Financial Stability Oversight Council (FSOC) to Host Public Asset Management Conference

3/28/2014

WASHINGTON – In order to help inform the ongoing assessment by the Financial Stability Oversight Council (Council) of risks to U.S. financial stability, the Council will host a conference on the asset management industry and its activities. The Council welcomes the opportunity to hear directly from the industry and other stakeholders, including academics and public interest groups, on this issue.

The asset management conference will be held on May 19, 2014 in the Cash Room at the Department of the Treasury. The program will include several panels, moderated by senior staff of Council members. Panels will focus on an in-depth examination and discussion of targeted issues associated with asset management in order to further inform the work of the Council.

A full agenda outlining discussion topics, panelists, and viewing information will be released before the conference. The conference will be webcast live in its entirety on www.fsoc.gov.
