Director of the Mint

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY,
BUREAU OF THE MINT,
Washington, D. C., January 4, 1960.

SIR: In compliance with the provisions of section 345 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, I have the honor to submit a report on the operations of the Mints, the Assay Office, and the Bullion Depositories of the United States for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1959. This is the Eighty-seventh Annual Report of the Director of the Mint since the establishment in 1873 of the Bureau of the Mint in the Department of the Treasury. Annual reports of Mint activities, however, have been made since the first Mint was authorized in 1792. The annual report of this Bureau on United States production and consumption of gold and silver for the calendar year 1958 is also submitted.

Respectfully,

Wm. H. Brett,
Director of the Mint.

Hon. ROBERT B. ANDERSON,
Secretary of the Treasury.

REPORT ON OPERATIONS OF THE BUREAU OF THE MINT, FISCAL YEAR 1959

The principal functions of the Bureau of the Mint include the manufacture of coin, both domestic and foreign; the distribution of domestic coin between the Mints, the Federal Reserve Banks and branches, and the Treasurer of the United States in Washington, D.C.; the custody, processing, and movement of gold and silver bullion; the administration of the regulations issued under the Gold Reserve Act of 1934, as amended (31 U.S.C. 440-446) and Section 5b of the act of October 6, 1917, as amended (12 U.S.C. 95a), including the issuance and denial of licenses, the purchase of gold, and the sale of gold bullion for industrial use; the administration of silver regulations issued under the acts of July 6, 1939 (31 U.S.C. 316c), and July 31, 1946 (31 U.S.C. 316d); the manufacture of historic and special Government medals; and other technical services.

In addition to the Office of the Director of the Mint in Washington, D.C., six field institutions were in operation during the fiscal year 1959, including the Philadelphia and Denver Mints where coins are manufactured; the San Francisco Mint, operating as an assay office and bullion depository; the Fort Knox Gold Bullion Depository; the New York Assay Office; and the West Point Silver Bullion Depository which operates as an adjunct of the New York Assay Office.

The Mints processed an average of 27 short tons of metal into more than 7 million finished coins per day during the fiscal year 1959. Domestic production for the year, consuming 5,940 tons of metal, totaled 1,575,712,736 pieces with a face value of $67,973,147.44. They consisted of 1,570,768,816 coins for regular issue and 4,943,920 proof coins in 988,784 sets. A set of proof coins contains one each of the 50¢, 25¢, 10¢, 5¢, and 1¢ denominations. A change of design was made in the one-cent piece at the beginning of January 1959. The portrait of Abraham Lincoln on the obverse side of the coin remains unchanged. The reverse side is that of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C., in honor of the Lincoln Sesquicentennial observance. The change is a permanent one to remain in effect for not less than twenty five years as provided by law. Illustrations of the new coin appear facing page 1. The Lincoln-Wheat Wreath design one-cent piece, coined continuously from June 1909 through December 1958, will continue to circulate. A table follows showing production of the various denominations coined during the fiscal year.

Denomination[1]	Metallic composition	Production[2]
		Number of pieces	Face value	Standard gross weight--short tons
1-cent pieces	Bronze (95% copper, 5% zinc and tin)	[3] 1,127,313,484	$11,273,134.84	3,865
5-cent pieces	Cupronickel (75% copper, 25% nickel)	124,008,804	6,200,440.20	684
Dimes	900 parts silver, 100 parts copper	239,594,354	23,959,435.40	660
Quarter dollars	....do	63,431,640	15,857,910.00	437

Total		1,575,712,736	67,973,147.44	[4] 5,940

[1] No silver dollars were coined during the year; the last dollar coinage was in September 1935.
[2] Includes 988,784 sets of proof coins manufactured by the Philadelphia Mint.
[3] Includes 564,917,263 coins with Lincoln-Wheat Wreath design manufactured July-December 1958, and 562,396,221 coins with Lincoln-Lincoln Memorial design manufactured January-June 1959.
[4] Includes 1,253 tons of silver, 4,323 tons of copper, 171 tons of nickel, and 193 tons of zinc and tin.

See Table 1 (Addenda) for further details.

The Philadelphia Mint, in addition to domestic coinage of 414,973,920 pieces, manufactured 137,410,000 foreign coins for four other governments during the fiscal year, as follows:

Government	Denomination	Metallic composition	Number of coins produced
Costa Rica	10 centimos	Chrome stainless-steel	10,470,000
	5 centimos	....do	19,940,000
			30,410,000
Cuba	1 centavo	75% copper, 25% nickel	50,000,000
Honduras	20 centavos	900 parts silver, 100 parts copper	2,000,000
Philippines	50 centavos	70% copper, 18% zinc, 12% nickel	5,000,000
	25 centavos	....do	10,000,000
	10 centavos	....do	10,000,000
	5 centavos	80% copper, 20% zinc	10,000,000
	1 centavo	95% copper, 5% zinc	20,000,000
			55,000,000
Total			137,410,000

See Table 2 (Addenda) for further details.

The Mints issued 1,744,348,446 United States coins with face value of $98,881,129.25 for circulation during the fiscal year 1959. As in the previous year, the one-cent pieces and dimes were in greatest demand, comprising four-fifths of the six denominations issued. A table follows.

Denomination	Number of coins issued for circulation[1]	Face value	Gross weight--short tons	Percentage distribution (based on pieces)
1-cent pieces	1,195,446,255	$11,954,462.55	4,098	68.5
5-cent pieces	196,608,269	9,830,413.45	1,084	11.3
Dimes	213,171,605	21,317,160.50	587	12.2
Quarter dollars	92,988,263	23,247,065.75	641	5.3
Half dollars	27,204,054	13,602,027.00	375	1.6
Silver dollars	18,930,000	18,930,000.00	558	1.1
Total	1,744,348,446	98,881,129.25	7,343	100.0

[1] Includes 976,256 sets of proof coins sold by the Philadelphia Mint. A set is composed of five coins (1¢, 5¢, 10¢, 25¢, and 50¢).

See Table 3 (Addenda) for further details.

The total stock of domestic coins, comprising the amount held in the Mints and other Treasury offices, in Federal Reserve Banks, commercial banks, and in the hands of the public, is compared at the beginning and close of the fiscal year in the following statement.

Stock of United States coins	Face value
	June 30, 1958	June 30, 1959	Increase, or decrease (-)
Minor coins	$509,789,100	$526,922,200	$17,133,100
Subsidiary silver coins	1,448,812,500	1,496,953,100	48,140,600
Silver dollars	488,246,700	488,046,100	[1] (-) 200,600
Total	2,446,848,300	2,511,921,400	65,073,100

[1] Decrease represents the amount of uncurrent (worn) silver dollars withdrawn from circulation and returned to the Mints.

During the fiscal year 1959 the number of gold and silver deposit transactions totaled 9,893, requiring 86,617 assay determinations. This compares with 10,713 transactions and 96,362 determinations the previous year.

Receipts of gold at the three Mints and the New York Assay Office amounted to $166,301,969.13 (162 tons) during the fiscal year. The refinery at the Assay Office produced 37 tons of gold by electrolytic process and 508 tons by "fire" process; the Denver refinery was not in operation in 1959. Intermint transfers of gold amounted to $1,338,907,946.94 (1,312 tons). However, there were no gold movements in or out of the Fort Knox Depository, the amount in storage there since 1953 being 12,229 tons (356,668,993 fine ounces) valued at $12,483,414,764.30. Withdrawals of gold from the other institutions amounted to $1,817,870,381.11 (1,780 tons), including $49,234,747.50 (48 tons) of gold sold for domestic industrial, professional, and artistic use, and $343,750,000.40 (9,821,428,582 ounces or 336.7 tons) withdrawn for purpose of payment of the United States increase in its gold subscription to the International Monetary Fund as authorized by Public Law 86-48, approved June 17, 1959. Transactions for the year, and total holdings in custody of the five Mint institutions are summarized, as follows:

Gold holdings and transactions[1] (excluding intermint transfers[2])	Quantity		Value at $35 per ounce[3]
	Fine ounces	Short tons (avoirdupois)
Holdings on June 30, 1958:

Net decrease	47,187,668	1,618	1,651,568,411.98

[1] See Tables 6 and 7 (Addenda) for further details.
[2] Intermint transfers amounted to 38,254,512.772 ounces (1,312 tons) valued at $1,338,907,946.94 during fiscal year 1959.
[3] On quantity basis.

Receipts of silver during the year totaled 3,389.54 tons, including 698.36 tons (20,368,929.06 ounces) of newly mined domestic silver received under the act of July 31, 1946. Lend-lease returns of silver amounting to 2,575.78 tons (75,126,828.58 ounces) were made by four foreign governments, as follows: Ethiopia, 5,425,000.00 ounces; India, 57,040,881.04 ounces; Netherlands, 4,331,426.81 ounces; and Pakistan, 8,329,520.73 ounces. Silver revalued during the fiscal year from cost value to monetary value as security for silver certificates amounted to 613.71 tons (17,900,000.00 ounces). Silver required in the manufacture of 324,390,448 U. S. silver subsidiary coins amounted to 1,251.41 tons (36,499,628.01 ounces). Sales of Treasury silver under the act of July 31, 1946 amounted to 385.69 tons (11,249,252.90 ounces). The refinery at the New York Assay Office produced 45.6 tons (1,329,558.77 ounces) of silver by electrolytic process and 8.3 tons (242,287.53 ounces) of silver by "fire" process. The Assay Office moved 2,239.18 tons (65,309,518.93 ounces) of silver to the West Point Depository, increasing the amount in storage there to 32,119.90 tons (936,830,469.78 ounces) at the close of the fiscal year. Total holdings of bullion and transactions for the year are summarized in the following statement.

Silver bullion holdings and transactions[1] (excluding intermint transfers[2])	Quantity
	Fine ounces	Short tons (avoirdupois)
Holdings on June 30, 1958:
Held as security for silver certificates[3]	1,658,688,021.64	56,869.30

[1] See Tables 8 and 9 (Addenda) for further details.
[2] Intermint transfers of silver bullion, including physical and book transfers, amounted to 64,153,479.83 ounces during fiscal year 1959.
[3] In addition to silver bullion held in Mint depositories, certain other U. S. Government agencies held 64,751,316.12 ounces (2,220.05 tons) of Treasury silver valued at $83,718,873.72.
[4] Includes 23,583,149.93 ounces (808.57 tons) of unrefined bullion.
[5] 31 U.S.C. 316d.
[6] Includes 22,041,610.62 ounces (755.71 tons) of unrefined bullion.

Revenues deposited by the Bureau of the Mint into the general fund of the Treasury totaled $47,548,156.05 during the fiscal year 1959. The principal item consisted of seigniorage which totaled $44,132,766.04. Seigniorage on the 324,390,448 subsidiary silver coins manufactured amounted to $22,703,325.82; on the 1,251,322,288 minor coins manufactured, $14,486,409.92; and on 17,900,000 ounces of bullion revalued as security for silver certificates, $6,943,030.30. Other monetary revenues, including charges on bullion deposits, handling charges on gold purchases and sales, etc. amounted to $2,839,332.49; increment resulting from reduction in the weight of the gold dollar, $139.97; and other miscellaneous revenues amounting to $575,917.55 are itemized in Table 11 of the Addenda.

Monetary assets of gold and silver bullion, silver and minor coins, and other values held in the six Mint institutions totaled $23,815,695,320.72 at the beginning of the fiscal year and $22,180,870,338.35 at the close of the year. Assets and liabilities are itemized in Table 12 (Addenda).

Personnel of the Bureau of the Mint are classified according to functions and location in the following table.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE MINT ON THE PRODUCTION AND CONSUMPTION OF GOLD AND SILVER IN THE UNITED STATES FOR THE CALENDAR YEAR 1958

REPORT ON UNITED STATES PRODUCTION OF GOLD AND SILVER, CALENDAR YEAR 1958

The official United States Government estimate of domestic gold and silver production, made annually by the Bureau of the Mint, is based upon arrivals of these metals at the United States Mint and at privately owned refineries. Mint institutions determine the State source of all newly mined unrefined material at the time deposits are received. The State source of material received by private refiners is determined from information submitted by them and by intervening smelters, mills, and other plants involved in the reduction processes.

United States refinery production of newly mined gold totaled 1,759,000 ounces (60.31 short tons) valued at $61,565,000 for the calendar year 1958, compared with 1,800,000 ounces (61.71 tons) valued at $63,000,000 in 1957. South Dakota, again the leading gold producing State with output of 19.72 tons valued at $20,133,750, accounted for 32.7 percent of the 1958 United States total. Utah, Alaska, and California, ranking next in order as in 1957, accounted for 39.5 percent of the total, with a production of $11,176,550, $6,580,000 and $6,496,000, respectively. Production for the 16 producing States is shown in Table A.

The three Government Mints located in Philadelphia, San Francisco, and Denver and the New York Assay Office received deposits of newly mined domestic gold amounting to 1,010,803 ounces (34.66 tons) valued at $35,378,110 during the calendar year 1958. This compares with 1,060,509 ounces (36.36 tons) valued at $37,117,838 received in 1957. Deposits in 1958 are classified according to source in Table B.

United States refinery production of newly mined silver totaled 36,800,000 ounces (1,261.71 short tons) in 1958 compared with 38,720,200 ounces (1,327.55 short tons) the previous year. Idaho, with an output of 16,130,300 ounces (553.04 tons), again ranked first in silver production and accounted for 43.8 percent of the 1958 United States total. The next three leading States, accounting for 42.3 percent of the total, were Utah (6,000,000 ounces or 205.71 tons), Arizona (5,040,300 ounces or 172.81 tons), and Montana (4,528,200 ounces or 155.25 tons). Production for the 22 producing States is shown in Table A.

The three Government Mints received deposits of newly mined domestic silver amounting to 35,238,383 ounces (1,208.17 tons) during 1958. Of this amount, 35,211,891 ounces were received under the act of July 31, 1946 (31 U.S.C. 316d) at 90.50505 cents per fine ounce, and 26,492 ounces were purchased as "bullion ordinary". Mint deposits in 1958 represented 95.8 percent of total United States production for the year. They are classified according to source in Table C.

The open market price of silver in the United States fluctuated within a range of one and three-fourths cents per troy ounce during the calendar year 1958. The annual average was 89.044¢ per ounce of 999/1000 fineness. High for the year was 90.375¢ effective from October 14 through the 31st. Low was 88.625¢, established on January 27 and extending through September 25. Other quotations were as follows: January 2, 89.75¢; January 3-14, 89.875¢; January 15-22, 89.625¢; January 23 and 24, 89.125¢; September 26 and 29, 88.875¢; September 30 - October 8, 89.125¢; October 9 and 10, 89.375¢ and 89.875¢, respectively; November 3 - December 10, 90.125¢; December 11, 89.875¢; December 12-16, 89.625¢; and December 17-31, 89.875¢. Table D sets forth monthly high, low, and average prices for the calendar year 1958.

[1] Silver is valued in this table at $0.9050505 per fine troy ounce, the price at which the Treasury receives newly mined domestic silver under the act of July 31, 1946. In 1958 the Treasury received 35,211,891 ounces of silver under this act.

[2] Grand total production of gold from 1792 through 1958 amounts to 299,328,201 fine ounces; grand total production of silver, 4,370,983,840 fine ounces. The equivalent quantity in avoirdupois weight is 10,263 short tons of gold and 149,862 short tons of silver.

REPORT ON GOLD AND SILVER CONSUMPTION IN THE UNITED STATES, CALENDAR YEAR 1958

The official United States Government estimate of consumption of gold and silver for industrial, professional, and artistic use in the United States is made annually by the Bureau of the Mint. The estimate consists of issues of gold and silver for these purposes made by the United States Mint and by private refiners and dealers, from which is deducted the gold and silver content of old jewelry, plate, scrap film, and other forms of scrap returned to the same concerns. Gold consumption in 1958 amounted to 1,833,251 ounces valued at $64,163,785, compared with 1,450,000 ounces valued at $50,750,000 in 1957. Silver consumption in 1958 amounted to 85,500,000 ounces compared with 95,400,000 ounces in 1957. Items comprising the 1958 estimate are set forth in Table E following.

REVIEW OF GOLD AND SILVER MINING INDUSTRY FOR THE UNITED STATES, CALENDAR YEAR 1958

The following review of the United States gold and silver mining industry was prepared by the Bureau of Mines, United States Department of the Interior, from more detailed presentations in the chapters on Gold and Silver in Volume I and the chapters on the mineral production by States in Volume III, of the Minerals Yearbook. The mine-production figures in this review are based on a mine canvass of recoverable metal and, owing principally to the time lag involved before this material reaches the Government Mints and Assay Office, or private refineries where the Bureau of the Mint measures production, will not necessarily agree, on a yearly basis, with refinery production data of the Bureau of the Mint.

Domestic mine production of recoverable gold in 1958 declined 3 percent to 1.74 million ounces valued at $61 million, the third successive annual decline, and the lowest output since 1946.

The drop in production chiefly reflected curtailment of output of base-metal ores, chiefly copper, yielding byproduct gold which more than offset production gains from straight gold-mining operations. About two-thirds of the domestic production in 1958 came from precious-metal ores and placers and one-third was recovered from the smelting and refining of base-metal ores.

The four leading States in gold production, South Dakota, Utah, Alaska, and California, continued to supply nearly three-fourths of the total domestic output in 1958. As in 1957, the gold output of South Dakota, Alaska, and California came from straight gold mines; gold production in Utah was a byproduct of base-metal mining, chiefly copper from the Utah Copper mine.

Production of silver from United States mines dropped to 34.1 million ounces in 1958, 11 percent below that of 1957, as a result of the reduced output of silver-bearing base-metal ores. A gain of 3 percent in silver output in Idaho, the leading producer, failed to offset declines in most of the other silver-producing States.

Following the same pattern of 1957, about two-thirds of the domestic silver output was recovered as a byproduct of ores mined principally for base metals and gold. Most of the remaining one-third came from ores in which silver was the principal product, chiefly in Idaho. About 80 percent of the total domestic output came from the four leading silver-producing States, Idaho, Utah,

Arizona, and Montana. Nearly all of the domestic silver output is recovered by smelting and refining of ores and concentrates.

Employment at gold and silver mines in 1958 was estimated at 4,900 men, about the same as in 1957.

Alaska.--Alaska's output of gold, nearly all of which is recovered from placer mining operations, dropped 18 percent in 1958 to the lowest peacetime level since 1899. United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Co., the largest producer, operated 11 dredges during the year. Production of silver, recovered almost entirely as a byproduct of gold mining, declined 13 percent.

Arizona.--Reversing the rising trend of the preceding 5 years, Arizona's gold output dropped 6 percent in 1958. Similarly, silver output declined 11 percent following three successive annual increases. The lower production of precious metals reflected the cutback in mining operations at copper, lead, and zinc mines. Virtually all of Arizona's gold and silver is a byproduct of base-metal ores.

California.--An 8-percent gain in California's production of gold in 1958, following 2 successive years of declining output, was attributed to the higher grade of the gold-bearing gravels treated and to steadier operation of dredges throughout the year. Silver output dropped 64 percent to the lowest level in over 80 years. The sharp drop was attributed principally to the reduced output of base-metal ores from which silver is recovered as a byproduct.

Colorado.--Continuing the general declining trend since 1952, Colorado's output of gold dropped 10 percent in 1958 to 79,500 ounces, the lowest in over 80 years. A drop of 26 percent in the State's silver production reflected chiefly the sharp dip in output of lead-zinc ores resulting from the closing of three of the State's major producers of these metals. Nearly all of Colorado's silver is recovered as a byproduct of ores mined chiefly for copper, lead, and zinc.

Idaho.--Production of gold in Idaho advanced 29 percent to the highest level since 1953. The gain was again attributed principally to increased output of cobalt-copper ore yielding byproduct gold from the Blackbird mine in Lemhi County. Silver output in Idaho, the leading silver-producing State, rose 3 percent in 1958 to nearly 16 million ounces. Production gains at the Sunshine, Galena, Lucky Friday, Crescent, and Silver Summit mines more than offset declines in production at the Bunker Hill, Morning, and Day mines.

Missouri.--Silver recovered as a byproduct of lead and lead-copper ores increased about 37 percent. Silver is recovered from the refining of pig lead obtained from smelting ores and concentrates, and varies according to the quantity of lead desilverized.

Montana.--A 21-percent drop brought the State's output of gold in 1958 to the lowest level in more than 80 years, except for 1954. This resulted principally from curtailed production of copper and zinc ores yielding byproduct gold by The Anaconda Co. in Silver Bow County. Production of silver was the lowest since 1946 and totaled 3.6 million ounces compared with 5.6 million ounces in 1957. About 90 percent of the State's total silver was recovered as a byproduct from the copper and zinc ores in Silver Bow County.

Nevada.--A 21-percent gain in Nevada's gold output in 1958 to the highest level since 1953 was attributed principally to renewal of placer-mining operations at Round Mountain, Nye County by Round

Mountain Gold Dredging Corp. This more than offset the drop in byproduct gold production resulting from curtailment of copper mining and the closing of some lead mines. Silver output dropped 2 percent from the preceding year's because of curtailment and closing of base-metal mines yielding ores from which silver is recovered as a byproduct or coproduct.

New Mexico.--Output of gold in New Mexico remained virtually unchanged in 1958, but silver output declined sharply to about one half of 1957's. The decline in silver was due chiefly to closing of two lead-zinc mines and a corresponding drop in recovery of byproduct silver.

Oregon.--The State's small production of both gold and silver was sharply lower in 1958 owing chiefly to reduced output at the Buffalo mine, the State's largest producer. Gold output was the lowest since 1944 and silver, the lowest in more than 50 years.

South Dakota.--Production of gold, the State's principal mineral commodity, increased only slightly in 1958, but output of silver, which is recovered as a byproduct of gold ores, advanced 13 percent compared with 1957. Nearly all the State's gold was mined by the Homestake Mining Co., the Nation's leading producer.

Utah.--Gold and silver production declined 19 and 15 percent, respectively, in 1958 chiefly because of curtailed output at base-metal mines, mainly copper. The precious metals in Utah, the second ranking State in gold and silver production, are recovered chiefly as byproducts of copper, lead, and zinc ores. The Utah Copper and U. S. and Lark mines were the State's leading producers.

Other States.--Gold and silver production in Washington increased moderately in 1958, but quantities were combined with those of other States to avoid disclosure of company confidential information. The leading producers again were the Knob Hill and adjacent Gold Dollar mines in Ferry County and the Gold King mine in Chelan County. The Pend Oreille lead-zinc mine also recovered silver as a byproduct.

Output of gold and silver in States east of the Mississippi River declined sharply in 1958 chiefly due to reduced output of base-metal ores. Virtually all of the precious metals are recovered as byproducts of base-metal ores in Pennsylvania, North Carolina, New York, Tennessee, and Vermont. Michigan, the largest silver producer in the eastern States in the preceding 3 years, reported no silver recovered in 1958, since no silver-bearing blister copper was treated in electrolytic refineries during the year.

[1] When coins in circulation become too worn for further use they are withdrawn by the Federal Reserve Banks and branches and the Treasurer of the United States. Such coins, termed "uncurrent", are exchanged at face value and shipped to the Philadelphia and Denver Mints. A few uncurrent coins are also received from other sources. The Mints melt and recoin uncurrent coins, as provided by law.
[2] Includes assay coins melted.

[1] The Annual Assay Commission for 1959 met at the Philadelphia Mint the second Wednesday in February, as required by law, to examine and test the weight and fineness of United States coins reserved from the 1958 calendar year's coinage. Members of this Commission are partly ex officio, and the others, citizens who serve without compensation, are appointed each year by the President of the United States. In accordance with statutory requirements, one silver coin from each 10,000 silver coins manufactured at the several Mints is selected at random and reserved for this examination. At conclusion of the tests the Commission reported that the coins met fully the prescribed legal standards, and that the trial was entirely satisfactory.

In addition to tests of the Annual Assay Commission, special assays involving comprehensive metallurgical and chemical tests from each day's production of silver coins are made in the laboratory of the Director of the Mint in Washington. Coins are not released for circulation until such tests have been conducted and the coins found to meet legally prescribed standards.

Silver coins manufactured by United States Mints for foreign governments are also tested in the laboratory to determine that legally prescribed coinage standards of the countries concerned are fully met.

2 Silver content reported in fine ounces in table titled Silver bullion transactions of the Bureau of the Mint.

I.--United States Mint

The Act of Congress dated April 2, 1792, provided for coinage of gold, silver, and copper, and established the first United States Mint in the city of Philadelphia, then the Nation's Capital. Subsequent legislation set up branch mints in various parts of the country. The registry of annual coinage now accurately represents the year of actual date on the coins. During the early years the deliveries from the manufacturing division to the issuing division were not always completed within the year of the date on the coins. Proof coins have been manufactured only at the Philadelphia Mint.

[1] Distinctive Burmese coins were first authorized under the Burmese Currency and Coinage Act of 1946. The Burma Currency Board, established to carry out provisions of the Act, introduced the coins in July 1950. The monetary system was based upon the Burma rupee, divided into 16 annas. Coins were struck by the Royal Mint in London, during 1949, 1950, 1951 and part of 1952; size, weight, and edge were the same as Indian coins of corresponding denominations. One-rupee coins were not minted, the one-rupee currency notes acting as substitutes. Indian coins, then in circulation, were exchangeable for Burmese coins and gradually withdrawn. Burma Currency Board coins of 1/2 rupee (8 annas) and 1/4 rupee (4 annas) denominations were not demonetized in 1955 but were gradually withdrawn from circulation by not re-issuing after receipt; 2-, 1-, and 1/2 anna were demonetized.

[2] Square coin with rounded corners.

[3] Scalloped, 12 waves.

[4] The Union Bank of Burma Act of 1952 repealed the Currency and Coinage Act of 1946 and provided for decimalization of the monetary system. The monetary unit became the "Kyat". The Kyat was divided into 100 units called "Pyas". The decimalized system became effective from July 1, 1952 but until new kyat and pya coins were available, the existing coins continued to circulate according to conversion tables provided for by the Government. Minting of kyat and pya coins began in 1952 at the Royal Mint in London. The 5-pya and 10-pya coins were first issued Oct. 1, 1952; 1-pya coins, March 7, 1953; and 25-pya and 50-pya coins, Aug. 1, 1953. The issue of 1-kyat coins on Nov. 2, 1953 was extended throughout the Nation, hitherto confined to State Treasuries only. Effective Aug. 1, 1953 India coins of all denominations were demonetized.

[5] Scalloped, 6 waves.

Beginning in 1955 all coins minted and issued were based on the decimal system. During 1955, 1956, and 1957 the Royal Mint, London produced a total of 28,750,000 coins for Cyprus (100-mils 3,000,000; 50-mils 4,000,000; 25-mils 2,500,000; 5-mils 13,000,000 and 3-mils 6,250,000). These five denominations were coined to the specifications given above.

Cyprus coins issued prior to 1955, as listed on page 101 of the Annual Report of the Director of the Mint for Fiscal Year Ended June 30, 1956, have been withdrawn from circulation and replaced by the decimalized series.

*Round coin with central hole.

The Federation of Southern Rhodesia, Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland occurred in 1953 and the first Rhodesia and Nyasaland coins were dated 1955.

British coins ceased to be legal tender in Southern Rhodesia in 1939 and in Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland in 1955.

The first Southern Rhodesia coins of the 2/6d., 2/-, 1/-, 6d. and 3d. denominations were of .925 silver and were dated 1932. The first 1d. and 1/2d. coins were of cupro-nickel and dated 1934.

Southern Rhodesia coins were first issued in Nyasaland in 1933 and in Northern Rhodesia in 1934.

In 1942, the composition of the 1d. and 1/2d. denominations was changed from cupro-nickel to bronze and in 1946 the fineness of the silver coins was reduced from .925 to .500.

The last minting of silver coins was in 1946; thereafter the composition of the 2/6d., 2/-, 1/-, 6d. and 3d. denominations was cupro-nickel.

In 1953, a commemorative issue of 125,000 silver crown pieces of .500 fineness was made to mark the centenary of the birth of Cecil John Rhodes, the Founder of Southern Rhodesia.

Former coins referred to are described in previous issues of this Report.

[1] Consists of worn silver coin unfit for further circulation withdrawn by the Treasurer of the United States and the Federal Reserve Banks and branches and shipped to the Mints during the calendar year. Silver content shown is calculated at standard weight of the coin and will thus exceed actual silver recovery when subsequently melted for recoinage into new coin. Also, the amount of uncurrent coin received during a given year will not necessarily agree with the amount melted during the same period.
[2] For year ended June 30, 1958. Consists of shillings and fifty-cent piéces.
[3] Represents 800,000 United States dimes which had circulated in El Salvador as Salvadoran 25-centavo denomination.

[1] In addition to countries listed, gold is also produced in Austria, Bulgaria, China, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Indonesia, Rumania, and Thailand, but production data are not available; estimates are included in total. For some countries accurate figures are not possible to obtain owing to clandestine trade in gold (as for example, French West Africa).

[2] Data do not add exactly to totals shown because of rounding where estimated figures are included in the detail.

[3] Imports into the United States.

[4] Estimate.

[5] Refinery production.

[6] Exports.

[7] One year only, as 1953 was first year of commercial production.

[8] Output from U.S.S.R. in Asia included with U.S.S.R. in Europe.

[9] Purchases. Production may be much greater.
