This amendment has not only paid for a large portion of the foreign aid program; also it has been a major factor in helping to stem the outflow of gold from the United States. In addition, more than 40 percent of these moneys were spent in areas of substantial labor surplus. In 1962 Mrs. May was appointed one of the six House Members on the Joint Committee on Republican Principles which drew up a Declaration of Republican Principle and Policy adopted by the Senate and House Republican conferences. She is a member of the All Republican Conference, honorary member of the National People-to-People Organization, and the Committee of One Million.

Congresswoman May has devoted special interest to the problems of American agriculture with emphasis on livestock, wheat, and feed grains, and actively supports expansion of domestic and foreign markets for agricultural commodities. She also was particularly influential in obtaining increased acreage for domestic sugar producers in the 1962 amendments to the Sugar Act. She is a consistent supporter in Congress for the development of power, the proper use of timber, land, and water resources and orderly development of reclamation. She is active also on behalf of a sound foreign aid program, equal rights for women, medical care for the aged, and selective programs of assistance for education, handicapped children, and juvenile delinquency. In addition, she has waged an active battle in Congress against the dissemination of obscene literature and communist propaganda, backdoor spending, and deficit financing.

Since becoming a Member of Congress, Mrs. May has received many honors. In 1960 she was named "Woman of the Year" by Alpha Chi Omega, and in 1959 was recipient of McCall's Magazine "Togetherness" award, and the Theta Sigma Phi Matrix Table award. In 1962 she was the first woman to address the Yale University Political Union, a nonpartisan student forum. She is in demand as a speaker, and since coming to Congress has addressed a number of national groups throughout the United States.

Mrs. May's husband, James O. May, is in the real estate business in Yakima. They have two children, James, 17, and Melinda, 13. During the sessions of Congress they maintain a home in Bethesda, Maryland, where the children attend public schools and the family attends St. David's Episcopal Church.

REPRESENTATIVE CHARLOTTE T. REID (R)

Fifteenth District, Illinois

Mrs. Charlotte Thompson Reid is serving her first term in the 88th Congress. She was nominated by the five County Chairmen in her district to seek the congressional seat after the sudden passing of her husband, Frank R. Reid, Jr., in August 1962 in the midst of his campaign for election as the Republican candidate. Mrs. Reid conducted another vigorous campaign after she was nominated in September 1962.

She is no stranger to politics for she lived in a political atmosphere for many years. Her father-in-law, Frank R. Reid, had been a member of Congress for 12 years. She had campaigned actively with her husband in the primary, and also worked with him in other local political contests. She attended the Republican National Convention in 1956 when her husband was a delegate.

Mrs. Reid graduated from East Aurora High School and attended Illinois College at Jacksonville for 2 years. Thereafter she studied voice for several years in Chicago, and sang professionally for 3 years as a member of the NBC staff.

She married Frank R. Reid, Jr., an Aurora attorney, in 1938. One daughter, Patricia (Mrs. George Lindner), now lives in Boulder, Colorado; a son, Frank, is in the U.S. Marine Corps at Lake Meade, Nevada; and Edward (Tom) and Susan are in Aurora.

Home and her late husband's career were her major interests. She served as cochairman of the Aurora area March of Dimes, and was president of the Child Welfare Society. She is a member of the Aurora Women's Republican Club, and was on its Board of Directors for 4 years. During her years as a homemaker, she was active in local Girl Scouts, PTA groups, and many other civic and charitable organizations.

Mrs. Reid serves on the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, and is on subcommittees for National Parks, Territorial and Insular Affairs, and Indian Affairs. She has been appointed to the Board of Trustees of the National Cultural Center, and was elected Secretary of the Illinois Republican Delegation. She was also elected Secretary of the 88th Club, which consists of new Republican members in the 88th Congress.

REPRESENTATIVE KATHARINE ST. GEORGE (R)

Twenty-seventh Congressional District, New York

Mrs. Katharine St. George of Tuxedo, New York, represents New York's 27th District in the House of Representatives. The District consists of Rockland, Orange, Sullivan, and Delaware Counties. Mrs. St. George was elected in 1946 to the 80th Congress, and has been reelected to each successive Congress.

Mrs. St. George serves on the House Rules Committee, where she is the second ranking member on the minority side. She has had 14 years' experience, not consecutive, with the Post Office and Civil Service Committee; is a member of the Committee on Committees; and an Assistant Whip for the Republican Party.

Representative St. George's legislative work reflects a deep interest in Federal and postal employees, and improvement in Federal service. She initiated the Cost of Living Pay Adjustment Bill, basing increases on the cost of living index; a bill providing for a training program for Federal employees; and a bill for the Code of Ethics. Her 1952 report as Chairman of the Subcommittee on Postal Operations recommended improvements which resulted in savings estimated at $70 million annually, and the assignment of an Assistant Postmaster General for Personnel.

Other legislative interests of Representative St. George include the Equal Rights Amendment, of which she is the chief sponsor in the House of Representatives; revision of our income tax laws; improvement in social security legislation.

Mrs. St. George is now serving as President of the bipartisan United States Group of the Inter-Parliamentary Union, an international organization.

Mrs. St. George served as Parliamentarian to the last two National Republican Conventions. She is on the Board of Governors of the Women's National Republican Club and a member of the Advisory Committee of the Republican Business Women's Club, both of New York City, the Quassaick Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Rockland County Business and Professional Women's Club, and a congressional endorser of the Committee of One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

REPRESENTATIVE LEONOR K. SULLIVAN (D)

Third Congressional District, Missouri

Mrs. Leonor K. Sullivan, now serving her sixth term, is the only woman ever to have served in Congress from the State of Missouri. She is the widow of Representative John Berchmans Sullivan, who was serving his fourth term in the Congress at the time of his death in 1951.

A native of St. Louis, Mrs. Sullivan represents a District located wholly within the borders of that city. She resigned as training executive for a St. Louis business machines corporation when she married the Congressman in 1941, and later served as his administrative assistant. In 1952, after a special election had filled the vacancy in the 82d Congress caused by her husband's death, Mrs. Sullivan decided to run for his former seat and won election to the 83d Congress, and was subsequently reelected to the 84th, 85th, 86th, 87th, and 88th Congresses.

Known throughout her career in Congress for her strong interest in consumer issues, Mrs. Sullivan, now a senior member of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, was named at the start of the 88th Congress as Chairman of a newly created Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs, with primary legislative responsibility for the "Truth in Lending" bill which she has introduced, and for other consumer issues within the Committee's jurisdiction. Previously appointed to the Subcommittee on Housing, she has played a leading role in the preparation of all housing bills passed by the House since 1955—sponsoring improvements particularly in housing for the elderly and chronically ill. In addition she participated in drafting, and cosponsored a series of major measures to bolster national economic conditions, including the Area Redevelopment Act, the Small Business Investment Act, the Export Credit Insurance Act, the mass transit, and the community facilities bills. A ranking member also of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, Mrs. Sullivan has served as Chairman of its Subcommittee on the Panama Canal since 1957, directing numerous studies into the operational problems and activities of the Panama Canal Company.

Aside from her own Committee responsibilities, Mrs. Sullivan has been an active participant on legislation of consumer interests before other Committees, and was instrumental in the passage of: the Poultry Products Inspection Act of 1957, establishing for the first time compulsory Federal inspection of poultry in interstate commerce; a series of annual increases in the appropriations of the Food and Drug Administration (Health, Education, and Welfare Department) and of the Meat and Poultry Inspection Divisions (Agriculture Department); the Food Additives Act of 1958, requiring pretesting for safety of all chemical additives used in or on food stuffs; the anticancer provision—dealing with artificial coloring used in foods, drugs, and cosmetics—of the Color Additives Act of 1960; the Hazardous Substances Labeling Act of 1961; and the far-reaching Drug Control Act of 1962, including the major provisions relating to prescription drugs first proposed by her 18 months earlier as part of an omnibus bill to rewrite the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act of 1938. Except for the prescription drug provisions already enacted, she has reintroduced in the 88th Congress her omnibus bill calling for pretesting for safety of all ingredients in cosmetics, tighter controls over "pep" pills and barbiturates; stronger factory inspection standards for all products subject to the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act; stricter labeling requirements to prevent deceptive and misleading packaging; and many other consumer protections. In 1954, as a freshman member of Congress, Mrs. Sullivan's House speeches against runaway coffee prices set off a Federal Trade Commission investigation which disclosed widespread irregularities in futures trading practices and resulted in a sharp drop in prices.

Congresswoman Sullivan was the author of the Food Stamp law enacted in 1959 for the distribution of surplus agricultural commodities to needy Americans through the regular grocery stores. A modified food stamp plan is now being tested in numerous parts of the country to determine its feasibility on a national basis. In 1957, Mrs. Sullivan drafted and introduced for the first time the Exceptional Children Educational Assistance bill, to encourage experienced teachers to take advanced training in the skills of teaching gifted children or those with physical or emotional handicaps. Only a limited start has been made by Congress on this objective, however, with fellowship programs authorized only for teachers of the mentally retarded, and for children with speech and hearing defects. She has reintroduced her Exceptional Children bill again in the 88th Congress, and has also introduced bills for equal pay for equal work; mass transit; full social security benefits for women retiring at age 62; deductibility for income tax purposes of all educational expenses; and repeal of the 10 percent Federal excise tax on women's handbags costing $15, or less.

Mrs. Sullivan was educated in public and private schools in St. Louis and attended night classes in vocational psychology at Washington University.

She is a member of the League of Women Voters and of the auxiliary of the first American Legion Post established in the United States.
