The United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1401 et seq.), provides for a low rent public housing program comprising decent, safe, and sanitary dwellings within the financial reach of families of low income. Such housing is locally owned and operated by local housing authorities created under State law. The Public Housing Administration is responsible for administering this program. The Administration makes loans and annual contributions to local housing authorities to assist in financing the construction of low-rent housing projects and in maintaining their low-rent character after completion and occupancy.

Recent modifications of the United States Housing Act of 1937 were made in the Housing Act of 1961 (Public Law 87-70), which among other things (1) made available the remaining balance of the $336 million annual contribution authorization contained in the Housing Act of 1949; (2) authorized increased contributions, within the $336 million limitation, with respect to certain dwelling units occupied by elderly tenants of particularly low income; and (3) gave localities greater flexibility in shaping admission policies in such a way as to best meet their own particular local problems.

Budget program—Development.—While not explicitly related to any specific number of dwelling units, the Housing Act of 1961 provides for approximately 100,000 additional units. Under this authorization annual contributions contracts were executed for 23,133 units in 1962. The budget plans contemplate that the remaining units under this authorization will be placed under annual contributions contracts during 1963 and 1964.

A 3-year comparison of the workload accomplishments and of the status of the program by stage are presented in the following tabulations:

Total requirements.....	159,374	180,430	204,963
Adjusted.....		180,000	205,000

Increased annual contributions requirements in 1963 and 1964 are attributed largely (1) to an increased number of units eligible for annual contributions resulting from the completion and permanent financing of new projects, and (2) to the increased contributions authorized in the Housing Act of 1961 with respect to dwelling units occupied by elderly families and persons. The Public Housing Administration may make payments up to $336 million per annum. The maximum amount of annual contributions which the Administration will be committed to pay with respect to contracts executed as of June 30, 1962, is estimated at $272.6 million, leaving $63.4 million of uncommitted authority to pay annual contributions, including the increased payments for the elderly, which are estimated at $3.7 million in 1963 and $5.6 million in 1964.

Administrative expenses.—Administrative expenses for the low-rent public housing program are financed by appropriation. The obligations incurred for these expenses amounted to $13.9 million in 1962. For 1963 the amount of $15.0 million has been appropriated. The estimate for 1964 is $16.2 million.

Administrative expenses are related primarily to the provision of technical advice and assistance to local housing authorities in the development and management of low-rent housing projects and to the auditing of local housing authority operations to ensure compliance with the social purposes of relevant Federal legislation and to protect the Federal investment.

The increasing number of dwelling units entering all stages of the program during 1963 and 1964 is the principal reason for the rise in administrative expenses. Increased employment is required for 1964 to permit satisfactory performance of this increased workload.

Nonadministrative expenses.—The Public Housing Administration utilizes program receipts to meet certain expenses of the low-rent public housing program. The use of these funds correspondingly reduces the requirements for appropriated funds. The Congress has established a nonadministrative expense limitation which applies (1) to expenses for the operation and maintenance of federally owned, directly operated projects; and (2) to expenses for technical services provided by the Administration during construction.

As of June 30, 1962, 3 federally owned, directly operated projects, containing 1,182 units, remained in the program. These projects have not been sold or leased to local housing authorities for various reasons, such as absence of State enabling legislation, local conditions, and the lack of congressional authority to dispose of the projects for other than low-rent use. Estimated program receipts and expenses for 1963 and 1964 are based upon the continued operation of these projects by the Administration throughout both years.

Technical services are provided during the development stage by having representatives of the Administration visit the sites of projects under construction to ensure that projects will be built in accordance with specified and acceptable standards. The local housing authorities pay a fixed fee for this service based upon a percentage of the total development cost, and the receipts are used to pay the cost of the service. The estimated cost for 1964 is based upon the number of projects in the construction stage.

Financing.—The Public Housing Administration makes loans to local housing authorities to finance the early costs of project development. These loans are made with funds borrowed by the Administration from the Treasury for this purpose and with certain available working funds.

The outstanding amount of Treasury borrowings, which may not exceed $1.5 billion at any one time, was $32 million at the end of 1962. The outstanding borrowings on June 30, 1963, are estimated at $25 million and on June 30, 1964, at $20 million.

When the Federal development loans to a local housing authority accumulate to an amount which is attractive to private investors, the local authority sells short-term temporary notes to the public and utilizes the proceeds to repay the Federal loans and to meet current needs for additional working capital. These notes are secured by the Federal Government's pledge to make development loans, if necessary, covering up to 90% of the development cost of the project. This arrangement has established an excellent security rating for the notes, which sold at an average interest rate of 1.569% in 1962.

In 1962 direct loans by the Administration were refunded through secured loans by private investors in the amount of $105 million. This refunding is estimated at $162 million in 1963 and $170 million in 1964. The temporary notes sold to private investors are issued for short periods, an average of 5 months, and may be reissued several times, and in increasing amounts, before the project is permanently financed. As a result, a considerable turnover of short-term notes takes place and the volume of loan activity managed by the Administration during any one fiscal year greatly exceeds the amount of loans outstanding at the end of the fiscal year. The following table shows the actual financing and refinancing of development loans during 1962 and estimated transactions during 1963 and 1964 (in millions of dollars):

Public Housing Administration development loans:
Balance at start of year	96	96	90
Loans made during year	174	269	289
Loans repaid during year	174	275	293
Balance at end of year	96	90	86
Loans by private investors:

Loans made during year	1,652	1,599	1,786
Loans repaid during year	1,519	1,516	1,693
Balance at end of year	946	1,029	1,122

Normally, project development costs are permanently financed toward the end of the construction period through the sale of long-term bonds to the public. These are usually 40-year serial bonds and are secured by the Federal Government's pledge to pay annual contributions. In 1962 they sold at an average interest rate of 3.243%. As of June 30, 1962, there were approximately 621,817 units potentially eligible for permanent financing. Of these, 465,405 units had been permanently financed, leaving a potential permanent financing workload of 156,412 units. The estimates for permanent financing based on program status as of June 30, 1962, are shown below:

	1962 actual	1963 estimate	1964 estimate
Units	22,763	22,550	25,680
Permanent financing	$334,709,326	$336,263,000	$410,395,000
Average per unit	$13,665	$14,912	$15,981

The amount of permanent financing for 1962 includes development cost of $21.1 million for projects refinanced and $2.6 million for additional development funds required for projects previously permanently financed, for which the number of units are not shown above.

Operating results.—Operating income is not intended to be sufficient to cover all program expense. Net costs, in the budget year, are approximately equal to the appropriations for administrative expenses and annual contributions payments. The magnitude of such net costs and the appropriations used on a cumulative basis are as follows (in thousands of dollars):

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) was established in 1958 to plan, develop, and conduct the nonmilitary space programs of the United States, including the exploration of space and its utilization for peaceful purposes, and to conduct and support advanced research and development related to space and aeronautics in support of both civilian and military requirements.

1. Manned space flight.—The estimates for this activity include funds for all NASA manned space flight missions and the development of the large launch vehicles and propulsion systems required for these missions. In 1964, efforts will continue to be focused primarily on the highest priority objective of achieving a manned lunar landing before the end of the decade.

(a) Spacecraft development and operations.—Project Mercury has successfully completed five manned launches to date, ranging from suborbital flights of a few hundred miles to three and then six orbits of the earth. These flights have rapidly increased scientific, technical, and operational capabilities to the point that an orbital flight of 1 day's duration is scheduled for the spring of 1963.

Effort on the Gemini two-man spacecraft, directed toward long-duration orbital flight and the development and test of the techniques of bringing large spacecraft components together in an orbital rendezvous, was initiated in 1962 and will receive major emphasis in 1963 and 1964.

The effort initiated in 1962 on the Apollo three-man spacecraft system will be increased in 1963 and 1964, leading in later years to missions ranging from extended earth orbital flights and rendezvous tests through circum-lunar flight and lunar landing. During 1962 it was decided to adopt the lunar orbit rendezvous method for manned lunar landing, which offers advantages of simplicity, time, and reduced launch vehicle requirements over other methods. In the lunar orbit rendezvous method, the Apollo spacecraft, launched from earth by a single Advanced Saturn launch vehicle, orbits the moon. The lunar excursion module then leaves the orbiting spacecraft, makes the landing on the moon, and ascends to rendezvous with the Apollo in lunar orbit before return to the earth.

The Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Tex., has primary responsibility for manned space flight projects, while much of the development effort is provided by industrial contractors.

(b) Launch vehicle development.—Prior to 1963, major emphasis was placed on development of the Saturn launch vehicle which is intended primarily for the launching of large spacecraft into earth orbit. The first stage of the Saturn, which develops approximately 1.5 million pounds of thrust, has had three flight tests, all successful. The latest flight is believed to have flown the heaviest object lifted from the earth to date.

In the summer of 1963, the first two-stage Saturn will be launched. In 1963, development will be initiated on an improved second stage for the Saturn, which will increase the vehicle's payload capability by approximately one-half. This improved launch vehicle, called the Saturn B, is required to test the Apollo spacecraft's ability to reenter the earth's atmosphere after a lunar journey, and to practice rendezvous between the Apollo spacecraft and the lunar excursion module.

In 1963 and 1964, primary emphasis will be placed on the development of the Advanced Saturn launch vehicle which was initiated in 1962. Generating approximately 7.5 million pounds of thrust in the first stage, this vehicle will launch the Apollo manned circumlunar and lunar landing flights. In 1964, development work will continue on the engines for the Saturn series of launch vehicles, and on the 1.2 million pound thrust liquid hydrogen-oxygen engine, a project initiated in 1962 for application to post-Saturn vehicles. Funds for launch operations and other supporting activities at the Atlantic Missile Range and the new Merritt Island launch area are also included.

Most of the development work on these launch vehicles and engines is done by industrial contractors. NASA effort is concentrated primarily at the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala.; the Michoud Plant, New Orleans, La.; the Mississippi Test Facility, Pearl River, Miss.; the Lewis Research Center, Cleveland, Ohio; and the Launch Operations Center, Cocoa Beach, Fla.

(c) Supporting programs.—Estimates are included in this activity for effort in several supporting areas required by manned space flight missions. Engineering analysis and evaluation of mission requirements and objectives, and of the concepts and design criteria for manned mission hardware systems are provided for. In addition, the final integration of major hardware components into a complete system, and the development and evaluation of methods and equipment to check out manned space vehicles as properly integrated and functioning systems are included here. Funds are also provided for work necessary to define and meet physiological, psychological, and health requirements, emphasizing the assurance of flight and ground crew safety and effective performance during missions. Study effort will be continued in 1964 to define mission requirements for a more powerful successor to the Advanced Saturn launch vehicle.

In addition to contractor effort covered in these estimates, NASA elements primarily involved are the Office of Manned Space Flight, Washington, D.C., the Manned Spacecraft Center, the Marshall Space Flight Center, and the Launch Operations Center.

2. Space applications.—NASA programs in this activity provide for research and development on applications of space technology for practical purposes. Both contractor and NASA efforts are involved, the latter primarily located at the Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md.

(a) Meteorology.—Work will proceed in 1964 on the continuing Tiros series, which has enjoyed six successful flights to date and which is providing needed data for a future operational system. Primary emphasis will be placed on development of the more advanced Nimbus satellite, which was initiated in 1962. The U.S. Weather Bureau is providing for the establishment of an operational meteorological satellite system using Tiros and Nimbus satellites. Vehicle procurement, launching, and certain other services in connection with the operational system are being performed by NASA for the Weather Bureau on a reimbursable basis. NASA's meteorological satellite program also includes the development of techniques and components for use in future systems.

(b) Communications.—The national research and development program in the communications satellite field has been planned and conducted cooperatively by NASA, the Department of Defense, and industry. Responsibility for development and establishment of an operational, worldwide, commercial communications satellite system will be centralized in the communications satellite corporation, which NASA will assist by continued research and development, technical consultation, and other services.

In 1964, NASA will complete the Echo project to develop passive communications techniques using spherical reflectors in space.

In the active communications satellite area NASA will continue work in 1964 on the present Relay low altitude, wide-band satellites and the Syncom 24-hour orbit satellite system being developed in cooperation with the Department of Defense. In addition, NASA will place major emphasis in 1964 on technology required for a 24-hour orbit satellite of significantly expanded capability and reliability, while the Department of Defense will pursue the development of a low altitude active system. As in the past, technological advances resulting from NASA communications satellite research and development will be made available to industry to encourage the earliest possible operational use in private satellite developments. NASA is also prepared to provide services on a reimbursable basis for the launching of privately developed communications spacecraft, such as the Telstar, which was successfully launched on July 10, 1962.

(c) Other applications.—This activity includes research on other possible applications for orbiting spacecraft. Specific effort is also directed to promote the application of NASA developed technological advances for the benefit of the national economy, through the cataloging and dissemination of information to industry.

3. Unmanned investigations in space.—Estimates in this activity include NASA's programs for unmanned space flight missions for the acquisition of basic scientific data, and the development of the related launch vehicles. NASA effort in this area is carried out primarily by the Goddard Space Flight Center; the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif.; the Lewis Research Center; and Wallops Station, Wallops Island, Va., with support from other NASA centers and contractors.

(a) Spacecraft development and operations.—Acquisition of scientific data on the upper atmosphere and near space by means of sounding rocket probes will be continued in 1964 on an expanded scale, with special emphasis on cooperation with university experimenters. The program for development of earth-orbiting observatories capable of carrying multiple experiments for measurement and investigation of space phenomena will be increased in 1964. Major projects in this area include astronomical, geophysical, and solar observatories. In addition, work will be conducted on a number of smaller scientific satellites and probes, including international satellite projects.

Significant resources will be devoted in 1964 to the unmanned lunar exploration program, including the Ranger and Surveyor projects to land instruments on the lunar surface and to collect data from lunar-orbiting spacecraft. These experiments will help meet the urgent requirements of the manned lunar landing program.

In the unmanned Mars and Venus planetary exploration program in 1964, major emphasis will continue to be placed on the Mariner series of spacecraft, one of which successfully relayed the first information from the vicinity of Venus on December 14, 1962. Research and development on spacecraft intended for landing on Mars and Venus will continue in 1964, while the resources devoted to the Pioneer series of interplanetary probes will be increased.

The bioscience program will continue on an expanded basis in 1964, with investigations of the effects of the space environment on living organisms and the search for extraterrestrial life through research and flight projects.

(b) Launch vehicle development.—This activity provides for the development of relatively small launch vehicles for use in the unmanned space programs. The only launch vehicle under active development in 1964 will be the Centaur, which is intended as the launch vehicle for the Surveyor spacecraft. The liquid hydrogen technology developed in this project will be used extensively for the upper stages of the Saturn launch vehicle series. Also encompassed in this activity are analyses of possible improvements to the present family of small and medium launch vehicles.

4. Space research and technology.—NASA programs for the advancement of the technology required for the development and operation of space vehicle systems and related equipment and components are funded in this activity.

(a) Launch vehicles and spacecraft.—The estimates provide for a program of flight projects and research and development in technical disciplines and problem areas such as space environment effects, aerothermodynamics, structures and materials, vehicle concepts, and work to gain a fundamental understanding of the role and support of man as a functional element in aerospace operations. In addition, expanded effort will be made on electronic measurements; recording and transmission of operational, technical and scientific data; guidance and control systems; and reentry phenomena, especially in regard to communications blackout during reentry.

The objective of all the effort in this activity is to advance technological developments by ground research and flight experiments to the point of practical application in flight missions. Several projects are directed toward producing working criteria for design of space vehicle systems for the manned lunar landing. The work is conducted primarily at the Ames Research Center, Sunnyvale, Calif.; the Langley Research Center, Hampton, Va.; the Lewis Research Center; the Goddard Space Flight Center; the Jet Propulsion Laboratory; and the Marshall Space Flight Center, with support from other NASA centers and contractors.

(b) Propulsion and space power.—The estimates provide for increased effort into the research and development of propulsion and electric power generation techniques and systems which will provide the key to future space vehicles and potential missions. In 1964 major emphasis will be placed on nuclear systems in joint programs with the Atomic Energy Commission. These include development of a nuclear engine under Project Rover, and nuclear electric power generation systems. NASA work will also be conducted on the development and test of electric propulsion systems; the development of small solid rockets for space vehicle use; and battery, solar, and other electrical power units for spacecraft.

Effort on these programs is located at the Lewis Research Center; the Space Nuclear Propulsion Office, Germantown, Md., and its branches at Cleveland, Ohio, and the National Nuclear Rocket Development Station at Jackass Flats, Nev.; the Marshall Space Flight Center; other NASA centers, and industrial development contractors.

5. Aircraft technology.—The objectives of the work encompassed by this activity are to assist the technological growth required for continued advancement of the national capability in aeronautics, and to support other Government agencies in research and development on specific aircraft. Work will continue in 1964 on research for supersonic transport and advanced tactical fighter aircraft in cooperation with the Federal Aviation Agency and the Department of Defense, respectively, and on the short and vertical takeoff and landing capabilities primarily required for military aircraft. The X-15 research aircraft project to provide research and operating data at hypersonic speeds will also be continued in 1964.

Basic research in the areas of aerodynamics, structures and loads, propulsion and aircraft operations will be supported with a view toward furthering the technology required for advanced aircraft developments anticipated in the latter portion of this decade. This work will focus attention on the relationship of techniques of aerodynamic flight to those of space flight. NASA installations primarily involved in these projects are the Flight Research Center, the Langley Research Center, the Ames Research Center, and the Lewis Research Center.

6. Supporting operations.—NASA program elements grouped in this activity provide general support for the accomplishment of NASA research, development, and flight programs.

(a) Tracking and data acquisition.—The estimates in this activity provide for the procurement, installation, and operation of equipment at stations of the NASA worldwide tracking and data acquisition networks, and for continued research and development on specialized ground equipment to improve the capability of the nets. NASA installations primarily involved in these activities include the Goddard Space Flight Center, the Flight Research Center, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, the Langley Research Center, the Marshall Space Flight Center, and Wallops Station.

(b) Facility, training, and research grants.—This program was initiated in 1962. Its purposes are to enlarge university participation in space science and engineering, supplement NASA research activity, broaden the base of university conceived and constructed experiments for future space missions, and provide an interdisciplinary framework for the assimilation into the body of scientific thought of the new data and insight being acquired through the space program. The program is composed of training grants for graduate science and engineering students, facility grants to provide working space for space research and training, and research grants for projects which are of interest to NASA. The program also provides liaison and direct communication between NASA and university scientists and engineers. It is managed by the Office of Space Sciences, Washington, D.C.

This appropriation provides contractual services for the design, construction, and modernization of facilities; the purchase of items of equipment related to construction and modernization; advanced design of facilities planned for future authorization; and acquisition of land. The projects in the proposed 1964 program are described below:

1. Manned space flight.—This activity includes estimates for development, ground testing, and launching facilities necessary for the spacecraft, launch vehicle, and propulsion systems required primarily to carry out the Apollo and Advanced Saturn programs. The major items include construction of Advanced Saturn launch and support facilities at the Launch Operations Center area at Merritt Island, Fla.; ground test and support facilities at the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., and at the Mississippi Test Facility, Pearl River, Miss.; additional development, ground testing, and manufacturing facilities for the Saturn series of launch vehicles and propulsion system development programs at contractors' plants and at the Michoud Plant, New Orleans, La.; and development, ground testing, and operational facilities at the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Tex.

2. Space applications.—Construction of a laboratory facility required for development of meteorological satellites at the Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., is proposed.

3. Unmanned investigations in space.—The estimates for this activity provide for construction of facilities to test satellite and sounding rocket spacecraft at the Goddard Space Flight Center; engineering and support facilities for the unmanned lunar and planetary exploration program at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif.; and an operations facility for unmanned spacecraft missions at the Launch Operations Center.

4. Space research and technology.—Projects included in this category provide for space research and supporting facilities at the Ames Research Center, Sunnyvale, Calif.; the Flight Research Center, Edwards, Calif.; the Langley Research Center, Hampton, Va.; the Lewis Research Center, Cleveland, Ohio; and development, test, and support facilities for the nuclear rocket program at the National Nuclear Rocket Development Station in Nevada. Also proposed is the acquisition of land and site preparation for a new Electronics Research Center in the Greater Boston area.

5. Aircraft technology.—These estimates include increased capacity for a facility supporting wind tunnel research at the Ames Research Center and a facility at the Flight Research Center to house flight-simulation equipment.

6. Supporting operations.—The requirements in this category include three ship-borne and three land-based tracking facilities to support the manned space flight program; modernization of the Cape Canaveral, Fla., tracking station; two buildings to house telemetry equipment located on Bermuda; modernization of general range support facilities at Wallops Station, Wallops Island, Va.; and advanced planning and design funds for facilities proposed for future authorization.

This appropriation provides for all administrative expenses of the agency with the exception of those applicable to the Department of Medicine and Surgery.

A decrease of $1.7 million is forecast for 1964. This includes an increase of $4.3 million for pay raise and related costs attributable to Public Law 87-793. Excluding these costs, a decrease of $6.0 million is forecast. This decrease is due principally to (1) reduced rental costs of computer equipment as the result of purchases of this equipment in 1962 and 1963, and (2) employment reductions in most benefit and insurance programs.

1. General administration.—The Administrator and his top staff assistants provide the executive direction of the agency, establish basic policies, interpret laws pertaining to veterans' affairs and promulgate supplementary regulations, and direct and coordinate the activities of the operating departments. The Board of Veterans Appeals, established by statutory enactment, renders appellate decisions final in all cases, other than insurance cases, in appeals to the Administrator on claims involving benefits under laws administered by the Veterans Administration.

2. Insurance.—Approximately 6,000,000 veterans are insured under the United States Government or National Service Life Insurance programs. Obligational requirements for the administration of these programs have been reduced from approximately $41.5 million in 1953 to an estimated $20 million in 1964. These reductions, accompanied by only slight decreases in the number of policies maintained, have been made possible through improved operating methods and procedures.

1. Medical research.—This program is directly related to patient care in view of the part it plays in developing and improving diagnostic and treatment procedures for the care of patients and in facilitating recruitment and retention of qualified physicians for the hospital system. Projects are conducted in Veterans Administration laboratories or in other institutions on a contract basis, whichever is more advantageous or economical. Research by the Veterans Administration in 1962 was financed from three sources: (1) direct appropriation—$26,645 thousand, (2) grants from the National Institutes of Health and other organizations sponsoring research—$7,037 thousand, and (3) services provided from funds budgeted for hospital operations—estimated at approximately $3,500 thousand, making a total research program in 1962 of $37,182 thousand. Funds available from all sources will aggregate approximately $40,037 thousand in 1963 and $43,004 thousand in 1964.

In addition, the construction appropriation includes amounts for improving or adding research laboratory facilities at existing hospitals and for incorporating research facilities in new hospitals.

2. Prosthetic research.—This is a research program to develop and test prosthetic, orthopedic, and sensory aids for the purpose of improving the care and rehabilitation of disabled eligible veterans, including amputees, paraplegics, and the blind.

² Reimbursements from non-Federal sources are derived from charges for medical services rendered nonbeneficiaries in emergency cases (38 U.S.C. 611).

This appropriation provides for the cost of care and treatment of eligible beneficiaries at Veterans Administration hospitals, domiciliary homes, and outpatient clinics, contract hospitals and State homes.

To be eligible for inpatient care and treatment, a beneficiary must be a veteran of any war with a service-connected disability incurred or aggravated during a period of war, or, within the limits of Veterans Administration facilities, for any other disability if the veteran is unable to defray the expenses of necessary hospital or domiciliary care. Outpatient medical and dental treatment is provided to veterans with service-connected disabilities by staffs of Veterans Administration outpatient clinics and by physicians and dentists participating in the hometown medical care program. It is also provided to veterans receiving vocational rehabilitation who require treatment to avoid interruption of training, pensioners of nations allied with the United States in World War I and in World War II, and veterans of the Spanish-American War, Indian wars, Boxer Rebellion, and Philippine Insurrection. Veterans are also provided examinations in outpatient clinics for purposes of rating for compensation and pension, insurance and determining their need for hospitalization or domiciliary care.

Medical services may be furnished on an outpatient basis for non-service-connected disabilities to veterans who have been determined to need hospital care and whose admission to a hospital has been scheduled, or who require post-hospital treatment to complete hospital care.

Increases in 1964 are the result of (a) completing the activation of a new 1,000-bed neuropsychiatric hospital at Brecksville, Ohio; (b) initial activation of replacement general hospitals of 710 beds at Washington, D.C., and 800 beds at Cleveland, Ohio, and of the new 200-bed restoration center at East Orange, N.J.; (c) an increase in staffing levels for improved physical facilities and to sustain quality medical care; (d) average salary increases resulting from periodic pay increases, reclassification actions, and the Federal Salary Reform Act of 1962; (e) establishment of an additional audiology clinic and five new mental health day care centers; and (f) increased utilization of drugs, medical supplies, utilities, and communications.

The net decrease in the estimated costs under 1963 of approximately $206 thousand is due primarily to a decrease of 81 in the average daily patient load.

The acquisition value of personal property, supplies and materials, and other items transferred from other Federal agencies or from the General post fund—national homes, Veterans Administration, amounted to $2,666 thousand in 1962. This valuation represents the cost of the items incurred by the original acquiring agency and does not represent the actual value of the items when transferred to the Veterans Administration. The receipt of this property has been considered in developing the fund requirements included in this budget submission.

A supplemental appropriation for 1963 is anticipated under Proposed for separate transmittal.

¹ Selected resources as of June 30 are as follows: Accounts receivable (benefit overpayments collectible from beneficiaries). 1961, $9,043 thousand; 1962, $14,251 thousand; 1963, $14,251 thousand; 1964, $14,251 thousand.

This appropriation provides for compensation, pensions, and other related benefits and allowances that are authorized veterans and their survivors. As of June 1962 there were an estimated 22,275 thousand living veterans of all wars and peacetime service of which 14.1%, or 3,150,211 were receiving benefits under this appropriation. In addition, 1,595,465 dependents of 1,122,048 deceased veterans were receiving benefits. The increased cost in the current and budget years is primarily attributable to the pension program (where accretions to the rolls are primarily the result of the aging of veterans) and to the enactment of Public Law 87-645, approved September 7, 1962, at an additional cost of $98.2 million in 1963 and 1964. Public Law 87-815, approved October 15, 1962, extended vocational rehabilitation benefits to peacetime veterans and is estimated to cost $1.6 million in 1963 and $7.8 million in 1964 for subsistence allowance.

Forecasts of average caseloads and average annual payments per case have been based on analyses of trends in each category with consideration given to specific conditions which might affect the separate classes of beneficiaries. It is anticipated that a supplemental appropriation of $42 million will be required for 1963. This supplemental is included in the following program and performance statement, but not included in the accompanying program and financing schedule.

1. Compensation.—Compensation is payable to living veterans for a disability connected with military service and compensation or dependency and indemnity compensation is payable to eligible dependents of deceased veterans for death connected with military service.

(a) Living veterans.—The basic rates of disability compensation were increased from 5.3 to 11.1% for rates payable to veterans disabled 10 to 100% and for special monthly compensation in amounts ranging from 8.6 to 20.8% as outlined in section 1 of Public Law 87-645. The basic rates of disability compensation provided in wartime cases range from $20 for 10% disability to $250 per month for total disability. Certain cases are compensated for specific disabilities as prescribed by law, to a maximum of $725 a month per case. An additional allowance is payable for dependents of veterans rated 50% or more disabled to a maximum of $100 a month per case, plus $12 monthly for each child in excess of three. Generally all rates of peacetime disability compensation are 80% of wartime rates.

The caseload of living veterans reflects a decreasing trend through 1964, primarily attributable to the increased death rate of World War I and World War II veterans. The average payment reflects the increased rates provided by Public Law 87-645 in 1963 and 1964.

(b) Deceased veterans.—The caseload continues to decrease and a downward trend is maintained through 1964. The World War II group is the largest category and is the basis for this trend.

2. Pensions.—Benefits are payable to wartime veterans and dependents of deceased veterans for non-service-connected disability and death. A declining rate of increase is projected through the budget year, as explained below:

(a) Living veterans.—In general, pensions are payable to wartime veterans who are unable to secure substantially gainful employment as a result of a permanent and totally disabling non-service-connected disability. The legally prescribed standards for determining eligibility are especially liberal for veterans who have attained 65 years of age. Subsequent to enactment of the Veterans' Pension Act of 1959 a sliding scale of pensions has been payable based on income and family status, ranging from a minimum of $40 monthly to a single veteran with $1,200-$1,800 annual income, to a maximum of $100 monthly to a veteran with three or more dependents whose income is $1,000 or less annually. These are increased by $70 monthly when the veteran needs regular aid and attendance.

The caseload continues to increase but at a declining rate with less significant gains projected in the World War I category in 1963 and 1964. The average monthly payment is projected to increase in 1963 based on the assumption that more World War I veterans protected under Public Law 86-211 will elect higher rates.

(b) Deceased veterans.—Under current legislation pensions are payable to widows and children of World War I, World War II, and Korean conflict veterans on the same basis. A sliding scale of pension based on income and family status is payable ranging from $25 monthly to a maximum of $105 monthly (plus $15 for each additional child over 3).

The estimated caseload reflects a more normal increase in 1964 than in 1963 where the delayed effect of the equalization feature (Public Law 86-211) continues. A minor decrease in average payment is projected in 1964, attributable to the diminishing effect of equalization, particularly in the World War II category.

3. Other—(a) Retired officers.—Emergency officers (World War I) and certain officers (Regular Establishment) retired for service-connected disability are entitled to special retirement benefits at rates substantially higher than the normal compensation payments.

(b) Subsistence allowance.—Subsistence allowance payments to disabled veterans in vocational rehabilitation and education programs are made from this appropriation. Consideration has been given to the cost effects of Public Law 87-815, approved October 15, 1962, in 1963 and 1964.

(c) Initial burial allowance.—Under present statutes the Administrator is authorized to provide an allowance of $250 (plus transportation charges where death occurs under VA care) for the funeral expenses of a deceased veteran. The estimated increases in obligations are directly related to the estimated increase in the number of deaths of veterans in civil life.

(d) Special allowance, dependents.—Under certain conditions a special allowance (72 Stat. 1128) is payable to dependents of certain veterans who died after December 31, 1956, but who were not fully and currently insured under the Social Security Act. The award is based upon a certification to VA by the Social Security Administration.

(e) Invalid lifts.—The Administrator may furnish an invalid lift, if medically indicated, to any veteran in receipt of pension under (72 Stat. 1140) based on the need of regular aid and attendance.

This appropriation provides education and training allowances for veterans of the Korean conflict; educational assistance allowances for eligibles under the War Orphans' Educational Assistance Act of 1956, as amended; for transfer of funds to the Loan guaranty revolving fund to supplement income of the fund as required; and special assistance to disabled veterans for those requiring vocational rehabilitation, housing grants, and automobiles or other conveyances.

1. Education and training.—It is estimated that the number of Korean conflict veterans receiving benefits will decline sharply. Orphan trainees will reach a peak in 1963, and then gradually decline. A trend analysis of trainee loads by major training category, and average costs per trainee follow:

2. Loan guaranty.—Beginning with 1962, guaranty claims and costs of loan and property acquisitions were paid from the Loan guaranty revolving fund, where detailed breakdown is shown. However, the authorizing legislation (74 Stat. 533) provides for transfer from this appropriation to supplement income of the fund as required.

3. Special assistance to disabled veterans.—Disabled veterans requiring vocational rehabilitation are provided educational assistance for tuition, supplies, and equipment. The estimates include requirements of Public Law 87-815, approved October 15, 1962, which provided for the extension of vocational rehabilitation benefits to peacetime veterans. Assistance also is available to provide grants for specially adapted housing to veterans having suffered the loss of both feet, and to paraplegic veterans. In addition, up to $1,600 is allowed certain disabled veterans toward the purchase of automobiles or other conveyances. 1. Military and naval insurance.—Payments are made for claims on war-risk insurance issued to servicemen and veterans of World War I. Although no policies of this insurance remain in force, payments for death and disability claims continue. Payments are made also to the U.S. Government life insurance fund for claims (1) traceable to extra hazards of military service and (2) for claims while insured was under premium waiver provisions in active military service.

2. National service life insurance.—This appropriation pays certain expenses of the National service life insurance fund and receives premiums and pays claims on nonparticipating insurance policies issued to certain disabled veterans of World War II. The permanent indefinite appropriation of premium receipts is authorized (38 U.S.C. 719(b)).

a. Payments to National service life insurance fund.—(1) For death claims traceable to extra hazards of service an amount is transferred from this appropriation, which, when added to the reserve of the policy, is equal to the actuarial value of the claim. In the event of total disability traceable to the extra hazards of service, an amount is transferred from this appropriation sufficient to meet the current payments from the fund. (2) Gratuitous insurance was issued to aviation cadets and to certain persons who were unable to make application for National service life insurance. Payments will be made in 1963 and 1964 to otherwise qualified illegitimate children. (3) The fund is reimbursed when recovery of erroneous payments or overpayments is waived. (4) The fund is reimbursed for death claims on policies under waiver of premiums while the insured is on active military duty.

(1) Claims are paid on nonparticipating National service life insurance policies issued to World War II veterans with service-connected disabilities. (2) Claims may be paid in certain instances in which applicants for insurance were rejected for medical reasons and subsequently died in line of duty. (3) Claims are paid on death which occurred after application but before effective date of a National service life insurance policy.

(4) Claims may be paid in certain cases in which insurance was discontinued because the insured was discharged to accept a commission, was absent without leave, or was court-martialed.

3. Service-disabled veterans insurance.—Payments are made to the Service-disabled veterans insurance fund to supplement the premium and other receipts of the fund in amounts necessary to pay claims on insurance policies issued to veterans whose service-connected disabilities made them ineligible for commercial insurance. The amount estimated for this program in 1964 is $2,700 thousand.

4. Servicemen's indemnities.—Beneficiaries of servicemen who died prior to January 1, 1957, while in active service or within a period of 120 days after separation from active service are entitled to receive an indemnity in the amount of $10 thousand less any National service life insurance and/or U.S. Government life insurance carried by the deceased. Payments are made to beneficiaries in 120 equal installments, plus interest at the rate of 2.25% per year. The payments on awards were $29,142 thousand in 1962. Payments will decrease annually, as installments are completed.

Grants-in-aid are made to the Republic of the Philippines for the medical care and treatment of eligible Philippine Commonwealth Army veterans. Section 632 of title 38, U.S. Code, provides for reimbursement at agreed upon patient per diem rates up to a maximum annual amount of $2 million. Current legislation expires as of June 30, 1963. Medical care and treatment is provided by the Philippine Veterans Memorial Hospital in Manila, which was constructed from U.S. grants-in-aid totaling approximately $9,400 thousand.

These funds provide for the construction of new hospital and domiciliary facilities, replacement of existing hospitals and domiciliaries, acquisition of sites, modernization and other improvements, including regional offices and supply depots, and alterations and additions for medical research facilities. This estimate is for the fourth increment for financing a 15-year program to modernize the hospital system. While this program will be primarily for improvements to the older (pre-World War II) hospitals, it will also provide for replacement of 12 hospitals acquired from military surplus, for air conditioning where indicated, and for the correction of deficiencies in post-World War II hospitals as necessary to bring them up to modern medical standards.

A construction program of $81,000 thousand is recommended for 1964 to be financed with new obligational authority. The estimate includes $2,750 thousand for restoration of a portion of the funds which were used to finance the special air-conditioning program. The amount for construction of replacement hospitals includes $8,793 thousand for the 480-bed general hospital at Gainesville, Fla.; $16,053 thousand for the replacing of 1,040 beds of the 1,601-bed general hospital at Long Beach, Calif.; $8,800 thousand for the 500-bed general hospital at Oteen, N.C.; $9,685 thousand for the 480-bed general hospital at Temple, Tex.; $1,600 thousand for a site and planning of a 1,000-bed neuropsychiatric hospital at Long Island, N.Y.; $1 million for planning a 1,040-bed general hospital at Los Angeles, Calif.; and $700 thousand for planning a 720-bed general hospital at San Juan, Puerto Rico. The amount for modernization and other improvements projects includes $16,795 thousand to continue projects for which planning is in progress and $11,825 thousand for new projects which will ultimately cost $64,392 thousand. Also, $3 million is provided for construction and planning of additional research facilities.

In accordance with the Government's policy to provide fallout shelter facilities in new construction, funds are included in this estimate for fallout shelter facilities as follows: For planning and construction—Danville, Ill. (phase V) $100 thousand; for planning only—Long Island, N.Y. $16 thousand; Hines, Ill. (phase I) $16 thousand; Portland, Oreg. $12 thousand; San Juan, Puerto Rico $13 thousand; and Seattle, Wash., $5 thousand.

1. Hospitals—(a) New.—This activity covers the new hospitals and bed-addition projects authorized in 1947 and subsequent years. It provides for 77 projects to add 38,240 beds and 12 projects for conversion of beds at existing hospitals. The status of beds provided by this program follows:

	1962 actual	1963 estimate	1964 estimate
Under construction beginning of year.....	1,500	1,500	1,500
Completed during year.....			1,500
Total completed at end of year since initiation of the program.....	36,740	36,740	38,240
Under construction at end of year.....	1,500	1,500

(b) Replacement.—This activity provides for replacement of beds which are housed in temporary, obsolete, or hazardous structures. The program, initiated in 1955, currently includes 17 projects for approximately 12,773 beds. Status of beds to be provided under this title follows:

	1962 actual	1963 estimate	1964 estimate
Under construction beginning of year.....	1,500	2,250	4,137
Put under construction during year.....	1,250	2,887	2,500

(c) Modernization.—This activity provides for needed modernization of pre-World War II hospitals to bring them, insofar as practicable, up to the standards of the new hospitals. The status of projects in this program, excluding those which were financially completed as of June 30, 1961, follows (dollars in thousands):

	Number of projects	Total estimated cost of projects
Completed as of June 30, 1962.....	35	$51,659

Scheduled to be placed under construction, 1964.....	13	29,381
To be placed under construction, after 1964.....	14	84,911

(d) Other improvements.—This activity provides for needed improvements, other than modernization, at hospitals. The status of the projects in this program, excluding those which were financially completed as of June 30, 1961, follows (dollars in thousands):

	Number of projects	Total estimated cost of projects
Completed as of June 30, 1962.....	79	$4,451

Scheduled to be placed under construction, 1964.....	47	7,857

2. Domiciliaries.—This activity provides for construction at domiciliary facilities, including restoration centers. No new projects are proposed in 1964. The status of the projects in this program, excluding those which were financially completed as of June 30, 1961, follows (dollars in thousands):

	Number of projects	Total estimated cost of projects
Under construction, June 30, 1962.....	1	$165
Scheduled to be placed under construction, 1963.....	1	1,721

3. Regional offices and supply depots.—This activity provides for necessary construction at regional offices and supply depots. No new projects are proposed in 1964. The status of the projects in this program, excluding those which were financially completed as of June 30, 1961, follows (dollars in thousands):

	Number of projects	Total estimated cost of projects
Completed as of June 30, 1962.....	4	$62
Under construction, June 30, 1962.....	2	83
Scheduled to be placed under construction, 1963.....	1	9

4. Research facilities.—This activity provides for construction of medical research facilities. The status of the projects in this program, excluding those which were financially completed as of June 30, 1961, follows (dollars in thousands):

	Number of projects	Total estimated cost of projects
Completed as of June 30, 1962.....	12	$1,939

Scheduled to be placed under construction, 1964.....	20	5,991
To be placed under construction, after 1964.....	6	5,464

5. Experimental hospital facilities.—This program was initiated in 1963 to provide experimental facilities to help determine the most advantageous functional arrangements for hospital nursing units and supporting facilities. The only project currently authorized under this title is estimated to cost $500 thousand and construction is scheduled to start in 1963. No new projects are proposed in 1964.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS

Not to exceed 5 per centum of any appropriation for the current fiscal year for "Compensation and pensions", "Readjustment benefits", and "Veterans insurance and indemnities" may be transferred to any other of the mentioned appropriations, but not to exceed 10 per centum of the appropriations so augmented.

Appropriations available to the Veterans Administration for the current fiscal year for salaries and expenses shall be available for services as authorized by section 15 of the Act of August 2, 1946 (5 U.S.C. 55a).

The appropriation available to the Veterans Administration for the current fiscal year for "Medical care" shall be available for funeral, burial, and other expenses incidental thereto (except burial awards authorized by section 902 of title 38, United States Code), for beneficiaries of the Veterans Administration receiving care under such appropriations.

No part of the appropriations in this Act for the Veterans Administration (except the appropriation for "Construction of hospital and domiciliary facilities") shall be available for the purchase of any site for or toward the construction of any new hospital or home.

No part of the foregoing appropriations shall be available for hospitalization or examination of any persons except beneficiaries entitled under the laws bestowing such benefits to veterans, unless reimbursement of cost is made to the appropriation at such rates as may be fixed by the Administrator of Veterans Affairs. The Veterans Canteen Service was established by Congress in 1946 to furnish at reasonable prices merchandise and services necessary to the comfort and well-being of veterans in hospitals and domiciliaries operated by the Veterans Administration (38 U.S.C. 4201-08).

Budget program.—Sales are expected to be $45,712 thousand in 1963 and $47,157 thousand in 1964. Operating costs will increase primarily as a result of Federal minimum wage legislation and increased pay costs pursuant to Public Law 87-793.

Financing.—Operations are financed from current revenues. The Congress originally appropriated a total of $4,965 thousand to establish and operate the Service. Funds in excess of the needs of the Service totaling $6,900 thousand have been paid to the Treasury as of June 30, 1962.

Operating results and financial condition.—Operating revenue is expected to be sufficient to cover operating expenses. Funds at the close of the fiscal year in excess of the needs of the Service for the ensuing fiscal year will be paid to the Treasury.

Loans are made to veterans for the purchase, construction, or improvement of homes, including farm residence in specified areas where mortgage loans made by private lenders and guaranteed by the Veterans Administration cannot be secured (38 U.S.C. 1811 as amended).

Budget program—1. Direct loans to veterans.—Under existing legislation, authority to make or to enter into commitments to make loans expires July 25, 1967, for World War II veterans, and January 31, 1975, for Korean conflict veterans. The amount of loans outstanding will reach $1.6 billion in 1964. A summary of loan activity follows (dollars in thousands):

2. Vendee loans made.—Resale of real property acquired through foreclosure or voluntary conveyance normally involves a cash down payment by the purchaser and the creation of a new mortgage loan to be held by the Veterans Administration. The noncash portions of these transactions are excluded from the program and financing schedule above; but they are included in the following activity summary (in thousands of dollars):

	1961 actual	1962 actual	1963 estimate	1964 estimate

Amount of vendee loans acquired.....	2,160	3,477	4,259	4,328
Amount of vendee loans repaid.....	405	594	674	697

3. Real property acquired.—Properties are acquired through foreclosures and voluntary conveyance in defaulted loans. This involves primarily an exchange of noncash assets, with relatively small cash outlay. The noncash portion of these transactions are excluded from the program and financing schedule above and the statement of sources and application of funds; but they are included in the following activity summary (in thousands of dollars):

	1961 actual	1962 actual	1963 estimate	1964 estimate
Amount of properties acquired.....	3,176	5,506	4,594	4,622

4. Interest on borrowings.—Payments to the Treasury increase as the principal amount of notes held by the Treasury increases with additional borrowings. Out of the total earned revenue through June 30, 1962, approximately 63% was used to pay interest expense on borrowings.

5. Operating expenses, general.—Includes a variety of miscellaneous expenses incident to closing and servicing loans. Costs will increase in proportion to the increase in the number of loans outstanding.

6. Property management and selling expenses.—The costs of maintaining and selling properties acquired through foreclosure is expected to increase slightly with the increase in the number of loans outstanding.

Financing.—Loans are made primarily with funds borrowed from the Treasury. Borrowing authority in the amount of $1,833 million was authorized through June 30, 1962. Additional borrowing authority of $200 million in 1963 and $150 million in 1964 has been authorized. Present plans provide for utilization of the entire authorization in both 1963 and 1964. Treasury borrowings subsequent to June 30, 1962, will be reduced by the proceeds of loan sales in the preceding fiscal year. In addition, the proceeds of loan repayments and loan sales are available for making loans. Of the total funds to be made available from borrowings and program operations, it is expected that $228 million will be disbursed in 1963 and $216 million in 1964. Expenses incident to closing loans are paid by the veteran, foreclosure expenses are met from interest income, and administrative expenses are borne by the appropriation for General operating expenses, Veterans Administration.

Operating results and financial condition.—Retained earnings will amount to $37.2 million by June 30, 1964. Transfers of $101.2 million in retained earnings (72 Stat. 1203) and $105.7 million in capital (74 Stat. 532) were made to the Loan guaranty revolving fund during 1962.

The Loan guaranty revolving fund was established at the beginning of 1962 by 74 Stat. 533, in order that the revenues obtained from principal payments on vendee accounts and acquired loans, income from interest payments on such assets, and miscellaneous income, such as from the rental of properties, could be used to defray expenses for paying claims, acquiring, managing and selling properties.

Budget program.—The activities indicated in tables 1 and 2 below represent the numbers of each asset acquired on a check issued basis.

1. Real property acquired.—Private lenders who have acquired property as a result of foreclosure on defaulted guaranteed or insured loans may elect to convey that property to the Veterans Administration. The table below reflects this activity and excludes the amount of indebtedness established against the veteran:

Properties acquired:
Number of properties acquired.....	17,735	22,350	16,425
Average cost per acquisition.....	$11,157	$11,000	$11,200
Total cost (in thousands).....	$197,872	$245,833	$184,000

2. Claims paid.—These payments result from veteran borrowers failing to keep up their payments on VA-guaranteed or insured loans, thus requiring the Government to assume the responsibility. The table below reflects this activity and it represents only the amount of indebtedness established against the veteran after the claim has been settled:

Average cost per payment.....	$855	$1,000	$1,000
Total cost (in thousands).....	$14,026	$22,450	$16,850

3. Loans acquired.—Guaranteed or insured loans in a default status may be purchased by the Administrator to avoid foreclosure when it is felt that temporary forbearance will allow the veteran borrowers to cure the default:

Loans acquired:
Number of loans acquired.....	119	150	145
Average cost per payment.....	$10,277	$10,300	$10,300
Total cost (in thousands).....	$1,223	$1,545	$1,500

4. Repurchase of loans sold.—Pursuant to VA Regulation 4600, dated March 22, 1962, the Administrator may sell mortgage loans, which have been created incident to the sale of VA acquired properties, with full recourse. Estimated amounts of $10 million in 1963 and $7.8 million in 1964 are provided for that contingency.

5. Property management expense.—The cost of ownership of acquired properties includes local real estate taxes, services performed by management brokers and maintenance of the property in a saleable condition:

Property management expense:
Average number of properties.....	13,884	21,100	25,200
Cost per property.....	$1,052	$1,050	$1,050
Total cost (in thousands).....	$14,601	$22,150	$26,460

6. Sales expense.—This item consists principally of brokers fees and advertising cost incident to the sale of acquired properties:

	1962 actual	1963 estimate	1964 estimate
Sales expense:
Number of sales.....	13,476	17,500	17,500
Cost per sale.....	$507	$550	$550
Total cost (in thousands).....	$6,830	$9,625	$9,625

Financing.—Revenue and receipts consist principally of interest income and repayments on mortgage loans made incident to the sale of real property acquired as a result of foreclosure on guaranteed loans. It will be several years before interest income and principal repayments are sufficient to offset program costs, and make the fund self-sustaining. In the meantime, it will be necessary to obtain funds from other sources. In this respect, during 1963 and 1964, it is estimated that $59 million and $34 million, respectively, will be required to be transferred from the Readjustment benefits appropriation (74 Stat. 533). Also, in 1963 and 1964 an estimated $150 million and $147 million vendee loans will be sold to private investors.

Proposed language change, 1963.—A language change will be proposed to remove the limitation of $221 million included in the Independent Offices Appropriation Act, 1963, for expenses involved in property acquisition and other loan guarantee expenses under chapter 37, title 38, United States Code.

Current estimates indicate that the number of guaranteed and insured claim payments and properties that private lenders will elect to convey to the Veterans Administration, all uncontrollable, will exceed the totals anticipated in the 1963 budget and the costs of these will exceed previous estimates by about $91 million. A request will be submitted to revise the limitation on expenses and provide supplemental financing for this fund under separate transmittal for 1963.

There are available for leasing to Federal employees 133 housekeeping units located at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Perry Point, Md. These units were constructed prior to World War I and consequently are in need of considerable repair.

Revenue derived from rental of these quarters is necessary for the extensive backlog of modernization, maintenance, and repair (38 U.S.C. 5012a).

This fund finances the payment of claims on nonparticipating insurance policies issued to veterans with service-connected disabilities which make them ineligible for commercial insurance (38 U.S.C. 722). Administrative expenses are paid from the General operating expenses appropriation.

Budget program—1. Death claims.—Payments to surviving beneficiaries continue to increase as new deaths occur among the increasing number of policyholders.

3. Cash surrenders.—A policyholder may terminate his insurance by cashing in his policy for its cash value.

4. Policy loans.—A policyholder may borrow up to 94% of the cash value of his policy. This activity increases with the increased number of policyholders.

The general increase in the activity of this fund is indicated in the following table (dollars in thousands):

Financing.—Operations are financed from premiums and other receipts. Additional funds are derived from the Veterans insurance and indemnities appropriation instead of direct appropriations to this fund. It is estimated that the payment will be $2 million in 1963 and $2.7 million in 1964.

Operating results and financial condition.—Because premium and other receipts continue to be insufficient to cover operations, the deficit is expected to continue to increase with capital impairment reaching an estimated $31.3 million by June 30, 1964.

The capital of the fund consists of $4.5 million—$3.5 million appropriated directly in 1952 and 1956–58 and $1 million transferred from the Readjustment benefits appropriation in 1954.

The fund finances claims arising from the guarantee of premiums due on commercial life insurance policies held by servicemen while they are in service and for 2 years after discharge (72 Stat. 487). The Government guarantees the repayment of any indebtedness not liquidated by the insured himself. Any payment by the Government on cases approved subsequent to October 6, 1942, creates a debt owed the Government by the insured.

Budget program—Insurance program.—Claims paid on guaranteed premiums are made to commercial insurance companies in cases where the servicemen failed to make premium payments guaranteed by the Government.

The activity of the fund is indicated in the following table:

Number of settlements.....	20	70	30
Average cost per settlement.....	$1,026	$750	$750

Financing.—Payment of claims against this fund are financed from collection of claims receivable, revenue, and appropriations as needed.

Operating results and financial condition.—The payment of refund claims has created expenses substantially in excess of the small revenue of the fund, thereby increasing the deficit to $1.9 million in 1962 with nominal losses continuing through 1964.

The fund finances the payment of claims on nonparticipating insurance policies issued before January 1, 1957, to veterans who served in the Armed Forces subsequent to April 1951 (38 U.S.C. 723). Policyholders were given the right (72 Stat. 1716) to convert to a permanent plan or to a new form of term insurance which may not be renewed beyond age 50 but which costs less than unlimited term insurance. Those who converted to a permanent plan also acquired the right to purchase total disability income coverage with an additional premium.

The fund has accumulated retained earnings in excess of its anticipated liabilities. Provision was made (75 Stat. 495) for a onetime distribution of these retained earnings by payment of a special dividend to policyholders whose insurance was in force during November or December 1960 or January 1961 if they have a permanent or limited term plan or convert from unlimited term to permanent or limited term before September 14, 1963. The dividend will also be paid on unlimited term policies which mature by death on or after the November 1960 premium due date and before September 1963.

Budget program—1. Death claims.—Payments to surviving beneficiaries continue to increase as new deaths occur among policyholders.

2. Disability claims.—Payments to individuals who have purchased total disability coverage and who subsequently become totally disabled began in 1960.

4. Dividends.—Payments began in 1962 and will be completed in 1964.

6. Policy loans made.—The policyholders who converted their insurance from term to permanent plan were subsequently entitled to borrow up to 94% of the cash value of the new policy. Disbursement of such loans from this fund increased from $331 thousand in 1961 to $703 thousand in 1962.

The general decrease in the activity of this fund is indicated in the following table (dollars in thousands):

	June 30, 1961	June 30, 1962	June 30, 1963	June 30, 1964
Number of policies.....	658,853	649,973	641,000	631,000
Insurance in force.....	$5,842,933	$5,758,099	$5,673,000	$5,584,000

Financing.—Payments from this fund are financed primarily from premium receipts and interest on investments.

Operating results and financial condition.—Favorable mortality experience on insurance written against this fund has kept death claims payments well below the amount of premium and interest receipts, thereby producing an annual increase in the retained earnings of the fund. The retained earnings are being reduced by the special dividend and any further excess will be paid to the Treasury.

This fund is used to make loans up to $100 to disabled veterans eligible for vocational rehabilitation who are without sufficient funds to meet their expenses (38 U.S.C. 1507). Repayments are used to make new loans.

The Supply fund finances, on a reimbursable basis, the procurement of supplies and equipment throughout the Veterans Administration in accordance with the provisions of 38 U.S.C. 5011. In addition, the Veterans Administration, as the Government's purchasing and distribution agent, has been contracting and purchasing non-perishable subsistence and drugs for all civilian agencies since the latter part of 1961.

Budget program—1. Procurement, distribution, and services program.—This includes the procurement of supplies and equipment, the maintenance and operation of three supply depots, the operation of service and reclamation shops at each depot, and a centralized book and periodical procurement activity. The three supply depots are located at Somerville, N.J.; Hines, Ill.; and Wilmington, Calif.

2. Publications and reproduction program.—This program provides printing service to Veterans Administration installations on a centralized basis. Printed matter is acquired in accordance with the rules of the Joint Committee on Printing from the Government Printing Office, the General Services Administration, a Veterans Administration-operated plant in Arlington, Va., and from commercial sources.

Financing.—Consuming appropriations reimburse the fund for the cost of supplies and equipment provided and services rendered by the above specified activities, including related expense such as transportation, inspection, and testing. Supply depot operating costs are recovered from the appropriations and funds receiving supplies and equipment from the depots.

Operating results and financial condition.—The increase in procurement and sales volume in 1963 and 1964 over 1962 is due primarily to an accelerated program for replacement of worn and obsolete equipment in Veterans Administration hospitals.

The fund operated at a loss of $96 thousand in 1962. It is anticipated that this loss will be recovered in 1963 and that the Supply fund will break even in 1964. An increase in capital of $317 thousand is reflected in 1962 due to capitalization of supply depot operating equipment on hand July 1, 1961.

² Selected resources as of June 30 are as follows: Unpaid undelivered orders, 1961, $7 thousand; 1962, $85 thousand; 1963, $7 thousand; 1964, $8 thousand.

³ Reimbursements from non-Federal sources are derived from employee details (5 U.S.C. 2332(c)(2)).

This appropriation provides for continued attention by the Commission to interrelations of Federal, State, and local governments.

Representatives of the Federal, State, and local governments are brought together for consideration of common problems, and to provide a forum for discussing the administration and coordination of Federal grant and other programs requiring intergovernmental cooperation.

Proposed Federal and State legislative and administrative programs are developed to coordinate taxes at all levels in order to reduce tax overlapping and simplify the tax structure, and to reduce taxpayer-compliance costs and costs of tax administration.

Technical assistance is provided in the review of proposed legislation to determine its overall effect in the Federal system, and the most desirable allocations of governmental functions, responsibilities, and revenue among the several levels of government are recommended.

The American Battle Monuments Commission maintains the World War I and World War II American military cemeteries in foreign countries and the memorials in the war areas commemorating the participation of the American Armed Forces. There are 11 memorials and 8 cemeteries, each with a memorial chapel, at World War I sites, and 14 cemeteries and memorials at World War II sites. Interred in these cemeteries are the remains of 124,079 servicemen and women, and an additional 91,419 missing and unidentified are commemorated by the inscribing of their names upon the walls of these and other memorials erected by the Commission in the United States and at Honolulu. In addition, the Commission maintains the U.S. National Cemetery, Mexico City, Mexico. Each year large numbers of American tourists and local citizens visit the cemeteries and memorials. The Commission is responsible also for the planning and construction of all military memorials. A supplemental appropriation to cover wage board increases is proposed for separate transmittal.

The Board regulates economic aspects of domestic and international air carrier operations; investigates aircraft accidents; participates in the development of international air transportation; and participates in the development of safety rules and standards. The increase proposed for 1964 is for expansion in certain critical program areas, primarily in the routes, rates, and safety areas.

1. Economic regulation includes granting certificates of public convenience and necessity, prescribing or approving rates and rate practices of air carriers, preventing unfair competition, approving business relationships between air carriers, and adjudicating complaints of alleged violations of civil air regulations.

2. Safety activities consist of investigating and determining the probable cause of civil aircraft accidents, investigating potential hazards, and recommending preventive measures to avoid future accidents.

3. Board adjudication, executive, and legal staff activities include adjudication of cases, program planning, and top policy and decision making functions of the Board; legal advice and assistance on economic, regulatory, and safety activities; preparation of opinions; and the handling of litigation.

The Board fixes airmail transportation rates to promote the development of air transportation required for commerce, the postal service, and national defense. Many of these rates include an element of subsidy, which is paid by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The service portion is paid by the Post Office Department.

The following table reflects the estimated amounts becoming due finally for each year, together with the adjustments between years:

1. Recruiting and examining.—Most appointments in the competitive civil service are made under the open competitive merit system through examinations held by the office of the Commission and its boards of examiners, made up of agency personnel operating under the supervision of the Commission. Appointments through such competitive examinations will accord career or career-conditional status. Physically handicapped persons are given special placement attention. Veterans are aided in securing the benefits to which they are entitled.

Total.....	2,073,394	2,086,500	2,098,400

2. Investigation of character and fitness for employment.—The Commission conducts most of the investigations required for security determinations of persons being employed in sensitive positions, and fitness investigations of all persons entering nonsensitive positions. The Commission also conducts other investigations connected with appeals and the merit system.

PRODUCTION COUNT

5. Developing programs and standards.—The Commission develops programs, devises tests, issues standards and regulations, and proposes legislation to improve the Federal personnel system for both competitive and non-competitive positions.

6. Appellate functions.—These consist of hearing and taking action on appeals; administering the political activities statutes; and providing advice to agencies and individuals regarding rights of appeal. The estimate provides for the new workload of appeals from non-veterans resulting from the provisions of Executive Order 10988 of January 17, 1962.

A supplemental appropriation for 1963 is anticipated for separate transmittal.

This fund finances, on a reimbursable basis, full field security investigations performed at the request of other departments and agencies of the Government (66 Stat. 107).

Budget program.—Because work on some investigations will be started in one year and completed in another, work-in-process is recognized as an asset of the fund. Agency estimates of investigations to be requested in 1963 and 1964 as compared to 1962 experience, are presented below. In addition, the table relates estimated workload receipts to estimates of production, average positions, and unit costs.

Average positions.....	1,048	1,480	1,535
Unit cost.....	$351	$364	$377

The unit costs for 1963 and 1964 were predicated on the increase in pay rates resulting from the passage of Public Law 87-793; they may vary from month to month depending on actual experience.

Operating results and financial condition.—The capital of the fund consists of $4 million appropriated in 1952. Excess earnings are paid into miscellaneous receipts of the Treasury.

The Export-Import Bank of Washington facilitates and assists in financing U.S. foreign trade. To do this it makes direct loans to finance U.S. exports, and participates in or guarantees credits extended by U.S. exporters, commercial banks, and other financial institutions to foreign purchasers of exports from the United States. In addition, the Bank insures, against risks of war and expropriation, certain exports held abroad on consignment awaiting sale. Legislation is being requested to extend the life of the Bank for 5 years, to increase the total amount of dollar loans, guarantees and insurance which the Bank may have outstanding at one time to $9 billion, and to increase the amount of guarantees and insurance fractionally reserved within this amount to $2 billion.

The Bank's policy is to extend credit only when in its judgment private capital is unavailable, and to encourage private participation in the credits extended. Loans generally are made only for specific purposes or projects.

The directors are required, when making loans, to find reasonable assurance of repayment. Fees charged for guarantees and insurance are commensurate with the risks covered.

During 1962 the Bank intensified all of its activities. This reflected the key role assigned to increased exports in the solution of the U.S. balance-of-payments problem as well as the need for credit facilities for underdeveloped countries abroad. New credit authorizations, guarantees and insurance during the period exceeded the amount authorized in any of the previous 15 years. Similarly, total disbursements in 1962 exceeded the amount paid out in any one of these years. This heightened level of activity was carried forward without drawing heavily on the Treasury for funds. The rapidly expanding use of guarantees and insurance, the success attendant on the Bank's efforts to broaden participation by commercial banks in its loans, the sale of portfolio securities to such banks, and the repayments of principal received from the Bank's borrowers made it possible for the Bank to meet the year's unusually large loan disbursements of $903 million while the net budget expenditure was no more than $101 million.

As in past years, the largest segment of the Bank's dollar lending was through project credits, entailing sizable purchases of U.S. equipment and services for large developments which served materially to benefit the borrowing country. Literally thousands of U.S. manufacturers and exporters of industrial, agricultural, and other equipment received orders annually as a result of Eximbank's project loans.

Fiscal operations for the year reached new highs. Operating expenses totaled $60 million including interest paid to the Treasury of $57 million. The balance of $106 million was available as an added reserve from which a dividend of $35 million was declared. Of the Bank's lending authority of $7 billion there remained uncommitted at June 30, 1962, $846 million.

Development project loans.—A major portion of the Bank's assistance for the exportation of U.S. materials, equipment, and services is in the form of long term credits for projects abroad.

During 1962, development project loans were made in all major geographical areas of the free world. The projects financed in Latin America were the Bank's contributions to the Alliance for Progress effort. These loans are expected also to stimulate the economies of recipient countries through industrialization, the development of natural resources, and the improvement of health and sanitary conditions. Such project loans provided equipment for expansion of electrical power facilities, highway construction, rehabilitation of railroads, agricultural production, and development of water supply and sewerage systems.

Exporter loans.—In conformity with the Bank's efforts to encourage U.S. exports the Bank continued to authorize, on request of exporters, medium term loans (1 to 5 years) to finance capital equipment as well as consumer goods, aircraft, and semi-finished products. Included in the budget for 1964 is an amount of $60.3 million to cover this activity.

Commodity loans.—Credits are authorized by the Bank to finance the sale abroad of U.S. commodities such as cotton, wheat, barley, soy beans, and tobacco involving financing for periods up to 15 months when credit is not available from private sources. The amount estimated for 1964 is $65 million and it is anticipated it will be financed by commercial banks under the Bank's guarantee.

Emergency foreign trade loans.—During 1962 the Bank was called upon to provide a large volume of emergency foreign trade loans. These credits assisting various countries in maintaining the level of exports from the U.S., amounted to $500 million. Of this total, $400 million was accounted for by a standby credit to Canada of which $250 million has since been released as a result of private financing arrangements made by the Canadian Government. The 1964 budget includes $104 million to provide financial assistance to meet emergency situations adversely affecting the normal trade between the United States and other countries. This may take the form of a line of credit to a foreign central bank or another financial institution to provide dollar exchange for a wide range of U.S. exports, or credits to fund arrearages resulting from dollar exchange difficulties, or credits to assist in financing purchases in the United States required for reconstruction abroad following a major disaster.

Delinquent loans.—Delinquent installments on loans made by the Bank fall into three categories: those on project loans which are in serious and protracted default; those on project loans which are delinquent because of exchange difficulties and understandable business delays; and those on exporter medium-term credits posted as delinquent because of any of the above situations.

There are protracted loan defaults aggregating $19.5 million ($10.5 million principal plus $9 million interest) involving three loans to Cuba and four to Bolivia. On these loans, the total outstanding principal is $70.1 million. Of the Bank's $200 million of loans to mainland China, all but $29 million has been repaid. Currently, the Republic of China has resumed payment on $2.6 million.

In addition, there are other delinquencies which, in the opinion of the Board, are attributable to routine delays or transitory exchange difficulties. The delinquencies total $400 thousand of which $300 thousand is principal and $100 thousand is interest.

Guarantees and insurance.—In addition to direct financing of export transactions Eximbank continues its program of guarantees and insurance on short- and medium-term export transactions. This activity is carried on through guarantees to commercial banks who carry the paper, and to a much greater degree by the Foreign Credit Insurance Association comprising more than 70 marine, casualty, and property companies. The Association issues policies directly to exporters with Eximbank taking 50% of the credit risk, and 100% of the political risk. The exporter is a coinsurer and must carry for his own account from 5% to 15% of the political risk and 15% of the credit risk. Premium rates vary according to the country of the importer and the term of the credit.

Export credit insurance permits the exporter to extend credit to his overseas customers in the secure knowledge that unforeseen adverse developments abroad will not expose him to large loss or seriously impair his working capital. Of equal importance, from the Bank's viewpoint, exporters who insure their foreign accounts receivable will find it easier to obtain financing for their transactions from U.S. commercial banks. As of June 30, 1962, 685 short-term policies were in force insuring exports valued in excess of $330 million. Because of the uncertain fiscal and political situation in many of these countries, it is necessary to maintain close control of exposure in all areas. Accordingly, the Bank requires that all applications to FCIA for medium-term guarantees be approved by the Bank before the policy can be written. While anticipated new authorizations in this area for 1964 amount to $830 million, the charge to program activity is based on 25% of the increase in outstanding balances during the year and the charge to lending authority amounts to $131,645 thousand.

The Bank also insures against the risks of war and expropriation certain property of U.S. exporters which is held abroad on consignment awaiting sale.

Private capital participation.—In 1962 the Bank extended still further the broad participation of the U.S. commercial banking fraternity in its overseas lending. This was accomplished by establishing a special portfolio fund of $300 million consisting of a pool of export paper held by Eximbank with maturities falling due over a 10-year period. This portfolio was offered for sale, on the basis of a "put" to Eximbank and a "call" by Eximbank after 2½ years, and each 6 months thereafter, to commercial banks as participation certificates, series A, and was heavily oversubscribed. This operation was consonant with the statutory provision that the Bank supplement and not compete with private capital. In addition, the Bank continued to secure commercial bank participations in its new loans. During the fiscal year participations totaling $39 million were sold to commercial banks and others on a nonrecourse basis.

Administrative expenses.—To carry out the Bank's lending, collecting, and guarantee program in 1964, it is estimated that a limitation of $3.5 million for administrative expenses is necessary.

Financing.—The Bank is a Government-owned corporation in which the Treasury has invested $1 billion in capital stock. The Board of directors for 1962 voted an increase to $35 million in the annual dividend, the 1961 amount being $30 million with $22.5 million paid for each of the preceding 8 years.

It is anticipated that the administration will present legislation to the Congress during 1963 to extend the life of the Bank for 5 years and to increase the lending and borrowing authority of the Bank by $2 billion. Without such additional lending authority the Bank will be left as of June 30, 1963, with only $748 million to conduct its regular operations or to meet recurrent emergency situations. An increase in the borrowing authority of $2 billion is also necessary in order to give commercial banks and insurance companies unequivocal assurance that the guarantees, insurance policies, and participation certificates written or issued by the Bank can, in any foreseeable circumstance, be met. Such activity serves the two-fold purpose of increasing substantially the participation by private financial institutions in financing exports from the United States and reducing the amount which the Bank may call on the Treasury to provide.

Operating results and financial condition.—During 1964 the net income of the Bank is expected to amount to $134 million. The budget provides for dividends to the Treasury of $35 million in 1963 and 1964 compared to $30 million in 1962, to reimburse the Treasury for the approximate interest cost on its investment in the Bank's capital stock. The remaining earnings are retained to meet future contingencies. Total equity of the Government in the corporation is expected to be $2,996 million at June 30, 1964, consisting of $1 billion in capital stock, $1,029 million of borrowings from the Treasury, and $967 million of retained earnings available for future contingencies.

This fund is available to the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration as a revolving fund for investment in capital stock of the Federal intermediate credit banks and the production credit associations. Prior to October 3, 1961, there were separate investment funds for the Federal intermediate credit banks and the production credit association; however, these funds were merged by section 2(f) of Public Law 87-343.

Budget program.—1. Federal intermediate credit banks.—Funds will be required in 1963 and 1964 for investment in class A stock of the banks. An estimate of $6.5 million net investment is made for 1963 and $8.5 million for 1964. The estimate of requirements is based on recent projections made by the 12 intermediate credit banks which indicate that several of the banks will need additional capital in order to keep their debt-to-capital ratios within the 10 to 1 maximum permitted by law.

2. Production credit associations.—An estimate for purchase of stock in production credit associations of $1 million is made for 1963 and $1.5 million for 1964. The need arises primarily because the volume of business of associations is increasing more rapidly than necessary net worth can be accumulated from local sources.

Financing.—At the end of 1963 it is estimated that $1,265 thousand will be invested in the production credit associations and $34,050 thousand in the Federal intermediate credit banks. An additional $1 million net investment in the associations and $8.5 million in the banks is expected in 1964.

The provisions of section 105(d)(3) of the Farm Credit Act of 1956, which heretofore applied to the Federal intermediate credit banks investment fund is applicable to the combined fund. This section provides that of the $87,405 thousand class A stock of the credit banks outstanding on January 1, 1957, $57,405 thousand must be retired by payments into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. When the balance is reduced to $30 million, the remaining proceeds from retirement of such stock will be credited to the combined revolving fund.

This fund is available to the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration for investments in class A capital stock of the banks for cooperatives (12 U.S.C. 1134).

The fund was created with $500 million capital in 1929; however, it was reduced to $150 million by legislation approved June 25, 1962 (76 Stat. 109).

Budget program.—No new subscriptions of capital stock are anticipated and stock will be retired by the banks for cooperatives in accordance with section 42(a)(1) of the Farm Credit Act of 1933, as amended.

Operating results and financial condition.—Investment in capital stock will continue to be reduced through 1964, thereby increasing the cash of the fund. The cash balance in the fund at June 30, 1963, is estimated at $55,162 thousand.

MIXED-OWNERSHIP CORPORATIONSBANKS FOR COOPERATIVES

The banks for cooperatives make loans to finance the operations of farmers' cooperatives. The banks' capital funds are from the Banks for cooperatives investment fund and from borrowing farmers' cooperative associations (12 U.S.C. 1134). The Farm Credit Act of 1955 provides for eventual ownership of the banks by farmers' cooperatives and the retirement of the U.S. Government investment.

No new subscriptions of capital stock are anticipated and stock will be retired by the banks for cooperatives in accordance with the Act. Repayments of $11,980 thousand have been made for 1963, and it is estimated that $10.5 million will be retired in 1964. As of June 30, 1962, the U.S. Government owned capital stock in the banks in the amount of $106,817 thousand.

FEDERAL INTERMEDIATE CREDIT BANKS

The Federal intermediate credit banks serve as banks of discount for agriculture, discounting agricultural and livestock paper for local financing institutions, such as production credit associations, agricultural credit corporations, livestock loan companies, and commercial banks, and making loans to them on the security of such paper, and providing the production credit associations with necessary supervision and services. The banks were originally wholly owned Government corporations set up to serve exclusively as banks of discount; however, pursuant to the act of 1956 the banks became mixed-ownership corporations and were made responsible for supervising and assisting the production credit associations to enable them to make sound credit available to farmers.

All of the capital stock of the Federal intermediate credit banks from organization in 1923 to December 31, 1956, was held by the U.S. Government. The 1956 act provided a long-range plan for the acquisition of credit bank stock by production credit associations and the gradual retirement of the Government's investment in the banks. However, in the last few years the banks have been called upon to provide associations with substantially more funds to finance the short-term needs of farmers and it has been necessary for the Federal Government to invest additional capital in the banks in order to keep the debt-to-capital ratios within the 10 to 1 maximum permitted by law. These funds have been obtained from the Federal intermediate credit banks investment fund which was authorized in the 1956 act.

The Federal Communications Commission regulates interstate and foreign commerce in communications by wire and radio. The Communications Act requires the Commission to (1) attain and maintain maximum benefits for the people of the United States in the use of the radio spectrum and (2) regulate the rates and services of communications common carriers.

1. Applied technical research and frequency allocation.—The Commission undertakes broad research designed to improve the utilization of the radio spectrum, approves certain equipment for public use, and licenses experimental radio stations.

2. Broadcast.—Standard broadcast (AM), frequency modulation (FM), television (TV), and other related services are licensed and regulated by the Commission. Pertinent data are shown in the following table:

The Corporation insures accounts of depositors in insured banks up to $10 thousand for each depositor. As of June 30, 1962, the deposit insurance fund for the protection of depositors amounted to $2.43 billion or approximately 1.45% of all insured deposits on that date. Total insured deposits at the end of 1961 and 1962, estimated on the basis of information furnished as of June 30, 1961, and June 30, 1962, amounted to $152.8 billion and $167 billion, respectively. It is estimated that total insured deposits as of June 30, 1963 and 1964 will amount to $176 billion and $186 billion, respectively. No tax funds are used in its operations. Its expenses are paid and the fund is accumulated from assessments paid by insured banks and from income on investments in obligations of the Treasury. However, the Corporation is authorized to borrow from the Treasury, and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to loan to the Corporation on such terms as may be fixed by the Corporation and the Secretary, not to exceed $3 billion outstanding at any one time, as required for insurance purposes. No borrowings under this authorization have been made to date and none are anticipated in 1963 or 1964.

CORPORATIONS

The following corporations and agencies, respectively, are hereby authorized to make such expenditures, within the limits of funds and borrowing authority available to each such corporation or agency and in accord with law, and to make such contracts and commitments without regard to fiscal year limitations as provided by section 104 of the Government Corporation Control Act, as amended, as may be necessary in carrying out the programs set forth in the Budget for the current fiscal year for each such corporation or agency, except as hereinafter provided: (Independent Offices Appropriation Act, 1963.)

FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK BOARD

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board formulates policies and supervises the operations of the 11 Federal home loan banks, the system of Federal savings and loan associations and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation; it is also responsible for the examination and supervision of all State-chartered institutions insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

The expenditure programs of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation are presented as business-type budgets. Section 2 of Public Law 895, approved July 3, 1948, provides that all expenses of the office of examinations, Federal Home Loan Bank Board, shall be considered nonadministrative; all of its expenses are defrayed from fees charged against and collected from the institutions examined.

Public Law 87-141, approved August 17, 1961, provides that expenses of any functions of supervision (except of Federal home loan banks) vested in or exercisable by the Board shall be considered as nonadministrative expenses.

The administrative expenses of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board are paid from assessments against the 11 Federal home loan banks, the office of examinations and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

The expenses of the office of supervision are paid from assessments against the 11 Federal home loan banks and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Budget program.—The Board's budget is based on six activities.

1. Examination and supervision of Federal home loan banks.—The Board supervises and examines the operations of the Federal home loan banks.

2. Supervision of Federal and State-chartered institutions.—The financial condition and operations of each insured institution is analyzed and corrective action is instituted when warranted. Supervision of insured institutions operating under State charter is carried on, cooperatively, under arrangements made with the respective State authorities.

3. Chartering savings and loan associations.—Federal savings and loan associations are chartered and regulated.

In addition, applications of State-chartered associations for conversion into Federal savings and loan associations are examined.

4. Examining savings and loan associations.—Supervisory examinations are made of Federal savings and loan associations, State-chartered associations insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, and such uninsured member institutions of the Federal home loan bank system as are not examined by State examiners. Audits are also made of approximately 60 percent of all insured institutions in conjunction with supervisory examinations. Examinations are also made of institutions applying for insurance of accounts and for conversion from a State to a Federal charter when required by the Board. The costs of examinations and audits are assessed against the institutions examined.

5. Executive direction and staff services.—This includes formulation of basic policy and the furnishing of staff services that are common to the Board and the Insurance Corporation.

6. Administrative services.—These consist of auditing; accounting; budgetary and financial reporting; internal budget control; fiscal organization and management; and general housekeeping and common operating services, including printing and reproduction work.

The amounts shown in the schedules for the above activities include administrative expenses under annual limitation; nonadministrative expenses under a separate limitation; and certain additional expenses not under limitation. Administrative expenses are estimated to increase from $2,075 thousand to $2,470 thousand reflecting staff increases and related costs to meet increasing workload. Nonadministrative expenses covering the expenses of examining savings and loan associations are discussed separately below.

The office of examinations under the general direction of the manager of the division conducts regular periodic and special supervisory examinations of all Federal savings and loan associations, of insured State-chartered savings and loan associations, other institutions of the savings and loan type which are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, and of noninsured member institutions of the Federal home loan bank system not subject to State supervision. The office also examines and analyzes the financial condition of institutions which apply for membership in the system, for insurance of accounts, or for conversion from a State to a Federal charter. The institutions examined bear the costs of examination, and the fees charged therefor are calculated to defray all of the operating expenses of the office.

The office of supervision, under the general direction of the manager of the division, is responsible for the supervision of institutions insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. The purpose of such supervision is to prevent the development and continuance of unsafe and unsound financial practices in these institutions and the correction of such practices where found. In carrying out the supervisory function, the office reviews and analyzes the examination reports prepared by the office of examinations.

The Federal home loan banks, together with the building and loan associations and similar institutions which are members of the banks, constitute the Federal home loan bank system and are designed to stabilize and strengthen institutions promoting private thrift and individual home ownership.

The 11 Federal home loan banks obtain their funds from capital stock, issuance of their own obligations, and deposits of member institutions. The capital stock of the banks consists entirely of subscriptions of member institutions. Authority to borrow from the Treasury in the amount of $1 billion is provided in 12 U.S.C. 1431 (64 Stat. 257). No borrowings have been made to date and none is anticipated in 1964.

The Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation is authorized under title IV of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1724 et seq.) to insure savings in all Federal savings and loan associations and in State-chartered institutions of the savings and loan type which apply and qualify for insurance. The protection thus afforded, which insures savers in member associations against financial loss up to a statutory limit of $10 thousand, may be provided through the prevention of default or the payment of insurance to savings account holders in the event of liquidation. The former course of action, which results in complete protection to each investor regardless of the amount in his account, is accomplished by making cash grants or by purchasing all or a part of the association's assets. Also, the Corporation is authorized to make loans to institutions in financial difficulty. Wherever possible preventive measures are taken to eliminate the necessity of liquidation. However, in the event liquidation is necessary, the Corporation acts as receiver or coreceiver upon request of State authority in cases involving State-chartered institutions.

The Corporation functions under direction of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which provides certain administrative services and conducts the examination and supervision of insured institutions. The expenses of the Board and its staff offices are paid from assessments made on the Corporation, the Federal home loan banks, and the Division of Examination and Supervision.

1. Administrative expenses—(a) Underwriting.—This activity constitutes an analysis and evaluation of the insurance risk in connection with applications submitted pursuant to regulatory requirements. The assets of insured institutions have increased $20.1 billion or 31.8% in the last 2 years. The continuing interest in insurance of accounts on the part of uninsured institutions, plus the anticipated rate of normal growth, will increase the potential liability of the Corporation to an estimated $91 billion by June 30, 1964, as compared to $71.8 billion on June 30, 1962.

(b) Prevention of default and payment of insurance.—In carrying out its role of protecting savings in insured savings and loan associations, the Corporation has settled 41 cases since its creation 28 years ago. Total losses (including provision for losses) to June 30, 1962, have amounted to $8,345 thousand or slightly more than 1.5% of cumulative gross income. Detailed information with respect to all of the insurance cases is summarized in the following table (dollars in thousands):

Method of settlement	Number of cases	Share accounts		Net insurance losses
		Number	Amount
Contribution	30	59,019	$57,574	$5,079

¹ Included under Acquisition of assets since assets were acquired in settlement of the loan.

During 1962, savers in two insured savings and loan institutions realized the direct benefits of insurance when the Corporation took positive action to protect their savings accounts. The two cases are described briefly below to demonstrate the practical workings of insurance and to illustrate the nature and extent of its protective influence.

In the first case, the institution was the victim of an unusually large embezzlement, amounting to 15% of its total share accounts. The peculation, which was of sufficient amount to wipe out all the loss reserves and undivided profits as well as the surety bond coverage, naturally resulted in the impairment of the institution.

Working with the full cooperation of the State supervisory authorities and acting under section 406 of title IV of the National Housing Act, the Corporation promptly provided for a contribution in sufficient amount to remove the impairment. Immediate payment of all requested withdrawals was thus made possible. Not only were the savings account holders saved from loss, but the economy of the community was protected from the familiar deterioration of public confidence which arises out of the failure of a financial institution.

The second case brought to a conclusion long-existing legal controversies and litigation involving the Corporation. Throughout the period, the institution's savers were protected against loss. Loans were advanced by the Corporation to the institution aggregating $47 million, making possible the payment of all requested withdrawals on demand. Following a reduction of $2 million in the loans by a cash payment, an agreement was effected pursuant to which the Corporation accepted approximately $42 million of the institution's loans in final and complete settlement of the case. Based upon the Corporation's current average annual rate of return on its investments in U.S. Government obligations, it is anticipated that this loss of $3 million will be balanced by the higher yield on the mortgage loans so acquired, if they are held for approximately 10 years.

(c) Analysis of operations.—The Corporation maintains a current analysis of the financial condition of member institutions, the flow of savings, and the character and volume of mortgage lending, as well as selective review of geographical or community areas and phases of operations and certain analyses of trends in the field of thrift and home mortgage finance including volume of activity and interest rates of all major types of mortgage lenders.

2. Payment to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.—(a) Services and facilities.—The Corporation will subscribe 42% of the administrative expenses of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in 1964 in return for services and facilities by the Board and staff offices and 47% of the non-administrative expenses of the office of the manager of the division of examination and supervision and the office of supervision.

3. Other expenses.—Provides for liquidation and other expenses of the Corporation in connection with the disposition of assets purchased from and loans to insured institutions to prevent default.

Financing.—The original capital of $100 million has been completely repaid to the Treasury, together with an additional $43 million for the use of the funds.

The Corporation has continuing authority to borrow from the Treasury for insurance purposes, with a limitation of $750 million outstanding at any one time. No borrowings under this authorization have ever been made.

The Corporation is further authorized to assess against each insured institution additional premiums for insurance until the amount of such premiums equals the amount of all losses and expenses of the Corporation; except that the total amount so assessed in any one year against any such institution shall not exceed one-eighth of 1% of the total amount of the accounts of its insured members and its creditor obligations.

Operating results and financial condition.—The Corporation is entirely self-supporting and in no one year have its operating expenses amounted to more than 5.3% of total income; in 1962 it amounted to 3.7%. Revenues and other receipts have been sufficient to meet all insurance losses, operating expenses, return on capital stock, provision for return on insurance premiums (prepayments), and to establish a reserve for contingencies of $639.5 million as of June 30, 1962. Total revenues and other receipts since 1934, of $710.6 million, have been applied as follows (dollars in millions):

	Amount	Percent
Expense.....	$19.4	2.7
Net insurance losses and provision for losses.....	8.3	1.2
Return on capital stock to U.S. Treasury.....	43.0	6.1
Accrued return on additional insurance premiums.....	.4	—
Reserve for contingencies.....	639.5	90.0
Total.....	710.6	100.0

Operating expenses (funded) for 1964 is estimated at $2.8 million consisting primarily of administrative expenses of the Corporation of $1.3 million and $1.4 million for services rendered by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Since the time and size of expenditures for the prevention of default and payment of insurance are unpredictable, estimates of these expenditures are omitted from the financial statements.

Net operating income for 1964, which is expected to be increased by $23.6 million or 38.6% above the net operating income for 1962, will be retained by the Corporation to meet future contingencies.

Public Law 87-210, which became effective January 1, 1962, requires each insured savings and loan association to annually pay to the Corporation an additional premium in the nature of a prepayment at a rate equal to 2% of the increase in savings for the previous calendar year less an amount equal to any requirement for the purchase of Federal Home Loan Bank stock during such period. The law also provides for the crediting of a return on the accumulated prepayments of each insured association at a rate equal to the average realized by the Corporation on its own investment portfolio. It is estimated that prepayments will total $188 million in 1964 compared to $168 million in 1962.

Public Law 87-210 further provides for the establishment of a primary reserve which shall be the general reserve of the Corporation and a secondary reserve to which shall be credited additional premiums. When the sum of these two reserves equals 2% of total savings plus creditor obligations, the prepayments will cease and the Corporation will commence transferring the secondary reserve to the primary reserve by crediting each insured association's accumulated prepayments to its regular premium liability. If the aggregate of the two reserves drops to below 1.75%, the prepayments and the cash payment of the regular premium will be resumed and continued until the 2% ratio is again reached. It is estimated that the aggregate of the primary and secondary reserves will reach $1.2 billion by June 30, 1964, or 1.3% of estimated savings and creditor obligations totaling $95.5 billion.

The Corporation is also required by law to accumulate a primary reserve (as of the close of any December 31) equal to 2% of the total amount of all accounts of insured members and creditor obligations of all insured institutions before collection of premiums may be discontinued, provided, however, that each insured institution has paid regular premiums for at least 20 years. It is estimated that the primary reserve will reach $629.6 million by June 30, 1964, or 0.66% of estimated savings and creditor obligations totaling $95.5 billion.

The Federal Maritime Commission was established on August 12, 1961, pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 7 of 1961. It is charged with regulatory responsibilities under various shipping and related statutes. The major functions are: (a) regulation of services, practices, and agreements of common carriers by water engaged in the foreign commerce of the United States, and of other persons subject to the shipping statutes; (b) regulation of rates, fares, charges, classifications, tariffs, and practices of common carriers by water in the domestic off-shore trade; (c) promulgation of rules and regulations affecting shipping in the foreign trade to meet conditions unfavorable to such shipping, and with respect to the approval, suspension, modification, or annulment of regulations of other Federal agencies affecting shipping in the foreign trade; (d) investigation of discriminatory rates, charges, classifications, and practices in the foreign trade, and recommending legislation to correct such discrimination.

Program increases in 1964 relate principally to surveillance of independent ocean freight forwarder practices, and regulation of dual-rate contracts, conference agreements, filing of tariffs by common carriers in the foreign trades, and general strengthening of regulatory effort to effect maximum compliance with the shipping statutes.

The Federal Power Commission administers the Federal Power Act and Natural Gas Act and has additional duties under other acts relating to Federal power development.

1. Natural gas industry.—Regulation covers the transportation and sale for resale of natural gas in interstate commerce, and the related rates, accounts, and depreciation and depletion practices. Certificates of public convenience and necessity are issued to natural gas companies subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. Statistics about the natural gas industry are gathered and published. In January 1962 there were nearly 21,000 independent producers, who individually or associated with others, had over 13,000 rate schedules on file. There were also 106 regulated natural gas pipeline companies, with annual operating revenues of $4.8 billion. It is estimated that the number of independent producers and pipeline companies will remain substantially unchanged through 1964. However, the operating revenues of the pipeline companies are expected to increase to $5.4 billion by January 1964. Other pertinent data are:

2. Electric power industry.—Regulation covers the transmission and sale for resale of electric energy in interstate commerce, and the rates, accounts, depreciation practices, certain security issues, disposition of properties, mergers, and the interconnection and coordination of facilities of those public utilities subject to the Commission's jurisdiction. Statistics about the electric utility industry are gathered and published. Pertinent data on a calendar year basis are:

The Commission is developing a coordinated national power survey dealing with the most efficient and economical means of supplying electric power loads during the next 20 years from present and potential power resources. The survey report will be completed in 1964.

3. Non-Federal hydroelectric projects.—Licenses are issued for hydroelectric projects affecting public lands and streams subject to Federal jurisdiction; construction and operation of projects are inspected; and cost of construction is determined for projects under license to private interests. Pertinent data are:

Description	1962 actual	1963 estimate	1964 estimate

Total claimed cost of major projects (in millions)	$5,513	$5,800	$6,100
Annual receipts from licenses (in thousands)	$2,317	$2,142	$2,190

4. Federal river development projects.—Of a potential 149,000,000 kilowatts of hydroelectric power in the United States, 38,000,000 kilowatts had been developed as of January 1963. Of this total, 16,000,000 kilowatts had been developed by Federal agencies and 22,000,000 kilowatts by non-Federal interests.

Studies are made of proposed Federal river development projects to determine possibilities for conservation, development, and utilization of potential power resources. Review and approval are required of certain proposed rates for sale of power from Federal projects. Information on the power features of river development projects is furnished to Congress and to Federal and State agencies. In 1962, 115 studies were carried on and it is estimated that there will be 120 in 1963 and 125 in 1964.

The Commission has the duty of preserving free competitive enterprise through prevention of monopolistic and unfair trade.

1. Antimonopoly.—All types of monopolistic restrictions, including price-fixing conspiracies, boycotting, price discriminations, and illegal mergers and acquisitions are corrected; economic data and criteria are brought to bear on monopoly and related problems; supervision is provided over the registration and operations of associations of American exporters engaged solely in export trade; and at the request of the Attorney General, investigations are made as to whether or not defendant corporations are complying with final decrees of U.S. courts in antitrust violations. In 1964 investigation and trial of merger and other antimonopoly cases will be expedited.

2. Deceptive practices.—False and misleading advertising and other unfair or deceptive practices are prevented by corrective action, including the affirmative aid of voluntary trade-practice conferences and advertising guides; business and the public are protected from the evils of misbranding and nondisclosure of fiber content of manufactured wool products and household textile articles; consumers and merchants are protected from unfair practices with respect to furs and fur products; and the public is protected from dangers inherent in flammable fabrics. In 1964 investigation and trial of deceptive practice cases will be expedited.

3. Executive direction and management.—These also include the adjudicatory functions of the Commission.

The Foreign Claims Settlement Commission is responsible for the settlement of claims of U.S. nationals against foreign nations and other claims programs as authorized by law.

1. Administration and settlement of claims.—The Commission will administer 5 claims programs during the year: (a) Pursuant to an agreement between Poland and the United States, the Commission is responsible for the settlement from funds provided by Poland of approximately 10,000 property claims of U.S. citizens against Poland; (b) under the General War Damage Act (P.L. 87-846), the Commission must investigate an estimated 35,000 claims to determine compensation to be made to U.S. nationals from vested German and Japanese assets for certain damages sustained during World War II; (c) the Philippine War Damage Act (P.L. 87-616) authorizes payments to over 100,000 payees of balances on awards made by the Philippine War Damage Commission, of which an estimated 15,000 will require investigation by the Commission to determine proper survivorship and inheritance; (d) under the Lake Ontario claims program, the Commission will investigate the validity of an estimated 1,300 claims of U.S. citizens resulting from the artificial raising of the water level of Lake Ontario; and (e) as its final activity the agency continues to administer a small World War II prisoner of war claims program. Prior to 1964 a portion of the funds used to finance the Commission's administrative activities were provided by reimbursement from the war claims fund and payment of Philippine war damage claims. A supplemental appropriation for 1963 is anticipated for separate transmittal.

2. Review of claims programs.—This activity includes research, reports, documentation, and similar functions to meet the needs of Congress, other agencies, and the public on past and pending claims programs and on legislative matters.

The General Accounting Office is directly responsible to the Congress for conducting independent reviews, audits, and investigations of the management and control of the financial transactions of the Government; for the rendition of legal decisions relating to Government fiscal matters; for developing, prescribing, and evaluating accounting systems on a governmentwide basis; for the settlement of certain claims for and against the Government; and, for advising and assisting the Congress and Government agencies on matters relating to public funds.

1-2. Office of the Comptroller General.—Executive management of the General Accounting Office is carried out by the Comptroller General who is assisted by the Assistant Comptroller General and staff assistants.

4. Claims division.—All claims by or against the United States are settled in this division except those for transportation items and claims wherein exclusive jurisdiction is conferred by law upon another agency or the courts.

5. Transportation division.—This division audits freight and passenger transportation payments for account of the United States and settles claims involving transportation charges. The transportation audit recovered $28,160 thousand during 1962.

7. Office of the general counsel.—In addition to preparing decisions and reports on the legality or propriety of proposed obligations and expenditures of the Government the general counsel and his staff assist the Comptroller General in coordinating the various activities of the General Accounting Office with the Congress, its committees, and individual members, participate in conferences with legislative and administrative officials of the Government on legal matters of a fiscal nature, the sufficiency of proposed legislation, the desirability of new legislation for particular purposes, and render all other required legal services.

8. Accounting and auditing policy staff.—This staff develops accounting policy and related requirements for observance by each agency and for the guidance of audit work performed by General Accounting Office auditors, and develops internal auditing objectives, principles, and standards for guidance of the executive agencies; reviews and develops, in cooperation with the Treasury Department and the Bureau of the Budget, central accounting processes and financial reporting; reviews agency accounting systems in whole or in part; develops and directs a coordinated program to assure effective application of modern electronic systems and other advanced methods to accounting and related financial operations of the Government; and, assists and advises Congress on accounting and auditing policy matters.

9. Office of staff management.—This staff performs the staff management function for the accounting, auditing, and investigative activities which involves (a) formulating and executing a recruiting program to obtain a high quality professional staff of accountants, auditors, and investigators, (b) developing and carrying out a training and professional career development program, (c) exercising, in cooperation with the accounting and auditing divisions, general control over the assignment of the staff and, (d) securing appropriate recognition of the professional character of the accounting and auditing work of the General Accounting Office.

10. Defense accounting and auditing division.—This division performs the accounting, auditing, and investigative functions of the General Accounting Office in the Department of Defense, including the military departments. These functions involve the development, review, and evaluation of accounting systems; the evaluation of the performance of the military establishment in discharging its financial obligations including the audit and settlement of accounts; and the conduct of investigations of matters relating to the receipt, disbursement, and application of public funds.

11. Civil accounting and auditing division.—This division performs the accounting, auditing, and investigative functions of the General Accounting Office in all departments and agencies of the Federal Government, other than those assigned to the defense accounting and auditing division. These functions involve the development, review, and evaluation of accounting systems; the evaluation of the performance of the civil departments and agencies in discharging their financial obligations, including the audit and settlement of accounts; and, the conduct of investigations of matters relating to the receipt, disbursement, and application of public funds.

12. Field operations division.—This division, which is composed of a central office and regional offices under the direction of regional managers, performs, outside the metropolitan area of Washington, D.C., all assigned accounting, auditing, and investigative functions.

13. European branch.—This branch, with headquarters in Paris, France, performs General Accounting Office functions as they relate to U.S. Government operations in the European area, including North Africa and the Near East. A suboffice is located in Frankfurt, Germany.

14. Far East branch.—This branch, with headquarters in Tokyo, Japan, performs General Accounting Office functions as they relate to U.S. Government operations in the Far East area.

This independent Commission of three members was created to hear and adjudicate claims, existing before August 13, 1946, of American Indian tribes, bands, or other identifiable groups of Indians residing within the territorial limits of the United States. Of the 596 claims filed 152 have been completed. Payments of awards are dependent upon subsequent appropriations made through the Claims, judgments, and private relief acts appropriation to the Treasury Department. Final awards through December 1962 total $78,171 thousand.

The Commission regulates carriers engaged in transportation in interstate commerce and foreign commerce to the extent that it takes place within the United States. These carriers are common carriers—railroads, express companies, sleeping car companies, motor carriers, water carriers, pipelines (except for water and gas), and freight forwarders—and motor and water contract carriers.

The increase of $1,900 thousand is requested in order to handle the continually increasing number of applications for motor carrier permanent and temporary operating authorities and applications for mergers and consolidations of motor carriers and railroads, to improve the economic and cost data necessary to regulatory activities, and to provide a more adequate level of compliance with the provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act and related acts.

1. Regulation of carrier rates, practices, operating authorities, and finance.—This activity of the Commission consists of preparing studies and analyses of operating costs for use in rate proceedings; regulating rates; granting operating authorities; approving applications for abandonments and extensions of railroad lines, financial reorganizations, and rate agreements between carriers; reviewing proposed discontinuances of or changes in the operation or service of trains and ferries; guaranteeing loans to railroads; and formally issuing orders, rules, and regulations.

2. Compliance.—The Commission enforces statutes and regulations affecting transportation and carriers. Examinations are made to ascertain that motor carriers and freight forwarders are adequately insured; surveys of motor carrier operating practices are conducted to reduce accidents and to promote highway safety; and investigations are made of water carriers, freight forwarders, rate bureaus, and shippers' associations and agents to determine that there is compliance with statutory requirements.

The National Capital Planning Commission acquires land for the comprehensive development of the park, parkway, and playground system in the District of Columbia and its environs.

1. George Washington Memorial Parkway.—Land is acquired along both shores of the Potomac River, above and below Washington from Great Falls to Mount Vernon. One-half the cost is borne by the local jurisdictions.

2. Stream valley parks.—Land is acquired by public bodies with the aid of a one-third contribution from the National Capital Planning Commission.

3. Park, parkway and playground system in the District of Columbia.—Land is also acquired in the District of Columbia, with all expenditures being repaid over a period of years to the United States by the District of Columbia. Acquisitions are part of the Commission's comprehensive plan for the park, parkway, and playground system of the National Capital. Funds appropriated during 1960 completed the amount authorized by law.

No additional funds are requested for 1964. Legislation will be proposed to acquire additional land for the National Cultural Center.

² Selected resources as of June 30 are as follows: Unpaid undelivered orders, 1961, $55 thousand (1962 adjustments, $7 thousand); 1962, $111 thousand; 1963, $55 thousand; 1964, $35 thousand.

The Agency is responsible for preparing a comprehensive transit development program for the National Capital region. A report containing recommendations on finance and organization was submitted to the President on November 1, 1962, and congressional review is expected during 1963. The report proposes a continuing program for the construction of a regional highway system and a 10-year program for the construction of a modern high-speed rapid transit system.

Preliminary engineering and economic plans are being developed for the first stages of construction of a rapid transit system within the District of Columbia. Special consideration is being given to expanded use of existing rail facilities. The overall transit plan, including detailed cost and revenue estimates, is simultaneously being developed for the region. The Agency is coordinating its programs with area governing and planning bodies.

The Board resolves representation disputes in industry and remedies and prevents specified unfair labor practices by employers or labor organizations. Additional funds are requested to meet a steadily rising caseload on both unfair labor practices and representation cases. Estimates for 1964 reflect an intake increase over 1963 of 6.2% for unfair labor practice cases and 5.6% for representation cases.

1. Field investigations.—Charges of unfair labor practices and petitions for elections to resolve representation disputes are investigated by regional office personnel. About 88% of the unfair labor practice cases and about 80% of the representation cases are closed by settlement, dismissal, or withdrawal. The remainder are prepared for public hearing. The agency strives for the voluntary settlement of disputes, and the incidence of informal settlements is estimated to increase in 1964.

2. Trial examiner hearings.—Trial examiners conduct public hearings in unfair labor practice cases. Their findings and recommendations are set forth in intermediate reports. In 1962 there were 756 hearings held, 109 proceedings adjusted and 623 reports issued. The estimate for 1963 is for 900 hearings, 202 adjusted proceedings and 720 reports. The 1964 estimate is for 960 hearings, 192 adjusted proceedings and 768 reports.

3. Board adjudication.—In an unfair labor practice case a trial examiner's intermediate report becomes a Board order if no exceptions are filed. About 25% so result. The remainder are referred to the Board for decision, of which the Board issued 640 in 1962. The estimate for 1963 is 687 and the estimate for 1964 is 650. Pursuant to the authority of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959, the Board delegated to regional directors its powers with respect to representation cases, effective May 15, 1961. As a result, the Board issued 2,197 decisions in contested representation proceedings in 1961, 703 were issued in 1962; 400 are estimated for 1963 and 245 for 1964. Regional directors issued 52 such decisions in 1961, and 1,924 in 1962. The estimate is 2,090 for 1963 and 2,110 in 1964.

4. Securing compliance with Board orders.—If the parties do not voluntarily comply with the Board's order involving unfair labor practices, the Board must request the courts to enforce its decisions. In 1962 a total of 181 Board decisions of all kinds required litigation; the estimate for 1963 is 240; the estimate for 1964 is 301.

The Foundation supports basic research, national research programs and centers, basic research facilities, the development and improvement of institutional science programs, education in the sciences and the dissemination of scientific information. It is also responsible for recommending to the President policies for strengthening basic research and education in the sciences. The increased appropriation will strengthen all aspects of the Foundation's programs. Major emphasis is on increased support for science education and for the development and improvement of institutional science programs to assist in meeting the objectives of the administration's proposed education program including the expansion of graduate education in the engineering, mathematical and physical sciences.

1. Basic research support.—The Foundation supports basic research projects in the sciences principally in institutions of higher learning.

Number of grants awarded.....	2,047	2,366	2,570	3,030

2. Development and improvement of institutional science programs.—The Foundation provides matching grants for the construction, renovation, and equipping of basic science laboratories and related facilities particularly in colleges and universities and supports the development and improvement of the science programs of institutions of higher learning.

3. Specialized research facilities support.—The Foundation provides grants for the acquisition of major items of research equipment and specialized scientific facilities at colleges and universities. A portion of the necessary funds are provided by participating institutions from non-Federal sources.

4. National research centers.—The Foundation supports the development and operation of national research centers for atmospheric sciences and for optical and radio astronomy.

5. National research programs.—The Foundation supports scientific research efforts planned, coordinated and funded on a national program basis because of the scope and nature of the research being performed. Included are the Antarctic research program, the International Indian Ocean Expedition, deep crustal studies of the earth, a weather modification program, the United States-Japan cooperative science program, and the international year of the quiet sun program.

6. Science information services.—The Foundation supports the collection, translation, and dissemination of information on the results of scientific research, and the development of improved methods for the exchange of scientific data.

7. Science education programs.—The Foundation awards fellowships for the summer or academic year to graduate science students, college science faculty, foreign senior scientists, and high school science and mathematics teachers and supports summer study programs for graduate teaching assistants.

Under proposed legislation, 1964.—Railroad workers entering military service may have such service credited toward benefits under the railroad retirement system under certain conditions. Under existing law the Government is obligated to pay to the Railroad retirement account the combined employer-employee payroll tax for these wage credits. Legislation will be proposed to change the method of calculating amounts due for creditable military service under the Railroad Retirement Act after 1962 and to eliminate duplicating payments to both the social security system and the railroad retirement system for the same military service. After enactment an estimated supplemental appropriation of $11,658 thousand will be required to pay the first of 10 yearly installments on the amount due the Railroad retirement account for creditable military service for the period through December 31, 1958. Subsequent studies by the Railroad Retirement Board will determine the amounts due for military service after 1958, and these amounts will be included in future year appropriations.

The Board administers the railroad retirement system, financed by employer and employee taxes. This system provides annuities for age and disability and benefits for survivors. Funds for the administrative expenses of the Board in the operation of this program are derived from the Railroad retirement account.

1. Maintenance of earnings accounts.—Eligibility for and the amount of benefits are based on individual accounts of compensation. This workload fluctuates with the level of employment in the railroad industry, rates of turnover, and similar factors. Accounts posted were 1,070,000 in 1962 and are estimated at 1,050,000 in 1963 and 1964. The costs are shared on a measured basis with the railroad unemployment insurance program.

2. Processing claims.—Applications for annuities and benefits are adjudicated and certified for initial payment. Claims processed were 175,000 in 1962 and are estimated at 178,000 and 179,000 in 1963 and 1964.

3. Maintenance of beneficiary rolls.—Benefit payments must be authorized each month for those persons on the rolls who continue to remain eligible. The number of monthly benefit payments will increase from 9,939,000 in 1962 to an estimated 10,300,000 and 10,500,000 in 1963 and 1964. The number of persons on the rolls receiving monthly benefit payments will increase from 842,000 at the end of 1962 to an estimated 855,000 and 865,000 in 1963 and 1964.

4. Hearings and appeals.—Individuals whose claims for annuities or benefits are disallowed or who dispute the award have the right of appeal. Appeals dispositions were 241 in 1962 and are estimated at 240 in 1963 and 1964.

5. Actuarial services.—Actuarial studies and estimates of the assets and liabilities of the Railroad retirement account are required by law.

6. Administration.—The cost of administration is shared between the retirement and the railroad unemployment insurance programs on a measured basis.

The Board conducts renegotiation with contractors to eliminate excessive profits in connection with procurement under the national defense program. All contractors and subcontractors who have business subject to the act, which presently extends through June 30, 1964, are required to file with the Board if such business exceeds $1 million in a year. The Board has determined or recovered $861.6 million in excessive profits from the date of its establishment through June 30, 1962. Of this total, $7.9 million was determined during 1962.

1. Executive direction.—The Board is responsible for final action in all cases. This includes screening all filings involving renegotiable business over $1 million and requests for exemption.

2. Staff operations.—The headquarters staff furnishes technical advice and assistance to the Board and regional organization.

3. Renegotiation operations (field).—The two regional boards conduct renegotiation proceedings and make determinations and recommendations. They are authorized to conclude cases involving $800 thousand or less of renegotiable profits; however, their determinations in such cases may be appealed to the statutory board. All determinations in cases involving more than $800 thousand renegotiable profits are subject to approval by the statutory board.

The Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, a wholly Government-owned enterprise, is responsible for the construction, operation, and maintenance of that part of the Saint Lawrence Seaway within the territorial limits of the United States (33 U.S.C. 981). The Seaway has been constructed and is being operated and maintained jointly by the Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation and the Saint Lawrence Seaway Authority of Canada, in conjunction with the related power development works provided by the Power Authority of the State of New York and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario. The Seaway has been operating on a toll basis since the 1959 shipping season.

Operating costs and interest.—These costs consist of interest, administrative expenses, operations of locks and canals, control of traffic and the related maintenance of the plant, navigation aids and other equipment.

The estimate for administrative expenses for 1964 is $429 thousand.

Capital outlay.—The Corporation's construction program consists of a 10-mile canal, two locks and navigation channels in the 46-mile International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River between Ogdensburg and Massena, and certain channel and related navigation works in the 68-mile Thousand Islands section between Lake Ontario and Ogdensburg.

Total construction cost of the U.S. share of the Seaway is estimated at $132.4 million. Work in place at the end of 1963 is estimated at $131.2 million, and the 1964 program to complete the project is estimated at $1.2 million, consisting principally of construction of a new training dike, removal of shoals, installation of additional navigation aids, extension of the downstream approaches to Snell Lock, improvement to the lock operations building, and other minor improvements.

Operating results.—Estimated operating revenues for 1964 are $4.9 million and expenses are $1.6 million, including provision for a reserve for replacements. The net operating income will be used to pay interest to the U.S. Treasury. Payment of part of interest accrued will be deferred until revenues are sufficient, and it is expected that all such interest deferred will be paid before the end of the 10-year developmental period.

Financing.—The Corporation is authorized to borrow $140 million from the Treasury to finance the costs of the Seaway and to provide for working capital and claims. Borrowings through 1963 are estimated at $124.2 million, and an additional $1.8 million is required for 1964. Capitalized interest amounting to $6.7 million has not been charged against the borrowing authority.

Toll rates have been established at a level calculated to repay all investment costs in the Seaway, including interest and operating expenses, within the 50-year statutory payout period, and any deficit incurred during the developmental period without requiring additional borrowing authority. Although no depreciation is recorded for assets having useful lives in excess of 50 years, the cost of these assets will be recovered through debt amortization. A replacement reserve is provided for those assets requiring replacement during the payout period.

The primary purpose of the Commission is to protect the interests of the investing public.

1. Full disclosure provisions.—Issuers of securities for public sale are required to file a registration statement and related prospectus containing significant information about the issuer and the offering with the Commission. This is to insure that investors will be provided with the material facts concerning security offerings.

The primary purpose of the Selective Service System is effective manpower utilization through classification under the Universal Military Training and Service Act. The System is responsible for supplying men to keep the Armed Forces at their authorized strength and to the extent that their needs are not met by voluntary enlistment. It will be required to supply an estimated 129,000 men for this purpose in 1964 as compared to approximately 140,000 in 1963 and 160,000 in 1962.

1. National administration, planning, training, and records management.—The overall administration of the act including planning, training, and records management is accomplished by the national headquarters and six regional field offices.

2. State administration, planning, training, and records servicing.—Administration of the act within the several States is the responsibility of the 56 State headquarters operating under the policies determined by national headquarters.

3. Registration, classification, and induction.—These functions affecting over 26,000 registrants are accomplished by the over 48,000 uncompensated citizens assisted by about 6,000 clerks at over 4,000 boards. These citizens determine who shall be deferred and for how long in the national interest in agriculture, industry, or other pursuits. They also determine the availability for military service of members of the Standby Reserve.

4. National Advisory Committee on the Selection of Physicians, Dentists, and Allied Specialists.—This Committee acts in an advisory capacity to the Selective Service System. It is separately administered but funds are furnished by the Selective Service System from its appropriation.

5. National Selective Service Appeal Board.—This Board acts on the classification of registrants which have been appealed to the President. It is under separate administration but the Selective Service System provides funds for its operation.

The Small Business Administration counsels, assists, and protects the interest of small business; provides aid to business firms and homeowners who have suffered losses through disasters; and makes loans to assist firms to adjust to changed economic conditions resulting from increased competition from imported articles.

1. Procurement and technical assistance.—The objectives of this activity are (a) to insure that a fair proportion of Government contracts for purchases of supplies and services and for the sale and disposal of property be placed with small business enterprises, (b) to insure that a fair proportion of Government contracts for research and development be placed with small business concerns and to assist small firms to obtain the benefits of research and development performed at Government expense, and (c) to provide technical and managerial aid to small business concerns by advising and counseling on matters in connection with Government procurement, research and development, property disposal, methods engineering, foreign trade, and new and improved products and processes.

2. Management assistance and research.—Assistance is provided to small business through (a) management counseling, (b) developing and distributing management aids and bulletins, and (c) establishing administrative management courses. Research studies of matters materially affecting the competitive strength of small business are financed under this activity.

3. Investment and development company assistance and supervision.—In order to stimulate and supplement the flow of private capital to small business concerns this Agency is authorized to (a) license, regulate, and examine small business investment companies, (b) provide capital to these companies, (c) lend funds to such companies, and (d) lend funds to State and local development companies. Beginning in 1963, funds for administrative expenses of this activity are transferred from the revolving fund.

4. Financial assistance.—Small business concerns, victims of disasters, and businesses displaced because of Federal construction, are aided through loans, which are administered so as to assure return of the Government investment. In addition, financial counseling is provided to small firms requesting assistance. Funds for administrative expenses of this activity are transferred from the revolving fund. Financial statements covering these programs and the investment and development company assistance program may be found under the revolving fund section.

5. Trade adjustment loan assistance.—Following certification of proposals by the Secretary of Commerce, the Small Business Administration may make loans to assist firms to adjust to changed economic conditions resulting from increased competition from imported articles. Funds for administrative expenses will be transferred from the appropriation Trade adjustment loan assistance.

Public Law 87-550, approved July 25, 1962, authorizes appropriations, without fiscal year limitation, to permit the Small Business Administration to make loans to eligible firms under the provisions of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 (Public Law 87-794, approved Oct. 11, 1962).

The Trade Expansion Act of 1962 provides for certification by the Secretary of Commerce of proposals for economic adjustment submitted by eligible firms. The Secretary is required to refer proposals to an appropriate Federal agency having lending authority. Such agency would then determine whether and to what extent it will provide financial assistance under its own legislation. With respect to firms that have been certified eligible for trade adjustment assistance, Public Law 87-550 permits Small Business Administration to make loans to any size firm, in any dollar amount for a period not to exceed 25 years. These loans may be made on a direct or participation basis. In making such loans, Small Business Administration must apply applicable sections of the Trade Expansion Act. A supplemental appropriation is proposed for separate transmittal for this program in 1963.

This fund finances business and disaster loans and prime contracting activities as authorized by the Small Business Act, as amended (15 U.S.C. 631 et seq.), and investment and development company assistance activities, as authorized by the Small Business Investment Act, as amended (15 U.S.C. 661 et seq.). The Congress has authorized appropriations to the fund of $1,666 million. Of this amount, not to exceed $1,325 million may be outstanding for the authorized activities under the Small Business Act and not to exceed $341 million may be outstanding for investment and development company assistance. It is estimated that the limitation on investment and development company assistance will be reached in 1964. Thus, legislation will be proposed to increase the limitation.

1. Financial assistance program—Business loans.—Business loans may be made directly or in participation with banks or other lending institutions, and shall be of such sound value or so secured as reasonably to assure repayment. No loan may be made unless the financial assistance is not otherwise available on reasonable terms. No direct loan may be made unless it is shown that participation with a bank is not available and no immediate participation loan may be made unless it is shown that a deferred participation loan is not available. The Administration's participation in a loan is limited to 90% and the agency's maximum loan to any one borrower is limited to $350 thousand, except for a loan to a corporation formed and capitalized by a group of small business concerns for purposes authorized in the Small Business Act. With respect to such "pool" loans, the limitation is $250 thousand multiplied by the number of separate small businesses participating in the corporation. Business loans, except for the purpose of constructing facilities, are limited to a maturity of 10 years and except for "pool" loans and loans in "redevelopment areas" under the Area Redevelopment Act, bear interest at a maximum rate of 5½% per annum on the agency's share thereof. For "pool" loans, the rate of interest on the Small Business Administration's share is no less than 3% nor more than 5% per annum. For loans in ARA designated areas, the rate of interest on the Small Business Administration's share is 4% per annum.

It is the policy to assist businessmen operating small firms to secure credit for constructive purposes on terms that will meet the borrower's individual requirements. Assistance includes counseling as well as the lending of funds. From the beginning of the lending program on September 29, 1953, through June 30, 1962, 31,554 loans had been approved in a total amount of $1,566.4 million (including participating banks' share of $245.7 million). Sixty-three percent of these loans have been on a participation basis. The average size of loans approved to date has been $49,600. In 1964, it is estimated that 7,950 loans will be approved, compared to an estimate of 6,670 in 1963. It is further estimated that 12% of the loans in 1964 will be approved on a deferred participation basis, compared with an estimate of 10% in 1963 and 9% in 1962.

The following tabulation reflects certain data on business loans and includes funds disbursed or collected by banks on participation loans. Accordingly, the Small Business Administration's share of disbursements and repayments will not agree with related data in the financial statements, which reflect transactions on the basis of only the Small Business Administration cash funds involved.

Disaster loans.—No restrictions exist on the amount which may be loaned to an individual or business firm suffering loss from a disaster. The maximum term for disaster loans is 20 years and the interest rate for other than “displaced business” disaster loans may not exceed 3% on the Small Business Administration’s share of the loan. For “displaced business” disaster loans, authorized by the Housing Act of 1961, the rate on the Small Business Administration’s share of the loan is determined pursuant to a formula prescribed by legislation. For 1962 the rate was 3½% per annum, while in 1963 the rate will be 3½% per annum. Through June 30, 1962, a total of 18,125 regular disaster loans for $162.4 million had been approved, including 6,106 loans for $39.7 million in 1962 (primarily as a result of damage in Texas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma caused by hurricane “Carla” in September 1961 and damage to East Coast areas as a result of storms in March 1962). In 1962, the first year such loans were authorized, 90 “displaced business” disaster loans for $5 million were approved. New commitments of $9 million for “displaced business” loans and $20 million for all other disaster loans are estimated for 1964.

2. Investment and development company assistance program—Purchase of debentures of small business investment companies.—A primary function of these companies is to provide a source of needed equity capital for small business concerns. To facilitate the formation and growth of such companies with capital adequate to meet the demands from small business firms, the Small Business Investment Act, as amended, authorizes the Small Business Administration, with certain limitations, to purchase subordinated debentures of any such company in an amount not to exceed the lesser of $400 thousand or the amount of the paid-in capital and surplus of the company from other sources. It is estimated that the Small Business Administration will approve purchase of debentures in the amount of $73.8 million in 1964 compared with an estimate of $50.3 million in 1963.

Loans to small business investment companies.—To further encourage the formation and growth of such companies, the Small Business Administration is also authorized under certain circumstances to lend funds to them in amounts which may not exceed 50% of the paid-in capital and surplus of a company, or $4 million, whichever is less. In addition to $11 million estimated to be loaned directly to such companies by Small Business Administration in 1964, $30 million of loans is anticipated to be made to these companies by commercial banks under the “standby” program inaugurated in 1962. Under this plan, a bank makes a loan to a small business investment company on the basis of a note drawn to the Small Business Administration but assigned to the bank. The bank has the right to reassign it at any time to the Small Business Administration and receive payment of the principal then due. A fund reservation of 50% is held against such loans. The estimates for 1963 are $17.5 million in direct loans and $23.5 million in “standby” loans.

Loans to State and local development companies.—The Small Business Administration is authorized to lend funds to State development companies for general use purposes; and to State and local development companies for plant construction, conversion, or expansion, including the acquisition of land. The latter type loans shall be so secured as reasonably to assure repayment, may be made directly or in participation with banks or other lending institutions, may be made only when the proceeds are for use solely to assist an identifiable small business concern and for a sound business purpose approved by the Agency, and are limited to a maximum of $350 thousand for each such identifiable small business concern. A combined total of $41 million is estimated to be approved in 1964, compared with an estimate of $30.4 million in 1963.

Operating costs—1. Interest expense.—As required by the Small Business Act, interest is payable into miscellaneous receipts of the Treasury on outstanding disbursements from the fund, at rates determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, taking into consideration the current average yields on outstanding interest-bearing marketable public debt obligations of the United States of comparable maturities. With respect to disbursements made in 1963, the Secretary of the Treasury has set rates of 3½% per annum for small business investment company loans, 3¼% per annum for business loans and State development company loans, and 3% per annum for disaster loans, local development company loans and small business investment company debentures. Prior to 1963, a composite rate applicable to all outstanding disbursements had been set by the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to the statutory provisions then in force. For 1962 this composite rate was 3½% per annum. The rates stated above for 1963 have also been used in computing interest expense for 1964. Of the estimated $34.1 million interest expense in 1964, $27.8 million is applicable to the Financial assistance program and $6.3 million is applicable to the Investment and Development Company assistance program. The comparable figures for 1963 are $23.8 million and $3.2 million, respectively.

2. Administrative expenses.—These expenses for the two programs are financed by transfer of funds from the revolving fund to the appropriation for salaries and expenses. The distribution of the amounts by program for each of the years is accordingly shown on the program and financing schedule for that appropriation account. Prior to 1963, the Small Business Investment Act had specifically provided for direct appropriations for administrative expenses for the Investment and Development Company assistance program in lieu of transfer from the revolving fund.

Financing.—The capital of the revolving fund is provided by direct appropriations. Appropriations made to date, including $300 million for 1963, total $1,260 million. Appropriation requests for increased capital funds are predicated on the additional amount required to finance an estimated program volume (and related interest, administrative, and other expenses), after taking into consideration funds becoming available through principal repayments and revenue. To finance the estimated program level in 1964, after taking into consideration funds to be provided by repayments and revenue, additional appropriations of $200 million will be required. Pursuant to the proposal contained in the 1962 and 1963 budgets, the remaining assets and liabilities of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation liquidation fund as of July 1, 1962, have been transferred to the revolving fund. The net amount involved is $2.7 million. This transfer will permit the elimination of separate accounting records and budget schedules otherwise required for a relatively nominal amount of assets remaining to be liquidated. The details of the transfer are shown in the applicable schedules for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation liquidation fund.

Operating results.—The deficit is estimated to continue to increase, although at a slower rate as the interest-earning amount of loans and investments increases. Interest and fee income will not be sufficient to cover interest and administrative expense and a provision for estimated losses, primarily because of the cost of processing an increasing number of applications of which only about one-half result in interest-earning loans, and the cost of servicing the expanding number of widely scattered loans which are relatively small in size.

This fund has financed the liquidation of business and disaster loans of the former Reconstruction Finance Corporation which were transferred to the Small Business Administration for administration and liquidation. Under Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1954, disaster loans in an amount of $14.7 million were transferred; and pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 1 of 1957, business loans and other assets of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation liquidation fund, Treasury Department, in excess of $14 million were transferred.

Budget program.—In the fall of 1960 it was evident that as a result of the progress being made, loans and other assets in the fund would be substantially liquidated by the end of 1962. Accordingly, in order to eliminate separate accounting records and budget schedules otherwise required for a relatively nominal amount of assets involved, the 1962 budget proposed the transfer of the remaining assets and liabilities of this fund to the Small Business Administration revolving fund as of the beginning of 1963. The proposal was repeated in the 1963 budget. The current schedules reflect the transfer of net assets of $2.7 million as of July 1, 1962, in accordance with the budget proposal.

Operating results.—Liquidation operations in 1962 resulted in net budget receipts of $938 thousand. This, together with cash funds carried over from 1961, permitted the payment of $1,250 thousand to the Treasury in 1962 as a return of the Government's equity, while retaining sufficient funds to meet requirements until the net assets to be transferred to the Small Business Administration revolving fund could be determined. Following the year-end closing of the records as of June 30, 1962, net assets of $2,679 thousand were transferred and an additional $543 thousand was transferred to the Treasury in payment of the remaining balance of the Government's equity in the fund.

The Smithsonian Institution maintains public exhibits representative of the arts, American history, aeronautics, anthropology, geology, technology, and biology; preserves for reference and study purposes millions of valuable items of scientific, cultural, and historical interest; conducts research in the natural sciences and in the history of cultures, technology, and the arts, particularly those indigenous to North America; and participates in the international exchange of scientific literature. The areas of research in the natural sciences include anthropology, biology, geology, solar radiation, and astrophysics. The Smithsonian is also undertaking an intensive program of classification and study of marine organisms collected in connection with the Government's expanded oceanographic program. The Institution operates 2 museums, 3 scientific bureaus, 3 art galleries, the Armed Forces Museum Advisory Board, and the International Exchange Service. It is responsible also for the operation and maintenance of 5 main exhibition buildings, a facility at Silver Hill, Md., and an exhibits laboratory.

During the budget year the move of the collections, exhibits, and activities of the Museum of History and Technology into its new building will continue; the occupancy of the east wing of the Natural History Building will be completed and internal moves on the ground and third floors in the Natural History Building will be required in connection with the construction of the west wing; the National Collection of Fine Arts will prepare exhibition plans and improve the condition of its collections in preparation for the move into the existing Civil Service Commission Building; the National Air Museum will accelerate its program of restoring and preserving aircraft engines and accessories; 2 new exhibits renovation projects and 5 building rehabilitation projects will be undertaken; and the Institution will continue to expand its scientific programs.

Public interest continues to grow, as evidenced by the number of visitors: 1960, 6,495,000; 1961, 7,103,000; 1962, 8,923,000.

Adjudication of cases and legal activities.—Upon petitions being filed, the Board holds formal hearings and determines whether: (a) organizations are Communist-action organizations, Communist-front organizations, or Communist-infiltrated organizations; (b) individuals are officers or members of a Communist-action organization or officers of a Communist-front organization and required to register as such; (c) the registration of particular Communist-action organizations or Communist-front organizations or of particular individuals should be canceled; and (d) a particular Communist-infiltrated organization has ceased to be a Communist-infiltrated organization. The Board's determinations involve the consideration of petitions, motions, answers, and evidence adduced at the hearings. In the individual registration proceedings as well as in proceedings involving organizations, the Board is empowered to hold hearings—which shall be public—to examine witnesses and receive evidence, and to compel the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documents relevant to the matter under inquiry. In each case the Board issues a report in writing setting forth its rulings and findings as to the facts, and issues an appropriate order.

It is the responsibility of the Commission to determine the impact of U.S. and foreign trade policies on domestic industries and to provide reports and recommendations to the President, Congress, or the public on these matters. The increase in our foreign trade and the greatly changing patterns of world trade, have created a greater need for research, investigations, and reports on tariff and trade activities.

The Trade Expansion Act of 1962 has further increased the need for the Commission to assemble information that will enable it to make determinations on applications for adjustment assistance.

TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY

General and special funds:

PAYMENT TO TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY FUND

For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the Tennessee Valley Authority Act of 1933, as amended (16 U.S.C., ch. 12A), including purchase (one for replacement only) and hire, maintenance, and operation of aircraft, and purchase (not to exceed [one hundred and fifty] two hundred and twenty-five, of which one hundred and ninety shall be for replacement only) and hire of passenger motor vehicles, [$35,071,000] $44,284,000, to remain available until expended. (Public Works Appropriation Act, 1963.)

The Congress created the Tennessee Valley Authority in 1933 for the unified development of a river basin comprising parts of seven States. Engineering works improve and regulate the Tennessee River for navigation, flood control, and the generation of electric power. Fertilizer research and agricultural activities promote conservation and improved use of land and water resources. Tributary area development work seeks integrated solution of special economic development problems in subregions. Forestry activities stress maximum use of forest resources consistent with watershed protection. All these activities are inter-related. Their common purpose is to help develop the valley's agricultural and industrial potential for the benefit of both the region and the Nation.

Other national interests are directly served. The Tennessee waterway, a part of the inland waterway system, is an interregional artery for commerce moving to and from ports in 20 States. In 1962 Federal agencies used 41% of the electric energy generated by the TVA system. In national emergencies, defense needs have first call on the Muscle Shoals chemical facilities for munitions research and production; in peacetime, they serve as the country's only public research center equipped for complete development of fertilizers from laboratory to demonstration-scale production.

TVA is a corporation wholly owned by the Federal Government. Its program in 1964 will be financed from three sources: (1) appropriations by the Congress; (2) proceeds available from current power operations and borrowings against future power revenues; and (3) proceeds available from nonpower activities.

Budget program—1. Navigation, flood control, and power program.—A major objective of the TVA Act is development and use of the Tennessee River for the threefold purpose of navigation, flood control, and power. System facilities to be operated in 1964 consist of 29 dams with hydroelectric generating stations, 12 navigation locks at 10 dams, 11 steam-electric generating stations, and a power transmission network of about 13,485 circuit miles.

(a) Navigation operations of the multipurpose reservoir system maintain adequate depths for the all-year 9-foot channel from the mouth of the river to Knoxville, Tenn., a distance of 650 miles. Traffic on the Tennessee waterway in calendar year 1961 was 11.6 million tons and 1.9 billion ton-miles. Transportation savings to shippers on this volume of traffic are estimated at $21.1 million, the difference between freight charges actually paid and those which would have been paid if the river had not been improved for navigation. More than 97% of these savings applied on freight originating outside the valley or moving from the valley to outside destinations. Engineering work assures that physical facilities are operated, maintained, and modified or improved to meet the needs of modern waterborne commerce. Technical studies appraise the opportunities for use of the waterway and the barriers inhibiting its use. Data supplied to shippers and carriers help solve transportation problems, looking to full utilization of the Federal investment in the navigation channel. Advisory work with State and local agencies leads to new or improved public programs by those agencies to help assure full utilization of the waterway.

Capital outlay costs for navigation facilities in 1964 are estimated at $11,299 thousand and include provision for beginning construction of a new lock at Hales Bar Dam, Tenn. The new lock will be a single-lift lock with a 110-foot by 600-foot chamber. Scheduled for service in July 1966, it is estimated to cost a total of $22 million. The 1964 estimate also provides for continuing construction of a new lock at Gunterville Dam, Ala., which is scheduled to be in service in June 1965; and for other navigation channel improvements.

(b) Flood control operations of the Tennessee River system maintain and use storage space in upstream reservoirs for seasonal retention of excessive runoff and regulate discharges to rates of flow which can be handled safely by downstream channels and reservoirs. Dams on the Tennessee River and its tributaries provide 11.8 million acre-feet of storage for flood control at the beginning of the flood season. Cities and agricultural lands in the Tennessee Valley are protected and flood crests can be reduced on the lower Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. Since the first project in the TVA system was placed in operation in 1936, regulation of TVA reservoirs to reduce flood crests has averted damages of about $160 million in the Tennessee Valley and about $31 million on the lower Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. As a supplement to operating its reservoir system for flood control, TVA collects and analyzes flood data; studies potential flood control projects and ways to improve operations of the existing system. Technical advice and assistance given to State and local agencies in finding solutions to local urban and rural flood control problems will be intensified in 1964.

Capital outlay costs for flood control facilities in 1964 are estimated at $1,050 thousand which provides for beginning construction of two small water control reservoirs near Bristol, Tenn.-Va. Total estimated cost of the structures, scheduled to be completed in June 1965, is $2.9 million.

(c) Power operations involve generation and transmission of power and sale of energy at wholesale to local distribution systems and to a small number of industries and Government agencies requiring large amounts of power. As of September 1, 1962, power was purchased and distributed by 153 local public agencies and 2 small privately owned utility companies. Total energy to be supplied to the power system from generating facilities of TVA, the Army on the Cumberland River, and the Aluminum Company of America on the Little Tennessee River is estimated to be 73.9 billion kilowatt-hours in 1964. This is about 8.9 billion kilowatt-hours greater than the energy supplied to the system in 1962 and about 5.1 billion kilowatt-hours above that estimated to be supplied in 1963. Net income from power operations, after depreciation, is estimated to be $58.3 million for 1964—$2.2 million greater than in 1962, and $2.6 million above the estimate for 1963. The estimates assume average streamflow conditions. Better than average streamflows could produce some increase in net income over the estimates; with subnormal streamflows, the net income would be reduced by increases in production expenses.

Of the $83,295 thousand estimate for power supply facilities, $81,715 thousand is for continuing construction of four steam generating units at Paradise, Widows Creek, and Bull Run projects; completion of a steam generating unit at the Colbert project; and completion of five hydroelectric units at Wheeler and Melton Hill Dams. Paradise units 1-2, Widows Creek unit 8, and Bull Run unit 1 are scheduled for commercial operation in May and October 1963, October 1964, and November 1965, respectively. The Colbert unit is to be placed in service in March 1963. All hydro units at Wheeler Dam are scheduled for operation by the end of June 1963; those at Melton Hill are expected to enter service in July and September 1963.

Completion of these units on schedule will bring the estimated dependable capacity of the system by the winter of 1964-65 to 15.7 million kilowatts, including the Army plants on the Cumberland River and other plants operated as a part of the TVA system. This will provide a reserve of 18.4% over estimated demands of 13.2 million kilowatts to allow for loss of capacity because of breakdown of generating equipment and needs for its maintenance, failure of substation equipment and transmission lines, and drawdown of reservoirs during extremely dry periods. It is estimated that by the winter of 1965-66 the system dependable capacity will be 16.6 million kilowatts, leaving a 16.0% reserve over estimated demands of 14.3 million kilowatts. TVA and the Mississippi Power and Light Company and the companies associated with it have completed an agreement to provide for the seasonal exchange of large blocks of capacity which results in savings in installed capacity needs by each system. This arrangement has made it possible for TVA to postpone proceeding with installation of a second 900,000-kilowatt unit, formerly scheduled for use by the winter of 1966-67. The magnitude and the locations of additional capacity needed after the winter of 1966-67 have not yet been determined. During the coming year TVA will make studies of the location and installation schedule of the second 900,000-kilowatt (or 1,100,000-kilowatt) unit on order; the 1964 budget includes $1,580 thousand for preconstruction costs on this unit.

Estimated capital outlay costs in 1964 include $2,119 thousand for completing construction of Melton Hill Dam and Reservoir. Costs allocable to the power program are being financed from power proceeds and costs allocable to other programs are being financed from appropriations.

(d) Multipurpose reservoir operations relate to the management, operation, and maintenance of 20 multipurpose reservoirs created by TVA dams. This involves water dispatching operations, water control investigations, vector control, plant protection and services to visitors, and operation of reservoir lands. Operating costs, funded, are estimated at $6,134 thousand for 1964, of which $1,724 thousand is allocated to navigation operations, $1,738 thousand to flood control operations, and $2,321 thousand to power operations. The remaining $351 thousand shown here is offset by nonpower proceeds derived principally from operation of reservoir lands.

(e) Topographic maps of the Tennessee Valley are vital to planning, construction, and operation needs of many private organizations and public agencies, including TVA. In order to be of practical utility, the maps, now completed for the entire Tennessee Valley, must be revised periodically. The estimate for 1964 includes $100 thousand for work on those quadrangles which most urgently need revision.

2. Fertilizer, agricultural, and munitions program.—Chemical facilities at Wilson Dam, Ala., are operated as a national fertilizer development center, but by statute, they must likewise be available for munitions purposes and are an important segment of the national defense program.

(a) Research on fertilizer products and processes consists of fundamental research, applied research and process engineering, and technical studies of full-scale plant operations. TVA works cooperatively with the Department of Agriculture and with industry to avoid duplication. Research results on technological developments and new and improved processes are made available to industry. Knowledge gained in fertilizer research is valuable also in the related field of munitions. In 1964 research will be continued on the reactions of fertilizer in the soil, on new nitrogen fertilizers of improved quality, and on incorporation of micronutrients in fertilizers. Work on finding improved methods for the production of wet process phosphoric acid will be intensified. Studies will be made to develop materials designed specifically for bulk blending and work will be continued on the development of various fertilizer coating materials and coating techniques.

(b) Fertilizer production and distribution has these objectives: to demonstrate the technical and commercial feasibility of new or improved processes, thereby encouraging their adoption by industry; to supply materials for test demonstration on practical farms and for widespread educational introduction among farmers; and to supply munitions materials or render other services for national defense. New or improved fertilizers are sold to farmers for educational purposes through industry and cooperative distributors.

(c) Fertilizer tests and demonstrations include laboratory and field plot tests to determine under controlled conditions the relative efficiency of materials; studies and demonstrations aimed at developing more efficient and economical ways of distributing and applying fertilizers; and farm test demonstrations of fertilizer use. The major objectives of farm test demonstrations are to introduce experimental fertilizers to farmers throughout the Nation and to improve the agriculture, forestry, and watershed-streamflow relationships of the Tennessee Valley. Agricultural extension services of the land-grant colleges give technical guidance to fertilizer demonstration and introduction activities in the participating States.

Capital outlay costs for chemical facilities are estimated at $8,395 thousand in 1964. Most of this is for continuation of a rehabilitation program which was started in 1960. Facilities to be completed in 1964 include granular combination fertilizer facilities which will be used to produce ammonium polyphosphate and nitric phosphate fertilizers; an addition to the Chemical Engineering Building at Wilson Dam, Ala.; a nitric acid unit; and nitrogen products storage facilities. During 1964 work will be continued on modernization of TVA's phosphate facilities, including the replacement of equipment for preparing phosphate ore and related materials for charging electric phosphorus furnaces and replacement of facilities for recovering fluorine emitted by the calcium metaphosphate fertilizer production unit. Plans for 1964 also include beginning construction of a fully automatic water supply system to replace the present water supply facilities at Wilson Dam, Ala.

3. Cooperative valley development program.—The overall development of the Tennessee Valley area in cooperation with State and local agencies and with tributary area associations constitutes an important part of TVA's program for the proper use, conservation, and development of the region's natural resources. Investigations identify current problems and opportunities for development under conditions of optimum use. Research helps develop and test corrective measures. Cooperative projects with State and local groups apply these measures to regional and special problems.

Cooperative valley development activities are of three types: tributary area development, forestry projects, and mineral resources investigations.

Tributary area development includes TVA activities in subareas of the valley where special attention is being given to economic development. These are areas where local problems inhibit economic growth, where opportunities exist for substantially greater development of the resource base, and where local organizations, with their State and local governments, are working with TVA to find and apply methods for alleviating these problems. The basic approach is the development of local organizations, the inventory of area resources by local resource work groups with TVA and State technical assistance, the selection of the most desirable alternatives for resource development, and the cooperative application of improvement measures. During 1964, TVA will take part in cooperative tributary area development work in at least 11 tributary areas where local development organizations exist or are being formed. Research on the effects of changes in land use on the quality and behavior of water in the streams will be continued to provide data useful in the balanced solution of tributary area development problems.

Capital outlay costs for 1964 include $3,163 thousand for work in tributary areas. Of this, $2,587 thousand is for continuation of construction of a multipurpose water control system started in 1963 in the Beech River watershed. This represents a new approach to solutions of water control problems in small tributary watersheds by joint participation by the Federal Government and State and local agencies. The estimated total cost of the planned water control facilities is $6 million. From the cash benefits generated by the system, local agencies will repay $2 million with interest.

Forestry projects aid the States, counties, landowners, and the timber industry in developing full production and use of the valley's forest resource consistent with the needs of watershed protection. Forestry projects include research and demonstrations in forest management and forest damage prevention, reforestation, wood utilization, and forest fertilizer tests.

Mineral resources investigations will continue in 1964 in cooperation with State agencies. Major emphasis is on mapping mineral occurrences and supplying information on Valley mineral resources upon request.

4. General service activities.—Operating costs for this program cover primarily reimbursable services furnished at the request and expense of other agencies.

The 1964 estimate of $8,437 thousand for reimbursable services includes $3,504 thousand for services for the Department of Defense in connection with the rehabilitation and operation of the Muscle Shoals phosphate development works; $2,672 thousand for services for the construction and operation of an experimental gas-cooled reactor for the Atomic Energy Commission; $809 thousand for mapping services for the Department of the Army and other agencies; $109 thousand for completing construction of a bridge over Pickwick Dam, for which reimbursement is to be received from the Public Roads Administration and the State of Tennessee; and $223 thousand for technical assistance to power distributors. The balance is for loans of personnel and services to other agencies and miscellaneous recoveries of TVA expenditures.

Capital outlay costs are estimated at $3,167 thousand for general facilities in 1964. This covers additions and replacements of office, transportation, and electronic computing equipment and facilities used jointly in conducting all TVA programs. The 1964 estimate includes $2 million for replacement of the electronic computer with one of greater speed and capacity.

Financing.—Amounts estimated to become available in 1964 would be derived from (1) the requested appropriation of $44,284 thousand; (2) nonpower revenues and receipts of $27,570 thousand; and (3) power revenues and receipts of $290,511 thousand. In addition, the budget program anticipates financing from borrowings of $15 million from the U.S. Treasury and by sale of $50 million of revenue bonds backed by future power revenues. Operating results and financial condition.—Retained earnings from power operations at the end of 1964 are estimated at $637,148 thousand. Net income from power operations in 1964 is estimated at $58,345 thousand. The accumulated net expense of nonpower programs at the end of 1964 is estimated at $282,629 thousand, of which $19,376 thousand is from 1964 operations. Only the power program is intended to be self-supporting; the net expense of nonpower programs is covered largely by appropriations from the Treasury. Payments to the Treasury in 1964 are estimated at $48.2 million—$38.2 million as a dividend (return on the appropriation investment in the power program) and $10 million as a reduction in the appropriation investment in the power program.

Total assets are estimated at $2,591,805 thousand at the end of 1964 as compared with an estimate of $2,488,483 thousand at the end of 1963—an increase of $103,322 thousand during 1964. The increase is mainly in fixed assets, reflecting expenditures for construction of facilities; $76,418 thousand of the increase in assets is in the power program and $26,904 thousand is in nonpower programs. The estimate of current liabilities of $67,174 thousand at June 30, 1964, is $3,269 thousand greater than the estimate of $63,905 thousand at June 30, 1963. The increase reflects liabilities mainly related to construction. Borrowings from the public for the power program are expected to increase by $50 million during 1964—from an estimate of $145 million at June 30, 1963, to an estimate of $195 million at June 30, 1964. The estimated total Government equity of $2,329,020 thousand at June 30, 1964, is $50,053 thousand more than the estimate of sources other than borrowings—$25,834 thousand in the $2,278,967 thousand at June 30, 1963. The increase power program and $24,219 thousand in nonpower programs largely represents investments in assets financed from programs.

UNITED STATES INFORMATION AGENCY

General and special funds:

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

For expenses necessary to enable the United States Information Agency, as authorized by Reorganization Plan No. 8 of 1953, the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act (75 Stat. 527), and the United States Information and Educational Exchange Act, as amended (22 U.S.C. 1431 et seq.), to carry out international information activities, including employment, without regard to the civil service and classification laws, of (1) persons on a temporary basis (not to exceed $120,000), (2) aliens within the United States, and (3) aliens abroad for service in the United States relating to the translation or narration of colloquial speech in foreign languages (such aliens to be investigated for such employment in accordance with procedures established by the Secretary of State and the Attorney General); travel expenses of aliens employed abroad for service in the United States and their dependents to and from the United States; salaries, expenses, and allowances of personnel and dependents as authorized by the Foreign Service Act of 1946, as amended (22 U.S.C. 801-1158); entertainment within the United States not to exceed $3,000; hire of passenger motor vehicles; insurance on official motor vehicles in foreign countries; services as authorized by section 15 of the Act of August 2, 1946 (5 U.S.C. 55a); payment of tort claims, in the manner authorized in the first paragraph of section 2672, as amended, of title 28 of the United States Code when such claims arise in foreign countries; advance of funds notwithstanding section 3648 of the Revised Statutes, as amended; dues for library membership in organizations which issue publications to members only, or to members at a price lower than to others; employment of aliens, by contract, for service abroad; purchase of ice and drinking water abroad; payment of excise taxes on negotiable instruments abroad; cost of transporting to and from a place of storage and the cost of storing the furniture and household and personal effects of an employee of the Foreign Service who is assigned to a post at which he is unable to use his furniture and effects, under such regulations as the Director may prescribe; actual expenses of preparing and transporting to their former homes the remains of persons, not United States Government employees, who may die away from their homes while participating in activities authorized under this appropriation; radio activities and acquisition and production of motion pictures and visual materials and purchase or rental of technical equipment and facilities therefor, narration, script-writing, translation, and engineering services, by contract or otherwise; maintenance, improvement, and repair of properties used for information activities in foreign countries; fuel and utilities for Government-owned or leased property abroad; rental or lease for periods not exceeding five years of offices, buildings, grounds, and living quarters for officers and employees engaged in informational activities abroad; travel expenses for employees attending official international conferences, without regard to the Standardized Government Travel Regulations and to the rates of per diem allowances in lieu of subsistence expenses under the Travel Expense Act of 1949, but at rates not in excess of comparable allowances approved for such conferences by the Secretary of State; and purchase of objects for presentation to foreign governments, schools, or organizations; $120,500,000 $146,550,000, of which not less than $11,000,000 shall be used to purchase foreign currencies or credits owed to or owned by the Treasury of the United States: Provided, That not to exceed $110,000 $140,000 may be used for representation abroad: Provided further, That this appropriation shall be available for expenses in connection with travel of personnel outside the continental United States, including travel of dependents and transportation of personal effects, household goods, or automobiles of such personnel, when any part of such travel or transportation begins in the current fiscal year pursuant to travel orders issued in that year, notwithstanding the fact that such travel or transportation may not be completed during the current year: Provided further, That passenger motor vehicles used abroad exclusively for the purposes of this appropriation may be exchanged or sold, pursuant to section 201(c) of the Act of June 30, 1949 (40 U.S.C. 481(c)), and the exchange allowances or proceeds of such sales shall be available for replacement of an equal number of such vehicles and the cost, including the exchange allowance of each such replacement, except buses and station wagons, shall not exceed $1,500: Provided further, That, notwithstanding the provisions of section 3679 of the Revised Statutes, as amended (31 U.S.C. 665), the United States Information Agency is authorized, in making contracts for the use of international short-wave radio stations and facilities, to agree on behalf of the United States to indemnify the owners and operators of said radio stations and facilities from such funds as may be hereafter appropriated for the purpose against loss or damage on account of injury to persons or property arising from such use of said radio stations and facilities: Provided further, That existing appointments and assignments to the Foreign Service Reserve for the purposes of foreign information and educational activities which expire during the current fiscal year may be extended for a period of one year in addition to the period of appointment or assignment otherwise authorized. (Departments of State, Justice, and Commerce, the Judiciary, and Related Agencies Appropriation Act, 1963.)

Note.—Estimates for 1964 include $126 thousand for activities transferred from U.S. Information Agency, Salaries and expenses, special foreign currency program; and exclude $100 thousand for activities transferred to U.S. Information Agency, Special international exhibitions. The amounts obligated in 1962 and 1963 are shown in the schedules as comparative transfers.

The United States Information Agency, by means of communication techniques, submits evidence to peoples of other nations that the objectives and policies of the United States are in harmony with and will advance their legitimate aspirations for freedom, progress, and peace. The intention is to encourage foreign peoples to take action consistent with our national objectives.

Agency operations are largely financed from this appropriation covering dollar and certain foreign currency costs and from the following special foreign currency appropriation for the purchase of U.S.-owned currencies in excess of the normal requirements of the United States.

The increase of approximately $23.9 million in this appropriation will provide for (a) an additional $12.4 million for overseas program expenses plus related media and other support services to meet increased costs and to allow some expansion in programs; (b) about $4.8 million for expansion of worldwide television, motion pictures, press, and publications, and information center activities; (c) $4.1 million for radio programming and facilities operations; and (d) a net increase of $2.6 million for domestic support activities related to the overall program.

1. Overseas missions.—The program is conducted through 250 posts in 105 countries. The overseas missions prepare materials using local facilities and utilize materials specially provided by the media services in Washington for specific country needs. The following table summarizes total mission programs, including direct Washington support, financed from this and the special foreign currency program appropriation (in thousands of dollars):

Area	1962 actual	1963 estimate	1964 estimate

Worldwide missions.....	6,078	6,575	7,098
Total, mission costs.....	63,668	69,633	82,887

In 1964, mission activities will be aimed at broader audiences. Special emphasis on increased and improved television and radio programming and book and motion picture output will be directed toward the Far East, Latin America, and Africa. Eight new branch posts will be opened in the latter two areas.

2. Media services.—These services provide support for overseas country programs.

(a) Press and publications service maintains communications facilities for the transmission of editorial and feature materials for adaptation by overseas missions. It produces two monthly magazines titled "America Illustrated," one for distribution in the Soviet Union and one for distribution in Poland; and one bimonthly magazine, "Life in America," in Arabic, sold on newsstands throughout the Arab world. The service also operates three regional printing centers and provides overseas missions with printing supplies and equipment.

(b) Motion picture service produces and acquires films which are then translated into as many as 58 foreign languages. Substantially increased production and acquisition of films is planned. The service adapts films for specific country or area use, and directs the foreign production, use and distribution of films. It also supplies the missions with mobile film units and equipment for showing motion pictures.

(c) Information center service supports U.S. operated libraries, reading rooms, and binational centers, providing them with collections of American publications, both in English and in translations, and with English teaching materials. It assists American publishers in distributing selected products overseas and supports the publication of low-priced books for sale abroad. The service also provides exhibits and visual materials to overseas missions for local display and provides books and periodicals for presentation to selected individuals and groups. Significant program increases contemplate a buildup of book programs, especially foreign language editions; new information centers in Africa and Latin America; and expanded English teaching programs.

(d) Broadcasting service in 1964 will produce radio broadcasts in English and in 40 foreign languages, as compared with 38 foreign languages in 1963 and 35 in 1962. Programs originate from the United States and will be broadcast from transmitters at six domestic and nine overseas locations. Direct broadcasting from new program centers at Monrovia, Liberia, and the Isle of Rhodes is planned. The service will continue to supply the overseas missions with recorded radio programs and scripts and with radio supplies and equipment.

(e) Television service acquires and produces television programs for placement on outlets overseas. Significant increases in programming are planned, especially for Latin America. The service also provides assistance to the overseas missions in the production and use of television programs.

3. Research and reference service acquires and prepares reports for use by domestic and overseas establishments in formulating and implementing Agency policies and programs.

4. Cooperative programs with private organizations.—The Agency encourages and coordinates the efforts of private organizations in building an information exchange program between the people of the United States and the peoples of foreign countries.

6. Administration and staff support includes physical and personnel security functions, legal counsel, central administrative services, and emergency planning.

7. Administrative support.—Administrative services for the Agency's overseas operations, and certain special support services at headquarters, are obtained through reimbursable arrangements with the Department of State.

A supplemental appropriation for 1963 is anticipated for separate transmittal.

SPECIAL INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITIONS—Continued

1. International fairs and exhibitions.—Exhibits are mounted at important international fairs and other strategic locations overseas. In 1962, 14 exhibits were mounted. This compares with an estimated 18 exhibits in 1963 and 19 in 1964.

2. Labor missions.—Labor missions are sent to selected international fairs and other exhibitions. There were 6 labor missions in 1962; 8 are provided in 1963; and 11 are requested for 1964.

3. Special purpose exhibitions.—In 1962 three exhibits were undertaken, each to be shown in three locations in the Soviet Union, under a U.S.-U.S.S.R. exchange agreement. As these showings are completed during 1963 and 1964 it is proposed to tour the exhibits in other countries of East Europe. Three more exhibits for showing in the Soviet Union are proposed for 1964 and 1965, as well as special American Fine Arts exhibits for use in the São Paulo Bienal and Venice Biennale.

ACQUISITION AND CONSTRUCTION OF RADIO FACILITIES

For an additional amount for the purchase, rent, construction, and improvement of facilities for radio transmission and reception, purchase and installation of necessary equipment for radio transmission and reception, without regard to the provisions of the Act of June 30, 1932 (40 U.S.C. 278a), and acquisition of land and interests in land by purchase, lease, rental, or otherwise, [$8,750,000] $46,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That this appropriation shall be available for acquisition of land outside the continental United States without regard to section 355 of the Revised Statutes (40 U.S.C. 255), and title to any land so acquired shall be approved by the Director of the United States Information Agency.

For an additional amount for "Acquisition and construction of radio facilities", $1,600,000, to remain available until expended. (Departments of State, Justice, and Commerce, the Judiciary, and Related Agencies Appropriation Act, 1963; Foreign Aid and Related Agencies Appropriation Act, 1963.)

These funds which will remain available until expended, will provide for—

1. Acquisition and construction of facilities.—The 1963 program completes the transmitting plant at Greenville, N.C. and the transportable relay station. It also covers substantial completion of the Liberia relay station, and provides financing for the Rhodes relay station, the expansion of a leased facility in the United Kingdom, modernization of existing domestic transmitting facilities, and Project Teak, a medium-wave megawatt relay station in Southeast Asia. The 1963 supplemental appropriation proposed below will provide partial funding of Project Bamboo, a Far East shortwave transmitting facility. Funds are requested in 1964 to: (a) complete Projects Teak and Bamboo; (b) continue the modernization of existing domestic facilities; (c) construct a new facility in the eastern Mediterranean area to improve radio coverage of the Balkans, the U.S.S.R., and south Asia; and (d) provide for new regional program centers at Monrovia, Liberia and on the Island of Rhodes.

2. Maintenance and improvement of existing facilities.—Recurring maintenance and improvement of existing facilities will require an increase over the level planned for 1963.

3. Research and development.—Provision is made for a program of continuing research in engineering development, equipment design, and radio propagation techniques with special emphasis on problems applying to the Voice of America.

This program enables important foreign countries, which have a shortage of U.S. dollar exchange, to import books, periodicals, films, and other U.S. informational media through regular commercial channels (22 U.S.C. 1442). Under the program, foreign importers make payments to American exporters in foreign currency. The exporters then exchange their foreign currency for U.S. dollars through application to the U.S. Information Agency, in accordance with the terms of each exporter's informational media guarantee contract.

Program.—In 1964 the program will be extended to new countries in the Near East, Latin America, and the Far East where U.S. informational materials are extremely scarce. Program levels in most currently active countries will also be increased.

Financing.—The 1964 appropriation request provides $4.4 million for repayment of Treasury notes and $572 thousand for the payment of interest to the Treasury. This will make possible the issuance of $6.7 million in guarantee contracts, an increase of $2.2 million over the 1963 level, and will reduce impairment to the fund by $4.3 million, leaving an estimated total unrestored impairment of $13.9 million on June 30, 1964. Of the total borrowing authority of $28 million, $19.3 million in unpaid notes will be outstanding on June 30, 1964; this represents a net reduction of $2.6 million from the estimated amount outstanding on June 30, 1963.

INDEPENDENT OFFICES—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 102. Where appropriations in this title are expendable for travel expenses of employees and no specific limitation has been placed thereon, the expenditures for such travel expenses may not exceed the amounts set forth therefor in the budget estimates submitted for the appropriations: Provided, That this section shall not apply to travel performed by uncompensated officials of local boards and appeal boards of the Selective Service System, to travel performed in connection with the investigation of aircraft accidents by the Civil Aeronautics Board, to travel performed directly in connection with care and treatment of medical beneficiaries of the Veterans Administration, or to payments to interagency motor pools where separately set forth in the budget schedules.

SEC. 103. No part of any appropriation contained in this title shall be available to pay the salary of any person filling a position, other than a temporary position, formerly held by an employee who has left to enter the Armed Forces of the United States and has satisfactorily completed his period of active military or naval service and has within ninety days after his release from such service or from hospitalization continuing after discharge for a period of not more than one year made application for restoration to his former position and has been certified by the Civil Service Commission as still qualified to perform the duties of his former position and has not been restored thereto.

SEC. 104. No part of any appropriation made available by the provisions of this title shall be used for the purchase or sale or real estate or for the purpose of establishing new offices outside the District of Columbia: Provided, That this limitation shall not apply to programs which have been approved by the Congress and appropriations made therefor.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 301. No part of any appropriation contained in this Act, or of the funds available for expenditure by any corporation or agency included in this Act, shall be used for publicity or propaganda purposes designed to support or defeat legislation pending before the Congress.

SEC. 302. No part of any appropriation contained in this Act, or of the funds available for expenditure by any corporation or agency included in this Act, shall be used to pay the compensation of any employee engaged in personnel work in excess of the number that would be provided by a ratio of one such employee to one hundred and thirty-five, or a part thereof, full-time, part-time, and intermittent employees of the corporation or agency concerned: Provided, That for purposes of this section employees shall be considered as engaged in personnel work if they spend half time or more in personnel administration consisting of direction and administration of the personnel program; employment, placement, and separation; job evaluation and classification; employee relations and services; wage administration; and processing, recording, and reporting.

SEC. 303. No part of any appropriation contained in this or any other Act, or of any funds available for expenditure by any corporation or agency, shall be used for construction of fallout shelters unless the specific projects have been authorized by appropriate Committees of the Congress.

SEC. 304. None of the funds provided herein shall be used to pay any recipient of a grant for the conduct of a research project an amount for indirect expenses in connection with such project in excess of 25 per centum of the direct costs.

PART II

DETAILED ESTIMATES FOR TRUST FUNDS

EXPLANATION OF ESTIMATES FOR TRUST FUNDS

Part II contains detailed schedules and explanatory statements on the various trust funds, together with a summary table covering the trust funds, the deposit funds, and certain Government-sponsored enterprises. It excludes the detail on trust fund programs which require annual action by Congress (shown in part I) and the detail on the District of Columbia municipal government funds (contained in a separate budget volume).

TRUST AND DEPOSIT FUNDS DISTINGUISHED

The funds which are covered in this part of the budget are of two types as follows:

Trust funds are those funds established to account for receipts which are held in a fiduciary capacity by the Government for use in carrying out specific purposes and programs in accordance with a trust agreement or a statute. Within the category of trust funds, there is a subcategory of trust revolving funds, which are trust funds used to carry on a cycle of business-type operations, including certain corporations which are partly owned by the Government and partly by private interests.

Deposit funds are those funds established to account for collections that are either (a) held in suspense temporarily and later refunded or paid into some other fund of the Government, or (b) held by the Government as banker or agent for others, being paid out in lump sums at the direction of the owner. Such funds are not available for paying salaries, expenses, grants, or other expenditures of the Government.

Five Government-sponsored enterprises are also covered in the summary table. While their money on deposit with the U.S. Treasurer is technically handled as a deposit fund in each case, the enterprises are set forth under a heading separate from the deposit funds generally. One of the enterprises is without capital stock (Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation); two have stock which is largely owned by the Government but partly privately owned (Banks for Cooperatives and Federal Intermediate Credit Banks); and two are privately owned although Government sponsored (Federal Land Banks and Federal Home Loan Banks).

While the transactions in these groups of funds are a part of the financial program of the Government, trust and deposit funds are reserved for the purposes of the trust or the terms of the deposit; hence these transactions are excluded from the administrative budget totals.

TRUST FUND RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES

Receipts.—Like budget receipts, trust fund receipts are based upon collections received and deposited, including U.S. Government securities received in lieu of cash and contributions to the trust funds from the general fund. Reported receipts exclude borrowing and the sale or redemptions of U.S. Government securities.

Expenditures.—Like budget expenditures, trust fund expenditures are stated on a checks-issued basis, less refunds collected. The repayment of borrowing and the purchase of U.S. Government securities are excluded from the expenditure figures.

Trust revolving funds.—The small group of funds which constitute trust revolving funds are reported on a net expenditure basis. The collections of trust revolving funds, instead of being taken into the tables as receipts, are deducted from expenditures.

OBLIGATIONAL AUTHORITY FOR TRUST FUNDS

Most trust fund receipts are made available for use by permanent law, without requiring further action by Congress. In a few cases receipts of trust funds can be obligated and expended only in accordance with appropriations enacted by Congress from year to year. Examples are the funds of the U.S. Soldiers' Home and the general municipal revenues of the District of Columbia. In the case of the Highway trust fund, Congress controls expenditures by appropriations annually, but it grants contract authorizations in advance thereof. In a few other cases, the trust receipts are permanently available for program purposes, but Congress imposes annual limitations on administrative expenses.

DEPOSIT FUND EXPENDITURES

Deposit fund expenditures are shown in the summary table for this part of the appendix, but are not shown in the details. These expenditures are on a net basis; that is, the collections are deducted from checks issued, and the resulting figure is shown as an expenditure. Checks issued include transactions to move money into other funds, as well as refunds and the return of money to depositors. When the collections are larger than the gross expenditures, the amount shown as an expenditure is a negative item:

GOVERNMENT-SPONSORED ENTERPRISES

Expenditures of Government-sponsored enterprises appear in the summary table for this part of the appendix, but are not shown in the details. These expenditures are on a net basis, and are equal in amount to the borrowing by such enterprises through issuance of their own debt, and to their disinvestments in the U.S. securities. A negative expenditure for one of these enterprises indicates either the deposit of monies used for the repayment of debt or for investment in U.S. securities. The financial transactions of Government-sponsored enterprises which are handled outside the accounts of the U.S. Treasurer are not included.

DETAIL OF TRUST FUND ESTIMATES

The detailed material in part II covers the trust funds which do not require annual action by Congress. Consolidated schedules are used for the smaller trust funds of each bureau or independent agency.

The material here follows the general format of the similar material in part I, with the principal exception that these schedules show receipts in place of showing appropriations. In cases where the receipts are not permanently appropriated as the money is collected, the schedules identify the portion of the unobligated balances on hand which is appropriated and the portion which is unappropriated. Also, no appropriation language appears here, and the narrative statement of program and performance usually consists only of an explanation of the sources of money for the fund, the purposes for which it is authorized to be spent, and the legal citations.

1. Acquisition of library materials.—During 1962, this included the procurement of manuscripts, Hispanic materials, fine prints, books and other library materials from certain foreign areas for the Library of Congress, and the acquisition and distribution of Government documents for the Library of Congress and cooperating libraries.

2. Reader and reference services.—These services during 1962 included the preparation of bibliographies, indexes, digests, and check lists; lectures; surveys of bibliographic services; poetry readings; musical concerts; furtherance of musical research, composition, performance and appreciation; and providing photostats, photographs, microfilm, and other forms of photoduplication, and sound recordings of folksongs and poetry to other Government agencies, libraries, and other institutions, and to the general public.

3. Organization and control of the collections.—During 1962, work continued on the preparation of the Dewey Decimal Classification, 17th edition, and the Union List of Serials, 3d edition, the preparation of an index to Dissertation Abstracts, and the preparation of printed catalog cards for additional manuscript collections located in the Library of Congress and other institutions. The National Union Catalog of Manuscript Collections, 1959-61, was completed and sent to the printer. The preparation of the National Union Catalog, 1958-62 (quinquennial edition) was started. Work was also continued on a study of automation possibilities for the storage and retrieval of information in research libraries.

4. Information service on copyright materials.—Depositors were supplied with preliminary information relating to copyright materials in selected subject fields.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS TRUST FUND PRINCIPAL ACCOUNTS—CON.

This schedule covers two principal accounts—permanent loan and bequest of Gertrude M. Hubbard.

Both funds represent gifts or bequests in cash, which have been deposited with the Treasurer of the United States as permanent loans to the United States, the interest upon which, at 4% per annum, payable semiannually, is available to the Librarian for the purposes specified in each case.

As of June 30, 1962, the principal in the permanent loan account, which shall not exceed the sum of $10 million (2 U.S.C. 158; 31 U.S.C. 725s, Public Law 87-522), was distributed as follows (in thousands of dollars):

Music activities.....	2,266
Fine arts.....	397
American history.....	307
Hispanic activities.....	261
Poetry and literature.....	644
Miscellaneous purposes.....	588
Total principal.....	4,463

The additional principal sum of $20 thousand, representing the bequest of Gertrude M. Hubbard, is for the purchase of engravings and etchings (37 Stat. 319).

The use of the income from these accounts is described under Library of Congress gift and trust fund income accounts.

This fund is used to pay annuities to eligible widows and dependent children of deceased judges of the United States, to make refunds to former judges who elected to come under the Judicial Survivors Annuity System but who have left the service, and to pay claims of survivors of member judges for any unpaid amounts credited to the individual accounts of such judges (28 U.S.C. 376).

During 1962 the number of judges participating in the system increased from 350 to 409. This increase was due to the appointment of additional judges pursuant to the act of May 19, 1962. On June 30, 1962, there were 139 survivor annuitants on the roll as compared with 131 on June 30, 1961. The estimates for 1963 and 1964 contemplate further increases in judicial participation and in the number of survivor annuitants.

1. Advances, Foreign Assistance Act.—This trust fund is used to account for the military assistance sales transactions authorized by section 507 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended.

Section 507(a) of the act permits the furnishing of defense articles from the stocks of the Department of Defense and defense services to any eligible country or international organization, without reimbursement from funds made available for military assistance, if the country or international organization agrees to pay the value thereof in U.S. dollars. Payment is to be made in advance or, as determined by the President to be in the best interests of the United States, within a reasonable period not to exceed 3 years after the delivery of the defense articles, or the provision of the defense services. The major portion of sales made under the provisions of section 507(a) are on the basis of payment within 120 days after delivery of defense articles or performance of defense services.

Section 507(b) of the act provides that contracts may be entered into for new procurement without charge to any appropriation or contract authorization otherwise provided if the foreign government will provide the United States with a dependable undertaking (1) to pay the full amount of such contract which will assure the U.S. Government against any loss on the contract, and (2) to make funds available in such amounts and at such times as may be required to meet the payments required by the contract and any damages and costs that may accrue from the cancellation of such contract, in advance of the time such payments, damages, or costs are due.

The full amount of all firm orders received from eligible foreign governments, whether requiring cash in advance, payment within 120 days after delivery, or on the basis of a dependable undertaking, constitutes the contract authority authorized by this section 507. The largest portion of such contract authority represents sales to countries under the dependable undertaking procedure (22 U.S.C. 2315).

2. Advances for economic assistance.—By agreement with certain governments, the Agency for International Development acts as agent, utilizing dollar advances by them to arrange transportation services for commodities purchased by those countries (22 U.S.C. 2151).

3. Philippine assistance.—By agreement with the Philippine Government, the Agency for International Development acts as its agent, utilizing dollars advanced by the Philippines to procure commodities for them (22 U.S.C. 2151).

4. Technical assistance, U.S. dollar advances from foreign governments.—Funds advanced by foreign countries are used to pay some local costs of development grant programs in those countries in accordance with bilateral agreements (22 U.S.C. 2151).

These funds are administered by the Farmers Home Administration, under agreements with 39 individual States, for use in carrying out subtitles A and B of the Consolidated Farmers Home Administration Act of 1961. In these States, real estate type loans are made from these funds and insured under the regular Farmers Home Administration insured loan program at 5% of which not less than one-half of 1% represents an insurance charge that is retained by the Government. In some States, operating type loans are made at 5% interest. The entire assets of the 39 State corporations are being administered by the Farmers Home Administration, with the exception of

In connection with the insurance of loans and mortgages which are for construction, reconstruction, or reconditioning of vessels, and which are financed by sale of bonds to the general public, section 1111, Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (73 Stat. 272, 273), authorizes the Secretary of Commerce to accept deposits in escrow of proceeds from the sale of such bonds, together with interest due the bondholders.

Funds so deposited are to be used to make payments becoming due (a) on the construction, reconstruction, or reconditioning of the vessels, (b) for interest on the loan or mortgage, or (c) payments on account of principal in cases of default. Investments of the fund may be made in obligations of the United States with any income realized paid to the borrower or mortgagor.

Establishment of the fund was authorized by Public Law 86-127, enacted July 31, 1959. Through September 30, 1961, $59,517 thousand had been deposited therein covering construction of 10 vessels. As of September 30, 1962, a balance of $7,307 thousand remained in the account. No additional deposits into the fund are projected in this estimate.

Under the Federal old-age and survivors insurance system, workers, employers, and self-employed individuals make annual contributions in the form of taxes on earnings toward the benefits which will be payable when the worker retires or when he dies. An amount equal to the annual contributions is deposited in this trust fund for benefit payments and administrative expenses. Any excess of income over outgo together with annual interest is invested in Government securities (42 U.S.C. 401).

Payments are made between this trust fund and the Railroad retirement account so as to place this fund in the same position in which it would have been if railroad employment after 1936 had been included in social security coverage (45 U.S.C. 228E).

Effects of proposed legislation are included below.

1. Benefit payments.—The Social Security Act provides disability insurance benefits for certain disabled individuals and their dependents. An amount equal to one-half of 1% of wages paid and three-eighths of 1% of self-employment income is deposited to this fund for benefit payments and administrative expenses. The excess of income over outgo and annual interest are invested in Government securities.

2. Administration.—The Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare determines, at the end of each year, that portion of the administrative expenses of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare which is a proper charge to this fund. The amount shown herein for the administrative expenses includes interest on the unpaid charges.

Payments are made between this account and the Railroad retirement account so as to place these funds in the same position in which they would have been if railroad employment had been included under social security coverage.

The effects of proposed legislation are included below.

1. Construction.—Various public and private utilities advance funds to provide facilities which are not provided by the Administration under its customer service policy. These facilities are of benefit to the Government as well as to the customers and serve to promote greater efficiency on the system, reduce loads on existing facilities, and improve service to customers. Also, non-Federal groups advance funds for relocating facilities of the Administration as required for highway construction and other purposes (50 Stat. 736).

Seized property in the United States, of the governments or nationals of Germany and Japan, vested in the name of the Attorney General, is prepared for liquidation as soon as practicable (50 U.S.C. App.). At June 30, 1962, there had been transferred to the war claims fund $228.7 million. It is anticipated that an additional $25.5 million will be transferred to the war claims fund in 1963 and $50 million in 1964. In 1962, a total of $5.6 million in claims and settlements was made from such property operations and it is anticipated that $7.2 million will be paid in 1963 and $5.2 million in 1964. Interest in vested property is estimated to be $91 million at June 30, 1964, decreasing $58 million from 1963 and $92 million from 1962.

Enemy-owned property in the Philippines is administered for the Philippine Government by the Office of Alien Property in the same manner as funds for World War II properties (Executive Order 10254). During 1962 no transfers were made to the Philippine Government; it is anticipated that $1 million will be transferred in 1963 and all remaining funds in the approximate amount of $1.1 million will be transferred in 1964. The following statements include the U.S. dollar equivalent of currencies of the Philippines which become available without dollar purchase.

Property in the United States of the governments or nationals of Bulgaria, Hungary, and Rumania, seized pursuant to title II of the International Claims Settlement Act of 1949 (22 U.S.C. 1621), has been vested in the name of the Attorney General as has property seized from the governments and nationals of Germany and Japan. As of June 30, 1962, a total of $26.8 million had been vested and liquidated. Funds thus realized are earmarked for payment of war damages and nationalization claims assertable by U.S. nationals against Bulgaria, Hungary, and Rumania. A total of $24.9 million already has been covered into the Treasury.

The financial transactions of the Federal-State and railroad unemployment insurance systems are made through the Unemployment trust fund. In the Federal-State system, benefit payments are made by each State, financed by special State payroll taxes. These tax receipts are deposited in the Unemployment trust fund and are invested in Government securities until needed for benefit payments. The expenses of State and Federal administration (including those of the Federal-State employment service), are paid from the fund out of revenue from the Federal unemployment tax, assessed on employers, of 0.4% of the first $3 thousand of wages.

Both the benefit payments and administrative expenses of the separate unemployment insurance program for railroad employees are paid from the Unemployment trust fund and receipts from the tax on wages of railroad employees are deposited in the fund to meet these expenses.

On June 30, 1962, the cash balance of $5,831,553 thousand was distributed as follows among the various accounts maintained in the fund (in thousands of dollars):

State unemployment trust accounts	5,797,307
Railroad unemployment insurance account:
Benefits and refunds	11,444
Administrative expense account	4,106
Temporary extended railroad unemployment insurance account	695
Federal extended compensation account	2,086
Employment Security Administration account	7,687
Federal unemployment account	7,263
Unappropriated receipts	964
Total	5,831,553

Legislation will again be proposed to strengthen the Federal-State unemployment insurance system. Also, legislation is anticipated which would increase employer payroll contributions in the Railroad unemployment insurance program in order to fully fund current benefit levels and permit the elimination of the deficit in the railroad unemployment insurance account.

The fund is maintained through (a) contributions by participants, including all Foreign Service officers and eligible Foreign Service staff officers and employees of 6.5% of their basic annual salaries; (b) matching Government (employer) contributions from the appropriations from which salaries are paid; (c) interest on investments.

It is estimated that approximately 1,228 annuitants will be paid retirement benefits from this fund during 1964 compared with 1,021 at the end of 1962 and 1,126 at the end of 1963. Gratuities represent payments made to Foreign Service officers in classes 4, 5, 6, and 7 who are selected out of the Service.

While income still exceeds outgo, the long-range projections for this fund indicate that payments will exceed income in the near future and the Government will need to supplement its current practice of only matching employee deductions.

1-5. Foreign claims settlement.—The Foreign Claims Settlement Commission is authorized to adjudicate claims of American nationals against Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Italy, Mexico, Panama, Poland, Rumania, Soviet Union, and Yugoslavia. Upon certification by the Commission, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to make payments on awards.

6. Losses in melting gold.—Out of the receipts to be covered into the Treasury under section 7 of the Gold Reserve Act of 1934, an amount is made available sufficient to cover the difference between the value of gold as carried in the general account of the Treasurer of the United States and the value of such gold after melting and refining (48 Stat. 1061).

7. National defense conditional gifts.—The Secretary of the Treasury accepts on behalf of the United States, conditional gifts of money or other intangible property to be used for a particular defense purpose. Intangibles other than money are converted at the best terms available. The moneys held in trust are paid to those appropriation accounts which best effectuate the intent of the donors (68 Stat. 566).

8. Payment of pre-1934 bonds of the Government of the Philippines.—This trust account provides for payment of principal and interest on outstanding bonds of the Philippines, provinces, cities, and municipalities issued prior to May 1, 1934, under authority of acts of Congress. The value of unmatured outstanding bonds is $639 thousand (22 U.S.C. 1393(g)(5)). These outstanding bonds will mature on July 1, 1963.

9. Payment of unclaimed moneys.—Payments are made to individuals who establish their right to moneys held in trust pending claims of owners.

Unclaimed moneys of individuals whose whereabouts are known.—Amounts are held in trust awaiting settlement of allowances of claims (31 U.S.C. 725).

Matured obligations of the District of Columbia.—Funds from inactive accounts are transferred to this account to meet matured obligations of the District of Columbia when and if presented (31 U.S.C. 725s). As of June 30, 1962, there was a balance of $8 thousand in the fund.

To promote the education of the blind.—The $250 thousand uninvested credit, on the books of the Treasury, is an unexpendable endowment fund established to promote the education of the blind in the United States. A permanent annual appropriation of $10 thousand being equivalent to 4% on the principal, is paid to the American Printing House for the Blind (20 U.S.C. 101).

The secondary market operations of the Federal National Mortgage Association were authorized by the Housing Act of 1954 to provide limited liquidity for Government insured and guaranteed mortgages and to improve the distribution of investment capital available for home mortgage financing. Mortgage purchases and short-term loans secured by Federal Housing Administration insured and Veterans Administration guaranteed mortgages under these operations are financed by the proceeds from (1) the sale of obligations to private investors, or to the Secretary of the Treasury (the Secretary of the Treasury may not at any one time hold more than $2.25 billion of such obligations), (2) subscriptions by the Secretary of the Treasury to Federal National Mortgage Association preferred stock ($92.8 million was authorized in 1955, $50 million in 1957, and $65 million in 1958, making a total of $207.8 million), (3) mandatory subscriptions to the Association's common stock by mortgage sellers and by borrowers, (4) the sale of mortgages to the investing public, (5) repayments and prepayments of mortgage principal, and (6) income from operations. Government management is intended to be transitional, to be succeeded by private operations when the Government's investment is retired. The present interim program, financed by private as well as by Government investment funds, is treated as a trust fund. Operations are discussed in part I of the budget in connection with the program's general fund financing and effect on budget expenditures.

This fund (72 Stat. 1154) was established in 1940 as the financing mechanism for World War II servicemen's and veterans' insurance program authorized by the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940. Over 22,000,000 policies have been issued under this program. Because issuance of new policies was ended in 1951 the insurance in force will continue to decline. The general decline in the activity of the fund is indicated in the following table (dollars in millions):

	June 30, 1961	June 30, 1962	June 30, 1963	June 30, 1964
Number of policies in force	5,197,999	5,001,726	4,946,000	4,887,000
Amount of insurance in force	$34,023	$32,538	$32,150	$31,750

The status of the fund excluding noncash transactions is as follows (in thousands of dollars):

	1961 actual	1962 actual	1963 estimate	1964 estimate

Unexpended balance of fund, end of year	5,773,134	5,810,651	5,699,923	5,891,788

Assets of the fund, which are largely invested in special Treasury interest-bearing securities and in policy loans, are expected to increase from $6,240 million as of June 30, 1962, to $6,420 million as of June 30, 1964. The actuarial estimate of policy obligations totals $6,040 million as of June 30, 1962, leaving a balance of $199.5 million for contingency reserves.

Income of the fund derives from premium receipts, interest on investments, and payments which are made to the fund from the Veterans insurance and indemnities appropriation for claims resulting from extra hazards of the veterans' service or arising on certain policies held by personnel on active military duty. Administrative expenses are charged to the General operating expenses appropriation.

The estimate of 1963 dividends includes $222 million for accelerated payments and $90 million for a special dividend, both of which are being disbursed during the month of January 1963. All dividends which would normally have been disbursed throughout calendar year 1963 have been advanced to the month of January in accordance with the President's request.

The fund is operated on a commercial basis to the greatest possible extent consistent with law. In the program and financing statement, noncash transactions, which are offset by other claims of the fund, are excluded from program costs in order to show obligations. The following business-type statements of revenue and expense and of financial condition include these noncash transactions relating to the status of insurance policy accounts.

Assets of the fund, which are largely invested in interest-bearing securities and policy loans, are estimated to decline from $1,137 million as of June 30, 1962, to $1,094 million as of June 30, 1964, as an increasing number of policies mature through death or disability. The actuarial evaluation of the policy obligations totals $1,100 million as of June 30, 1962, leaving a balance of $36 million for contingency reserves.

Income of the fund derives from premium receipts, interest on investments, and payments which are made to the fund from the Veterans insurance and indemnities appropriation for claims resulting from the extra hazards of the veterans' service or arising on certain policies held by personnel on active military duty. Administrative expenses are charged to the General operating expenses appropriation.

The estimate of 1963 dividends includes $15.6 million for the accelerated payments which, in accordance with the President's request, are being disbursed during the month of January rather than being spread throughout calendar year 1963.

The fund is operated on a commercial basis to the greatest possible extent consistent with law. In the program and financing statement, the noncash transactions, which are offset by other claims of the fund, are excluded from program costs in order to show obligations. Contributions—1. Purchase of flowers.—Funds are deposited with the Commission by private citizens for the purchase of floral decorations for graves in the World War I and World War II military cemeteries. The donor is advised when the flowers have been placed.

2. Repair of private war memorials.—When requested to do so and upon receipt of the necessary funds, the Commission will arrange for and oversee the repair of war memorials erected in foreign countries by American citizens, States, municipalities, or associations. Such moneys are accounted for through this fund.

This fund is used to pay annuities to retired employees or their survivors, to make refunds to former employees who have left the service, and to pay claims for employees who have died before retirement, or before their annuities are paid in full (5 U.S.C. ch. 14). It is estimated that as of June 30, 1964, there will be 691,500 persons on the annuity roll, compared with 602,269 as of June 30, 1962, and 648,024 as of June 30, 1963.

This fund finances the payment of subscription charges to approved carriers of the costs of health benefits protection as provided by the Federal Employees Health Benefits Act of 1959 (Public Law 86-382, 73 Stat. 713), together with expenses incurred by the Civil Service Commission in administration of the act.

Budget program.—The Act provides that beginning in 1963 the Employees Health Benefits Fund will be available to pay for administrative expenses incurred by the Commission, within such limitation as may be specified by the Congress. Almost 1,900,000 employees and approximately 79,000 annuitants are participating in this program. By the end of 1964 it is estimated that an additional 79,000 eligible employee and survivor annuitants will participate in the program. For 1964 it is estimated that $266.9 million will be deposited into the fund from amounts withheld from employees and annuitants and $140.5 million will be contributed by the Government. On the basis of these forecasts, $391.7 million will be paid from the fund to approved health benefit plans. For each health benefits plan, 3% of the contribution toward such plan is set aside in the fund to provide a contingency reserve which will be used to defray future increased rates, or to reduce contributions, or to provide increased benefits. In addition, 1% of all contributions is set aside for administrative expenses incurred by the Commission in the administration of the act.

Financing.—The fund will be financed by contributions from participants and the Government.

Operating results.—Earnings will be retained to meet the cost of administration and future benefits.

This fund finances the payment of group life insurance premiums to private insurance companies under the Federal Employees' Group Life Insurance Act of 1954 (5 U.S.C. 2091-2103) and any expenses incurred by the Civil Service Commission in administration of this act as annually authorized by Congress.

Budget program.—Through June 30, 1962, with respect to the basic insurance program, a total of $600.5 million was withheld from the salaries of covered employees and $300.2 million was contributed by the Government to the fund. It is estimated that in 1964, $100.5 million will be paid into the fund by employees and $50.2 million by the Government. As of June 30, 1962, a total of $556 million had been paid by the insurer in benefits. It is estimated that over $124.4 million in benefits will be paid in 1964.

Most of the difference between receipts and benefit payments under the policy is placed by the insurer in a contingency reserve which is used primarily to pay benefits accruing to the survivors of retirees—a group which will rapidly increase as more insured employees reach retirement age. On June 30, 1962, the end of the last completed policy year, there was a total reserve of $351.8 million of which $101.5 million was held as a special contingency reserve by the insurer at interest, and $250.3 million was on deposit in the Treasury of the United States. The contingency reserve is limited to a level of $100 million, and the amount above this figure held by the insurer was returned in July 1962, and deposited in the Treasury of the United States to be invested.

A summary statement of the operations of the contingency reserve for the three most recent policy years, 1960 through 1962 and the total at the end of the eighth policy year follows:

STATEMENT OF ANNUAL ACCOUNTING AND CONTINGENCY RESERVE

8. Contingency reserve held by insurer at end of year.....	100,000	100,000	100,000	100,000

¹ By a amendment to group policy 17,000G, the seventh policy year ended June 30, 1961. Policy years thereafter will be from July 1 through the subsequent June 30.

² The refunds from the contingency reserve were made as follows: $15 million, December 28, 1961; $22 million, June 29, 1962; $1,483 thousand, July 31, 1962.

Through June 30, 1962, individuals whose beneficial life insurance agreements have been assumed by the fund paid $16.9 million into the fund. It is estimated that in 1964 about $3 million will be paid into the fund by this group. Former members of beneficial associations continue to pay premiums according to the rate schedules in effect at the time their life insurance agreements were assumed by the fund, but the Government makes no current contributions to the fund for these individuals as it does for employees covered under the regular program.

A contingency reserve has been established and held by the insurer at interest under the policy covering members of beneficial associations. This reserve, which was estimated to be $2.3 million on June 30, 1962, will accumulate interest consistent with that provided under the regular program. If the Commission determines that the contingency reserve under the beneficial association program has reached a level sufficient to meet adverse fluctuation in future charges, any amounts above this level will be returned to the fund.

Financing.—Premium costs are met by withholding from the salaries of employees 25 cents biweekly for each $1 thousand life insurance, contributions by the Government, and direct premium payments from beneficial association members.

Operating results.—Earnings are retained to meet the cost of future benefits.

This fund established in accordance with the Retired Federal Employees' Health Benefits Act (Public Law 96-724, 74 Stat. 849) finances (1) the payment of subscription charges to an approved carrier for those qualified employees and survivors who enroll in the uniform Government-wide health benefits plan; (2) the contribution to qualified employees and survivors who retain or purchase non-Government approved health insurance plans; and (3) the payment of expenses incurred by the Civil Service Commission in the administration of the act.

Budget program.—The act authorized the Commission to use money from the Employees life insurance fund, without regard to limitation on expenditures from that fund, through June 30, 1962, for administrative expenses. For 1963, however, Congress provided a dollar limitation for the Commission's administrative expenses rather than the 2% limitation of Government contributions as set forth in section 4(b) and section 6(c) of the act. The estimate of administrative expenses for 1964 is based on anticipated needs. During 1964 an estimated $28,765 thousand will be deposited in the fund. Participating retired employees and survivors are expected to pay $13,658 thousand and the Government will pay $15,107 thousand. It is estimated that at least $21,600 thousand in subscription charges will be paid to the carrier of the Government-wide plan, and $6,773 thousand to annuitants for their private health insurance plans.

Financing.—The fund will be financed by contributions from those participants enrolled in the Government-wide plan and by Government contributions for 1964.

Operating results.—There will be a $417 thousand surplus in the fund at the end of 1964 as compared with $267 thousand in 1963. This is interest earned on investments held during the years 1962, 1963, and 1964 but liquidated periodically to meet obligations.

This fund serves as a clearinghouse for payments by U.S. communications companies and other telecommunications users, including the Federal Government, to foreign governments for receiving and relaying radio-telephone and radiotelegraph messages. The charges of foreign governments against U.S. users are received by the Commission and billed to the users. The Commission then consolidates and disburses all telecommunications payments to a particular government.

The National Capital Housing Authority operates the low-rent public housing program in the District of Columbia under the authority of the Housing Act of 1937 and title II of the District of Columbia Alley Dwelling Act (48 Stat. 930). The 1964 program consists of the operation of 7,910 dwelling units and the development of 2,097 additional units. Management and development operations are financed through rental income, loans, and annual contributions. There is no debt service on Federal projects conveyed to the Authority for low-rent use; all other projects are permanently financed through the sale of Housing Authority bonds which are supported by the pledge of the Public Housing Administration to pay annual contribution equal to the debt service less any excess operating receipts over operating expense.

Income.—The income of the Railroad retirement account consists of taxes paid by railroad employers and employees; interest on investments; appropriations for military service credits; repayments on amounts loaned to the Railroad unemployment insurance account; payments from the Federal old-age and survivors insurance trust fund and Federal disability insurance trust fund. The railroad retirement system has a reinsurance arrangement of financial interchanges with the social security system so as to place these systems in the same position in which they would have been if railroad employment had been included in social security coverage. To help improve the financial position of this account, Congress will be requested to increase the limit on compensation subject to Railroad retirement taxes from $400 to $450 a month.

Budget program—1. Retirement and survivor benefit payments.—Payment estimates reflect the continuing growth in the beneficiary rolls.

2. Administrative expenses.—Such expenses are subject to annual limitations in appropriation acts (see Limitation on salaries and expenses, Railroad Retirement Board, in pt. II of the budget).

3. Loan to Railroad unemployment insurance account.—The Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act provides that when the balance in the Railroad unemployment insurance account is insufficient to pay benefits due under that act, necessary amounts are to be borrowed from the Railroad retirement account. When the balance in the Railroad unemployment insurance account permits, borrowed amounts are to be repaid to the Railroad retirement account, with interest at 3% per annum.

The Board administers an unemployment and sickness insurance system and an employment service to find jobs for unemployed railroad workers. The administrative expenses are shown as a separate account in the unemployment trust fund and are financed through a permanent authorization of 0.2% of taxable payroll. As of each June 30, the unobligated balance in this fund in excess of $6 million is transferred to the Railroad unemployment insurance account in the unemployment trust fund (45 U.S.C. 361).

1. Maintenance of earnings accounts.—The amounts of insurance payments for unemployment, sickness, and maternity benefits are based upon individual records of earnings and daily wage rates. This workload fluctuates with the level of employment in the railroad industry, rates of turnover, and similar factors. The costs are shared on a measured basis with the retirement program. Accounts posted were 1,070,000 in 1962 and are estimated at 1,050,000 in 1963 and 1964.

2. Processing of unemployment insurance claims.—Workers' claims for unemployment compensation are filed locally and certified for payment through regional offices. Regular unemployment claims were 2,048,000 in 1962 and are estimated at 1,700,000 in 1963 and 1,500,000 in 1964.

3. Processing of sickness and maternity claims.—These claims are filed by mail and certified for payment through the regional offices of the Board. Sickness claims were 798,000 in 1962 and estimated to be at about the same level in 1963 and 1964.

4. Claimant placement services.—The Board conducts an employment service for unemployment benefit claimants. This resulted in savings in benefit payments of approximately $6.5 million in 1962 as 43,100 placements were made. Placements should be at about this level in 1963 and 1964.

5. Administration.—The costs of administration are shared between this and the retirement program on a measured basis.

PART III

PERSONNEL COMPENSATION SCHEDULES

EXPLANATION OF PERSONNEL COMPENSATION SCHEDULES

The schedules which show the detail of personnel compensation are furnished to the Congress pursuant to section 204 of the Budget and Accounting Act, 1921 (31 U.S.C. 581). The number of positions of a permanent or an indefinite duration is shown; amounts are given for these, and for other types of employment and personnel compensation.

For the position figures, any position is counted if it is occupied or will be occupied at any time during the year. Therefore, the number of positions shown may exceed the maximum number of positions at any one time, and nearly always exceeds the maximum number of employees at any one time due to delays in filling vacancies, leave without pay, and similar factors.

Grades and their respective salary ranges are reflected in the stub column; the most commonly used grade series, the general schedule grades, is abbreviated "GS-____." Titles are shown for positions with a base rate of $12,845 or above. Salaries are reported at the rate effective for the greater part of the year. Since within-grade salary advancements occur at various times during the year, the rates shown will not be exactly equal to the compensation earned, but the difference is taken up in the "Deduct lapses" line. That line also covers savings due to vacancies, etc., and is offset in part by terminal annual leave payments.

The pay scales which became effective for many employees in October 1962 are used in both the 1963 and 1964 columns. A special deduct entry in the 1963 column accounts for the savings because pay was at the older, lesser rates for the first three months of the fiscal year. A special add entry in the 1964 column covers the cost, for the last six months of that fiscal year, of the further pay increases which will become effective on January 1, 1964 under existing legislation.

Separate entries cover employment in positions other than permanent (temporary and intermittent employment). Other obligations for personnel compensation are also detailed. Because most annual salaries are by law the rate for 52 weeks, an additional entry covers the extra earnings whenever there are regular workdays above the 52-week base. For employees with a Monday-through-Friday workweek there are no extra days in 1962 or 1963, but there will be 2 extra in 1964.

The final amounts in these schedules agree with corresponding entries in the object schedules of parts I and II. In cases where a consolidated schedule in part III contains personnel compensation which is reflected in two or more object schedules, a distribution by account title follows the total line.

The schedules in this part of the appendix, like the object schedules of parts I and II generally, exclude estimates which are proposed for later transmittal. Such exclusions relate to a number of items of proposed legislation affecting 1964 and occasionally 1963, a number of supplemental estimates which are presently forecast under existing legislation, and the use of such amounts as are currently estimated in the allowance for contingencies.
