Program direction and policy coordination.—The Attorney General of the United States is responsible for leading the Department of Justice in accomplishing its missions. The Attorney General is assisted by the Deputy Attorney General, Associate Attorney General, Department policy-level officials, and the Justice Management Division. The General Administration appropriation provides the resources for the programs and operations of the Attorney General, the Deputy Attorney General, the Associate Attorney General, and their Offices, the several Senior Policy Offices, and the Justice Management Division. The resources requested for General Administration in 1996 reflect Department of Justice-wide initiatives that, taken together, strengthen management and fiscal controls, as well as support National Performance Review (NPR) initiatives. Resources have been adjusted to reflect the shift in responsibility.

This program provides grants to States, units of local government, Indian tribal governments, and other public and private entities to increase police presence, to expand cooperation between law enforcement agencies and members of the community, and to enhance public safety. The grants may be used for hiring new officers, rehiring officers laid off as a result of State and local budget cuts, procuring equipment and technology, and funding additional grant projects. The maximum Federal share per officer is $75,000 for a three-year grant, and may not exceed 75 percent of the total project cost. The funds requested will also provide resources for: the Police Recruitment Program, to recruit and retain applicants to police departments; the Police Corps Program, to increase the number of police with advanced education and training; and the Law Enforcement Scholarship Program, to provide scholarship grants to in-service law enforcement personnel and employment to students interested in undertaking a career in law enforcement.

The Office of the Inspector General, established by the Inspector General Amendments Act of 1988, provides leadership and assists management in promoting economy, efficiency, and effectiveness within the Department; enforces the fraud, waste, abuse and integrity laws and regulations of the United States within the Department; and brings to justice those individuals or organizations involved in financial, professional or criminal misconduct relating to Department of Justice programs and operations.

The Audit function conducts, reports on and tracks the resolution of financial and compliance, economy and efficiency, and program audits of organizations, programs and functions within the Department, including expenditures made under Department contracts, grants and other agreements.

The Investigations function investigates and prepares for criminal prosecution violators of fraud, abuse and integrity laws which govern the Department or operations which are financed by the Department; and develops such allegations for possible civil and/or administrative actions.

The Inspections function performs program review, efficiency and performance reviews of operations and programs within the Department, or financed by the Department, and of field and headquarters entities of Department organizations; this function also provides assistance to management at all levels of the Department.

The Executive Direction and Control function establishes and maintains policy and program direction for the OIG. Specific responsibilities include policy development, legal counsel, Congressional affairs, planning, budget, finance, quality assurance and evaluation, personnel, training, procurement, automated data processing/network communications, and general support services.

This program includes the Office of the Pardon Attorney (OPA) and the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR). The Pardon Attorney receives and reviews all petitions for clemency, i.e., commutation of sentences and pardons. A number of actions have been taken to reduce backlogs. The Executive Office for Immigration Review contains the Immigration Judge function, the Board of Immigration Appeals, the Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer, and the Office of Management and Administration. EOIR was established January 1, 1983 to improve the immigration hearing and appeal process. Workload for the activity follows:

The Working Capital Fund (WCF) finances on a reimbursable basis those administrative services that can be performed more efficiently at the Department level. The Drug-Free Workplace activity was merged with Personnel Services in 1994. In 1995, the following three new activities have been approved for transfer into the Working Capital Fund: Mail Services, the Asset Forfeiture Management Staff, and the President's Prevention Council Office. The Asset Forfeiture Management Staff will be responsible for the administrative management and operational functions that were formerly performed by the Executive Office of Asset Forfeiture. The President's Prevention Council Office will provide the necessary support to implement the Ounce of Prevention Council. Beginning in 1996, a direct appropriation is being requested to fund the expenses of the Council.

The Antitrust Division administers and enforces antitrust and related statutes. This program primarily involves the investigation of suspected violations of the antitrust laws, the conduct of civil and criminal proceedings in the Federal courts, and the maintenance of competitive conditions.

In 1996, the Antitrust Division will continue to collect filing fees for premerger notifications and will retain and use up to $48,262,000 of these fees. Filing fees will remain at $45,000 to support the full cost of merger review. Increased revenue from fees will support expanded antitrust enforcement.

Legislation will be proposed to terminate the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) during 1996. This legislation would eliminate the bulk of the ICC's activities, including most motor carrier regulatory functions and some rail functions that have outlived their usefulness. Remaining activities continue to be necessary and would be transferred to the Departments of Justice and Transportation and the Federal Trade Commission. The Department of Justice would assume responsibility for reviewing applications for rail-related mergers, consolidations, and acquisitions.

The Government is represented in each of the 94 judicial districts by a U.S. Attorney. The U.S. Attorneys prosecute criminal offenses against the United States, represent the Government in civil actions in which the United States is concerned, and initiate proceedings for the collection of fines, penalties, and forfeitures owed to the United States. In 1996, additional funding will support an immigration initiative and supervision of the election of officers for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The Federal Government is represented in each of the 94 judicial districts by a U.S. Marshal. The primary mission of the U.S. Marshals Service is responsibility for the protection of the Federal judiciary, protection of witnesses, execution of warrants and court orders, management of seized assets, and custody and transportation of unsentenced prisoners. It is the principal support force in the Federal judicial system and an integral part of the Federal law enforcement community.

Reimbursable program.—Federal funds in 1996 are derived primarily from the U.S. Air Force for the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile Program for transportation security services provided by the U.S. Marshals Service, as well as the Bureau of Prisons for the transportation of sentenced prisoners, the Department of State for security details at the United Nations, the Organized Crime Drug Enforcement appropriation for drug law enforcement and the Office of National Drug Control Policy for security services. Non-Federal funds are derived from State and local governments for witness protection and for the transportation of prisoners pursuant to State writs and from fees collected from service of civil process and sales associated with judicial orders.

This program is the payment of fees and expenses to witnesses who appear on behalf of the Government in litigation in which the United States is a party. Factors over which the Department of Justice has little control affect the costs incurred. The U.S. Attorneys, the U.S. Marshals, and the Department's six legal divisions are served by this appropriation.

Fees and expenses of witnesses.—Pays the fees and expenses associated with the preparation and presentation of testimony on behalf of the United States for fact witnesses, who testify as to events or facts about which they have personal knowledge, and for expert witnesses, who provide technical or scientific testimony. This program also pays the fees of physicians and psychiatrists who examine accused persons upon order of the court to determine their mental competency.

Protection of witnesses.—Pays subsistence costs to ensure the safety of Government witnesses whose testimony on behalf of the United States places them or their families in jeopardy.

Victim compensation fund.—Pays restitution to any victim of a crime committed by a protected witness who causes or threatens death or serious bodily injury.

Private counsel.—Pays private counsel retained to represent Government employees who are sued for actions taken while performing their official duties.

Superior Court Informant Protection.—Pays for the short term protection and temporary relocation of informants for the District of Columbia Superior Court.

Reimbursable program.—Receives reimbursement from States and localities to cover the costs of maintaining those State and local organized crime witnesses and their families who have been accepted into the witness protection program.

A permanent appropriation finances the independent counsel. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 591 et seq., as amended, independent counsel were appointed to investigate allegations that senior Executive branch officials violated Federal law. A permanent appropriation funds the continuation of investigations begun before the authority for the independent counsel expired in December 1992, the investigation of the special counsel appointed in January 1994, and the investigations conducted under independent counsel legislation enacted in June 1994.

The Civil Liberties Act of 1988 (P.L. 100-383) authorizes payments to Japanese-Americans whom the Government evacuated, relocated or interned during World War II. The Civil Liberties Act Amendments of 1992 (P.L. 102-371) increased the total authorization for this program to $1.65 billion. The Departments of Commerce, Justice, and State, the Judiciary, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 1990, provided advance appropriations for these payments.

The 1996 estimate includes $5 million for educational activities pursuant to section 106(b) of the Civil Liberties Act of 1988. To date, over 79,514 redress payments have been made.

United States trustee system fund.—The United States trustees supervise the administration of bankruptcy cases and private trustees in the Federal Bankruptcy Courts. The Bankruptcy Judges, U.S. Trustees and Family Farmer Bankruptcy Act of 1986 (Public Law 99-554) expanded the pilot trustee program to a twenty-one region, nationwide program encompassing 88 judicial districts. The program is funded wholly by fees assessed against debtors and does not require any monies from the general fund of the Federal Government.

The Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984 established the Assets Forfeiture Fund, into which forfeited cash and the proceeds of sales of forfeited property are deposited. Authorities of the fund have been amended by various public laws enacted since 1984. Under current law, authority to use the fund for certain investigative expenses shall be specified in annual appropriation acts. Expenses necessary to seize, detain, inventory, safeguard, maintain, advertise or sell property under seizure are funded through a permanent, indefinite appropriation. In addition, beginning in 1993, other general expenses of managing and operating the asset forfeiture program are paid from the permanent, indefinite portion of the fund. Once all expenses are covered, and statutorily mandated transfers are accomplished, the balance is maintained to meet ongoing expenses of the program. Excess unobligated balances may also be allocated by the Attorney General in accordance with 28 U.S.C. 524(c)(9)(E).

The Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force (OCDETF) Program consists of 13 regional task forces which consolidate the resources and expertise of 11 member Federal agencies, in cooperation with State and local investigators and prosecutors, to target and destroy major narcotic trafficking and money-laundering organizations. The task forces perform the following activities:

1. Law Enforcement.—This activity includes the resources for direct investigative and support activities of the task forces, focusing on the disruption of drug trafficking controlled by various organized crime enterprises. Organizations participating under the law enforcement function of the OCDETF Program are the Drug Enforcement Administration, Federal Bureau of Investigation, U.S. Customs Service, Internal Revenue Service, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, U.S. Coast Guard, U.S. Marshals Service, and the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

2. Drug Intelligence.—This activity includes the resources to establish Regional Drug Intelligence Squads (RDIS) in all thirteen OCDETF Core Cities. The squads will gather and disseminate raw data for strategic, operational and tactical intelligence purposes and provide regional intelligence linkage to the National Drug Intelligence Center (NDIC) and member agencies' headquarters.

3. Prosecution.—This activity includes the resources for the prosecution of cases generated through the investigative efforts of task force agents. Litigation efforts are targeted selectively on the criminal leadership involved in drug trafficking and are intended to dissolve organized illicit enterprises. This includes activities designed to secure the seizure and forfeiture of the assets of these enterprises. Participating agencies are the U.S. Attorneys, Criminal Division and Tax Division.

4. Administrative Support.—This activity includes the resources for a Washington-based administrative staff which provides policy guidance, central coordination, and administrative support to the headquarters of the 11 member Federal agencies and the 13 regional task forces. The administrative staff is also responsible for financial management, records management, and maintenance of the OCDETF case management system.

In 1983 and 1984, the OCDETF Program operated as a single appropriation reimbursing participating agencies for their involvement. Beginning in 1985, and continuing through 1989, the resources were appropriated directly to the participating agencies. Pursuant to the provisions of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988, a single appropriation for expenses relating to all Federal agencies participating in the OCDETF Program was established in 1990.

The planned distribution of obligations for fiscal years 1995 and 1996 among the participating Federal agencies, as well as the actual distribution for fiscal year 1994, is as follows:

The overall objectives of the FBI are to uphold the law—to investigate violations of Federal criminal law, to protect the United States from hostile intelligence efforts, to provide assistance to other Federal, State, and local law enforcement agencies and to perform these responsibilities in a manner that is faithful to the Constitution and the laws of the United States.

These objectives result in the FBI's being actively involved in a wide range of investigations, including traditional law enforcement investigations (bank robbery, kidnaping, fugitive, bank embezzlement, etc.), investigations involving more modern phenomena (organized crime, white-collar crime, drug investigations, gang violence, financial institution fraud, environmental crimes, civil rights violations, antitrust violations, etc.), and investigations of foreign intelligence activities within the United States. The FBI has concurrent jurisdiction with DEA over Federal drug violations.

The activities of the FBI are divided into the following general categories:

Criminal, security, and other investigations.—This activity includes all field investigations of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. These investigations are conducted by FBI Special Agents in 56 field offices and approximately 400 resident agencies located throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. National priority investigations include white-collar crime, drugs, organized crime, counterterrorism and foreign counterintelligence, and investigations relating to violent crimes and major offenders. Other investigative areas are civil rights, security programs, and other investigations.

The FBI is reimbursed by other Federal agencies for certain investigative activities such as pre-employment background inquiries, fingerprint and name checks. Another primary reimbursement is the Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force program.

This activity also includes resources devoted to national program supervision, coordination, and management of FBI investigations and liaison with foreign police and security services through Legal Attaches.

The Communications Assistance for Law Enforcement Act of 1994 authorizes the Attorney General to pay telecommunications carriers for costs directly associated with modifying equipment to allow law enforcement to perform court-authorized wiretaps. Activities eligible for reimbursement include modifications performed by carriers in connection with equipment, facilities, and services installed or deployed to comply with the Act. In particular, telecommunications carriers are required to expeditiously isolate and enable intercept of all wire and electronic communications, provide access to call-identifying information that is reasonably available to the carrier, deliver the intercepts and call-identifying information to the government, and provide these services unobtrusively so as to minimize interference to subscriber services.

This program, administered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is funded through a surcharge of approximately 30% imposed on civil monetary penalties and criminal fines. For 1996, the Federal Bureau of Investigation will use $100 million in increased fines and penalties to finance the telephone carrier compliance.

A portion of this funding will finance continuing research and development efforts to produce the equipment necessary to perform court ordered wiretaps within a digital telephony environment. In addition, this funding will finance the development of a coordinated wireless network for public safety and law enforcement capable of operating within frequencies that are narrower than currently available. This funding will also be used to continue developing the Combined DNA Index System (CODIS), for capital improvements at the FBI Academy at Quantico Virginia, and for improved training and technical automation for State, Indian tribal, and local law enforcement agencies.

Note.—Excludes $1,800 thousand in budget authority in 1996 for activities transferred to the DEA Drug Diversion Control Fee Account.

The mission of the DEA is to control abuse of narcotics and dangerous drugs by restricting the aggregate supply of those drugs. At the Federal level, DEA is the lead drug law enforcement agency. DEA accomplishes its objectives through coordination with State, local, and other Federal officials in drug enforcement activities, development and maintenance of drug intelligence systems, regulation of legitimate controlled substances activities, and enforcement coordination and intelligence-gathering activities with foreign government agencies.

Cooperation among Federal law enforcement agencies is extensive, especially within the 13 organized crime drug enforcement task forces (OCDETF). DEA's involvement is integral to this nationwide coordinated enforcement strategy. With the OCDETF program and the expansion of other agency cooperative efforts, overall drug enforcement capabilities have been significantly strengthened in recent years.

The activities of the DEA are divided into the following general categories:

ENFORCEMENT

Domestic enforcement.—This activity encompasses DEA's general efforts to eliminate or immobilize major drug trafficking organizations and thereby reduce the domestic supply of illicit drugs.

Domestic Enforcement includes the majority of the activities encompassed in the former Special Enforcement Operations/Programs. These activities include efforts to reduce the availability of illicit drugs by immobilizing targeted organizations that are substantially responsible for importation and distribution of drugs and by focusing enforcement operations on specific drug trafficking problems.

State and local task forces.—This activity encompasses efforts to reduce drug availability and immobilize major drug trafficking organizations through intergovernmental cooperation with State and local law enforcement agencies. There are currently 84 program-funded and 26 provisional State and Local Task Forces participating in the program.

The measures below reflect the level of activity performed by this program.

DEA initiated arrests (includes SEO/P arrests)	5,279	5,921	5,926
Other Federal referral arrests (includes SEO/P arrests)	1,241	1,241	1,241
DEA cooperative arrests (includes SEO/P arrests)	4,409	4,938	4,952
State and Local Task Force arrests	5,230	5,190	5,190
Clandestine labs seized	272	280	280
DEA/OCDE arrests	4,584	4,443	4,401
DEA-wide assets seized ($ thousands)	$720,083,000	$750,000,000	$750,000,000

Foreign cooperative investigations.—This activity encompasses efforts to (1) disrupt, as close to the source as possible, production of opium, heroin, cocaine, marijuana, and illicitly produced and diverted legitimate dangerous drugs destined for the United States, and (2) collect and disseminate intelligence regarding narcotics production and trafficking. The measures below reflect the level of activity performed by this program.

Foreign cooperative arrests	1,522	1,473	1,443

Diversion control.—This activity seeks to reduce, to the maximum extent, the diversion of legitimately produced controlled substances, including steroids and chemicals, into illicit channels at all levels of distribution and to provide leadership and support to ensure that State and local agencies and the pharmaceutical and chemical industry establish and maintain programs and policies to control diversion. The majority of diversion control activities are funded from the DEA Diversion Control Fee Account.

The measures below reflect the level of activity performed by this program.

INVESTIGATIVE SUPPORT

Intelligence.—This activity encompasses the collection, analysis, and dissemination of drug intelligence in support of the enforcement operations of DEA and other Federal, State and local agencies.

DEA laboratory services.—This activity encompasses laboratory analysis of evidence and expert testimony in support of investigation and prosecution of drug traffickers. The measures below reflect the level of activity performed by this program.

Laboratory exhibits analyzed	37,667	37,797	40,003

DEA training.—This activity encompasses entry level training for all special agents, diversion investigators, and intelligence analysts; advanced, in-service and specialized training for investigative and other personnel; executive, mid-level management, and supervisory training for appropriate agency officials, and foreign language training for all DEA personnel assigned to overseas and border offices as needed. In 1996, training will focus on basic agent, in-service and specialized training activities. The measures below reflect a portion of the level of activity performed by this program.

Basic agents trained	4	320	83
Basic diversion investigators trained	0	30	30
Basic intelligence specialist trained	0	22	22
Forensic chemists trained	0	24	24

Research, engineering, and technical operations.—This activity encompasses providing high quality and timely radio communications capability, technical and investigative equipment assistance support, maintenance and operation of an aircraft fleet, and research programs directly related to the DEA law enforcement and intelligence functions.

ADP and telecommunications.—This activity encompasses automated data processing and telecommunication support on a nationwide and worldwide basis.

Records management.—This activity encompasses effective and efficient records management, Freedom of Information/Privacy Act, and library support.

PROGRAM DIRECTION

Management and Administration.—This activity encompasses the overall management, contracting, and direction of DEA to include personnel, general services, and Equal Employment Opportunity functions.

REIMBURSABLE PROGRAM

Reimbursable program.—The primary reimbursements to DEA are for the Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force program, the training of foreign drug law enforcement officials (funded by the Department of State), the expenses incurred in managing seized assets, and other purposes for which DEA is reimbursed from the Department of Justice Assets Forfeiture Fund.

Public Law 102-395 established the Diversion Control Fee Account in 1993. Fees charged by the Drug Enforcement Administration under the Diversion Control Program are set at a level that ensures the recovery of the full costs of operating the various aspects of the program. The purpose of this program is to prevent, detect, and investigate the diversion of controlled substances from legitimate channels, while at the same time ensuring an adequate and uninterrupted supply of controlled substances required to meet legitimate needs.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service is responsible for administering laws relating to the admission, exclusion, deportation, and naturalization of aliens. Specifically, the Service inspects aliens to determine their admissibility into the United States; adjudicates requests of aliens for benefits under the law; prevents illegal entry into the United States; investigates, apprehends, and removes aliens in this country in violation of the law; and examines alien applicants wishing to become citizens.

Immigration Initiative.—This initiative will provide resources to improve both traffic facilitation and law enforcement at and between ports of entry into the United States. Over 1,700 new immigration agents, officers, and support staff will perform a strategic mix of activities to best achieve the goal of the Border Control Strategy—prevention through deterrence. These new border staff will be deployed at and between border ports-of-entry, in new border field intelligence groups, and in anti-smuggling investigative units. In addition, this initiative also includes resources for: an automated enforcement system technology; a pilot interior repatriation effort; a plan for detention and removal of deportable aliens; expanded employer sanctions; a Verification Information System; and a premier Bureau for Immigration Statistics.

Enforcement.—This activity contains resources for preventing illegal entry into the United States and facilitating the entry of qualified persons. This includes inspection of applicants for admission, patrol of the border, and the location of illegal aliens who are in the United States following illegal entry or violation of status after legal entry. Apprehensions are made through the inspection of places of employment, by the investigation of information about the location of undocumented aliens, and through investigative case work. Also included are the resources for the Service's nationwide anti-smuggling program and for the detention and deportation of illegal aliens.

Most reimbursements received by the Service are from the inspections, legalization, examination, and land border fee programs. Also included are reimbursements for retrofitting conveyances for drug law enforcement purposes and for managing and operating the vehicle seizure program. These resources are from the Department of Justice Assets Forfeiture Fund. Resources are also received for participation in the Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Program.

90.00 Outlays

The Immigration Emergency Fund, established by the Immigration Reform and Control Act and funded by Public Law 101-162, provides funds for possible increases in border patrol and other enforcement activities, and for reimbursement to States and localities for assistance in meeting an immigration emergency. The Immigration Act of 1990, however, amended these provisions and allows for reimbursement to States and localities at the discretion of the Attorney General, in the event that asylum applications in a district exceed a certain amount during a given quarter, or if lives, property, safety or welfare of the residents of a State or locality are endangered, or in other circumstances as determined by the Attorney General.

[SALARIES AND EXPENSES] VIOLENT CRIME REDUCTION PROGRAMS

[In addition to amounts otherwise made available under this heading in this Act for "Salaries and Expenses", $100,600,000 to implement the President's Immigration Initiative, of which not to exceed $32,000,000 shall remain available until expended].

[BORDER CONTROL SYSTEM MODERNIZATION]

[For the development, testing, evaluation and procurement of new automation and communications systems and other new technologies necessary for the administration and enforcement of the laws relating to immigration, naturalization and alien registration, not otherwise provided for, $154,600,000, to remain available until expended.]

For activities authorized by sections 120006, 130005, and 130007, and 190001(b) of Public Law 103-322, $335,498,000, to remain available until expended, which shall be derived from the Violent Crime Reduction Trust Fund, of which $54,089,000 shall be for expeditious deportation of denied asylum applicants, $232,000,000 for improving border controls, $40,539,000 for expanding special deportation proceedings, $3,370,000 to establish and operate a Criminal Alien Tracking Center, and $5,500,000 for border patrol equipment. (Violent Crime Control Appropriations Act, 1995.)

Resources from the Violent Crime Reduction Trust Fund will be used to augment immigration law enforcement activities. Border control will be improved through a combination of enhanced staffing and increased use of technology strategically deployed along the border. A criminal alien tracking center will operate providing immigration law enforcement assistance to officers nationwide. Resources will be used to process applications for political asylum and to control and reduce application backlogs. Finally, funding for expedited deportation will complement INS' Institutional Hearing Program and finance removal of deportable criminal aliens from the United States.

The Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, title II, section 201(a), amends section 245(c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act by permitting the Attorney General to provide for a schedule of fees to be charged for filing legalization applications and further allows for the depositing of payments received in a separate account with the amounts to be available without fiscal year limitation to cover administrative and other expenses incurred in connection with the review of legalization applications. The 1996 request reflects a continued phase-down of this program.

Traffic across the U.S.-Mexico and U.S.-Canada land borders has increased dramatically in recent years. Commercial and other border crossers sometimes wait in lines for up to two to three hours to enter the United States at ports-of-entry along the Southwest border. This traffic is expected to increase further with the implementation of the North American Free Trade Agreement. Moreover, measures to control and limit illegal immigration between ports-of-entry along the Southwest border will place even greater pressures at these ports-of-entry to handle increased traffic and additional attempts at illegal entry. To address these problems, the Administration is proposing a border investment program designed to help stem illegal immigration, improve overall border management, increase facilitation of traffic, and stop cross-border drug smuggling. Specifically, the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the Customs Service will charge $3.00 per vehicle and $1.50 per pedestrian crosser, with discounts to frequent crossers. Net revenues in excess of operating costs will be shared equally between the INS and the United States Customs Service to enhance border services and operations, and facilitate legal crossings.

This appropriation will provide for the custody and care of an average of 100,627 offenders and for the maintenance and operation of 94 penal institutions, 6 regional offices, 3 staff training centers, and a central office located in Washington, D.C.

The appropriation also finances the boarding of sentenced Federal prisoners in State and local jails and therapeutic, community residential and other facilities for short periods of time. An average of 12,540 sentenced prisoners will be in contract facilities in 1996.

The Bureau receives reimbursements for daily care and maintenance of State and local offenders, for utilities used by Federal Prison Industries, Inc., and for meals provided to Bureau staff at institutions.

Inmate care and programs.—This activity covers the cost of all food, medical supplies, clothing, welfare services, release clothing, transportation, gratuities, staff salaries (including salaries of Health Resources and Services Administration commissioned officers), and operational costs of functions directly related to providing inmate care. This activity also finances the costs of academic, social and occupational education courses, religious programs, psychological services, and drug abuse treatment programs.

Institution security and administration.—This activity covers all costs associated with the maintenance of facilities and institution security. This activity finances institution maintenance, motor pool operations, powerhouse operations, institution security, and other administrative functions.

Contract confinement.—This activity provides for the confinement of sentenced Federal offenders in contract State and local facilities and for the care of Federal prisoners in contract community residential centers.

Management and administration.—This activity covers all costs associated with regional and central office executive direction and management support functions such as research and evaluation, systems support, financial management, human resources management, inmate systems management, safety, and legal counsel.

In 1996, resources are requested to: provide for a projected increase in the inmate population; activate two (2) new prisons, provide equipment money for an additional prison; and provide for five (5) expansions. In total, the activations will add over 2,800 new beds. Further, the request includes resources for contract confinement, infectious diseases treatment, Springfield Kidney Dialysis Center and fleet management.

Privatizing operations of prisons.—The Bureau of Prisons FY 1996 request proposes further utilization of private companies, where most appropriate, to manage Federal inmates. This expands the private sector role in Federal Corrections by contracting for the management and operations of several Federal prisons currently under construction. The majority of future pretrial detention, minimum and low security Federal prisons will be privatized. For FY 1996, the management and operations of several prisons will be privatized including the pre-trial Metropolitan Detention Center in Brooklyn, New York and minimum and low security Federal prisons in Forrest City, Arkansas; Taft, California and Yazoo City, Mississippi.

The National Institute of Corrections (NIC) was established by the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act of 1974 to provide leadership in improving correctional programs and practices, especially in State and local organizations. The NIC awards contracts and grants to provide technical assistance to requesting correctional organizations; to maintain an information service to provide information on the latest developments, research results, et cetera, in the field of corrections; to provide training to the correctional community to improve systems and skills; and to conduct limited research and evaluation of correctional activities.

The NIC Jail Center will continue to improve the knowledge and skills of sheriffs and jail administrators, enabling them to upgrade services and practices within their jail operations.

The National Academy of Corrections will offer training to State and local correctional personnel working in prisons, community corrections, and jails. In 1996, the Academy will train over 8,800 students in the areas of management theory, current issues affecting jails, institutions, probation and parole, standards implementation, and inmate services and programs.

The dissemination of relevant correctional policies, programs, practices and resource documents will continue through the clearinghouse activity of NIC.

New construction.—This activity represents costs associated with the acquisition, construction, and leasing of facilities in order to reduce overcrowding and provide a safe and humane environment for staff and inmates. In 1996, resources are requested to construct one medium security facility in Beaumont, Texas and a second medium security facility with a camp in California. In addition, this request includes partial funding for a contract facility in Hawaii and holding cells construction funds for the U.S. Marshals Service.

Modernization and repair of existing facilities.—This activity includes rehabilitation and renovation of buildings, necessary modifications to accommodate new correctional programs, rehabilitation or replacement of utilities systems, and repair projects at existing facilities. In 1996, resources are requested for hazardous waste removal for one facility and life safety repairs for four facilities.

Federal Prison Industries, Inc., was created by Congress in 1934 and is a wholly-owned Government corporation. Its mission is to employ and train Federal inmates through a diversified program providing products and services to other Federal agencies. These operations are conducted in such a manner as to offer a minimum of competition to private industry and labor. Employment provides inmates with work, occupational knowledge and skills, plus money for personal expenses and family assistance.

The Corporation has been expanding its operations to provide additional industrial employment opportunities at existing and planned institutions.

Budget program.—Federal Prison Industries, Inc., is entirely self-sustaining. No appropriations are required. The amounts used by the Corporation for administrative expenses are subject to a congressional limitation. Information regarding this limitation is provided separately following this account.

Financing program.—Revenues are derived entirely from the sale of products and services to other Federal agencies. Operating expenses are applied against these revenues, resulting in operating income or loss. Earnings surplus to the needs of the manufacturing operations, capital improvements and cash reserves are used to pay accident compensation.

Operating results.—To date, Federal Prison Industries, Inc., has returned to the Treasury a total of $82 million of retained income excess to the Corporation's needs. No contributions from budget authority have been made to offset deficits for non-revenue producing outlays since the inception of the fund.

The Office of Justice Programs carries out policy coordination and general management responsibilities for the Bureau of Justice Assistance, Bureau of Justice Statistics, National Institute of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention and the Office for Victims of Crime, which administer the following programs and activities.

Research, evaluation, and demonstration programs.—Funds provide for and encourage the development of basic and applied research for the improvement of Federal, State, and local criminal, civil, and juvenile justice systems; new methods for the prevention and reduction of crime and the detection, apprehension, and rehabilitation of criminals; and the dissemination of the results of such research efforts.

Criminal justice statistical programs.—Funds provide for the collection and analysis of statistical information concerning crime, victims, offenders, criminal justice processes, juvenile delinquency, and civil disputes in support of public and private policy and decisionmaking about society's response to crime; planning, coordination, implementation and provision of technical assistance to States to initiate innovative applications of communications and information systems technology for State and local criminal justice systems; and assurance of conformance with privacy and security regulations.

Emergency assistance.—Funds are used to provide emergency assistance to a State or locality after the Attorney General has determined that a law enforcement emergency exists. A law enforcement emergency is a situation where the capacity of local resources has been exceeded. No funds were appropriated in 1995, and none are requested in 1996.

Missing children.—Funds for this program will be used to reduce the incidence of crimes against children, particularly kidnaping and sexual exploitation, by assisting families, citizen groups, law enforcement agencies and government institutions in a national effort to insure the safety and protection of children.

Crime control programs.—This activity provides for expenditures from programs that were authorized by preceding legislative authority but are not continued under existing legislation.

Regional information sharing system.—This is a program to aid State and local law enforcement agencies in the exchange of intelligence information.

National White Collar Crime Center.—This activity provides assistance to State and local law enforcement and regulatory agencies in addressing multi-jurisdictional white collar crimes.

Management and administration.—Funds provide for executive direction and control, program operation, and administrative support of the above activities as well as the Weed and Seed Program, formerly administered independently by the Deputy Attorney General.

Violent Crime Reduction Trust Fund (VCRTF) resources support a wide range of programs to assist State and local governments with crime and drug control efforts. Funding is provided for prevention, law enforcement, and corrections assistance and support the following programs and activities.

Criminal records upgrade program.—Expands the program established in 1995 under the Brady Handgun Violence Prevention Act and the National Child Protection Act of 1993. The program provides financial and technical assistance to all States to improve their ability to identify criminal histories of felons and other persons ineligible to purchase firearms or hold positions involving children, the elderly, or the disabled.

Incarceration of undocumented aliens program.—Funds provide for a program to reimburse States and local units of government for a portion of the costs incurred for the imprisonment of criminal aliens.

Correctional facilities grants.—Funds provide assistance to States to expand correctional facility capacity to ensure adequate space for the confinement of violent offenders.

Local crime prevention block grant.—Funds provide block grants for units of local government for 18 crime prevention purposes.

Byrne formula grants.—Funds provide assistance to States to develop programs to fight drugs, violence, and gangs in a coordinated manner throughout a State.

Drug courts.—Funds provide assistance to States and local units of government to develop and implement programs for non-violent offenders with substance abuse problems. Programs involve continuing judicial supervision and integrated administration of other sanctions and services such as drug testing and drug treatment.

Violence against women.—Funds provide assistance to States and local units of government to develop and strengthen effective law enforcement and prosecution strategies to combat violence against women and provide victim services.

Among other new programs requested are the Model Intensive Grant Program, the Court Appointed Special Advocate Program, the Child Abuse Training program, the Youth-At-Risk-program, drug treatment in State prisons, programs to aid State and local governments upgrade their technical facilities for tracking criminals, public awareness programs regarding scams against the elderly, studies to gather data regarding sexual and domestic violence, and various miscellaneous crime control programs.

This program provides payment of death benefits to eligible survivors of public safety officers who die in the line of duty, and disability payments to public safety officers who are permanently disabled as a result of injury incurred in the line of duty. Legislation provides for an annual cost of living escalator tied to the Consumer Price Index (CPI). On October 1 of every year, this escalator will increase the benefit by the percentage of increase to the CPI.

The Victims of Crime Act of 1984 (Public Law 98-473), as amended, established a special fund in the Treasury entitled "The Crime Victims Fund." This fund is credited with criminal fines that are collected from persons convicted of offenses against the United States. Annual grants are made to eligible crime victims compensation and assistance programs.

Amounts collected in the previous year are available for obligation in the subsequent year, subject to the limitations included in authorizing language.

The Violent Crime Reduction Trust Fund was established by the Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994, Public Law 103-322. The VCRTF is supported by savings realized from the implementation of section 5 of the Federal Workforce Restructuring Act of 1994, Public Law 103-226. By law, VCRTF monies may be used only for activities authorized by the Violent Crime Control Act of 1994 and shall be expended in amounts for both budget authority and outlays specified for each of fiscal years 1995 through 2000.

For fiscal year 1996 a total of $4.287 billion is proposed to be transferred to 21 specific Crime Control Program accounts in departmental budgets for programs authorized by Public Law 103-322. The following table indicates amounts appropriated for fiscal year 1995 and requested for fiscal year 1996:

GENERAL PROVISIONS—DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

The following sections are proposed for deletion and do not appear below:

Title I:

- Sec. 108 ... For fiscal year 1995, cancels budgetary resources for procurement-related expenses.
- Sec. 109 ... For fiscal year 1995 and thereafter, permits represented governmental components to reimburse the Justice Department for unusually high litigation costs.
- Sec. 111 ... For fiscal year 1995 and thereafter, permits collection in the State of California of land border inspection fees.
- Sec. 112 ... For fiscal year 1995, establishes minimum amount of crime victims grants per State.
- Sec. 113 ... For fiscal year 1995, restricts use of funds for activities outside of the Justice Department.
- Sec. 114 ... Expresses the sense of Congress that the President of the United States and the President of Mexico should meet to discuss border control.
- Sec. 115 ... Permits non-competitive appointment of certain individuals employed at the Federal Bureau of Investigation.
- Title VII .. For fiscal year 1995, reappropriates funds upon establishment of the Violent Crime Reduction Trust Fund.

SEC. 101. In addition to amounts otherwise made available in this title for official reception and representation expenses, a total of not to exceed $45,000 from funds appropriated to the Department of Justice in this title shall be available to the Attorney General for official reception and representation expenses in accordance with distributions, procedures, and regulations established by the Attorney General.

SEC. 102. Subject to subsection (b) of section 102 of the Department of Justice and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 1993, authorities contained in Public Law 96-132, "The Department of Justice Appropriation Authorization Act, Fiscal Year 1980", shall remain in effect until the termination date of this Act or until the effective date of a Department of Justice Appropriation Authorization Act, whichever is earlier.

SEC. 103. None of the funds appropriated under this title shall be used to require any person to perform, or facilitate in any way the performance of, any abortion.

SEC. 104. Nothing in the preceding section shall remove the obligation of the Director of the Bureau of Prisons to provide escort services necessary for a female inmate to receive such service outside the Federal facility: Provided, That nothing in this section in any way diminishes the effect of section 103 intended to address the philosophical beliefs of individual employees of the Bureau of Prisons.

SEC. 105. Pursuant to the provisions of law set forth in 18 U.S.C. 3071-3077, not to exceed $5,000,000 of the funds appropriated to the Department of Justice in this title shall be available for rewards to individuals who furnish information regarding acts of terrorism against a United States person or property.

SEC. 106. Not to exceed 5 percent of any appropriation made available for the current fiscal year for the Department of Justice in this Act, including those derived from the Violent Crime Reduction Trust Fund, may be transferred between such appropriations, but no such appropriation, except as otherwise specifically provided, shall be increased by more than 10 percent by any such transfers: Provided, That this section shall not apply to any appropriation made available in title I of this Act under the heading, "Office of Justice Programs, Justice Assistance": Provided further, That any transfer pursuant to this section shall be treated as a reprogramming of funds under section 605 of this Act and shall not be available for obligation or expenditure except in compliance with the procedures set forth in that section.

SEC. 107. [In fiscal year 1995] For fiscal year 1996 and each fiscal year thereafter, amounts in the Federal Prison System's Commissary Fund, Federal Prisons, which are not currently needed for operations, shall be kept on deposit or invested in obligations of, or guaranteed by, the United States and all earnings on such investments shall be deposited in the Commissary Fund.

SEC. [110] 108. Paragraph 524(c)(9) of title 28, United States Code, is amended by adding subparagraph (E), as follows:

"(E) Subject to the notification procedures contained in section 605 of Public Law 103-121, and after satisfying the transfer requirement in subparagraph (B) above, any excess unobligated balance remaining in the Fund on September 30, [1994] 1995 shall be available to the Attorney General, without fiscal year limitation, for any Federal law enforcement, litigative/prosecutive, and correctional activities, or any other authorized purpose of the Department of Justice. Any amounts provided pursuant to this section may be used under authorities available to the organization receiving the funds."

SEC. 109. (a) Section 1930(a)(6) of Title 28, United States Code, is amended by striking "a plan is confirmed or";

(b) Section 589a(b)(5) of such title is amended by striking "; and inserting, "until a reorganization plan is confirmed;"; and

(1) in paragraph (2) by striking "." and inserting, "until a reorganization plan is confirmed;"; and

(2) by inserting after paragraph (2) the following new paragraph:

"(3) 100 percent of the fees collected under section 1930(a)(6) of this title after a reorganization plan is confirmed."

SEC. 110. (a) Subject to subsection (b) of this section, authorities contained in Public Law 96-132, "The Department of Justice Appropriation Authorization Act, Fiscal Year 1980", shall remain in effect until the termination date of this Act or until the effective date of a Department of Justice Appropriation Authorization Act, whichever is earlier.

(b)(1) During fiscal years 1996, 1997, and 1998, with respect to any undercover investigative operation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) or the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) which is necessary for the prevention, detection and prosecution of crimes against the United States or for the collection of foreign intelligence or counterintelligence—

(A) sums authorized to be appropriated for such agencies may be used for purchasing property, buildings, and other facilities, and for leasing space, within the United States, the District of Columbia, the territories and possessions of the United States, and elsewhere, without regard to 31 U.S.C. 1341 or 3324, section 3732(a) of the Revised Statutes (41 U.S.C. 11(a)), section 305 of the Act of June 30, 1949 (41 U.S.C. 255), the third undesignated paragraph under the heading of "Miscellaneous" of the Act of March 3, 1877 (40 U.S.C. 34), section 3741 of the Revised Statutes (41 U.S.C. 22), and subsections (a) and (c) of section 304 of the Federal Property and Administrative Service Act of 1949 (41 U.S.C. 254 (a) and (c)).

(B) sums authorized to be appropriated for such agencies may be used to establish or to acquire proprietary corporations or business entities as part of an undercover investigative operation, and to operate such corporations or business entities on a commercial basis, without regard to 31 U.S.C. 9102.

(C) sums authorized to be appropriated for such agencies for fiscal years 1996, 1997, and 1998, and the proceeds from such undercover operation, may be deposited in banks or other financial institutions, without regard to 18 U.S.C. 648 and 31 U.S.C. 3302, and

(D) proceeds from such undercover operation may be used to offset necessary and reasonable expenses incurred in such operation, without regard to 31 U.S.C. 3302, only, in operations designed to prevent, detect and prosecute crimes against the United States, upon the written certification of the Director of the FBI (or, if designated by the Director, a member of the Undercover Operations Review Committee established by the Attorney General in the Attorney General's Guidelines on Federal Bureau of Investigation Undercover Operations, as revised and in effect on November 13, 1992) or the Administrator of the DEA (or, if designated by the Administrator, a member of the Sensitive Activities Review Committee established by the Administrator, as revised and in effect on April 7, 1993), as the case may be, and the Attorney General (or the Attorney General's designee), that any action authorized by subparagraph (A), (B), (C), or (D) is necessary for the conduct of such undercover operation. If the undercover operation is designed to collect foreign intelligence or counterintelligence, the certification that any action authorized by subparagraph (A), (B), (C), or (D) is necessary for the conduct of such undercover operation shall be by the Director of the FBI (or, if designated by the Director, the Assistant Director, National Security Division) and the Attorney General (or, if designated by the Attorney General, the Counsel for Intelligence Policy). Such certification shall continue in effect for the duration of such undercover operation, without regard to fiscal years.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), it shall not be necessary to obtain such certification for an undercover operation in order that proceeds or other money—

(A) received by an undercover agent from or at the direction of a subject of an investigation, or

(B) provided to an agent by an individual cooperating with the Government in an investigation, who received the proceeds or money from or at the direction of a subject of the investigation, may be used as a subject of the investigation directs without regard to 31 U.S.C. 3302: Provided, That the Director of the FBI, the Administrator of the DEA, or their designees, in advance or as soon as practicable thereafter, make a written determination that such a use would further the investigation: Provided further, That the financial audit requirements of paragraphs (5) and (6) shall apply in each investigation where such a determination has been made.

(3) As soon as the proceeds from an undercover investigative operation with respect to which an action is authorized and carried out under subparagraphs (C) and (D) of paragraph (1), or under paragraph (2) are no longer necessary for the conduct of such operation, such proceeds or the balance of such proceeds remaining at the time shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States as miscellaneous receipts.

(4) If a corporation or business entity established or acquired as part of an undercover operation under subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) with a net value of over $50,000 is to be liquidated, sold, or otherwise disposed of, the FBI or the DEA, as much in advance as the Director, the Administrator, or the designee of the Director or the Administrator determines is practicable, shall report the circumstances to the Attorney General and the Comptroller General. The proceeds of the liquidation, sale, or other disposition, after obligations are met, shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States as miscellaneous receipts.

(5) (A) The FBI or the DEA, as the case may be, shall conduct a detailed financial audit of each undercover investigative operation which is closed in fiscal years 1996, 1997, and 1998—

(i) submit the results of such audit in writing to the Attorney General, and

(ii) not later than 180 days after such undercover operation is closed, submit a report to the Congress concerning such audit.

(B) The FBI and the DEA shall each also submit a report annually to the Congress specifying as to their respective undercover investigative operations—

(i) the number, by programs, of undercover investigative operations pending as of the end of the one-year period for which such report is submitted,

(ii) the number, by programs, of undercover investigative operations commenced in the one-year period preceding the period for which such report is submitted, and

(iii) the number, by programs, of undercover investigative operations closed in the one-year period preceding the period for which such report is submitted and, with respect to each such closed undercover operation, the results obtained. With respect to each such closed undercover operation which involves any of the sensitive circumstances specified in the Attorney General's Guidelines on Federal Bureau of Investigation Undercover Operations, such report shall contain a detailed description of the operation and related matters, including information pertaining to—

(I) the results,

(II) any civil claims, and

(6) For purposes of paragraph (5)—

(A) the term "closed" refers to the earliest point in time at which—

(i) all criminal proceedings (other than appeals) are concluded, or

(ii) covert activities are concluded, whichever occurs later.

(B) the term "employees" means employees, as defined in section 2105 of title 5 of the United States Code, and

(i) in which—

(I) the gross receipts (excluding interest earned) exceed $50,000, or

(II) expenditures (other than expenditures for salaries of employees) exceed $150,000, and

(ii) which is exempt from 31 U.S.C. 3302 or 9102, except that clauses (i) and (ii) shall not apply with respect to the report required under subparagraph (B) of such paragraph.

SEC. 111. For fiscal year 1996 and thereafter, the Director of the Bureau of Prisons is authorized to make expenditures out of the Federal Prison System's Commissary Fund, Federal Prisons, for the installation, operation, and maintenance of the Inmate Telephone System, including but not limited to the payment of all the equipment purchased or leased in connection with the Inmate Telephone System and the salaries, benefits, and other expenses of personnel who install, operate and maintain the Inmate Telephone System, regardless of whether these expenditures are security related. (Department of Justice and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 1995.)
