 Federal Reserve Board,
 May 13, 1922.

BANK DEBITS.

Volume of business for the week ending May 10 was $8,796,000,000, marking a decline of $1,199,000,000, or about 12 per cent, from the exceptionally large total of $9,995,000,000 reported for the preceding week which saw a heavy volume of trading on the stock exchange and the settlement of end-of-month obligations. Smaller totals are reported for all the leading centers.

As compared with the week ending May 11, 1921, the volume of business for the report week was larger by $1,297,000,000, or about 17 per cent. About 95 per cent of this increase was shown for New York City alone where the volume of business was 32 per cent larger than the year before, while for the other centers the increase amounted to only about $60,000,000, or less than 2 per cent.

The volume of business is measured by debits to individual accounts reported to the Federal Reserve Board for banks in clearing house centers. The number of centers reporting this week is 245, of which 165 are included in the summary by Federal reserve districts.
