The program described below is financed by this appropriation, by fees for services, and by reimbursements from other agencies. Those agencies are provided with most of their administrative services overseas by the Department of State.

Executive direction and policy formulation.—This activity identifies resources which provide sound management through the direction of the Secretary and with the assistance of staff offices, specialized offices, and functional and regional bureaus, for policy formulation and in pursuit of regional and global foreign policy objectives including the hosting of various international conferences and meetings in the United States and abroad.

Conduct of diplomatic relations.—Resources of this activity include: the political and economic reporting and analysis of interests to the United States; the representation of U.S. diplomatic and national interests to countries abroad; and the bilateral and multilateral negotiation of our foreign policy objectives including the hosting of and participation in various international conferences, meetings and other multilateral activities in the United States and abroad. These resources also fund the conduct of U.S. diplomatic policy through political and multilateral affairs, economic and social affairs, international budgetary and management affairs, and participation in and hosting various international conferences.

Conduct of consular relations.—Activities include are overseas and American citizen services, the issuance of passports to U.S. citizens both here and abroad, and implementing a coordinated strategy to improve consular systems and processes in support of U.S. border security. Visa services involve the issuance, denial, and adjudication of immigrant and non-immigrant visas; refugee processing; and visa fraud detection and investigation. American citizen services include the issuance of passports and emergency assistance to American citizens abroad. Passport services include the issuance of passports in the United States and U.S. missions abroad and passport fraud detection and investigation.

Professional development and training.—The professional development and training activity is a continuous process by which the Department ensures that its professionals have the skills, experience, and judgment to fulfill its functions at all levels. Training programs are designed to provide employees with the specific functional, area, and language skills needed for the conduct of foreign relations in the Department and abroad.

Information management.—This activity identifies resources necessary for the effective and efficient creation, collection, processing, transmission, dissemination, use, storage, and disposition of information required for the formulation and execution of foreign policy and for the conduct of daily business. Its requirements are driven by the informational needs of the President, the Secretary of State, the Department and its 250 missions, and approximately fifty Government agencies. Components of the information management activity include: telecommunications; classified information handling; unclassified data and word processing; pouch, mail, and publishing services; administration of an electronic and archival records management program; document classification and declassification; information security; and provision of information management services, as appropriate, to all branches of the Government and to the public. In all of these programs, responsibilities range from policy setting to planning and design, implementation, operation, and maintenance. The Department manages large computer and communications centers to provide administrative, consular, economic, and political information. The computer systems support worldwide consular applications, financial management systems, management of building programs, and intelligence research systems. The centralized management of these activities is funded in the Department's salaries and expenses appropriation.

Security.—This activity identifies resources necessary in meeting security and counter-terrorism responsibilities, both foreign and domestic. Covered in this activity are: security operations; engineering services, which relate to the technical defense of Foreign Service personnel and establishments against electronic and physical attack; protection of dignitaries abroad; and physical security operations abroad.

Medical.—This activity encompasses medical programs for the Department of State, the Foreign Service, and 35 other U.S. Government departments and agencies overseas. Services are provided in Washington as well as at missions worldwide and cover some 60,000 employees and dependents.

Administration and staff activities.—These activities include normal domestic and overseas administrative services directly related to Department programs other than those funded in the Department's salaries and expenses appropriation. They include:

- The direction and control of administration and management operations, representing and negotiating U.S. Government administrative matters with foreign officials, and reviewing and setting resource levels and priorities for various programs and bureaus financed by this appropriation.
- The budgeting, financial planning, and fiscal operations for bureaus and offices financed by this appropriation and most federal agencies resident abroad.
- The management, recruitment, and performance evaluation of Foreign and Civil Service employees and Foreign Service National staff.
- The contracting and procurement of services and supplies, maintenance and repair of equipment and physical property, vehicle operation, and shipping and customs services.
- Centralized funding for travel and transportation of effects associated with the assignment, transfer, home leave, and separation of the Department's personnel and dependents.

A new overseas administrative support and cost-sharing system, the International Cooperative Administrative Support Services (ICASS) program, will be fully implemented in FY 1998. ICASS will increase agency participation in administrative support decisions, provide user agencies with improved management information regarding support costs, and provide for more equitable cost sharing for agencies operating overseas relative to total overseas presence.

The Administration will submit a budget amendment shortly after submission of the President's FY 1998 budget to effect transfers of funds that, to date, have been appropriated to the Department of State to pay the cost of administrative services abroad for other agencies. Under ICASS, other agencies will be obliged to pay a larger share of these administrative costs. Budget authority transfers to implement ICASS will net to zero and will not require additional resources beyond that presented in the President's FY 1998 budget.

This schedule reflects the changes resulting from the proposal to make immigration, passport and other fees available to finance State Department operations directly. This proposal will link receipts generated by State Department activity to the performance and improvement of Department operations. The Department's ongoing Border Security Program is funded through a fee charged for Machine Readable Visas. In fiscal year 1998, the Administration proposes to reclassify this existing fee from an offsetting collection to earmarked governmental receipts.

This is one of several proposals in the budget to charge fees to users directly availing themselves of, or subject to, a government service, program, or activity, in order to cover the government's costs. Legislation will be proposed to authorize the use of such fees, and, upon enactment of the authorization, the appropriations language above would make the fees available for expenditure. Because the current requirements of the Budget Enforcement Act of 1990 make it difficult to fund discretionary programs with receipts that are not authorized in appropriations acts, the Administration is proposing a change in the requirements to facilitate the enactment of proposals such as this one.

Under the direction of the Secretary of State, the overall mission of the Office of Foreign Buildings Operation is to ensure that U.S. Diplomatic and Consular Missions abroad are provided safe, secure and functional facilities which will assist them in achieving the foreign policy objectives of the United States. Specific program functions in support of the mission include: providing guidance concerning overseas facilities to posts, regional bureaus and other foreign affairs agencies; providing expert facilities and space planning to posts; overseeing the design, construction and renovation of diplomatic facilities; incorporating security features into overseas facilities and ensuring the security of facilities during construction or renovation; establishing standards and policies for overseas housing; in conjunction with posts, developing maintenance programs for post facilities and keeping inventory of maintenance requirements; ensuring the safety of the building occupants through the development of fire/life safety programs; and, providing real property management that establishes priorities for the acquisition and disposal of real property, determines the best use for proceeds from the sale of real property, and maintains an inventory of U.S.G. real property holdings overseas.

The objective of the Asset Management Program is to obtain the best use of diplomatic and consular properties overseas through sale, exchange, or redevelopment. Most often, this involves the sale of surplus or underutilized properties and reinvestment of the proceeds in properties that provide a greater return to the U.S. Government. Balances realized are slated for long-term capital investment that contains the growth of U.S. Government leasehold requirements (by acquiring property that reduces the need for leased facilities) or that addresses a high-priority need for new construction in lieu of appropriated resources.

The current appropriation finances, by 30 equal annual installments, any unfunded liability created by new or liberalized benefits, new groups of beneficiaries, and salary increases. In addition, the current appropriation finances the annual balance of the Foreign Service normal cost not met by employee and employer contributions.

The permanent appropriation provides payments to the fund for the interest on the unfunded liability and disbursements attributable to military and naval services—a full 100 percent in each year. In addition, the permanent appropriation finances the supplemental liability of the Foreign Service pension system—amortized over a thirty-year period.
