Change in Release Date of Treasury Bulletin

Because of the increasing difficulty of meeting deadlines as a result of the war, it has become necessary to change the release date of the "Treasury Bulletin". Henceforth the Bulletin will be released at the beginning of each month and will be dated the month in which released. Previously the Bulletin was dated as of the preceding month. In order to effect this transition, the present issue of the "Treasury Bulletin" is dated July 1944 - August 1944.

Release of this issue has also been delayed in order to include the final report of sales in the article on the Fifth War Loan.

Sales of Securities in the Fifth War Loan

Summary

Sales of United States Government securities in the Fifth War Loan totaled $20.6 billions -- $4.6 billions or 29 percent greater than the goal of $16 billions set for this Loan, and $3.9 billions greater than total sales during the preceding war loan. The total for the Fifth War Loan was divided between $6.4 billions to individuals, including partnerships and personal trust accounts, and $14.3 billions to all other investors, including insurance companies, savings banks, corporations and associations, dealers and brokers, and State and local governments. Sales during the Fifth War Loan to each of these classes of investors are shown in Chart 1, and further details on sales of each issue to each investor class are found in Table 1 at the end of this article. Sales to the major groups of investors (individuals, insurance companies and savings banks, and corporations and other investors) are summarized below, and are further compared with the goals which had been set for these groups prior to the opening of the drive.

In the table below, and throughout the remainder of this article, the term "individuals" will be understood to include partnerships and personal trust accounts. The percentages shown in the table, as well as elsewhere in the article, have been computed on the basis of unrounded figures.

Class of investor	Goal	Sales	Percent of goal achieved
	(In billions of dollars)
Individuals:
Series E savings bonds	3.0	3.0	101
Other securities.....	3.0	3.3	110
Total.....	6.0	6.4	106
Corporations and other investors:
Insurance companies and savings banks....	2.5	4.3	172
Other corporations and associations.....	7.5	10.0	133
Total.....	10.0	14.3	143

It will be noted that the sales figures in the table above, as well as all other sales figures referred to in this article, represent gross sales and not net changes in holdings or in the amount of securities outstanding. Net changes in the holdings of each investor class during any given period are affected by maturities and redemptions and by market operations carried on between investor groups, as well as by purchases of new issues. Data on changes in the net amount of Federal securities held by savings banks, commercial banks, insurance companies, United States Government agencies and trust funds and Federal Reserve banks, and all other investors as a group are obtainable regularly in the "Treasury Survey of the Ownership of Government Securities" and summary data from the survey are published each month in the "Treasury Bulletin". Information on net holdings as of June 30 is not yet available, but will be published in the "Treasury Bulletin" for September 1944; information on holdings at the end of July will be published in the October 1944 issue of the "Treasury Bulletin".

A comparison of the figures on goals and sales found in the table at the beginning of this article shows that total sales to individuals exceeded the goal set for this group by a small margin -- 6 percent. Sales of Series E savings bonds just passed the quota amount, while sales of other securities to individuals were 10 percent greater than the goal. These facts are brought out in Chart 2, in which goals and sales for the five war loans are shown by investor classes. Table 4, at the end of the article, shows in addition that all of the significant investor groups bought more securities during the Fifth War Loan than during any preceding drive.

Following the practice established during the Fourth War Loan, purchases by Treasury investment accounts as well as the limited purchases which commercial banks were permitted to make concurrently with the drive were excluded from both goals and sales attributable to the Fifth War Loan. During the course of the drive, a deferred payment plan was made available whereby certain institutions and State and local governmental units could have until September 30 to complete payments for subscriptions to the 2 percent and 2-1/2 percent Treasury bonds made during the period of the drive; subscriptions involving $0.3 billion of such deferred payments were entered and are included in the total sales figure of $20.6 billions.

Organization for the Loan

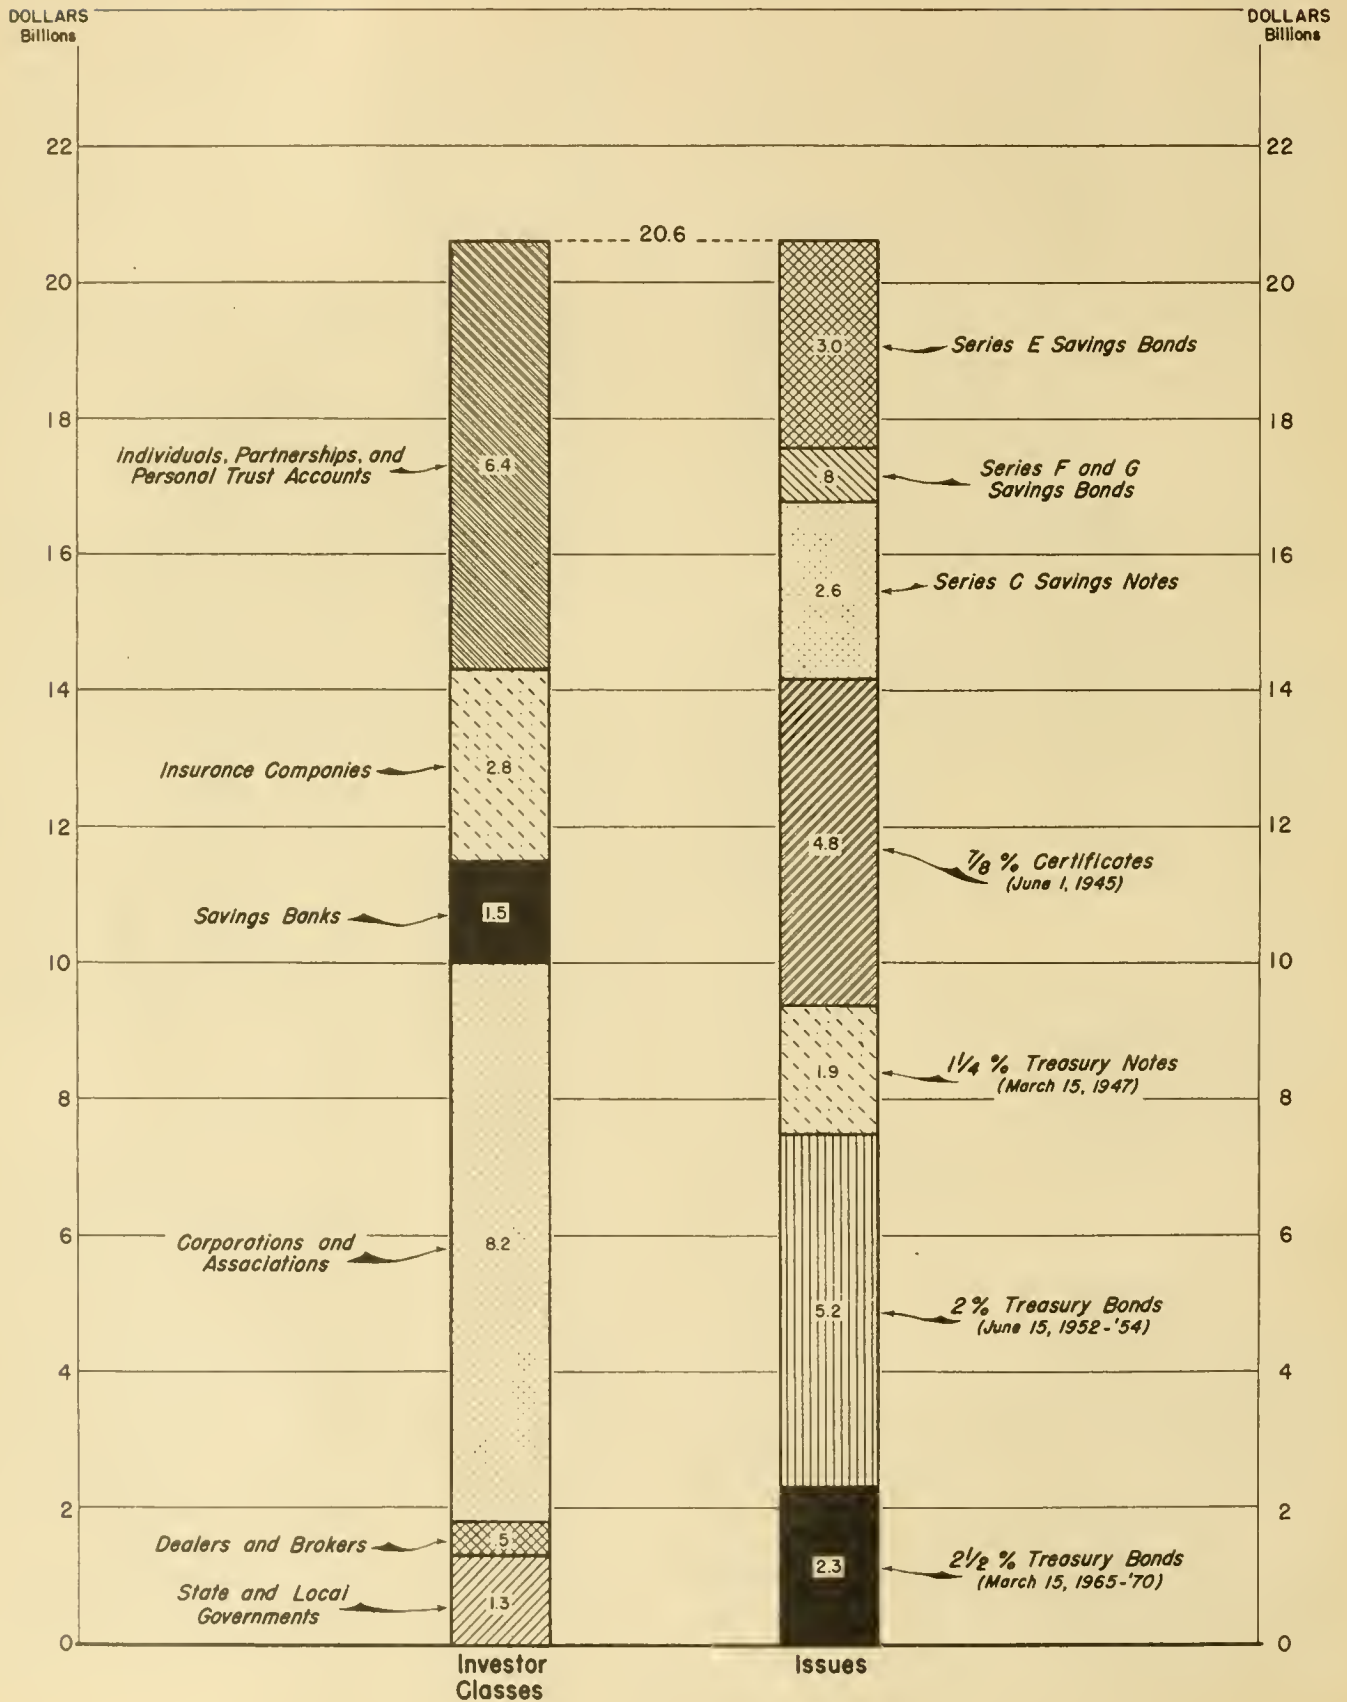

On April 3, 1944, the Secretary of the Treasury announced that the Fifth War Loan would open on June 12 and would run until July 8, 1944. The total goal of $16 billions was announced and it was stated that the major emphasis throughout the entire period of the drive would be placed on the quota of $6 billions for individuals. The eight securities to be offered in the drive were briefly described and the Secretary stated that the securities and the goals had been selected by the Treasury after consultation with a group of chairmen of the State War Finance Committees, officials of the Federal Reserve System, a committee of the American Bankers Association and other investment authorities.

Similar to the practice in prior war loans, it was announced that all subscriptions for Series E, F, and G savings bonds and for savings notes received at the Federal Reserve Banks or

Chart I

SALES DURING FIFTH WAR LOAN

By Investor Classes and by Issues

the Treasury throughout June and July would be credited to the Loan. This allowed time for clearance of sales through issuing agents and the Federal Reserve Banks and made it possible for the local sales units which wished to begin their work prior to the formal opening of the drive to start their activities on June 1.

Sales in the drive were confined to nonbank investors. As in the Fourth War Loan, however, commercial banks were given the opportunity concurrently with the drive but not as a part of it to subscribe to certain issues in limited amounts for the investment of their time deposits. Treasury investment accounts were also excluded from the drive, but invested their available funds in Federal securities concurrently with the drive. The provisions governing purchases by commercial banks as well as the sales figures relating to both commercial banks and Treasury investment accounts during the period of the Fifth War Loan are discussed in a separate article on page A-16 of this issue.

In the Fifth War Loan, the Treasury again asked the cooperation of all banks in declining to make loans for the speculative purchase of Government securities. Loans to enable investors to purchase bonds in anticipation of income were encouraged, however, provided they were made on a short-term or amortization basis fully repayable within six months. The conditions under which bank loans would be desirable followed the principles set forth in the joint statement on the matter by national and State bank supervisory authorities on November 23, 1942. This statement is found on page A-3 of the "Treasury Bulletin" for March 1944.

Figures on State goals for sales of securities during the Fifth War Loan were made available to the State War Finance Chairmen on May 8. These quotas were based on various data, which are of course less comprehensive by States than those available for estimating liquid savings and accumulations in the Nation as a whole. The State quotas for sales of Series E savings bonds were based on estimates of income payments for the five months' period March-July, 1944, arrived at on the basis of a monthly projection of Department of Commerce figures showing income payments to individuals by States on an annual basis. In setting the State quotas for individuals' purchases of securities other than Series E savings bonds, income figures were again used, but extra weight was given to two factors, namely, (1) that part of income payments which represents a return on invested capital, and (2) bank deposit data relating to individuals. Quotas for insurance companies and for savings banks were arrived at largely on the basis of recent information relating to the State distribution of the assets of these organizations. State quotas for corporations other than insurance companies and savings banks were based mainly on data relating to the demand deposits of business concerns.

The organization of workers for the Fifth War Loan followed State, county and town lines and leaned heavily on person-to-person contacts in both homes and places of business. Over six million volunteer workers enlisted as salesmen and about seventy-five thousand agents issued the securities. This plan of organization was similar to that followed in the Third and Fourth drives. In the Fifth drive, however, a greater effort was made to solicit each potential buyer personally. Women's organizations in many localities did a large share of the house-to-house canvassing; civic associations, foreign language groups, Boy Scouts, members of 4-H Clubs, and others were also active. Most agricultural States had a special farm program which included a farm-to-farm canvass by members of the volunteer organization. Retail stores assumed a quota under which they agreed to sell $300 in bonds per salesperson. Theaters made a particularly intensive effort to sell war bonds, and turned in an outstanding record of sales to individuals during the Fifth War Loan. In connection with these various programs, a greater volume of advertising and publicity was contributed than in any previous drive.

Quotas for employees of individual business firms and particularly for the large plants were relied on even more extensively than in previous drives. As a Fifth War Loan goal, firms were asked to set plant quotas averaging $100 per employee, to be met through a combination of cash purchases and regular payroll allotments. Labor organizations and labor and management committees undertook a large share of the work of canvassing subscribers in individual plants as well as aiding in community campaigns.

The American Bankers Association, through its War Loan Committee, entered the war loan drive on a national level by asking member banks to adopt a program which included assuming responsibility for a canvass of depositors. In many localities also, banks entered into the community program by undertaking to meet quotas for sales to their customers and others. The Army and Navy helped further many local campaigns by furnishing equipment, speakers, etc., and they also conducted special sales drives within their own organizations.

In order to enable the State and county or regional War Finance Chairmen to measure the progress of the campaign in their areas, a statistical reporting system which had been inaugurated during earlier drives was used extensively during the Fifth War Loan. Although only sales to individuals were announced to the public by the Treasury between June 12 and June 26 -- a measure which was intended to emphasize the importance of the quota for this group -- the Federal Reserve Banks compiled daily reports from the beginning of the drive showing subscriptions for each issue made by individuals, and by all other investors as a group, in each county in the United States. More detailed information was supplied for each State as a whole, showing sales of each issue to each investor class. This information made it possible for the War Finance Committees to measure daily progress by comparing the sales figures with charts which had been sent out to them showing how much the cumulative sales should amount to in the area for each day of the drive, if the goals were to be realized. The sales patterns shown in the charts were based on the experience in previous war loans, which had been analyzed with a view to estimating the probable timing of purchases by investor classes during the Fifth War Loan.

As in the Fourth War Loan, a procedure was adopted which made it possible to avoid transfers of funds by subscribers wishing to help local communities make their quotas. Under this procedure, the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Bank undertook to give statistical credit to the various localities for subscriptions made by individuals with interests in more than one community or for purchases made at the central offices of business firms operating in more than one area. In the case of many large business organizations, Series E bonds bought by employees under payroll savings plans and during special plant drives are issued from a central office; the procedure worked out for allocating credits made it possible in these cases to transfer the credit to the purchaser's home address or to the place of his employment. Likewise, stubs representing sales by the Federal Reserve Bank, the Office of the Treasurer of the United States, etc., were sorted by counties in order to pass credits to local communities. Sales by issuing agents whose activities are largely confined to one city or county, (such as banks, post offices, etc.) were credited to the county of their location. All subscriptions from insurance companies were assigned to the State of the home office, as in the past.

Types of Securities Offered

The various issues announced for the Fifth War Loan included only one type of security which had not been offered during any one of the four preceding drives. This was a 1-1/4 percent Treasury note due March 15, 1947. A 2 percent Treasury bond of 1952-54 was similar to a 2 percent Treasury bond of approximately the same term which had been included among the offerings in both the Second and Third War Loans; a new one-year 7/8 percent certificate due June 1, 1945, was similar to the certificate offered in each of the earlier loans; and the 2-1/2 percent Treasury bond of 1965-70, which constituted the remaining marketable issue offered for purchases during the Fifth War Loan, had also been among the offerings in the Fourth War Loan, and differed only in maturity date from the long-term 2-1/2 percent Treasury bonds offered during earlier loans.

The four nonmarketable issues announced for the Fifth War Loan were unchanged from offerings in prior war loans. These were: Series E, F, and G savings bonds, and Series C savings notes.

The marketable issues offered during the Fifth War Loan bore interest from June 26. The 2-1/2 percent Treasury bonds of 1965-70, which were a reopening of the issue sold during the Fourth War Loan, were dated February 1, 1944 but had a special coupon attached covering interest to accrue from June 26 to September 15, 1944. A full description of the various features of all of the securities offered in the Fifth War Loan may be found in the "Treasury Bulletin" for April 1944, pages A-4 and A-5, and descriptions of the securities offered during the Second, Third, and Fourth War Loans are shown in earlier issues of the "Treasury Bulletin" as follows: April 1943, pp. 2-3; August 1943, pp. 2-3; and December 1943, pp. 8-9.

The deferred payment plan, already referred to, for the 8-10 year 2 percent Treasury bonds and for the long-term 2-1/2 percent Treasury bonds allowed certain groups of investors until September 30, 1944, to make full payment for subscriptions to these issues. The securities themselves were delivered only as the payments were received. The investors included under these provisions were: life insurance companies, savings institutions, State and local governmental units, and similar public corporations and agencies. The plan itself represented a broadening of the deferred purchase arrangement used during the Third War Loan, under which insurance companies alone were allowed to subscribe to securities in anticipation of funds which would become available to them for investment during the month following the close of the Third War Loan drive.

All in all, the program of security issues worked out for the Fifth War Loan rested on the experience of the Treasury during prior war loans as well as on the comments and suggestions relating to earlier offerings which had been coming in to the Treasury during the war financing period. Differences between the various bond offerings with respect to interest rates, maturities, marketability, etc., were intended to meet the needs of investors with financial plans calling for medium- or long-term securities. In addition, the redemption features of the savings bonds provided both security and liquidity for individuals with relatively small resources. The certificates and the savings and Treasury notes, on the other hand, were intended to supply an investment outlet for business organizations, State and local governments, and others who were looking for a high degree of liquidity in the placing of shorter term funds.

Sales by Classes of Investors and by Issues

Sales to the various classes of investors are compared with the goals set for these groups in the table at the beginning of this article and in Chart 2. Chart 1 and Table 1 give further details of the sales by classes of investors and by issues.

As noted above, total sales of $20.6 billions exceeded the total goal of $16 billions by more than one-fourth, and sales to individuals exceeded the $6 billion goal set for this group by $0.4 billion, or 6 percent. Sales of Series E savings bonds were larger than the quota amount, although they were slightly less than sales during the Fourth War Loan. It is possible that a considerable number of the larger investors had already purchased as many savings bonds as they are allowed to buy in any one calendar year, before the time of the Fifth War Loan drive. This possibility is strengthened by the figures in Table 6 at the end of this article, which show that a larger number of units of the large denomination Series E bonds were sold during the Fourth War Loan than during the Fifth, although more of the smaller denomination Series E bonds were sold during the Fifth Loan than in any preceding drive.

Insurance companies and savings banks passed their sales goal of $2.5 billions by $1.8 billions, or 72 percent, as shown in the table at the beginning of this article. Included in the $4.3 billions of total sales to this group are $0.3 billion of sales for which deferred payment was requested. The combined goal for the remaining group of corporations and other investors, which had been set at $7.5 billions, was exceeded by $2.5 billions, or 33 percent. As in the case of insurance companies and savings banks, total sales of $10.0 billions to these remaining corporations and investors included a small amount ($0.1 billion) of sales under the deferred payment plan (mostly to State and local governmental units). The total for this remaining group was divided between $8.2 billions to corporations and associations, $0.5 billion to dealers and brokers, and $1.3 billions to State and local governments, as shown in Table 1.

Included in the figure of $8.2 billions for sales to corporations and associations are minor amounts of purchases by Government corporations and credit agencies. These organizations handle their investments themselves rather than through the facilities of the Treasury Department. In the article on the Fourth War Loan in the March 1944 issue of the "Treasury Bulletin", these organizations were designated as U. S. Government field agencies and their purchases of securities were classified separately in all of the tables on the War Loan. Such purchases are so small, however, (amounting to only $32 millions in the Fifth War Loan) that in the present article they have been classified with those of corporations and associations.

It is interesting to note that sales of securities to State and local governments during the Fifth War Loan, amounting to $1.3 billions, were more than 50 percent higher than the $0.8 billion of Federal securities sold to these units during the Fourth War Loan. State and local governmental surpluses have reached new high levels during the recent war period, and the investment of such funds in Federal securities has been increasing steadily.

Sales of securities during the Fifth War Loan, classified by issues, are summarized in the table below. As already noted, a complete classification of sales by classes of investors and by issues is provided in Table 1 at the end of the article, as well as in Chart 1.

Security	Amount	Percent distribution
	(In millions of dollars)
Nonmarketable issues:
Savings bonds:
Series E.....	3,036	14.7
Series F and G.....	818	4.0
Savings notes, Series C....	2,575	12.5
Total nonmarketable issues.	6,429	31.1
Marketable issues:
7/8% Certificates of indebtedness, 6/1/45.....	4,770	23.1
1-1/4% Treasury notes, 3/15/47.....	1,948	9.4
2% Treasury bonds, 6/15/1952-54.....	5,229	25.3
2-1/2% Treasury bonds, 3/15/1965-70.....	2,263	11.0
Total marketable issues....	14,210	68.9
Total.....	20,639	100.0

As in prior war loan drives, sales of marketable securities predominated, due to the fact that these issues are particularly well adapted to the needs of institutions, governmental units, and business organizations with large blocks of funds to invest. Only one of the nonmarketable issues -- the Series C savings notes -- was available for unlimited purchase by such investors. Sales of the 8-10 year 2 percent Treasury bonds amounted to $5.2 billions and sales of the 7/8 percent certificates were almost as great, amounting to $4.8 billions. Considerably smaller amounts of the 2-1/2 percent Treasury bonds of 1965-70 and of the new 1-1/4 percent Treasury notes were sold during the drive; sales of the 2-1/2 percent bonds amounted to $2.3 billions, and sales of the 1-1/4 percent notes to $1.9 billions.

The more detailed sales figures by classes of investors and by issues, given in Table 1 at the end of the article, show that insurance companies again preferred the 2-1/2 percent Treasury bonds of 1965-70; almost 50 percent of all purchases by insurance companies were in this issue. Inasmuch as the funds of these institutions are available for long-term investment, the insurance companies were able to take advantage of the higher interest rates offered on the long-term bonds. Savings banks, on the other hand, favored the medium-term 2 percent Treasury bonds, which accounted for more than four-fifths of the sales to these institutions.

The group of corporations and associations, which includes the large business organizations of the country, concentrated its purchases heavily in the 7/8 percent certificates and in the Series C savings notes; $5.6 billions out of total sales of $8.2 billions to this group were in these two issues. In addition, substantial amounts ($2.2 billions altogether) of the 1-1/4 percent Treasury notes due March 15, 1947 and the 8-10 year 2 percent Treasury bonds were purchased by corporations and associations. The preference shown by this group for the short- and medium-term issues reflects in part the fact that substantial amounts of these business funds are being set aside only temporarily, in anticipation of the time when they will be needed to finance replacement and expansion during the postwar period.

Although sales to dealers and brokers were included in the drive quotas, they were in a somewhat different category from sales to other business organizations, since dealers and brokers were asked by the Treasury to buy only such securities as they expect to sell shortly to nonbank investors. Sales of securities to this group were concentrated in the medium-term 2 percent Treasury bonds, in the 7/8 percent certificates, and -- to a lesser extent -- in the new 1-1/4 percent Treasury notes due March 15, 1947.

State and local governments exhibited a marked preference for the 7/8 percent certificates of indebtedness and for the 2 percent Treasury bonds. Legal requirements, the need for investing funds which will be used shortly for debt retirement, and a desire to have ready cash at hand in connection with carrying out postwar plans are the main factors influencing the choice of securities by these governmental units.

Sales by States

On the accompanying maps relating to the Fifth War Loan, various classes of sales are shown as percentages of the corresponding quotas in each State. The maps show total sales to all investors, sales to corporations, sales to individuals, and sales of Series E savings bonds. In Table 2, at the end of this article, sales to individuals and to all other classes of investors as a group are compared with the corresponding goals in each State, and in addition, sales and goals for Series E bonds are shown State-by-State. For purposes of this discussion, the District of Columbia and northern and southern California are counted as separate State units. Alaska and Hawaii and the possessions are discussed separately.

All but one of the States surpassed the goals for total sales to all investors (Map 1), and each State exceeded its goal for sales to corporations and other investors by a substantial margin (Map 2). About one-third of the States fell short of achieving their sales quotas for individuals, however (Map 3), and ten of them failed to make their Series E savings bond quotas (Map 4). As in the case of the Fourth War Loan, a group of the mountain and plains States west of the Mississippi River made a particularly good showing with respect to sales of Series E bonds. Wyoming and North Dakota were well ahead of all of the other States in terms of percentage achievement; North Dakota was also the first State to reach its Series E goal. Four other western or midwestern States, namely, New Mexico, Iowa, South Dakota, and Montana were within the group reaching 120 percent or more of Series E goals. East of the Mississippi River, only Alabama sold 120 percent or more of the quota amount for Series E bonds. As in the Fourth War Loan, Hawaii was again particularly successful in selling savings bonds, achieving 122 percent of its Series E quota. It may be noted that seven of the ten States which failed to make their Series E goals were in the highly urbanized eastern industrial area.

Table 3 supplies further information on sales by States. In this table, sales to individuals in each State are broken down between Series E savings bonds, Series F and G savings bonds, and savings notes and marketable securities as a whole; total sales to each of the remaining investor classes are also shown for each State. As in prior war loans, the distribution of sales to insurance companies, savings banks, corporations and associations, and dealers and brokers largely reflects the concentration of the funds of these organizations in the various parts of the country. However, as noted above, the State distribution of sales to corporations was also affected by allocations of statistical credits from one State to another, made by the Federal Reserve Banks in accordance with the wishes of subscribers.

A supplement to this article, and to the current "Treasury Bulletin", is being prepared for early release and will be available upon request. This supplement will consist of additional detailed tables on the Fifth War Loan which will show State figures on sales to each investor class, by type of issue.

Comparison of the Results of the Five War Loans

Chart 2, accompanying this article, shows both the sales and the sales goals during each of the five war loans for (1) all investors, (2) individuals, (3) corporations and other investors (excluding commercial banks), and (4) commercial banks (included only during the first two war loans). In Table 4, at the end of the article, further information on sales of securities by investor classes and by issues is shown for each war loan, and in Table 5, details on the sales goals and the dates relating to the five war loan drives are brought together.

Table 4 shows that while each group of nonbank investors (with the minor exception of dealers and brokers) bought more securities during the Fifth War Loan than during any other drive, there were some changes in the preferences shown for the various types of securities. Marketable issues as a whole accounted for close to 70 percent of total sales in both the Third and Fifth drives, as compared with a little over 61 percent in the Fourth. Sales of the new 1-1/4 percent Treasury notes due March 15, 1947, amounted to $1.9 billions during the Fifth War Loan, and it is probable that the introduction of this issue had some effect in reducing sales of the 7/8 percent certificates, which were a little smaller during the Fifth War Loan than during the Fourth. Sales of the Series C savings notes,

Sales of the long-term 2-1/2 percent Treasury bonds, offered in each of the five drives, were considerably greater during the Fifth War Loan than during the Fourth, although sales of this issue during each of the first three war loans amounted to more than in the two succeeding drives.

In the table below, both dollar amounts of sales to the major classes of investors and the percentage distribution of the sales among these groups are shown for each of the five war loans.

1/ Commercial banks were allowed to buy only $5 billions of Federal securities during each of the first two war loans, and were excluded from direct participation in the Third, Fourth, and Fifth War Loans.

2/ Treasury investment accounts were included in the first three war loans only; during succeeding war loans, sales to these accounts were handled outside of the drive.

Sales to individuals, which accounted for only a small proportion of total sales during the first two drives, are shown to have moved up to 30 percent or more of total sales during the Fourth and Fifth War Loans. The increasing emphasis which the Treasury has put on a wider distribution of securities among individuals is further illustrated in Table 6, which shows that a larger number of units of Series E bonds of all denominations has been sold during each succeeding drive, even though the dollar amount of sales of this issue was smaller during the Fifth War Loan than during the Fourth.

The $10-denomination Series E bond shown in Table 6 was authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury on June 7, 1944, and was made available only to members of the Military and Naval Forces of the United States, through such agencies as might be provided within their respective establishments by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy. As shown in the table, 204 thousands of units of these bonds were sold during the Fifth War Loan.

* Less than $500,000.

1/ Not included in Third, Fourth, and Fifth War Loans.

2/ Includes eleemosynary institutions and United States Government corporations and credit agencies. These Government agencies handle their investments themselves rather than through the facilities of the Treasury Department. In the article on the Fourth War Loan in the March 1944 issue of the "Treasury Bulletin", these organizations were designated as U. S. Government field agencies and their purchases of securities were classified separately in all of the tables. Their purchases are so small, however, that they have been classified in the present article with those of other corporations and associations; such purchases amounted to $32 millions in the First War Loan, $42 millions in the Second, $82 millions in the Third, $49 millions in the Fourth, and $32 millions in the Fifth.

3/ Figures for the Second War Loan exclude amounts distributed or earmarked by dealers and brokers for distribution to nonbank investors; these amounts have been distributed to appropriate nonbank investor classes.

4/ Includes their agencies and their trust, sinking, and investment funds.

5/ Not included in Fourth and Fifth War Loans. Treasury investment accounts represent those United States Government agencies and trust funds whose investments are handled through the facilities of the Treasury Department.

7/ Sales of F and G savings bonds and Series C tax notes to investors other than individuals, partnerships, and personal trust accounts during the First and Second War Loans have been arbitrarily assigned to "corporations and associations".

8/ Figures shown represent net increases in amount of Treasury bills outstanding during months of December 1942 and April 1943, respectively, and have been arbitrarily assigned to commercial banks.

of the United States, through such agencies as might be provided within their respective establishments by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy.

Security Purchases Outside the Fifth War Loan by Commercial Banks and Treasury Investment Accounts

Commercial Banks

Concurrently with the Fifth War Loan commercial banks were permitted to subscribe in limited amounts to the 2 percent and 2-1/2 percent Treasury bonds offered in the drive, and to Series F and Series G savings bonds. The limit, including subscriptions to the 2-1/4 percent and 2-1/2 percent Treasury bonds offered during the Fourth War Loan, and purchases of savings bonds on or after January 1, 1944, was set at 20 percent of savings deposits and time certificates of deposit of individuals and nonprofit corporations or associations (as of the most recent call statement prior to the date of subscribing for the bonds) but not more than $400,000, for any one bank. Of such subscriptions, no more than $100,000 may consist of Series F or Series G bonds (Series 1944) singly or in combination. Subscriptions by commercial banks for the limited investment of time deposits were not considered as part of the Fifth War Loan drive and were not credited to drive quotas.

Purchases of the four securities by commer-

Description of security	Amount purchased (In millions of dollars)
2% Treasury bonds, 6/15/52-54.....	599
2-1/2% Treasury bonds, 3/15/65-70..	53
Series F savings bonds.....	39
Series G savings bonds.....	74
Total.....	765

Treasury Investment Accounts

During the period of the Fifth War Loan, Treasury investment accounts purchased $593 millions of the 2-1/2 percent Treasury bonds offered as part of the War Loan. Here again, however, such purchases were not included in the Fifth War Loan quotas nor credited to Fifth War Loan sales.

Treasury Market Financing: Refunding of August 1 Certificates of Indebtedness

On July 20, 1944, subscription books were opened for the exchange of the 7/8 percent certificates of indebtedness due August 1, 1944, into a new issue of 7/8 percent certificates of indebtedness, to be dated August 1, 1944, and to mature August 1, 1945. The books remained open three days, closing July 22.

The maturing certificates, which had been issued August 2, 1943, to refund an earlier certificate issue and to raise additional cash, were outstanding in the amount of $2,545 millions. Of this amount $2,511 millions were exchanged for the new certificates and $34 millions were left for cash redemptions.

1/ In the fiscal years 1935 and 1936, $91 millions and $554 millions, respectively, were transferred from increment on gold to the working balance for retirement of national bank notes. In this statement, however, charges for retirement of national bank notes are reflected directly against increment on gold in the years during which the retirements were actually made. Inactive gold in the amount of $1,087 millions for the fiscal year 1937 is considered as a part of the working balance.

^{1/} Treasury bills are included in interest-bearing debt figures at face amount, but for purposes of calculating the computed annual interest charge and the computed rate of interest, the discount value is used. For the purposes of computing the annual interest charge and rate of interest on United States savings bonds, Series A-E are considered to yield 2.90 percent per annum and Series F is considered to yield 2.53 percent.

^{2/} Guaranteed securities held by the Treasury, and securities guaranteed as to interest only, are not included in this table.

* Less than $50,000.

1/ These notes were originally designed to help taxpayers set aside funds with which to pay taxes and were known as Treasury tax savings notes. Series A notes were designed for the small and moderate taxpayer; series B and series C notes were intended for the large taxpayer. When the collection of taxes through withholding at the source commenced, the need for series A tax savings notes disappeared and their sale was discontinued. Redemption provisions on series A notes were relaxed to provide for the payment of interest on notes thereafter redeemed for cash (see footnote 3/). Sale of Series C notes, which were designed for the investment of idle cash reserves as well as for the accumulation of tax reserves, was continued and the notes were designated Treasury savings notes.

2/ Includes matured Treasury savings notes.

3/ Series A notes, which were sold from August 1, 1941 through June 22, 1943, yield approximately 1.92 percent per annum. Through June 22, 1943, the notes could be redeemed for cash only at the original purchase price; since that date, the notes have been redeemed for cash at the tax payment value current at the time of presentation.

(See also footnote 1/.) Prior to October 4, 1943, the maximum amount which could be used in payment of each class of tax (income, estate, or gift) by each taxpayer during each taxable year was limited to $5,000 par value; this limitation was removed as of that date.

4/ Series B notes were sold from August 1, 1941 through September 12, 1942, to yield approximately .48 percent per annum. The amount which may be turned in on taxes is unlimited. The notes may be redeemed for cash only at the original purchase price.

5/ Series C notes went on sale September 14, 1942. Interest accrues each month on a graduated scale (see "Treasury Bulletin" for August 1943, page 4) to yield approximately 1.07 percent per annum if held to maturity. These notes may be used in payment of Federal taxes at any time two months after the date of issue. The amount which may be turned in on taxes is unlimited. The notes may be redeemed for cash six months after the date of issue at the tax payment value current at the time of presentation. Prior to July 27, 1943, notice of 30 days was required for cash redemption. See also footnote 1/.

Source: Daily Treasury Statements commencing November 1, 1942; prior thereto, Post Office Department.

- ^{1/} Figures for periods prior to November 1, 1942 are not strictly comparable with subsequent data because of the shift to a Daily Treasury Statement basis. Stamps sold prior to October 1, 1942 were known as postal savings stamps and were obligations of the Postal Savings System but subsequently became public debt obligations.
- ^{2/} Estimated on the basis of samples conducted by the Post Office Department.
- ^{3/} Sales and redemptions commence with May 1, 1941 when the special defense series of stamps went on sale. The amount of the old series of postal savings stamps outstanding on April 30, 1941 was $150 thousands. Details not available for May, June, and July 1941.

^{4/} Includes minor amounts which were exchanged for postal savings certificates. These aggregated $123 thousands for the period August 1, 1941 through June 30, 1942 and $55 thousands for the period July 1, 1942 through October 31, 1942.

^{5/} Net of sales less redemptions. See footnote ^{1/}.

^{6/} Does not include amounts transferred from Postal Savings System to the Treasury to cover outstanding stamps.

Back Figures: The Treasury Survey commenced with data for March 31, 1941 and has been published regularly in the "Treasury Bulletin" since May 1941. Data on banks were reclassified for the period November 1943 through February 1944 and may be found in the "Treasury Bulletin" for May 1944, pages 52-57. Revisions of data on insurance companies for May 31, 1943 and prior months may be found in the "Treasury Bulletin" for November 1943, pages 52-53.

* Less than $500,000 or less than .05 percent.

1/ Excludes Exchange Stabilization Fund.

2/ Guaranteed securities held by the Treasury are not included. Federal securities fall into three broad groups with respect to imposition of Federal income taxes on income derived therefrom. Wholly tax-exempt securities are exempt from both the normal and surtax rates. Partially tax-exempt securities are exempt from the normal rates except that in the case of partially tax-exempt Treasury bonds, interest derived from $5,000 of principal amount owned by any one holder is also exempt from the surtax rates. Taxable securities are subject to both normal and surtax rates.

1/ United States savings bonds, Series A-D, E, and F are shown at current redemption values. They were reported at par by the banks and insurance companies covered in the Treasury Survey but have been adjusted to current redemption values for use in this statement.

2/ Federal securities fall into three broad groups with respect to imposition of Federal income taxes on income derived therefrom. Wholly tax-exempt securities are exempt from both the normal and surtax rates. Partially tax-exempt securities are exempt from the normal rates except that in the case of partially tax-exempt Treasury bonds, interest derived from $5,000 of principal amount owned by any one holder is also exempt from the surtax rates. Taxable securities are subject to both normal and surtax rates. Excludes Exchange Stabilization Fund.

3/ Series A-D savings bonds sold prior to March 1, 1941 were partially tax-exempt; those sold on and after that date were taxable.

5/ Guaranteed securities held by the Treasury are not included.

Basic of Computation: (1) Treasury bond yields are computed on the basis of the mean of closing bid and ask quotations in the over-the-counter market, beginning September 2, 1941; previously, closing prices on the New York Stock Exchange were used on days when sales took place on the Exchange in a particular issue and the mean of closing bid and ask quotations on the New York Stock Exchange on days when no sales took place. (2) Corporate bond yields are computed on the basis of closing prices on the New York Stock Exchange and the New York Curb Exchange; on days when an issue does not sell, the price of the last preceding sale is used.

Back Figures: For monthly and weekly figures back to January 1933, see "Treasury Bulletin" for April 1944, pages 57-61.

3/ Monthly averages of daily figures. Prior to April 1, 1938, corporate bonds are averages of Saturday figures.

4/ On days when the exchanges are closed, the date and prices of the previous day are used.

5/ Indicates change in composition of average.

- 1/ Items in this column are the only ones in this statement which constitute a charge against the Federal Budget. They represent amounts of funds drawn against available appropriations.
- 2/ Except for the R.O.L.C., sales of obligations in the market, as shown in this column, are reduced by the amount of obligations which have been retired (including those which have in effect been refunded through the sale of obligations to the Treasury). In the case of the R.O.L.C., the original amount of obligations sold in the market is shown in this column and the retirement and refunding of these obligations are shown as "Retirement of obligations issued in exchange for mortgages" in the statement of uses of funds.
- 3/ Includes $3,000,000 M.I.R.A.; $97,000,000 R.F.C. included in notes canceled by the Treasury (See footnote 4/); and $143,950,524 restoration of capital impairment, which is net of repayments to the Treasury of $43,756,731 on the basis of March 31, 1940 appraisal, and $27,815,514 on the basis of March 31, 1942 appraisal of the corporation, pursuant to Public Law No. 442 - 75th Congress, approved March 8, 1938.
- 4/ These funds were furnished by the R.F.C. from the proceeds of its notes sold to the Treasury, such amounts being included in the total of obligations of the corporation canceled by the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to the Act of February 24, 1938.

- 5/ The R.F.C. purchased the stock of the Federal home loan banks from the Treasury Department on February 20, 1941. The net effect of this transaction is the same as a sale of stock to other agencies, and is shown as such for purposes of this report.
- 6/ Includes the Electric Home and Farm Authority which was transferred for purposes of liquidation to the R.F.C. by Executive order effective October 31, 1942.
