Mrs. Roosevelt To Receive Delegation of WPA Women.

Forty-six women workers, who make baby layettes on a WPA Sewing project in Atlantic City, N.J., will be received by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the White House at 4 p.m. today, according to Ellen S. Woodward, Assistant WFA Administrator in charge of the Division of Women's and Professional Projects.

Some months ago, a prominent New Dealer visited the project and was so impressed with the articles made by the WPA workers that she obtained several samples for Mrs. Roosevelt's inspection. Mrs. Roosevelt was equally impressed and wrote the project workers, complimenting them on the beauty and fine workmanship of the garments produced. In token of their appreciation of Mrs. Roosevelt's recognition of their work on the project, the women sent her some additional garments for her new grandchild, Kate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Roosevelt.

The women, accompanied by Mrs. Mabel S. Tiffany, State Supervisor of Sewing Projects, and Mrs. Irene Popper, District Supervisor, will leave Atlantic City in a chartered bus at 7 a.m. today, and will arrive in Washington about 12:30 p.m.

During the interim between their arrival in the city and their reception at the White House they will make a sightseeing tour of the national capital. The tour will include a visit to an exhibit of their own, which is on display for a few days in the window of the Gerfinckel building at 1400 "G" Street, N.W.

The women will leave Washington about 6 p.m. to return to Atlantic City.
