Profile of the Economy

Growth of real gross domestic product

REAL GROSS DOMESTIC PRODUCT (GDP) grew by 4.1 percent across the four quarters of 1994, the strongest showing since 1987. Since then, growth has slowed to a more sustainable pace, rising by 2.8 percent at an annual rate in the first quarter of 1995, in line with the Administration's expectations for slower growth this year.

Consumer spending slowed in the first quarter after very rapid gains last year, particularly for automobiles and other consumer durable goods. Business investment spending, essential for strong growth in productivity and wages, continued to rise sharply and should help to maintain growth in overall GDP through the rest of the year. There was some excess inventory buildup in the first quarter, which may be worked down in the coming quarters.

Inflation as measured by the fixed-weighted price index for GDP increased at a 3.1 percent annual rate in the first quarter, up a bit from the final quarter of 1994 but in line with the gain over all of last year.

Consumer and producer prices

Inflation remained extremely favorable through 1994, the fourth year of expansion. The consumer price index (CPI) rose by 2.7 percent during the 12 months of 1994, the same as in 1993.

Core inflation, or the CPI less food and energy, slowed to 2.6 percent in 1994 compared with 3.2 percent in 1993. This pace was the lowest in nearly 30 years.

The producer price index (PPI) for finished goods rose by 1.7 percent, while the core index increased by 1.6 percent over all of 1994. Growth in the total PPI and the core rate remained low in 1994 after exceptionally small increases in 1993.

Prices have picked up a bit so far in 1995 but remain moderate. Consumer prices increased at a 3.6 percent annual rate through the first 4 months of the year and producer prices were up at a 3.4 percent annual rate.

Real disposable personal income and consumer spending

Growth of personal income improved in 1994, reflecting stronger job growth as well as an increase in interest income after declines tied to falling interest rates over the prior 3 years.

Real disposable (after-tax) personal income rose by 4.4 percent through the four quarters of 1994, up from 1.6 percent during 1993. In the first quarter of 1995, growth in real disposable personal income continued at a steady pace, rising at a 4.4 percent annual rate.

Real consumer spending rose by 3.5 percent in 1994, the third successive year of growth. The pace of spending was especially high in the final quarter of the year, but then slowed considerably in the first quarter of 1995.

The personal savings rate averaged 4.1 percent in both 1994 and 1993, compared with readings of roughly 5.0 percent in the prior 2 years. In the first quarter of 1995, the savings rate moved up to 5.2 percent.

Industrial production and capacity utilization

Industrial production in manufacturing, mining, and utilities expanded by 6.1 percent over the 12 months of 1994. Output in manufacturing grew by 7.0 percent during 1994 and accounted for 85 percent of the total. This increase was spurred by strong growth for computer equipment, electrical machinery, and rubber and plastic products.

Growth in industrial production has slowed since the end of 1994, particularly in manufacturing. Factory output increased at just a 0.6 percent annual rate in the first quarter after a very rapid 11.4 percent rate of expansion in the fourth quarter, and in April manufacturing output declined.

Capacity utilization tightened last year as production expanded, but has eased a bit in recent months. The capacity utilization rate reached 85.6 percent in January, well above its long-term average and above its pre-recession peak, but has since dipped back below 85.0 percent.

Employment and unemployment

Job growth has slowed in 1995 after accelerating last year. In 1994, employment growth as measured by the survey of nonfarm establishments averaged 292,000 a month, totaling almost 3-1/2 million new jobs over the entire year. This compares with average monthly gains of 194,000 in 1993 and just 96,000 in 1992. Through the first 4 months of 1995, monthly job gains averaged 173,000, but figures for April may have been greatly understated because of unusual seasonal adjustment patterns.

Job growth has been especially strong in the private sector, which accounted for more than nine out of every ten new jobs. Service industries added the most new jobs, while construction employment rose by more than 370,000 since the beginning of 1994 and jobs in manufacturing increased by 310,000.

The unemployment rate fell from 6.7 percent at the start of 1994 to just 5.4 percent in December and February. It has since moved up to 5.8 percent.

Nonfarm productivity and unit labor costs

Growth of nonfarm productivity, or output per workhour, slowed to a 0.7 percent annual rate in the first quarter of 1995. This followed a jump at a 4.0 percent rate in the final quarter of 1994. Over all of last year, productivity growth was 2.0 percent, a bit faster than the 1.8 percent recorded during 1993.

The slowdown in 1995 reflected a much lower rate of growth in output after a very rapid gain late in 1994. Hours of all persons also slowed, but not as much as output.

Productivity in manufacturing remained strong, rising at a 3.6 percent annual pace in the first quarter of this year compared with 3.4 percent in the fourth quarter.

Unit labor costs remained low in 1994, rising by 1.3 percent over the year after edging up just 0.6 percent across the four quarters of 1993. Unit labor costs picked up in the first quarter of 1995, mainly due to the dramatic slowdown in productivity growth.

Current account balance

The current account balance is the most comprehensive measure of U.S. international transactions. The current account deficit widened from a recent low of $50 billion in 1991, excluding Desert Storm contributions, to $156 billion in 1994. Much of this reflects the economic recovery here, which has been drawing in imports at a faster pace than the rate of expansion in exports.

Much of the widening was accounted for by an increase in the merchandise trade deficit, which rose to $166 billion in 1994 from $133 billion in 1993. There was a surplus of $60 billion in services, in line with figures from the previous 2 years.

The balance on income payments, which includes interest, dividends, and direct investment income, shifted to a deficit of $15 billion in 1994 from a surplus of $4 billion in 1993. Payments on foreign assets in the U.S. rose much more sharply than receipts on U.S. assets abroad, as interest rates and profits rose in this country faster than they did overseas.

Exchange rate of the dollar

The dollar has been declining steadily since January 1994, with an interruption in the fall of last year. Declines have been steepest against the yen and the German mark (DM), with more moderate decreases against currencies of other trading partners. In the case of the Canadian dollar and especially the Mexican peso, the dollar has appreciated.

The dollar declined about 6-1/2 percent over 1994, based on the Federal Reserve Board's trade-weighted index of the dollar against G-10 currencies. Since the end of 1994, the dollar has declined by another 9.0 percent, mainly against the yen and the DM.

Many factors determine the level of exchange rates in international currency markets. The large U.S. current account deficit has likely played a role. Underlying economic fundamentals in the United States remain sound, however.

Interest rates

As the economic expansion continued full steam through 1994, the Federal Reserve Board made seven tightening moves between February 1994 and this past February as a pre-emptive measure to avoid the threat of future inflation. The Federal Reserve Board raised the discount rate and the target for the Federal funds rate.

These actions translated into a rise of roughly 300 basis points, or three percentage points, in short-term rates. Long-term rates also increased from the lows reached in October 1993. The yield on the 30-year Treasury bond reached a recent peak of 8.1 percent in November.

Since then, long-term interest rates have declined as the pace of economic growth has slowed to a more sustainable rate consistent with low inflation. The yield on the 30-year bond is now close to 7.0 percent.

Housing

The housing market was one of the engines of growth powering the economy during the expansion of 1994. Housing starts increased from 1.29 million units in 1993 to 1.46 million in 1994, the highest since 1988. Growth in employment and income and the lowest mortgage interest rates in nearly 25 years spurred housing activity.

By the end of 1994, the housing market began to experience the effects of tighter monetary restraint. Higher mortgage interest rates late in 1994 contributed to a 14.0 percent drop in housing starts in the first quarter of 1995.

Since reaching a current peak in late 1994, mortgage interest rates have eased by almost one percentage point. Sales of both new and existing single-family homes improved in March in response to the moderation in rates. The outlook is for a steady level of activity in the housing sector through the rest of the year.

Federal budget deficit

In fiscal 1994, the Federal budget deficit fell to $204 billion, $51 billion lower than the $255 billion deficit in fiscal 1993 and $86 billion below the record $290 billion deficit in fiscal 1992. The 2-year drop was the largest in history.

Strong economic growth and passage of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993 were responsible for the improvement. Outlays rose by only 3.7 percent in fiscal 1994, while revenues expanded by 9.0 percent.

The deficit is projected to decline further in fiscal 1995 to $193 billion. Half-way through the year, the deficit is running below its expected pace and is on track to come in even lower. This would mark the third straight year of deficit reduction, the first such successive declines since the Truman Administration.

In fiscal 1994, the deficit represented 3.1 percent of GDP. By fiscal 2000, it is projected to decline to just 2.1 percent of GDP, the lowest since 1979.

Net national saving and investment

National saving, net of depreciation, rose to 3.4 percent of the net national product (NNP) in 1994 from 2.1 percent in 1993 and a postwar trough of 1.2 percent in 1992. Although the savings rate has improved in the past 2 years, it is still low by historical standards. The rate averaged 8.0 percent or more in the 1950's through the 1970's.

The main source of the recent improvement was a reduction of Government dissaving to 3.3 percent of NNP by 1994 from 6.0 percent in 1992. This is still considerably greater than in the 1950's and 1960's, when it accounted for less than 1.0 percent of NNP. Private saving, at 6.7 percent last year, was down from 7.0 percent in 1993 and below averages of more than 9.5 percent in the 1960's and 1970's.

Total net investment was up to 2.9 percent of NNP in 1994 from 2.1 percent in 1993 and a low of 1.4 percent in 1992. Net investment had averaged over 8.0 percent until the 1980's. In 1994, domestic investment rose to 5.3 percent of NNP from 3.7 percent the previous year. Foreign inflows also increased. Domestic investment had averaged near 8.0 percent of NNP in the 1950's through the 1970's. ◇

INTRODUCTION: Federal Fiscal Operations

Budget authority usually takes the form of appropriations that allow obligations to be incurred and payments to be made. Reappropriations are Congressional actions that extend the availability of unobligated amounts that have expired or would otherwise expire. These are counted as new budget authority in the fiscal year of the legislation in which the reappropriation act is included, regardless of when the amounts were originally appropriated or when they would otherwise lapse.

Obligations generally are liquidated by the issuance of checks or the disbursement of cash--outlays. Obligations may also be liquidated (and outlays recorded) by the accrual of interest on public issues of Treasury debt securities (including an increase in redemption value of bonds outstanding); or by the issuance of bonds, debentures, notes, monetary credits, or electronic payments.

Refunds of collections generally are treated as reductions of collections, whereas payments for earned-income tax credits in excess of tax liabilities are treated as outlays. Outlays during a fiscal year may be for payment of obligations incurred in prior years or in the same year. Outlays, therefore, flow in part from unexpended balances of prior year budget authority and from budget authority provided for the year in which the money is spent. Total outlays include both budget and off-budget outlays and are stated net of offsetting collections.

Receipts are reported in the tables as either budget receipts or offsetting collections. They are collections from the public, excluding receipts offset against outlays. These, also called governmental receipts, consist mainly of tax receipts (including social insurance taxes), receipts from court fines, certain licenses, and deposits of earnings by the Federal Reserve system. Refunds of receipts are treated as deductions from gross receipts.

Offsetting collections from other Government accounts or the public are of a business-type or market-oriented nature. They are classified as either collections credited to appropriations or fund accounts, or offsetting receipts (i.e., amounts deposited in receipt accounts). The former normally can be used without appropriation act by Congress. These occur in two instances: (1) when authorized by law, amounts collected for materials or services are treated as reimbursements to appropriations, and (2) in the three types of revolving funds (public enterprise, intragovernmental, and trust); collections are netted against spending, and outlays are reported as the net amount.

Offsetting receipts in receipt accounts cannot be used without appropriation. They are subdivided into two categories: (1) proprietary receipts, or collections from the public, offset against outlays by agency and by function, and (2) intra-governmental funds, or payments into receipt accounts from governmental appropriation or fund accounts. They finance operations within and between Government agencies and are credited with collections from other Government accounts.

Intrabudgetary transactions are subdivided into three categories: (1) interfund transactions--payments are from one fund group (either Federal funds or trust funds) to a receipt account in the other fund group; (2) Federal intrafund transactions--payments and receipts both occur within the Federal fund group; and (3) trust intrafund transactions--payments and receipts both occur within the trust fund group.

Offsetting receipts are generally deducted from budget authority and outlays by function, subfunction, or agency. There are four types of receipts, however, that are deducted from budget totals as undistributed offsetting receipts. They are: (1) agencies' payments (including payments by off-budget Federal entities) as employers into employees' retirement funds; (2) interest received by trust funds; (3) rents and royalties on the Outer Continental Shelf lands; and (4) other interest (i.e., that collected on Outer Continental Shelf money in deposit funds when such money is transferred into the budget).

The Government has used the unified budget concept as a foundation for its budgetary analysis and presentation since 1969. The concept calls for the budget to include all of the Government's fiscal transactions with the public. Since 1971, however, various laws have been enacted removing several Federal entities from (or creating them outside of) the budget. Other laws have moved certain off-budget Federal entities onto the budget. Under current law, the off-budget Federal entities consist of the two Social Security trust funds, Federal old-age and survivors insurance, and Federal disability insurance.

Although an off-budget Federal entity's receipts, outlays, and surplus or deficit ordinarily are not subject to targets set by the congressional resolution, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (commonly known as the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act) included off-budget surplus or deficit in calculating deficit targets under that act and in calculating excess deficit. Partly for this reason, attention has focused on both on- and off-budget receipts, outlays, and deficit of the Government.

Tables FFO-1, FFO-2, and FFO-3 are published quarterly and cover 5 years of data, estimates for 2 years, detail for 13 months, and fiscal year-to-date data. They provide a summary of data relating to Federal fiscal operations reported by Federal entities and disbursing officers, and daily reports from the Federal Reserve banks. They also detail accounting transactions affecting receipts and outlays of the Government and off-budget Federal entities and their related effect on assets and liabilities of the Government. Data are derived from the Monthly Treasury Statement of Receipts and Outlays of the United States Government.

- Table FFO-1 summarizes the amount of total receipts, outlays, and surplus or deficit, as well as transactions in Federal securities, monetary assets, and balances in Treasury operating cash.

- Table FFO-2 includes on- and off-budget receipts by source. Amounts represent income taxes, social insurance taxes, net contributions for other insurance and retirement, excise taxes, estate and gift taxes, customs duties, and net miscellaneous receipts.

- Table FFO-3 details on- and off-budget outlays by agency.

- Table FFO-4 (Fall issue) summarizes internal revenue collections by States and other areas and by type of tax. Amounts reported are collections made in a fiscal year. They span several tax liability years because they consist of prepayments (i.e., estimated tax payments and taxes withheld by employers for individual income and Social Security taxes), of payments made with tax returns, and of subsequent payments made after tax returns are due or are filed (i.e., payments with delinquent returns or on delinquent accounts).

It is important to note that these data do not necessarily reflect the Federal tax burden of individual States. Amounts are reported based on the primary filing address provided by each taxpayer or reporting entity. For multistate corporations, the address may reflect only the State where such a corporation reported its taxes from a principal office rather than other States where income was earned or where individual income and Social Security taxes were withheld. In addition, an individual may reside in one State and work in another.

Summary of Budget Results for the Second Quarter, Fiscal 1995

The underlying Federal budget position continued to register moderate improvement in the second quarter and for all of the first half of the year, though the pattern was clouded by a number of special factors, largely related to unusual timing of receipts and outlays.

In the second quarter (the first calendar quarter), the budget was in deficit by $71.3 billion. That was sharply wider than the $58.6 billion of the corresponding quarter of fiscal 1994, but that widening was due to a number of special factors. Outlays in the second quarter of this year were artificially increased by roughly $6.0 billion by the shift into the quarter of some spending that normally would occur in April. Also, individual income tax refund checks are paid on Friday of each week, and this year a Friday fell on March 31, whereas a year earlier the corresponding Friday came on April 1. Refunds are counted as negative revenues in budget accounting, and the payment of more than $6.0 billion on March 31 depressed the revenue total for the second quarter of this fiscal year. Finally, in the year-ago quarter, outlay totals had been reduced by prepayment by Sallie Mae of about $4-3/4 billion of loans from the Federal Government. Prepayment of those loans was treated as a negative outlay, as they were on the books prior to the effective date of the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990. (That Act shifted the basis for treatment in the budget of loans and loan guarantees from the amount of cash flowing from or to the Treasury to the amount of subsidy being provided.)

Making allowance for the unusual timing of receipts and outlays and for the one-time loan repayments last year, there was improvement in the budget balance of about $5.0 billion in the second quarter from a year earlier. That figure may actually overstate the improvement slightly. Payment of tax refund and earned income tax credit checks was unusually slow in the second quarter of this year, as the Internal Revenue Service took additional precautions to guard against fraud. Some of those payments are likely to show up in the third quarter.

For the entire first half of the current fiscal year, the budget was in deficit by $144.0 billion, which was narrower by about $6.0 billion than in the corresponding period of fiscal 1994. Again, the figures are distorted by some of the same factors that clouded numbers for the second quarter alone, namely the shift into late March of an individual tax refund payment and the one-time loan prepayments of a year earlier. (The effect of the unusual timing of outlays at the end of March was largely washed out by unusual timing of outlays at the start of the fiscal year.) Additionally, there was a sizable swing in outlays of the deposit insurance agencies. Adjusting for all these factors, the improvement in the underlying budget balance was probably in the range of $12.0 or $13.0 billion in the first half of the fiscal year. That is greater than the amount of deficit reduction implied by Administration budget projections for the entire fiscal year, which had very little narrowing of the underlying deficit on this adjusted basis.

There were several items of note among the figures on revenues and outlays for the first half of the fiscal year. On the revenue side, withheld individual income and employment tax receipts were up by a solid 7.9 percent. That was about 1-1/2 percentage points faster than growth of the wage and salary tax base as carried in the national accounts, and perhaps indicates that income growth has been understated in the accounts. Adjusted for the timing of the refund payment, total revenues rose by just over 7-1/2 percent in the first two quarters of the fiscal year, or just a shade faster than the pace projected in Administration budget estimates for the entire fiscal year. Much of the action on the revenue side occurs in the third quarter, however, so that margin above the projected rate of increase could be erased as the year progresses.

Adjusted for special factors, the pace of growth of total outlays of about 4-1/4 percent lagged by about 1-1/2 percentage points the rate of increase projected by the Administration for the entire fiscal year on a similarly adjusted basis. The pace of growth of outlays was slower in the first half of the year than projected for the full year across a broad range of outlay components, including defense spending. One exception to this pattern was spending for Medicare. Interest outlays were up by 14.5 percent from a year earlier, reflecting higher interest rates and a 5.4 percent increase in the publicly held debt outstanding. Toward the end of the second quarter, interest rates had slipped below levels in the forecast underlying budget projections, and that should contribute to a lower level of total outlays than had been projected in the budget. ◇

First-Quarter Receipts

The following capsule analysis of budget receipts, by source, for the first quarter of fiscal 1995 supplements fiscal data reported in the March issue of the "Treasury Bulletin." At the time of that issue's release, not enough data was available to analyze adequately collections for the quarter.

Individual income taxes—Individual income tax receipts were $134.4 billion for the first quarter, an increase of $4.9 billion over the comparable quarter for fiscal 1994. Withheld receipts increased by $5.8 billion; non-withheld receipts decreased by $0.1 billion in this period. There was an increase of $0.8 billion in refunds over the comparable fiscal 1994 quarter. There was no change in accounting adjustments between individual income tax receipts and the Social Security and Medicare trust funds in the first quarter in comparison to the first quarter of fiscal 1994.

Corporate income taxes—Net corporate receipts totaled $36.9 billion. This was $4.3 billion higher than net receipts for the comparable quarter of fiscal 1994. The $4.3 billion figure consists of $4.7 billion in additional estimated and final payments less $0.4 billion in higher refunds. The increase in net receipts mainly reflects increased corporate profits.

Employment taxes and contributions—Employment taxes and contributions receipts were $100.8 billion, an increase of $6.5 billion over the comparable prior year quarter. Receipts to the Old-Age Survivors Insurance decreased by $15.0 billion, while receipts to the Disability Insurance and the Hospital Insurance trust funds increased by $18.3 billion and $3.2 billion, respectively. These numbers include a $13.3 billion transfer from the Old-Age Survivors Insurance Trust Fund to the Disability Trust Fund, which was made to reflect the new allocation of the tax rates between these trust funds. There were no accounting adjustments for prior years' employment tax liabilities made in the first quarter of fiscal 1994, whereas there was a $1.3 billion adjustment made in the first quarter of fiscal 1995.

Contributions for other insurance and retirement—Contributions for other retirement were $1.1 billion. There was a negligible change in receipts from a year ago. The growth in contributions will remain flat over the next few years as the number of employees covered by the Federal employees' retirement system (FERS) grows slowly relative to those covered under the civil service retirement system (CSRS).

Unemployment insurance—Unemployment insurance receipts were $4.6 billion, compared with $4.1 billion for the comparable quarter of fiscal 1994. State taxes deposited in the U.S. Treasury decreased by $0.4 billion. There were negligible changes in the Federal Unemployment Tax Act (FUTA) and railroad unemployment tax receipts, compared with the first quarter of fiscal 1994.

Excise taxes—Net excise tax receipts were $14.4 billion. This represents an increase of $1.3 billion over the comparable prior year quarter. Excise tax refunds for the quarter were $0.3 billion, unchanged over the comparable prior year quarter.

Estate and gift taxes—Estate and gift tax receipts were $3.5 billion. These receipts are about the same level attained over the previous quarter, as well as the same quarter in the previous year.

Customs duties—Customs receipts net of refunds were $5.4 billion. This is an increase of $0.4 billion from the comparable prior year quarter. It is due to an increase in imports.

Miscellaneous receipts—Net miscellaneous receipts were $6.5 billion, an increase of $2.4 billion over the comparable prior year quarter. The bulk of the increase is attributable to higher deposits of Federal Reserve earnings. ◇

INTRODUCTION: Federal Obligations

The Federal Government controls the use of funds through obligations. Obligations are recorded when the Government makes a commitment to acquire goods or services. Obligations are the first of four key events that characterize the acquisition and use of resources: order, payment, delivery, and consumption. In general, they consist of orders placed, contracts awarded, services received, and similar transactions requiring the disbursement of money.

The obligational stage of a Government transaction is a strategic point in gauging the impact of the Government's operations on the national economy because it frequently represents a Government commitment that stimulates business investments, such as inventory purchases and employment. Though payment may not occur for months after the Government places its order, the order itself can cause immediate pressure on the private economy.

An obligation is classified by the nature of the transaction, without regard to its ultimate purpose. For example, all salaries and wages are reported as personnel compensation, whether the services are used in current operations or in the construction of capital items.

Federal agencies often do business with one another. In doing so, the "buying" agency records obligations and the "performing" agency records reimbursements. In table FO-1, these transactions are presented. Conversely, table FO-2 shows only those transactions incurred outside the Federal Government.

by Congress. Summary figures on this basis follow. (Data are on the basis of Reports on Obligations presentation and therefore may differ somewhat from the "Budget of the U.S. Government.")

INTRODUCTION: Source and Availability of the Balance in the Account of the U.S. Treasury

The Treasury's operating cash is maintained in accounts with the Federal Reserve banks (FRBs) and branches, as well as in tax and loan accounts in other financial institutions. Major information sources include the Daily Balance Wire received from the FRBs and branches, and electronic transfers through the Letter of Credit Payment, Fedline Payment, and Fedwire Deposit Systems. As the FRB accounts are depleted, funds are called in (withdrawn) from thousands of tax and loan accounts at financial institutions throughout the country.

Under authority of Public Law 95-147, Treasury implemented a program on November 2, 1978, to invest a portion of its operating cash in obligations of depositaries maintaining tax and loan accounts. Under the Treasury tax and loan investment program, depository financial institutions select the manner in which they will participate. Financial institutions wishing to retain funds deposited into their tax and loan accounts in interest-bearing obligations participate under the Note Option. The program permits Treasury to collect funds through financial institutions and to leave the funds in Note Option depositaries and in the financial communities in which they arise until Treasury needs the funds for its operations. In this way, Treasury is able to neutralize the effect of its fluctuating operations on Note Option financial institution reserves and on the economy. Likewise, those institutions wishing to remit the funds to the Treasury's account at FRBs do so under the Remittance Option.

Deposits to tax and loan accounts occur as customers of financial institutions deposit tax payments, which the financial institutions use to purchase Government securities. In most cases, this involves a transfer of funds from a customer's account to the tax and loan account in the same financial institution. Also, Treasury can direct the FRBs to invest excess funds in tax and loan accounts directly from the Treasury account at the FRBs.

INTRODUCTION: Federal Debt

Treasury securities (i.e., public debt securities) comprise most of the Federal debt, with securities issued by other Federal agencies accounting for the rest. Tables in this section of the "Treasury Bulletin" reflect the total. Further detailed information is published in the "Monthly Statement of the Public Debt of the United States." Likewise, information on agency securities and on investments of Federal Government accounts in Federal securities is published in the "Monthly Treasury Statement of Receipts and Outlays of the United States Government."

- Table FD-1 summarizes the Federal debt by listing public debt and agency securities held by the public, including the Federal Reserve. It also includes debt held by Federal agencies, largely by the Social Security and other Federal retirement trust funds. The net unamortized premium and discount are also listed by total Federal securities, securities held by Government accounts, and securities held by the public. The difference between the outstanding face value of the Federal debt and the net unamortized premium and discount is classified as the accrual amount. (For greater detail on holdings of Federal securities by particular classes of investors, see the ownership tables, OFS-1 and OFS-2.)

- Table FD-2 categorizes by type interest-bearing marketable and nonmarketable Treasury securities. The difference between interest-bearing and total public debt securities reflects outstanding matured Treasury securities--that is, unredeemed securities that have matured and are no longer accruing interest. Because the Federal Financing Bank is under the supervision of Treasury, its securities are held by a U.S. Government account.

- In table FD-3, nonmarketable Treasury securities held by U.S. Government accounts are summarized by issues to particular funds within Government. Many of the funds invest in par value special series nonmarketables at interest rates determined by law. Others invest in market-based special Treasury securities whose terms mirror those of marketable securities.

- Table FD-4 presents interest-bearing securities issued by Government agencies. Federal agency borrowing has declined in recent years, in part because the Federal Financing Bank has provided financing to other Federal agencies. (Federal agency borrowing from Treasury is presented in the "Monthly Treasury Statement of Receipts and Outlays of the United States Government.")

- Table FD-5 illustrates the average length of marketable interest-bearing public debt held by private investors and the maturity distribution of that debt. Average maturity has increased gradually since it hit a low of 2 years, 5 months, in December 1975. In March 1971, Congress enacted a limited exception to the 4-1/4-percent interest rate ceiling on Treasury bonds. This permitted Treasury to offer securities maturing in more than 7 years at current market rates of interest for the first time since 1965. This exception has expanded since 1971 authorizing Treasury to continue to issue long-term securities, and the ceiling on Treasury bonds was repealed on November 10, 1988. The volume of privately held Treasury marketable securities by maturity class reflects the remaining period to maturity of Treasury bills, notes, and bonds. The average length is comprised of an average of remaining periods to maturity, weighted by the amount of each security held by private investors. In other words, computations of average length exclude Government accounts and the Federal Reserve banks.

- In table FD-6, the debt ceiling is compared with the outstanding debt subject to limitation by law. The other debt category includes Federal debt Congress has designated as being subject to the debt ceiling. Changes in the non-interest-bearing debt shown in the last column reflect maturities of Treasury securities on nonbusiness days, which can be redeemed on the next business day.

- Table FD-7 details Treasury holdings of securities issued by Government corporations and other agencies. Certain Federal agencies are authorized to borrow money from the Treasury, largely to finance direct loan programs. In addition, agencies such as the Bonneville Power Administration are authorized to borrow from the Treasury to finance capital projects. Treasury, in turn, finances these loans by selling Treasury securities to the public.

INTRODUCTION: Public Debt Operations

The Second Liberty Bond Act (31 U.S.C. 3101, et seq.) allows the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow money by issuing Treasury securities. The Secretary determines the terms and conditions of issue, conversion, maturity, payment, and interest rate. New issues of Treasury notes mature in 2 to 10 years. Bonds mature in more than 10 years from the issue date. Each marketable security is listed in the Monthly Statement of the Public Debt of the United States. The information in this section of the "Treasury Bulletin" pertains only to marketable Treasury securities, current bills, notes, and bonds.

- Table PDO-1 provides a maturity schedule of interest-bearing marketable public debt securities other than regular weekly and 52-week bills. All unmatured Treasury notes and bonds are listed in maturity order, from earliest to latest. A separate breakout is provided for the combined holdings of the Government accounts and Federal Reserve banks, so that the "all other investors" category includes all private holdings.

- Table PDO-2 presents the results of weekly auctions of 13- and 26-week bills, as well as auctions of 52-week bills, which are held every fourth week. Treasury bills mature each Thursday. New issues of 13-week bills are reopenings of 26-week bills. The 26-week bill issued every fourth week to mature on the same Thursday as an existing 52-week bill is a reopening of the existing 52-week bill. New issues of cash management bills are also presented. High, low, and average yields on accepted tenders and the dollar value of total bids are presented, with the dollar value of awards made on both competitive and noncompetitive basis.

Treasury accepts noncompetitive tenders of up to $1 million for bills and $5 million for notes and bonds in each auction of securities to encourage participation of individuals and smaller institutions.

- Table PDO-3 lists the results of auctions of marketable securities, other than weekly bills, in chronological order over the past 2 years. Included are: notes and bonds from table PDO-1; 52-week bills from table PDO-2; and data for cash management bills. The maturities of cash management bills coincide with those of regular issues of Treasury bills.

- Table PDO-4 indicates the total amount of marketable securities allotted to each class of investor. The Federal Reserve banks tally into investor classes the tenders in each auction of marketable securities other than weekly auctions of 13- and 26-week bills.

TREASURY FINANCING: JANUARY-MARCH

JANUARY

Auction of 2-Year and 5-Year Notes

January 18 Treasury announced it would auction $17,250 million of 2-year notes of Series Z-1997 and $11,000 million of 5-year notes of Series G-2000 to refund $15,841 million of securities maturing January 31 and to raise about $12,400 million of new cash.

Treasury Modifies Competitive Bidding Requirement for Notes and Bonds

February 15 Treasury announced that, beginning with the 2-year note auction on February 22, competitive bids in Treasury note and bond auctions must show the yield bid expressed with three decimals, for example, 7.123 percent. Three-decimal bidding will apply to all Treasury note and bond auctions. Competitive bidding in Treasury bill auctions, however, will remain unchanged; that is, the bid must show the discount rate bid expressed with two decimal places. Also, there is no change to noncompetitive bid procedures, and the restrictions against using fractions still applies to bids for all securities. The purpose of three-decimal yield competitive bidding for notes and bonds is to increase participation in Treasury auctions and to conform the auctions to market practice for when-issued trading.

INTRODUCTION: Ownership of Federal Securities

Federal securities presented in the following tables are public debt securities such as savings bonds, bills, and notes that the Treasury issues. The tables also detail debt issued by other Federal agencies under special financing authorities. (See the Federal debt (FD) tables for a more complete description of the Federal debt.)

- Table OFS-1 presents Treasury marketable and non-marketable securities and debt issued by other Federal agencies held by Government accounts, the Federal Reserve banks, and private investors. Social Security and Federal retirement trust fund investments comprise much of the Government account holdings.

The Federal Reserve banks acquire Treasury securities in the market as a means of executing monetary policy.

- Table OFS-2 presents the estimated amount of public debt securities held by private investors. Information is obtained from sources such as the Federal financial institution regulatory agencies. State, local, and foreign holdings include special issues of nonmarketable securities to municipal entities and foreign official accounts. They also include municipal, foreign official, and private holdings of marketable Treasury securities. (See footnotes to the table for description of investor categories.)

INTRODUCTION: Market Yields

The tables and charts in this section present yields on Treasury marketable securities, and compare long-term yields on Treasury securities with yields on long-term corporate and municipal securities.

• Table MY-1 lists Treasury market bid yields at constant maturities for bills, notes, and bonds. The Treasury yield curve in the accompanying chart, is based on current market bid quotations on the most actively traded Treasury securities as of 3:30 p.m. on the last business day of the calendar quarter.

Treasury obtains quotations from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which compiles quotations provided by five primary dealers. Treasury uses these composite quotations to derive the yield curve, based on semiannual interest payments and read at constant maturity points to develop a consistent data series. Yields on Treasury bills are coupon equivalent yields of bank discount rates at which Treasury bills trade in the market. The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System publishes the Treasury constant maturity data series in its weekly H.15 press release.

• Table MY-2 shows average yields of long-term Treasury, corporate, and municipal bonds. The long-term Treasury average yield is the 30-year constant maturity yield. The corporate bond average yield is developed by Treasury by calculating reoffering yields on new long-term securities maturing in at least 20 years and rated Aa by Moody's Investors Service. The municipal bond average yield prior to 1991 was compiled by Treasury. Beginning with January 1991, the average yield is the "Municipal Bond Yield Average," published by Moody's Investors Service for 20-year reoffering yields on selected Aa-rated general obligations. See the footnotes for further explanation.

INTRODUCTION: U.S. Currency and Coin Outstanding and in Circulation

The U.S. Currency and Coin Outstanding and in Circulation (USCC) statement informs the public of the total face value of currency and coin used as a medium of exchange that is in circulation at the end of a given accounting month. The statement defines the total amount of currency and coin outstanding and the portion deemed to be in circulation, and includes some old and current rare issues that do not circulate, or that may do so to a limited extent. Treasury includes them in the statement because the issues were originally intended for general circulation.

The USCC statement provides a description of the various issues of paper money. It also gives an estimated average of currency and coin held by each individual, using estimates of population from the Bureau of the Census. USCC information has been published by Treasury since 1888, and was published separately until 1983, when it was incorporated into the "Treasury Bulletin." The USCC comes from monthly reports compiled by Treasury offices, various U.S. Mint offices, the Federal Reserve banks, and the Federal Reserve Board.

INTRODUCTION: International Financial Statistics

The tables in this section provide statistics on the U.S. Government's reserve assets, liabilities to foreigners, and its international financial position. All monetary figures are in dollars or dollar equivalents.

• Table IFS-1 shows reserve assets of the United States, including gold stock and special drawing rights held in the Special Drawing account in the International Monetary Fund (IMF). The table also shows U.S. reserve holdings and holdings of convertible foreign currencies in the IMF.

• Table IFS-2 contains statistics on liabilities to foreign official institutions, and selected liabilities to all other foreigners, which are used in the U.S. balance of payments statistics.

• Table IFS-3 shows nonmarketable bonds and notes that Treasury issues to official institutions and other residents of foreign countries.

• Table IFS-4 presents a measure of weighted-average changes in exchange rates between the U.S. dollar and the currencies of certain other countries.

¹ Beginning July 1974, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) adopted a technique for valuing the special drawing right (SDR) based on a weighted-average of exchange rates for the currencies of selected member countries. The U.S. SDR holdings and reserve position in the IMF are also valued on this basis beginning July 1974.

² Treasury values its gold stock at $42 2222 per fine troy ounce and pursuant to 31 U.S.C. 5117 (b) issues gold certificates to the Federal Reserve at the same rate against all gold held.

³ Includes allocations of SDRs in the Special Drawing Account in the IMF, plus or minus transactions in SDRs.

¹ Each index covers (a) 22 currencies of countries represented in the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD): Australia, Austria, Belgium-Luxembourg, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and the United Kingdom, and (b) currencies of four major trading economies outside the OECD: Hong Kong, Korea, Singapore, and Taiwan. Exchange rates are drawn from the International Monetary Fund's "International Financial Statistics" when available.

Note -- These indices are presented to provide measures of the general foreign exchange value of the dollar that are broader than those provided by single exchange rate levels. They do not purport to represent a guide to measuring the impact of exchange rate levels on U.S. international transactions. The indices are computed as geometric averages of individual currency levels with weights derived from the share of each country's trade with the United States during 1982-83.

INTRODUCTION: Capital Movements

Treasury collects information about the transference of financial assets and other portfolio capital movements between the United States and foreigners, and has since 1935. Commercial banks and other depository institutions, bank holding companies, securities brokers and dealers, and nonbanking enterprises in the United States file capital movement reports with district Federal Reserve banks.

Forms and instructions are developed with the cooperation of other Government agencies and the Federal Reserve System, and in consultation with representatives of banks, securities firms, and nonbanking enterprises. Copies of the reporting forms and instructions may be obtained from the Office of Data Management, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Economic Policy, Department of the Treasury, Washington, D.C., 20220, or from district Federal Reserve banks.

In general, information is reported opposite the country or geographical area where the foreigner is located, as shown on records of reporting institutions. However, information may not always reflect the ultimate ownership of assets. Reporting institutions are not required to go beyond addresses shown on their records, and so may not be aware of the actual country of domicile of the ultimate beneficiary.

United States liabilities arising from the deposits of dollars with foreign banks appear as liabilities to foreign banks, although the liability of the foreign bank receiving the deposit may be to foreign official institutions or to residents of another country.

Transactions with branches or agencies of foreign official institutions, wherever located, are reported opposite the country that has sovereignty over the institutions. Transactions with international and regional organizations are not reported opposite any country, but are accounted for in regional groupings of such organizations. The only exception is information pertaining to the Bank for International Settlements, which is reported opposite 'Other Europe.'

Banks and other depository institutions, bank holding companies, International Banking Facilities (IBFs), securities brokers and dealers, and nonbanking enterprises in the United States must file reports. These enterprises include the branches, agencies, subsidiaries, and other affiliates in the United States of foreign banking and nonbanking firms. Those with liabilities, claims, or securities transactions below specified exemption levels are exempt from reporting.

Banks and other depository institutions, and some brokers and dealers, file monthly reports covering their dollar liabilities to, and dollar claims on, foreigners in a number of countries. Twice a year, June 30 and December 31, they also report the same liabilities and claims items to foreigners in countries not shown separately on the monthly reports. Quarterly reports are filed for liabilities and claims denominated in foreign currencies in relation to foreigners. The exemption level applicable to these banking reports is $15 million.

Banks and other depository institutions, securities brokers and dealers, and other enterprises report monthly their transactions with foreigners in long-term securities. They must report securities transactions with foreigners if their aggregate purchases or their aggregate sales amount to at least $2 million during the covered month.

Exporters, importers, industrial and commercial concerns, financial institutions (other than banks, other depository institutions, and brokers), and other nonbanking enterprises must file reports quarterly if liabilities to, or claims on, unaffiliated foreigners amount to $10 million or more during the covered quarter.

Nonbanking enterprises also report each month their U.S. dollar denominated deposit and certificates of deposit claims of $10 million or more on banks abroad.

The data in these tables do not cover all types of reported capital movements between the United States and other countries. The principal exclusions are the intercompany capital transactions of nonbanking business enterprises in the United States with their own branches and subsidiaries abroad (own foreign offices) or with their foreign parent companies, and capital transactions of the U.S. Government. Consolidated data on all types of international capital transactions are published by the Department of Commerce in its regular reports on the United States balance of payments.

- Section I presents liabilities to foreigners reported by U.S. banks and other depository institutions, as well as brokers and dealers. Dollar liabilities are reported monthly; those denominated in foreign currencies are reported quarterly. Respondents report certain of their own liabilities and a wide range of their custody liabilities to foreigners.

- Section II presents claims on foreigners also reported by U.S. banks and other depository institutions, brokers, and dealers. Data on bank claims held for their own account are collected monthly. Information on claims held for their domestic customers as well as foreign currency claims, is collected on a quarterly basis only. Maturity data are reported according to time remaining to maturity. Reporting also covers certain items held by brokers and dealers in the United States.

- Section III contains supplementary data on dollar liabilities to, and dollar claims on, countries not listed separately on the monthly reports submitted by banks, other depository institutions, brokers and dealers in the United States. The supplementary reports are filed semiannually as of the end of June and December. (Note: Beginning with the September 1994 issue of the "Treasury Bulletin," former table CM-III-1, Dollar Claims on Nonbank Foreigners, will no longer appear. Former table CM-III-2, Dollar Liabilities to, and Dollar Claims on, Foreigners in Countries and Areas Not Regularly Reported Separately, has been redesignated as table CM-III-1. This semiannual data series will now appear in each issue of the "Treasury Bulletin.")

- Section IV shows the liabilities to, and claims on, unaffiliated foreigners by exporters, importers, industrial and commercial concerns, financial institutions (other than banks, other depository institutions, and brokers), and other nonbanking enterprises in the United States. Information does not include accounts of nonbanking enterprises in the United States with their own branches and subsidiaries abroad or with their foreign parent companies. These are reported by business enterprises to the Department of Commerce on its direct investment forms. Data exclude claims on foreigners held through banks in the United States.

• Section V contains information on transactions in all types of long-term domestic and foreign securities with foreigners reported by banks, brokers, and other entities in the United States. The data cover transactions executed in the United States for the accounts of foreigners, and transactions executed abroad for the accounts of reporting institutions and their domestic customers. This includes transactions in newly issued securities as well as transactions in, and redemptions of, outstanding issues. Also, some transactions classified as direct investments in the balance of payments accounts may be included. However, the data do not include nonmarketable Treasury bonds and notes shown in table IFS-3.

In the case of outstanding securities, the geographical breakdown of the transactions data does not necessarily reflect the ultimate owners of or the original issuers of the securities. This is because the path of a security is not tracked prior to its being purchased from, or after it is sold to, a foreigner in a TIC reportable transaction. That is, before it enters and after it departs the reporting system, ownership of a security may be transferred between foreigners of different countries. Such transfers may occur any number of times and are concealed among the net figures for U.S. transactions opposite individual countries. Hence, the geographical breakdown shows only the country of domicile of the foreign buyers and sellers of securities in a particular round of transactions.

U.S. banking liabilities to foreigners, excluding liabilities represented by long-term securities, are highly concentrated in international financial centers. The chart and table show that more than two-thirds of U.S. liabilities are reported opposite the United Kingdom, the rest of Europe, and, most notably, the offshore banking centers in the Caribbean. Also significant are the U.S. liabilities to foreigners reported against Japan and the rest of Asia.

Over the period shown, U.S. liabilities reported opposite the specific areas in Chart CM-A fluctuated modestly, except for liabilities to the Caribbean banking centers, which increased markedly in 1994. Overall, the trend of U.S. liabilities was one of steady increase, and the allocation of U.S. liabilities among the areas in the chart has remained largely unchanged over the period.

U.S. banking claims on foreigners, excluding claims represented by long-term securities, are highly concentrated in international financial centers. The chart and table show that well more than half of U.S. claims are reported opposite the United Kingdom, Japan, and, most notably, the offshore banking centers in the Caribbean. Also significant are the U.S. claims on foreigners reported against Europe excluding the United Kingdom and Asia excluding Japan. Over the period shown, U.S.

claims reported opposite the specific areas in Chart CM-B fluctuated modestly, with each area exhibiting a different pattern of rise, decline, or general stability. At yearend 1994, total U.S. claims had risen marginally from a 5-year low in 1993. In addition, the allocation of U.S. claims among the areas in the chart showed little change, with the exception of Japan, whose share declined over the period, and all other Europe, whose share increased.

As reported by U.S. banks, brokers and other persons, foreigners' transactions in long-term domestic securities are conducted largely through international financial centers. The accompanying chart and table show that since 1991 there has been overall a steady increase in foreigners' net purchases (gross purchases minus gross sales) of U.S. securities. Most notable are the net purchases recorded opposite the United Kingdom and Japan. In the United Kingdom, the strong upward trend relaxed slightly only in 1993. United Kingdom net purchases in the first quarter of 1995, which alone nearly equal the total in 1993, indicate that this trend may be accelerating. Japan, which among the areas shown had the lowest net purchases in 1991, was second only to the United Kingdom in 1994. Japan also had strong figures for the first quarter of 1995. The other financial centers, principally in the Caribbean, Europe, and Asia, displayed varying patterns of activity during the period shown.

* Net purchases by U.S. investors equal net sales by foreigners, or gross sales minus gross purchases of securities

The increases in annual U.S. net purchases of foreign bonds and stocks since 1991, due largely to the trend toward international diversification among U.S. institutional investors, are in marked contrast to the comparatively low levels of average annual activity throughout the 1980's. The accompanying chart and table show that in recent years, net purchases of foreign securities by U.S. investors have continued at a steady pace, with the exception of 1993 when net purchases surged. In 1994, U.S. net purchases of foreign stocks remained strong, while net purchases of foreign bonds fell substantially from their peak in 1993. Net purchases of both foreign bonds and foreign stocks were moderate in the first quarter of 1995.

INTRODUCTION: Foreign Currency Positions

The "Treasury Bulletin" publishes series on foreign currency holdings of large foreign exchange market participants. The series provide information on positions in derivative instruments, such as foreign exchange futures and options, that are increasingly used in establishing foreign exchange positions but were not covered in the old reports.

The information is based on reports of large foreign exchange market participants on holdings of five major foreign currencies (Canadian dollar, German mark, Japanese yen, Swiss franc, and pound sterling). U.S.-based businesses file a consolidated report for their domestic and foreign subsidiaries, branches, and agencies. U.S. subsidiaries of foreign entities file only for themselves, not for their foreign parents. Filing is required by law (31 U.S.C. 5315; 31 C.F.R. 128, Subpart C).

Weekly and monthly reports must be filed throughout the calendar year by major foreign exchange market participants, which are defined as market participants with more than $50 billion equivalent in foreign exchange contracts on the last business day of any calendar quarter during the previous year (end March, June, September, or December). Such contracts include the amounts of foreign exchange spot contracts bought and sold, foreign exchange forward contracts bought and sold, foreign exchange futures bought and sold, and one half the notional amount of foreign exchange options bought and sold. Exemptions from filing the monthly report are given to banking institutions that file the Federal Financial Institution Examination Council (FFIEC) 035 report ("Monthly Consolidated Foreign Currency Report").

A quarterly report must be filed throughout the calendar year by each foreign exchange market participant that had more than $1 billion equivalent in foreign exchange contracts on the last business day of any quarter the previous year (end March, June, September, or December). Exemptions from filing the quarterly report are given to major nonbank market participants that file weekly and monthly reports, and banking institutions that file FFIEC 035 reports.

This information is published in five sections corresponding to each of the major currencies covered by the reports. Tables I-1 through V-1 present the foreign currency data reported weekly by major market participants. Tables I-2 through V-2 present more detailed currency data of major market participants, based on monthly Treasury and FFIEC 035 reports. Tables I-3 through V-3 present quarterly consolidated foreign currency data reported by large market participants and FFIEC reporters which do not file weekly reports.

Principal exchanged under cross currency interest rate swaps is reported as part of purchases or sales of foreign exchange. Such principal is also separately noted on monthly and quarterly reports. The net options position, or the net delta-equivalent value of an options position, is an estimate of the relationship between an option's value and an equivalent currency hedge. The delta equivalent value is defined as the product of the first partial derivative of an option valuation formula (with respect to the price of the underlying currency) multiplied by the notional principal of the contract.

INTRODUCTION: Exchange Stabilization Fund

To stabilize the exchange value of the dollar, the Exchange Stabilization Fund (ESF) was established under the Gold Reserve Act of January 30, 1934 (31 U.S.C. 822a), which authorized establishment of a Treasury Department fund to be operated under the exclusive control of the Secretary, with approval of the President.

Subsequent amendment of the Gold Reserve Act modified the original purpose somewhat to reflect termination of the fixed exchange rate system.

Resources of the fund include dollar balances, partially invested in U.S. Government securities, Special drawing rights (SDRs), and balances of foreign currencies. Principal sources of income (losses) for the fund are profits (losses) on SDRs and foreign exchange, as well as interest earned on assets.

• Table ESF-1 presents the assets, liabilities, and capital of the fund. The figures are in U.S. dollars or their equivalents based on current exchange rates computed according to the accrual method of accounting. The capital account represents the original capital appropriated to the fund by Congress of $2 billion, minus a subsequent transfer of $1.8 billion to pay for the initial U.S. quota subscription to the IMF. Gains and losses are reflected in the cumulative net income (loss) account.

• Table ESF-2 shows the results of operations by quarter. Figures are in U.S. dollars or their equivalents computed according to the accrual method. "Profit (loss) on foreign exchange" includes realized profits or losses on currencies held. "Adjustment for change in valuation of SDR holdings and allocations" reflects net gain or loss on revaluation of SDR holdings and allocations for the quarter.

The U.S. SDR holdings and allocations are valued on this basis beginning July 1974.

² Excludes foreign exchange transactions for future and spot delivery.

Note -- Annual balance sheets for fiscal years 1934 through 1940 appeared in the 1940

"Annual Report of the Secretary of the Treasury" and those for succeeding years appeared in subsequent reports through 1980. Quarterly balance sheets beginning with Dec. 31, 1938, have been published in the "Treasury Bulletin." Data from inception to Sept. 30, 1978, may be found on the statements published in the January 1979 "Treasury Bulletin."

REPORTS

Trust Funds

INTRODUCTION: Highway Trust Fund

The Highway Trust Fund was established on the books of the Treasury in fiscal 1957, according to provisions of the Highway Revenue Act of 1956. It has been amended and extended by various highway and surface transportation acts since 1959. The Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 extended the Highway Trust Fund and its taxes through September 30, 1999. It has also been modified by the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984, the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990, and the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993. Amounts equivalent to taxes on gasoline, diesel fuel, special motor fuels, certain tires, vehicles, and truck use, are designated by the Act to be appropriated and transferred from the general fund of the Treasury to the trust fund. These transfers are made monthly based on estimates by the Secretary of the Treasury, subject to adjustments in later transfers to the amount of actual tax receipts. Amounts available in the fund exceeding outlay requirements are invested in public debt securities and interest is credited to the fund.

Within the fund is a mass transit account, funded by a portion of the excise tax collections under sections 4041, 4081, and 4091 of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C.). The funds from this account are used for expenditures according to section 21 (a) (2) of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964 or the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991. The remaining excise taxes collected are included in a higher account within the trust fund, and expenditures from this account are made according to the provisions of various transportation Acts.

Amounts required for outlays to carry out the Federal Highway program are made available to the Federal Highway Administration, Department of Transportation. Other charges to the trust fund are made by the Secretary of the Treasury for transfer of certain taxes to the land and water conservation fund and to the Aquatic Resources Trust Fund and refunds of certain taxes.

Annual reports to Congress are required by 26 U.S.C. 9602 (a) Internal Revenue Code as amended, to be submitted by the Secretary of the Treasury, after consultation with the Secretary of Transportation. These reports cover the financial condition and results of operations of the fund for the past fiscal year and expected condition and operations during the next 5 fiscal years.

Glossary

With References to Applicable Sections and Tables

Accrued discount (SBN-1, -2, -3)—Interest that accumulates on savings bonds from the date of purchase until the date of redemption or final maturity, whichever comes first. Series A, B, C, D, E, EE, F, and J are discount or accrual type bonds—meaning principal and interest are paid when bonds are redeemed. Series G, H, HH, and K are current-income bonds, and the semiannual interest paid to their holders is not included in accrued discount.

Amounts outstanding and in circulation (USCC)—Includes all issues by the Bureau of the Mint purposely intended as a medium of exchange. Coins sold by the Bureau of the Mint at premium prices are excluded; however, uncirculated coin sets sold at face value plus handling charge are included.

Average discount rate (PDO-2, -3)—In Treasury bill auctions, purchasers tender competitive bids on a discount rate basis. The average discount rate is the weighted, or adjusted, average of all bids accepted in the auction.

Budget authority (“Federal Fiscal Operations”)—Congress passes laws giving budget authority to Government entities, which gives the agencies the power to spend Federal funds. Congress can stipulate various criteria for the spending of these funds. For example, Congress can stipulate that a given agency must spend within a specific year, number of years, or any time in the future.

The basic forms of budget authority are appropriations, authority to borrow, and contract authority. The period of time during which Congress makes funds available may be specified as 1-year, multiple-year, or no-year. The available amount may be classified as either definite or indefinite; a specific amount or an unspecified amount can be made available. Authority may also be classified as current or permanent. Permanent authority requires no current action by Congress.

Budget deficit—The total, cumulative amount by which budget outlays (spending) exceed budget receipts (income).

Capital (“Federal Obligations”)—Assets, such as land, equipment, and financial reserves.

Cash management bills (PDO-2)—Marketable Treasury bills of irregular maturity lengths, sold periodically to fund short-term cash needs of Treasury. Their sale, having higher minimum and multiple purchase requirements than those of other issues, is generally restricted to competitive bidders.

Competitive tenders (“Treasury Financing Operations”)—A bid to purchase a stated amount of one issue of Treasury securities at a specified yield or discount. The bid is accepted if it is within the range accepted in the auction. (See Noncompetitive tenders.)

Coupon issue—The issue of bonds or notes (public debt).

Currency no longer issued (USCC)—Old and new series gold and silver certificates, Federal Reserve notes, national bank notes, and 1890 Series Treasury notes.

Current income bonds (“U.S. Savings Bonds and Notes”)—Bonds paying semiannual interest to holders. Interest is not included in accrued discount.

Debt outstanding subject to limitation (FD-6)—The debt incurred by the Treasury subject to the statutory limit set by Congress. Until World War I, a specific amount of debt was authorized to each separate security issue. Beginning with the Second Liberty Loan Act of 1917, the nature of the limitation was modified until, in 1941, it developed into an overall limit on the outstanding Federal debt. As of March 1995 the debt limit was $4,900,000 million; the limit may change from year to year.

The debt subject to limitation includes most of Treasury's public debt except securities issued to the Federal Financing Bank, upon which there is a limitation of $15 billion, and certain categories of older debt (totaling approximately $595 million as of February 1991).

Discount—The interest deducted in advance when purchasing notes or bonds. (See Accrued discount.)

Discount rate (PDO-2)—The difference between par value and the actual purchase price paid, annualized over a 360-day year. Because this rate is less than the actual yield (coupon-equivalent rate), the yield should be used in any comparison with coupon issue securities.

Dollar coins (USCC)—Include standard silver and nonsilver coins.

Domestic series (FD-2)—Nonmarketable, interest and non-interest-bearing securities issued periodically by Treasury to the Resolution Funding Corporation (RFC) for investment of funds authorized under section 21B of the Federal Home Loan Bank Act (12 U.S.C. 1441b).

Federal intrafund transactions (“Federal Fiscal Operations”)—Intrabudgetary transactions in which payments and receipts both occur within the same Federal fund group (Federal funds or trust funds).

Federal Reserve notes (USCC)—Issues by the U.S. Government to the public through the Federal Reserve banks and their member banks. They represent money owed by the Government to the public. Currently, the item “Federal Reserve notes—amounts outstanding” consists of new series issues. The Federal Reserve note is the only class of currency currently issued.

Foreign (“Foreign Currency Positions,” IFS-2, -3)—(international) Locations other than those included under the definition of the United States. (See United States.)

Foreigner (“Capital Movements,” IFS-2)—All institutions and individuals living outside the United States, including U.S. citizens living abroad, and branches, subsidiaries, and other affiliates abroad of U.S. banks and business concerns; central governments, central banks, and other official institutions of countries other than the United States, and international and regional organizations, wherever located. Also, refers to persons in the United States to the extent that they are known by reporting institutions to be acting for foreigners.

Foreign official institutions (“Capital Movements”)—Includes central governments of foreign countries, including all departments and agencies of national governments; central banks, exchange authorities, and all fiscal agents of foreign national governments that undertake activities similar to those of a treasury, central bank, or stabilization fund; diplomatic and consular establishments of foreign national governments; and any international or regional organization, including subordinate and affiliate agencies, created by treaty or convention between sovereign states.

Foreign public borrower ("Capital Movements")—Includes foreign official institutions, as defined above, the corporations and agencies of foreign central governments, including development banks and institutions, and other agencies that are majority-owned by the central government or its departments; and state provincial and local governments of foreign countries and their departments and agencies.

Foreign-targeted issue (PDO-1, -3)—Foreign-targeted issues were notes sold between October 1984 and February 1986 to foreign institutions, foreign branches of U.S. institutions, foreign central banks or monetary authorities, or to international organizations in which the United States held membership. Sold as companion issues, they could be converted to domestic (normal) Treasury notes with the same maturity and interest rates. Interest was paid annually.

Fractional coins (USCC)—Coins minted in denominations of 50, 25, and 10 cents, and minor coins (5 cents and 1 cent).

Government account series (FD-2)—Certain trust fund statutes require the Secretary of the Treasury to apply monies held by these funds toward the issuance of nonmarketable special securities. These securities are sold directly by Treasury to a specific Government agency, trust fund, or account. Their rate is based on an average of market yields on outstanding Treasury obligations, and they may be redeemed at the option of the holder. Roughly 80 percent of these are issued to five holders: the Federal Old-age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund; the civil service retirement and disability fund; the Federal Hospital Insurance Trust Fund; the military retirement fund; and the Unemployment Trust Fund.

International Monetary Fund ("Exchange Stabilization Fund," IFS-1)—(IMF) Established by the United Nations, the IMF promotes international trade, stability of exchange, and monetary cooperation. Members are allowed to draw from the fund.

Interfund transactions ("Federal Fiscal Operations")—Transactions in which payments are made from one fund group (either Federal funds or trust funds) to a receipt account in another group.

Intrabudgetary transactions ("Federal Fiscal Operations")—These occur when payment and receipt both occur within the budget, or when payment is made from off-budget Federal entities whose budget authority and outlays are excluded from the budget totals.

Matured non-interest-bearing debt (SBN-1, -2, -3)—The value of outstanding savings bonds and notes that have reached final maturity and no longer earn interest. Includes all Series A-D, F, G, J, and K bonds. Series E bonds (issued between May 1941 and November 1965), Series EE (issued since January 1980), Series H (issued from June 1952 through December 1979), and savings notes issued between May 1967 and October 1970 have a final maturity of 30 years. Series HH bonds (issued since January 1980) mature after 20 years.

Noncompetitive tenders ("Treasury Financing Operations")—Offers by an investor to purchase Treasury securities at the price equivalent to the weighted average discount rate or yield of accepted competitive tenders in a Treasury auction. Noncompetitive tenders are always accepted in full.

Obligation ("Federal Obligations")—An unpaid commitment to acquire goods or services.

Off-budget Federal entities ("Federal Fiscal Operations")—Federally owned and controlled entities whose transactions are excluded from the budget totals under provisions of law. Their receipts, outlays, and surplus or deficit are not included in budget receipts, outlays, or deficits. Their budget authority is not included in totals of the budget.

Own foreign offices ("Capital Movements")—Refers to U.S. reporting institutions' parent organizations, branches and/or majority-owned subsidiaries located outside the United States.

Outlays ("Federal Fiscal Operations")—(expenditures, net disbursements) Payments on obligations in the form of cash, checks, the issuance of bonds or notes, or the maturing of interest coupons.

Par value—The face value of bonds or notes, including interest.

Quarterly financing ("Treasury Financing Operations")—Treasury has historically offered packages of several "coupon" security issues on the 15th of February, May, August, and November, or on the next working day. These issues currently consist of a 3-year note, a 10-year note, and a 30-year bond. Treasury sometimes offers additional amounts of outstanding long-term notes or bonds, rather than selling new security issues. (See Reopening.)

Receipts ("Federal Fiscal Operations")—Funds collected from selling land, capital, or services, as well as collections from the public (budget receipts), such as taxes, fines, duties, and fees.

Reopening (PDO-3, -4)—The offer for sale of additional amounts of outstanding issues, rather than an entirely new issue. A reopened issue will always have the same maturity date, CUSIP-number, and interest rate as the original issue.

Special drawing rights ("Exchange Stabilization Fund," IFS-1)—International assets created by IMF that serve to increase international liquidity and provide additional international reserves. SDRs may be purchased and sold among eligible holders through IMF. (See IMF.)

SDR allocations are the counterpart to SDRs issued by IMF based on members' quotas in IMF. Although shown in exchange stabilization fund (ESF) statements as liabilities, they must be redeemed by ESF only in the event of liquidation of, or U.S. withdrawal from, the SDR department of IMF or cancellation of SDRs.

SDR certificates are issued to the Federal Reserve System against SDRs when SDRs are legalized as money. Proceeds of monetization are deposited into an ESF account at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Glossary

Spot ("Foreign Currency Positions")—Due for receipt or delivery within 2 workdays.

State and local government series (FD-2)—(SLUGs) Special nonmarketable certificates, notes, and bonds offered to State and local governments as a means to invest proceeds from their own tax-exempt financing. Interest rates and maturities comply with IRS arbitrage provisions. SLUGs are offered in both time deposit and demand deposit forms. Time deposit certificates have maturities of up to 1 year. Notes mature in 1 to 10 years and bonds mature in more than 10 years. Demand deposit securities are 1-day certificates rolled over with a rate adjustment daily.

Statutory debt limit (FD-6)—By Act of Congress there is a limit, either temporary or permanent, on the amount of public debt that may be outstanding. When this limit is reached, Treasury may not sell new debt issues until Congress increases or extends the limit. For a detailed listing of changes in the limit since 1941, see the Budget of the United States Government. (See Debt outstanding subject to limitation.)

STRIPS (PDO-1, -3)—Separate Trading of Registered Interest and Principal Securities. Long-term notes and bonds may be divided into principal and interest-paying components, which may be transferred and sold in amounts as small as $1,000. STRIPS are sold at auction at a minimum par amount, varying for each issue. The amount is an arithmetic function of the issue's interest rate.

Treasury bills—The shortest term Federal security (maturity dates normally varying from 3 to 12 months), they are sold at a discount.

Trust fund transaction ("Federal Fiscal Operations")—An intra-budgetary transaction in which both payments and receipts occur within the same trust fund group.

United States—Includes the 50 States, District of Columbia, Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Midway Island, Virgin Islands, Wake Island, and all other territories and possessions.

U.S. notes (USCC)—Legal tender notes of five different issues: 1862 ($5-$1,000 notes); 1862 ($1-$2 notes); 1863 ($5-$1,000 notes); 1863 ($1-$10,000 notes); and 1901 ($10 notes).
