WPA Workers Urged to Accept Even Brief Employment Elsewhere.

Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, today addressed a letter to all State Administrators emphasizing the importance of encouraging project workers to accept any temporary employment offered them elsewhere. Those who accept other jobs and lose them through no fault of their own will be reassigned to a WPA project immediately, Administrator Hopkins directed.

The order follows:

"It is of particular importance at this time that project workers be given every encouragement to accept other employment even though of short duration. To this end you are directed to reassign immediately any certified project worker who has left project employment for other employment and has lost that employment through no fault of his own.

"This letter should be posted so that project workers may be fully informed of this policy."
