Reporting Bases

Date on receipte, expenditures, and debt which appear in the "Treasury Bulletin" are besed largely on two Treasury" and the "Monthly Statement of the United States Treasury" and the "Monthly Statement of Receipte and Expenditures of the United States Coverment." Certain sometary statistics are based at least in part on the "Circulation Statement of United States Money." Where these statements are given as sources for individual tables, they are cited by name only. Their respective reporting bases are described below. For other data in the Sullatin, information on sources or reporting bases is given in connection with the tables themselves.

The monthly estament of receipte and expenditures was first published for February 195%, and replaced the daily statement as the primary source of information on budget results and other receipt and expenditure data olsesified by type of account. At the same time, the daily statement was changed to a statement of cash deposite and withdrewals effecting the account of the Treasurer of the Daited States. Both publications have provided comparative figures on their respective bases from the beginning of the fiscal year 1953. The announcement of February 17, 195%, with respect to these reporting changes may be found in the April 195% issue of the Bulletin.

The monthly etatement shows all receipts and expenditures of the Government, including those made from cash accounts held outside the Onited States Treasury. The information is compiled from reports by the Treasurer of the United States and by all other collecting and disbursing agencies, including those agencies which smintsin obsoking accounts in commercial banks. These reports cover transactions recorded in the accounts of the agencies during the reporting period. The net of the transactions as compiled from these reports is reconciled in the monthly etatement to changes in the balance in the Treasurer's account and changes in the public debt outstanding.

Receipts of taxes and customs duties are reported on a collections basis. Other receipts are reported partially on a collections basis and partially one deposite basis. Expenditures, except interest on the public debt, are reported on the basis of obsoke issued or cash payments made by disbursing officers. Transactions of an interfund or intragovernmental nature are included on the same basis even though the actual issuance of obsoks may not be involved. Interest on the public debt is included on ac accrual basis beginning with figures for June 1955 and the fiscal year 1955. Frior to that, it was included on a due and payable basis. The same reporting basis as that in the monthly statement or fiscal year figures for the Treasury's "Combined Statement or Receipts, Expenditures and Balances of the United States Overnment" and for actual receipts and expenditures in the "Badget of the United State Overnment."

The daily statement on the new basis was first issued for February 17, 1954. In the deposite and withdrawals as shown, no distinction is made as to the type of accounts (budget, trust, sto.). The deposite are on the basis of certificates of deposit cleared through the account of the Treasurer of the United States. Total withdrawale are on the basis of checke paid or cash disbureements made out of the Treasurer's account. Some of the withdrawal classifications shown are reported on the basis of mailed reports of checks issued and are adjusted by means of olsaring accounts to the total of checke paid. Except for relatively minor amounts, noncash interfund and other intragovernmental transactions are excluded. The public debt figuree in the daily etatement also are on a "olearance" basis, with the exception of those issuance and retirement transactions reported on the basis of telegrams from Federal Reserve Banks. Noncash debt transactions are included, however.

The daily estatement before February 17, 195%, covered not only transactions cleared through the Treasurer's account but also certain Government agency transections which were hanaled through commercial bank accounts, and included noneach interfund and other intragovernmental transactions. It provided information similar to that in the present daily statement with respect to the status of the Transurer's account, and similar to that in the present end-of-month daily statement with respect to debt issuance, retirement, and amount outstanding. Receipts and expenditures, however, were classified by type of secount, and the budget results shown in the daily statement were used as the besis for reflecting the results under the Fresident's budget program as enacted by the Congress.

Receipts were on the basis of deposite as thay oleared the Treasurer's account expenditures cleared through the Treasurer's account were reported on two successive bases. Through 1945 they were on the basis of checks paid by the Treasurer of the United States. Beginning with 1947, expenditures made through the facilities of the Treasury Department's Division of Disburgessent were on the basis of checks issued, while certain others, principally those of the Department of Defense and its predecesor organizations, were on the basis of checks paid. Transactions handled through commercial bank accounts, consisting of market transactions in public debt and guaranted securities, were as reported by the agencies. Interest on the public debt was included on a due and payable basis beginning with November 1949 and on a check-paid beste prior to that time.

The circulation statument reflects transactions through the Tressurer's account which affect monetary stocke of gold and silver and the anounts of coin and currency in the money supply of the country. It is issued later than the daily statement, however, and the figures are based on transactions consummated during the reporting period even though some may not have cleared the Tressurer's account during that period.

Treasury Financing Operations

91-Day Bills Refunded

New issues of 91-day Treasury bills totaled $6.9 billion in June, refunding equivalent weekly maturities. The first was for $1.8 billion and the others were for $1.7 billion each. Average rates of discount on the new issues were 0.723 percent for June 5; 0.841 percent for June 12; 0.953 percent for June 19; and 1.006 percent for June 26.

Note: Details of Treasury market financing operations are shown elsewhere in this issue of the "Treasury Bulletin," in the tables on "Offerings," "Allotments," and "Disposition," respectively, of marketable issues of bonds, notes, and certificates of indebtedness, and in the table "Offerings of Treasury Bills."

The cash income and outgo data appearing in the "Treasury Bulletin," beginning with the February 1956 issue, are on a basis consistent with receipts from and payments to the public as derived in the 1957 and subsequent Budgets of the United States, Special Analysis A. Reconciliation to cash deposits and withdrawals in the account of the Treasurer of the United States is shown on the same basis as in the Budget documents. There is also shown the amount of net cash borrowing from, or repayment of borrowing to, the public. By these arrangements, data in accordance with the Budget classifications are made available month by month. Figures for back years have been revised where necessary in order to make them as nearly comparable with the Budget classifications as available data will permit. For this reason certain of the figures differ somewhat from those published in earlier Budget documents as well as in the Bulletin.

The Budget series of cash transactions is designed to provide information on the flow of money between the public and the Federal Government as a whole, and therefore includes transactions not cleared through the Treasurer's account. Receipts and payments include transactions both in budget accounts and in trust and deposit fund accounts. Operations of Government-sponeored enterprises are included in payments on a net basis as reflected in Treasury reports. Major intragovernmental transactions which are reported as both expenditures and receipts are eliminated from both. Noncash items which represent accrued obligations of the Government to make payments in the future are also eliminated from expenditures but are added later when actual payments are made. Receipts from the exercise of monetary authority (mostly selgnlorage on silver) are excluded as not representing cash received from the public. Federal cash borrowing from the public includes net borrowing by the Treasury through public debt transactions and also net borrowing by Government agencies and Government-sponsored enterprises through sales of their own securities. It excludes changes in the public debt which do not represent direct cash borrowing from the public. The net effect of all these transactions with the public is reflected in changes in the balance in the Treasurer's account and in cash held outside the Treasury.

Cash transactions through the Treasurer's account are similar in general concept to those included in the Budget series, but are limited in coverage to transactions which affect the balance in that account. On the other hand, they include receipts from the exercise of monetary authority, which are excluded from receipts from the public in the Budget series.

Beginning with figures for the fiscal year 1953, the series of transactions with the public is based on the "Monthly Statement of Receipts and Expenditures of the United States Government," which is compiled from reports by all collecting and disbursing officers and includes those transactions not cleared through the Treasurer's account. Cash deposits and withdrawals in the Treasurer's account, beginning with the figures for the same year, are reported in daily Treasury statements. For those years prior to 1953 both cash transactions series are based on a single source, namely, the earlier basis of daily Treasury statements which reported separate classifications for budget results, trust account transactions, etc.

Source and Availability of the Balance in the Treasurer's Account

The account of the Treasurer of the United States reflects not only budget receipts and expenditures but also trust, deposit fund, and public debt transactions.

The working cash of the Treasury is beld mainly in Treasurer's accounts with Federal Reserve Banks and branches. As the balances in these accounts become depleted, they are restored by calling in (transferring) funds from the tex and loan accounts with thousands of commercial banks throughout the country.

Deposits to tax and loan accounts occur in the normal course of business under a uniform procedure applicable to all banks whereby customers of banks deposit with them tax payments and funds for the purchase of Government securities. In most cases the transaction involves merely the transfer of money from a customer's account to the tax and loan account in the same bank. On occasions, to the extent authorized by the Treasury, banks are permitted to deposit in these accounts proceeds from subscriptions to public debt securities entered for their own account as well as for the account of their customers.

The tax and loan account system permits the Treasury to leave funds in banks and in the communities in which they arise until such time as the Treasury needs the funds for its operatione. In this way the Treasury is able to neutralize the effect of its fluctuating operations on bank reserves and the economy.

A detailed description of the Treasury's depositary system may be found in the Annual Report of the Secretary of the Treasury for 1955, pages 275-284.

disbursing accounts are no longer treated as liability accounts of the Treasurer of the United States, but are classified and treated in the same samer as other disbursing accounts, in accordance with the change in method of reporting Fost Office transactions (see "Budget Receipte and Expenditures," Table 2). An adjustment of $207 million in the balance in the Treasurer's account (and in the "Glearing account") reflects this change.

^{1/} Consists of Treasurer's checks outstanding, reserve and other deposits of Board of Trustees of the Postal Savings System, uncollected items, exchanges, stc., beginning December 1954; prior to that time included also Post Office Department and Postmesters' disbursing accounts (see Note: The computed annual loterest charge represents the amount of interest that would be paid if each interest-bearing issue outstanding at the end of each month of year should reasilo outstanding for eyear at the applicable annual rate of interest. The charge is computed for each issue by applying the appropriate annual interest rate to the amount outstanding on that date. The aggregate charge for all interest-bearing issues constitutes the total computed annual interest charge. The everage annual interest rate is computed by dividing the computed annual interest charge for the total, or for any group of issues, by the corresponding principal amount.

| Excludes guaranteed securities held by the Treasury.
| Totel includes "Other bonds"; see Teble 2.
| Included in debt outstanding et fece amount, but discount value is used in computing annual interest charge and annual interest rate.

1/ The annual interest charge and ennual interest rate on United States savings bonds are computed on the besis of the rate to maturity applied against the amount outstanding.

United States savings bonds were first offered in March 1935 and began to mature in March 1945. Series A-D were sold between March 1935 and the end of April 1941, and Series E, F, and G were first offered in May 1941. When Series E began to mature on May 1, 1951, owners of the matured bonds were offered three options: To redeem the bonds in cash in accordance with the original terms: to retain them with an extended maturity of 10 years at specified rates of interest accrual; or to exchange them for Series G bonds. A number of changes became effective May 1, 1952. The principal ones were: The rate of interest accrual on Series E was increased, especially for the near term, with corresponding changes in extended Series E; and Series F and G were replaced by two new issues, Series J and K, also at higher interest rates. A new current-income bond, Series H, similar in interest return to Series E, was offered beginning June 1. Details of these changes appear in the May 1952 Bulletin, page A-1. Series F and G began to mature on May 1, 1953. For the exchange offering made to holders of these bonds maturing through December 31, 1953, see the May 1953 issue, page A-1. Sales of Series Jand K were discontinued after April 30,1957. An increase in interest rates on Series Eand H was announced on April 20,1957, retroactive to February 1. Details of the changes appear in the May 1957 Bulletin, page A-1. In the tables which follow, Series A-F and J sales are included at issue price and total redemptions and amounts outstanding at current redemption values. Series G, H, and K are included at face value throughout. Matured bonda which have been redeemed are included in redemptions. Matured F and G bonds outstanding are included in the interestbearing debt until all bonds of the annual series have matured, when they are transferred to matured debt upon which interest has ceased.

Internal Revenue Service reports for detail of collections by type ror internal revenue service reports to detail to collections by type of tax; deally Treasury statement for budget receipts from internal revenue through the fleedly year 1952, and the monthly statement of re-ceipts and expenditures of the Government for receipts thereafter (for explanation of reporting bease in these publications, see page 11). Certain detail by type of tax is swallable only from returns filed with the Internal Revenue Service. The figures shown include collections for credit to special accounts for certain island possessions, as reported by the Internal Revenus Service. Beginning with the fiscal year 1955, they include the amounte of tax collected in Puerto Rico upon articles merchandise of Puerto Rican manufecture coming into the United States. Figures for 1954 have been revised to the same basis. Figures for pre vious years include only amounts collected at ports of entry into the United States. Differences between the amounts of internal revenue reported by the Internal Revenue Service es collections for given periods and the amounts reported in Treasury etetements as budget receipts for the same periods arose because of differences in the time when payments were included in the respective reports. Tax payments are included in budget receipts when they are reported se credits to the account of the Treasurer of the United States. Prior to July 1954, they were included in Internal Revenus Service collection reports after the returns to which they applied had been received in internal revenue offices. Under procedure begun in 1950 with withheld income tax and old-age insurance taxes and leter extended to railroad retirement taxes and many excises, these taxes are peid currently into Tressury depositaries and the depositary receipts, se evidence of such payments, are attached to quarterly returns to the Internal Revenue Service.

Under this procedure, the payments are included in budget receipts in the month in which the depositary receipts are issued to the taxpeyers. Revised accounting procedures effective July 1, 1954, extended the same practice to Internal Revenue Service collection reports.

2/ Monthly figures include social security tax on self-employment income, which is levied and collected as part of the individual income beginning with the taxable year 1951. Fiscal year figures exclude this tax, on the besis of estimates beginning 1958 (see footnots 3), and it is included under "Old-age and disability insurance."

[3] In Internal Revenue Service reports beginning January 1951, current collections beve not been separated as to type of tex but the breakdown shown for fiscal years is based on estimates made in accordance with provisions of Sec. 201 of the Social Security Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 401), for transfer of tax receipts to the trust funds (see "Budget Receipts and Expenditures," Teble 1).

by Beginning with the fiscal year 1955, collections shown include undistributed depositary receipts and unapplied collections. For excise taxes these receipts are included in the total only. Total collections include "Taxes not other-wise classified."

Budget receipts for 1956 were reduced by $3,566 thousand representing tax collections transfarred to the Government of Guam pursuant to the ect epproved August 1, 1950 (64 Stet. 392), but this emount was included in collections reported by the Internal Revenue Service Beginning with 1957, such collections are excluded also in Internal Revenue Service reports.

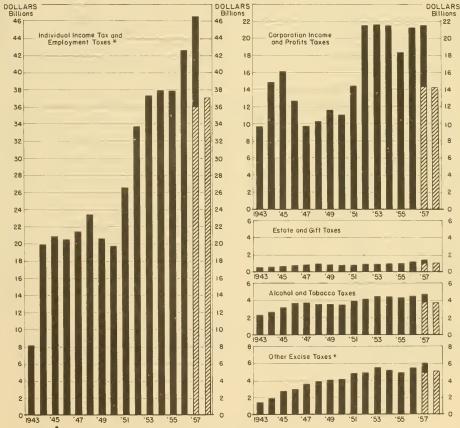

6/ Repealed for years ending efter June 30, 1945. Beginning 1951, included under "Miscellansous excise taxes

7/ Detail is reported by quarters beginning with the fiscal year 1956.

Data relating to capital movements between the United States and foreign countries have been collected since 1935, pursuant to Executive Order 6560 of January 15, 1934, Executive Order 10033 of February 8, 1949, and Treasury regulations promulgated thereunder. Information covering the principal types of data and the principal countries is reported monthly, and is published regularly in the "Treasury Bulletin." Supplementary information 1s published at less frequent intervals. Reports by banks, bankers, securities brokers and dealers, and industrial and commercial concerns in the United States are made initially to the Federal Reserve Banks, which forward concolidated figures to the Treasury. Beginning April 1954, data reported by banks in the Territories and possessions of the United States are included in the published data.

The term "foreigner" as used in these reports covers all institutions and individuals domiciled outside the United States and its Territories and possessions, the official institutions of foreign countries, wherever such institutions may be located, and international organizations. "Short-term" refers to original maturities of one year or less, and "long-term" refers to all other maturities. A detailed discussion of the reporting coverage, statistical presentation, and definitions appeared in the June 1954 issue of the "Treasury Eulletin," pages 45-47. As a result of changes in presentation introduced in that issue, not all breakdowns previously published will be exactly comparable to those now presented

The first three sections which follow are published monthly. They provide summaries, by periods and by countries, of data on short-term banking liabilities to and claims on foreigners and transactions in long-term securities by foreigners, and present detailed breakdowns of the latest available preliminary data.

Section IV provides supplementary data in five tables which appear at less frequent intervals. Table 1, short-term foreign liabilities and claims reported by non-financial concerns, is published quarterly in the January, April, July, and October issues of the Bulletin. Table 2, long-term foreign liabilities and claims reported by banks and bankers, and Table 3, estimated gold reserves and dollar holdings of foreign countries and international institutions, are published quarterly in the March, June, September, and December issues. Table 4, foreign credit and debit balances in brokerage accounts, appears semi-annually in the March and September issues. Table 5, short-term liabilities to foreigners in countries and areas not regularly reported separately by banking institutions, is presented annually in the April issue.
