BANK DEBITS.

Below is given the Federal Reserve Board's weekly statement of debits to individual account, reported through the Federal Reserve banks by over 140 of the country's more important clearing houses. Transactions cover the weekly periods ending Wednesday November 26 and 19, of the present year, and in case of most of the reporting centers also the weekly period ending a year earlier, i. e., Nov. 27, 1918.

Total debits to individual account for the week ending November 26 were about one billion dollars less than for the immediately preceding week, the clearing house banks in New York City alone reporting a decrease of over 650 millions. Large reductions are also shown for Boston, Philadelphia, and Detroit. On the other hand, Chicago and Pittsburgh show larger figures than the week before. As compared with corresponding 1918 figures, available for 133 cities, an increase of 22 per cent in the volume of debits to individual account is shown, all the large cities, except Pittsburgh, participating in the increase. For New York City the increase is nearly 30 per cent.

The statement closes with a recapitulation giving comparative figures by reserve districts for 143 centers reporting complete data for the two most recent weeks, also like figures for the 133 centers for which data are available for the past week and the week ending November 27 of last year.
