THE WEEK'S HIGHLIGHTS:

- Sales at merchant wholesalers fell 0.3 percent in May after rising only 0.1 percent in April. By contrast, sales increased 1.1 percent in the first quarter. Following a 0.1 percent drop in April, the value of wholesalers' inventories excluding motor vehicles rose 0.9 percent in May. Wholesale trade figures are not adjusted for price changes.
- Consumer credit grew at a 0.4 percent annual rate in May, its smallest increase since contracting at a 5.8 percent rate in November 1997. May's increase was blunted by a 7.1 percent rate of decline in the revolving credit component, which includes credit card debt. Measured from a year earlier, consumer credit, which is not adjusted for inflation, has increased 3.5 percent, the smallest 12-month change since June 1993.
- Domestic car sales increased strongly for the third consecutive month, rising 3.3 percent in June to 7.3 million units. For the second quarter, sales averaged 7.1 million units, up 6.4 percent from the first quarter and up 5 percent from four quarters earlier.
- The U.S. dollar's trade-weighted exchange rate index averaged 101.9 (1973=100) for the week ending July 8, 1998. This represents a gain of 1.5 percent from four weeks earlier and 6.5 percent from 52 weeks earlier.
- From the average of the two weeks ending April 1 to the average of the two weeks ending June 24, commercial and industrial (C&I) loans at all banks increased 2.9 percent. Over the first three months of 1998, C&I loans increased 2.2 percent.

All data are seasonally adjusted unless otherwise indicated.
