Louis Guglielmi, young New York Federal Art Project painter, is one of three artists selected by the Edward MacDowell Association as a fellow for this year. He will spend the Summer at the MacDowell Colony in Peterborough, N. H. The award was announced by Ernest Schelling, president of the association.

The MacDowell Association was established in 1908, by the widow of the American composer, Edward MacDowell. The purpose was to provide working conditions for creative workers in the arts.

Guglielmi was born in Milan, Italy, in 1906. He studied in the National Academy of Design and the Beaux Institute. His works have been exhibited by the Architectural League Opportunity Gallery, Tiffany Foundation, Philadelphia Academy, Memorial Art Gallery, Wanamaker Gallery, Corcoran Gallery, Jacques Seligman Gallery, the American Contemporary Artists Gallery and others. His work is represented in many private collections.
