If Through 1953, contributions to the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Administration Fund were carried in the daily Tressury statement as miscelleneous receipte, while the 1956 Budget document includes them in employment taxes through 1952. This difference in classification accounts for the difference in figures from the two sources. Beginning 1954 the contributions are credited direct to the trust account. For amounts of the contributions included in budget receipts, see "Treasury Bulletin" for February 1954, page 7.

n.a. Not available.

The cash income and outgo of the Federal Government are presented from two points of view in the tables which follow, in line with the differences in reporting bases between the new daily Treasury statement, first issued on February 17, 1954, and the "Monthly Statement of Receipts and Expenditures of the United States Government," initiated at the same time (see April 1954 "Treasury Bulletin," page A-2). The bases differ both in coverage and in timing of the reports.

In coverage the new daily statement reports only transactions which clear through the Treasurer's account. The monthly statement includes transactions of all Government agencies, regardless of whether the transactions clear through the Treasurer's account. In addition, the monthly statement classifies the transactions to show separately budget results and trust account transactions. The net results are then reconciled to changes in the Treasurer's cash belance and in the public debt outstanding as reported in the daily statement.

For the transactions included in both etatements, there are differences in the timing of the reports. Receipta in the monthly statement are principally on a collection basis, while those in the daily statement are on a clearance basis; expenditures in the monthly statement are on a checks-issued basis, while those in the daily statement are on a checks-paid basis. Thus an individual transaction near the end of a month may be reported during that month in one statement and not until the following month in the other. These timing differences tend to correct themselves over a period, but for a given date they must be taken into account in reconciling data from the two reports.

Cash transection figures prior to 1953 are derived from a single source, the old daily Treasury statement, which reaembled the present monthly statement in coverage and in classification of transactione, but for timing was based on information in hand at the end of the reporting period. In the tables which follow, figures from the old daily statement have been adjusted to a coverage as close as possible to that of the new daily by excluding those agency transactions in public debt accurities and in agency obligations in the market which were not cleared through the Treasurer's account.

Table 1 summarizes cash flows through the Treasurer's account as reported in the daily statement. They are grouped in three categories -- cash income, or deposits; cash outgo, or withdrawals; and cash borrowing or repayment of borrowing. The three taken together account for the change in the Treasurer's cash balance.

Tables 2, 3, and 4 show the derivation of these same three categories of cash flows on a monthly statement basia, covering transactions of all Government agencies. These three categories taken together account for the change in cash balance on the monthly statement basis, which includes not only the balance in the Treasurer's account but also the cash held outside the Treasury and the items in transit represented by the clearing accounts. Since there are now reported figures for the cash flows in the Treasurer's account, it is possible to calculate for each category -- income, outgo, and borrowing -- the difference due to differences in reporting bases. The sum of these differences, or reconciliation adjustments. in the three categories, with signs appropriate for their effect on the cash balance, equals the difference in balances between the monthly statement and daily statement. This difference is the combined total of the monthly statement clearing accounte plus cash held outeide the Treasury.

The calculated reconciliation adjustment figures in the tables include both coverage and timing differences. It is no longer possible from the information as reported to the Treasury to asgregate the two kinds of differences even for securities transactions. But such asgregation is not regarded as eignificant for purposes of this analysis, so long as the overall coverage is secured for transactions not cleared through the Treasurer's account, and the figures are on a consistent reporting basis.

Source: Actual figures through 1952 are based on the old daily Treasury statement; actual figures on the new reporting basis are based on the "Monthly Statement of Receipts and Expenditures of the United States Government" and the new daily Treasury statement; estimates are based on the Review of the 1956 Budget, released August 25, 1955. The monthly statement figures for a given month appear in the Bullstin issue following that which carries corresponding daily statement figures in Tabla 1.

For further detail, see "Budget Receipts and Expenditures," Table 1. Deduction from budget receipts of the tax refunds represented by these bonds is treeted as a noncash deduction at the time of issuance

Reflecte transactions of all Government agencies regardless of whather the transactions cleared through the account of the Treasurer of the United States

For explanation of differences in reporting bases beginning 1953, see headnote. except that this amount was increased by $6 billion beginning on August 28, 1954, and ending on June 30, 1956, by acts approved August 28, 1954, and June 30, 1955. Preliminary.

United States savings bonds were first offered in March 1935 and began to mature in March 1945. Series A-D were sold between March 1935 and the end of April 1941, and Series E, F, and G were first offered in May 1941. When Series E began to mature on May 1, 1951, owners of the matured bonds were offered three options: To redsem the bonds in cash in accordance with the original terms; to retain them with an extended maturity of 10 years at specified rates of interest accrual; or to exchange them for Series G bonds. A number of changes became effective May 1, 1952. The principal ones were: The rate of interest accrual on Series E was increased, especially for the near term, with corresponding changes in extended Series E: and Series F and G were replaced by two new issues, Series J and K, also at higher interest rates. A new current-income bond, Series H, similar in interest return to Series E. was offered beginning June 1. For details of these changes see "Treasury Bulletin" for May 1952, page A-1. Series F and G began to mature on May 1, 1953. For the exchange offering made to holders of these bonds maturing through December 31, 1953, see the May 1953 issue, page A-1. The Treasury invited holders of Series F and G which began to mature in January 1954 to reinvest the proceeds in other series of savings bonds. In the tables which follow, Series A-F and J sales are included at issue price and total redemptions and amounts outstanding at current redemption values. Series G, H. and K are included at face value throughout. Matured bonds which have been redeemed are included in redemptions. Matured F and G bonds outstanding are included in the interest-bearing debt until all bonds of the annual aeries have matured, when they are transferred to matured debt upon which interest has ceased.

Details by series on a cumulative basis and by periods for Series A-D combined will be found in the February 1952 and provious issues of the "Treasury Bulletin."

Includes exchanges of matured Series E bonds for Series G bonds beginning May 1951 and for Series K bonds heginning May 1952.

Includes both matured and unmatured bonds; see Table 4.

Includes total value of redemptions not yet classified between matured and unmatured bonde.

A change in procedure, hegiming in June 1954, for proceeding redeemed evinge bonds hee resulted in a high level of redemptions not yet classified between matured and unmatured bonds. This increase temporarily obscures the relationship between the redemption columns showing sales price and accrued discount in Tables 2 through 4 and also the relationship between the matured and unmatured sections of Table 4. (See also footnote 4.) The subsequent distribution of this high level of unclassified redemptions may be large enough in any month to show redemptions of matured bonds for a series in Table 4 which are greater than the total redemptions of that series as shown in Teble 3, and to show a negative in the unmatured section of Table 4. Reductions were made in issues and redemptions of Series E, H, F, G,

J, and K in July 1954 to compensate for the erroneous inclusion of rejecue transactions in June 1954 as reported in the daily Trescury statement. The amounte involved were as follows: $18 million for issues of Series E and E and $17 million for issues of Series F, G, J, and K; and $35 million for unclassified retirements.

Salee began June 1, 1952.

Comparable deta are not aveilable prior to January 1950. Includes exchanges of Series 1941 F and G sevings bonds for Tressury

3-1/4% bonde of 1978-83. Leee than $500,000.

Beginning April 1953, Treesury bond yields are reported to the Treasury by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, based on closing bid quotations in the over-the-counter market. Yields for prior periods were computed on the basis of the mean of closing bid and ask quotations. For definition of taxable bonds, see footnotes to the "Treasury Survey of Ownership" in this issue of the "Treasury Bulletin."

2/ Prior to April 1953, the single series on long-term taxable Treasury bonds included the following: April 1952 through March 1953, bonds neither due nor callable for 12 years; October 1941 through March 1952, bonds seither due nor callable for 15 years. For a discussion of the composition of these Treasury bond averages, see the "Treasury Bulletin" for March 1944, page 58.

Moody's Investore Service average of Asa corporate bonds. This series supersedes the Treasury average of high-grade corporate bonds praviously beginning with the August 1955 issue of the "Treasury Bulletin" this average (bonds due or callable from 10-20 years) replaces the average of those due or callable from 12-20 years, previously shown in this column.

- ahown in this table, which was discontinued after March 1953.

- Annual everage is based on the single long-term series January through March (see footnote 2) and the 10-20 year series thereafter.
 Average covers 8-1/2 months beginning April 15, the inception date of this series.
- 1/ The long-term taxable Treasury bond average was revised beginning April 1, 1952; see footnote 2. The old average for April 1952 was
- 2,62 percent.

 8/ Includes the 3% bonds of February 15, 1995, first quoted on January 28, 1955.
- 9/ Market closed.

Source: Internal Revenue Service reports for detail of collections by type of tax; daily Treasury statement for budget receipts from internal revanue through the fiscal year 1952, and the "Monthly Statement of Receipts and Expenditures of the United States Government" for receipts thereafter. Certain detail by type of tax is available only on the basis of returns filed with the Internal Revenus Service. The figures shown include collections for credit to special accounts for certain island possessions, as reported by the Internal Revenue Service. June 1955 is the latest month for which complete information has been released as yet by the Internal Revenue Service. Differences between the amounts of internal revenue reported by the Internal Revenue Service as collections for given periode and the amounts reported in Treasury statemente as budget receipts for the same periods arise because of differences in the time when payments are included in the respective reports. Tax payments are included in budget receipts when they are reported as credits to the account of the Treasurer of the United States. Prior to July 1954, they were included in Internal Revenue Service collection reports after the returns to which they applied had been received in internal revenue Under procedure begun in 1950 with withheld income tax officee. and old-age insurance taxes and later extended to railroad retirement taxes and many excises, these taxes are paid currently into Treasury depositaries and the depositary receipts, as evidence of such payment, are attached to quarterly returns to the Internal Revenue Service. Under this procedure, the payments are included in budget receipts in the month in which the depositary receipte are issued to the taxpayers.

Revised accounting procedures effective July 1, 1954, extended the same practice to Internal Revenue Service collection reports. Monthly figuree include old-age insurance tax on self-employment income, which is levied and collected as part of the individual income tax beginning with the taxable year 1951. Fiscal year figures exclude this tax, on the besis of estimates beginning

1952 (eee footnote 3), and it is included under "Old-age insurence taree

Withheld income tax and old-age insurance taxes on employers and employees are paid into the Treasury in combined amounts beginning January 1951. In Internal Revenue Service reports, current collections have not been separated as to type of tax but the breakdown shown for fiscal years beginning 1951 is based on setimates made in accordance with provisions of Sec. 109 (a) (2) of the Social Security Act Amendments of 1950, for transfer of tax re ceipts to the Federal Old-Age and Survivore Insurance Trust Fund. New reporting basis beginning with the fiscal year 1953; for explanation, see footnote on page 1. Beginning July 1954, collections shown include undistributed depositary receipts. It will be noted that for excise taxes the undistributed depositary receipts are included in the total only.

Repealed for years ending after June 30, 1945. Beginning 1951, included under "Miscellaneous taxes."

Data relating to capital movements between the United States and foreign countries have been collected since 1935, pursuant to Executive Order 6560 of January 15, 1934, Executive Order 10033 of February 8, 1949, and Treasury regulations promulgated thereunder. Information covering the principal types of data and the principal countries is reported monthly, and is published regularly in the "Treasury Bulletin." Supplementary information is published at less frequent intervals. Reports by banks, bankers, securities brokers and dealers, and industrial and commercial concerns in the United States are made initially to the Federal Reserve Banks, which forward consolidated figures to the Treasury. Beginning April 1954, data reported by banks in the Territories and possessions of the United States are included in the published deta.

The term "foreigner" as used in these reports covers all institutions and individuals domiciled outside the United States and its Territories and possessions, the official institutions of foreign countries, wherever such institutions may be located, and international organizations. "Short-term" refers to original maturities of one year or less, and "long-term" refers to all other maturities. A detailed discussion of the reporting coverage, statistical presentation, and definitions appeared in the June 1954 issue of the "Treasury Bulletin," pages 45-47. As a result of changes in presentation introduced in that issue, not all breakdowns previously published will be exactly comparable to those now presented.

The first three sections which follow are published monthly. They provide summaries, by periods and by countries, of data on short-term banking liabilities to and claims on foreigners and transactions in long-term securities by foreigners, and present detailed breakdowns of the latest available preliminary data.

Section IV provides supplementary data in five tables which appear at less frequent intervals. Table 1, short-term foreign liabilities and claims reported by nonfinancial concerne, is published quarterly in the January, April, July, and October issues of the Bulletin. Table 2, long-term foreign liabilities and claims reported by banks and bankers, and Table 3, estimated gold and short-term dollar resources of foreign countries, are published quarterly in the March, June, September, and December issues. Table 4, foreign credit and debit balances in brokerage accounts, appears semiannually in the March and September issues. Table 5, short-term liabilities to foreigners in countries and areas not regularly reported separately by banking institutions, is presented annually in the April issue.
