Federal Reserve Statistical Release C.9

Balance Sheets for the U.S. Economy
1948-87

The attached tables are a preliminary form of complete sector balance sheets for the private sectors of the economy, in which estimates of tangible assets and land are combined with the financial assets and liabilities that are published in the Flow of Funds Accounts to produce measures of total position and net worth. Reproducible tangible assets as shown here are from the tabulations published by the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA) as equipment, residential structures, and inventories.¹ Values of land holdings are Federal Reserve estimates based mainly on data from quinquennial Censuses of Government on real estate assessments and relations of assessments to sale prices in transactions. An important aspect of these balance sheets is that reproducible assets are valued at replacement cost net of straight-line depreciation, while land holdings are stated at current market values. These valuations carry through the balance sheets to affect the measures of net worth, which are calculated as total tangible and financial assets less total liabilities, and are thus based on current values.

These tables were last published in April 1988. This issue includes revised capital stock data from BEA for 1985 through 1987, as well as changes and additions to the financial assets and liabilities made as part of the annual revisions of the Flow of Funds Accounts (Z.1). These revisions are described in detail in the introduction to that publication for the second quarter of 1988. They include a major overhaul to the nonfarm noncorporate business sector, as well as substantial revisions to the security brokers and dealers sector and in several series for repurchase agreements, both of which affect the private financial institutions grouping in the Balance Sheets. Information on obtaining Flow of Funds publications is provided below.

For nonfinancial corporations the balance sheet statement includes an alternative measure of tangible assets at historical cost--the amount actually paid to acquire tangibles whenever purchased--and the alternative measure of net worth that results from this valuation. The historical-cost estimates for reproducibles come from the same BEA calculation that produces current cost estimates and are thus consistent for comparison of alternative pricing methods. The BEA calculation is a perpetual-inventory procedure that consists of accumulating purchases over a long period of years and deducting depreciation and retirements according to various schedules. It is entirely independent statistically of published business balance sheet measures of fixed assets, even for historical-cost measures.

See also John C. Musgrave, "Fixed Reproducible Tangible Wealth in the United States, 1984-87," Survey of Current Business, vol. 68 (August 1988), pp. 84-87.

Accompanying the balance sheets is a parallel set of tables that relate changes in net worth that appear in the balance sheets to gross investment flows that are published in the Flow of Funds Accounts. Conceptually, changes in net worth for each sector should equal gross investment as published, after subtracting depreciation and allowing for net flows of equity funds. Differences between the two measures arise principally from revaluation of tangible and financial assets from year to year as a result of price movements. Beyond price changes, however, allowance must be made for land transactions, which are not included in Flow of Funds statements, as well as for changes in land values. Further allowances are needed for statistical differences in depreciation measures and for discontinuities in source data that occur when the scope of method of measurement is changed. These adjustments appear in the individual sector stock-flow reconciliation statements included here.

Subscription information. Effective in 1987, the Federal Reserve Board began charging nominal amounts for subscriptions to all public releases to defray postage costs. The annual cost of the Z.7 release, Flow of Funds Summary Statistics, presently is set at $3.00; the price of the full Z.1 release, Flow of Funds Accounts, has been fixed at $10.00. The cost of the C.9 release, Balance Sheets for the U.S. Economy, which appears twice a year, usually in April and October, is $3.00 per year. Subscription inquiries for these releases should be directed to Publications Services, Stop 138, at the Federal Reserve street address given below.

Quarterly or annual data for specific sectors of the accounts, in reasonable scope, are available in printed form from the Flow of Funds Section on request. Computer tapes for the entire quarterly data base in the accounts may be purchased from the National Technical Information Service, 5285 Port Royal Road, Springfield, Virginia 22161. Tape prices are determined by NTIS.

Requests and inquiries about the data and historical tabulations of the data should be addressed to:
