Purchase of flowers.—Private citizens contribute funds for the purchase of flowers to decorate graves and tablets of the missing at the cemeteries and memorials administered by the Commission.

Repair of non-Federal war memorials.—When requested to do so and upon receipt of the necessary funds, the Commission arranges for and oversees the repair of war memorials to U.S. Forces erected in foreign countries by American citizens, States, municipalities, or associations.

World War II Memorial.—Public Law 103-32 authorized the American Battle Monuments Commission to collect private contributions to fund construction of a memorial in the District of Columbia to honor members of the Armed Forces of the United States who served in World War II. The Commission projects that contributions to the World War II Memorial Fund will reach $50 million in 1998.

This appropriation establishes a framework for joint Federal and State efforts to create opportunities for self-sustaining economic development and improved quality of life for the people of Appalachia. Program investments are made in the Appalachian Region for wide-ranging assistance including development highways and area development. The States, acting through the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC), are responsible for recommending local and State projects within their borders for assistance under this program. Special targeting to distressed counties is a part of the State allocation formula.

1. Appalachian development highway system.—The Appalachian development highway system (ADHS), including local access roads, is designed to improve the accessibility of Appalachia; to reduce highway transportation costs to and within Appalachia; and to provide the highway transportation facilities necessary to accelerate the overall development of Appalachia. Studies have found that the ADHS has been important to economic development in the Region. The budget for 1998 provides $90 million for highway construction.

In addition to the ARC funding, the 1998 Budget provides $200 million in 1998 from the Highway trust fund for the ADHS. The Administration's proposal for the reauthorization of ISTEA will include funding for the construction of the ADHS for 1998 and beyond. These funds will be under the programmatic and administrative jurisdiction of the ARC.

The cumulative status of the system of roads, including mileage prefunded by the States, follows:

Development systems miles (Prefunded miles included) (cumulative):	1996 actual	1997 est.	1998 est.
Miles contracted	2,323	2,354	2,376
Miles completed	2,204	2,239	2,270

2. Area development program.—Area development funds are provided to each of the Appalachian States by allocation. This funding is used to help the regional economy become more competitive by putting in place the building blocks for self-sustaining economic development, while continuing to provide special assistance to the Region's most distressed and underdeveloped counties. In 1996, the Commission allocated 30% of area development funding specifically to these 115 severely distressed counties in addition to the overall State allocations. The Commission is also allocating 30% of area development funding to distressed counties in 1997. Investments made by ARC in Appalachia, coupled with the Administration's national economic policies have reduced the number of distressed Appalachian counties over the last three years from 115 to 94, a nearly 20% reduction.

The area development program funds projects which advance the goals and objectives of ARC's strategic plan. This strategic plan commits ARC to achieving five broad goals which are undergirded by 21 objectives. These five goals are: (1) Appalachian residents will have the skills and knowledge necessary to compete in the world economy in the 21st century; (2) Appalachian communities will have the physical infrastructure necessary for self-sustaining economic development and improved quality of life; (3) the people of Appalachia will have the vision and capacity to mobilize and work together for sustained economic progress and improvement of their communities; (4) Appalachian residents will have access to financial and technical resources to help build dynamic and self-sustaining local economies; and, (5) Appalachian residents will have access to affordable, quality health care. The Commission has taken aggressive steps to ensure that the area development program will make progress on accomplishing these goals, to better target resources to those communities with the greatest needs, and to increase flexibility in project submission.

Each Governor will submit for Commission approval an annual strategy statement detailing the areas of emphasis within the Region for ARC funds. Projects submitted by the Governors will include a description of goals and objectives, and projected inputs, outputs, efficiency and outcomes. After project completion, projected outputs and outcomes will be compared to actual results.

The Commission's regional initiatives are a key component to accomplishing the strategic plan. These regional initiatives are: (1) internationalization of the economy; (2) telecommunications; (3) leadership and civic development; and, (4) creating entrepreneurial economies. The first three initiatives, launched prior to the adoption of the strategic plan, will conclude their three-year cycle at the end of FY 1997 and their relationship to the five goals will be reevaluated. The fourth initiative, "creating entrepreneurial economies," is the centerpiece policy of the Federal Co-Chairman and will likely receive an allocation from the overall area development funding of up to $5 million in FY 1998.

The budget for 1998 provides $66 million for area development.

The approximate project workload follows:

	1996 actual	1997 est.	1998 est.
Area development projects	435	450	475

3. Local development districts and technical assistance programs.—The multi-county local development districts (LDDs) are the mechanism for ensuring that the local governments in Appalachia plan and work together on a regional basis. They provide competent support staff to member governments to plan, initiate, and implement projects at the grassroots level. Technical assistance serves to strengthen the LDDs, their staff and operations, and their member units of government. The 1998 Budget provides $4 million for the LDDs and $1 million for technical assistance, with the approximate approved workload as follows:

	1996 actual	1997 est.	1998 est.
Planning districts aided	69	69	69
Technical assistance projects	8	8	8

4. Salaries and expenses.—The Federal Co-Chairman represents the Federal Government on the Commission and leads in the coordination of the Appalachian program with Federal agencies. Since 1989, the Office of the Federal Co-Chairman includes an Inspector General.

The Federal Government contributes 50 percent of the expenses of a professional staff which works with the States and the Federal staff in operating the program. The staff members are not Federal employees but are employees of the jointly-supported Commission. The budget for 1998 provides $4 million for salaries and expenses.

The Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board (Access Board) was established by section 502 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 to ensure compliance with the Architectural Barriers Act of 1968. Since that time, the Access Board has been the only independent Federal agency whose primary mission is accessibility for people with disabilities. The Access Board has responsibility under three major pieces of legislation: The Architectural Barriers Act of 1968 (ABA); The Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA); and The Telecommunications Act of 1996.

The Access Board's first major responsibility was to enforce the ABA, ensuring accessibility in facilities built, altered, or leased using certain Federal funds. In fiscal year 1998, the Board will continue to process, investigate, and resolve complaints of noncompliance. The Access Board has a proven record of voluntary, amicable resolution of access issues. Under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the Access Board gained responsibility for two major public roles: to develop minimum accessibility guidelines for places of public accommodation, commercial facilities, State and local government facilities, and transportation vehicles and facilities, all of which are covered under the ADA; and to offer training and technical assistance to individuals and organizations throughout the country on removing architectural, transportation and communication barriers.

In pursuing these responsibilities under the ADA, the Board uses citizens' advisory committees, negotiated rule-making, and other communication channels to encourage the public's full participation in the Federal rulemaking process for developing its ADA Accessibility Guidelines (ADAAG). In addition, the Board is working with the building industry toward the development of a single set of minimum accessibility guidelines, using ADAAG as the basis.

Under the Telecommunications Act, the Access Board is charged with developing accessibility guidelines for telecommunications equipment and customer premises equipment, in conjunction with the Federal Communications Commission. The Telecommunications Act requires that such equipment be "designed, developed, and fabricated to be accessible to and usable by individuals with disabilities, if readily achievable."

The Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA) advises the President and the Secretary of State on arms control, nonproliferation, and disarmament activities and participates in negotiations with other countries seeking international agreements to control, reduce, or eliminate arms. Among the activities to which ACDA resources will be devoted are: the management of U.S. participation in arms control, nonproliferation, and disarmament negotiations; research on arms control; verification and compliance; arms transfer reviews; and the preparation of reports on arms control matters.

In addition, the 1998 budget includes funds for the U.S. share of costs of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty review conference and the implementation of the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty.

Public Law 102-281 established the Christopher Columbus Fellowship Foundation "to encourage and support research, study, and labor designed to produce new discoveries in all fields of endeavor for the benefit of mankind." Surcharges from Christopher Columbus Quincentenary coins were placed in the Foundation's trust fund. Interest from the trust fund will be used to operate the Foundation's program.

The Foundation plans to award three grants totaling $500,000 in FY 1998. Grants are awarded to support a three-tiered program encompassing Past, Present and Future Frontiers of Discovery. Past tier grants will be awarded to an individual whose creative thinking has led to a process, product or discovery that has made a significant impact on our society. Present tier grants have included a grant for a teacher and student interns at a marine biotechnology and education center, and a one-time fellowship for a professor researching and developing a promising new medical technology. Future tier grants included grants for an innovative secondary school teaching project relating to creative thinking, and a community innovation competition program utilizing youth to develop creative solutions to community problems.

The Commission engages in studies concerning areas in which there may be denials of civil rights and reports on these matters to the President and the Congress. Hearings by the Commissioners are held to investigate and obtain information about denials of civil rights. Conferences and open meetings are held by staff and State Advisory Committees to gather data and issue reports providing information about civil rights problems. In addition, the Commission appraises and reports on Federal agencies enforcement of civil rights laws. Complaints alleging discrimination are referred to the proper Federal agencies.

The Commission provides liaison with private groups, public groups, and the media to provide civil rights information to Government officials, organizations, and the public. This is accomplished through the issuance of Commission publications. In accordance with the 1994 legislation reauthorizing the Commission, the Commission issues public service announcements to discourage discrimination and denial of equal protection of the laws. The Commission also provides a library resource to support civil rights research, studies, hearings, and other Commission activities, and makes this information available to the general public.

The Committee for Purchase From People Who Are Blind or Severely Disabled was established by the Wagner-O'Day Act of 1938, as amended. Its primary objective is to increase the employment opportunities for people who are blind or have other severe disabilities and, whenever possible, to prepare them to engage in competitive employment. In 1998, approximately 32,000 people who are blind or have other severe disabilities are projected to be employed in over 660 producing nonprofit agencies. The Committee's duties include promoting the program; determining which products and services are suitable for Government procurement from qualified nonprofit agencies serving people who are blind or have other severe disabilities; maintaining a procurement list of such products and services; determining the fair market price for products and services on the procurement list; and making rules and regulations necessary to carry out the purposes of the Act. In 1998 the Committee expects to have nearly 5,000 items on its Procurement List and sales of $760 million.

The Committee staff's responsibilities include promoting and assessing the overall program; supervising the selection and assignment of new products and services; assisting in establishing prices; reviewing and adjusting these prices; verifying the qualifications of nonprofit agencies; and monitoring their performance.

The Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) administers the Commodity Exchange Act of 1936, as amended. The purpose of the CFTC is to further the economic utility of the futures markets by encouraging their efficiency, assuring their integrity, and protecting participants against abusive trade practices, fraud, and deceit. The object of commodity futures trading regulation is to enable the markets to better serve their designated functions of providing a price discovery mechanism and a means of offsetting price risk. By properly serving these functions, the futures markets serve the public interest by contributing toward better planning, more efficient distribution and consumption, and more economical marketing. The commodity futures and options markets represent one of America's most innovative and competitive contributions to the international financial services industry.

The Administration proposes additional resources above the fiscal year 1997 level for the Commission. These increases would enhance the Commission's ability to investigate and detect fraud and abuse and ensure the continued integrity of the commodities markets. In addition, such increases would provide the Commission with the enforcement and surveillance resources necessary to respond to the continued growth and use of complex trading and derivative instruments.

Market surveillance, analysis and research.—Responsibilities under this program include daily surveillance of the market activity of large individual traders and fundamental economic market factors to insure orderly markets. Contract terms and conditions are reviewed to insure conformity with current cash marketing conditions and adequate deliverable supplies. This program also systematically investigates the functioning of markets and market users and develops better tools to assist in detecting and preventing price distortions.

Enforcement.—The enforcement program is responsible for detecting, investigating, and litigating violations of the Act or regulations. These violations may include actual and attempted market manipulations, cheating and defrauding customers, and abusive trading practices such as fictitious trading, wash trading, and pre-arranged trading. This program may seek remedies through the administrative process or by injunctive actions in the Federal Courts.

Contract markets and registered futures associations, regulatory development and registration and audit and review program.—This program is designed to protect customer funds, prevent and detect financial, sales practice and trading abuses, and to assure the financial integrity and fitness of firms holding customer funds. In order to assure compliance with statutory requirements, this program monitors compliance activities of designated contract markets and the National Futures Association, conducts audits and reviews of registrants, and reviews self-regulatory organizations' rules and proposed rule changes. The program also develops regulations pursuant to statutory requirements and coordinates with other domestic and international regulators relative to cross border financial services affecting futures and options products.

The Corporation for National and Community Service engages Americans of all ages and backgrounds in community-based service which addresses the nation's educational, human, public safety, and environmental needs to achieve meaningful results. In doing so, the Corporation fosters civic responsibility, strengthens the ties that bind us together as a people, and provides educational opportunity for those who make a substantial commitment to service.

National Service Trust. The Trust serves as a secure repository for educational awards set aside for eligible participants in National Service programs.

AmeriCorps grants. With funds both channelled through States and provided directly to community based organizations, AmeriCorps grants enable communities to address problems they identify by using the skills of individuals serving in National Service positions.

Innovation, assistance, and other activities. This activity provides support to programs receiving assistance under AmeriCorps or Learn and Serve America or to organizations or States which would like to create programs or apply to the Corporation for funding.

Evaluation. This activity will determine the impact and effectiveness of Corporation programs.

National Civilian Community Corps. This residential National Service program provides unique service opportunities for members and communities.

Learn and Serve America. Through grants to State educational agencies, colleges and consortia of colleges and nonprofit organizations, and other means, curriculum will be improved and opportunities provided to students to participate in service learning activities.

NCSA program administration. Up to fifty percent of these funds will be provided to State Commissions to develop National Service plans and manage these activities within their States. The remaining funds will be used by the Corporation to administer these activities.

Points of Light Foundation. A grant will be provided to this nongovernment, nonprofit 501(c)(3) entity to enable it to increase opportunities for Americans to participate in voluntary activities.

The gifts and contributions account is a consolidation of two trust accounts. In one, gifts and contributions from individuals and organizations are deposited for use in furthering program goals. In the other, funds appropriated to make educational awards to individuals who successfully complete national service are maintained until such time as the individual uses those awards.

The Corporation for Public Broadcasting provides grants to qualified public television and radio stations to be used at their discretion for purposes related primarily to program production or acquisition. The Corporation also supports the production and acquisition of radio and television programs for national distribution. In addition, the Corporation assists in the financing of several system-wide activities, including national satellite interconnection services and the payment of music royalty fees, and provides limited technical assistance, research, and planning services to improve system-wide capacity and performance. The appropriation for the Corporation is enacted two years in advance. For 1998, an appropriation of $250 million was enacted in 1996.

For 2000, the Administration is requesting $325 million for general programming and system support. In addition, the Corporation should be reauthorized this year, its most recent authorization having expired at the end of fiscal year 1996. The Corporation celebrates its 30th anniversary of service to the American people. Public broadcasting plays a vital role in the educational and cultural development of our Nation. The proposed funding level will allow the Corporation to maintain quality public service programming and to meet the needs of American public telecommunications. The table below illustrates the 1997-2000 funding levels.

The Veterans Judicial Review Act, 38 U.S.C. §§7251-7292 (1988) established the United States Court of Veterans Appeals under Article I of the United States Constitution. The Court is empowered to review decisions of the Board of Veterans' Appeals and may affirm, modify, revise, or remand a decision of the Board of Veterans' Appeals as it deems appropriate. The type of review performed by the Court is similar to that which is performed in Article III courts under the Administrative Procedure Act, title 5 U.S.C. §§551 et seq. In actions before it, the Court has the authority to decide all relevant questions of law, to interpret constitutional, statutory, and regulatory provisions, and to determine the meaning or applicability of the terms of an action by the Secretary of the Department of Veterans Affairs. The Court, being created by an act of Congress, may issue all writs necessary or appropriate in aid of its jurisdiction, 28 U.S.C. §1651.

The Court is empowered to: compel actions of the Secretary that are found to have been unlawfully withheld or unreasonably delayed; and set aside decisions, findings, conclusions, rules, and regulations issued or adopted by the Secretary, the Board of Veterans' Appeals, or the Chairman of the Board that are found to be arbitrary or capricious. The Court may also set aside decisions which are abuse of discretion or otherwise not in accordance with the law, contrary to constitutional right, in excess of statutory jurisdiction or authority, or without observance of the procedures required by law. In cases involving benefits under the laws administered by the Department, the Court may hold unlawful or set aside findings of material facts if the findings are clearly erroneous.

The Court's principal office location is Washington, D.C.; however, it is a national court, empowered to sit anywhere in the United States.

Practice Registration Fees.—This fund is established under 38 U.S.C. § 7285. The fund, which receives no appropriations, will be used by the U.S. Court of Veterans Appeals to employ independent counsel to pursue disciplinary matters involving practitioners and to defray costs for the implementation of the standards of practice before the Court.

The Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board, authorized by Public Law 100-456, is responsible for evaluating the content and implementation of the standards relating to the design, construction, operation, and decommissioning of defense nuclear facilities of the Department of Energy (DOE) (as defined in Public Law 100-456). In addition, the National Defense Authorization Act for fiscal years 1992 and 1993 (Public Law 102-190) expanded the Board's jurisdiction to include facilities and activities involved with the assembly, disassembly, and testing of nuclear weapons, and to approve any DOE plans to resume plutonium operations at the Rocky Flats Plant, Golden, Colorado. The Board is also responsible for investigating any event or practice at a defense nuclear facility which has or may adversely affect public health and safety. The Board makes specific recommendations to the Secretary of Energy on measures that should be adopted to ensure that both public and worker health and safety are adequately protected.

The annual Federal payment to the Government of the District of Columbia compensates the District for the net costs imposed by the presence of the Federal Government in Washington, D.C. While the Federal presence may actually add more to District revenues than it does to operating costs (because local income, property and sales tax receipts are highly dependent on Federal employment in the city), a lump-sum, unrestricted Federal payment is provided to the District Government each year to help fund local budgetary expenditures. A $660 million Federal payment is proposed for 1998.

The Administration will propose legislation for Federal assumption of District governmental functions in which there is a clear Federal interest, capability and/or responsibility including certain pension plans and parts of the criminal justice system. Under the legislation, resources will be invested also to improve the District's capital infrastructure and strengthen its economic base. The proposal will draw on Federal government technical expertise to help make the District government effective in such areas as individual income tax collection.

For FY 1998, estimated Federal discretionary costs under the legislation will be $770 million. In exchange, the proposal

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 101. The expenditure of any appropriation under this Act for any consulting service through procurement contract, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 3109, shall be limited to those contracts where such expenditures are a matter of public record and available for public inspection, except where otherwise provided under existing law, or under existing Executive order issued pursuant to existing law.

SEC. 102. Except as otherwise provided in this Act, all vouchers covering expenditures of appropriations contained in this Act shall be audited before payment by the designated certifying official and the vouchers as approved shall be paid by checks issued by the designated disbursing official.

SEC. 103. Whenever in this Act, an amount is specified within an appropriation for particular purposes or objects of expenditure, such amount, unless otherwise specified, shall be considered as the maximum amount that may be expended for said purpose or object rather than an amount set apart exclusively therefor.

SEC. 104. Appropriations in this Act shall be available, when authorized by the Mayor, for allowances for privately-owned automobiles and motorcycles used for the performance of official duties at rates established by the Mayor: Provided, That such rates shall not exceed the maximum prevailing rates for such vehicles as prescribed in the Federal Property Management Regulations 101-7 (Federal Travel Regulations).

SEC. 105. Appropriations in this Act shall be available for expenses of travel and for the payment of dues of organizations concerned with the work of the District of Columbia government, when authorized by the Mayor: Provided, That the Council of the District of Columbia and the District of Columbia Courts may expend such funds without authorization by the Mayor.

SEC. 106. There are appropriated from the applicable funds of the District of Columbia such sums as may be necessary for making refunds and for the payment of judgments that have been entered against the District of Columbia government: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall be construed as modifying or affecting the provisions of section 11(c)(3) of title XII of the District of Columbia Income and Franchise Tax Act of 1947, approved March 31, 1956 (70 Stat. 78; Public Law 84-460; D.C. Code, sec. 47-1812.11(c)(3)).

SEC. 107. Appropriations in this Act shall be available for the payment of public assistance without reference to the requirement of section 544 of the District of Columbia Public Assistance Act of 1982, effective April 6, 1982 (D.C. Law 4-101; D.C. Code, sec. 3-205.44), and for the non-Federal share of funds necessary to qualify for Federal assistance under the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention and Control Act of 1968, approved July 31, 1968 (82 Stat. 462; Public Law 90-445; 42 U.S.C. 3801 et seq.).

SEC. 108. No part of any appropriation contained in this Act shall remain available for obligation beyond the current fiscal year unless expressly so provided herein.

SEC. 109. No funds appropriated in this Act for the District of Columbia government for the operation of educational institutions, the compensation of personnel, or for other educational purposes may be used to permit, encourage, facilitate, or further partisan political activities. Nothing herein is intended to prohibit the availability of school buildings for the use of any community or partisan political group during non-school hours.

SEC. 110. None of the funds appropriated in this Act shall be made available to pay the salary of any employee of the District of Columbia government whose name, title, grade, salary, past work experience, and salary history are not available for inspection by the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, the Subcommittee on the District of Columbia of the House Committee on Government Reform and Oversight, the Subcommittee on Oversight of Government Management and the District of Columbia of the Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs, and the Council of the District of Columbia, or their duly authorized representative.

SEC. 111. There are appropriated from the applicable funds of the District of Columbia such sums as may be necessary for making payments authorized by the District of Columbia Revenue Recovery Act of 1977, effective September 23, 1977 (D.C. Law 2-20; D.C. Code, sec. 47-421 et seq.).

SEC. 112. No part of this appropriation shall be used for publicity or propaganda purposes or implementation of any policy including boycott designed to support or defeat legislation pending before Congress or any State legislature.

SEC. 113. At the start of the fiscal year, the Mayor shall develop an annual plan, by quarter and by project, for capital outlay borrowings: Provided, That within a reasonable time after the close of each quarter, the Mayor shall report to the Council of the District of Columbia and the Congress the actual borrowings and spending progress compared with projections.

SEC. 114. The Mayor shall not borrow any funds for capital projects unless the Mayor has obtained prior approval from the Council of the District of Columbia, by resolution, identifying the projects and amounts to be financed with such borrowings.

SEC. 115. The Mayor shall not expend any moneys borrowed for capital projects for the operating expenses of the District of Columbia government.

SEC. 116. None of the funds appropriated by this Act may be obligated or expended by reprogramming except pursuant to advance approval of the reprogramming granted according to the procedure set forth in the Joint Explanatory Statement of the Committee of Conference (House Report No. 96-443), which accompanied the District of Columbia Appropriation Act, 1980, approved October 30, 1979 (93 Stat. 713; Public Law 96-93), as modified in House Report No. 98-265, and in accordance with the Reprogramming Policy Act of 1980, effective September 16, 1980 (D.C. Law 3-100; D.C. Code, sec. 47-361 et seq.): Provided, That for the fiscal year ending September 30, [1997] 1998 the above shall apply except as modified by Public Law 104-8.

SEC. 117. None of the Federal funds provided in this Act shall be obligated or expended to provide a personal cook, chauffeur, or other personal servants to any officer or employee of the District of Columbia.

SEC. 118. None of the Federal funds provided in this Act shall be obligated or expended to procure passenger automobiles as defined in the Automobile Fuel Efficiency Act of 1980, approved October 10, 1980 (94 Stat. 1824; Public Law 96-425; 15 U.S.C. 2001(2)), with an Environmental Protection Agency estimated miles per gallon average of less than 22 miles per gallon: Provided, That this section shall not apply to security, emergency rescue, or armored vehicles.

SEC. 119. (a) Notwithstanding section 422(7) of the District of Columbia Self-Government and Governmental Reorganization Act of 1973, approved December 24, 1973 (87 Stat. 790; Public Law 93-198; D.C. Code, sec. 1-242(7)), the City Administrator shall be paid, during any fiscal year, a salary at a rate established by the Mayor, not to exceed the rate established for Level IV of the Executive Schedule under 5 U.S.C. 5315.

(b) For purposes of applying any provision of law limiting the availability of funds for payment of salary or pay in any fiscal year, the highest rate of pay established by the Mayor under subsection (a) of this section for any position for any period during the last quarter of calendar year [1996] 1997 shall be deemed to be the rate of pay payable for that position for September 30, [1996] 1997.

(c) Notwithstanding section 4(a) of the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945, approved August 2, 1946 (60 Stat. 793; Public Law 79-592; D.C. Code, sec. 5-803(a)), the Board of Directors of the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency shall be paid, during any fiscal year, per diem compensation at a rate established by the Mayor.

SEC. 120. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law, the provisions of the District of Columbia Government Comprehensive Merit Personnel Act of 1978, effective March 3, 1979 (D.C. Law 2-139; D.C. Code, sec. 1-601.1 et seq.), enacted pursuant to section 422(3) of the District of Columbia Self-Government and Governmental Reorganization Act of 1973, approved December 24, 1973 (87 Stat. 790; Public Law 93-198; D.C. Code, sec. 1-242(3)), shall apply with respect to the compensation of District of Columbia employees: Provided, That for pay purposes, employees of the District of Columbia government shall not be subject to the provisions of title 5, United States Code.

SEC. 121. The Director of the Department of Administrative Services may pay rentals and repair, alter, and improve rented premises, without regard to the provisions of section 322 of the Economy Act of 1932 (Public Law 72-212; 40 U.S.C. 278a), based upon a determination by the Director, that by reason of circumstances set forth in such determination, the payment of these rents and the execution of this work, without reference to the limitations of section 322, is advantageous to the District in terms of economy, efficiency, and the District's best interest.

SEC. 122. No later than 30 days after the end of the first quarter of the fiscal year ending September 30, [1997] 1998, the Mayor of the District of Columbia shall submit to the Council of the District of Columbia the new fiscal year [1997] 1998 revenue estimates as of the end of the first quarter of fiscal year [1997] 1998. These estimates shall be used in the budget request for the fiscal year ending September 30, [1998] 1999. The officially revised estimates at midyear shall be used for the midyear report.

SEC. 123. No sole source contract with the District of Columbia government or any agency thereof may be renewed or extended without opening that contract to the competitive bidding process as set forth in section 303 of the District of Columbia Procurement Practices Act of 1985, effective February 21, 1986 (D.C. Law 6-85; D.C. Code, sec. 1-1183.3), except that the District of Columbia Public Schools may renew or extend sole source contracts for which competition is not feasible or practical, provided that the determination as to whether to invoke the competitive bidding process has been made in accordance with duly promulgated Board of Education rules and procedures.

SEC. 124. For purposes of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, approved December 12, 1985 (99 Stat. 1037; Public Law 99-177), as amended, the term "program, project, and activity" shall be synonymous with and refer specifically to each account appropriating Federal funds in this Act, and any sequestration order shall be applied to each of the accounts rather than to the aggregate total of those accounts: Provided, That sequestration orders shall not be applied to any account that is specifically exempted from sequestration by the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, approved December 12, 1985 (99 Stat. 1037; Public Law 99-177), as amended.

SEC. 125. In the event a sequestration order is issued pursuant to the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, approved December 12, 1985 (99 Stat. 1037; Public Law 99-177), as amended, after the amounts appropriated to the District of Columbia for the fiscal year involved have been paid to the District of Columbia, the Mayor of the District of Columbia shall pay to the Secretary of the Treasury, within 15 days after receipt of a request therefor from the Secretary of the Treasury, such amounts as are sequestered by the order: Provided, That the sequestration percentage specified in the order shall be applied proportionately to each of the Federal appropriation accounts in this Act that are not specifically exempted from sequestration by the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, approved December 12, 1985 (99 Stat. 1037; Public Law 99-177), as amended.

SEC. 126. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to authorize any office, agency or entity to expend funds for programs or functions for which a reorganization plan is required but has not been approved by the Council pursuant to section 422(12) of the District of Columbia Self-Government and Governmental Reorganization Act of 1973, approved December 24, 1973 (87 Stat. 790; Public Law 93-198; D.C. Code, sec. 1-242(12)) and the Governmental Reorganization Procedures Act of 1981, effective October 17, 1981 (D.C. Law 4-42; D.C. Code, secs. 1-299.1 to 1-299.7). Appropriations made by this Act for such programs or functions are conditioned on the approval by the Council of the required reorganization plans.

SEC. 127. (a) An entity of the District of Columbia government may accept and use a gift or donation during fiscal year [1997] 1998 if—

(1) the Mayor approves the acceptance and use of the gift or donation: Provided, That the Council of the District of Columbia may accept and use gifts without prior approval by the Mayor; and

(2) the entity uses the gift or donation to carry out its authorized functions or duties.

(b) Each entity of the District of Columbia government shall keep accurate and detailed records of the acceptance and use of any gift or donation under subsection (a) of this section, and shall make such records available for audit and public inspection.

(c) For the purposes of this section, the term "entity of the District of Columbia government" includes an independent agency of the District of Columbia.

(d) This section shall not apply to the District of Columbia Board of Education, which may, pursuant to the laws and regulations of the District of Columbia, accept and use gifts to the public schools without prior approval by the Mayor.

SEC. 128. None of the Federal funds provided in this Act may be used by the District of Columbia to provide for salaries, expenses, or other costs associated with the offices of United States Senator or United States Representative under section 4(d) of the District of Columbia Statehood Constitutional Convention Initiatives of 1979, effective March 10, 1981 (D.C. Law 3-171; D.C. Code, sec. 1-113(d)).

[SEC. 129. None of the funds appropriated under this Act shall be expended for any abortion except where the life of the mother would be endangered if the fetus were carried to term or where the pregnancy is the result of an act of rape or incest.]¹

SEC. 129. [130.] No funds made available pursuant to any provision of this Act shall be used to implement or enforce any system of registration of unmarried, cohabiting couples whether they are homosexual, lesbian, or heterosexual, including but not limited to registration for the purpose of extending employment, health, or governmental benefits to such couples on the same basis that such benefits are extended to legally married couples; nor shall any funds made available pursuant to any provision of this Act otherwise be used to implement or enforce D.C. Act 9-188, signed by the Mayor of the District of Columbia on April 15, 1992. (District of Columbia Appropriations Act, 1997.)

¹ The Administration proposes to delete this provision and will work with the Congress to address the issue of abortion funding.

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) is the Federal agency responsible for enforcement of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967; title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; the Equal Pay Act of 1963; in the Federal sector only, section 501 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1963; the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990; and the Civil Rights Act of 1991. These acts prohibit employment discrimination based on race, sex, religion, national origin, age, or handicap status. The EEOC is also responsible for carrying out Executive Order 12067, which promotes coordination and minimizes conflict and duplication among Federal agencies that administer statutes or regulations involving employment discrimination.

The budget for the agency supports three activities:

Executive direction and program support.—This activity provides for the direction and coordination of the Commission's programs. It also provides administrative and management support services for the agency.

Enforcement.—This activity resolves charges of employment discrimination filed with the Commission and litigates to enforce compliance with title VII, the Equal Pay Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, and the Civil Rights Act of 1991.

State and local grants.—This activity provides funds to State and local fair employment practice agencies to assist in the resolution of employment discrimination complaints.

The EEOC Education, Technical Assistance, and Training Revolving Fund Act of 1992 created a revolving fund to pay for the cost of providing education, technical assistance and training relating to the laws administered by the Commission.

EXPORT-IMPORT BANK OF THE UNITED STATESFederal Funds*Credit accounts:*EXPORT-IMPORT BANK LOANS PROGRAM ACCOUNT

The Export-Import Bank of the United States is authorized to make such expenditures within the limits of funds and borrowing authority available to such corporation, and in accordance with law, and to make such contracts and commitments without regard to fiscal year limitations, as provided by section 104 of the Government Corporation Control Act, as may be necessary in carrying out the program for the current fiscal year for such corporation: Provided, That none of the funds available during the current fiscal year may be used to make expenditures, contracts, or commitments for the export of nuclear equipment, fuel, or technology to any country other than a nuclear-weapon State as defined in Article IX of the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons eligible to receive economic or military assistance under this Act that has detonated a nuclear explosive after the date of enactment of this Act.

SUBSIDY APPROPRIATION

For the cost of direct loans, loan guarantees, and insurance [and tied-aid grants] as authorized by section 10 of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945, as amended, [$726,000,000] $632,000,000, to remain available until September 30, [1998] 1999: Provided, That such costs, including the cost of modifying such loans, shall be as defined in section 502 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974: Provided further, That such sums shall remain available until [2012] 2013 for the disbursement of direct loans, loan guarantees, and insurance [and tied-aid grants] obligated in fiscal years [1997 and] 1998 and 1999: Provided further, That up to $50,000,000 of funds appropriated by this paragraph shall remain available until expended and may be used for tied-aid grant purposes: Provided further, That none of the funds appropriated by this paragraph may be used for tied-aid credits or grants except through the regular notification procedures of the Committees on Appropriations: Provided further, That funds appropriated by this paragraph are made available notwithstanding section 2(b)(2) of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945, in connection with the purchase or lease of any product by any East European country, any Baltic State, or any agency or national thereof.

ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES

For administrative expenses to carry out the direct and guaranteed loan and insurance programs (to be computed on an accrual basis), including hire of passenger motor vehicles and services as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109, and not to exceed $20,000 for official reception and representation expenses for members of the Board of Directors, [$46,614,000] $48,614,000: Provided, That necessary expenses (including special services performed on a contract or fee basis, but not including other personal services) in connection with the collection of moneys owed the Export-Import Bank, repossession or sale of pledged collateral or other assets acquired by the Export-Import Bank in satisfaction of moneys owed the Export-Import Bank, or the investigation or appraisal of any property, or the evaluation of the legal or technical aspects of any transaction for which an application for a loan, guarantee or insurance commitment has been made, shall be considered nonadministrative expenses for the purposes of this heading: Provided further, That, effective July 21, 1997, notwithstanding any other provision of law, none of the funds made available by this or any other Act may be made available to compensate the incumbent Chairman and President of the Export-Import Bank: Provided further, That, notwithstanding subsection (b) of section 117 of the Export Enhancement Act of 1992, subsection (a) thereof shall remain in effect until October 1, [1997] 1998. to: assume commercial and political risks that exporters or private institutions are unwilling or unable to undertake; overcome maturity and other limitations in private sector export financing; assist U.S. exporters to meet foreign officially sponsored export credit competition; and provide leadership and guidance in export financing to the U.S. exporting and banking communities and to foreign borrowers. The bank provides its export credit support through direct loan, loan guarantee and insurance programs. The bank is actively assisting small- and medium-sized businesses.

As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, this account records, for Eximbank, the subsidy costs associated with direct loans and direct grants obligated, and loan guarantees and insurance committed in 1992 and beyond, as well as administrative expenses. The subsidy amounts are estimated on a present value basis.

Operating results and financial condition.—The bank is a wholly owned Government corporation. Capital stock of $1 billion was purchased by the U.S. Treasury, and the bank is authorized to borrow up to $6 billion from the Treasury. The bank pays interest on such borrowings.

The bank has a reserve for possible credit losses, which provides for the risk of loss inherent in the lending process. This reserve is a general reserve, available to absorb credit losses related to the total loan portfolio. The reserve is increased by provisions charged to expenses and decreased by charge-offs, net of recoveries.

The provision for possible credit losses is based on the bank's evaluation of the adequacy of the reserve, taking into consideration a variety of factors, including repayment status of loans, future risk factors, the relationship of the reserve to the portfolio, and worldwide economic conditions. Providing for such possible losses does not imply that any loans will be written off. It simply recognizes the fact that the prospects for collection of some of the bank's loans are impaired. It does not provide for losses on a country-by-country basis and is intended only to provide an overall revaluation of the loan portfolio.

The bank's net operating income was $1,241 million in 1996. Total Government equity in the corporation was $1,973 million on September 30, 1996.

The Farm Credit Administration (FCA) is an independent Federal agency that examines and regulates the Farm Credit System (System) for safety and soundness. The System is a cooperative agricultural credit system of farm credit banks and associations that lends to farmers, ranchers, and their cooperatives. Beginning in 1990, the FCA also performs annual examinations of the Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corporation. In addition, FCA annually examines The National Consumer Cooperative Bank and its affiliate, The NCCB Development Corporation.

As of October 1, 1996, the System is comprised of six Farm Credit Banks, one Agricultural Credit Bank, one bank for cooperatives, 227 associations, five service corporations, and three institutions, including the Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corporation. The Agricultural Credit Bank and bank for cooperatives lend to eligible cooperative borrowers nationwide.

Assessments based upon estimated administrative expenses are collected from institutions in the System and the Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corporation and are available for administrative expenses. Obligations are incurred within fiscal year budgets approved by the Farm Credit Administration Board.

The Farm Credit System Financial Assistance Corporation (FAC) was created by the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987 to provide funds to System institutions experiencing financial difficulties. Authority for FAC to issue obligations and provide assistance expired in 1992, after $1.26 billion in FAC debt had been issued. Proceeds of FAC debt issuances were paid into, and amounts for assistance and other expenses were paid from, the FAC Assistance Fund. The FAC was re-classified from a Government-sponsored enterprise to a federal entity beginning in 1993, when most of the private capital in FAC, provided by the System, was rebated from the FAC Trust Fund pursuant to the 1989 Reconciliation and Agriculture Appropriations Acts.

Except for debt issued for Capital Preservation cash-outs, the U.S. Treasury pays all the interest on 15-year, uncollateralized FAC obligations in the first five years, and up to half the interest in the second five years. The system is responsible for a greater share of the interest payment in the second five years if retained earnings exceed five percent of assets. FAC estimates that the system will pay 87 percent of the fiscal year 1996 expense, 91 percent of the fiscal year 1997 expense, and 93 percent of the fiscal year 1998 expense. The System is required to eventually reimburse Treasury for these payments, and will redeem FAC debt upon maturity or call.

The FAC Trust Fund holds and rebates the private capital contributed by the System. Remaining amounts in the Trust Fund are available to cover System defaults on FAC principal and interest payments.

The Farm Credit System Insurance Corporation (Corporation) was established to ensure the timely payment of principal and interest on System debt obligations purchased by investors. The Corporation is managed by a three member Board of Directors that consists of the same members as the Farm Credit Administration Board of Directors. The Corporation collects insurance premiums from insured System banks based on the level of accruing and non-accruing loans outstanding in each bank and its affiliated associations' loan portfolio. The Corporation derives its revenues from these yearly premiums and from the investment income earned on its investment portfolio. Congress established a secure base amount of 2 percent of outstanding System obligations, or such other amounts determined by its Board of Directors to be actuarially sound to maintain the Insurance Fund.

The Insurance Fund is available for payment on System obligations if an insured System bank defaults on its primary liability. The Insurance Fund is also available to ensure the timely retirement of certain eligible borrower stock, pay the operating costs of the Corporation and satisfy defaults by system institutions on obligations issued by the FAC after amounts in the FAC Trust Fund are exhausted. The Corporation can exercise its authority to make loans, purchase System bank assets or obligations, provide other financial assistance and otherwise act to reduce its exposure to losses.

The Farm Credit System Reform Act, enacted in early 1996, removed the legislative requirement for a full-time separate Board for the Insurance Corporation. The Act also: (1) changed the Corporation's authority to provide financial assistance, including new cost test requirements; (2) granted flexibility to reduce insurance premiums before reaching the secure base amount; and, (3) granted authority to make refunds of excess Insurance Fund balances. No refunds are anticipated through 1998.

The Telecommunications Act of 1996 provides for a major restructuring of the Nation's communications laws, promotes universal service and open access to information networks, and provides for flexible government regulations. Under the Act, telecommunications carriers that provide interstate telecommunications services would be required to contribute funds, as prescribed by the FCC, to the preservation and advancement of universal service. The contributions would be used to provide services eligible for universal service support as prescribed by the FCC. Telecommunications carriers receive a credit towards their contribution by providing discount service to schools, libraries, and health care providers. Support will also be provided to carriers offering services in high cost areas of the United States and to carriers offering services to low income consumers.

The estimates of fund costs presented here are based on the best information currently available. The Commission is, however, at a very early stage in determining the proxy model that it would use to determine costs of service for rural and high cost areas and the share of those costs that it would expect a carrier to recover from other sources. For this reason, the size of the fund required to support universal service in rural and high cost areas may differ from the estimates presented here.

This program provides for direct loans for the purpose of spectrum licenses at the Federal Communications Commission's auctions. The licenses are being purchased on an installment basis, which constitutes an extension of credit. The first year of activity for this program was 1996.

As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, this account records, for this program, the subsidy costs associated with the direct loans obligated in 1992 and beyond (including modifications of direct loans or loan guarantees that resulted from obligations or commitments in any year), as well as administrative expenses of this program. The subsidy amounts are estimated on a present value basis; the administrative expenses are estimated on a cash basis.

FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC or Corporation) was created by the Banking Act of 1933 to provide protection for bank depositors and to foster sound banking practices. The Financial Institutions Reform Recovery and Enforcement Act of 1989 established the Bank Insurance Fund (BIF), the Savings Association Insurance Fund (SAIF), and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation (FSLIC) Resolution Fund (FRF). The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991 generally requires the Corporation to use the least costly method to resolve failed banks and mandates that the Corporation take prompt corrective action against under-capitalized financial institutions.

The deposit insurance ceiling protection has been $100,000 since March 31, 1980. In order to accomplish its varied functions to protect depositors, the Corporation is authorized to promulgate and enforce rules and regulations relating to the supervision of insured institutions and to perform other regulatory and supervisory duties consistent with its responsibilities as an insurer. The Corporation is required to set assessment rates for insured financial institutions semi-annually to build and maintain the reserves of the BIF and SAIF to 1.25 percent of total insured deposits.

The BIF, a public enterprise revolving fund, derives its income principally from insurance assessments paid by insured banks. The fund represents the accumulated net income of the BIF and is reserved for the protection of depositors in insured banks and for the payment of administrative and insurance expenses. As of September 1996, BIF's fund balance totaled $26.3 billion, excluding reserves for future failed bank resolutions. The net worth of the BIF reached 1.25 percent of total insured deposits in May 1995.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991 authorizes the FDIC to borrow up to $30 billion from the Treasury to cover deposit insurance losses and provide additional loans from the Federal Financing Bank for working capital purposes. The BIF is not expected to borrow any of the $30 billion line of credit from the Treasury or from the Federal Financing Bank to finance working capital needs.

The Administration has proposed that all bank holding companies and FDIC-insured banks be required to pay fees to the appropriate Federal banking agency in amounts sufficient to defray the agency's cost of supervising such institutions. In establishing fees for State banks, the appropriate Federal banking agency shall take into account the extent to which State bank supervision reduces the need for Federal supervision. Fees would not apply to State banks with assets of less than $100 million. Currently, some financial institutions are not required to pay Federal fees for examinations. This proposal is intended to reduce the inequity among FDIC-insured banks.

The SAIF insures depository institutions formerly insured by the FSLIC. In July 1995, SAIF assumed responsibility for resolving failed thrifts from the Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC).

The Deposit Insurance Funds Act of 1996 imposed a special assessment to bring SAIF's reserves up to 1.25 percent of insured deposits. It also provides for the merger of BIF and SAIF on January 1, 1999, provided that no insured depository institution is a savings association on that date.

The FRF is the successor to FSLIC assets and liabilities from thrift resolutions prior to August 1989. Beginning in August 1989, the RTC assumed responsibility for the FSLIC's unresolved cases.

On December 31, 1995, the RTC was terminated and its assets and liabilities were transferred to FRF. The 1996 data for FRF reflects the transfer and shows three calendar quarters of combined operations.

Funds for FRF operations have come from: income earned on its assets; liquidation proceeds from receiverships; the proceeds of the sale of bonds by the Financing Corporation; and a portion of insurance premiums paid by SAIF members prior to 1993. The Act authorizes appropriations to make up for any shortfall. The FRF will terminate upon the disposition of all its assets, and any net proceeds will be paid to the Treasury. Net proceeds from the former RTC will be paid to the Resolution Funding Corporation.

Office of the Inspector General (OIG) activities include: audits and investigations; and, the prevention and detection of fraud, waste, and mismanagement in the disposition of failed banking institutions' assets by the FDIC. The Resolution Trust Corporation Completion Act of 1993 requires a Presidentially appointed Inspector General. Separately, the OIG Act of 1978 requires each agency with a Presidentially appointed Inspector General to prepare a separate budget statement. Prior to the RTC Completion Act, the FDIC's Inspector General was an administrative position established by the FDIC Board. In accordance with the RTC Completion Act, the FDIC OIG was merged with the RTC OIG on December 31, 1995. The remaining obligations and appropriated funds of the RTC OIG were transferred to the FRF with all other RTC assets and liabilities.

From 1993 to mid-1996, the FDIC was authorized to carry out an affordable housing program. Under the program, single and multifamily properties in FDIC's inventory that were appraised below a certain threshold were held off the general market for a period of 180 days. During that period, only low-income families and individuals, and public agencies and nonprofit organizations that agreed to low-income rent restrictions were allowed to bid on the properties. In 1996, the FDIC sold 6 single family properties for a total of $0.2 million and 1 multifamily property for a total of $0.1 million.

Federal disaster assistance is a nationwide program operated pursuant to the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (Public Law 100-707). Supplementary assistance is provided to individuals, and State and local governments in the event of a Presidentially declared emergency or major disaster. Funds may be made available directly to a State or local government, or to other Federal agencies as reimbursement for expenditures in disaster relief work performed under this authority. In addition, a variety of other Federal agency assistance is coordinated under this program.

The Administration is requesting an appropriation of $320 million in accordance with the Dire Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act of 1992. In addition, the 1998 request includes $2,388 million to address actual and projected requirements from 1997 and prior year declarations.

This budget requests $5.8 billion in contingent funding for 1998, the 1991-1997 average annual emergency spending under the BEA. This fund will be available to this and other accounts as the need arises. Please see the Emergency Requirements for Natural Disasters account in the Funds Appropriated to the President Chapter for more detailed information. The requested amount for future years will be based on average emergency funding under the BEA.

The base programs will have access to the proposed contingency fund once all current appropriations in the affected account/accounts have been obligated, and a Presidential decision has been made to make additional funds available. The fund is meant to be flexible enough to respond to a variety of disasters and thus does not reserve or dedicate specific amounts within the total for the eligible programs. The flexibility of the fund is essential to meet the full range of disaster funding requirements.

Over the past 25 to 30 years, the nation's exposure to losses from natural hazards has increased dramatically, and has directly contributed to the escalating costs of disaster assistance. The implementation of mitigation measures can help reverse this trend, and save future disaster dollars by reducing the need for expensive post-disaster recovery measures. In the 1998 budget, a new program under the Disaster Relief Fund (DRF) is being proposed to fund pre-disaster mitigation actions. The dollars provided for this purpose will primarily be used to reduce the vulnerability of critical facilities in high risk areas and will result in long-term savings, not only to the DRF, but to State and local taxpayers as well.

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

Response and recovery.—This activity provides for the development and maintenance of an integrated operational capability to respond to and recover from the consequences of a disaster, regardless of its cause, in partnership with other Federal agencies, State and local governments, volunteer organizations, and the private sector.

Preparedness, training and exercises.—This activity provides policy guidance, financial and technical assistance, training, and exercise support required to establish or enhance the emergency management capabilities of Federal, State, and local governments.

Fire prevention and training.—This activity prepares Federal, State and local officials, their staffs, emergency first responders, volunteer groups, and the public to meet the responsibilities of domestic emergencies through planning, mitigation, preparedness, response, and recovery. The United States Fire Administration has responsibility for all fire and emergency medical service programs and training activities. Educational programs are provided through the National Fire Academy, at the National Emergency Training Center, and through the field fire training delivery systems.

Operations support.—This activity provides agency-wide program support services, such as logistics management and security.

Information technology services.—This activity provides leadership and direction for management of information technology resources, automated data processing, telecommunications, and information services and systems necessary to accomplish the agency's mission.

Mitigation programs.—This activity provides for the development, coordination, and implementation of policies, plans, and programs to eliminate or reduce the long-term risk to life and property from natural and technological hazards, such as earthquakes and hurricanes. A goal of this activity is to encourage and foster mitigation strategies at the State and local levels.

Executive direction.—This activity develops strategies to address public information issues; provides support for enhancements to the financial management system; and supports the Agency's national security program.

This appropriation provides agency-wide audit and investigative functions to identify and correct management and administrative deficiencies which create conditions for existing or potential instances of fraud, waste, and mismanagement. The audit function provides internal audit, contract audit, and inspections services. Contract audits provide professional advice to agency contracting officials on accounting and financial matters relative to the negotiation, award, administration, repricing, and settlement of contracts. Internal audits review and evaluate all facets of agency operations.

The National Insurance Development Fund provided the funding source for two programs authorized by the Urban Property Protection and Reinsurance Act of 1968, as amended: The Fair Access to Insurance Requirements Plan/Riot Reinsurance Program; and the Federal Crime Insurance Program. The Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1984 (Public Law 98-181) did not extend authority for the Riot Reinsurance Program beyond November 30, 1983. Authority for the Federal Crime Insurance Program expired on September 30, 1995.

Insurance claims.—Claims reflect insurance payments in the program.

Operating expenses.—Expenses are incurred by fiscal agents in settling claims and maintaining accounting and statistical records.

Financing.—Claims and expenses are estimated to be paid from Treasury borrowings.

Operating results.—Effective October 1, 1991, Public Law 102-139 forgave all prior borrowings of the program which amounted to $152,239,000.

The National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended, authorizes the Federal Government to provide flood insurance on a national basis. Flood insurance may be sold or continued in force only in communities which enact and enforce appropriate flood plain management measures. Communities must participate in the program within one year of the time they are identified as flood prone in order to be eligible for flood insurance and some forms of Federal financial assistance for acquisition or construction purposes. In 1998, the budget assumes collection of all of the administrative and program costs associated with flood insurance activities from policy holders.

Under the emergency program, structures in identified flood-prone areas are eligible for limited amounts of coverage at subsidized insurance rates. Under the regular program, studies must be made of different flood risks in flood-prone areas to establish actuarial premium rates. These rates are charged for insurance on new construction. Coverage is available on virtually all types of buildings and their contents in amounts up to $350 thousand for residential and $1 million for other types.

Budget program—Insurance underwriting expense.—Cost of initiating and maintaining flood insurance policies is estimated at $422 million in 1998.

Loss and adjustment expense.—Insured flood losses and associated loss adjustment expense is estimated at $591 million in 1998.

Interest expense.—Interest expenses for Treasury borrowings are projected; a ceiling of $50 million is requested to cover charges for purchasing Treasury securities and possible unanticipated interest costs.

The budget proposes to recover the cost of the following activities from policyholders and to reimburse other appropriations in FEMA's budget:

Flood studies and surveys.—These studies are estimated at $52 million in 1998.

Flood hazard reduction.—This activity, which includes grants to States, is estimated at $7 million in 1998.

Mitigation assistance.—This activity is estimated at $20 million for 1998.

Salaries and expenses.—This activity provides for salaries and related expenses of all Federal staff administering the National Flood Insurance Program and is estimated at $22 million in 1998.

Financing.—The Administrator is authorized to borrow up to $1 billion ($1.5 billion in 1997 only) to carry out the program. The program is financed through premium income and appropriations to repay borrowing.

Operating results.—Program experience is reviewed annually and, as necessary, flood insurance rates will be adjusted to maintain the NFIP's self-supporting status for the historical average loss year, and to maintain the soundness of rates for actuarially rated policies.

Disaster assistance loans authorized by the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (Public Law 100-707) are loans to States for the non-Federal portion of cost-sharing funds, and community disaster loans to local governments incurring substantial loss of tax and other revenues as a result of a major disaster. The funds requested for this program include direct loans and a subsidy based on criteria including loan amount and interest charged.

As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, this account records for this program the subsidy costs associated with the direct loans obligated in 1992 and beyond (including modifications of direct loans), as well as administrative expenses of this program. The subsidy amounts are estimated on a present value basis; the administrative expenses are estimated on a cash basis.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISION

The Director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency shall promulgate through rulemaking a methodology for assessment and collection of fees to be assessed and collected beginning in fiscal year [1997] 1998 applicable to persons subject to the Federal Emergency Management Agency's radiological emergency preparedness regulations. The aggregate charges assessed pursuant to this section during fiscal year [1997] 1998 shall approximate, but not be less than, 100 per centum of the amounts anticipated by the Federal Emergency Management Agency to be obligated for its radiological emergency preparedness program for such fiscal year. The methodology for assessment and collection of fees shall be fair and equitable, and shall reflect the full amount of costs of providing radiological emergency planning, preparedness, response and associated services. Such fees shall be assessed in a manner that reflects the use of agency resources for classes of regulated persons and the administrative costs of collecting such fees. Fees received pursuant to this section shall be deposited in the general fund of the Treasury as offsetting receipts. Assessment and collection of such fees are only authorized during fiscal year [1997] 1998. The Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act of 1989 (Public Law 101-73, August 9, 1989) established the Appraisal Subcommittee of the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council. Subsequent legislation (Public Law 101-235) authorized the Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development to designate a member of the Appraisal Subcommittee.

The Subcommittee is charged with ensuring that real estate appraisals used in federally-related transactions are performed in accordance with uniform standards by appraisers certified and licensed by the States. Its responsibilities include: (1) monitoring the requirements established by the States for the certification and licensing of appraisers; (2) monitoring the requirements established by the Federal financial institutions' regulatory agencies regarding appraisal standards; (3) monitoring and reviewing the practices, procedures, activities, and organization of the Appraisal Foundation; and (4) maintaining a national registry of licensed and certified appraisers.

Subcommittee activities, including grants awarded to the Appraisal Foundation, were initially funded from a one-time appropriation of $5 million. The Subcommittee is now operating on fee income from state-licensed and certified real estate appraisers in the national registry. The Economic Growth and Regulatory Paperwork Reduction Act of 1996 requires full repayment of the $5 million by the end of FY 1998. The Treasury has already been repaid $2 million.

The Federal Housing Finance Board (Finance Board), an independent executive agency, was established by the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act of 1989 which amended the Federal Home Loan Bank Act. The duties of the Finance Board are: (1) to ensure that the twelve Federal Home Loan Banks (Banks) operate in a safe and sound manner; (2) to supervise all lending and related operations of the Banks; (3) to ensure that the Banks fulfill their mission to the housing finance industry; (4) to ensure that the Banks remain adequately capitalized; and (5) to ensure that the Banks are able to raise funds in the capital markets. The Finance Board succeeded the former Federal Home Loan Bank Board with respect to the Banks.

The management of the Finance Board is vested in a five-member Board of Directors. The Directors are the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development and four other individuals appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate. The President designates one of the appointed Directors as the Chairperson of the Board of Directors. The term of a Director is seven years.

The Finance Board has the power to: (1) supervise the Banks and promulgate and enforce such regulations and orders as are necessary; (2) suspend or remove for cause a director, officer, employee, or agent of any Bank or joint office; (3) determine necessary expenditures of the Finance Board and the manner in which such expenditures shall be incurred, allowed, and paid; and (4) use the United States mails in the same manner and under the same conditions as a department or agency of the United States.

The Federal Labor Relations Authority (FLRA): (1) serves as a neutral party in the settlement of disputes that arise between unions, employees, and agencies on matters outlined in the Federal Service Labor Management Relations Statute; (2) decides major policy issues; (3) prescribes regulations; and (4) disseminates information appropriate to the needs of agencies, labor organizations, and the public. Establishment of the FLRA gives full recognition to the role of the Federal Government as an employer.

In addition, the FLRA is engaged in training and facilitation in labor-management partnerships and in resolving disputes in its unified Collaboration and Alternative Dispute Resolution Program. Training and facilitation workload is reflected in the following manner: the FLRA promotes labor-management cooperation by providing training and assistance to labor organizations and agencies on resolving disputes; facilitates the creation of partnerships as called for in Executive Order 12871; and trains the parties on rights and responsibilities under the Federal Labor Relations Management Statute.

In 1996, the FLRA conducted over 320 programs involving over 12,000 employees, union representatives, arbitrators, and other practitioners.

Components.—The FLRA is composed of the Authority, the Office of the General Counsel, and the Federal Service Impasses Panel.

Authority.—The Authority adjudicates labor-management disputes in the Federal sector including: appeals on negotiability issues; exceptions to arbitration awards; appropriate units for the purposes of exclusive recognition; eligibility of labor organizations for national consultation rights; and unfair labor practice complaints.

Within the Authority, administrative law judges hold hearings on unfair labor practice complaints, issuing reports, and making recommendations to the Authority to allow timely settlement of disputes arising between agencies and unions. The Authority also provides all components with administrative services.

The Office of the Inspector General is responsible for conducting and supervising audits and investigations related to the functions of the FLRA, pursuant to the provisions of the Inspector General Act of 1978, as amended in 1988.

Workloads are reflected in the following table:

The Federal Maritime Commission (the Commission) regulates the international waterborne commerce of the United States. In addition, the Commission has responsibility for licensing of ocean freight forwarders, ensuring that non-vessel-operating common carriers are tariffed and bonded, assuring that vessel owners or operators establish financial responsibility for death or injury to passengers or other persons on voyages to and from U.S. ports, and indemnifying passengers for the nonperformance of transportation. Major program areas for 1998 are: carrying out investigations of foreign trade practices under the Foreign Shipping Practices Act; operating a computerized tariff filing system; and pursuing an active enforcement program designed to identify and prosecute violators of the shipping statutes.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service (FMCS or the Service) provides assistance to parties in labor disputes in industries affecting commerce through conciliation and mediation.

Dispute mediation.—The Service assists labor and management in mediation and prevention of disputes, other than those involving rail and air transportation, whenever such disputes threaten to cause a substantial interruption of interstate commerce or a major impairment to the national defense. The Service also makes mediation and conciliation services available to Federal agencies and organizations representing Federal employees in the resolution of negotiation disputes. The Service provides mandatory mediation and, where necessary, impartial boards of inquiry to assist in resolving labor disputes involving private nonprofit health care institutions. The workload shown below includes assignments closed in both the private and public sectors.

Preventive mediation, public information, and educational activities.—Through its preventive mediation program, the Service initiates and develops labor-management committees, training programs, conferences, and specialized workshops dealing with issues in collective bargaining. Mediators also participate in public information and educational activities such as lectures, seminars, and conferences.

Arbitration services.—The Service assists parties in disputes by utilizing the arbitration process for the resolution of disputes arising under or in the negotiation of collective bargaining agreements in the private and public sectors.

Management and administrative support.—This activity provides for overall management and administration, policy planning, research and evaluation, and employee development.

Labor-management cooperation project.—The Labor Management Cooperation Act of 1978 (29 U.S.C. 175a) authorizes the Service to carry out this program of contracts and grants to support the establishment and operation of plant, area, and industry labor-management committees.

Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) Projects.—FMCS assists other federal agencies providing mediation and technical assistance in the area of ADR. The ADR projects reduce litigation costs and speed federal processes. The FMCS is funded for this work through interagency reimbursable agreements.

The Federal Retirement Thrift Investment Board is responsible for managing the Thrift Savings Fund (Fund). The Fund is a special tax-deferred savings fund established by the Federal Employees' Retirement System Act of 1986. Due to the fiduciary nature of the Fund, the Fund is not included in the totals of the Federal budget. Information on the financial status and activities of the Fund follows this account.

Program administration for the Fund is financed from the Fund. Program expenses are derived first from Fund forfeitures of agency one percent automatic contributions for employees who, subsequently, separate from the Federal government prior to vesting and from earnings on all participant and agency contributions to the Fund.

of the individual Federal employee participants in the Fund. All Federal employees are eligible to contribute to the Fund. However, only those employees covered by the Federal Employees' Retirement System will have their contributions matched by employing agencies in accordance with the formulas prescribed by law. Employees are entitled to select how contributions are distributed among three investment funds: a U.S. Government securities investment fund, a common stock index investment fund, and a fixed income index investment fund.

Employee participation in the Fund is entirely voluntary, so actual results could vary significantly from these estimates. The estimated status of the three separate funds is shown below:

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC or Commission) is charged by law with ensuring that competition in the marketplace is vigorous, free, and fair. This is accomplished by eliminating threats to fair and honest competition from all sources, both public and private.

Maintaining competition.—The Commission's efforts are aimed at fostering and preserving our competitive system with the goal of maximizing consumer welfare. In addition to enforcing the antitrust laws against private sector restraints on competition, the Commission also scrutinizes regulatory policies that unduly restrain competition, and encourages policymakers to harness the benefits of competition when in the development of such policies.

Consumer protection.—The Commission is charged with eliminating unfair or deceptive acts or practices affecting commerce. The goal of the consumer protection mission is to improve market performance so that consumers can make informed choices when exercising their purchasing power. To accomplish this goal, the Commission will: remove harmful private and public restrictions on market performance; encourage business to provide consumers with accurate and useful information; and reinforce market forces that enhance consumer welfare.

The President's budget for 1998 provides a total of 960 workyears. The program level for the Commission would increase from $101.9 million in 1997 to $108.0 million in 1998, allowing the Commission to continue to pursue its missions.

The programs administered by the FTC are funded by appropriated funds and fees assessed for premerger notification filings under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act, as required by section 605 of Public Law 101-162, as amended. The FTC will use $80.0 million in premerger filings fees to finance its activities, of which $10.0 million is derived from estimated carryover fee balances.

Public Law 93-642 established the Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation to operate the scholarship program that is the permanent Federal memorial to the 33rd President of the United States. The Foundation awards scholarships for up to four years to qualified students who demonstrate outstanding potential for and interest in careers in public service at the local, State, or Federal level or in the non-profit sector.

In its 1998 annual competition, the Foundation will select up to 80 new Truman Scholars. The maximum award will be $30,000 for four years.

Scholarship awards.—This activity is comprised of scholarships awarded to cover eligible educational expenses.

Program administration.—This activity covers all costs of operating the program, including annual program announce-

Since the establishment of the Community Management Staff (CMS) in 1992, additional programs and responsibilities have been added to it for budgetary oversight. To improve oversight, the Intelligence Community Management Account (ICMA) replaces the CMS as the umbrella account to hold those programs that directly support the Director of Central Intelligence (DCI) and the Intelligence Community as a whole. The ICMA now includes the CMS, the Environmental Intelligence and Applications program, the National Intelligence Council, the Center for Security Evaluations, the Information Systems Secretariat, the Controlled Access Program

Coordination Office, the Advanced Research and Development program, and the National Counterintelligence Center.

The CMS is the DCI's principal source of advice and assistance in planning and executing his intelligence community management responsibilities. These include: developing the National Foreign Intelligence Program budget; developing intelligence plans and requirements; and overseeing research and development activities. The Environmental Intelligence and Applications program evaluates the application of Intelligence Community archived information and current and future imaging capabilities to the study of the environment. The Advanced Research and Development program is responsible for coordination of advanced technology within the Intelligence Community and for encouragement of investment in high risk/high return technologies. The Controlled Access Program Coordination Office supports the DCI's annual review of Intelligence Special Access programs. The National Intelligence Council provides analytical support to the DCI and national policy makers. The Center for Security Evaluation is responsible for evaluating and improving security capabilities at United States embassies. The Information Systems Secretariat will support technical activities and services of common Community concern regarding interoperability between national intelligence systems and consumers. The National Counterintelligence Center was established as the primary mechanism to coordinate U.S. government national-level counterintelligence policy and activities.

The U.S. International Trade Commission is an independent agency created by an act of Congress. The Commission's current powers and duties are provided for principally by the Tariff Act of 1930; the Trade Act of 1974; the Agricultural Adjustment Act; the Trade and Tariff Act of 1984; the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988; the North American Free Trade Agreement Implementation Act; and the Uruguay Round Agreements Act.

The Commission conducts investigations and makes findings concerning inter alia, whether: (1) increased imports are a substantial cause of serious injury to an industry; (2) a U.S. industry is being materially injured, or threatened with material injury, or the establishment of such an industry is being materially retarded, by reason of imports of goods that are subsidized or are being sold at less than fair value; (3) there are unfair import practices in import trade; and (4) imports of agricultural products are materially interfering with certain programs of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The Commission advises the President as to the probable economic effect on domestic industry and consumers of modification of duties and other barriers to trade which may be considered for inclusion in any proposed trade agreement with foreign countries. Further, the Commission, at the request of the President, the Congress, or on the Commission's own motion, undertakes comprehensive studies and provides reports on key issues relating to international trade and economic policy matters, and upon request provides other information and advice to the Congress and President on tariff and trade matters.

The Commission, in cooperation with the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of Commerce, establishes for statistical purposes an enumeration of articles imported into the United States and exported from the United States, and seeks to establish comparability of such statistics with statistical programs for domestic production.

The Commission also issues a publication containing the U.S. tariff schedule and related matters and considers questions concerning the arrangements of such schedules and the classification of articles.

Pursuant to section 175 of the Trade Act of 1974, the budget estimates for the Commission are transmitted to Congress without revision by the President.

Public Laws 99-500, 101-208, and 102-221 established the James Madison Memorial Fellowship Foundation to operate a fellowship program to encourage graduate study of the framing, principles, and history of the American Constitution. Appropriations of $10 million in fiscal years 1988 and 1989 established the foundation's trust fund. The funds have been invested by the Secretary of the Treasury in U.S. Treasury securities, and the interest earned on these funds is available for carrying out the activities of the foundation. Funds raised from private sources and the surcharges from commemorative coin sales are also placed in the trust fund.

The foundation is authorized to award graduate fellowships of up to $24,000 to high school teachers of American history, American government, and social studies. High school seniors and recent college graduates who want to become secondary school teachers of these subjects are also eligible.

Fellowship awards.—This activity is comprised of fellowship awards to cover educational expenses. It also supports the foundation's annual Summer Institute on the U.S. Constitution, which all current fellows are required to attend. The Institute is an intensive educational experience that will ensure that all fellows know the history of the framing, ratification, and implementation of the U.S. Constitution and the Bill of Rights. The foundation awarded 62 fellowships in 1996 and plans to award 60 in both 1997 and 1998.

Program administration.—This activity covers the costs of planning, fund-raising, and the operation of the fellowship program.

Since 1975, the Japan-United States Friendship Commission has operated with revenues generated from a Trust Fund currently valued at approximately $47 million established (both in Yen in Japan, and dollars in the U.S.) to provide for annual grant programs and operations. The Administration proposes to privatize the Commission in 1998, that is, to eliminate the Commission as a federal agency and provide a $38 million start-up grant to a new, private, non-profit corporation established to carry on the work of the Commission. The Administration proposes returning $9 million of the original Trust Fund principal to general receipts of the Department of Treasury to offset the cost of privatization. A legislative proposal to enact this change will follow transmittal of the budget.

The John F. Kennedy Assassination Records Review Board was established to oversee an effort of enormous scope within a three year period. The Board is charged with locating and securing all records which relate to the assassination of President Kennedy. These records include those of at least fifteen Federal agencies, previous official investigations, the Presidential libraries, and many smaller governmental and private repositories throughout the country.

The purpose of the Board is to ensure the efficient, timely and full disclosure of these records to the American public. This effort is seen as perhaps the last opportunity to clear up the many lingering doubts and questions surrounding the assassination of President Kennedy.

1997 is the Board's third and final year, and it will issue a final report upon its termination.

The Legal Services Corporation distributes appropriated funds to local non-profit organizations that provide free civil legal assistance, according to locally-determined priorities, to people living in poverty. The Congress chartered the corporation as a private, non-profit entity outside of the Federal government.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISION—LEGAL SERVICES CORPORATION

SEC. 501. (a) CONTINUATION OF COMPETITIVE SELECTION PROCESS.—None of the funds appropriated in this Act to the Legal Services Corporation may be used to provide financial assistance to any person or entity except through a competitive selection process conducted in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Corporation in accordance with the criteria set forth in subsections (c), (d), and (e) of section 503 of Public Law 104-134 (110 Stat. 1321-52 et seq.).

(b) INAPPLICABILITY OF NONCOMPETITIVE PROCEDURES.—For purposes of the funding provided in this Act, rights under sections 1007(a)(9) and 1011 of the Legal Services Corporation Act (42 U.S.C. 2996f(a)(9) and 42 U.S.C. 2996j) shall not apply.

SEC. 502. (a) CONTINUATION OF REQUIREMENTS AND RESTRICTIONS.—None of the funds appropriated in this Act to the Legal Services Corporation shall be expended for any purpose prohibited or limited by, or contrary to any of the provisions of—

(1) sections 501, 502, 505, 506, and 507 of Public Law 104-134 (110 Stat. 1321-51 et seq.), and all funds appropriated in this Act to the Legal Services Corporation shall be subject to the same terms and conditions as set forth in such sections, except that all references in such sections to 1995 and 1996 shall be deemed to refer instead to 1997 and 1998, respectively; and

(2) section 504 of Public Law 104-134 (110 Stat. 1321-53 et seq.), and all funds appropriated in this Act to the Legal Services Corporation shall be subject to the same terms and conditions set forth in such section, except that—

(A) subsection (c) of such section 504 shall not apply;

(B) paragraph (3) of section 508(b) of Public Law 104-134 (110 Stat. 1321-58) shall apply with respect to the requirements of subsection (a)(13) of such section 504, except that all references in such section 508(b) to the date of enactment shall be deemed to refer to April 26, 1996; and

(C) subsection (a)(11) of such section 504 shall not be construed to prohibit a recipient from using funds derived from a source other than the Corporation to provide related legal assistance to—

(i) an alien who has been battered or subjected to extreme cruelty in the United States by a spouse or a parent, or by a member of the spouse's or parent's family residing in the same household as the alien and the spouse or parent consented or acquiesced to such battery or cruelty; or

(ii) an alien whose child has been battered or subjected to extreme cruelty in the United States by a spouse or parent of the alien (without the active participation of the alien in the battery or extreme cruelty), or by a member of the spouse's or parent's family residing in the same household as the alien and the spouse or parent consented or acquiesced to such battery or cruelty, and the alien did not actively participate in such battery or cruelty.

(b) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of subsection (a)(2)(C):

(1) The term "battered or subjected to extreme cruelty" has the meaning given such term under regulations issued pursuant to subtitle G of the Violence Against Women Act of 1994 (Pub. L. 103-322; 108 Stat. 1953).

(2) The term "related legal assistance" means legal assistance directly related to the prevention of, or obtaining of relief from, the battery or cruelty described in such subsection.

SEC. 503. (a) CONTINUATION OF AUDIT REQUIREMENTS.—The requirements of section 509 of Public Law 104-134 (110 Stat. 1321-58 et seq.), other than subsection (l) of such section, shall apply during fiscal year [1997] 1998.

(b) REQUIREMENT OF ANNUAL AUDIT.—An annual audit of each person or entity receiving financial assistance from the Legal Services Corporation under this Act shall be conducted during fiscal year [1997] 1998 in accordance with the requirements referred to in subsection (a). (Departments of Commerce, Justice, and State, the Judiciary and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 1997.)

The Merit Systems Protection Board's mission is to assist Federal agencies in running a merit-based civil service system. The MSPB accomplishes its mission on a case-by-case basis through hearing and deciding employee appeals, and on a systematic basis by reviewing significant actions and regulations of the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and conducting studies of the civil service and other merit systems. The intended results (outcomes) of MSPB's efforts are (1) to increase the assurance that personnel actions taken against employees are processed within the law, and (2) that actions taken by OPM and other agencies support and enhance Federal merit principles.

Public Law 102-259 established the Morris K. Udall Scholarship and Excellence in National Environmental Policy Foundation to provide educational resources to promote studies in the natural environment and Native American public health and tribal policy. In addition, the Foundation is authorized to fund the Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy at the University of Arizona to carry out and manage programs established by the Foundation relating especially to a program of environmental conflict resolution.

During 1996, the Foundation awarded its first 55 undergraduate scholarships to college juniors and seniors, from 27 states and Puerto Rico, majoring in fields relating to environmental public policy and to Native American upperclassmen majoring in health care and fields related to public policy on Indian reservations. Other major projects in 1996 included a conference in conjunction with the Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy and the Society of Environmental Journalists on the topic of Environmental Health Issues in the U.S.-Mexico Border Region: Public Perception, the Knowledge Base and Public Policy, and the first ever Native American Congressional Summer Internship Program. As part of that program, 10 Native American college graduates and seniors—men and women—spent six weeks in Republican and Democrat congressional offices, and in the White House, learning how the U.S. government works.

In 1997, the Foundation will increase the undergraduate scholarships to qualified applicants (described above) to 70, and Native American Congressional Summer Internship Program recipients from 10 to 12. In 1997, the interns will also spend more time in Washington—10 weeks as opposed to six in 1996. For the first time the Foundation will award two Graduate Fellowships to Ph.D. candidates whose dissertation topics are in the area of environmental public policy and conflict resolution, and whose work will contribute to the mission of the Foundation. The Foundation, in conjunction with the Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy and the University of Arizona, will host the 1997 Annual Meeting of the Society of Environmental Journalists.

The National Archives and Records Administration provides for basic operations dealing with management of the Government's archives and records, operation of Presidential libraries, and for the review for declassification of classified security information.

Records centers.—This activity provides for the accessioning, storage, reference service, and disposal of the semiactive and non-current records of Federal agencies through a nationwide system of 14 records centers. Significant savings result from use of low cost records storage and the efficient and timely disposal of non-permanent records.

Archives and related services.—This activity provides for selecting, preserving, describing, and making available to the general public, scholars, and Federal agencies, the permanently valuable records of the Federal Government and the historical material in Presidential libraries, related publications and exhibit programs, and the appraisal of all Federal records. It also provides for the publication of the Federal Register and Code of Federal Regulations, the U.S. Statutes-at-Large, Presidential documents and for a program to improve the quality of regulations and the public's access to them.

Through the records declassification program, historically valuable information in the records of the Federal Government and in donated historical materials are made available to the public by declassifying as much information as possible without endangering the national security.

This activity also provides oversight for the information security program established by Executive Order 12958 and reports annually to the President on the status of that program. It is also responsible for policy oversight for the National Industrial Security Program established under Executive Order 12829.

This activity also includes administrative costs for the National Historical Publications and Records Commission.

Archives II Facility.—Provides for construction and related services of a new archival facility. Costs of construction are financed by $301,702 thousand of federally, guaranteed debt issued in 1989. Since 1994 and continuing in 1998, the Archives seeks appropriations for the annual payments for interest and redemption of debt to be made under the contract for construction and related services.

The National Capital Planning Commission is the central planning agency for the Federal Government in the National Capital Region. It develops long-range plans and conducts project reviews in order to enhance the National Capital's historical, cultural and natural resources. During 1998 major emphasis will be placed on implementing key Monumental Core First Initiatives aimed at assisting the Administration's efforts in revitalizing the District of Columbia, and work to expand the Washington Geographic Information Systems (WGIS) project, a cooperative effort in the National Capital Region to capture, display and analyze geographically-based data.

Federal credit unions are privately owned, cooperative associations organized for the purpose of promoting thrift among their members and creating a source of credit for provident or productive purposes, authorized by the Federal Credit Union Act of 1934, as amended.

The Administration's activities consist of: (a) chartering new Federal credit unions, (b) supervising established Federal credit unions, (c) making periodic examinations of their financial condition and operating practices, and (d) providing administrative services. The operating fund is reimbursed for the insurance fund's share of the agency's administrative expenses by the insurance fund. The reimbursement percentage, which is reviewed and adjusted periodically, is currently at 50 percent. Data relating to activities are shown below:

The insurance fund is used to carry out a program of insurance for member accounts in Federal credit unions and State-chartered credit unions which apply and qualify for insurance, authorized by Public Law 91-468, enacted October 19, 1970.

Budget program.—The activities consist of: (a) providing member account insurance, (b) formulating standards and requirements for insured credit unions, and (c) providing for liquidation or other disposition of the assets and liabilities of solvent and insolvent insured credit unions. The fund also reimburses the operating fund for its share of the Agency's administrative costs. The reimbursement percentage, which is reviewed and adjusted periodically, is currently at fifty percent.

The extent of the program is estimated as follows:

Item:	1996 actual	1997 est.	1998 est.
Number of insured credit unions	11,493	11,250	11,050
Insured shares of member institutions as of June 30 (in millions of dollars)	262,416	276,800	292,000

It is estimated that approximately 4,500 State-chartered credit unions will be enrolled in the program by the end of 1997.

Financing.—For insurance year 1997 the credit union's required annual insurance premium of one-twelfth of 1 percent of its total member share accounts has been waived. As a result of Public Law 98-369 (July 18, 1984), each insured credit union is also required to deposit and maintain in the insurance fund 1 percent of its member share accounts. The fund is structured to be entirely self supporting through the monies paid by member credit unions. The monies received plus the income generated from their investment are expected to cover all administrative and financial costs, as well as increase the fund balance proportionate to insured share growth. In fiscal year 1996 the income generated from the 1 percent deposit eliminated the need to assess the annual premium. In addition, the fund paid a $102 million dividend to federally insured credit unions in fiscal year 1997 due to an excess in the 1.3 percent reserve requirement. The fund has $100 million in borrowing authority from the Treasury for use in unforeseen emergencies.

Operating results.—Anticipated net income of $127 million will be retained in the fund, raising the balance for unforeseen emergencies to $3.8 billion by the end of 1998.

The National Credit Union Central Liquidity Facility was established under Public Law 95-630. It began operations on October 1, 1979. The Central Liquidity Facility provides loans to member credit unions for seasonal and emergency needs.

The two primary sources of funds for the Facility are stock subscriptions from credit unions and borrowings from the Federal Financing Bank. Credit unions, which choose to become members of the Facility, are required to purchase stock equal to one-half of 1 percent of their assets. One-half of the subscription in stock is forwarded to the Facility and deposited in the fund. The remaining half of the subscription remains on call in the credit union in investments as approved by the NCUA Board.

The National Endowment for the Arts provides grants to, or contracts with, groups, individuals of exceptional talent in specified fields, and State or regional organizations engaged in or concerned with the arts. Programs encourage individual and institutional development and education of the arts, preservation of the American artistic heritage, wider availability and appreciation of the arts, leadership in the arts, and the stimulation of non-Federal sources of support for the Nation's artistic activities.

This presentation includes Gifts and Donations and the Arts and Artifacts Indemnity Fund which previously had been shown separately.

The National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities Act of 1965, as amended, authorizes the Arts Endowment to receive money and other donated property. Such gifts may be used, sold, or otherwise disposed of to support arts projects and activities. Budget authority in this schedule reflects cash received each year by the Arts Endowment.

The Arts and Artifacts Indemnity Act of 1975, as amended authorizes the Federal Council on the Arts and Humanities to enter into indemnity agreements to cover certain eligible works of art while on traveling exhibition in the United States or abroad. Loss or damage claims certified by the Council are paid from this fund.

The National Endowment for the Humanities funds activities that are intended to improve the quality of education and teaching in the humanities, to strengthen the scholarly foundation for humanities study and research, to preserve cultural and intellectual resources, and to advance understanding of the humanities among general audiences.

Support is provided through outright grants, matching grants, and a combination of the two. Eligible applicants include schools, higher education institutions, libraries, museums, historical organizations, professional associations, other cultural institutions, state humanities councils, and individuals.

This presentation includes the Gifts and Donations account, which previously had been presented separately. The National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities Act of 1965, as amended, authorizes the Humanities Endowment to receive money and other donated property. Such gifts may be used, sold, or otherwise disposed of to support humanities projects and activities. Budget authority in this schedule reflects cash received each year by the Endowment.

The Board resolves representation disputes in industry, and remedies and prevents specified unfair labor practices by employers or labor organizations. Case intake and additional program statistics appear in the table below.

Program Statistics

	1996 actual	1997 est.	1998 est.
Case intake:
Unfair labor practice cases	34,216	35,927	37,113
Representation cases	5,720	6,086	6,387
Administrative law judges:
Hearings closed	409	407	581

Representation election cases:
Decisions issued	207	225	224
Objection rulings	151	157	153
Board decisions requiring court enforcement	174	182	193

Field investigation.—Charges of unfair labor practices and petitions for elections to resolve representation disputes are investigated by regional office personnel. Over 92 percent of the unfair labor practice cases and 85 percent of the representation cases are closed by settlement, dismissal, or withdrawal. The remainder are prepared for public hearing. The agency strives to maximize the voluntary settlement of all cases and to avoid litigation.

Administrative law judge hearing.—Administrative law judges conduct public hearings in unfair labor practice cases. Their findings and recommendations are set forth in their decisions.

Board adjudication.—In an unfair labor practice case a judge's decision becomes a Board order if no exceptions are filed. About 30 percent of these decisions become automatic Board orders or are complied with voluntarily. The remainder with exceptions filed require contested Board decision. In representation cases, regional directors initially decide the issues by Board delegation. The Board itself decides representation issues on referral from regional directors or by granting a request for review of a regional director's decision. The Board also rules on objection and challenge questions in election cases.

Securing compliance with Board orders.—If the parties do not voluntarily comply with the Board's order involving unfair labor practices, the Board must request that the appellate courts enforce its decisions.

Mediator services.—The Board mediates disputes over wages, hours, and working conditions for some 746 rail and air carriers and approximately 795,000 employees in the two industries.

The Board also provides technical assistance to enable labor and industry representatives to explore informally the relevant economic and noneconomic problems that condition collective bargaining in the railroad and airline industries.

Employee Representation.—The Board investigates representation disputes involving the various crafts or classes of railroad and airline employees to determine their choice of representatives for the purpose of collective bargaining.

	1996 actual	1997 est.	1998 est.
Representation cases:
Pending, start of year	34	51	61

Emergency disputes.—When the parties fail to resolve their disputes through mediation, they are urged to submit their differences to arbitration. If neither mediation nor voluntary arbitration is successful, the President, when notified of disputes which threaten to seriously interrupt service, may appoint emergency boards to investigate and report on the disputes under section 160 of the Railway Labor Act (RLA). Such reports usually serve as a basis for resolving the disputes.

The Northeast Rail Service Act of 1981 amended the Railway Labor Act by adding a new emergency dispute procedure covering disputes between a publicly funded and operated commuter carrier and its employees. The 1981 Act requires the Board to appoint the public members of factfinding panels on Conrail.

Arbitration under sections 3 and 7 of the RLA.—Railroad employee grievances resulting from disputes over the interpretation or application of collective bargaining contracts may be brought for settlement to the National Railroad Adjustment Board (NRAB). The divisions of the Board are composed of an equal number of carrier and union representatives compensated by the party or parties they represent. Public Law 89-456 provides for the adjustment of disputes involving grievances resulting from interpretation or application of bargaining agreements in the railroad industry otherwise referable to the NRAB.

Administrative direction and support for the public law boards, special boards of adjustment, and the NRAB are provided by Federal employees who are compensated by the National Mediation Board.

The Research and Related Activities appropriation addresses Foundation goals to enable the United States to uphold world leadership in all aspects of science and engineering, and to promote the discovery, integration, dissemination and employment of new knowledge in service to society. Research activities will contribute to the achievement of these goals through expansion of the knowledge base; integration of research and education; stimulation of knowledge transfer among academia and the public and private sectors; and bringing the perspectives of many disciplines to bear on complex problems important to the nation. This appropriation supports NSF's active development of performance indicators that tie to the key program functions of Research Project Support, Research Facilities, and Education and Training.

The major research program activities of the Foundation are:

Biological sciences.—This activity promotes scientific progress in biology through support of research ranging from the study of molecules, through cells and organisms, to studies of ecosystems.

Computer and information sciences and engineering.—Research is directed at "information processing" in the broadest sense of the term, ranging from fundamental theory to systems engineering.

Engineering.—Research supported by this activity aims to increase U.S. engineering capability and strength, and focus that capability and strength on areas which are relevant to national problems and long-term needs. This activity also includes small business innovation research.

Geosciences.—This research advances knowledge of the properties and dynamics of the planet Earth.

Mathematical and physical sciences.—Research in this activity is directed at increasing understanding of natural laws and phenomena. It includes research in mathematics, astronomy, physics, chemistry, and materials science.

Social, behavioral and economic sciences.—This activity supports research in social, behavioral and economic sciences, facilitates international scientific cooperation, and funds science resources studies.

U.S. Polar Research Programs.—This activity supports Arctic and Antarctic research and operational science support and other related activities for the United States Polar Research Programs. This activity includes funding for the expenses of the Arctic Research Commission.

U.S. Antarctic Logistical Support Activities.—This activity provides necessary expenses for reimbursing Federal agencies for logistical and other related activities for the United States Antarctic Logistical Support Activities.

Critical Technologies Institute.—This activity supports a federally-funded research and development center that provides analytical support to the Executive Branch.

This account provides funds to administer and manage NSF programs. NSF continues to develop performance measures for use in the administration and management of NSF programs. These measures are used for program development and performance monitoring. This account also provides for the reimbursement to the General Services Administration (GSA) for expenses incurred by GSA pursuant to the relocation of the National Science Foundation.

Education and Human Resources (EHR) activities provide a comprehensive set of programs that further NSF's goal of achieving excellence in U.S. science, mathematics, engineering, and technology (SMET) education. At the pre-kindergarten through grade 12 (pre K-12) level, EHR focuses on the systemic reform of SMET education in states, cities, school districts, and rural areas. Its pre K-12 programs provide new instructional materials and pedagogical techniques that incorporate the latest advances in teaching, learning, and educational technologies. They also provide enrichment activities for teachers and students. Undergraduate initiatives improve curriculum in all SMET fields and lead major reform efforts in mathematics, chemistry, and other disciplines. EHR programs strengthen laboratory course offerings and enhance faculty. Programs for advanced technological education strengthen education for students preparing to enter the high-technology workforce. Graduate level support is directed primarily to research fellowships and traineeships to guarantee the U.S. position of world leadership in science and technology. All EHR programming focuses on broadening participation of groups underrepresented in SMET fields. The Experimental Program to Stimulate Competitive Research (EPSCoR) broadens participation of states and regions in science and engineering. EHR supports research that advances SMET education and promotes applications of educational technologies. Evaluation and communications activities ensure programmatic accountability by developing indicators that measure impact and inform the education community of best practices and other relevant information. This appropriation also supports NSF's active development of performance indicators that tie to the key program functions of Education and Training and Research Project Support.

Activities funded are:

U.S. dollars which are advanced from foreign governments as contributions to the cost of the international participation in major projects, including ocean drilling under the National Science Foundation ocean drilling programs.

Gifts and donations are used for costs associated with meetings for visiting foreign scientists and certain special functions of the National Science Board. These funds are not otherwise available.

Agreements between the United States and foreign countries are to promote cooperative efforts in basic research between these countries. Principal activities supported include: cooperative research, joint seminars, exchange of senior scientists, and short-term research development visits.

The National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB), as an independent nonregulatory agency, is charged with promoting transportation safety through the investigation of accidents, the conduct of special studies, the development of recommendations to prevent accidents, the evaluation of the effectiveness of other Government agencies in preventing transportation accidents, and the review of appeals of adverse certificate and civil penalty actions taken by the Administrators of agencies of the Department of Transportation involving airman and seaman certificates and licenses.

In 1998, the Administration requests a total funding level of $46.0 million for NTSB Salaries and Expenses, including $6 million to be derived from a proposed commercial aviation accident investigation fee. This funding level represents an 8.5 percent increase above the 1997 enacted level of $42.4 million, excluding one-time costs associated with TWA 800. It is uncertain whether the TWA 800 investigation will continue into 1998. In the event that it does, the Administration anticipates that extraordinary costs related to the investigation would be funded through a supplemental appropriation.

The additional resources requested for 1998 will allow the NTSB to hire additional accident investigators; contract with private companies for communications and other services; and fulfill the Presidential Memorandum of September 9, 1996, which requires the NTSB to play a coordinating role, in conjunction with private non-profit organizations, in providing assistance to families of victims of aviation accidents.

This is one of several proposals in the budget to charge fees to users directly availing themselves of, or subject to, a government service, program, or activity, in order to cover the government's costs. Legislation will be proposed to authorize a commercial aviation accident investigation fee and, upon enactment of the authorization, and the appropriations language proposed above, the fees will become available for expenditure. Because the current requirements of the Budget Enforcement Act of 1990 make it difficult to fund discretionary programs with receipts that are not authorized in appropriations acts, the Administration is proposing a change in the requirements to facilitate the enactment of proposals such as this one.

The National Transportation Safety Board is mandated by Congress to investigate all catastrophic transportation accidents and, therefore, has no control over the frequency of costly accident investigations. The emergency fund provides a funding mechanism by which periodic accident investigation cost fluctuations can be met without delaying critical phases of the investigations. In 1998, the Administration proposes to double the size of the emergency fund to cover unanticipated costs associated with an increased number of accidents.

The major activities of the Corporation include: establishing neighborhood partnership programs known as NeighborWorks Organizations (NWOs); assisting in the expansion of NeighborWorks organizations to additional neighborhoods; providing training and technical assistance; identifying, evaluating, supporting and replicating successful neighborhood preservation projects that show promise for reversing neighborhood decline; promoting a national secondary market and other financing mechanisms for NWOs; and granting lending and equity capital to promote homeownership and other affordable housing.

The Corporation receives both Federal and non-Federal funding to finance its program activities. For FY 1998, a program level of $50,000,000 is requested. The following tables reflect the total program activity of the Corporation and include all sources of financing, both Federal and non-Federal.

Reactor Program.—This program encompasses all NRC inspection, oversight, and licensing of reactor facilities and designs, as required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended; all reactor regulatory research as required by the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974 (Section 205 of Public Law 95-209); and all other functions associated with reactors including evaluation of safety concerns, assessment of operational events and experience, technical training for NRC staff, independent review and legal advice to the Commission on safety issues, adjudicatory reviews, investigations of wrongdoing by reactor licensees, reactor enforcement policy, and actions to protect the public health and safety.

Nuclear Materials and Nuclear Waste Programs.—This program encompasses all NRC public health and safety, safeguards, research activities, operational data analysis, technical training, adjudicatory reviews, investigations, enforcement, and independent safety and legal advice related to the licensing, inspection and environmental reviews for fuel cycle facilities, the transportation of nuclear materials, the safe interim storage of spent fuel, nuclear materials users, the safe management and disposal of low-level and high-level radioactive wastes, and uranium recovery and related remedial actions. This program also includes safeguards reviews for all licensing activities involving the export of special nuclear material, the integrated agency effort to oversee decontamination and decommissioning of facilities and sites associated with NRC-licensed activities, and regulatory assistance provided to the Department of Energy including activities associated with anticipated commercial vitrification of high-level waste in Hanford tanks.

Management and Support Program.—This program encompasses NRC central policy direction, resources management, and all administrative and logistical support. In addition, this program administers NRC's responsibilities with State, local government, Indian tribes, foreign countries and international organizations.

The Office of Navajo and Hopi Indian Relocation was established by Public Law 93-531 to plan and conduct relocation activities associated with the settlement of a land dispute in northern Arizona between the two tribes.

Bonuses are paid to clients who volunteered for relocation prior to July 7, 1982. Relocation of clients includes such activities as certification, housing acquisition and construction, and land acquisition. Discretionary funds will be used for activities which will facilitate and expedite the overall relocation effort.

The Office of Special Counsel (OSC) (1) investigates Federal employee allegations of prohibited personnel practices (including reprisal for whistleblowing) and when appropriate prosecutes before the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB); (2) provides a channel for whistleblowing by Federal employees; and (3) enforces the Hatch Act. The OSC may transmit whistleblower allegations to the agency head concerned and require an agency investigation and a report to the Congress and the President when appropriate.

The current Special Counsel has undertaken a review of and made changes in virtually every aspect of the operations of the OSC. The aim of these efforts has been to make the OSC more responsive to those individuals who seek the agency's assistance, to improve the productivity of the OSC's employees, and to ensure that the OSC is an easily accessible source of information about the rights of government employees.

Overall in FY 1996, there were more than 7,517 instances in which the assistance or action of the OSC was sought by federal employees and other persons. Many prohibited personnel practice and Hatch Act cases investigated by the OSC are resolved without recourse to formal proceedings before the MSPB. In Fiscal Year 1996 the OSC obtained 86 corrective or other favorable actions, and efforts to obtain such negotiated resolutions will continue. In Fiscal Year 1996 the OSC also filed 7 enforcement actions before the MSPB in prohibited personnel practice and Hatch Act matters. The OSC also issued a record-setting 3,578 Hatch Act advisory opinions (both written and oral) to people who sought advice. During FY 1996, the OSC's Disclosure Unit received 384 disclosure matters for possible referral and completed 225 of them. Twenty-nine Disclosure Unit matters were referred to agency heads for their review.

The "Other commissions and boards" account presents data on small independent commissions and other entities on a consolidated basis. Individual commissions, where all transactions fall below the threshold (i.e., transactions do not round to $1 million), are included.

The Commission for the Preservation of America's Heritage Abroad requests $206 thousand for 1998 to encourage the preservation of cemeteries, monuments, and historic buildings associated with the foreign heritage of the United States.

The Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial Commission formulated plans for a memorial to Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Construction of the FDR Memorial is expected to be completed in the Spring of 1997. Upon completion there will be a dedication of the Memorial, and the Commission will be terminated.

Amounts for the Ounce of Prevention Council's activities are derived from transfers from the Violent Crime Reduction Trust Fund (VCRTF), as authorized by the Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act (VCCLEA) of 1994. These funds are provided to enable the Council to coordinate the VCCLEA programs; publish a catalog of prevention programs; assist communities in obtaining information about prevention programs; develop strategies for program integration and grant simplification; and award grants to communities as specified by the authorizing legislation.

The Ounce of Prevention Council is chaired by Vice President Gore and consists of the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretaries of Labor, Health and Human Services, Agriculture, Education, Housing and Urban Development, the Interior, and the Director of the Office of National Drug Control Policy.

Note.—Authority to borrow is available to the Panama Canal Commission on a permanent indefinite basis. This authority is limited only in that the amount of borrowing outstanding at any time cannot exceed $100 million.

The Panama Canal Act of 1979 established the Panama Canal Commission to operate and maintain the interoceanic waterway. The Commission is self-sufficient in its operations and makes payments to the Republic of Panama as specified in the Panama Canal Treaty of 1977. Pursuant to Public Law 104-106, the Commission is a wholly-owned government corporation and is funded by a revolving fund.

Budget program—Transit operations.—The services performed by this activity are (in millions of dollars):

	1996 actual	1997 est.	1998 est.
Maintenance of channels and dams	46	43	44
Navigation service and control	113	116	120
Lock operations and maintenance	87	95	106
General repairs, engineering, and maintenance services	33	33	33
Fire and facility protection services	16	17	17
Public service payments to Panama	20	20	20
Payments to Panama	85	89	90
General canal expense	21	23	24
Net operating expenses	421	436	454

Note.—These numbers are based on standard business accounting techniques and therefore do not necessarily tie with the Program and Financing schedule.

Payments to Panama include a public service payment of $10 million, a fixed annuity of $10 million, and an annuity based on net tonnage of vessels transiting the Canal. These payments are prescribed in paragraph 5 of article III and paragraphs 4(a) and 4(b) of article XIII of the Panama Canal Treaty of 1977.

Vessel traffic volume and other indices of workload are as follows:

	1996 actual	1997 est.	1998 est.
Ship transits (over 300 net Panama Canal tons)	13,721	13,870	13,900
Tolls (in millions of dollars)	487	520	566

Capital obligations for 1998 include the following major projects: continuation of the Gaillard Cut widening/straightening program, replacement of one tugboat, addition of a dump scow, replacement of anchor barge and launches, additional towing locomotives, improvement of vessel traffic management system, replacement of switchgear in locks transformer rooms, and other improvements to transit facilities and equipment.

Supporting services.—The services performed by these supporting activities are (in millions of dollars):

	1996 actual	1997 est.	1998 est.
Supply and logistical	22	22	23
Utilities	34	45	45
Other supporting services	16	16	16
Operating expenses	72	83	84

Note.—These numbers are based on standard business accounting techniques and therefore do not necessarily tie with the Program and Financing schedule.

Capital obligations for 1998 include several projects for electric power and communications systems improvements, the replacement of overaged motor vehicles, and the procurement of small equipment items.

General Corporate expenses provide for the salaries and related expenses for the overall direction and administration of the Commission, including Financial Management, Personnel Administration, and the Office of Inspector General. It also provides for non-administrative expenses which are general in nature and not associated with any specific function. Included in these costs are: the amortization of the expense of the special retirement provisions of the treaty implementation legislation; the interest expense on the investment of the U.S. Government in the Canal which is paid into the miscellaneous receipts of the U.S. Treasury; the health and education services provided to Commission's employees and their dependents at Department of Defense facilities; the compensation benefits for work injuries (FECA); the premiums for the Federal employees health benefits program (FEHBA); certain other statutory costs required by the U.S. Government; and miscellaneous expenses of a general nature.

Financing.—The Commission has two Treasury accounts: the Revolving Fund, which covers operations, and the Dissolution Fund, which provides for costs associated with the dissolution of the Panama Canal Commission and will not be available for obligation until October 1, 1998. The operation of the Canal is conducted on a commercial basis with revenues derived from tolls collected from vessels and other essential supporting services. Revenues collected are deposited in an account in the Panama Canal Revolving Fund. Operating and capital expenditures are then funded from this account. The Commission may borrow from the U.S. Treasury not more than $100 million outstanding at any time. No cash withdrawals against these funds are planned.

The amount set aside from toll receipts for a capital advance in 1998 is $68.3 million. No provision is made for working capital in 1998.

The budget reflects a two phase toll rate increase of 8.2 percent effective January 1, 1997, and 7.5 percent effective January 1, 1998. The Commission incurred an operating loss of $1.7 million in 1996 and is budgeting a modest loss of $1.9 million for 1997. Both losses will be carried forward and fully recovered in 1998.

This schedule reflects the changes resulting from the proposal to require that liabilities of the former Post Office Department to the Employees' Compensation Fund, which were previously appropriated to the U.S. Postal Service, shall now be liabilities of the Postal Service and payable out of the Postal Service Fund.

Pursuant to Public Law 98-328, the FY 1998 appropriations requests of the U.S. Postal Service are: for "Payment to the Postal Service Fund," $91,657,000; and for "Payment to the Postal Service Fund for Nonfunded Liabilities," $34,850,000. The Postal Service is also requesting an FY 1997 supplemental appropriation of $5,383,000. If this supplemental request is granted, the FY 1998 Postal Service request for "Payment to the Postal Service Fund" would be reduced accordingly, to $86,274,000. The President's budget contains no supplemental appropriations request.

The Postal Reorganization Act of 1970, Public Law 91-375, converted the Post Office Department into the U.S. Postal Service, an independent establishment within the executive branch. The Postal Service commenced operations July 1, 1971. This agency is charged with providing patrons with reliable mail service at reasonable rates and fees.

The U.S. Postal Service is governed by an 11-member Board of Governors, including 9 Governors appointed by the President, a Postmaster General who is selected by the Governors, and a Deputy Postmaster General who is selected by the Governors and the Postmaster General.

Decisions on changes in domestic rates of postage and fees for postal services are recommended to the Governors of the Postal Service by the independent Postal Rate Commission after a hearing on the record under the Administrative Procedure Act. The Commission also recommends decisions on changes in the domestic mail classification schedule to the Governors. Decisions of the Governors on rates of postage, fees for postal services, and mail classification are final, subject to judicial review.

Effective in 1986, the Postal Service Fund (Fund) was included in the congressional and executive budget process and taken into account in making calculations under the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (Gramm-Rudman-Hollings). The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1989 amended title 39 of the U.S. Code by adding a new section, 2009a, which provides that, beginning in 1990, the receipts and disbursements of the Fund shall not be considered as part of the congressional and executive budget process and shall not be taken into account in making calculations under Gramm-Rudman-Hollings.

Programs.—Included are all postal activities providing window services; processing, delivery, and transportation of mail; research and development; administration of postal field activities; and associated expenses of providing facilities and financing.

The rapid development of electronic messaging systems promises to increase the effectiveness of the Nation's communications infrastructure and U.S. competitiveness in the future. As the provider of a universally available hard copy delivery system, the United States Postal Service is encouraged to examine these emerging communications technologies and to cooperate with the private sector on issues of integration, directory service, and strategic alliances that will facilitate the development of secure and reliable electronic messaging networks.

The transition from hard copy to electronic messaging already has begun. The Postal Service should assist in developing future messaging systems. The Postal Service's participation should recognize the changing needs of its business, governmental, and individual customers; should focus on determining an appropriate means for public and private sector cooperation; and should be consistent with the agency's vision of evolving into a premier provider of 21st century postal communications. The Postal Service should seek to leverage its comprehensive delivery, messaging security, and addressing directory management capabilities in a manner that promotes universal access to the benefits of these new technologies for all citizens who desire them.

Financing.—The activities of the U.S. Postal Service are financed from the following sources: (1) mail and services revenue; (2) reimbursements from Federal and non-Federal sources; (3) proceeds from borrowing; (4) interest from U.S. securities and other investments; and (5) appropriations by the Congress. All receipts and deposits are made to the Postal Service Fund and are available without fiscal year limitation for payment of all expenses incurred, retirement of obligations, investment in capital assets, and investment in obligations and securities.

Separate legislation also increased the Postal Service's statutory borrowing authority beginning in 1991. Section 2005 of title 39, United States Code, as amended, increased the Postal Service's borrowing authority by $2.5 billion in 1991 for a revised ceiling of $12.5 billion and an additional $2.5 billion in 1992 for a revised total ceiling of $15 billion. The total net increase in amounts outstanding in any one fiscal year were also increased and now may not exceed $2.0 billion in obligations issued for the purpose of capital improvements and $1.0 billion for the purpose of paying operating expenses. As of September 30, 1998, it is expected that the total debt instruments issued and outstanding pursuant to this authority will amount to $11.789 billion.

Operating.—Estimated revenue will total $59.553 billion in 1998. This includes $59.414 billion from mail and services revenue, $72 million from investment income, and $67 million accrued for revenue foregone appropriations in 1998. Total expenses are estimated at $61.386 billion in 1998.

The Postal Reorganization Act of 1970 established the Postal Service as a fully self-sufficient, independent entity. Postal revenues were to cover the full costs of postal operations. When the Act was passed, the Postal Service received substantial taxpayer subsidies, both appropriated and unappropriated. Consistent with the intent of the 1970 Act, Congress has taken steps over time to reduce these subsidies. Under the 1974 Civil Service Retirement Fund—Postal Employee Benefits Act, the Postal Service assumed responsibility for paying unfunded retirement costs from wage schedule increases under postal labor contracts. These costs are not covered by normal employee/employer contributions to the retirement fund. The 1985 Reconciliation Act shifted responsibility for paying health benefit costs of Postal annuitants retiring after 1986 from OPM to the Postal Service. The 1987 Reconciliation Act had the Postal Service make one-time payments to defray annuitant health benefit costs in 1988 and 1989 and retirement COLA costs in 1988. (Retirement COLAs, like wage schedule increases, result in retirement liabilities not covered by normal retirement fund contributions.) Under the 1989 Reconciliation Act, the Postal Service assumed responsibility for paying health benefits of survivors of post-86 annuitants and unfunded retirement COLA liabilities for post-86 annuitants.

The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 superseded certain existing legislation and expanded the Postal Service's responsibility for benefit costs of postal annuitants. Effective October 1, 1990, the Postal Service is required to fund Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) COLAs and the employer's share of Federal Employee Health Benefit Program (FEHBP) premiums for postal annuitants who retired after June 30, 1971, and their survivors. In addition, the Postal Service is required to fund the retroactive CSRS COLA and FEHBP premium costs for which the Postal Service would have been liable if the provisions of this new legislation had been in effect as of July 1, 1971.

Under the Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1993, the Postal Service is required to make certain payments for past COLAs and health benefits, over and above any other payments required by law, of $693 million to the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund, and $348 million to the Employees Health Benefits Fund. These two payments are to be made in three equal annual installments, beginning in fiscal year 1996.

In addition to rail social security, rail industry pensions and special windfalls, the Railroad Retirement Board pays supplemental annuities to rail workers retiring at age 60 with 30 years of creditable rail service or at age 65 with 25-29 years of creditable service. Monthly benefit amounts are calculated from a base of $23, adding $4 for every year of service over 25, up to a maximum monthly benefit of $43. Employers finance benefits on a pay-as-you-go basis by a cents-per-hour tax, currently established at 35 cents per hour.

All railroad retirees receive the equivalent of a social security benefit, and they may also receive other add-ons including rail industry pension payments, windfall payments, and supplemental annuities. Social security benefits for former railroad employees are funded by the social security trust funds, and rail industry pension payments are the responsibility of the rail sector.

Under current law, a financial interchange occurs once each year between the social security trust funds and the social security equivalent benefit (SSEB) account. The SSEB receives monthly advances from the general fund equal to an estimate of the transfer the SSEB would have received for the previous month if the financial interchange transfers were on a monthly basis. Advances from the previous year are repaid annually to the general fund immediately after the financial interchange is received. In 1996, $3,150 million was advanced and $3,081 million was repaid.

The legislation proposes to change the law so that social security benefits paid under the Railroad Retirement Board's system would in no instance be less generous than the social security benefits that the Social Security Administration would pay. The main beneficiaries of the change would be spouses and children of rail employees.

The Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC) Office of Inspector General (OIG) was established in April 1990 in accordance with the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery and Enforcement Act of 1989 (FIRREA). As a result of FIRREA and the RTC Completion Act of 1993, the RTC sunset was completed on December 31, 1995. All assets and liabilities of RTC were transferred to the FSLIC Resolution Fund, under the management of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). The remaining obligations of the RTC OIG have also been transferred to the FDIC's FSLIC Resolution Fund and will be included in all schedules under that fund until expended. The RTC Office of Inspector General merged with the FDIC Office of Inspector General, and its audits, investigations, and other reviews will continue to be performed.

The Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act (FIRREA) of 1989 established the Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC) as a temporary agency to dispose of insolvent thrift institutions. The Savings Association Insurance Fund (SAIF) took over responsibility for resolving failed thrifts on July 1, 1995, and the RTC's assets and liabilities were transferred to the FSLIC Resolution Fund (FRF) on December 31, 1995. Beginning on January 1, 1996, activities related to the former RTC are included in the budget schedules of FRF.

Of $18.3 billion appropriated to RTC in 1993 by the RTC Completion Act, amounts not needed by RTC remain available for two years after RTC termination for possible transfer by the Secretary of the Treasury to SAIF, if needed to cover SAIF losses and upon certain certifications by the Chairman of the FDIC. The Thrift Depositor Protection Oversight Board determined that only $4.6 billion of the $18.3 billion will be required. The excess $13.8 billion was not transferred to the FSLIC Resolution Fund upon RTC termination, but remains available for transfer to SAIF until December 31, 1997.

The primary mission of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the Commission) is to administer and enforce the federal securities laws in order to protect investors, and to maintain fair, honest, and efficient markets.

Full disclosure.—This program ensures that investors will be provided with material facts in the public offering, trading, voting and tendering of securities. Issuers that have conducted public offerings, have securities traded in the public markets, or have total assets and security holder populations of specified sizes, are required to furnish management, financial, and business information to the Commission on a continuing basis in proxy materials and in annual and other periodic reports. The staff reviews these documents on a selected basis for compliance with the disclosure requirements. In addition, all registration statements of issuers that are making their initial public offerings of securities and all third party tender offer filings are reviewed by the staff. As a result of the review process, the staff may issue comments to issuers to elicit better compliance or, where appropriate, refer matters for enforcement action.

Electronic filing project (EDGAR).—In 1984, the SEC began a pilot project that successfully tested the feasibility of receiving, analyzing, and disseminating full disclosure filings electronically. The pilot received approximately 114,000 filings electronically through July 1992, when it was closed.

In early 1989, the SEC selected a contractor to develop the operational system. This system provides the Commission with the capability for electronic receipt, analysis, and dissemination of almost all of the full disclosure filings. The operational system opened in January 1992 for test filings, and the phase-in of mandated electronic filing began in April 1993. As of May 6, 1996, all 28,000 companies and funds registered with the SEC were phased in, except for certain foreign issuers. As of December 6, 1996, the operational system has received and disseminated over 407,000 filings. The operational contract, due to expire in January 1997, is being extended for one additional year to allow sufficient time to conduct a full and open competition for a new EDGAR contract. Contract costs for 1997 are estimated at $8.2 million. EDGAR costs are allocated between the Full Disclosure Program ($6.6 million) and Investment Management Regulation ($1.6 million). Offers on a new EDGAR contract are expected to be received no later than January 24, 1997. The costs for the follow-on contract are not known at this time and will depend heavily on the extent of privatization proposed by the offerors and accepted by Congress.

Prevention and suppression of fraud.—This program evaluates information indicating possible violations of the federal securities laws. Possible violations include, among other things, the illegal distribution of unregistered securities; fraud in the offer, purchase, and sale of securities; insider trading, market manipulation; and illegal conduct by broker-dealers, investment advisers, and other regulated entities. Investigations of possible violations are conducted and, if appropriate, enforcement actions are initiated. Actions include civil proceedings seeking injunctive and other relief and administrative proceedings. The Commission is now authorized to seek court orders imposing civil monetary penalties for any securities law violation as well as to seek such penalties against regulated entities in administrative proceedings. Under appropriate circumstances matters are referred for criminal prosecution.

Supervision and regulation of securities markets.—Trading in the securities markets is regulated to protect investors against fraud and manipulation and to ensure the maintenance of fair, orderly, efficient, and competitive markets. The Commission oversees the work of self-regulatory organizations, monitors securities markets and broker-dealer operations, and develops regulatory strategies for coping with market stress, promoting compliance, and meeting changing domestic and international conditions. The Commission also conducts examinations of broker-dealers and inspections of transfer agents, clearing agencies, and self-regulatory organizations.

Investment management regulation.—This program administers the Investment Company Act of 1940 and the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. The staff reviews disclosure documents filed by investment companies and investment advisers and regulates and inspects investment companies and investment advisers to protect investors against fraud, self-dealing, inadequate disclosure, and other abuse. The staff refers serious violations for enforcement action. This program also is responsible for administering the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

Legal and economic services.—This program provides a range of legal services and economic analyses to the Commission concerning its law enforcement, regulatory, and legislative activities, including: (i) prosecution of enforcement actions in appellate courts; (ii) representation of the Commission in all other appellate litigation, in private litigation where the Commission appears as amicus curiae, and in corporate reorganizations; (iii) representation of the Commission in actions brought against the Commission and its employees; (iv) preparation of Congressional testimony and comments and advice concerning proposed securities legislation; (v) advice to the Commission concerning issues arising from its law enforcement and regulatory activities; (vi) preparation of draft opinions of adjudicatory decisions and advice to the Commission regarding its adjudicatory decisions; (vii) advice to the Commission regarding compliance with government-wide statutes and the statutes and rules applicable to the agency's activities; and (viii) economic analyses of proposed regulations and legislation, litigation support in enforcement cases, and independent studies of issues affecting the securities markets. In addition, the administrative law judges conduct hearings and issue initial decisions in formal administrative proceedings where the Commission has determined that hearings are appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of public investors.

Program direction.—This program assists the Commission in fulfilling its statutory requirements and in responding to changes in the securities industry by carefully evaluating priorities, formulating and implementing policies, and managing agency resources. The staff provides management direction and analysis, internal control, financial management, personnel management, data processing, public affairs, records management, information dissemination, general administrative services, and processing of equal employment opportunity complaints.

The Commission will be supported in the future by the funding structure included in Title IV of the "National Securities Markets Improvement Act of 1996" (P.L. 104-290), which was signed by the President on October 11, 1996. This law will over time reduce the rates of fees charged under Federal securities laws. In 1998, the Section 6(b) fee rate paid by corporations to register securities with the Commission will be reduced from $\frac{1}{33}$ of one percent, the 1997 enacted level, to $\frac{1}{34}$ of one percent of the maximum aggregate price at which such securities are proposed to be offered. The first $\frac{1}{50}$ of one percent of this fee shall be deposited in the general fund of the U.S. Treasury, and the remaining increment will be made available for use by the Commission as an offsetting collection. This reduction in the registration fee rate will modestly lower the cost of raising capital in the United States. In addition, to promote equity across securities markets, the "National Securities Markets Improvement Act of 1996" extends transaction fees to the over-the-counter market at a rate of $\frac{1}{300}$ of one percent of the aggregate dollar amount of securities transacted, the rate currently paid by all national and regional exchanges. These new transaction fees also will be available to the Commission as an offsetting collection.

The Selective Service System continues to register men as they reach age 18, as required by law, and maintain a data base of registrant records. Should the Nation return to conscription for a national emergency, the SSS must respond effectively to current Department of Defense requirements to have the first draftees at military processing centers 193 days after a mobilization.

In 1998 through interagency partnership with other agencies, the SSS will expand its national initiative, "Service to America" to afford every young man that receives an SSS registration acknowledgment card, over 1.9 million annually, the opportunity to serve America today through volunteer military or civilian service. Important messages about public service opportunities will be incorporated into the existing registration acknowledgment process. In this way, the SSS will also become a clearing house for other Federal agencies encouraging America's youth to serve the Nation during peacetime.

In addition to improving business processes and registration compliance statistics, the Agency is moving to a more modern computer technology, new reengineering projects and revised methods of registration.

The Smithsonian Institution conducts research in the natural and physical sciences and in the history of cultures, technology, and the arts. The Institution acquires and preserves for reference and study purposes over one hundred million items of scientific, cultural, and historic importance. It maintains public exhibits in a variety of fields.

The Institution operates and maintains 16 museums; a zoological park and animal conservation and research center; research facilities; and supporting facilities.

Included in the presentation of the Salaries and Expenses account are data for the Canal Zone Biological Area Fund. Donations, subscriptions, and fees are appropriated and used to defray part of the expenses of maintaining and operating the Canal Zone biological area (60 Stat. 1101; 20 U.S.C. 79, 79a).

The State Justice Institute was established by the Congress in 1984 as a private, non-profit corporation to make grants and undertake other activities designed to improve the administration of justice in the United States. Appropriations in 1997 are intended to provide for continuation of Institute operations at a reduced level. In addition to the $5 million requested for State Justice Institute, the President's Budget requests $30 million in the Office of Justice Programs' (Department of Justice) Violent Crime Reduction Trust Fund for assistance to State Courts.

The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) was created in 1933 as a Government-owned corporation for the unified development of a river basin comprised of parts of seven States. Its program in 1998 will be financed from three sources: (1) appropriations by the Congress; (2) proceeds available from current power operations and borrowings against future power revenues; and (3) proceeds available from nonpower activities.

The following table provides detailed information on programs financed by power proceeds and borrowings and programs financed by appropriations and nonpower proceeds.

TVA's program paid for by appropriations.—TVA's legislated mandate is to provide for the integrated, sustainable development of the Tennessee River basin. As a federal corporation, TVA serves national interests by operating infrastructure services for the production of electricity, economic development and the stewardship of natural resources in 125 counties in seven states.

Federal appropriations do not support TVA's power business and are prohibited by law from application to the power program which operates as an accountable business with the rate payer income from 7.3 million customers.

Appropriations provide for public services to maintain and operate public resources—navigable channels, flood control, recreation, technology development and non-regulatory, community-based programs that protect the water quality of the Tennessee River system. The Budget proposes that $106 million be appropriated for these purposes in 1998. The Budget also announces TVA's intention to develop a plan that would eliminate Federal government funding for these programs for TVA for 1999 and beyond. During 1997 and 1998, TVA will work with Congress, State and local governments and other interested parties and will undertake a major effort to find alternate ways to fund, organize and manage these programs.

Water and Land Stewardship.—Funds TVA's statutory obligation to operate 54 dams and reservoirs to regulate streamflow for the multi-purpose objectives of navigation, flood control, recreation and aquatic habitat conservation; perform cyclic maintenance and repair of 14 navigation locks, maintain dam machinery and spillway gates; perform channel, lock and mooring modifications to maintain safety and passability for increasingly larger cargo vessels; conserve and improve water quality and supply in 12 watersheds and dam tailwaters for fisheries and potable supply for 4 million people; control mosquitoes and plant pests; prevent shoreline erosion and manage residential development in riparian zones; plan for and manage 630,000 hectares (1.7 million acres) of land; provide services and education to watershed communities; operate public recreation areas at 36 dam reservations, 160 camping and day-use areas, 90 stream access sites; and meet federal regulatory law requirements.

The Tennessee Valley Authority and the Army Corps of Engineers will jointly study and by September 1, 1997 submit a report and recommendations to the Office of Management and Budget on management arrangements by which the activities of these agencies on the Cumberland River and the Tennessee River could be integrated in order to improve the operation of these river systems for navigation, flood control, the production of electric power, recreation and other public benefits and reduce the costs of such operations to both taxpayers and electricity consumers. The cost of conducting the study and developing the recommendations will be borne equally by the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Army Corps of Engineers.

Land Between the Lakes.—Partially funds Land Between The Lakes as the hub of a tourism and recreation industry that annually generates $400 million in economic activity in nine contiguous counties.

Economic Development.—Partially funds initiatives to increase the production of goods and services and generate high-value, sustainable jobs in the seven states of the Tennessee Valley. This program is scheduled to phase out in 1999, with activities now funded here continuing, as appropriate, with funding from public/private partnerships.

Environmental Research Center.—Partially funds the development and introduction of technologies that provide new and economical ways for industry to prevent and correct environmental problems that are the predominant barriers to business growth. TVA continues in its efforts to transition funding requirements from appropriations to leveraging contracts and support from outside sources and private partners. Federal funding at ERC will be phased out over four years (1996–1999).

Chickamauga Lock and Dam.—Funds initial stages of a construction project for replacement of the navigation lock which has irreparably deteriorated and is inadequate for existing and projected river traffic.

TVA's Power Program.—TVA is the sole supplier of electric power to an area of 80,000 square miles in the seven Tennessee Valley States. Income from power operations, net of interest charges and depreciation, and other operating expenses is estimated at $75,000,000 in 1998. Power generating facilities are financed from power proceeds and borrowings.

General services.—Operating costs for general service activities include reimbursable services furnished at the request and expense of other agencies.

Financing.—Amounts estimated to become available in 1998 are to be derived from (1) the requested appropriation of $106,000,000; (2) nonpower revenues and receipts of $22,548,000; and (3) power revenues and receipts of $5,994,000,000. A summary of the application of appropriations follows:

Operating results and financial conditions.—Payments to the Treasury from power proceeds in 1998 are estimated at $59,000,000—$39,000,000 as a dividend (return on the appropriation investment in the power program) and $20,000,000 as a reduction in the appropriation investment in the power program. Outstanding borrowings for the power program are expected to decrease by $225,000,000 during 1998.

Total assets are estimated to decrease by $270,000,000 during 1998. The estimate of liabilities at September 30, 1998, is $94,000,000 less than the estimate at September 30, 1997. Total Government equity at September 30, 1998, is estimated to be $122,000,000 greater than that at September 1997. This change includes the requested appropriation for 1998 and the net income from power operations, less payments to the Treasury and the net expense of nonpower programs.

The Combined Benefit Fund was established by the Coal Industry Retiree Health Benefit Act of 1992 to take over paying for medical care of retired miners and their dependents who were eligible for health care from the private 1950 and 1974 United Mine Workers of America Benefit Plans. The Fund's trustees represent the United Mine Workers of America and coal companies. The Fund is financed by assessments on current and former signatories to labor agreements with the United Mine Workers; past transfers from an over-funded United Mine Workers pension fund; and, beginning in 1996, transfers from the Abandoned Mine Land Reclamation Fund.

The 1992 Benefit Plan was established by the Coal Industry Retiree Health Benefit Act of 1992. It pays for health care of those miners who retired between July 21, 1992 and September 30, 1994, and their dependents, who are eligible for benefits under an employer plan and cease to be covered, usually because an employer is out of business. Plan trustees are appointed by the United Mine Workers of America and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, a coal industry bargaining group. The Plan is supported by signatories to the 1988 labor agreement with the United Mine Workers of America.

The United States Enrichment Corporation (USEC or the Corporation) was created by the Energy Policy Act of 1992 and began operations on July 1, 1993, when the Department of Energy's (DOE) uranium enrichment activities were transferred to USEC. Uranium enriched by USEC or purchased for resale is sold globally to utilities for use as fuel for nuclear power plants. USEC was created as a wholly-owned government corporation as the first step in a series of actions designed to culminate in privatization. These steps included restructuring DOE's uranium enrichment activities, establishing a track record of successful operations, and finally, selling the business to the private sector. It is the policy of the U.S. Government to sell USEC as soon as possible. Recognizing that it is a complex sales process, the transaction is likely to be completed early in 1998.

Uranium enrichment is the only segment in the nuclear fuel cycle operated by the U.S. Government. The Government enrichment facilities were originally built over forty years ago to support military programs, but they are no longer needed for this purpose. By moving the uranium enrichment activities out of the Government, and by applying private-sector discipline, USEC will remain a viable competitor in the global market for uranium enrichment services and preserve a source of domestic enrichment capacity. As a private corporation, USEC will be able to make the financial investment necessary to commercialize the Atomic Vapor Laser Isotope Separation (AVLIS) process, the next generation of uranium enrichment technology. USEC's ability to implement AVLIS, which is expected to lower production costs, should enhance the long-term viability of the Corporation.

Budget Program.—During 1996, USEC maintained its position as the world leader in uranium enrichment by pursuing value-added sales and controlling costs. USEC also continued with AVLIS technology pre-deployment activities. In addition, USEC, acting as Executive Agent for the U.S. Government, continued to receive shipments from Russia of low enriched uranium (LEU) blended down from highly enriched uranium (HEU) taken from Soviet-era nuclear warheads. USEC's privatization continues to progress with the enactment of the USEC Privatization Act as part of the Omnibus Consolidated Rescissions and Appropriations Act of 1996 (Public Law 104-134).

In November 1996, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) issued certificates of compliance for USEC's two gaseous diffusion plants. These certificates represent NRC's conclusion that the plants comply with NRC's safety, safeguards and security requirements. Additionally, as Executive Agent for the Russian HEU contract, USEC reached a five-year agreement with the Russian Federation in November 1996 to purchase LEU derived from 132 metric tons of HEU. The new agreement increases the LEU to be delivered by approximately 50% during the five-year term when compared to the original agreement. In December 1996, USEC transferred to DOE the natural uranium component of the Russian HEU contract with purchased value of approximately $160 million. Consistent with the USEC Privatization Act, DOE will transfer 7,000 metric tons of natural uranium and 50 metric tons of HEU to USEC in advance of privatization so that it can be appropriately included in all of the sale documentation.

In 1998 or earlier, the Administration plans to sell USEC to the private sector with estimated net proceeds to the Treasury of approximately $1.6 billion.

Financing.—$40 million was transferred to the Corporation by DOE during 1996 in accordance with a determination order issued by the Office of Management and Budget.

Operating Results.—The Corporation's net income for 1996 was $313 million and is expected to increase to $322 million in 1997. USEC paid a $120 million dividend to the Treasury in 1996 in accordance with the Energy Policy Act of 1992 and expects to pay a $120 million dividend in 1997.

Note.—Receipts from the sale of USEC appears in the General Fund Receipt Accounts table in the Treasury Chapter.

Note.—In FY 1998, staff and associated support costs for Educational and Cultural Affairs will be funded in the Exchanges programs account.

The United States Information Agency conducts the international informational, educational, cultural and exchange programs of the United States and advises the President, the National Security Council, and the Secretary of State on these matters. The Agency defines, explains, and advocates U.S. policies abroad and seeks to increase knowledge and understanding among foreign audiences of U.S. society and its values.

In 1996, the Agency completed a strategic plan and identified preliminary goals, objectives and measurements for all key programs in accordance with the Government Performance and Results Act of 1993. In 1998, USIA will continue to collect information on performance that will be used to develop future budget requests.

Agency overseas information and cultural program operations and support functions are financed from this appropriation and consist of the following major elements.

Overseas missions.—The Agency currently operates 190 U.S. Information Service posts in 140 countries. These USIS posts administer exchange-of-persons programs and conduct informational and cultural activities using, primarily, materials and programs provided by support offices in Washington, D.C.

Bureau of Information.—This technologically advanced Bureau supports U.S. foreign policy by means of instant and in-depth communications with international opinion leaders and policy makers. The Bureau provides information electronically through the Agency's World Wide Web home pages, its daily Washington File and biweekly thematic journals. It supports the Agency's U.S. foreign press centers and overseas Information Resource Centers, which draw on databases and other electronically delivered information. The Bureau supports U.S. speakers and specialists at U.S. Information Service posts not only through overseas travel, but also through interactive dialogues via telephone and digitized video conferences. It also publishes pamphlets and other printed materials for distribution to those who influence international opinion.

Agency direction and management.—This activity includes managerial staffs, research and centralized servicing functions for the Agency.

Administrative support from other agencies.—This activity covers payments to the Department of State for USIA's share of the costs of services provided for overseas operations, to the General Services Administration for space and services provided under the Federal building rent system, and payments to other agencies for services provided.

This appropriation provides funding for non-broadcasting information technology improvements for USIA, including purchases and development of hardware, software, contractual services, and training.

In 1998, USIA will continue its pilot project to upgrade telecommunications links with overseas posts, providing modern, high-speed, two-way digital communications and continue the implementation of a modern core Financial Management System. In addition, the Agency will proceed with development of mission-oriented technology innovations.

This appropriation provides funding for programs authorized by the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961, as amended, to support U.S. foreign, economic and security policy objectives by fostering increased mutual understanding between the people of the United States and other nations. Programs under this appropriation include:

Academic Programs.—Includes the J. William Fulbright Educational Exchange Program for the exchange of students, scholars and teachers between the United States and foreign countries; Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie fellowship programs of academic study and internships for mid-career professionals from developing countries and the Newly Independent States of the former Soviet Union (NIS); graduate- and postdoctoral-level Near and Middle East studies and research by U.S. students and scholars; and programs in support of the study of the United States in other countries designed to promote better foreign understanding of the United States.

Professional/Cultural Exchanges.—Includes the International Visitor Program which supports travel in the United States by emerging foreign political leaders, professionals and educators to obtain firsthand knowledge about the United States, its people, politics and culture; and cooperative exchange programs with non-governmental organizations, such as the Citizen Exchanges Program which awards grants to U.S. non-profit organizations for professional, cultural, institutional, and grassroots community exchanges with foreign counterparts; the Congress-Bundestag Exchange Program; and other special programs.

NIS and SEED Exchanges.—Includes democracy and free-market development programs for the exchange of students, scholars and professionals between the United States and the NIS and Central and Eastern Europe under the FREEDOM Support Act of 1992 and the Support for East European Democracy Act of 1989.

Exchanges Support.—Includes staff and associated support costs required to administer the programs noted above. It also provides support costs for the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board, binational centers, English teaching and other educational and cultural activities. In the past several years, funding for these costs was divided between the Salaries and Expenses and Educational and Cultural Exchange Programs accounts. In 1998, funding for all staff and associated support costs for programs managed by the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs is requested in this appropriation.

The Agency has developed a strategic framework for performance measurement of Educational and Cultural Exchange Programs in accordance with the Government Performance and Results Act of 1993 (GPRA). In 1998, performance measurement data will be collected, evaluated and used in policy implementation and program management.

Finally, the Administration is taking steps to establish an Office of U.S. Government International Exchange and Training Coordination in USIA's Educational and Cultural Affairs Bureau. This office will lead an effort to increase cooperation and eliminate duplication of effort among over 35 Federal agencies that administer international exchange and training programs.

The National Endowment for Democracy is a private, non-profit corporation established in the District of Columbia to encourage and strengthen the development of democratic institutions and processes internationally, including activities which promote individual rights and freedom, through private sector initiatives, training programs, and other activities.

The National Endowment for Democracy Act provides that the U.S. Information Agency will make an annual grant to the Endowment to enable the Endowment to fulfill the purposes of the Act. The Endowment does not carry out programs directly but provides funding for activities of the Free Trade Union Institute, the Center for International Private Enterprise, the National Republican Institute for International Affairs, the National Democratic Institute for International Affairs, and other private sector organizations, both in the United States and abroad.

This account provides funding for maintenance and improvement of the International Broadcasting Bureau's world-wide transmission network.

New construction.—In 1998, the agency will continue the Administration-approved streamlined modernization plan to expand the transmission capability of the International Broadcasting Bureau (IBB). This plan includes funding for construction of a new transmission facility in the Pacific Islands to enhance the broadcasting coverage to Asia.

Upgrade of existing relay station capabilities.—This activity funds the upgrade of our existing relay stations to improve transmission quality and avoid the need for future new construction.

Major improvements, replacements and repairs.—This activity funds the continuing repairs and improvements required to maintain existing global radio and television network, including the conversion of program production and operations from an analog to a digital domain.

Broadcast leases and land rentals.—This activity primarily funds the placement of IBB products with regional affiliates.

Satellite and Terrestrial Feed Systems.—This activity provides funding for the construction and maintenance of the Satellite Interconnect System (SIS) and Television Receive Only (TVRO) earth stations.

This appropriation provides operational funding for all United States non-military international broadcasting. The account reflects the requirements of the International Broadcasting Act of 1994 (the Act) to consolidate all non-military international broadcasting activities. Specifically, the appropriation will fund the Broadcasting Board of Governors (BBG), the Voice of America, Radio Free Europe/Radio Liberty (RFE/RL), Radio Free Asia, the WORLDNET Television and Film Service, Radio and Television Broadcasting to Cuba, and the necessary engineering, technical, and administrative support activities.

In 1997 and prior years, funding for Radio and Television Broadcasting to Cuba was provided in a separate appropriation.

This presentation includes interest and earnings from the Eisenhower Exchange Fellowship Trust Fund and the Israeli-Arab Scholarship Trust Fund.

The Eisenhower Exchange Fellowship Trust fund was created in 1992 with an appropriation of $5,000,000. In 1995, an additional payment of $2,500,000 was made to the fund. This exchange program honors the late president and increases educational opportunities for young leaders in preparation for and enhancement of their professional careers and advancement of peace through international understanding.

The Israeli-Arab Scholarship Trust Fund was created in 1992 with an appropriation of $4,978,500 to provide scholarships for Israeli Arabs to attend institutions of higher learning in the United States.

The Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) is a non-Federal agency established pursuant to an interstate compact among Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia. The Authority's primary functions are to plan, develop, finance, and construct the Metrorail rapid transit system and to operate the bus/rail transit system in the National Capital area.

Through 1994, this WMATA account provided the annual Federal share (two-thirds) of interest payments on outstanding WMATA bonds sold in support of the rail construction program.

In December 1993, the WMATA bonds were refinanced and the Department of Transportation borrowed $665 million from the Federal Financing Bank (FFB) to pay off the Federal share of the original bonds.

In 1995, $665 million was appropriated to repay the principal owed by the Department of Transportation to the FFB. In addition, an indefinite appropriation was enacted to pay $12 million in interest costs to the FFB. The only remaining activity in this account was the spend-out of obligated balances of funds that were directly appropriated to WMATA for the construction of the Metrorail system and for the construction of facilities throughout the system for senior citizens and persons with disabilities. No funds are requested for this account in 1998.
