor, and the conveyance must be registered as in the case of a chattel mortgage.

Conditional Sale of Chattels. Contracts for the sale of goods where possession passes but ownership vests only on payment of purchase price or performance of some other condition and contracts for hiring where hirer has option of becoming owner on compliance with terms of bailment are invalid as against subsequent purchasers or encumbrancers in good faith for valuable consideration without notice and against creditors unless evidenced in writing signed by buyer or hirer a copy of which must be filed with the Registrar of Deeds of the County where debtor resides, or if resident out of province then of the County where goods are delivered. If debtor resides in one county and goods are delivered in another, a true copy must be filed in both counties. If after delivery, goods are removed by buyer into another county, copy must be there filed within twenty days after such removal comes to knowledge of seller. If goods are delivered outside Province and are subsequently removed into Province, copy must be filed within twenty days after such removal comes to knowledge of seller. If buyer is an incorporated company, the site of its head office or its chief agency or place of business is considered its residence. In all cases, buyer must be furnished with a copy within twenty days after the execution thereof.

Corporations. Three or more persons may obtain letters patent for incorporation for ordinary business purposes by petition to the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer on payment of a small fee regulated by amount of capital stock.

Claims Against Estates of Deceased Persons. (See Administration of Estates.)

Courts. Magistrates courts and other like inferior courts, including city courts, have jurisdiction in actions for tort to real or personal property, and in actions of debt for small amounts, the usual jurisdiction in tort being $32 and in debt $80. The county court has jurisdiction to the amount of $200 in tort and $400 in debt. Supreme court has jurisdiction in all matters, as well as concurrent jurisdiction with other courts. Security for costs may be required in all courts where plaintiff resides out of the Province.

Days of Grace. Where a bill or note is not payable on demand three days of grace are allowed. If the last day is non-judicial the next business day is allowed.

Descent and Distribution of Property. (See Intestate Succession.)

Dower. Besides common law right of dower the widow is entitled in equity to dower out of any lands to which her husband was beneficially entitled at the time of his death, whether such interest be wholly equitable or partly legal and partly equitable, and where the husband had right of entry or action in any lands in which his widow would have had dower had he recovered possession thereof, she shall be entitled to dower out of the same if such dower be sued within the period within which such right of action or entry may be enforced. No dower in wild or unimproved lands. (See Intestate Succession.)

Executions. In the supreme and county courts execution may issue upon signing final judgment and bind property, real and personal, from the time it is delivered to the sheriff to be executed. In inferior Courts may issue against goods and chattels, arrest for debt now abolished. Memorials of judgment duly registered in the county registry of deeds bind any lands of defendant or his interest therein for five years when they may be renewed with like effect. (See Assignments in Trust.)

Exemptions. All wearing material, bedding, kitchen utensils, tools of trade and agricultural implements to the value of two hundred dollars and also two horses and sets of harness, two cows and certain other stock; also all food to the value of one hundred dollars are exempted from seizure under execution.

Foreign Judgments. No party to any action on a judgment is estopped by the judgment from any defence either of fact or law accruing subsequent to the judgment. No action may be brought on a foreign judgment where such judgment is founded on an obligation to require payment in gold.

Garnishee. A judgment creditor for an amount exceeding $30 where the debt exclusive of costs, exceeds $40, may garnishee debts due and owing judgment debtor, except wages not exceeding $20.

Holidays. In all matters relating to bills of exchange, notes, etc., the following are the legal holidays: Sundays, New Years', Good Friday, the 24th day of May, Christmas Day, the birthday (or the day fixed by proclamation for the celebration of the birthday) of the reigning sovereign, or if such birthday is Sunday then the following day, the first day of July (Dominion Day), and if that is a Sunday then the second day of July, and any day appointed as a holiday for Canada by proclamation, and the day next following New Year's Day and Christmas Day when those days respectively fall on Sunday.

Interest. Legal rate 5 per cent.

Intestate Succession. Real and personal property devolve in same manner. If intestate dies leaving widow, she takes one-half of estate if one child, one third if children. If a child has died leaving issue, widow takes same share as she would if child were living. If intestate dies leaving issue, his estate is distributed subject to widow's right, among such issue per stirpes. If he dies leaving widow but no issue, then if estate is less than twenty thousand dollars, she takes the whole; otherwise, she takes twenty thousand dollars and has a charge on estate therefor. Of residue after payment of this sum one-half goes to widow and one-half to those who would take estate if there were no widow (see below). If no widow or issue, father and mother taken in equal shares; if one dead survivor takes all. If no widow, issue, father or mother, estate goes to brothers and sisters, children of a deceased brother or sister taking his or her share; but where only persons entitled are children of deceased brothers and sisters they take per capita. In all other cases, estate goes to next-of-kin to be distributed equally among those of equal degree of consanguinity and those who legally represent them; but no representation is admitted among collateralis beyond brothers' and sisters' children. All estate not disposed of by will shall be distributed as though testator had died intestate and left no other estate. No widow entitled to dower unless she elects within six months of death of intestate not to take above benefits. Estate of woman dying intestate distributed on above principles husband taking like rights as widow of intestate male.

Judgments in the supreme and county court bind lands of the debtor from the time execution is delivered to the sheriff to be executed. (See Executions and Assignments in Trust.)

Liens. Mechanics, machinists, builders, laborers, and all other persons doing work upon or furnishing materials to be used in the construction, alteration or repair of any building, or erection or erecting, furnishing or placing any machinery at any time in, upon or in connection with any building, erection or mine, have a lien for the price of the work, machinery or materials upon the building or mine and the lands occupied thereby to the extent of the interest of the employer or purchaser therein. A claim for lien specifying particularly the name and residence of claimant and employer or purchaser, the time at which the work was done, the nature of the work and materials, description of the property and period of credit, if any, verified by affidavit, may be registered. Claim for wages must be registered within sixty days after last day of labor and other claims may be registered before the commencement or during the progress of the work or within sixty days from completion thereof, or from supplying or placing machinery. Registered liens good for only ninety days, unless proceedings are taken to realize within that time, in which case lien may be continued. Person primarily liable is protected if he retains for sixty days 20% of contract price up to $15,000 and 15% in excess of $15,000.

Limitations. Actions on judgments of courts of record, recognizance bonds or other specialties, or for recovery of real property, must be brought within twenty years. In assault, battery, wounding, imprisonment, or words, within two years. All other personal actions within six years. Adverse possession against the Crown must be sixty years to bar title of Crown.

Married Women. The married woman's property act provides that a married woman shall be capable of acquiring, holding, and disposing, by will or otherwise, of any real or personal property as her separate property in the same manner as if she were a feme sole, without the intervention of a trustee, and that she may contract and sue and be sued as a feme sole. See intestate succession.)

Mortgages. Mortgages must be proved or acknowledged in the same manner as deeds. (See Acknowledgments.) And to be effectual against creditors and bona-fide purchasers must be recorded. Are foreclosed by proceedings in chancery or under power of sale. May be discharged by a certificate of the satisfaction of the mortgagee, his representatives or assigns, acknowledged or proved and duly registered; or the mortgagee may acknowledge satisfaction on the margin of the registry book against the registry of the mortgage in the presence of the registrar or his deputy.

Notes and Bills of Exchange governed by statute of the Dominion of Canada, embodying mercantile law and legal decisions in the form of statutes. Notice of dishonor mailed to place at which the note on its face purports to have been made is sufficient.

Obligations Payable in Gold. Any obligation entered into by the Province of New Brunswick or any municipal, public or private corporation or company organized under the laws of the Province, giving an obligee the right to be paid in gold, shall be discharged by payment in the currency which at the time and place of payment is legal tender for public and private debts.

Protest. Protest is required in case of non-acceptance or non-payment of a foreign bill appearing on its face to be such. In case of inland bill subject to due notice of dishonor, it is not necessary to note or protest.

Sale of Goods. Law relating to this subject codified by Statute called Sale of Goods Act, largely declaratory of English Common Law and Commercial practice and following very closely the English Sale of Goods Act.

Succession Duties Act. A succession duty is levied by the Province upon certain estates of deceased persons. The Act does not apply to property given for religious or charitable purposes, to be carried out in the Province or to property passing to father, mother, husband, wife, child, daughter-in-law or son-in-law, where the estate does not exceed $25,000. SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF NOVA SCOTIA

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Prepared and Revised by GEORGE E. HARRIS, Barrister, 217 Hollis St., Halifax. (See Card in Attorneys List.)

Accounts. An account does not carry interest except by special contract in writing or custom of trade.

Acknowledgments. (See Deeds.)

Actions. In the supreme and county courts actions are regulated by "The Judicature Act," which is practically the same as the English judicature act. The judges have made rules thereunder practically the same as the English rules of practice and procedure. Plaintiff resident without the Province may be compelled to give security for costs, either by payment into court, or by bond approved by defendant, or a judge.

Administration of Estates. Letters of administration are granted by the probate courts of which there is one for each county of the province. Administration shall be granted to some one or more of the persons hereinafter mentioned, and they shall respectively be entitled thereto in the following order: 1. The widow or next of kin, or both, as the judge of probate may think fit. 2. If the deceased was a married woman, to her husband except in certain specified cases. 3. If the persons so entitled as above do not take out administration within ten days after the return day of the citation, the judge of probate may commit it to one or more of the principal creditors. If the deceased leaves no known living relative in the province, or any who can be readily communicated with, administration may be granted to the Attorney-General.

Any trust company authorized by law to administer the estate of deceased persons, may be appointed administrator upon the consent in writing of the persons entitled in priority to take out letters of administration.

Affidavits. Affidavits may be sworn abroad for use in Nova Scotia, before any judge of a court of record, British consul, a vice-consul exercising his functions, notary public, certified under his hand and official seal, mayor or chief magistrate of any incorporated town, certified under the common seal of such incorporated town, or a commissioner authorized to administer oaths out of the Province, duly appointed by the government of the Province.

Aliens may take, hold, convey, and transmit real estate, and trust companies or corporations having a legal status in any foreign state may hold real estate by way of mortgage or otherwise in furtherance of any trust they may assume in connection with any enterprise or undertaking within the province of Nova Scotia, with full power to such companies or corporations to convey and transfer the same.

Arbitration is regulated by "The Arbitration Act," which provides for arbitration under submission and for references under order of the supreme court; A submission, unless a contrary intention is expressed therein, is irrevocable, except by leave of the supreme court or a judge thereof: The report of an official or special referee may be adopted wholly or partially by the court or a judge.

Arrest before Final Judgment. Where plaintiff, by affidavit, proves to the satisfaction of a judge, or commissioner, that plaintiff has a good cause of action to an amount which brings action within the jurisdiction of county, or supreme court, as the case may be, and that deponent has probable cause for believing, and does believe, that the defendant unless he is arrested is about to leave the Province, the judge without inquiring into the ground of belief, will make an order directing that such defendant be arrested and held to bail.

Arrest under Judgment. Under "The Collection Act" a creditor may obtain a warrant for the arrest and imprisonment of the debtor, upon an application to an examiner, supported by an affidavit of himself, his solicitor, or agent, setting forth the judgment and date of the recovery thereof, the amount due on the judgment, the deponent's belief that the debtor is about to leave the Province, and without stating the ground for such belief. Where an order to pay by installments has been made against a debtor, and such debtor fails to make any of the payments directed to be made by such order, execution may issue for his arrest, upon an affidavit setting forth such order and the non-compliance therewith. Any person arrested under such execution may apply for relief under the provisions of "The Indigent Debtors Act."

Assignments. (See Insolvent Laws.)

Attachment. In suits against absent or absconding debtor, the writ of summons shall be in the usual form, and may describe the defendant as absent or absconding. The plaintiff may sue out a writ of attachment to take defendant's property or he may issue a summons to any agent having money or credits due defendant, on making an affidavit showing a cause of action for an amount within the jurisdiction of court, stating the amount of debt or damage sustained, and that defendant is absconding or absent out of the Province. The sheriff shall levy for the amount indorsed on the writ with $120 for probable costs, in actions to recover $50 and upwards, and $28 in actions for less. Goods exhibited to sheriff as defendant's goods are appraised by sworn appraisers; defendant's goods are not bound by the attachment until levy is made. Perishable goods may be sold under an order of the court, unless defendant's agents give security, for the value within three days after their appraisal. Any person against whom judgment is recovered as an absent or absconding debtor, and who has not appeared in the action, is entitled to a rehearing at any time within three years of the date of judgment.

Bank. The legislation respecting Banks and Banking is contained in the Act of the Parliament of Canada (Chap. 24 of the Statutes of Canada, 1934). The provisions of the Act apply to the ten banks mentioned in Schedule "A" to the Act and to every bank incorporated after the first day of January, 1934. The Act continues the Charters or Acts of Incorporation of said banks to July 1, 1944, subject however to forfeiture by reason of insolvency or non-performance of the conditions of the Act of for any other reason.

The provisions for the incorporation of Banks are largely similar to the provisions of Law respecting the formation of other Corporations. A Bank cannot commence business without previously obtaining permission from the Treasury board to do so. The Capital stock of a Bank may be increased by resolution of the share-holders and approval of the Treasury Board. A full statement of the affairs of the Bank showing the liabilities and assets must be laid before the shareholders at their annual meeting, and a copy sent to the Minister of Finance. Banks are audited annually by duly qualified chartered accountants who may be required to report in such audit to the Minister. A bank shall maintain a reserve in the Bank of Canada equal to 5% of its deposit liabilities in Canada and also a reserve for foreign liabilities. No bank can issue a note for less than $5.00 or for any sum which is not a multiple of $5.00. The payment of the notes is a first charge on a bank's assets. Existing banks must make a deposit with the minister of finance equal to 5 per cent of the note circulation. Notes of the banks are payable at par throughout the Dominion of Canada.

Banks are authorized to hold real estate such as is required for their own use, but all other real estate howsoever acquired must be sold within seven years from the date of the acquisition thereof. Banks are also authorized to make advances in aid of building ships, to take security therefor, to lend money upon the security of standing timber, and upon the security of natural products or live or dead stock of a wholesale dealer, and to take warehouse receipts as collateral security and similar business. Banks are also authorized to lend money to farmers upon the security of their threshed grain grown upon the farm. They are obliged to make returns to the finance minister showing their assets and liabilities, and giving the names of their shareholders in detail. Several penalties are provided for the enforcement of the various provisions of the Act. The stock of a Bank is transferable at its head office.

Bank of Canada. This Bank has been established under legislation passed by the Dominion Parliament in 1934 and is now operating. Its functions are those of regular central banks and its act of incorporation follows in many respects that of the Bank of England. Its primary purpose is for the regulation of credit and currency and the control and protection of the external value of the national monetary unit. The capital of the Bank shall be $5,000,000.00 but may be increased from time to time pursuant to a resolution passed by the Board of Directors and approved by the Governor in Council and by the Parliament of Canada; the capital shall be divided into 100,000 shares of the par value of $50.00 each, which shall be issued to the Minister to be held by him on behalf of the Dominion of Canada, and the shares issued to the Minister shall be registered by the Bank in his name in the books of the Bank at Ottawa. The Bank will act as the Fiscal Agent of the Dominion and may also act as agent for any of the Provinces. It shall also hold all gold coin or bullion owned by the ordinary commercial banks in Canada. The power of the commercial banks respecting issue of notes is gradually reduced over a period of years after this Bank commences business.

Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes. The law is much the same as in the United States. A demand draft is without days of grace. A sight draft is entitled to three days of grace. A bill or note falling due on a legal holiday is payable on the day next following not being a legal holiday. The subject of bills of exchange and promissory notes is by the constitution within the powers of the federal parliament, and consequently, the law on the subject is the same in all the Canadian provinces, excepting certain enactments relating exclusively to the Province of Quebec. See further under "Legal Holidays."

Bills of Lading are negotiable. Every consignee of goods named in a bill of lading to whom the property in the goods therein mentioned passes upon or by reason of such consignment or indorsement, shall have transferred to and vested in him all right of suit and be subject to the same liabilities in respect of such goods as if the contract contained in the bill of lading had been made to himself.

Bills of Sale. Every sale or mortgage which is not accompanied by an immediate delivery and an actual and continued change of possession of the chattels sold or mortgaged shall be absolutely void as against creditors and as against subsequent purchasers or mortgagees claiming from or under the grantor in good faith, for valuable consideration and without notice unless the sale or mortgage is evidenced by a bill of sale duly registered, and which is in effect from the time of registration only. Registration of the bill of sale and affidavits as by the Act required shall be effected within thirty days from the date of its execution in the proper registration district where the chattels are situated. An affidavit of the attesting witness as provided by the Act must now accompany the bill of sale and be registered, except in the case of a Corporation. Bills of sale given to secure the Grantee (a) Repayment of any advances to be made by him under an agreement therefor; or (b) Against loss or damage by reason of the endorsement of a bill of exchange or promissory note; or (c) Against loss or damage by reason of any other liability incurred by the grantee for the grantor; or (d) Against loss or damage by reason of any liability to be incurred under an agreement by the grantee for the grantor, must set forth clearly by recitals or otherwise the terms, nature and effect of the transaction and these and all other forms of Bills of Sale must be accompanied by an affidavit of bona fides by the grantee or his agent as provided. A renewal statement of a bill of sale accompanied by an affidavit of bona fides must be registered within three years from the time of the registration of the bill of sale and within every three years thereafter. An assignment of a bill of sale need not be registered but it may be registered by filing the assignment, accompanied by an affidavit of the attesting witness of the execution thereof, in any office in which the bill of sale is registered.

Where chattels subject to a mortgage executed out of the province are permanently removed into the province, mortgage must be registered here within 30 days after Grantee has received notice of place to which chattels moved to hold lien as against creditors and purchasers.

Book Debts. Every assignment of book debts made by any person engaged in a trade or business shall be absolutely void as against the creditors of the assignor and as against subsequent purchasers unless such assignment is in writing accompanied by an affidavit of attesting witnesses, of the execution by the assignor, identifying the assignment and stating the date of execution by the assignor, and a further affidavit of the assignee or his agent, stating that the assignment was executed in good faith and for valuable consideration and not for the mere purpose of protecting the book debts therein mentioned against the creditors of the assignor or for the purpose of preventing such creditors from recovering any claims which they have against the assignor and registered by filing the assignment together with such affidavits, within thirty days from its execution, in the office of the proper officer of a registration district determined in accordance with the following rules: (a) Where the assignor is a corporation incorporated under the laws of Nova Scotia, in the registration district in which the head office or registered office is situated; (b) where the assignor is an extra-provincial corporation having a head office or registered office within the province, in the registration district in which such head office or registered office is situated; (c) where the assignor is an extra-provincial corporation not having a head office or registered office in Nova Scotia, in the registration district of Halifax; (d) where the assignor is not a corporation, in the registration district in which the assignor carries on business at the time of the execution of the assignment; (e) where the assignor is not a corporation, and at the time of the execution of the assignment carries on business in different registration districts, in any such registration district, and by filing a duplicate original of the assignment and affidavits, or a copy thereof certified by the proper officer of that registration district, in each of the other registration districts; (f) where the assignor is not a corporation, and at the time of the execution of the assignment does not carry on business in Nova Scotia, in the registration district of Halifax. The Act requires any affidavit made by the agent of an assignee, or of an executor or administrator, or by an officer, employee or agent of a corporation, shall state that the deponent is aware of the circumstances connected with the assignment, and that he has personal knowledge of the facts deposited to. The Act does not apply (a) Any assignment of book debts, whether specific or by way of floating charge, made by a corporation, and contained: (1) in a trust deed or other instrument to secure bonds, debentures or debenture stock of the corporation or of any other corporation; or (2) in any bonds, debentures or debenture stock of the corporation as well as in the trust deed or other instrument securing the same, or in a trust deed or other instrument securing bonds, debentures or debenture stock of any other corporation; or (3) in any bonds, debentures or debenture stock or any series of bonds or debentures of the corporation not secured by a separate instrument, (b) any assignment of book debts due at the date of the assignment from specified debtors (c) growing due under specified contracts (d) included in a transfer of a business made bona fide and for value (e) included in any authorized assignment under The Bankruptcy Act. Affidavits may be taken and made before the proper officer of any registration district or before any person, whether within or without the province, authorized to take affidavits in any cause, matter, or thing pending in any court in the province. Affidavits out of the Province are usually sworn before a notary public.

Bulk Sales. Every person who shall bargain for, buy or purchase any stock of goods, wares, and merchandise in bulk for cash or on credit before closing the purchase price of same, and before paying to the vendor any part of the purchase price, or giving any promissory note or notes or any security for the said purchase price shall demand of and receive from such vendor, and it shall be the duty of such vendor of such goods to furnish a written statement, verified by the Statutory Declaration of the vendor or his duly authorized agent. The statement shall contain the names and addresses of all the creditors of the vendor together with the amount of the indebtedness due or accruing due or to become due by said vendor to each creditor.

Any agreement for the purchase or sale shall be in writing and shall contain an inventory of the property so sold or to be sold and shall be filed within ten days after execution in the registry office of the registration district where the vendor resides or if he is a nonresident, then in the registry office of the district where such property is situated and no part of the purchase price for such goods, wares, and merchandise shall be paid or any promissory note or notes or any security for said purchase price, delivered within thirty days after the execution of such agreement. If said Statutory Declaration is not demanded and obtained from the vendor, or if such agreement is not filed, such sale shall be deemed to be fraudulent and void as against the creditors of the vendor, unless the proceeds of such sale are sufficient to pay the creditors in full, and are actually applied in or towards payment of all the creditors pro rata without preference or priority except as provided by law or previous contract.

On obtaining the Statutory Declaration if the purchase price is sufficient to pay the vendor's creditors in full the purchaser shall pay same to a trustee or trustees and deliver all promissory note, notes or other security to him or them for distribution pro rata among the vendor's creditors who from and after the filing of the agreement aforesaid shall obtain no priority or preference; if, however, the purchase price to be paid is less than the amount of the total indebtedness of the vendor, as shown by the Statutory Declaration or notified to the purchaser, the said purchaser shall obtain the written consent to such bargain or purchase from creditors representing at least 50 per cent in number and value of claims and any sale made for such purchase price without such written consent, shall be deemed fraudulent and shall be absolutely void as against the creditors of the vendor.

The Act applies only to sales to (a) persons who as their ostensible occupation buy and sell goods, wares and merchandise ordinarily the subject of trade and commerce; (b) commission merchants; (c) manufacturers. The Act does not apply to or effect any sale made by executors, administrators, liquidators, receivers, assignees for the benefit of creditors or any public official acting under judicial process. The distribution of moneys under "The Bulk Sales Act" is made in like manner as distribution of moneys under "The Assignments Act," and the provisions of the latter Act apply also to meetings of creditors, notice of same and proof of claims.

Chattel Mortgages. (See Bills of Sale.)

Collaterals. Bills of exchange, promissory notes, warehouse receipts, and bills of lading, etc., may be given as collateral security, as also Life Insurance policies, stocks, lands, etc.

Collecting Agencies. No person shall carry on business as a collector of debts due or alleged to be due unless and until he has obtained a license therefor and such license is in force. This Act does not apply to any Barrister or firm of Barristers of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia.

Conditional Sales. A "Conditional Sale" means any contract for the sale of goods under which possession is or is to be delivered to the buyer and the property is to vest in him at a subsequent time upon payment of the whole or part of the price or the performance of any other condition; or any contract for the hiring of goods by which it is agreed that the hirer shall become, or have the option of becoming, the owner of the goods upon full compliance with the terms of the contract.

A provision in the conditional sale, after the buyer obtains possession that the property in the goods is to remain in the seller shall be void as against subsequent purchasers or mortgagees claiming from or under the buyer in good faith, for valuable consideration and without notice and also as against other classes of creditors or statutory officials clothed with the authority and rights of creditors unless such provision is evidenced by writing signed prior to or at the time of delivery of the goods by the buyer or his agent, giving a description of the goods by which they may be readily and easily known and distinguished, and stating the amount unpaid of the purchase price or the terms and conditions of the hiring; and the writing or a true copy thereof shall be filed within twenty days after it has been signed with the proper officer of the registration district in which the buyer resided at the time of the making of the conditional sale, or, in case his residence is outside the province, of the district where goods are delivered. If the buyer resides in one registration district and the goods are delivered to him in another, an original of the writing or a true copy shall be filed in both districts. When the goods are after delivery removed by the buyer into another district, an original writing or a true copy within twenty days after such removal has come to the knowledge of the seller shall be filed in the latter district. When the goods having been delivered at a place outside the province are subsequently removed into the province by the buyer, the writing or a true copy shall be filed in the registration district to which the goods are removed within twenty days after such removal has come to the knowledge of the seller.

Where value of goods exceeds $15.00 and such agreement made out of Nova Scotia, the agreement to be valid against creditors, etc. of buyer must contain definite description of goods subject thereto, sufficient for clear identification and copy of agreement and affidavits and instruments relating thereto, proved to be true copy by some person who has compared them with originals, must be filed in Registry office of District to which goods have been removed within thirty days from receipt of notice by vendor. This applies under similar circumstances to any right of a vendor to revindication upon default or any similar right.

The residence of a corporation is the City of Halifax.

Where the contract is for the sale of rolling stock to a railway, street railway or inter-urban railway, the Act does not apply if the contract or a copy of it, within thirty days of its execution, filed in the office of the provincial secretary of the province in which the head office or chief agency in Canada of the company is situated.

The seller shall deliver a copy of the writing to the buyer within twenty days after the execution thereof.

The Act provides for the repossession of the goods pursuant to any condition in the contract in the event of default, and the sale thereof by private sale or at public auction when the time for redemption has expired. A valid assignment of a lien note or conditional sale agreement shall transfer the assignor's rights of property in the goods therein comprised, his right of seizure, removal and sale, and all other rights which he possesses for the enforcement of his security.

If the price of the goods exceeds thirty dollars, and the seller intends to look to the buyer for any deficiency on a resale, the goods shall not be resold until a notice in writing (to contain certain provisions stated in the Act) of the intention to sell has been given to the buyer.

A sale made to a trader or other person where the seller expressly or impliedly consents that the buyer may resell in the course of business is in effect except from the foregoing provisions of the Act. See also Instalment Payment Contracts.

Conveyances. (See Deeds.)

Corporations are formed by special charter, act of parliament, or under joint stock companies acts. Foreigners can form a joint stock company for the purpose of carrying on business in Nova Scotia. All corporations, whether domestic or foreign, must hold a certificate of registration before they can legally do or carry on in Nova Scotia any part of their business. Stockholders are liable for the full amount

Foreign corporations are required to file an annual statement showing amount of capital, situation of head office, under what laws it was incorporated, list of directors, and nature of business empowered to carry on and name and address of resident agent within province, and heavy penalties are provided for default.

The judges of the supreme court, consisting of a chief justice and six associate judges, hold circuit courts throughout the province. The county court is divided into districts and each judge holds court in his own district. The jurisdiction of the supreme court in actions for debt or liquidated demand is from $100 upward; of the county court from $20 to $1,000.

Days of Grace. Where a bill is not payable on demand, the day on which it falls due is determined as follows: Three days, called days of grace are, in every case, where the bill itself does not otherwise provide, added to the time of payment as fixed by the bill, and the bill is due and payable on the last day of grace. When the last day of grace falls on Sunday or legal holiday in the Province, then the next day following shall be the last day of grace.

Deeds. Deeds within the Province may be proved upon the oath of a subscribing witness to the execution thereof taken before the registrar of deeds, a judge of the supreme court, a notary public, a justice of the peace, a barrister of the supreme court, a commissioner of the supreme court, or upon the personal acknowledgment by the parties under oath before any of the said functionaries of the due execution thereof. Parties to a cause may consent in writing to examine a witness residing abroad.

Descent of Real and Personal Estate. Real Estate. When a person dies intestate, any real estate to which he may be entitled at the time of his death shall descend as follows: 1. A wife is entitled to dower out of all lands (with a few exceptions, of which her husband was seized at and after their marriage) in which she did not bar dower during his lifetime; but a husband, subject to common law conditions, can only be tenant by the courtesy of such of his wife's land as she died seized of intestate. Wife has dower in equitable estates of which her husband died beneficially seized.

Execution. Writ of execution (fier' facias) may issue upon a judgment or order for the payment of any moneys or transfer of real or personal property at any time within six years from the recovery of judgment or the date of the order, and, if unexecuted, shall remain in force for one year only from its issue, but may be renewed at any time before date of expiration from date of renewal, and so on from time to time. A judgment binds real estate of the debtor after it has been registered in the registry of deeds for the county or district in which said lands lie; and after the period of one year from the date of registration the judgment creditor may order execution to be levied on said lands.

Exemptions. The necessary wearing apparel, beds, bedding and bedsteads of the debtor and his family, one stove and pipe thereof, one crane and its appendages, one pair of andirons, one set of cooking utensils, one pair of tongs, six knives, six forks, six plates, six teacups, six saucers, one shovel, one table, six chairs, one milk-jug, one teapot, six spoons, one spinning wheel, one weaving loom, one sewing machine, if in ordinary domestic use, ten volumes of religious books, one water bucket, one axe, one saw, and such fishermen's gear and nets as are in common use, the value of such gear and nets not to exceed $100; all necessary fuel, meat, fish, flour and vegetables, actually provided for family use, not more than sufficient for the ordinary consumption of the debtor, and his family for thirty days, and not exceeding in value the sum of $75, one cow, two sheep, and one hog and food therefor for thirty days, tools and implements of, or chattels ordinarily used in the debtor's occupation to the value of $30.

Frauds. No action shall be brought whereby to charge any executor or administrator upon any special promise to answer damages out of his own estate, or whereby to charge any defendant upon any special promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another person, or whereby to charge any person on an agreement made upon consideration of marriage, or upon any contract, or upon any agreement that is not to be performed within the space of one year from the making thereof, unless the agreement upon which the action shall be brought, or some memorandum or note thereof, shall be in writing, signed by the party to be charged therewith, or some other person authorized by him. Promise to be answerable for the debt of another not invalid for want of statement of consideration in writing, or by necessary inference from a written document. Promise or ratification of an infant, made after full age, to perform a contract or pay a debt contracted during infancy, must be in writing signed by him or his lawfully authorized agent, in order to maintain action. A representation or assurance concerning the character, credit, etc. of any other person with the intent that such person may obtain credit or value, must be in writing signed by the representor or assurer, in order to bring action. Goods include all chattels personal, other than things in action and money, and include things attached to or forming a part of the lands which are agreed to be severed before sale or under the contract of sale. The law relating to sale of goods has been codified and is substantially the same as the common law. Capacity to buy and sell is regulated by a general law on capacity to contract. Infants or persons incompetent to contract must pay a reasonable price for necessities. No contract for the sale of goods of the value of $40 or upwards can be enforced by action unless the buyer accepts part of the goods and actually receives the same or gives something in earnest to bind the contract, or in part payment, or unless some note or memorandum in writing of the contract be made and signed by the party to be charged therewith or his agent in that behalf. A contract for the sale of specific goods which have perished at the time the contract made, without the knowledge of the seller, is void. Stipulations as to time of payment are not deemed to be of the essence of the contract unless made to appear so from its terms. When the buyer becomes insolvent the unpaid seller who has parted with the possession of the goods may stop them in transit. See also Security Frauds Prevention Act.

Garnishment. The court or a judge, upon the ex parte application of any person who has obtained a judgment for the payment of money, upon affidavit of himself or solicitor stating that judgment has been recovered, and it is still unsatisfied, and to what amount, and that any other person is indebted to such debtor, and is within the jurisdiction, order that all debts owing from such third person (the garnishee) to such debtor shall be attached to answer the judgment. Wages up to $40 cannot be garnished, nor debts due from the government.

Husband and Wife. (See Divorce and Married Women.)

Insolvency Laws (Bankruptcy). The Bankruptcy Act of the Dominion of Canada applies to the Province of Nova Scotia. Section 3 of the Act specifies ten acts of bankruptcy. A creditor shall not be entitled to present a bankruptcy petition against a debtor unless (a) the debt owing by the debtor to the petitioning creditor, or if two or more creditors join in the petition, the aggregate amount of debts owing to the several petitioning creditors amounts to $500; and (b) the act of bankruptcy on which the petition is grounded has occurred within six months before the presentation of the petition. The petition must be verified by affidavit and served on the debtor in the prescribed manner. If the petitioning creditor is a secured creditor, he must in his petition either state that he is willing to give up his security for the benefit of the creditors in the event of the debtor or is adjudged bankrupt, or give an estimate of the value of his security, and in the latter case he may be admitted as a petitioning creditor to the extent of the balance of the debt due to him after deducting the value so estimated in the same manner as if he were an unsecured creditor. In effect, the ten acts of bankruptcy above referred to are: (a) Assignment of his property to a Trustee for the benefit of his creditors generally, whether or not the assignment is authorized by the Act. (b) Fraudulent conveyance. (c) Fraudulent preference. (d) Execution unsatisfied, goods sold by sheriff or no goods to be found. (e) Absconding. (f) Exhibits statement showing insolvency. (g) Assigns or attempts to assign, etc. with intent to defraud. (h) Makes a bulk sale without complying with the provisions of any Bulk Sales Act. (i) Gives notice that he has suspended or is about to suspend payment of his debts. (j) Ceases to meet his liabilities generally as they become due. Any insolvent debtor (other than a resident in the province of Quebec engaged solely in farming or the tilling of the soil) whose liabilities to creditors, provable as debts under the Act, exceed $500, may, at any time prior to the making of a receiving order against him, make an assignment of all his property for the general benefit of his creditors.

The creditors at their first meeting shall appoint by ordinary resolution a trustee for the administration of the estate. The trustee must give security. The Act provides inter alia for the appointment of inspectors, filing proofs of claims, for the discharge of the trustee and of the bankrupt.

The Provincial Act relating to an assignment for the general benefit of creditors is now very seldom invoked; creditors and debtors alike both resorting to the provisions of The Bankruptcy Act.

Instalment Payment Contracts. Any provision in any conditional sale made within the Province whereby the property in the goods remains in the seller shall be void and the buyer shall notwithstanding such provision be conclusively deemed the owner of the goods unless the seller at the time of the making of such sale holds a license which is in force; Provided that no assignment of any such conditional sale shall be valid unless the person to whom the assignment is made holds a license which is in force at the time of the making of such assignment: And further provided that nothing in the relevant legislation shall be construed to prevent the seller or such person from exercising any right of action for the recovery of the purchase price of the goods which he may have under the conditional sale or any contract incidental thereto. In this pertinent legislation, "person" means person to whom in the ordinary course of his business assignments of conditional sales are made.

Any provision in any conditional sale or other agreement, (1) whereby a seller or any person acting on his behalf is relieved from liability for any wrongful act done in the course of entry upon any premises for the purpose of repossessing goods, or (2) whereby any person acting on behalf of the seller is treated as or deemed to be the agent of the buyer, or (3) whereby the seller is relieved from liability for the acts or defaults of any person acting on his behalf, or (4) whereby the provisions of The Instalment Payment Contracts Act, 1940, are excluded or varied, shall be void. The fee for the license is $2.00 and every license shall expire on November 30th in each year. Inspection and penalties for violation of the provisions of the Act are provided. See subject "Conditional Sales" as to meaning of a "Conditional Sale".

Insurance Agents. No person, firm or company may act as agent for life, accident or fire insurance without first obtaining a certificate of authority so to act from the Provincial Secretary. An agent may not act as such for any Company other than the one named in such certificate. Agent inducing person to take a policy to lapse and take out one in another Company by means of misleading statements, is liable to heavy penalty. Every Life, Accident or Fire Insurance Company carrying on business in Nova Scotia shall during January in each year file with the Provincial Secretary a statement under oath showing the name and residence of every person authorized to act as agent in this Province.

Insurance Companies. The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has declared that the regulation of the business of insurance and of the contracts of insurance is a matter within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Provincial Legislature. Consequently, no insurance company may carry on any part of its business in Nova Scotia unless and until it is licensed under the laws of this Province, and no person may act in Nova Scotia as agent for any insurer not licensed under provincial statute. An Act of the Legislature, 1932, not yet proclaimed, provides that the Lieutenant-Governor in Council shall have power to do and authorize such Acts and things and to make from time to time such orders and regulations as he may deem necessary or advisable with respect to the business and contracts of insurance, and for the licensing or other authorization and regulation of insurers, and for prohibiting unlicensed insurers, and for amending, modifying, suspending, repealing, or adding to any provision of any Act of the Legislature relating to insurance or insurance agents.

Insurance, Automobile. The Act applies to automobile insurance and to any insurer carrying on the business of automobile insurance in the province and to all contracts made in the Province on or after the date of coming into force of this Act. The Act does not apply to the insurance of an automobile against loss or damage by fire under a policy of fire insurance. No contract of insurance for period exceeding fourteen days can be made without written application. Certain statutory conditions, subject to specified exemptions, deemed to be part of every contract of automobile insurance, must be printed on every policy with the heading "Statutory Conditions." The Motor Vehicle Liability Policies include coverage of owner's policy and driver's policy. These policies cover loss or damage arising from the ownership, use or operation in the owner's policy and arising from the operation or use in the driver's policy within Canada or the United States of America, or upon a vessel plying between ports within those countries. The above Act became law on September 1, 1932. Where there is a written application no statement made by applicant may be used in defense of a claim under the policy unless it is contained in application.

Insurance, Accident and Sickness. The Accident and Sickness Insurance Act does not apply to a contract of Life Insurance to which the Life Insurance Act applies. Certain conditions known as "Statutory Conditions" shall be printed on every policy and, subject to certain provisions, shall be deemed to be a part of every contract of accident and of sickness insurance in force in Nova Scotia.

Insurance, Life. Where the place of residence of the insured is stated in the application or the policy to be in the Province, or, if neither application nor policy contains a statement as to the place of residence of the insured, but his actual place of residence is within the Province at the time of the making of the contract, the contract (of insurance) is deemed to be made in Nova Scotia, and the insurance money shall be payable in the Province in which the insured is domiciled at the time of death in lawful money of Canada. Irrespective of any agreement to the contrary, any term in every contract of insurance made in Nova Scotia inconsistent with the provisions of the Act shall be null and void. The Act shall apply to unmaturing obligations of every contract of life insurance made in Nova Scotia before the Act came into force, unless otherwise specifically provided in the Act; and shall apply, also, to every other contract of life insurance made after the Act came into force, where the contract provides that the Act shall apply or that the contract shall be construed or governed by the law of Nova Scotia. All terms of the contract of insurance must be set out in full in the instrument and unless so set out shall not be admissible in evidence to the prejudice of the assured or beneficiary. Misstatement of age alone shall not avoid contract but amount payable under the policy shall be calculated according to the premium respectively payable at the correct age of assured. Thirty days grace for payment of premium (not being the initial premium) is allowed but shall run concurrently with any like provision in the contract of insurance. Beneficiary under the contract being other than the assured or the parent, grantee or assignee of the assured must have had at the date of the contract a pecuniary interest in the duration of the life of the assured. Insurance which has been declared to be for the benefit of the husband, wife, children, grandchildren, father, or mother of insured shall create a trust in favor of such beneficiaries according to the intent so declared, and any monies payable under the contract, subject to the provisions of the Act, shall not be subject to the control of the assured or of his creditors, or form part of his estate. Policies may be assigned by the parties having interest therein if of capacity to contract. Every claim under a policy shall be payable at expiration of thirty days after proof has been furnished to the company of the happening of the event on which said claim was to accrue due, and any conditions to the contrary shall be void.

Insurance, Fire. Every insurer licensed to transact the business of fire insurance may within the limits and subject to the restrictions prescribed by the license, insure or reinsure any property in which the insured has an insurable interest against damage or loss by fire, lightning or explosion, whether the same happens by accident or by any other means except that of design on the part of the insured. The "Statutory Conditions", which form part of the contract between the insurer and insured, must be printed on every policy; and no variation, omission or addition thereto shall be binding on the insured. The statutory conditions do not apply where the subject matter of the insurance is exclusively rents, charges or loss of profits. A policy may contain, subject to statutory provisions, a co-insurance clause and a limitation of liability clause which are not to be deemed a variation or addition to the statutory conditions. The new Act governing Fire Insurance came into force on January 1st, 1931.

Interest. Legal rate, 5 per cent. A contract may be made in writing for any rate when the security is real or chattel real, or for any rate where the security is personal property or personal responsibility, except in the case of banks, who may not charge more than 7 per cent. Judgments bear interest at 5 per cent.

Judgments. (See Executions.)

Jurisdiction. (See Courts.)

Limitations on all contracts not under seal, six years; judgments and contracts under seal, twenty years. No arrears of dower, nor damages on account of such arrears, shall be recovered or obtained by any action or proceeding for a longer period than six years next before the commencement of such action, or suit; and no arrears of rent, or interest, or money charged on or payable out of land, or in respect to any legacy, or any damages thereon, shall be recovered after six years from date when due, or from acknowledgment of the same in writing.

Loan Companies. See under Trust Companies the provisions as to which apply almost exactly to Loan Companies incorporated under Provincial Charter.

Loan Corporations. This term includes every Corporation Incorporated Company, Association or Society (except Chartered Bank) whose head office is situated out of the Province of Nova Scotia, and is carried on for the purpose solely or among other purposes of loaning money on real estate, or investing money in real estate securities, or for the purpose of aiding its members or others in acquiring real property and making improvements thereon. Every such corporation must obtain a Certificate of Registry from the Registrar of Companies before commencing business in Nova Scotia and before granting the certificate full information as to the Corporation must be supplied. All deeds, mortgages, contracts and agreements used by such Loan Corporations must be approved of by the Governor in Council before being used in the Province. Where more than 7 per cent interest is claimed under any written instrument, in any action to recover arrears of principal or interest, such written instrument shall not be deemed to be evidence of the contract between the parties, but the party claiming under the instrument must prove that the instrument truly sets forth the terms of the contract entered into, and that said terms were fully explained to the party agreeing to pay such interest. All such corporations must file returns with the Provincial Secretary prior to March 31 in each year for the preceding calendar year.

Married Women's Property Act. Under this act married women may acquire, hold, and dispose of, by will or otherwise, any real or personal property as their separate property, in the same manner as if they were femme sole, and without the intervention of any trustee. Married women by registered declaration, may carry on separate business. Married women having separate estate may sue and be sued as femme sole.

Married Women's Deeds Act. Every deed of real property made by a married woman of any real property to which she is entitled, or in which she has any interest either present or future, either in her own right or by way of dower, or as a trustee or personal representative, whether solely or jointly with any other person, shall be as valid and effectual as if made by an unmarried woman, and it shall not be necessary for the husband to join in or execute any instrument nor title or right has been acquired through or with the concurrence of the husband before the commencement of this Act, that title or right shall prevail over any title or right which would otherwise be rendered valid by the change in the law of the Province dispensing with the husband's consent and the wife's acknowledgment.

Deeds of married women made before March 11, 1898, or married before March 11, 1898 of real property acquired by her before that date, to be valid require the concurrence of the husband to be expressed therein or by a separate instrument, and that the married woman acknowledge that the deed is her free act and deed and was executed freely and voluntarily without fear, threat or compulsion of, from or by her husband. The word "deed" as defined by the Act includes every description of conveyance of real property other than a will.

Mechanics' Liens. Every mechanic, machinist, laborer, builder, contractor, or other person, doing work upon or furnishing materials to be used in the construction of any building, road, railway, wharf, pier, bridge, mine, well, excavation, sidewalk, pavement, drain, or sewer has a lien for the price of his work thereon to the extent of the owner's interest. A claim for lien must be filed in the registry of deeds for the registration district in which the lands lie, within thirty days after the completion of the work or the supplying of materials, else the lien will cease. Proceedings to enforce registered liens must be commenced within ninety days after the completion of the work, services, or furnishing of supplies, etc. Unregistered liens shall cease to exist on the expiration of time limited for registration, unless in the meantime an action is commenced to realize the claim.

Mortgages must be under seal. A mortgage is foreclosed by an action in the supreme court, and is discharged by a release in which reference is made to the registry of the mortgage, and same must be under seal, executed and recorded as an ordinary deed, and a marginal note made on the registered mortgage that the same has been released.

Non-Resident Traders and Contractors. Non-Resident Traders shall not carry on any business, canvass for, take or solicit orders for the sale and delivery of goods, wares or merchandise or offer for sale goods, wares or merchandise in Nova Scotia without first having obtained a license from the Provincial Secretary; and no Non-Resident Building Contractor shall carry on business in Nova Scotia without having obtained such a license.

"Trader" means any person who buys, sells or deals in goods, wares or merchandise of any description or kind either as principal, agent or salesman or who as principal, agent or salesman takes orders for the sale and delivery of goods, wares or merchandise; and "Building Contractor" means any person who undertakes contracts to construct, build, alter, reconstruct, repair or demolish buildings, plants, wharves, docks, harbors, highways, railways, ships and other similar works.

The provisions of the Act do not apply to any Non-Resident Trader who is employed by or acts for a partnership which is duly registered under the provisions of the Registration of Partnerships Act, or a corporation which is duly registered under the provisions of the Domestic, Dominion and Foreign Corporations Act. Nor do they apply to any Non-Resident Building Contractor registered under the provisions of the Registration of Partnerships Act or under the provisions of the Domestic, Dominion and Foreign Corporation Act.

Every Non-Resident Building Contractor who carries on business in Nova Scotia shall appoint and have a recognized agent resident within the Province, who shall be an agent for service.

The Act provides for license fees and a penalty for violation of the provisions of the Act.

Notaries are appointed by the government of Nova Scotia and have power to take protests.

Notes and Bills of Exchange. (See Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes.)

Partnerships. Includes person carrying on business by himself under any name other than his own. No person shall carry on business as a partner until a declaration has been filed by the partner and a certificate of registration issued. New declaration to be filed on change of membership of firm. Unregistered partnership cannot maintain a suit in the courts. A partnership containing the name "Royal" or "Imperial" or under a name in the opinion of the Registrar calculated to suggest the patronage of his Majesty, a member of the Royal Family or connections with His Majesty's Government or any department thereof, must have the consent of the Governor in Council before registration. "The Partnership Act" deals with the nature of partnerships, the relations of partners to persons dealing with them, and to one another, and also with the dissolution of partnership and its consequences. This act is copied from the English partnership act and is about of the same effect.

Powers of Attorney to execute a document under seal must be under seal. Where conveyances of land are executed under power of attorney, it must also be registered in the same registry office as the conveyance is registered in.

Probate Law. (See Administration and Descent of Property.)

Protest. Delay in giving notice of dishonor is excused where the delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the person giving notice. Where an inland bill (one which on the face of it purports to be both drawn and payable within Canada, or drawn upon some person resident therein) has been dishonored, it may be noted and protested for non-acceptance or non-payment, as the case may be. Where a foreign bill has been dishonored for non-acceptance it must be duly protested for non-acceptance. If it is not so protested the drawer and endorsers are discharged.

Replevy. An order for replevin may issue after plaintiff makes affidavit that he is entitled to property, that it is detained unjustly, and setting forth the value of it. The sheriff, before replevying, may require a bond from plaintiff to save him harmless, before proceeding to replevy.

Service of Summons must be personal, except in special cases, where judge may order substituted service.

Security Frauds Prevention. No person shall (a) trade in any security unless he is registered as a broker or salesman of a registered broker; or (b) act as an official of or on behalf of any partnership or company in connection with any trade in any security by the partnership or company, unless he and the partnership or company are registered; or (c) act as a salesman of or on behalf of any partnership or company in connection with any trade in any security by the partnership or company, unless he is registered as a salesman of a partnership or company which is registered as a broker. Such registrations must comply with the laws of the province and any violation of above provisions shall constitute an offence. Every applicant for registration as a broker shall before registration deliver a bond by the applicant or the person or company he represents as the Registrar may require, such bond to be in the sum of $500.00, and in such form and upon such condition as the Regulations shall prescribe. The Act, which regulates trading and provides also for a special brokers' audit, became law by proclamation, on August 1st, 1930, and repeals certain provincial acts relating to the same or similar subject matter. Banks, loan companies, Trust Companies and similar organizations are excepted likewise sales by mortgages or sales of Securities authorized for Trust funds and short term Bills of Exchange, etc.

Taxes are levied on real and personal property by the municipalities and collected by them. Outside the city of Halifax a tax is levied on income.

Tenancies and Distress for Rent. No distress for rent shall be made unless there is an actual demise at a specific rent. Goods distrained for rent reserved and due are to be appraised and sold within five days after notice, if not replevied. Provision is made in the Act for distraining upon unthreshed grain and hay, growing crops and cattle on common, and a list of goods and chattels exempt from distress for rent is set out in the Act, and one of these exemptions is all articles or goods in the possession of the tenant and held by the tenant under a duly filed agreement for hire, lease, contract or conditional sale, saving and excepting the interest of the tenant in any such articles or goods. Goods fraudulently removed to avoid distress may be seized within twenty-one days, wherever found, unless such goods are sold in good faith and for a valuable consideration before such seizure. Notice to quit shall be given to or by the tenant (a) if the house or tenement is let from year to year, at least three months before the expiration of any such year; (b) if from month to month at least one month before the expiration of any such month; (c) if from week to week at least one week before the expiration of any such week. Where an assignment or a petition for receiving order is made under the Bankruptcy Act the landlord is entitled to distrain or complete his distress for three months' rent accrued due immediately preceding the assignment or presentation of the petition.

Trust Companies. These are incorporated under both Dominion and Provincial charters. The capital stock, name and place of head office and names, place and residence of provisional directors must be declared in the Act of Incorporation. Companies incorporated under Provincial Charter cannot commence business without first receiving a certificate to do so from the Provincial Secretary, and no certificate will be granted until it is shown that not less than $250,000 of capital stock has been subscribed, and that the company has to its credit in a chartered bank not less than $100,000 paid in by Shareholders. Notice of the issue of a certificate by the Provincial Secretary must be published in "The Royal Gazette" for four weeks. The provisions governing the company's business are largely similar to other corporations. The powers of the company are laid down by the act.

Wills must be in writing, signed at the foot or end thereof by the testator or by some other person in his presence and by his direction, and such signature shall be made or acknowledged by the testator in the presence of two or more witnesses, present at the same time; and such witnesses shall attest and subscribe the Will in the presence of the testator, but no form of attestation shall be necessary. Executors are competent witnesses. Wills of minors are invalid. If a subscribing witness is a beneficiary under the will, the will will not be void on that account but the gift to the witness shall be void if there are not at least two other attesting witnesses without him.

Woodmen's Liens. These liens are similar to mechanics liens. They have priority over all other claims or liens on lumber cut or worked upon by the lumberman, except liens of the crown. Statements of the woodmen's liens must be filed within sixty days of the last day on which some part of the labor is performed. No mortgage sale or transfer of logs or timber upon which a lien is claimed during the time limited for filing such claim, or after the filing of the claim and during the time limited for enforcement thereof shall affect the lien in any way, and lien may be enforced against the logs or timber in whose possession same may be found. Lien may be enforced by attachment and execution.

SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF ONTARIO

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by Thomas & Kennedy, Barristers, 273 Bank St., Ottawa, Ontario. (See Card in Attorneys List)

The law throughout Canada is uniform on the following commercial matters: 1. Currency and coinage. 2. Banking, incorporation of banks, and issuing of paper money. 3. Savings banks. 4. Bills of exchange and promissory notes. 5. Interest. 6. Legal tender. 7. Bankruptcy and insolvency. 8. Patents. 9. Copyrights. There are other matters exclusively within the jurisdiction of the Dominion, but they are not commercial. The provinces can not legislate on the above matters, although they have general jurisdiction in matters of property and civil rights. The laws in the different provinces on the subjects within their jurisdiction vary. There is an analogy between this division of jurisdiction between the Dominion and the provinces and that between the United States and the respective states. The difference between the two systems is that all unenumerated powers in Canada belong to the Dominion. In the United States all unenumerated powers belong to the respective states or are expressly reserved to the people.

Acknowledgment. To take a debt out of the Statute of Limitations a payment on account or an acknowledgment in writing is required. This acknowledgment must be in such terms as to amount to an admission of the existence of the debt, and promise to pay same.

Actions. All actions are commenced by a writ of summons indorsed with a statement of the nature of the claim made or the relief or remedy sought. If the claim is for a liquidated demand in money arising out of contract, express or implied, for example, on a bill of exchange, promissory note, check, account, or any simple contract debt, the writ is specially indorsed with the particulars of the claim or amount sought to be recovered and is termed a specially indorsed writ of summons. A defendant, if served with process within Ontario, must enter an appearance within ten days after service, inclusive of the day of service. If served out of Ontario, further time is given, according to distance. If the writ is specially indorsed, and the defendant does not appear, judgment may be signed in default of appearance without any further proof of claim, and execution issued forthwith. Should the defendant enter an appearance, pleadings will have to be served, and the action take its ordinary course.

Where the writ is specially endorsed the defendant shall with his appearance file an affidavit that he has a good defense and showing the nature of the defense. This may be treated as a statement of defense by the plaintiff, and pleadings may be closed, by serving the defendant within five days with a twenty-one days' notice of trial. If the defendant is not served with last mentioned notice of trial then he may deliver a statement of defense within ten days after his appearance; otherwise his affidavit of merits shall stand as his defense.

Where the defendant appears to a specially endorsed writ and files his affidavit as above, the plaintiff may cross examine on such affidavit and move for summary judgment, and if the court sees that the facts and circumstances on which the defendant relies in his affidavit of merits afford no answer to the plaintiff's claim, summary judgment may be given for the plaintiff.

Where writ is not specially endorsed, (called a "general writ of summons") and defendant fails to appear, plaintiff may sign interlocutory judgment, directing an assessment of damages, or a reference. Each party, after the defense is delivered, may orally examine the other under oath, before the trial, touching the matters in question, and may by notice require the other within ten days to make discovery, or disclosure on oath in writing of the documents which are or have ever been in his possession or power, relating to any matters in question in the action.

Inferior jurisdiction is exercised by the division and county courts. Division courts are held in the different counties throughout the Province, and have jurisdiction in: 1. All personal actions, where the amount claimed does not exceed $120, or $200 when agreed to by the parties. 2. Claims and demands of debt, account, or breach of contract, or covenant or money demand where the amount or balance claimed does not exceed $200; provided that in case of an unsettled account, the whole account does not exceed $1,000. 3. Claims for debt or money demand not exceeding $400 exclusive of interest where the amount, or original amount, is ascertained by the signature of the defendant or person whom, as executor or administrator he represents, or for the balance of an amount not exceeding $400 which amount is so ascertained; or the balance of an amount so ascertained which did not exceed $800 and the plaintiff abandons the excess over $400. An amount is not so ascertained where other and extrinsic evidence is necessary beyond the production of a document and proof of the signature to it. The Division Court has also jurisdiction in certain combinations of classes in class three. No fees are recoverable in the division court as a general rule, only court costs, which are not large. Sometimes a small Counsel Fee is allowed to successful party. County courts have jurisdiction in: 1. All personal actions where sum claimed does not exceed $500. 2. Actions arising out of contract, expressed or implied, where the sum claimed does not exceed $500. 3. Recovery of land or damages for trespass thereon where its value does not exceed $500. 4. Partnership accounts where stock or capital is not over $2,000. 5. Legacies not above $500 out of an estate not exceeding $2,000. 6. Claims on mortgages where sum claimed does not exceed $500. 7. Actions for redemption or suitable relief where sum does not exceed $500. They can not try: 1. Title to land where the value of the land is over $500. 2. The validity of any devise or bequest over $200 where the estate is over $2,000. 3. Actions for libel or slander, or crim. con. or seduction, or against a justice of the peace, if the justice by writing objects thereto within six days after the notice of action which is required to be given in such actions is served upon him. In all these latter cases and in all actions above the limit of the county courts, the Supreme Court of Ontario has jurisdiction. If suits are brought in the wrong court, the parties may be deprived of costs. Priority of judgments is regulated only by the time of the delivery of the writ of execution into the hands of the sheriff, and not by the time of obtaining the judgments, and judgment creditors share equally with other creditors, gaining no priority or advantage, except that their costs are added to their claim. (See Assignments.)

Attorneys in the states sending claims for collection to Ontario are recommended to read carefully this summary of the jurisdiction of the Ontario courts over claims in Ontario, as mistakes and disputes constantly arise, owing to American attorneys not being aware that the costs and fees on claims vary with the amount of the claim. In division courts no fees at all except in some cases small Counsel Fees are allowed, only court disbursements, and, therefore a litigant in that court, even if successful, has to bear his own attorney fees. The tendency of legislation has been to extend the jurisdiction of the inferior courts.

Administration of Estate. Administration is granted by the judge of the surrogate court of the county in which the deceased had his last place of abode, or in which he leaves property. It is granted to the next of kin. A creditor may apply for administration. Letters cannot be granted until after an interval of fourteen days from the death. The administrator must reside in the province.

Affidavits. Affidavits made in the United States or any foreign country, to be used in any of the courts in Ontario, may be made before a notary public, certified under his hand and official seal, or before a commissioner residing in such foreign country, duly authorized to take affidavits, etc., to be used in Ontario, or before the mayor or chief officer of any city or town or before British consul or vice-consul.

If made before the mayor of a city or town they must be certified under the common seal of the municipality.

Agreements where Possession Passes without Ownership, otherwise termed Conditional Sales. In case of an agreement for the sale or transfer of goods of any kind, possession to pass but not ownership, any such provision is void against creditors or subsequent transferees, without notice, unless the agreement is filed in the office of the county clerk within ten days of the execution of the agreement. This provision respecting ownership does not affect purchases in the ordinary course of business from a trader or sales of manufactured articles bearing the maker's name, with certain exceptions.

Aliens. Every kind of real and personal property may be held, bought and sold by aliens as freely as though they were natural-born subjects. Although not resident in Ontario, they may be sued by being served with notice of process. Any person not resident within the Province who brings an action in its courts is bound, upon application made therefor, to give to the opposite party security for the costs which may be incurred in the action, generally to the extent of $400, or by payment into court of $200. In the county courts, security is required to the extent of $200, or by payment into court of $100. (See also Judgments.)

Appeals. Appeals from all the Ontario courts are heard at Toronto by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, whose decision is final unless the amount in dispute exceeds $2,000, or unless future rights, the title to real estate, or the validity of a patent are involved, in which cases a further appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada at Ottawa is allowed. If future rights are involved or if the amount in dispute exceeds $4,000, the appellant, instead of going to the Supreme Court of Canada, may, at his option, appeal to the Judicial Committee of His Majesty's Privy Council at London, Eng. The Privy Council will not hear appeals from the Supreme Court of Canada unless some constitutional question or some important principle is involved.

Arbitrations. Arbitrations are now governed by the revised statute respecting arbitrations. A submission is irrevocable, unless there is a contrary expression therein, except by leave of the court. Arbitrators are allowed three months to make their award. The court has power in certain cases to appoint an arbitrator.

Arrest. One foreigner can not follow another into Ontario and have him arrested for a debt contracted abroad, but any creditor whose claim is $100 or over may obtain the arrest of his debtor upon showing by affidavit that the debtor is about to leave the Province, with intent to defraud his creditors. A married woman is not liable to arrest for debt.

Assignment. A Bankruptcy Act was passed in July, 1919 by the Dominion Parliament and came into force July 1, 1920. This Act has been extensively amended in each subsequent year, and is now contained in the Revised Statutes of Canada 1927, Chapter 11 and cited as The Bankruptcy Act.

Under this Act a creditor is entitled to present a Bankruptcy Petition against a debtor when the debt owing amounts to $500. A creditor's petition may, however, usually be withdrawn by him with the debtor's consent.

A debtor commits an act of Bankruptcy when he makes an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, fraudulent conveyance or preference, or absconds or allows an execution to remain in the Sheriff's hands unsatisfied for fourteen days after seizure, or if the execution is returned by the sheriff endorsed to the effect that he can find no goods whereon to seize. The Act contains a provision for the appointment of a trustee to dispose of the assets of the debtor.

The Act also contains a provision for discharge of the debtor effective no sooner than three months next after the date of his being adjudged bankrupt. In Ontario receiving orders and voluntary assignments against and by debtors supersede attachments, executions, judgments, except judgments for alimony duly registered in registry office against the lands of the defendant, and executions in the hands of the sheriff not completely executed by payment subject to the first execution creditor's lien for costs. Garnishee orders, receiving orders by way of equitable execution are also superseded by receiving orders and voluntary assignments. A preference made by a debtor which has the effect of defeating any creditor is presumed to be fraudulent and void if attacked within three months of the making of a receiving order or voluntary assignment. If attacked after three months, the intent to prefer must be proved. If proved, the transaction is set aside. (See wages.)

Attachment. A resident in Ontario who, being indebted to any other person in a sum exceeding $100, departs or absconds from this Province with intent to defraud his creditors, or to avoid arrest or service of process, and at the time of his so departing is possessed to his own use of any real or personal property, is deemed an absconding debtor, and his property may be seized and taken by a writ of attachment, for which a judge's order must be obtained upon affidavits setting forth the necessary facts.

Banks. The subject of banks and banking is one which, by the Canadian constitution, is committed to the parliament of Canada. The legislature of the Province has no power to deal with the subject. The legislation respecting banks and banking is contained in the Statutes of Canada 1927 Chapter 12, and cited as The Bank Act. A Bank chartered under the Bank Act in addition to being a corporation with certain specified powers and subject to certain special restrictions, is authorized to "engage in and carry on such business as appertains to the business of banking." No Bank can issue a note for less than $5.00 nor for any sum which is not a multiple of $5.00. The payment of the notes is a first charge on a bank's assets. Notes of the bank are payable at par throughout the Dominion of Canada.

Banks are authorized to hold real estate, such as is required for their own use, but all other real estate howsoever acquired must be sold within seven years from the date of the acquisition thereof. This does not prevent banks from erecting office buildings upon their own land and renting the larger part of them to concerns who are not carrying on a banking business. They can not take a mortgage on real estate but may hold such as "additional" security only. Banks are also authorized to make advances in aid of building ships, to take security therefor, to lend money upon the security of standing timber and upon the security of natural products alive or dead stock of a wholesale dealer, and to take warehouse receipts as collateral security. Banks may also lend money to any wholesale manufacturer upon the security of goods manufactured by him or procured for such manufacture. Such security shall be duly registered in form prescribed by Section 88 of The Bank Act, and is not assignable by the bank to any third party. Banks are also authorized to lend money to farmers upon the security of their threshed grain upon the farm. They are obliged to make returns to the Finance Minister showing their assets and liabilities and giving the names of their shareholders in detail. Severe penalties are provided for the non-compliance of the various provisions of the Act. There is a double liability of shareholders. They are liable in the amount of their shares and notwithstanding that these shares are paid in full they are further liable in a sum equal to such amount to the bank's creditors. In 1932 the Parliament of Canada enacted the Bank of Canada Act, by which there was created a Central Bank and it is wholly owned, controlled, and operated by the Dominion Government. Its purpose is to regulate credit and currency. This Bank does not deal directly with the Public but only with the chartered Banks who are required to maintain with it a reserve of 5% of its deposit liabilities payable in Canada. It owns and controls all gold coin and issues all note circulation under $5.00. (See also Interest.)

Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes. War stamp taxes on cheques, promissory notes, or bills of exchange, are as follows: If the amount does not exceed $100, three cents. On anything in excess of $100, six cents. Three days grace are allowed. (See Days of Grace.) Presentment for payment should be made when due, and notice of dishonor given or mailed within one day, in order to hold the indorser or drawer, but these steps are not necessary in order to hold the acceptor of a bill or maker of a note. In case a bill or note falls due and is payable on a legal holiday it must be presented the day after such holiday. The legal holidays as fixed by statute, in all matters relating to bills or notes, are Sundays, New Year's Day, the Epiphany, Good Friday, the Ascension, All Saints Day, Conception Day, Easter Monday, Ash Wednesday, Christmas Day, Victoria Day (24th May), Dominion Day (1st July), Labor Day (1st Monday in September), King's birthday (3d of June), Remembrance Day and any special days appointed by proclamation for public holidays, fasting or thanksgiving. The legal rate of interest is now 5 per cent. If a bill is dishonored abroad, in addition to interest and expenses of noting and protest, holder is entitled to re-exchange with interest to date of payment.

Bills of Lading are now negotiable. Every bill of lading in the hands of a consignee or indorsee for valuable consideration representing goods to have been shipped on board a vessel or train, is conclusive evidence of such shipment as against the master or other person signing the same, notwithstanding that such goods or some part thereof may not have been so shipped, unless such holder of the bill of lading has actual notice at the time of receiving the same that the goods had not in fact been laden on board or unless such bill of lading has a stipulation to the contrary, but the master or other person so signing may exonerate himself in respect to such misrepresentation by showing that it was caused without any default on his part, and wholly by the fraud of the shipper, or of the holder, or of some person under whom the holder claims. Every consignee of goods named in a bill of lading to whom the property in the goods therein mentioned passes upon or by reason of such consignment or indorsement, shall have transferred to and vested in him all right of suit and be subject to the same liabilities in respect of such goods as if the contract contained in the bill of lading had been made to himself.

Bills of Sale and Chattel Mortgages must be filed in the office of the clerk of the county court of the county where the goods are situated, within five days from the date of execution. An affidavit of good faith showing that the bill of sale or chattel mortgage is not made for the purpose of defrauding creditors must be made by the vendee or chattel mortgagee before the bill of sale or chattel mortgage can be filed. Renewal statements verified by similar affidavit filed during the last month of each year of their currency are required to preserve their effect. When a chattel mortgage is made to a company the affidavit of good faith must be made by the president, vice-president, manager, assistant manager, secretary or treasurer, or other officer, duly authorized by resolution of the directors. An officer or agent must state that he has "personal knowledge of the facts deposed to."

Claims against Estates of Deceased Persons. Where a person dies intestate, letters of administration may be granted by the surrogate court. (See Administration of Estate.) In administering the estate, no difference is made as to judgment or other debts, all are to be paid ratably. Claims are enforced by suing the executor or administrator. Wills are proved in the surrogate court of the county where the testator had his last place of abode, or if testator lived out of Ontario, in the city where the property devised is situate. Real and personal property both devolve upon an administrator. Security is required before administration granted. (See Descent.)

Collaterals. Chattel mortgages are frequently given as collateral security for advances. In dealing with collateral parties must be careful not to prejudice their main or original security. They are expected to realize on the main security to the best advantage before proceeding on their collateral security.

Conditional Sales Agreements. (See Agreements, etc.)

Contracts. Contracts for the sale of lands or an interest in land must be in writing, signed by the party to be charged. The provisions of the statute of frauds are in force in Ontario, modified by the act respecting written promises and acknowledgments, which extends the statute of frauds in cases of contracts for the sale of goods of the value of $40 and upward to contracts for goods to be delivered at a future time.

Corporations are created by act of parliament, special charter, or under the general acts relating to the incorporation of joint stock companies by letters patent or by the Provincial Legislatures, in the latter case particularly where the objects of the corporation are local or of a private nature. Shareholders are liable only to the amount of their shares, and when these shares are paid in full, they are discharged from any further liability, except that the directors of the company remain personally liable to the company's servants for wages incurred or earned while such directors have been in office, to the amount of one year's wages. Provision has been made for the winding up of joint stock companies.

Costs, Security for. (See Aliens.)

Days of Grace. Where a bill is not payable on demand, the day on which it falls due is determined as follows: Three days, called days of grace, are, in every case where the bill itself does not otherwise provide, added to the time of payment as fixed by the bill, and the bill is due and payable on the last day of grace. When the last day of grace falls on Sunday or legal holiday in the Province, then the next day following shall be the last day of grace.

Deeds. All deeds should be in duplicate, so that one may be registered while the other is returned certified, and must be registered in order to be valid against subsequent purchasers for value or mortgagees. Common forms of deeds may be used, but the statute provides a short form, with covenants and bar of dower. All deeds must be under seal. A wafer, sealing wax, or other adhesive substance will answer for a seal, but a scroll is not a seal. In conveying the estate of a married woman it is usual, although not absolutely necessary for safety, that the husband should be a party to the deed but no acknowledgment or separate examination of the wife, apart from her husband, is required. Proof of all deeds, mortgages, etc., for registration, is made by an affidavit by the subscribing witness, in any foreign country—before the mayor of any city, borough, or town corporate, certified under the common seal, or before any British consul or vice-consul resident in such country, or before a judge of a court of record, or a notary public, certified under his official seal. When different parties sign before different subscribing witnesses, each such witness must make a similar affidavit as to the execution by the parties whose execution he attests, or the deed can not be registered. One credible person, male or female, who can read and write, will suffice as a witness. (See Lands Titles.) The short forms of deed and affidavit of execution are as follows:

This indenture, made in duplicate the day of in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and In pursuance of the short forms of Conveyances Act:

A Commissioner for taking Affidavits, etc.
An act known as The Land Transfer Tax Act came into force on the 1st of June 1921 imposing a tax of one-fifth of 1 per cent of the sale price payable on the registration of any deed. An affidavit must be attached to the deed showing the full and true amount of the moneys and the value of any property or security given as consideration.

Depositions. Witnesses examined under a commission from a court must be examined under the directions given by the commission. In ordinary cases depositions may be taken before a notary public, and will be signed by the party, and his signature will be verified by the notary.

Descent. When no issue, a widow is entitled to $1,000 part of the net value of her deceased husband's real and personal property. In respect to the residue, real estate descends like personality—one-half to the widow or widower and one-half to all the next of kin in equal degree, where there are no children. Where there are children, one-third to the widow and two-thirds to the children and the legal representatives of children who predecease the intestate. A widow is entitled to elect whether she will take her dower or a distributive share of the estate, according to the rules of devolution of personal estate. (See Dower.)

Distress. (See Exemptions.)

Dower. When there is no issue of the marriage surviving the father, the widow is entitled, in case of intestacy, to $1,000 of her husband's estate and over that amount to her share in the residue. Under the Devolution of Estates Act, R. S. O. 1937 Chapter 163, a widow is always entitled to elect whether she will take her interest under this act or her dower (i.e., a life interest in one-third of her husband's real property—free from his debts, and in all cases she is allowed to take a sum in gross or distribute share instead of her common law dower, being one-third of the estate where there are children, and one-half where there are no children, after payment of debts.

Evidence. In all civil proceedings no person is disqualified as a witness on the ground of interest, as a party or otherwise. Husbands and wives are competent and compellable witnesses, save as to communications made during their marriage and proceedings consequent upon adultery. In actions by or against representatives of any deceased persons, or by or against a lunatic, an opposite or interested party to the suit can not have judgment upon his own evidence as to any matter occurring before the death, unless such evidence is corroborated. An affirmation or declaration may be made by a witness if the presiding judge be satisfied that an oath would not in conscience have any binding effect.

Executions are issued by the division, county, and supreme courts within their respective jurisdiction. Writs against goods and lands are concurrent and run for three years, and can then be renewed. A land writ can only be issued where the judgment is $40 or upwards. Patent rights may now be sold under execution. Rights under trade marks are apparently not saleable under execution.

Exemptions. The following goods and chattels of a judgment debtor are exempt from seizure under writs of execution, or distress warrants for rent or taxes: The bed and bedding, and the necessary and ordinary wearing apparel of the debtor and his family, certain chattels, not exceeding in value $150, necessary fuel and food, not exceeding in value the sum of $40, stock in all not to exceed in value $100.00, and feed therefor for thirty days, tools and implements of, or chattels ordinarily used in, the debtor's occupation, to the value of $100; and of bees fifteen hives. Lands acquired under the Public Lands Act are exempt from seizure and sale for debt for a period of twenty years from location of land being made by locatee or his widow, heirs, or devisees.

Foreign Corporations. Foreign corporations cannot as a rule do business in Ontario without payment of a license fee and complying with the laws of the Province or of the Dominion as to corporations. Contracts of foreign corporations are adjudicated upon in the same manner as if they were the contracts of domestic corporations. (See Revised Statutes of Ontario 1927 Chapter 219. (See Alien Enemies.)

Foreign Judgments. (See Judgments.)

Fraud vitates everything. Reasonable diligence after discovery of fraud is required in order to prosecute a claim successfully.

Garnishment. In the Supreme court and County court garnishment is effected by attachment of debts under order of court. In the division court garnishment is effected by service of a garnishee summons after judgment has been obtained. Wages are protected only to the extent of 70 per cent, and if it can be shown that the exemption is unreasonable, the percentage may be reduced or increased by a judge.

Holidays. In Ontario the legal holidays are Sundays, New Year's Day, the Epiphany, Good Friday, the Ascension, All Saints Day, Conception Day, Easter Monday, Ash Wednesday, Christmas Day, Victoria Day (24th May), Dominion Day (1st July), Labor Day (1st Monday in September), King's Birthday (3d June), Remembrance Day and any special days appointed by proclamation for public holidays. Where the time allowed for doing any act expires, unless otherwise provided, on a holiday, it may be done on the next day succeeding.

Husband and Wife. (See Married Women.)

Income Tax. No provincial income tax is payable by U. S. citizens but the Dominion of Canada requires an income tax to be deducted on dividends payable to non-residents. It is suggested that specific inquiries in this matter be made by persons who are interested.

Interest. Five per cent is the legal rate, except as to securities in force on 7th July, 1900. Banks can not recover more than 7 per cent for interest or discount. Parties may agree between themselves as to any rate of interest, but, where no rate has been agreed upon, the legal rate only is recoverable. But see the Dominion Moneylenders act, Revised Statutes of Canada 1927 chapter 135, limiting rate of interest to 12 per cent per annum on negotiable instruments contracts, or agreements concerning loans of money under $500, and to 5 per cent after judgment. See also Ontario Money Lenders Act, Revised Statutes of Ontario 1927 chapter 212 granting relief against unconscionable transactions.

Judgments. Foreign judgments are all judgments recovered against any person outside of the Province, even though it be in any other province of the Dominion. A defendant sued in the courts of the Province on a foreign judgment of a court, to the jurisdiction of which he was subject, can not set up as a defense thereto any defense which he set up, or might have set up, to the original action if he was personally served with the process in such original action, or appeared or pleaded thereto, otherwise foreign judgments may be attacked for fraud or want of jurisdiction in the court in which judgment was obtained. In the case of actions on judgments obtained in the province of Quebec, if the service was not personal and not made in Quebec, any defense may be set up which might have been made to the original judgment. (See Alien Enemies.)

Jurisdiction. (See Actions.)

Lands Titles System. Lands in Ontario may be under the Land Titles Act, R. S. O. 1927 chapter 158, within the "lands titles system" of transfer, which is by certificate instead of deed. A mortgage is called a charge. Each holder of land gets a certificate from the office for the county—on that certificate are indorsed all transfers. No seal is necessary. Where papers are sent to the United States for execution, under this system, special directions will be required.

Limitations. All actions upon simple contracts, notes, bills, accounts, and all instruments not under seal and money demands, must be commenced and brought within six years from the time the cause of action arose or accrues, or from last payment thereon or written acknowledgment. Actions upon a bond or other specialty within twenty years. When the plaintiff is under any disability, such as infancy, coverture, or lunacy, the statute of limitations begins to run from the removal of the disability. Non-resident plaintiffs have no longer time than if they were resident. As against a non-resident defendant or when the cause of action did not accrue before he left Ontario, the action may be brought within time limited after return of defendant to Ontario. All actions to recover land and real estate must be brought and commenced within ten years from the time when the right of action first accrued. Judgments remain in force for twenty years and can be kept renewed. Actions on insurance policies must be brought within one year after the cause of action arose, and where the death of the insured is unknown the action must be brought within one year and six months after the death be known to the person entitled to the claim.

Married Women. A married woman can acquire, hold, and dispose of, by will or otherwise, any real or personal property, including any property acquired by her in any employment which she carries on separately from her husband, or by the exercise of any literary, artistic or scientific skill, as her separate property, and as though she were a femme sole, without the intervention of any trustee. She may enter into any contract, and be sued, either in contract or tort, and be liable as if a femme sole, and her husband need not be joined as a party. All damages and costs recovered against her in an action shall be payable out of her separate estate, she cannot however be adjudged bankrupt unless she is a trader. No husband or wife shall be entitled to sue the other for tort in a civil action. A married woman may devise or bequeath her property by will. A wife is entitled to dower out of all the lands of which her husband was seized at and after their marriage in which she has not barred her dower. The husband can only be tenant by curtesy out of such lands as his wife may die seized or possessed of. Woman attains her majority at twenty-one years.

Mechanics' Liens. Every mechanic, machinist, laborer, builder, contractor, or other person doing work upon, or furnishing materials to be used in the construction of any building, or erecting, furnishing or placing machinery on or in connection with any building, has a lien for the price of the work, on such building, and the lands therewith, to the extent to the owner's interest. Payments made in good faith to contractors to the extent of 80 per cent (in the case of contracts of $15,000 or over, 85 per cent) are a discharge of the liens pro tanto. A statement of claim must be filed in the registry office of the county where the lands lie, within thirty days after the completion of the work, or the supplying of the materials, else the lien will cease. Proceedings to enforce the lien must be taken within ninety days from the completion of the work, in the Supreme Court of Ontario. Special laws are made as to reduction of legal expenses in these cases. Mechanics are entitled to a lien upon a chattel for work done thereon, and may sell the chattel after three months if the work is not paid for. If the chattel is delivered to the owner, the lien ceases.

Mortgages on Lands should be executed and proved like deeds. (See Deeds.) A mortgage must be registered in the Registry Office or the County within which the lands are situated. It may be discharged by a certificate signed by the mortgagee, or his assignee or representative entitled to receive the money, and such certificate must be registered in same registry office. After maturity the mortgagee is not entitled to charge the mortgagor any interest by way of bonus for the privilege of paying off the mortgage. The execution of a certificate is proved in the same manner as a deed or a mortgage. The usual remedies of a mortgage are sale or foreclosure and possession or action upon the covenant, which must be commenced within ten years after cause of action arose or from an acknowledgement.

At the 1921 session of the Ontario Legislature an Act was passed authorizing Cities with a population of 200,000 or over to pass a by-law levying a tax of one tenth of one per cent on the amount of all mortgages registered in the Registry Office. This is in addition to the usual fee for registration of $1.50.

Notes and Bills of Exchange are governed by the Dominion law. (See Bills of Exchange.)

Partnerships. All partnerships, for trading, mining, or manufacturing purposes, must be registered in the registry office of the registry division in which they intend to carry on business. The declaration must set out the full names, occupations, and residence of the partners, the business they propose to carry on, and for how long their partnership has existed or is to exist, and that the persons named in the affidavit are the only members of the partnership. This declaration must be filed within six months after the formation of the partnership. A penalty of $100 may be imposed in case of non-compliance with the act. A similar declaration shall be filed when and so often as any change in the partnership takes place. In 1920 an Act was passed codifying the law relating to Partnership, which is contained in the Statutes of Ontario 1927 chapter 170.

Power of Attorney. May be general or special. If intended to affect land, must be verified by affidavit of execution in the same way as a deed, and must be capable of registry in the registry office. If intended to convey a particular parcel of land, such parcel must be described. A general power to convey lands would be registered in the general registry.

Probate Laws. A will is proved in the surrogate court of the county in which the deceased has his last place of abode. Affidavit of execution of will, death, place of abode, inventory, valuation, etc., must be produced. If no executor is named in will, administration is granted with will annexed.

Proof of Claims. A solicitor should be furnished with full name and residence of plaintiff and defendant and with particulars of the claim if on an open account. If on a judgment an exemplification of the judgment under the seal of the court and hand of the chief judicial officer is required. Where the plaintiff is resident out of the province in action within the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of Ontario, security for costs may be ordered by the Court on the application of the defendant, in which case a bond in the sum of $400 must be given or $200 paid into court to abide the event of the suit. If an action is brought by a foreign plaintiff and the plaintiff could, if an appearance was entered, apply for summary judgment on the ground of no defence, he may on being required to give security, pay into court $50.00 and then make the application and if successful the plaintiff may sign judgment and issue execution. In action within the jurisdiction of the county court the security for costs is just one half the amount required in Supreme Court actions. (See Aliens.)

Protest. Delay in giving notice of dishonor is excused where the delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the person giving notice. Where an inland bill (one which on the face of it purports to be both drawn and payable within Canada, or drawn upon some person resident therein) has been dishonored, it may be noted and protested for non-acceptance or non-payment, as the case may be. Where a foreign bill has been dishonored for non-acceptance, it must be duly protested for non-acceptance. If it is not so protested, the drawer and endorsers are discharged.

Redemption. The mortgagor is entitled to redeem the property so long as he is not barred by statutes of limitation or by final order of foreclosure made by the court, or by sale made under powers contained in the mortgage.

Replevin. Replevin is now extended to all cases in which property is unlawfully taken or detained. A bond is required from the person replevying that the property shall be forthcoming in the event of the proceedings failing.

Succession Duty Act. The fees payable under the Succession Duty Act were very largely increased by an Act passed by the Ontario Legislature known as the Succession Duty Act now contained in the Revised Statutes of Ontario 1937 chapter 26 and subsequent amendments.

No duty is payable on any estate the value of which does not exceed $5,000 and where the aggregate value of the property of the deceased exceeds $5,000 but is not in excess of $25,000 and passes to the grandfather, grandmother, father, mother, husband, wife, son, daughter, son-in-law or daughter-in-law or the deceased, no duty is payable.

Where the aggregate value exceeds $25,000 and does not exceed $50,000, 1.06 per cent; for larger amounts from 2.54 per cent to 10.01 per cent.

Where the whole amount passes to one person and the aggregate value exceeds $10,000 but does not exceed $25,000 1 ½ per cent; for larger amounts from 2 per cent to 15 per cent.

Where the aggregate value of the property of the deceased exceeds $10,000 but does not exceed $25,000, or so much thereof as passes to lineal ancestor of the deceased except the grandfather, grandmother, father or mother, or any brother or sister of the deceased, or to any descendant of such brother or sister or to a brother or sister of the father or mother of the deceased, or to any descendant of such last mentioned brother or sister, 5 per cent; and for larger amounts from 7 per cent to 17 per cent.

Where the value of any dutiable property exceeds $10,000 and the amount passing to any one person last mentioned excepting grandfather, grandmother, father or mother, exceeds the amount next mentioned, a further duty shall be paid from 2 ½ per cent to 13 per cent.

Where the aggregate value exceeds $5,000 and does not exceed $10,000 and any part thereof passes to any person in any other degree of collateral consanguinity to the deceased than as above described or to any stranger in blood to the deceased save as above provided for the same is subject to a duty of 7 ½ per cent of the value and for larger amounts from 12 ½ per cent to 35 per cent.

The Succession Duty Office assumes to tax property of non-residents in the province at a rate fixed by the total value of the estate.

By recent legislation, the Dominion now also collects Succession Duty, in addition to provincial succession duty. Persons interested should make specific inquiries.

Suits. (See Actions, Affidavit, Appeal, Arrest, Attachment, Commission, Evidence, Execution, Exemption, Garnishment, Judgment, Replevin.)

Taxes. The rate for the year is fixed by the council of each municipal corporation, and lands are charged therewith. Lands may be sold for taxes when they are in arrears for three years. The owner may redeem within one year after sale on repayment of amount of purchase money paid by purchaser at tax sale with 10 per cent added.

Transfer of Shares. A tax of 3 cents must be paid by the transferor in money or stamps for every $100 or fraction thereof of the par value of the stock of a company upon every change of ownership by sale, transfer or assignment of shares or debenture stock made or carried into effect in Ontario.

Unclaimed Bank Deposits. Banks are required within thirty days after the close of each calendar year, to transmit or deliver to the Minister of Finance and Receiver General a return of all dividends which have remained unpaid for more than five years of all amounts or balances in respect of which no transactions have taken place, or upon which no interest has been paid, during the five years prior to the date of such return, setting forth in each case the name, address and amount due to such shareholder or creditor, etc. By the same section 114 banks are required within thirty days after the close of each calendar year to transmit or deliver to the Minister a return of all certified cheques, drafts or bills of exchange issued by the bank to any person, and remaining unpaid for more than five years prior to the date of such return, with the particulars mentioned in sub-sec. 3. There is a special provision as to amounts under $5.00. The returns must be accompanied by a declaration. Persons to whom dividends, drafts or cheques are payable must be notified by the bank by registered post as presented in sub-sections 6 and 7. The Minister is required to lay these returns before Parliament at the next session. Section 161 of the Bank Act imposes penalties for failing to make these returns.

Wages. Upon the making of a receiving order or voluntary assignment, a seizure under execution, or the administration of an estate, the wages of all persons in the employ of bankrupt or the assignor, execution debtor, or deceased are paid in priority to the claims of ordinary or general creditors to the extent of three months wages, and such persons rank as ordinary creditors for the remainder, if any, of their claims.

War Taxes. Owing to the exceptional conditions arising out of the late war various new taxes acts have been passed by the Dominion Government and as the scope of these acts come within the defined area of Dominion Legislature they are binding on individuals and corporations within the Province of Ontario.

The Business Profits War Tax Act is no longer in force, but there is a Sales Tax of 6 per cent payable by the manufacturer, which came into effect in 1928.

As regards Federal tax on income there is exemption of the first $750 in the case of unmarried persons and widows or widowers without children and exemption of $1500 for married persons or persons supporting dependent parents and an additional $400 for each child under twenty-one. It is now a graduated tax above the exemptions of 6 per cent on the first $250 and an additional graduated tax for each and every $1,000. On corporations and joint Stock Companies it is a straight 18 per cent tax without any exemptions. There is besides a Provincial tax on Ontario Corporations of 1 per cent on the net earnings without any exemptions plus 1-10 of 1 per cent of the paid up capital including the reserves and on borrowed money from other corporations (but not on borrowings from banks).

Municipal income tax was abolished in 1936, and the Province now collects income tax (roughly one half of the Dominion rate).

Wills must be in writing, and signed, but need not be sealed, by the testator or by some person in his presence and by his direction, such signature to be made or acknowledged by the testator, in the presence of two witnesses, both present at the same time, who shall sign their names as such witnesses, in the presence of the testator, and in the presence of one another. A common form of attestation clause is as follows:

"Signed and declared by the above-named A. B., as and for his last will and testament, in the presence of us, both present at the same time who, at his request and in his presence, have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses,

C. D., of Toronto, clerk.

E. F., of Hamilton, merchant.

(Signed) A. B."

The gift to a witness, or to the husband or wife of a witness, is invalid. A will to pass personal property need only be in conformity with the law of the country in which the testator had his domicile. To pass real estate, however, the will must be valid and effectual for such purpose according to the law of the country where the real estate is situated. Change of domicile subsequently to the execution of a will, does not affect the validity of the will. A will, no matter how long executed before the death of the testator, is construed as if it had been executed immediately before his death. Hence, property acquired between the date of the will and the time of the testator's death may pass by the will.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by GILBERT A. GAUDET, Barrister, Charlottetown.

(See Card in Attorneys' List.)

Acknowledgments. All deeds executed in the Province, must before registry, be either acknowledged by the party, or proved on oath by subscribing witness before a commissioner for proving deeds, or before the registrar. Deed executed abroad may be acknowledged by the parties, or proved on the oath of witness before the mayor of any city of the country where the deed is executed and certified under common seal of such city, or before any British consul, vice-consul, or consular agent, or before a judge of the court of record, or a notary public, certified under his official seal, or before a commissioner authorized by the government of the Province to take affidavits abroad in a court of record in the Province or to take acknowledgments of deeds abroad, or may be proved on the oath of subscribing witness before a justice of the peace in country where executed, the handwriting and official character of the justice to be certified under hand and seal of a notary public. (See Husband and Wife.)

Administration of Estate. There is one probate court of the Province with office at Charlottetown. In this court letters of probate and administration are granted and estates of deceased persons usually administered. In cases of intestacy administration may be granted to the widow or next of kin; or if they neglect applying for letters of administration for thirty days after the death of the intestate, administration may be granted to a creditor after first citing the widow and next of kin and their refusing to administer. Claims against the estate are barred if not filed, or if action re same is not commenced before issuance of a final decree. Such action must commence, however, within three months after notice to proceed has been given by personal representative. If the personality is insufficient to pay debts, executor or administrator may, by leave of the judge of probate, sell the real estate. Estates of deceased persons may also be administered in the court of chancery, in which court lands are assets for the payment of debts in the event of the personal property of the deceased being insufficient. (See Taxes.)

Affidavits. Affidavits to be made abroad, and without the British Empire, to be used in this Province for any purpose for which affidavits might be used if made within the Province, may be sworn before a judge of a court of record, or of a superior court, or of a county court, or before a British consul, vice-consul, or consular agent, or before a notary public, provided the signature and official character of person before whom taken be certified under the hand and seal of a notary public, or under hand of a judge, clerk, or prothonotary of a court of record, or of a superior or county court, and the seal of such court; or under the hand and official seal of a British ambassador, envoy, minister, charge d'affaires, and secretary of embassy or legation exercising his functions in any foreign country, a British consul-general, consul, vice-consul, acting consul, pro-consul and consular agent exercising his functions in any foreign place. The person before whom oath taken may certify to his own official character and qualification under his hand and official seal. Within the British Empire before any notary public or judge of a court of record. In all cases by official appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-to-Council to act without the Province.

If person sworn before has no official seal his signature must be attested by a person who has.

Aliens. No alien, nor any person in trust for him, shall take or hold more than 200 acres of land in this province without consent of Lt. Governor-in-Council.

Aliens. Previous to confederation (A. D. 1873), aliens might hold real estate not exceeding 200 acres. Now, by Dominion statute, aliens may hold real and personal property of every description the same as natural-born British subjects, and succession may be traced through aliens; but an alien is not eligible for any public office. Aliens may be summoned to defend suits in this Province in certain cases. (See Courts.)

Arbitration. If in any suit in supreme court matter in dispute consists wholly or in part of matters of mere account, which can not conveniently be tried in ordinary way, court or judge may order such matter wholly or in part to be referred to an arbitrator appointed by the parties or to an officer of the court. In all cases of reference, an appeal from the arbitration decision lies to the supreme court en Banco.

Arrest. A resident debtor can not be arrested by process out of supreme court, except by judge's order, to be made on affidavit on proof of debt, and showing facts and circumstances to satisfy judge that there is good and probable cause for believing that debtor, unless forthwith apprehended, is about to quit the Province with intent to defraud creditor or creditors. Non-resident debtor, if found in the Province, may be arrested upon an affidavit of debt made showing that he is a non-resident. Capias from county court may issue for any sum over $20 and not over $500, upon an affidavit being made of amount of debt and of belief that debtor is about to depart from the Province to evade payment of his debts.

Assignments. (See Insolvency.)

Attachments. The property of an absent or absconding debtor may be attached upon affidavit being made of the debt and of the fact that debtor is so absent or absconding. Property of a resident debtor, except debts, etc. (see Garnishment), can not be seized or attached until after judgment. An order may be obtained attaching wages to extent of one-half part of such wages if the debtor is a single man; if the debtor is a married man not less than $10 per week is exempt.

Banks. The agent or manager of any bank established abroad carrying on business in this Province is to be assessed and taxed on the average volume of business done here. (See Interest, Corporations.)

Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes. No days of grace are allowed on bills payable on demand, or on presentation, or in which no time for payment is expressed. Three days of grace allowed on bills payable at sight, or at a fixed period after sight, or after date, or on or at a fixed period after the occurrence of a specified event certain to happen. If last day of grace falls on legal holiday, then day next following not being such holiday shall be last day of grace. In all matters relating to bills and notes, following days are legal holidays: Sundays, New Year's Day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Victoria Day (May 24th), Christmas Day, The Birthday (or the day fixed by proclamation for the celebration of the birthday) of the reigning sovereign, and if such birthday is a Sunday, then the following day, 1st of July, and if 1st falls on Sunday, then 2d of July), any day appointed by proclamation for a public holiday, general fast, or general thanksgiving, Labor Day (the first Monday in September), day following New Year's, Victoria Day, or Christmas if these days fall on Sunday. Foreign bills must be protested, but inland bills do not require protest.

Brokers. Stock brokers are liable to pay an annual tax to the Provincial Treasurer and are also required (under penalty) to file with the Provincial Treasurer of the Province a copy of the charter and regulations (or proposed charter and regulations) of, and an affidavit or statutory declaration giving certain information, concerning every Company whose debentures, bonds, stocks or shares are about to be sold or purchased or offered for sale or purchase by such stock holder, and are also required to file with the Registrar copies of every prospectus issued.

Chattel Mortgages and Deeds of Trust. Absolute bills of sale or transfer of chattels are void (except as between grantor and grantee) unless grantee forthwith upon execution thereof take actual possession of chattels and grantor ceases to have possession. Chattel mortgage requires to be registered and to have an affidavit indorsed made by the grantee or his agent to the effect that grantor is really indebted to the grantee in the amount expressed in the mortgage, or that a consideration of nature and amount therein expressed really and truly exists, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief the mortgage was not executed for the purpose or with the intent of protecting the property therein described creditors of the grantor, or of defrauding the creditors of the grantor or any of them. Statutes of Elizabeth (13 Eliz. chap. 5 and 27 Eliz. Chap. 4) are in force. Chattel mortgages or other conveyances or transfers (except such as are given for a present actual bona fide payment or advance of money, or made in consideration of any present actual bona fide sale or delivery, of goods or other property) are void if given by a debtor in insolvent circumstances with intent to give an undue preference over other creditors or to prejudice or delay any of his creditors.

Chattel Mortgages must be renewed every ten years.

Contracts required to be in writing are: 1. negotiable instruments; 2. any promise by an executor or administrator to answer damages out of his own estate; 3. any promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another person; 4. any agreement made upon consideration of marriage; 5. any contract of sale of lands or any interest in lands; 6. any agreement not to be performed within a year from the making thereof; 7. agreement for sale of goods, wares, and merchandise of value of $32 and upwards, unless accompanied by acceptance and receipt of goods by buyer, or his giving something in earnest to bind the bargain or in part payment. Leases for three years and under may be made verbally. A promise made after full age to pay a debt contracted during infancy must be in writing and signed. A representation as to character, credit, etc., made to enable another to obtain money or credit is not actionable unless in writing and signed by the party to be charged therewith. Contracts against public policy or morality are void. A promise in writing to subscribe to a fund for the erection or repair of a road, bridge, place of worship, public utility or a "public undertaking" is enforceable notwithstanding debt of consideration. Persons incapacitated from contracting are infants, lunatics, persons of unsound mind. Married women may by contract bind their separate estates.

Corporations may be created by special Dominion or Provincial statute, or by letters patent issued under the Dominion or Provincial companies acts. The liability of shareholders is usually limited to the amount of shares subscribed, and when the shares are paid in full shareholders are discharged from further liability. Certain taxes are imposed upon foreign insurance and other companies transacting business within the Province.

The Statute further provided that such Company should transmit to the Provincial Secretary in the month of January in each year a statement showing all changes in the Directors, officers and agents of the Company, that have taken place during the preceding year.

It has recently been decided by the Supreme Court of this Province that the statute of April 24, 1913 governing corporations was passed to protect the Public in dealing with such Companies, and that such Companies were prohibited from doing business in this Province until the statement required by the Act had been filed. Consequently any business transacted by such Company without having filed the required statement was illegal and no action could be brought in respect to it. The statute referred to was repealed on the 24th April, 1915, by the Companies Tax Act but the repealing statute preserves the penalties incurred by such Companies during the time they were in default and the business carried on in the Province in the two years during which the statute was in force by such companies as failed to comply with the requirements of the Act would thus appear to be invalid.

By the Companies Tax Act passed on the 24th April, 1915, certain taxes are imposed upon companies doing business in the Province. By this statute every Company liable to pay taxes is required, before carrying on business in the Province, to file with the Provincial Treasurer:

(1) A true copy of the charter and regulations of the company verified in manner satisfactory to the Provincial Treasurer and showing that the company by its charter has authority to carry on the business being carried on or about to be carried on in the Province, and if any instrument included in the aforesaid is not written in the English language, a notarially certified translation thereof; and shall also at the same time, and on the first day of April in each year thereafter, without any notice or demand therefor file with the Provincial Treasurer:

(2) An affidavit or statutory declaration that the company is still in existence and legally authorized to transact business under its charter, and containing information showing:—(a) The corporate name of the company; (b) How and under what special or general Act the company was incorporated; (c) Notice of the place where the head office without the Province is situate; (d) Notice of the city, town and county in this Province where the head office of the company in this Province is situate or proposed to be situate; (e) The amount of the authorized capital stock of the company; (f) The number of shares into which it is divided; (g) The names, addresses and occupations of each of the directors and officers of the company, and of the agent or person in charge of the company's business in this Province; (h) The time of the existence of the company if incorporated for a limited period; (i) In the case of a limited company, that the company is limited; (j) The amount of stock subscribed or issued and the amount paid up thereon; (k) In the case of an insurance company a copy of the last balance sheet and auditor's report thereon.

This last mentioned statute declares that non-compliance with its provisions as to filing such affidavit, declaration or document subjects the Company to liability for payment of a fine but does not prohibit the Company from carrying on business. Subject to certain conditions, Companies whose business and assets are not carried on or situate within the Province may become domiciled here by payment of a tax ranging from $50. to $1500 according to the amount of paid-up capital.

Costs. No attorney's costs or counsel fee are payable or can be recovered against a debtor on any action brought in the county courts. (See Courts.)

Courts. For the recovery of debts county courts have jurisdiction where debt does not exceed $500. Judge tries all cases without a jury, and no solicitors' or attorneys' fees are allowed except by order of Judge and not to exceed $10 per day. Eight circuits are established throughout the Province, at each of which a court is held quarterly with one exception, the Charlottetown court meeting five times yearly. A judgment in the county court can not affect land or title to land. Supreme court has jurisdiction in all actions at common law (except that no action can be brought for debt when amount is under $32). All actions are commenced by writ of summons. When claim is for a liquidated amount or debt, summons may be specially indorsed, and if defendant (resident in Province) fails to appear within eight days after service judgment by default may be entered and execution may issue in twelve days after last day for appearance. Summons may be served on a British subject residing out of the Province in respect of a cause of action arising within jurisdiction or in respect of the breach of a contract made within the jurisdiction. Proceedings in like cases may be brought against any person residing out of Province though not a British subject, but instead of a summons being served upon him he is served with a notice of the summons having been issued. In these cases time for appearance will be regulated according to distance from Province. Upon a minute of a judgment in supreme court being filed such judgment binds all interest in land then held by defendant and also such as he may acquire until judgment is paid. Such judgment will take priority over a subsequent deed or mortgage, and against a deed or mortgage previously executed, but subsequently registered. A chancery court also exists having full equitable jurisdiction.

Creditors' Bills. There is no statute authorizing a creditors' bill for general discovery and in aid of common law execution, but statutes enable a judgment creditor to examine the judgment debtor on oath before a judge touching his estate and effects and as to the disposition he has made of his property since the date on which judgment was rendered, and as to what property he still has and what debts may be owing to him. Proceedings to annul fraudulent conveyances by a debtor may be taken by bill in equity under the English statutes of Elizabeth. Conveyances and securities made or given by a debtor in insolvent circumstances with intent to give a preference to one or more creditors over other creditors may be impeached and annulled under a Provincial statute. A creditor may also file a bill in equity for administration of the estate of a deceased debtor. (See Insolvency.)

Deeds, Mortgages, and Conveyances of real property must be made under seal and should be registered in order to prevent a later grantee or encumbrancer from obtaining priority by prior registration. The execution of deeds must be proved before registry by the acknowledgment of the grantee or by the oath of a witness before the proper officer, and his certificate of such acknowledgment indorsed thereon. Commissioners for taking such acknowledgments to deeds are appointed and where there is no such commissioner the execution of the deed may be proved before a notary public, certified under his official seal. (See Acknowledgment.) A married woman of full age may convey her interest in land by deed executed with her husband and a proper acknowledgment apart from her husband before a justice of the peace or a notary public that same was signed by her of her own free will and consent had without any compulsion, and that she was aware of the nature of the contents thereof. Any separate property of a married woman acquired since 1896 may be disposed of by her as if she were not married. Powers of attorney executed by a married woman authorizing another to convey land must describe the land to be conveyed with a sufficient certainty. No more than one witness is necessary to the execution of any deed unless same is executed in pursuance of a power of appointment specially directing more than one witness to be necessary. A wife should join her husband in conveying land in order to bar her right of dower. (See Dower.)

Depositions may be made by oath or by affirmation or solemn declaration. Witnesses abroad may have their evidence in an action taken by commission before a commissioner to be appointed by the judge or court who grants the order for commission. Witnesses within the Province who are sick, aged, or infirm, may give evidence in an action on commission on a proper application being made for the purpose. (See Affidavits.)

Descent and Distribution of Property. In cases of intestacy land (subject to widow's right of dower) is divided among all children or their legal representatives in equal shares, and in case there be no children or their representatives then to the next of kin in equal degree, but no representation admitted among collaterals after brothers' and sisters' children. If after death of a father, any of his children die intestate without wife or child in the lifetime of the mother, every brother and sister of the intestate shall have an equal share with her. When a brother and sister of the whole blood and a brother and sister of the half-blood shall be such next of kin, the distribution shall be confined to the brother and sister of the whole blood. When the next of kin shall be a brother or sister and a grandfather or grandmother, distribution shall be confined to the brother or sister or their representatives of them. The father may be heir to his child dying without issue, and shall be preferred as heir to such child before a brother or sister of such child. Personal estate (after payment of all debts) is distributed as follows: One-third to widow and residue in equal proportions amongst children and those legally representing them; if no children or representatives, then one-half to widow and residue amongst next of kin. No representation among collaterals after brothers' and sisters' children.

Dower. A wife is entitled to dower by the common law, and by statute the right is extended so as to attach to the husband's equitable estate of inheritance in possession and to estates partly legal and partly equitable. She is also entitled to dower when the husband was entitled to a right of entry or action in any land in which she would have had dower had he recovered possession thereof. Where a wife of unsound mind has a right of dower in her husband's land, the land may be sold freed from her dower by order of a judge of the supreme court.

Executions. Goods of defendant are bound by an execution out of supreme court from time same is placed in sheriff's hands. An execution from county court does not affect defendant's goods until same are actually levied on. Land may be sold under an execution issued out of supreme court after two months notice of such sale in manner provided by statute.

Exemptions. The wearing apparel and bedding of debtor and his family, and the tools and implements of his trade, one cooking stove and one cow, in all amounting to $50, are exempt from seizure under county court execution. The goods exempt from seizure under an execution out of supreme court are the necessary wearing apparel and bedding of debtor and family and the tools and instruments of his trade or calling to the value of $50.00, $20.00 in money and one cow.

Foreign Judgments. The record of a judgment against a resident of this Province, obtained in any other province or country, is not conclusive evidence, in any suit to be brought on such judgment within this island, of the correctness of such judgment, but the defendant may dispute the facts or cause of action upon which such judgment is founded as fully as if such foreign judgment had never been given.

Fraud. Deeds obtained by fraud may be annulled by the court of chancery if impeached in due time and before innocent purchasers, for valuable consideration without notice of the fraud, have acquired rights. Judgments may also be set aside where obtained by fraud. (See also Insolvency.)

Garnishment. All sums of money, whether liquidated or unliquidated, payable to a debtor for any cause of action other than personal torts or wrongs, can be attached by a creditor either before or after judgment.

Insolvency. The Province does not legislate on the subject. The Dominion of Canada Bankruptcy Act 1920 applies. If a debtor commits an Act of Bankruptcy, a Creditor may present to the Court a Bankruptcy Petition. A Debtor commits an act of Bankruptcy in either of the following cases: 1. If in Canada or elsewhere he makes an assignment of his property to a trustee for the benefit of his creditors. 2. Or makes a fraudulent conveyance, gift, delivery, or transfer of his property. 3. With intent to defeat or delay his creditors he does any of the following things: Departs out of Canada, or being out of Canada remains out of Canada, or otherwise absents himself. 4. Exhibits to any meeting of his creditors any statement of his assets and liabilities which shows that he is insolvent. 5. If he gives notice to any creditors that he has suspended or that he is about to suspend payment of his debts. 6. If he ceases to meet his liabilities as they become due. A debtor may also make a voluntary assignment in bankruptcy. Possession in all these cases is taken of the debtor's property, under order of the court, the same is distributed proportionately amongst his creditors and the bankrupt and his after acquired property is, in the discretion of the court, discharged from debts provable in bankruptcy existing at the institution of the bankruptcy proceedings.

Interest. Parties may contract to pay interest at any rate agree on. If no rate is mentioned, bills and notes carry interest after maturity at the rate of 5 per cent; but as to liabilities existing on and prior to July 7, 1900, the legal rate of interest, unless otherwise agreed, is 6 per cent. "Moneylenders" are prohibited from charging over 12 per cent per annum and interest shall be reduced to 5 per cent from the date of any judgment recovered for any amount lent.

Jurisdiction. (See also Courts.) The county courts have jurisdiction in all actions except contracts and ex delicto where the debt or damage claimed does not exceed $500, except in the following actions: ejectment, or where the title of lands is brought in question, or in (County Court now has jurisdiction over ejectment by reason of Sec. 78 of Landlord and Tenant Act 3 Geo. VI, Cap. 28) which the validity of any devise, bequest, or limitation is disputed; criminal conversation or seduction, breach of promise of marriage, actions against an executor or administrator, (but executors or administrators may bring actions in the said courts), or any action against a justice of the peace for anything done by him in the execution of his office, or any action upon a judgment in the supreme court. The supreme court has jurisdiction in all actions for $32 and upwards.

Lien. Lien notes and hire receipts given for manufactured goods or chattels (except "household furniture," which, however, does not include pianos, organs, or other musical instruments) are not valid against subsequent purchasers or mortgagees without notice for valuable consideration, unless at the time possession is given to the bailee the name and address of the manufacturer, bailor, or vendor of the same is printed, stamped, or engraved thereon, or otherwise plainly attached thereto. But this does not invalidate any note, receipt, or instrument evidencing the bailment or conditional sale, which is filed within ten days from its execution with the protostary of the court in the county in which the bailee or purchaser resides.

Limitations. On simple contracts, suits must be commenced within six years from time the debts fall due, or from the date of the last payment on account of such debt. A promise or acknowledgment in writing, signed by the debtor, is sufficient to take simple contracts out of the statute, and time will then begin to run from the date of such written promise for acknowledgment. Actions to recover any sums of money secured by any mortgage, judgment or lien, or otherwise, chargeable out of any land, must be brought within twenty years next after a present right to receive the same shall have accrued to some person capable of giving a discharge for the same, unless in the meantime some part of the principal money or interest thereon shall have been paid or some acknowledgment of the right thereto shall have been given in writing by the person by whom the same shall be payable, or his agent, and in such case within twenty years from the last of such payments or acknowledgments.

Married Woman is capable of acquiring, holding, and disposing of any real or personal property in the same manner as if she were a femme sole, and may enter into contracts, and may render herself liable in respect and to the extent of her separate property.

Notaries Public are appointed for the Province by the lieutenant governor in council, and have authority to take acknowledgments of married women, prove the execution of documents, protest bills of exchange and ships' protests, etc.

Replevin. When goods or chattels have been unlawfully distrained for rent, or taken or detained, an action of replevin will lie, by which the goods are returned by the sheriff to the party from whom they have been taken, on his entering into a bond with sureties that he will prosecute for damages. This action is seldom adopted, except in cases of illegal distraint for rent.

Stock-brokers. (See brokers.)

Taxes. The real and personal property of a deceased person are subject to a succession duty varying from 1½ per cent to 20 per cent, according to the amount of the estate, and to what parties it passes. Stockbrokers with head office without the Province doing any business here will be taxed $200 a year. (See Banks.)

Wills. Wills must be signed in presence of two witnesses present at the same time, who shall in presence of the testator and in the presence of each other sign their names as witnesses. A witness to a will can take no benefit under it but an executor named in will may be a witness. After the death of the testator real property becomes vested in the personal representative who may convey to the person beneficially entitled thereto.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF QUEBEC RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by BELLEAU, FORTIER & DES RIVIERES, Barristers, 71 St. Peter Street, Banque Canadienne Nationale, Quebec, Quebec
(See card in Attorneys List)

Acknowledgments. The proof of instruments is made by affidavits of witnesses to execution. (See Affidavits.)

Actions may be brought in the courts of the province by any party, whether a resident or not, who has a civil right to enforce, or who seeks a remedy for an injury suffered. A married woman must be authorized by her husband before she can institute an action, and when she is sued, her husband must be also made a party to the action in order to authorize her to defend the suit. If the husband fails to authorize his wife for any reason, the court may upon petition supply the authorization in his stead. A minor is always represented by his tutor (guardian) except when he brings suit for the recovery of his wages, a person interdicted for insanity, prodigality or drunkenness by his Curator. The inhabitants of the province may be sued there for the fulfilment of obligations contracted by them in foreign countries even in favor of a foreigner (civil code, art. 28). Non-resident plaintiffs may be required to give security for costs, ranging from $15 to $400, and to file a power of attorney authorizing the solicitors to institute the action. The names in full of the plaintiffs and their places of residence and occupation, and the residence of the defendant must be given in writs, as also the partnership name when a firm is concerned. In the matter of corporations, the principal place of business should be mentioned. Married women and widows may be described as defendants under the surnames of their husbands or deceased husbands respectively, adding the words "wife of" or "widow of" and a sufficient designation of the husband. Any service upon the heirs of a person deceased within the previous six months may be made upon them collectively, without mentioning their names or residences, at the former domicile of the deceased.

Affidavits. Within the province must be taken before a judge or officer of the court, or a mayor, or a Secretary Treasurer of a Municipality, or a commissioner of the superior court for the province or a notary public. In Great Britain and Ireland, before the mayor, a Quebec commissioner, a commissioner appointed by the lord chancellor to receive affidavits in England, or a notary public. In British possessions, before the mayor, a Quebec commissioner or a judge of a superior court. In a foreign country before the mayor or chief magistrate of any city, borough, or town under the common seal, or a British consul or consular agent, or a Quebec commissioner, or a Notary Public under his hand and official seal. They can only be taken in connection with judicial proceedings, or in cases especially provided by statutes, otherwise officer receiving them is criminally liable. Solemn declaration before any such functionary have the same force and effect in any but judicial proceedings.

Allens have a right to acquire and transmit property (except shares in British ships) in the same manner as British subjects. Although not resident in Canada, they may sue or be sued in its courts for the fulfilment of obligations contracted toward or by them, even in foreign countries, provided a legal service can be effected upon them within the province. (See Actions.) They cannot, however, hold any public office nor exercise the franchise. They may be naturalized after residence in Canada during the year immediately preceding the demand and a previous residence, in Canada or any other British country, of four years during the last eight years preceding the demand. (Naturalization Act of 1914.) (See Actions, Corporations.)

Arrest. Arrest for debt does not exist in this province. But vide Capias and Attachment.

Assignment and Insolvency. An insolvent trader cannot give one or more creditors a preference over his other creditors.

Any insolvent debtor (other than a resident in the province of Quebec engaged solely in farming or the tilling of the soil) whose liabilities are over $500 can make a voluntary assignment of his property for the benefit of his creditors in the hands of the Official Receiver of his locality. There are special dispositions for wage earners.

The debtor must accompany his assignment with a sworn statement of his assets and liabilities. After accepting the assignment and filing it at the office of the Court the Official Receiver appoints a Provisional Guardian to take charge of the debtor's property until appointment of the trustee. He must give a fidelity bond. As soon as possible after the assignment the Official Receiver calls a meeting of the creditors at which a trustee (generally a professional liquidator) and inspectors (not more than five) are elected to carry out the winding up of the estate. The trustee must give a bond. As soon as possible after the assignment creditors must file a sworn statement of their claim with the trustee. A secured creditor can realize his security or file a claim for the balance, or he can abandon his security to the trustee and file his whole claim, or he may value his security and file his claim for the balance. If the security is valued the trustee can buy it in at the creditor's valuation. The trustee realizes the assets of the estate. Real estate, however, must be sold after permission of the Court and of the inspectors has been obtained and with all the formalities required for a sheriff's sale. Briefly, mortgage creditors must be notified, the sale must be advertised, the sale should be by public auction. Such a sale discharges mortgages on the real estate. However with the consent of the mortgagees and permission of the Court and inspectors the trustee can make a private sale subject to the mortgages. The trustee must pay a first dividend within six months after the assignment and a final dividend as soon as possible. Costs and fees of the Guardian and of the Trustee, costs of the first seizing creditor, rent, wages, workmen's compensation, taxes of all kinds, unpaid vendor's privilege (by present jurisprudence of the Quebec Courts) are privileged claims. Ordinary creditors share rateably. An insolvent debtor may be discharged by order of the Bankruptcy Court after notice to the creditors and upon certain conditions the principal of which are that the estate has paid $0.50 in the dollar, that the insolvency has not been caused by the debtor's fault, that he has kept proper books, that he has loyally helped the liquidation and that he is guilty of no fraud or concealment. The fee of the trustee is 5 per cent of the realized assets or any other amount voted by the creditors' meeting. After the winding up of the estate the trustee must report to the Court and obtain his discharge. After assigning a debtor can at a duly convened meeting of his creditors make a composition with his creditors or obtain from them an extension of time, and when such a proposal has been approved by the creditors representing the majority in number and three quarters of the proved debts and by the Bankruptcy Court, the arrangement is binding on all creditors. The Bankruptcy Act contains extensive provisions for the interrogation of the debtor and for the annulment of any fraudulent or preferential transactions and for the recovery of concealed assets.

Any insolvent trader who has discontinued his payments generally, who makes a fraudulent transfer, who absconds, who allows his property to be seized, who secretes his property, etc., can be forced to assign upon a Petition of one or more of his creditors, whose claims total over $500, to the Bankruptcy Court of the debtor's locality. If the petition is granted the property of the debtor devolves to the Official Receiver and the Court appoints a guardian. It can also appoint an interim sequestrator pending adjudication on the petition. At the first meeting the creditors appoint a trustee and inspectors and the liquidation is carried out as in the case of a voluntary assignment. A Receiver's Order or a voluntary Assignment suspends all suits against the Debtor, excepting the action of a secured creditor for the realization of his security. (Revised Statutes of Canada, Chapter 11.) A petition in bankruptcy cannot be made against a farmer or wage earner.

Attachment and Capias. A person may, even before judgment, upon affidavit, attach the property of his debtor, whether in the hands of such debtor himself, or of third parties, or arrest his person, on the ground of sequestration of property, absconding with intent to defraud, and in the case of insolvency, of his refusing to assign. A capias for the arrest of a debtor cannot be issued for a sum less than $50, but his property may be attached before judgment for a debt of $5. To justify a capias, the debt must be a personal one, and created or payable within the provinces of Quebec or Ontario. A previous order from a judge is required if the capias is demanded for unliquidated damages. Women, priests or ministers, and septuagenarians are not liable to be capiased, except after judgment in specified cases.

Banks. Banks are created by act of parliament of Canada and governed by federal law only. The minimum capital is $500,000, and that amount must be subscribed and $250,000 paid in to minister of finance before it can obtain a certificate to do business. The latter amount is returned less $5,000 retained to secure the note issue. Majority of directors must be British subjects. Shareholders are liable to creditors for an amount equal to the sum unpaid on their shares plus a further sum equal to the par value of their shares. Dividends are payable quarterly or half yearly. No dividend shall exceed 8 per cent until bank has a reserve fund equal to 30 per cent of paid up capital. Notes issued are in sum of $5.00 or in multiple of $5.00, and total issue shall never exceed amount of unimpaired paid up capital. Notes of $1.00, $2.00 are issued by the Bank of Canada. Notes of $1.00, $2.00 and $5.00 are issued by the government. Banks are not allowed to recover more than 7 per cent for interest or discount.

Banks cannot lend money on real estate mortgages, but they can take mortgages as additional security for previous advances made in the ordinary course of business. Banks can advance money for the construction of ships and can take on ships, during and after construction, securities by way of mortgage, bottomry and respondentia agreements. Banks may make loans to trustees under the Bankruptcy Act. Banks can make advances on the collateral security of warehouse receipts and bills of lading. Banks can make loans to purchasers, shippers and wholesalers of farm, forest, mines, sea, lakes and rivers produce, on the security of such produce, to purchasers, shippers or wholesalers of live or dead stock or their produce, on the security of such stock and produce; to farmers on the security of their threshed grain; to wholesale manufacturers on the security of their raw materials and of their unfinished and finished products. The Banks' lien on property pledged as security for loans is prior to that of the unpaid vendor and they have right to sell property pledged in default of repayment of the loans. The wage earners have a 3 months privilege for wages.

They pay on deposits the interest they like, actually the interest is of 1½ per cent. The Bank Act is revised by the Parliament of Canada every ten years. The Act actually in force is 24-25 George V, Chapter 24.

Bank of Canada. In 1934 was established by Act of the Federal Parliament a central bank named Bank of Canada.

This bank is under the management of a Board of Directors composed of a Governor Deputy-Governor and 7 Directors

Capital $5,000,000.00 divided in $50 shares; only British subjects have the right to hold shares, the liability of shareholders is limited to the unpaid amount of their shares. The Bank of Canada has the general powers of a chartered bank but has special powers concerning loans to chartered banks to Dominion and Provincial Governments.

The Bank of Canada also acts as fiscal agent, without charge, of the Dominion or Provincial Governments and has also the right to issue notes to any amount.

Every chartered bank shall maintain a reserve in the Bank of Canada of not less than 5% of its deposit liabilities and such reserve will consist of a deposit and of notes of the Bank of Canada.

Every bank shall transfer to the Bank of Canada all gold owned or held by them in Canada.

Dividend paid 4½% annually. The bank must make weekly statement of its assets and liabilities to the Minister of Finance.

Bills of Exchange. (See Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Chattel Mortgages do not exist in Quebec. Movable property not susceptible of hypothecation. Lien contracts, however, are recognized by the Courts. (See Deeds and Mortgages, and Liens and Privileges.)

Corporations are created by act of the parliament of Canada or of the legislature of Quebec, by special charter, or under the companies' acts of Canada, or of the province of Quebec. Shareholders, except in case of banks, are only liable to the amount of their subscribed shares, and when these shares are paid in full, they are discharged from further liability, but directors are liable for wages of employes within certain limitations; they are also liable if they declare and pay a dividend when the company is insolvent, or which renders the company insolvent or impairs its capital. Provision has been made for the winding up of joint stock companies under the winding act. (R. S. Canada 1906, Ch. 144.) However since the adoption of the Federal Bankruptcy Act liquidations of joint stock companies is carried out under the provisions of that Act. Aliens can hold stock and are eligible for directors in any joint stock company. Foreign commercial corporations may transact business, sue, and be sued here. Foreign insurance companies are required to deposit with the government a certain amount in bonds or cash before they are permitted to do business in the Dominion. Corporations chartered outside of the province, except Federal corporations, are required to obtain a license before carrying on business in the province and for such license a fee is payable based on the capital. They can hold real estate to the same extent that domestic corporations can and must be registered in the same manner as partnerships (see that word) under penalty. There is a provincial tax of one-tenth of one per cent up to $1,000,000 and of 50¢ for each additional $100,000 on the paid up capital of joint stock companies; also a tax of $50.00 for each place of business of joint stock companies in Quebec and Montreal and of $25.00 for each place of business elsewhere in the province, if the company's capital is less than $25,000, the tax is $25.00 and $20.00; also a stamp tax of 2 cents per each $100 par value on stock transfers. Foreign companies not otherwise taxed must pay to the Provincial Government a tax of one half of one per cent of their gross revenue for each calendar year. All joint stock companies must make annual reports to the Secretary of the Province.

Courts. The District, Magistrate's Court has original jurisdiction where the amount demanded is less than $100; the Superior Court where it is $100 or upward. Generally an appeal can be taken to the Court of King's Bench in cases over $200. An appeal can also be had from the Court of King's Bench to the Supreme Court of Canada in all cases over $2,000, and to His Majesty's Privy Council, in England, in all cases, over $12,000, and in cases for smaller amounts to both courts, if questions of titles to land or if future rights are involved, or if a fee due to His Majesty is claimed by the action.

Deeds or Conveyances. There is no special form required in the drafting of deeds or conveyances except in regard to real estate; no seal is necessary. If the parties can sign their names or witnesses to the signatures are necessary. The general rule can be laid down that deeds affecting chattels or movables when executed outside of the Province should be executed in the form required by the law where they are so executed. In relation to the conveyance of real estate ceded by the French Crown prior to 1763, the deeds must be executed before a Notary Public of the Province of Quebec, who keeps the original and delivers copies which are accepted as proof of the contents thereof and signatures to the original deed, without any extrinsic proof. Deeds affecting real estate ceded by the English Crown since 1763 may be executed within or without the Province in the presence of two subscribed witnesses, one of whom must make an affidavit as to the execution of the deed, which affidavit must be attached according to rules herein laid down. (See Affidavit, Mortgages and Registrations.)

Divorce. (See Husband and Wife.)

Dower. Legal dower which results from marriage when no contract to the contrary, consists of the usufruct or life interest for the wife and the ownership for the children, of one-half of the immovables which belonged to the husband at the time of the marriage, and of one-half of those which accrued to him during marriage from his father or mother or other ascendants. This right opens only at the death of the husband, unless the contract of marriage provides for dower, being exigible on separation of property. Conventional dower exists on movable or immovable property when provided for by the marriage contract. It should be registered; in the case of legal dower registration of the marriage certificate, with description of the immovable subject to it, should be made. In the case of conventional dower, registration of the contract of marriage is also required. Unregistered dower rights do not affect third parties.

Execution may, in all cases, be issued after fifteen days from the rendering of the judgment. In summary matters the delay is only eight days. It may, however, be taken before the expiration of these delays upon causes which would justify an attachment before judgment. Except for taxes, executions cannot issue against immovables unless the judgment is for a sum amounting to or exceeding $40, without costs.

Exemptions from Seizure. The debtor may withdraw from the seizure made of his movable property in execution of a judgment, certain articles of furniture, which consist generally speaking in the furniture and cooking utensils absolutely necessary for housekeeping (the enumeration is contained in Article 598 of the Code of Civil Procedure). Immovables declared by a donor or testator or by law to be exempt from seizure and sums of money or objects given or bequeathed upon the condition of their being exempt from seizure are made so by law in Article 599 C. P.

Generally speaking salaries and wages are exempt from seizure for (a) four-fifths when they do not exceed $3.00 per day; (b) three-fourths when $5.00 and $6.00 per day; (c) two-thirds, when they do not exceed $6.00 per day; (d) whole if they do not exceed $12.00 per week for married man or widower with children to support.

Holidays. The legal holidays are: 1. Sundays. 2. New Year's Day. 3. The Epiphany, Ash Wednesday, Good Friday, Easter Monday, The Ascension, All Saints Day, The Conception and Christmas Day. 4. The anniversary of the Birth Day of the Sovereign, or the day fixed by proclamation for its celebration. 5. The 1st day of July, or the 2nd of the month, if the 1st is a Sunday. 6. Any day appointed by royal proclamation or by proclamation of the Governor General, or of the Lieutenant-Governor as a public holiday or as a day of general feast or Thanksgiving or as a labour day. St. John of Baptist, on June 24th, Labor Holiday on September first Monday, Armistice Day on November 11th, Empire Day or Victoria Day May 24th or any other date appointed by royal proclamation of the Governor General.

Husband and Wife. Parties may before marrying remove themselves from the effect of the general laws of the province governing their property, as regards rights created by marriage, by entering into a marriage contract, which must be made in notarial form and is irrevocable. In this contract they may bind themselves by all kinds of agreements not contrary to public order or good morals. They cannot in any way after marriage, depart from the contract, even to confer benefits on each other, except that the husband may insure his life for the benefit of his wife or children, and such insurance can neither be seized by nor assigned to anybody else unless both husband and wife join in an assignment. If no marriage contract was entered into, the law of the matrimonial domicile governs. The matrimonial domicile is the domicile of the husband at the time of marriage, but if at the time of the marriage the husband's intention was to settle in this country and make his domicile here, and he does so, the law of this province would govern. When there is no antenuptial contract of marriage, there exists, community of property, which is in the nature of a partnership, and of which the husband is the head and has the sole control. Immovable property belonging to either consort before marriage, or inherited from father, mother or other ascendant, during marriage, remains the private property of such consort, and is excluded from the community. A married woman cannot become a public trader without the authorization of her husband. With this authorization she may obligate herself for all that relates to her commerce, and in such case she also binds her husband, if there be community between them. A wife, who is not a public trader, cannot bind herself either with or for her husband, otherwise than as being common as to property. Separation as to bed and board, which does not dissolve the marriage tie, is obtained from the tribunals for cause. It involves separation as to property. Divorce is only granted by special act of parliament of Canada. There are no Divorce Courts nor laws in the Province of Quebec. Every married person carrying on business must register the particulars of the financial relations between him and his wife, and whether they are common or separated as to property.

Interest. The legal rate of interest is 5 per cent per annum but any interest may be charged which the parties may lawfully agree upon. However, in loans of less than $500, by a professional money-lender wherein the interest charged is more than 12 per cent per annum, the court may reopen the transaction and reduce the amount, and, in any event, give the debtor a delay to pay the interest. Money-lenders charging more than 12 per cent interest are liable to one year's imprisonment or $1,000 penalty. If there is no agreement upon rate, the law fixes the rate of interest at 5 per cent. When an amount or a percentage by day, week, or month, is stipulated to represent the interest, it is necessary to mention the rate per cent such amount or such percentage represents per annum. Otherwise the creditor is entitled only to the legal rate which is 5 per cent. S. R. 1927, Corporations except home and British insurance companies, and those constituted for religious, educational, and charitable purposes in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, cannot receive more than 6 per cent on unpaid stock calls. Banks are not subject to any penalties for usury, but cannot recover more than 7 per cent.

Judgments are valid for thirty years. In regard to moveables, executions thereon may issue in eight or fifteen days and sale effected in short delays. The registration of a judgment against the immovable property of the debtor operates as a mortgage claim thereon in the creditor's favor, except in case of subsequent winding up of debtor's estate under Canada Bankruptcy Act (latest jurisprudence of Privy Council). It takes about a week to obtain judgment in either the Superior or District Magistrate's Court if the action be not contested.

Legislature (meeting of). According to Section 86 of the British North America Act, 1867, there shall be a session of the Quebec Legislature once at least in every year, so that twelve months shall not intervene between the last sitting of the legislature in the province in one session and its first sitting in the next session. No special date for the regular meeting of the Legislature is fixed by law; it usually sits in the beginning of each year.

Liens and Privileges. In cases of insolvency, the unpaid vendor of a thing has two privileged rights: A right to revendicate it, and a right of preference on the proceeds of the sale; but these rights must be exercised within thirty days from the date of delivery. But, if the debtor is not insolvent, the creditor can only revendicate subject to the conditions; that the sale is not made on credit, that the thing sold is still intact and in the same condition, that it has not passed into the hands of a third party who has paid the price, that the revendication be exercised within eight days of the delivery, or thirty days in case of insolvency. He has also the right to demand the dissolution of the sale, for non-payment of the price, if the thing sold remain in possession of the buyer; but in case of insolvency, this right can only be exercised during the thirty days next after delivery. Sale is complete by the consent alone of the parties, and before delivery. The seller is not obliged to deliver the thing if the buyer does not pay the price, unless a term has been granted for the payment of it, nor, in the latter case, if the purchaser, since has become insolvent. A promise of sale, accompanied by actual delivery, is equivalent to a sale. The right of stoppage in transit may be exercised when the goods are in possession of third parties as agents for their delivery. Wage earners, suppliers of materials, builders and architects may obtain liens on real estate under the Statutes of Quebec School and Municipal taxes and also assessments for building or repairing churches, parsonages and churchyards are secured by a privilege on real estate without registration.

Limitation of Actions. Judgments and registered titles to and claims against real property can only be prescribed by thirty years, but possession under a transitory title as proprietor, and in good faith, of an immovable for ten years, covers defects of title. Actions in restitution of minors for lesion, in rectification of tutors' accounts, and in rescission of contracts for error, fraud, violence, or fear, are prescribed by ten years. Architects and contractors are discharged from warranty of work done or directed after five years. Actions on bills of exchange, promissory notes, accounts, and generally all claims of a commercial nature, are prescribable by five years. Prescription of corporate movables takes place after the lapse of three years, reckoning from the date of possession, in favor of a possessor in good faith. There are also certain short prescriptions of two years, and one year, and statutory limitations. Every right of action for the recovery of sums of money paid through error in law to the government of the Province as duties or taxes, imposed by any act of the legislature, is absolutely extinguished if the action has not been instituted within six months from the date of the payment. School and municipal taxes are prescribed by three years. Prescriptions may be renounced or interrupted.

Married Women. (See Husband and Wife.)

Mortgages and Registration. The common law mortgage does not exist but has its equivalent in the "hypothec" which constitutes a charge or lien on immovables giving to the creditor the right to bring the property to judicial sale and to be paid by preference on the proceeds. The deed creating the hypothec must be passed before a notary public of this province and must be registered in the proper Registry Office. Where the lands are held in free and common socage, such deeds may be passed, either before a notary, or before two witnesses, one of whom makes affidavit to the signatures, in order to prove their authenticity. Hypothecs can only be granted on real estate; they can not be given on movables or chattels except as provided in special statutes respecting shipping, banking and debentures issued by corporations under trust deeds duly registered. Effects may, however, be pledged by being placed in the hands of a creditor to secure his debt, the lien created by the pledge exists only so long as the thing remains in the hands of the creditor, or of a third party agreed upon by the creditor and debtor. Judgments give liens only on the real property against which they are registered.

Notes, Cheques, and Bills of Exchange. Bills of exchange and promissory notes must be made payable in money, and must be unconditional and absolute. They are transferable by indorsement and delivery, or, when payable to bearer, by delivery only. When a particular place of payment is mentioned, not necessarily a bank, presentment must be made there, and if not paid, the note must be protested for non-payment in order to hold the endorser liable. If payable at a bank, presentment may be made either within or after usual banking hours. When payable generally, i. e., when no place of payment is mentioned in the instrument, presentment must be made to the party primarily liable, either personally, or at his domicile, or office, or usual place of business. If he be dead, or absent from the Province, presentment may be made at his last known residence or place of business. In the case of insolvency, all current paper of the insolvent becomes immediately due and exigible. The place of payment of a bill of exchange may be fixed by the acceptor in his acceptance. Three days of grace are allowed on all bills and notes except those payable on demand. If the day on which they would otherwise become due is a legal holiday, the delay is of right extended to the next day. Payment must include interest from the last day of grace and all expenses of noting and protesting and notices legally incurred. In the case of bills payable elsewhere than in Canada and Newfoundland, damages are also allowed equal to the costs of exchange and re-exchange. Indorsers and other parties secondarily liable are only held by protest and notice.

Partnerships must be registered, as also must all persons carrying on business alone, under a name different from their own, in the office of the registrar and the prothonotary in each district where they carry on business. Joint stock companies must be registered in the same manner. Persons doing business under name of another, the word "registered" must be added. The laws applicable to commercial partnerships are derived from the French and English commercial laws. Partnership property must go to payment of firm debts in preference to debts of a partner, and in case such property be found insufficient for the purpose, the private property of the partners or of any one of them is also to be applied to the payment of the debts of the partnership; but only after the payment out of it of the separate creditors of such partners or partner respectively. Partnerships may be limited or general. If limited, the following declaration must be registered: 1. The name or firm of the partnership. 2. The general nature of the business. 3. The names and residences respectively of all the general and special partners. 4. The matrimonial status of the partners. 5. The amount of capital contributed by each. 6. The period at which the partnership commenced and that of its termination. The general partners in a limited partnership are jointly and severally liable for debts, but the special partners are only liable to the extent of the amount they contributed. If above statement not registered all partners are jointly and severally liable. In general partnerships all partners are jointly and severally liable.

Successions. The surviving consort inherits one-third and the remaining two-thirds goes to the children or their descendants without distinction of sex and whether issue of the same or different marriages. If there be no surviving consort, then the children or other descendants, inherit the whole estate, to the exclusion of all other relatives. If the deceased die leaving no issue, but leaving a consort and a father or mother, and collateral relations up to nephews or nieces, the surviving consort takes one-third, the father and mother one-third and the collateral relations, the other third. If the deceased leaves no issue, but leaves a consort and a father or mother or both, but leaves no collateral relations up to nephews or nieces, the surviving consort takes one-half and the other half devolves to the father or mother or both. If the deceased die leaving no issue, nor a mother or father, but leaves a consort and collateral relations, the consort takes one-half and the collateral relations the other half. If a person dying without a consort or children, leaving his father or mother and also brothers or sisters, or nephews and nieces, in the first degree, the succession is divided into halves, one-half to the father or mother who share it equally and the other half to the brothers and sisters, nephews and nieces. The surviving consort succeeds to the whole estate when the deceased leaves no issue and has no father or mother living, and is without collateral relations up to nephews and nieces in the first degree, inclusively. In all other cases ascendants inherit to the exclusion of collateral relations who must be within the twelfth degree to inherit in any case. When the deceased leaves no consort capable of inheriting, nor relations within the heritable degrees, the succession falls to the crown. These different persons represent the deceased, and claims against this estate should accordingly be made against them.

Wills. Wills may be made in three different forms: 1. In authentic form, to wit, passed before a notary public and two witnesses, or before two notaries public. The original will, made in authentic form, remains with the notary, who furnishes certified copies thereof. 2. In holograph form, to wit, wholly written, dated and signed by the testator; these wills require no witnesses, and a will so made in a foreign country disposing of property in the Province of Quebec would be valid in the latter, provided the testator has his domicile in the Province, or that the law of the country where the will is made recognizes this form of will. 3. In the form derived from the laws of England to wit, before two witnesses, who attest and sign the will immediately in presence of the testator and at his request, and in the presence of each other. Wills made in authentic form need no probate, but those made in the other forms must be probated. Any one can dispose absolutely, and without restriction, of the whole of his property, movable or immovable, by will. Executors appointed under a will have possession of the movable estate of the testator, and are allowed a year and a day to carry out the provisions of the will. They can be given the most absolute powers by the testator, and their seizing may be extended by the terms of the will to immovables and beyond the year and the day allowed by law. Wills executed in a foreign country are void in the province of Quebec, unless executed according to the laws of Quebec, or according to the forms required by the laws of the country where they are made.

Workmen's Compensation Act. Sec. 18, George V. Chapter F9 creating a special commission—establishing the indemnities, liability, guaranties, etc. A notice of seven days or ten days must be given by every person liable and by the injured. In default of such notice the person injured is deprived of his right to compensation and the employer incurs the fine provided of not less than $100.00 and not more than $1,000.00.

SYNOPSIS OF

THE LAWS OF SASKATCHEWAN

RELATING TO

BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Compiled by CROSS, JONAH, HUGG & FORBES, of the Saskatchewan Bar, Regina, Saskatchewan. (See card in Attorneys' List.)

Note. The laws existing in the Northwest Territories prior to the formation of the two Provinces (Saskatchewan and Alberta) are still in force with alterations made by the Provincial Statutes.—Editor.

(Revised to June 1, 1942)

Generally all laws and all orders and regulations made thereunder, so far as they are not inconsistent with anything contained in The Saskatchewan Act, or as to which this Act contains no provision intended as a substitute, therefor and all courts of civil and criminal jurisdiction, and all commissions, powers, authorities and functions, and all officers and functionaries, judicial, administrative and ministerial, existing immediately before the coming into force of said Act in the territory thereby established as the Province of Saskatchewan, shall continue in the said Province as if said Act and the Alberta Act had not been passed; subject, nevertheless, except with respect to such as are enacted by or existing under Acts of the Parliament of Great Britain, or of the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, to be repealed, abolished or altered by the Parliament of Canada, or by the Legislature of the said Province, according to the authority of the Parliament or of the said Legislature. 4-5 Ed. VII. c. 42, s. 16 (part), the Saskatchewan Act.

Assignments. The only assignments for the general benefit of creditors now valid are those made under the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act or in the case of farmers under The Farmers Creditor's Arrangement Act 1934. Assignments so made are known as "authorized assignments" and are governed by the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act or The Farmers Creditor's Arrangement Act and the rules thereunder.

Any insolvent debtor whose liabilities to creditors exceed $500.00 may, before the making of a receiving order against him make an assignment of all his property to the Official Receiver. A trustee is subsequently appointed by the creditors. An authorized assignment vests the whole of the debtor's property (other than that part thereof which is exempt from seizure under the laws of the Province wherein the debtor resides (vide Exemptions, infra) in the trustee. The general provisions of the Bankruptcy Act relating to the administration of the debtor's estate, the proof of claims, preferential claims and distribution of estates apply equally to an authorized assignment as to a bankruptcy. Notice of the assignment must be published in the Canada Gazette and in a local newspaper and at the same time a notice of the first meeting of creditors must also be published not less than six days prior to the meeting. The execution of an authorized assignment is an Act of Bankruptcy and may be the foundation of a petition for a receiving order.

An assignment having been made continues until the assignor applies to the Bankruptcy court for a discharge. This he may do at any time after the execution but it cannot become effective sooner than three months after the making of the assignment; and the court may refuse, grant or suspend the operation of an order of discharge in its discretion, but in certain cases cannot grant a discharge.

The penal provisions of the Bankruptcy Act apply to an assignor as well as to a bankrupt. (See also "Book Debts" and "Bulk Sales.")

Attachment of Debts. Any plaintiff in an action to recover a debt or liquidated demand may issue a garnishee summons before judgment to attach a debt owing by the garnishee to the defendant in the action except where the debt owing by the garnishee to the defendant is in respect of wages or salary. Any person who has obtained a judgment for the recovery of money may issue a garnishee summons to attach a debt owing by the garnishee to the judgment debtor regardless of the nature of such debt. A garnishee summons is issued upon the plaintiff or judgment creditor, his solicitor or agent, filing with the clerk of the Court an affidavit showing the nature and amount of the claim against the defendant or the amount remaining due and unsatisfied under the judgment and swearing positively to the indebtedness of the defendant or judgment debtor to the plaintiff or judgment creditor and further stating that to the best of the deponent's information and belief the proposed garnishee (naming him) is indebted to such defendant or judgment debtor, or, if the moneys sought to be attached are wages or salary that, to the best of the deponent's information and belief, the judgment debtor was or is employed by the garnishee and where and in what capacity the judgment debtor was or is so employed. Service of such garnishee summons on the garnishee shall bind any debt due or accruing due from the garnishee to the defendant or judgment debtor and all wages or salary in so far as not exempt which become due or payable at any time within three days after service of the summons. No debt due or accruing to an employee for or in respect of wages or salary shall be liable to seizure or attachment unless such debt exceeds $75.00 in the case of a married person (except where the garnishee summons is issued under a judgment or order for alimony or a judgment founded upon a separation agreement) or of a person with certain dependants and $40.00 in the case of any other person, and then only to the extent of the excess. Where the debt due by the garnishee is wages or salary for a period of less than one month the part thereof which shall be exempt from attachment shall be that sum which bears the same proportion to the amount of the exemption as the period for which the wages or salary due or accruing due bears to one month or four weeks. Where the debt sued for or in respect of which a judgment has been recovered was for board or lodging or for hospital expenses recoverable by a municipality the defendant or judgment debtor shall not be entitled to claim any exemption. If the garnishee disputes his liability he shall enter a statement of the grounds for such dispute with the clerk of the Court within 20 days of service on him of the garnishee summons. Otherwise judgment may be entered against him in default.

Bankruptcy. The Dominion Bankruptcy Act which came into force on July 1st, 1920, applies to all the Provinces in the Dominion and the statement of its provisions set out elsewhere in this volume is equally correct for the Province of Saskatchewan.

The Farmers' Creditors' Arrangements Act, 1934 (Chapter 34, 1934, Dominion Statutes) providing facilities for compromise of debts of farmers, is in force in this province.

Bills of Sale and Chattel Mortgages. Bills of Sale and Chattel Mortgages not accompanied by an immediate delivery and an actual and continued change of possession of the things sold or mortgaged, must be registered within thirty days from execution, with an affidavit of execution and an affidavit of bona fides, which varies according to the circumstances of the case. They take effect from the date of registration only. In case they are not registered as provided for, they are null and void as against creditors and subsequent purchasers, and mortgages in good faith for valuable consideration. No mortgage of chattels in so far as it assumes to bind or affect any growing crop or crop to be grown in future, shall be valid, unless executed as a security for the purchase price and interest thereon of seed grain or of meat, groceries, flour, coal, clothing or bindertwine. With the exception of mortgages to secure the purchase price and interest thereon of seed grain the extent of the mortgage security is limited to $250.00 in the aggregate on the crops of a quarter section and $350.00 on the crops of a half section or any greater quantity of land. No mortgage for the price of seed grain shall be given upon any crop which is not sown within one year of the date of its execution. There are other special provisions governing the valid execution of mortgages on growing crops or crops to be grown in future. Seed grain mortgages are a first and preferential security on crops covered thereby but other crop mortgages are subject to priorities for seed grain advances under certain other Provincial Acts, to thresher's liens and to the landlord's right of distress. Mortgages filed cease to be valid as against creditors, etc., after three years, unless renewed. Further renewals after first renewal must be every three years. Renewal is made by statement in form prescribed which shows interest of mortgagee, assignee, etc., and the amount still owing for principal and interest, with affidavit of truth of the statement. In case of removal from one district to another or of the removal into the Province of chattels subject to a Bill of Sale or mortgage thirty days from receipt by the grantee of notice of such removal are allowed in which to file copy of mortgage in office for district to which goods are removed.

No chattels covered by any chattel mortgage may be seized or sold except by the Sheriff of the Judicial District within which such chattels, are situated or some other persons duly authorized by him for the purpose. See Exemptions.

Mortgages securing bonds and debentures made by an incorporated company of cars, equipment, rolling stock, etc., are not required to be filed with the Registration Clerk, but the same or sworn copies thereof may be filed with the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies within the prescribed time for filing chattel mortgages, and from the date of such filing shall have priority without renewal, affidavit of execution or of bona fides. Mortgages and charges, specific or floating by a corporation engaged in trade or business in Saskatchewan securing bonds, debentures or debenture stocks must be registered with the Provincial Secretary accompanied by appropriate affidavits within thirty days after execution. Such instruments take effect as against these parties from date of registration. Renewal of registration is not required.

Book Debts, Accounts or Debts to be Incurred. Assignments of these by any person or corporation engaged in any trade or business must be executed, attested and registered in much the same manner as chattel mortgages. Renewal of registration is not required. The provisions regarding assignments by corporations securing bonds, debentures, etc., are the same as in regard to mortgages of chattels.

Bulk Sales. Whenever a sale of stock in bulk, i. e., out of the usual course of vendor's trade or business or of the entire stock in trade or of an interest in the vendor's business or trade, the purchaser must demand and receive from the vendor a verified statement showing the names, addresses, and claims of all creditors. Before paying to the vendor any part of the purchase money or giving any notes or securities therefor, one of the following provisions must be complied with: (1) the vendor must deliver to the purchaser a written waiver of the Act from creditors representing not less than 60 per cent in number and amount of claims as shown by said statement or (2) the purchaser must pay the whole purchase price and deliver all notes and securities for same to a trust company authorized to carry on business in Saskatchewan for distribution among creditors as shown by said statement. If provisions of the Act not complied with, sale is fraudulent and void against creditors unless all creditors paid in full. Any action to set aside any sale in bulk for failure to comply with the act must be commenced within sixty days from date of sale or date when attacking creditors first had notice thereof.

Debt Adjustment. There is in force legislation which prohibits all legal actions or other proceedings being taken or continued without first giving notice of intention to take such action or proceeding to The Debt Adjustment Board and to the Clerk of the District Court of the judicial district in which such action or proceeding is to be taken or continued. This prohibition does not apply to actions or proceedings based upon a contract the whole of the original consideration for which arose after April 1st, 1933, nor does it apply to actions or proceedings in which the amount claimed does not exceed $100.00, nor to actions founded on tort, nor to actions relating to matrimonial causes, nor to proceedings by way of set-off or counter-claim. The Debt Adjustment Board has power in individual cases to prevent actions or proceedings for such time as it sees fit. (Also see "LIENS").

Decedent's Estate. An officer known as the Official Administrator is appointed for each Judicial District, or such part thereof as may be desirable, who may administer the estate if no application be made for probate or administration within one month after decease of any person. He also may take possession of any neglected property of deceased. The executor, administrator or official administrator, advertises for creditors and in the advertisement sets a time within which all claims must be filed with him. All claims must be verified by statutory declaration also state securities held and value thereof. Distribution is made after time named in the advertisement. Claimants not filing within time limited do not share in any distribution made before executor or administrator has notice of the claim and after the time named in the advertisement, but may follow property into hands of person receiving same. Administrators and official administrator must pass accounts before the judge within two years after grant of letters.

Devolution of Estates. Both real and personal property descend and are distributed in the same manner. The property of any man dying intestate leaving a widow but no issue shall belong to such widow absolutely, provided that prior to his death she has not left him and lived in adultery after leaving him.

If he dies leaving a widow and one child each takes one-half. If he dies intestate leaving widow and children, the widow takes one-third and children take remainder in equal shares. If he dies intestate leaving no issue or widow his estate goes to his father and mother equally or to the survivor and if both predecease then to his brothers and sisters and their descendants. In the distribution of both real and personal property of any woman dying intestate, illegitimate children shall have the same rights as if legitimate. In the event of an illegitimate child dying intestate and without widow or husband or issue, mother takes both real and personal property.

If a married woman die intestate same rules apply as in case of husband dying intestate.

When a person dies domiciled in Saskatchewan leaving a will and leaving dependant or dependants an application may be made to the Court for reasonable maintenance. The court may make an order charging the estate with payment of a reasonable allowance for maintenance. The allowance to a widow is not to be less than one-third. The allowance may be by way of annual payments or a lump sum or transfer of property. The application must be made within six months from grant of probate or administration with will annexed but the Court may allow application to be made later with respect to undistributed estate.

Dower. No Transfer, Agreement for Sale, Lease or other instrument intended to transfer in conveyance any interest in a homestead, i.e. (the home or any land which has at any time within the period of seven years immediately preceding the execution of such instrument being the homestead of the grantor) shall be effectual for such purpose and no mortgage or encumbrance intended to charge any homestead or land, which has at any time within seven years immediately preceding the execution of such mortgage or encumbrance been the homestead of the mortgagor or encumbrancer, with the payment of a sum of money shall be valid unless the same is signed by the owner and also by his wife, if he has a wife, and said wife resides in Saskatchewan, or has resided in Saskatchewan at any time since the marriage. The wife must appear before one of several officers named in the Act separate and apart from her husband and have the instrument explained before signature by her and such officer must give a Certificate in the form prescribed by the Act. Where the instrument is a transfer to a person who holds a mortgage on the homestead or is a quit claim deed in favour of the vendor of the homestead under an agreement for the sale thereof, there shall also be annexed to or indorsed or written on the instrument a certificate by a practising solicitor that he has explained to the wife, separate and apart from her husband, and that she understands the purpose and effect of the instrument. In certain cases where the wife is living apart from the husband or is of unsound mind, an order of the Court may be obtained dispensing with the wife's signature. In all other cases the instrument must be accompanied by an Affidavit of the maker in prescribed form showing either that the land is not his homestead and has not been his homestead within the period of seven years immediately preceding the execution of the instrument or that he has no wife or that his wife does not reside in Saskatchewan and has not resided therein at any time since the marriage.

Knowledge on the part of the transferee, mortgagee, encumbrancee or lessee that the land described in such instrument is the homestead and that the party executing the instrument has a wife, who is required to be but is not a party thereto, is fraud and in an action by the wife such instrument or any Certificate of Title issued thereon to any person affected by such fraud may be set aside and cancelled. On the death of the owner of a homestead no instrument signed by the personal representative shall be effectual to pass any estate or interest in the same or render it liable for the payment of any sum of money unless the same is executed by the wife where her signature is required so long as the homestead is exempt from seizure under execution, unless the wife is the personal representative or is the grantee under the instrument. (Vide exemptions as to circumstances in which homestead is exempt from seizure after death of owner).

Examination of Judgment Debtor. When a judgment or order is for the recovery or payment of money, the party entitled to enforce it can obtain an ex parte order for the examination of the debtor, or in the case of a corporation, of any officer thereof, as to whether any and what debts are owing to the debtor, and whether the debtor has any and what means of satisfying the judgment or order. The examination is for the purpose of discovery only, and no order is to be made on the evidence given but it may be used on any subsequent proceedings between the same parties or between the execution creditor, and any transferee of the property and effects of the execution debtor, or in any proceeding to obtain payment directly or indirectly, whether by attachment of debts, equitable execution or otherwise. In King's Bench actions after examination as aforesaid the court may order the debtor to pay debt within limited time or by instalments and on default the court may on a subsequent application commit debtor to gaol for term not exceeding twelve months or until order for payment complied with.

In King's Bench actions after a judgment debtor or other person has been examined for discovery in aid of execution the Court, if satisfied that the judgment debtor is in a position to pay the whole or part of the judgment, may make an order for payment of the debt within a limited time or by instalments and on default the Court has power to order that the debtor be committed to jail for a term not exceeding twelve months. The operation of this provision is suspended temporarily.

In District Court actions (jurisdiction not exceeding $1200.00) a summons may be issued requiring debtor to appear before judge and after examination judge may make order for payment forthwith or by instalments or otherwise. If debtor fails to attend or refuses to be sworn or to make answer to proper questions or if it appears to the judge that the debtor obtained credit or incurred the debt by false pretences, fraud or breach of trust, or has transferred or concealed property with intent to defraud creditors or had when summoned sufficient means or ability to pay the debt altogether or by instalments which the court has ordered and neglected to pay same, the judge may order him to be committed to gaol for any period not exceeding forty days with or without hard labour.

The provisions regarding orders for payment and imprisonment on default, are temporarily suspended.

Execution. Ordinarily may issue immediately after judgment and may issue up to six years after judgment. Issue of execution, or if issued, seizure or sale thereunder may be stayed upon application by judgment debtor to the court, upon such terms or subject to such undertaking as the judge deems just. Judgment debtor must give fifteen days notice by registered mail to judgment creditor of his intention to apply for a stay. Executions expire six years after issue unless renewed before expiry: they may be renewed for a period of six years.

Exemptions. The following real and personal property of an execution debtor and his family are free from seizure by virtue of all writs of execution:

1. The necessary and ordinary clothing of himself and his family.
2. Furniture, household furnishings, dairy utensils, to the extent of five hundred dollars.
3. Grain, flour, vegetables or meat, whether prepared for use or on foot, or any of them, sufficient when converted into cash to provide food and fuel for heating purposes for the execution debtor and his family until the next ensuing harvest.
4. Six horses, oxen or mules, or any six of them, six cows, six sheep, four pigs and fifty domestic fowls besides the animals which the execution debtor may have chosen to keep as necessary food for himself and family, and food for the same for the months of November, December, January, February, March and April or for such of those months or portions thereof as may follow the date of seizure, provided such seizure is made between the first day of August and the thirtieth day of April next ensuing; or in lieu of the horses, oxen or mules one tractor, and one motor vehicle which has been in use for not less than one year and does not exceed four hundred dollars in value.

Provided that the exemption of one motor vehicle shall apply only to a person actively engaged in farming operations or a person whose sole occupation is that of a physician or surgeon, veterinary surgeon, drayman or common carrier and who resides in the Province of Saskatchewan.

5. The harness necessary for six animals, one wagon, one buggy or democrat, one disc harrow or cultivator, one mower, one breaking plough, one gang plough, one set of harrows, one horse rake, one cream separator, one binder, one set of sleighs and one seed drill.
6. The books of a professional man.
7. The tools and necessary implements to the extent of $500 used by the execution debtor in the practice of his trade or profession.
8. Seed grain sufficient to seed all his land under cultivation not exceeding 160 acres, at the rate of two bushels per acre, defendant to have choice of seed, and fourteen bushels of potatoes for planting.
9. The homestead, provided that the same be not more than 160 acres; in case it be more the surplus may be sold subject to any lien or incumbrance thereon. The execution forms a lien or charge on the homestead, but sale cannot be enforced under the execution.
10. The house and buildings occupied by the execution debtor, and also the lot or lots on which the same are situate according to the registered plan of the same to the extent of three thousand dollars. Any person who has executed a chattel mortgage on any of the chattels mentioned in paragraphs 4 or 5 shall in case of a seizure under such mortgage have the right to claim as exempt from such seizure and from sale any such chattels covered by said mortgage which cannot be so seized or sold without depriving the mortgagor of the number or part of the number of the kind of such chattels as he might hold free from seizure by execution. A person cannot contract not to take the benefit of this provision.

The debtor is entitled to choice from the greater quantity of the same kind of articles. None of the above articles except food, clothing and bedding, when their price forms the subject matter of the judgment upon which the execution is issued, are exempt from seizure. No exemptions in case of execution issued upon a judgment or order for the payment of alimony, nor when debtor has absconded or is about to abscond from Saskatchewan leaving no wife or family. In case of death of the execution debtor, the exemptions may be claimed, if the property is in the use and enjoyment of the widow and children, or widow, or children, of the deceased, and is necessary for their maintenance and support.

Foreign Judgments. Provision is made for enforcing in this Province a judgment recovered in another Province or Territory in Canada provided such Province or Territory similarly enforces Saskatchewan judgments. The only Provinces with which such reciprocal arrangement has been concluded are Alberta, British Columbia, New Brunswick, and Ontario. Action may be brought on a foreign judgment subject to the provisions of The Foreign Judgments Act which is practically a codification of the common law.

Fraudulent Conveyances. A judge may order the examination of an execution debtor and any transferee of any of his property before an examiner. The creditor can then proceed by a summons in chambers and use the examinations as evidence to set aside the conveyance as fraudulent. The Bankruptcy Act also provides for the setting aside conveyances as fraudulent under certain circumstances especially when they have been executed less than three months prior to the presentation of a bankruptcy petition or if the conveyance has the effect of giving any creditor a preference over other creditors. Fraudulent preferences and transfers may also be set aside by action in the ordinary way.

Insurance. Every person of the full age of 21 years has an unlimited insurable interest in his own life and may effect insurance of his person for the whole or any part of his life for the benefit of himself, his estate or any other person. If premiums paid on such insurance are paid with intent to defraud creditors, they may receive out of insurance money an amount not exceeding the premiums so paid and interest thereon.

Insurance may be effected by a parent upon the life of his child under 25 years of age but the amount for which a child under 10 years may be insured and the amount payable on the death of the child under 10 years is limited by the Act.

A minor after attaining the age of 15 years has the capacity of a person of full age to effect insurance on his own life and to deal with same and to deal with insurance effected on his life by any other person prior to his attaining that age, and if married to effect and deal with insurance on the life of his wife or children.

Preferred beneficiaries constitute a class and include the husband, wife, children, adopted children, grandchildren, children of adopted children, father, mother, and adopting parents of the person whose life is insured.

The assured may designate the beneficiary by the contract of insurance or by an instrument in writing attached to or endorsed on it or by any instrument in writing including a will in any way identifying the contract and may in the same way from time to time appoint or apportion the insurance money or alter or revoke the benefits or add or substitute any beneficiary or divert the insurance money wholly or in part to himself or his estate but not so as to alter or divert the benefit of any person who is a beneficiary for value nor so as to alter or divert the benefit of a person who is of the class of preferred beneficiaries to a person not of that class or to the assured or his estate.

If one of several beneficiaries dies in the life time of the assured and no apportionment or other disposition is subsequently made, the insurance shall be for the benefit of the surviving beneficiaries in equal portions if more than one. If all beneficiaries so die and no other disposition is made, the insurance forms part of the assured's estate.

Where it is stated in the contract or declaration that the money is for the benefit of the wife, or wife and children, or children, the words "wife" and "children" refer to all those of the class living at maturity of the contract and also children living at maturity of the contract of any child of the assured who predeceased him and the last mentioned children take the share their parent would have taken if alive.

Where one or more designated preferred beneficiaries dies in the lifetime of the assured whether an apportionment has been made or not, the assured may provide that the share or shares of the person so dying shall be for the benefit of the assured or his estate or any other person. In the absence of such declaration the share of any person so dying shall be for the benefit in equal shares of the survivors of such designated preferred beneficiaries except where the person dying is a child of assured leaving children, in which case such children take share their parent would have been entitled to.

Interest. The legal rate is 5 per cent, but any rate may be agreed upon.

Justices of the Peace. These officials have jurisdiction throughout the Province. They have a limited civil jurisdiction in matters between masters and servants, and in regard to trespass of animals and stray animals and in recovery of debts not exceeding $100.

Judgments. Where the claim is for a debt or liquidated demand, and no appearance is entered within the time limited, which varies, plaintiff can enter final judgment for claim and costs. Appearance may be struck out on a four-day summons if defendant has no defence on the merits. No judgment can be obtained except by issuing writ and giving defendant opportunity to defend; but in cases where executions against the debtor are in the Sheriff's hands a more summary procedure is provided for a creditor upon notice to the debtor getting a certificate from the clerk of court entitling him to participate in moneys realized by the Sheriff.

Liens. Where goods over the value of $15 are sold upon condition that the right of property or possession shall not pass until the payment of the purchase price, a copy of the agreement of sale with affidavit of bona fides must be filed in the registration district within which the purchaser resides, within thirty days, or the seller cannot set up his right against subsequent purchasers, mortgagees or creditors. Where goods are delivered in a registration district other than that in which the purchaser resides, registration must also be made in the district of delivery within thirty days; when the lien covers a motor vehicle registration must also be made in the Regina Registration District within thirty days of delivery. There must be a sufficient description of the goods sold so that they may be readily and easily known and distinguished. In case the vendor repossesses the goods, he must retain the same for twenty days before selling, during which time the purchaser may redeem, and he must also give purchaser notice of the sale eight days before it takes place.

Manufactured goods, having at the time of delivery thereof, to the buyer or bailee the manufacturer's or vendor's name painted, printed or stamped thereon or plainly attached thereto by a plate or similar device, are not within the provisions of the Act if such manufacturer or vendor (being the seller or bailor of such goods or chattels) keep an office in the Province where inquiry may be had and information procured concerning such sale or bailment, and if such manufacturer or vendor, or the agent thereof gives such information within five days of request therefor made in person or by registered letter.

In the event of removal into Saskatchewan of goods of value of $15 and over subject to a lien agreement then unless the agreement contains a sufficient description of the goods and a sworn copy thereof and of the affidavits accompanying same is registered in the proper district within three weeks of such removal the vendor is not permitted to set up rights of property against third parties.

Goods comprised in a lien note or conditional sale may not be removed into another registration district unless notice of intention to remove is given to vendor not less than twenty days before removal. Any person violating this provision is liable to a penalty not exceeding $100. (See also Mechanics' Liens.)

In case of sales over $100.00 made on lien agreement after March 30th, 1933, the vendor's right to recover the unpaid purchase money is restricted to repossession of the article sold except in the case of sale of land with chattels upon an entire consideration, sales of live-stock, sales of aeroplanes or parts thereof, sales of aeroplane engines or parts thereof, sales of mining machinery, equipment or material, sales of articles which are thereafter affixed to realty, and sale of goods in bulk within the meaning of the Bulk Sales Act.

Repossessions of farm implements, cream separators, washing machines, stoves, heaters and sewing machines sold under lien contracts made after April 1, 1933, and where the purchase price exceeds $50.00 are subject to statutory restrictions as to procedure and the purchaser may apply to the Court for a hearing and the judge is given discretion to postpone the actual repossession of the article sold by the vendor upon such terms as to time and amount of payments as he deems just having regard to the means of the purchaser and the value and lifetime of the article sold, and these terms may be further varied from time to time having regard to the variation of the conditions of the postponement.

Limitation of Actions. Actions for recovery of money (except in respect of a debt charged upon land) whether recoverable as debt, damages or otherwise and whether on bond, covenant, specialty or simple contract and actions for account or not accounting within six years after the cause of action arose or in case of actions for recovery of money as a debt within six years from the date of the last promise to pay the debt or the last written acknowledgment of the debt or the last payment on account of the debt.

Actions for recovery of rent or for money secured by mortgage or otherwise charged on or payable out of any land or to recover any legacy or to recover personal estate or share of the personal estate of any person dying intestate within ten years next after a present right to recover the same accrued to some person capable of giving a discharge unless, prior to the expiry of such ten years, a payment has been made on account or some interest has been paid by a person bound or entitled to make payment or his agent to a person entitled to receive same or his agent or some acknowledgment of the right to the same by any person so bound or entitled or his agent has been given to a person entitled to receive the same or his agent in which case action may be brought within ten years from the last of such payments or acknowledgments.

No arrears of rent or interest in respect of any sum of money to which the immediately preceding paragraph applies shall be recovered by any proceedings but within six years next after a present right to recover same accrued unless there be a payment or acknowledgment in accordance with the preceding paragraph in which case the limitation period is six years from the date of the last payment or acknowledgment.

Actions to recover possession of land and for foreclosure of land mortgages and chattel mortgages and actions under an agreement for sale of land and for recovery of goods subject to a conditional sale agreement are barred at the expiration of ten years from the date when the right of action first accrued or from the date of the last payment on account of the mortgage or purchase moneys or of the last acknowledgment of the title of the person entitled to take action.

There are other limitation periods prescribed in certain other specific cases and for any case not specifically provided for the period is six years from the date when the cause of action arose. The matter is dealt with fully in the Limitation of Actions Act 1932 and an amendment thereto in 1933.

Except as regards certain actions for recovery of penalties as based on defamation, trespass to person or property, fraudulent misrepresentation, accident, mistake or other equitable ground of relief The Limitation of Actions Act has been suspended since March 27, 1933 until a date hereafter to be fixed.

Married Women. They have all the rights and are subject to all liabilities of a femme sole, and may in all respects deal with land as though unmarried.

Mechanics' Liens. The Mechanics' Lien Act gives a contractor, mechanic, labourer and material man a lien for work done or material furnished upon the interest of the owner in the erection, building, land, etc.

A labourer cannot sign away his right to a lien.

The lien created by the Act has priority over all judgments, executions, assignments, attachments, garnishments and receiving orders, recovered, issued or made after such lien arises and over all conveyances or mortgages registered after registration of such lien.

The owner of the building, etc., upon which the work is being done must retain 20 per cent of the cost for thirty days after completion thereof.

Every mechanic or labourer whose lien is for wages shall to the extent of thirty days' wages have priority over all other liens.

A claim for lien may be filed in the Land Titles Office of the Land Registration District, in which the land is situated.

(a) By a contractor or sub-contractor during the performance of the contract or within thirty days after completion.

(b) For services during the performance of the services or within thirty days after completion.

(c) For wages during the performance of the work or within thirty days after last day's work.

(d) For materials at any time before or during the furnishing or within thirty days after the furnishing of the last material.

Claims for liens in connection with any mine, mining claim, mining land, oil well or gas well held from or under the Crown shall be filed with the Supervisor of Mines, Department of Natural Resources, Regina, instead of in the Land Titles Office, within the same time and in the same manner.

Failure to file a lien within the times above mentioned or to commence an action within such times to enforce such lien defeats such lien as against intervening parties becoming entitled to a lien or charge upon the land whose claim in respect of said land is registered prior to the registration of such lien and as against an owner in respect of payments made in good faith to a contractor after the expiration of said period of thirty days and before any claim of lien is filed or notice thereof given to an owner.

Once a lien is filed it remains in force until withdrawn or otherwise removed by proceedings under the Act.

The taking of security or recovery of a personal judgment does not merge the lien.

Proceedings to enforce a lien are taken in the District Court.

Moratorium. See "Debt Adjustment." The Volunteer and Reservists Relief Act is for the protection of property of persons who join as volunteers forces raised by the Government of Canada on account of the war now existing or who leave Canada to join the British, French or Polish forces or the forces of any other power who may be an ally of Great Britain for the purposes of said war and for the protection of the property of wives of such persons. The period of the moratorium is until two years after the conclusion of the war or after the discharge of the volunteer or reservist whichever shall first take place. The proceedings prohibited are those for enforcement of mortgage claims and charges on land, agreements for sale of land, the personal covenant of such instruments, the process of execution, tax liens and the lapsing of caveats against land. Wide powers are given to the Court to dispense with the provisions of the Act in exceptional cases. While proceedings against a volunteer or reservist or his wife are prohibited the operation of the Statute of Limitations is suspended. While a volunteer or reservist is absent from the province the Statute of Limitations does not run against him in regard to any right of action of debt he may have.

Real Estate. The Torrens System has been in force in the Territories since the 1st January, 1887, and is continued in force in the Province. A certificate of title is issued to the owner, which is binding upon all persons including the Crown, declaring that the owner is entitled to the estate mentioned in the certificate in the lands therein described subject to the liens, encumbrances and interests mentioned in the certificate. The certificate is conclusive evidence. Whenever any dealing takes place in regard to the land the certificate must be produced, and a memorial of the dealing endorsed upon the certificate. No instrument is of any effect until registered, and cannot be registered without the production of the certificate. Persons entitled under unregistered instruments, or to equitable estates, etc., can protect their interests by caveat.

The whole matter is set out in "The Land Titles Act." Revised Sask. Statutes 1940, Chap. 98.

Wills. Every person may dispose of by will all real and personal property including future and contingent estates to which he is entitled either at law or in equity at the time of his death. No will made by any person under the age of 21 years is valid. No will excepting wills of members of naval, military, air or marine forces when in actual service and mariners at sea and holograph wills, is valid unless it is in writing, and signed at the foot or end thereof by the testator, or by some other person in his presence and by his direction; such signature shall be made or acknowledged by the testator, in the presence of two or more witnesses present at the same time, who shall attest and shall subscribe the will in the presence of the testator, but no form of attestation is necessary. A holograph will wholly in the handwriting of the testator and signed by him may be made without any further formality or any requirement as to the presence of or attestation or signature by any witness.

Devise (other than a charge for the payment of a debt) to a witness, or the husband or the wife of a witness, is void, but the witness may prove the execution of the will. No will, codicil, or any part thereof, shall be revoked otherwise than by marriage, or by another will or codicil executed as above described, or by some writing declaring an intention to revoke the same, and executed in the manner in which a will is required to be executed, or by the burning, tearing, or otherwise destroying the same, by the testator, or by some person in his presence and by his direction with the intention of revoking the same.

Dependants may apply to the court to be relieved against the terms of a will. See Devolution of Estates.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS OF CUBA

RELATING TO BANKING AND COMMERCIAL USAGES

Revised by ZAYAS, MORAN Y VALDES RODRIGUEZ, Attorneys at Law Cuba 355, Havana, Cuba. (See card in Attorneys List)

Actions. All actions in Cuban law may be generally grouped as follows:

1. Verbal action, brought in the municipal courts, and comprising all suits that amount involved in which does not exceed $500.
2. Actions of lesser quantity including those the amount involved in which is greater than $500 and does not exceed $1,500.
3. Actions of greater quantity, in which the amount involved exceeds $1,500 or the value of which can be determined only by suit. These actions of greater quantity also include all questions as to political or honorary rights, personal exemptions and privileges, filiation, paternity, interdiction as well as those concerning the civil status and condition of persons.
4. Executory action, so called because the suit begins, by the execution or attachment of the property of the defendant debtor.

Besides this general classification there are special actions for divorce, judgments by arbitrators or amicable compounders, intestate or testamentary proceedings, insolvency, suspension of payments, bankruptcy, provisional seizures and security of property in litigation, compulsory process in civil litigation and commercial affairs, foreclosure proceedings, interventions, protection in the possession, ejectment, provisional maintenance, redemptions, summary proceedings relating to property, and the voluntary jurisdiction which includes all proceedings in which the intervention of the judge is necessary, without there being actual litigation, or in which no question is raised, between known and determined parties; but the procedure in these actions in addition of their special rules is governed almost entirely by the rules of the four general divisions.

Affidavits. Affidavits as commonly used in the United States, are unknown in Cuba. They cannot be used in any court proceeding. All sworn statements of fact must be made before a competent court and not before notaries public.

Aliens. Aliens resident in Cuba and doing business there enjoy the same civil rights as natives.

The law of civil procedure provides for a foreigner's bond, but this may be demanded only when the native defendant proves that in the country of domicile of foreign plaintiff such a bond, to secure costs, is required of Cubans. No bonds are required from American citizens to join as relators in criminal proceedings. Others must give it.

Arrest. There is no imprisonment for debt, either on actions of contract or tort, except in cases of bankruptcy and insolvency in which indications of fraud may have been shown. Courts are authorized, however, in all actions in which parties litigant have proceeded with recognized temerity either as parties plaintiff or defendant, to order the arrest on failure to pay costs caused by such temerity.

Attachments. Attachments are before or at the time of filing actions, as distinguished from attachments in execution proceedings after judgment.

1. Preventive attachments: These are attachments which may be granted before filing suit under the following conditions: (a) that with the petition there be presented a document from which the existence of the debt is apparent; (b) that the debtor, against whom it is requested is either: a native or a naturalized foreigner that he have no known domicile or any real property, or an agricultural, industrial or mercantile establishment, in the place where sued; or third, that even having said qualifications has disappeared from his domicile or establishment, leaving no person in charge of the same, and if a person has been left, in charge that such person should not know of his whereabouts, or secretes himself, or that there is a reasonable motive, to believe that he will conceal or impair his property to the prejudice of his creditors. (c) if the document presented be executive. (See Section 2). (d) if the document presented is not executive, the attachment will be granted at the risk of the creditor. (e) at the request of a merchant, when the action is brought, against a who is or has been a merchant or manufacturer, and the debt proceeds from mercantile transactions, and the sum sued for consists in a certain amount of money in cash. An oath is necessary in this case.

A bond for an amount not exceeding the sum sued for and one-third more must be given in all these attachments except under condition. (c) Suit must be filed within twenty days (or ten days if requested by defendant), after the attachment or the same will ipso facto vacate, and the plaintiff will be condemned to pay the costs and to indemnify the damages and prejudices caused thereby.

Captains or consignees of vessels are also entitled to an attachment on their cargoes to secure payment of the freight. All cargo is subject to the lien of the vessel during a period of twenty days after discharge, for payment of freight.

2. Attachments at the time of filing action: These attachments may be issued only upon presentation of a document with executive action, to wit: (a) A public deed duly executed before a competent notary public. (b) Any private document, the signature of which has been acknowledged under oath before a competent judge. (c) Confession of debt before a competent judge. (d) Bills of exchange properly accepted and protested, provided that the acceptor does not deny the authenticity of the acceptance at the time of protest for non-payment. (e) Any negotiable instruments payable to bearer or to a determined person, lawfully issued representing matured obligations, or their matured coupons. (f) Original mercantile contracts executed before a public agent or broker, signed by the contracting parties and the agent or broker, provided that the same are found to be identical with the records of such public agent or broker and has been legally executed.

The attachments will endure until judgment, unless debtor gives bond to release the same.

Attachments in execution proceedings: After obtaining a judgment if the debtor fails to pay the sum sued for, the creditor may attach a sufficient amount of the debtor's property and may sell such property at public auction to satisfy his claim.

Property exempt from attachments. The following properties among others cannot be attached: Railways open to the public service, as well as their stations, depots, shops, lands, structures and buildings necessary for their use, nor car locomotives, rails, and other effects belonging to the rolling stock used in the operation of the line.

2. The bed of the debtor, his wife and children, the wearing apparel of the same, and the tools used in the trade or occupation. 3. Salaries of public employees, salaries of railroad employees, pensions paid by the State, the province or the municipality. According to Article 61 of the 1940 Constitution, the minimum wages to which workers are entitled, are not subject to attachments, unless their wives or children sue them for food and clothing.

The minimum wages are: $1.20 and $1.00 per 8 hours work in the city and in the country, respectively, unless otherwise specially determined for each particular activity, like in the sugar industry. Also, workers are entitled to one month paid vacation for every eleven months worked.

And in the commercial and industrial activities, laborers shall only work a maximum of forty four hours per week, although their salaries should be paid as if they had worked forty-eight hours.

Also, Article 91 of the 1940 Constitution declares that homesteads up to $2,000 are not subject to attachments, for obligations arising after the promulgation of said Constitution.

No other property is exempt.

Otherwise, attachments may be levied on salaries not exceeding $1,000 a year or the one-fourth part of same, one-third on salaries not exceeding $2,250 and one-half on salaries over $2,250, for food and clothing of wife and children, or divorce alimony. In general, the salaries of employees can only be attached for 1/10 of their amount.

Chattel Mortgages. Chattel mortgages are not known in Cuban law and foreigners doing business in Cuba would do well to make note of this fact, but a mortgage or lien on chattels may be constituted by pledge. (See Pledge.) A Law, dated June 3, 1933 regulates the manner in which cattle may serve as guaranty for loans.

Claims Against Estates of Deceased Persons. There is no fixed period within which claims against the estate of deceased persons must be presented provided such claims have not become outlawed by the statute of limitations. If such claims are not presented during a period of administration of an estate they will still hold good against the heirs, such heirs shall have accepted the inheritance under the benefit of inventory, in which case he cannot be held to pay debts which exceed the value of the property inherited by him; if the heir accepts the inheritance, without the benefit of inventory he is liable both with the property inherited and all of his own property for all of the debts of the estate.

The debts of the deceased not specially secured by mortgage pledge, or otherwise, must be paid by the executor, administrator, or the heirs in the following order: (1) Debts preferred in favor of the province or municipality. (2) Judicial expenses. (3) Funeral expenses of the debtor and those of his wife or of such of his children as are dependent upon him if these last have no property of their own.

(4) The expenses of last illness of said persons caused in the year prior to the death of the debtor. (5) Wages and salaries of clerks and domestic servants during the year prior to his death. (6) Advances made to the debtor or to those of his family dependent upon him either in food or clothing and within the same period. (7) Claims admitted by notarial instruments or approved by the judgment of competent court. All other claims against the estate shall be paid only after the foregoing have been satisfied.

Commercial Treaty with United States. Signed August 24 1934. Gives preferential treatment to both Countries on custom-house duties; and facilitates and encourages reciprocal trade relations to a very great extent. This Treaty was supplemented by an agreement signed on Dec. 13, 1939, in which the Cuban Government gave some additional facilities to various United States products in lieu of extra concessions to Cuban sugar, tobacco, rum and potatoes, under date of December 23rd, 1941, a Supplementary Treaty was signed giving further concessions to sugar, beef and medical products, among others.

Consular Fees. Law of June 30, 1936. Increases consular fees on invoices covering imports, from 2% to 5%. Exception is made of North American imports, by reason of the provisions of the Commercial Treaty in force between the United States and Cuba.

Corporations. A law has been promulgated authorizing organizations of limited corporations, requiring for their operation a minimum capital of $5,000.00. The corporations may be constituted by not less than two and not more than ten persons by a public document executed before a notary public. This document must comprise the following requirements: Names, surnames and address of the incorporators, name of the company, which must be suitable to the class of business to be transacted and can not be identical of any pre-existing corporation; the names of the persons who are to direct the affairs of the corporation and the manner of filling vacancies; capital stock with a statement of the value given to the property brought in to the company apart from cash or on what basis the valuation is to be made; the number of shares into which the capital stock is divided and represented; the term or terms within which the part of the capital not paid in at the time of the incorporation is to be contributed or otherwise stating the person or persons authorized to determine the time and manner to collect the unpaid capital; term for which the company is organized, objects of the company, time and manner of calling and holding regular and special stockholders' meetings; the submission to the vote of the majority of stockholders' meeting duly called and held in such matters properly brought before the meeting; the number of persons or shares that must be present or represented to adopt binding resolutions.

Besides these provisions, the articles of incorporation which are in fact, the by-laws of the company, may contain such other stipulations as the organizers may introduce. Stockholders are liable only for the value of stock paid for or subscribed by them.

These articles of incorporation, once executed before the notary public as well as any subsequent amendments thereof are recorded in the mercantile registry and also with the Ministry of Commerce. There is no fee for incorporation, but there is a treasury tax equal to one-half of one per cent (1/2%) on the value of all stock actually issued and paid for without reference to the authorized capital stock.

Corporations organized to operate railroads are subject to special railroad law in military order 34 of 1902.

There is no state charter nor any public functionary who may pass on the form of the articles of incorporation. Inspection is exercised by the government over corporations through the Bureau of Commerce of the Ministry of Commerce.

Corporations pay a tax to the Municipality. Corporations pay also their annual tax on the net profits of business according to the following scale: 10% when the profits are less than $100,000; 12% when they exceed $100,000 but do not reach $500,000; 15% when they exceed $500,000 but are less than $1,000,000; and 20% when they exceed $1,000,000. Net profits of corporations have been increased 20%, by law of September 8, 1941. Gross sales are subject to a tax of $2.40 with some exceptions.

There are also some taxes created by the so-called Public Works Law, consisting of 1% of the money taken out of the Republic of Cuba, and upon all kinds of goods and merchandise exported. This latter will be reimbursed to the exporter if the price of the exportation is paid into Cuba within ninety days.

Two and four tenths per cent on the rent of real estates and mortgages, and ten cents per gallon of gasoline sold in the republic; 2 1/2% plus a surcharge of 20% of sales on the installment plan.

There is no provision for resident or native directors hence all of the directors of the company may be foreigners if desired.

The rights and privileges of stockholders are determined by the provisions and by-laws of the company.

A corporation is required to keep a minute-book, journal, ledger, and book of inventories and balances, and a book in which shall be copied letters and telegrams, all of which books must be stamped by the municipal court before being opened.

There is no penalty attached to it except that the books not kept in accordance with the laws may not be used as evidence in the courts in favor of the company, and that if the company is declared in bankruptcy the directors will be imprisoned unless sufficient bond is furnished.

Foreign corporations having a branch office in Cuba are required by law to record in the mercantile register a copy of their charter, amended charter, if such there be and by-laws together with a certificate issued by a Cuban consul that the corporation has been organized and authorized in accordance with the law of its domicile. There is no tax attached to this other than a nominal fee for the mercantile register. Once recorded, they are on an equal plane with native corporations. Foreign corporations are also obliged to maintain a resident manager or officer for taxation purposes.

There are special provisions requiring bonds from foreign insurance companies doing business in the republic.

All stock companies doing business in Cuba, whether native or foreign must record in the mercantile register power of attorney granted to the manager of the company, showing specifically the powers granted.

Stock possessed by foreigners in native stock companies is not subject to reprisal in case of war.

Monetary Policy. Law of July 8, 1939, establishes the right to pay all kinds of obligations stipulated or payable in Cuba, indistinctly in either United States Cy or Cuban Cy thus giving a larger market to the Cuban legal tender and thereby diminishing the risks of its depreciation as against United States currency.

The following transactions are, among others, exempted from said rule:

(1) Price of products sold for exportation to foreign markets. (2) bank deposits, and (3) public debt.

Decree No. 1727 of July 19, 1939, also exempts the payment of merchandise bought in foreign markets and payable in Cuba through negotiable instruments; letters of credits, and credit transactions in general, when their objective is the situation of funds abroad.

Deeds. All documents in Cuba are either public or private. Public documents or deeds are those authorized by a notary or competent public official, with the solemnities required by law. They are divided as follows:

1. Public documents executed before a notary public.
2. Certificates issued by agents of the stock exchange and commercial brokers with reference to the records in their care.
3. Documents issued by public officials with reference to matters under their supervision.
4. Minute books, by-laws, regulations, property statistics and other documents found in the existing public records.
5. Ordinances, by-laws and regulations of companies, corporation or associations, providing they have been approved by public authority.
6. Birth, death and marriage certificates issued by the persons in charge of the civil registries.
7. Writs of execution and all kinds of judicial proceedings.

Documents executed in foreign countries have the same value and force as those executed in Cuba, provided they comply with the following requirements: (a) That the subject matter of the contract be licit and permitted by Cuban law. (b) That the contracting parties are qualified and have the legal capacity required by the laws of their own country. (c) That the forms and solemnities required by the laws of their own country have been complied with. (d) That the document shall have been legalized by a Cuban diplomatic or consular agent in the country where executed. (e) If there are public documents, that they be recorded in the office of a Notary Public in Cuba.

Acknowledgment of deeds is unknown in Cuba. Deeds are executed before a notary public and not merely acknowledged. The entire document is prepared by the notary public in long hand and the original remains for thirty years in his records and is then filed in the general records of the state. Deeds may be executed only before notaries public and in accordance with the notarial law; deeds so executed are binding evidence of their contents and may not be questioned by the signing parties.

All transfers of real property or contracts affecting real property or real rights, all powers of attorney, for judicial purposes, articles of incorporation, and all documents of whatever nature which must be recorded as a notice to third persons must be executed by and before a notary public.

Depositions. Depositions are used in Cuban practice only in the case of witnesses resident without the jurisdiction of the court.

They are taken by "exhortos" or judicial commissions which are called letters rogatory when addressed to foreign countries, and may be issued only to judges of regular courts. Cuban law has no provision for commissioners to take depositions.

The interrogatories and cross-interrogatories of the exhorto are contained in the exhorto and arranged previously by consent of the parties.

In no action may an exhorto or commission issue without written interrogatories.

Oral examination does not exist in Cuba in civil matters.

Descent and Distribution. All property real and personal not devised descends as follows:

1. To decedent's lineal descendants without distinction of sex or age, and whether children by first or subsequent marriages. If lineal descendants are all of equal degree or consanguinity, they inherit equally; if unequal degree they receive the portions which their parents, if living would have received.
2. In default of the lineal descendants property goes to parents in equal portions, and in default of parents to grandparents, if there be but one parent he inherits the entire estate.
3. In default of both descendants and ascendants the estate descends to natural children who have been legally recognized.
4. In default of all of the foregoing the estate passes to collaterals in the following order: (1) If the decedent leaves full brothers and sisters, these inherit in equal parts. (2) If there are brothers or sisters and nephews or nieces, children of full brothers, such nephews and nieces take the shares which their parents if living would have received. (3) Half brothers receive one-half of the share of full brothers. (4) In default of brothers or sisters and nephews or nieces, the entire estate passes to the surviving spouse. (5) If there is no surviving spouse, the entire estate goes to the other collateral relatives, which shall not extend beyond the sixth degree of relationship in the collateral line. (6) If there be none of the foregoing persons all property reverts to the state. (7) If there are no living brothers or sisters of the deceased, nephews or nieces inherit in equal parts. Independently of the above mentioned usufruct, the surviving spouse has the right to half of the property or estate acquired during marriage.

There is no distinction in the laws of descent between personal and real property.

Notwithstanding the above provisions, the surviving spouse has the following rights in the property:

1. If there be but one son, or issue of one son, the surviving spouse shall have the usufruct of one-third of the property during lifetime.
2. If there be more than one son, the surviving spouse shall have the usufruct during lifetime of a share of the property equal to that acquired by each one of the children.
3. If there be no descendants, but only ascendants, the surviving spouse shall have also the right to one-third of the property in usufruct.
4. If there be neither descendants or ascendants, the spouse shall acquire the usufruct of one-half of the estate.

Divorce and Separation. The grounds on which the divorce with dissolution of the marriage bond shall be granted, are the following:

- (1) Adultery. (2) Any act of the husband which may tend to prostitute the wife, or any act of either the husband or the wife to corrupt or prostitute the children, and the participation or profit in their corruption or prostitution. (3) Acts of grave offence. (4) Grave and repeated spoken insults. (5) The perpetration, after the marriage, of a grave crime, be it consummated or frustrated, and be it as perpetrator or accomplice, provided that the party be punished with perpetual penalty, except disqualification, or temporary chain, reclusion, or banishment, in any degree, or penitentiary, or major prison in the maximum degree; all the foregoing, after the condemnatory sentence is final. (6) The perpetration of a grave crime, in the degree of tentative, be it as perpetrator or as accomplice, against the person of the other party, or against the children, after the condemnatory sentence is final. (7) Habitual drunkenness. (8) Involuntary vice of gambling. (9) Voluntary and uninterrupted abandonment of the home for more than six months. (10) Voluntary and repeated failure of either party to support the home. (11) The lapse of six months after the judicial declaration of absence without having any news from the absent. (12) The contagious disease of a sexual nature, contracted after the marriage, and outside of the marriage, contracted in the performance of sexual acts. (13) The separation of the parties during six months. (14) Chronic insanity, two years after the judicial resolution declaring same. (15) Incompatibility of characters of husband and wife or the reiterated disagreements between them. (16) Any vice or immorality that may prejudice the reputation of either party. (17) The vice of drugs or any other similar substance.

(18) Bigamy. Divorce by mutual consent has a special proceeding and may be obtained within forty or forty-five days.

Separation and divorce carries with it the liquidation and division of the communal property and the separate administration by each spouse of his or her own property. The wife can not remarry before 301 natural days counted from the date she has been placed under deposit or from the date the divorce was granted. The husband may remarry at any time after divorce has been granted.

The wife can remarry before 301 natural days as above if so authorized by the President of the Republic.

Separation: Separation "A mensa et thoro" may be applied for by the innocent party only on the following grounds: (1) Adultery of the wife in all cases, and that of the husband when it produces a public scandal or the humiliation of the wife. (2) Assault and battery, or slander. (3) Violence used towards the wife by the husband to force her to change her religion. (4) Attempt of the husband to prostitute his wife. (5) Attempt of either spouse to prostitute the children and the participation of taking advantage of their prostitution or corruption. (6) A sentence of life imprisonment for either spouse.

Dower. Dower or courtesy as an estate in property during coverture does not exist.

The only rights of the surviving spouse are those mentioned under Descent and Distribution.

Evidence. The different classes of evidence which may be used are as follows:

1. Public documents which are those executed before a notary or competent public official, with the formalities prescribed by law. Such documents as to date and transaction covered by them may not be disputed and are regarded as absolute evidence. They may not be attacked or impugned by the party executing them as to statements made by him in said documents.

2. All private documents, which include letters, correspondence, books, photographs, telegrams, and all documents not executed before a notary public or other competent public functionary. These documents are valueless as evidence until their authorship is proven. If the signature of a private document be denied by the signer, it must be proven by experts, unless the court personally examines same and satisfies itself as to the authenticity of the signature.

3. Confession or a deposition of the party litigant. This confession or deposition, although given technically under oath, does not bind the deponent to tell the truth, as there is no penalty attached to false swearing by an interested party. The examination of such litigant is conducted by means of interrogatory or list of questions prepared prior to the examination and filed with the court, generally in a sealed envelope. The oath may be either decisive or indecisive. In the former case all statements made by the litigant in answer to interrogatories propounded by his adversary are binding on the said adversary, in the latter case such adversary may accept such statements as are beneficial to him and reject those prejudicial.

4. Personal examination by the court. This mode of proof is resorted to as a general rule only in those cases which treat of lands, titles or objects, the conditions of which do not change and which it will not be possible to produce in court.

5. Expert testimony. This class of evidence is mainly relied on to prove signatures, handwriting and values, expert evidence may be given only by persons holding degrees from the university of Havana or the provincial institutes, qualifying the holder as an expert, such experts are usually appointed by mutual consent, one being named by each party, and the third by the court in case of dissension. Their testimony is not binding on the court, which may accept the same at its own discretion.

6. Witnesses. No party litigant may be examined in his own behalf nor may his parents, children or relatives by marriage within the second degree testify for him.

The testimony of the following persons, while permitted will not be taken into consideration by the court unless substantiated by other evidence: (a) Relatives of the party litigant presenting them within the fourth degree either of blood or affinity. (b) Partners, employees, or servants of the litigant presenting them as witnesses. (c) Persons having a direct or indirect interest in the suit or in another similar suit. (d) Person who may have been convicted of perjury. (e) Intimate friends or known enemies of either of the litigants.

The evidence of witnesses is taken by means of written interrogatories prepared and filed in the court at the time the evidence is proposed. The opposing litigant may file cross-interrogatories based on the interrogatories, at any time after the latter have been presented and prior to the examination of the witness.

There is no oral examination of witness.

These interrogatories are propounded to the witnesses by the court and his replies reduced to writing as a general rule, testimony of witnesses unsupported by documentary evidence is not considered sufficient by the courts to substantiate a claim.

Executors and Administrators. Executors named under the will, if competent to act under the law, may perform all the duties of their office without the intervention of any court. They take possession of the property on the death of the deceased without any formality of letters testamentary. All persons capable of contracting may be executors, excepting married women, who may act only with the consent of their husbands, and minors who in no case may act.

Executors have all of the powers conferred upon them by the testator, provided same are not contrary to law. If the testator has not specified the powers of the executors, they shall have the following powers: (a) To pay the funeral expenses of the defunct according to the dispositions of the will and should there be no such dispositions according to custom. (b) To pay all legacies which consist of cash with the consent and acquiescence of the heir. (c) To see that the testamentary dispositions are carried out, and, if necessary, to appeal to the courts to sustain such provisions to the will. (d) To take such precautions as may be necessary to preserve and care for the property, and to do this with the intervention of the heirs, if there should not be enough money in the estate to pay the funeral expenses and legacies, and the heirs should not furnish sufficient money the executors shall appeal to the court for permission to sell personal property, and if such should not be sufficient real property. All of this should be effected with the acquiescence of the heirs. If any minors absent persons, corporations or public institutions are interested in the will all sales of the property shall be made by public auctions and with the authorization of the court.

If no term be fixed for the executor he shall complete his work within the term of one year from the time of taking charge of the estate or from the conclusion of all litigation concerning the validity of or nullity of the will or any of the dispositions. The executor must render an exact account to the heirs of his operations and if no heirs have been appointed he shall render an account to the court of the disposition made by him of the property. In case of resignation or incapacity of the executor named in the will or if such executor named should refuse to accept the position the heirs shall see that the provisions of the will are carried out.

If no executor be named in the will the heirs therein named may with or without the intervention of the court take charge of the property and act as administrators thereof; and comply with the testamentary provisions; however testamentary proceedings may be instituted by any of the heirs or legatees named in the will, the surviving spouse, or any creditor, provided he shall present some written document in proof of his claim, and such heirs or legatees may not request testamentary proceedings when the testator has prohibited it expressly in the will nor may creditors whose claims are secured either by property or by bond given by the heirs institute such proceedings. In case of testamentary proceedings all of the property of the testator is brought into court, all of the parties interested in the estate are judicially summoned, and the court appoints an administrator. The inventory of the property and the distribution of same under the provisions of the will as well as the payment of all debts are effected by authority of the court and account is rendered to the court by the administrator.

In case of intestacy, and at the request of ascendants, descendants, surviving spouse, collaterals, or creditors, of the deceased the court takes temporary charge of the estate appointing immediately an executor-dative whose duties are to take charge of the funeral and interment of the defunct, take possession of all his books, papers and correspondence and make an inventory of all the property, which property is placed in the charge of an administrator who shall give such bond as may be satisfactory to the court.

The surviving spouse, if such there be, is entitled to the appointment of administrator of the property, and if there be none the court will appoint an administrator generally from among those proposed by the relatives or creditors.

The administrator having been appointed and the primary steps taken to secure the property left by decedent, the declaration of heirs at the request of interested parties is made by the court, and the declaration of heirship having been approved, the administrator ordered by the court to render an account to them and to turn over to such heirs all of the property, books and accounts of the estate the intervention of the court ceasing at this time. The court may continue to intervene in the matter at the request of any of the heirs of the surviving spouse, or when any of the heirs are minors or at the request of creditors.

The administrator as such represents the estate in all matters judicial and extra judicial but must have the authorization of the court in order to dispose of any of the property of the estate, and such property, if of a value of more than one thousand dollars, may be sold only by public auction unless all of the heirs and creditors interested consent to a private sale. The administrator renders his account to the court at such periods as the court previously fixes upon.

Both executors and administrators are allowed a compensation proportionate with the value of the property administered and the income upon the same.

The powers of the executor and administrator extend not only to property within the jurisdiction of the court, but to all the property real and personal of the deceased whether located in Cuba or in foreign countries. The executor and administrator may delegate their powers in persons residing in foreign countries, or persons interested in the estate may request the appointment of a special foreign administration to take charge of the property situated in foreign countries.

Remunerated Holidays. Articles 66 and 67 of the Constitution of 1940. Employers are obliged to give all employees for each eleven months of regular employment, one month's vacation with full pay and, in addition, to pay regular wages on national holidays (which are four), when employees are not required to work.

The hours of work of all regular employees are restricted to 8 hours per day and to 44 hours per week, but wages are to be paid as if forty-eight hours were actually worked.

The 1940 Constitution has limited the national festivities to three, and has declared one memorial day per year. While Congress determines these days, the Government has provisionally fixed them as follows:

February 24, May 20, October 10, and December 7.

Holidays. All days of the year are lawful for judicial purposes, except Sundays, religious or civil festivals, and those days specially determined by law.

By lawful hours, the law means those within sunrise and sunset. Judges and Courts may qualify the unlawful days and hours when there be an urgent and reasonable cause therefor, and at the request of an interested party.

The judicial holidays determined by law are:

Sundays, Thursdays and Friday of the Catholic Holy Week; from the 25th of December to the 6th day of January, both inclusive. (Correctional Courts not included.)

General election days, and also provincial and municipal election days within the provincial or municipality in which they take place.

The day in which Cuban Courts of Justice re-open after vacation which takes place the 1st day of September. Correctional and Municipal Courts are not included, and therefore are open this day.

Insolvency, Bankruptcy and Suspension of Payments. The Cuban law distinguishes between the insolvency and bankruptcy, providing a special procedure for insolvents not merchants and another for insolvent merchants, the latter being known as bankruptcy.

A decree of insolvency may be requested either by the debtor or by creditors, who must show that at least two unsatisfied executions are pending against the debtor. The declaration of insolvency by the court ipso facto renders the debtor incompetent to administer his property or to hold any public office, and such incompetency continues until the conclusion of the proceedings. If he be found guilty of fraudulent insolvency he is subject to the criminal law. During the proceedings his property is administered by receivers appointed by the creditors. These receivers take entire charge of the assets and liabilities of the debtor under the supervision of the court, allowing claims in the order of precedence fixed by law. They also issue a verdict qualifying the insolvency as accidental, culpable or fraudulent, which verdict once approved by the court becomes final.

A declaration of bankruptcy (referring to merchants only) may be requested either by the debtor or by creditors; such declaration or decree has the following effects: (a) The arrest and imprisonment of the bankrupt, unless he furnish bond fixed by the court. (b) Judicial seizure of the property of the bankrupt, his books, papers and documents. (c) The appointing of a temporary receiver who is placed in charge of the property seized by the court and remains in charge until permanent receivers are appointed. (d) Publication of the bankruptcy in the "Official Gazette" and local papers. (e) Retention of the correspondence of the bankrupt.

Bankruptcy is divided into three classes: 1. Fortuitous, or that brought about by a succession of events foreign to the will of the debtor. 2. Culpable bankruptcy, or that brought about through gross negligence, yet without apparent fraud. 3. Fraudulent bankruptcy. However qualified, the bankrupt loses by the declaration of bankruptcy his civil and political rights until they may be restored to him by a decree of the court. Fraudulent bankruptcy, as well as fraudulent insolvency, is punished severely by the Social Defense Code.

The decree declaring bankruptcy ipso facto matures all outstanding obligations of the debtor. All acts of ownership exercised by the debtor which in any way tend to dispose of or affect his property, committed subsequent to the date when the court decides him to have failed are null and void.

The following contracts made within thirty days preceding the date of bankruptcy may be annulled: (a) Transfer of real property made without sufficient consideration. (b) Dowries given to his daughters in consideration of their marriages. (c) Transfer of real property in payment of debts not yet due at the time of the decree of bankruptcy. (d) Mortgages given either for money loaned or for merchandise delivered, the delivery of which was not made in fact at the time of the execution and in the presence of the notary and witnesses subscribing the deed of mortgage. (e) Donations Inter vivos made subsequent to the last balance drawn prior to the bankruptcy provided such balance show the liability to be greater than the assets.

Creditors may also demand and obtain the annulment of all transfers of real property made in the month preceding the declaration of bankruptcy, of dowries given to daughters of the bankrupt from property belonging to the bankrupt and his wife, or any other transfer of the property of the couple without a sufficient consideration.

Suspension of payments. A merchant or corporation who possessing sufficient property to cover all his debts, foresees the impossibility of meeting them when they respectively fall due, may suspend payments, which shall be declared by the judge of first instance of his domicile in view of his declaration.

With the petition must be filed the balance of the assets and liabilities and the proposal of the extension requested from the creditors, which cannot exceed three years.

Insurance Companies. A decree-law promulgated under date of September 7, 1934, regulates the amount and nature of guaranties to be deposited by insurance companies in order to operate in Cuba.

Interest. In civil contracts if no rate of interest is mentioned none can be collected, except from the date of filing suit until that of collection. The legal rate is 6% at present Amended by Decree-Law No. 476 of Sept. 23, 1935.

Decree No. 2701—Nov. 16, 1933. Usury statute limits the maximum interest to 12% to be charged annually.

Decree-Law No. 473—Dec. 23, 1935.—Declares the following to be void and null: a) Pledges,—when the interest charged to be over 12% annually; b) Any agreement intended to impose pecuniary penalties upon delinquent debtors, except in cases when legal action be filed, it being permitted then to charge the legal interest (6%); c) Pledges whereby the debtor acknowledges to have received a bigger amount of money than that really received.

In mercantile obligations, failure to pay at maturity makes the debtor liable for interest from the date of maturity of the obligation at the rate of either that mentioned in the contract or, no interest being fixed, the legal interest of six per cent. If no date is fixed for the fulfillment of a contract interest begins to run unless specified in the contract from date of protest or filing of suit.

Licenses. Practically every profession, industry or trade must pay an annual license tax to the municipality for the privilege of doing business. These taxes are fixed by the municipalities themselves. Some of the annual taxes for the City of Havana, are as follows: Bankers $1,250; importers and exporters, wholesale, $1,250; coal dealers, $1,250; shipyards, $1,500; consignees of vessels, $375; insurance agents, $250; money changers, $187.50; brokers, $125; tobacco manufacturers, $625; forwarding agents, $37.50, etc., foreign commercial travelers pay no licenses.

Liens. Liens, as understood in English common law, do not exist in Cuba, except with reference to vessels. There is no lien of mechanics laborers or builders, although these persons have a preferential right against the owner of the property for such amount as he may be owing the contractor; but should the owner of the property dispose of the same before satisfying obligations due these persons and before they have obtained attachment of the property there exists only a personal liability and creditors may not follow the property.

(See Attachments.)

Limitation of Actions. Bills of exchange, drafts and mercantile promissory notes, outlaw at three years from date of maturity, real actions on personal property, at six years, real actions on real property at thirty years, real actions on mortgages, at twenty years, all personal actions which have no fixed term, at fifteen years. The action of the Government to collect all taxes outlaws in 15 years.

The following actions outlaw in five years:

(a) For the payment of income for support.

(b) For the payment of rents, whether derived from rural or from town property.

(c) That or any other payments which should have been made annually or in shorter periods.

The following outlaw in three years:

(a) For the payment of judges, lawyers, registrars, notaries public, experts, agents and clerks for their charges and fees and the expenses and disbursements incurred by them in the discharge of their duties or offices in the matters to which the obligations refer.

(b) For payments to apothecaries for medicines which they have supplied; to professors and teachers for their salaries and stipends for the instruction they have given, or for the exercise of their profession, art or trade.

(c) For the payment of mechanics, servants and laborers, the amounts due for their services, and for the supplies or disbursements they may have incurred with regard to the same.

(d) For the payment of board and lodging to innkeepers, and to traders for the value of goods sold to others who are not traders, or who, being such, are engaged in a different trade.

The time of the prescription of actions referred to in the three preceding sections shall be counted from the time the respective services have ceased to be rendered.

The following actions outlaw in one year:

(a) Actions to recover or retain possession.

(b) Actions to demand civil liability for grave insults or calumny and for obligations arising from fault or negligence.

Marriage, Its Nullity. Civil and Notarial marriages are the only ones valid in Cuba. These are executed before the municipal judges of the domicile of the parties as officials of the civil registry, or before a notary public. (This is in accordance with the Notarial Code at present in force.)

Parties might contract church marriages, but these have no validity at law.

The marriage may be declared null and void in the following cases: 1. Males under fourteen and females under twelve years of age. 2. Persons non compos mentis. 3. Impotent person. 4. Those persons who are already married. 5. Ascendants and descendants whether by consanguinity or affinity. 6. Collateral by consanguinity within the second degree. 7. The adopter with the adopted person, the latter with the surviving spouse or this with the surviving spouse of the adopted person. 8. Those who have been convicted as principal or as accomplices for the death of a former spouse.

The marriage may be annulled also if contracted by error in the person or by force or between abductor and abducted while in his power and the one contracted without the intervention of the judge or Notary Public, or the presence of the witnesses required by law.

Married Women. Persons on contracting marriage may make their own agreements as to the management and administration of their property, but should they fail to make such provision they are understood as having married under the community agreement by which husband and wife become equal owners in the property acquired by the couple during coverture, and each has a right to one-half of said property at the time of the dissolution of the marriage bond, whether from death or other cause.

The husband is the representative of the wife, and without his permission she may make no contracts except that which she may have received as dowry or which is classed as paraphernal.

The wife's property is divided as follows:

(a) Her dowry, which is composed of property given the wife because of her marriage, and such property acquired by her thereafter by gift, inheritance or bequest, provided that it be given as a part of the dowry.

(b) Paraphernal property, which is that property held by the wife at the time of her marriage, not included in the dowry, and that which she acquired thereafter with her own capital. The husband may not dispose of this paraphernal property nor may he exercise any act with reference to it without the consent of the wife. The wife has the legal administration of such paraphernal property.

While the husband is the legal representative of the wife he may not dispose of the property constituting her dowry without securing her fully as to any loss.

In cases of separation, the wife may acquire the sole disposition and control of her dot, her paraphernal property and her one-half of the capital of the community property.

Mortgages; Registry of Deeds; Land Leases; Etc. All transactions regarding real property are governed by the mortgage law which provides a plan of registration similar in essence to the Torrens System. All sales of real property or real rights, all mortgages, and all rights in such property, as easements, servitors, liens, encumbrances, usufructs, and the extinction or cancellation of such rights in order to prejudice third persons, must be recorded in the registry of property for the judicial district in which the realty is situated.

Leases for a period of more than one year or if the contracting parties agree they may be registered irrespective of the term of the lease. The registrars are empowered to examine all documents submitted to them for registry, and may suspend the inscription of or reject such as in their opinion do not comply with the law. From these decisions there lies an appeal to the civil courts.

Registrars are appointed for life or during good behavior, are under heavy bond, must be attorneys at law, are paid solely by fees, and are responsible for their errors.

Defects in title not apparent in the registry do not affect innocent purchasers, hence the registry is an absolute guarantee.

All mortgages and all documents subject to registry must be executed under seal of a notary public, and must pay the government transfer tax before being recorded.

Foreclosure proceedings

The mortgage must contain a clause fixing a sum as the value of the property in case of foreclosure. With this deed and a certificate from the registrar to the effect that the mortgage is still in force, the creditor makes application to the court for the sale of the property by public auction. Notice is served on the debtor if his residence is known; if not, he is served by notice on the person in care of property and he is allowed thirty days within which to pay debt and costs. At the expiration of said thirty days the property is advertised for sale in the "Official Gazette" the sale taking place twenty days thereafter. The mortgage creditor may bid in the property.

Moratorium Law for Mortgage: According to the 1940 Constitution, mortgages constituted prior to 1937, shall be governed by the following rules:

When their capital be less than $15,000, they shall bear a 3% interest; from $15,000 to $50,000, 2 1/2% interest; from $50,000 to $200,000, 2% interest; from $200,000 to $400,000, 1 1/2% interest; from $400,000 to $600,000, 1 1/2% interest; from $600,000 to $800,000, 1 1/2% interest and from $800,000 to more 1% interest.

These mortgages must be redeemed in full, according to the following scale: Capitals from $1,000 to $50,000 shall be fully repaid by June 30, 1965; and from $50,000 up by June 30, 1970. Gradual amortizations every year, beginning June 30, 1942.

Limitation of the Liability of Mortgagees. Under the same date of April 4, 1933 a Law was enacted, providing that the mortgagee can collect only on the mortgaged property, and has no action to claim from the mortgagor the deficit which may result in the auction sale of the mortgaged estate.

Nationalization of Labor. On November 8, 1933, the revolutionary Government of Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, issued a decree providing that all business enterprises, of whatever nature and form of organization, should necessarily employ at least 50 per cent of Cuban born individuals in their pay-roll, and furthermore that at least 50 per cent of the total cash paid in salaries or remuneration of employees, shall go to Cuban-natives.

Under date of April 13th 1938 a decree was enacted regulating the labor transactions that may arise between employers and employees.

Notaries Public. Notaries public are appointed by the President not to exceed one for every seven thousand inhabitants in the city of Havana and five thousand inhabitants in any other city of the Republic; they must be attorneys at law, and their appointments are for life, unless removed for misconduct. They are required to furnish heavy bond and are liable for errors due to carelessness, gross ignorance or willful fault.

Under date of December 17th 1937 a decree-law was enacted empowering notaries public to substantiate intestate and testamentary proceedings, adoptions, openings of sealed wills, voluntary jurisdiction in commercial transactions, inscription of non registered documents and of possessory expedients in the Registry of Property, execution of holographic wills, legalizations of accounting books, divorce by mutual consent and other proceedings of voluntary jurisdiction.

It provides furthermore that since the date of its enforcement only lawyers may be appointed to hold office as Secretaries to corporations, partnerships, associations, stock companies and the like.

(See Documents, Deeds, Notes and Bills of Exchange.)

Notes and Bills of Exchange. Cuban law is absolutely and extremely technical on notes and bills of exchange.

A draft, or bill of exchange in order to be regarded as such in court, must comply with all of the following requirements: (1) Place, day, month and year of which drawn. (2) Date when due. (3) Name of payee. (4) Amount. (5) Consideration, either of value received, value on account or value understood. (6) Name of the person from whom the amount of the draft is received or to whose account it is charged if such person be other than the payee. (7) Name of the person on whom drawn, as well as his domicile. (8) Signature of the drawer, or that of his duly authorized agent.

If the draft lacks any of the foregoing requirements it will be considered as a promissory note in favor of the holder, and for the account of the drawer.

There are no days of grace.

Endorsement:

Endorsement must contain (1) Name of endorsee, (2) Consideration, (3) Name of person or firm from whom consideration is received or to whose account it is charged, if such person should be other than the one to whom the draft is endorsed, (4) Date, (5) Signature of endorser, or of his duly authorized attorney in fact.

If all of the requirements in endorsement are complied with, but date is omitted, the title does not pass, but endorsee holds draft as collecting agent.

Blank endorsements, i. e. those endorsements which have nothing other than the signature, and those endorsements in which the consideration is omitted but which contain in all of the other requirements transfer title to the draft.

Foreign banks and merchants dealing with Cuba, would be wise in observing the law strictly. Note that the draft contains all of the legal requirements and especially, that the endorsement is full. As has been said, the blank endorsement transfers title but Cuban courts have been in some considerable controversy over this point and it is safer to insert all details as above indicated.

Drafts not issued to order cannot be endorsed nor those which have matured and are dishonored.

An accepted draft properly protested is considered by Cuban law as an executory document, i. e., a document on which attachment may be levied by the creditor without presenting bond prior to filing suit.

Pledge. Personal property can be affected only by a contract or pledge, which is in substance the old Roman "Pignoratium" virtually a contract of pawn. By this contract the possession of the chattel must be in the creditor, or in the third person elected by the parties.

A pledge is not effective against a third person unless the evidence of its date appear in a public instrument.

The creditor cannot dispose of or appropriate the chattels pledged. When the obligation is due and unpaid the pledged property may be sold at a public auction before a notary public previous notice to the debtor.

Power of Attorney. Power of attorney must be special and specific. A general power of attorney to "act for me and in my place and stead, to perform all acts and things" etc., is valueless.

The power must show (1) Name, age, personal status (married, single or widower, and if married, to first or second wife), occupation and residence of grantor. (2) Name and residence of agent. (3) A specific statement of powers conferred upon agent designating same separately.

A power to sell and mortgage and "otherwise dispose of or deal with property" does not include power to lease; one to sign does not include endorsing; a power to collect does not cover power to sue, etc.

In case of a power of attorney given by a partnership, the document must of itself show the following: (1) That the partnership is lawfully organized according to the laws of its domicile. (2) That the person executing the power of attorney in the name of the firm is an active partner at time of signing power, and possesses, in accordance with the partnership, articles of agreement the legal authority to sign the firm's name and bind it by his act as partner.

In the case of a power of attorney executed by a stock company, the document must show: (1) As in all other powers the name and description of person executing document in representation of company. (2) The official capacity. (3) His authorization by the board of directors for the execution of the document, generally shown by inserting in the power a literal copy of the minutes of the meeting in which he was authorized to execute it. (4) The powers of the board of directors to manage the business and affairs of the company, i. e., the insertion in the document of those clauses of the by-laws or articles of incorporation which entrust the management to the board. (5) That the meeting of the board or executive committee or other functionaries charged with the company administration in which the resolution was passed authorizing the execution of such power of attorney by one of its officials was properly called, that the necessary quorum was present and that the directors acting were elected such according to law. (6) That the company was organized in accordance with the laws of its domicile and is in existence on the date of execution of the power of attorney. (7) Specific statement of powers granted to agent.

If the power of attorney is signed outside of Cuba the document must be executed before a notary public and the signature and seal of the notary public authenticated by a Cuban consul, then it must be recorded in the office of a notary public in Cuba after authentication of the consul's signature by the Cuban State Department.

The Code of Commerce provides that all powers of attorney to agents or managers of merchants shall be recorded in the Mercantile Registry. Powers of Attorney of foreign corporations are subject to so many technicalities that no one should attempt to draft them without the advice of a Cuban lawyer.

Silver Certificates. Under date of May 3, 1935, the issue of ten million dollars in silver certificate is authorized.

Taxes. On January 29, 1931, the so called Emergency Tax Law was enacted. This law establishes heavy taxes (or increases those in existence) on practically every commodity, and every activity. The principal items of taxation are the following: Liquors, tobacco, playing-cards, refreshments, artificial water, petroleum, mineral coal, post stamps, radio, stamp tax, income tax, real-estate-property tax, consular tariff, theatres articles of luxury.

On December 31st, 1941, because of the state of war existing between Cuba and the Axis powers, a tax has been established on incomes, salaries and retainers, and also on radios, automobiles, real estate properties and other items.

Trade Marks and Patents. Decree-Law No. 805 of April 4th 1936. INDUSTRIAL PROPERTY.

Substitutes the archaic legislation in force in Cuba up to now on matters of Trade Marks and Patents.

In addition to the task of setting in order and up to date all the modifications and judicial decisions on the subject, the new Law establishes protection for the following aspects of industrial property.

1. Patents of "introduction" or "importation";
2. Commercial names and business signs;
3. Trade slogans and styles;
4. Motion picture films.

Wills. All persons of either sex of fourteen years of age or more, with the exception of those not in possession of their mental faculties, may dispose of their property by will. Insane persons may do so in lucid intervals on certificate of two physicians to the temporary sanity of testator.

Wills may be either holographic, open or sealed, or special, such as military, marine or foreign.

The holographic will is that written by the testator personally setting forth day, month and year, and his signature. Only adults may make a holographic will. Such a will must be filed with the court of first instance of testator's last domicile or residence within five years after decease or will not be valid.

The open will is that executed in the presence of a notary public and of three witnesses who must sign together with testator.

In case of imminent danger of death this will may be executed in the presence of five witnesses but without the notary.

The sealed or closed will may be written by the testator or any other person, the date and place being expressed. If written in testator's handwriting he will paraphrase each page and sign at end; if written by another, his full signature must appear on each page. This will once signed is placed in an envelope and so sealed that its contents may not be read except by breaking the seal and is then taken to a notary public who, in the presence of five witnesses receives the deposition of testator that such sealed package contains his will, and writes on the envelope this statement also that all of the legal formalities have been observed. The will is then returned to the testator, the notary retaining a copy of the statement made by testator. Military and marine wills may be made before officers of the army and marine.

Cubans resident in foreign countries may execute their wills either before Cuban diplomatic or consular authorities in accordance with Cuban law, or may observe the laws of the country in which they reside as to the form of will.

Persons having descendants or ascendants living or husband or wife, may not dispose of such portion of their property as by operation of law, vests in such descendants or ascendants on their decease.

Children and legitimate descendants are entitled to two-thirds of the property of the parent who may therefore, only dispose truly of the remaining one-third.

If there be no children but only ascendants, their legal portion, of which the will may not deprive them, is one-half the hereditary estate.

The widow or widower who on the death of his other spouse is not divorced (separated) shall have a right to a portion in usufruct equal to that corresponding by way of legal portion to each of the legitimate children or descendants; if there be only one surviving child or descendant the surviving spouse shall have the usufruct of one-third of the estate, and the same portion in case there be no descendants, but only ascendants; if there are neither descendants nor ascendants the survivor receives one-half of the estate in usufruct as his or her legal portion.

The law also makes special provisions for natural children who may have been acknowledged.

Article 46 of the 1940 Constitution allows Cuban citizens to dispose by will of half of their belongings.

Probate:

The open will needs no probate nor judicial sanction unless attacked. The holographic will must be filed with the court of first instance of testator's last domicile or residence and on proof of testator's decease is opened by the court in the presence of the family and relatives who shall be notified. The evidence of three witnesses who knew testator's handwriting or in default of same of handwriting experts, if satisfactory will be sufficient to prove will.

Closed wills must also be probated. The proceeding being similar to that employed in case of holographic wills. The notary and witnesses before whom testator declared said closed packet to contain his will are examined, if alive, and if not or if not found other witnesses acquainted with testators. On approving will the court orders it filed, after being opened and read with a notary public.

There are no further probate proceedings except in cases of contest.

UNIFORM NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT

Drafted by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws and by it approved and recommended for enactment in all the states at its conference at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and since enacted with modifications in all the states, and territories of the United States.

AN ACT TO MAKE UNIFORM THE LAW OF NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS

TITLE I. Negotiable Instruments in General ARTICLE I. Form and Interpretation.

SECTION 1. [Form of Negotiable Instrument.] An instrument to be negotiable must conform to the following requirements:

- (1) It must be in writing and signed by the maker or drawer;
- (2) Must contain an unconditional promise or order to pay a sum certain in money;
- (3) Must be payable on demand, or at a fixed or determinable future time;
- (4) Must be payable to order or to bearer; and
- (5) Where the instrument is addressed to a drawee, he must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty.

SEC. 2. [Certainty as to Sum; What Constitutes.] The sum payable is a sum certain within the meaning of this act, although it is to be paid:

- (1) With interest; or
- (2) By stated instalments; or
- (3) By stated instalments, with a provision that upon default in payment of any instalment or of interest, the whole shall become due; or
- (4) With exchange, whether at a fixed rate or at the current rate; or
- (5) With costs of collection or an attorney's fee, in case payment shall not be made at maturity.

SEC. 3. [When Promise is Unconditional.] An unqualified order or promise to pay is unconditional within the meaning of this act, though coupled with:

- (1) An indication of a particular fund out of which reimbursement is to be made, or a particular account to be debited with the amount; or
- (2) A statement of the transaction which gives rise to the instrument. But an order or promise to pay out of a particular fund is not unconditional.

SEC. 4. [Determinable Future Time; What Constitutes.] An instrument is payable at a determinable future time, within the meaning of this act, which is expressed to be payable:

- (1) At a fixed period after date or sight; or
- (2) On or before a fixed or determinable future time specified therein; or
- (3) On or at a fixed period after the occurrence of a specified event, which is certain to happen, though the time of happening be uncertain.

An instrument payable upon a contingency is not negotiable, and the happening of the event does not cure the defect.

SEC. 5. [Additional Provisions not Affecting Negotiability.] An instrument which contains an order or promise to do any act in addition to the payment of money is not negotiable. But the negotiable character of an instrument otherwise negotiable is not affected by a provision which:

- (1) Authorizes the sale of collateral securities in case the instrument be not paid at maturity; or
- (2) Authorizes a confession of judgment if the instrument be not paid at maturity; or
- (3) Waives the benefit of any law intended for the advantage or protection of the obligor; or
- (4) Gives the holder an election to require something to be done in lieu of payment of money.

But nothing in this section shall validate any provision or stipulation otherwise illegal.

SEC. 6. [Omissions; Seal; Particular Money.] The validity and negotiable character of an instrument are not affected by the fact that:

- (1) It is not dated; or
- (2) Does not specify the value given, or that any value has been given therefore; or
- (3) Does not specify the place where it is drawn or the place where it is payable; or
- (4) Bears a seal; or
- (5) Designates a particular kind of current money in which payment is to be made.

But nothing in this section shall alter or repeal any statute requiring in certain cases the nature of the consideration to be stated in the instrument.

SEC. 7. [When Payable on Demand.] An instrument is payable on demand:

- (1) Where it is expressed to be payable on demand, or at sight, or on presentation; or
- (2) In which no time for payment is expressed.

Where an instrument is issued, accepted, or indorsed when overdue, it is, as regards the person so issuing, accepting, or indorsing it, payable on demand.

SEC. 8. [When Payable to Order.] The instrument is payable to order where it is drawn payable to the order of a specified person or to him or his order. It may be drawn payable to the order of:

- (1) A payee who is not maker, drawer, or drawee; or
- (2) The drawer or maker; or
- (3) The drawee; or
- (4) Two or more payees jointly; or
- (5) One or some of several payees; or
- (6) The holder of an office for the time being.

Where the instrument is payable to order the payee must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty.

SEC. 9. [When Payable to Bearer.] The instrument is payable to bearer:

- (1) When it is expressed to be so payable; or
- (2) When it is payable to a person named therein or bearer; or
- (3) When it is payable to the order of a fictitious or non-existing person, and such fact was known to the person making it so payable; or
- (4) When the name of the payee does not purport to be the name of any person; or
- (5) When the only or last indorsement is an indorsement in blank.

SEC. 10. [Terms when Sufficient.] The instrument need not follow the language of this act, but any terms are sufficient which clearly indicate an intention to conform to the requirements hereof.

SEC. 11. [Date; Presumption as to.] Where the instrument or an acceptance or any indorsement thereon is dated, such date is deemed prima facie to be the true date of the making, drawing, acceptance, or indorsement as the case may be.

SEC. 12. [Ante-dated and Post-dated.] The instrument is not invalid for the reason only that it is ante-dated or post-dated, provided this is not done for an illegal or fraudulent purpose. The person to whom an instrument so dated is delivered acquires the title thereto as of the date of delivery.

SEC. 13. [When Date may be Inserted.] Where an instrument expressed to be payable at a fixed period after date is issued undated, or where the acceptance of an instrument payable at a fixed period after sight is undated, any holder may insert therein the true date of issue or acceptance, and the instrument shall be payable accordingly. The insertion of a wrong date does not avoid the instrument in the hands of a subsequent holder in due course; but as to him, the date so inserted is to be regarded as the true date.

SEC. 14. [Blanks; When May Be Filled.] Where the instrument is wanting in any material particular, the person in possession thereof has a prima facie authority to complete it by filling up the blanks therein. And a signature on a blank paper delivered by the person making the signature in order that the paper may be converted into a negotiable instrument operates as a prima facie authority to fill it up as such for any amount. In order, however, that any such instrument when completed may be enforced against any person who became a party thereto prior to its completion, it must be filled up strictly in accordance with the authority given and within a reasonable time. But if any such instrument, after completion, is negotiated to a holder in due course, it is valid and effectual for all purposes in his hands, and he may enforce it as if it had been filled up strictly in accordance with the authority given and within a reasonable time.

SEC. 15. [Incomplete Instrument not Delivered.] Where an incomplete instrument has not been delivered it will not, if completed and negotiated, without authority, be a valid contract in the hands of any holder, as against any person whose signature was placed thereon before delivery.

SEC. 16. [Delivery; When Effectual; When Presumed.] Every contract on a negotiable instrument is incomplete and revocable until delivery of the instrument for the purpose of giving effect thereto. As between immediate parties, and as regards a remote party other than a holder in due course, the delivery, in order to be effectual, must be made either by or under the authority of the party making, drawing, accepting or indorsing, as the case may be; and in such case the delivery may be shown to have been conditional, or for a special purpose only, and not for the purpose of transferring the property in the instrument. But where the instrument is in the hands of a holder in due course, a valid delivery thereof by all parties prior to him so as to make them liable to him is conclusively presumed. And where the instrument is no longer in the possession of a party whose signature appears thereon, a valid and intentional delivery by him is presumed until the contrary is proved.

SEC. 17. [Construction where Instrument is Ambiguous.] Where the language of the instrument is ambiguous or there are omissions therein, the following rules of construction apply:

- (1) Where the sum payable is expressed in words and also in figures and there is a discrepancy between the two, the sum denoted by the words is the sum payable; but if the words are ambiguous or uncertain, reference may be had to the figures to fix the amount;
- (2) Where the instrument provides for the payment of interest, without specifying the date from which interest is to run, the interest runs from the date of the instrument, and if the instrument is undated, from the issue thereof;
- (3) Where the instrument is not dated, it will be considered to be dated as of the time it was issued;
- (4) Where there is a conflict between the written and printed provisions of the instrument, the written provisions prevail;
- (5) Where the instrument is so ambiguous that there is doubt whether it is a bill or note, the holder may treat it as either at his election;
- (6) Where a signature is so placed upon the instrument that it is not clear in what capacity the person making the same intended to sign, he is to be deemed an indorser;
- (7) Where an instrument containing the words "I promise to pay" is signed by two or more persons, they are deemed to be jointly and severally liable thereon.

SEC. 18. [Liability of Person Signing in Trade or Assumed Name.] No person is liable on the instrument whose signature does not appear thereon, except as herein otherwise expressly provided. But one who signs in a trade or assumed name will be liable to the same extent as if he had signed in his own name.

SEC. 19. [Signature by Agent, Authority, how Shown.] The signature of any party may be made by a duly authorized agent. No particular form of appointment is necessary for this purpose; and the authority of the agent may be established as in other cases of agency.

SEC. 20. [Liability of Person Signing as Agent, etc.] Where the instrument contains or a person adds to his signature words indicating that he signs for or on behalf of a principal, or in a representative capacity, he is not liable on the instrument if he was duly authorized; but the mere addition of words describing him as an agent, or as filling a representative character, without disclosing his principal does not exempt him from personal liability.

SEC. 21. [Signature by Procuration; Effect of.] A signature by "procuration" operates as notice that the agent has but a limited authority to sign, and the principal is bound only in case the agent in so signing acted within the actual limits of his authority.

SEC. 22. [Effect of Indorsement by Infant or Corporation.] The indorsement or assignment of the instrument by a corporation or by an infant passes the property therein, notwithstanding that from want of capacity the corporation or infant may incur no liability thereon.

SEC. 23. [Forged Signature; Effect of.] When a signature is forged or made without the authority of the person whose signature it purports to be, it is wholly inoperative, and no right to retain the instrument, or to give a discharge therefor, or to enforce payment thereof against any party thereto, can be acquired through or under such signature, unless the party against whom it is sought to enforce such right, is precluded from setting up the forgery or want of authority.

ARTICLE II. Consideration. SEC. 24. [Presumption of Consideration.] Every negotiable instrument is deemed prima facie to have been issued for a valuable consideration; and every person whose signature appears thereon to have become a party thereto for value.

SEC. 25. [Consideration, what Constitutes.] Value is any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract. An antecedent or pre-existing debt constitutes value; and is deemed such whether the instrument is payable on demand or at a future time.

SEC. 26. [What Constitutes Holder for Value.] Where value has at any time been given for the instrument, the holder is deemed a holder for value in respect to all parties who became such prior to that time.

SEC. 27. [When Lien on Instrument Constitutes Holder for Value.] Where the holder has a lien on the instrument, arising either from contract or by implication of law, he is deemed a holder for value to the extent of his lien.

SEC. 28. [Effect of Want of Consideration.] Absence or failure of consideration is matter of defense as against any person not a holder in due course; and partial failure of consideration is a defense pro tanto, whether the failure is an ascertained and liquidated amount or otherwise.

SEC. 29. [Liability of Accommodation Party.] An accommodation party is one who has signed the instrument as maker, drawer, acceptor, or indorser, without receiving value therefor, and for the purpose of lending his name to some other person. Such a person is liable on the instrument to a holder for value, notwithstanding such holder at the time of taking the instrument knew him to be only an accommodation party.

ARTICLE III. Negotiation.

Sec. 30. [What Constitutes Negotiation.] An instrument is negotiated when it is transferred from one person to another in such manner as to constitute the transferee the holder thereof. If payable to bearer it is negotiated by delivery, if payable to order it is negotiated by the indorsement of the holder completed by delivery.

Sec. 31. [Indorsement; How Made.] The indorsement must be written on the instrument itself or upon a paper attached thereto. The signature of the indorser, without additional words, is a sufficient indorsement.

Sec. 32. [Indorsement Must be of Entire Instrument.] The indorsement must be an indorsement of the entire instrument. An indorsement which purports to transfer to the indorsee a part only of the amount payable, or which purports to transfer the instrument to two or more indorsees severally, does not operate as a negotiation of the instrument. But where the instrument has been paid in part, it may be indorsed as to the residue.

Sec. 33. [Kinds of Indorsement.] An indorsement may be either special or in blank; and it may also be either restrictive or qualified, or conditional.

Sec. 34. [Special Indorsement; Indorsement in Blank.] A special indorsement specifies the person to whom, or to whose order, the instrument is to be payable; and the indorsement of such indorsee is necessary to the further negotiation of the instrument. An indorsement in blank specifies no indorsee, and an instrument so indorsed is payable to bearer, and may be negotiated by delivery.

Sec. 35. [Blank Indorsement; How Changed to Special Indorsement.] The holder may convert a blank indorsement into a special indorsement by writing over the signature of the indorser in blank any contract consistent with the character of the indorsement.

Sec. 36. [When Indorsement Restrictive.] An indorsement is restrictive, which either:

- (1) Prohibits the further negotiation of the instrument; or
- (2) Constitutes the indorsee the agent of the indorser; or
- (3) Vests the title in the indorsee in trust for or to the use of some other person.

But the mere absence of words implying power to negotiate does not make an indorsement restrictive.

Sec. 37. [Effect of Restricting Indorsement; Rights of Indorsee.] A restrictive indorsement confers upon the indorsee the right:

- (1) To receive payment of the instrument;
- (2) To bring any action thereon that the indorser could bring;
- (3) To transfer his rights as such indorsee, where the form of the indorsement authorizes him to do so.

But all subsequent indorsees acquire only the title of the first indorsee under the restrictive indorsement.

Sec. 38. [Qualified Indorsement.] A qualified indorsement constitutes the indorser a mere assignor of the title to the instrument. It may be made by adding to the indorser's signature the words "without recourse" or any words of similar import. Such an indorsement does not impair the negotiable character of the instrument.

Sec. 39. [Conditional Indorsement.] Where an indorsement is conditional, a party required to pay the instrument may disregard the condition, and make payment to the indorsee or his transferee, whether the condition has been fulfilled or not. But any person to whom an instrument so indorsed is negotiated, will hold the same, or the proceeds thereof, subject to the rights of the person indorsing conditionally.

Sec. 40. [Indorsement of Instrument Payable to Bearer.] Where an instrument, payable to bearer, is indorsed specially, it may nevertheless be further negotiated by delivery; but the person indorsing specially is liable as indorser to only such holders as make title through his indorsement.

Sec. 41. [Indorsement where Payable to Two or More Persons.] Where an instrument is payable to the order of two or more payees or indorsees who are not partners, all must indorse, unless the one indorsing has authority to indorse for the others.

Sec. 42. [Effect of Instrument Drawn or Indorsed to a Person as Cashier.] Where an instrument is drawn or indorsed to a person as "Cashier" or other fiscal officer of a bank or corporation, it is deemed prima facie to be payable to the bank or corporation of which he is such officer; and may be negotiated by either the indorsement of the bank or corporation, or the indorsement of the officer.

Sec. 43. [Indorsement where Name is Misspelled, etc.] Where the name of a payee or indorsee is wrongly designated or misspelled, he may indorse the instrument as therein described, adding, if he think fit, his proper signature.

Sec. 44. [Indorsement in Representative Capacity.] Where any person is under obligation to indorse in a representative capacity, he may indorse in such terms as to negative personal liability.

Sec. 45. [Time of Indorsement; Presumption.] Except where an indorsement bears date after the maturity of the instrument, every negotiation is deemed prima facie to have been effected before the instrument was overdue.

Sec. 46. [Place of Indorsement; Presumption.] Except where the contrary appears, every indorsement is presumed prima facie to have been made at the place where the instrument is dated.

Sec. 47. [Continuation of Negotiable Character.] An instrument negotiable in its origin continues to be negotiable until it has been restrictively indorsed or discharged by payment or otherwise.

Sec. 48. [Striking Out Indorsement.] The holder may at any time strike out any indorsement which is not necessary to his title. The indorser whose indorsement is struck out and all indorsers subsequent to him, are thereby relieved from liability on the instrument.

Sec. 49. [Transfer Without Indorsement; Effect of.] Where the holder of an instrument payable to his order transfers it for value without indorsing it, the transfer vests in the transferee such title as the transferor had therein, and the transferee acquires, in addition, the right to have the indorsement of the transferor. But for the purpose of determining whether the transferee is a holder in due course, the negotiation takes effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made.

Sec. 50. [When Prior Party may Negotiate Instrument.] Where an instrument is negotiated back to a prior party, such party may, subject to the provisions of this act, reissue and further negotiate the same. But he is not entitled to enforce payment thereof against any intervening party to whom he was personally liable.

ARTICLE IV. Rights of the Holder.

Sec. 51. [Right of Holder to Sue; Payment.] The holder of a negotiable instrument may sue thereon in his own name and payment to him in due course discharges the instrument.

Sec. 52. [What Constitutes a Holder in Due Course.] A holder in due course is a holder who has taken the instrument under the following conditions:

- (1) That it is complete and regular upon its face;
- (2) That he became the holder of it before it was overdue, and without notice that it had been previously dishonored, if such was the fact;
- (3) That he took it in good faith and for value;
- (4) That at the time it was negotiated to him he had no notice of any infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating it.

Sec. 53. [When Person not Deemed Holder in Due Course.] Where an instrument payable on demand is negotiated an unreasonable length of time after its issue, the holder is not deemed a holder in due course.

Sec. 54. [Notice Before Full Amount Paid.] Where the transferee receives notice of any infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating the same before he has paid the full amount agreed to be paid therefor, he will be deemed a holder in due course only to the extent of the amount theretofore paid by him.

Sec. 55. [When Title Defective.] The title of a person who negotiates an instrument is defective within the meaning of this act when he obtained the instrument, or any signature thereto, by fraud, duress, or force and fear, or other unlawful means, or for an illegal consideration, or when he negotiates it in breach of faith, or under such circumstances as amount to a fraud.

Sec. 56. [What Constitutes Notice of Defect.] To constitute notice of an infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating the same, the person to whom it is negotiated must have had actual knowledge of the infirmity or defect, or knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounted to bad faith.

Sec. 57. [Rights of Holder in Due Course.] A holder in due course holds the instrument free from any defect of title of prior parties, and free from defenses available to prior parties among themselves, and may enforce payment of the instrument for the full amount thereof against all parties liable thereon.

Sec. 58. [When Subject to Original Defenses.] In the hands of any holder other than a holder in due course, a negotiable instrument is subject to the same defenses as if it were non-negotiable. But a holder who derives his title through a holder in due course, and who is not himself a party to any fraud or illegality affecting the instrument, has all the rights of such former holder in respect of all parties prior to the latter.

Sec. 59. [Who Deemed Holder in Due Course.] Every holder is deemed prima facie to be a holder in due course; but when it is shown that the title of any person who has negotiated the instrument was defective, the burden is on the holder to prove that he or some person under whom he claims acquired the title as holder in due course. But the last mentioned rule does not apply in favor of a party who became bound on the instrument prior to the acquisition of such defective title.

ARTICLE V. Liabilities of Parties.

Sec. 60. [Liability of Maker.] The maker of a negotiable instrument by making it engages that he will pay it according to its tenor, and admits the existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse.

Sec. 61. [Liability of Drawer.] The drawer by drawing the instrument admits the existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse; and engages that, on due presentment, the instrument will be accepted or paid, or both, according to its tenor, and that if it be dishonored, and the necessary proceedings on dishonor be duly taken, he will pay the amount thereof to the holder, or to any subsequent indorser who may be compelled to pay it. But the drawer may insert in the instrument an express stipulation negating or limiting his own liability to the holder.

Sec. 62. [Liability of Acceptor.] The acceptor by accepting the instrument engages that he will pay it according to the tenor of his acceptance; and admits:

- (1) The existence of the drawer, the genuineness of his signature, and his capacity and authority to draw the instrument; and
- (2) The existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse.

Sec. 63. [When Person Deemed Indorser.] A person placing his signature upon an instrument otherwise than as maker, drawer or acceptor, is deemed to be an indorser, unless he clearly indicates by appropriate words his intention to be bound in some other capacity.

Sec. 64. [Liability of Irregular Indorser.] Where a person not otherwise a party to an instrument, places thereon his signature in blank before delivery he is liable as indorser, in accordance with the following rules:

- (1) If the instrument is payable to the order of a third person, he is liable to the payee and to all subsequent parties.
- (2) If the instrument is payable to the order of the maker or drawer, or is payable to bearer, he is liable to all parties subsequent to the maker or drawer.
- (3) If he signs for the accommodation of the payee, he is liable to all parties subsequent to the payee.

Sec. 65. [Warranty where Negotiation by Delivery, etc.] Every person negotiating an instrument by delivery or by a qualified indorsement, warrants:

- (1) That the instrument is genuine and in all respects what it purports to be;
- (2) That he has a good title to it;
- (3) That all prior parties had capacity to contract;
- (4) That he has no knowledge of any fact which would impair the validity of the instrument or render it valueless.

But when the negotiation is by delivery only, the warranty extends in favor of no holder other than the immediate transferee.

The provisions of subdivision three of this section do not apply to persons negotiating public or corporation securities, other than bills and notes.

Sec. 66. [Liability of General Indorser.] Every indorser who indorses without qualification, warrants to all subsequent holders in due course:

- (1) The matters and things mentioned in subdivisions one, two and three of the next preceding section; and
- (2) That the instrument is at the time of his indorsement valid and subsisting.

And, in addition, he engages that on due presentment, it shall be accepted or paid, or both, as the case may be, according to its tenor, and that if it be dishonored, and the necessary proceedings on dishonor be duly taken, he will pay the amount thereof to the holder, or to any subsequent indorser who may be compelled to pay it.

Sec. 67. [Liability of Indorser where Paper Negotiable by Delivery.] Where a person places his indorsement on an instrument negotiable by delivery he incurs all the liabilities of an indorser.

Sec. 68. [Order in which Indorsers are Liable.] As respects one another, indorsers are liable prima facie in the order in which they indorse; but evidence is admissible to show that as between or among themselves they have agreed otherwise. Joint payees or joint indorsees who indorse are deemed to indorse jointly and severally.

Sec. 69. [Liability of an Agent or Broker.] Where a broker or other agent negotiates an instrument without indorsement he incurs all the liabilities prescribed by section 65 of this act, unless he discloses the name of his principal, and the fact that he is acting only as agent.

ARTICLE VI. Presentment for Payment.

Sec. 70. [Effect of Want of Demand on Principal Debtor.] Presentment for payment is not necessary in order to charge the person primarily liable on the instrument; but if the instrument is, by its terms, payable at a special place, and he is able and willing to pay it there at maturity, such ability and willingness are equivalent to a tender of payment upon his part. But except as herein otherwise provided, presentment for payment is necessary in order to charge the drawer and indorsers.

Sec. 71. [Presentment where Instrument is not Payable on Demand and where Payable on Demand.] Where the instrument is not payable on demand, presentment must be made on the day it falls due. Where it is payable on demand, presentment must be made within a reasonable time after its issue, except that in the case of a bill of exchange, presentment for payment will be sufficient if made within a reasonable time after the last negotiation thereof.

Sec. 72. [What Constitutes a Sufficient Presentment.] Presentment for payment, to be sufficient, must be made:

- (1) By the holder, or by some person authorized to receive payment on his behalf;
- (2) At a reasonable hour on a business day;
- (3) At a proper place as herein defined;
- (4) To the person primarily liable on the instrument or if he is absent or inaccessible, to any person found at the place where the presentment is made.

Sec. 73. [Place of Presentment.] Presentment for payment is made at the proper place:

- (1) Where a place of payment is specified in the instrument and it is there presented;

(2) Where no place of payment is specified, but the address of the person to make payment is given in the instrument and it is there presented;

(3) Where no place of payment is specified and no address is given and the instrument is presented at the usual place of business or residence of the person to make payment;

(4) In any other case if presented to the person to make payment wherever he can be found, or if presented at his last known place of business or residence.

Sec. 74. [Instrument Must be Exhibited.] The instrument must be exhibited to the person from whom payment is demanded, and when it is paid must be delivered up to the party paying it.

Sec. 75. [Presentment Where Instrument Payable at Bank.] Where the instrument is payable at a bank, presentment for payment must be made during banking hours, unless the person to make payment has no funds there to meet it at any time during the day, in which case presentment at any hour before the bank is closed on that day is sufficient.

Sec. 76. [Presentment Where Principal Debtor is Dead.] Where a person primarily liable on the instrument is dead, and no place of payment is specified, presentment for payment must be made to his personal representative if such there be, and if, with the exercise of reasonable diligence, he can be found.

Sec. 77. [Presentment to Persons Liable as Partners.] Where the persons primarily liable on the instrument are liable as partners and no place of payment is specified, presentment for payment may be made to any one of them, even though there has been a dissolution of the firm.

Sec. 78. [Presentment to Joint Debtors.] Where there are several persons, not partners, primarily liable on the instrument and no place of payment is specified, presentment must be made to them all.

Sec. 79. [When Presentment Not Required to Charge the Drawer.] Presentment for payment is not required in order to charge the drawer where he has no right to expect or require that the drawee or acceptor will pay the instrument.

Sec. 80. [When Presentment Not Required to Charge the Indorser.] Presentment for payment is not required in order to charge an indorser where the instrument was made or accepted for his accommodation and he has no reason to expect that the instrument will be paid if presented.

Sec. 81. [When Delay in Making Presentment is Excused.] Delay in making presentment for payment is excused when the delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the holder, and not imputable to his default, misconduct or negligence. When the cause of delay ceases to operate, presentment must be made with reasonable diligence.

Sec. 82. [When Presentment May be Dispensed With.] Presentment for payment is dispensed with:

- (1) Where after the exercise of reasonable diligence presentment as required by this act cannot be made;
- (2) Where the drawee is a fictitious person;
- (3) By waiver of presentment, express or implied.

Sec. 83. [When Instrument Dishonored by Non-Payment.] The instrument is dishonored by non-payment when:

- (1) It is duly presented for payment and payment is refused or cannot be obtained; or
- (2) Presentment is excused and the instrument is overdue and unpaid.

Sec. 84. [Liability of Person Secondarily Liable, When Instrument Dishonored.] Subject to the provisions of this act, when the instrument is dishonored by non-payment, and immediate right of recourse to all parties secondarily liable thereon accrues to the holder.

Sec. 85. [Time of Maturity.] Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein without grace. When the day of maturity falls upon a Sunday, or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Instruments falling due (or becoming payable) on Saturday are to be presented for payment on the next succeeding business day, except that instruments payable on demand may, at the option of the holder be presented for payment before twelve o'clock noon on Saturday when that entire day is not a holiday.

"The words in brackets [or becoming payable] have been inserted for the sake of clearness. They are found in the New York, Missouri and Virginia acts. This section having twice used the word 'payable' then uses the words 'falling due.' This has raised doubts in the minds of some where Friday is a legal holiday and paper matures on Friday. These words are inserted to remove any possible doubt. In Crawford on Negotiable Instruments (3d ed. 1908), 110-1, it is argued that there is no doubt as to it is unnecessary to insert these words. Properly interpreted, there is no necessity for inserting these words, but as legislation is cheaper than litigation, it is thought wise for those states which have not yet enacted this act to insert these words."

Sec. 86. [Time; How Computed.] Where the instrument is payable at a fixed period after date, after sight, or after the happening of a specified event, the time of payment is determined by excluding the day from which the time is to begin to run, and by including the date of payment.

Sec. 87. [Rule Where Instrument Payable at Bank.] Where the instrument is made payable at a bank it is equivalent to an order to the bank to pay the same for the account of the principal debtor thereon.

Sec. 88. [What Constituted Payment in Due Course.] Payment is made in due course when it is made at or after the maturity of the instrument to the holder thereof in good faith and without notice that his title is defective.

ARTICLE VII. Notice of Dishonor.

Sec. 89. [To Whom Notice of Dishonor Must be Given.] Except as herein otherwise provided, when a negotiable instrument has been dishonored by non-acceptance or non-payment, notice of dishonor must be given to the drawer and to each indorser, and any drawer or indorser to whom such notice is not given is discharged.

Sec. 90. [By Whom Given.] The notice may be given by or on behalf of the holder, or by or on behalf of any party to the instrument who might be compelled to pay it to the holder, and who upon taking it up would have a right to reimbursement from the party to whom the notice is given.

Sec. 91. [Notice Given by Agent.] Notice of dishonor may be given by an agent either in his own name or in the name of any party entitled to give notice, whether that party be his principal or not.

Sec. 92. [Effect of Notice Given on Behalf of Holder.] Where notice is given by or on behalf of the holder, it enures for the benefit of all subsequent holders and all prior parties who have a right of recourse against the party to whom it is given.

Sec. 93. [Effect Where Notice is Given by Party Entitled Thereto.] Where notice is given by or on behalf of a party entitled to give notice, it enures for the benefit of the holder and all parties subsequent to the party to whom notice is given.

Sec. 94. [When Agent May Give Notice.] Where the instrument has been dishonored in the hands of an agent, he may either himself give notice to the parties liable thereon, or he may give notice to his principal. If he give notice to his principal, he must do so within the same time as if he were the holder, and the principal, upon the receipt of such notice, has himself the same time for giving notice as if the agent had been an independent holder.

Sec. 95. [When Notice Sufficient.] A written notice need not be signed, and an insufficient written notice may be supplemented and validated by verbal communication. A misdescription of the instrument does not vitiate the notice unless the party to whom the notice is given is in fact misled thereby.

Sec. 96. [Form of Notice.] The notice may be in writing or merely oral and may be given in any terms which sufficiently identify the instrument, and indicate that it has been dishonored by non-acceptance or non-payment. It may in all cases be given by delivering it personally or through the mails.

Sec. 97. [To Whom Notice May be Given.] Notice of dishonor may be given either to the party himself or to his agent in that behalf.

Sec. 98. [Notice Where Party is Dead.] When any party is dead, and his death is known to the party giving notice, the notice must be given to a personal representative, if there be one, and if with reasonable diligence he can be found. If there be no personal representative, notice may be sent to the last residence or last place of business of the deceased.

Sec. 99. [Notice to Partners.] Where the parties to be notified are partners, notice to any one partner is notice to the firm even though there has been a dissolution.

Sec. 100. [Notice to Persons Jointly Liable.] Notice to joint parties who are not partners must be given to each of them, unless one of them has authority to receive such notice for the others.

Sec. 101. [Notice to Bankrupt.] Where a party has been adjudged a bankrupt or an insolvent, or has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, notice may be given either to the party himself or to his trustee or assignee.

Sec. 102. [Time Within Which Notice Must be Given.] Notice may be given as soon as the instrument is dishonored; and unless delay is excused as hereinafter provided, must be given within the times fixed by this act.

Sec. 103. [Where Parties Reside in Same Place.] Where the person giving and the person to receive notice reside in the same place, notice must be given within the following times:

- (1) If given at the place of business of the person to receive notice, it must be given before the close of business hours on the day following.
- (2) If given at his residence, it must be given before the usual hours of rest on the day following.
- (3) If sent by mail, it must be deposited in the postoffice in time to reach him in usual course on the day following.

Sec. 104. [Where Parties Reside in Different Places.] Where the person giving and the person to receive notice reside in different places, the notice must be given within the following times:

- (1) If sent by mail, it must be deposited in the postoffice in time to go by mail the day following the day of dishonor, or if there be no mail at a convenient hour on that day, by the next mail thereafter.
- (2) If given otherwise than through the postoffice, then within the time that notice would have been received in due course of mail, if it had been deposited in the postoffice within the time specified in the last subdivision.

Sec. 105. [When Sender Deemed to Have Given Due Notice.] Where notice of dishonor is duly addressed and deposited in the postoffice, the sender is deemed to have given due notice, notwithstanding any miscarriage in the mails.

Sec. 106. [Deposit in Postoffice; What Constitutes.] Notice is deemed to have been deposited in the postoffice when deposited in any branch postoffice or in any letter box under the control of the postoffice department.

Sec. 107. [Notice to Subsequent Party; Time of.] Where a party receives notice of dishonor, he has, after the receipt of such notice, the same time for giving notice to antecedent parties that the holder has after the dishonor.

Sec. 108. [Where Notice Must Be Sent.] Where a party has added an address to his signature, notice of dishonor must be sent to that address, but if he has not given such address, then the notice must be sent as follows:

- (1) Either to the postoffice nearest to his place of residence, or to the postoffice where he is accustomed to receive his letters; or
- (2) If he live in one place, and have his place of business in another, notice may be sent to either place; or
- (3) If he is sojourning in another place, notice may be sent to the place where he is so sojourning.

But where the notice is actually received by the party within the time specified in this act, it will be sufficient, though not sent in accordance with the requirements of this section.

Sec. 109. [Waiver of Notice.] Notice of dishonor may be waived, either before the time of giving notice has arrived, or after the omission to give due notice, and the waiver may be express or implied.

Sec. 110. [Whom Affected by Waiver.] Where the waiver is embodied in the instrument itself, it is binding upon all parties; but where it is written above the signature of an indorser, it binds him only.

Sec. 111. [Waiver of Protest.] A waiver of protest, whether in the case of a foreign bill of exchange or other negotiable instrument, is deemed to be a waiver not only of a formal protest, but also of presentment and notice of dishonor.

Sec. 112. [When Notice is Dispensed With.] Notice of dishonor is dispensed with when, after the exercise of reasonable diligence, it cannot be given to or does not reach the parties sought to be charged.

Sec. 113. [Delay in Giving Notice; How Excused.] Delay in giving notice of dishonor is excused when the delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the holder, and not imputable to his default, misconduct or negligence. When the cause of delay ceases to operate, notice must be given with reasonable diligence.

Sec. 114. [When Notice Need Not be Given to Drawer.] Notice of dishonor is not required to be given to the drawer in either of the following cases:

- (1) Where the drawer and drawee are the same person;
- (2) When the drawee is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract;
- (3) When the drawer is the person to whom the instrument is presented for payment;
- (4) Where the drawer has no right to expect or require that the drawee or acceptor will honor the instrument;
- (5) Where the drawer has countermanded payment.

Sec. 115. [When Notice Need Not be Given to Indorser.] Notice of dishonor is not required to be given to an indorser in either of the following cases:

- (1) Where the drawee is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract, and the indorser was aware of the fact at the time he indorsed the instrument;
- (2) Where the indorser is the person to whom the instrument is presented for payment;
- (3) Where the instrument was made or accepted for his accommodation.

Sec. 116. [Notice of Non Payment Where Acceptance Refused.] Where due notice of dishonor by non-acceptance has been given notice of a subsequent dishonor by non-payment is not necessary, unless in the meantime the instrument has been accepted.

Sec. 117. [Effect of Omission to Give Notice of Non-Acceptance.] An omission to give notice of dishonor by non-acceptance does not prejudice the rights of a holder in due course subsequent to the omission.

Sec. 118. [When Protest Need Not be Made; When Must be Made.] Where any negotiable instrument has been dishonored it may be protested for non-acceptance or non-payment, as the case may be; but protest is not required except in the case of foreign bills of exchange.

ARTICLE VIII. Discharge of Negotiable Instruments

Sec. 119. [Instrument How Discharged.] A negotiable instrument is discharged:

- (1) By payment in due course by or on behalf of the principal debtor;
- (2) By payment in due course by the party accommodated, where the instrument is made or accepted for accommodation;
- (3) By the intentional cancellation thereof by the holder;
- (4) By any other act which will discharge a simple contract for the payment of money;

(5) When the principal debtor becomes the holder of the instrument at or after maturity in his own right.

Sec. 120. [When Persons Secondly Liable on; Discharged.] A person secondarily liable on the instrument is discharged:

- (1) By any act which discharges the instrument;
- (2) By the intentional cancellation of his signature by the holder;
- (3) By the discharge of a prior party;
- (4) By a valid tender of payment made by a prior party;
- (5) By a release of the principal debtor, unless the holder's right of recourse against the party secondarily liable is expressly reserved;
- (6) By any agreement binding upon the holder to extend the time of payment, or to postpone the holder's right to enforce the instrument, unless made with the assent of the party secondarily liable, or unless the right of recourse against such party is expressly reserved.

Sec. 121. [Right of Party Who Discharges Instrument.] Where the instrument is paid by a party secondarily liable thereon, it is not discharged; but the party so paying it is remitted to his former rights as regards all prior parties, and he may strike out his own and all subsequent indorsements, and again negotiate the instrument, except:

(1) Where it is payable to the order of a third person, and has been paid by the drawer; and

(2) Where it was made or accepted for accommodation, and has been paid by the party accommodated.

Sec. 122. [Renunciation by Holder.] The holder may expressly renounce his rights against any party to the instrument, before, at or after its maturity. An absolute and unconditional renunciation of his rights against the principal debtor made at or after the maturity of the instrument discharges the instrument. But a renunciation does not affect the rights of a holder in due course without notice. A renunciation must be in writing, unless the instrument is delivered up to the person primarily liable thereon.

Sec. 123. [Cancellation; Unintentional; Burden of Proof.] A cancellation made unintentionally, or under a mistake or without the authority of the holder, is inoperative; but where an instrument or any signature thereon appears to have been cancelled the burden of proof lies on the party who alleges that the cancellation was made unintentionally, or under a mistake or without authority.

Sec. 124. [Alteration of Instrument; Effect of.] Where a negotiable instrument is materially altered without the assent of all parties liable thereon, it is avoided, except as against a party who has himself made, authorized or assented to the alteration, and subsequent indorsers.

But when an instrument has been materially altered and is in the hands of a holder in due course not a party to the alteration, he may enforce payment thereof according to its original tenor.

Sec. 125. [What Constitutes a Material Alteration.] Any alteration which changes:

- (1) The date;
- (2) The sum payable, either for principal or interest;
- (3) The time or place of payment;
- (4) The number or the relations of the parties;
- (5) The medium or currency in which payment is to be made, or which adds a place of payment where no place of payment is specified, or any other change or addition which alters the effect of the instrument in any respect, is a material alteration.

TITLE II. Bills of Exchange.

ARTICLE I. Form and Interpretation.

Sec. 126. [Bill of Exchange Defined.] A bill of exchange is an unconditional order in writing addressed by one person to another, signed by the person giving it, requiring the person to whom it is addressed to pay on demand or at a fixed or determinable future time a sum certain in money to order or to bearer.

Sec. 127. [Bill Not an Assignment of Funds in Hands of Drawee.] A bill of itself does not operate as an assignment of the funds in the hands of the drawee available for the payment thereof, and the drawee is not liable on the bill unless and until he accepts the same.

Sec. 128. [Bill Addressed to More than One Drawee.] A bill may be addressed to two or more drawees jointly, whether they are partners or not; but not to two or more drawees in the alternative or in succession.

Sec. 129. [Inland and Foreign Bills of Exchange.] An inland bill of exchange is a bill which is, or on its face purports to be, both drawn and payable within this State. Any other bill is a foreign bill. Unless the contrary appears on the face of the bill, the holder may treat it as an inland bill.

Sec. 130. [When Bill May Be Treated as Promissory Note.] Where in a bill drawer and drawee are the same person, or where the drawee is a fictitious person, or a person not having capacity to contract, the holder may treat the instrument, at his option, either as a bill of exchange or a promissory note.

Sec. 131. [Referee in Case of Need.] The drawer of a bill and any indorser may insert thereon the name of a person to whom the holder may resort in case of need, that is to say in case the bill is dishonored by non-acceptance or non-payment. Such person is called the referee in case of need. It is in the option of the holder to resort to the referee in case of need or not as he may see fit.

ARTICLE II. Acceptance.

Sec. 132. [Acceptance; How Made, etc.] The acceptance of a bill is the signification by the drawee of his assent to the order of the drawer. The acceptance must be in writing and signed by the drawee. It must not express that the drawee will perform his promise by any other means than the payment of money.

Sec. 133. [Holder Entitled to Acceptance on Face of Bill.] The holder of a bill presenting the same for acceptance may require that the acceptance be written on the bill and, if such request is refused, may treat the bill as dishonored.

Sec. 134. [Acceptance by Separate Instrument.] Where an acceptance is written on a paper other than the bill itself, it does not bind the acceptor except in favor of a person to whom it is shown and who, on the faith thereof, receives the bill for value.

Sec. 135. [Promise to Accept; When Equivalent to Acceptance.] An unconditional promise in writing to accept a bill before it is drawn is deemed an actual acceptance in favor of every person who upon the faith thereof, receives the bill for value.

Sec. 136. [Time Allowed Drawee to Accept.] The drawee is allowed twenty-four hours after presentation, in which to decide whether or not he will accept the bill, but the acceptance if given, dates as of the day of presentation.

Sec. 137. [Liability of Drawee Retaining or Destroying Bill.] Where a drawee to whom a bill is delivered for acceptance destroys the same, or refuses within twenty-four hours after such delivery, or within such other period as the holder may allow, to return the bill accepted or non-accepted to the holder, he will be deemed to have accepted the same.

Sec. 138. [Acceptance of Incomplete Bill.] A bill may be accepted before it has been signed by the drawer, or while otherwise incomplete, or when it is overdue, or after it has been dishonored by a previous refusal to accept, or by non-payment. But when a bill payable after sight is dishonored by non-acceptance, and the drawee subsequently accepts it, the holder in the absence of any different agreement, is entitled to have the bill accepted as of the date of the first presentation.

Sec. 139. [Kinds of Acceptances.] An acceptance is either general or qualified. A general acceptance assents without qualification to the order of the drawer. A qualified acceptance in express terms varies the effect of the bill as drawn.

Sec. 140. [What Constitutes a General Acceptance.] An acceptance to pay at a particular place is a general acceptance, unless it expressly states that the bill is to be paid there only and not elsewhere.

Sec. 141. [Qualified Acceptance.] An acceptance is qualified, which is:

(1) Conditional, that is to say, which makes payment by the acceptor dependent on the fulfillment of a condition therein stated;

(2) Partial, that is to say, an acceptance to pay part only of the amount for which the bill is drawn;

(3) Local, that is to say, an acceptance to pay only at a particular place;

(4) Qualified as to time;

(5) The acceptance of some one or more of the drawees, but not of all.

Sec. 142. [Rights of Parties as to Qualified Acceptance.] The holder may refuse to take a qualified acceptance, and if he does not obtain an unqualified acceptance, he may treat the bill as dishonored by non-acceptance. Where a qualified acceptance is taken the drawer and indorsers are discharged from liability on the bill, unless they have expressly or impliedly authorized the holder to take a qualified acceptance, or subsequently assent thereto. When the drawer or an indorser receives notice of a qualified acceptance, he must, within a reasonable time, express his dissent to the holder, or he will be deemed to have assented thereto.

ARTICLE III. Presentment for Acceptance.

Sec. 143. [When Presentment for Acceptance Must be Made.] Presentment for acceptance must be made:

(1) Where the bill is payable after sight, or in any other case, where presentment for acceptance is necessary in order to fix the maturity of the instrument; or

(2) Where the bill expressly stipulates that it shall be presented for acceptance; or

(3) Where the bill is drawn payable elsewhere than at the residence or place of business of the drawee.

In no other case is presentment for acceptance necessary in order to render any party to the bill liable.

Sec. 144. [When Failure to Present Releases Drawer and Indorser.] Except as herein otherwise provided, the holder of a bill which is required by the next preceding section to be presented for acceptance must either present it for acceptance or negotiate it within a reasonable time. If he fails to do so, the drawer and all indorsers are discharged.

Sec. 145. [Presentment; How Made.] Presentment for acceptance must be made by or on behalf of the holder at a reasonable hour, on a business day and before the bill is overdue, to the drawee or some person authorized to accept or refuse acceptance on his behalf; and:

(1) Where a bill is addressed to two or more drawees who are not partners, presentment must be made to them all, unless one has authority to accept or refuse acceptance for all, in which case presentment may be made to him only;

(2) Where the drawee is dead, presentment may be made to his personal representative;

(3) Where the drawee has been adjudged a bankrupt or an insolvent or has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, presentment may be made to him or to his trustee or assignee.

Sec. 146. [On What Days Presentment May be Made.] A bill may be presented for acceptance on any day on which negotiable instruments may be presented for payment under the provisions of sections 72 and 85 of this act. When Saturday if not otherwise a holiday, presentment for acceptance may be made before twelve o'clock, noon, on that day.

Sec. 147. [Presentment Where Time Is Insufficient.] Where the holder of a bill drawn payable elsewhere than at the place of business or the residence of the drawee has not time with the exercise of reasonable diligence to present the bill for acceptance before presenting it for payment on the day that it falls due, the delay caused by presenting the bill for acceptance before presenting it for payment is excused and does not discharge the drawers and indorsers.

Sec. 148. [Where Presentment is Excused.] Presentment for acceptance is excused and a bill may be treated as dishonored by non-acceptance, in either of the following cases:

(1) Where the drawee is dead, or has absconded, or is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract by bill.

(2) Where, after the exercise of reasonable diligence, presentment cannot be made.

(3) Where, although presentment has been irregular, acceptance has been refused on some other ground.

Sec. 149. [When Dishonored by Non-Acceptance.] A bill is dishonored by non-acceptance:

(1) When it is duly presented for acceptance and such an acceptance as is prescribed by this act is refused or cannot be obtained; or

(2) When presentment for acceptance is excused and the bill is not accepted.

Sec. 150. [Duty of Holder Where Bill Not Accepted.] Where a bill is duly presented for acceptance and is not accepted within the prescribed time, the person presenting it must treat the bill as dishonored by non-acceptance or he loses the right of recourse against the drawer and indorsers.

Sec. 151. [Rights of Holder Where Bill Not Accepted.] When a bill is dishonored by non-acceptance, an immediate right of recourse against the drawers and indorsers accrues to the holder and no presentment for payment is necessary.

ARTICLE IV. Protest.

Sec. 152. [In What Cases Protest Necessary.] Where a foreign bill appearing on its face to be such is dishonored by non-acceptance, it must be duly protested for non-acceptance, and where such a bill which has not previously been dishonored by non-acceptance is dishonored by non-payment, it must be duly protested for non-payment. If it is not so protested, the drawer and indorsers are discharged. Where a bill does not appear on its face to be a foreign bill, protest thereof in case of dishonor is unnecessary.

Sec. 153. [Protest; How Made.] The protest must be annexed to the bill, or must contain a copy thereof and must be under the hand and seal of the notary making it, and must specify:

(1) The time and place of presentment;

(2) The fact that presentment was made and the manner thereof;

(3) The cause or reason for protesting the bill;

(4) The demand made and the answer given, if any, or the fact that the drawee or acceptor could not be found.

Sec. 154. [Protest; By Whom Made.] Protest may be made by

(1) A notary public; or

(2) By any respectable resident of the place where the bill is dishonored, in the presence of two or more credible witnesses.

Sec. 155. [Protest; When to be Made.] When a bill is protested, such protest must be made on the day of its dishonor, unless delay is excused as herein provided. When a bill has been duly noted, the protest may be subsequently extended as of the date of the noting.

Sec. 156. [Protest; Where Made.] A bill must be protested at the place where it is dishonored, except that when a bill drawn payable at the place of business, or residence of some person other than the drawee, has been dishonored by non-acceptance, it must be protested for non-payment at the place where it is expressed to be payable, and no further presentment for payment to or demand on, the drawee is necessary.

Sec. 157. [Protest Both for Non-Acceptance and Non-Payment.] A bill which has been protested for non-acceptance may be subsequently protested for non-payment.

Sec. 158. [Protest Before Maturity where Acceptor Insolvent.] Where the acceptor has been adjudged a bankrupt or an insolvent, or has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, before the bill matures, the holder may cause the bill to be protested for better security against the drawer and indorsers.

Sec. 159. [When Protest Dispensed With.] Protest is dispensed with by any circumstances which would dispense with notice of dishonor. Delay in noting or protesting is excused when delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the holder and not imputable to his default, misconduct or negligence. When the cause of delay ceases to operate, the bill must be noted or protested with reasonable diligence.

Sec. 160. [Protest Where Bill is Lost, etc.] When a bill is lost or destroyed or is wrongly detained from the person entitled to hold it, protest may be made on a copy or written particulars thereof.

ARTICLE V. Acceptance for Honor.

Sec. 161. [When Bill May be Accepted for Honor.] Where a bill of exchange has been protested for dishonor by non-acceptance or protested for better security, and is not overdue, any person not being a party already liable thereon may, with the consent of the holder, intervene and accept the bill supra protest for the honor of any party liable thereon, or for the honor of the person for whose account the bill is drawn. The acceptance for honor may be for the part only of the sum for which the bill is drawn; and where there has been an acceptance for honor for one party, there may be a further acceptance by a different person for the honor of another party.

Sec. 162. [Acceptance for Honor; How Made.] An acceptance for honor supra protest must be in writing, and indicate that it is an acceptance for honor, and must be signed by the acceptor for honor.

Sec. 163. [When Deemed to be an Acceptance for Honor of the Drawer.] Where an acceptance for honor does not expressly state for whose honor it is made, it is deemed to be an acceptance for the honor of the drawer.

Sec. 164. [Liability of the Acceptor for Honor.] The acceptor for honor is liable to the holder and to all parties to the bill subsequent to the party for whose honor he has accepted.

Sec. 165. [Agreement of Acceptor for Honor.] The acceptor for honor, by such acceptance engages that he will on due presentment pay the bill according to the terms of his acceptance, provided it shall not have been paid by the drawee, and provided also, that it shall have been duly presented for payment and protested for non-payment and notice of dishonor given him.

Sec. 166. [Maturity of Bill Payable After Sight; Accepted for Honor.] Where a bill payable after sight is accepted for honor, its maturity is calculated from the date of the noting for non-acceptance and not from the date of the acceptance for honor.

Sec. 167. [Protest of Bill Accepted for Honor, etc.] Where a dishonored bill has been accepted for honor supra protest or contains a reference in case of need, it must be protested for non-payment before it is presented for payment to the acceptor for honor or referee in case of need.

Sec. 168. [Presentment for Payment to Acceptor for Honor; How Made.] Presentment for payment to the acceptor for honor must be made as follows:

(1) If it is to be presented in the place where the protest for non-payment was made, it must be presented not later than the day following its maturity.

(2) If it is to be presented, in some other place than the place where it was protested, then it must be forwarded within the time specified in section one hundred and four.

Sec. 169. [When Delay in Making Presentment is Excused.] The provisions of section eighty-one apply where there is delay in making presentment to the acceptor for honor or referee in case of need.

Sec. 170. [Dishonor of Bill by Acceptor for Honor.] When the bill is dishonored by the acceptor for honor it must be protested for non-payment by him.

ARTICLE VI. Payment for Honor.

Sec. 171. [Who May Make Payment for Honor.] Where a bill has been protested for non-payment, any person may intervene and pay it supra protest for the honor of any person liable thereon or for the honor of the person for whose account it was drawn.

Sec. 172. [Payment for Honor; How Made.] The payment for honor supra protest in order to operate as such and not as a mere voluntary payment must be attested by a notarial act of honor which may be appended to the protest or form an extension to it.

Sec. 173. [Declaration Before Payment for Honor.] The notarial act of honor must be founded on a declaration made by the payer for honor or by his agent in that behalf declaring his intention to pay the bill for honor and for whose honor he pays.

Sec. 174. [Preference of Parties Offering to Pay for Honor.] Where two or more persons offer to pay a bill for the honor of different parties, the person whose payment will discharge most parties to the bill is to be given the preference.

Sec. 175. [Effect on Subsequent Parties Where Bill is Paid for Honor.] Where a bill has been paid for honor, all parties subsequent to the party for whose honor it is paid are discharged, but the payer for honor is subrogated for, and succeeds to, both the rights and duties of the holder as regards the party for whose honor he pays and all parties liable to the latter.

Sec. 176. [Where Holder Refuses to Receive Payment Supra Protest.] Where the holder of a bill refuses to receive payment supra protest, he loses his right of recourse against any party who would have been discharged by such payment.

Sec. 177. [Rights of Payer for Honor.] The payer for honor, on paying to the holder the amount of the bill and the notarial expenses incidental to its dishonor, is entitled to receive both the bill itself and the protest.

ARTICLE VII. Bills in a Set.

Sec. 178. [Bills in Sets Constitute One Bill.] Where a bill is drawn in a set, each part of the set being numbered and containing a reference to the other parts, the whole of the parts constitutes one bill.

Sec. 179. [Right of Holders Where Different Parts are Negotiated.] Where two or more parts of a set are negotiated to different holders in due course, the holder whose title first accrues is as between such holders the true owner of the bill. But nothing in this section affects the rights of a person who in due course accepts or pays the part first presented to him.

Sec. 180. [Liability of Holder who Indorses Two or More Parts of a Set to Different Persons.] Where the holder of a set indorses two or more parts to different persons he is liable on every such part, and every indorser subsequent to him is liable on the part he has himself indorsed, as if such parts were separate bills.

Sec. 181. [Acceptance of Bills Drawn in Sets.] The acceptance may be written on any part and it must be written on one part only. If the drawee accepts more than one part, and such accepted parts are negotiated to different holders in due course, he is liable on every such part as if it were a separate bill.

Sec. 182. [Payment by Acceptor of Bills Drawn in Sets.] When the acceptor of a bill drawn in a set pays it without requiring the part bearing his acceptance to be delivered up to him, and that part at maturity is outstanding in the hands of a holder in due course, he is liable to the holder thereon.

Sec. 183. [Effect of Discharging One of a Set.] Except as herein otherwise provided where any one part of a bill drawn in a set is discharged by payment or otherwise the whole bill is discharged.

TITLE III. Promissory Notes and Checks.

ARTICLE I.

Sec. 184. [Promissory Note Defined.] A negotiable promissory note within the meaning of this act is an unconditional promise in writing made by one person to another signed by the maker engaging to pay on demand, or at a fixed or determinable future time, a sum certain in money to order or to bearer. Where a note is drawn to the maker's own order, it is not complete until indorsed by him.

Sec. 185. [Check Defined.] A check is a bill of exchange drawn on a bank payable on demand. Except as herein otherwise provided, the provisions of this act applicable to a bill of exchange payable on demand apply to a check.

Sec. 186. [Within what Time a Check Must Be Presented.] A check must be presented for payment within a reasonable time after its issue or the drawer will be discharged from liability thereon to the extent of the loss caused by the delay.

Sec. 187. [Certification of Check; Effect of.] Where a check is certified by the bank on which it is drawn, the certification is equivalent to an acceptance.

Sec. 188. [Effect Where the Holder of Check Procures It to be Certified.] Where the holder of a check procures it to be accepted or certified the drawer and all indorsers are discharged from liability thereon.

Sec. 189. [When Check Operates as an Assignment.] A check of itself does not operate as an assignment of any part of the funds to the credit of the drawer with the bank, and the bank is not liable to the holder, unless and until it accepts or certifies the check.

TITLE IV. General Provisions.

ARTICLE I.

Sec. 190. [Short Title.] This act may be cited as the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act.

Section 190 as originally drafted reads "This act shall be known as the Negotiable Instruments Law." In order to bring the language of this section into harmony with the language of the Uniform Sales Act (section 79), the Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act (section 62), the Uniform Transfer of Stock Act (section 26), and the Uniform Bills of Lading Act (section 57), the language has been slightly changed.

The Uniform Sales Act (section 74), the Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act (section 57), the Uniform Transfer of Stock Act (section 19) and the Uniform Bills of Lading Act (section 52) provide that: "This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to affectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it." While the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Act does not contain this section, yet the courts have interpreted it in harmony with the principles of this section. Rockfield vs. First National Bank of Springfield, 77 Ohio St. 311; Downey vs. O'Keefe, 26 R. I. 571; Thorpe vs. White, 188 Mass. 333; Toole vs. Crafts, 193 Mass. 110; Gibbs vs. Guaraglia (N. J.), 67 Atlantic Rep. 81; Baumeister vs. Kuntz (Fla.), 42 South Rep. 886; Farquahar Co. vs. Higham (N. D.), 112 N. W. Rep. 557; Vander Ploeg vs. Van Zunk (Iowa), 112 N. W. 807; in Rockfield vs. First National Bank, supra, Mr. Justice Spear said (pp. 329-331): "It is so much a matter of common knowledge as to make it proper to take judicial notice of the fact, that the act herein considered was enacted because of an effort on the part of the Bar of many, if not all of the states of the union, to bring about a uniform system of law respecting negotiable instruments. . . . That this purpose was prominent in the minds of the members of our General Assembly in the enactment of the Ohio act is shown by the title of the act itself which: 'An act to establish a law uniform with the laws of other states on negotiable instruments.' The desirability of such legislation had been long felt by commercial people of our state as well as by the judiciary and the Bar at large. . . . The purpose of the act is to bring Ohio into harmony with the other states of the union on so important a branch of the law as the relation of parties to commercial paper."

Cicero (in De Re Publica) said: "Nec erit alia lex Romae, alia Athenis, alia nunc, alia posthac; sed et omnis gentis, et omni tempore, una lex, et sempiterna et immutabilis continebit." (Cicero, De Re Publica, III, 28-33; Tauchnitz, Leipzig, 1865, p. 214.) The principle, announced by Cicero was adopted by Lord Mansfield in Luke vs. Lyde, 2 Burr. 883, 887 and embodied in our system of American Jurisprudence by Mr. Justice Story in Swift vs. Tyson (1842), 16 Peters 1, at pp. 19-20. The rule thus laid down is a fundamental one for the interpretation of the law merchant whether unwritten or embodied in a statute.

Sec. 191. [Definitions and Meaning of Terms.] In this act, unless the context otherwise requires:

"Acceptance" means an acceptance completed by delivery or notification.

"Action" includes counterclaim and set off.

"Bank" includes any person or association of persons carrying on the business of banking, whether incorporated or not.

"Bearer" means the person in possession of a bill or note which is payable to bearer.

"Bill" means bill of exchange, and "note" means negotiable promissory note.

"Delivery" means transfer of possession, actual or constructive from one person to another.

"Holder" means the payee or indorsee of a bill or note, who is in possession of it, or the bearer thereof.

"Indorsement" means an indorsement completed by delivery.

"Instrument" means negotiable instrument.

"Issue" means the first delivery of the instrument, complete in form, to a person who takes it as a holder.

"Person" includes a body of persons, whether incorporated or not.

"Value" means valuable consideration.

"Written" includes printed, and "writing" includes print.

Sec. 192. [Person Primarily Liable on Instrument.] The person "primarily" liable on an instrument is the person who by the terms of the instrument is absolutely required to pay the same. All other parties are "secondarily" liable.

Sec. 193. [Reasonable Time, what Constitutes.] In determining what is a "reasonable time" or an "unreasonable time," regard is to be had to the nature of the instrument, the usage of trade or business (if any) with respect to such instruments, and the facts of the particular case.

Sec. 194. [Time, How Computed; When Last Day Falls on Holiday.] Where the day, or the last day, for doing any act herein required or permitted to be done falls on Sunday or on a holiday, the act may be done on the next succeeding secular or business day.

Sec. 195. [Application of Act.] The provisions of this act do not apply to negotiable instruments made and delivered prior to the [taking effect] hereof.

Section 195 as drafted uses the word "passage." The words in brackets [taking effect] have been inserted in place of the word "passage." The reason for the change is, that the uniform acts usually provide that they shall take effect at some date in the future. In such cases confusion would arise as to the status of commercial paper issued between the passage of the act and taking effect of the act. To avoid litigation it is suggested that this section be enacted with the above change.

Sec. 196. [Cases Not Provided For in Act.] In any case not provided for in this act the rules of [law and equity including] the law merchant shall govern.

Section 196 as drafted reads: "In any case not provided for in this act the rules of the law merchant shall govern." The words in brackets [law and equity including] were inserted to bring this section into harmony with the Uniform Sales Act (section 73), the Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act (section 56), the Uniform Transfer of Stock Act (section 18) and the Uniform Bills of Lading Act (section 51). The object of sections, such as these, is to clearly point out that no one of these acts pretend to be a complete codification of the whole law upon each topic but that there are cases not provided for in each of these acts. Another purpose is to leave room for the growth of new usages and customs so that none of these acts should put the law merchant in a straight jacket and thus prevent the further expansion of the law merchant.

Sec. 197. [Repeals.] All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

Section 197 as drafted reads "of the laws enumerated in the schedules hereto annexed that portion specified in the last column is repealed." The language of this section as originally drafted is clearly inappropriate in a number of states. In a state in which the constitution requires that an act which repeals other acts shall enumerate the repealed acts, this section must be redrafted in accordance with the local constitution.

Sec. 198. [Time When Act Takes Effect.] This [act] shall take effect on a Section 198 as drafted uses the word "chapter." In many states this term is inappropriate. Therefore the word in brackets [act] has been inserted in lieu of the word "chapter."

The Maturity Section of this Law is as follows:

Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein without grace. When the day of maturity falls upon Sunday or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Instruments falling due or becoming payable on Saturday are to be presented for payment on the next succeeding business day, except that instruments payable on demand may, at the option of the holder, be presented for payment before 12 o'clock noon on Saturday when that entire day is not a holiday; and if presented after 12 o'clock noon on Saturday when the entire day is not a holiday may at the option of the payor then be paid.

Exceptions to the above Section are as follows:

♦ CALIFORNIA; Saturday half holiday; all day for banks at their option. Every Saturday from 12 o'clock noon . . . is a holiday as regards the transaction of business in the public offices of the state, and also in political divisions thereof where laws, ordinances or charters provide that public offices shall be closed on holidays; provided, this shall not be construed to prevent or invalidate, the issuance, filing, service, execution or recording of any legal process or written instrument whatever on such Saturday afternoon.

▲ KANSAS, MISSISSIPPI, and TENNESSEE. Every negotiable instrument is payable at time fixed therein without grace. When the day of maturity falls on a Sunday or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. In Kansas, banks may transact business after 12 o'clock on Saturdays or on legal holidays but are not compelled to do so. In Tennessee, banks may transact business after 12 o'clock on Saturdays, but are not compelled to do so.

MASSACHUSETTS, MISSISSIPPI, NEW HAMPSHIRE, and RHODE ISLAND allow grace on Sight Drafts.

ARIZONA, KENTUCKY, MISSISSIPPI, NEBRASKA, NORTH CAROLINA, WASHINGTON and WISCONSIN paper maturing Saturday is payable the same day.

†The following clauses are not present in the District of Columbia, Iowa, Maryland, Michigan, South Carolina, or West Virginia Law: "or becoming payable" and "if presented after 12 o'clock noon on Saturday when the entire day is not a holiday may at the option of the payor then be paid."

BANK COLLECTION CODE

Recommended by the AMERICAN BANKERS ASSOCIATION

Draft prepared jointly by Thomas B. Paton and Thomas B. Paton, Jr., the late General Counsel and the Assistant General Counsel, American Bankers Association, with explanatory notes, and designed for uniform enactment in all the states.

Issued under the Auspices of the Committee on State Legislation AMERICAN BANKERS ASSOCIATION

NOTE—As this goes to press, the Code has been enacted into law in the following states—Idaho, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

The Code has been passed in modified form in Missouri, which omits §§11, 12 and 7, and in Nebraska, which omits §3 and also in Washington, where a new paragraph has been added to Section 4 of the code, and a new word added in the third paragraph of Section 4.

FOREWORD

There has long been need for a uniform code of rules governing bank collections which will give the sanction of law to modern customs and practices of banks, and obviate the necessity for the printing of special agreements on deposit slips, pass books and other literature for their protection. Not only are existing rules, growing out of earlier conditions which no longer obtain, unsuited to present conditions but the conflict of such rules, as established in the different states, makes uniformly a desideratum especially as the currency of checks and other paper is nation-wide in scope and the rules governing the collection and payment of such paper should be uniform, irrespective of state lines.

To accomplish the purpose of uniformity and modernization of the law governing bank collections, three successive tentative drafts of a bank collection code were prepared and submitted to various bankers, expert in the practice of check collection, to attorneys for banks and to members of the Committee on State Legislation and the State Legislative Council of the American Bankers Association for their suggestions and criticism.

The third tentative draft was approved in substance at the meeting on October 1, 1928, of the Committee on State Legislation subject to technical changes which the General Counsel was authorized to make preliminary to its being urged by the Committee on State Legislation through state bankers associations for enactment by the legislatures of the different states, and this action was approved by the Executive Council at that time.

As finally drafted, the code has each year been presented to the members of the State Legislative Committee and the State Legislative Council in the various states and to Secretaries of the state bankers associations for their consideration and approval of the appropriate committees of such state associations preparatory to being urged through their associations at the sessions of the state legislatures. It has already been enacted in eighteen states.

The detailed provisions of the code have proved to be practicable and it is hoped that it can be uniformly enacted in all states. Due to the complications of the subject it is a difficult one to regulate with scientific exactness. Attention is particularly invited to the provision that is contained in Section 11 which continues the liability of the drawer and other prior parties upon a check presented by mail to a drawee which defaults in payment. At the time the code was drafted Montana had already adopted such principle of liability as part of its legislation, the theory being that a depositor who tenders his check which requires mailing for payment, should not escape liability to his creditor where the bank which he has designated to make payment cannot make good. It will be noted that this section merely gives an option to the holder to dishonor his check and preserve his liability; the option need or need not be exercised. If not exercised, then the drawer of the check is discharged if the drawee charges it to his account but in such case there arises a preference in the assets of the insolvent bank in favor of the owner.

AN ACT TO EXPEDITE AND SIMPLIFY THE COLLECTION AND PAYMENT BY BANKS OF CHECKS AND OTHER INSTRUMENTS FOR THE PAYMENT OF MONEY

Be it enacted

Section 1. (Definitions.) For the purposes of this code:

(A) Bank. The term "bank" shall include any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of receiving and paying deposits of money within this state. A branch or office of any such bank shall be deemed a bank for the purpose of this act.

(B) Item. The term "item" means any check, note or other instrument providing for the payment of money.

Sec. 2. (Bank Is Agent for Collection.)

Except as otherwise provided by agreement and except as to subsequent holders of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer or indorsed specially or in blank, where an item is deposited or received for collection, the bank of deposit shall be agent of the depositor for its collection and each subsequent collecting bank shall be sub-agent of the depositor but shall be authorized to follow the instructions of its immediate forwarding bank and any credit given by any such agent or sub-agent bank therefor shall be revocable until such time as the proceeds are received in actual money or an unconditional credit given on the books of another bank, which such agent has requested or accepted. Where any such bank allows any revocable credit for an item to be withdrawn, such agency relation shall nevertheless continue except the bank shall have all the rights of an owner thereof against prior and subsequent parties to the extent of the amount withdrawn.

Sec. 3. (Item on Same Bank.)

A credit given by a bank for an item drawn on or payable at such bank shall be provisional, subject to revocation at or before the end of the day on which the item is deposited in the event the item is found not payable for any reason. Whenever a credit is given for an item deposited after banking hours such right of revocation may be exercised during the following business day.

Sec. 4. (Legal Effect of Indorsements.)

An indorsement of an item by the payee or other depositor "for deposit" shall be deemed a restrictive indorsement and indicate that the indorsee bank is an agent for collection and not owner of the item.

An indorsement "pay any bank or banker" or having equivalent words shall be deemed a restrictive indorsement and shall indicate the creation of an agency relation in any subsequent bank to whom the paper is forwarded unless coupled with words indicating the creation of a trustee relationship; and such indorsement or other restrictive indorsement whether creating an agency or trustee relationship shall constitute a guaranty by the indorser to all subsequent holders and to the drawee or payor of the genuineness of and the authority to make prior indorsements and also to save the drawee or payor harmless in the event any prior indorsement appearing thereon is defective or irregular in any respect unless such indorsement is coupled with appropriate words disclaiming such liability as guarantor.

Where a deposited item is payable to bearer or indorsed by the depositor in blank or by special indorsement, the fact that such item is so payable or indorsed shall not change the relation of agent of the bank of deposit to the depositor, but subsequent holders shall have the right to rely on the presumption that the bank of deposit is the owner of the item. The indorsement of an item by the bank of deposit or by any subsequent holder in blank or by special indorsement or its delivery when payable to bearer, shall carry the presumption that the indorsee or transferee is owner provided there is nothing upon the face of the paper or in any prior indorsement to indicate an agency or trustee relation of any prior party. But where an item is deposited or is received for collection indorsed specially or in blank, the bank may convert such an indorsement into a restrictive indorsement by writing over the signature of the indorser the words "for deposit" or "for collection," or other restrictive words to negative the presumption that such bank of deposit or indorsee bank is owner; and in the case of an item deposited or received for collection payable to bearer, may negative such presumption by indorsing thereon the words "received for deposit" or "received for collection" or words of like import.

Sec. 5. (Duty and Responsibility of Bank Collecting Agents.)

It shall be the duty of the initial or any subsequent agent collecting bank to exercise ordinary care in the collection of an item and when such duty is performed such agent bank shall not be responsible if for any cause payment is not received in money or an unconditional credit given on the books of another bank, which such agent bank has requested or accepted. An initial or subsequent agent collecting bank shall be liable for its own lack of exercise of ordinary care but shall not be liable for the neglect, misconduct, mistakes or defaults of any other agent bank or of the drawee or payor bank.

Sec. 6. (Rules of Ordinary Care in Forwarding and Presentment.)

(A) Where an item is received on deposit or by a subsequent agent bank for collection, payable in another town or city, it shall be deemed the exercise of ordinary care to forward such item by mail, not later than the business day next following its receipt either (1) direct to the drawee or payor in the event such drawee or payor is a bank or (2) to another bank collecting agent according to the usual banking custom, either located in the town or city where the item is payable or in another town or city.

(B) Where an item is received on deposit or by a subsequent agent bank for collection, payable by or at another bank in the same town or city in which such agent bank is located, it shall be deemed the exercise of ordinary care to present the item for payment at any time not later than the next business day following the day on which the item is received either (1) at the counter of the drawee or payor by agent or messenger or (2) through the local clearing house under the regular established procedure, or according to the usual banking custom where the collecting or payor bank is located in an outlying district.

(C) The designation of the above methods shall not exclude any other method of forwarding or presentment which under existing rules of law would constitute ordinary care.

Sec. 7. (Items Received Through the Mail.)

Where the item is received by mail by a solvent drawee or payor bank, it shall be deemed paid when the amount is finally charged to the account of the maker or drawer.

Sec. 8. (Items Lost in Transit.)

Where an agent bank forwards an item for collection, it shall not be responsible for its loss or destruction in transit, or, when in the possession of others, for its inability to repossess itself thereof, provided there has been no lack of ordinary care on its part.

Sec. 9. (Medium of Payment.)

Where ordinary care is exercised, any agent collecting bank may receive in payment of an item without becoming responsible as debtor therefor, whether presented by mail, through the clearing house or over the counter of the drawee or payor, in lieu of money, either (a) the check or draft of the drawee or payor upon another bank or (b) the check or draft of any other bank upon any bank other than the drawee or payor of the item or (c) such method of settlement as may be customary in a local clearing house or between clearing banks or otherwise; provided that whenever such agent collecting bank shall request or accept in payment an unconditional credit which has been given to it on the books of the drawee or payor or on the books of any other bank, such agent collecting bank shall become debtor for such item and shall be responsible therefor as if the proceeds were actually received by it in money.

Sec. 10. (Medium of Remittance.)

Where ordinary care is exercised, any agent collecting bank may receive from any subsequent bank in the chain of collection in remittance for an item which has been paid, in lieu of money, the check or draft of the remitting bank upon any bank other than itself or the drawee or payor of the item or such other method of settlement as may be customary; provided that whenever such agent collecting bank shall request or accept an unconditional credit which has been given to it on the books of the remitting bank or on the books of any other bank, such agent collecting bank shall become debtor for such item and shall be responsible therefor as if the proceeds were actually received by it in money.

Sec. 11. (Election to Treat as Dishonored Items Presented by Mail.)

Where an item is duly presented by mail to the drawee or payor, whether or not the same has been charged to the account of the maker or drawer thereof or returned to such maker or drawer, the agent collecting bank so presenting may, at its election, exercised with reasonable diligence, treat such item as dishonored by non-payment and recourse may be had upon prior parties thereto in any of the following cases:

- (1) Where the check or draft of the drawee or payor bank upon another bank received in payment therefor shall not be paid in due course;
- (2) Where the drawee or payor bank shall without request or authority tender as payment its own check or draft upon itself or other instrument upon which it is primarily liable;
- (3) Where the drawee or payor bank shall give an unrequested or unauthorized credit therefor on its books or the books of another bank; or
- (4) Where the drawee or payor shall retain such item without remitting therefor on the day of receipt or on the day of maturity if payable otherwise than on demand and received by it prior to or on such day of maturity.

Provided, however, that in any case where the drawee or payor bank shall return any such item unpaid not later than the day of receipt or of maturity as aforesaid in the exercise of its right to make payment only at its own counter, such item cannot be treated as dishonored by non-payment and the delay caused thereby shall not relieve prior parties from liability.

Provided further that no agent collecting bank shall be liable to the owner of an item where, in the exercise of ordinary care in the interest of such owner, it makes or does not make the election above provided or takes such steps as it may deem necessary in cases (2), (3) and (4) above.

Sec. 12. (Notice of Dishonor of Items Presented by Mail.)

In case of the dishonor of an item duly presented by mail as provided for in the next preceding section, notice of dishonor of such item to prior parties shall be sufficient if given with reasonable diligence after such dishonor; and further in the event of failure to obtain the return of any such item notice of dishonor may be given upon a copy or written particulars thereof, and delay in giving notice of dishonor caused by an attempt with reasonable diligence to obtain return of such item shall be excused.

Sec. 13. (Insolvency and Preferences.)

1. When the drawee or payor, or any other agent collecting bank shall fail or be closed for business by (Comptroller of Currency and state official to be designated) or by action of the board of directors or by other proper action, or when an item shall be mailed or otherwise entrusted to it for collection or payment but before the actual collection or payment thereof, it shall be the duty of the receiver or other official in charge of its assets to return such item, if same is in his possession, to the forwarding or presenting bank with reasonable diligence.

2. Except in cases where an item or items is treated as dishonored by non-payment as provided in Section 11, when a drawee or payor bank has presented to it for payment an item or items drawn upon or payable by or at such bank and at the time has on deposit to the credit of the maker or drawer an amount equal to such item or items and such drawee or payor shall fail or close for business as above, after having charged such item or items to the account of the maker or drawer thereof or otherwise discharged his liability thereon but without such item or items having been paid or settled for by the drawee or payor either in money or by an unconditional credit given on its books or on the books of any other bank, which has been requested or accepted so as to constitute such drawee or payor or other bank debtor therefor, the assets such drawee or payor shall be impressed with a trust in favor of the owner or owners of such item or items for the proceeds thereof, or for the balance payable upon a number of items which have been exchanged, and such owner or owners shall be entitled to a preferred claim upon such assets, irrespective of whether the fund representing such item or items can be traced and identified as part of such assets or has been intermingled with or converted into other assets of such failed bank.

3. Where an agent collecting bank other than the drawee or payor shall fail or be closed for business as above, after having received in any form the proceeds of an item or items entrusted to it for collection, but without such item or items having been paid or remitted for by it either in money or by an unconditional credit given on its books or on the books of any other bank which has been requested or accepted so as to constitute such failed collecting or other bank debtor therefor, the assets of such agent collecting bank which has failed or been closed for business as above shall be impressed with a trust in favor of the owner or owners of such item or items for the amount of such proceeds and such owner or owners shall be entitled to a preferred claim upon such assets, irrespective of whether the fund representing such item or items can be traced and identified as part of such assets or has been intermingled with or converted into other assets of such failed bank.

Sec. 14. (Act not Retroactive.)

The provisions of this act shall not apply to transactions taking place prior to the time when it takes effect.

Sec. 15. (Cases not Provided for in Act.)

In any case not provided for in this act the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant and those rules of law and equity relating to trusts, agency, negotiable instruments and banking, shall continue to apply.

Sec. 16. (Uniformity of Interpretation.)

This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

Sec. 17. (Short Title.)

This act may be cited as the bank collection code.

Sec. 18. (Inconsistent Laws Repealed.)

All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 19. (Time of Taking Effect.)

This act shall take effect (

EXPLANATORY NOTESSec. 1. (Definitions.)

The definition of the term "bank" is broad enough to include all banks whether organized under State or Federal Laws. The definition also recognizes that for purposes of presentment and payment of paper a branch or office of a bank is regarded as a separate and distinct institution.

The term "item" as defined includes non-negotiable as well as negotiable instruments.

Sec. 2. (Bank of Deposit is Agent for Collection.)

The purpose of this section is to establish an agency relation of the bank in which paper is deposited and thus protect it, when paper is deposited indorsed unrestrictedly, which is oftentimes the case, from being held liable to its depositor as owner, as soon as credited to his account. This was so held in City of Douglas v. Federal Reserve Bank, 46 Sup. Ct. 554, notwithstanding there was a custom to charge back in event of dishonor and the contract provided that out-of-town items were expressly credited "subject to final payment." It was pointed out that in the event of dishonor, the bank could ordinarily have recourse upon the depositor as indorser, but in the particular case, the indorser was discharged, because the item had been paid by a worthless draft of the drawee bank, which failed and the bank of deposit was the loser. Banks generally protect themselves by stipulations on deposit slips, signature cards or pass-books against such liability, by declaring that the bank is agent, not owner. The above section provides a statutory relation of agency in the absence of agreement to the contrary, but if the bank receives the paper unrestrictedly indorsed, it becomes liable as owner to subsequent parties who act in reliance upon its ownership unless it protects itself as provided in Section 4.

Subsequent collecting banks are defined as sub-agents of the depositor but are authorized to follow instructions of the immediate forwarding bank.

Creditors given by agent banks for uncollected paper are revocable and do not make the bank responsible as debtor until the proceeds have been received in money or an unconditional credit therefor has been given which has been requested or accepted (see Secs. 9 and 10). The provision making the bank debtor where an unconditional credit is given which has been requested or accepted applies in all cases where the presentment is by mail, over the counter or through the clearings and is based upon the principle that the bank should be responsible as debtor where it becomes owner of a credit which it is not compelled to accept but which it does accept on its own responsibility upon the books of another bank which fails.

Sec. 3. (Item on Same Bank.)

The majority of courts hold that credit of an item on the same bank is final and cannot be charged back, notwithstanding such item is found not good upon examination of the account. The theory is that the bank is presumed to know at all times the condition of a customer's account. While it is the bank's duty to the drawer-customer of a check to pay or reject it immediately, the courts have held that it is competent for the bank to agree with the payee-depositor that payment be deferred for a reasonable time in order to examine the account. In banking practice, deposited checks on the same bank are immediately credited in the depositor's pass-book without opportunity for examination of the drawer's account at the moment and it is clearly unreasonable for the depositor of an item drawn on the same bank to expect an irrevocable credit until the bank has had a reasonable time to inquire into the account. The code fixes a definite rule that such credit shall be provisional subject to revocation which the bank might exercise at any time during the day.

Sec. 4. (Legal Effect of Indorsements.)

The Negotiable Instruments Act defines the legal meaning and effect of certain kinds of indorsements, such as indorsements in blank and special indorsements, which convey title, indorsements "without recourse" which convey title but without liability for non-payment, conditional indorsements which convey title subject to a condition, and restrictive indorsements which either constitute the indorsee the agent of the indorser or which vest title in the indorsee as trustee. As to the latter class of indorsements, the courts are in conflict whether certain forms of indorsements are restrictive and agent-creating or unrestricted and title-conveying and Section 4 is designed to clear up this conflict in the case of indorsements "for deposit" and "pay any bank or banker" which have been held both agent-creating and title-conveying in different jurisdictions.

The first paragraph of Section 4 provides the legal effect of an indorsement "for deposit" making same restrictive and providing that the bank is agent and not owner.

The indorsement "pay any bank or banker" is likewise made restrictive and creating an agency relation "unless coupled with words indicating the creating of a trustee relationship." Many collecting banks stamp upon items various forms of which the following is a sample:

"This draft is a CASH ITEM and is not to be treated as a deposit. The funds obtained through its collection are to be accounted for to us as a trust and are not to be commingled with other funds of collecting bank."

The words "unless coupled" etc., are inserted to cover such condition.

The section further provides not only in the case of indorsements "pay any bank or banker" but in all cases of restrictive indorsements, whether creating an agency or trust relationship, that such indorsements carry a guaranty of genuineness and authority to make prior indorsements and to save the drawee harmless in case of defective or irregular prior indorsements. Most restrictive indorsements are coupled with a guaranty of prior indorsements and drawee banks generally require such guaranty as a prerequisite of payment. It seems proper, therefore, to have this feature incorporated in the law; but it is qualified by the provision "unless such indorsement is coupled with appropriate words disclaiming such liability as guarantor." This would enable any forwarding bank that did not desire to incur a guarantor liability to couple with its indorsement a disclaimer, such as "without guarantor liability" or other form of disclaimer.

The Code provides that where a deposited item is payable to bearer or is indorsed in blank or specially, the bank of deposit remains agent but subsequent holders have the right to rely on the presumption that the bank of deposit is owner; also that like indorsement or delivery of bearer paper by a bank of deposit or a subsequent holder carries like presumption that the indorser or transferee is owner where there is nothing on the face of the paper or in any prior indorsement to indicate an agency relation of any prior party. This provision of the Code is in harmony with existing law, for example (we quote from Paton's Digest, Volume 2, pages 1134 and 1135):

"In Park Bank v. Seaboard Bank, 114 N. Y. 28, a check on the Park Bank for $8. was raised by the payee to $1,800, indorsed in blank by him and delivered to the Eldred (Pa.) Bank for collection only. The Eldred Bank indorsed it 'for collection' to the Seaboard Bank in New York, and that bank received payment. It was held that the Seaboard, appearing by the indorsement to be a mere agent, was not liable after it had paid over the money to its principal, the Eldred Bank. Later, in an action by the Park Bank directly against the Eldred Bank, 90 Hun. 235, it was held the Eldred Bank was liable, because it was apparently owner of the draft, although, in fact, agent for collection only. The court said: 'In the case of the Seaboard Bank, the agency was disclosed; in the case of the Eldred Bank, it was not. In the presentation of the draft, the Eldred Bank represented itself to be the owner of the draft, and the payment was made by plaintiff under those circumstances. It does not seem to need the citation of authorities to show that where money is paid upon a raised draft without any negligence on the part of the person paying the same, it can be recovered from the party to whom it was paid.'"

It is common for depositors to indorse checks in blank when they are placed on deposit, or specially to the bank, and probably not all banks realize that under such indorsement, although as between bank and depositor, the bank is agent, yet as to all subsequent holders and especially the payor, the bank is liable as apparent owner, in case of raised or altered checks or should the payee's indorsement be a forgery. It has, therefore, been deemed wise to insert a provision that where an item is so deposited or received for collection, the bank may negative the presumption of ownership by writing over the signature of the indorser the words "for deposit" or other restrictive words. This authority would apply to any bank in the collection chain.

Sec. 5. (Duty and Responsibility of Bank Collecting Agents.)

This section is intended to clear up the wide conflict between those decisions holding that the collecting bank is liable for the negligence and defaults of correspondents and those holding the bank not liable, provided it exercises due care. Because of such conflicting decisions and uncertainty in the law of those states where no rule has been declared, the Code provides a definite rule of liability for default of correspondents, namely, the "due care" rule, known as the Massachusetts rule, which is now followed in a majority of the states. In those states following the so-called "New York rule" that a collecting bank is liable for defaults of correspondents and in the other states where the question is unsettled, the banks are compelled to protect themselves by a special agreement. The weight of authority and the better reasoning is in favor of the Massachusetts rule. A person depositing items is aware that the bank cannot collect it through its personal agents and employees; the ordinary exchange charge, if there is one, is very small, in comparison to the service rendered, and the liabilities assumed by the bank if it be held responsible for the acts and conduct of its correspondent bank beyond the measure of care required in selecting a suitable correspondent, is out of all proportion to such charge.

Sec. 6. (Rules of Ordinary Care in Forwarding and Presentment.)

This section in effect enacts into law the usual banking custom in regard to forwarding and presenting paper.

Custom has sanctioned the practice of forwarding direct to the drawee or payor bank, contrary to the judicial rule that such method of forwarding is negligence, and the enactment of the American Bankers Association recommended measure which authorizes such practice, now in force in majority of states, has legalized this custom. The Code makes this rule uniform in all states and also legalizes the customary mode of presenting through bank correspondents.

Sec. 7. (Items Received Through the Mail.)

It has always been an uncertain question as to what time in the physical handling of a check received through the mail it is deemed paid. It is to the interest of the drawee or payor bank to fix a definite point of time at which the item shall be deemed paid to avoid trouble and litigation where, for example, an attachment is levied against the customer's account while the check is in possession of the drawee bank or where the drawer seeks to stop payment. The provision only has application to a solvent drawee or payor.

Sec. 8. (Items Lost in Transit.)

While the law is at the present time in accord with the above, a bank will frequently have trouble with its depositor, where the latter has apparently kept no record of the source of an item and it is difficult to get him to assume responsibility and procure a duplicate. When the non-liability of the bank is established in a definite provision of law, it makes it easier to deal with the depositor on this troublesome question. A similar provision is now a part of the statutory law of California.

Sec. 9. (Medium of Payment.)

Methods of payment may be classified as (1) money (2) draft on a bank (3) credit and (4) set-off of exchanged items with settlement of balance by either one of the first three methods.

The principle of Section 9 is to authorize the agent collecting bank to receive, instead of money, without being responsible therefor as debtor, the customary method of settlement for an item by draft on another bank or by exchange of items and settlement of balance by money or draft.

The acceptance of a draft on another bank is the ordinary method of transferring the funds from the custody of the payor bank. If, however, the agent collecting bank, instead of accepting money or such draft on another bank, chooses to allow the money to remain with the payor bank and the latter to remain debtor, by accepting a credit on its books, or an unconditional credit on the books of any other bank, this method of settlement of the agent bank's own choosing, under which the payor or some other bank is allowed to remain debtor, instead of the fund being transmitted to the owner, makes the agent collecting bank itself responsible as debtor therefor.

Sec. 10. (Medium of Remittance.)

This applies the principle underlying Section 9 to the case of the remitting bank, after the proceeds are collected.

Sec. 11. (Election to Treat as Dishonored Items Presented by Mail.)

The purpose of this Section is to permit the agent collecting bank, at its option, to continue the liability of the drawer or maker and indorsers upon a check, not presented over the counter or through the clearing house, but by mail, where the drawee or payor defaults in making payment to such agent because of its insolvency.

Presentment direct to the drawee by mail (as distinguished from mailing to an independent agent at the place of the drawee) is customary and legally sanctioned by statute in a number of states and by this Code and it is the opinion of a number of banking experts (although all are not agreed) that the drawer who gives his check upon a bank which cannot pay, should not be relieved of his obligation by the mere charging of the check to his account and the issuance by the drawee of a worthless draft therefor but should stand for the solvency of his bank, which is his paying agent, until the latter's draft is at last paid.

Accordingly four contingencies are provided in which the item may be dishonored and the liability of the drawer continued at the option of the agent collecting bank. Where such liability is continued, the recourse is upon the drawer and other prior parties and not upon the failed bank. In any case where it is found impracticable, by reason of inability to identify prior parties to an item forwarded to the drawee for which it has attempted to settle in any of the ways above mentioned, the option need not be exercised and in such event the draft or credit given by the drawee or payor will operate as payment of the original item and the owner will have recourse as preferred creditor under Section 13.

Should it be found undesirable in any state to adopt the policy declared in this section the same can be omitted; and in such event Section 12 should also be omitted and also the opening words in paragraph 2 of Section 13, "Except in cases where an item or items is treated as unpaid and dishonored as provided in Section 11."

Sec. 12. (Notice of Dishonor of Items presented by Mail.)

The purpose of this section is to supplement the Negotiable Instruments Act which provides for notice of dishonor to preserve the liability of prior parties when an instrument is dishonored by non-acceptance or non-payment. It is intended to cover the new forms of dishonor provided in Section 11. The general requirements of the Negotiable Instruments Act as to giving notice of dishonor will still apply.

Sec. 13. (Insolvency and Preferences.)

There is much conflict in the decisions over the right to preference in payment of collection proceeds out of the assets of a failed bank. The purpose of this section is to establish uniform rules based on the better reasoned decisions. Except where the failed bank (whether drawee or payor or other collecting bank) has been accepted as debtor for such proceeds by reason of a requested or accepted credit given by it on its own books or on the books of any other bank, a trustee relation is created with respect to such proceeds both in the case of the drawee or payor after the money has been taken out of the account of the drawer or maker and in the case of an agent collecting bank other than the drawee or payor, which has received the proceeds in any form; and the owner of the item is entitled to preferential payment out of the assets of the failed trustee whether the proceeds can be identified and traced into a specific fund or not.

In case an item is received by a bank which falls before the actual payment or collection thereof, provision is made for return of the item whether in its possession or that of the receiver. Furthermore the provisions of Section 13 do not apply to items presented by mail which, at the election of the presenter, are treated as dishonored by non-payment according to the provisions of Section 11.

Sections 14 to 19 inclusive are self-explanatory.
