MESSAGE TRANSMITTING THE BUDGET.

To the CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:

I transmit herewith the Budget of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, which is summarized in the following statement:

Budget Summary.

[Exclusive of postal revenues and postal expenditures paid from postal revenues.]

	Estimated, 1924.	Estimated, 1923.	Actual, 1922.
Total receipts	$3,361,812,359	$3,429,862,959	$4,109,104,150.94
Total expenditures (including reduction of the public debt required by law to be made from ordinary receipts)	3,180,843,234	3,703,801,671	3,795,302,499.84
Excess of expenditures		273,938,712
Excess of receipts	180,969,125		313,801,651.10

In the Budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, transmitted to Congress December 5, 1921, the estimated receipts for the fiscal year 1922 were $3,943,453,663, and the estimated expenditures $3,967,922,366, thus forecasting an apparent excess of expenditures over receipts of $24,468,703. At the close of business on June 30, 1922, it was found that the actual receipts for the fiscal year 1922 were $4,109,104,150.94 and the actual expenditures $3,795,302,499.84, making an excess of receipts over expenditures of $313,801,651.10. That we closed the fiscal year 1922 with a surplus of $313,801,651.10 instead of an estimated deficit of $24,468,703 was due in no small measure to the fact that at the beginning of the fiscal year 1922 a system of financial control was established in the executive branch of the Government under the budget system. Immediately upon the commencement of the fiscal year 1922 Executive pressure for the closest economies was brought to bear upon the business organization of the Government. For the first time in the history of this country coordination was established in the routine business of the Government and the departments and establishments thus brought together in a common effort for economy.

While the estimate of receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year 1923 as made at the time of the presentation of the Budget in December, 1921, indicated that the receipts would be $3,338,182,750 and the expenditures $3,505,754,727, a revision of the prospective receipts and expenditures made on July 1, 1922, the commencement of the fiscal year, indicated that the receipts would be $3,073,825,311 and the expenditures $3,771,258,542. That revised estimate indicated an excess of expenditures over receipts of $697,433,231.

As a result, however, of the operations of the first five months of the current fiscal year, a revised estimate of receipts has now been made showing a total of $3,429,862,959. The considerable increase over the July estimate is due to the stimulation in the collection of ordinary receipts aided by an increase in the customs revenues. On the other hand, due to continued pressure for economies and a revision of the expenditure program based on five months of actual operation, it is now estimated that the expenditures for the fiscal year 1923 will be $3,703,801,671. These revised figures indicate an apparent prospective deficit of $273,938,712. I am hopeful, however, that the conditions on which this estimate is predicated will change for the better in the ensuing months of the fiscal year and that the close of the year will show a balanced account.

It is well to mention that of the total estimated expenditures of $3,703,801,671 for the fiscal year 1923, approximately two billion dollars will be expended in the payment of pensions, payments to or on behalf of World War veterans, interest on the public debt, and for the reduction of the public debt required by law to be made from ordinary receipts.

This estimate of expenditures during the fiscal year 1923 includes the amount of the difference between the cash receipts from sales of war savings stamps, series of 1918, and their face value, which series becomes due January 1, 1923. This amount of approximately $125,000,000 represents discount accruals covering a period of five years, and while not an expenditure properly chargeable against the ordinary receipts of 1923 must be met this fiscal year and therefore has been included in this year's estimated expenditures.

We now come to the Budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924. It is estimated that the total ordinary receipts from all sources, excluding the Postal Service, will be $3,361,812,359. This is $747,291,791.94 less than the actual receipts for 1922 and $68,050,600 less than the estimated receipts for 1923. The items which make up this estimated total for 1924 are compared with similar items for the two preceding years, as follows:

The estimate of expenditures for the fiscal year 1924 is $3,180,843,234. This is the amount which it is estimated will be withdrawn from the Treasury during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924. This estimate of cash withdrawal is to be distinguished from the estimate of appropriations contained in the Budget, since withdrawals during the fiscal year will be made from appropriations heretofore made as well as from appropriations recommended in this Budget. Furthermore, a portion of the money to be appropriated for the fiscal year 1924 will not be withdrawn from the Treasury until after the close of that fiscal year.

These expenditures may be divided into two general classes, those which partake of the nature of fixed charges and are not generally subject to administrative control, and those which are subject to administrative control.

Included within the first class are pensions, payments to or on behalf of World War veterans, interest on the public debt, and the reduction of the public debt required by law to be made from the ordinary receipts of the Government. These items, together with certain other, but smaller, items not generally subject to administrative control, represent about two-thirds of the estimated expenditures, leaving approximately one billion dollars subject to administrative control.

The foregoing does not include expenditures for the Postal Service and the Post Office Department payable from postal revenues. Such expenditures for the fiscal year 1922 were $545,666,532.28, a deficiency of $64,346,234.52, payable from ordinary receipts, being included in the ordinary expenditures for 1922 hereinbefore mentioned. The estimated expenditures from postal revenues during 1923 are $559,996,841.69, an estimated deficiency of $31,502,570.76 being included in the estimated ordinary expenditures for 1923. The estimated expenditures from postal revenues for 1924 are $584,653,151.50, and it is estimated that through proper readjustments there will be a surplus of postal revenues over expenditures amounting to $952,439.56 for that year.

That we approach the commencement of the fiscal year 1924 with an estimated surplus for that year of $180,969,125 is certainly most encouraging. While I am hopeful that there will be no deficit in the current fiscal year, 1923, if such a deficit does occur, this surplus for 1924 will give a margin to take care of it.

Successful management of the public debt in the transactions involving large refunding operations is essential to the public credit and closely related to successful Budget operations. The Treasury Department has been carrying out a program of orderly funding and gradual liquidation of the public debt. On June 30, 1922, the gross public debt was $22,963,381,708.31, as compared with $23,977,450,552.54 on June 30, 1921, showing a reduction of $1,014,068,844.23 during the fiscal year 1922. This reduction was accomplished through the following means: First, in the amount of $422,694,600, through the cumulative sinking fund and other public debt expenditures payable from certain specific receipts; second, in the amount of $277,572,593.13, through the reduction in the net balance in the general fund of the Treasury; and third, in the amount of $313,801,651.10, through the surplus of ordinary receipts over expenditures for the year.

On April 30, 1921, the short-term outstanding debt maturing before June 30, 1923, was more than $7,500,000,000, which through the reductions referred to and refunding operations was reduced to about $4,500,000,000 on June 30,

Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

1922, and up to November 15, 1922, this amount had been further reduced to approximately $3,000,000,000. These refunding operations have involved the issue on October 16, 1922, of approximately $750,000,000 long-term bonds and the issue of Treasury notes aggregating $2,743,334,000 maturing as follows: $701,897,700 during 1924, $936,727,700 during 1925, and $1,104,708,600 during 1926. These refunding operations are carried on for the purpose of changing the maturity date of public debt obligations and thus to avoid the necessity for meeting obligations of many billions of dollars at one time. The resulting distribution of maturities does not indicate a reduction in the total of such obligations.

We now come to the estimates of appropriations for 1924, amounting to $3,078,940,331.69. This is $195,298,359.14 less than the appropriations already made for the current fiscal year, 1923. Early in July I called together in open meeting for the third time the executives constituting the business establishment of the Government and at that time further emphasized the need of more rigid economy in the expenditure of public funds. I stated that the estimated receipts for the fiscal year 1924 would not permit so liberal appropriations for that year as had been made for the current fiscal year, 1923. The preparation of the estimates of appropriations as they appear in the Budget was controlled by this policy. While it may be possible to make a small reduction in an item here and there, any material reduction will necessitate a change in the administrative policy upon which estimates of appropriations for the fiscal year 1924 are based. I am giving below a comparative statement of the estimates of appropriations for 1924 and appropriations for 1923.

Statement No. 8 of the Budget gives a functional classification of the estimates for the fiscal year 1924, which will be found interesting and informative, showing as it does the approximate amounts devoted to important Government activities and interests. This classification has four general divisions—general functions, military functions, civil functions, and a grouping of the nonfunctional appropriations.

It will be found that a total of $103,070,886 is carried for general functions, which include the legislative, judicial, executive, and the general administrative operations of the Government which can not be allocated to specific civil functions.

The sum of $1,256,715,939 is provided for military functions, which includes military pensions, retirement pay, annuities and World War allowances, and national defense.

The amount recommended for national defense is divided into two classes: Army, $256,552,887; Navy, $289,880,993.

The amount recommended for the maintenance and operation of the Army will provide for a Regular Army of 12,000 officers and 125,000 enlisted men, exclusive of the Philippine Scouts, which is the force now authorized by Congress; will provide for the training of 15,000 reserve officers for a period of 15 days and for 150 for a period of three months, as against a total of only 5,000 for 15 days during the current fiscal year; will provide for the attendance of 38,000 men at civilian military training camps as against 27,000 during this current fiscal year; and will enable the Militia Bureau to increase the strength of the National Guard from 160,000 officers and men—the strength on June 30, 1922—to 215,000 officers and men. While no increase in the number of students enrolled at Reserve Officers' Training Corps units at schools and colleges—now totaling 96,000 students in 225 institutions—is provided, the funds recommended, however, will enable a larger number of these students to be given both basic and advance courses of instruction.

The funds recommended will provide for all essentials connected with the upkeep of all military posts, camps and stations, the Army transport service, the coast defenses of the United States, Panama and insular possessions, and other military activities, and, in addition, allow $3,166,767 for new construction at military posts and $750,000 toward the replacement of worn-out portions of the Alaska cable. For the Air Service, the amount recommended is $12,871,500, which is $23,500 less than the 1923 appropriation, and will permit this service to operate efficiently in accordance with existing policy. For the United States Military Academy at West Point $2,066,428 is recommended, an increase of $6,799 over 1923.

The amount recommended for the Navy will provide for the present enlisted personnel of 86,000 men; will maintain all present ships in commission; will increase the steaming radius of capital ships from 13,080 miles to 16,200 miles, and other ships proportionately; will provide training for 2,000 officers and 7,000 men in the Naval Reserve; and will make provision for continuing all new ship construction in privately owned yards, except for reduction in speed of construction on three light cruisers; for suspending the construction of four auxiliaries in navy yards and reducing the speed of construction on two fleet submarines.

The amount provided in the Budget for military pensions and allowances includes $253,000,000 for pensions, $434,584,050 for World War allowances, and $20,389,289 for retirement pay.

The amount recommended for civil functions totals $953,599,096. Under this general function $14,587,167 is allowed for foreign relations and protection of American interests abroad; $18,553,686 for general law enforcement, which includes activities having to do with the enforcement of general laws and the administration and enforcement of special acts like the national prohibition act, the narcotic act, and the investigation and prosecution of war contract frauds; $7,199,000 for the control of currency and banking; $12,584,305 for the administration of Indian affairs; $17,582,018 for the administration of public domain, which includes those activities of the Government having to do with the care and utilization of public lands and the care and utilization of national forests; $11,391,909 for the promotion and regulation of commerce and industry, which includes the activities of the Tariff Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Patent Office, and those activities of the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce having to do with the promotion and regulation of commerce and industry; $79,491,995 for the promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation, which includes $50,411,500 for the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation; $4,514,900 for the promotion and regulation of land transportation; $590,171,942 for the Postal Service and land telegraph and telegraphic communication, which includes $590,166,192 for the Postal Service; $24,876,799 for the promotion and regulation of agriculture; $1,244,090 for the promotion and regulation of fisheries; $4,718,030 for the promotion of labor interests; $3,871,210 for immigration and naturalization; $15,877,339 for promotion of public health; $10,151,060 for promotion of public education; $10,619,456 for science and research; $29,563,110 for local government, including the District of Columbia; and $228,050 for civil relief.

For public works, under civil functions, $96,197,030 is carried, which includes $41,764,550 for rivers and harbors proper and items of similar character; $31,480,000 for roads; $6,889,105 for Panama Canal; $4,750,000 for Reclamation Service; $2,200,000 for railroads in Alaska; $5,728,950 for hospital construction and facilities for war patients, and $3,384,425 for other public improvements and Government plant additions.

Under nonfunctional appropriations is carried a total of $1,355,720,602, which includes $36,187,059 for refunds, losses, contingencies, and miscellaneous; $345,097,000 for public-debt retirements payable from ordinary receipts; $950,000,000 for interest on the public debt, and $24,436,543 for disbursement of trust funds.

It seems appropriate here to consider the course of the retrenchment policy of the Government since the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, the year in which the armistice was signed. Exclusive of expenditures made in the reduction of the public debt, the total expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, were $6,403,343,841.21. The expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, including $422,281,500 on account of reduction of the public debt payable from ordinary receipts, under the new cumulative sinking fund, were $5,538,209,189.30. This was further reduced for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, to $3,795,302,499.84. As I have previously stated, the estimated expenditures for 1923 are $3,703,801,671, while the Budget for 1924 estimates the expenditures at $3,180,843,234 for that year. These figures show a most satisfactory reduction in the expenditure of public moneys since 1919.

Can there be a reasonable expectation for further considerable reduction in governmental expenditures in the near future? This question is no doubt upon the lips of many. The burden of taxation caused by the World War has borne heavily upon us all, and it has been the earnest desire of the Government to reduce this burden to the minimum consistent with a proper functioning of the Federal services. We have seen, however, that approximately two-thirds of the taxes collected go to pay certain fixed charges, over the expenditure of which there can be exercised little or no administrative control. The interest on the public debt, the chief of the fixed charges, must be paid. This will be $950,000,000 for the fiscal year 1924, constituting nearly one-third of the total expenditures of the Government. Among these are also certain permanent and indefinite appropriations for various purposes, and certain large annual appropriations sanctioned by law and by public opinion.

After deducting these items there is left, as has been shown, approximately only one billion dollars, out of which these normal operating expenses of the Government must be paid. It is against this group of expenditures that the retrenchment policy of the Government has been directed. Never before in our financial history has there been such close scrutiny on the part of both the Executive and the Congress of every item which contemplates expenditures for the support of the Government. Not only have the departments themselves set up agencies of control both in the preparation of their estimates and over their expenditures, but the pressure of the Executive has been directed toward effecting economies in these ordinary governmental operations.

A reduction in expenditures would undoubtedly result from a reorganization of the departments and establishments upon a more scientific basis, but we can not look to this alone to effect such a material reduction in cost of Government operation as would justify the expression of hope for a considerable lessening of expenditures in the years to come.

There is, however, another field of Government operation—a rapidly broadening field of Government expenditure—which may be discussed with profit to us all. I refer to expenditures which are being made from appropriations for Federal aid in lines of research, improvement, and development which, while having no direct connection with the operations of the business of Government, have grown to become a recognized part of its activities. It is not easy, therefore, to divorce from our minds the fact that considerable of the moneys appropriated for the Government are spent for those things which do not pertain to the normal functions or operations of the business of Government. There is question as to how far the Government should participate in these extraneous activities, and I am frank to say that an answer to the question as to whether we can look forward to any further material reduction in the expenditures of the Government in future years depends largely upon whether or not there will be a curtailment or expansion of these activities, which have already added greatly to the annual drafts upon the Treasury of the United States. These extraneous activities have flowed from laws enacted pursuant to popular demand, and I take this occasion to refer to them for the purpose of showing that the taxation which necessarily results in providing funds to meet them is a necessary incident to the fulfillment of the popular demand.

In the efforts which have been directed to reducing public expenditures, I have been much concerned in apparent increasing State, county, and municipal indebtedness, and I am fearful lest this condition may be in part attributable to the expenditures made by the Government pursuant to its Federal-aid laws, as many of these laws require State contributions as a prerequisite to the extension of the Federal aid. Certainly an expression by the Government that it is willing to bear a proportionate part of the cost of certain aid work is an incentive to the States to contribute their share, and it is only natural that this should lead to increasing State, county, and municipal indebtedness.

In adapting its procedure to the needs of the new budget system, I fully realize the far-reaching changes which Congress made in its organization. While the budget bill was pending, the House, in anticipation of its final enactment, changed its rules in order to centralize authority and responsibility over appropriation measures, and, further, when the President last year transmitted the Budget, prepared according to the form and contents of the old Book of Estimates, and an Alternative Budget, prepared according to a logical grouping of governmental services, the House forthwith adopted the Alternative Budget and changed the form of the appropriation bills to conform to the chapters of such Alternative Budget. This was a change of far-reaching importance. Following the action of the House, the Senate reorganized its committee system for the consideration of appropriation bills, centralizing authority and responsibility in its Committee on Appropriations.

The President has received from Congress during this formative period of the budget system the most hearty cooperation at all times. Many conferences with the Appropriations Committees of the House and Senate were necessary in order to establish the form of the Budget. We were working in virgin soil, establishing new methods of financial procedure. I am glad to say that no important step has been taken by the Executive, even though the matter involved might be of purely executive concern, without first discussing the matter with your Appropriations Committees, and I desire to express my appreciation of the helpful spirit always evidenced by them whenever we had occasion to come together for the mutual consideration of questions of budgetary principle or procedure. I may say without fear of exaggeration that we have been during the past two years colaborers in the greatest reform in our financial history.

THE CHART PRESENTATION.

The chart presentation of the estimates of receipts, expenditures, and appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, given opposite page A5, sets forth graphically the source of income and how the average dollar of the estimated expenditures and appropriations is apportioned to organization units and functions in the Budget for the fiscal year 1924.

Chart 1 exhibits the estimates of appropriations by organization units, and gives the allocation of the average dollar to the several departments and establishments for which the appropriations are recommended. It will be seen that of the average dollar to be appropriated 0.4 cent is for the legislative establishment; 14 cents for independent offices, of which 12 cents is for the Veterans' Bureau; that 2.2 cents is for the Department of Agriculture; 8.6 cents for the Department of the Interior; 8.1 cents for the Navy Department; 8.9 cents for the War Department; 16.1 cents for the Post Office Department, all of which is payable from postal revenues; 39.4 cents for the Treasury Department, of which 25.9 cents is for interest on the public debt; 9.4 cents for reduction in principal of the public debt payable from ordinary receipts; and only 2.3 cents for the Departments of Commerce, Justice, Labor, and State, and the District of Columbia.

Chart 2 gives the estimates of appropriations by governmental functions and exhibits the purpose for which the average dollar is to be appropriated for the fiscal year 1924. It shows that of each dollar recommended for appropriation 2.8 cents goes for general functions; 34.2 cents for military functions, of which 14.9 cents is for national defense and 19.3 cents for military pensions, retirement pay, annuities, World War allowances, and life-insurance claims. It also shows that of the average dollar to be appropriated 26 cents is for civil functions, of which 16.1 cents is for postal service; 2.18 cents for promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation; and 2.6 cents for public works. Of the total, 37 cents of each dollar included in the estimates is for nonfunctional purposes. This includes 1 cent for refunds, drawbacks, and like appropriations; 9.4 cents for public debt retirements; and 25.9 cents for interest on the public debt.

Chart 3 exhibits the receipts of the Government by sources of revenue, exclusive of postal revenues. Of the average dollar received, 72.15 cents comes from internal revenue, 12.65 cents is received from customs, and 15.20 cents is derived from miscellaneous sources, which comprise interest and discount, sale of Government property, public domain receipts, fees, fines, penalties and forfeitures, gifts and contributions, repayments of investments, District of Columbia receipts, Panama Canal receipts, and trust fund receipts.

Chart 4 gives the estimates of expenditures by organization units for the fiscal year 1924. Of the average dollar to be expended it shows that 12.2 cents will be disbursed by the Veterans' Bureau; 4.1 cents by the Department of Agriculture; 0.5 cent by the Department of Commerce; 8.5 cents by the Department of the Interior; 0.5 cent by the Department of Justice; 0.2 cent by the Department of Labor; 8.5 cents by the Navy Department; 8.4 cents by the War Department; 15.5 cents by the Post Office Department; 0.4 cent by the State Department; 39.3 cents by the Treasury Department, of which 9.2 cents represents reduction in principal of public debt payable from ordinary receipts, 25.2 cents for interest on the public debt, and 1 cent for investment of trust funds; 0.6 cent by the District of Columbia, and but 1.3 cents to be disbursed by the legislative branch and the independent establishments other than the Veterans' Bureau.

Chart 5 gives the estimates of expenditures by governmental functions. It supplies information showing for the average dollar the general end or purpose to be accomplished by the expenditures during the fiscal year 1924. Of the average dollar to be expended during that fiscal year 2.8 cents will be spent for the general functions of the Government; 32.7 cents will go for military functions, of which 13.5 cents is for national defense. The gross amount, however, to be expended for national defense is 15.09 cents, which is decreased by a credit of 1.59 cents on account of repayments expected to be received from special war agencies during the ensuing fiscal year; and 19.2 cents for military pensions, retirement pay, annuities, World War allowances, and life-insurance claims. The chart also shows that 27.3 cents will be expended for civil functions, of which 1.4 cents goes for promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation; 15.5 cents for postal service; 4.4 cents for public works, and but 6 cents for other civil functions; that 37.2 cents will be expended for nonfunctional operations, of which 1 cent represents refunds and drawbacks; 34.4 cents for fixed debt charges, of which 9.2 cents is for public-debt retirements payable from ordinary receipts, 25.2 cents for interest on the public debt, and 1.8 cents for the disbursement of trust funds.

The amounts which form the basis for computing the allocation of the average dollar for the estimates of appropriations by functions for the fiscal year 1924, Chart 2, are given in detail in Budget statement No. 8. The data used for the income statement—Chart 3—are supplied by Budget statement No. 3, the data for computing the average dollar for the estimated expenditures by functions, chart 5, are given in Budget statement No. 9. The data for Chart 4, giving the average dollar allocation of the estimates of expenditures by organization units, are given in Budget statement No. 1, and similar data for Chart 1 are given in the recapitulation of estimates of appropriations.

Chart 3 does not include the estimated postal revenues for the fiscal year 1924, because such revenues are not usually considered receipts of the general fund. However, postal service operations are included in Charts 1, 2, 4, and 5, therefore, a computation excluding the postal establishment is exhibited below to set forth the changed proportions as the inclusion of the postal service increases the proportion allocated to "civil functions" and reduces the proportions of the average dollar allocated to the other functions.

Except for one person detailed for part time duty in the district office at New York City, no details to the commission's central office in Washington or to any of its district offices shall be made during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924; but this shall not affect the making of details for service as members of boards of examiners outside the immediate offices of the district secretaries. The Civil Service Commission shall have power in case of emergency to transfer or detail any of its employees herein provided for to or from its office force or field force.

NOTE.—The greater part of the commission's field force has been paid for many years by other departments and offices, the present cost of the detailed employees amounting to $280,798.10. To this should be added $45,680, the commission's current appropriation for the field force, a total of $326,478.10.

The foregoing estimate is to comply with direction in the appropriation act of June 12, 1922, that the commission estimate for taking over on its own rolls all employees serving as details from other branches of the service to the commission's 13 district offices. This estimate represents a reduction of $66,478.10 in present cost to the Government.

[1] The net disbursements for 1922 do not represent the full cost for that year because the appropriation was exhausted about the middle of June and payment on approximately $100,000 worth of claims was held up until the next fiscal year.

[2] The increase in the estimated cost of medical treatment and supplies is to take care of cases which have been transferred from Veterans' Bureau hospitals to private hospitals, and new cases which in accordance with past practice would have been sent to Veterans' Bureau hospitals but will now have to be sent to private institutions.

[1] The above items heretofore provided and paid for, in whole or in part, from Treasury Department or Post Office Department appropriations, must be paid for in the fiscal years 1923 and 1924 entirely out of General Accounting Office appropriations.

[2] The organization of the investigation work in the General Accounting Office, under authority of the act of June 10, 1921, 42 Stat., pp. 5, 6, sec. 312 (a), did not progress during 1922 so far as to call for investigation to any great extent at places elsewhere than at the seat of government. It is believed that this work will expand during 1923 so that the expense will approximate the original estimate and that the full amount of $46,075 will be required for 1924.

[3] On account of the present lack of certain equipment and the urgent need of same, about $30,000 more will be required for purchase of equipment for the General Accounting Office in the fiscal year 1923 than was expended in 1922 and more than will probably be needed in 1924.

PERMANENT SPECIFIC APPROPRIATION.

Cooperative Agricultural Extension Work—

For the purpose of paying the expenses of cooperative agricultural extension work and the necessary printing and distributing of information in connection with same, there is permanently appropriated $480,000 for each year, $10,000 of which is paid annually to each State which has by action of its legislature assented to the provisions of the act. There was also appropriated an additional sum of $600,000 for the fiscal year following that in which the foregoing appropriation first became available, and for each year thereafter for seven years a sum exceeding by $500,000 the sum appropriated for each preceding year, and for each year thereafter there is permanently appropriated the sum of $4,100,000 in addition to the sum of $480,000. The additional sums are allotted annually to each State by the Secretary of Agriculture and paid in the proportion which the rural population of each State bears to the total rural population of all the States as determined by the next preceding Federal census, but no payment out of the additional appropriations can be made in any year to any State until an equal sum has been appropriated for that year by the legislature of such State, or provided by State, county, college, local authority, or individual contributions from within the State, for the maintenance of cooperative agricultural extension work (act May 8, 1914, vol. 38, p. 373, sec. 3) ..... 4,580,000.00 | 4,580,000.00

PERMANENT INDEFINITE APPROPRIATION.

Refunds to Depositors, Excess of Deposits, National Forests Fund—

All money received, by or on account of the Forest Service for timber, or from any other source of forest-reservation revenue, is covered into the Treasury of the United States as a miscellaneous receipt; and there is appropriated so much as may be necessary to make refunds to depositors of money deposited by them in excess of amounts found actually due from them to the United States, and so much as may be necessary to refund to the rightful claimants such sums as may be found to have been erroneously collected for the use of lands, or for timber or other resources sold from lands located within, but not a part of, the national forests, or for alleged illegal acts done upon such lands, which acts are subsequently found to have been proper and legal. The Secretary of Agriculture is required to make annual report to Congress of the amounts refunded hereunder (acts Mar. 4, 1907, vol. 34, pp. 1256, 1270, sec. 1; Mar. 4, 1911, vol. 36, p. 1253, sec. 1) 75,000.00 75,000.00

PERMANENT ANNUAL APPROPRIATION.

National Forest Reservation Commission—

A sum sufficient to pay the necessary expenses of the commission and its members, not to exceed an annual expenditure of $25,000, has been appropriated, to be paid out on the audit and order of the president of the commission, which audit and order is conclusive and binding upon all departments as to the correctness of the accounts of the commission (act Mar. 1, 1911, vol. 36, p. 963, sec. 14) 25,000.00 25,000.00

SPECIAL FUNDS.
Payment to States and Territories from the National Forests Fund—
Twenty-five per cent of all money received from each forest reserve during any fiscal year is paid at the end thereof by the Secretary of the Treasury to the State or Territory in which the reserve is situated, to be expended as the State or Territorial legislature may prescribe for the benefit of the public schools and public roads of the county or counties in which the forest reserve is situated. When any forest reserve is in more than one State or Territory or county, the distributive share to each from the proceeds of the reserve is proportional to its area therein (acts Mar. 4, 1907, vol. 34, p. 1270, sec. 1; May 23, 1908, vol. 35, p. 260, sec. 1; Mar. 1, 1911, vol. 36, p. 963, sec. 13; June 30, 1914, vol. 38, p. 441, sec. 1)		$1,200,000.00	$1,200,000.00
Cooperative Work, Forest Service—
All moneys received as contributions toward cooperative work in forest investigations, or the protection and improvement of the national forests, including deposits received from timber purchasers to cover the cost to the United States of disposing of brush and other débris resulting from cutting operations in sales of national forest timber, are covered into the Treasury and constitute a special fund, which is appropriated and made available until expended, as the Secretary of Agriculture may direct, for the payment of the expenses of the investigations, protection, or improvements by the Forest Service, and for refunds to the contributors of amounts paid in by them in excess of their share of the cost of the investigations, protection, or improvements. Annual report is required to be made to Congress of all moneys received as contributions for such cooperative work (acts Mar. 3, 1905, vol. 33, p. 1070, sec. 1; June 30, 1906, vol. 34, p. 684, sec. 1; June 30, 1914, vol. 38, p. 430, sec. 1; Aug. 11, 1916, vol. 39, p. 462, sec. 1)		1,800,000.00	1,800,000.00
