

STATEMENT FOR THE PRESS

Released for publication
 Sunday morning, Oct. 29;
 not earlier.

St. 3124.
 Federal Reserve Board,
 Oct. 28, 1922.

BANK DEBITS.

Volume of business for the week ending October 25 was $9,564,000,000, or $280,000,000 less than for the preceding week. This decline is noted in spite of the fact that the current week contains six business days, while the preceding week, owing to the inclusion of Columbus day, contained in many cities only five business days. The decline is in accordance with the customary recession after the mid-month week.

For the corresponding week in 1921 the volume of business was $7,606,000,000, the total for the week under review being larger by $1,958,000,000, or about 26 per cent. Increased figures for the present year are reported for all the leading centers, except Baltimore and San Francisco, the increase for New York City alone amounting to $1,425,000,000, or about 38 per cent.

The volume of business is measured by debits to individual accounts reported to the Federal Reserve Board for banks in leading centers. The total number of centers reporting this week is 247, of which 163 are included in the summary by Federal reserve districts.
