Administrative Expenses and Refunds, Farm Credit Administration,

 Department of Agriculture-The Farm Credit Administration is authorized to estimate the cost of examination and administrative supervision of the banks, corporations, and other organizations under its jurisdiction and to assess on an equitable basis and collect in advance such estimated cost. The amounts so collected are made available by the Department of Agriculture appropriation act each year for reimbursing the "Salaries and expenses" appropriation of the Farm Credit Administration. Any excess of collections over costs properly chargeable to each organization assessed is required by law to be refunded to the assessed organization. (12 U. S. C. 832.)

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

GENERAL STATEMENT

The Department of Commerce carries on a broad range of Federal functions, including services for aviation, aids to business and industry, and technical services for other governmental agencies and the general public. In terms of costs the various programs for civil aviation represent the major portion of the Department's annual budget. Approximately 56 percent of the recommended appropriations for the fiscal year 1948 is for the establishment, maintenance, and operation of facilities to insure maximum safety in commercial and private flying. Aids to business, including the collection and dissemination of economic data, represent 17 percent of the 1948 estimates for the Department and technical services for other governmental agencies and the general public account for 25 percent. The remainder of the total estimate is for over-all administrative costs. In comparison with 1947 the estimate for 1948, excluding the Federal-aid airport program for which an estimate will be submitted upon completion of the National Airport plan, contemplates an increase of 28 percent.

The Department consists of the following bureaus and offices, discussed separately hereafter in the same order: Office of the Secretary, Bureau of the Census, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Civil Aeronautics Board, Coast and Geodetic Survey, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Patent Office, National Bureau of Standards, and Weather Bureau.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
The Office of the Secretary furnishes over-all supervision for the Department, developing coordinated programs, administrative procedures, and budgetary policies. Information, personnel, finance, and central office service functions are performed in this Office. An Office of Technical Services procures and disseminates technical information applicable to industrial processes, developed during the war in the United States and enemy countries. No marked increase over the 1947 level of these activities is provided for.

BUREAU OF THE CENSUS

Collection, tabulation, and publication of statistics on agriculture, foreign trade, State and local governments, business, industry, population characteristics, and labor force comprise the main aspects of the Bureau of the Census' regularly recurring program. The major item of increase in the 1948 estimates is a census of manufactures, required by statute to be taken every 2 years, but actually not taken since 1939, due to the war. A census of electrical industries, required by statute every 5 years, is also included, and provision is made for preparatory work on the seventeenth decennial census, to be taken in 1950.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS ADMINISTRATION

The Civil Aeronautics Administration is charged with the promotion and development of civil aviation, including the operation of the Federal airways system and the enforcement of air safety regulations as promulgated by the Civil Aeronautics Board. These responsibilities, already having become major governmental activities, are rapidly increasing in size and scope under the impetus of an expanding aviation industry. This expansion is reflected not only in the growth in volume of air traffic over new and existing domestic and international air routes, but also in the postwar acceleration of personal flying and nonscheduled air carrier operation.
The system of air navigational aids operated for the safety and efficiency of both domestic and international air traffic must not only be expanded to encompass new routes, but will also require modernization to meet the operational needs of the constantly increasing traffic volume over the system. In order to further insure safety of operation over the expanding domestic and Alaskan airway systems, which will increase from an average of 46,750 miles in 1947 to 49,560 miles in the fiscal year 1948, further attention must be given to the control of air traffic. The more immediate need is the installation of instrument landing systems at a larger number of terminal airports and addition of improved facilities, now available through developments in the field of radar technology, at major airports where traffic has become so heavy that present facilities are inadequate.

Air safety, a major responsibility of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, touches upon all phases of aviation and, consequently, the enforcement of safety regulations is influenced directly by developments within the industry. The Administration is, as rapidly as is compatible with the maintenance of its standards of air safety, delegating to private enterprise an appreciable volume of its inspectional work through a "designee program." However, the rapid upward trend in commercial air traffic, both scheduled and nonscheduled, as well as the increase in the number of registered aircraft which is expected to grow from 57,000 in 1946 to 117,000 in 1947 and reach 171,000 airplanes in 1948 will make it necessary for the Administration to expand its safety regulation work. This responsibility is further complicated through the complexity of the safety inspection work developing in consequence of the technological advances in the size and design of modern aircraft, and the recent requirement for the certification of nonscheduled air carriers.

In addition to the foregoing, the Administration engages in a variety of developmental and service activities associated with the promotion of civil aviation. Among these are the airport advisory service; a program maintained for the testing and development of air-safety and air-navigation facilities; and the operation of the Washington National Airport.

An increase of 31 percent is required for the regular operating programs of the agency. These programs include the operation of the Federal airway system, enforcement of safety regulations, and associated activities. The appropriation for establishment of air navigation facilities reflects an increase of 28 percent to provide for the installation of new air navigation aids and the improvement and modernization of existing facilities. The detailed estimates do not include a recommendation for the Federal-aid airport program. An estimate for this item will be submitted following completion of the National Airport plan. Exclusive of this item, the result of the foregoing increases is a total increase of 30 percent in the regular programs of the Administration over estimated 1947 appropriations.

civil aeronautics board

The Civil Aeronautics Board functions as an independent agency, although for the purposes of "administrative housekeeping" the Board is within the framework of the Department of Commerce. The Board has broad authority in the regulation of economic aspects of domestic and international United States air carrier operations, promulgation of safety standards and civil air regulations, and investigation and analysis of civil aircraft accidents.

Rapid developments in the field of aviation and the role of the United States in the International Civil Aviation Organization have placed tremendous new burdens on the Board. The Board has an important role in determining the future of the United States carriers in domestic and international aviation. Decisions of the Board materially affect operations of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, such as implementing Federal airways and enforcing air safety regulations, and the mail rate payments by the Post Office.
At present the Board has the heaviest backlog of work in its history. This backlog is increasing constantly and will continue to increase throughout fiscal year 1947 in spite of the increased personnel provided for this period.

The 1948 estimates reflect an increase of 33 percent over estimated 1947. appropriations. This provides for a general strengthening of the Board's staff particularly in the safety and economic fields.

COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY

Coastal surveys for navigational charts and geodetic control surveys to establish in continental United States a network of reference points basic to topographic mapping are the two principal features of the Coast and Geodetic Survey's program. Increases requested in 1948 reflect the reactivation of hydrographic survey operations at their prewar level, and the need for geographic data in various regions of the United States as an aid to planning major postwar public works projects such as reclamation, hydroelectric development, and highway construction. Increases in operating costs rather than an expansion in program account for the major part of the increase in the estimates for 1948.

BUREAU OF FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC COMMERCE

The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce prepares analyses of national economic trends, studies production and marketing data for major commodities in the United States and abroad, and supplies management advisory services especially oriented to the needs of small business. Seventy-five field offices in important commercial and industrial cities aid in making this information available to the public, and in keeping abreast of the changing needs of the business community for Department of Commerce services. A moderate expansion is provided to enable the Bureau's activities to keep pace with the general expansion of business activity and to carry the work load occasioned by the analysis of additional economic statistics and by the assumption of new responsibilities in the field of international trade policy. The budget for the Field Office Service will permit its continuance throughout fiscal 1948 at the level of activity to be reached by July 1947.

PATENT OFFICE

A continually increasing backlog of patent applications is being met by the proposal to expand patent operations as far as the limitations of trained examining personnel and adequate office space will permit. The budget sontemplates continuing throughout fiscal 1948 the level :eached by July 1947, augmented by sufficient personnel ;o administer the newly enacted Trade Mark Act. The uxisting system of fees makes the Patent Office largely self-supporting and a revised schedule of fees to be submitted to the Eightieth Congress is calculated to nake it entirely so.

NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS

Basic research and testing in such fields as radio propa;ation, metallurgy, housing construction, thermodynamics, yydraulics, and electronics are emphasized in the Bureau if Standards program for 1948. Development of standard specifications and techniques, discovery of materials and processes of possible value in industry, and scientific saluation of existing industrial products are among the uctivities undertaken in the aforementioned fields. The rincipal increases reflected in the 1948 estimates are for adio propagation studies planned to assure the efficiency of radio communications, both military and commercial, and to aid in the allocation of frequency bands; for the purchase, housing, and operation of two betatrons to be used in medical and industrial research; and for a modernization of the Bureau's electrical system. A general expansion to gear the Federal research program with increased industrial research activities is contemplated.

WEATHER BUREAU

The Weather Bureau operates the basic national system of meteorological observation stations for the United States and its territories, collects and analyzes observations, prepares weather and flood forecasts and warnings, bulletins, and climatological summaries for other Government agencies and private interests, particularly aviation, rail and water-borne shipping, and agriculture.

Direct services for aviation account for slightly more than half of the proposed expansion for the fiscal year 1948. The remainder of the increase provides for an extension of the flood warning service and a slight strengthening of the general weather services.

These are used for transportation of operating personnel and surveying instruments while engaged in local field surveys and when moving from one project to of field work, notably topographic, airport, and magnetic surveys, it is desirable that a few of these trucks (about 6 percent of the total number of trucks in use) be of the station wagon type so that facilities for carrying personnel and instruments can be adjusted to varying needs. They are used for the same general purposes as trucks and not as passenger cars. |

In addition, the Department has supervision over the Bonneville Power Administration, responsible for the widest possible use of electric energy generated at the Bonneville (War Department) and Grand Coulee (Reclamation) Dams; the Southwestern Power Administration; and the Division of Territories and Island Possessions, which supervises activities in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

The estimates of appropriation from general and special accounts for the Department of the Interior proposed for 1948 are $$ 314,281,220$ as compared with estimated appropriations of $$ 278,811,967$ for 1947 , an increase of $$ 35$,469,253. Estimates for the Bureau of Reclamation, $151,432,200, Bonneville Power Administration, $20,278,000, and Southwestern Power Administration, $2,725,000 , account for $$ 174,435,200$, leaving $$ 139,846,020$ for all other activities of the Department. In addition, the estimates for the Bonneville Power Administration and the Alaska Railroad carry contractual authority for $$ 6,000,000$ and $$ 15,000,000$, respectively.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

Appropriations under this head finance the Office of the Secretary and his general staff, the Office of the Solicitor, the Divisions of Territories and Island Possessions, Oil and Gas, and Geography, and certain administrative divisions that serve all bureaus of the Department. Under this head are also included funds for soil and moisture conservation operations on public and Indian lands, for the contingent expenses of the Department, and for meeting the costs of penalty mail.

The annual appropriations recommended for these activities total $$ 6,286,500$. An increase of approximately $$ 1,500,000$ is recommended for soil and moisture conservation operations which were held to a minimum during the war period. Except for the immediate Office of the Secretary, where some additional personnel is provided for, other increases are limited generally to amounts for within-grade promotions and for full-time employment in positions provided for in 1947 on a part-year basis.

COMMISSION OF FINE ARTS

The Commission of Fine Arts renders advice to Congress and the executive agencies of the Government on fine arts matters in the fields of architecture, sculpture, painting, and landscape architecture. The appropriation of $$ 12,000$ recommended for 1948 includes small increases to cover within-grade promotions and employment of temporary clerical help.

BONNEVILLE POWER ADMINISTRATION

This Administration was created by the Bonneville Project Act of 1937 for the purpose of transmitting and marketing surplus power generated at the Bonneville Dam, Oregon, which was completed in December 1943. By Executive Order 8526, dated August 26, 1940, the Administration was given the responsibility for marketing the power generated at Grand Coulee Dam. By departmental order the Administration was designated the marketing agent for power to be generated at the Hungry Horse Dam project in Montana, the Willamette Basin project in Oregon, and the Foster Creek project in Washington. In addition, Public Law 14, Seventy-ninth Congress provides that power to be generated at the McNary Dam project and at the Snake River navigation and power project shall be marketed by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with existing laws covering the disposition of power generated at the Bonneville Dam.

The Administration constructs, maintains, and operates electric transmission lines, substations and other facilities and structures for transmitting electric energy for sale to existing and potential markets, for the exchange of electric energy, and for the interconnection of the Federal projects with other systems now or hereafter constructed.

Gross revenues of the Administration from the sale of electric energy during fiscal year 1946 were $$ 21,546,634$. During fiscal year 1947, on the basis of present conditions, it is estimated that revenues will be approximately $$ 20,252,000$. The revenues for fiscal year 1948 are estimated at $$ 23,575,000$.

The present transmission system consists of 2,846 circuit miles of transmission lines, ranging upward to 230,000 volts, and 64 substations. Extensions and additions to be completed during the fiscal year 1947 will increase the number of circuit miles to 3,276 and the number of substations to 74 . Completion of the 1948 program will result in energization of 3,528 circuit miles and in operation of 80 substations. Estimates for the construction program in fiscal year 1948 total $$ 15,578,000$. In addition, the Budget provides for contract authorization not in excess of $$ 6,000,000$ for materials and equipment to be delivered in fiscal year 1949 for construction of facilities scheduled in that year. For operation and maintenance of the electric system and appurtenant facilities, and for the marketing of power, it is estimated that $$ 4,700,000$ will be required.

SOLID FUELS ADMINISTRATION FOR WAR

This Administration was created by Executive order on April 19, 1943, to coordinate Government policies and activities pertaining to solid fuels. Continued interruptions in coal production combined with low consumer stocks required the continuance of this agency. The 1947 appropriation of $$ 2,950,000$ contemplated operations until April 1, 1947, and liquidation thereafter. Consequently, no estimate is included for this activity. Funds are provided, however, in the amount of $$ 60,000$ for completing liquidation in 1948.

SOUTHWESTERN POWER ADMINISTRATION

The Southwestern Power Administration was established in 1943 by departmental order issued pursuant to Executive Orders 8944, 9353, 9366, and 9373 to perform duties assigned to the Secretary of the Interior with respect to the Grand River Dam project in Oklahoma, the Norfork Dam project in Arkansas, and the Denison Dam project in Oklahoma and Texas. By these orders, the Administration is charged with completing the construction of and operating the Grand River Dam project and marketing electric energy generated at that project and the surplus electric energy generated at the Norfork and Denison Dam projects, constructed and operated by the Corps of Engineers.
The Grand River Dam project was returned by the Federal Government to the Grand River Dam Authority effective September 1, 1946, and the project is now being operated by the Authority.
Pursuant to the Flood Control Act of December 22, 1944 (58 Stat. 887), the Administration has been designated by the Secretary of the Interior as the marketing agent for surplus electric power and energy generated at projects under the control of the War Department in Louisiana, Arkansas, southern Missouri, southeastern Kansas, most of Oklahoma, and eastern Texas.
The estimates for the fiscal year 1948, aggregating $$ 2,725,000$ constitute a decrease of $$ 4,882,400$ under the 1947 appropriation. In 1948 they provide mainly for the following: $$ 200,000$ for operation and maintenance; $$ 2,000,000$ for the completion of acquisition of the Ark-La transmission line to be initiated in 1947; $$ 600,000$ for the acquisition of the Lake Catherine substation; $$ 300,000$ for administration, engineering, general overhead expenses, and general plant and equipment for the present construction program which will continue into 1948; and $$ 25,000$ for plans and specifications for future programs.

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT

The Bureau of Land Management was created by Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, approved by Congress on July 13, 1946, to assume the consolidated functions of the General Land Office and the Grazing Service. Its aim is to bring under one management resources of more than 400 million acres of public lands located primarily in 11 western States and Alaska. This involves the study and inventory of these resources, the development of plans for their proper utilization and their actual management in connection with their use and development by thousands of individuals and groups. It also includes the administration of thousands of public land laws enacted by Congress providing for disposal and various methods of use of lands of all types.
The work of the former General Land Office is outlined in these thousands of public land laws. The Land Office also administered timber and grazing lands both in the continental United States and Alaska. It was charged with the survey and resurvey of public lands.
The Grazing Service was charged with the administration of 142 million acres of public lands located within 60 grazing districts established under the Taylor Grazing Act of 1934. This was primarily a land management and conservation activity. The consolidation of these activities places similar functions in one bureau and should promote a higher degree of efficiency in their management.
Annual appropriations aggregating $$ 5,007,800$ are recommended for this Bureau, an increase of $$ 685,284$ above the estimated appropriations for 1947. The greater portion of the increase recommended is to permit grazing administration to be conducted at about the 1946 program level. Except for an increase of $$ 71,700$ for fire protection on revested Oregon and California Railroad and Coos Bay Wagon Road grant lands, Oregon, the remaining increases are principally for within-grade promotions, salary advancements, and the filling on a full-year basis of positions provided for on a part-time basis in 1947.

BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS

The Bureau of Indian Affairs is concerned with the zconomic rehabilitation of the Indian wards of the United Jtates and aims to assure to them opportunities enjoyed by other racial groups in the fields of education, health, cultural freedom, and self-government. More than 350,000 Indians in the continental United States and 32,000 Eskimos, Aleuts, and Indians in Alaska come within the jurisdiction of the Bureau.

Among the functions performed by this Bureau are the operation of approximately 400 day and boarding schools and the supervision of the education of Indian children attending public and private schools; the operation of hospitals, sanatoria, and infirmaries; medical, dental, and public health nursing service to Indians in their homes and at clinics; the administration of about $46,000,000$ acres of forest and grazing land; the maintenance of an extension service, the principal objectives of which are to encourage the use of Indian lands by Indians and to effect the use of improved farming and livestock practices by Indian farmers and livestock men; the administration of a credit system; the construction, operation, and maintenance of irrigation systems; the maintenance of law and order on Indian reservations and the performance of social-service work; the administration of large sums held in trust for individual Indians and Indian tribes; and the construction and maintenance of buildings, utilities, and roads.

Annual appropriations aggregating $45,081,520 are recommended for this Bureau for 1948, a net increase of $$ 1,621,441$ over the estimated appropriations for 1947. Because of reductions in or elimination of appropriations aggregating approximately $$ 3,500,000$, a gross increase for the functions of this Bureau would be roundly $$ 5,120,000$. The major increases are for the extension of irrigation systems, principally on the Colorado River Reservation, Arizona, and the Navajo Reservation, Arizona and New Mexico; the classification of a number of positions held by Indians in order to bring them under the Classification Act; additional personnel required by continuous service operations affected by the 40 -hour week; an expansion of the agricultural extension service and of the health programs; improvement in the management and protection of timber and range resources; expansion of services rendered to Indians and other natives of Alaska; and for the payment of interest on funds held by the United States in trust for Indian tribes. Approximately 50 percent of the appropriations to this Bureau are for education and health purposes. There is a notable increase in school attendance, particularly boarding schools, and a greater utilization of hospital facilities because of the return to the reservation of many individuals and families who were in the armed forces or employed in war industries. It has been necessary to provide substantial increases in funds for the operation of schools and hospitals to meet rising costs of supplies and materials.

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION

The objectives of the Bureau of Reclamation concern the conservation of land and water resources; the transformation, through irrigation, of desert lands into productive farms; the protection, through adequate water supplies, of established agricultural economy from the adverse effects of recurring droughts in the semiarid regions; and the stabilization of the livestock industry at a high level through providing the means of growing feed and forage crops. In company with these major purposes is the function of creating facilities for generation of hydroelectric power, land drainage, control of floods, improvement of navigation, silt control, regulation of stream flow, provision of municipal water supplies, and the incidental development of recreational areas and wildlife refuges.

The responsibilities of the Bureau include the planning, construction, and operation of these multipurpose facilities which must be completely coordinated with facilities already built or planned to be constructed in the future, either by the Bureau of Reclamation or other agencies, so that the water resources may be used most beneficially. The activities of the Bureau are carried on in the 17 Western States.

The 1948 budget provides for surveys and investigations, preparation of reports, plans, and specifications, economic studies, and land use analysis, in the amount of $$ 5,000,000$ for general investigations, $$ 1,810,000$ specifically for the Missouri River Basin, and $$ 500,000$ specifically for the Colorado River development.

The scope of activities of the Bureau has been extended from year to year so that to the present time 58 irrigation projects or divisions of projects have been completed, of which 34 have been turned over to the water users for operation and maintenance. No Federal funds will be required for these latter projects. In the fiscal year 1948, the Bureau will operate and maintain the remaining 24 projects. During 1947, 2,420,361 acres are being irrigated from Bureau facilities of which 685,000 acres are being irrigated by Bureau forces, and in 1948 it is estimated that these acreages will increase to $2,486,600$ and 744,000 , respectively. Operation and maintenance costs of power systems are financed from power revenues within limitations established in the appropriations for the particular project. Energy generated at Bureau plants in fiscal year 1947 will approximate 13.572 billion kilowatt-hours and is estimated at 15.163 billion kilowatt-hours in 1948 . Operation and maintenance estimates and limitations from all sources total $$ 7,393,707$ for fiscal year 1948, compared to $$ 5,838,242$ made available in 1947 . The increase is due largely to maintenance work deferred during the war.
The estimates for 1948 for construction in the aggregate amount of $$ 130,942,000$, contemplate continuing work at a conservative but economic rate on 22 projects now,under way. These funds plus balances of funds available in 1947 will provide for activity on 30 projects and 3 river basins during fiscal year 1948. The major construction items in the 1948 program consist of $$ 27,500,000$ for Columbia River Basin, $$ 20,000,000$ for Central Valley of California, $$ 14,000,000$ for Colorado-Big Thompson project, $$ 18,000,000$ for Davis Dam, and $$ 23,000,000$ for Missouri River Basin.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

The Geological Survey is primarily concerned with the natural resources of the United States. It investigates the geology of the United States, and conducts research in geologic and related chemical and physical problems; makes topographic, base, and other maps of the United States, separate States, and special regions; investigates the quantity, distribution, mineral quality, availability, and utilization of the surface and underground water supplies of the United States; classifies the public lands as to their mineral and water resources, and furnishes technical data for the administration of public-land laws; supervises the technical phases of operations on public lands under leases, licenses, and permits; and investigates the mineral resources and production of Alaska, and surveys and maps the Territory's geology and topography. The investigative and engineering activities of the Geological Survey are distributed among four major units-the Geologic, Topographic, Water Resources, and Conservation Branches.
The recommended annual appropriations for the Geological Survey total $$ 18,104,900$, or $$ 8,243,228$ more than the total estimated appropriations for 1947. This increase includes $$ 5,500,000$ additional for topographic mapping, $$ 1,135,000$ more for geologic surveys (of which $$ 380,000$ represents funds proposed to be transferred in 1948 from the Bureau of Mines), and approximately $$ 1,000,000$ for water investigations. Topographic quadrangle maps supply much of the basic data needed for such projects or activities as flood control, drainage, irrigation, soil conservation, river navigation, highways, railroads, transmission lines, pipe lines, tunnels, airports, television and radar towers, and large industrial developments. The number of large public works projects authorized or under consideration, as well as other important needs, require the acceleration of the topographic mapping program.
The depletion of our known deposits of critical and essential minerals during the war period demands that prompt steps be taken to inventory the Nation's mineral resources. Less than 10 percent of the country has been mapped geologically on scales adequate to meet minimum current needs and many of the maps covering the Eastern States are obsolete.
Water for municipal supplies, irrigation, power, process uses in industry, inland navigation, and for other purposes has reached the limits of the supply available in many sections of the country. As the limits of supply are approached, reliable water information becomes increasingly essential for planning new and operating old developments, and for adjudicating rights. The increase recommended for water investigations will enable the Geological Survey to expand its cooperative program with States and municipalities, to supply basic water data to Federal and other agencies concerned with reclamation, flood control, and water utilization problems, and to make water-resource studies of national interest.

With the expansion of the mapping program there will be a substantial increase in the issuance of new or revised maps. An increase of approximately $$ 240,000$ is recommended for printing maps and other data prepared by the Survey. Of the increase recommended, $$ 120,000$ is for the acquisition of new equipment, some of which will replace obsolete pieces.

BUREAU OF MINES

The Bureau of Mines is engaged in scientific and technological research concerning mining. It has two basic objectives-conservation of minerals through increased efficiency in their mining, preparation, and use; and conservation of human life through safe methods of operating mines and plants.

Annual appropriations aggregating $$ 16,834,000$ are recommended for this Bureau for 1948, as compared with $$ 16,164,815$ estimated appropriations in 1947. The major increases recommended are for expenses of mining experiment stations; metallurgical research in pilot plants; and the compilation and economic analysis of data required by the mining industry. During 1947 the Bureau has absorbed increased pay costs at the expense of its several important programs. The recommendations for 1948 include funds to cover these costs.

The serious depletion of the Nation's deposits of highgrade minerals, including coal and petroleum reserves, during the war period compels a dependence on lower grade ores until new sources of raw materials are discovered. With funds provided for national defense purposes this Bureau was engaged in developing new methods and processes for the economic mining and utilization of these lower grade deposits. Much progress has been made in that direction but a considerable amount of work remains to be done. The total appropriations recommended for 1948 include funds for continuing these essential programs at a level considerably below that maintained during the war.

There is included in the recommended appropriations $$ 5,000,000$ for the continuation of the research and develjpment work directed toward the production of synthetic iquid fuels from coal, oil shale, agricultural and forestry ?roducts, as authorized by the act of April 5, 1944.

NAIIONAL PARK SERVICE

The National Park Service is responsible for the administration, protection, maintenance, and operation of some 170 areas of the national park system and 20 other areas and projects. These areas contain more than 22 million acres of federally owned lands with 4,500 miles of roads, 6,600 miles of trails, and about 3,700 buildings and other improvements.

War conditions caused a decline in visitation to National Park Service areas from a high of around 21 million in 1941 to a low of 6.9 million in the travel year ended September 30, 1943. As visitation decreased, appropriations were reduced, and the Service was placed essentially on a custodial basis. Services normally provided for the benefit of tourists were eliminated. Following the surrender of Japan, visitation to all areas increased, even though the travel season was drawing to a close.
For the travel year ended September 30, 1946, the areas were visited by $21,682,782$ persons, an increase of 106 percent over the 1945 travel year, and 3 percent over the previous all-time record of $21,050,426$ visitors in the 1941 travel year.

The amount recommended for this Service for 1948 is $$ 14,555,500$, or $$ 11,462,455$ below the estimated total appropriations for 1947 . Funds for the construction and maintenance of roads, trails, parkways, and physical improvements, show a reduction of $$ 13,330,000$. This decrease is offset by increases to permit rendition of minimum service to visitors, winter sports in some areas, planning for future development, the acquisition of lands and water rights, cooperative studies in river basins, and the administration of recreational areas surrounding reservoirs formed by dams constructed by Federal agencies. [ncreasing costs of supplies, materials, and equipment call for additional funds to meet such costs. An appropriation of $$ 75,000$ is recommended for reestablishing the Travel Bureau abolished in 1943 because of the war.
An increase is recommended to permit the Service to administer more adequately its concession operations, and $$ 132,000$ is recommended for the erection at Mammoth Cave National Park, Ky., of a concession building.

FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE

This Service is responsible for the conservation and development of our fish, bird, game, and other wildlife resources. To this end it operates fish cultural stations, ish screens, and wildlife refuges; it enforces conservation laws regarding fisheries and wildlife; it protects the salmon and other fisheries in Alaska and the seals on the Pribilof Islands; and it conducts technological and economic research designed to aid the fishing industry and the fur trade.

The total annual appropriation recommended for 1948 is $$ 12,338,300$, or $$ 733,073$ more than the estimated total appropriations for 1947. This increase is spread generally throughout the Service. It includes the placing in operation of some of its vessels being recommissioned in 1947 after being returned from military service, expansion of enforcement activities in the Alaskan fisheries, and the conduct of river basin studies in cooperation with other agencies planning for the construction of dams, reservoirs, and related works. This latter activity is specifically authorized by Public Law 732 approved August 14, 1946. Funds are recommended for initiating a 10 -year program designed to eradicate the sea lampreys of the Great Lakes, as authorized by joint resolution of August 8, 1946.

GOVERNMENT IN THE TERRITORIES

This group of appropriations provides for activities of our Territorial governments-Alaska, Hawaii, and the Virgin Islands-financed out of the Federal Treasury. It does not cover the operations in Alaska of the several constituent units of the Department.

A total of $$ 9,016,700$ is recommended for this group of annual appropriations for 1948 . This is $$ 4,602,810$ in excess of the estimated total appropriations for 1947. Funds are omitted for legislative expenses in both Alaska and Hawaii, 1948 being the off-year. The major item of increase is for beginning the rehabilitation of the Alaska Railroad. In addition to a cash appropriation of $$ 4,000,000$, contractual authority for an additional $$ 15,000,000$ is recommended. For continuing the highway construction program in Alasla, initiated in 1947, and for maintaining existing highways, an appropriation of $$ 3,753,000$ is recommended, an increase of $$ 1,153,000$ over the 1947 appropriation. This increase is offset by a reduction of $$ 500,000$ in the amount for completing the reconstruction and improvement of the Richardson Highway.

PERMANENT APPROPRIATIONS AND TRUST ACCOUNTS

In addition to the annual appropriations described above, permanent appropriations aggregating $$ 18,538,800$ and trust accounts aggregating $$ 11,878,700$ are recommended for the Department of the Interior for 1948. Of the total for trust accounts, $$ 8,671,000$ represents trust funds received in the Federal Treasury and credited to Indian tribes or bands under numerous acts of Congress; many of these acts also specify the disposition of these moneys, including such purposes as per capita distribution to the Indians, operation of Indian lumber mills, payment of attorney's fees, and insurance on tribal property. The other large group of trust fund appropriations is that dealing with the Bureau of Reclamation, for which $$ 1,976,607$ is recommended for 1948.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

GENERAL STATEMENT

The Department of Justice represents the Government legal matters and renders advice and opinions upon reest of the President and the heads of executive departints. The work of the Department includes the activas of the United States district attorneys and marshals the 93 judicial districts, the Federal Bureau of Investition, the Immigration and Naturalization Service, the deral Prison System, Federal Prison Industries, Inc., $d$ the Office of Alien Property. The estimates for deral Prison Industries, Inc., are set forth in the tpter on Government corporations. The Department's [uirements for direct appropriations in 1948 are 0.3 cent over estimated requirements for 1947.

LEGAL ACTIVITIES AND GENERAL ADMINISTRATION

This section of the estimates consists of the legal and ministrative offices and divisions, the majority of which ve relatively stable work loads. Adjustments have in made where required to reflect variations in work ds and economies. Substantial increases are included the Claims Division and miscellaneous salaries and enses, field, which provide for certain admiralty gation formerly handled by the War Shipping Admin:ation. The Antitrust Division is increased to provide a larger work load which includes recovery of excess rtime charges against the Government. A new apspriation, "Federal tort claims," is included to provide all approved claims of this nature against the Departnt. Increases have been largely offset by reductions, the estimates for 1948 under this section being 3.5 percent over 1947 estimated appropriations.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Investigatory activities pertaining to selective service, deserters, impersonation, illegal wearing of uniforms, espionage, treason, and other violations of a wartime character have declined. This decline is expected to be largely offset by increases in investigations required for other violations including new legislation enacted by the Seventy-ninth Congress. Provision for investigations required by the Atomic Energy Act is to be made by allocating funds from appropriations to be available to the Atomic Energy Commission. Increased personnel is provided for the administrative and identification functions to handle estimated work loads and backlogs. The regular and national defense estimates are merged for 1948 and are 0.5 percent under estimated appropriations for 1947.

immigration and naturalization service

The alien enemy detention program has been eliminated, as pending litigation should be completed so as to permit final liquidation in 1947. This saving is largely offset by increased work loads caused by the rapid expansion of international travel, establishment of new ports of entry, and increased deportation costs. Approximately 2.7 percent of the 1947 and 3 percent of the 1948 estimates are due to a decision of the Court of Claims on May 6, 1946, pertaining to overtime of immigrant inspectors under the act of March 2, 1931. The 1948 estimate is approximately 1.2 percent under estimated appropriations for 1947.

FEDERAL PRISON SYSTEM

The prison population, which has shown an upward trend for 3 years, now is leveling off. Estimates for 1948 are based on an average inmate population which exceeds slightly the 1946 population. Provision is made for increased costs for food and clothing of inmates. Capital improvements are confined to a public works planning staff, certain projects already begun and a few new projects involving the custody and health of inmates. The 1948 estimate is approximately 0.2 percent over estimated appropriations for 1947.

OFFICE OF ALIEN PROPERTY

This office performs all the functions of the former Office of Alien Property Custodian, except the Philippine activities. The office is in process of reorganization and assimilation into the Department of Justice. The Philippine activities have been eliminated from the estimates of this office and a substantial reduction has been made in the original vesting program. Increases bave been provided for the vesting of cash and securities; also for the title and debt claims programs. The 1948 estimate is approximately 12.3 percent over estimated obligations for 1947. The Philippine activities were transferred to the Office of Emergency Management by Executive Order 9789 , recommendations regarding which are shown under the chapter heading, "Executive Office of the President and Independent Offices," in this Budget.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

GENERAL STATEMENT

The Department of Labor was created by the act of March 4, 1913, which established the purpose of the Department "to foster, promote, and develop the welfare of the wage earners in the United States, to improve their working conditions, and to advance their opportunities for profitable employment."

The reduction in the 1948 estimates for the Department as a whole is accounted for by the transfer of the Children's Bureau to the Federal Security Agency, the elimination of the programs of the Retraining and Reemployment Administration and the National Wage Stabilization Board, the nonrecurrence of the $$ 11,000,000$ item for payment of terminal leave and liquidation expenses of the federally operated Employment Service, and reductions in estimates made possible by the return to Washington of the departmental office of the Wage and Hour Division during fiscal year 1947. The Budget provides an increase of $$ 5,900,000$ over 1947 appropriations, after adjusting for the above items. The principal increases are $$ 3,300,000$ for the Employment Service and related items, $$ 1,300,000$ for labor information and statistics, $$ 500,000$ for Apprentice Training Service and $$ 650,000$ for various operating programs in the Office of the Secretary.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

The Office of the Secretary provides general supervision and policy direction over the activities of the Department. In addition to the immediate office of the Secretary, the activities financed from appropriations under this head include (1) administrative staff functions, such as the budget office, the immediate office of the Solicitor, the library, the personnel office and the Division of Information; (2) the operating programs of the Office of the Solicitor, Division of Labor Standards, Conciliation Service, and Retraining and Reemployment Administration; and (3) all departmental miscellaneous expenses. In addition, staff is included for the first time to enable the Department to discharge its responsibilities in connection with international affairs. These include direction of United States participation in the International Labor Conference, assistance in United Nations affairs, membership on the Board of the Foreign Service, and advisory services pertaining to administration of occupied territories.

The Office of the Solicitor, in addition to normal staff functions, is responsible for wage-determination work related to Federal construction, and for litigation and hearings activities under various laws administered by the Department. Work loads of this Office are almost entirely beyond the control of the Department and have shown a marked upward trend in recent years.

The Division of Labor Standards assists industry, labor, and the States in improving, developing, and administering labor laws and standards, and sponsors official activities aimed at improving working conditions of employees. During fiscal year 1947, after the transfer of the Children's Bureau to the Federal Security Agency under Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1946, the Secretary of Labor assigned to the Division responsibility for administration of the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act. This Division operates as a clearinghouse of information for State labor departments and in this capacity conducts national and regional conferences at which laborlaw administrators, workers, employers, and intereste ${ }_{d}$ public agencies exchange views upon proper labor standards and administrative methods. It formulates standards for the improvement of factory conditions affecting the safety and health of workers, and through assistance to States promotes sound safety and health practices in industrial establishments. It promotes educational work among worker, management, and civic groups and institutions, and prepares technical data for use by such groups and institutions, to the end that sound, workable labor-management relationships may be attained and maintained. Under its newest program, the Division handles all aspects of administration of the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act except actual inspections and court proceedings, and renders advisory services and conducts research relative to factors affecting employment of children and young people, and standards for such employment.

The United States Conciliation Service acts for the Secretary of Labor under section 8 of the organic act of 1913, which provides that "the Secretary of Labor shall have power to act as mediator and appoint commissioners of conciliation in labor disputes whenever in his judgment the interests of industrial peace may require it to be done." The Conciliation Service is the principal instrument for carrying out the Federal Government's policy of voluntary assistance to the parties in labor disputes, supplementing collective bargaining as the primary method of maintaining sound and harmonious industrial relations. Consistent with recommendations of the President's LaborManagement Conference held in November 1945, and of other labor and management groups, the Service has been materially strengthened through administrative action during the past year. Further action along these lines is contemplated by the 1948 estimates.
The Retraining and Reemployment Administration was created by the War Mobilization and Reconversion Act of 1944, and was transferred to the Department of Labor by Executive order on September 19, 1945. Its functions are general supervision and direction of activities of all executive agencies, except Veterans' Administration, authorized by law relating to retraining, reemployment, vocational education, and vocational rehabilitation, for the purpose of coordinating such activities and eliminating overlapping functions of such agencies; and coordination of Federal activities in these fields with the activities of State and local agencies. Since the basic legislation for these activities expires June 30, 1947, no estimate for fiscal year 1948 is submitted.

APPRENTICE TRAINING SERVICE

This service encourages and promotes the establishment and supervision of employee training programs in apprenticeable trades and occupations. Assistance is provided to State apprenticeship councils and to management and labor in the development and maintenance of apprenticeship programs.
Emphasis is being placed on programs for veterans to enable them to obtain formal standardized apprenticeship training and for the expansion of programs in the construction trades essential to the veterans' housing program. The agency has increased its staff during the current year and the estimate contemplates a further increase in personnel to take care of the additional work load occurring now and anticipated in fiscal year 1948. The number of programs in operation is expected to increase from 9,500 as of July 1, 1946, to 26,000 as of July 1, 1948.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS

The Bureau of Labor Statistics since 1888 has been charged with the statutory duty "to acquire and diffuse among the people of the United States useful information on subjects connected with labor in the most general and comprehensive sense. * * *" It collects, analyzes, and publishes statistical and other relevant information concerning employment, wages, hours of labor, earnings, wholesale and retail prices, cost of living, the effect of technological advances upon labor productivity and employment, collective bargaining and labor disputes, industrial accidents, foreign labor conditions, and building construction. The statistical series and economic studies produced by the Bureau are released through the Monthly Labor Review and other media. The data constitute indispensable information for legislators and other Federal officials concerned with formulation or execution of national policies relative to the well-being of the national economy. Moreover, the statistical and economic information is of inestimable value to labor and management in the conduct of industrial relations.

The budget for 1948 will afford the collection of more current wage data from a larger number of industries; more comprehensive data on price movements and cost of living in a larger number of cities, including at least one in each of the 48 States; more highly developed productivity information from an increased number of manufacturing industries; more current data on the status and results of collective bargaining; and analysis of foreign labor conditions better to inform this Government for improvement of domestic programs and for effective participation in international affairs.

children's bureau

The Children's Bureau, except the Industrial Division, was transferred to the Federal Security Agency as of July 16, 1946, pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1946. The functions which remained in the Department of Labor-those relating to administration of the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act-were transferred to the Secretary of Labor. By administrative order, the Secretary assigned operating responsibility for this program to the Child Labor and Youth Employment Branch of the Division of Labor Standards in the Office of the Secretary.

national wage stabilization board

The National Wage Stabilization Board is responsible for administration of the wage stabilization program insofar as it affects most wage and salaried employees who earn less than $$ 5,000$ per year. Under Executive Order 9809 issued December 12, 1946, the Board will be terminated on February 24, 1947, and residual activities will be transferred as of that date to the Secretary of Labor and the Treasury Department. Accordingly, no estimate is submitted for fiscal year 1948.

UNITED STATES EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

Under the act of June 6, 1933, the United States Employment Service was established as a bureau in the Department of Labor to promote and develop a national system of public employment offices, to maintain a veterans' employment service, and a farm placement service. The coordinated program of this organization is carried out through a headquarters and regional staff and a veterans' employment service staff provided for by a general administrative appropriation. The direct placement and counseling functions for veterans and other workers are carried on through the affiliated State employment services financed by Federal grants to the States for this purpose.
The responsibilities of the United States Employment Service were recently enlarged by the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 which established the Veterans' Placement Service Board to cooperate with the United States Employment Service for the purpose of assuring an effective job-counseling and employment placement service for veterans. The executive secretary of this Board is also Chief of the Veterans' Employment Service in the United States Employment Service and through that organization has the responsibility of carrying out the policies of the Board in accordance with the Act.

WOMEN's bUREAU

The Women's Bureau formulates standards and policies to promote the welfare of wage-earning women, improve their working conditions, increase their efficiency, and advance their opportunities for profitable employment. The work of this Bureau has been of growing importance during the war, in the reconversion period, and now in the postwar period. Many women who entered the labor force under the impetus of war-born need have not returned to prewar occupations, so that the percentage of women workers is higher than at any previous time. The return of competition for jobs in the labor market reopens opportunity for exploitation and requires increased vigilance on the part of this Bureau. The increased emphasis placed by the International Labor Organization on the role and requirements of women in the labor force necessarily is reflected in the activities of this Bureau, the focal point in the United States Government for this work. Consistent with the enlarged role of the United States and the Department of Labor in international affairs, this Bureau must be enabled to meet the calls made on it, in the international field as well as in domestic matters, if it is to accomplish the purposes for which it was established.

WAGE AND HOUR DIVISION

Under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, the Wage and Hour Division enforces the wage-and-hour provisions applying to employees engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for interstate commerce. This Division also administers the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act of 1936, which requires the recipients of Government supply contracts of $$ 10,000$ or more to operate upon a 40 -hour basic workweek with overtime beyond that time, and to maintain specified standards for child labor and safety and health.

Comparative Summary of Appropriations and Appropriation Estimates
[Appropriations for 1947 did not make provision for certain legislation enacted in the latter part of the last regular session, nor for certain unforeseen costs arising since that time due to circumstances virtually beyond administrative control. To the extent that such expenses cannot be absorbed within presently available funds, supplemental appropriations will be required. The latest estimates of amounts so required are shown in the detail schedules for the various appropriation titles and in a separate column of the table below]

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

General Statement

The fundamental naval policy of the United States is to maintain the Navy in strength and readiness to uphold national policies and interests, and to guard the United States and its continental and overseas possessions. The administration of this policy is carried out by the Navy Department.
The Navy Department comprises the Offices of the Secretary and Chief of Naval Operations, the Bureaus of Naval Personnel, Yards and Docks, Ordnance, Ships, Supplies and Accounts, Medicine and Surgery, Aeronautics, and the Headquarters, Marine Corps.

ALTERNATE BUDGET

An alternate budget, which represents a redistribution of the $$ 3,654,150,300$ recommended under annual appropriations for the fiscal year 1948 and a revision of appropriation language for this amount, is presented for consideration by the Congress. The alternate budget proposal appears on pages 689 to 725 and is designed to provide fiscal responsibility paralleling management responsibility, simplification of internal management, facilitation of fiscal control, greater clarity in budget presentations, and improvement of personnel control.

Navy Budget Program, Fiscal Year 1948

The budget of the Navy Department for the fiscal year 1948 provides for annual appropriations of $$ 3,504,150,300$ and for contract authorizations in the amount of $$ 170$,000,000 . In addition, provision is made for the transfer of $$ 50,000,000$ from the "Clothing and small stores fund" to augment the appropriation for the pay and subsistence of naval personnel and the transfers from the "Naval stock fund" of $$ 50,000,000$ to the appropriation "Maintenance, Bureau of Ships" and $$ 50,000,000$ to the appropriation "Maintenance, Bureau of Supplies and Accounts." The total budget request for 1948 is, therefore, $$ 3,824,150,300$.

Breaking down this total into major categories, the largest item is for the pay, subsistence and transportation of naval personnel, $$ 1,383,668,000$. This sum, together with funds provided for the training, education, welfare, and medical care of personnel in the amount of $$ 177,432,000$, accounts for 41 percent of the entire Navy budget. This is based upon an assumption of an average man-year strength of 473,286 , including officers and enlisted men.

There is provided $$ 1,105,603,000$ for the maintenance and operation of the fleet, including repairs, equipage, supplies, and fuel for vessels, ordnance and ordnance stores, freight charges, and upkeep of the shore establishments supporting the fleet. This sum comprises 29 percent of the total.

The amount provided for aviation, $$ 536,000,000$ of cash appropriations and $$ 170,000,000$ of contract authority, makes up 18 percent of the budget.

The Marine Corps estimates account for 9 percent of the total, amounting to $$ 341,460,000$. This is based upon an assumption of an average Marine Corps man-year strength of 97,500 , including officers and enlisted men.

The remainder of the budget, totaling $$ 109,987,300$, or 3 percent, consists of miscellaneous expenses, departmental salaries, and other small appropriations.
