INTRODUCTION

The Budget for the fiscal year 1946 was submitted to Congress on January 3, 1945. At that time it was impracticable to submit definite, detailed recommendations of appropriations and other authorizations for 1946 for the major war agencies because of possible material changes in war conditions. However, preliminary estimates were included in the 1946 Budget for the war activities for which specific recommendations were postponed. During recent months, detailed recommendations superseding the preliminary estimates for these agencies have been submitted to Congress by the President. These detailed recommendations were subsequently revised to reflect changes in the budgetary requirements of the agencies whose work load and programs will be affected by the termination of the war in Europe. This War Supplement now brings together these revised recommendations of appropriations and other authorizations.

WAR RECOMMENDATIONS SUBMITTED SINCE THE 1946 BUDGET

The following tabulation compares the President's actual recommendations for 1946 war appropriations and other authorizations which have been submitted in recent months with the corresponding preliminary estimates in the 1946 Budget.

Part I of this War Supplement contains supplemental tables which itemize by organization units and appropriation titles the recommendations for the fiscal year 1946 shown in summary form in the foregoing table. Supplement to table 6 itemizes the recommended appropriations for 1946 for general and special accounts, together with the actual appropriations for 1945 and 1944 and the actual expenditures for 1944; supplement to table 12 does the same for trust accounts. The actual appropriations for 1945 as shown in these tables do not include supplemental appropriations enacted since the submission of the 1946 Budget last January. Supplement to table 7 itemizes the actual reappropriations of unobligated balances for 1944 and the estimated reappropriations for 1945 and 1946. Supplement to table 8 itemizes the recommended new contract authorizations for 1946 and the actual authorizations for 1945 and 1944 together with the amounts included in the recommended 1946 and actual 1945 and 1944 general and special account appropriations for the liquidation of contract authorizations. Supplement to table 10 shows the recommended limitations for 1946 and the actual limitations for 1945 and 1944 on the administrative expenses of Government corporations payable from their own funds. The detailed recommendations for 1946 as shown in each of these supplemental tables replace the preliminary lump-sum estimates contained in the corresponding tables in the 1946 Budget.

Part II of this War Supplement contains the appropriation language and schedules of obligations supporting the recommendations for fiscal year 1946. This section also contains explanatory statements describing the functions and programs of each of the war agencies.

Part III contains similar explanatory statements and statements of cash receipts and expenditures for the Smaller War Plants Corporation and the corporations in the Foreign Economic Administration and in the Office of Inter-American Affairs, which were not included in the 1946 Budget.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

OFFICE FOR EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

COMMITTEE ON FAIR EMPLOYMENT PRACTICE

The Committee on Fair Employment Practice, originally established under Executive order, was reorganized under the terms of another Executive order on May 27, 1943. During fiscal year 1945, the Committee has operated under this authority and under the terms of its appropriation language for the fiscal year.

The Committee promotes elimination of discrimination by war industries, Federal agencies, and labor organizations with respect to terms and conditions of employment or union membership because of race, creed, color, or national origin, to the end that there may be fuller utilization of available manpower. It has cooperative operating relationships with other Government agencies concerned with the utilization of manpower.

The Committee operates through 15 small field offices manned by fair employment practice examiners, and has a total full time staff of 117 people. It proposes the establishment of five additional offices in critical war production centers to permit more expeditious handling of cases in those areas. Cases not susceptible of disposition by the local offices are referred to the central office for further efforts toward settlement by negotiation or by public hearing. During fiscal year 1944, the Committee had a workload of 5,133 docketable complaints, and closed 3,030, of which about 33 percent were satisfactorily adjusted and about 48 percent were dismissed on the merits, for insufficient evidence or for lack of jurisdiction. Of the balance of 2,103 cases on hand at the beginning of the current fiscal year, plus the 1,722 complaints docketed, 1,771 were closed, of which about 35 percent were satisfactorily adjusted and about 49 percent were dismissed for the three reasons stated above. During the current fiscal year the Committee has been requested, with increasing frequency, to assist other agencies in the manpower, production, and procurement fields to solve problems which confront them and which involve or relate to the utilization of minority workers in war production. Similar requests have been made to the Committee by private employers seeking more effective utilization of available manpower. Because of limited staffing the Committee was able to comply with only the more urgent of these requests.

Not being endowed with powers of enforcement, the Committee relies upon the forces of education and persuasion to accomplish its objectives. The budget estimate therefore makes provision for additional staff time to enable the Committee to honor a greater proportion of the requests of other agencies for assistance in solving problems within its competence affecting production by war industry and the labor force, as well as for a minor increase in the information staff. Through its informal activities, the Committee also hopes better to inform the public generally of the nature of its jurisdiction and objectives and to induce voluntary and cooperative adherence to the national policy opposing discrimination in employment based on race, creed, color, or national origin. It is contemplated that these activities may also bring about an improvement in the conditions which give rise to formal complaints filed with the Committee. The Committee is interested in eliminating the causes for the filing of such complaints.

For these purposes, the 1946 estimate provides an increase of approximately 32 percent over funds available to the Committee from 1945 appropriations, exclusive of the cost of overtime pay.

DIVISION OF CENTRAL ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES

The Division of Central Administrative Services, which provided general administrative and other office services to the Office of Price Administration and the majority of the agencies in the Office for Emergency Management, was abolished during the fiscal year 1945. The liquidation of the Division had been recommended by the Congress and the appropriation language for the Division of Central Administrative Services for the fiscal year 1945 was changed by the Congress to make possible the transfer of funds in connection with the transfer of functions from the Division. The functions of the Division were transferred in part to the agencies serviced, and in part to other central service agencies pursuant to Executive Order 9471 of August 25, 1944. The Division ceased to operate after November 30, 1944, and the residue of its affairs were transferred to the Bureau of Accounts of the Treasury Department and are now in the process of liquidation. It is presumed that the liquidation of the residual affairs of the Division will be substantially completed by the end of the current fiscal year.

FOREIGN ECONOMIC ADMINISTRATION

The Foreign Economic Administration was established September 25, 1943, by Executive order which consolidated the agencies performing the major foreign economic operations of the Government. Activities of the agency include the purchase of strategic and critical materials abroad, the provision of lend-lease and other economic aids to the United Nations under the Lend-Lease Act, the control of commercial exports, the conduct of economic warfare activities, and the assistance to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration and governments of liberated countries in the procurement of supplies for the relief and rehabilitation of such areas.

Certain new functions have been added during the past year. The Foreign Economic Administration now administers funds appropriated for the United States' participation in programs of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. It also has been given the responsibility for the procurement of essential civilian supplies for distribution by our armed services during periods of military occupation, and the disposal of all surplus aircraft and related equipment abroad, in addition to lend-lease commodities and supplies and other properties of its own that become surplus to program requirements. The Foreign Economic Administration coordinates all reporting of Government transactions abroad. It has recently undertaken, through the U. S. Commercial Company, activities in connection with the facilitation of trade with the liberated areas under circumstances where private trade is not possible. These activities include both purchases abroad of nonstrategic materials and domestic purchases of essential consumer goods for such areas. The Foreign Economic Administration, in conjunction with the State and War Departments, is now developing plans for postwar supervision of the national economy of enemy countries in order to control their future capacity to wage war. In order to provide funds for these new and expanding activities, the estimate for the Foreign Economic Administration for the fiscal year 1946 shows an increase of approximately 6 percent over the appropriation for 1945.

The Foreign Economic Administration is composed of three main groups consisting of staff offices, Bureau of Areas, and Bureau of Supplies. The staff offices provide the usual service functions of the agency including personnel, accounting and management, and legal services. The Bureau of Areas is concerned principally with the coordination of area programs, maintaining liaison with the State Department on matters involving foreign policy, relating programs to military plans, and planning the control of enemy economies. The Bureau of Supplies is responsible for the procurement of supplies in foreign countries; the assembling and screening of all foreign requirements; the transportation and warehousing of commodities; the flow of exports, both lend-lease and commercial, from the United States; the facilitation of trade; and the disposal of certain surplus property abroad.

The affiliated corporations of the Foreign Economic Administration are employed as the media through which the agency conducts certain of its programs and activities. The U. S. Commercial Company and the Rubber Development Corporation engage in extensive foreign procurement operations to obtain raw materials and finished products needed for the war. Facilities of the Export-Import Bank of Washington are now being primarily utilized to finance the development of the resources of other countries in order to increase the supply of critical war materials. No active program is contemplated for the Petroleum Reserves Corporation and Cargoes, Inc., is being liquidated; therefore, no authorization for the expenditure of administrative funds is being requested for these two corporations. More detailed information concerning the activities of the corporations appears on pages 185 to 189 of part III.

NATIONAL WAR LABOR BOARD

The National War Labor Board was established by Executive order on January 12, 1942, following the wartime no-strike, no-lockout agreement by labor and industry representatives. The Board was given the responsibility to settle wartime labor disputes which could not be adjusted by other available peaceful methods. Under the War Labor Disputes Act of June 25, 1943, the Board was given statutory and other powers, including that of subpoena, to assist it in its disputes function.

On October 2, 1942, Congress enacted an amendment to the Emergency Price Control Act authorizing the President to issue a general order for the stabilization of wages and salaries at the levels existing, as far as practicable, on September 15, 1942. Wage adjustment was authorized to the extent necessary to correct gross inequities or to aid in the effective prosecution of the war. The President, by Executive order, authorized the War Labor Board to carry out the mandate of Congress with respect to stabilization of all wages and of most salaries under $5,000 per annum. Over 25,000,000 workers are directly subject to the Board's wage stabilization program.

The Board is composed of equal numbers of representatives of the public, industry, and labor. It has established 12 regional boards, and a territorial board for Hawaii, as well as several industry commissions to assist it in its disputes and stabilization work. The budget provides for three additional commissions to administer uniformly the Board's awards in three of the key multiregional industries: steel, textiles, and meat packing.

The national wage stabilization policy as embodied in Acts of Congress and Executive orders provides four major principles as bases for adjustments in wage rates.

1. Under the Little Steel formula, if employees in a given plant or group of plants have not received general wage rate increases amounting to 15 percent of their average straight time hourly earnings in January 1941, the Board normally may approve an increase to the extent required to bring the general increase in rates up to 15 percent.

2. The Board has the authority to approve wage rate increases to correct substandards of living.

3. To correct gross wage rate inequities among plants, the Board is authorized to approve increases in rates for particular occupations up to the minima of sound and tested going rates established by it for comparable jobs in the industry and labor market area.

4. In rare and unusual cases, to aid in the effective prosecution of the war, the Board may approve wage rate adjustments above the minima of the sound and tested going rates.

Between January 12, 1942, and December 29, 1944, the Board and its agents received 15,577 labor disputes and closed 12,566, leaving a backlog of 3,011 cases. During the first half of fiscal year 1945, the Board received new cases at an average rate of about 690 a month, in contrast to the monthly average of 560 for the first half of fiscal year 1944.

During the 12 months ending December 31, 1944, the Board disposed of 197,308 applications for approval of voluntary wage adjustments. Approximately 73 percent of the applications came from employers alone, while 27 percent were joint applications of employers and unions who had agreed upon the proposed wage changes.

Between October 3, 1942, and December 31, 1944, straight-time average hourly earnings adjusted for inter-industry shifts of employment increased by 13.1 percent or at a rate of about $\frac{1}{2}$ of 1 percent per month, whereas in the period between January 1941 and October 1942 the increase was 21.5 percent or at a rate of approximately 1 percent per month. The effect of wage increases upon price increases has been slight. In the approximately 244,000 cases in which wage or salary adjustments were approved by the Board from October 3, 1942, to December 31, 1944, only 1.5 percent of the employers indicated that they would seek price relief. Moreover, increased price ceilings are determined by the Office of Price Administration to be unnecessary in many of the cases in which price relief is requested.

A large number of alleged violations of wage stabilization come to the attention of the Board and require processing. Between October 1942 and December 31, 1944, the Board received 51,444 alleged violation cases and disposed of 33,184. During this period, the Board certified improper wage payments totaling approximately four million dollars to be disallowed in determining tax liability under the revenue laws of the United States. A substantial number of cases were closed following findings of no violation. The enforcement program is being accelerated in order to strengthen the effectiveness of the wage stabilization program and to protect the vast majority of employers, who respect and cooperate with the government's stabilization program, against unfair competition in a stringent labor market.

Of a total of more than 12,500 dispute cases closed by the Board, only 31 had necessarily been referred to the President up to January 1, 1945, because of persistent noncompliance with Board orders by one of the parties.

This record testifies to the cooperation shown the Board by industry and labor.

The 1946 estimate provides for financing the activities of the Board at approximately the same rate as in 1945. The volume of voluntary and disputes cases subject to the Board's jurisdiction is expected to continue at about the present rate. The reduction of about 2 percent from the 1945 appropriation results from a reduction in the volume of wage rate data collected for the Board's use.

OFFICE OF ALIEN PROPERTY CUSTODIAN

Under Executive orders of March 11, 1942, and July 6, 1942, the Office of Alien Property Custodian vests, supervises, or controls selected classes of property in which nationals of enemy or enemy-occupied countries have, or have had, an interest. Property with which the Office deals falls into five main groups: (1) business enterprises; (2) patents, trade-marks, and copyrights; (3) real and personal property; (4) ships; and (5) property in process of administration under judicial supervision. Foreign-owned cash, bank deposits, and investment securities are administered by the Treasury Department under its Foreign Funds Control program. An Executive order issued April 21, 1942, provided for the transfer from the Department of Justice to the Alien Property Custodian matters remaining from the First World War.

The function of the Custodian is to search out and obtain control of all enemy or enemy-dominated interests in property under United States jurisdiction to insure that such property is administered with maximum benefit for the war program and the economy of the United States. To accomplish this the Custodian either "vests" by taking outright title to the property from the foreign owner, or controls the use of the property by means of a "supervisory order" without actual transfer of title, or issues general orders and regulations requiring or restricting the performance of specified acts by persons with interests in such property. The gross value of property subjected to control through vesting or supervisory orders totaled approximately $451,000,000 at the time of vesting, including interests in assets located abroad, but exclusive of patents, trade-marks, copyrights, and ships. The net value of equity vested exclusive of patents, trade-marks, copyrights, ships, and assets located in enemy and enemy-occupied territories is approximately $203,000,000.

The general policy of the Office provides for the early liquidation or sale of all vested property except a few business enterprises engaged in the direct production of war supplies. For an interim period these properties will continue to be operated under managements approved and directed by the Custodian. Proceeds from the sale of vested property are deposited in the United States Treasury to be held pending disposition by Congress.

Inventions disclosed in vested patents are being made freely available to American industry. No patents are for sale, but enemy patents, not already under exclusive license to Americans prior to seizure, are being licensed for the remaining life of the patents on a nonexclusive royalty-free basis to qualified American manufacturers. Nonenemy patents are licensed on a nonexclusive reasonable royalty basis for the life of the patent. The Custodian also licenses reproduction of foreign scientific works and other copyrighted materials important to war research or of cultural or educational value.

The 1946 estimate of $3,370,000 is approximately 6 percent less than the appropriation for the fiscal year 1945, exclusive of overtime pay.

Subject to annual authorization by Congress, the Alien Property Custodian is authorized to pay all necessary expenses incurred in carrying out the powers and duties of the Office from any funds or property or interest vested or transferred to him.

OFFICE OF CIVILIAN DEFENSE

The Office of Civilian Defense was established by Executive order issued May 20, 1941. The Office is responsible for furnishing information and advice to State and local governments and to defense organizations engaged in stimulating volunteer citizen participation in the war program and for providing facilities and equipment for the adequate protection from enemy attack of persons and property in the United States and its possessions.

No estimate for the fiscal year 1946 is being submitted. Executive Order 9562, June 4, 1945, provides for the termination of the Office at the close of business June 30, 1945. The progress of the war in Europe and the efficient operation of the volunteer forces in the communities made possible the decision that Federal supervision of civilian defense is no longer necessary. Protective property is transferred to the Department of Commerce under the Executive order, and the Secretary of the Treasury, acting through the Bureau of Accounts, is designated to wind up other affairs of the Office.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE TRANSPORTATION

The Office of Defense Transportation was created by Executive order on December 18, 1941. The basic responsibility of this agency is to insure that all forms of domestic transportation are utilized to meet war time transportation requirements. In discharging this obligation the agency surveys the adequacy of all types of domestic commercial transportation facilities. It promotes the utilization of all forms of commercial domestic transportation to obtain the maximum amount of transportation service with a minimum amount of equipment. In carrying out this program the agency requires heavier loading of freight cars, the curtailment of passenger service, the elimination of duplicating and overlapping service, and in cooperation with Office of Price Administration has adjusted the gasoline allowances for motor carriers to the minimum amount required for essential operation.

This agency recommends the assignment of materials to enlarge the capacity of railroads, domestic shipping, and all types of commercial motor carriers whenever the need arises. When necessary, it directs the movement of traffic to avoid congestion. To aid in achieving this same purpose, it encourages the provision of additional storage and warehousing facilities at terminal points where congestion otherwise might develop.

The Office is also concerned with maximum utilization of domestic shipping. It promotes close coordination between rail movements and shipping on the Great Lakes. Likewise, the agency restricts the movement to ports of export tonnage to that which can be received by available shipping, and thereby prevents an accumulation of freight cars in the ports.

During 1945 the load on the transportation system of the country reached an all-time peak, and traffic is expected to continue at approximately the same level throughout 1946. The trucking industry is facing an increasingly critical situation, brought about by long-continued shortages of equipment, parts, tires, and manpower.

The 1946 estimate is 49 percent less than the 1945 appropriation, exclusive of overtime. This reflects adjustments in the organization of the agency and a simplification of the gasoline rationing procedure.

OFFICE OF ECONOMIC STABILIZATION

The Office of Economic Stabilization was established by Executive Order 9250, dated October 3, 1942. The order provides for a Director and staff, and an Economic Stabilization Board, composed of eight topside Government officials and six public members representing labor, management, and farmers. The Director is chairman of the board. The function of the Office is to develop a comprehensive national economic policy relating to the control of civilian purchasing power, prices, rents, wages, salaries, profits, subsidies, and related matters for the purpose of stabilizing the cost of living. It determines policies to be followed by Federal agencies in the stabilization program. Wage increases approved by the War Labor Board, if they involve a change in a price ceiling, must be approved by the Director before they become effective. Differences between recommendations of the war food administrator and the price administrator on the prices for agricultural commodities are resolved by the Director. The Director is further authorized to direct Federal agencies to subsidize or purchase for resale as such measures are required to maintain the production, distribution, or price ceiling of any commodity. The budget estimate for 1946 is $197,000 exclusive of overtime. This is an increase of 113 percent over the 1945 appropriation. The increase is provided to enable the Director to employ additional attorneys and economists to assist him in the development of over-all economic stabilization policies with particular reference to stabilization problems arising out of developments following VE-day.

OFFICE OF INTER-AMERICAN AFFAIRS

The Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs was established by Executive order on July 30, 1941. Executive order of March 23, 1945, changed the name to the Office of Inter-American Affairs.

This Office is charged with the responsibility for formulating, recommending, and executing programs in the commercial and economic fields and in such fields as education, radio, press, and motion pictures, which, by the effective use of governmental and private facilities, will further the hemisphere war program and strengthen the bonds between the nations of the Western Hemisphere.

Through the work of this Office, an important type of collaboration has been developed in the Western Hemisphere. This system of collaborative action, which has been in operation the last few years, is a manifestation of the principles of democratic action in international relations. The Inter-American Conference held in Mexico City in February and March of 1945, which adopted resolutions more closely uniting the American Republics in war and in peace, is indicative of the objectives of the Inter-American program.

Under the system of cooperative action engendered by the Inter-American program, the Americas have attained a higher degree of mutual aid, understanding, and confidence. It is to the interest of the Americas to continue to work together for the solution of their common problems in the fields of health, sanitation, food supply, economic development, transportation, and education.

The war-time contributions of the other Americas have been invaluable to this country and to its allies. After the war, their supplies of certain raw materials will continue to be important to the economy of this country. This country will be a major prospective source for supplying to them capital equipment and consumers goods. Economic development and trade expansion will offer opportunities of mutual advantage to the countries of the Western Hemisphere.

To further this permanent cooperation, the Office of Inter-American Affairs employs all media of communication, such as press, radio, and motion pictures. It promotes and aids educational and scientific activities, as well as economic and health measures, and works in close cooperation with other Government agencies, particularly the Department of State. Activities in the fields of press, radio, and motion picture are carried out in all of the 20 other American republics. Cooperative health and sanitation programs are in operation in 18 countries; cooperative food supply programs are being carried out in 8 countries; and cooperative educational programs are underway in 9 countries. Arrangements are being made to undertake similar programs in the remaining countries of Latin America. Operations in the transportation and economic development fields have been or are being carried out in 8 countries.

Under authority of Congress a number of corporations have been created to facilitate operations: Institute of Inter-American Affairs, Institute of Inter-American Transportation, Inter-American Educational Foundation, Inter-American Navigation Corporation, and Prencinradio. Further details on the operation of these corporations will be found on pages 190 to 193, part III.

The 1946 budget estimate of $15,880,000 is approximately 9 percent less than the appropriation of $17,587,835 for the fiscal year 1945, exclusive of overtime pay. The estimate provides for the continuation of information activities at approximately the same level. The decrease is made up of reductions in administrative costs, reduced need for cash for programs already provided for through contract authorizations, adjustment of economic development funds in the light of experience gained in operating economic programs, and miscellaneous adjustments in transfers and other items of expense.

OFFICE OF SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

The Office of Scientific Research and Development was established by Executive order on June 28, 1941, to coordinate scientific and medical research activities relating to national defense and to supplement, when desirable, the work of the War and Navy Departments and other agencies of the Federal Government. Through its National Defense Research Committee, the agency undertakes scientific research and development work on the improvement of weapons and the development of new and secret war equipment, and its Committee on Medical Research supervises medical research projects for the benefit of the Armed Services. In addition, a liaison office facilitates the interchange of technical information of a highly confidential nature with allied governments and an Office of Field Services studies the actual performance of weapons in combat areas.

The principal research projects of the Office of Scientific Research and Development are undertaken at the specific request of the Army or Navy and are carried on, in close collaboration with the interested services, under nonprofit contracts with colleges, universities, and industrial institutions. About 30 "central laboratories" have been established by these contractors to bring together scientists from other institutions to expedite the work on

Office of Scientific Research and Development projects in particular fields.

While the estimate for 1946 is approximately 35 percent less than the 1945 appropriation, only a part of the decrease is due to a reduction in the agency's activities on account of the progress of the war, since contracts financed from the existing appropriation will carry the 1946 program for a part of the fiscal year.

OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION

The Office of War Information was established by Executive order on June 13, 1942. The scope of its authority was subsequently clarified by Executive order on March 9, 1943, and by the National War Agencies Appropriation Act, 1944. The estimate for 1946 shows a decrease of $13,535,084 from the 1945 appropriation, exclusive of overtime pay. Improvements in management during the fiscal year 1945 with resulting savings in the 1945 appropriation and the progress of the war in Europe make this reduction possible.

Office of the Director and Management Services.—The administrative branch is responsible for over-all policy direction and management of the Office of War Information. The current year has seen outstanding progress in management in the agency with establishment of improved controls over program and operations. Management services has provided indispensable assistance to the Director in achieving these successes. Provision is made in the 1946 budget for strengthening services essential to demobilization.

Domestic Branch.—All primary production was eliminated from the program of the Domestic Branch by the 1944 appropriation act, and its function became one of consultation and integration of federal agency information activities. The objective of this Branch is to prevent conflicts and overlapping in the war information campaigns of all Government agencies, and to enlist the support of the radio, motion picture, book, magazine, and specialized press industries in support of these campaigns. A small staff is also provided to review Government informational publications from the point of view of economy and necessity, to service Office of War Information and the Government as a whole with press clippings, and to conduct a central public inquiries activity.

There have been no changes in the basic functions of the Domestic Branch during 1945. Reorganization of structure and function called for by action of Congress on the 1944 budget has been completed. The changes have clarified lines of authority and have reworked bureau organization to achieve a more efficient and responsive organization. This tighter organization has resulted in savings both of positions and funds from the authorized 1945 budget. The budget for fiscal year 1946 represents some further reductions in positions and funds because of adjustments in program resulting from the progress of the European war. The net reduction is lessened by provision for restoration of the surveys function.

Overseas Branch.—This branch conducts information activities in allied, neutral, and liberated countries under State Department surveillance. In conjunction with the military, this branch carries on combat propaganda against the enemy, public relations work toward people affected by Army activities outside combat areas, and information control work in conquered countries. The purpose of the information activities is to present facts about the contribution of the United States to the war and to the objectives for which the war is being fought.

For the accomplishment of its objectives, the Office of War Information uses publications, radio, motion pictures, exhibit displays, and other media. The bulk of this production, except that for combat propaganda, is done in the United States. An organization of outposts abroad carries on local contact, distribution and production activities. Significant organization developments in 1945, other than firmer topside management, have been the closer working relations with the theater commanders for psychological warfare in the Pacific and with the State Department, through a joint committee, for the information programs.

The 1946 budget provides for continuance of an information program in allied and neutral countries on a reduced level; for introduction or continuation of similar activities in liberated countries; for participation in the information control program in conquered countries; and for expansion of psychological warfare activities in Pacific theaters.

WAR MANPOWER COMMISSION

The War Manpower Commission was established by Executive order on April 18, 1942, to assure the most effective mobilization and utilization of the Nation's manpower for the war. The Commission establishes policies and prescribes regulations governing all Federal programs relating to recruitment, training, and placement and transfer of workers to meet the needs of industry and agriculture. It also prescribes basic policies governing the meeting of the Federal Government's requirements for manpower, excluding the military and naval forces, and issues such operating directives as may be necessary. The Executive order creating the Commission directs all Federal departments and agencies which perform functions relating to the recruitment or utilization of manpower to conform to such policies and directives as the Chairman may prescribe. An Executive order on September 17, 1942, transferred to the War Manpower Commission the United States Employment Service and all functions, duties, and powers of the Social Security Board in the Federal Security Agency relating to Employment Service, the Apprentice Training Service, and the Training-Within-Industry Service.

The estimates for 1946 provide for a continuance of the compliance activities of the Commission in enforcing its labor market controls in labor market areas where war production is still at its peak, and for the expansion of employment service facilities for returning veterans. Provision is also made for the limited continuation of the program for bringing in foreign workers to relieve critical labor shortages in certain labor market areas. A small increase in funds in the regular appropriation for the Apprentice Training Service is included in the estimates to provide for an extension of that program to assure the availability of apprenticeship opportunities for veterans. The estimates contemplate, however, a substantial curtailment of the war activities of this service.

The 1946 estimates represent an over-all increase of 21 percent over appropriations for 1945, exclusive of overtime pay. The respective amount of increase for each of the major programs of the War Manpower Commission, exclusive of overtime pay in each case, is noted under the following headings:

General Administration.—The activities and organization of the War Manpower Commission are highly decentralized, and only a small proportion of the total staff of the Commission is located in Washington. Within the headquarters organization, the basic development of program is lodged in three main staff bureaus: The Bureau of Placement, which develops much of the labor market stabilization and recruitment program; the Bureau of Manpower Utilization, which plans the programs for the proper utilization of labor in war industry; and the Bureau of Training, which coordinates the activities of all the agencies responsible for training workers for war production. The Reports and Analysis Service collects and analyzes labor market information for the use of all agencies concerned with war production.

The field organization of the War Manpower Commission operates at the regional, State, and area levels, and is responsible for carrying out the basic manpower programs.

The decrease of $758,960 under this head results from the contemplated curtailment of manpower control programs in certain areas where reduction in war production activity has resulted in a sufficient supply of labor to support civilian production.

Apprentice Training Service.—The Apprentice Training Service promotes the establishment and administration of employee training programs within industrial plants. There are two major functions: (1) to assist management and labor to develop and maintain apprenticeship programs for young workers learning to become craftsmen in the recognized skilled trades, and (2) to develop and maintain training programs for up-grading workers. The decrease of $253,782 results from the curtailment of special war-time programs of the Service carried on under the national defense appropriation item, but provides an additional amount of $163,000 in the regular appropriation to assure that apprenticeship training opportunities shall be available to veterans within a reasonable distance from their homes.

Employment Office Facilities and Services (United States Employment Service).—The main operating arm of the War Manpower Commission is the United States Employment Service. This part of the organization operates mainly at the State and local levels. Through it, the major programs of the War Manpower Commission are put into effect since it is within the local community that the recruitment and proper allocation of labor must take place. During the past year the program for the placement of returned veterans has been substantially strengthened and provision is made in the budget estimates for maintaining 596 additional local employment offices in the next fiscal year with the primary purpose of providing full placement and counseling services to veterans. The local offices of the United States Employment Service collect the basic labor market data assembled by the War Manpower Commission. These data are derived directly from information supplied by employers and gathered from other community sources and are analyzed for local use before being consolidated nationally. These data represent the most comprehensive information available on the supply and demand of labor for war industries. The increase of $16,798,037 under this head results from the planned expansion of the employment service facilities to assure an adequate placement program for veterans.

Training-Within-Industry Service.—The function of this service is to assist war industries through technical advice and counsel in training supervisors how to lead and teach their workers. Industrial foremen are trained within the plants, and on company time, to make the maximum use of the abilities of every worker in war production. The recommended decrease of $591,988 provides for the continuation of this service on a substantially reduced scale, and only in those areas where manpower supply is most stringent.

Migration of Workers.—As a result of the continued labor market shortage in certain critical war industries and certain labor market areas, the War Manpower Commission proposes the continuance of its program for bringing in foreign workers from certain foreign countries on the continent and neighboring islands to meet any urgent manpower needs which cannot be met by the transfer of domestic workers. It is proposed that transportation be provided from place of recruitment to the point of entry into the United States and return from the point of entry to place of recruitment, with the employer meeting the cost of transportation within the continental United States. The decrease of $858,900 results from limiting this activity to emergency situations.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD

The War Production Board was established by two Executive orders in January 1942. The predecessor agencies—the Advisory Commission to the Council of National Defense, the Office of Production Management and the Supply, Priorities, and Allocation Board—had lacked the authority and organizational flexibility to coordinate war production effectively. They were absorbed into the War Production Board which was given authority to exercise general direction of the war production program, to determine the policies and methods of other Federal agencies with respect to war production and war purchasing, and to issue all priority ratings.

In the fiscal year 1942, the compelling problem was to mobilize and utilize as quickly and as fully as possible the vast resources of labor, materials, and industrial facilities that could be converted for use in the war effort, and to develop additional resources. The effectiveness of the steps taken is shown by the fact that total output of munitions and war construction in 1942 increased to two and one-half times that of 1941, while the increase in munitions alone was threefold.

In the fiscal year 1943, the major contribution to acceleration of output came from the additions to our industrial facilities. The Controlled Materials Plan was developed to assure a flow of steel, copper, and aluminum in accord with the needs of war and essential civilian production. The procurement agencies improved their scheduling procedures and the War Production Board extended its scheduling control to cover critical common components.

In the fiscal year 1944, total war production reached a volume close to the needs of global war as defined by our military authorities. Some materials were "tight" and there were some localities of extreme labor shortage.

In the fiscal year 1945, as military victories multiplied and cutbacks developed in procurement, a system of "spot authorizations" for the manufacture of civilian goods in plants with available materials and labor was inaugurated. However, it became increasingly difficult to meet revised munitions programs. The production pattern was constantly changing as the result of battle experience and the course of the war. The Board immediately took steps to reverse the reconversion trend. "Spot authorizations" were virtually suspended and production controls tightened. Critical programs were dealt with individually resulting in a gratifying increase in the production of critical items.

The Munitions Production Program for 1945 is scheduled at a higher rate than was produced the previous year. In addition, the demands of many war-supporting segments of the civilian economy will be expanded. The Board is faced with increasingly difficult problems in distribution. It must give precedence to the munitions program in allocating raw materials, components, and production capacity, yet it must reserve enough to prevent a breakdown of the civilian economy.

In the face of rising military procurement, shortages are occurring in brass strip, steel plate, aluminum sheet, communications wire, and other materials. Additional plant capacity will be brought in for the artillery ammunition program, the rocket program, and the tire program. Translated into War Production Board's operations, this outlook indicates a need for a general tightening of procedures for the distribution of critical materials; the restoration of use restrictions previously relaxed; re-examination of order schedules and the re-scheduling and allocating of orders where necessary; allocating items which become scarce; increasing production; expediting of critical materials and components; increased production scheduling to facilitate rapid changeover as changes occur in the procurement pattern; the introduction of new facilities or expansion of existing facilities; more restrictive review of priority papers and appeals; and increased planning for the utilization of facilities and manpower affected by spotty production adjustments.

The budgetary program for fiscal year 1946 is based upon an assumption that the volume of production will continue at a high level and be increased in those categories where shortages occur. The budget for fiscal year 1946 represents a decrease of approximately 35 percent below the fiscal year 1945 appropriation, exclusive of overtime, and reflects those economies resulting from operating experience which are consistent with an effective and efficient discharge of the Board's functions.

Smaller War Plants Corporation

The Smaller War Plants Corporation was established pursuant to Public Law 603, approved June 11, 1942, for the purpose of mobilizing the productive facilities of small business for both war and essential civilian production. In carrying out its responsibilities under Public Law 603, the Smaller War Plants Corporation assists small business by (1) entering into prime contracts with Government procurement officers, and subcontracting such prime contracts to small business; (2) endeavoring to secure prime and subcontracts for small business; (3) providing technical and advisory assistance to small business; and (4) making loans and leases for small business.

In addition the Corporation has been given added functions and responsibilities under the following acts:

1. Contract Settlement Act of 1944. Under this act the Corporation is designated as a contracting agency and is thereby authorized and empowered to make settlements, loans, and partial payments on cut-backs, changes, and cancellations of war contracts; assist small business concerns in connection with interim financing; and to assist small businesses generally in their efforts to make settlement on terminated contracts.

2. Surplus Property Act of 1944. The Corporation is charged by this act with (a) preventing discrimination against small business in the disposal and distribution of surplus property; (b) making surveys and obtaining full information concerning the needs of small business for surplus property; (c) acquiring surplus property for the purpose of resale to small business; (d) financing the acquisition, conversion, and operation of plants and facilities which have been determined to be surplus; and (e) cooperating with the Surplus Property Board in the matter of disposal to secure wide distribution of Government surpluses among small businesses.

3. War Mobilization and Reconversion Act of 1944. This act provides for Smaller War Plants Corporation participation in connection with decisions affecting the expansion, resumption, or initiation of production, and the allocation of materials for nonwar use, all designed for the protection of small business both before and after termination of the war.

The 1946 estimate of $8,000,000 is approximately 13 percent less than the funds available for the fiscal year 1945, exclusive of overtime pay; however, this represents approximately $600,000 more than the agency expects to obligate during the current fiscal year. Increased activity is anticipated in connection with the loan operations of the Corporation, and provision is made for a small staff to collaborate with the Defense Plant Corporation and Reconstruction Finance Corporation in administering and servicing loans and leases. Provision is also made for a small planning staff for potential activities which will develop with changes in the military situation.

Details of the Corporation's financial operations are set forth on page 195 in part III.

WAR SHIPPING ADMINISTRATION

The War Shipping Administration was established by Executive order issued February 7, 1942. With the exception of actual construction, large vessel disposal and various regulatory functions, its responsibilities extend to all phases of shipping, including the purchasing or requisitioning of vessels for its own use or that of the Army, Navy, or other Government agencies; the repairing and defending of War Shipping Administration controlled vessels and allied vessels under lend-lease; the conversion of vessels already afloat to troop transports, hospital ships, and for other special purposes; the training of seamen; the manning, operating, loading, discharging, and general control of the movement of merchant vessels; the administration of the marine and war risk insurance laws and funds; and control of terminal and port facilities.

The Administration is operating, through its agents, the largest pool of merchant vessels in the world. The fleet has expanded approximately to four times its peacetime size and additional new ships will be added during fiscal 1946 (largely during the first half). The War Shipping Administration has met, and is continuing to meet, the requirements of the Army, the Navy, and lend-lease; and no essential military cargo has been left on the piers for lack of ships.

Revolving Fund.—In the 1946 estimates for the War Shipping revolving fund, provision is made for the direct operating costs of ships required to meet the estimated demands of the Army and the Navy (as they can now be best foreseen). It is estimated that a balance of funds available from 1945 (for previous carrying of revenue producing cargo) plus estimated receipts accruing from revenue in fiscal 1946 will provide sufficient funds for the operation of the nonmilitary ships and other items of expenditure not provided for in the estimate for carrying military cargo. In addition, a transfer from the marine and war risk insurance fund is recommended.

Training Fund.—The responsibility of training personnel for the Merchant Marine was transferred, July 1942, by Executive order to the War Shipping Administration. This authority was originally granted to the Maritime Commission by the Merchant Marine Act of 1936 which in its declaration of policy states that the Merchant Marine is to be "manned with a trained and efficient civilian personnel." The training program is being carried on by means of stations, schools, ships and correspondence courses. In addition, there are specialized schools for training of radio operators, special types of engineers, and upgrading courses for both unlicensed seamen and officers.

This appropriation also provides for the recruitment and manning organization whose major activities consist in recruiting qualified seamen and seeing that no convoys or individual ships fail to sail for lack of minimum crews. Provision is also made in this appropriation for various health activities to be provided by the United States Public Health Service.

The item of decrease is related almost entirely to reduction in the requirements for the training of new men as related to the decrease in production of additional new ships.

State Marine Schools.—In addition to the direct training activities carried on by War Shipping Administration, grants are made to established State Marine Schools.

The appropriation for State Marine Schools is to provide for matching grants and per capita payments for out-of-State students and for repairs to vessels being used by five State Marine Schools.

The decrease in the 1946 estimates is related to the item of ship repairs.

Authority for the establishment of and payment of matching grants to State Marine Schools is contained in the Act of March 4, 1911.

OFFICE OF CENSORSHIP

The Office of Censorship, established by Executive order on December 19, 1941, censors communications by mail, cable, radio, and other means of transmission between the United States and any foreign country. It has also issued the voluntary censorship codes to guide the domestic press and radio in voluntarily withholding from publication military and other information which would be detrimental to the effective prosecution of the war. The agency maintains close relations with the censorship activities of other United Nations. It suggests and develops, in cooperation with the Department of State, revisions in censorship practices to meet changing conditions.

The over-all reduction of 44 percent in the amount requested for the fiscal year 1946 as compared with the 1945 appropriation, exclusive of overtime, is the result of program changes made possible by the progress of the war in Europe.

Postal Censorship.—The activities of the Postal Division, which includes prisoner-of-war censorship, represent the major portion of the budget. This division is concerned with the censoring of postal communications between the United States and foreign countries to prevent transmission of information which might be useful to the enemy and to utilize information from communications examined which might be of value to the successful prosecution of the war. The cessation of hostilities in the European theater will permit a drastic reduction in the censorship of mail.

Cable Censorship.—Cable censorship is concerned with censoring all international traffic by electrical communications entering and leaving the United States. The end of the war in Europe and the progress made in the Pacific theater of war has opened new cable channels, but this increased load will be more than offset by reductions in postal activities.

OFFICE OF PRICE ADMINISTRATION

General Statement.—The Office of Price Administration is charged with statutory responsibility under the provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 as amended to stabilize prices and rents, to protect defense appropriations against dissipation by excessive prices, to protect persons having fixed incomes against undue impairment of their standard of living, to assist in securing adequate production of commodities and facilities, and to prevent a postwar collapse of values. The Office, through delegation of authority by directives under the Second War Powers Act, has the further responsibility of rationing such commodities as may be designated by the supply agencies responsible for their control.

Through delegation of authority from the Office of Economic Stabilization, the Office receives notices of increases in common carrier and other public utility rates and in significant cases intervenes in proceedings before regulatory bodies to prevent rate increases.

The estimate for 1946 is 17 percent over 1945 appropriations, exclusive of overtime. The major increases provide for increased enforcement staff and additional price panel clerks at the local boards. The additional staff in local boards will be used to intensify efforts to promote compliance with Office of Price Administration regulations at the retail level. The increase in the enforcement staff will provide personnel for the enforcement of new regulations in the meat, apparel, and consumer goods fields. Minor increases provide for the printing of a new war ration book, staff in new rent areas, and additional staff in the district offices for price work.

Price Program.—The over-all record of holding prices of those products which make up the cost of living continues good. Since May of 1943 when the hold-the-line order became effective, living costs for lower and middle income families, according to the index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, have increased only 1.5 percent. Between May 1943 and December 1944 food costs actually decreased 3.9 percent. However, this advantage was offset by a 11.6 percent increase in clothing prices.

The task for the fiscal year 1946 is to maintain a tight control over food, fuel, electricity, and the industrial items; and secondly to tighten controls over clothing and house furnishings. The new clothing price control program, announced in March 1945, is designed to correct the dangerous threat to economic stabilization. Programs designed to check the price rise in house furnishings are now in preparation.

Rent Program.—The rent control program has been successful despite the fact that pressures on rents have materially increased during the present fiscal year. The rent index has shown a total rise of only 3.7 percent since 1939—and a rise of only 0.2 percent since May of 1943 when the hold-the-line order became effective. On March 1, 1945, the Federal rent regulation was effective in 444 defense-rental areas covering more than 15.4 million registered rental dwelling units.

The pressure for extension of rent control continues. During the present fiscal year, rent control has been extended to 74 new areas as of March 1, 1945, and it is anticipated that during the remainder of the fiscal year it will be necessary to extend control to at least 50 additional areas. During the fiscal year 1946, there is every probability that rent control will be extended to a total of 140 new areas, comprising approximately 168 counties, and containing more than 500,000 rental dwelling units.

Rationing Program.—The department is at present responsible for rationing many types of commodities designed to distribute available supplies in an equitable and orderly manner. Optimism in the summer and early fall of 1944 resulted in a general curtailment of all rationing programs and the removal of a number of commodities from rationing control. The tightening of the war situation necessitated the return of most of these commodities to rationing and a general strengthening of the entire rationing structure. The rationing program entered 1945 with the situation as serious as at any time since the start of the war, and with no foreseeable prospect of relief. Stocks of several commodities are dangerously low and a considerable tightening of controls must still be made to forestall the movement of these commodities through the black market.

The fiscal year 1946 budget does not provide for any new rationing programs which may become necessary.

Enforcement Program.—During the past calendar year more than 330,000 cases were investigated. The investigations disclosed violations in more than 192,000 cases. The bulk of these cases was handled successfully through administrative rather than court action. Sanctions instituted in the calendar year 1944 showed an increase of 81 percent over 1943. Where court proceedings were instituted, the Office was highly successful. In 96 percent of the cases, enforcement action successfully maintained the rent, price, or rationing regulation involved. Vigorous action was taken to combat the theft and counterfeiting of ration coupons which reached serious proportions in the calendar year 1944. Although such action has successfully reduced the counterfeiting of gasoline coupons to a negligible percentage, the problem is now becoming acute in meat, sugar and shoes.

Local Boards.—The local War Price and Rationing Boards are the primary points of contact between the Office and the public. The boards consist of volunteer panels assisted by paid clerks. The volunteer panel members determine whether or not rations above the basic minimum allotted to each individual shall be granted. They assist in instructing merchants and obtaining compliance with price ceilings and rationing regulations. During 1946 additional emphasis will be given to the price compliance work.

There are now 5,564 local boards. Approximately 62 percent of the paid employees of the agency are working in the local boards. This staff supervises and assists over 100,000 regular volunteer workers and some 300,000 who serve during periods of peak work.

OFFICE OF STRATEGIC SERVICES

The Office of Strategic Services was established by Executive order on June 13, 1942, under the jurisdiction of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Office thereby became a part of the land and naval forces and its duties and functions have since been essentially military in character. These duties are defined in order as follows: (a) Collect and analyze such strategic information as may be required by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and (b) plan and operate such special services as may be directed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The 1946 estimate is about 33 percent smaller than the appropriation for 1945, exclusive of overtime, due to changes in the nature of service requirements as a result of military developments.

PETROLEUM ADMINISTRATION FOR WAR

The Petroleum Administration for War was established by Executive order on December 2, 1942, for the purpose of coordinating and centralizing the war policies and activities of the Government relating to petroleum in order to provide adequate supplies of petroleum for the prosecution of the war and other essential needs. Since its inception, the Administration has met critical emergencies and has supplied all military needs without seriously curtailing essential civilian activities. It has succeeded in supplying tremendous quantities of petroleum products when and where they were needed by the coordination of all operations of the industry under Administration direction.

Plants have been built and expanded for the production of 100-octane aviation gasoline, the output of which now exceeds 500,000 barrels per day. To provide raw materials for aviation gasoline, Navy fuel oil, lubricants, and other vital products, the production of crude oil has been pushed to record peaks in the United States and arrangements made for substantial expansion of production in foreign fields. Petroleum transportation, which has been an acute problem ever since the withdrawal of ocean tankers from the East Coast service, has called for continuing adjustments to meet changes in tank car, pipe line, barge, and tanker availability and changes in location of military requirements.

During the ensuing year the Administration is faced with demands for products in even greater volume than the present peak level of operation and capacity. Consequently the Administration will continue to be concerned with the high-octane program; the stimulation of intensive exploration, development, and drilling operations; the distribution of crude oils and refined products to satisfy both military and civilian needs; the securing of materials for the development of production, transportation, and refining facilities in the United States and abroad; the encouragement of foreign explorations; arranging for crude imports into the United States; and the making available of larger amounts of products at foreign points from sources both within and without this country.

The 1946 estimate is approximately 26 percent below the amount appropriated for this agency in the fiscal year 1945, exclusive of overtime. The reduction does not indicate a diminution in the magnitude or urgency of the industry operations under the direction of the agency. It reflects the substantial completion of the 100-octane construction program, a simplification of controls over the petroleum industry, and improvements in the operating efficiency of the agency.

WAR REFUGEE BOARD

The War Refugee Board was established by Executive order dated January 22, 1944, to take all measures possible to rescue the victims of enemy oppression who are in imminent danger of death and to provide such victims all possible relief and assistance consistent with the successful prosecution of the war. The Board consists of the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Secretary of War. An Executive Director serves as principal executive officer.

The functions of the Board include the development of effective measures for (a) the rescue, transportation, maintenance, and relief of the victims of enemy oppression, and (b) the establishment of havens of temporary refuge for such victims. The Board works in cooperation with foreign governments, international organizations concerned with the problems of refugee rescue and relief and established private relief organizations.

Because of the progress that has been made in the liberation of areas formerly under enemy control, it is contemplated that activities of the Board can be completed during the fiscal year 1946. A reappropriation of $16,000 from the 1945 balance of the authorization of $150,000 has therefore been requested for this purpose.

EMERGENCY FUNDS APPROPRIATED TO THE PRESIDENT

DEFENSE AID—LEND-LEASE

On March 11, 1941, the original Lend-Lease Act was approved "to promote the defense of the United States, and for other purposes." Under this act the President was authorized, when he deemed it to be in the interest of the national defense, to sell, transfer title to, exchange, lease, lend, or otherwise dispose of articles, information, or services to any country whose defense the President deemed vital to the defense of the United States. The act has been extended to June 30, 1946.

To enable the President to carry out the provisions of the act, there have been direct appropriations to the President totaling approximately $28.2 billions. In addition to these appropriations, the Congress authorized the President to transfer certain articles and services purchased directly by the War and Navy Departments, and to lease vessels procured out of appropriations made to the Navy Department and the United States Maritime Commission.

Although responsibility for the administration of the Lend-Lease Act has been delegated by the President to the Foreign Economic Administration, various Government agencies have participated actively in the administration of the lend-lease program. These agencies include the Foreign Economic Administration, the Department of State, the Treasury Department, the War Department, the Navy Department, the Department of Agriculture, the War Food Administration, the Department of Commerce, the War Shipping Administration, and the United States Maritime Commission.

The 1946 obligations under the direct appropriation to the President for lend-lease are estimated at $4,375,000,000. An appropriation of $1,975,000,000 has been requested toward this amount, the balance to be provided from unobligated funds from previous appropriations.

These budget estimates for the fiscal year 1946 are based upon continuing full scale war against Japan.

UNITED NATIONS RELIEF AND REHABILITATION ADMINISTRATION

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was established by an agreement concluded on November 9, 1943, by the United Nations and associated nations and authorities. On March 28, 1944, the President approved a joint resolution of the Congress authorizing the appropriation of $1,350,000,000 as this Government's contribution toward the new international organization.

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, representing 44 Governments, is responsible for providing minimum essential supplies and services, including food, clothing, seed, shelter, tools, sanitation, and repatriation, to liberated peoples in the period directly following military operations. The cost of such supplies and services will be met from contributions by the several member Governments. The estimate of appropriated funds of $450,000,000 and of $350,000,000 in authority to transfer goods, funds, and services available for lend-lease purposes constitutes the first portion of this country's share of such costs.

In addition to the supplies and services provided for in the estimate, the request includes $4,000,000 for the United States share of the administrative expenses of the Administration.

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration itself will be principally responsible for the administration of the program. However, the Foreign Economic Administration and the several Government procurement agencies will assist the Administration in the procurement of goods within the United States. This Government is also expected to provide personnel for the Administration programs from the several agencies dealing with welfare and public health problems.

The appropriation of $450,000,000 is available until June 30, 1946, and it is estimated that $130,000,000 of this amount will be obligated during the 1946 fiscal year.

INDEPENDENT OFFICES

OFFICE OF WAR MOBILIZATION AND RECONVERSION

The Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion was established by the War Mobilization and Reconversion Act of 1944 approved October 3, 1944. The act places within this Office the Retraining and Reemployment Administration, the Office of Contract Settlement, and the Surplus Property Board. The Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion replaces the Office of War Mobilization, created by Executive Order 9347, dated May 27, 1943.

During fiscal year 1945, the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion and its constituent agencies had available for administrative expenses $1,351,728, exclusive of overtime. Of this amount, $1,101,728 was appropriated directly and $250,000 was allocated from the President's Emergency Fund for the operation of the Office of Contract Settlement. The budget estimate of $3,996,500 for 1946 for administrative expenses represents an increase of 260 percent over 1945 direct appropriations, exclusive of overtime, or an increase of 195 percent over direct appropriations and allocations available for 1945, exclusive of overtime.

The Office of the Director of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion is essentially a coordinating and policy-forming body. It is assisted by an advisory board of 12 members. The Director is responsible generally for coordinating the mobilization of the Nation for war and for formulating plans to meet the problems arising out of the transition from war to peace. He initiates studies and reports to guide him in the simplification, consolidation, or elimination of war activities and the relaxation or removal of war controls, and consults and cooperates with State and local governments, industry, labor, and other groups on reconversion problems. The budget estimate for 1946 includes $450,000 for the Office of the Director. This is an increase of 75 percent over funds available in 1945, exclusive of overtime, and reflects the added duties imposed on the Director by the War Mobilization and Reconversion Act of 1944.

The Retraining and Reemployment Administration, created by the War Mobilization and Reconversion Act, superseded the Retraining and Reemployment Administration created by Executive Order 9427, approved February 24, 1944. The Retraining and Reemployment Administrator has general supervision and direction of the activities of all existing executive agencies (except the Veterans' Administration) concerned with retraining, reemployment, vocational education and vocational rehabilitation of veterans and war workers. The Administrator also confers with existing State and local agencies and officials in charge of existing programs relating to retraining, reemployment, vocational education and vocational rehabilitation for the purpose of coordinating the activities of existing Federal agencies with the activities of such State and local agencies. The budget estimate for 1946 includes $350,000 for the Retraining and Reemployment Administration. This is an increase of 130 percent over funds available in 1945, exclusive of overtime.

The Office of Contract Settlement, created by the Contract Settlement Act of 1944, has nearly completed its initial task of developing policies to expedite contract settlement. The basic pattern of regulations has been set, and the task which will confront the Office hereafter will be that of testing these regulations against actual experience and amending or otherwise modifying them. A broader responsibility will come in the sphere of surveillance of practices and procedures, as well as organization, of contracting agencies and contractors in order to determine the adequacy of such methods in the light of the need for "fair, fast and final" settlement. The budget estimate for 1946 includes $577,500 for the Office of Contract Settlement. This is an increase of 38 percent over funds available in 1945, exclusive of overtime.

The Surplus Property Board, composed of three members, was created by the Surplus Property Act of 1944 and superseded the Surplus War Property Administration created by Executive Order 9425, approved February 19, 1944. Under the Surplus Property Act, the Board has general supervision and direction over the care, handling, and disposition of surplus property and of the transfer of surplus property between governmental agencies. It formulates regulations to be carried out by other agencies of the Government responsible for the disposal of surplus property. There are numerous objectives specified in the act. Among them are: (a) to assure the most effective uses of such property, (b) promote free independent private enterprise, (c) stimulate full employment, (d) afford returning veterans opportunities as proprietors in agriculture, business, and professional enterprises, (e) avoid speculation, and (f) avoid dislocations of the domestic economy and of international economic relations. The budget estimate for 1946 includes $2,619,000 for the Surplus Property Board. This is an increase of 500 percent over funds available in 1945, exclusive of overtime.

The Surplus Property Board does not itself actually dispose of surplus property, but designates other agencies of the Government to sell the property. A new estimate of $60,000,000 is included in the 1946 budget for allocation by the Board, as approved by the Director of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion and the Director of the Bureau of the Budget, to the disposal agencies in order to defray costs of handling, storing, transferring and disposing of property declared surplus to them. This method of financing surplus property disposal costs was adopted in order to provide flexibility as between disposal agencies and as a device to be used by the Board in exercising its responsibility for central supervision and direction of the disposal program. Of approximately $1 billion worth of property declared surplus by December 1944, approximately $162,000,000 had been sold. Receipts from sales are for deposit into the Treasury.

SELECTIVE SERVICE SYSTEM

The 1946 budget of $54,500,000 for Selective Service is a decrease of 2.1 percent below the $55,672,120 appropriated for 1945. The principal items of decrease are in local board and State headquarters personal services and in research and statistics, partially offset by increases for the veterans assistance and medical survey programs.

The Selective Service System was established by the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940. To accomplish the objectives laid down by the Congress, the System performs the following basic functions:

1. Registers, classifies, selects, and delivers registrants for induction into the armed forces, or, in lieu of induction into the armed forces, for assignment to work of national importance of those registrants determined to be conscientiously opposed to participation in military service.

2. Supervises and controls the program of work of national importance to which are assigned those individuals found to be conscientious objectors.

3. Assists veterans in reinstatement in their former positions, or, in cooperation with the War Manpower Commission or other agencies of the Government, in securing new positions.

The organization of the Selective Service System consists of approximately 7,000 separate units, including a National Headquarters in Washington, D. C.; a State headquarters in each of the 48 States, New York City, District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands; and 6,443 local boards, with at least one in each county or similar political subdivision.

The administration of Selective Service is widely decentralized and considerable latitude in administrative authority and responsibility is vested locally. The Governor of each State or territory is the responsible head of Selective Service in his State; he administers his functions through a State director who is appointed by the President upon his recommendation. He also appoints or recommends for appointment by the President members of local boards, boards of appeal, medical advisory boards, advisory boards for registrants, Government appeal agents, examining physicians and dentists, veterans reemployment committeemen, medical field agents, and others who serve in an advisory capacity. The System includes more than 180,000 citizens who receive no compensation from the Federal Government for their services; the compensated personnel number approximately 19,000.

Since the beginning of the Selective Service program in 1940, over 45,000,000 persons have registered with the System. As of December 31, 1941, there were approximately 22,200,000 registrants, including those registrants in the armed forces, in the 18- through 37-year age group. The group now being registered consists almost entirely of approximately 73,000 males becoming 18 years of age each month; this number does not include those who have enlisted in the Navy before reaching their eighteenth birthday and are not required to register. After registration, local boards determine, in accordance with law, regulation, and national policy, and subject to appeal, the class in which each registrant belongs. Certain registrants are exempt by law; others are found to be unacceptable to the armed forces. On December 31, 1944, there were approximately 4,720,000 men between 18 and 37 years of age in these groups. Other registrants are deferred on occupational grounds; as of December 31, 1944, there were approximately 5,648,000 so deferred. A few registrants are still deferred for dependency reasons; as of December 31, 1944, these numbered approximately 92,000.

If the registrant belongs in none of these groups, he is placed in class I and is considered available for military service. From this group the local board selects those to be delivered for preinduction examination and then, if found acceptable, for induction. Classification and selection for induction is the biggest task involved in the Selective Service program.

Selective Service's primary responsibility is to meet the manpower requirements of the armed forces. At the same time, war production and critical civilian functions must not be disrupted. "Calls" are at a high level; the armed forces insist that as many as possible be from the lower age groups. These demands are forcing Selective Service to move slowly up through the liable age group and to tighten the requirements for occupational deferments, especially for the younger men. This situation has brought new developments in the Selective Service program in recent months. The "job clearance" and "job jumper" programs are examples of the steps it has been necessary to take to protect war industry and at the same time to obtain the numbers and types of men needed for the armed forces. Enactment of any new legislation, such as the drafting of nurses, and other measures in the field of manpower control would necessitate additional activities by Selective Service.

The primary purpose of the Selective Service program, the raising of the greatest armed force in the Nation's history, has been accomplished. Obtaining replacements is now and will continue to be the big task. This problem will grow steadily more acute during fiscal year 1946. These replacements will have to be obtained at a time when nearly every man acceptable to the armed forces will be engaged in war production or other essential activity and at a time when the demands on industry and agriculture will be at their peak. The obtaining of each additional inductee, except for the new 18-year-old, will become increasingly difficult. While the number of men to be inducted into the armed forces in fiscal year 1946 may decline from the present high level, the amount of work to be done in selecting and processing these men will show little, if any, reduction.

SOLID FUELS ADMINISTRATION FOR WAR

The Solid Fuels Administration for War was established in the Department of the Interior on April 19, 1943, by an Executive order which abolished the Office of Solid Fuels Coordinator for National Defense.

The Administration coordinates Government policies and activities pertaining to solid fuels and is the channel of liaison and communication between the solid fuels industries and Federal agencies on fuel questions under its jurisdiction. The Administrator establishes basic policies after consultation with unpaid advisory boards and committees composed of representatives of the coal industry, coal consumers, and the public at large, and formulates programs to assure industrial operation on a basis that meets wartime requirements and an equitable distribution of solid fuels for civilian needs. The Administration, with considerable success, has enlisted the aid of State and municipal authorities in important phases of its work.

Serious industrial interruptions have been avoided during this coal year despite severe weather-created transportation tie-ups and congestion which have aggravated coal shortages and reduced production. In addition to weather difficulties, inadequate manpower is causing a decline in coal production, while requirements remain at peak levels and consumer stocks are dangerously low.

The program of the Administration during the ensuing coal year contemplates a continuance of regulatory controls designed to assure an orderly and equitable distribution of solid fuels to all consumers. With the assistance of the Bureau of Mines and other Federal agencies increased emphasis will be placed upon fuel conservation particularly by industrial users.

The estimate for the fiscal year 1946, although 11 percent under the amount appropriated for the fiscal year 1945, exclusive of overtime, will finance a slightly larger organization than the present one. It will permit a limited expansion of the staff engaged in compliance work and of programs that will promote the economical use of solid fuels.

WAR REALLOCATION AUTHORITY

The War Relocation Authority was established by Executive order on March 18, 1942, and was transferred to the Department of the Interior on February 16, 1944, by Executive Order 9423. The immediate occasion for the establishment of the Authority was the evacuation of all persons of Japanese ancestry from designated areas of California, Oregon, Washington, and Arizona—an evacuation carried out by the western defense command of the Army in accordance with a public proclamation issued by the commanding general on March 2, 1942.

In order to provide subsistence for the evacuees pending relocation, and to maintain some degree of control over the relocation process in the public interest, the Authority established and is administering a number of barracks cities known as relocation centers. At the present time there are eight relocation centers and one segregation center located in the States of Arkansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Arizona, and California.

On December 17, 1944, the War Department revoked the general exclusion orders, and persons of Japanese ancestry are now permitted to return to the west coast States, unless they have been specifically excluded therefrom by individual orders issued by the Army. The War Relocation Authority now looks forward to accelerated relocation, an early closing of the centers not utilized for segregation purposes, and a final liquidation of all offices of the Authority as soon thereafter as possible.

The estimate for the fiscal year 1946, which is 33.3 percent below the current appropriation, exclusive of overtime, contemplates a reduction in the population of the eight relocation centers to 44,000 persons by July 1, 1945, and complete evacuation of these centers by January 1, 1946. It includes funds for the maintenance and operation of the segregation center during the entire fiscal year 1946 for an average population of 18,500 persons.

On June 8, 1944, the President by memorandum to the Secretary of the Interior assigned to the War Relocation Authority the additional responsibility for administration of a shelter to house refugees brought to this country from Europe. This program was set forth in the President's message of June 12, 1944, to the Congress (H. Doc. 656. 78th Cong.). Approximately 1,000 refugees are now housed at the Emergency Refugee Shelter established at Fort Ontario, Oswego, New York. The 1946 estimate includes funds for the maintenance and operation of this shelter during the entire fiscal year.

GENERAL STATEMENT

The fundamental naval policy of the United States is to maintain the Navy in strength and readiness to uphold national policies and interests, and to guard the United States and its continental and overseas possessions. The administration of this policy is carried out by the Navy Department.

The Navy Department comprises the Offices of the Secretary, Commander in Chief of the United States Fleet and Vice Chief of Naval Operations, the Bureaus of Naval Personnel, Yards and Docks, Ordnance, Ships, Supplies and Accounts, Medicine and Surgery, Aeronautics, and the Headquarters, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

During the fiscal year 1945 the Navy Department has been active not only in the procurement of additional equipment for expanding and operating the world's largest Navy, but has also fought a global war involving naval operations that have covered the North Atlantic, Mediterranean, Caribbean, South Atlantic, and all parts of the Pacific Ocean.

NAVY BUDGET PROGRAM, FISCAL YEAR 1946

The Navy budget for the fiscal year 1946 contemplates an appropriation of $23.7 billion cash and $1.5 billion in new contract authorizations. Of the $23.7 billion, $4.3 billion is for the liquidation of prior contract authorizations. Expansion of the Navy is gradually being completed and maintenance costs are becoming a more important part of the budget. Approximately 62 percent of the funds provided for the various programs included in the budget for 1946 as outlined below are for recurring maintenance and operation items as compared with 44 percent for similar purposes in 1945.

There is provided for the shipbuilding program the sum of $2.9 billion. This is a reduction of approximately $5.1 billion below the amount appropriated for 1945 and reflects reduced requirements due to major completions in ship construction. This represents approximately 12 percent of the total Navy budget and constitutes the major part of the $4.3 billion of contract authorizations referred to above.

Maintenance and operation of the fleet is estimated at $7.4 billion, or approximately 30 percent of the total. Included in this category are repairs, equipage, supplies and fuel for vessels, ordnance and ordnance stores, freight charges and upkeep of shore establishments supporting the fleet.

The aviation program is stabilizing and for 1946 there has been provided $2.6 billion. There is also included $1.6 billion in contract authority continued from 1945 and new contract authorizations of $425,000,000. This item makes up approximately 12 percent of the total budget.

There is provided for naval personnel $7.3 billion or 29 percent of the total estimate. This is for pay, subsistence, transportation, training, and medical care.

For the requirements of the Marine Corps $1.3 billion, or 5 percent of the total estimate, is provided. For the Coast Guard $484,000,000 is estimated, approximately 2 percent of the total.

Public works accounts for $2.7 billion or 10 percent of the budget. Of this amount $1.3 billion is for liquidation of prior contract authorizations and $1.4 billion for new programs, of which latter figure $986,000,000 is for advanced base construction.

The remainder of the budget, totaling $65,000,000, or approximately 0.3 percent, consists of small appropriations for miscellaneous purposes.

BUREAU OF AERONAUTICS

The mission of this Bureau is to equip the Navy with airplanes of the maximum performance, reliability, and endurance. To accomplish this the Bureau of Aeronautics has cognizance of the design, construction, testing, and repair of aircraft for both the Navy and Marine Corps, including instruments and accessories except for certain items of ordnance equipment. All aeronautical shore establishments in the Navy and Marine Corps come under its supervision. All photographic activities of the Navy, with the exception of certain specialized types, are the responsibility of this Bureau. In cooperation with other agencies having to do with scientific development and research, experimental aeronautical work is continually carried on to insure constant improvement in the naval air arm.

HEADQUARTERS, MARINE CORPS

The Marine Corps is an integral part of the Navy. While a component of the naval service existing primarily "to support the fleet," marines have in times of naval emergency been detached for special service. It has four distinct tasks: (1) to maintain a mobile force in immediate readiness for use in operation involving shore objectives; (2) to maintain marine detachments as a part of the ship's crew on battleships, aircraft carriers, and cruisers; (3) to provide forces for the protection of American lives and property abroad; and (4) to provide garrisons for the safeguarding of Navy yards and naval stations in the United States and in outlying possessions.

HEADQUARTERS, COAST GUARD

The Coast Guard constitutes a branch of the land and naval forces of the United States, and in time of war or national emergency operates as a part of the Navy. In addition to its specialized functions such as the establishment, improvement, and maintenance of aids to navigation, and the inspection of merchant vessels and disciplinary control of their crews, it assists the fleet in patrolling coastal waters, maintains district and harbor defense patrols, and furnishes a large part of its personnel for manning naval auxiliary landing craft, transports, convoy escort vessels, and such other special activities as the Navy may direct. All seagoing cutters of the service operate with the Navy fleets. The Coast Guard has retained its entity to permit its return to the Treasury Department in time of peace to carry out its duties of enforcing the maritime laws and safeguarding navigation on the high seas and navigable waters of the United States.

GENERAL STATEMENT

The War Department is charged with the responsibility of organizing, equipping, training, and maintaining the Army, and certain nonmilitary activities, under conditions prescribed by Congress. The Army of the United States consists of the following elements: the Regular Army, the National Guard of the United States, the National Guard while in the service of the United States, the Officers Reserve Corps, the Organized Reserves, and the Enlisted Reserve Corps. These components constituted, in time of peace, the framework on which the present great national force of well-trained and properly equipped men was quickly built. The following text gives a statement of the military budget program for the fiscal year 1946 and concludes with a brief discussion of the organization of the War Department.

MILITARY BUDGET PROGRAM, FISCAL YEAR 1946

The War Department estimates for the fiscal year 1946 contemplate an appropriation of $21,963,093,400, and a reappropriation of unobligated balances totaling $8,885,501,051 and recoveries due to cancellation of or reductions in obligations of prior years amounting to $8,238,501,500. These amounts provide a total of $39,019,790,474 for obligation during the fiscal year 1946 and $67,305,477 to be carried forward to fiscal year 1947. The total amount to be made available in fiscal year 1946 of $39,087,095,951 compares with $61,851,274,159 made available in fiscal year 1945 and $89,107,780,683 in fiscal year 1944.

The termination of hostilities in Europe has made it possible to reduce outstanding orders for a wide range of equipment, thereby effecting extensive savings and reductions in obligations. These savings will be used partially to finance the accelerated war against Japan. This budget contemplates a total of $8.2 billion of such recoveries during fiscal year 1946 and credit for this amount has been taken in arriving at the total new appropriation required. A continuing review is maintained by each of the War Department operating agencies to insure that obligations recorded in the accounts reflect outstanding liabilities with the greatest degree of accuracy possible. When cut-backs in programs occur or prices are reduced, the recorded obligations are likewise reduced as rapidly as possible.

The total request has been designed to provide for the operation and maintenance of the Army of the United States while engaged in maintaining law and order in certain areas of Europe and other theaters, training for and redeployment to active theaters of military operations, and the maximum prosecution of the strategic and tactical operations in the Pacific areas. Relief and rehabilitation sufficient to prevent disease and unrest of civilian populations in areas occupied by United States Forces will be provided. Provision is likewise made for such additional facilities or modification of existing facilities as may be required; for the continued development of the Army of the Philippines to a strength of 150,000; and for military lend-lease. In the preparation of this budget, full consideration has been given to the stocks of equipment and supplies on hand. The extent to which requirements for the Pacific war can be met from stocks in Europe has been given careful study and credit has been taken in computing requirements for all supplies and equipment known to be available in the inactive theaters of operation. As fast as these supplies become available they will be readied for shipment to the Pacific and will be moved as rapidly as transportation becomes available.

The fiscal year 1946 budget program provides approximately $18.7 billion for the purchase of supplies and equipment and $20.3 billion for military pay and allowances and general maintenance and operating expenses. For the first time during the war procurement of supplies and equipment comprises less than half of the projected obligations. Comparing estimated obligations for fiscal year 1945 with those for fiscal year 1946, the major changes in the War Department's budget program may be summarized as follows:

As against $12.5 billion obligations during fiscal year 1945, it is estimated that the Air Corps' total requirements for the fiscal year 1946 will be slightly less than $6 billion, which is accounted for by the reductions in the airplane program made possible by the defeat of Germany. The ordnance program has likewise been sharply reduced from total obligations during fiscal year 1945 of $11 billion to estimated obligations during fiscal year 1946 of less than $5.9 billion. The estimated obligations for the Signal Corps have been reduced from a total of approximately $1.6 billion in 1945 to just slightly more than $1 billion during 1946. The end of the war in Europe has occasioned these greatly reduced total requirements in ordnance and signal supplies and equipment, inasmuch as they are closely related to actual combat. While the Transportation Corps' procurement obligations in fiscal year 1946 are estimated at only about one-half as much as in 1945, operating expenses will remain approximately the same. The total obligations for this agency will be reduced from approximately $2 billion in 1945 to less than $1.8 billion in 1946. Because of the close relationship which fund requirements under the Quartermaster Corps bear to the number of troops to be fed, clothed, and equipped, there will be only a slight reduction in this appropriation: $6.4 billion for 1945 as against $5.7 billion for 1946. Obligations for the Medical Department, Chemical Warfare Service, and Engineer Service will show relatively small changes in 1946 as compared with 1945. The estimated obligations for Finance Service are approximately three percent greater than for fiscal year 1945, principally due to mustering-out payments, increased longevity pay and increased travel requirements.

The budget estimates for fiscal year 1946 provide for a man-year strength of the Army of 7,705,000. This is based upon the reaching of a terminal strength of 6,968,000 by June 30, 1946. Approximately 2,231,000 of the total Army strength will be assigned to the Army Air Forces and 5,474,000 to the Army Ground and Army Service Forces. Redeployment and demobilization will continue through 1946.

Funds are included in this budget program in the amount of $2.2 billion for the pay of an average employment of 1,110,948 field civilian employees of the War Department in the continental United States during fiscal year 1946. The departmental service will require approximately $65.8 million for an average employment of 32,625 civilians. In addition to the amounts provided for employment in continental United States, pay of civilian employees in overseas theaters and commands will require approximately $250 million. These several amounts add to a total of $2.5 billion required for pay of civilian employees to be employed by the War Department during fiscal year 1946. This amount is exclusive of overtime for classified employees.

The Army specialized training program will continue during 1946, but on a somewhat reduced scale. It is expected that 15,000 students will attend courses under this program (medical, 9,250; engineering, 3,750; area and language, 1,250; and U. S. military preparatory, 750). The cost of this program is estimated at $24 million. In addition to this regular program, it is contemplated that the Army specialized training reserve program will continue, but with a reduced strength of 20,000 as compared to a planned strength of 60,000 in fiscal year 1945. The estimated cost of this program is $21.8 million.

Though lend-lease arrangements with certain of our Allies will continue in effect in order to provide military equipment for the Pacific war, the requirements have been sharply reduced. As of April 30, 1945, lend-lease material transferred to other nations by the War Department totaled $19 billion. Reciprocal aid has been received from Allied countries, principally from United Kingdom in the amount of $3.4 billion, Australia $720 million, New Zealand $160 million, and India $427 million. These totals are cumulative only to December 31, 1944. While it is difficult to estimate the total amount of reciprocal aid which will be furnished by our Allies during the coming fiscal year, credit has been given for anticipated aid of $121 million against actual requirements of the War Department.

The termination of conflict on one front and the increase of pressure on the other have been given full recognition in this budget. Redeployment of our Army from one side of the globe to the other is the largest scale maneuver of its kind ever before attempted and must of necessity occupy first priority. Shipping must be allocated for the transport of men and matériel to the Pacific, to this country, and to meet the requirements of the garrison in Europe. The planned strength of the Army is considered the minimum required to accomplish the task ahead. The vigorous prosecution of the war with Japan and the maintenance of order in the occupied countries of Europe are the primary considerations.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

Cargoes, Incorporated, was originally organized under the name of Ships, Incorporated, its preferred stock being purchased by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with funds allocated by the Office of Lend-Lease Administration pursuant to legislation defining the authorities of these organizations (22 U. S. C. 411 et seq., and 15 U. S. C. 606b). The corporation was taken over in June 1942 by the Office of Lend-Lease Administration, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation purchasing the common stock with funds allocated by that Office. Executive Order 9380 of September 25, 1943, transferred the Office of Lend-Lease Administration to the Foreign Economic Administration. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation holds the common and preferred stock for the account of the Foreign Economic Administration as beneficial owner.

The purpose of the corporation was to construct experimental cargo vessels and other craft and to conduct the research and testing necessary thereto. Since the shipping crisis which occasioned the creation of the corporation has been alleviated, its outstanding contracts have now been liquidated. Liquidation of the corporation is now practically completed and it will be dissolved before the end of the current fiscal year.

The expenditures and means of financing are shown in the foregoing statement.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Export-Import Bank of Washington was incorporated February 12, 1934, under the laws of the District of Columbia pursuant to Executive Order 6581 dated February 2, 1934. By the act approved January 31, 1935 (49 Stat. 4), as amended by the act of September 26, 1940 (54 Stat. 961), it was continued as an agency of the United States until January 22, 1947, or such earlier date as the President may fix by Executive order. The Bank was placed under the supervision of the Federal Loan Agency Administrator by Reorganization Plan I, effective July 1, 1939. By Executive Order 9071 of February 24, 1942, it was placed under the supervision of the Secretary of Commerce, then pursuant to Executive Order 9361 of July 15, 1943, under the Office of the Director of Economic Warfare and, subsequently, pursuant to Executive Order 9380 of September 25, 1943, under the Office of the Foreign Economic Administrator.

Present capital stock of the Bank consists of one million dollars ($1,000,000) of common stock held by the United States and $174,000,000 of preferred stock held by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which may, with the approval of the President, continue to supply, through loans or by subscriptions to preferred stock, the funds needed by the Bank for its operations (49 Stat. 4).

By act of March 4, 1939 (53 Stat. 510), the lending authority of the Bank was limited to $100,000,000 outstanding at any one time, which amount was increased to $200,000,000 by act of March 2, 1940 (54 Stat. 38). The act of September 26, 1940 (54 Stat. 961), further increased the lending authority to $700,000,000.

The Export-Import Bank, prior to the war, was principally engaged in financing the export of surplus agricultural crops and assisting United States manufacturers and suppliers to meet the competition of foreign firms. While continuing these activities, modified to meet present changing conditions, the Bank today is engaged in financing the exportation of equipment required for projects important to the war effort as well as the development of the resources of other countries which may be to the mutual interest of the United States and the borrowing country.

The receipts, expenditures, and means of financing are shown in detail in the foregoing statement.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Petroleum Reserves Corporation was created June 30, 1943, pursuant to the authority contained in Section 5d of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act as amended (15 U. S. C. 606b). Its purposes are to acquire reserves of crude petroleum from sources outside the United States; to transport, produce, process, and dispose of such crude petroleum and products derived from it; and to construct and operate outside the United States such petroleum facilities as are necessary in connection with these functions. Total authorized capital stock of the Corporation is one million dollars ($1,000,000), but none has been issued to date.

By Executive Order 9361, dated July 15, 1943, the Petroleum Reserves Corporation was transferred to the Office of Economic Warfare and provisions were made for financing its operations through Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans. On September 25, 1943, by Executive Order 9380 this Corporation, along with all other Office of Economic Warfare operations, was made a part of the Foreign Economic Administration.

Administrative expenses for the fiscal year 1944 covered the salaries and expenses of a technical oil mission to the Middle East and a nuclear domestic staff engaged in making preliminary investigations, studies, and estimates relating to the construction of a refinery and pipeline in connection with the possible development of the oil resources of Saudi Arabia.

Estimated administrative expenses for the year ending June 30, 1945, represent salaries and expenses involved in continuing the work which was started in 1944 and, in addition, a $110,000 disbursement to a constructing company for disbursements made by it for the preparation of plans and specifications for a proposed oil refinery.

It is contemplated that all present work will be completed by June 30, 1945, and it will, therefore, not be necessary for the Corporation to maintain any staff or otherwise incur obligations during the coming fiscal year.

The expenditures and means of financing are shown in detail in the foregoing statement.

¹ Includes $26,775,136 reimbursed to Rubber Reserve Company for funds advanced in fiscal year 1943.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

Rubber Development Corporation, a Delaware corporation, was created February 20, 1943 (15 U. S. C. 606b). By Executive Order 9361, dated July 15, 1943, the Corporation was transferred to the Office of Economic Warfare and certain powers and functions pursuant to section 5d of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, were delegated to it. Provision was made for its financing through Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans. On September 25, 1943, by Executive Order 9380, the Corporation as part of the Office of Economic Warfare was consolidated into the Foreign Economic Administration.

The Rubber Development Corporation is the sole agency of the United States Government engaged in the foreign procurement of natural rubber. The estimates of administrative expenses attached are based upon (a) continuing urgent requirements for natural rubber which is indispensable to the manufacture of heavy truck, bus, and airplane tires, (b) fulfillment of the obligations of the United States Government to purchase natural rubber made available under agreements outstanding with Latin-American governments, as well as with plantation rubber organizations in Liberia, the Belgian Congo, and the French Cameroons, and (c) purchase of natural rubber from Ceylon and African sources pursuant to allocations by the Combined Raw Materials Board.

The Rubber Development Corporation through its direct organizations in Latin America, and through producing contractors in African areas, engages in development operations, in providing required materials and supplies, in the conduct of conservation programs, and in purchasing all natural rubber available for export. Under these programs the Corporation, acting for the United States Government, is obligated to purchase at fixed prices all rubber made available through December 31, 1946.

At the present time, as indicated in a recent release by the Combined Raw Materials Board, the natural rubber stockpile of the United Nations is not in balance with production requirements for this material. Consequently, a very critical situation is in prospect, unless such balance can be restored either by increased acquisitions of natural rubber or by conservation in its use. Based on the current situation, the Rubber Development Corporation contemplates continuance of extraordinary efforts toward procurement of natural rubber during the fiscal year 1946.

The receipts, expenditures, and means of financing are shown in detail in the foregoing statement.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The U. S. Commercial Company was created on March 26, 1942, pursuant to section 5d of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended (15 U. S. C. 606b). By Executive Order 9380, dated September 25, 1943, the U. S. Commercial Company was transferred to the Foreign Economic Administration, and provision was made for financing the Company through Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans. On October 6, 1943, Executive Order 9385 transferred to the Company most of the foreign procurement operations of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The Company's activities have included (1) preclusive and pre-emptive purchasing in neutral countries for the purpose of denying vital war materials to the enemy; (2) the procurement and development abroad of strategic and initial war materials which are in short supply; and (3) miscellaneous functions such as special short term incentive goods programs.

The preclusive operations have been carried on jointly, and by parallel action, with the U. K. Commercial Company. Large quantities of war materials vital to enemy industries have been purchased. This phase of aggressive purchase operations has passed, and there remains under this program the job of liquidating stocks acquired as a war measure. The public imports program has included procurement of metals and minerals, food, fibers and hides, and general commodities.

Management of the U. S. Commercial Company is vested in a board of directors of 12 members appointed for 1-year terms. The present board comprises representatives from Foreign Economic Administration (8), Reconstruction Finance Corporation (1), Export-Import Bank of Washington (1), Treasury Department (1), and the State Department (1).

Authorized capital stock of the U. S. Commercial Company is $5,000,000, all of which is issued to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the Foreign Economic Administration pending transfer of record to that Administration.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Institute of Inter-American Affairs was created under the laws of the State of Delaware on March 31, 1942, pursuant to authority contained in the Third Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942 (Public Law 353, 77th Congress, approved December 17, 1941, 55 Stat. 818). It is a Government controlled non-profit membership corporation.

The purposes of the corporation are to help solve critical health, sanitation, and food problems that impair the war effort, the control and solution of which are also essential to the economic development of the Western Hemisphere; to provide assistance which will expedite the procurement of strategic and critical materials essential to the war effort; to carry out the obligations of this Government in relation to the health and sanitation program assumed by it under resolution 30 of the meeting of the Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the American Republics held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, January 15-28, 1942; and to offset the serious economic dislocations created by the war, principally the disruption of agricultural production and local industries, caused by restrictions in the export from this country of materials and equipment.

The principal activities of the corporation are conducted in cooperation with the other American Republics in accordance with the terms of agreements entered into with the governments of the other American Republics. The agreements usually provide for the programs to be performed by special agencies or services established within the framework of the particular ministry or department concerned, i. e., ministry of health, or ministry of agriculture, of the governments of the other American Republics. Provision is also made for the programs to be approved and conducted, by mutual agreement of the parties to the agreement, under the general supervision of the chief of party of the technical mission sent to the particular country. The cooperative agreements provide for contributions, by both parties, of funds, materials, and services, and arrangements are being made for the governments of the American republics to assume increasing responsibility for carrying on the programs with their personnel and funds. Cooperative health and sanitation programs are being carried out with eighteen of the Latin American countries, and cooperative food supply programs with eight countries.

The corporation is financed by grants made to it by the Office of Inter-American Affairs. The total amount granted or to be granted to the corporation through June 30, 1945, is estimated at $65,024,404 of which amount it is estimated $51,024,404 will be paid over to the corporation by June 30, 1945, and the remainder in subsequent fiscal years in accordance with the cash needs of the corporation for carrying out its programs. Also, in the case of one country, fund contributions of the local government are taken into the corporation and disbursed directly by it. In the cases of the other countries, the fund contributions of the local government are disbursed by the special agency or service established within the framework of the local government through which the cooperative program is carried out.

The receipts, expenditures, and means of financing are shown in detail in the foregoing statement.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Institute of Inter-American Transportation was created under the laws of the State of Delaware on June 18, 1943, pursuant to authority contained in the First Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1943 (Public Law 678, 77th Congress, approved July 25, 1942, 56 Stat. 708). This corporation is a Government controlled nonprofit (stock) corporation.

The general purpose of the corporation, as set forth in its certificate of incorporation, is to assist and improve the means and methods of transportation in the Western Hemisphere whether by land, by air, or by water. The activities of the corporation to date have been directed toward carrying out the terms of a cooperative agreement, through the United States Railway Mission in Mexico, to rehabilitate and to improve the operating efficiency of certain key sections of the National Railways of Mexico as provided in an exchange of notes between the Governments of Mexico and the United States dated November 18, 1942, as amended. The purpose of this work is to bring the right-of-way and rolling stock of the National Railways into such operating condition as to permit the expeditious movement of extra wartime traffic in strategic materials necessary for the war effort.

The Office of Inter-American Affairs is the sole subscriber to one thousand (1,000) shares of capital stock at a par value of $100 per share. In addition to capitalizing the corporation through the purchase of capital stock, the Office of Inter-American Affairs has made grants to the corporation amounting to $7,500,000.

The expenditures and means of financing are shown in detail in the foregoing statement.

The Inter-American Educational Foundation, Inc., was created under the laws of the State of Delaware on September 25, 1943, pursuant to authority contained in the National War Agencies Appropriation Act, 1944 (Public Law 139, 78th Congress, approved July 12, 1943, 57 Stat. 528). This corporation is a Government controlled nonprofit membership corporation.

The purposes of this corporation are the development of cooperative educational programs in the other American republics with emphasis on general education in the elementary, secondary, and normal schools; health and vocational education, particularly in rural areas; and the teaching of the English language. The program is carried out through bilateral agreements providing for (1) the interchange of educators; and (2) the preparation and interchange of teaching materials such as visual aids, textbooks, and pamphlets.

Cooperative educational agreements have been signed with ten Latin American republics, and it is expected that by June 30, 1945, agreements will have been consummated for programs in most of the other republics. The agreements provide for the cooperative programs to be carried out through the ministry or department of education of the local government with the technical advice and assistance of the field staffs sent to the particular countries. The agreements further provide for contributions by both parties of funds, materials, and services. The programs consist of individual projects which are mutually agreed upon in writing by the representatives of the parties to the agreement and which provide for the specific kinds of work and activity to be undertaken.

Funds for carrying out the program of the corporation are made available to it by grants from the Office of Inter-American Affairs. In the case of several countries, the fund contributions of the local government are taken into the corporation and disbursed directly by it. In other cases, the fund contributions of the local government are disbursed by a special agency or service established within the framework of the ministry or department of education of the local government through which agency or service the cooperative program is carried out.

The expenditures and means of financing are shown in detail in the foregoing statement.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Inter-American Navigation Corporation was created under the laws of the State of Delaware on July 15, 1942, pursuant to authority contained in the Third Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942 (Public Law 353, 77th Congress, approved December 17, 1941, 55 Stat. 818). This Corporation is a Government controlled nonprofit (stock) corporation.

The Corporation was formed to carry out plans approved at a meeting of the members of the Board of Economic Warfare, held on June 25, 1942, for supplementing existing shipping facilities with a small cargo-vessel program to be carried out through the acquisition and coordination of all existing small tonnage in the Latin-American trades, particularly the Caribbean area, and the construction in Latin-American shipyards of additional small vessels.

The Corporation was capitalized by the Office of Inter-American Affairs through the purchase of its entire issue of capital stock. In connection with its operation, it borrowed $192,952 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which amount has been repaid.

On April 30, 1943, an agreement was made with the War Shipping Administration under which the vessels of the Corporation were turned over to that agency for the purpose of coordinating all vessel operations in the Caribbean and Latin-American trades. The purposes for which the Corporation was formed having been accomplished, the Corporation is making no further commitments and is proceeding with the liquidation of its assets. Only a small number of items now remain to be handled. The consent to dissolution of the Corporation was filed with the Secretary of State of Delaware on February 25, 1944, and the certificate of dissolution issued and recorded.

The receipts, expenditures, and means of financing are shown in detail in the foregoing statement.

equipment, facilities, machinery, materials, or supplies; (4) to enter into contracts with the United States Government and any department, agency, or officer thereof having procurement powers obligating the Corporation to furnish articles, equipment, supplies, or materials to the Government; and (5) to arrange for the performance of such contracts by letting subcontracts to small business concerns or others for the manufacture, supply, or assembly of such articles, equipment, supplies, or materials, or parts thereof, or servicing or processing in connection therewith, or such management services as may be necessary to enable the Corporation to perform such contracts.
