[1] This item has been put under the title "Reserve stores on hand," in accordance with instructions for allocation of naval expenditures to object of expenditures outlined in Bulletin No. 1, Comptroller General's office, 1922. This should not be considered as "reserve," as it is not an accumulation of stock to be held indefinitely in storage for future needs, but is current stock material to be purchased or manufactured and only temporarily stored pending early issue to ships of the fleet.

	Total	16,424,000.00	21,067,615.00	20,168,268.80

NOTE.—The estimated requirement for provisions for 1924 is $22,300,000. It is estimated that the balance of stock and funds carried forward from 1923 to 1924 will be approximately $9,876,000. Allowing $1,000,000 worth of stock as a normal surplus, leaves $5,786,000 applicable for use during 1924. Therefore, the estimate of the amount to be appropriated is placed at $16,424,000. In addition, if the ration law is changed as proposed herein, it is estimated that some savings in the cost of the Navy ration can be effected through administrative action without detriment to the personnel, and that the cost of the Marine Corps ration can be materially reduced.

Maintenance, Bureau of Supplies and Accounts—

NOTE.—The foregoing estimate, as regards fuel oil, is based on bids received by the Shipping Board for bunker "C" oil for Pacific Coast deliveries for the calendar years 1923 and 1924, and on bids opened November 6, 1922, by said board for bunker "C" oil for Atlantic Coast deliveries for the calendar year 1923. In estimating the price of bunker "A" oil, a differential of 25 per cent was added to the estimated price of bunker "C" oil. The prices used in computing the cost of fuel oil on the Pacific Coast are for the grade of oil furnished the Shipping Board. In the event a higher grade of oil is required for the Navy, or should oil prices materially exceed those used in preparing the estimates, the amount requested may prove insufficient.

[1] The printing and binding for the Post Office Department and Postal Service for 1922 was paid for out of the allotment to the Government Printing Office for printing and binding for the Post Office Department; the appropriations for "Stationery"; "Railway Mail Service, Miscellaneous Expenses"; and "Official Postal Guide."

For the fiscal year 1923 the amounts expended for printing and binding out of the appropriation for "Stationery" were consolidated into the regular printing and binding allotment. Instead of making an allotment to the Government Printing Office for the Post Office Department, Congress made a direct appropriation to the Post Office Department for printing and binding amounting to $1,000,000. Therefore, for the fiscal year 1923 the printing and binding for the Post Office Department and Postal Service will be paid for out of the regular printing and binding appropriation, the appropriation for "Railway Mail Service, Miscellaneous Expenses," and the "Official Postal Guide."

The estimate for printing and binding for 1924 is submitted in accordance with Bureau of the Budget Circular No. 70, dated June 28, 1922, and includes the items of printing and binding at present being paid for out of the appropriations for "Railway Mail Service, Miscellaneous Expenses," and "Official Postal Guide." In this connection attention is called to the fact that a separate appropriation for the Official Postal Guide has always been made by Congress; but, as above stated, in the estimates for 1924 it is consolidated into the regular printing and binding appropriation in accordance with the department's understanding of Bureau of the Budget Circular No. 70, and that such consolidation will not preclude its future publication.

For reimbursement of the Government Printing Office or Capitol Power Plant for the cost of furnishing steam for heating and electric current for lighting and power to the Post Office Department Building at Massachusetts Avenue and North Capitol Street, District of Columbia (acts Mar. 1, 1919, vol. 40, p. 1254, sec. 1; June 16, 1922, vol. 42, p. 654, sec. 1)	57,000.00	50,000.00

[1] Expenditures for 1922 included in statement for the Division of Loans and Currency.

[2] Because of the incomplete organization of the Public Debt Service in the fiscal year 1922, it is impossible to set forth separately for each of the units as now constituted (with the exception of the office of the Register of the Treasury) expenditures for personal services during that fiscal year. Accordingly, such expenditures for the office of the commissioner, the Division of Loans and Currency, the Division of Public Debt Accounts and Audit, and the Division of Paper Custody are lumped together and shown in the above statement.

Estimates of appropriations required for the service of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924—Continued.

General object (title of appropriation), date of acts, references to Statutes at Large, or to Revised Statutes, and estimated amount required for each detailed object.	Total amount to be appropriated under each head of appropriation.	Amount appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923.
Allowance to principals: For allowance to principals of grade-school buildings for services rendered as such, in addition to their grade salary, to be paid in strict conformity with the provisions of the act entitled "An act to fix and regulate the salaries of teachers, school officers, and other employees of the Board of Education of the District of Columbia," approved June 20, 1906 (decrease of $15,000 submitted) (act June 29, 1922, vol. 42, p. 686, sec. 1)	$25,000.00

NOTE.—A new item is requested for 40 administrative principals, and, on the assumption that this item will be allowed by Congress the number of class 5 teachers has been reduced by 20. If the item for administrative principals be not allowed, the number of class 5 teachers should be increased by 20. Also, on the basis of the allowance of the item for administrative principals, a reduction of $20,000 has been made in the estimate for session-room allowances. This appropriation will necessarily have to be increased by $20,000 should the administrative principals be not authorized by law.

NOTE (by Board of Education).—This represents an increase of $5,000 over 1923. This is a computed item and is based upon statutory provision. A detailed computation is as follows:

APPENDIX.

GOVERNMENTAL FUNCTIONS.

INTRODUCTION.

A classification by governmental functions has for its purpose to set forth the general end or purposes accomplished by the expenditures made by the several organization units of the Government. Each function of government represents a service rendered directly to the people or else a service performed as a means of promoting, protecting, regulating, or administering services directly rendered.

The classification set forth on Statements Nos. 8 and 9 presents, first, the general functions of the Government. These correspond closely to the main organs of government established by the Constitution. The general functions have been divided into the following:

1. Legislative,
2. Judicial,
3. Executive, and
4. General administration.

The activities and duties of each of these deal with matters in all other functional fields.

Of the specific functions, it is important in the case of the National Government to segregate clearly the expenditures for military and distinctly war purposes from expenditures for civil services. Therefore a segregation is made of the specific functions into the following classes:

1. Military functions.
2. Civil functions.
3. Nonfunctional expenditures.

The military functions represent those activities conducted for military and war purposes and include those activities of special war agencies and expenditures made by civil services arising from war conditions. These were of special importance during the recent World War and some of them are likely to continue for an indefinite period.

The civil functions include those functions of government which have to do with the promotion of friendly relations with foreign powers; those which have to do with the conservation of social order and property; those which have to do with the conservation of natural resources and economic interests of the people; those activities which relate to the promotion and protection of health, the care and education of Indians, and the promotion of public education, educational research, and science.

The nonfunctional expenditures include certain important expenditures which are of a nonorganizational character. These are for the most part expenditures arising out of war, such as interest on and redemption of public debt, investments, refunds, and disbursement of trust funds.

The "refunds" and "investments" are segregated from other departmental expenditures because the former represents the repayment or refund of the whole or part of an amount previously received in payment of indebtedness to the United States, and the latter represents expenditures made in the purchase of notes, bonds, and other choses in action, and loans to foreign Governments, railroads, and the like, which are not expenses of operation but the conversion of cash into other assets.

DEFINITIONS OF GOVERNMENTAL FUNCTIONS.

For the purpose of defining the expenditures or appropriations comprehended within each general function, the following definitions are given:

A–1. Legislative.—Under this function are grouped only those activities of Congress as a legislative body.

A–2. Judicial.—Under this function are grouped those expenditures having to do with the judicial branch of the Government. It includes all United States courts expenses other than the District of Columbia courts, which are included under "Local government."

A–3. Executive.—Under this function are included the direct cost of the Executive Office, including the salary and expenses of the President and Vice President and the cost of maintaining the Executive Mansion and grounds.

A–4. General administration.—Under this heading are grouped the expenditures of certain administrative agencies which are of a general character dealing with matters in all the various fields of administrative functions and those departmental expenditures which can not now be allocated to specific civil functions.

This general title includes expenditures for (1) financial administration, (2) Government supply services, (3) public buildings service, (4) civil pensions and allowance administration, and (5) institutional and general expenses.

It excludes the payments made out of the employees' compensation fund, which are reported under "promotion of labor interests," C–12, and the civil service annuities paid out of the civil service retirement and disability fund, reported under "trust funds," D–4.

The "Institutional and general expenses" include only the salaries and expenses of the Treasury and Interior Departments not directly chargeable to any specific civil function. These include the salaries of the chief clerk's office of the Treasury Department (other than those relating to buildings service); other institutional services of the Treasury Department, such as Appointment Division, the Printing Division, the disbursing clerk, and the Mails and Files Division; and like expenses of the Interior Department.

Under "War Department" are included the salaries and contingent expenses of the department proper, and all military activities involved in recruiting, training officers and men at schools and training camps, maintenance and operation of armed forces, and provisions for war equipment and stores, which comprehend the purchase, operation, maintenance, or construction, as the case may be, of fortifications, ordnance, ammunition, and other military equipment and supplies.

Under the "Navy Department" are included the salaries and contingent expenses of the department proper, and all naval and military activities involved in the maintenance, equipment, and training of regular forces, the militia and other reserve forces as indicated in the preceding paragraph, inclusive of the cost of operation, maintenance, construction, or purchase of vessels, ordnance, ammunition, and of plants and materials for the manufacture of supplies and equipment for use by the Navy.

The "War and Navy Departments appropriations expended by civil establishments" comprise the expenditures made by the Bureau of Mines of the Interior Department, the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce, the Forestry Service of the Department of Agriculture, and the expenditures made by the Department of Agriculture proper in conducting researches and scientific investigations for national defense purposes.

The "special defense appropriations given to civil establishments" are made up of the appropriations and expenditures for encouraging production of minerals, the adjustment and payment of mineral claims, the protection of health of the military forces, the enforcement of the act to regulate explosives, and the administration and operations under the Wheat Price Guarantee Act of March 4, 1919.

B–2. Special war agencies.—Under this caption are included the war agencies organized in 1917 as a result of the World War, exclusive of the relief expenditures of the American Relief Administration and European Food Relief reported under "Relief expenditures," and the expenditures made by such war agencies from the national security and defense fund.
